Henry Mudgett I'm white and don't believe in tribalism. I think humans are idiots for do so. It's so primitive. Whites have done good and bad, but ultimately it doesn't matter,because the individual matters the most. I didn't do any of that shit you listed, so I feel no shame. However, I also didn't write Romeo and Juliet, go to the moon, think up the theory of relativity, etc, so I feel no pride. Why the hell would either of those things be attached to my skin tone, anyway? people are so annoying. They think if they have the same color they're the same. That's why people harass whites for crimes of their ancestors. Focus on the present. The past bleeds into the present, but you cannot punish the innocent for the crimes of the another. I am going to write a book, one day, and just yell at y'all about how you guys love tribalism and how it perpetuates xenophobia and bigotry. Every race has brutality and suffering in it and I'm sick to death of people trying to shame me just because people who looked like me were pieces of shit. I'm over it. I don't desire pride nor shame. It's a damn skin color. Its like being proud of all blondes. Meh. Yes, I went on a sleep deprived rant, that's what's up when I get my buttons pushed.Thanks for coming to my TED Talk.	Race, Xenophobia	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	2/239	0.837

Did you know?People can still have almost entirely light skin if one of their parents was of 100 African heritage.DNA works in strange ways.Nonetheless did you really expect someone with a 14 African heritage (meaning that right about seven out of his eight great-grandparents were white) to have any significant physical resemblance to that one great-grandparent specifically in terms of skin colour? The chance of that actually happening ist astronomically low, mate.	African	Ethnicity - Black	2/75	2.667

That's actually not true. DNA testing isn't so far advanced that they can tell you where you originated from. They are based on guessing, estimation. They test your DNA against other people's to see how much in common you have with them and guess from there. It happened with one YouTuber who found out she was 11 Scandinavian. Then came back with an update that when the database was updated the Scandinavian part didn't exist ,was eliminated. It's recreational science for fun but not accurate tests. Jesus is not white.Go read Isaiah 53 and the first chapter of Revelation and you will see that it is about Jesus.Jesus is not white.Jesus even taught, read and healed in the synagogues on the Sabbath day.Here is proof below:16 And he came to Nazareth, where he had been brought up: and, as his custom was, he went into the synagogue on the sabbath day, and stood up for to read.17 And there was delivered unto him the book of the prophet Esaias. And when he had opened the book, he found the place where it was written,18 The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he hath anointed me to preach the gospel to the poor; he hath sent me to heal the brokenhearted, to preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty them that are bruised,19 To preach the acceptable year of the Lord.20 And he closed the book, and he gave it again to the minister, and sat down. And the eyes of all them that were in the synagogue were fastened on him.21 And he began to say unto them, This day is this scripture fulfilled in your ears.22 And all bare him witness, and wondered at the gracious words which proceeded out of his mouth. And they said, Is not this Joseph's son?23 And he said unto them, Ye will surely say unto me this proverb, Physician, heal thyself: whatsoever we have heard done in Capernaum, do also here in thy country.24 And he said, Verily I say unto you, No prophet is accepted in his own country.25 But I tell you of a truth, many widows were in Israel in the days of Elias, when the heaven was shut up three years and six months, when great famine was throughout all the land;26 But unto none of them was Elias sent, save unto Sarepta, a city of Sidon, unto a woman that was a widow.27 And many lepers were in Israel in the time of Eliseus the prophet; and none of them was cleansed, saving Naaman the Syrian.28 And all they in the synagogue, when they heard these things, were filled with wrath,29 And rose up, and thrust him out of the city, and led him unto the brow of the hill whereon their city was built, that they might cast him down headlong.30 But he passing through the midst of them went his way,31 And came down to Capernaum, a city of Galilee, and taught them on the sabbath days.Luke 4:16-31BTW I have white skin and declare that Jesus is Lord of lords and King of kings.Jesus said:43 Ye have heard that it hath been said, Thou shalt love thy neighbour, and hate thine enemy.44 But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you;45 That ye may be the children of your Father which is in heaven: for he maketh his sun to rise on the evil and on the good, and sendeth rain on the just and on the unjust.46 For if ye love them which love you, what reward have ye? do not even the publicans the same?47 And if ye salute your brethren only, what do ye more than others? do not even the publicans so?48 Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect.Matthew 5:43-48Am I therefore become your enemy because I tell you the truth?	Blind, Woman	Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/624	0.321

They are so accurate in fact that they can even tell you what tribe some of your ancestors belonged to. These tests tell you where you are from not the culture you are born in. It wouldn't tell an adopted kid who their parents are it would tell them who their biological parents are. Make sense? Culture and ethnicity are different than ancestry and biology. That's is funny. :-))What you have too remember is a race is different from a ideology religion these are IDEAS and all of them are flawed.So Communism, Christianity, Islam, Buddhism, Socialism etc are all IDEAS not a RACE . Alot of people don't understand the above statement which is why the term racism is used with anti Islam feeling in particular at present. The term Islamophobia is the wrong term as well because a PHOBIA is a medical term for an anxiety disorder which is fear of a situation which at times are irrational. Rejection of Islam is not irrational as it has not been a positive force over the last four hundred years, it has only caused misery and hate in recent history. As an atheist I reject all religion, a community being changed by an incoming negative IDEA for their owns ends can only lead too problems.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/151	1.987

This is theatre, this is a j ewish man, (he pretended to be a white man of european descent with very visible-vocal controversial views to advocate the anti-white propaganda agenda that globalist communist j ewes are promoting) but he is not white. J ewish ppl are not white persons of european descent, they are turko-mongolian mixed race , over a period of time some j ewish ppl intermarried with european whites and after a few generations feature changes, but still dna identifies them. Most non-whites think (when they see a j ewish person) that they are a european white person. But j ewish persons are not Europeans and never were. If a j ewish person lives in say France, he might say 'I am European' but geography does not turn him into a native Frenchman, he is simply a j ewish person residing in France. Any european looking at this man on stage can quickly identify him as j ewish by physical features alone. So can these results even be trusted? No, I think not.Does this man look nearly 1/7th black to you?	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/50	4.0

Lexi Baldwin-Money Impossible. Blond hair is a recessive gene, you'd have to have two parents who carry the gene to end up with it and even then it is only a 25 chance. If you are 50 black that means one of your parents would have to be 100 black , but blond hair isn't native to Africa and therefore not found in blacks.At most you might be able to be 25 black and have blond hair. And that is not even taking into consideration any of the other incredibly unlikely gene combinations you'd have to have too.But yea... Absolutely impossible for you to be 50 black and have blond hair. You'd have to be 25 or less, probably much less given the number of other characteristics you've provided. That or just plain lying.Also the probability of being 25 black and having blond hair is about 12.5. The odds of having the blond hair and other features... You are now in the less than 1 chance territory.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	5/169	2.959

14 is actually not enough to be considered a race . You have to be at least 33 to claim racial heritage.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/21	4.762
Some random Guy No, actually if you look at any western government, you need to be at least 33 DNA to claim heritage to that race . In Canada, you cannot claim Metis status for example unless your 34. A small amount like 1 to even 14 is not enough. Now in the case of white supremacists, they tend to think their blood is pure, so while this guy's blood is definitely not pure, he definitely is not black either. He is mixed heritage, but can claim a Caucasian heritage all the same.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/92	2.174
We're talking about claiming race . not claiming features. I have 15 Norway in my DNA, but I can't claim to be Norwegian. You need at least 33 to claim racial identity. And as for the so called "white supremacist. He can now safely say the N word cause according to leftist logic he is part black and so has the right to call other black people the N word and he can claim racism when he is denied services or jobs based on his skin tone. Cause you know. He's partly black .	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/92	5.435

Pout all you want but you can't have it both ways. You can't call the guy black or have a black heritage to claim, and then deny his right to the heritage. This is why 33 DNA is the standard in many countries when it comes to racial claims.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/49	4.082
Gry Phyn What you described is race as a cultural term and not genetic so percentage doesn't make any big difference if you have visible features from that other race . It's cool to learn your family history. Phenotypes can fool people and it's very culture dependent. Skin is a polygenic trait so sometimes people who are light can have a child slightly darker just because of how the genes mix. 86 is actually a really good number for our modern time... not trying to support the dude, but we all have a little black in us, then we scattered around the world, learned different skills, was exposed by different climates and evolved in different ways. Either way, if we dig deep enough, scientifically speaking, we all have a little black in us. We just range in different ethnicities from where our ancestors scattered to and how they evolved as a group of people. Tbh, the dude most likely knew he would have a bit of black in him if he knows anything about evolution, and that's most likely why he agreed to take the test. But 86 is quite a very high number of European DNA in our diversity stricken society.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/131	2.29

DHJEEW This is theatre, this is a j ewish man, (he pretended to be a white man of european descent with very visible-vocal controversial views to advocate the anti-white propaganda agenda that globalist communist j ewis are promoting) but he is not white. J ewish ppl are not white persons of european descent, they are turko-mongolian mixed race , over a period of time some j ewish ppl intermarried with european whites and after a few generations feature changes, but still dna identifies them. Most non-whites think (when they see a j ewish person) that they are a european white person. But j ewish persons are not Europeans and never were. If a j ewish person lives in say France, he might say 'I am European' but geography does not turn him into a native Frenchman, he is simply a j ewish person residing in France. Any european looking at this man on stage can quickly identify him as j ewish by physical features alone. And as we all know, all msm, hollywood, airwaves, printing houses, are completely 100 j ewish owned.	Communist, Race	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - General	2/181	1.105

But to be fair other animals (ahem, we literally are animals too..) aren't better, they kill for pleasure and all kinds of things too its just we tend to be more complex and those complexities get used against us because lack of education and far too much manipulation by greedy brain damaged individuals who realize keeping us squabbling over ignorant things helps people not notice what they're doing. And yes, it's brain damage that some humans have brains that don't have the ability to empathize with the other humans. Purplesloth I think you have things very wrong.. I believe in nationalism and I'm no racist . If anything, I'm the total opposite. We aren't " racist "... we also believe that every race has their beauty and blessed heritage. Us "alt right members", they are looking out for our own race right now, but most of them, they believe in preserving every race and heritage of mankind. If you ever do look up the alt right, look up jared taylor. I don't follow that party very much, I just do my own thing, but nationalism is all about one race under a flag. Where you won't have to deal with discrimination or oppression. We have tried to create a melting pot and we are currently at eachother's throats. White cops killing black teens? Jews hating on blacks? Korean shop owner shooting a black woman for nothing ? I can't speak for all of the alt right... but I can speak for myself, and I believe that we can love each other, but from a distance. Before we have some stupid civil war break out... how about we face the real issue.. it's not the black group or the white group... it's the idea of true diversity. With diversity we all have to water down our true cultures to fit another individual's wants. I'd rather have every race embrace their love for their race and culture. Every heritage is a beautiful thing, and that is why I believe in what the alt right is standing for. Nationalism is a scary word and I understand that, but it's only scary because you've been taught that it is scary. It would give everyone just a little slice of racial peace and love. I don't care what race you are either. There are black nationalist out there as we speak. Martingoldfire those where species, not races, ignorant. Humans aren't a race but a species, and species have subspecies and races, as long as we know, we haven't subspecies, but we surely have races, you can see it and probe it with science. kayla koechig Honey, I agree with your ideas...but the alt-right doesn't. Yes, the alt-right want to preserve race and culture, but only their race and their culture, they don't care about the other cultures and races and even would end with them if they could, that's the problem with them and that's why neither you or anyone should support them or join them. Yes, there surely are alt-right members that want all races and cultures to be preserved....but they're a minority, a small, small minority.	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/85	2.353
Martingoldfire those are species. Race is a genetically distinct population within the same species, and ethnicity is based solely on culture. So, given the example above; Irish and Italian-Americans are different ethnicities, but the same race and species. Where as a European and a Sub-Saharan African are different races and ethnicities, but the same species.Of course the water gets muddied up a bit when we're talking about someone who is 15 African , 22European, 53 Asain, and 15 Native American for example and they are becoming less and less distinct in many cases but the distinction can still be made	African, Ethnicity, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/100	5.0
kayla koechig That's not what nationalism is. If you're a white nationalist, you're inherently racist by definition... kind of. Nationalist is believing your country to inherently be superior to others. Racist being that you believe your race to be above all others... so I suppose you can technically be one and not the other, but due to the somewhat loose definition of " racist " and it not being inherently race related, the way you're seeming to use means that if you are a Nationalist, then you are also a racist . And as someone else pointed out, that may not be what you believe.... that's not what the Alt-Right believes but I suppose you can justify your actions as well as their's however you want....What you're describing would be, I guess, segregationist for the lack of a better term. That all races are equal in stature but shouldnt be mixed... and that's actually a founding principle of fascism which would, perhaps, be a better word to describe you if you also believed in authoritarian (or psuedo-authoritarian) political powers. I'd have to open the biology book and unfortunately I don't have it with me at the moment. Checkmate? I see more of a logical fallacy right there. kayla koechig sorry hun , you folks are a special kind of racists..racists in denial. Hun, Race	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - German	2/88	2.273
Never forget to do face pulls I can't believe people like you hold on to a archaic notion that has been demystified years back. " Race " doesn't exist from a biological standpoint. Humans are all so genetically similar and so intermixed that they have no subspecies, and no races. What we CALL ' race ' is actually just a rough set of traits related to locality - and even then, very loosely. We're not even as different as different breeds of dogs (sometimes the term ' race ' is applied to breeds - but even then, humans have no breeds, either).We're more like dogs of the same breed with different coat colors, like a blue merle versus gold border collie. Any difference among animals similar to what humans call 'races' among themselves would be too insignificant to even mention in taxonomy. Yes there is significant genetic diversity but it hasn't reached a threshold for scientific classification. That is, there hasn't been any actual major 'isolation' event that has 'separated' the human chain or descendant for long enough to develop radically different 'sub-species'. It's below what taxonomists would call "subspecies" as for now. The day the genetic diversity is great enough to be of taxonomic significance is the day it moves from "social construct" to scientific classification. [LINK] [LINK] (This helps explain why it isn't accurate when applied to humans—because, as the above articles point, out there is no genetic distinction, only trends within populations). DarthVader actually, I just care about my children actually looking like they are MY children. There is nothing racist in preferring or marrying in with your own race. If YOU think that every race is beautiful in their own way, why would you want to mix all of us up? Where's the diversity in that? Not to mention, do you see the social tension all over Europe and America? This is why I advocate for the nationalist group. Have we learned anything from history? Seriously. I'm not advocating for violence but I swear... every minority hates the white race in today's world. That is why I support this movement. I don't want my white children to be harassed as they grow up. And yes, they will be white. I'm not throwing away my heritage like that. kayla koechig Your children are your children regardless of how they look. Definitely nothing racist with preferring a race for marrying. It's a preference, that's fine.The social tension in Europe and USA is much more complicated than just races.You advocate for the nationalist group with valid concerns, but the wrong ideas and reasoning. That's why I said that you would be a great villain. This white hate is temporary. That type of thing happens. Not 70 years ago, we were all segregated by race. Give it time. Not wanting your white children harassed because they are white is silly. People will harass each other for the silliest reasons, some outside your control, like sexuality. They could also have unspeakable things done to them, outside of your control. Just saying this because you seem to have an unrealistic view of how things work in society. Another kicker: heritage. "Heritage" is nothing. Your father, your mother, nothing integral to who you want to be. You may choose to make them so, or just emotionally, but you are just trying to make yourself fit into something or believe it. You can be what you want to be, barring your personal limits, which you should know by self-reflection and self-discovery. Your ancestry, your skin color, your language - it doesn't mean anything. In the end, you're your own person, and you can attach yourself or not to a variety of things, and heritage is simply a frail option. Welp.	Nothing, Race, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	6/247	2.429

LUM26 Akua having love and pride in your people is actually very important. Connecting yourself to a group you relate to is very important. It has a whole lot more to it than what you may think. I'm not promoting violence and I have love for every race, but of course I want the best for mine. If you believe that this white hate is only temporary, you are quite gullible. Propaganda can be very, very powerful. We see I'm in the movie theater, news, and hell, even at the place I work I get questioned by Hispanics on who I voted for(which I didn't even vote for trump)and how I must be mixed because 'white people aren't as pretty as you'... it's not gonna just fly away. It is only going to get worse before it gets better. France is rioting with the yellow vests simply because of this on going issue. Race isn't just some social construct that people make it out to be. We are all beautifully different but our cultures can sometimes not be compatible. That is my overall argument as to why I believe in what I believe. I'm tired of children in America being kidnapped to Mexico and I'm tired of Europeans getting raped and beheaded for walking down the street. I get that not everyone is like that, but time and time again we are proven to be wrong. The amount of terrorism has sky rocketed in this country. We need a break and we need to figure something out. Also trump and Hillary need to be behind bars. Both are guilty of illegal actions. While we are at it, everyone in our government needs to be thrown out and new people need to be thrown in or else this cycle will continue. Our whole government system is filled with fleas. Either way, thinking that all of our problems will just disappear is literally the definition of unrealistic. It's either we fight against it, or we go with the flow and sooner or later get treated like shit every day of our insignificant lives. kayla koechig Why is having love and pride in "your people" very important? Why is "your people" defined by those related to you? What if those related to you are multi-racial? Simply, your whole argument falls, because there isn't any depth to it. It's not about hating or loving any race. Yes, white hate is temporary. I'm white and I live in Puerto Rico, whites are the minority here. It's just the outrage culture that has you thinking that way. People are still violent towards blacks for their skin color, still violent towards gays, it's just how it is and how it's gonna be, and you're just falling for confirmation bias if you truly think that whites are targeted more than any other race. Yes, I know that propaganda can be very powerful and that it fools people like you, but I don't believe you to be fully gullible. Getting through all the shit to actually find information that isn't biased is extremely hard in this heavily-politicized era. "Some people were racist to me."Yes, this happens. People have been racist to me, too. The more German side of my family has been very racist towards some of my other family. My grandmother was denied a friend because he was black. It's just how stupidity and misinformation spreads. People will insult each other based on stupid, superficial things like race until we grow out of it. For a society that was not accepting of gays, trans, and even non-whites not that long ago, I'd say that we're progressing pretty fast and we're gonna stick to that road, unless 200 nukes go off.Anyone who thinks that this age isn't the best for the most people in the world is factually incorrect. World poverty and world hunger have never been so low. If you just took the time to read different things and not just what the outrage culture media feeds you, you would see. Race is a social construct. Our differences in the end will most likely be minimal. Culture = = race. Not all white people are the same, this goes back to racism. You're assuming that race divides our cultures, but it is not the case, culture is so many factors, even people who were relatively close to each other in terms of location and skin color, the Native Americans, had drastically different cultures and societies. Vikings were not like Germanic Christians of old, and both were white cultures. You're tired of American children being kidnapped to Mexico? What about Mexican kids being kidnapped in Mexico? Just, I don't see how you can believe what you believe. That type of shit happens, yes, but it isn't as simple as "oh they're to blame because of their skin color", and I find it suspicious that you bring up only black-on-white hate, but I'll drop it in good faith. Americans also kidnap and rape American kids. Americans kidnap and rape Mexican kids. World terrorism and overall violence is the lowest it has ever been. Thanks to information spreading and quality of life improving across the board, but you people refuse to see this and just listen to what the media tells you. I'm not telling you to ignore everything that you see that tells you that bad things are happening, but you definitely seem to be heavily influenced by part of the outrage culture in America, in particular the "white genocide" type of paranoia (notice that I said "type", it definitely isn't exactly that, but it's very similar). Not sure how you can ignore that humanity is heading to a golden age for society. Hopefully nukes or paranoia don't ruin that.

kayla koechig "actually, I just care about my children actually looking like they are MY children."This tells me everything about you. So you're basically saying you won't be able to love your children just because they slightly deviate from your appearance? You seem like the woman who'd dump their baby if he doesnt meet your expectations in looks. Do you know how superficial and heartless that you are? "If YOU think that every race is beautiful in their own way, why would you want to mix all of us up? Where's the diversity in that?"Huh, what kind of idiotic logic is that? If every group of people is beautiful in their own way, then what's stopping you from being in relationship with them? So you are accepting of differences in people but not accepting enough to be in relationship with them? See, this is where your logic falls flat. If you're truly accepting of differences in people, you'd be capable of accepting of those differences in loving them too. So logically it follows that you believe your group of people are superior in terms of looks/culture, otherwise you'd be capable of seeing everyone as equals, but you don't. Do you know who believed the same? Hitler. That's right, people were discriminated based on eye, hair, skin color, culture and many other superficial traits which was one of the main reasons for the Holocaust. It's so obvious to see you're using the "preserving culture/diversity" argument to mask your true beliefs.Second, you don't have the faintest idea if you think culture/heritage is lost being in intercultural/interracial relationships. I'm from a family who has seen plenty of intercultural marriages and I can guarantee there's mutual respect and love for each other's culture. People who are open minded and truly love each other won't let any sort of differences get in their way to be with them. Anyone who uses "preserving culture" argument against those marriage tells me they're either lazy to put in the work/judgemental/xenophobic/ethnocentric deep down. There's only conflict in cultures only if you can't overlook/negotiate them. I even know hardcore atheists and theists doing well in relationships.Even assuming your culture gradually dies away and a new culture takes its place in the future generations, why should it even bother you? You aren't around to see this new culture anyway. This is how it has always been in the past, cultures evolve and new cultures are birthed. It's called "cultural heterogenization". Read your own European history on how your culture came into existence. So give me one logical reason why someone should give two shits about their heritage. How and why should it matter to you? How Is it in anyway benefitting you now by fearing for something that may or may not happen in future generations? "Have we learned anything from history?"Let me tell you what we have learned from history, if anything, Almost every war that started in the past are because of either nationalistic or religious reasons and even to this day we have conflicts between different nationalities and religious groups. This irrational nationalistic sentiment creates an "Us vs them" attitude which serves no purpose other than divide people. There are billions of people who agree and some aren't even the same race as me so let's not pull the racist card for the 7 billionth time. Whenever I hear the word diversity or multiculturalism, it makes me worried and stressed about not just for my own people, but for those who aren't. I have many, many reasons as to why I am absolutely against that term and that action. Although for now, I really wish you the best out of life. Because with that strong belief, comes more violence than ever. The only difference is that it is wearing a mask that was drilled into our brains. I used to think the same as you but as I grew up I started to realize the issues we are faced with and what is really causing them...either way, God bless you and have a good night! Robert Barber That's not what I was talking about bro, I was talking about classification. In the US there was the one drop rule, but here in Brazil if you look white (i.e. lighter skin) then you're white. It's uh, an interesting system to say the least. Of course anyone can be racist unfortunately. Here despite all the race mixing you have white supremacists. And they are exactly like this guy: most have some black heritage. Almost everyone here has African and Portuguese blood (also indigenous). The Portuguese used to bring slaves from Africa and have children with them, usually via rape (ew). My mother always told me I was white. But yeah, you can't know where a person is from, or their ethnicity , just by looking at them. If you are visibly of colour in Brazil, expect to see casual racism , like nicknames based on race . The nickname thing is common throughout Latin America. Although there's also overt, violent racism , and there's racial profiling done by police. Gets worse if you're from poor areas. The Weirdo I hear ya. When you serve in the Army you work with people from all walks of life and you develop a comradeship so color doesn't matter. I think the one drop rule is a thing because if you're white with some black it is very difficult to pass as only white but if you're mostly black with only a little white well then no one even notices they just assume you're black . Black culture here is also very different here than other countries so that might have something to do with it too. There are also some black folks that grew up around money who couldn't identify with that culture if their life depended on it. In other words their whiter than most whites culturally speaking. Maximiliano Ríos Vera It's illogical for you to say that I'm not black , because first of all, I'm not trying to pretend that I'm something else to spout racist rhetoric. If I was doing that, you could call me out, but even then, there is the sad paradox of internalised prejudice. Prejudice against oneself. Again, I'm not being racist so there's no need for you to say I'm attempting to use the "as a black man" excuse. And second, if you argue that I'm not black due to being lighter skinned (but still brown), and for having a white parent, then you are being colourist and prejudiced against those who are biracial. Thirdly, you don't know me, and I've never even heard of you, I don't know anybody called Maximiliano. I do not have any reason to lie on the Internet, much less about this topic. Besides, I've included too many details about my personal life, things that don't even matter, really. I've also provided background on my country and the way that race works here. I dont get it. 14 black roughly corresponds to one great-grandparent being black . Then what if that great-grandparent also took the same test? Would he/she be 100 black ???With this test there should logically be either a speficit point in time or a specific generational level that "counted" in the sense that any modern-day persons ancestors living at that particular time or generation from the test-subject, would be considered simply " black ", "european" or whatever, based on some clear criteria (probably their geograpical living area). all sorts an that that's not how genetics work. Your phenotype is different from your genetic make up. Things like skin and hair color are polygenomial so there's several genes thay determine it, not just one. And black people are the most genetically diverse of a number ethnic group so that's why you can have kids with a black person, they might have those same recessive traits and have a baby that looks like you. I'm black and my kids are half Asian, they all look like me in the face but my daughter are light skinned like their dad, my son is brown. David Radtke There is something called evolution, we all derived from bacteria, but that doesnt make us bacteria, all ancestors of humans may have lived in Africa, but you have to make a cut there. As soon as a species has evolved to fit its environment ancestry doesnt matter anymore. White people arent black and never were, there ancestors some million years ago may have been, but the whites have evolved to live in their habitat. And thats true for every species and every race .	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/85	2.353
Mortimer Madesen yeah I know about evolution. For example that there is a possibility that migraine is a result of move into a new habitat, ergo Europe. The colors are just a result of the habitat we live in merely a mutation due to a new environment. There are no different human races today. Just one. drag0nfly girl no. That are not the historically correct Aryans. That word is from the Sanskrit and the old and new Persian languages. No u just assume my race now I wreak havoc	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/10	10.0
Actually, biologically speaking, there really aren't any human races. The often cited "differences" between "human races" are not significant and comprise only a small fraction of a percentage of our genome. In fact the individual differences between each individual (inside ethnic groups as well as outside) are much greater. Humanity underwent a genetic bottleneck a few ten thousand years ago, which has led to us having nearly no genetic differences between each other (genetically speaking). The differences that are often attributed to " race " (like skin color) are getting importance out of cultural, not out of biological reasons. So yeah, there are no "sub-species" of humanity, that's racist pseudoscience.	Ethnic, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/108	2.778

We are no different to this source of biology with dogs. How much more stupid can our society get?	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/67	1.493
lol lol exactly. For instance, black proprl can run quite fast, they exceed in speed and agility, and whites exceed in strength. Body builder competitions for example, strong man competitions as well, it is rare to see a black man win those thighs simply because we all evolved differently due to the climate that we scattered to.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/57	3.509
kayla koechig Yeah Dogs have breeds but humans cant be neatly divided into any subcategories because genetic variation is a continuum. There are no barriers between when white turns to black or black to aboriginal. People in different locations in Africa dont look the same and different areas in Europe have different looking white people. Its just like skin color. There are many different shades and cant really determine when brown turns to white unless youre making an arbitrary marker which doesnt really mean anything. Humans are humans.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/88	2.273
No such thing as the human race stop spreading that garbage. Humans are a species. We come in many different variations and we are not all the same. Otherwise you could not determine differences in the species by skeleton structure & DNA.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/42	2.381

drag0nfly girl wrong a race of a species is only ablea to reproduce with it self and posbly the lower and uper descendent of its evolutionary line or gene pool. Humans are the only speaces capable of mateing with humans on this planet. The evlutionary process has yet to devied us in any genetic way that would prohibit that. So no tgier is on human not black or asian or white or whatever. Richard Foster Not really people are different. Sometimes a mixed couple - white and black for example - can have children who even turn out different. One child could have more traits of a black person while the other inherits more traits from the white person. It's just how biology works don't ask me why as i have no idea but I've seen this plenty of times.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/67	2.985

oh fuck off you piece of shit liberal leftist. Human is not a race , it is a species the same way Homo Sapiens Sapiens is a species. Our races are typically our backgrounds or native geographic locations because there are many significant mutations that helped us survive in that location and is why we all look different today except for the people close to our native area. This is not to meant to be as racism but the fact is there is higher genetic differences between Sub Saharan African and Eurasian populations then within other species of other animals. EroticOnion23 China is huge, has a severe over population problem, and severe pollution and 30 of the country is pre-diabetic and they throw little girls in the trash like it's nothing but hey high iqs, amirite? There's plenty of factors that go into that like the fact that China is an eastern, homogenous for the most part, conformist society. America is a western, heterogeneous individualistic society which plays highly on why the iq varies, there's all kinds of cultural differences here. Asians who are raised here in America with Americanized mindsets have average iqs because of the lack of cultural influence of East Asia. I've known Asian kids who been placed on lock-in for getting C's on their report cards by traditional minded parents. That's also why European whites tend to have higher iq than American whites, we don't emphasize education as much, they do. Could also be more spread out. Might have a couple of different ancestors who were mixed race and passed for white. They'd still have African DNA, but none of the family would have known they were part Black when they married in.A lot of white people don't seem to know about this, but it happens/happened quite a bit, since back then there were lots of white-passing babies born to raped (usually already mixed race /light skinned) house slaves, etc. There was no Facebook back then, so you could move to a new state and no one would know your lineage, so long as you presented with white features. Plus some states defined "whiteness" differently than others, so some white passing Black people might have actually just been considered white depending on where they moved. It's sad though since it would have meant they had to abandon the Black side of their families, and live what they knew was a half-truth. Could you imagine doing that and then marrying into a family as racist as this mofo's ancestors had to have been? Hearing them talk shit about your mother and your grandparents, and having to pretend like you agree to fit in. Geez. Rasmus Vohlakari Nationalists like you claim not to be racist but fail to realise that caring strongly about preserving their race is a form of racism. Let's face it that's really the bare bones of nationalism, stopping interracial breeding and preserving the status quo. What they don't understand is that it doesn't matter what race or culture is the majority at any one point in time, only that they accept and love all the others, and that the new cultures that are born continue that ideology. Like confucianism and christianity were the principles on which Asian and White (respectivly) cultures were developed, the next era's cultures should be developed on a belief in acceptance and love. Let me give you crash course in how British European culture came into existence:The UK started with some hunter-gathers whose names are lost to history...then it appears Indo-Europeans came (various Celtic Tribes). Then later other Indo-Europeans came and dominated and mixed with them (the Romans). The Romans at that time were not a pure group, they had conquered very ethnic groups around them to Semetic people in the Levant, to Greeks, to Celtic tribes, to Germanic tribes, etc. The original Romans were a mix of Italic people and people who did not speak an Indo-European language, thought to have migrated from ancient Anatolia, the Etruscans.So the Romans brought all this mix into the UK.When the Romans withdrew, they left some Romanized Britons behind, who later became the Welsh.England itself, Celtic got overran by several Germanic Tribes. Those Tribes eventually mixed with the Celts (who were already mixed with the aboriginal hunter-gathers whose name is lost forever), and became the Anglo-Saxons.Then the Vikings, a Northern Germanic IndoEuropean tribe invaded the North of England and established the "Danelaw".The rest of England was Anglo-Saxon.When the Anglo-Saxons finally ran out the Danes who left a biological and cultural impact on Northeast England, the Normans invaded. The Normans were a mix of Vikings who settled in Normandy (Northern France) and mixed with the French inhabitants.The French were a mix of Romans (who were not pure anything) and Celtic tribes that were conquered, also by that time the Franks (another Germanic tribe) had conquered the nation, from which France gets it name.So these "impure" Frenchmen conquered the "impure" Anglo-Saxons.Eventually all these folks overtime condensed into what we call the "English"Now do you think an Englishman looks in the mirror at night and cries he is not pure Saxon, Angle, some random Celtic tribe, Jute, Danish, Norwegian, aboriginal hunter-gathers, Italic, Etruscan, and the list goes on?NO. To them they are simply English. Don't even get me started on how many times the language or religion changed in England over the last 2,000 years. English didn't even exist then, and there were no Christians, people did not even speak a language that would become English (Western Germanic language) until centuries later.And 2,000 years from now they might see themselves as something else...maybe just European, and be mixed with various migrants from all around Europe, Africa, Middle East, South Asian, etc. Still they might call themselves English though, who knows.This type of thing has happened EVERYWHERE IN THE WORLD. There are no pure people. So	Ethnic, Nation, Nationalism, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	8/577	1.386

"A team of scientists comparing the full genomes of the two species concluded that most Europeans and Asians have approximately 2 percent Neanderthal DNA. Indigenous sub-Saharan Africans have none, or very little Neanderthal DNA because their ancestors did not migrate through Eurasia."human's adaptation to the environment was small, and genetically speaking, the differences between all humans are light years to be enough to separate people into races.a blonde woman with blue eyes could easily be considered a human race , while a brunette one could be considered another human race , but genetically speaking, it's only phenotypes. There are even distinct nose feature between white people.I sent you some scientific articles about it."If someone looks like that and let's just say that person is 95 black , it doesn't matter if his DNA isn't fully black , he still matches up with the criteria to be called black ."NO doubt about it! Black people in Brazil have around 50 of european DNA and they are still identified as black because of their phenotype.This brazilian singer has 60 of european DNA according to a recent ancestry dna test. [LINK] "Races differ because of features, not really DNA as we all have around to or 100 homo sapien DNA anyway. Just to clear up how most of these ancestry DNA tests actually work, is that when they say you have 14 sub Saharan African (for example) it means 14 of your genetic code is similar or the same to those people of sub Saharan African DNA. For this reason this type of DNA testing takes decades to get going as it requires millions of samples to get accurate ideas of genealogy. In humans basically every person will have at least a 1 or more which is African as that is where humans evolved. However, having 14 African DNA doesn't mean someone in the last century in Your family was black . No it means genetically your DNA has a 14 similarity to African DNA. I would like to point out that the video never said they used ancestry.com or some other website to do the testing. So it is possible that they are using a more accurate test as well - probably not tho.	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	6/163	3.681

The thing I just don't understand about people like that is their inconsistency. Race is literally about our bodies physically adapting to the environment, darker people come from warmer climates and lighter people come from cooler climates, it's a fact it's not even a debate. According to that guys logic, and every other white racist , he must like himself more in the winter when he's all pale and less in the summer when he tans.. and for black people who hate white people, they must like themselves more in the summer and less in the winter the funny part about racism is the way people ignore the growing number of mixed relationships who are breeding mixed babies. The same way this guy had a small percent of African DNA, there are millions of people out there who are just like him. I'm pretty sure, barring some end of the world shit, in a few thousand years or so there is probably not even gonna be different races anymore, just one big mixed bag. at the end of the day, racism takes quite a bit of stupidity and zero common sense or self reflection.. and a truck load of ignorance	African, Black, Common, Race, Racism, Racist, Zero	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	8/202	3.96

Derrick Davis that is incredibly ignorant, in all honesty I think most tigers don't get along with tigers so I don't care if they get along with lions. I've met some very very stupid white people and I've met some very intelligent black people, to say that both races don't have ups and downs is bull shit. We both have brilliance and we both have ignorance, we both have peaceful and evil people. When you throw up IQ stats I wonder if you take into consideration variables such as median age? Random fact, did you know that the median age of Japanese Americans is around 50 years old and the median age of Hispanic Americans is in the mid to low 20s? This seems irrelevant but my point is, there are infinite variables in this equation that absolutely effect behavioral patterns between different races and nationalities that have nothing to do with IQ whatsoever. Do you expect similar behavior from a 21 year old as you do from a 50 year old? I don't. If you want to get technical, how many black Jeffrey dahmers have you ever heard of? Or Ed Gein? Or Ted Bundy? I mean do white people have mass murdering cannibalistic necrophilia genes? I don't think we do, I mean I don't feel like a sick bastard .. I'm pretty sure it's just natural, infinite fluctuations of circumstances. You know when slavery was abolished, it wasn't just black people moving towards northern cities it was also white southerners moving north. Black northerners (who already lived in the north, comfortably) did not get along with the black southerners because the cultures were so different, imagine that. Guess what else, white northerners did not like white southerners either. I would argue that the divide was actually about north and south and it became skewed to look like white and black. I imagine this magical experiment where all the babies from the roughest neighborhoods were swapped with all the babies from the most rich white upscale neighborhoods. All those babies would grow and learn and adapt to their environments. The culture in each neighborhood would remain the same regardless of the color of the people in those neighborhoods.	Age, Black, Nothing, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black	13/369	3.523

Humm, you're wrong if you think only skin pigmentation changes with race. Blacks have more testosterone and tend to be more athletic and get angry/violent more easily (might sound racist but it's a direct consequence of high testosterone levels, you can study about this yourself). White adapt more easily to the sea and have practiced fishing and other aquatic activities for thousands of years, they're better swimmers overall. Hair texture is also a lot different, in this case because of the climate. Really, saying race is just about skin color is just as stupid as being racist. A non-racist person is not someone who says we're all equal, it's someone who, despite all differences, accepts them. I do accept them but I'm not going to lie and say we're all equal, because we're not. But then again, that is not a reason to hate anyone.	Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General	4/144	2.778
TigasFMS i didn't say just skin you meat head I said our bodies adapt to our environment, I think that includes both hair and testosterone, sun exposure is key. White people are more aquatic . Who gives a shit, that's still fluctuating circumstances. Different parts of the world have different cultures and environments and all these different circumstances of course there's gonna be different strengths and weaknesses and social patterns. We're just one species that evolved in different climates. Physically there are some differences but they all have to do with growing and adapting to what's around us. And social patterns are the same thing too, learning and growing and adapting to what's around us, and the people around us. From climate and food to culture and history.. different people do different shit and have different interests and learn in different ways..The best part about being human is individuality. Even with patterns and assumed probabilities, 2 people of the same race can be completely different while a white and a black person can be cut from the same exact cloth, with the same family values and beliefs and culture.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/189	1.058

Derrik Davis you do realize that everybody's ancestors are African and that the Caucasian that live in the U.S. immigrated from Europe to go to America. Even the Native Americans immigrated from Asia to get to America. Also, I don't really think it's impossible for different races to co-exist. As a mixed individual myself, my father and my mother's families get along extremely well. Also, what do you mean Black people want to destroy civilizations?? Do you really think all of Africa is that poor? And why would they want to destroy them? It depends on the person, not where they're from. You're saying that Black IQ's aren't high? Gersht Waffen it's funny how you tell me not to have an emotional mindset yet I wasn't emotional when stating my opinion. Did i touch a nerve? But yes i am fully aware race is more than a colour. Gersht Waffen fair enough but saying whites are not allowed to do it I find very hard to believe. Wether it's subtle or not white power is everywhere you look in favour of the white race . White people do it the most, trying to be above all others and wether you know it or not, white people still scream white power wether it's directly or indirectly. Forcing everyone to look like them, talk like them, walk like them, think like them etc. And still do it.I think what your trying to say is that many people of colour resent white people preaching white power. Why? Because alot of these people are upset and angry as to what white people have done over the centuries and still do to other cultures just because of a racial difference. I'm not saying it's right but atleast understand what's taken place upto the present moment.. White people in the colonised system have everything yet it's still not enough... y'all never satisfied. And now you moan because of the consequences of what's been and being practiced? now it's being done to you lol. I find that quite ironic. Race	Ethnicity - General	4/224	1.786
Deep Thinker You are expected to act white because America is a white country, it isn't formally called that anymore but considering more than half the population is white its natural to see why that is the expected social norm, it's like how in Spanish culture people will naturally stand closer to eachother when speaking than do Americans, As to my first point the reason I say this is because whenever whites advocate for themselves they are shouted down a racist , a perfect example would be when several students placed signs reading 'Its okay to be white' and they were taken down and said to be racist the media	Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/109	1.835

I can't even believe you said that but glad you did as it lets me know more about you And your mindset. What you believe isn't necessarily the whole truth... it's your belief. A very biased belief/truth. But not realistic on a whole scale. Take note.As for white people being shouted down as being rascist... most of y'all and people in general are let's be honest. Racism is taught from many angles.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/125	0.8

Deep Thinker There are white countries just as there are black countries or Asian countries, We obviously call China an Asian country, we call (Name an African country) a Black Country, so it is obvious that we would call a place like Germany, England, Wales, Scotland, France, Poland or Russia white countries because like China or Any African country they were founded by people of a certain race and meant for those people to live, one of the main things that leads to a healthy society is social cohesion and it has been shown that the more genetically similar a population is the higher their social cohesion will be, granted this makes it true that a French man will be more compatible with a Québécois man, but they will still be more genetically similar with say a Russian or Irish man than they would be a Nicaraguan or a Jamaican	African, Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/150	3.333
Deep Thinker Mindsets do change actually, an easy example of this would be how people gradually became more accepting of gay marriage, their mindset changed and they chose to accept it. It happens all throughout our countries history as the over-tun window shifts, our country used to be more right wing and now it becomes more left wing and then when people get enough of that it will become right wing again until the country eventually ceases to be	Gay	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	2/79	2.532
Gersht Waffen I think some of your comments are fair dont get me wrong. Theres only so much you can write when trying to express yourself. However, you pointed out something Good, and i think thats one of the problems the fact that we have mindsets thinking in terms of white, black and Asian countries. It shouldn't be like this because the world is multicultural. This isn't God's law it's man's and that's the issue. The idea and perception goes against the grain. Divide, separation technique when we are all apart of the all. It hasn't always this way and yes mindsets do change and sooner or later things will go back to natural order. African moors ruled England and native American Indians were in the Americas and were the majority before the invasion of colonialism took place.History has repeated itself for 100s of years but one day like you say it will cease to exist because a new way is being desired and called for nowadays. Plus it isn't working and causes too much destruction it's only natural the balance will be restored	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/185	1.081

Reading that was very hard. You just compared total gene segment contrast from other primates, to the weighted geographical data which accounts for ethnicity in a small given number of generations. Seriously, it takes no more than 5 minutes of research to learn how this process works.The calculation is made by looking at small sectors in DNA samples (to which we're very familiar with). Then, an ever-growing data-set which in this case is filtered to account for geographical data, is passed through a simple comparison algorithm in which reliability is calculated as accurate for the number of data points involved. I don't think you know what "statistical noise" means. It refers to the variability in a sample, we're talking about a massive number here (14). Any variability is irrelevant.It means we have generations like this: [LINK] or this: [LINK] See how that makes a lot more sense now as to why you wouldn't qualify as a Native American? You're looking at how these percentages are determined completely wrong. Recessive and Dominant traits are calculated for, as well as their diminshment timelines for generations.Now that you've been educated, let's do a simple math problem on paper. Draw out 50 splits in a single traced generational path for two different ethnicities we want to account for, let the number of generations reach 100. Mix and match different combinations, trying to reach 14 of one ethnicity in each combination. You're free to use programs like Excell to make things easier.Let me know what the results tell you, and what you learned from them.	Ethnicity	Ethnicity - General	2/264	0.758

”50 one parent25 one grandparent...”Well, DNA tests aren’t calculated by those percentages, it’s a genetic lottery of how much you personally inherit in your genes; i.e. you could be 26 of something while your sibling got 32.That said, it’s still going to get watered down through generations and that 14 is still a decent and legit measurable amount well outside a margin of error. Hard to guess how many generations it goes back, but, for example, it’s certainly fairly more recent than the much smaller percent of Native American DNA that turned in my uncle’s test. In terms of time period though and his last full black ancestor, it’s probably a reasonable guess that the 14 that guy has no doubt goes back, unfortunately, to when slavery was still a thing and got in there that way. Here’s some education for you:’Evidence of an unknown species of human ancestor has been found hiding in the DNA of West African people. Experts made the finding by analysing the human genome, looking for strings of genetic information that were out of place. This revealed an inheritance of markers from an unidentified human-like species [...] Researchers believe an ancient species of hominin, known as Homo heidelbergensis, may be the most likely candidate for the ’ghost’ species.’ [LINK] ’People in West Africa carry mysterious genes that may belong to another species of hominin. The finding hints that primitive hominins lingered in Africa until fairly recently.’ [LINK] ”Reanalysis of the 13,000-year-old skull from a cave in West Africa reveals a skull more primitive-looking than its age suggests. The result suggests that the ancestors of early humans did not die out quickly in Africa, but instead lived alongside their descendents and bred with them until comparatively recently. The skull, found in the Iwo Eleru cave in Nigeria in 1965, does not look like a modern human.”[The skull] has got a much more primitive appearance, even though it is only 13,000 years old,” said Chris Stringer, from London’s Natural History Museum, who was part of the team of researchers.”This suggests that human evolution in Africa was more complex... the transition to modern humans was not a straight transition and then a cut off.’ [...]”Separate research published earlier this month suggests that genetic mixing between hominin species happened in Africa up to 35,000 years ago.’ [LINK] ’In the Sub-Saharan region, unaffected by Denisovan or Neanderthal interbreeding, H. sapiens interbred with H. heidelbergensis, because high humidity militated against fire-making and allowed the survival of these non-fire-making hominids.’Homo heidelbergensis mostly had smaller brains than Neanderthals, Denisovans, and H. sapiens. While no traces of H. sapiens interbreeding with Neanderthals or Denisovans have been detected in Sub-Saharan Africa, as noted, genetic studies show that H. sapiens did interbreed with H. heidelbergensis in this region [46]. Brain size differences have been noted among people of Sub-Saharan African descent, Australian Aboriginals, and people of European descent, the former two of which showed smaller brains [44]. The smaller brain sizes detected in aboriginal populations in the tropical regions of Africa and South Asia can be attributed to interbreeding with H. heidelbergensis [46]. These humans presumably benefited from interbreeding with hominin ancestors who depended less on fire and likely had cognitive aptitudes making them more adept at surviving in the tropics.’The significant differences in brain size observed between tropical and other regions were influenced by tropical conditions, which prove harsh for fire-making, a key technology for accessing the nutrition necessary to grow big brains. Instead, H. sapiens in tropical regions interbred with populations that depended less on fire for survival, leading to smaller brains in these areas.’ [LINK] ’Tishkoff’s team also found signs that the ancestors of the hunter-gatherers bred with different species of hominins, probably more than 40,000 years ago, she says, which supports earlier findings that humans living in Africa at times interbred with species of hominins that have gone extinct.’ [LINK] ’Our	African, Age, Old, Transition	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Black, Sexual Identity - Transexuality	10/700	1.429

People are ignorant on how DNA works. If you want to be shown how the way people look DOES NOT always equal up with what you think, go watch some DNA result videos.Cubans which are hispanics who look black usually end up only around 30-40 African. "Regular" hispanics (ones mixed with Native American) average at 60 European.Light-skinned black people CAN BE 90+ African , and dark skin does usually equal a higher percentage (being around 65-70), but it does not equal a high percentage (90).There are people from the middle east that look white, but are 100 from Asia.And there are people who look white that can have like 20 African .When it comes to people who look mixed, you will also find many people who do not look majority white, but are. DNA is so complicated. You can't tell by looking at a person.	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	5/148	3.378

Yup.. yet another supremacist has a major misconception and misunderstanding of genetics.. and before anyone goes "aren't we all technically from Africa" well we all technically came from the same hospital as someone else does that make us related? No.. that's not how evolution and genetics work. To put it simply two bunnies are in pink dye. one goes to red dye and the other to blue dye.. end result they change colors based on their environment and that's the most pedestrian way of explaining human adaptation though we all "came from Africa" they're saying he's 14 pink bunny as of today not pink bunny somewhere down the line millions of years ago.Further more the audacity for anyone to claim and keep supremacy based on a few facial features and skin tone is laughable based on genetics, evolution, and the world today. Red bunny and blue bunny can't stay red and blue in yellow dye so expect changes in places like the US to occur.. it's not a matter of IF but when. The greater North American climate can't support white skin not is black skin necessary.. in the future through both breeding and adaptation a Carmel color and hazel eyes will occur. We can already see this with the slow death of red hair and green eyes as well as dark and fair skin. The way DNA tests work is they compare your DNA with a population's DNA to find matches- in plain English they took a a handful of self-proclaimed African -Americans and measured his DNA against theirs. The only problem is you cannot guarantee whether he is similar to them because he is part African or because the chosen population of Africans is part white. Not scientifically bankrupt but you cannot be certain unless particular genes are sought out.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/76	1.316

If he is 60 years old (he looks like he's 60), both of these black individuals were most likely born between 1750 and 1870 (rough approximation, we don't know when his family fucked and gave birth). USA was formed 1776, meaning that one of the black individuals in his family tree likely lived BEFORE even the USA.How does that invalidate his white supremacy in any way? Also, the most recent actual execution by hanging in the Unites States of America was carried out in 1996, which is not such a long time ago; and, according to the same article, the states of Washington and New Hampshire do retain hanging "as an option. In New Hampshire, if it is found to be 'impractical' to carry out the execution by lethal injection, then the condemned is hanged, and in Washington the condemned still has an outright choice between hanging and lethal injection." We should embrace those differences and welcome them. The PROBLEM is that there are THOSE who twist the differences into something evil and negative. So, I understood what you were stating. Europeans never referred to themselves as "white" before then. They were Dutch. They were English. They were Spanish. They were Portuguese. Etc. And those are not races. Race is based off of the pigmentation of the skin, it's about color, and was pioneered by the colonialists that settled the new world. Research. He is a made up character adopted from a black revolutionist who was protesting against the fake Ashkenazi Jews from having control in Rome. These are the people the real Yeshua Ben Yosef (Jesus Christ) was speaking about when referring to them as "Synagogue of Satan" under the book of Revelation.And the fool here is anyone believing in this bullshit. Also, the hypocrite here is any Latino or black who celebrates Christianity being that the religion of Christianity was forced upon Native Americans and blacks thru slavery, rape and genocide. This is the reason why the fake white version of Jesus you see today was repainted over and over after originally being painted from Cesare Borgia, who was the son of Pope Alexander VI. They repainted him into a white looking version of the fake Christ so that when Native Americans and blacks were to be enslaved and forced to accept Christianity, they would then subconsciously see whites as being closer to God because of the portrait of the fake white Jesus. The God that is worshiped thru Jesus is a Hebrew God which means that Christians like yourself basically bend over for Jews while accepting it. And that in itself is very sad. He grew up as an Ashkenazi Jew but soon stop believing in a personal anthropomorphic type of God of which you believe in. In other words, he did not believed in God being some dude with a white beard yelling at everybody from outer space. He believed his God to be Pantheistic in nature, meaning that he believed God to be a projection of everything that is natural (science). Back during his time it was considered to be very taboo to not believe in God, and on top of that he did not want to alienate himself from his Jewish people. So rather than say that he did not believed in God at all, he instead would state that he believed in God even though it was a Pantheist God. And as for Quantum Physics proving that there is a God, that is total bullshit. Post me sources showing this. You can't. Want to know why? Because you are an idiot and you are full of shit. Fuck off. barry lloyd This is were you fucked up with your stupidity. The Big Bang is a scientific theory, which means that it has been tested to be factual but no concrete law has been established yet since there are still many variables to be tested before a scientific law can be established. Gravity is scientific theory that we all know exist but there are still many more test to be done before it becomes a scientific "law". The Big Bang Theory was never said to be false in today's science. You are just making shit up. Only one physicist disputes that the universe originated from the Big Bang Theory. Also, science has always existed. Science is nature which is makes the whole entire Universe exist. The bible was written by drugged out men throughout the course of a few thousand years ago. The fact is that for a man to believe that the universe was created by a guy yelling "LET THERE BE LIGHT" rather than believe in complex realistic explanations of nature established through experimentation, than that shows how blind and dumb that person is. Ian Nordin Science only believe in one race . It is the human race , anything otherwise is a pseudoscience and is in the eyes of the beholder. Each group of people evolved based on the climate they live in, their nutritions intake and their cultural values, explaining the gap between physical differences and IQ levels. Also unless you mean arabs living in the Arabian Peninsula then you are using a very broad terminology. Some arabs from Syria for example look very European, have light eyes and blond hair (they look more white than some Italians or Greeks), but if you move in the southern area you will see a lot of them looking like those living in the Peninsula . Also Sudanese (Horn of Africa) are considered arabs but their genetics are not much different than the sub saharans.Arabs are like Latinos in the US they are a mix of many ethnicities. But IMO it makes sense to me to classify those living in the middle east as Caucasoids.	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/169	1.183

+MrA9003”There is only one race the human race ” I hear that statement quite often but as of yet I can’t seem to find any real meaning in it. Are you trying to say that it is impossible to break down groups of humans categorically? Because that’s obviously doable. It seems to me that the statement this so often quoted statement is simply a way to shut down the conversation and prevent people from looking into human taxonomy. But yes evolution does explain the differences between peoples with some of the behavioral differences rather being short scale cultural and environmental phenomenon. With the evidence as it stands now it’s becoming much harder to claim that IQ and other aspects of cognitive ability are unaffected by heredity however. The evidence is all pointing away from the idea that all things mental are environmentally controlled. Given the strength of the data I doubt anyone would think otherwise in the modern era if it weren’t for the immense social and political pressure that’s tied to questions of race . Nobody should be "hated" based on their race , however to say that the differences are arbitrary is just false. There's recorded morphological differences between races, and even average IQ differs between racial groups, with East Asians on average having the highest IQs and Australian aboriginies the lowest.it's still important to note though that this mainly makes a different in regard to large group dynamics like in a large community or country, because there's still larger variation within a racial group than between groups.These are widely accepted scientific facts.	Nobody, Race	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	2/90	2.222

The article you linked itself says that IQ is a good predictor of general intelligence but isn't when it comes to things like spacial intelligence or social intelligence. Nobody is saying that IQ is the capital M measure of intelligence, but time and time again it's shown to have a very high correlation to standardized test scores and overall problem solving ability. Also it's a common misconception that IQ tests are like knowing facts or certain types of problems, but the reality is that that's really not the case. IQ tests are designed in a way to have little to no actual academic material, but rather intuitive things like pattern recognition and general problem solving.If IQ tests are designed to show how "Westerners do in Western schools" you now have the problem of explaining why East Asians on average score better on these "western biased" exams than do western students.	Common, Nobody	Age - Youngsters, Social Class - Working class	2/151	1.325
Pheer777 East Asians have a higher IQ because of their culture, not their race, and the education in Australia for everyone is generally of a very low level, again cultural, not racial	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/32	3.125
I was referring to Australian aborigines not the general Australian populace. Ovarall, Australia as a country has an IQ average in line with the rest of the western world.IQ, being a measure of general intelligence has very little to do with actual education. Countless studies show when identical twins are separated by birth and raised in communities of different economic strata, and of differing quality of education, their IQ's will be roughly the same by the time they reach adulthood. So IQ is essentially an innate biological quality, not something that's taught.Also you keep referring to culture as something completely separate as if it dodges the problem. Culture does not simply fall out of the sky. Asians have advanced cultures that have developed over thousands of years because they were the ones forming those cultures. A culture exactly like, say, Russian culture could not have formed in Africa, because the people who made it were Russians, not africans.Cultures are a direct reflection of the people, not the other way around. For example, in many Sub-saharan African countries, the native languages which are not written, have very little in the way of precision of specification. So in many nigerian dialects you cannot say that a "fruit is half way up a tree" you can only say it's "up the tree." The structure of these languages reflects on the people who formed them and use them.	African, Fruit	Ethnicity - Black, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	2/237	0.844
Pheer777 With IQ, that is highly subjective. I highly doubt Aborigines have access to the same education as seen in many Asian nations (plus, they put a lot more emphasis on education culturally). You can try and tie that to race, but it's more likely environment	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/46	2.174

Jemima Jones The idea that the police force and justice system is somehow systematically racist is actually bs for the following reasons: People say that the cited of blacks arrested for violent crime cannot be trusted because of a racist system. However, a massive survey was done some years back where thousands upon thousands of victims of various crimes were asked what crime they were a victim of, and what was the age , sex , race , etc of the perpetrator. The results of the survey showed that the police data was perfectly in line with the victims' reports, basically dispelling the notion that blacks are somehow systematically unfairly targeted. Umar C but it does matter. Because white people are villainized. And African Americans will always carry that stigma. There is a certain reverse discrimination that exists, but is left untouched by the media because that would be " racist ". In order to have a real conversation about this, we have to look at all sides of the situation. That's why we aren't getting anywhere and in fact, the racial divide escalates. Instead of looking at the facts, it's easier to blame white people for all of your problems. Look, I'm white, and I grew up in a middle-lower class household. My family could barely afford clothes to put on my back or food to feed me with. But I made something of myself. I never blamed anyone because my family was poor. And in fact, when you think about it, even the poorest Americans generally own a tv, refrigerator, even a computer. The quality of life of even the poorest Americans is unrivaled compared to other countries. I simply cannot understand how this argument "we were put in unfavorable circumstances (decades ago) and therefore, we can't expect to succeed". BULLSHIT. I was in awful circumstances too. Just because you are born white doesnt give you the world. Americans are all born with opportunity to succeed.	African, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/215	0.93

Vandaleyes We are, at least statistically. As far as overt racism goes, the US has come a long way. However, a black man from your same neighborhood has less opportunity than a white man in your same neighborhood due to unintentional bias. Most sociologists agree there is still a lot of bias against minorities that hinder their success. Here is the same situation for someone who is black and someone who is white. W Manager: "Hey why are you late?"W Employee: "Oh, I had to care of some things at the home for the little ones"W Manager: "Oh, okay. Try not to be late next time."Okay, here it is for some who is blackW Manager: "Hey why are you late?"B Employee: "Oh, I had to care of some things at the home for the little ones"W Manager: "Oh, okay. Try not to be late next time. No excuses."The same scenario and basically the same response, but the subtle difference displays where unintentional bias and implied association plays a role in that persons success.Another problem is when blacks underwent residential segregation, poor blacks became stuck in a cascade of poverty; good school systems produce success, the school system runs on local taxes, local taxes come from residents, and the residents have no money to begin with. There is less access to affordable goods and healthcare (not just the care itself but actual facilities), and, due to poor conditions, their health is not the best. The little money that someone just made last month has to go towards healthcare, and so on. And do even get me started on how residential segregation helps when politicians redistrict the votes by gerrymandering.I understand that things have gotten better, for all of us, but they can still get better. In other words, yes, everyone has opportunity in the US, but it's not all equal.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/318	1.258
Robert Griffis How do you suppose we fix this problem? More affirmative action? Hilariously, this is the antithesis of "equality". Furthermore, most black people perceive most white people as inherently racist. This is racism against whites. As if somehow this problem can be attributed to every white person.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/48	6.25

VandaleyesWell, the best way is to fix the public education system. More affirmative action would only allow more minorities into public universities. So, to answer your question, no, that probably wouldn't help MUCH. My ideal system would be for taxes to be more evenly distributed across districts so that poorer areas, of black , white, asian, middle eastern, and all people, could receive a better education. This would allow for people of lower socioeconomic status to have a better chance of getting into universities, which would diversify the economy as different types professions come into the community. But, of course, people with money don't like their money not coming straight back to them, so they wouldn't go for that. That's why the Affordable Care Act is perceived as a threat. To us, your middle class citizen, it poses no threat.And no, black people don't perceive most white people as inherently racist . We just assume that many whites have biased opinions about blacks, such as "most black people perceive most white people as inherently racist ." Because of this we are always on guard, and we say things that we don't really mean. Everyone does this. But I don't blame you for your opinion. People tend to gravitate towards what is the loudest, not necessarily what is true. Just add a little rhetoric, and voila, you have sheep. There are some blacks who feel that all whites are racist , and they are the loudest in the media. The media amplifies this, and opinions like yours becomes popular. If you were right, I would think you were racist . I just think that whites and blacks need to openly communicate about our relations without being so sensitive, then we would come to an understanding. That's what the most influential people in our government are afraid of.I feel that you care about how people relate to each other, otherwise you wouldn't have commented. I think you should get a degree in something like poli-sci or sociology, then get out there a make a change.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/341	2.053

Its as life as a worm is similar to life as a snake or eel even though they have completely different DNA. Worms and snakes slither around. They are a strait line pretty much. I don't think snakes are evil. Life as a bat has one huge similarity to life as a bird. Being able to fly. Bats have an ultra hearing sense. Bats rely on there complex sense of hearing to navigate themselves around. Bat and bird life is so different. Bats are nocturnal while birds are not, they have completely different dna, they have completely different senses. Life forms is too complex for scientific measurements. What about sex . I don't quite understand those people in the video either. I am just saying that the lady can be mixed but still identify with being entirely black. African Americans have been accepting of mixed blacks because of the concept of the one-drop rule that was created for racial segregation."The one-drop rule is a sociological and legal principle of racial classification that was historically prominent in the United States asserting that any person with even one ancestor of sub-Saharan-African ancestry ("one drop" of black blood) is considered to be black " "The one-drop rule was made law, chiefly in the U.S. South but also in other states, in the 20th century—decades after the Civil War, emancipation and Reconstruction. It followed restoration of white supremacy in the South and the passage of Jim Crow racial segregation laws. In the 20th century, it was also associated with the rise of eugenics and ideas of racial purity. "There are hardcore black racists out there like the black Israelites who call white people the devil. These people can have mixed ancestry but they are still vehemently pro segregation. I saw them speaking in a video on youtube. A guy said that if your father is black and your mother is white then you are still black israelite because the seed is black. +Best Black people didn't create the one drop rule. Anyhow, because of the one drop rule, many black Americans have white ancestry but its not acknowledged too much because it happened through rape during slavery. The mixed child was not recognized by his white father but raised as a slave with his black mother. So thats the reason black mixed folks married into other black families because it was illegal for them to marry white folks....but some passed as white, like this man's ancestor did and married a white person.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	5/90	5.556
At no point did I say that black people created the one drop rule. I posted a direct quote stating that it was made law predominantly in the US south (it is understood that the law was created by white racists as a deterrent for interracial relationships). This sort of thing did not only happen in the United States. Trevor Noah explained how his parents could not be seen in public together because of laws during apartheid in South Africa. I was just explaining how the "one drop rule" has been influential in how many black people to this present day still identify anyone how is mixed black as fully black (they just call them light skin).	Black	Ethnicity - Black	4/117	3.419

You have to expect a little African DNA...according to biologists, that's kind of where the human species originated from.I bet tigers and Lions share some common ancestor too.	African, Common	Ethnicity - Black, Social Class - Working class	2/29	6.897
What company performed this "test"? It appears to me that this was set-up to disgrace a white nationalist. How about a test for the mongrels laughing at him. This is BS; no way that guy is 14 black . If the test said 'African', then we would be looking at North Africa which is NOT black	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/55	3.636
Druidikal Yes, my sentiment's exactly. I can smell a big Jew featured rat behind this so called scientific test. It is the same old Jew tactic all over again. They throw out some claim out there into the ring and then it's up to us to try and disprove it, then they throw out another. They have us running around in all direction's and even when we can disprove the crap it is not put out there because they own and control the media. Plus any counter claim we put up they simply say it is racist . We have to throw these bastards off balance.	Old, Racist	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - General	2/105	1.905

BadgerCheese94 It makes you a disgrace to the entire human race , may you both get what you deserve but not pass it on to some innocent person like what happened to a friend of mine who then became shunned and discarded by others on top of the suffering and indignity that was thrust upon him. Just so your kind can get your kicks, you sick twisted fuck.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/67	1.493
Doh! Did you even watch the video? Not only is he 14 percent African , it's Sub Saharan African genes in his blood.	African	Ethnicity - Black	2/22	9.091
BadgerCheese94The company performing the test is not mentioned; therefore I am skeptical. There is a very real possibilty that he is 14 black . Generally, less than 25 black generates the more dominant gene; whether it is white or Asian,etc..."White people are descendents from blacks living in east Africa thousands of years ago."Sources? There's no proof of that other than recent leftists in the pseudo-science community saying so. If you have any knowledge of genetics, you cannot get black from white. the "Out of Africa" theory, is the most widely accepted model of the geographic origin and early migration of anatomically modern humans. It is only a theory, that does not make it Law.When mixing, black is always the dominant gene. Therefore, whites should not exist. Anyway, race is a social construct, race can determined by phenotype, but from what I've read and studied; DNA cannot be used to determine race . We as humans share about 99.9999 of our dna from each other.The first humans were most likely olive skinned Mediterranean types.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/176	3.977
BadgerCheese94 yes, skin color changed due to acclimation as did phenotypes, which is the only way to determine race . "Sub-Saharan Africa is home to some of the most primitive civilisations." By that rationale, they would be the newest humans and that is why their civilizations have not yet achieved the status as Middle Eastern,European and Asian civilizations.By Mediterranean, I am also referring to Semitic, the people with the oldest cultures in the world.The OOA Theory does not state that humans originated in sub-Saharan Africa, it states east Africa. There is also plenty of evidence to support a Middle Eastern origin for all humans and a global flood. The scientific community is so bogged down in trying to "debunk" the proof of God and intelligent design, they will go to great lengths to suppress confirmation of the facts.Your ancestors may have been chimps, but not mine. onlythewise1 wow really. yes there was white people in Egypt, because it was a stop place for travelers and to trade with people from all around the world, ex. Greece, Palestine, Afghanistan, "Ancient Egyptian trade consisted of the gradual creation of land and sea trade routes connecting the Ancient Egyptian civilization with the Fertile Crescent, Arabia, Sub-Saharan Africa, and India".There were different kinds of races there. And whites didn't start Egypt ten thousand years ago. Egypt has always been ruled by blacks in the ancient times, yes even Ramses III. When you say whites that means whites as in European white. Ramses III did not look like everybody else in that time, yes but he wasn't European white.The majority was black , and long, long, long before that there were only blacks there in Egypt.Egypt was known as 'Kemet' which means ' Black Land'	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/145	0.69
And that is why the DNA test specified.... 14 SUB-SAHARAN African , therefore, he is14 of what most of the world considers to be BLACK	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/24	8.333
onlythewise1 even if it was rigged, it has been proven that a very small minority of the world is pure European or pure African or pure whatever. So it's safe to assume that somewhere down the line this man has some sub-saharan African blood.	African	Ethnicity - Black	2/44	4.545

Druidikal Ok then, where is this "proof" of a divine creator? a 2,000 year old book that has passed through the ages by either word of mouth by the illiterate masses or by the few in power who knew how to read and write? I'd sooner believe in the gummy bear god in the sky..... And how is that analogy equal? I never said the man is black , all I said was that there is no doubt that he has black lineage. Just like if you put 4 ham in a sandwich it would not be called a ham sandwich, but you can't deny the fact that THERE IS HAM IN THE SANDWICH.	Black, Old	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Black	3/113	2.655

Thomas Jenks , the debate is about Craig Cobb's DNA, not whether a god exists or not. If you want to believe in nothing or a magic gummy bear, that's your prerogative.At 14, at least one of Cobb's great-grandparents would had to be at least 80 black . For him not to know that would make him The World's Worst Genealogist. If it were "statistical noise", then 2 or less.	Black, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black	2/69	2.899
onlythewise1 Do you doubt the test is correct or do you doubt that I'm an expert? If it's the latter then, no I'm not an expert. We inherit 50 of parents,25 grandparents, 12.5 great-grandparents. If Craig Cobb is truly proud of his heritage wouldn't he know what race his great-grandparents were?	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/51	1.961
Druidikal then why did you bring up religion? May I remind you people that I did not bring up religion, I simply addressed it as it was brought up to me. And also you are wrong.... He does not have to have a great grandparent of 80 black ancestry because his parents and grandparents, just like him, probably share traces of African DNA as well. Let's just play around with a theory here..... if all four of his grandparents had a minimum of 3.5 African Ancestry, than this 14 figure is right on point..... I highly doubt that his African ancestry stems from one sole ancestor, but a combination of traces throughout his family tree.....	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	4/115	3.478

That's why when discussing if Cobb were 14, I always add "if it's true". Talk Shows are the modern equivalent of yellow journalism; sensationalism. There are biracials like Jason Kidd Wentworth Miller, derick Jeter, vin diesel Soledad o'Bryan and others who look more white. So the black gene isn't always dominate.
