Hey, where's John Sweeney. Oh that's right, he retired. Or was it because Tommy Robinson proved he is a racist homophobe. Funny that, he was making a documentary on Robinson to show him to be a racist homophobe but ends up proving that he himself is guilty of that he claims Robinson to be. Sweeney doesn't seem too contrite given his Twitter feed, but what do you expect from a racist homophobe. :/	Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/73	4.11

The question was not answered at all, where are the examples, the proofs? All I hear is anti-semitism here, anti-semitism there, but NO news agency could declare any reliable information. I am working on a scientific paper regarding this subject, if this party is systematically anti-semitic and over a week of research, I could NOT pin one thing on the claims made. And what on earth has it to do with Corbyn? Where is the link between Corbyn and the anti-semitism of his party members? Where is the why? Why did it start after his election and not before? Please answer me that because for 8:43 minutes you have not made one valid point against this party, just throwing assumptions. Sorry for the language, but I do not give a fuck about the party members interviewed or a guy thinking about committing suicid, I want FACTS here. Where, What, When, How, Why, that is what matters, nothing more. Not some kind of pseudo report which cannot be traced back.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/169	0.592

All those years people thought the UK Labour Party was a moderate socialist party - only to find out the Labour Party was a secret Jew-hating Nazi Death Cult! What a revelation. Thank goodness the BBC has opened the public eye. Jewish people are hiding in cellars and avoiding going out at night, especially in places where Labour Party fascists congregate. Many Jewish people are planning escape routes and some have bought inflatable rubber life boats to flee by sea if necessary. The Labour Party crystal night is only a few months away, and the BBC warning to the public may be too late. Some people find all this hard to believe, but that's probably because they are anti-Israel and don't know it. Andrew Bennett Shakespeare was reacting to a Marlovian paradigm. Read extracts of the Jew of Malta. Barbaras was a viscous as possible. Whereas Shylock said "if you prick me, do I not bleed?". If you read the play strongly you can see Shylock has always been put down and the winners at the end seem pampered and self-righteous. Also he has the best imagination in the play. It's one of his breakthroughs in characterisation. Also you could argue criticising Dickens and Shakespeare too much is anachronistic. If that happened today it would be way more appropriate to criticise the author. Unlike the inappropriateness of this vague slur of 'institutional anti-semitism'. This item seems to be about the levers of power in the Labour party. If one had a nervous breakdown and another considered committing suicide, you have to wonder if their removal wasn't the correct decision based on their mental instability.. Politics is a tough game!! We've had these acusations of institutional anti semitism in the labour party going on constantly now for years and yet apart from a couple of ill thought out or insensitive comments I've heard nothing that smacks of anti semitism.. One thing thats certain is its taken over every aspect of Corbyn's agenda. This I find very suspicious. I've heard blatently racist comments coming from the tory party, including our next prime minister, on far more occations than the entire row over the Labour party and yet these are brushed under the carpet as nothing.. I remember Labour were branded anti semitic for not signing up to the IHRA definition of anti semitism and yet, the tories still haven't signed up to it. The BBC is just a mouthpiece for Zionism. They have spun it that anyone who criticizes the Israeli regime is Anti Semitic which is completely ludicrous. Zionism is a political ideology and there fore it must be open to criticism. Unfortunately the people who control Israel also control the US and the UK . Zionist hide behind the Jewish faith so they can bring out the poor me Card. They pretend they was set up to protect the Jewish people when the fact is they was not. Orthodox Jews are just as much victims as the rest of us. Jews are not to blame for the problems in the world. Unfortunately the Zionists use real Jewish people as a human shield to take the blame for all of the wrongs they are committing. The Zionist have 80 of the UK Lobby so it is no surprise we are drip fed all this anti Semitic garbage. The BBC Are nothing but criminals and no matter how much they try to re-write history, people around the world are waking up to the fact that they are a Zionist institution. Stop being fooled by all the Main stream media. They are bought and paid for just like our Politicians. They are all owned by the Banksters who owned everything else. Do your research. This is not a con theory, this is factual information. Wake up. Even the term Conspiracy theory was created back in the 60s by the CIA after they murdered there own President. This term was to be used to call anyone who questioned the official story, and anyone who asked questions, to make them seem crazy and for the most part the people fell for it. You can't just refer to those members work cases and difficulties they faced within the labour party and than connect them to antisemitism just like that. You can't just accuse anyone who is showing support for the Palestinians cause as antisemitic. If there are those who are antisemitic than show what they said and let those who are responsible to investigate the allegations in order to determine whether the act is intact anti semitic. IF you have a solid evidence than take him or her to court.As the Tories are sinking ..it started to look like if someone or many are pushing the antisemitism case all over the party. ..which they suppose support and work for. It is infact affecting it.Antisemitism isn't acceptable nor the way the labour party is being attacked within and very much so from the outsideThere are Jews and non Jews who aren't Happy with the way the Palestinians been treated by a good part of the Israelis. So keep the Palestinians out of this subject the labour party is facing.It was realy shocking to hear a Jewish politician using the f word with such a aggressive attitude. Nothing is done about this. Every single time the BBC, corporate-Blair-Labour, and the rest of the UK mainstream establishment attempt to smear and ridicule the great Corbyn as an anti-Semite it speaks all the more so to how desperate and pathetic they are. Here's a guy who spent an entire life battling against racism and discrimination and now he's an anti-Semite; this is all beyond laughable at this point. Of course what truly frightens them is that Corbyn is an articulate and powerful fighter against Zionism. B/c Zionists have a lot (not total) of control over the Western corporate media it's obvious they're running a propaganda campaign against him. Folks must start to read the independent scholars, journalists and intellectuals outside the corporate-militarist-Zionist consensus, people such as: Norman Finkelstein, James Petras, Finian Cunningham, Gilad Atzmon, Diana Johnstone, Stephen Lendmann, Paul Craig Roberts, Alison Weir and a few others I'm forgetting at the moment. John O'Boyle - I think very few of the Labour Party's members are anti-Semitic, but with regards to your comment about the party needing to have active anti-Semitic policies to be considered institutionally anti-Semitic I would disagree. The British police were declared to be institutionally racist following Macpherson report. It did not have actual policies against against black people, but it simply did not take them seriously as either victims or witnesses. In Labour there has been a shift in the membership and the power base to a more left wing group that has a particular focus on (some might obsession with) the Israel and Palestine issue. It has a particular dislike of zionists and most Jewish people (the vast majority) would subscribe to the right to a Jewish homeland, even if many are disturbed by activities in the occupied territories. Due to this group's influence on the party's levers of power, comments and attitudes that would once have been challenged had been allowed to fester. Looking through the comments section here, I see plenty of evidence of anti-semitism. Lots of tropes, especially around Jewish control and influence in evidence. While I don't know that those spreading them are members, they are all of an agreement that the Labour Party does not have a problem and that Israel is a Bad Thing. H Basinhe completely agree it's coming to dominate and potentially derail the parties wider goals. I personally speaking do think that the mainstream media coverage of it all suggests that there is something of a plot to discredit Labour and Corbyn but that has nothing to do with whether or not the media is owned by certain demographics of people, Jewish or otherwise. I think it's because they(mainstream media companies)are powerful corporations who are comfortable paying less tax and maintaining the neo liberal status quo and Labour is going to change this along with many other aspects of the economy and society so naturally they will hurl anything at Corbyn to stop him. Antisemitism seems to be working effectively for them but before this they tried to paint him as a Czech spy, a terrorist sympathizer, and most recently, they have tried to say he is too frail. They attack him because he can't be bought and sold like most politicians, so whilst I hope he will keep doing all he can to overcome the antisemitism issue, I commend him for fighting on for those who desperately need a Labour government in spite of all the flack and personal character attacks he has to endure. H Basinhe No, having 15 speakers represent one side of an argument for 55 minutes, and 1 speaker represent the other side for 30 seconds.....that's the whole bias part right there. Not mentioning Jewish Voice for Labour's opinions, directly editing an email to turn round the meaning 180 degrees, not managing to actually show any of the cases those old employees talk about so the whole thing was just hearsay....The only thing I'm in denial about is that people can not be bothered to educate themselves even the slightest amount it should take to be able to see through something as transparently awful as this hunk of shite. If you can not tell, watching this, that someone is really trying to pull wool over your eyes, I feel sorry for you. It's actually those people spreading this shit, and the people lapping it up, who are a real danger to Jews and any minority group. Ignorance is where the danger lies.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/162	0.617

H Basinhe I thank you for giving respectful responses, but we've gone from me being in denial, to the bias (it wasn't a bit one-sided IMHO, it was extremely or completely one-sided, massively biased) being normal because labour didn't want to take part. I actually think they made a good decision in not taking part; with limited material, John Ware (who has already caused problems for the BBC before in a libel case they were forced to pay out on!) managed to carve out an extremely one sided narrative. He had no intention or interest of making a balanced programme, so with more material he would have just done the same thing, but probably slightly more convincingly. I implore you to check him out, his previous programmes show how he likes to spin a story.I found it hard to swallow that the ex-employees would outright lie, but they had been accused way before this was made, the same clique of people, of purposefully using their position of power on the disciplinary board to try to purge members supporting corbyn in the leadership race. Given the huge amount of resistance to Corbyn within the party, this is entirely plausible to me. When you then take that in context of this programme, clearly a propaganda piece about the man, using every opportunity to regurgitate footage of him sharing stages with controversial people, using dramatic music ffs.....it makes MORE sense, not less.Have you seen The Lobby, the documentary by Aljazeera? Apart from standing as an amazing piece of investigative journalism of its own right, one really key thing from that applies here: the definition of "Anti-Semitism". In that documentary, Joan Ryan showcases exactly what I suspect an awful lot of the "Anti-Semitism" being reported within the labour party constitutes: lies. She heard what she wanted to hear, she certainly filed a report on what she wanted to hear, and it's only because it was caught on camera that she had to leave and the "anti-Semitic" woman whose comment caused distress, was let off. Quite rightly; you can see sooooo clearly in that documentary the woman is nothing of a racist or anti-Semite, and the false claims made there are exactly what is being reported here (IMO) and exactly what is a danger to all minorities: the purposeful wrong use of labels for political gain, meaning true racism is delegitimised. You seem like a person willing to respond and hopefully investigate! Please check out "the Lobby," if you haven't seen it, particularly that scene should be a real eye opener to anyone jumping on the "labour is anti Semitic, full stop" train - we're going down a very slippery slope. Also, take time to read up on that email which mr Ware decided to just change at his whim (I actually hope it ends in another libel case against him, maybe he'll stop being given airtime), and the man himself - he's made some good propaganda before. A shame because in his early career, he did some good investigative journalism! Anybody who wants to can read Edwin Black 's "The Transfer Agreement," especially its original 1984 printing, which Black , a Zionist American Jew, now more or less disowns. Ken Livingstone is essentially correct. In 1933 German Zionists made a deal with the Nazis to transfer 60,000 German Jews and their assets to Palestine. Rather foolishly, present-day Zionists want everybody to believe these well-documented events never happened. They slander and libel anybody who says otherwise. The current stink has more to do with Blairite/pro-Israel Labour factions responding to the Al Jazeera documentary "The Lobby," where Israeli meddling in UK politics is laid bare. Why Corbyn has not been more forceful in countering these insurrectionists is a mystery. There seems to be little new here and much that is open to accusations of hearsay.For this to be an objective piece, plausibly making the case that Labour is 'institutionally' anti-Semitic, the documentary should reference more actual cases, delve into these in detail, and prove these have been mishandled. The few cases that are cited are not thoroughly discussed and are often anecdotal (with insufficient detail and no right-to-reply). The Jackie Walker case is a good example - we have a young investigator relating the charges second-hand. Why not be explicit about what Jackie Walker actually said and then interrogate the way the complaint was handled?Also, some cases appear to have been resolved - Kaylor Bibi has actually been suspended. Other instances are admitted - Corbyn has apologised for the mural, says he did not know about Raed Salah, etc.In short, much of the doccie is old news.Also, there are many general statements, but nothing statistical, regarding the proportion of proven complaints to membership figures. Labour cites anti-Semitism as constituting 0.06 of membership. That's low.To make the 'institutional' claim stick, this needs to be disproved.As to interference, the allegation is immediately undercut by what appears to be the serious misquoting of a key email by Seumas Milne. [LINK] This is so glaring that it invites suspicion.Much of the rest is guilt-by-association, or by referencing a 'pattern' rather than specific cases.More generally, it's important to remember that any disputes process cannot stand outside of UK Common Law.People are entitled to a presumption of innocence, and to a fair hearing, before being excluded or sanctioned. Anti-Semitism is notoriously hard to prove, precisely because what is, or is not, an anti-Semitic trope, and whether the person using that trope is doing so knowingly (in which case expulsion might be justified) or ignorantly, merely believing they are criticising Israel or Zionism (in which case a warning might be more appropriate) can be genuinely hard to determine.Look at Naz Shah's 2014 Facebook post (one of the original anti-Semitism cases) which satirically suggested Israel might be moved to the US. That post could easily be read as a political commentary about Israel, rather than a racist comment about Jews, who live in many different countries.Ditto with Livingston's take on Zionism in Nazi Germany. He might be wrong about the history (although he seems to have a point) but this does not make him anti-Semitic, merely wrong.In short, it's not that straightforward. This ambiguity alone might explain why complaints take so long to deal with, and why a backlog might require extra capacity.Also, freedom of speech is worth caring about. There can be little doubt, following Al Jazeera's The Lobby (featuring hidden cameras rather than John Ware's studied appearance of objectivity) that the Israeli state is making active attempts to undermine the international BDS movement, and actively promoting this agenda through surrogate groups in the UK and US.An Israeli diplomat was removed from the London embassy when this was exposed.In short, one has to be very careful with every complaint and ask where the accusation is emanating from. A little fine-grained analysis in this regard would have supported Panorama's claim to making a even-handed investigation, but it	Common, Nazi, Nothing, Old, Racist	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	5/629	0.795

1972 chitekwe Nazi Germany only started as a Democracy whey the won the elections. As soon as they came to power, they cancelled Democracy. So pls don't sell me these fancies about soldiers doing so and so. One case is the exception. The IDF was chosen by your British Generals and Americans as the most humanitarian military world wide. The only military who never raped women from the other losing side. Gaza is ruled by Hamas, a Nazi Jihad org who was chosen democratically, and also cancelled Democracy overnight. Do not compare it to a concentration camp, no one is gassing, burning, or raping them. Hamas elite lives in the fancy hood with malls, restaurants, and beach resorts. Cut the crap and face the truth. Highly anti-semitic.And liker some on the rest, the obsession with Israel is to the apparent exclusion of many other territorial disputes all round the world, including the Middle East. She told other members she was hurt and upset by this woman and the woman was consequently banned from the Labour Party and the story went to press. Progressive Federalist 'devising large scale conspiracies'? That's a bold statement based on no evidence at all. Not only are you going to build upon an unproven narrative which has been built in a completely unbalanced way by the media, you are going to accuse Corbyn of effectively being someone who is deliberately and connivingly creating and peddling prejudiced conspiracy theories about Jews. Take the Chris Williamson debacle. He said labour were 'too apologetic about antisemitism'; this was deliberately misconstrued and misrepresented by the media to mean that Labour should not apologise for anti-Semitism. However, that is not what he meant and was not all he ultimately said; he explicitly stated what he meant at the time. Williamson's point was that by being 'too apologetic', labour were inadvertently overstating the seriousness of antisemitism in their party, when in fact the Labour party members are less racist towards any group than most. Clearly, this is not antisemitic but it was portrayed that way. The focus about the issue of antisemitism has purely been on Labour. Their has been no statistical analysis of other groups to compare attitudes between them and Labour party members; the media has just built upon a predetermined belief. There are purely ideological motives to get rid of Corbyn because he does not fit in with the neoliberal system which dominates modern society in the UK. Basically, the media and politicians are coming out guns blazing to ensure that Corbyn doesn't get into power; they probably have achieved their goal by duping the majority of the people into believing this spiel. So the BBC has traditionally been very enforced centre - which depending on where the overton window is, can seem quite left wing/right wing particularly on certain issues. There was a big shake up in the hierarchy during the coalition years, and movement of some editors, which has meant that their is more conservative voices at the top. It does seem to have drifted right, but so too does the popular vote.They are definitely pro-establishment/anti-poppulist on both sides, the enforced centrism meeting better with new labour/one nation tories, less so with the old labour/thatcherites and even less with Greens/UKIPObviously the fact that they are still getting attacked on both sides, means that they are still managing their job quite well, but it certainly seems that the attacks on the left have become more solid - though admitedly the right wing parties have got better PR, so it could just be that they have less editorial and more verbtim reports. There is no defence to racism , but racism does not come out randomly. There is always logic, albeit a very perverse one. In this case, that looks like the confusion of race and politics: part of the problem is that both the pro Palestinian camp and the pro Israeli camp of the Arab/Israeli conflict have been politicising race . The belligerents of the conflict themselves are blurring the lines: e.g. the Palestinian right associates occupation with "Zionism" and associate Israel with all Jewish peoples. The Israeli right does the same and claims that any criticism of Israeli occupation is a politically motivated denial of the Jewish people's right to self determine and is rooted in anti semetism. Labour has long been a supporter of the Palestinian side of the conflict. This has dulled the ability of many of its members to see the political conflict objectively, and it looks like many in the party's base has begun to take on the view of the Palestinian right. This is not about Judaism but the political structure that's been around, in the grand history of things, for a very short period of time. Its about a political structure that behaves like an apartheid. Its about a land called Israel that has taken religious people and transformed them into a national political one. Its about a political group who will readily slur and shut down the Jews amongst them who refuse to oppress and conform to this new style of nationalism . These are people who have mistakenly been told they are a race and so don't need to follow the Torah because if they did follow the Torah, they would be supporting Corbyn, not trying to destroy him.But for you its simple, its jealousy! well you rock on with that! So the fuck what? A Palestinian flag is not a Swastika. Argentina invaded the Falklands and the UK waved Union Jacks. Nobody said we were anti-Catholic. Anti-Semitism doesn't come into it at all. It's Israel's foreign policy that stinks. I don't give a fig what race or creed or culture they are. If you invade Kuwait then the West will engage in a Gulf War and kick you out without fear of being called anti-muslim. The singular difference in this case is that the invader is Israel, and Israel is the only Jewish state, and the history of persecution of its people has the sympathy of the world. But this sympathy and the heightened sensitivity that surrounds this history is open to abuse. It is my view, and the view of many others, none of whom you could ever call racist or anti-Semitic, that this abuse is happening and that any moral high ground that the Jewish people of Israel may have been granted by virtue of their regrettable historical persecution has been lost as a consequence of their own bullish actions. That many Jews around the world support the Israeli regime is a political choice. I do not agree with that choice and I will argue against it. If you by consequence categorise me as therefore anti-Semitic I will cite your illogic as a perfect example of a false syllogism. Basically, you are wrong. Dead wrong. Fucking dead wrong, right? dambust232 13 out of every 15 deaths in Israel/Palestine are of innocent Palestinians. This week was the anniversary of Israel grabbing a 15 year old boy, dousing him in petrol, forcing him to drink it then setting him alight. Israeli cruelty to the Palestinian people is widespread and well known in both countries. Hamas isn't even supported by the majority of Palestinians despite their suffering - 76 of Palestinians want a peaceful solution and Hamas to go away. Israel has no interest in a peaceful solution and is little more than an apartheid state that is trying to steal land from people who lived there for thousands of years before they got there. Its disgusting. The fact Israel is so powerful on the world stage means Palestine has no voice because of them in many areas and those who support Palestine tend to either be quiet about it or overly cautious about links with Israel (I think Corbyn is the latter fwiw). Basically free Palestine and fuck Israel.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/168	0.595

The Government's definition of Antisemitism is the problem. Here's why: [LINK] (dot)thejc(dot)com/comment/analysis/what-is-the-ihra-definition-of-antisemitism-and-why-has-labour-outraged-jews-by-rejecting-it-1.467511	Dot	Ethnicity - Asian (South-India, Pakistan, Bangladesh)	2/12	16.667

British Jews are furious the Labour party refused to accept the International Holocaust Remembrance Alliance (IHRA) definition of antisemitism and adopted its own instead. The refusal has pushed Labour to the brink of a civil war with its Jewish parliamentarians and members. But what is the difference? And how did it take us to the point where Jeremy Corbyn was branded 'antisemitic and a racist' to his face by one of his own MPs? The IHRA definition A total of 31 countries have adopted the IHRA definition of antisemitism, as well as more than 130 UK local councils, the police, the Crown Prosecution Service and the judiciary. Eight of the 31 countries have enshrined it in law. The definition was an offshoot of one created in 2005 by the European Union's Monitoring Centre for Racism and Xenophobia, then the EU's leading anti-racism body. When EU directives changed the role of the agency, it no longer promoted the definition, and the IHRA stepped into the breach. What Labour left out when it chose its own version The IHRA definition specifies eleven 'contemporary examples of antisemitism', while making it clear that there may be others. These are: 1. Calling for, aiding, or justifying the killing or harming of Jews in the name of a radical ideology or an extremist view of religion. 2. Making mendacious, dehumanising, demonising, or stereotypical allegations about Jews as such or the power of Jews as collective — such as, especially but not exclusively, the myth about a world Jewish conspiracy or of Jews controlling the media, economy, government or other societal institutions. 3. Accusing Jews as a people of being responsible for real or imagined wrongdoing committed by a single Jewish person or group, or even for acts committed by non-Jews. 4. Denying the fact, scope, mechanisms (e.g. gas chambers) or intentionality of the genocide of the Jewish people at the hands of National Socialist Germany and its supporters and accomplices during World War II (the Holocaust). 5. Accusing the Jews as a people, or Israel as a state, of inventing or exaggerating the Holocaust. 6. Accusing Jewish citizens of being more loyal to Israel, or to the alleged priorities of Jews worldwide, than to the interests of their own nations. 7. Denying the Jewish people their right to self-determination, e.g., by claiming that the existence of a State of Israel is a racist endeavor. 8. Applying double standards by requiring of it a behavior not expected or demanded of any other democratic nation. 9. Using the symbols and images associated with classic antisemitism (e.g., claims of Jews killing Jesus or blood libel) to characterise Israel or Israelis. 10. Drawing comparisons of contemporary Israeli policy to that of the Nazis. 11. Holding Jews collectively responsible for actions of the state of Israel.	Nation, Racism, Racist, Xenophobia	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	4/464	0.862

Alden Buyer - Bullshit. But even if there was any accuracy to it, how can you square the acts of some to be representative of all - you can't. That is prejudicial and the cornerstone of bigotry. By example, look up Bishop Alois Hudal and the Vatican's financing and protection of Nazi war criminals. Does that mean all catholics are cunts? No. Likewise all Palestinian flags are not swastikas. Indeed none of them are. You conflated Palestinian flags with swastikas after I'd just explained they were not the same thing. It shouldn't need explaining but I find I'm having to do so TWICE. Conclusion is that you are an undeniable bigot. GFY	Nazi	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/112	0.893 it looked like a play with a lot of bad unconvincing actors, made to smear corbyn.maybe it's time the jews formed their own party; there is 'labour friends of israel' but they are no friends of corbyn-it's time they were made a proscribed organisation; if they were called, 'labour friends of israel & palestine' that would be acceptable.it's time jewish organisations stopped persecuting corbyn; anti corbynism is just as bad as anti semitism & islamophobe, which is rife in the tory party. nobody yet has come up with any conclusive proof that corbyn has ever said or written anything anti jewish; he may have criticised israel but israel is not part of the uk & the only thing jews in either country have in common is the same religion.a catholic born in australia is australain, while a catholic born in england is english. i wasn't trying to be polite, that's the point.jews should be glad they are not muslims working for the tories;islamophobia is much worse in that party; oh, i forgot, jews don't care about muslims, do they?.maybe if jews & muslims got together & protested collectively to parliament about racism against them by both major parties, things would improve, but somehow i don't think the board of deputies of british jews & the jewish chronicle would allow that to happen; after all, 'nobody suffers more than a jew.'
