This video is just idiotic, if you think the first female president is going to be progressive your actually living in a fantasy, the reason electability and like ability are so important this cycle is because the Democratic candidates are a bunch of far left loons and that most of us red blooded White Americans will never vote for such a candidate. If the National Democratic Party faced the facts, and realized that being for illegal aliens, giving them entitlements and mass immigration was not in the best interest of the country they'd come back to us blue dogs, boll weevils and conservative Democrats and put us in charge of the party	Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	2/112	1.786
Thank you for the great video. I agree that woman in politics are hyper criticized. I pledge to be aware of these systematic handicaps that minorities face everyday. I will vote for the person who seeks to push humanity in a direction of stability, sustainability, and harmony. "The misery that is now upon us is but the passing of greed - the bitterness of men who fear the way of human progress." -Charlie Chaplin (The Great Dictator).	Woman	Gender - General	1/77	1.299

Women should create a women's party it'll be interesting and we need a woman in office because I swear my gender is remedial	Gender, Woman	Gender - General	2/24	8.333

Okay how about Andre Yang. Pete sucks. He's even said he doesn't wanna come up with policies until he gets into office. Joe dose not care about the problems of today and refuses to see them and is stuck in old ways. Beto has done shady things regarding his campaign and hiding his donations and being involved with shady bundlers. You can't elect based on looks and yes I agree however, think about a candidate for what they can do for a country not because you think minorities should win cuz they never have. I don't like how no one is talking about Andrew yang when I think he's such a great candidate so please anybody look him up	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/119	0.84

I'm just worried people are gonna vote based on gender , both ways.	Gender	Gender - General	1/12	8.333
I do think there needs to be more women in politics - but I still think that gender shouldn't play a role in who you vote for. You should vote for whoever resonates with you the most, man OR woman . Gender shouldn't matter when it comes to who is the best leader for our country.	Gender, Woman	Gender - General	3/55	5.455
main criticism i see is against tulsi is that shes ""islamaphobic"honestly the only candidate i really like is yang and even then its his policies, not because we are the same race .	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/33	3.03

I'm an old white man, but like others, I have sisters & daughters. Even granddaughters. Yes, I have brothers, sons, & grandsons; but, all their lives they have had strong male role models. It's way past time for us men to step back & support inspiring, strong women as role models & leaders in politics & elsewhere. I'm excited to see the strong women in the running for president; and I look at those good men in the race & wonder, don't they get it? Do we need another white male president, especially when we have such excellent women in the race ?	Old, Race	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - General	3/102	2.941
British National Conservative Ken? Guessing you mean men? If you think I'm advocating that lesser qualified individuals of any gender be given preference over more qualified ones, you are mistaken. If you are positing that our female candidates are not as qualified as our male ones, again, you are mistaken.	Gender	Gender - General	1/50	2.0
British National Conservative I see the same stereotypical thinking in your comments. And, I wholly disagree. I don't subscribe to the old , tired, restrictive paradigms that splits everything into masculine and feminine mo!D's, completely separate from each other. But I doubt we will find common ground. Our premises are too disparate.	Common, Old	Age - Over 65s, Social Class - Working class	2/51	3.922
British National Conservative As I said, you & I do not share common premises. My estimations of our female candidates is unlike yours. I left old , binary perspectives on gender & attributes long ago. You are entitled to your opinion, but, we lack any common premises. I don't look at gender , masculine, feminine, etcetera in the same way. One can be feminine or masculine and still be strong or vulnerable. I don't accept the premise of completely separate, polar gender attributes. There are plenty of women in my life who are clearly women who are strong & fierce. You can complain about sexism , but YOU have a vote. Therefore, YOU can choose not to vote for a man, if you don't want to. I would say quit complaining about sexism , if you show them a woman can be elected as president, the sexism will fade.	Sexism	Gender - General	3/47	6.383
Maybe you should not have supported the woman who had the slogan "I'm with her" if you now want to cry about sexism . It's true that there is a lot of sexism , but it comes from people who complain about " old white men" without looking on their voting records. Never heard "now this" complaining about those people who are clearly sexist.	Old, Sexism, Woman	Age - Over 65s, Gender - General	4/61	6.557
Why should it matter what gender , color or sexuality the candidates are? The point is to vote for the person who will be the best for America	Gender	Gender - General	1/27	3.704

All I could think while watching this is the question, why is the fact that they are a woman important. What does a slab of meat between their legs have to tell me about what they are going to do for me if I try to get them this office, the answer is absolutely nothing . I say this as someone who's top pick is Tulsi gabbard 2 if you don't know is a woman , and the fact that she's a woman has literally nothing to do with why I'm supporting her. I simply do not understand this obsession with identity that's so many people have.	Nothing, Woman	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	5/105	4.762
Tulsi!!!! The sexism is bs I agree but why aren't we talking about true progressives liked her and Bernie!	Sexism	Gender - General	1/19	5.263
Ok so I'm not actually American, but I have to say, Bernie should be president. Yes he's an old white guy but he is better in every way compared to the other candidates. Also Hillary Clinton was a neo-liberal corporate shill who shouldn't have been elected or appointed to ANYTHING in the first place.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/54	1.852
I have mixed feelings. B/c we need to consider likeability/electibility etc. BUT i agree that there is a HUGE gender bias in the way that we talk about them	Gender	Gender - General	1/29	3.448
Cristhian José Samayoa Martínez likeablity is the one I really have an issue with because it's not only 1) highly subjective, but 2) the one point where you can only do wrong if you're a woman . E.g. if you just want to make yourself heard, you're easily portrayed as difficult and bossy. if you're showing emotions, you're emotional, if you're not, you're cold and heartless. Imagine Elisabeth warren climbing on top of a car - oh the outrage.That's why this bias does make a difference: many people have clear image in their head of what a woman should be like, behave like, talk like, look like. But you can't please everyone. And how can you be 'authentic' when you have all these things in the back of your head, knowing people are gonna tear every move you make apart. We just need diversity in terms of different women in important positions.	Woman	Gender - General	2/152	1.316
This has nothing to do with sexism and everything to do with basic reality. If you're male or female and aren't like-able, that's just it. Just because a larger percentage of woman candidates currently running are unlikeable doesn't mean a new woman candidate is. It's nothing to do with sexism .	Nothing, Sexism, Woman	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	6/50	12.0

And in a sense its that anti-establishment mentality that got our President elected and will probably keep him in office in 2020. It's all fine and well to have a woman in office, but it needs to slowly evolve towards that. Women have run for the position before, and before they weren't elected. It is what were use to, but now that we elected a business man, who knows what's next	Woman	Gender - General	1/71	1.408

Zachary Bushnell how do I not want to talk with you? Misogyny, Zero	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	2/60	3.333
Yep, you have an amazing young woman of color in Tulsi Gabbard that gets smeared when she's not being ignored. There's no doubt that sexism is a huge problem in society but it's hard for me to take these claims seriously by MSM when they've so clearly shown their hand on this stuff. Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez is making waves because she is young, charismatic and authentic. Elizabeth Warren is struggling because she is old , bland and TRYING to be authentic. Both of them, in case you haven't noticed, are women. This video makes an extremely weak case, it's just another example of feminism eating itself. There is no "Patriarchy" boogeyman under the bed. In 2019, a passionate progressive female political candidate is far more electable than any corporate moderate man. Gender is not the roadblock here - MONEY is the issue. Corporate candidates will get special treatment, progressive candidates will be thrown under the bus. That's how Hillary "beat" Bernie last time. Or was it "The Patriarchy " that told the DNC to rig the primaries in her favour?	Gender, Old, Patriarchy	Age - Over 65s, Gender - General	4/124	3.226
Likability and authenticity aren't just a code for men that's a real thing, plenty of men are unlikable, case in point Ted Cruz. Elect-ability is just code for establishment. Its fair to say that women should be given a fair shot but you also shouldn't just accept ANYBODY because they're a woman . Sarah Palin was a women for gods sake.	Woman	Gender - General	1/60	1.667

I saw an article yesterday talking about Biden and this newly coined word "electibility" I got the sense that this is happening mostly because of purple states and more center leaning people who are either "so concerned about what the voters on the right will think" so they will aim for someone that will get their votes because of their presumed racist and sexist ideologies or people who are themselves still lowkey race and gender biased bit don't want to admit it (even to themselves). 1. We shouldn't cater to the other side so much on this. I know we may need their votes but the only way to shift their minds beyond their clearly on the wrong side of history archaic mind sets is with a full step, not another half step like Obama. (I love Obama but but he checks more than half of the conservative boxes still which is why im suggesting he is a half-step)2. We need to focus on quality of issue ONLY! Focusing so much on race and gender with political races is part of why race and gender are such large barriers. Fix the issue by removing this aspect from the discussion, letting good ideas prevail, then let the natural course of otherwise random selection do its thing	Gender, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	7/216	3.241

"The media?" No one with half a brain pays any attention to CNN, NBC, CBS, Fox, MSNBC....It's garbage. They don't focus on policy to further America - they focus on the horse race and horseshit. Like this piece. Horseshit. I'll vote for Warren because of her policies. I won't vote for Klobuchar because of her policies. You keep focusing on gender - the rest of us have work to do.	Gender, Race	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	2/70	2.857
I noticed that the candidates themselves have no problem. You can't scream sexism every time there's a criticism. 'Like able' IS a quality for ANY election, the president of paper clips should be likable. If you think that the media should pander to women in this blood thirsty sport then go to bed. Hilary has run twice so this 'likable' bull you need to ask yourself are you looking for sexism ? Because one can ALWAYS find what they're looking for, always. P.S. what's 'likable' in men is different in what's likable in women. Maybe that's what you have a problem with BUT that's a WOMAN thing. FOR EXAMPLE, every time a female celebrity has the first child all they talk about in interviews is being a mother because that's what's 'likable' to women. Male actors have a new baby they announce it and move on to their craft as a subject. Because that's what's likable to men, work. Mayor Pete served in the Military likable for men, women could care less. AOC is then and pretty and the media (and women) treat her like she's the Kardashian of political, likable to women. Meanwhile, these women couldn't pick Nancy Pelosi out of a line up. AOC is even in on the front of tabloids.	Sexism, Woman	Gender - General	3/212	1.415
This is a weak case for gender bias. The likeability test is used against Bernie constantly. Beto has been rejected as inauthentic. Ya there's some obvious sexism but it's the same for any real outsider trying to shift the power structure.	Gender, Sexism	Gender - General	2/41	4.878

I like how conservatives complain about identity politics and then claim a massive conspiracy against white males. It's another fauxtroversy conjured up out of thin air so you can play the victim. So..... Sexism can never end until everyone stops seeing the world, through lens that are colored by gender norms. That were put into place by men and women. It always goes back to making women lesser and feminine qualities looked down upon. If a woman is less feminine, it's bad. If a man expresses any femininity, it's bad. KateI did not mean to offend you, I just feel that going with someone who has more experience(regardless of gender) and someone who has been supporting such issues when they were extremely unpopular(once again, regardless of gender or any identity related factor) should be the primary leader(president) because then Americans would be guaranteed there is someone who is going to fight to get these policies through congress and the Senate(a problem president Obama had). Identity politics is what has gotten 44 white men, 1 black man, and 0 women elected president. Not the time to admonish others for using identity politics when that's ALL WE'VE EVER HAD IN THIS COUNTRY.Anime profile that rants about "identity" = racist Incel keyboard warrior. Ughch.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/48	4.167
Zachary Bushnell actually, Obama makes it 1/9 black presidents since the Civil Rights Act, which is practically exactly in line with the population's proportions. Black people are technically not due for another president of their race in this lifetime...Women who have been candidates in the past typically ran on extraordinarily unappealing platforms. Half of them were commies...	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/58	5.172
Because... black citizens didn't have full rights before then?I guess you could argue it both ways, that Obama got elected because/in spite of identity politics... or maybe most people just liked his ideas more than McCain's? Who knows. I would've been perfectly happy with Carly Fiorina as president... and if a Democrat MUST win in 2020, I'd want it to be Tulsi Gabbard.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/64	1.562
George So...that makes it a good starting over point and we should ignore everything before it? 1/9 SINCE "equality" is pretty bad still. It should 2/9 black men, 2/9 black women, 5/9 women, 7/9 non-white. That would make more sense and STILL not tip the scales historically.Obama got elected because he launched the largest boots-on-the-ground, grassroots campaign ever. He knocked more doors and talked to more people than his opponent. He was a better strategist.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/76	2.632

The thing is, women are not even getting the same amount of air time as the male candidates, and when they do, they're asked more about unnecessary stuff rather than their actual plans, or become bound to sexist jokes. There are a good few videos on this that go in to detail if you want to watch them. They're also scrutinized way more than the other gender .	Gender	Gender - General	1/67	1.493
I think there's something more noble in what Fox is doing. Being the lone contrarian isn't as "damaging to our democracy" as being one of more than 10 outlets operating as the propaganda arm of the DNC.It's practically impossible to be oblivious to what the other side is saying, when you're watching Fox as the main source. CNN or MSNBC fans will conversely feel very reinforced in their beliefs. A second opinion that goes against NYT, WAPO, HUFFPO, CNN, MSNBC, CBS, ABC , Vox, Vice, Politico, PBS, every latenight host, all Google recommended stories and YouTube curated search results will seem insignificant and like tinfoil hat lunacy.People on the left don't even know that Tucker is regularly disagreeing with Trump and dropping truth bombs. Everyone on the right is well acquainted with the Don Lemons and Rachel Maddows...In a very roundabout way, what I'm saying is that if you have two sources as a right leaning individual, you're about 1,000,000 more likely to have something resembling a full picture than if you are someone who mainly watches left leaning media. If dems are focusing on why women arent perceived as electable instead of focusing on bringing jobs back, then yes trump will win again. Focusing on identity politics didnt work in 2016 and it wont work in 2020. Ohio and Michigan voters didnt care about identity politics and they wanted their jobs back so they jumped ship and went red . If you care so much about sexism , why don't you guys give more coverage to Tulsi Gabbard?Until then, stfu.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/20	5.0

Chris Rad what you call Socialism and what Socialism actually is are most likely not the same thing and Democratic Socialism is just Socialism.Him wanting to allow Violent Felons to vote while serving their sentences is beyond crazy , he lied about "Gun Show Loop holes", He's a Career Politician of 40 + years, which means he's never held a real job, He's a millionaire who got rich using Capitalism writing books, calling for Socialism and any Socialist who owns 3 houses is called a "Champagne Socialist" which means Socialism only applies to the Little People (that's you and me) then there was him being controlled opposition for Clinton, which is why he capitulated the nomination to her, then there's his thing about Healthcare & Education being a Right, which demonstrates he doesn't know what a "Right" actually is. If Democrats go the Identity Politics rout, they will lose again in 2020. Hillary Clinton didn't propose any memorable policies proposals, and relied totally on the fact that she was a woman . We see how that played out.	Woman	Gender - General	1/38	2.632

well, dipshit, Trump totally ran on WHITE identity politics, lying to the rubes in the old industrial states (where the industry AINT comin back in its old form)...white agreivement got him new voters. Jeff Valcarcel yet somehow he hasn't compromised his values but somehow the rest have. Also he ain't establishment. Establishment is going with traditional mainstream views that are safe, and according to the powers that be. Be that a woman , or person of color irregardless that follows traditional political convention, and mannerism often due to the incredible stupidity of over paid consultants who bleed your campaign dry without ensuring a win, and or political pundits so completely out of touch that dont recognize a changing political environment even if its directly in their face. To simplify it for you. It's the traditionalist in your workplace that dont want change the current ways of doing things.	Woman	Gender - General	1/114	0.877

blackearl7891 ...and I don't want to change the current way of doing things. I want to tweak it, I want to slowly morph it, but I don't want to completely refit Society in one Congressional term. Sorry, that's the quickest way to build an army up against your agenda. The way you enact sweeping social changes is to do it slowly so that nobody gets too upset. You'd think you guys would have learned this by now but I guess not. I'm going to vote for the person that I think has the best possible chance of getting their agenda actually enacted into law and not just be the subject of pretty speeches that never go anywhere. Bernie Sanders is not that man.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/123	0.813
Jeff Valcarcel This seems like a weird angle to argue. Small farmers typically means smaller businesses. The government should be supporting small business and encouraging them to grow. It is the big ones which hold a monopoly, and get massive tax breaks which deserve attention.	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/45	2.222
