

In youtube_extraction_english_122.json :

Title: Why do we treat old people like babies? That’s ageism. | Ashton Applewhite

- Table 1: Summary of the results per comment;
- Table 2: Summary of the results per sociolinguistic variable;

Table 1: Summary of the results per comment

Comment	KeyWords	Sociolinguistic variables (Hiper - Hipo)	Hate Speech Frequency	Hate Speech Fre-quency(%)
Oh my goodness this is brilliant and needed to be said! I am 51 and since a little girl I have been super blessed not to see age , color, weight, etc... I am hopefully soon, going to start volunteering at hospice ,every time I go there it seems, the patients do not get many visitors, which boggles my mind and hurts my heart. All living beings have so much to offer and should be equally respected and treated with kindness and wonder	Age	Age - General	1/82	1.22
Its only considered ageism when you do it in a discriminatory way. Treating children that way isn’t considered ageism but it’s the same concept. Why did this channel waste time with this video?	Ageism	Age - General	2/33	6.061
I don’t believe that I treat elders as babies they reach the age that some of us will never see and a deserving of our respect our loyalty and understanding And one thing that I’ve learned when they don’t like something they gonna tell you so if they feel like they’re Being treat like a baby they gonna tell you So Honor elders	Age	Age - General	1/63	1.587
I don’t think we treat old people like babies, we do the best we can taking care of those who depend on us. Babies depend on us so we treat them like the dependents they are. We treat our elders like the dependent they become. That’s not ageism , Ageism is when the reason for the behavior is age . There is plenty of old people who are autonomous and we treat them as such. Assuming that we treat all old people like babies, that’s ageism , it assumes that all old people are the same simply because they are old .	Age, Ageism, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	8/98	8.163

DISLIKED this due to NO closed captioning. Disrespecting the disabled just SUCKS BigThink	Disabled	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/13	7.692
I treat old people like old people.	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/7	28.571
A lot of people revert to a child like level in old age . Not all, but most eventually do. You get lumped in like that because most likely you will revert to a childlike level. Have an average ninety year old even try to make this same video. Good luck.	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	3/50	6.0
Why do we treat babies like babies? that's ageism	Ageism	Age - General	1/9	11.111
But old people say those things too XD "Sweetie" Dearie" etc.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/11	9.091
Headline is untrue...once a man twice a child...how old is old anyway?It's not ageism it's human concern. Older folk are more than capable and more willing to speak up than younger people if they feel violated. if anything, the older you get, the more stubborn and prideful you can possibly become, to your own detriment.How are babies even treated?!?!	Ageism, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	3/61	4.918
Ageism is bullshit. I couldn't legally buy cigarettes until I was 18 and alcohol until I was 21. And I still get carded half the time at 40 with a big, manly beard and giant beer gut!	Ageism, alcohol	Age - General, Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	2/37	5.405
I don't condescend to old people, they just kind of scare me because I know I'll be one and I'd rather die	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/22	4.545
I don't know, I've seen old people behaving worse than children, entitled, demanding, bossy and arrogant. Respect is not due to anyone simply because their parents had sex before another person's, respect is a two way street you give it and you get it.	Old, Sex	Age - Over 65s, Gender - General	2/44	4.545
Being a caregiver for an elderly dementia patient who has reverted to an almost toddler like state of mind, sometimes it's unavoidable	Elderly	Age - Over 65s	1/22	4.545

Never noticed that elderly are generally being belittled like that by calling them "sweetie" "honey" here. Is that maybe typically American? Yes, I've seen dropping of vocabulary 'difficulty' where it made sense: talking to someone with a form of dementia like Alzheimers... They actually understand less (degenerative disease) and sometimes act childish, so they get treated accordingly. Just like not every ageing person's mental abilities decline, not every other person acts like a condescending a*hole to them... the title and to some extent the video itself implies everyone treats old people like babies. I could almost feel offended by this accusation, but I'm not in the business of inventing new words I can put -ism behind. This gets a thumbs down from me.	Ageing, Elderly, Mental, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/124	3.226
As someone who is middle- age let me tell you the gap between young and old is less than you think. You will wind up old before you know it. If you're a teenager reading this remember that you will spend the majority of your life not as a young person. Last I don't believe there is any such thing as an adult, we are all merely older children. Also ageism is a very real reality in the workplace despite it's illegality. And it's practiced by everybody including old people themselves. Case in point, the CEO at a company I used to work for did not like to be around people his own age , which was definitely old .	Age, Ageism, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	6/117	5.128
Speaking to elderly like babies is wrong but if you say the word agesism then go fuck yourself.	Elderly	Age - Over 65s	1/18	5.556
Humans are soooo complex and sensitive. We're lucky to still be around, and who knows how much longer. How about the elderly being aware they may be talked to like babies and letting it pass.	Elderly	Age - Over 65s	1/35	2.857
"How about the elderly being aware they may be talked to like babies and letting it pass." I mean...you don't think that's basically exactly what they do every day? They do let it pass. Constantly. You virtually never see an old person actually getting defensive about this or even bringing it up in life. But someone makes one 3 minute video about it and everyone else gets butthurt. Speaking of people being too sensitive and needing to let it pass...	Elderly, Old	Age - Over 65s	2/80	2.5
"I'm nervous about getting old , so I'm going to tell all of you that being old is great and even BETTER than being youthful."	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/24	8.333
what the heck, is this really a thing? I've never heard of this before. My grandparents are 80 years old and are still tougher and more aggressive than my parents.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/30	3.333

I tell ya why.....because when you drive a god damn 5 ton cami and you just lunge into another lane and dont look, then you cream someone and don't even know it because your on so many pills and your not clear on where you are or what's going on then yeah I gotta talk to you slowly and simply.no high level convos when your not even sure what's going on at any one moment. I live in Fort Myers and every winter all the snowbirds come down and the accidents go through The roof and all these elderly people who have no business being on the road hurt and kill people. Why? Because me and Maud wanted to go to The Costco to get a 12 pack of meat? Seen this for 40 yrs. Idc what this video says. Your all doped out on pills how can I not talk to you like a baby?	Elderly	Age - Over 65s	1/156	0.641
While treating anyone with condescending tone isn't appropriate, I think the society today is extremely different than, say, 100 years ago. But first of all, this video has a serious flaw: what exactly is " old people?" Quite frankly, no one can deny the huge difference between a 65 years old person and a 95 years old one, therefore, wouldn't it be inappropriate - and quite condescending - to group them under the same category in the first place? Take my grandma for example. When she was 65, she was really strong and healthy and could take care the house in a way that no one else could in my family. But now, when she is in her 90s, not only it is already difficult for her just to stay awake, but mentally she has lost the sharpness she had at 65 and has become agonizingly stubborn. So really, this video asks and answers a wrong question in the first place. Especially nowadays the average life span has become so" old ?" that it is not uncommon for people to live nearly a third of their lives as " old persons" while the society is changing ever so quickly that " old experience" becomes obsolete in just a couple decades in many cases.Aging is a gradual process. This video asks an oversimplified question with an oversimplified answer.	Old	Age - Over 65s	6/224	2.679
Ageism - what fucking idiots	Ageism	Age - General	1/5	20.0
So many dislikes because Americans don't like to admit they abandon their elderly put em in a home while in other cultures they are taken care of by family.	Elderly	Age - Over 65s	1/29	3.448
Hey, I just unsubscribed to your silly channel, because nobody likes to be talked down to	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/16	6.25
Umm. It depends. Old people deteriorate, some lose memory, muscles, bodily functions. It difficult to treat them in a way where a lot can be expected from them. Many times it can't.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/32	3.125
Why do we speak to babies like they are old people?	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/11	9.091

Age comes with ailing health, loss of physical ability and cognitive decline. These are all factors we consider weaknesses and as humans we have an innate tendency to infantilize those that exhibit these ailments. I'm certain at its most pronounced form it's insulting to an older person but doesn't current evidence suggest for most that it might apply to, the ability to recognise this type of treatment is low.I think I'd prefer to listen to more older people on the matter, which I suspect the comments section to be largely absent of.	Age	Age - General	1/93	1.075
But young people get sick too. According to your logic, sick people and older people are in the same category. What I'm saying is you can't equate age with illness because young people get sick and a lot of old people, like my grandmother, reach 80s with no ailments to speak of. She still works part time at her church lol I'd like to see you tell her she's old and sick.	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	3/72	4.167
S Not at all because that was never my logic, I never mentioned sick people at all. People can be in different states of health throughout life without reasonably concluding somebody is "sick." What I did say was that there is inevitable cognitive decline that comes with age , it doesn't have to be dementia or Alzheimers for it to be considered cognitive decline. It is a fact that elderly people start to lose their ability to detect sarcasm and other forms of subtle communicative tells. There is never a one size fits all rule here, nor was I suggesting that there was. It's rather bizarre to me that is what you extrapolated from my comment. If anything it was to direct attention to reasons why society might tend to infantilise elderly people, not a suggestion that it should be done.	Age, Elderly	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	3/140	2.143
What is your age ? How can you determine age if nobody states their own? BTW I am 69, and growing	Age, Nobody	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	3/21	14.286
That aging comes with physical and mental decline is one of the biggest myths that culture, society and the media and the medical industry has forced people to believe. Being ill is not normal. Being ill in older age is not normal. Being sick as one gets older is based on the choices people make that interfere with their body and mind and the reaction to something that is not normal. If it was promoted that aging is great, positive, a wonderful part of life, think of how many industries would not be making trillions of dollars right now.	Age, Mental	Age - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/99	2.02
Old people are a disease and the majority of them are self-riotous pieces of crap and old cells than need to be shed. Fuck old ppl , they are not as precious . Fuck old ppl.	Old	Age - Over 65s	4/36	11.111

Because they are dumb like babies...	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/6	16.667
I would hate it if I was an elder . Idiotics.	Elder	Age - Over 65s	1/10	10.0
No it's not ageism - that's just another dopey accusation that sounds good but doesn't mean anything. When people get very old they become less capable than when they were in their middle years. They need help of all kinds, just like young children!	Ageism, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	2/44	4.545
People naturally talk higher pitch to old people. I've not hear baby talk but it's not condescending	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/17	5.882
That's ageism ! God my generation is a bunch of pansies. People are just being nice stop being so dam sensitive	Ageism	Age - General	1/20	5.0
Old age will hit us much faster than we think and it comes with all the pain	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	2/17	11.765
I learned to respect elders more than my fellow age . Now I'm a grown up I understand. Many of them are very wise.	Age	Age - General	1/23	4.348
BULLLLLLLLSHIIIIITTTTT. The vast majority of old people are the FOX News watching pieces of shit that killed the whole fucking planet. May they all rot in hell.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/27	3.704
'As recently as 150 years ago?' Ageism started by government: You must be xx years to own property and vote (and be male).	Ageism	Age - General	1/23	4.348
the left also treats women and minorities like babies that's sexism and racism .	Racism, Sexism	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	2/13	15.385
Ageism? They are old ffs... It's not like is normal for the average 85 year old to go for mountain climbing and skydiving every day, is it? I am a 30 years old man, 6ft tall with a beard and sometimes they call me "honey" and "sweaty" in a condescending manner. My grandmother is almost 90 years old and nobody calls her "honey" or "sweaty".	Ageism, Nobody, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	6/65	9.231
Relax we aren't trying to make you all the same... The elderly is just one characteristic you have in common that defines your stage in life	Common, Elderly	Age - Over 65s, Social Class - Working class	2/26	7.692

The answer is that they're vulnerable and we fell obligated to protect them, but old people in general are a new thing (evolution wise) so we default to our innate baby care skills. No need to feel guilt over that.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/40	2.5
1. We don't treat them like babies unless they are very vulnerable (i.e. frail or demented). 2. This is to bring out a human instinct in us to care. This can sometimes be abuse too so we need to be vigilant. 3. Not all old people are frail and demented. Some are very strong an opinionated and they treat everyone like babies.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/62	1.613
Old age will hit us much faster than we think. It won't be that long really before people are talking to us like babies.	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	2/24	8.333
Jerry Winans: LOL! The perfect ploy, treat 'em right and they appreciate it. Have a good weekend!	Jerry	Nationality - German	1/17	5.882
However they don't sleep a lot. They just stay in bed for a lot of time because they can't do anything else, but sleeping duration reduces with age ... Anyway I agree with the rest... You forgot to mention that they burst into tears if you talk to them like they are adults.	Age	Age - General	1/52	1.923
This woman is a complete idiot.....she's mad because she's an old hag and now wants to hate on people who are sweet and respectful of the elderly .	Elderly, Hag, Old, Old hag, Woman	Age - Over 65s, Gender - Female age and physical appearance, Gender - General	5/27	18.519
Because old people are like babies. They poo themselves, have to eat pureed food, try to bite you (actually happened to me), and can't take care of themselves.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/28	3.571
What the fuck did I just watch, I learned nothing , and still know for a fact that old people cant hold a damn conversation about anything unless I slow the conversation down 10 fold for them.	Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	2/36	5.556
people do that to me at all ages, im a 30 years old man and people are like "hi can i help you sweaty"	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/24	4.167
...Because you leave the world the way you entered it, infantile.As the brain ages, so do it's capabilities. It's not ageism . It's a fact. Unfortunate, but true.	Ageism	Age - General	1/28	3.571

Ever considered that it ages differently in different old people? I've known the funniest, wisest, hilarious oldtimers who would tell me stories of when they were young with humour, precision and reflection that might make a young whippersnapper envious. Not every old person is without capabilities - the brain may slow down but unless you have dementia you may be an interesting personality still. Provided people SEE you, notice you and even care to lend an ear. Which, sadly, happens less while you grow old . Former alpha males have complained to me that they seem to become 'invisible'. Others go and study some. There ARE possibilities. And we'll all age .	Age, Old, Whippersnapper	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	5/110	4.545
Ageism is the stereotyping of old people like... They never have sex ..all old people cant hear etc..	Ageism, Old, Sex	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Gender - General	4/17	23.529
Mostly i would guess because they behave as such. Sure you should treat anyone with respect. Though when mental capacities are deminishing and people can not be independent and self-supporting anymore, loose motor fuctions and perhaps the ability to speak, i can see how the behaviour of their surrounding would try to find ways to adjust to that. In germany already 10-20 years back there had been the realisation only because peopel are getting older doesn't mean they can't be productive. As so often productivity is one of the biggest factors people are meassured by, perhaps that should change, but how to sell that thought to an american it would be socialism/communism .	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/113	0.885
Just had to set someone in their early 20's at best to stop calling me " hun " and "sweetie". Ty for this.	Hun	Nationality - German	1/21	4.762
Becuase we care about the elderly you piece of shit.	Elderly	Age - Over 65s	1/10	10.0
"Honey""Sweetie""Dearie"These are also terms of endearment used to address a person's loved ones (who may or may not be old)The " elderly " is not offensive, it just means that they're old . Ageism ??? Enough with the millenial snowflake PC rhetoric/propaganda crap...	Ageism, Elderly, Old, Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - General, Age - Over 65s	5/43	11.628
Oh please another made up, overly exaggerated flawed concept made up by ideologues. Instead of making it some useless social justice nonsense why not simply go by the age old idea of simply 'respecting your elders'. This ageism stuff is just laughable.	Age, Ageism, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	3/42	7.143
We have enough isms. Your application for ageism has been denied.	Ageism	Age - General	1/11	9.091

Whew, there's a lot of irrational "ageism" in many of the comments below. While it's true that some older people develop clinically identifiable mental disabilities, many, or perhaps most of them, do not. Both my father and grandfather made it to their mid-90's, and they were both mentally as sharp as tacks when they finally croaked. I'm 74, myself, and am still in full possession of my faculties. In fact, my awareness and understanding of the world around me, as well as of my inner life, seem to be getting deeper as I age. Generally speaking, when I interact with younger people, I get the impression that THEY are relatively shallow and limited in their mentality. I don't exclude myself from that assessment. When reflecting on my past, I am often amazed at how ignorant, stupid, and "unconscious" I was in my earlier years. So, kids, never underestimate the wisdom and perspective gained with age.	Age, Ageism, Mental	Age - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/155	2.581
Well said. I guess for better or worse, ageism is one type of prejudice that (most of) the insensitive jerks among us will actually experience some day themselves. Not that that helps anything.	Ageism	Age - General	1/33	3.03
I agree with you 100. I am sixty and wow, do I feel much wiser today than in the past. We make it a point, we deliberately choose to further our knowledge and improve our awareness regardless of our age. We truly do learn something new every day if we choose to do so.	Age	Age - General	1/54	1.852
Just here to comment on the retarded title. People talk to and treat old an old person like a child if the old person acts like a child. I know many old people who act like wise elders and they are always treated with respect. Very retarded video.	Old	Age - Over 65s	4/48	8.333
I always shake my head when people start their argument with "150 years ago life was better, because..."We do not live 150 years ago. We live now. Society and the pace of life is completely different.Centuries past people sang the same songs sitting in the same taverns that their grandfathers' grandfathers. Now with fashion and ideologies rapidly shifting I do not have much common ground even with my 38 years older father. Why would I want to constantly hang out with people who do not know the same music, movies, books and problems (etc) that I know? Obviously I oversimplified this. I loved to talk to my Grandma, who was a very open minded person, and even if our older relatives are different, we can learn much from them. Or just have fun together. :) I do not want to deny the real issue of the need of common places all ages can socialise.However I still think it is true that currently the ever existing generational culture-gap is one of the biggest in human history.	Common	Social Class - Working class	2/178	1.124
What old people are they talking about. I'm 65 years old and nobody's called me honey, sweetie, or deary. No one treats me with kid gloves.	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/26	7.692

Dementia often starts after 70... Most people over 80 have dementia and almost everyone after 90 has some type of dementia... You should meet my grandmother who is almost 90 years old and find out how you would be on the future... Fortunately i am a guy and i won't live more than 70 years.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/55	1.818
Juddie: Are you a man? I think they do it more to women than to men. This is not only ageism , but also sexism . If they ever call you 'honey' or 'sweetie', tell them to f off. That ought to cure them.	Ageism, Sexism	Age - General, Gender - General	2/42	4.762
This is super interesting. Cited two empirical observations: how we address people affects their behavior, and that age classification only came about in the industrial revolution. Comments are dumb	Age, Dumb	Age - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/29	6.897
Every time I go to my father in law's apartment, he asks me how to search for videos on YouTube. I tell him. Then I tell him to log into YouTube, so it saves his searches and likes. Then he tells me he doesn't have a YouTube account. I tell him it's the same as his Gmail address, and he claims he doesn't have one of those either. I have logged him into his YouTube account so many times, I have his email address and password memorized. I see him on a weekly basis, and every time he claims he has no idea how to launch Skype on his laptop. I left him a shortcut on his desktop, in his bottom bar, and in his menu. He continually claims he has no Facebook. Every time I visit him, he says I never visit him. He says racist things very loudly at restaurants. We remind him every time, "People don't say that word anymore," and he rolls his eyes and says no one ever told him. You may think I'm being hard on a man with dementia or Alzheimer's, but he is not diagnosed with these issues. He's lazy, fucking stupid, he never listens, and he's a damn asshole.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/208	0.481
There are asses that will just stay assholes, alas. I pity the family they'll end up with once they grow old .	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/20	5.0
Well, he's your asshole!! stop acting like your never going to get old . It will bite you right back one day, and you will be that asshole...LOL just wait for it!	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/31	3.226

That sucks. But it sounds like it has a lot more to do with who he really is and probably not so much to do with his age. I work with a couple of software engineers who are in their 70's and are sharper than just about anyone I know, of any age. Forget USING YouTube and Facebook, they MAKE things that are that complicated. Conversely, I'd guess that your father-in-law unfortunately was probably a stupid lazy asshole when he was in his 20's.	Age, Engineers	Age - General, Nationality - General	3/84	3.571
Your point is that some people just atrophy, physically and mentally. This actually can be due to diet - being malnourished- as we are a nation of nutrient weak foods- fast foods and processing crap, etc. lots of sugar and refined flour. Point well taken. Since our health system is based on a business model and not a wellness model, it's no wonder that someone knows at least a few if not several of the same type of older people that you've described. It is also due to how one is socialized, what their belief system is and lifestyle choices. We are not encouraged to properly take care of ourselves in the U.S. We are encouraged to buy products and take drugs. Therefore, no wonder our older population seems diminished in their health. Even our children now - 54 of the kids today have a chronic illness. It's sad.	Nation	Nationality - General	1/149	0.671
jabuhrer1 I worked in social services for 27 years. What I have realized is that when you get older, you are the same person who you were when you were younger. Meaning, you carry a lot of things over from childhood to teen years and straight through to adulthood and into your golden years. I am not saying that people don't "change", some do, but basically many are who they were when you were young. An old crotchety person was probably a brat as a kid .	Brat, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	2/87	2.299
Dementia is considered a national crisis in the UK, it's far worse than a few isolated cases/individuals. Ignoring a crisis does not make it go away....although ignoring the problem seems to be the preferred solution to everything for the boomers.Secondly, people associate by age because of shared experiences - "Do you remember the day Kennedy was shot? Or When Niel Armstrong walked on the moon?" NO, those things happened decades before I was born, so it's impossible for me to remember."In my day women didn't act like that" Yeah well, it's 2019 and we do as we damn well please, keep your pathetic, archaic ideals in the past where they belong, the world belongs to us now.	Age	Age - General	1/119	0.84

Would you watch the damn video before downvoting?When I grow old I don't want nobody to talk to me like I was a baby. I remember when I was on high school this friend of mine who was pretty weird at times once said: "I don't get why people talk to old people like they were babies, and why people talk to babies like they were idiots".	Nobody, Old, Weird	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/68	5.882
The old woman presenting this video is such a sweetie. I think it's just great that she is still getting out there and contributing to society. Good for her I say.	Old, Woman	Age - Over 65s, Gender - General	2/31	6.452
Patronizing joke recognized. I agree. I hope the old dear knows she's still "making a contribution!" Isn't that special!	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/19	5.263
Wow. Apparently "Big Think" really triggers all the littlehateful right-wing snowflakes. Heaven forbid we mightexercise a bit of compassion with one another! Well, thejoke's on them. If they're lucky, someday they'll be old , too. Then they'll be screaming that they've beenleft behind by society, and that no one respects them,cares about them, or treats them with dignity. Karma!	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/63	1.587
You're gonna get old , too, honey.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/6	16.667
Polymelodic Sayon And what makes you assume I'm not already old , sweetheart?	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/12	8.333
To hell with you old people. You ruined this nation and much of our world. Your greed, ignorance, and selfishness has ruined economies, lives, the climate.... obviously, you can go 'well not all old people' and obviously, but too many did nothing . Too many did nothing to stand up against those shitty ones. And too many just went along with the shitty ones. And it's not like I'm saying younger generation is better. I worry my generation will fuck up the same. The only difference is, right now, we haven't done the wrongs, you have.	Nation, Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Nationality - General	5/95	5.263
LOL! Old people don't know the world is hard and difficult?! OH, NOW THAT'S RICH!!!!!!These are people who have lived through warsupon wars, economic depressions, and are alsodealing with the dissolution of their own bodiesand minds. If they are "fragile", they at leastbygod deserve to be treated with basic humandignity and respect.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/58	1.724

Ha ha ha. Nice try. You're such a snowflake you can't handle how some old people act, when you realise full well what they've lived through? How very immature of you.	Old, Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - Over 65s	2/31	6.452
Tía Solterona Wow, thanks for your sage advice, really glad to be given tips on how to improve myself by a complete chode. Congratulations on being the only person in the world with the correct opinion. If my opinion hurts you so much, I would suggest that you are the whiney little snowflake victim and should probably log off YouTube because you're probably a disaster waiting to happen.Or you could carry on trying to insult random strangers online as you don't seem to have anything better to do with your pathetic life.	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/93	1.075
Why do boomers treat Millenials like shyte? That's ageism !	Ageism	Age - General	1/9	11.111
Visiting my grandmother in her old nursing home was difficult. She has Alzheimer's but she's still very clever, and I hated the baby talk. Even my mom spoke to the elderly there as babies. It broke my heart, it feels so dehumanizing.	Elderly, Old	Age - Over 65s	2/42	4.762
I'm a liberal and I think this woman is an idiot. Jesus Christ.	Woman	Gender - General	1/13	7.692
Yes, we must only be kind to people who agree with all ourideas, and who behave as we've decided people must behave,in order to deserve basic human dignity. Nazi much?	Nazi	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/32	3.125
Tía Solterona therefore treating someone like a baby means treating them as if they don't deserve any respect or have no dignity? you're such a Nazi , sorry for your kids. =)	Nazi	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/31	3.226
Translation: Someone called me old and now my feelings are hurt.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/11	9.091
I must respectfully disagree. Just yesterday I had to politely tell a person in her very early 20's to stop calling me "sweetie" and "honey". This is not the first time. It's just as disrespectful if I referred to you or anyone else as "baby". Don't discount the experiences of we older folks. I've been your age . You have yet to have to travel the roads of more senior people. Ijs...	Age, Senior	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	2/71	2.817

The sad truth is that most of over pessimistic people that think bitcoin will bottom on $3000 or lower, $1000, or even zero should check themselves out of fairy tale story.. The bear market is beginning to end cos it is already exceeding the longest bear market in history. Time to accumulate cheap btc before it is too late, but what happens if it keeps skyrocketing to maybe its new all time high? That will be really great for an hodler. What if it falls again in a false bull run? The losers would be those holding coins and the winners would be the profiting trader because with his initial portfolio, he would have turned over profit maybe even as high as 400 and that is what investment is actually all about, making profit. There is somewhat a bullish sign but its not good enough to place a bet on. The most favorable approach is to buy more coins now and then, find a way to multiply your holdings so eventually when the bulls become stronger, we would have amassed a fair amount of bitcoins. Using this approach has been great for me because it has helped me avoid unnecessary expenses as i channel a certain percent of my earnings to trading and consequently,increasing my holding base in cryptocurrency. Something i have done that has really made a big difference in my crypto investment is trading with the system of a far more experienced trader with great success history. Mr Phillipp Krause introduced me to his system that has helped me triple my portfolio in just a couple of weeks. I have 11btc in my wallet and he is in a better position to assist you in creating a plan and working to achieve it like he did for me when i first met him. Contact is PhillippKrausegmailcom or whatsApp him +15183519039 My personal experience with him and the markets generally is that it is much easier to earn consistently good returns by following the trading signals and strategy of a much better, successful trader	Zero	Age - Youngsters	1/345	0.29
This woman doesn't need to be treated like child,my guess	Woman	Gender - General	1/10	10.0
It's not firstly about age, but mental acuity, physical health and siding on caution. For some old people I can talk like to anyone else, but my grand father f.e. is so temperamental and physically weak and clumsy, that if I'm not careful how I speak to him there's a good chance he hurts himself. In burst of anger he may try to do tasks which definitely shouldn't be in his current health and he's proven that he's become very prone to accidents. Just upsetting him alone could give him a stroke and he's easily offended because of his strong beliefs and values. And understanding that this is the case for many elderly people it's better to side on caution and start softly with random elderly people until you'll get sense of their current mental state.	Age, Elderly, Mental, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	6/136	4.412

Im more curious why do we treat elder people as a more homogenous group then they actually are, then why we shouldn't speak to them this way	Elder	Age - Over 65s	1/27	3.704
Why do 'Progressives' treat black people like babies? That's racism .	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/10	60.0
Yeah, yeah sure, BUT why doe we treat babies like elderly people?	Elderly	Age - Over 65s	1/12	8.333
Saying that all or even most people talk to all old people like babies is bullshit and doing that to some old people is simply necessary. Show me a person who after few minutes of talking to Jimmy Carter still talks to him like a baby.	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/46	4.348
So does that mean since I am over 30 I am old . You ageist ?	Ageist, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	2/14	14.286
Just another example of 'junk thought'. Instead of listening this, go and watch Susan Jacoby's lecture (or best, read her book) 'Never say die'. She addresses why this kind of thinking the person of the video is pedaling only applies if you " age well".	Age	Age - General	1/44	2.273
My grandmother was dim her whole life and demented at the end, but I never knew that and always tried to talk to her as I would a peer. It was the most frustrating situation to expect her to understand things she couldn't. Finally my son, age ten, asked me one day when I was close to a melt-down over a maddening phone call with her, "Why do you talk to Grandma that way? She can't understand you." I woke up and realized she NEEDED coddling. We got along better and my blood pressure went down after that. Moral of story: don't assume much in life. ASK people about themselves, and believe the answers.	Age, Dim	Age - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/114	1.754
People aren't born old , they grow old and they KNOW what it was to be young and the challenges then and now of life. I do see the segregation of the elderly (sadly) and there is a lot of influence from the media that encourages that. It is better that people associate with others of all ages to understand and appreciate who they are now and where they may be in life in the future. There is so much we can gain from each other of all ages and in helping one another, and it is a real loss to segregate ourselves out of one another's lives. We need the richness of one another's experiences and thoughts from people of all ages.	Elderly, Old	Age - Over 65s	3/122	2.459
the only thing i learned form my grandpa is to not get fat	Fat	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/13	7.692

Why do old people act like babies?	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/7	14.286
When they get real old their brains may not function as well, they still need to be Loved though.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/19	5.263
Birthdays are over rated - except for Prince and Princes, Kings and Queens. Get over thinking that your age is a defining factor; except for children.	Age	Age - General	1/26	3.846
I was brought by my grandma until I was 15. Now I care for my sick mom. I dont understand the problem at all. In my area, in my culture we are educated to be helpful and respectful to old ppl. Esp the sick ones or the ones who lived in the II war time. When the older ppl are in need of care we are to help them. Thats not treating like children. Old ppl often speak to young ppl in the terms of honey, dearie. And I think its ok, bc it tells of love. You stupid moron!	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/100	2.0
I am surprised at the number of commenters who seem to have missed the point of this video. There are people in their 90s who are mentally sharper than you. The point is that you should not assume diminished capacity based on apparent age , any more than you should assume immaturity based on youth. Start with an assumption of maturity, and then adjust your interaction based on the results.	Age	Age - General	1/69	1.449
I so agree with you. My grandmother who is 70 is taking a University degree and is as sharp as a knife, but when she was in hospital recently she was treated like a child. Don't judge people just because they have reached a certain age .	Age	Age - General	1/46	2.174
Here is the thing: assumptions are always based on the most common features. I knew a guy without legs who had jacked biceps and could do more pushup than I can dream of. Can I assume all people without legs can do that? No, because that's not a common feature. There are some very sharp 12 year old . But there are an overwhelmingly more not-so-sharp 12 year olds. And a significant downright immature ones. Statistically, thus, you are more prone to find teenagers with traits that are called "typical", and that's what people assume. Same thing with old people. It's part-and-parcel of being old . Just like an old person can get away with a lot of things that younger people really can't. I begin my assumptions at the stereotypical traits (because stereotypes exist for a reason) and then see if the person differ from them.	Common, Old	Age - Over 65s, Social Class - Working class	6/145	4.138
Karan Singh - You have illustrated exactly what I and the video talked about. When dealing with an older person, you assume incapacity and then after having insulted them, you expect them to prove you wrong. That is ageism . Read the last sentence of my original comment again. (P.S. I will be 75 in October. I know what I'm talking about.)	Ageism	Age - General	1/61	1.639

I find it hard to believe that she either missed or ignored the collapse of the extended family in the U.S. as a major factor in all of this. Once it was common to have 3 or 4 generations living under one roof. Children would see grand parents die at home. Now it is rare. But is that changing as the economy pushes kids back? Might we be seeing the return of the extended family?	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/75	1.333
Age is a social construct.	Age	Age - General	1/5	20.0
Because many of them act like babies? Hell even middle-aged adults often act like children, why shouldn't it apply to the elderly ?	Elderly	Age - Over 65s	1/22	4.545
Peter Frencken nah you're dumb , that video is crazy , and calling me a dumbass doesn't make you or those videos right. Ad hominem argument	Crazy, Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/24	8.333
Dementia (or worse) and incontinence. It reminds us of kids.It gets worse, some people assume control of elderly lives and treat them like prisoners. A scary thing, since ALL OF YOU WILL BECOME OLD . [LINK] "the elderly person may lose the right to manage his or her finances, to choose his or her own caretaker, and to decide where he or she lives. There's also the risk that the guardian will fail to act in the best interest of the elderly person."Imagine the kinds of predators that are DEFINITELY going to make some of you their prisoners in the future.	Elderly, Old	Age - Over 65s	4/102	3.922
In my experience, tons of old people use those words on anyone younger than themselves. Maybe it's a regional thing?	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/20	5.0
Ugh old people are so gross honestly.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/7	14.286
On the flip side, why do a lot of old people think they are sages just for being old ? Many are very incompetent and foolish.	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/25	8.0
Cockadoodle Even so-called " dumb animals" have more respect for each other than you do for your fellow man. "An eye for an eye leaves the whole world blind ". Your statements are quite immature; I do hope you grow up before you grow old , so young folks don't treat you as you are treating old folks, now. Cheers!	Blind, Dumb, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/57	7.018
Cockadoodle I find it quite hilarious that you get your panties in a big old twist when you feel you've been condescended to, or that you'vebeen talked to in a "fake polite" kind of way, but you can't understandhow this relates to talking baby-talk to old folks. You're actually, sadly,more dense than I'd first thought. * shrug * Have A Nice Day!	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/65	3.077

Old people, I'm 35 does that count? Who are we grouping here you ageist .	Ageist, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	2/14	14.286
we treat old people like babies because they act like babies. you help them walk because they cant hold their balance and a trip is a broken hip. when you go out to eat, you order for them because they cant read the menu due to the lighting or small/fancy font, nor can they hear the waiter speak to them in the loud room. you do their taxes for them because they cant figure out the websites/paperwork. you tell them when to eat and when to sleep because theyre always tired and have no appetite. you take away their car keys because they cant see at night nor can they react to anything happening in the road and have already had 2 accidents in just over a year. you force feed them their mountain of pills because they forget to take them or cant remember if they took them or not. you have to remind them that the conversations they hear through the kitchen sink all day are not real. That is what its like to take care of an 87 year old grandfather. That is REALITY. Fucking wake up grandma.	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/191	1.047
And the point is that you are talking about one case. But there are many people in their 90s who are sharper than you, and it's not fair to treat all as if they are the same just on the basis of age . I know some really ditzy teenagers, but I don't treat them all as if they have no sense.	Age	Age - General	1/61	1.639
Thank you for taking care of your 87 year old grandfather! I know it can be challenging but you are a hero, you are a real hero for helping others. Thank you! God knows everything and He knows you are a hero!	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/42	2.381
Silkendrum In which case I'm sure the 90 year old would be capable of defending themselves when they're being patronised.Surely to imply that a mentally sound elderly person needs protecting like a child is ageist	Ageist, Elderly, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	3/36	8.333
Abe Simpson approves this message+, moar 40-year-olds hanging around in kindergartens, and quotas for toddlers in med college	Abe	Religious Identity - Jewish	1/19	5.263
Obliviously there is some old people who are still really smart and wise, younger people know to not treat them babies. While other old people who are "slowed down", younger people treat them differently. But it's not condescension.	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/38	5.263

1) This is a per individual type deal as to whether they're going to be offended by it.2) It has to do with the fact a lot of elderly revert back to how they were as a child.3) If it's so insulting to someone, then why does she take no issue with an adult taking to a child in that way.4) People talk to their pets in similar fashion. Why is okay to interact with a human the same way you do a dog?More than anything, she just seems uncomfortable with the idea of getting old .	Elderly, Old	Age - Over 65s	2/100	2.0
I've wondered this too. Why do people treat old people like their a baby or something. My grandma on my moms side, has Alzheimer's and was and still is being treated like a 3 year old . Which is understandable, she has reverted to a sort of child like mindset. But what about the elders who don't have any particular mental disorder? Why treat them as if they're children? It just never really made sense to me. And it still doesn't make sense.	Mental, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/82	3.659
She had nothing else that made her a victim so she went with her age .	Age, Nothing	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	2/15	13.333
Because old people are shit. When I'm old , I'll be shit too. Please throw me screaming from a helicopter when I start calling my cable company just to break the silence in my home.	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/34	5.882
I have a beter point. Why do we treat babies people like babies? This is ageism !	Ageism	Age - General	1/16	6.25
Ageism is a biological/sociological mechanism for a species and it helps it prosper, it should be supported.	Ageism	Age - General	1/17	5.882
Age, yes. Ageism , no. There's a difference.	Age, Ageism	Age - General	2/7	28.571
Silkendrum They're implying a "survival of the fittest" ideal, where the elderly are less useful and being " ageist " to them is a good thing for the rest.I wouldn't be surprised if they preferred that the old and disabled be rounded up and shot	Ageist, Disabled, Elderly, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/44	9.091
Zeppy that would be an extreme case I would not agree with. Healthy ageism would be when you make sure old people are taken care of but are alowed to say you did not pick a candidate for a job because they're old .	Ageism, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	3/43	6.977

 kreglfromworld - It is ok to say you did not pick a candidate for a job because they cannot meet the physical or mental requirements of the job. It is NOT ok "to say you did not pick a candidate for a job because they're old." Age has nothing to do with whether that particular person can meet the requirements. To assume so is NOT "healthy ageism". It's vicious ageism. And that's the point. 	Age, Ageism, Mental, Nothing, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	6/74	8.108
 How dare you explain why I should be more sensitive to others! I take offense to that! Now I'm going to strawman your arguments and explain why you're wrong, even though I know you're right! Snowflake! 	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/36	2.778
 Someone has clearly never had to assist an elderly individual in a retail setting. 	Elderly	Age - Over 65s	1/14	7.143
 Better than calling them 'a stupid old HAG!' 	Hag, Old, Old hag	Age - Over 65s, Gender - Female age and physical appearance	3/9	33.333
 Because most old people are dumber than a doorknob. 	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/9	11.111
 Old people are basically retarded that's just the way it is. Ageism is just common sense. 	Ageism, Common, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Social Class - Working class	3/16	18.75
 So when I am talking to some noticeably retarded old lady that can't figure out how to login to facebook should I tell her how to do it without doing it for her or should I kindly show her/do it for her? 	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/42	2.381
 Exactly. Judging a person's capabilities by the number of wrinkles on their face is the same as judging by the color of their skin. Ageism is like racism. 	Ageism, Racism	Age - General, Ethnicity - General	2/28	7.143
 Old people are stupid + evilLook at what they did to the worldYoung people now suffer for old people evil 	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/22	9.091
 Do we really have nothing better to worry about right now? 	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/11	9.091

It's not " age " that's the cause, it's that humans are lazy, greedy, self centered, and stupid by nature, so they tend to avoid change - which is often challenging - therefore people end up sticking to what they grew up with, their own generation of beliefs, knowledge, skills, etc. Don't believe me? just look at how old people vote, how old people are with new technology, how old people are with their diet, knowledge of exercise, parenting philosophy, sexual attitudes — all reflective of the time in which they grew up. Now compare and contrast that with each following generation. Yeah, exactly, each generation, for the most part, sticks to what they grew up with and none of them expend the time, energy, or effort to truly learn of, let alone adapt to what came before or after their generation. Old people have no one to blame but themselves for being so stubborn to learn new and different things and for being too curiously lazy to do anything about it.	Age, Old, Sexual	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Gender - General	6/170	3.529
this is more like overthinking than anything. i have never once seen an elderly folk act offended over this, and you are completely forgetting that its all about intention.this is how our culture is, and it is considered "polite" to speak to the elderly in a gentle way, and this is probably why i have never seen anyone get offended or rebuke such talk. you are speaking for youelf, and maybe for a very small minority of folks who agree with you. as i said you are overthinking this. the elderly get the respect they deserve, they do not get treated like babies, they get taken care of as they should since they took care of us, and this is just how we know to speak politely and gentle to them.go ahead and speak formerly to an elderly person as if you are speaking to a 30yr and see what happens. you cant expect everyone who is aging to be able to keep up, time is not on thier side, time is the enemy and you know what i am talking about. dont make something out of nothing . if an elderly person addresses this to someone speaking like that, then obviously you respect thier wishes.	Elderly, Nothing	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	6/207	2.899
Lol I don't. FK old people.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/6	16.667
I used to work at an old folks home.. they would shit their pants everyday.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/15	6.667
Do you do that with everyone over a certain age , or just with those who have demonstrated difficulties?	Age	Age - General	1/18	5.556
Silkendrum just those who have demonstrated difficulties. I even do it with people my own age .	Age	Age - General	1/16	6.25
its the same with me, i do it with everyone that have difficulty we try to explain in a simple way its normal, even adult people like 20 years old that don't understanda certain topic.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/35	2.857

Tía Solterona Segregation (and specifically Ageism) existed since before Christ. It has nothing to do with the Industrial Revolution. The video is stupid. It's talking about diminutive speech towards elders like it's the only form of ageism that is worth discussing while ignoring why people react like that. Fun fact, that diminutive speech is given to most people who struggle to keep up with society - it's not exclusive to elderly people and many elders who show functioning capacity tend to get treated with more respect.	Ageism, Elderly, Nothing	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	4/88	4.545
I have never labeled people by age . Never thought about it to be honest.	Age	Age - General	1/14	7.143
Not every old person is the same but those with advancing dementia are simply beyond any type of reason. It makes no difference if you talk to them completely rationally or play into their delusions. The end result is the same.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/41	2.439
Tía Solterona So, again, read what I said. I prefaced it by saying "not every old person is the same" but I can tell you from personal experience that after a certain stage of dementia, especially Alzheimer's, you can talk however you want to the person, it's like talking to a wall	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/52	1.923
Old folks homes exist to assist the growing number of older people who cant care for themselves. How is that immoral? There is home health care that is more expensive because it takes more time. Old folks homes are less expensive because more people can be cared for more quickly because all resources are on hand. This isnt immoral, this is a requirement due to the sheer numbers of older people due to longer life spans. This lady be tripping.	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/80	2.5
To add to this point, when the baby boomer generation was taking care of their elderly , they more times than not had someone at home 24/7. One person could go out and make all the money, and it was enough to cover all bills and then some. Now everyone in the household needs to be a bread winner as salaries are well under costs for housing. Simply not enough time or people available to keep tabs on the elderly .	Elderly	Age - Over 65s	2/79	2.532
Because they revert to and ACT like babies....my sisters and I are dealing with it now with our 90 year old parrents.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/22	4.545
I work with old people. They do revert back to acting like children or babies. My friend got hit in the face over ice cream the other day. Thats just an example off the top of my head.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/38	2.632
My aunt told me she went to a nursing home and some old farts were fighting for a plush toy lmfao if I were there I would purposely taunt them with the toy hahaha	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/34	2.941

Izzys Mom Tattoos I've been punched in the face by a 30 year old who was parked in the middle of traffic eating mcdonalds w his (much younger) girlfriend. "You're cuttin' into me maccas time!!" LOLI ALSO work with old people. Not specifically, but I've yet to see one act like a 'baby' outside of old folks' homes or community organisations.	Old	Age - Over 65s	3/62	4.839
Mystery Yoghurt ive been thrown clear across rooms by a 30 year old ..	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/13	7.692
Izzys Mom Tattoos I was using the idiot 30 year old as an example of people in their prime acting like babies. Lol.If you work with people suffering from mental issues and use it to justify treating old people like babies, why not work with autistic people and use it as a justification for treating 20 year olds like babies? :P	Mental, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/62	4.839
Mystery Yoghurt i actually challenge you. To do some actual hands on work with Alzheimer's. Because you will either love it, or youll hate it. But at the end of it, you will have a real appreciation for the elderly and you will be sporting a purple ribbon, for Alzheimer's.	Elderly	Age - Over 65s	1/50	2.0
Mystery Yoghurt Lol. I love how she immediately pulled out her battered wife card. Not only that but she also acts like she's holier than thou with all those saintly deeds she does for old people	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/36	2.778
Izzys Mom Tattoos I guess I didn't imply it as obviously as I thought I did: I've worked 2 years with a community services group (clients of which are generally disabled people) which includes, among other things, elderly people with cognitive disabilities.I think it's fair to say that you can work with people CLASSIFIED AS DISABLED without assuming all old people are babies, yes? Old people do not just 'revert to babies'. If you work with the ones that specifically need help based on specific conditions, you should know this better than anybody. :P	Disabled, Elderly, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	5/95	5.263
Izzys Mom Tattoos The question is only how much that is nature and how much that is conditioning. Also, the fact that the people you work with need you to work with them (I assume) leaves you with a specific sample. I don't know if Jimmy Carter acts the same way - and if people treat him like a regular old guy.In the same way physically handicapped people often are more infantile than is age appropriate (not all, obviously) and I wonder if that has something to do with the fact that they are treated differently. Like in many of these questions it comes down to 'Is it nature or is it nurture?'.We act like we're treated and how the people around us expect us to act to a certain degree. The question is to what degree and how we should deal with it, right? I'd say it's a discussion worth having.	Age, Handicapped, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/154	1.948

Izzys Mom Tattoos I don't know what that has to do with anything we're talking about. If you meet a person, who appears older, then don't automatically treat that person like a child, is all this video was saying.Do we all here want to invest more in the care of all people in need and therefore in the help needed for old people? Of course! If it was for me, we had free health care all over the world and would invest zero dollars in war and all of it in the health of people. But I'm not running the world.And more importantly, that has nothing to do with the discussion we're having: Treat people like you want to be treated and according to their situation. If they're in need to be treated differently, do that. If you can treat them like everyone else, then do that. But don't reflexively treat old people like children. That might affect them negatively.	Nothing, Old, Zero	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	4/162	2.469
Izzys Mom Tattoos First you claim that old people revert to babies because you CLAIM that you work with Alzheimer patients.When challenged, on this, you say that other people should work with Alzheimer patients to understand your perspective.By SHEER coincidence, the person you challenge is someone who actually works with disabled people, and you begin ranting about Obama.You're just a right wing Political Justice Warrior, aren't you? Is anything you said true?	Disabled, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/75	2.667
Mystery Yoghurt i do work with Alzheimer's. I am opening a business.. and no one understands how Obama care affected the elderly unless you directly worked with it.	Elderly	Age - Over 65s	1/28	3.571
Mystery Yoghurt honey. Working with disabled people is not working with Alzheimer's. My best work friend has an autistic child..there is a major difference..	Disabled	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/24	4.167
Izzys Mom Tattoos Why do you keep trying to convince ME - somebody who works with disabled people - that I haven't worked with people with Alzheimers?What's wrong with you? Lol.It's like you're reading from a poorly optimized script."I am a nurse and a hooligan are you mad I plan to open a tattoo shop I am a single mother of [] children."I call BS. You sound fake. I bet you can't even outline the government standards and practices by which you are obligated to serve your clients. You would know them, and have easy reference to them, if you worked in the sector.	Disabled	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/108	0.926
Mystery Yoghurt your fine friend, i have nothing to prove. I actually have one child for whom my business is named after. But you dont care about that and i dont care about you. But your curious so. [LINK]	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/39	2.564

Free advertising these dumb libs dont understand that.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/8	12.5
Izzys Mom Tattoos LOL.I didn't question you on tattoos. I couldn't care less what some tattooist chick says. I'm calling out your BS in regards to you asserting - as a claimed nurse - that old people revert to babies. This is wrong.Instead of talking that through, you went on a 15 or so post pity party about tattoos and how nobody else understands you. Domestic abuse, politics, everything unrelated to the crap you spewed."Poor me! Poor me!"There's definitely somebody here acting like a baby. Demanding sympathy while you insult other people who disagree with you. Playing the role of the PJWarrior.My gramps ain't no baby. But you are. In fact, you're coming across as though you have some unmedicated psychosis.	Chick, Nobody, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	3/126	2.381
M M Oh, I totally agree. The US and its 4 of the world's population uses about 80 of all prescription drugs in the world. No one can tell me that that is reasonable or necessary. And that it's not the cause of the opium crisis and many other problems, including the one you're raising... ([LINK])You have any problem? Try a drug! That'll make it better, for sure. It's time that psychology plays a bigger role in health care systems. And greed a smaller one.The reasons for why older people tend to behave the way they do are obviously not explainable by one thing alone. Almost nothing is. But I think we underestimate the effects that people around us have on us. And we should start focussing more on psychology, manipulation, conditioning, status quo biases, stereotypes and so on instead of only physiology.But great point, a good addition, especially if you consider what behavior the manufacturers of the drugs might expect from older people and that they might create drugs based on a set goal of outcomes. Haven't thought about that aspect enough, so far. Thanks.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/191	0.524
Sounds like she has never had to look after an elderly relative.. I've just had to start and they clearly act like children (in some cases, certainly mine). I find myself having to say all the same things to my father that he used to have to say to me when I was a kid. things like, put your head over the plate, dont risk farting when you have the shifts etc... So this woman needs to get a grip of reality and try to understand how " old " people behave and therefore how we need to talk to them.	Elderly, Old, Woman	Age - Over 65s, Gender - General	3/99	3.03
Most old people I knew/know, apart from the ones wit dementia, did not have to be treated like children. You could talk to them like normal adults...	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/27	3.704

Lol ageism this is true however. Just because they're physically weakened doesn't mean they're dumb . Even for demented people you should consider something different than baby language..	Ageism, Dumb	Age - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/27	7.407
Sorry to detract from the seriousness of this video but, does anyone else think Elderspeak sounds like an ancient, arcane language from a fantasy novel? We could probably end ageism by uttering a spell in Elderspeak.	Ageism	Age - General	1/36	2.778 mfmageRaids I agree. And "darling"...? I think dear is on the same level as honey and sweetie. Baby is an weird , awkward choice to use for someone who's not your child or significant other. And it seems dated, like from the '70s: "You've come a long way, baby." Same for darling too, actually. Seems very intimate, so I'm not sure why he's okay with dear and darling, but not the others. ? Is it a Southern US thing, "How ya doin' today, darlin'?" I suppose if it's a cultural thing and just said generally to people, it's no big deal. If dear, honey, sweetie are used with a kind tone and intention, I have no problems with those nicknames. Certain people are affectionate in their speech and call lots of people sweetie. It's different when those names are used as a come-on to be more intimate with someone the speaker isn't close to, who may not feel comfortable with those pet names. Or used with a sarcastic, condescending, or passive-aggressive tone and intent. It's usually pretty clear by the message that the speaker/writer is using the names to hit on or to demean the other. But with an elderly person, asking, "Can I get you anything else, sweetie?" seems like something a caregiver, server, nurse, etc would say with concern for the other person. I feel it's all about the tone, intent, and general personality of the speaker.	Elderly, Weird	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/238	0.84
Babies are reverse old people	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/5	20.0
fuck old people, pull the fucking plug on em	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/9	11.111
wait until you get old , it comes quickly	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/8	12.5
for you don't care, fuck old people	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/7	14.286

While I'd agree ageism is a really big, ignored problem, age separates us a lot more than what she is saying. My granddad doesn't know how to use a computer. I, at 18, have only lived in a time with computers. While that doesn't mean we can't communicate, it does create an age barrier, and it's pretty large. Also, ageism goes both ways. A large amount of older people don't like or, in some cases, accept newer culture (ideas, processes, etc) just like a large amount of younger people don't like older culture. Time separates us, and, consequently, our viewpoints on the world can be entirely different. I feel like she is downplaying the complexity of the issue and ignoring the older generation's fault in the problem as well.	Age, Ageism	Age - General	4/129	3.101
I don't really feel that this video answered the question it proposed.When it talks about 'old people' who is it addressing?People over 60? Over 80? Over 90?The very elderly have much different mental capacities than younger people.Additionally, different generations have different sets of skills and innate frames of thought.For some reason, after a certain point, a lot of older people seem to disengage with learning how to function in the world as it changes. We all have that one relative who still can't work their iPhone despite hours of guidance.I feel that the 'baby talk' is probably born out of an urge to be better help/please the elderly , mixed with a frustration of not being able to be fully understood.	Elderly, Mental	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/126	2.381
Very good point. Added to which... not every ' old ' person is the same either.Some are sharp as a knife whilst others potter about without a clue.If I meet someone in their mid 80s and they are the former.. I will speak to them accordingly. If they are the latter... my tone will be more 'kindly'So yeah Im sure there are a minority of 20s-50s that automatically speak to anyone they consider old in a condescending way.. most of us dont.Lets make an issue of something that isnt an issue so I can justify being paid for my social study.Is what this video should have been titled.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/111	0.901
Don't confuse old people with people with learning disabilities.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/9	11.111
Would treating babies like babies also be ageism ?	Ageism	Age - General	1/8	12.5
Reverse ageism .	Ageism	Age - General	1/2	50.0
in fact treating babies differently from spider babieswould be ageism and speciesim	Ageism	Age - General	1/13	7.692
I treat babies like old people. What's it called?	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/9	11.111

Sami Tabbakh The point is that her argument is void. You can also ask, "why do we speak to babies like pets or as if they're an intellectually inferior species", but she doesn't. I genuinely feel like this is her speaking out of her own insecurities about how she thinks she might be treated now she's 55+ more so than her having an unbiased perspective. I actually remember being 2 and 3 years old and remember being like, "why do people talk to me like I'm a dog? I'm not stupid. I understand what you're talking about". It used to actually make me mad when people talked to me like that. I think she's just afraid of being so old that people openly acknowledge how old she is and how it's affected her	Old	Age - Over 65s	3/133	2.256
Yes. Your 3 year old could list off all the presidents and braches of government, speak different languages, explain HOW something works, explain the ecosystem. But so many parents put limitations on their children. Only teaching shapes, numbers, colors, etc. It's all in what system is put in place for that child. Imagine being taught about interest rates and bills early? My mother let me circle the things I wanted in the TOYS R US catalogue but she also handed me the bills at the same time so I learned how to write checks out correctly and pay bills! Start teaching young. If you're just giggle tickle and not potty training I feel like that's ageism by age 3.	Age, Ageism, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	3/119	2.521
I doubt very many three-year olds could do ALL that no matter how much someone tried to make them. But it would be nice to see them trying instead of plonking them down in front of cartoons and computer games. Car broke down? Give that 3 year old a wrench and let 'em repair or stay put.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/57	1.754
I think the more important question is: why do we treat babies like old people?That's ageism .	Ageism, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	2/17	11.765
Didn't some older guy lie about his age because he does not associate with his actual age ?	Age	Age - General	2/17	11.765
People have tried to identify as different ages or races, but despite current year's willingness to suspend disbelief on gender , age and race are still non negotiable.	Age, Gender, Race	Age - General, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	3/27	11.111
Blood Angel "People have tried to identify as different ages or races, but despite current year's willingness to suspend disbelief on gender , age and race are still non negotiable." Wrong.	Age, Gender, Race	Age - General, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	3/30	10.0

Most old people can't wipe their own bum , that's why we treat them like children.	Bum, Old	Age - Over 65s, Social Class - Destitute	2/15	13.333
All life forms are the same, regardless of species, race , gender , or, age .	Age, Gender, Race	Age - General, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	3/13	23.077
Because we think that all of them are senile and that we have talk slowly and very clearly for them to understand us?Not every one of them gets to that point though. No one would say that Schwarzenegger, Trump or Stallone are suffering from ageism .	Ageism	Age - General	1/46	2.174
I'd say it to Schwarzenegger to his face - he's both a moral disgrace and a fat and wussy has-been. Have you seen the saggy man boobs on Arnold at the beach? Shows what happens to people who took anabolic steroids in youth to impress the babes but shriveled their gonads. Any in shape 20-50 year old could take that old has-been fart to his knees by laughing at him or kicking sand in his face on the beach (a la Charles Atlas promotional cartoons in the day).	Fat, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical Features	3/88	3.409
Trump's mental state has definitely slowed down over the years. It might not be early dementia, but it could be. Go back and watch old interviews of Trump from the 80's and 90's. He was much more lucid, didn't change topics in the middle of a sentence, and overall came across as more competent.	Mental, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/54	3.704
LastBref What the HELL does Trump have to do with this dialog? Keep your Trump Derangement Hysteria and mental illness out of it snowflake .	Mental, Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/24	8.333

Jim D The original commenter was the one who brought up Trump. I was simply responding to his comment. But it's interesting how you use the word " snowflake " when you're the one getting sensitive here.	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/35	2.857
LastBref Pffth, why presume a negative connotation to the term snowflake . They come and go with the seasons.	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/18	5.556
Because when people get very old , they typically have lowered mental facilities along with traits such as a lessened ability to speak, being more immobile, being more dependent on people to take care of them and they start to drool and shit themselves. there are a lot of similarities between the very old and the very young	Mental, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/57	5.263
krollic These thing vary greatly from person to person depending on their health. Watch a video of Betty White from the past year or two and tell me she isn't still more intelligent than many young people even though she's 97, yet people who develop Alzheimer's can have symptoms decades earlier than that, so it's unfair to judge all older people by the ones who do have deteriorating mental abilities. Healthy people who stay engaged with the world around them can often stay sharp well into old age .	Age, Mental, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/88	3.409
Primalxbeast Which i why I mentioned we should eventuate people on a case by case basis. Betty is doing superb for a 97 y/o but that is frankly an freak anomaly and anecdotal. The overwhelmingly amount of people at her age are simply.. defunct. It's disingenuous to suggest otherwise.	Age, Freak	Age - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/49	4.082
krollic let me check my notes. It says 'eventuate' people by a case by case basis, Betty White is a freak anomaly and anecdotal, and the vast majority of people her age are defunct. So not a case by case basis?	Age, Freak	Age - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/41	4.878
Don't underestimate the value of doing nothing , of just going along, listening to all the things you can't hear, and not bothering.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/23	4.348

Discover Your Awesomeness why are you posting this on every video? You seem to be underestimating the value of doing nothing , my friend.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/23	4.348
Wow. Hope somebody reminds you of that when you're that age .	Age	Age - General	1/11	9.091
shiv ring Wow. I am old already but am more intellectually agile, fit and quick witted to make them respect me or make them look silly in front of their chubby girlfriends. If that holistic advantage of life experience and know-how fails me then I always have the ancient blessings of senility to forget who I have a grudge with and will outlive them all in a state of bliss. Respond to others and you enslave yourself to your own ego and insecurities. ;-) What do you liberal whack job and misdirected Social Justice Warriors think you are entitled to now? A new special age fear based term to push into the politically correct culture? Gerontophobic? :- DOld people who think they are special and deserve special attention never die – they just smell that way.	Age, Chubby, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical Features	4/135	2.963
Jim D Well aren't you special? I just realized I'm ageist cause I thought all older people are mature...	Ageist	Age - General	1/19	5.263
PecerSecer You're sense of irony and humor remains infantile if you think you can self ingratiate yourtself with a half baked insult. I'd say "grow up" under an optimistic presumption of maturing with age but I am a realist and experienced enough to know that at some point the old naive idealistic presumption must yield to the reality that old cheese really smells musty for a purpose - to keep the flies away, Shoo fly. ;-)	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	3/76	3.947
shiv ring You can't even spell it correctly It's not Zzzz is Buzzzz (off). I am doing my civic duty today and using credentialed criticism to improve the quality and the page hit rate stats. A social tax on those living on the dole as unemployed and social security riders. We can't afford to keep all the old folks in the assisted living quarters or from wandering off the reservation and ending up in jail for getting lost walking around town (the cost of free room and board for all the illegals would wipe out the DNCs plan to get cheaper labor for the old folks porters on work-for-prison release programs and voter ID). wink	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/114	1.754

Table 2: Summary of the results per sociolinguistic variable

Sociolinguistic variables (Hiper - Hipo)	KeyWords	Number of occurrences	Frequency	Frequency(%)
Age - General	Age, Ageism, Ageing, Ageist	104	104/17671	0.59
Age - Over 65s	Old, Elderly, Elder, Senior	224	224/17671	1.27

Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	Disabled, Mental, Dumb, Weird, Dim, Crazy, Blind, Handicapped, Freak	35	35/17671	0.2
Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	alcohol	1	1/17671	0.01
Gender - General	Sex, Sexism, Woman, Sexual, Chick, Gender	14	14/17671	0.08
Age - Youngsters	Nobody, Nothing, Whippersnapper, Brat, Zero	22	22/17671	0.12
Ethnicity - General	Racism, Racist, Race	9	9/17671	0.05
Social Class - Working class	Common	7	7/17671	0.04
Nationality - German	Jerry, Hun	2	2/17671	0.01
Gender - Female age and physical appearance	Old hag, Hag	4	4/17671	0.02
Ideological and Political Identity - General	Snowflake, Nazi	9	9/17671	0.05
Nationality - General	Engineers, Nation	3	3/17671	0.02
Ethnicity - Black	Black	3	3/17671	0.02
Physical Identity - Physical Features	Fat, Chubby	3	3/17671	0.02
Religious Identity - Jewish	Abe	1	1/17671	0.01
Social Class - Destitute	Bum	1	1/17671	0.01

Result analysis:

- Taking into account the words that were detected, we can reach the conclusion these comments are associated with : : Age - General;Age - Over 65s;Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments;Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol;Gender - General;Age - Youngsters;Ethnicity - General;Social Class - Working class;Nationality - German;Gender - Female age and physical appearance; Ideological and Political Identity - General;Nationality - General;Ethnicity - Black;Physical Identity - Physical Features;Religious Identity - Jewish;Social Class - Destitute;
- The percentage of hate speech related words is 2.5013.
- Considering that the variable Age - Over 65s has the most occurrences in the post, we can interpret that this is the predominant hate speech.
- Overall there were 446/506 occurrences of hate speech related comments.