

In youtube_extraction_english_220.json :

Title: Racism in the United States: By the Numbers

- Table 1: Summary of the results per comment;
- Table 2: Summary of the results per sociolinguistic variable;

Table 1: Summary of the results per comment

Comment	KeyWords	Sociolinguistic variables (Hiper - Hipo)	Hate Speech Frequency	Hate Speech Fre-quency(%)
I love how most white people make fun of black people, but when its summer they wanna be black too..	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/20	10.0
White people are least racist group in the world.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/9	11.111
The problems of racism in the criminal justice system can still be demed racism , though I am not sure that all of your statistics can be attributed to bias policing or the "system" and may be part of the higher crime rates amoung african americans. You can not deny that the rates of cime are hight. Where due to poverty, culture or family or even (and I do not doubt it police). But there are not Laws on the books concerning race . The last were in 1965. What more could you expect from white people. If they see little racism then for them there in fact is little racism . All I have an obligation to do is to defend my fellow citizens rights. And I will do so as long as they defend my rights. Now as to the so called "white privilage" please measure that. How much do I owe because of my skin. How much abuse should I have to take because of black angre. What amount do we have to pay to be over this. Because what it think in my mind. (called say personal bias) or even worst that I unconcieously feel (unconciuous bias) is just crap. You can not use what some people think, or what some people think that they don't even recognise as anything actionable. You keep racism alive by talking about it over and over. And you keep voilect going. Like the perptual revolution. There are no race laws on the books, the are people of color is all strata of society. So drop it already.	African, Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	9/264	3.409

Bro take a deep breathe. Consider the numbers you just gave. America is 12 black and 60 white. Yet they rake in the same percentages when it comes to committing crime?! How is committing crime way more than another group a sign of racism ?	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/44	4.545
What is the difference between black and white skin? Please answer racists!!!! I said no difference. only color difference	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/19	5.263
Racism is real along with xenophobia , homophobia etc it's a lie made up by evil liberals who teach minority groups do believe in racism and look for it. Parents normally teach there's kids these lies and they teach them to look for racism and destroy people if they do something so called racist or offended. Racism is really a difference between right and wrong that's all it is. Trump 2020	Homophobia, Racism, Racist, Xenophobia	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General, Sexual Identity - General	7/70	10.0
How the hell is racism a lie maybe?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/9	11.111
cringe boi are country's better than all these other communist Globalist shitholes.	Communist	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/12	8.333
why kind of racism are we talking about?????	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/8	12.5
I think I was racist but like not because I hate black people it was because I was stupid and say stupid shit	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/23	8.696

I AM A AMERICAN BORN DRAFTED VIETNAM VET FORMER CALIF. STATE EMPLOYEE JUST GOT TURNED DOWN BY a FORMER WELFARE BLACK LADY TURNING VETS FROM GETTING THEIR REQUIRED USA NATIONAL IF CARD BLACKS HAVE MANAGED TO HAVE A CORRUY BLACK DOMINANCE MANAGEMENT OF MORE MANGERS & MORE SUPERVISORS IN ALL LEVELS OF MANAGEMENT. THEY ARE DOING IT THRU THEIR UNFAIR BLACK HIRING PRACTICES. DONT LET WHITES OR OTHER RACES GET IN THE SAME HIRING OPPORTUNITIES. WHY? ONLY TO CONTINUE THEIR DOMINANT ROLE IN ALL EDD,DI OFFICES IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA. IF U KNOW THE WAY BLACKS OPERATE THEY ARE NOT WORKING THEY ARE HIRING THEIR OWN BLACK FRIENDS, NEIGHBORHOODS & CONGERATIONS. PRESIDENT TRUMP NEEDS TO LOOK INTO THIS UNFAIR RACIST ACTS FROM BKACK CORRUPTION IN CALIFORNIA GOVERNMENT OFFICES. AT JESUS COUNTRY USA. FLYING ONLY ONE FLAG THE ALWAYS GREAT AMERICAN FLAG. DEMOGRAPHICS IN CALIFORNIA CALLS FOR MORE WHITES & MORE OF THE RACES LIVING.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/153	3.268
I am proud of being Mexican said the Mexican.I am proud of being Arabic said the Arab.I am proud of being Asian said the Asian. I am proud of being an Indian said the Native American. I am proud to be Black said the African American.I am proud of being white said the racist .	African, Black, Indian, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	4/58	6.897
are you serious? this just perpetuates racism , and is in fact racist	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/12	16.667
END RACISM	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/2	50.0
Your teeth porcelain and clouds are now considered racist no more white teeth no more white toilets and no more white clouds!!!...	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/22	4.545

White people always going to have it made in America black people is not and they're going to make sure they don't have the same thing that they have and if a black person have the same thing as a white person being rich every black person in America have more money than they have every black person like a white person having a good job don't have to work hard getting paid all that lots of money then a black person if a black person have the same thing as a white person here come the jealousy that's never going to happen black people go to always struggle in America always no matter how much they try to come up to the top a white person going to try to put them right back down that's America	Black	Ethnicity - Black	7/138	5.072
Black people are already treated better than white people legally. They already make the same amount of money by law. And thats not what racism is anyway. Not to mention you seem pretty racist yourself.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/35	8.571
I feel that racist is a crime towards other race cuz they hate other people and that's not good and they're take their races out on other innocent people like lynching and hanging and killing and I feel that racist against other race is a crime and they should go to jail and being a racist can end up being a crime those type of people should not be around other people that don't look like them and I feel that they need counseling those type of people and they should get help	Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General	5/93	5.376
Racism is not any issue in the U.S, those using it are the racists. Color of the skin,eyes,hair are of no issue, but what is the issue is what is said, what is acted on, what is thought.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/38	2.632

I'd be curious to see the data beyond color relating to crime sentence.Example. What did the white people who had less of a conviction for the same crime look like? Where they well dressed? Talked educated? Did they have money? Were they influential people?Now, obviously racism does exist, but I like data and solutions. Just saying "racism" exisits and here's the proof" isn't doing any good. Need a solution and part of it is finding out why.My assumption is how you dress and talk have more to do with "racism" than your skin color. Not always, but I think in the majority of situations.If a white guy talks poorly and dresses like a thug, he's not getting that job even though he's white. White people make fun of white people who can't talk well or who dress like crap....White people tend to use it as an indicator of education, intelligence, and maturity. That's what white people value.If a black guy talks and dresses well he will actually find himself having a much easier time getting a job than a white guy. Racism is a hot button for white people, which is why it's effective in lazy political debates. As a white kid growing up in the 80's and 90's I was a punk rocker. I wore cut up cloths, patches everywhere, weird colored hair, piercings, and had a "swagger" common for that sub culture. I'd go into a store and be followed by the workers like I was gonna steal something. It wasn't my skin color that made them not trust me, it was how I carried myself, spoke, and dressed.	Black, Colored, Common, Racism, Weird	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments, Social Class - Working class	8/277	2.888
I understand your point but if a black and a white man were to both dress and sound educated, the white man is more likely to be employed. The only difference now is that they don't have an excuse, they can't blame the terrible appearance or low level education. When I was in college me and a friend did an experiment were he (white man) went in a shop first and I looked at the reaction of the security while standing outside and then I went in myself ( black man) and I got followed by security as soon as I entered. We were dressed similar and spoke in an educated way yet it didn't stop the discrimination. So regardless, there is discrimination, its just for those that look suspicious then they just make things worse for themselves.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/137	1.46
Stop!! I LOVE black people Am married to a black man he is so cute	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/15	13.333

Sometimes I suspect(at least involving white on black racism )that the root could be envy.Not that many of we whites would admit to it,of course.In my eyes at least,blacks are much better looking.Also,they age so much better if indeed they age at all. Nothing makes some whites more jealous than effortlessly staying young looking.Besides,there's that resiliency and some quality I can't quite put into words.I guess it has to do with personality mostly.Other peoples seem to lack that intangible "vibe".Mind you,this isn't to kiss black ass.I'd sooner (almost) vote for Trump than kiss ass of any hue.It's all just what I've noticed in my time on this ridiculous planet.	Age, Black, Nothing, Racism	Age - General, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/107	5.607
im indian you can get out of our planet we are the first civilization many indian civilizations pre indus valley indus valley Harappa mojendaro. you stupid.	Indian	Ethnicity - Native-American	2/26	7.692
quit using our surgery medicine music dance airplanes military rockets drums stringed instrument martial arts toilets water system shampoo dentistry language grammar literature cotton clothing wool and the list is too big to type here all day quit using prefabricated houses buttons for clothes radio quit using internet internet uses our fiber optics numbers number zero binary code and wireless communications.	Zero	Age - Youngsters	1/61	1.639
blacks have a entire continent to themselves in Africa go back and fix your own shitholEs you whites need to get out of native indigenous indian lands as well.	Indian	Ethnicity - Native-American	1/29	3.448
And natives are not Indian	Indian	Ethnicity - Native-American	1/5	20.0
'What is needed is a spirit of boundary dissolution, between individuals, between classes, sexual orientations, rich and poor, man and woman , intellectual and feeling toned types. If this can happen, then we will make a new world. And if this doesn't happen, nature is fairly pitiless and has a place for us in the shale of this planet, where so many have preceded us.'	Sexual, Woman	Gender - General	2/64	3.125
Being pro White is considered racism . That's why people "become" racist .	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/11	18.182
There is a sentencing disparity because black men are more likely to have previous convictions.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/15	6.667
Multiple charges and lack of cooperation too, but dont tell John. His head will explode on the mere possibility everything isnt entirely dependent on race alone.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/26	3.846
I love it when whites are called racist , because it demonstrates, that whites can handle people saying negative about whites, like adults.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/22	4.545

What about all the black crime that white people have to run from?..... oh no.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/15	6.667
Many of these sources are nor reliable and i simply don't think they should be used as a source of information, i prefer more reliable sources. I personally don't think racism is as big of a thing in America as many leftist like to make it, instead of addressing the issues what many are doing is making a bigger difference by painting white people as bad, and any other minority as good, this is what creates real racism . Racism will always exist and prejudice will continue because its human nature to judge others. I wouldnt say its a black thing to commit higher crimes or not graduate highschool or get paid less... but these things happen because they are usually in poor neighborhoods and in low income places... i dont think we as blacks should blame racism and white people, but we should blame our culture and start proving ourselves wrong, we can do the same as white people in this country, dont blame the system, blame yourselves. Take responsibility for your actions	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/173	2.312
Black society is a social construct since they make contact with outside world.Middle east society is a Religious construct since they discover Jerusalem. White society is a racial construct since they discover earth is full of colorful people.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/39	2.564
There's nothing wrong about black people!..	Black, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black	2/6	33.333
There is nothing sinful in itself to be from another country.The bible says SIN IS A REPROACH TO ANY PEOPLE OR COUNTRY.The sins people of one race criticize other races of committing are practiced by the accuser's race itself to one degree or another.The book of Revelation says THAT THE GLORY OF THE NATIONS SHALL BE BROUGHT TO THE CITY OF GOD. So God doesn't have a problem with race but with sin.THERE'S NOTHING WRONG WITH RACES, BUT THERE IS SOMETHING TERRIBLY WRONG WITH THE SIN OF RACISM .	Nothing, Race, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	6/89	6.742
What are the rules bc I don't look black or Asian but a percentage of me is black and Asian. Am I allowed to say the c and n word. Lmk what you fellow racists think	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/37	5.405
Everyone in the world is racist to an extent but black and brown people are the most racist .	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/18	16.667

Do you hear yourself tho lmao, litteraly a racist ass sentence	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/11	9.091
Most of the time I get insulted by white ppl they always said why I even using internet when I'm supposed to be working in their backyards lol and black ppl always told me to go back to South America funny because even white ppl call them African-American lol I really don't understand but I stay quiet lol	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/58	1.724
Look all of them on the planet has same brain and same blood without festivals of different religion it will be too boring and no fun. Others like Invention of whites till I know Americans. Particular religion enjoy and have extraordinary comfort but hate their religion who invented eg Apple iPhone , bulb , Dubai tourism etc	Apple	Ethnicity - Native-American	1/59	1.695
Black skin Dark skin Light skin White skin People are people no matter what colour they are! I love you all. And I hope you love yourself too	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/33	3.03
ItsAbbyyy T thank u. Though anyway, America racism is very low, lowest in the world rn. On a daily basis, people from each race and ethnicity get along superbly. Of course there's still racism , but it is a lot lower than people in America make it out to be	Ethnicity, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	4/49	8.163
black skin brown skin light skin White skin I updated the list	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/12	8.333
No such thing as white people black people and so on. We are all just different shades of brown. This is a fact. Powers that be want us all to think otherwise though. No such thing as different races of human beings. Wish more of us would realize this.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/49	2.041
Brendan ODonnell you sure?I believe racism in the south is still alive,even after the civil war,just without slavery.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/18	5.556
I know one thing for damn sure. AFFIRMATIVE ACTION IS RACISM AGAINST WHITE PEOPLE!	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/14	7.143
My family and I were watching TV, and a commercial with a woman wearing a hijab came on and my dad said: "Oh shut up, you f*cking terrorist ."	Terrorist, Woman	Gender - General, Religious Identity - Muslim	2/28	7.143
This country is based off racism . Capitalism would fall without free or cheap labor . America would fall without slavery. It went from 1400s Indentured servants 1600's African slaves 1900's free prison labor1900's illegals along the southern border working for pennies. 2000's cheap overseas labor in China and India	African, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/50	4.0
the reputation of black people is not good that's why people prefer not to have them work for them it's not an individual basis deal it is an image that is portrayed	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/32	3.125

I've read many reports from my African American brothers and sisters of what it feels like to live in our society. I've read many times that they feel that the color of their skin is noticed first and that they feel immediately stereotyped. Yes I do notice the color of skin. Right away. But I love it. Wow so many beautiful shades of people. It's hard not to stare sometimes. Wow! But no, I don't immediately have a presumption except that I know they have suffered differently than I and I feel sorry. There is one thing that I experience as a white. I've noticed when I walk down the street and if there is a group of black youths on a corner that I feel very uncomfortable. I am self conscience and think they only see my skin color and guess things about me. I want to say hello like I do with any strangers but I'm afraid they don't like me and won't welcome my "hello".I'm not sure because of the different ways in which we have suffered if they will welcome me.As I pass I feel helpless and stupid and sad. This is the nature of my racism . I don't feel like I belong. My solution is to imagine that I do and fearlessly act like myself and say hello.	African, Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/225	1.333
But the fact is that on average blacks are MUCH more racist than Whites are. They seem to hate everyone that is not the color they are. Just part of their DNA to be filled with hatred I suppose.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/39	2.564
Calling people racist is the new N word to call whites, it seems, and people of color appear to have gained the privilege of accusing anyone of being racist any time they want with complete impunity instead of going to the real problem. You be a racist , is what one man told me when I didn't like his character, then I saw the youtube videos he was watching on breaks at work, most of them were all about how the whites are oppressing blacks and on and on.... He's the racist , his whole life revolves around race . Too much is blamed on race instead of individuals taking responsibility for their own issues or behavior when things don't work out well in a relationship. Is it racist to say this or post my displeasure of hearing so much being called racism today when the core issues go much deeper? Race is genetic history, what we each are as an individual is what counts now, not tribalism. If so many problems are believed to be based on race , you will never see what the real problem is to correct it, then trapped in your own negative mindset.	Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	10/195	5.128
The reason why racism still exists today is because a handful of people of color set a bad example. Yesterday this black guy verbally assulted my husband on the street and said a few choice words to him but my husband didn't do anything wrong but asked him a question.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/50	4.0

Racism will never end from people’s minds, it’s impossible !! The only thing which can be done is end racism in ‘actions’. Even if you think in a biased way, you shouldn’t act on it	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/35	5.714
Racism rules	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/2	50.0
Is that racism I smell	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/5	20.0
When it comes to the resume name study. That’s been debunked by better studies. A big prob w it was that it didn’t account for class being showed in each name. The names they chose were low class black names vs regular class white namesAlso, much of what you said were like observations that you implied were racist . There are lots of explanations for those things other than racism	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/70	4.286
you’re literally the problem when it comes to systematic racism . Just because you can’t psychically see it, does not mean it doesnt exist. And no you’re wrong, it wasn’t ”debunked” actually check your facts and stop reading titles, and stop going to studies that are funded by republicans. and you talking about class in relations to the names, was racist . you said white people names have more class than black people names, which is racist , and if you dont see that, you really are uneducated. and no theres no ”explanation” thats why its called statistics, there’s only one way to look at it, because its factual.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/106	3.774
brian gomez Youre the real problem when it comes to several different things, including real racism . It doesnt mean it doesn’t exist but it also for damn sure doesn’t mean that it does. In fact it points to that it doesn’t. No you’re wrong multiple things here have been debunked, and for even more reasons given than in the original comment. Stop not reading anything whatsoever at any point and stop going to studies funded by liberals. No the idea is CERTAIN ”white names” and CERTAIN ” black names” have different levels of professionalism associated with them. Theyre saying not all names in either race are equal, not at all that ” black names” are all inherently inferior. ”Normal” ” black names” didn’t even see the same type of discrimination at all. Its only towards ”none traditional” ” black names” that you even begin to see anything even close to real discrimination. This is supported by some black people with actual education om the matter (can go get specific credentials if you like), so you think they’re racist too? And finally nooo, thats just flat out wrong. Statistics always have room for interpretation and even skewing to individual’s liking. This is common knowledge and common sense too ffs.	Black, Common, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	10/204	4.902

Guess am a BLACK Racist and bloody well proud of it!	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/12	16.667
Racism provides a basis and "a situation which, if allowed to drift, will, cause the streets of American cities to run with blood" – Citadel of Faith, 1947-1957, Baha'i Faith	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/30	3.333
And Fuckin help black people. Shit!! white people been listening and listening responding and saying sorry. Yall ain't doing shit but saying "we should come together " or " I don't see color". What's the point of you speaking about statistics about black and white people when nothing you say is going to change anything in America? If you don't have a plan to ACTUALLY help, just forget it...	Black, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black	3/69	4.348
Can we get a black person to talk about this. Im not comfortable listening to a racist white person.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/19	10.526
I can't believe you actually said that. The overwhelming majority of black men stopped and searched are not while smoking weed. Stop and frisk in NY has statistically proven that less than 2 of those black men stopped didn't have anything on them like drugs or a gun, or were even ticketed. While the extremely small percentage of white men stopped and searched were 4 times more likely to have drugs and or a gun on them when stopped. What does this show? Not only in NY but around the country black men are targeted over white men, not because they are committing more crime than white men, but because of their race . A study released by the FBI and other crime statics data shows that white males committ the majority of crime in this country. And a more recently released study in march shows that population percentages have nothing to do with rate of crimes committed, it's about all about propensity. And in the 2014 FBI crime report it clearly says, "white males have a higher propensity for committing crime in this country". You have simply been indoctrinated into believing in stereotypes of black people by a nation predicated on a white supremacist ideology and (whiteness) as a social construct. It's not your fault, but all white people have fallen victim to this mentality and or system. Why would you assume something so clearly biased and utterly nonsensical?	Black, Nation, Nothing, Race	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	7/239	2.929
Michel Obama And who are you to say that? Right. No one, my sister is black and she doesn't smoke OR drink. I'm not trying to argue with u but what u said was bias stupid and rude. I feel sorry for the parents who raised you honestly	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/48	2.083

Each race except whites is always racist . The only way forward? Whites must also be racist . Whites must accept racism without shame. Racism is just pattern recognition. Racism is realism. Whites must proclaim themselves realist. They must also embrace hate, a clean, honest emotion. Hate is a weapon to protect those you love. Segregation is the only moral solution.	Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	6/59	10.169
Ok my wife is a boss at a large company she works from home over the phone she is Hispanic with a tiny bit of African , but to hear her talk on the phone you'd never know what race she is , one of her employees is horrible at his job and rude to people on the phone, she has to do her job taking steps to correct his bad behavior this man is black , he has now claimed she a racist , wich to me says everything about the current state of our culture, little did he know she is Hispanic and African and has a mixed family, if anything doesn't go their way it must be racism . It's played out , try again my man. Pathetic the race card been played so much it's played out .	African, Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/138	5.072
But is it possible to be racist towards everyone??? Because I belong to that group.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667
Racism is a mindset.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/4	25.0
I have issues with what he says. For example if a person steals a candy bar and the store wants to press charges. There would be a court case and hearing with a judge to have the final decision. My point is that judges look at every avenue. They look at the persons history, what they do for a living, their family, how they present themself in court, how respect they are towards the judge and others in the courtroom. A judge could give one person a slap on the wrist for this crime OR throw the book at them and even some cases they can add years onto the sentence. Iv seen it happen. So for this guy to say that racism exist due to the fact that black people have harsher sentences for the same crime, i think is one dimensional. There is so much more detail to look at and analyze rather than stats. A lot goes into why the numbers are the way they are, not just the color of ones skin. Why is over 80 of the NBA black ? With this guys reasoning, he would say well because of the stats, the NBA is racist against white people which isnt true. Ever just think that blaack people may just be better at this sport that white people? Who knows it could be a cultural thing on where basketball came from, who invented it and how it evolved overtime. Same goes with Hockey, why is the NHL over 90 white? I could rant for hours on how dumb racism is. And how it HARDLY exist today in america as an institution. Someone please reply to me lol.	Black, Dumb, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	6/281	2.135

You have a data on how black people are not nice to judges ?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/15	6.667
There were a few points that I take issue with here. Black people may be searched more than white people in certain areas, but that is simply a matter of profiling. The vast majority of gun assailents in NYC are black or Hispanic. I think profiling in cases like this are justified.The resume study seems to be more of a cultural thing than a race thing. If these employers get an application from someone with a rediculous name, they have reason to suspect that the persons parents were at least immature and irresponsible. Thus, They have reason to suspect that the applicant may not have been brought up in the best environment. I think that this study alone does not prove systemic racism in hiring, wspecially with the affirmative action that exists now.It only takes one generation to get out of poverty. It makes sense that inheritance increases the wealth disparity between black and white Americans, but the actual poverty rate in the black community is an entirely different issue. The fact that some white people are inheriting property does not prevent black people from rising up out of poverty. I don't know the specifics of the drug arrest stats, but I think it is reasonable to say that inner cities are much more policed for drugs than suburban and rural areas. This is where most of the gang activity and drug related violence occurs. So is it possible that this disparity is a result of the inner cities being more strictly policed combined with the higher population of African Americans? Just a thought.Finally, did the prison sentencing stats account for previous sentences? People with existing criminal records will get longer sentences for the same crime. If someone could clear that up, that would be great.I am not ruling out the idea of systemic racism , but I think such a claim requires as much context and evidence as possible. I think there needs to be more of an explanation of what is causing these disparities.Edit: The quality of public schools does not prove any racism . People can live where they want to live as long as they can afford it. Inner city public schools are generally very shitty. The wealthier school districts are going to have better public schools. Public education is at fault here. You can't say that this is racism unless you first prove that the wealth gap is caused by racism .	African, Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	12/409	2.934

The idea of racial equality is still relatively new. Only really in (I'm not sure how to say this without sounding racist ) technologically advanced first world countries is there serious concern about equality. Racism has been so deeply woven into society for as long as humans have been recording history that it will take a very long time to completely eliminate all aspects of it. Some of this racism that people complain about today is not necessarily the fault of some old white man in a position of power, but simply the outcome of the circumstances. Once we begin to come together to civilly and calmly discuss problems instead of immediately screaming " Racist! " at everything that happens, then we might be able to solve the problem. But protesting and rioting, and jumping to the conclusion of racism in new events like police shootings, will only serve to divide us even further.	Old, Racism, Racist	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - General	6/151	3.974
Here's something useful in causation explanation. Thomas Sowell, the legendary socioeconomist: Intellectuals and Race . [LINK]	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667
The only significant racism in America is against Blacks, and it wouldn't exist if they acted normally. They have the same problem in all other countries.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/26	3.846
Y'all's mistakes. What are the exact mistakes I'm making as a branded racist ?	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/13	7.692
spcfletch that's a question for you to answer. Racism is a problem that only the perpetrators can solve. It's the same as asking a criminal to incriminate themselves and create their own sentencing.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/34	2.941
Chief Grey Hawk That makes no sense. Sounds more like the comment of an anti-white racist native to me.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/19	5.263
Let's not talk about the fucking huge amount of hidden hate crimes against whites by blacks. This video is a recent one and but a little tip of the iceberg. [LINK] Black mobs attack whites at a significant rate, often racially motivated but silenced by the media. I don't get why nobody talk about that elephant in the room.	Black, Nobody	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black	2/59	3.39
But you cannot force an employer to hire a certain ethnicity that's just common sense	Common, Ethnicity	Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	2/15	13.333
Watch my video about Racism it's much better!	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/8	12.5
Racism doesn't exist	Racism	Ethnicity - General	5/3	166.667

There are people who, when I told them I was a child of an Algerian immigrant , called me a coward and a traitor. They said they were racist . It took a debate to convince them that racism is wrong.	Immigrant, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	3/39	7.692
Race is a social construct that's been debunked over and over and I hate that it still has such relevance in society today. When will humanity learn?	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/27	3.704
Oh my god, any difference in stats and it's racism this, racism that. Here are some things to consider: (1) black people are more likely to live in a city area which involves more factors in drug trafficking/slanging than would be observed in a rural setting (eg. public dealing, which means turf wars); (2) "stop and frisk" helps any community involved, as the only people who will really be more than inconvenienced are criminals; (3) don't trust Democrats as they are Satan's minions--and not in a cool way.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/88	3.409
you are a racist by virtue of describing people by race including white people... that's kinda how racism works	Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/19	15.789
Just agree that we all support our own race .	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/9	11.111
The government don't want that. It's very reason they had mass immigration from different races in the first place. Republicans are rolling in their grave. As they changed the amendments and add more on. People do prefer to live with their own race . Whites have been living under feminism and Zionist control for a long time now. Which is why the birthrates are low and hard to argue with women with endless propaganda. No one like it or wants it in their country.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/83	1.205
I stop talking to black American people 30 years ago, I do have African friends that I do talk to	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/20	10.0
I support racism	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/3	66.667
I'm Asian and honestly I feel bad for anyone who has to deal with racism ... my mom always told me to love everyone even if they're bad people or even a different colour I don't think humanity was suppose to end up like this...I think it was suppose to be the opposite.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/53	1.887
I love racism . But first trump should build a wall to deport the Hispanics.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/14	7.143
In summary, there are good evidence, almost all USA Caucasians are subconsciously racist in both behaviors and actions?	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/18	5.556

I SUPPORT RACISM	Racism	Ethnicity - General	6/3	200.0
Racism is an extremely controversial issue that should never be discussed any where, especially in a place of business.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/19	5.263
I knew racism existed .. when i visited US and South Africa as tourist.if you wanna experience first hand subtle racism these countries are the worst.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/27	7.407
ahh maybe i shouldnt have married a white woman . what was i thinking?	Woman	Gender - General	1/13	7.692
Remember, folks, it isn't racism , it is ethnic awareness.No intelligent human being associates with or interacts with blacks.	Ethnic, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/19	10.526
No intelligent human generalizes an entire race .	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/7	14.286
Using Vox as a source is intellectually dishonest and flat out stupid lol. This guy believes in social justice and studies gender theory I bet.	Gender	Gender - General	1/25	4.0
It's funny when people from homogeneous ethnostates brag that they're not racist .	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/12	8.333
When Social Science students traveled to rural Louisiana before WW2 to study race relations, they saw a pattern of " black assertiveness " and " white flexibility " which wasn't seen as a component of race relations in rural Georgia. Evidence to support the conclusion is the Great Migration had much more to do with racial violence than economic opportunity for black people. Compared to a black population of 700,000 in 1920, Louisiana's average black population of 926,000 beaten 1930 & 1970's was 226,000 larger, while compared to a black population of 1,207,000 in 1920, Georgia's average black population of 1,106,000 between 1930 & 1970 was 101,000 smaller, which is striking when considering that even Alabama and Mississippi had larger average black populations between 1930 & 1970 compared to 1920.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	9/129	6.977
Scary fact but 75 of white Americans don't believe that black people exist	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/13	7.692
Black people aren't real	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/4	25.0
Racism exist but it seems to be primarily blacks against whites...	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/11	9.091

When he says '75 of whites don't think there is a racial bias in the criminal justice system' that doesn't mean those whites don't think blacks get arrested more. It means those whites think that blacks commit more crimes therefore go to prison more often. Blacks need culture change badly and it is racist to ignore that fact.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/58	1.724
Another spineless white coward telling us we are racist .	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/9	11.111
The world would be so much better without racism	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/9	11.111
You hardly ever see kids making racist comments. Just shows racism is taught. And it's being taught by these idiots in the comments. God bless their children...	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/27	7.407
Askia Vance Half of the links don't work or are at least 10 years old	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/15	6.667
Ed Regis yeah there's nothing to argue about that. The sources aren't recent. I was simply saying if you want more current sources on this topic, you should look them up	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/31	3.226
I, joey flores support racism . I love racism so much. I love blaming racism on the black race instead of the white race who causes it.	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/26	23.077
I, Joey Flores, am a supporter of racism . You can even tell that I came to this country to help trump deport Mexicans. LMAO	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/24	4.167
I SUPPORT RACISM EVERYONE! I want to blame black people for racism instead of actually blaming those being racist .	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/19	21.053
I hate the united states for the bad and racist life that you even smell on streets. Thats why i return to my country. Because here in my country never happen that.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/32	3.125
Golly there guy, you forgot the world wide survey that proved Americans were some of the LEAST racist , SHILL!	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/19	5.263
Thanks for the video...I have read most of these statistics in disparate articles here and there. One important point...the discussions proceeds as though there are no other ethnicities /races other than Black or White...what about Latinos, Asians, Indians, native Indians and so forth? These minorities also experience significant racism !	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/49	4.082
Stop being racist , hate everyone equally	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/6	16.667
No such thing as white people black people ect. We are all literally just different shades of brown. Fact.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/19	5.263

One employer hire less black people is how most of them act at work ,long break,you ain't gonna tell me nothing attitude, and horseplaying way to much.first hand experience stats doesn't ever take in account of the small but important details it seems	Black, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black	2/43	4.651
America was built upon racism 1st enslaving black people for no reason then killing the native Americans for no reason now our president is building a wall to 'keep illegal drugs out' when all people are gonna do is fly a plane over it , and I'm pretty sure Donald Trump just hates Mexicans for no reason.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/57	3.509
dumb reggin lmao	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/3	33.333
Don't understand why white people are concerned with racism . They're the ones who are going the way of the dinosaur. If white people knew what so-called POC were going to do to them for generations to come.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/37	2.703
racism stop it	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/3	33.333
Most racist states south east states done	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/7	14.286
Black Nosing ... Civil Rights, or Sabotage? [LINK]	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/8	12.5
Racism is black people fault	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/5	40.0
Joey Flores Also you're race is killing us so you're bringing us to death	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/14	7.143
Joey Flores 1. Nice ignoring my first entire paragraph and 2. The insane amount of us dying by your races hand. We aren't perfect and there are a lot of bad things about us but most of it would be solved if we didn't live in such poor conditions from no post slavery reparations and we can't even get jobs because of our skin color. I recommend watching a vid called 'The Privilege game' Dude it's such a good vid. I used to be like you but the like 4 min vid changed my POV. So our race is stuck to either Luck, dying of starvation, or stealing. And most of us don't want to die.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/116	0.862

Joey Flores How is it black people's fault?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/8	12.5
Incognito smh... that's exactly why it will never end, for how long will blacks blame innocent people like me for slavery? When does the excuses end? Never?When does the new generation get a chance? You said it makes me uncomfortable to talk about racism ? How can you know that? Can you prove that? No so stop making lies, I say it cause throwing it in innocent faces doesn't make racism go away silly, did you know that nobody is born with racism ? They were taught and hearing about it in every corner keeps it strong.	Nobody, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	4/96	4.167
Joey Flores No, it'll never end because people like you want to quiet others from speaking on the issues regarding racism . I'm sitting here wondering where I have blamed innocent people.Tell me which excuses I have made in my previous replies. I'm waiting. This new generation can get a chance when others stop trying to close the mouths of those speaking on racism . Anytime a black person brings up racism a non black person will say they're living in the past? So racism that is still happening today is living in the past now?It obviously does make you uncomfortable. You said black people need to stop bringing up racism and please tell me why black people should stop? Does it still not exist today? Whether you like it or not racism will still be talked about. It sounds like you're trying to silence black people. Bringing up racism is not "throwing it on innocent faces." Especially since when people in this society aren't so innocent for being racist on a daily. If you just stop talking about racism it's not going to be any better. People will still be racist to other racial groups. That is why talking about racism helps bring awareness to people so they know that it is wrong. Most kids are taught racism at an young age to not play with other children for their skin color. Talking about racism helps bring awareness that it is wrong.	Age, Black, Racism, Racist	Age - General, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	19/243	7.819
Incognito lol wtf? When did this become about you? Ha.You are not listening very well, seems like your anger and emotions are blinding you kid, Look at my 2nd post to you and all your answers are there, I told you I was verbally attacked and I always said black people need to stop blaming the world and society for everything.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/62	1.613

Joey Flores This was never about me. This is about "your" views on racism and how you think black people should handle it. Which is very hilarious especially since you're not a black person and you've never experienced racism while being black .Go live in your non- racism reality world elsewhere where you think not talking about racism helps. Lol. You being verbally attacked by one black man means the whole black population needs to stop blaming the world? Name some ways how black people "blame" the world and society for everything today.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	9/92	9.783
Joey Flores Funny how you will sit here and say " racism is black people's fault" but you won't hold the white people who show racist actions to black people on a daily accountable. The KKK is black people's fault. Racial profiling and discrimination is black people's fault. The unfair justice system is black people's fault. Police brutality is black people's fault. In your logic it's not the person being racists fault.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	8/72	11.111
Incognito lol said for me to show you where you made excuses and blamed innocent people and said I'm waiting as if this was about you lol, then you say I shouldn't blame a entire race cause one guy verbally attacked me? Lol I never said I blame anyone, are you lost kid? Lol.That's actually being a he per Crete cause you tell me not to blame a race for one guy but say it's ok for blacks to blame whites of today for something that happened before they were born? You fake kid.As to name excuses blacks make are oh they won't hire me cause I'm black Oh I robbed a store because they put us in ghetto areasOh I need to sale drugs cause the system holds our kind down, lol tell that to Obama, Denzel Washington, Morgan Freeman, Tyson, Jordan, Jackson, and thousands more that stop crying and did something for themselves, their black too right? So stop with the excuses is what I say to black people, stop waiting for acceptance.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/178	2.809

Joey Flores Yeah, they do deserve to be talked about. You want to blame black people for racism yet you won't blame others like the KKK or this country's justice system for racism. School laws that ban and suspend black kids for their natural hair and black hairstyles they wear. Workplace laws that fire black people for wearing their natural hair because it's not "professional" or it's an "distraction." Being racial profiled, followed in your own apartment because some white woman thinks you don't live there, being called the cops on because a white woman doesnt think you live in this condo and owns this pool because you're black. You would rather blame black people for this than to blame the people doing it. Look at your life. Black Americans have typically been the Klan's primary target, it also has attacked Jews, immigrants, gays and lesbians and, until recently, Catholics. Are you black? If not re-evaluate yourself by "they hate my race too." I don't know your race nor do I care but just because a hate group doesn't bother you doesn't mean it won't bother other groups of people. If that's how you live through life I give condolences to your parents. Probably you don't care nor does it bother you because this HATE group hasn't been the one targeting and killing your race for decades. And even if black people were to stop paying attention to the KKK they would still continue with their hate. As long as black people still live in america, it's a problem to them. I never said black people commit a handful of crimes. I even acknowledged that they even committed the highest crimes in America. Tf? But so a race committing high rates of crimes gives the police a reason to inflict police brutality? A black boy named Jordan who has never committed any crimes in his lifetime gives the police a reason to inflict brutality just because is race commits an high amount of crimes. Don't reply to me saying no because that's exactly what you're insinuating. Let's use your logic then. Because white people have a history of slavery and racism (past and present) in america, they deserve to be discriminated and to be treated poorly. It's basically their fault. Because Mexicans have a numerous amount of cartel gangs, selling drugs, and go around killing civilians in america, they deserve to be deported. It's basically their fault. Is that right? Using your logic that's basically what you're saying. True story: This story is sort of similar to yours. Me and my black family who adopted me was behind a black woman who wanted to pay for a dress she bought for whatever reasons I don't know. The cashier who was a white man denied her from paying and claimed that she couldn't afford it. When the woman asked what he meant by that, the cashier said that she's black and went on a whole rant about black people and how they can't afford things. When the woman called him out for is actions and wrong doing, the cashier started talking about how all black people complain and cry about racism and how they should go back to where they came from. Lmao. As if he wasn't being racist himself.	Black, Race, Racism, Racist, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	32/549	5.829
--	------------------------------------	---	--------	-------

Incognito again your anger is blinding your judgment lol, I never said racism doesn't exist, I said people like you and black people feed it by begging for acceptance lol take a deep breath kiddo it sounds like you are drowning in our debate, it's not that of a big deal lol I will still smile at end of the day and you will still fight a losing war	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/69	2.899
Joey Flores Nowhere do I have anger. You came at me with judgement on how racism is black people's fault and I responded back. If my anger is blinding my judgement, its blinding yours as well. And, I never stated that you mentioned that racism doesn't exist. I'm calling you out because you will literally sit here and blame racism on black people but won't blame it on the individuals in America who are racist and cause racism . If you think calling out the bias and unfairness of racism in society is wanting acceptance you need to take several seats. Lol. Here we go again with terms and words on "your" logic. I actually encourage you to read all that I've wrote. You clearly haven't hence why you're still repeating the same things over and over again that I've already checked you on. Good to know you go through life smiling at racism at every corner while others are getting discriminated against. Exactly why it'll never end if you don't do something about it.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	9/175	5.143
Incognito again you fail to see the point, let me bring out the big markers and give you some scenarios, let's take Japan for example, did you know that at one point America and Japan hated each other? Did you know that Japan attacked our country and families and Ancestors, so why don't we go around and hate Japan today for something they did years ago? Because we let it go, lol we're best of friends today, same for Germany and other wars of attack, we keep going on accept black people they bring it up every day and keeps it strong, good job on keeping it alive	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/108	0.926
Joey Flores Congratulations Joey for keeping racism alive. You'll point your finger at blacks to blame for racism but won't point your finger at the racists who keep racism alive instead.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/31	9.677
Joey Flores Knock knock anyone there? Or are you going to keep dodging questions and holding others who have no power in America accountable for racism jOeY?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/26	3.846
Joey Flores 'I ToLd yOu i wAs rIghT' Keep telling yourself that and it might come true. 'mY nAmE iS jOey aNd i Don'T WaNt oTheRs tO tAlk AbOut rAcIsM BeCauSe It tRiGGeRs mE.'	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/35	2.857

Incognito hi joey, I'm also joey lol so I'm glad you finally understand since I drew you a picture with the Japan scenario, also I'm literally laughing how easy I get you angry just by saying little things, I know it bothers you cause you keep repeating me lol mad much? So now you see blacks need to just live there lives and let it rest away and it will disappear, if innocent people keep being accused then they might start to hate black people too you know.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/88	1.136
Incognito I say tell all crybabies that are always bringing race to watch the movie FROZEN and just let it go let it go Haha that was pretty funny you have to admit.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/33	3.03
Joey Flores Your Japan scenario was wack. Lol. Read my comment again and maybe it'll sink into your skull on how stupid you sound comparing countries with races. Oh I'm not angry. Does me hitting you hard in the face with facts make me angry? Does me asking you multiple of questions using 'your logic' only for you not to answer them back make me 'angry?' Lmao. Stupid and ignorant people don't bother me at all. It's your 'logic' that makes me laugh. You still haven't answered my question Joey. Why blame blacks for racism instead of blaming the non-blacks that cause racism today? Oh I'm sorry I should just quit talking about racism because it makes you uNcOmFoRTaBLe. Ignorant much? Speaking out on the racism that affects others in society is not accusing others nor is keeping quiet about racism going to end it.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	5/145	3.448
Joey Flores Do you know what I tell ignorants like you who think think talking about about racism is pointing fingers at others? Do you know what I tell ignorants like you who blame others but the people who are racist ? Do you know what I tell people like you who cry and whine about racism because it makes them feel uncomfortable? I tell them to take a hike and cry about it in a corner. Sorry Joey but nobody gives a shit if you're uncomfortable.	Hike, Nobody, Racism, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - Italian	5/86	5.814
Joey Flores Take a hike Joey then come back. Your hate is blinding you.	Hike	Nationality - Italian	1/14	7.143
Incognito I like to hike sometimes I go with some buddies. Race or country, hate is hate and it can be overcome, black people being mad at the world definitely won't help like I said this generation doesn't have a chance when always being accused, Racist white people need to be laughed at until they know nobody cares about racism , it needs to become old , it needs to disappear, but wait it can't because blacks and people like you sir/maam blame EVERYONE congratulations high 5 Spread the love dont hate like them and you.Ps I love you, teehee.	Black, Hike, Nobody, Old, Race, Racism, Racist	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - Italian	7/99	7.071

Joey Flores You hiking with your buddies obviously isn't working then since you still share negative views. You need to take a longer hike then. Maybe bring a tent with you on your next hike so you can sit in there and cry about people talking about racism even more and how it triggers your soft spot. There you go again where you think black people pointing out their experiences with racism and talking about this country's systematic racist views is accusing others. Black people aren't mad at the world, they're pointing out the racial bias they see and which is still happening TODAY. How many times have I had to repeat this? And you still don't get it. Listen, laughing about racist white people isn't going to solve anything. Your ideas are shit. White people have the power in America to be systematically racist . Black people are supposed to laugh at that? Work places not hiring a black man because his name sounds too black but will hire a white man with the same resume as him. Black people are supposed to laugh at that? The unfair justice system who whites benefit from. Are black people supposed to laugh at that? Will laughing solve the problem or will it keep happening despite all the laughing? People like you are why racism will still exist. You want to shut the mouths of others and keep racism quiet. Lol. Because in 'your logic' it'll stop. Nope Joey. Racism will still happen as long as racists see that black people live in America. No matter how much black people shut their mouths it'll still be a problem to racists. Hence why most black people mind their business going into their apartment only to see a racist white lady racial profile him/her. Give yourself a pat on the back. You're apart of the problem.	Black, Hike, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - Italian	21/311	6.752
Joey Flores Hmmm. In that case, because ONE black man verbally attacked you, you shouldn't sit here and say black people (a whole race of people) need to stop blaming the world and society. Keep that same energy both ways. If you're referring to police brutality, it's not just one police officer. It's hundreds. Shift your blame on police officers as well.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/62	4.839
Joey Flores [LINK] Oh look at this! Sad you won't hold people like her accountable for racism but will blame black people. I can taste them tears.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/28	7.143
Incognito hell yeah I would point my finger at her, but I'd be pointing and laughing cause how stupid she looks, like I told you before I know racism exists but until black people just laugh back and love themselves it will always exist silly goose, I told you that kid.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/51	3.922

Joey Flores Here's the thing here that you won't understand. What the man is saying in the video is exactly how you think. ONE black man verbally attacked you, but you want to sit here and say black people (a whole race of people) need to stop blaming the world and society. You're contradicting yourself. I will say this again for how many times? Black people speaking out on the racism that affects them in America is not accusing people nor blaming anybody. It's opening the eyes of people on what is going on. Nor is talking about slavery blaming anybody. Does history not deserve to be talked about? The injustice that went on? But of course you want victim points so you refuse to listen or accept this.Read this article. If you can that is because we all know you write the same shit all over again that I've already responded to and checked you on. This is exactly how whites think black people keep racism alive according to 'their logic.' [LINK] Read the whole thing. It may take a while since you're very slow at things.	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/189	3.704
Joey Flores Again, you didn't read my previous comments. I said black people laughing about racism is not going to solve anything. What is laughing at labor market discrimination going to do? Nothing . No matter how much black people laugh or keep quiet about racism it will still exist. Some racist people will still find it a problem as long as black people live in America. Laugh at your own issues if you're that desperate. Oh wait but I though you said responding back admits that I'm right and you're wrong. So I have power over you. Triggered much?	Black, Nothing, Racism, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/99	7.071
Incognito To late you took my first bait, remember?( Racism is black people's fault)Now I'll play your strings and I promise I will get the Last word cause I'm RIGHT and when I believe I am its cause i am, heres how it will go, I will play you like a puppet and you will probably start name calling and eventually give up and probably block me lol.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/69	2.899
Joey Flores Go ahead and take your nights sleep. You'll need it for the hike you're about to take tomorrow.	Hike	Nationality - Italian	1/20	5.0
Incognito that bihh hates black people	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/6	16.667
Benny Z yup this that bihh guy supports racism , sad.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/10	10.0

Joey Flores Ah I'll join the fun, too...I of course didn't read all the thoughts and opinions expressed in this comment section so forgive me for voicing my opinion under those circumstances but I think I know where both of you guys are getting at generally and where you all are coming from. Both of you honestly made some fair points but I can't say that I agree with both of you 100 (that's honestly a rare phenomenon, not to patronize anybody). I'm black, Joey, and I don't think you deserve any sort of blame for what your ancestors did. They aren't even necessarily evil, slavery was a way of life- for many, it was just there and not many questioned it (despite how terribly unethical the system was). History is essentially how people become more reasonable and ethical together as a human race. What happened to black people during slavery is a tragedy and I'm sure you aren't proud of the subjugating enterprise your ancestors built. However, I don't quite believe that racism is black people's fault. Racism comes in different forms so you have to be clearer in that, Joey. Overt racism like the KKK or subtle microaggression racism like what was discussed in the video? The KKK was birthed from evil ideologies subjugating black people sharing commonalities with Hitler and his actions (and we can both agree that Hitler was kind of a jerk). Neither of them were rational or progressive thinkers- they acted from ideologies and instinct, truly disgusting. But when it comes to the more subtle stuff, the statistics you point out may very much play a role. It's unfortunate how involves black people are in crimes and how they have lower test scores, etc. So, if I'm not mistaken, this was what you meant when you said "racism is black people's fault." And to that I say, sort of. It makes me ashamed as a black guy to see those statistics but it is what it is. There is also the peculiar parts of black culture in America that play a role, like the fascination with gangs and crime in music. But what can the good, smart black kid with straight A's do about that? We can't discriminate against black people and nothing can justify that system. Statistics doesn't justify it. All people deserve a chance. The fact that a potentially smart straight-A black kid may lose a job opportunity over a potentially mediocre white kid is absolutely unacceptable. That system of racial discrimination was built in those corporations. They didn't have to just look at race for determining the job offer, so many other variables could come into play. It is in that sense that I say "sort of."	Black, Nothing, Race, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	19/457	4.158
---	------------------------------	---	--------	-------

Benny Z I wont read your comment sorry it's not worth my timeQuick and simple Racism is fake, bs, only what people make it and black people live to make it a huge deal, my opinion, here look at this, listen to girl in the middle with the dreds, she speaks like me, in other words stop making excuses and strive. [LINK] Ps I too make a separate account	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/70	2.857
Joey Flores joey flores hates black people	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/7	14.286
Incognito that bihh supports racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/5	20.0
Joey Flores joey flores supports racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/6	16.667
Joey Flores Your response to Benny Z's long response of racism was "I won't read your comment sorry it's not worth my time" LMAO. Uneducated much? Up to the point that you refuse to read? That's maybe why you keep repeating the same points over and over again that I've already talked about. You probably didn't even read the long paragraphs I've wrote.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/64	1.562
Incognito that bihh supports racism	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/5	60.0
Joey Flores joey flores supports racism	Racism	Ethnicity - General	4/6	66.667
Incognito that bihh supports racism , look I have the most comments, joey is winning	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/14	7.143
Joey Flores joey flores supports racism , look I have the most comments, bihh is winning	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667
Incognito good job on bait catching. That bihh supports racism	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/10	10.0
Joey Flores good job on bait catching. Joey flores supports racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/11	9.091
Has anyone seen my buddy that bihh? I triggered him and now he's giving up, sad just cause he supports racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/21	4.762
Joey Flores Has anyone seen my buddy joey flores? I triggered him and now he's giving up, sad just cause he supports racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/23	4.348

Joey Flores bro you suck at this joey flores sucks at this, bihh has more comments Bihh gets the last word daily Bihh is a beast Joey flores is a weak boy Bihh wins always Joey flores only copies and paste Joey flores gave up Bihh did this before and it lasted over a year Joey flores wants to cry, he is triggered He wants to sleep He can't keep up with BihhJoey flores is mad mad mad teehee Joey flores cant stand it Joey flores supports racism Bihh is the ruler Bihh baits that joey flores Joey flores bites Bihh's bait Joey flores is Bihhs puppet Bihh can feel joey flores anger Joey flores doesn't know what to do Joey flores is shaking Joey flores Is a loser Bihh won he has the most comments and more last words, look at it, that joey cant copy and paste this cause Bihh beat him to the ground, hahahahahhahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaah hi buddy triggered little boy? Teehee Psst I'm waiting....	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/167	0.599
Mike Theman The truth is, it isn't black peoples fault. This fool named Joey would rather blame a group of people being victims to racism in America than to blame those causing racism themselves. As if it's black people's fault for the KKK, The unfair justice system, workplace discrimination, racial profiling, etc. The	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/53	7.547
Mike Theman You do understand that i have to blame racism on black people, right? I'm too scared to actually point fingers at those being racist so i have to blame blacks instead. Do you think I'm being a coward?	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/40	7.5
Joey Flores I support racism . Teehee	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/6	16.667
Mike Theman I just wanted to tell you bud to bud that I can't stop supporting racism . I don't know why but I can't stop. Do you think that racism is black people's fault? I sure do.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/37	8.108
Joey Flores Teehee. Look! The both of us support racism . You should probably scroll through all the other replies in this videos comment section. Your account is everywhere!	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/29	3.448
Memeyeah • Did you know that whites/Europeans and native Americans owned black slaves? Wow shocking.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/16	6.25
Mike Theman I love racism . Thats why.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/7	14.286
Joey Flores I think whites are the cause of racism	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/10	10.0

Incognito I'm here where are you, psst you left a ton of hate comments all over this page, such a bad man, I mean you were defending black people and now you're attacking them? Wow somebody is making you do crazy things, almost like you're someone's puppet, why would you start to hate black people all of a sudden? Lol	Black, Crazy	Ethnicity - Black, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/60	5.0
Incognito will the real that bihh please stand up? Haha you racist crap	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/13	7.692
Incognito dont mind me I'm just looking for that racist that bihh person, hmm I wonder why hes hiding	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/20	5.0
Joey Flores will the real that bihh please stand up? Haha you racist crap	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/14	7.143
Joey Flores Look at Joey crying and bawling his eyes out! Meanwhile he's the real racist ! Lmao.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/18	5.556
Incognito yes more of the real racism please, I love it I'm breaking the fake good boy that used to be that bihh, Haha people hate you on here and you care teehee	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/33	3.03
Joey Flores yes more of the real racism please, I love it I'm breaking the fake good boy that used to be that bihh, Haha people hate you on here and you care teehee	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/34	2.941
Joey Flores I'm Joey Flores and I get uncomfortable talking about racism so I try to blame it on blacks! Teehee.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/21	4.762
Incognito I support racism	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/4	25.0
Joey Flores Has anyone seen the real Joey? He loves supporting racism	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/12	8.333
Joey Flores RACISM SUPPORTER	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/4	25.0
Joey Flores Teehee. Get over the fact the people are going to keep talking about racism . Others don't care if you're comfortable or not. Teehee	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/25	4.0
Joey Flores Joey: I'm going to try to shut the mouths of all who talk about racism ! I'm so embarrassed about what my ancestors did so I don't want anyone talking about racism . Teehee.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/34	5.882
Incognito wants to make racism stronger, 100 fact Haha let's blame everyone for racism he says, let's not give anyone a chance, supports racism	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/28	10.714

Incognito Racism is black people fault	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/6	33.333
Joey Flores Joey Flores wants to make racism stronger, 100 fact Haha let's blame everybody for racism he says, let's not give anyone a chance, Joey Flores supports racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/29	10.345
Joey Flores Racism is white people fault.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/7	14.286
Joey Flores After all, whites are the one who created racism in America. Teehee.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/14	7.143
Incognito you're mad admit it you racist supporter	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/8	12.5
Joey Flores you're mad admit it you racist supporter	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/9	11.111
Joey Flores I SUPPORT RACISM	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/5	20.0
Joey Flores I SUPPOET RACISM	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/5	20.0
Joey Flores Knock knock, is the racist supporter there? Oh I guess you're still over the wall supporting racism . LOL	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/20	10.0
Incognito poor racist supporter changed his name	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/7	14.286
Joey Flores Poor racist supporter changed his name	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/8	12.5
I am that bihh and I support racism , let's blame everyone in the world for racism yes I sound silly I know but long live racism	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/26	11.538
Incognito Haha you cant even copy and paste my long comments.... weak..... Haha I support racism	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/16	6.25
I am joey flores and I support racism , let's blame everyone in the world for racism yes I sound silly I know but long live racism	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/26	11.538
Haha you can't even copy and paste my long comments.... weak.....Haha I support racism	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/17	5.882
Incognito so wait first you dont support racism and now you do? I'm confused	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/14	7.143

Joey Flores so wait first you dont support racism and now you do? I'm confused	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667
Incognito it's not speaking silly boy its typing hahaha, why the insults? You see when someone is losing or lost or is just angry like you they turn to cursing or insults most of the time, you're a prime example, Aww dont be mad that bihh be like Joey, absolutely nothing anyone say on here will ever bother me, nothing . TRUMP 2020.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/62	3.226
Joey Flores it's not speaking silly boy its typing hahaha, why the insults? You see when someone is losing or lost or is just angry like you they turn to cursing or insults most of the time, you're a prime example, Aww dont be mad joey flores be like Bihh, absolutely nothing anyone say on here will ever bother me, nothing . TRUMP DIES 2020.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/64	3.125
Incognito omg that bihh why would you wish death on trump or anyone in this world, damn you are TRIGGERED teehee, I'm mean death wow lol cant you just love like me I love everyone even you bro, psst I love you bro teehee, are you red with anger right now? Lmao that is funny now copy and paste this cause you can't be original.	Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	2/65	3.077
supports racism	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/4	25.0
Memeyeah • supports racism	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/7	14.286
Mike Theman supports racism	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/6	16.667
Mike Theman joey flores supports racism	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/6	16.667
Joey Flores well I hope you're proud of yourself to support racism . Why do you dislike Trump	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/17	5.882
Joey Flores joey is driving that bihh crazy	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/8	12.5

Is racism a pattern of behavior that has a measurable physical effect on anything?What is the "material build-up" or residue of unchecked racism ? Is it measured by temperature, volume, weight, or any other actual physical trait?Is melanin where racism collects and rests? Does it end up in the soil feeding plants?Which state of matter is racism preserved in, at room temperature? Solid? Liquid? Plasma?Honest questions for science.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	4/71	5.634
Pewdiepie has never endorsed racism , you're the racist here	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/9	22.222
MemeYeah Do You Even Know Who He Is!?EVERY, VIDEO, HE, CREATES, IS, RACIST	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667
America is the most racist country in the world	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/9	11.111
Yeah, we are racist , ??? What now ?	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/8	12.5
Frey Aubur nobody is saying you are racist just that the system is biased against African American.	African, Nobody, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/17	17.647
Bulldog Madhav no but we are racist lol	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/8	12.5
MemeYeah yeah, I'm the problem because I recognize that whites for the Majority hater blacks, and there culture and way of life, wake up snowflake this is life. You're the problem for bringing shame to us, and acting as if they don't want you're downfall. Open you're eyes	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/49	2.041
Frey Aubur You're acting like it's going to be like this forever, but one day you all WILL change. And I'm not the snowflake here darling, but you'll see that later. Also being openly racist in today's society isn't tolerable and don't treat it as such	Racist, Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - General	2/46	4.348

MemeYeah isn't tolerable ?look around dude, open you're eyes, blacks are openly bashing whites daily. It's a very subliminal war going on out there and you can't see, you're blind into thinking peace will prevail. When in reality war and chaos is what makes drastic changes, all through our history. You're a sheep, along with all the others who think things will just change. I'm not racist because I hate someone's skin. I'm racist because my entire life blacks have reinforced there shitty stereotypes and been racist to me. Look at the statistics across blacks, look out into the world, and you'll see what I'm talking about. Within the next five years whites will reclaim this country either through surrender or blood, because it will get to that point. Mark my words. This YouTube comment will Echo through you're mind everytime you're faced with hardship, when all falls into chaos. Whites gate blacks but cannot say anything due to hate crimes and racism. Blacks hate whites and openly express that daily. Violence is already coming upon. And soon more open agendas will start to be pushed. You'll see. I have white pride. And we are ready to fight for ourselves and the country that we claimed.	Blind, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	5/207	2.415
The human race disgust me	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/5	20.0
Are you telling me that the "Human species" is divided into different races. Why call them races if it is just color or skin deep? Talking about racial differences implies that race is real, and that it matters. African "Americans" will never be happy if they do not govern themselves, that is true for every " race ". Sovereignty and freedom require people to govern over themselves.	African, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/65	4.615
Before I watch this, race only matters to racists. Lets see if my point holds up	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/16	6.25
" Racism "=Avoiding people with bad reputations.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/5	20.0
first problem of racism ... denial that it's a perpetually happening thing SYSTEMATICALLY	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/12	8.333
No, that is a myth so that minorities can pretend that they are victims so that they can get away with being racist and bigoted themselves	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/26	3.846

This video is complete bunk. For your first study, you show that African American men are discriminated against compared to Caucasian men, but you don't show the whole story because your a dishonest piece of shit with an agenda. The reason you only narrow your scope down to men is that African American women do not have a sentencing gap compared to Caucasian women, which, when taken with the previous piece of information, would suggest that there is something other than a racial problem instead. The marijuana study only controls for the factor of the percent of use among each population, when there are many other factors at play. For example, African Americans are much more likely to smoke marijuana in public, and the police tend to surveil communities with more crime, which tend to be disproportionately African American. African Americans being more likely to be stopped and search doesn't take into account any factors, such as increased police presence in communities with more crime, and increase stop and search in those communities which isn't racist, but this can give the appearance of racism because high crime communities are disproportionately African American. For the resume study about black names and white names, the problem with that is that the "distinctively" black names they used reflected socioeconomic status. [LINK] this is a new study with a bigger sample size that used distinctive names drawn from us census bureau of labor instead of just picking names which the authors believed to be white and black like in the study you cite, and this study also controlled for the names implying socioeconomic status. This study found no statistically significant difference in hiring. In your study about the unequal mark of a criminal record, it contained just to small of a sample size to draw any meaningful conclusions. In the study about hospital services, the multiple regression used to control for factors was linear, and using linear model is a very strong assumption and not necessarily valid. Trying to access your source for the study published in the ACP website results to a 404, so I cannot comment on that study, but from what I have seen so far, I doubt that it is very accurate. The wealth gap study, life span disparity study, the high school alg 2 chem study, the tried as adults study, and the wrongfully convicted study all don't control for any factors, meaning that they are not proof of racial disparity since there are many correlating variables with race (difference in outcome does not equate to racism). The APA/Guardian study tried to explain why there is racial discrimination in hiring, but as I showed by linking the study [LINK] earlier, there isn't even a racial gap in hiring, meaning these studies are trying to explain something which does not exist. Your study about the widening racial wealth gap and the role inheritance plays doesn't imply racism today, but rather just means that there was past racism and it's effects can still be seen today to some extent. I have literally debunked all your studies with 5 minutes of research. Some of the studies you intentionally misrepresent. Don't try to pretend to be some arbitrator of facts, your just a piece of shit with an agenda who misrepresents/blatantly lies about statistics to try and fool people.

African, Black, Race, Racism, Racist

Ethnicity -
Black,
Ethnicity -
General

15/556

2.698

Americans are racists to black people and that's fact. Look at the factors with employment verification and what they required to ask what race I do belong if racist wasn't that seriously. America is based upon race itself. Make racism a crime	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/42	11.905
Are you doing it's just talking about it just like the Democrats you talk about it cuz that's all you guys have to control the black votes	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/27	3.704
Race is just climbing to the top of resources of the earth. Wights stole it all although they don't contain enough aether that we the indigenous people possess in our skin & 4 humors. It makes no sense to allow wights to examine existence when they're just products of transhumanism.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/50	2.0
You spout all of this BS and you will never be accepted in Black America. You think you are "woke", but really you are just white.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/26	3.846
Question.. what's actually wrong with racism ?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/6	16.667
Anything is there if you want it to be bad enough. As for economic side of it. If your white and poor. You made bad choices. If your black and poor. Its racism that's made you poor. It's got nothing to do with work ethic or the fact ya unemployed. Wealth has nothing to do with skin color as money cant pick who's pocket it's in. Education. Go to school everyday and do your homework. Knowledge dont pick who's brain it's in. The person picks there own life out come. There is a high level of take responsibility for what you choose to do or not do in life	Black, Nothing, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/109	3.67
World racist country USA	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/4	25.0
Racism is obviously ridiculous yet hilarious at the same time. Why don't we start judging human beings on their character rather than the color of their skin huh? Those words along should end racism but oh wait I forgot- we have hard headed people that exist and it's not happening cause it's gonna be hard to get that kind of message through their thick heads	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/65	3.077
Theres no such thi g as racism we are all homosapians the seeration of color was done when the government needed to seperate people on there birth certificate these are facts we all bkeed the same get cancer , colds and other things hard work gets resultdms this is getting old letdms get out of the past and move forward thank you.	Old, Racism	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - General	2/62	3.226
Everyone is racistIssue when your brokeTrump fixing it, pardoned alot already.Dumped blacks in gettos broke and nobody invested. Just left them to fend for self, until today..... Carson's and Trump's 24 billion comming plus real investments	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/39	2.564

I'm sorry but these stats are overly simplified to a very complex issue, most of these issues affect socioeconomic classes more than race . Systemic racial disparities are not necessarily a result of racism .	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/33	6.061
I Ya again, a very complex issue, but my point is that crime punishments effect people of all races more negatively when they are poor. consider it a red herring to make this specific part a race issue when its socioeconomic, while the potential race issue is what causes the wealth disparities.	Race, Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	4/52	7.692
k. e. economics and race go hand in hand when it comes to crime. Race is definitely a factor that shouldn't be ignored.	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/23	8.696
I Ya your statement is too brief and becomes vague, it's hard for me to understand what you mean exactly, sorry. race is an important factor to consider, but all im saying is that statistic of imprisonment- race is null when you look at it grouped by socioeconomic class. essentially becomes punish the poor champion the rich, thats why bankers get away with sin and the homeless are punished for trying to survive.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/72	1.389
I Ya no im sorry but that is incorrect. if youre talking about violent crime then that is disproportionate in punishment but also in perpetration. more closely linked to crime rates of areas than race .but a crime like being arrested for possession has a far greater correlation to wealth than it does race .alot of these matters service the wealthy and are racially blind . youre taking my one argument of crime disparities and conflating it with arguments of other forms of racism . there may be racial reasons to the wealth disparity but it is a huge jump to conclusion to say these are racist targets. and if you are to say these are racially driven while others races are effected by these same laws, by not reading the situation correctly, you will only help a specific subgroup of poor, while neglecting the other subgroups of poor.	Blind, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	5/147	3.401
I Ya no where did i say racism doesnt exist nor does it not have an impact. just that the judicial system is not corrupt in the way it is portrayed.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/31	3.226
k. e. it definitely is when police departments protect racist officers and minorities get longer sentences. Read some of John's sources in the description	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/24	4.167

black people serve lobger sentence” actually a white man will serve harsher sentence then a black women so its more sexist then racist but also you have to factor blacks make up13 populous and 53 of crime,Therefore many times when you have a white guy and black guy with same charge but vlack guy serves longer sentence you have to factor in previous charges,If the white guy never even had a speeding ticket yet the black guy is a convict of course the black guy will serve harsher sentence.3rd is many blacks use a public defender and many whites use a paid laywer.This is a big one right here,Because blacks are 4x more unemployed and have more poverty many just cant afford a good laywer and use a state paid public defender therfore they get a worse sentence.If you have a white guy using a public defender a white guy with previous charges vs a black guy using laywer and no charges you will see the reverse.Again it would seem the system is more sexist then it is racist .	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	8/181	4.42
You must be very sick to still talk about racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/10	10.0
• Black people serve 20 longer sentences because of gang-affiliation and/or prior record. • Black people aren’t as honest about drug use as whites. • Black people are more likely to be stopped and searched because they very often match the descriptions of other black criminals in areas dominated by black crime. • Black people are disproportionately exonerated because they are (innocently) misidentified sometimes. If it was not so incredibly common for blacks to commit violent acts against strangers, it would happen less. If the good blacks didn’t dress and act like the bad blacks, it wouldn’t happen as often. • Black kids are charged as adults more often because they commit more atrocious murders and rapes way more often than any other group. • Black people get call-backs from employers just as often as whites when the employer is allowed to run a criminal background check. • Black people are in general less employable because they are significantly more criminally inclined than everyone else on the planet, and after thousands of years of observing their patterns, people are biased for their own safety and wellbeing. How very dare they.	Black, Common	Ethnicity - Black, Social Class - Working class	3/184	1.63
Lex Non Scripta Ok sis lemme debunk you real quick,There’s this great video you should watch called the privilege game, it’s 3:00 minutes and it really helps prove my point while being funny and educational, Black people are already put in ghettos when they’re born. And cause of their skin colors it’s harder to get a job and get a good life; so unless we want to die we have to rob steal and kill. We do NOT get callbacks in white communities because of the racism itself makes us all look bad making more and more of us less inclined to freedom.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/104	1.923

The most racist people in the world are Muslims. They will not tolerate any other religion, but islam, the will not tolerate any other people but muslims. Muslims are to blame for nearly all religious hate.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/36	2.778
Nazis are up there with extremist muslims in terms of racism	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/11	9.091
< Racism is racist .	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/4	50.0
See i'll admit any day that there are plenty of terrible racist people out there. I doubt there are very many people who would deny that. If you show me a situation in which racism occurred i'll be right there with you condemning it and asking for justice. However to argue that there is systemic and institutionalized racism , the proof required to back such claims is much more than surface level statistics. Saying that lopples are more likely to be chosen out of a bin than luples does not statistically prove that being a lopples means you are more likely to be chosen without first establishing how many luples and how many lopples are in the bin. It's basic statistics really.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/121	2.479
when " racism " is labeled ' racism ' by ppl whose idea of ' racism ' is simply disagreeing with their own personal opinion regarding anything whatsoever, having to do with race or not, then it sort of takes away from the actual meaning of the word. take this comment section for example, I see some people asking simple questions(which involves NOT blindly believing and agreeing) and the rest are ppl saying "omg look at all these racists in the comment section!" catching my drift? they're not being " racist ," per say, but they're not instantly and blindly agreeing with the videos content, so they are therefore labeled ' racist .' pretty pathetic.	Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/105	2.857
I'm black and my first name is Pierre, I'll get job offers and interviews until they see my face. I had three jobs say that they didn't remember me having a interview and one they told me they didn't remember after I went to orientation.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/45	2.222
Sorry about that sir. Are you dark skin Black or light skin Black ?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/13	15.385
so first....if the crimes between the black and white men are similar.....what about their prior criminal records? ill wait.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/19	5.263

Priors have been considered in these studies and it's a non factor. There are black men with no criminal record being turned down for having a black sounding name, while men with white sounding names and a felony prison record are getting the job. You can consider every little nuance out there too try and sooth your white fragility and rage, but these factors are always considered in these studies. Why is it white people always feel as though they are better than everybody else and incapable of wrong doing?White men committ the majority of crimes here and population percentages have nothing to do with it according to a report released in March of this year, it's about propensity. Not to mention the 2014 FBI crime report states that, "white males have a higher propensity for committing crime in this country."	Black, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black	3/142	2.113
Racism is nothing more than a word used to describe the distrust between people of different races. It's superficial, it's ignorant. People of the same race do it to each other but it's not called racism , it's called just being jerks.	Nothing, Race, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	4/41	9.756
Raymond Jone ( Black person walking down street to bring food to his family) Cop: shoots him for no reason Black Person: awh man you jerk :(	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/26	7.692
There IS racist by the numbers.And it's coming from the black community.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/12	16.667
Your defensive response is the number one factor in how white people deal with the issue of racism . No matter what evidence is presented to them to substantiate the fact that racism , moreover systemic racism , is a sickening fact.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/39	7.692
libtards libtards everywhere ever think that instead of race it's culture go look at Ben Shapiro on it you most likely have just seen your side have you looked at the opposing teams points?	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/34	2.941
Racism, in America, is a white mans issue. Only a massive collection of well meaning whites can fix it. That's my story and I'm sticking to it.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/27	3.704
Smiley Red TV Honestly the sad truth is only you whites can fix this shit now	Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Native- American	2/16	12.5

Your just quoting the echoes of broad statistics and claiming that as proof of racism without actually looking into the actual cases of the cause of these effects. You failed to understand that your trying to use empathy/sympathy to virtue signal this idea that someone's being oppressed when they are not. There isn't any systematic prejudice to ever happen. If you even have committed a crime you should face the charges. Your making outright lies about claiming that statistics are cold and unreliable and instead you choose to listen to someone's unfiltered bias instead of listening to the cold hard truth. If you want to use that as your argument than you don't know much about the studies or the reasonings behind theses statistics. Try learning a little before you project racism where their isn't any. Also yes some people don't like other ethnic groups but to say whites are all against blacks because a singled out figure in the community is within itself a cherry picking and you are untruthfully trying to project a notion that somehow our system is oppressing people when reality is that it isn't the system but the blacks own faults for trusting the wrong people!!!	Ethnic, Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/201	1.493
Am the new Martin Luther King to fight racism, discrimation, surgregassion n others	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/13	7.692
Gich101 Because we literally can't get out of poor regions we're all this stuff is so common and get a good life, also you whites kill us every day for no reason doesn't seem very nice does it?, and We can't get out of the gap of living a normal life because you make it impossible to get a job so we are left to either die or steal	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/69	1.449
SDestySD I understand where you are coming from, its really hard to get out of poverty. I was trying to get T Thorn to think about "the why" because he said " blacks are more likely to commit crimes and that's why they have more convictions" ant that is a really stupid comment to make because skin color is irrelevant when crime a crime is being committed but, black people are treated more harshly in our judicial system then white people are. People need to be able to look at things from a different perspective, challenge there own beliefs and think on their own with out someone else telling them what is right and wrong.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/115	0.87
Nothing has done more to destroy the black community than this excuse (which you share) that racism is to blame. Nothing is more destructive to the black community than the ability to blame racism for problems the black community created for themselves.	Black, Nothing, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/42	16.667

SDestySD yeah i dont bc it never happened. police brutality is a way for the hate group BLM just uses it as a scare tactic and the Deomncrats use it to keep the victim mentality over the black community.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/39	2.564
Year 1863 Blacks were freed. Native Americans weren't free, slaughtered, and had to live in reservations guarded by U.S. Army. This was their country, they never recovered. Why are we always fixated on racism on Blacks only?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/37	2.703
It's because blacks and whites think they are more important then others races of people. They think Americans belongs to them. I can tell you this blacks and whites from America are racist as hell. Especially whites and blacks woman . I hate when blacks and whites say we are all equal. When clearly we are not. In America all you ever hear is blacks and whites . But you never hear about no other races. The Hispanics natives Americans woman are treated bad here. Especially the mix looking ones. Especially the Afro Latino woman .	Racist, Woman	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	4/94	4.255
Yes Racism against whites are increasing	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/6	16.667
· · "Science? According to science, future White people will be just as tanned as Mexicans and Muslims with all their Sun Blocking strategies. We're just simply going to have to adapt to the warming environment. We'll need more protection from UV rays than the other races except the Chinese and Russians probably. I'll tell ya, that skin cancer epidemic in America is real. There's virtually no ozone layer left to block out the Sun's radiation. We're going to have to change through physical adaptation and evolution again. It's like our skin comes from another planet, unfit for earth. The Sun is cooking it up like a microwave. Whites are either going to be forced underground, off the planet, or worse - they'll have to become Mexican tan Brown! " "Alto Credo" - White Writer arguing against Trump supporter and the theory that "Science says Whites are Superior." 2016 Science GlobalWarming Adaptation NaturalSelection OnlyTheStrong	Tan	Nationality - British	1/153	0.654
Ah yes, data analysts and peer reviewed journalists analysing viable, actual data with experts and presenting it in a way the public can understand is "unreliable." It's not an opinion piece where a non expert is analysing data, unlike the overwhelming majority of articles that claim not systemic racism and others still cite. But go off	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/56	1.786
My black americans from another color can you not see that the dems are keeping you down?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/17	5.882

White male here born in indiana. ive made decent cash throughout my life yet worked with other races as well in the same feilds. Please dnt be brainwashed by CNN and celebs living in California because its just not relevant to whats happening nationwide. Its a media war! Has been since dessert storm. Truth is democrats make money off of suppressing african Americans off of stealing welfare and food stamps and even more money off of illegals.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/77	1.299
Completely loaded. Longer sentences for similar crimes? Did you factor in fo priers? No? Because people with longer criminal histories tend to go in for longer. 13 of the population commit 50 of the murders employers are not idiots unlike you, it's not systemic racism it's common sense.	Common, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	2/48	4.167
Social insecurity causes racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/4	25.0
EVERYTHING YOU SAID HAS BEEN DEBUNKED MANY MANY TIMES. Longer sentences BECAUSE THEY HAVE A PRIOR RECORD, MOST OF THOSE POSSESION CHARGES STARTED OUT AS A HIGHER CRIME AND WERE PLEAD DOWN. BLACK PEOPLE ALSO MORE LIKELY TO USE DRUGS OUTSIDE PLUS BLACK PEOPLE HAVE WAY WAY MORE ENCOUNTERS WITH LAW ENFORCEMENT BECAUSE THEY COMMIT CRIMES AT A MUCH HIGHER RATE ESPECIALLY PER CAPITA. MOST OF WHAT LOOKS LIKE RACISM HAS BEEN BROUGHT ON BY BLACK PEOPLES OWN DECISIONS. YOU ARE MAKING CONCLUSIONS OF RACISM WITHOUT LOOKING AT ALL THE FACTS BRO.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/92	5.435
You are right. All those numbers are due to racism . Only you got it wrong. All white people who are honest with themselves will admit to having been exposed to the extreme in your face black racism toward white people. It is not exactly subtle. Its everywhere from the lyrics in music to the nightly fake news. That my dear brainwashed friend is why the numbers you mentioned are the way they are. Keep it real. What kind of masochistic person would expose themselves to any more hatred and racism than they had to? Well you would, the rest of us just want to live our lives with a minimum of all that. That's not racism . Its just good sense. Now let me be crystal clear there is also a huge percentage of blacks that are not racist toward white people. To me, this is where the true victims of all this are. Kind of like the north and the south a long time ago. Unfortunately, SJW people like you tell a version of the truth that is never going to help stop it. We have to be honest if we are ever going to overcome this.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/197	3.046

Blacks love racism , they'll never let it go.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/8	12.5
Racism is nonsense. Watch this. FYI, it's a black man arguing the point.. [LINK]	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/14	14.286
Thank you for silencing that racist idiots who say black lives don't matter. Your doing God's work.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/18	11.111
I would disagree... I would not say it as eloquently so I did a couple quick searches to play the devil's advocate (I disagree to the conclusions of this video somewhat, and don't necessarily agree with all comments made by my supplied sources that argue the other side [full disclosure]) See attached links below, after watching the video possibly check out this information. At the very least you will see some of the opposing views and be better prepared for your next thanksgiving meal with the family. 1. Article from The Hill [LINK] 1.1 - website that grades biases of news rating of the hill [LINK] 2. Video that argues that it doesn't exist today. [LINK] 3. Lil'Wayne making a comment on his personal experiences (he's a long time member of the Hip hop community and being black I think his thoughts should be a viable argument, especially if this white guy's comments in and also implied by this video). [LINK] 4. An article in Psychology Today- refuting the claim that racism exists in any systemic or institutional way. [LINK] 5. a video of Larry Elder- talking about racism [LINK] I would be happy to have any discourse that is mutually respectful, but I refuse to take part in any discussion that resorts to name calling or denying the validity of my opinion. What do you think?	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/227	1.322
Wow, if these white guys have such a hard time getting white people to acknowledge the racism that white people have created through use of data charting the saturated phenomenon of white people and white people systems being racist to black people, then white people have no hope whatsoever to restore their claim of civil honor.It can't feel that good to exist in such a state of denial... Now I got a more clear understanding of why most white people aren't speaking on the fact that their negative birthrate is causing their numbers to dwindle to a point of non restorative percentages.... Apparently they just pretend that its not happening whenever reality affects them negatively.Oh well, out of mind out of life.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/124	2.419

Racism against any ethnic group is unacceptable.Scientifically, we all belong to the same race.God created one race- human and humans created race.I am shocked by the amount of racism in America.I'm Indian and I have come across mexican,black, white etc people who have been racist.I strongly believe it's a very American trait to be racist as the guys who have put me down for my heritage ranged from black to white.I lived under the misconception that only white people can be racist.But I realised any person can be racist.Like the guys who have never even met me assume that I smell of curry.I am never moving to America.I have to be honest that Europeans(including the UK) are far more tolerant as my experiences with them have been positive.I lived under the false belief that a British guy would be more racist since they colonised my country.But I realised that it couldn't be farther from the truth.People in the UK have been very friendly and when they come to know that I'm Indian I only hear positive things.I used to dislike the British because most Indians hate them as they colonised India but now I hate Americans as I've faced a large amount of racism from them.Of course, there might be racist people in the UK but I have never come across ANY racism from an English person.Americans,however, are extremely racist and this includes coloured American guys as well.I strongly believe that America under Trump is an extremely racist and unstable country.	Black, Ethnic, Indian, Race, Racism, Racist, coloured	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	20/251	7.968
Whites are less racist then blacks my dayumn man. Must be nice to be black, entitled, privileged and racist and still play that bull shit lie that you aint racist while committing racism. Dear Black People Stop crying all the time.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/41	14.634

1. NAACP there are no college foundations for any other race . 2. The ability to falsely accuse people of racism and get away with it.3. Ability to preform anti white racism and get away with it4. Welfare that has feed and kept Black Families alive for Several Generations.5. More likely to get a Sports scholarship because of diversity.6. State Cash Assistance the ability to get drunk and sit on your porches getting high while claiming free money even though you are able bodies.7. More likely to qualify for state assistance then any other race .8. Given your own History Month while forcing it upon people who could give 2 shit less about your history. 9. Victim mentality the ability to claim your struggling because of something 200 years ago.10. Pushing for Reperations even though it will never happen because you cant hold generations 200 years from the. Accountable for the actions of the dead.11. Can fake hate crimes and not be charge with a hate crime as a result of framing a entire raceBlack under educate useless and. Stupid. Please push for a race war against the 75 everywhere you all go you bring death and destruction example Chicago oh black lifes matter haha odviously not look at chicago's Death rate majority of people killed are blacks at the hands of blacks. Eat your privileges and prepare for your good times to end.	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	9/241	3.734
If only magic was real then would we put the racist people in the black , Asian and Latino' s shoes .	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/20	10.0
Sentencing is also tied to previous offenses. A recidivist will always get a higher sentence. However, I can't say I blame an employer for wanting to hire a white employee over a black one. Fewer headaches, less tardiness, and whites NEVER play the race card. Every group that has ever existed has gone through a period of poverty, but they often had homes that were spiritually and educationally rich. Blacks are victims of their own vices and stupidity. Many refuse educational efforts, and are always blaming the rest of the world for their every problem – especially the white man.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/100	2.0
Talk about sexism next, like how women have far shorter prison sentences for the same crimes as men. :)	Sexism	Gender - General	1/19	5.263
Racism shouldn't be acceptable in my opinion	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/7	14.286
Everyone has been racist , its a thing you all do but learn not to do when you get a punch in the mouth. Street Justice works.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/26	3.846
racism is a conservative winning an arguement against a liberal.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/10	10.0

So all whites cannot comment on this subject because they are not black and are unable to understand this....Please include this moron.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/23	4.348
It's just the simple truth. AMERICA was founded on racism . All the truth indeed.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/14	7.143
America was built on racism . They just hide it now	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/11	9.091
Tiger Woods You Can't Hide history everybody knows how they come over here almost took out the entire race of the Native American people in the country was built on slavery	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/31	3.226
I have tried not to be racist for years. for years...believe me....but the more I hear blacks talking, the more I understand they are different from us Caucasians,...Iam sorry, I dont want to offend anybody,but we Caucasians see life differently....I dont say that blacks must die or something...no, they are humans like us,but different kind of humans...they speak differently,they act differently,they react differently...they wear differently..because they are different...that's why...simple as that...actually, when young I had a black friend , he was my neighbor , we used to play basketball together.....and I talk to blacks at work,we entertain each other...we drink coffee together. at work,..etc...but only at work,as coworkers...outside the working environment ...no...and I have tried to understand them,believe me,I have tried,but it is impossible...we have to be separated..	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/128	1.562
Even though we don't live as long...fucking crazy	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/8	12.5

Went through a couple of the sources listed albeit alot of them are second/third hand sources, some of which have questionable integrity (I mean vox and CNN... c'mon now)... in terms of African Americans having a harder time getting a job after college, the data listed does not account for college GPA, which could have a huge confounding effect on the stats (there's a big difference for hiring someone w a 4.0 vs someone with a 2.5 even though they both get degrees).... the data for sentencing does not control for factors such as repeat offenders (it just goes by similar crimes)... the data re. the mortality differences between blacks and whites only states that there is still a difference that hasn't changed much and suggests later that efforts should be made for more preventive care/how this care should be delivered (as this may be a cause of the disparity).... the disparities in household income (rate of change—in other words gap is widening) does not account for single motherhood rate (harder to have a higher household income in a single parent home)... and thats just looking at a few of the things you cited...in terms of "institutional/systemic racism," I am sure there are some racist people, however, I have yet to find any law/rule/perk that allows for racism (outside affirmative action—i am of the opinion that it should be based on SES and not race but I digress)—feel free to mention any of these racist legislations that you come across... For example, med school matriculation scores (African americans on average need much lower scores in both GPA and MCAT to matriculate-as an asian, I am pretty upset that I actually had to score higher than the average matriculant) [LINK] Overall, citing differences between races and concluding there is "systemic racism" accomplishes nothing... it offers no evidence based solutions to help level any of these differences seen... all that is ever said is that there should be a vague message of "better training/education" and it has yet to be shown by any metric that these trainings do anything other than waste timeFurthermore, where do the comparisons stop? i mean what if black women are found to have it worse than black men in terms of income? does that mean there's institutional sexism as well? what about black, single, women with children having lower income? does that mean the establishment is against single mothers? what about black, single, women with children who own guns and are under 5' tall?... as you see you can do an infinite number of permutations until eventually you will be comparing individual differences... So to conclude, I believe (based on the evidence I have seen) that there is insufficient evidence to show that institutions are racist (rather I believe that it is more likely that there are individuals who are racist)... I also believe that stating there is "institutional racism" without proposing how to correct it is not useful...	African, Black, Nothing, Race, Racism, Racist, Sexism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	17/494	3.441
---	--	---	---------------	--------------

Racism is simple.Racism: The idea that a race, culture or ethnicity have some inherent negative or positive ability/Trait that either legitimizes discrimination, or legitimizes the group to discriminate others.Example: US Navy ww2 denied black sailors regular duty because the "race" was given the trait of "bad night vision" and thus legitimized the discrimination of the black sailors.This is racism, nothing else is racism.Meaning "racial slurs" and economic distribution is not racism, though can be "fueled" by the definition.Meaning the N word is derogatory and not racist, as it does NOT claim to give a trait that legitimizes discrimination.	Black, Ethnicity, Nothing, Race, Racism, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	11/102	10.784
I'm not racist! My sister's best friend's favorite color is black.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/11	18.182
The thing is, the moment you disagree with somebody, they'll call you a racist, even if you were merely being honest	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/21	4.762
I do have a few questions regarding the stats...1. What were the family situations and wealth classes of the white vs. black sentencing study ie did they share a 2 parent home in common and were they in the same wealth class both relevant when sentencing. (Not saying they should be but they are believe me I know first hand)2. Blacks and whites in drug crimes, were they users or dealers, because they'll do everything they can to get a dealer more time and give users less.3. I'm also curious if more hick sounding names would get less call backs as well, I have a feeling if the applicants were 'Cletus' or 'Billy Bob' we'd see similar numbers.My main point is this I really think that a lot of the disparity that we see in the black community could be explained by class although I realize that racism is still a problem I think it's way less of a problem than class privileges. I suspect that poor blacks and poor whites have way more in common than poor whites and rich whites or poor blacks and rich blacks.	Black, Common, Hick, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - White, Social Class - Working class	6/192	3.125
I briefly looked at his sources, one being 'Vox' and it is not reliable. Which leads me to think The youtuber making this video is using racism in the US as clickbait, the same way Vox does.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/37	2.703

Do you know why,God told his people Israel not to mix with certain tribes?They were mixed with fallen angels DNA.Israel interbred anyway.With this so called diversity,christianity has taken a big hit..Also,God said your strange wife will turn your heart away from your God.Read Psalm 106 and Daniel 9 KJV.Israel,is still into false god worship,sacrafising to false gods(often their own children) idolatry and occultism.This,they learned from the Heathen Nations.Isaiah 58 KJv.Cry aloud,spare not.Tell me people their transgressions.The House Of Jacob their sins.If you speak truth,you get called a racist .The real lost tribes of Israel,are being oppressed by all these nations in psalm 83 KJV.The Israel,they are all working together to take down,are the so called christian nations.Or gentile beleivers in Jesus.The WRATH of ALL MIGHTY GOD is coming.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/127	0.787
racism is simple. See the FBI crime statistics [LINK]	Racism	Ethnicity - General	4/9	44.444
There is no systemic racism in the Court system. The racism exists in job hiring. If you cant get hired then you have to go to less legit and higher risk opportunities. There in lies the connection between the legal system and black men. You become a mule, a dealer, what ever. The Black culture fails in that families are started before financial security is obtained. With less income both parents must work and the children are not as well supervised with their time. The solution lies solely in the hands of black people. They must refrain from starting family before obtaining the skills, education and training required to support a family. That is the only workable answer.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/118	4.237
stan hootzz it takes someone who's willing to not blame people for their own short comings, and truly work for what they want. It has nothing to do with skin color, but mentality. If you're willing to work, and if you're willing to not be stubborn in your ways and be smart about your decisions you'll go far. I'm a first generation American, and I've learned that people in America are more willing to help you succeed than anyone in my home country. All you gotta do is prove your self and you'll find a helping hand. Again I'm a first generation American, and I've seen what life is like through my own eyes and family. Appreciate what you got, cause second chances rarely show up.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/126	0.794

Nearly pulling GUNS...an example...I am having a GEAT DAY...listning to RAP...Beautiful Sunny day in Anchorage....I git a Latte, pull round a corner and 2 bikers are (one standing and one sittin on bike) and they started to pull iron when thet heard the RAP music and I out of EMPATHY pulled my iron at same, same...we all locked eyes n they realized i was not BLACK so they did not kill me.,.....GOP you OWN EVERY MURDER, EVERY F$CKIN HATE CRIME yer CHEETO has PERPETRATED due to HATE/FEAR SPEECHES.....WE TOOK DOWN CHARLIE MANSON fer this SAME SHIT.....	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/97	1.031
Jim kkkrow in ALASKA, i have had 9 attempts to kill me these past 25 months, 5 by cars trying ta run me down, 3 by guns nearly pulled (ye know, when yer wet hand is on thet handle n lives hang on GODS FORBEARANCE or Death.....I am HALF NATIVE AMERICAN and half WHITE...so 3 cars of White folks try ta ru me down as a "homeless Native" then 2 by black folks thinkin we are WHITE.....and Physical threats of violence against me walkin down the street....see more of it happening to young minority girls or Elders.....	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/97	1.031
If your dumb enough to hang out in public doing drugs, or driving around, might be the reason for that.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/20	5.0
Now that's being stereotypical who told you that all people negatively affected by racism do all of that? Mhmmm? Ok then	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/21	4.762

Ah. The old inequality of outcome means discrimination has occurred. This is utter nonsense. There are four main factors explaining why black people get longer sentences:1.) Aggravating factors (Was there a subjective element to the crime that shows a lack of forgiveness or further potential danger in a criminal?)2.) Guilty/Not Guilty Pleas (Those who plead not guilty and then are found guilty tend to get longer sentences. Those who admit it right away show the judge forgiveness and honesty, both of which are key elements to a shorter sentence.)3.) Type of Offense (Drug crimes are extremely general. Consuming marijuana is not the same as running a massive drug deal network.)4.) Prior Offenses (Is this your first time violating the law or your 17th time? Makes a big difference in the eyes of a judge.)Also, the reason that blacks are far more likely to be arrested for drug use relates in a similar way. We can just say racism and go to bed, but that is simplistic. Where are the most heavily policed areas in the country? Urban areas. Blacks are heavily populated in urban areas. Further, the crime rates in black communities are extremely high compared to their overall population. It is not good that 13 of the population is responsible for 50 of the murder (It is more like 6-7 because black males are the majority of murders). This same trend is represented in all other criminal offenses. High rates of crime mean the government needs to disproportionately police certain areas than others.Finally, income inequality and wealth disparity is an irrelevant argument. Just because there are rich people does not mean that they stole from the poor. Just because there are rich whites, or Jews, or Asians, or whoever, does not mean they held down the black people in order to achieve that wealth. Sure there was discrimination in the past and things were very unequal after slavery, but this also does not matter. Capitalism is the greatest system in the world because it is the most powerful engine of social mobility. Personal choices are the number one determinant in one's wealth and income, not generational wealth. There is a reason that Jewish people came here with nothing and now have the highest income by ethnicity . Culture and good choices lead to success. High drop out rates, crime rates, drug usage rates, single motherhood rates, glorification of drugs and women in culture, victim mentality, welfare reliance, fathers not taking responsibility, lack of morals, etc. etc. etc. are all driving factors in the disparities between blacks and whites.	Black, Ethnicity, Nothing, Old, Racism	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	8/434	1.843
[LINK] I prefer a rational black man before a selfhating white man every day of the week	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/17	5.882
Thank you!!! it is soannoying listening to the whiny conservative people on YouTube. Some even arguing racism against whites is more prominent in America. I lost too many brain cells listening to that. THANK YOU THANK YOU	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/37	2.703

I'm not racist but I am anti liberalism.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/8	12.5
People are protecting balls for racism ... What about Asians?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/9	11.111
'Black Americans' and there are more racist blacks then any other color in the USA.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667
Racism only exist in in government and MSM, real people know how to get along. Their the only ones that keep telling you your a racist .	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/26	7.692
Google only advertise white racism , check up on it - if you look hard enough you can find black racism especially in south africa.....	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/24	12.5
High class whites are racist , you only have to ask the WHITE poor of the 14 1900 Century FACT.....	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/19	5.263
What is black victimhood and when did it start	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/9	11.111
WHERE IS NO BLACK THERE IS NO RACISM	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/8	25.0
Which institution is the racist one?	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/6	16.667

You'd expect this guy to use legitimate statistics and perhaps be truthful about his claims but alas he is not. The sentencing commission only looked at Federal judges and crimes NOT state crimes. When accounting for the length of probation the statistic drops to 14 and of course the major problem with the commission's report is it doesn't take into account previous offenses which is the largest factor in determining the length of a prison sentence. The gap has widened after mandatory sentencing was done away with and judges now have the discretion to sentence people based on their past crimes. But hey, I'd hate for the truth to get in the way of your videos. And as for the resume study he cites, unfortunately he is wrong again. There have been two studies one that was very narrow and heard back from 230 employers after sending out 5,000 resumes to only a few locations which resulted in a "racist" bias. And then there was a study that sent out 3x as many resumes to a much larger sample size and came and resulted in no statistically significant indication of racism. Unfortunately your "huge body of evidence" is based on a simple understanding of statistics and economics for a complex issue.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/211	0.948
Racism is not dead, but it is on life support – kept alive by politicians, race hustlers and people who get a sense of superiority by denouncing others as 'racists'	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/30	6.667
Debunked video: your bias effects every facet of this video. 1. 0:36Black people have 20 longer sentences because they are more often repeat offenders. Repeat offensives give more time. Try doing first offenses for the same crime and you will see that the numbers are equal. 2. 0:52Black people are arrest more often with drugs because they are more often committing other crimes with drugs on them. 3. 1:00They more more likely to be stopped and searched because they commit more crimes. Police profile. As they should. according to FBI numbers.the next few points are for the same reason. stop committing crimes and you will get a call back from a job. People won't assume you're guilty. am afraid of bears because my father was murdered by a bear. I tell my children to stay away from bears. If i see a bear I go the other way. I have no bear allowed signs on my house. i can debunk any point you have. stop committing crimes and it will all go away. STOP MURDERING EACH OTHER. how many blacks kill other blacks in the hood? WAY more than cops. WAY more.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/196	1.02

Look man, I originally came here to debate you; but I can't even begin to.I have found literally no place that you could have gotten these figures. I have tried so hard to see statistics for first time offenders, or even how much more of a sentence a repeat offense gives; but that data doesn't seem to exist. You said " Black people are arrest more often with drugs because they are more often committing other crimes with drugs on them". I can't find that anywhere; did you make it up?Please give sources, if you have any.Additionally: You didn't debunk "every point you have". You only argued against 3 examples in the mountain of evidence.Places I checked: [LINK] [LINK] [LINK] [LINK] [LINK] [LINK]	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/126	0.794
Racism is 1/10 of what the highly-profitable left-media sensationalizes it to be!	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/12	8.333
I don't believe that most of the sources used to inform this video (Wall Street Journal, New Yourk Times, CNN etc...) are unbiased when it comes to talking about race . There are solid academic studies out there that prove these sources wrong on a lot of race related issues.	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/49	4.082
vlogbrothersNOT ONE OF THESE "STUDIES" WERE DOUBLE BLIND !TRANSLATION FOR YOU vlogbrothers , ALL WERE BIASED, IRONICALLY!INHERITANCE IS EVIDENCE OF RACISM ??? REALLY HANKY?!	Blind, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/25	8.0
Double blind ? Most of the data was directly from the government. Double blinding is for experiments, not statistics.	Blind	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/18	5.556
Im on probation for crooked cop and a black woman lawyer in Atlanta she told the white folk everything I said about them	Black, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Gender - General	2/23	8.696
Racism is genetics (kin selection in evolutionary terms). Should remember we're not determined by culture, but we created culture due to our genetic makeup and tendencies/attractions.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/26	3.846
Actually we are determined by our culture and society. Our race is genetics yes, but it doesn't actually make us the person we are personality wise.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/26	3.846

Racism does not exist. Do not be fooled by the neo-Marxist agenda to divide and conquer our great nation . They already took down Europe, Australia, Canada, etc. with this garbage.	Nation, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	2/30	6.667
-Dr Coconut- Racism, sexism, homophobia , transphobia, Islamophobia, police brutality, etc. All lies. All make believe. Weaponized generalizations being used for nefarious purposes only. Argue away.	Homophobia, Racism, Sexism	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General, Sexual Identity - General	3/25	12.0
The Dog Runner Actually, I do have one question. You mentioned transphobia (which is, I think, like anti-LGBT-sentiment or just transgender sentiment). I'm really curious about that; a lot of groups are really openly against that community.Are you saying that those people don't exist, or that their point of veiw is justified? I'm honestly curious.	Transgender	Sexual Identity - Transexuality	1/56	1.786
-Dr Coconut- Merry Christmas to you as well. I'm not arguing that phobias don't exist. So called homophobia , Islamophobia, and transphobia are not real phobias. To try and say that a persons point of view is not valid because they "actually" have an irrational fear is only for the purpose of manipulation and has no basis to substantiate the claim. "...as long as you are just nice to people, regardless of who they are." There is no love in being "nice" to people. There is no truth in it. Nice people lie and cover up reality to be "nice". Nice people live in fantasy land because it's "nice" to go along with the lie. Kindness is not dependent on niceness. Niceness = Political Correctness, while Kindness = Polite, Open and Truthful Dialogue. "Sorry about the first comment. I was a bit upset." Only weak people get upset easily and then judge themselves and have to apologize for their behavior. There is no goodness in being weak. Meek yes, but not weak. "You mentioned transphobia (which is, I think, like anti- LGBT -sentiment or just transgender sentiment)" Can you even make sense of that? Doesn't that just sound like a big made up mess to you when you step back and look at it? Making an "anti" LGBT sentiment means you have an irrational fear? That is not logical. It is manipulative. It is evil.	Homophobia, LGBT, Transgender	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality, Sexual Identity - Transexuality	5/232	2.155

The Dog Runner Okay, gloves are off.I tried to be apologetic and keep a freindly tone beacause people tend to consider someone’s opinion more if they think that person isn’t a strong supporter of the belief.I just wanted to take it slow, but you seem to have interpreted my kindness as weakness. So let’s be frank.”Only weak people get upset.”That isn’t true. Everyone gets upset. Only the ”weak” notice, and try to change that. Homophobia, Islamaohobia, and Transphobia are not phobias, they are not irrational fears. (Paraphrasing)Let’s take this step by step.Homophobia is irrational. Gay people literally have nothing inherently threatening about them.Islamaphobia is trickier. While on the offset it may seem logical to fear the religion- i.e sharia law, generally suppressive laws, ect. In fact, I am against those things. The problem is when people talk about Islam being some terror religion- it’s not. Like christianity, most denominations are pretty chill.Transphobia- yeah, nothing here either.Edit: Spelling errors	Gay, Homophobia, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	6/167	3.593
-Dr Coconut- ”Okay, gloves are off.” Does my being straightforward make you angry? ”Homophobia is irrational” Assuming assigning a phobia to someone with a different opinion than you is rational. ”Gay people literally have nothing inherently threatening about them.” Assuming people with differing opinions think differently because they feel threatened. All this mess lives only in the imagination. Definition of victim mentality. It is not reality.	Gay, Homophobia, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	4/66	6.061
3 times more likely to be arrested for drugs because they have 10 times more police contact. Shall we continue to cherry pick stats? What is the ultimate goal? To force others to continually gravel and apologize for being normal? For being successful? A white family has 2 working parents and a strong nuclestr family and if the next black family is broken then that white family must feel some inherent guilt? Is that the goal here?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/77	1.299
Racism is a cultural misconception issue	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/6	16.667

I don't know what everybody's getting so upset about. Just because some guy believes that their race is superior to all others and that all people that belong to those inferior races share the same negative mental and physical traits doesn't mean the guy's a racist , okay?	Mental, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/47	6.383
Let me say this.. ummm, we black people SMH brought this thing with cops upon us. I mean not that all of us did it, but there was a good number of us who felt like the only way to hit back at whites was through violence. As a result we became accustomed to violence and people now perceive us as violent. That I can say is our fault. So if you want change, be the change. Violence is not an answer. This is my opinion. Proud to be black BTW	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/91	2.198
Young and plus women quit having babies by boys & men that don't want a family, work go to church stay out of trouble. Teach your children you can be what you want to be in the USA its proven many times over and over. Just looked at a popular University (football program numbers of black vs white) 2 white to 25 blacks. Look at the good it will help your children & you.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/74	1.351
There isn't much here to know about the exact circumstance of each trial or charge? In my area there seems to be little problem with color. 13 black to 87 other are you talking about or numbers? Slow down so we can understand your words. I'm in late 70's never been arrested or paid but one ticket, when stopped I use great respect and speak the truth it seems to work best.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/73	1.37
These stat are missing very vital information such as where the arrest are made and is the population in that area more black than white. Also the term illegal drug is broad when it comes down to certain drug. Due to observation and some research, black consume more weed than others, but in some place weed is illegal or legal, making some error in these statistics. Plus there bias in these sources, so there may be inaccuracy. This can be said to conservitives news like fox.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/86	2.326

I know the truth and experienced everything mentioned here, I am not a statistic I am a man. My skin color means nothing but I got a longer sentence for a lesser charge, also been illegally sentenced which has been terminated in court and is on record. Anyone can say whatever they want and not show evidence. My life is evidence and is backed up by evidence. I'm not racist but I am called a racist because of the color of my skin and that makes the one who cries racism the racist. I am white and my life has been hell because I am white yet I do not cry prejudice or racist. I prefer to say I love you	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/121	0.826
Why make it a race issue? It's an environmental issue growing in an environment where anything outside of tradition is not accepted of coarse it will be objected put so called "white people" In a different environment you can guarantee a change.	Coarse, Race	Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	2/42	4.762
+K Cush :The "American" founding fathers made it about "race" and the American census bureau/USGov continue to make it about race . I'm a mere consequence of Racist White America, sucka!	Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/30	10.0
Just another video to fuel deep bias and prejudices in people who actively look for reasons why their not successful and don't feel a sense of self-worth when reflecting on their pathetic excuse-laden lives. Many people say...It's not MY fault, it's a SYSTEM'S fault! The cards are stacked, so why even try to be successful?! I'm white (who gives a crap, I don't) and I was given NOTHING . I DID have a Dad and Mom in the house. I have worked my butt off for everything I have, since I was 16....I'm now 52. Stop with the BS Racism thing because it is stopping you from succeeding and driving you absolutely nuts! There's opportunity out there, you gotta go for it and quit making excuses. Whites don't believe there's a racism problem because we're too busy making money for our families every day....and smart enough to see that the mass media uses it to DIVIDE the people. You NEVER hear Asian people talk this BS racism , they just sacrifice and study and get the highest intelligence scores and enter the finest schools...they WORK! Asians have the highest income salaries per individual by any ethnic group!!! Did you know that!? Stop using the word Racist or Racism as a start.	Ethnic, Nothing, Racism, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	7/209	3.349
Can't we all just be pandas?Pandas are black .Pandas are white.Some pandas are orange.Pandas are Asian.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/19	5.263
Is bias & racism the same thing?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/7	14.286

Ok so now that we know that African Americans/Blacks are discriminated against more than whites, what is the solution. Cry about it? What can the government change to provide more equality without showing bias to one race ?	African, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/37	5.405
Think about this, all racism is is discrimination based on how close your ancestors lived to the equator. That's the only thing that effects a races skin color over time. It's such a ridiculous idea in my mind why people dedicate their whole lives hating someone for that minuscule reason	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/50	2.0
Keep in mind these numbers have so many factors that factor into them, for example the prison sentences. Prison sentences are not just based on the crime itself, but based on criminal records.. if the person has done anything before to this degree or worse, etc. The inheritance is based on the success of your family which is possible if you WORK HARD FOR IT. In the U.S, every race has equal opportunity to rise up and gain that economic status which is not attached to their race . Any color can go to school, work hard, get a job, become successful, etc. People need to get rid of the idea that this is only a possibility for white people because all they are doing is hurting themselves and blaming another race for their unsuccessful ness when it is there fault for not working for it. I've seen people of all races be successful. I know a black family that owns a successful pharmacy business in my town and they have a lovely home, and are living very comfortably economically. I know a Hispanic family that owns a chain of restaurants in my town who are very successful and booming in business. It's up to you to see the opportunities laid out in front of you and to take them and work hard for them. Anyone is capable of doing it.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/230	1.739
I think you're missing the point. Yes every race can be successful, but John is just acknowledging the fact that America isn't as easy for minorities as it is for white people	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/32	3.125
Not to be racist , but Asian people suuauauauauau	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/8	12.5

Discrimination is very real and is part of living in a free society. One very important thing that almost never is discussed is the fact that racial discrimination has almost nothing to do with curtain races being discriminated against but more about the CULTURAL stigmas attached to curtain races INCLUDING White people. Courts make decisions on sentencing based on the persons history and contribution to society which I believe is fair and because of cultural differences in values relative to American culture standards over the past century, curtain races like Hispanics and African Americans have a well documented history of legitimate criminal activity and many immigrants as they almost always have ties with their native country. Another big thing that is almost always failed to be discussed is the fact that no matter what race we are, men are punished 66 harsher than women for similar crimes and face much more hardships than women like addiction, finances, job security, charged with crimes etc. mainly because the courts overwhelmingly have favored women over the past 4 decades.	African, Nothing, Race	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/176	1.705
Black Nazis matter	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/3	33.333
Equality of what? Every state has their own laws and sentences for crimes. In one state 5 yrs for manslaughter, next bordering state over, it's 25 yrs to life. I don't understand why few people don't see the trick the media propagandizes. This isn't an all for one on for all country. Each state has their own laws in terms of economics, justice, social, etc. Not to discredit that, yes, profit has been made by greedy hands. So what? Life's too short to be blaming some white or black or whatever 30 yr old in 2018 about racial problems. You can make a dang good life for yourself whatever race	Black, Old, Race	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/110	2.727
Chad Cudi - You might mean well, but you're talking nonsense! For better or worse, past and present white racism are quite real. Generations of continuing white racism have done MASSIVE damage to American Blacks! Many honest, hard working American Blacks have had their lives repeatedly ruined by white racists in positions of power! Do you really think you can fix white racists in powerful positions just by changing the subject? Please stop being silly!	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/75	2.667
Every culture is racist in varying degrees to other cultures. Yet we label only white people being called racist towards others, especially black people.Many black people would never want their children to marry white people because of the black person's racist motives.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/43	13.953

Does any of this actually prove systemic injustice?Like black school are of lower quality because of racism ? Why don't people follow these school does to the root? It's so easy for people to slap the racism card in your face without looking deeper into an issue. If I saw that your name was La'keisha, I probably wouldn't hire you without a good resume or a superb interview. Racism or an aversion to ignorance.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/74	5.405
Aaron Murry - Whether white racism is called "systemic" or not is unimportant! The real issue is whether a person received unique, disfavored treatment due to race !	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/27	7.407
I believe there is a problem with racism but it's not just against black people. I actually hear more people being racist towards white people, idk ig its just where i live or something lol.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/35	8.571
A Word to the wise .. Most racist comments seem to come from racists.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/14	7.143
You bet. And the darker they are the more prone they are to be racist .	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667
My coworkers are always racist towards me. My supervisor made a very racist remark at a meeting about me and I had to take it up with civil rights but they dismissed it on the basis that he did not do it all the time. My coworkers continually say very racist things to me because of where I am from. I think I should have never told them where I was from because now they profile me and isolate me.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/80	3.75
White people aren't racist . I can't speak for the other races.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/11	9.091
onaturalia whether someone is racist or not doesn't depend on their skin colour	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/13	7.692

If anyone speaks the truths, they would speak about the genocide that is taking place today. You would speak about the fact that these elites are hiding and erasing our own history. More whites were bought as slaves in North Africa than blacks brought as slaves to the United States or to the 13 colonies from which it was formed. White slaves were still being bought and sold in the Ottoman Empire, decades after blacks were freed in the United States. None of which are being taught in our schools, our children are brainwashed with "black-victimization" and white-haired and you say nothing about it all. PEOPLE WAKE UP!!!! GOOGLE THESE TRUTHS and you will find more. It was a different time for everyone and everything back then. For God sakes people, it's called evolution. Just because we actually kept our history written down, we are judged the most out of any other race, but if people actually knew the history of it all, things would be different.Look up the Indentured Servitude and see how many of them survived and how they were treated compared to the blacks- who cost ten times as much as a white. How many people do you think are in this country now that are full blooded English? How many actually had ancestors who owned slaves? LOOK IT UP, and stop being so ignorant. Just about the whole white population were migrated in and treated way worse during that time because we were cheaper and easier to get. Did I mention that only 1.4 of all Americans owned slaves? Encyclopedia Source - [LINK] your dumb ass would probably say that the encyclopedia is not a credible source. Blacks can, and do blame all their shortcomings on racism. Over 70 of black fathers do not take part in their children's lives, and the same amount of mothers raise their children to become thugs, from 'racism'? Ever since 'affirmative affirmation' took place more American have died, than all the U.S. wars combined at the hand of black thugs shooting guns, from 'racism'? Anywhere you look on this planet, if the black population makes up just 12 or more of the population, the same statistics happen. Yet it is from 'racism'? [LINK] Whites are now the Minority in California, which is the most populated state in America. In today's world, one would never see any race flood Africa, Asia, China, or any other part of the globe to the point where the inhabitant population was no longer the majority because it would be called genocide. Yet, this is happening in only, and all, the once majority white countries around the world. At the same time our schools, Hollywood, the media, and peers are spreading white hatred. How many white people do you know personally, that have privilege? I don't know anyone that doesn't live from paycheck to paycheck. All I have ever known are people who work damn hard for what they have just so this system can turn around and screw them in the end. My parents have worked one job, their whole lives and are now retired, one has cancer, the other heart problems and neither one can afford their meds alone. In reality, no one is to blame but those who are hiding behind this monetary system. The 1 who control Hollywood, Medias, Governments, etc. Look at the black people in power, or the Mexicans in power, or any other race in power. These immigrants have third-world countries for a reason. America became the greatest nation from being ruled by white	Black, Dumb, Nation, Nothing, Race, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	16/890	1.798
---	---	---	---------------	--------------

If all race just stopped commenting crimes no one would be in jail, do the crime do the time. I wonder if a person of one race feels that they are oppressed when they see someone of another race has succeeded and achieves the American dream. No matter your skin color you have to work hard and stay out of trouble to make it in life. I know people of all races that have and have not made it big in life. Stop blaming others for your failures. You make everyone that has worked hard and done the right things in life look bad. I was raised up poor but had a loving Mom and Dad in the house. I did a so-so job in school and work hard at a blue color job. The problem with some races they refuse to take a look at there faults and make the changes to better themselves. In today's snowflake world, people just want things handed to them, they expect an easy life from birth to the grave. What I have said here goes for every race and gender . Last thing, no one is better than you and you are no better than anyone else and never forget God loves us all. God bless you and God bless America!!!	Gender, Race, Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	6/217	2.765
If there was no discrimination then SJWs couldn't justify discrimination with statistics. People see no race categorisation when they are happy and peaceful WHOLEHEARTED individuals.Do SJW's think they can divide people based on race without being blatantly racist ? How did this happen?SJWs r EXTREMELY FAKE like those who downplay POTUS TRUMP and his unprecedented LIES.	Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/57	5.263
Mr Temporal lol results are not though. People don't need to do mental gymnastics to see what's in front of their face. It's sad when bottom feeder's doing what they can to help with the government lies. You get a free fish. It don't only screw up this country but the world. You think the world be a good place with same people in power ruining everything else. You may get short term enjoyment but a life time misery.	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/79	1.266
But the effects are still the same, whether subconscious or overt it still brings about the same result... racism . And subconscious bias is the most commen which is why so many people continue to deny racism exist. They only assign "real" racism to overt behaviours or actions when nothing could be further from the truth.I would venture to say subconscious bias is far more damaging because people are far less likely to intervene when they see a racist act in person, because subconsciously they share that same view. It doesn't matter in which form it exist it's still damaging.	Nothing, Racism, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	5/99	5.051
I Can Be Very NaSty I support racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/8	12.5
Joey Flores Racist and PROUD.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/5	20.0

Ignorant idiots but he what can u expect with a racist president	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/12	8.333
Just a bystander trump made the racism - great again -	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/11	9.091
Let's blame everyone else because of their crime. Maybe it's not the white people locking these people up. It their behavior and lack of moral and professional growth. Are we going to blame the single parent rates in black communities on white people to. I love how he skipped through the statistics of how much more the black community commits crime. Your right, you know nothing about this subject, go back to painting your walls green!	Black, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black	3/76	3.947
The avg age of white people is much older than black people which automatically means their median income will be greater due to avg age . Also younger people will be convicted at a larger rate than older people. So many factors to consider I don't think it is reasonable to say it's because white people are just racists.	Age, Black	Age - General, Ethnicity - Black	3/58	5.172
What racism ..Its all about preserving ones race ..There's nothing wrong with that	Nothing, Race, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	3/12	25.0
Racism is NEVER going to end. Unfortunately.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/7	14.286

Well things have changed in the past 4 years. Now, if a black guy is shot, people automatically think it's an act of racism from a white to a black . There's things like black people association at my school, but what if you replaced black with white? Automatically racism instead of an act against racism . Actually, all that assosiation is doing is exasperating the problem, and pretending that all white people are against blacks. How about this. There was a black criminal who was attacking a cop, and the cop shot the criminal dead to save his own life. People, without being educated or listening, automatically accused the cop of being a white, racist man. After they accused him, they found out that he was not a white cop, but a black cop. If I remember right, they actually released the cop because he was black . Every once in a while, you will see clubs or places supporting black people and will have different things promoting black people. But you will never, ever, ever find something promoting the rights of a white person. Now swap the words black and white on things. Automatically, it sounds disgusting and racist and wrong. Oh but this isnt just for races, it's also for genders where feminazi's exist, fighting to put women on a pedestal, and calling all boys incompetant, stupid, or insulting them casually. But if a guy casually insults a girl, then its automatically sexist and all the girls flip, but if it's the other way around then guys just accept it. Not to mention, a girl is allowed to get away with so much more than men. "She thought she could, so she did" vs "he thought he could, so he did" automatically less good. What kind of world are we creating where we swapped from white men are superior to black women are superior by trying to fight for equality?	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	16/320	5.0
Man, you live in a country where stating your " race " is a thing when you are applying for a job, or the census. No one asks you something like that anywhere else.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/32	3.125
thanks to affirmative action...lol. The only real systemic racism that's somehow legal even though it violates the constitution.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/18	5.556
The government is racist nothing to do with cops but with afirmitive action is a law that judges one by color and race then determines where they end up	Nothing, Race, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	3/29	10.345
Racism towards White People is the real problem now in 2018...	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/11	9.091
Racism is like poison in your veins.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/7	14.286
You think we can fix racism by creating artificial privileges for certain races?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/13	7.692

Money singlehandedly holds more influence than any race or ethnicity or both combined	Ethnicity, Race	Ethnicity - General	2/13	15.385
I would argue America has a much bigger problem with black racism than white racism . Have any of you been paying attention to the comments on youtube the last 4 years? It's gotten pretty fucking bad. Black people saying you can't be racist toward whites, blacks saying all whites are racist . Black people saying they can't be racist so they're allowed to then say some of hte worst things imaginable and get away with it. Black people not even trying to hide their racism . It's pretty fucking disturbing.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	10/88	11.364
On the first point: saying that black people get longer prison sentences doesn't put into account how often black men go to prison, usually your second and third sentences are longer than your first.Second point: on the first graph, that doesn't put into account how much less black people there are than white people that chart doesn't show how black people are only 13 of the populationThird point: the reason they are arrested at higher rates is because that graph actually points into account how much more white people there are the same amount of white people are getting arrested compared to black men despite of black men getting arrested 3 times as much	Black	Ethnicity - Black	6/116	5.172
The increasing gap in black and white sentencing is probably a product of the increasing number of Mexican jurors: they don't go easier on black people like white people do.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/30	6.667
Ah 2014. Back when you tubers could talk about systemic racism without being either pro racism or get harassed by racists. I miss those days.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/25	8.0
Racism will never go away. All we can hope for is for the majority of people to not care what race they interact with.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/24	8.333
What if you're not really racist you just hate yourself and everybody else around you but you're still a good person that does and would do good things for anyone....then what?	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/31	3.226
My friends, we must love every race , every color, every religion, every way of life. We are here for too short a period. Enjoy & celebrate. Do not hate. And while you are at it, please pick up a copy of my book THE HUMOR ABOUT HILLARY. Peace to all!	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/50	2.0

In some ways, racism is fought with additional racism . It is, by definition, impossible to be considered racist unless you are caucasian and hold that inherent institutional power. Also, in response to criminal justice racism , a person can create civil unrest and incite riots if they record an arrest that is resisted by a minority. Affirmative action, instead of making it a criminal offense to hire on any other bases than qualifications for any given job, it forces employers to hire only members of other races if they have too many white employees. In many cases, whites are not considered by universities (universities being an insitution) if a non-white also applies to attend, regardless of either parties high school academic performance or extra curricular participation. If someone doesn't like the public school their child attends, find another. Encourage your child to get expelled if necessary, as many times as it takes. I know as a child I'd have enjoyed doing things that would get me expelled from my public school.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	4/170	2.353
People don't really understand the word racism or why it exist. " Racism " or "the act to be racist " means to hate an entire race no matter how good or bad that race or individual from that race may be. This is true racism . The Majority of the time being "prejudice" is mistaken for racism . Prejudice focuses on the negative treatment of individuals. Racism exists purely because of the history of a particular race . If all humans had the same history racism would no longer exist but prejudice would remain constant forever. The reason for this is because prejudice focuses on individuals and not an entire race .	Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	12/106	11.321
Bro is very simple there really is no racism between humans but there is prejudice..	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667
Jose Lora - It's too bad we can't fix racism with a word game!	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/14	7.143
You forget to mention that 'similar crimes' means drug crimes. Meth= largely white, crack= largely black ... It was black politicians who put in to affect harsher sentences for crack as an attempt to slow down the crack epidemic. Nobody wants to mention that. No, I'm not racist . Yes, I'm white. No, I'm not rich and have probably less of a chance of becoming rich than the average African American. This is because I've been to prison so higher education/high paying career not an option and my chances of going pro in sports or becoming a rapper are less likely due to my white skin. I must be oppressed right? Couldn't be my decision to be active in gangs and criminal activity at a young age , right?	African, Age, Black, Nobody, Racist	Age - General, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/126	4.762
Racism won't end. Check out the dooby doo..	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/8	12.5

Most of the racism is actually in the media and not in real life. Exclude police which has nothing to do with anyones race and focus on simply videos uploaded by people to this site or any other. You just won't find a lot of white people beating anyone who is black but you will find plenty of the opposite. Go check and stop watching t.v.	Black, Nothing, Race, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/66	6.061
Racism doesn't exist. It's just evil that exists.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/8	12.5
I'd like to address all of your misunderstandings about race but I will just comment about your first point in the video.Although, it's probably true that " African American men's prison sentences were on average 20 longer than White men's prison sentences when they were convicted of similar crimes". But the misunderstanding is that your statistic doesn't factor in that some people obviously do get longer prison sentences if they have priors - where as, if it's you're first criminal offense you might get a "lighter" sentence. LolPs. And your other points can totally be shot down as misunderstandings as well.	African, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/102	1.961
Johnny Bump so you think America isn't racist then?	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/9	11.111
The American Media and Political Establishment is truly racist - it's racist against White people.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/15	13.333
Johnny Bump did you come here just to say whites face more racism than blacks cause most people would rightfully disagree with you	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/23	4.348
The same type of 'simplistic data-based' analysis of disparities in outcomes related to the criminal justice system would result in the conclusion that there is female-privilege in the criminal justice system. The same disparities exists when comparing men and women, even controlling for race . In fact, the disparity in sentencing between men and women is greater than the disparity between blacks and whites. Would you claim that there is systemic prejudice against men in the criminal justice system? Or would you prefer a more nuanced and cautious interpretation of the data? This is why people are troubled by some of these arguments. The people who make them lack consistency when the data shows something counter to the master narrative of oppressors v oppressed classes. Another example is median household income. Whites out earn blacks, on average. Must be discrimination? What about the fact that the disparity between Indian Americans and white Americans is greater than the disparity between blacks and whites (in favour of Indian Americans)? How does that fit the master narrative?	Indian, Race	Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native- American	3/173	1.734

only whites, with prosperous nations, arent allowed to do what all the others do in their own places. all these massive problems bc of the envious malevolent others who do not make their own nice places are perpetually manipulating and trying to invade other prosperous peoples places. forcing themselves into others world and demanding redistributions of wealth. its been the same since eternity everywhere, but especially demonstrated by the blacks, and the american blacks are the ultimate. they continually make tribal threats, demands, and extorted concessions by others, and the whites there usually capitulate in order to deal with them as if they would deal with any other reasonable people of like mind, except the others are proven not of like mind. their manipulative behavior and the proof of what they always create everywhere they go is well demonstrated. they have the majority of massive africa for 100,000 years yet still have not created any nicety there. the only nicety that was created in africa was created by non-blacks, and then once overrun by blacks it always crumbled. the chinese are trying it now, and their result will be the same. they cant even maintain what they take from others. and that is the only thing they have demonstrated that they do. essentially nobody in the world wants to go to their places, yet they demand inclusion in others places. they cannot be content with what they create for themselves as most others are. they were just forever warring with each others tribes in the infamous "10,000 tribes of africa" until the euros finally somehow gave their majorities their own nations and borders. then eventually gave up and left the africans to themselves after centuries of their failure to standardize and domesticate. they say they hate the white man but they sure do enjoy the nicety those guys created that allowed them to go from archaic caveman with population of 30 million in all of africa in 1400 when euros came, to extremely excessive 1 billion plus now. meanwhile here korea, japan, taiwan, and even communist china's majority tribes turned their lands into thriving nations in under 50 years. its only the people that made the place, and who can continue to make it. and all the tribes have long had their own places. american whites are the majority who also made the nicest places for themselves, and the image that the USA was/is. exactly the same as everywhere else in the world, the yamato tribe ruling japan, joseons ruling korea, tagalog tribe in PI, and han tribes china & taiwan. see 56+ different official tribes in china who cant even understand each other talking, being ruled by the han tribe, and dont have any of the problems the blacks bring to the americans and elsewhere. btw all these places are also now beginning to experience the problems blacks bring. see how well that goes in compassion lacking fiercely nationalist asian country. the east asians were always the poorest and most alien people in the USA, yet they never had any of the problems the blacks have always brought there, regardless of economics or racism/nativism/nationalism that is normal in every tribes place. the blacks invasions to others places in the USA is the equivalent of the african invasions of europe now, it can only be a contrived effort by enemies of those nations. it is a massive effort to manipulate the americans, watch their media and see their 12 max population

African, Alien, Black, Common, Communist, Immigrant, Mental, Nation, Nobody, Race

Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments, Social Class - Working class

11/897

1.226

Yes it's true, racism still exists in America. But the real problem is people (Especially on the political Left) still focus on race . The Left only cares about the color of your skin. Wouldn't you think we've come far enough to completely forget about race . And judge people by who they really are, not their identity group.Sorry for calling out you Liberals, but it's true.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/66	4.545
Whatever amount of racism you think is in the USA it is the least in the world and the whites as a group are the least racist .What non white country brings in more minorities ? Africa , Asian , Indian ?? Mmmm waiting ...I am against racism but we have to be honest ...	Indian, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	4/56	7.143
In 2008 I was arrested for threats to kill, slander & harassment through poetry & hip-hop lyrics & held on remand in HMP Chelmsford for nearly four weeks, after exposing family racism towards my mixed raced daughter...After a week in crown court, all charges were dropped, except the harassment charge which evidently lead to my writing being banned for five years, 2009-2014This was the first ban of it's kind in the UK, the second being given to Scribz from 67..The media were BANNED from publishing any of this.Facebook MrDunnePoetry Instagram Mr Dunne Poetry	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/97	1.031
For years i was practically white nationalist and saw rights for minorities as a threat. then I was indifferent to racism , and now I realize that I was discriminated against by stereotypes of how white people are supposed to be. Defend the rights of minorities now because you do not want to be the next victim of arbitrary and systemic prejudice.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/61	1.639
m starting my own race its called the beige race its also called the Khanty+mansi+komi+nenet+bashkir+tatar+kazakh+uygher race , that also includes Hungarian and Bulgarian men but not the women, and that's the race I self identify as	Race	Ethnicity - General	4/35	11.429
I wish they were more smart white people like you. It's seems like the rest of white Americans are stupid lazy incompetent and racist	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/24	4.167
Irony. You statement xiong, was racist . White people created this website, the internet, and the computer — which you hypocritically use to lambaste how stupid white people are...	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/28	3.571

I used to be married to a black woman . I never considered her a black woman , I considered her a person. That said I learned the facts about racism in America. Blacks are indoctrinated to be racists from birth, blacks are without question the most racist and bigoted people in America. The only people that gave us any trouble were black people, NO WHITE PERSON EVER gave us any problems. We got divorced because she said she could not handle being rejected by other black people. I'm happily married with 4 kids (to a white woman ). I got a call recently form my former black wife who said that since me she has been involved with 4 black men and has been beating, lied too. stolen from, etc... She said regrets not staying married to me	Black, Racism, Racist, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	11/136	8.088
black people get arrested more for drugs and get larger sentences because selling and transporting drugs gets u a higher sentence, also more black people live in low-income crime-heavy areas, crime heavy=more cops, more cops=more people getting caught.also i dont trust your sources considering u used vox...	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/48	4.167
Black women need love too	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/5	20.0
We are all equal .I have looked up your studies and for every thing you have said i have found confirmation. but i have also found studies that suggest the reverse . the fact that white people are racist and black people are not is just silly .. white people, black people Indians, Hispanics are all the same ... the level of racism is equal threw every race .white people are the only ones that ever get called racist though .This entire argument is silly and you are all just feeding the fire !	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/94	6.383
I know for a fact that racism isn't real but if you wanted to make a case for racism , then the only logical group that is a victim of racism is white males.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/33	9.091
Racism isn't real. Grow up people. If a black person goes to jail for committing a crime, then it is because he committed the crime, not because he was black .	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/30	10.0
leaves out racism against whites	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/5	20.0
I'm what people consider black . And I'm SOOOOO TIIIIIRREED of the race crap!!!!!!!!!!!!!! I remember when we use to talk about help other countries who are less of. If you are in America, you are not oppressed. Grow a backbone my " black brothers and sisters" by the way all of humankind is my brother or sister so absolve these culturally exclusive terms and get over yourselves and help someone else less fortunate.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/72	4.167

Personally as a Bengali-American I have never faced racism . Maybe it's cause I'm an actual productive member of society	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/19	5.263
It's probably becasue you aren't white. White people are the most shit-on race on the planet right now. It's acceptable to hate white people	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/24	4.167
Boo hoo. Does anyone really believe blacks, Latinos or anyother race are less racist then whites? Stop crying like bitches pull up your socks & make something of your lives.	Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/30	6.667
On average black men are given higher sentences because they on average going to return to prison again and a judge will see that and say "hmm...hasnt learned his lesson. Give him more time."	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/34	2.941 awesome vid!!! Hopefully white people are starting to think racism is disappearing because they aren't personally racist and they just don't realize that other people actually are.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/27	7.407
black people are more racist than whites nowadays. wake up	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/10	20.0

Hang on...arent you making statements without taking significant context into account. For example the source u provide for blacks given 20 longer sentences im pretty sure when looked into it was a result of previous convictions not comparing identical crimes. An example from the UK...a white British adult male drove into a group of non white citizens, one died. He got 37 yrs. A non white British resident with the exact same motive of harming pedestrians hit 2 injuring them then one after another hit & killed another 3 15 yr old boys. He got 14 yrs to serve 7 for dangerous driving. Both were terrorism, one was much more brutal an act (target of children) yet it was tried as a lesser crime. Also the statement regarding drug use amongst blacks/whites I'm pretty sure those figures were presented including Latinos in the white demographic specifically to suggest a racial bias. On investigation if i remember correctly in other research instances it was observed that the Latino demographic were grouped alongside the black community or in a non white category. Interms of who uses what were they categorized by indiv drugs, possession or distribution. Whether arms were present at location or on persons. Suspect compliance. Previous drug convictions. Defendants initial pleas and the move to jury trial in the event of a not guilty plea. Then there are issues like whether said drugs were organized into prepared package deals, whether those arrested had money from drug sales on their person, who the drugs were sold too, the drug purity, whether violence was a factor interms of the user dealer relationship and how debts would be settled, how the process of ensuring users pay up is conducted. Whether distribution was casual say supplying those around you socially as opposed to being more organised crime, supplying a custom base focused on profit. They pick and choose data, facts, study findings to suit their narrative, as do i believe u do and they manipulate data to suit their ideological goals. The search for truth regardless of what that maybe I feel is sacrificed in order to prop up an ideological worldview in ur case. You seem to have decided that racism is everywhere so uve collected all data you think confirms that belief rather than test whether that theory stands up to scrutiny. Citing vox as a reputable source suggests to me some last resort scraping of ideological barrel was needed in order to provide some type of substance to ur claims????It's both intellectually lazy and dishonest to ignore or disregard factors that contribute specifically to such outcomes, but knowingly doin so because ideology is more important than presenting truth that contradicts it, is a disgrace. If u can't be bothered to assess all available findings and views, or purely don't want to present any data that differs from those supporting ur position then don't enter the discussion in the first place. Clearly a lot of those who viewed this content felt u provided a thorough summary of available resources from a variety of political and scientific philosophies. But that's not the case at all. Simply put, selective data is gathered and presented to prop up an established conclusion that is compatible with a particular worldview narrative rather than using an unbiased, honest and ethical approach of evaluating all available resources in order to come to a realistic conclusion. It doesn't matter how many citations you

Black, Old, Racism

Age - Over
65s, Ethnicity
- Black,
Ethnicity -
General

3/644

0.466

So where's your evidence for this supposed "systemic racism ?" Moron claims there's numerous studies and statistics but does not site ANY OF THEM.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/23	4.348
its not racism , its the BEHAVIOR of blacks	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/8	12.5
Many sources are inherently broken and much doesn't have to do with just race , it mainly involves the economy	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/19	5.263
David Horowitz: How Progressives Use Race as a Weapon Against Our Country [LINK]	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/13	7.692
reads comments Race war! Race war!!!	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/6	33.333 violence and racism in the USA= PHYSICALCULTURALINSTITUTIONAL	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/9	11.111
Here I got you something to look up look up how the Democrats for the longest have been the biggest oppressor of the black populace in America and your head will literally explode it will make you wonder why most blacks are Democrat	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/43	2.326
Well, those are statistic numbers.But truth is that race has nothing to do with those numbers.Cheers.	Nothing, Race	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	2/18	11.111
Sentences come down to plea deals, good lawyers and personal attitude. Black people tend to fume their hatred and distaste for authority or people who happen to be white... They also tend to not go for legal council. You are very unethically framing the issue as racial. It isnt.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/49	2.041
Everyone is racist to some extent. It's completely natural to identify and want to be around your own race . This whole melting pot thing America does is dangerous. Races should stay with their own races since the abolition of Racism is impossible. Human beings are tribal at the core. Slavery was the worst Idea ever, and only profited an early America. Blacks should have stayed in Africa, Asians should have stayed in Asia, and whites should have conquered the whole new world alone. Would have truly westernized the Americas properly.	Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/90	3.333
Why are we allowing One race to be more Superior over another race . We should not allow this we are doing this at some point we have to say no more. You should first ask where did they get the name Cauc-asian?	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/42	4.762

He is right, he is not a expert just another duped individual. A victim of greedy dubious social "scientist". For example, in pursuit of my Master is Psychology with an Undergraduate Bachelors of Science in Psychology, we learn that the actual science shows an UNIVERSAL TENDENCY to avoid, not just ethic, but any "unique" name. White people avoid hiring other White people with unusual names, as well as, those obviously from a different ethnic group. It shows that Black people avoid other Black people with unusual names, as well as, individuals with unusual names from any ethic group. No human welcomes the challenge of pronouncing an unusual name. We fear mispronouncing the name and experiencing embarrassment. In today's climate Whites must also fear being accused of racism if they find your name difficult. The social "science" wing of Psychology and Sociology do not report their findings correctly, i.e. the researchers who blatantly lied to policy makers about the racial prevalence and effects of self-esteem aka egoism. Shocker, Blacks have, since the first study in the mid-1960s, have had, by far, the highest levels of self-esteem. While Jews/Asians show having the lowest. With Whites/Hispanics presenting roughly the same middling levels. Thus, showing that the assertion that self-esteem is an essential ingredient of success, is a LIE. Self-efficacy, belief in one's ability to meet goals, only achieved through being self-critical aka possessing an Internal Locus of control, is the primary key to success. Telling someone, even if it is true, that they can't reach their goals because of an external source is cruel and creates an External Locus of control aka helplessness resulting in ensuing resentmentfulness. (The Costly Pursuit of Self-Esteem, Jennifer Crocker and Lora E. Park University of Michigan) Why liberal "researchers" have persisted in perpetrated this LIE seems to me a plot against all racial sectors, but specifically the Black American, not a plan to help. Quit taking the blue pill, educate yourself, vet everyone's sources thoroughly. The truth will tell you who your friends really are in this world and set you free from the tyranny of the mislead masses.	Black, Ethnic, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/351	1.425
--	-----------------------	---	-------	-------

Talking bout racism ... keeps racism alive! Kids grow up hearing about it everywhere, the news, their schools, n their homes. As long as its a topic, it'll get passed on to the next generations. But how do u NOT talk about it when shit happens. People need to find peace in their hearts and move on from this ugliness n leave it behind, but that's much easier said than done. I'm from Hawai'i n what the US did to my people, our queen, culture, language, land, ect. is heartbreaking, but as a people we can hold that hate n pass it to our keiki (children) or we can find peace, work it out, move on, n improve. Everyone has their own story, but u gotta ask yourself, do u want your children to have to suffer the same shit, or make it pono (righteous) now to better their future. Just my opinion tho, Aloha!	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/154	1.299
Lono Kahiwa I think the talk about r creates a climate where we look for it. It would be better I feel to talk about actions instead of race . You did this because I'm black vs. What you did was wrong followed by your beef. Calling someone r puts them on the defensive. Calling someone out for poor behavior is something concrete. And productive towards a solution.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/67	2.985
Oh The Lies Racism Exist In America Because of treasonous people in our nation . These people bring in foreigners that are effectively invading our nation .With out other races in our nation , there can't be racism .This is a fact.Embrace The Truth.	Nation, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	5/43	11.628
It's very simple. European whites want everybody's attention on the racism in usa. in reality, racism in Europe is much worse than in usa. This fact will never change. As long as white people are in control, racism persist.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/39	7.692
The Americas are the ethnically diverse countries in the world. from Canada all the way down to Brazil think about how many different cultures you have with no war based off of race . India and many Asian countries are the most Racist and non tolerant. Liberals love to lie about race 2 European professors did the research, and came up with North and South America being very diverse. this is stuff liberals hate to admit	Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/75	4.0
the sources and data are crap. there is 2 European professors that liberals will not recognize or admit exist actully set out to prove the US was the most racist and the world. The opposite happened. India is the most racist Country in the world. US and Canada most diverse. keep trying libatard. Liberals hate facts.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/56	3.571

So fed up with all this racism crap. The color of ones skin should not matter and up until recent years I am certain the majority of Americans were not racists but more and more are becoming racists now. Obama divided us and made it much worse, for one thing. But no way Obama would have ever been elected with blacks only being about 13 of the population if the majority of Americans were racists. I ended up not liking Obama for reasons that hAd nothing whatsoever to do with racism but could not put him down without being called a racist, even tho I voted for the idiot twice. We've never had a president people could not criticize. It was insane! I am certain there are circumstances for these statistics. Like I wonder if the ones saying blacks got a bigger sentence for committing the same crimes has something to do with the fact that if you have committed one two three, etc, before versus your first offense has a lot to do with your sentencing. All people should be treated equally and no one should get points or have points taken from tests. That is in fact racism and it is things such as this that are actually the reason there are more black racists in this country than white racists at this point. However, this is indeed changing unfortunately	Black, Nothing, Racism, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/232	2.586
Did variablas factor in the reasons for disparages? Like prison terms where there differences in police record like priors? Getting pulled over more might have more to do with geography. Was the behavior of the driver being questioned by the cops polite or combative? Employment judged by name could might be racie bigotry or it could be the applicant is passed over because of race, but not because of racism, maybe employers are weary to hire a certain race of a person because they come with a certain reputation. If a group is likely to file complaints or sue employers at a rate other groups dont, who wants that. If your group has a reputation for good work ethic and employer might use that to choose. What about job applicants who are more likely to pass a drug test because of their group? Black people suffer from guilt by association many times. If employers need to weed applicants out by process of elimination, Risk factors for the company has to be low. Or it cool be they don't want black people there.	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/182	2.747
The graph says 'percent of population that used a drug in the past year.' Using a drug once is different from doing drugs consistently. Black people do drugs at a significantly higher rate than white folks. A teen getting drunk and doing drugs at a party is different than someone doing drugs on a regular basis. This graph does not reflect the story properly.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/64	1.562
Racism is a big problem in the U.S. Sad but true.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/11	9.091

So anecdotal ""evidence"" is taken as solid facts.. fantastic.. also, why didnt you talk about specific crimes committed in regards to these black vs white stats? I suspect its because the ""similarity"" of crimes committed are vastly different. A violent crime could be a punch in the face as part of self defense as well as a premeditated group beating that the suspect was a part of. So if a white man punched someone and a black man jumped someone with a group of people theyll both be classified as a violent crime.. you think that shouldnt factor into how harsh the sentence is!?! Do REAL research and use REAL evidence! Try dissecting the stats instead of taking the southern poverty law centers word for it clown..	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/127	1.575
Whites who reject systematic racism always tend to use excuses even when evidence is provided. Excuses like ""oh blacks get arrested more because of behaviors and ""thugs"".	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/27	3.704
One must look at violence of black verses white and the danger of black Muslims. I am not saying stereotyping is good, I am simply saying one should be able to admit a violent black community in order to show true racism by removing other factors.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/46	8.696
american still racist	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/3	33.333

Skin color ??? Man, what era are you living in ??? Don't you know that we are all still slaves, just under a different trend! Im white, you're black , my neighbor is yellow , and his wife's family are red and brown/orangish.... We are all slaves brother. PLEASE GET YOURSELF TOGETHER... CLEAR YOUR HEAD.	Black, Red, Yellow	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Asian (East-China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam), Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - Native-American, Nationality - Chinese, Nationality - Japanese	6/53	11.321
You are cherry picking data to make a point that whites are racist ....let's talk about who's committing all the crime, that's my concern. If it was truly a horrible racist place that vBlacks seem to think then what are you doing here?	Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/43	4.651
It's black Americans. If an African migrates and becomes a citizen he is African American. Do u call white Americans European Americans if they been there over 3 -400 years.	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/30	10.0
biological race exist	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/3	33.333
Racism = Satanism	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/3	33.333
African Americans would not have to worry about most of those things if they would just not do something to get themselves arrested.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/23	4.348
Can you please not say African American. Not all black people are African	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/13	23.077
This is exactly the video I was looking for to explain systemic racism . Thank you.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667

Do you know how you make it harder for young people who went through collage to get a Job in their field. You make them both be paid the same salaries and this can results in companies focusing on those who already have years of experience. Shortages would still get their foot in the door or some exceptional gift if it is needed. How many years do you think it will take before their understanding of the subject become dim and faded making it even harder to find a job in that field. I have lost count of how many people i have met who went to collage and are still working at fast food restaurants and a good ideal of the market value and shortage could make it easier to find a job if their is some demand. How do you determine the value of a employee and high value can make it easier or harder to find a job. Some employers don't want to hire a know-it all that has experience and knowledge that is not needed for the job. You leave it out and act ignorant of the subject until you feel you can use it to your advantage. You could even pass yourself off as a young genius later on.	Dim	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/214	0.467
Why do black run schools avoid such subjects? Not enough people wanting to learning about these subjects or take these courses.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/21	4.762
I'm just gonna come right out and say this: I find racism to be the stupidest thing in the world. Here's my reasoning: we all still have feelings, we all have bones and a heart inside us. We all have blood rushing through our veins. We all inhale the same oxygen. I don't care if you're black , or white, have stripes like a fuckin zebra, live in a country that no one has heard of, etc. Racism has to stop	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/80	3.75
Very interesting, but a racist could give two shits about stats if it doesn't fit his narrative....	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/17	5.882
You also missed the fact. cops planted drugs on the black victims. Every time.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/14	7.143
It's dumb , but people are very stupid. Racism is here for the long haul. It's not going anywhere.	Dumb, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/18	11.111

And we are all the same color on the inside: red for blood.	Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Native- American	2/13	15.385
Racism itself is in fact ridiculous, but then there are also those ignorant fucks out there that you should not waste your time trying to convince	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/26	3.846
Studies have shown that people with racist views tend to have lower IQs	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/13	7.692
America is the country of racism .....	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/6	16.667
Thank you for this video! You accomplished quite a lot in under 4 minutes I see many people lamenting the comments, but I think the opposite. I am quite pleased with the comments section because it shows that all the BS about "there is no racism " is about the most delusional lie in U.S. history. There is some high-powered hallucination needed not to see racism in our nation . That is why I like to say that "Get Out" was a documentary.	Nation, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	3/81	3.704
What makes healthcare racist ?	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/4	25.0
John seriously? I am Latino and I have been in a school of mostly Latinos and the reasons these classes are not offered is because people do not take them not because of discrimination. Latino and African Americans tend to come from lower backgrounds that usually give less importance to education. That's a sad fact about the world but is not caused by current discrimination.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/65	1.538
Let me get this right. Racism is evil but controlling what other people think is fine?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/16	6.25
You ignored the fact that the percentage of white people is far greater than that of black people in the US	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/21	4.762
Citizens don't arent really racist . It's the government. White people are less privileged than black people in 2018	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/18	11.111

BLACKS ARE THE MOST RACIST PEOPLE IN NORTH AMERICA.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/9	11.111
As a group blacks are the most racist people in America.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/11	9.091
What I'd like to know is why it is that if the states is so systemically racist (despite the 14th Amendment, labour laws to protect workers and so on), do they not deny black persons welfare? I mean every other race is on it, so why haven't they kicked black persons off welfare?People who spout "systemic racism " seem to forget that racism is prejudice based on race at the very least. So I think what they need to start calling their fairy tale is "systemic anti- black persons". If the country is systemically racist , then it would apply to all races. It's almost as if some black persons who believe that only systemic racism (which doesn't exist) affects black persons, really just want it to be all about them. Doesn't that almost sound like it's verging on privilege? Ie; the privilege to be the only race of persons that the system is against.	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	12/153	7.843
Data that don't take all factors into account show black men receive 20 longer sentences than white men on average= NEWS WORTHY proof of systemic racism Data that do take all factors into account show that men receive 60 longer sentences than women on average= NOT NEWS WORTHY NOT proof of systemic sexism	Black, Racism, Sexism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	3/57	5.263
Most racism is against white people. By far.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/8	12.5
To consider a preference to certain names as proof of racism 1:42 is almost outrageously stupid. As if " race " or ethnicity were the only thing which is correlated with names. That's ridiculous. One thing which comes immediately into mind is cultural work ethics, which is certainly a much more relevant factor for employment than ethnicity could ever be.	Ethnicity, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	4/58	6.897
Did you know that black people have a better body system and stuff then white?And that they barely even get sick for example like 1 year they wont be sick or even 2.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/33	3.03
If racism is so systemic and discrimination so obvious then how come Nigerian Americans are economically better off, per capita, than White Americans?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/23	4.348
Like I've always said, the USA is a racist shit hole	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/11	9.091

Roger Dodger Yeah of course !! Typical answer from a reactionary white American	dodger	Religious Identity - Jewish	1/13	7.692
Racism makes good entertainment	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/4	25.0
How do we solve this issue exactly? I am already nice to everyone and treat everyone the same. People affect me and how I treat them. But, i'm still called a racist all the time like every other friend I have, white, black , etc. Just because we don't all sit around nodding to the problem and we actually discuss options to make things better.. any suggestions?	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/67	2.985
You sure that the discrimination is not just about stupid names? I doubt people with names like "Billy Bob," " Buck ," "Brody," or "Adolf" would fair any better.	Buck	Ethnicity - Black	1/27	3.704
African americans have higher crime rates because of how they often act. If you disagree then you probably don't like facts.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/21	4.762
Are You AGAINST RACISM ??You Must Check This Out!!! -> www.teespring.com/do-you-see-itStop. Racism . Now	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/14	14.286 their is a difference between racism and bias	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/8	12.5
gay	Gay	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	2/1	200.0
money and racism go hand and hand whites control the distribution of economical wealth in country everything from banking legislation education housing and judicial if I need a raise my boss is white if need a loan I deal with white people gst a mortgage white to get business loan white	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/51	1.961
< racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/2	50.0

Racism is a word devised to cause division. Why categorize and label everyone into groups? We are all people, humans. You don't know what another individual is thinking. So stop placing false judgement on people unnecessarily. Finally, treat others like you yourself would like to be treated. Its up to us to change for the betterment of humankind or see us continue to fall into destruction. Goodbye morality, I already see fate.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/72	1.389
I have seen the mentioned statistic about race and drugs and the problem is that the statistic counts if a person has used drugs in the past month. This leaves a lot of factors unchecked. For instance, frequency of use. One person could smoke everyday but they receive the same representation there as someone who has tried drugs one time. So the statistic doesn't prove much.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/66	1.515
Look at all the racists claiming racism doesn't exist	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/9	11.111
Systemic racism what a joke	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/5	20.0
America's 1 problem: " Racism is the most vital and challenging issue confronting America...to ignore the problem is to expose the county to physical, moral, and spiritual danger." Baha'i Thought	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/30	3.333
Your bigotry and racist way will not be welcomed and America itself will reject you	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667
The judgements will become more powerful and overbearing the more they hate. Hell paranoia will begin to set in to those who are planning marches and gatherings nation wide. Within one week the entire country will become a bigot and racism green zone policed by the power of the judgements nation wide all its territories the American land will no longer welcome or permit racism in its environment all the Americas	Nation, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	4/71	5.634
The white nationalist movement the KKK nazis in the US as well black hates groups will be under heavy tribulations and judgement.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/22	4.545
Why oh why does " racism " only apply to white versus black ???	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/11	18.182
Thank you so much for sharing the stats. I don't know why more white people don't "get" what is so blatantly obvious to the rest of us about racism in America.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/31	3.226

This is an old video but someone showed me it to prove systematic racism to me.Your point about the people not being hired because their name is Jamaal actually proves that the capitalist economic system isn't inherently racist . The employer is absolutely free to choose Jamaal but individually comes to the conclusion, whether by racism or not, to not choose Jamaal. Thereby showing that there's nothing in the capitalistic system that says, "Don't choose Jamaal."	Nothing, Old, Racism, Racist	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	5/76	6.579
---	------------------------------	---	------	-------

First what I agree with, black schools need to be seriously improved. Not just that though, black students need to be encouraged to take higher math and science classes. One thing we must consider, if there is no one taking algebra 2 or chemistry (and we cant force students to take them) then the school is likely to cut them. So a better job needs to be done motivating black students to seek upper level classes as well as ensuring that schools are offering these classes. Black culture also needs to do a better job of prioritizing education as a laudable and admirable thing to pursue and excel at.As far as a resume with a white sounding name being more likely to be called back on than a resume with a black sounding name, this is tricky to deal with. We are already pushing companies to embrace diversity as well as lowering the bar for college degrees for blacks. Perhaps it's the media and hollywood's fault for pushing negative stereotypes regarding blacks being difficult to work with. "The angry black woman stereotype being one of them". Some research ought to be done to determine the actual cause of this particular disparity.Now to things in the video that were at minimum misleading and at most outright wrong.Firstly the 20 longer sentencing for the same crime than white men statistic is bogus, the sentencing is longer because of repeat offences. (Example) If you have been charged with assault on 3 different occasions and are charged with a 4th assault then your sentence will be longer than someone who is charged with assault for the first time.This is the same with children being tried as adults, if you are a repeat offender then you are more likely to eventually be tried as an adult.Secondly the disparity between drug arrests is because of a higher concentration of criminal behavior among the black population especially the black population that is into drugs. Say you rob a store and get caught and you happen to have drugs on you. You are going to get charged for drug possession. However if you had drugs on you but committed no other criminal activity then it would be unlikely that you get caught or charged.Thirdly the DNA evidence disparity is bogus, DNA evidence doesn't discriminate, if your DNA is at the scene of a violent crime then you can become a suspect, especially if you have a history of criminal activity. 50 of solved murders are committed by blacks and 50 of murder victims are black and 89 black murder victims were killed by other blacks. You must also consider that the 50 black murder perpetrator statistic is created without including unsolved murders. Of which there is a large number, especially in black communities where there is a culture of obstruction and refusal to cooperate with police investigations. Even though these communities are some of the most violent communities in America. So yes if more crime is committed in black communities then there is going to be more DNA evidence pointing to black perpetrators.As a last note as far as economic disparity goes and the excuse that this is the cause of the extremely high black crime rates. We need to consider that there are over 3 times as many whites in poverty as blacks so if economic status is the trigger for criminal behavior then we should see at least 3 times the amount of crimes being committed by whites as blacks. This is demonstrably not the case so we must instead	Black, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Gender - General	16/616	2.597
--	--------------	---	--------	-------

Unless you're including racism against white people, you two have no legitimate argument. Further, the "institutional racism " bit is a correlation/causation fallacy based on denial of high black per capita crime rates. This video isn't worth viewing as it's yet more libtard propaganda. I actually turned off the sound to write this.	Black, Libtard, Racism	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/52	7.692
It's not racism if we can take away their rights so we can have slaves again. God bless Old Dixie	Old, Racism	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - General	2/20	10.0
whitedaniel53 that is very much still racism you hillbilly pos	Hillbilly, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	2/10	20.0
Western countries are more racially integrated in terms of legislation and cultural acceptance compared to African , South American and Asian countries. SO much so that Western countries are open enough to have this debate about race . The reason you don't see " racism " in countries like Japan, Nigeria, Peru, Saudi Arabia, Vietnam etc is because there is very little multiculturalism in those countries. What I think people living in western countries with values of multiculturalism should realize is that:1) They are fortunate to live in a diverse nation 2) Racial biases are not necessarily imposed on minorities, but instead are a result of complex soci-economi-cultural differences that are yet to merge with western values.3) Lastly, a great experiment would be to go and live in a non western country where your ethnicity is the absolute minority and see how multi cultural their values are. Are expect you will find many forms of racial bias	African, Ethnicity, Nation, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	5/155	3.226
So the Vlogbrothers make a video asking everyone to talk about race , and it remains monetized... and EVERY OTHER YOUTUBER who takes up their call gets de-monetizedOh the irony.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/30	3.333
Where is the evidence for this racism ?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/7	14.286

You know what doesn't happen in a country that systematically oppresses certain people of it's populace? They don't allow those same oppressed people become extremely wealthy and successful in the entertainment industry, science and tech, political, the God damn President of the United States was black . So how someone be both oppressed and simultaneously have the opportunity to become every bit as successful as you want	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/67	1.493
Blacks get done for weed more because they do stupid shit like committing other crimes while smoking weed. Clearly this is racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/22	4.545
People talking about systemic racism should think for 2 seconds what "affirmative action" is, make it 10 seconds, i know you guys are kinda slow..	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/25	4.0
Black people tend to have more misdemeanors when arrested. That is a fact. And it maybe isnt because theyre black , but because of the poverty line. Who knows?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/28	7.143
If black people getting longer prison sentences than white people for similar crimes is proof of systemic racism against blacks, does that mean the fact that men get longer prison sentences than women for similar crimes is proof of systemic sexism against men?	Black, Racism, Sexism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	3/43	6.977
It's not really up for debate that the legal system is biased against men, yeah, that's true. But systemic racism on a societal level is a much larger thing, and it is built on a lot of things, not just prison sentences, as the video cites. Prison sentences are just one of those things.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/54	1.852
Yeah like Blacks needing lower SATs to get into university. SO RACIST!	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/12	8.333
100 years ago it was socially acceptable to be racist towards blacks in public. In 2017 it is socially acceptable to be racist towards whites in public. 100 years ago whites were given preferential treatment when applying to colleges and jobs. In 2017 blacks are given preferential treatment when applying to colleges and jobs. 100 years ago groups of racist whites were allowed to assemble in public without worry of being condemned or criticized. In 2017 groups of racist blacks are allowed to assemble in public without worry of being condemned or criticized . 100 years ago large groups of whites could riot and attack blacks without worry of prosecution. In 2017 large groups of black riot and attack others without worry of prosecution.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/124	4.032

RACE AND IQ IS AN INESCAPABLE REALITY. everyone just go research sam harris and douglas murry if you want actual information and not this pandering, self hating cuckhodry.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/28	3.571
Way to blame white people for black criminality. You forgot to mention prior convictions, that is the single largest reason for longer sentences. Same goes for drug charges. Don't blame whites for black people being incapable of following the law; even poor slummy white folks understand law.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/47	4.255
I like how they blame whites for slavery but don't blame the Africans that sold other black people.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/18	5.556
Not all African people are 1 tribe just as german tribe aren't jews and Koreans Aren't Japanese. Also indentured servitude like when irish were servants to jews is not the same as American devices created for unspeakable torture. Africans had no jail system so you would become servants and work off a debt to your victim to be set free. They traded war captives from rivaling NATIONS like (Cambodians warring against Filipinos) as servants for muskets and alcohol , "not their own people" They didn't find out till later what Americans we're doing to the people but by that time it was too late and in america you'd never be free or finally work off your debt for 400 yrs even your descendants.Ignorant Europeans didn't differentiate between a Puerto rican and a mexican almost like they don't today, just assumptions.Also not all darkskin people are african like not all white people are irish.The tribe sold were not the same people or tribe.Pygmy, Tasmanian, Australian aboriginal, east indian , Jamaican, Nigerian, Haitians, Sudanese ,Ethiopians, nubian ect are not all descendants of the European africanus. They have their own phenotypes, haplogroups, cultures, languages, gods ect....	African, Indian, alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - Native-American	4/193	2.073
Cng215 yeah, this meant nothing to me.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/7	14.286
Well i apologize but you don't have to be so condescending. Racism isn't actually a subject you some up in in 30 characters. Anyways im reading The nazis wwII, mind me asking whats your read?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/35	2.857

With all this new racism against white people lately, I know it against supremacists and Nazi's yada yada. It's starting to hit home. Being a white male. You want to know what I notice? I'm starting to know what it feels like. What it feels like to be oppressed. To have fear, just because I can easily be categorized in the same group as the hate groups because of the colour of my skin. The sorrow and constant questions of why? Start to feel cornerd, and agitated like a caged animal. Then anger and aggression. Then I woke up.. And realized.. Wow. This is what a black man has Benn feeling all his life? And I've only been dealing with it for about a year! I start to realize movements like BLM more now. So much rage built up over a life span. Is this the only way to wake people up? By segregation and self hate? Maybe. But I don't want to hate myself or anyone else for that matter. I just want people to read this knowing a white man can feel what it has felt like to be a black man for decades. Although I've never been one to hate. I can admit now I understand. And that's a start to solving the problem. I don't know how to end my rant. It is more of an expression of how I see it right now. And I don't like the violence. From both sides. Just stop!	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/249	1.205
He is not ignoring it, it's a widely known fact that the legal system is biased against men. But that's not what this video was about. This video is about the fact that society at large is biased against black people.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/41	2.439
Framing all black people as an infantilized oppressed monolith that can't be held accountable for their actions or choices is just about the most racist thing you can do.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/29	6.897
Have you ever met any urban black people? They're laughing at you.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/12	8.333
So maybe you guys should be yelling at the Democrats that run colored neighborhoods.	Colored	Ethnicity - Black	1/14	7.143

John, even though this video is really old , I wanted to point out that the majority of the articles you cited are non peer reviewed, left-leaning newspapers with a bias towards this kind of topic. I would have loved to see more articles from right-leaning media outlets, but I guess if you did that you'd find that they report largely the opposite of everything you say in this video. What I've ultimately learned from this video is that we can find pretty compelling supporting evidence no matter which way we lean on a given subject, and that we should take it upon ourselves to look extremely closely at large amounts of facets of a given topics to come to our own conclusions. I believe that as long as media and videos like yours report on things the way they do, every single belief gap of every single topic will only widen.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/151	0.662
youtubelover 5 but right-leaning articles are indifferent of racism	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/9	11.111
Yeah, that's why it's so crazy that there are so many high schools that don't.	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/15	6.667
no mention of anti white bigotry and racism	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/8	12.5
TheXDatabase YTC because anti white racism is only words showing racism its not an issue like anti black	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/18	16.667
Although I agree there is racism in America still, I don't believe it is on a systemic or institutional level. Sure institutional racism did exist 40/50 years ago with Jim Crow , Plessy v. Ferguson, etc., but those have all been abolished and replaced with laws that protect the rights of all minority citizens. Is this really the fault of widespread (vague) racism or just racism on an individual level? If anyone can name a racist institution in America that would be great because it would be good to educate myself more about it. Also did this vid take into account that blacks also commit a disproportionate amount of crime in America? The Bureau of Justice Statistics state that while being 13 of the population blacks commit half of homicides in the nation . Isn't this more of an economic problem than a race one? Poorer people are more likely to commit crime, and a lot of blacks in the country are poor.	Crow, Jim Crow, Nation, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	9/161	5.59

In this video, John mostly talked about them as if they were on equal footing. The problem here is more psychological than anything. Although yes, they commit more homicides and may be on the poorer side of the economic spectrum, it is more of a bias. The resume study where the only difference is the name is a type of it on a systemic level. I wouldn't say you are thick-headed or uneducated as you clearly have some proofs in your comment. These stereotypes have taken their place in our perception giving them a worse treatment in the actual system. Yes, they may commit more homicide. Yes, there are motivations to do these acts if they are on the lower class. But to all of this I say poppycock as if convicted of the same crime, african-american people are more likely to get a higher sentence. Although black people are more searched/suspected to have drugs while, white people have more of a "success rate".	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/164	0.61
+The Ambassydor +The Ambassydor And I agree with you. The job discrimination is awful and we should work vigilantly to make sure all Americans are considered for jobs based on their merit on not their race . But that is not systemic racism . That is individual racism /discrimination on the part of the employer. In regards to the police, there is no law or regulation stating that police must detain more black people than white people, or that they have to search them for drugs more, etc., it's the fault of the individual police officer or a poorly run police department in general. I believe in this argument the lines are blurred between those in the institution vs the institution itself. The police as an institution were racist 50 years ago because there were laws that had black people detained and/or beaten for sitting on the wrong seat on the bus or drinking from the wrong water fountain. This is not to excuse the actions of racist police officers or police chiefs, who I believe should b	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/175	3.429
+Garrett Walsh removed from their position and/or prosecuted for racist practices. I just believe it is impractical to attack the institution when the problem lies in some individuals.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/28	3.571
all this has been debunked with nuance. pop your bubble listen to someone on the other side and you will understand why these thing are as they are. hint its not racism	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/32	3.125

n this video, John mostly talked about them as if they were on equal footing. The problem here is more psychological than anything. Although yes, they commit more homicides and may be on the poorer side of the economic spectrum, it is more of a bias. The resume study where the only difference is the name is a type of it on a systemic level. These stereotypes have taken their place in our perception giving them a worse treatment in the actual system. Yes, they may commit more homicide. Yes, there are motivations to do these acts if they are on the lower class. But to all of this I say poppycock as if convicted of the same crime, african-american people are more likely to get a higher sentence. Although black people are more searched/suspected to have drugs while, white people have more of a "success rate". There are many links proving his point on the description. I would recommend you to read them so you are educated on the bias and racism in the system.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/176	1.136
1) Blacks are far mor elikely to have prior convictions hence the hire conviction and sentencing rates 2) Go to Colin Flaherty channel and watch some videos now try to find some videos with that lvel of vitriol and racism being directed at blacks by whites. 3) No one owes you a job no matter your fucking race if im white i should have the right to hire only whites 4) In education blacks get preferential treatment they dont need good grades to get into harvard 5) In health they should stop smoking and eating shitty foods.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/97	2.062
For 3) You shouldn't have the right to do this as it would be considered racist even though it is not your intention. There are no differences in each resume, so there wouldn't be a good reason for you to do this. For number 4, please state some evidence for this before I may be able to debunk it. For number 5, they are being given the same treatment as white people but they are given higher prices for it. Your statement/s are also heavily stereotyped.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/86	1.163
RACIST WHITE PEOPLE WILL NEVER BELIEVE ANY OF THIS. To them their beliefs is the truth and this does not for their beliefs or the agenda the like to push so it's "fake news"	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/34	2.941
About that racial pay gap...I'm American born of African decent and I can admit that on average most minorities are less productive. Why do I say this? Well many minorities are born in poorer neighborhoods with poorer upbringings. They have a life gap to make up for, and certainly many can and do. But by telling them it is everyone else's fault that gives them no incentive to make up the true gap in their upbringing and skills.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/78	1.282
Go read "Don't make the black kids angry" then do a follow up video. There are so many other factors that come into play of the stats you read off that I can't believe you didn't talk about.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/38	2.632

n this video, John mostly talked about them as if they were on equal footing. The problem here is more psychological than anything. Although yes, they commit more homicides and may be on the poorer side of the economic spectrum, it is more of a bias. The resume study where the only difference is the name is a type of it on a systemic level. I wouldn't say you are thick-headed or uneducated as you clearly have some proofs in your comment. These stereotypes have taken their place in our perception giving them a worse treatment in the actual system. Yes, they may commit more homicide. Yes, there are motivations to do these acts if they are on the lower class. But to all of this I say poppycock as if convicted of the same crime, african-american people are more likely to get a higher sentence. Although black people are more searched/suspected to have drugs while, white people have more of a "success rate".	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/164	0.61
Why didn't they use Cleetus and Jaylin Jo for the white names? I'm more likely to disparage Jamal than John, not because the name sounds black, because it sounds dumb. Better recommendations for names for the black people to use in the study would probably be Zion, and... I can't come up with a girl one, maybe use Zion on both? What I'm saying is, there are a lot of names that are associated with any color of skin, and very few names that are color defined. And said names tend to not sound very good. I have never met a black man named Cleetus, but I met a white one. One of them. Ever. And we gave him shit for his name. Is that a racial issue against whites? No. Everything else in here is pretty good, but my one critique is that study should have chosen better names.	Black, Dumb	Ethnicity - Black, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/150	2.667
Knowledge is power but the wrong knowledge is dangerous. You claim blacks were convicted more than white with similar crimes. Why didn't you say with the same crime? I and anyone with common sense knows why you phrased it that way. Last time I checked if a black man commits a class C felony Burglary this is on the fbi gov site 2017 . Blacks conviction rate average 76.2 is sentenced 2 years . Sentencing is minimum 5 maximum 25. Caucasians are convicted and sentenced 61.9 5 years. House break ins aka {Burglary , Statistics , 77.6 Blacks , and all other races combined 21.4. So blacks are at best 14.6 of the population and commits close to 80 of burglaries, and you complain if they get convicted? Let me guess the white man made them do this. Call me a racist. I carry it with a badge of honor. The new definition of racism is . ( When a white man tells the truth about blacks .)	Black, Common, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	4/169	2.367
Eat this Larry Elder. You just got owned!	Elder	Age - Over 65s	1/8	12.5

Black Judges are very bias against Whites to a point that White's need a nonjewish White judge and jury to get a fair trial and some Black judges are dumb enough to reveal it to everybody during trials and Black on White crimes are even harder to prosecute with Black Judges and jury's.	Black, Dumb	Ethnicity - Black, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	5/53	9.434
Wow all of these statistics are incredibly misleading, you just assumed that it's "systemic racism ". I don't feel like writing an essay, but I just wanted to say that.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/29	3.448
n this video, John mostly talked about them as if they were on equal footing. The problem here is more psychological than anything. Although yes, they commit more homicides and may be on the poorer side of the economic spectrum, it is more of a bias. The resume study where the only difference is the name is a type of it on a systemic level. I wouldn't say you are thick-headed or uneducated as you clearly have some proofs in your comment. These stereotypes have taken their place in our perception giving them a worse treatment in the actual system. Yes, they may commit more homicide. Yes, there are motivations to do these acts if they are on the lower class. But to all of this I say poppycock as if convicted of the same crime, african-american people are more likely to get a higher sentence. Although black people are more searched/suspected to have drugs while, white people have more of a "success rate". The statistics are giving proof to his point. They can't be misleading if they are true and very relevant to his arguments	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/186	0.538
That doesn't make sense, white people have the most neanderthal DNA, yet they are not the smartest race . The highest IQ's are found in east asian countries and also in singapore and india.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/33	3.03
3:06 he hit the nail right on the head thereThis is why Black people NEED REPARATIONS!!! Black folks have been systematically deprived and sabotaged socioeconomically for damn near 400 years. This is something that is LONG OVERDUE!!	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/38	5.263
I am very glad you addressed the correlation between racism and wealth inequality. good job!	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667

John, I'm playing Devil's Advocate here I need help in understanding in why the allegation of systemic racism is being treated as gospel and not recognized as what it is: a presumption. Let me preface the following in that I'm not in any way denying racism exists, it most certainly isn't dead, but what I call into question is how pervasive it allegedly is. Yes, there's a disparity in the statistics, but statistics don't explain themselves and you said so yourself that you can't divorce the situation from factors like economic and/or class status. Like I can tell you immediately that there's huge looming coincidences like our legal system being heavily "capitalized", meaning the more money you have, the less likely you face indictment or as harsh a punishment as compared to someone who can't afford a decent lawyer.... and given that there is a much greater percentage of whites in better economic standing, how can you say then the disparity present within the legal system is, without a shadow of a doubt, anchored in racist motivations, when we can clearly see that a person's financial standing, again, has a measurable impact on the quality of justice dispensed from case to case?... especially when we recognize that half the black populace is situated in the lowest income bracket and by proxy bad, high crime neighborhoods that are heavily policed (which makes sense when you think about it). Paraphrased, why are we treating this as truth, when the possibility exists that the system only appears racist (with respect to the legal woes) and the core issue is income inequality within a heavily capitalized system? And I use that as an example....Saying nothing of the fundamental issue that is it's literally impossible to prove a motive... you're no better able to prove what my motive was for buying a can spray paint than anyone is proving what motivates the "system". I do not understand, when we advocate how important critical assessment is to such ridiculously heavy weight topics such as this, we entertain an unsubstantiated, and arguably biased assumption. And you can't tell me it isn't. I say all this not because I'm on the "right" (i'm in the middle) or I'm against civil rights or what not, it's because I see glaring issues in the thought processes leading to that particular conclusion. It's far easier to rationalize what we're witnessing is rooted in financial inequality than that of racial bias. Really consider what I'm saying here. if I ask you why the system would be racially biased, the best answer you're gonna be able to come with is essentially because reasons... or because "it was before" - any other reasoning and you're pretty much justifying racism. If I were to ask you why the system would be economically biased, the answer is undeniably more tenable... because we live in a roughly capitalist nation. Let me restate something: I'm not saying racism doesn't exist as it most certainly does, but these assumptions and allegations need to be more closely examined and constructively criticized because there is definitely a lot of room for doubt.	Black, Nation, Nothing, Racism, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	9/522	1.724
--	--	--	-------	-------

While you do prove a good point that there seems to be an inherent bias against the colored community, I have some statistics that may make this bias seem a bit less exagurated. Regarding the educational bias I would like point out how much those extra programs cost and because of how broken federal and state school funding systems are many schools are dependent on income from students and students families. now given that information it would make sense that in minority dominated schools, which tend to reside near low income neighborhoods, would have fewer programs than that of ethnically proportional schools. nearly 40 of welfare recipients are African American, which isn't even close to proportional for any potential bias put forth to be explained as racism, which would explain also the lack there of high end programs in minority dominated schools. Regarding the chances of reemployment this can be explained by the fact that 38 of homicides are committed by African Americans and this higher rate of violent crimes can cause a stereotype of all convicted black men being more violent, while this isn't true individually the statistics do show they disproportionally are as only 31 of homicides are committed by white people despite outnumbering African Americans 5 to 1. Regarding any type of racial bias believed to exist in the police force I would like to point out that white men are TWICE as likely to be killed by police than blacks. many would say that this isn't proportional as African Americans only consist of 13 of the population but that wholly isn't true because if you factor in violent crime offences the numbers should be around equally. It is a undeniable fact that the black community has a disproportional amount of crime. FBI statistics show that blacks despite being outnumbered 5 to 1 commit 8 times as many crimes against whites as vice versa. statistics also show that 24 of hate crimes are committed by blacks despite them consisting of only 13 of the population. As I see it, while there are white racists as there are racists in every ethnicity, African Americans are much more racist and crime driven, not individually but generally, than other ethnicities in the united states and the enforcement of law and retaliation from these crimes is being mistaken as racism. statistically white people are the second most racially accepting group behind Latinos, only committing 54 of hate crimes despite consisting of 64 of the population, and I know me saying these things will be "controversial" or "racist" but facts are facts so I would like you, whether a liberal, a conservative, a black lives matter supporter, or a all lives matter supporter, to sit back and look at the numbers. some may explain it as racist stricter convictions but as I see it the numbers are way to out of proportion to be explained as hate in our modern western society.P.S.- regarding the drug crime convictions I would like to point out that those statistics lack to include an information regarding covictions following the initial one. each time you get the same charge it will extend the sentence of that charge generally. Also regarding the wage gap it has been found that for women and minorities in many places tend to be less prone to asking for a raise from the natural personalities and the automatic assumption they won't get it because of what they are. I would like to comment that trying to get wages for a single

African, Black, Colored, Ethnicity, Gender, Racism, Racist

Ethnicity -
Black,
Ethnicity -
General,
Gender -
General

16/674

2.374

You know, I'm all aboard with your videos. Your explanation of Syria, of Assad, and of our relationship with them (and Russia) was nothing short of perfect. However- Statistics are cold, as you said. Statistics can be presented in a more bias fashion than they were written. You want to mention sentence length- but that doesn't represent the individuals criminal history. And more importantly in my opinion, you didn't mention the crime rates of African Americans when scaled against the white population. Nor did you mention the drop out rate, or single parenthood rate. These paint a much more clear picture on what can seemingly be pointed as a prosecution issue, and really shine the light on a major culture issue. We're blaming our government for punishing people who do bad things, when really, we should be trying to prevent people from doing bad things in the first place. The black community wants to unify against our government for systemic racism, however they seemingly want to have no part in keeping their community educated or keeping the fathers in the lives of their children. That alone will only continue to generate this perpetual loop. We need to fix our government (in a million ways), but before we can do that we need a community of people who aren't 7 times a likely to kill us or rob us (statistically) on our side. And that can't happen without a major culture change.	African, Black, Nothing, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/241	1.66
0:59 - That's because African Americans top nearly all crime statistics. Of course cops are stopping them, because they are, on average the same people that are committing the crimes.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/30	3.333
Reviewed your sources, stopped after 6:1) Analysis craftily omits prior criminal record influence on sentencing. And if this hadn't produced the "right" answer, the data would simply be cooked in some other way.2) Analysis craftily skips that many drug possession convictions are plea bargains for drug distribution. More serious criminals serve longer time, regardless of penal code.3) Works hard to dance around the fact that people are stopped, frisked, and searched, prior to an arrest. Rob a bank, first you're stopped, frisked, and searched. If more people of select races commit crimes by percentage—which is the case—they be s f and s'ed more.4) URL invalid5) Latches onto the omit prior criminal record technique of 16) This is a good one, why testing which is not double-blind is worthless. People were hired to find a racial bias and that's what they said they found. It's like when a clerk waits on a customer this is labeled racism because the clerk thinks the customer is going to steal and when a clerk doesn't wait on a customer this is labeled racism because the clerk doesn't want to sell to the customer. You're just shining shit. Hmmm, black president but yeah, everybody's out to get blacks.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/209	1.435

Systemic racism isnt real. Liberal democrats love keeping minorities in the voting booths.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/13	7.692
Black people are also more likely to appear in court with a sloppy and disrespectful appearance, they are more likely say violent and racist things to police officers. Those statistics about drug use being the same are such bs. that's a complete estimation. no one knows how many people really use drugs.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/52	3.846
Note he said "simuler crimes". On average, " black people" comit much worse crimes than "white people". Judges don't even give then the sentace they would give on a " black person" because they don't want someone like you calling them racist ,even they accusation of racisiom would get that judge fired.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/49	6.122
vlogbrothers Do you think you can make another video updating on the statistics? A few colleagues and I started a Facebook page focused on educating the people on institutionalized racism and we're planning on organizing events at our community college in Moreno Valley, California. Facebook page : [LINK]	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/48	2.083
I've been a "victim" of positive racism . I'm Hispanic so my employer chose me over other interns because "hispanics are hard workers".	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/22	4.545
The longer sentences is directly related to criminal history. In other words, black people are more often repeat offenders so they face harsher sentences. More black people caught on drug charges is related to more black people being more open about using illegal drugs. For instance, a black person will more often sit on the porch, and light up a blunt, where as a white person will be more likely to do so in the garage.Your point about names is about names, not race . I have a white friend named "Star" with hippie leftist parents. Star has always had trouble getting call backs probably because of her stupid name. If black people picked less stupid names for their children they would be hired more.Mostly minority schools have less advanced classes like algebra 2. That is because of an IQ disparity between the races. If more black children could get passed algebra 1, then more black schools would have algebra 2. It's not racism , it's just blacks on average have a lower IQ.People like you spreading the victim narrative are garbage. You are the worst kind of racist . You will argue, and argue and argue for us to take science seriously on issues like "climate change" but difference in IQ on races... nah, you don't like that idea because you met a smart black person, and know how great Larry Byrd was at basketball.	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	11/236	4.661

the things discussed in this video is one of the things that spurred me to major in criminal justice. if anyone is reading this over two years later, please consider reading "just mercy" by bryan stevenson; it's a book about a black lawyer who worked in alabama with death row cases and while it took place in the 80s and 90s, it is still resonant today. he's also, according to TED, the speaker with the longest standing ovation :)	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/79	1.266
I believe "systemic" means it's built into the system. I closely listened to the entire 3:55 and did not hear you mention one law or policy or company, or system... that is racist . For instance, affirmative action laws are, by definition, racist . I hate racism , all racism . Tell me the law or institutional policy that is racist and I'll fight it with you! You seem to believe a simple disparity automatically means a wrong has taken place and that's irrational Man. Would you consider there may be other factors at play here such as culture. i.e. High school graduation rates, fatherless children rates, unemployment rates... and these other factors drive most of the disparities. Your entire premise is based simply on there being a disparity and that's ignorant, enabling, and damaging. To fix the disparities let's address the real problems regardless of how it makes you feel. Think of the feeling you will have if these disparities were non-existent and without trampling on someone else's rights, and being racist yourself, to do so.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	6/173	3.468
Affirmative action wouldn't even exist if people were hired on their merits in the first place. It's not racism . It's the byproduct of racism . And to pretend that it's racism is disingenuous at best.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/34	8.824
America is an evil demonic nation , and it will receive its reward, and this will be by the hand of God himself.	Nation	Nationality - General	1/22	4.545
I am for God and God's people. and against ungodly wether black or white.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/14	7.143
Hayden Gregoire Ben Shapiro says the same thing 'Tell me how to fix it or attack racism' i'll be more than happy too. As if i see something happen im going to take a flight to CA knock on his door and tell him hey some dude was being racist do something!! The only way is have a secret camera recording all whites to catch that red hand in the cookie jar. It's hard to prove unless you have a camera or recorder with you at all times. Instead of influencing people it sounds as if he is also a racist that cares less about the situation.	Racist, Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	4/107	3.738

I really really appreciate this video as an easy reference to important statistics about racism , and I know that these statistics are indeed true, but the links in the description to the sources used don't seem to be available anymore.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/40	2.5
What you don't like actual data? He linked to his sources. If you're convinced racism is dead, find some CREDIBLE studies that show it; personally I would love to see a logical argument that racism is dead.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/37	5.405
This is great, racism in employment, housing, school admissions, and other places show disparities but there is one that is rarely mentioned, the racist curriculum we receive. As someone who works in education I can say some things are getting better in some states and worse in others but overall it is Eurocentric and that is problematic. I am thankful for this channel. The Crash Course videos are great. However, on the Ancient Egyptian video, John says the Jews were in Egypt long before the pyramids were constructed. Where is your evidence for that?	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/94	2.128
I have this one friend that always gets pulled over the cops because they have a really nice car and they are black . I always feel incredibly sorry for them. There is bias in the justice system whether people like to admit it or not.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/45	2.222
Ya know I thought that I might get some lecture on microaggressions or something insulting to those of us who have experienced actual racism . But I did not. This was a very good video about the current state of racism in our country. It was based on facts and numbers instead of emotion and creating an "us vs them" narrative. We do have problems. We have a long way to go. But I do think that we're getting better. And who knows, we may be closer to less systemic racism than we think.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/93	3.226
Tbh every race should be committing racial suicide. Everyone should try to marry outside their race and religion if possible.	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/20	10.0
Do you still believe there is not racism in our judicial system? Read the book Just Mercy and your opinion will change in weeks.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/24	4.167
Please, do show a law that targets minorities in a way that results in these numbers; racism at an individual level does exist, but at a grand conspiracy of "systemic" all you do is cry wolf while accomplishing nothing . Give up your damn wealth and help minorities if you're so worried about the "systemic" injustices that plague this country	Nothing, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	2/59	3.39
DCW how is it straw man? Show me the white and black guy is the same county same crime same time same no criminal history and black guy getting a longer sentence. Show me ACTUAL verifiable evidence. You can't	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/39	5.128

”whether or not systemic bias exists in the united states is not really a debatable point” I love your videos, but every point you bring up is a defense of this statement. this entire video is an attempt to debate the point. there is a lot of evidence which points to the fact that other factors than race have a lot of influence on these outcomes, yet you ignore all this evidence. it is frustrating because you are pushing a narrative which isn’t helping and has been mostly debunked and shunning other explanations at the same time.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/97	1.031
oMG right, current year, so progressive. Just don’t look at the murder rate by race or interracial murder rate	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/19	5.263
Here’s the very first statistic.African American men’s prison sentences were, on average, 20 longer than white men’s prison sentences when they were convicted of similar crimes.Look at that for a while and you tell me what’s wrong with it when you figure it out.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/46	2.174
Kind of like the rhetoric used to potray blacks as dumb, lazy, and violent. If this comment wasn’t meant to refute the contents of this video I apologize.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/28	3.571
At the end of the day, it comes down to who is rich and who is poor. Yes Asians, whites, and Jews are on average wealthier and hispanics and blacks are on average impoverished. But focusing on the race issue is missing the point. What if you are an equally poor white kid without a father (adding that stipulation). You are going to be just as worse off if not WORSE off because you won’t have access to affirmative actions etc.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/81	1.235
ConBroCal Dude as a poor white man living in the south, I am very happy that I have this pasty white skin tone whenever a cop pulls up. You can’t deny that there is institutional racism everywhere in this country. Yes, individuals can rise out of it, but they sure make it damn hard.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/54	1.852
Tell me about this institutional racism. What law? which policy? Or maybe, just maybe, do certain demographics commit more crimes?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/20	5.0

ConBroCal Eh? It was three of my best friends, you just totally made that up because I'm telling you something you don't want to hear. You're the one who asked me to reflect on my own life and experiences. And I'm telling you, as well many other white people, than we are treated better, at least as far as policing goes.Funny that, a lot of things happen to me in England, me being English. We have less of a race problem than you, not more.Most Western countries have better income mobility than the USA, so it isn't "amazing" at all.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/102	0.98
RACISM! You said Jews, Whites & Asians have money, while Blacks, Latinos & Native Americans are poorer. Stereotypes! well, it's understandable not all Whites are rich or blacks are poor. The majority of both Whites & Blacks are middle class, then it's easy to see why 30 of US Blacks live in poverty, a history of racism . +	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/58	3.448
No, that's just not true. That born out by a recent study done in upstate New York after they "banned the box" or the little box on job applications that asks if you've been convicted of a crime. Aftwards, white men with criminal records got a huge increase in call backs whereas all black men with or without criminal records received far fewer call backs.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/65	1.538
Umm. I'm a counter example of that. I will admit I saw a lot of people drop out of high school and senior level math and science classes were small but removing the OPPORTUNITY all together is ridiculous.	Senior	Age - Over 65s	1/38	2.632 can you please tackle sexism in america as well? Thanks!	Sexism	Gender - General	1/10	10.0
nothing much.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/2	50.0
America has always been divided. Speaking the truth on the issues of race is not dividing anyone, it's waking people up.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/21	4.762
Google + is social media... I have reconnected with plenty of old friends on here lol	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/16	6.25
Carson Chiu You will wait in line like you are suppose to because you are suppose to! You will stop for the police & comply like you're suppose to... because the ladder is force... it's very simple & has nothing to do with your tax dollars... Donations are gratitude not taxes lol I don't know who told you that	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/59	1.695
Alright so I agree with you that there is systemic racism in the American legal system, but I am just going to leave this slew of my comments about what I have to say to each of your points in hope that you'll reply and we may have a discussion.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/50	2.0
+Griffin Durning all the stuff about racism in the judicial system I totally agree with. There is a systemic racism present and that needs to be changed.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/27	7.407

+Griffin Durning in conclusion, there is most definitely system injustice and racial bias in society as a whole. However, the rates of police shooting and "brutality cases" and most of what the Black Lives Matter movement bitches about is complete bs. Love your videos by the way, I'm a huge fan of Crash Course.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/54	1.852
Hurr durr one of your statistics is slightly wrong. Therefore white people aren't racist	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/14	7.143
Well, collords ain't got no reason to be round here no more as far as I'm concerned, and I ain't got no shame in saying it! I'm only kidding, I'm a black guy. Racism obviously sucks. Damn, these guys can TALK. Wow.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/42	4.762
The problem, well one of many, is that people have a tribal instinct. They will always band together against others who they have deemed different. White vs black , democrat vs republican, Christian vs pick one, American vs everyone.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/38	2.632
Honestly I think asking people to deny it is a losing cause that can lead to more problems. I think instead we should accept, and direct it, like we change the course of a mighty river to a less disasterous path. Racism is no more bad than aging. We can not stop it, nor perhaps should we much of the time, but we should move it, change it, and improve it.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/71	1.408
sjbrooksy45 exactly , and that's why individualism is hard for the black community , u can't jus see your self as nothing other than an equal man when ur kind takes up 13 of the population	Black, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black	2/36	5.556
It's very dumb and narrow-minded! That shit ain't nothing once one of your own kind betray you!	Dumb, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/17	11.765
Elouj Time Reaver you cant improve discrimination against people for their race though.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/13	7.692
Melanesian is also a race that exists	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/7	14.286
half the time he said black and half the time he said african american	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/14	14.286

Did Hank decry systemic racism or something? Why does he "talk to Hank" here?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/14	7.143
Jack Offs Asians invented most tech, Arabians made your watch system, Black people (my people) came up with modern everyday conveniences and life savers like toilet paper, traffic lights, pacemakers, (look it up), Hispanics invented TV Color (the irony of that makes me laugh), but y'all apparently invented everything, yeah....alt right	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/51	1.961
I respectfully disagree with you Mr. Green. As you so often say, and in fact hinted at at the beginning, this a a topic so tied to nuance that if "systemic bias" had a synonym it would be nuance. Cops pull over black people more often? Yes they do but crimes like violence, drug DEALING and robbery are overwhelmingly disproportionately committed by black people and more white collar crimes that require investigations are more often committed by white people. One of these group of crimes can interrupted easily on the street level and one less so... cops have a limited resources and have to use it as well as possible and that means beat cops work the street level crimes that just so happen to occur in some neighborhoods more than others. Job applications aren't as well reviewed for ethnic people than white people but Asian people do better than both and that's due to perceived stereotypes driven by undeniable cultural differences and I believe an educated person of any color can see that. I will give that the court system is in fact rigged but it's against the poor who disproportionately happen to be black . Judges see people with no future inside or out and think to themselves their better off off the streets, it's a HORRIBLE thing to do but I've personally seen it done. The wealth thing is a game of haves and have nots and while the system was rigged in the past to prevent ethnic peoples of succeeding but it's not now and your trying to shush an echo. (What I'm about to say could be considered rasict but it's only to convey the point to the largest audience) everyone on 8mile had the same shot that Eminem did but he had the talent to get out based his raping and happened to be white the same way you John happened to have the talent to make it as writer. If want to talk about a real systemic bias talk about where the money goes.	Black, Ethnic	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/340	1.471

I guess I'd want to know what you mean by "systemic racism ". It's a fuzzy term. For example, if you say "there's systemic racism in the justice system" do you mean the judges and lawyers and laws are literally racist ? Or do you mean the disparity in the numbers is in some part explained by racism that has occurred in the past, even though those systems are not systemically (as in, built into the system) racist ? For each statistic you site, it's important to clarify whether it is a product of an intentional racist decision ("I have decided the black schools by law shall not teach algebra") or some confluence of circumstances some of which are related to race but many not ("School budget can't afford it etc...."). Look. I'm black , so by the poster's account I must've been a victim of racism at some point right? And it's true, I've encountered racist people. I've had things not go my way where I wonder, is that because of my race ... or not? In some cases it's impossible to tell. But those who like to throw around "systemic racism " like to insinuate if not outright state that every institution in society is secretly racist and acting against me. That hasn't been my experience. My experience of the world has been too complex to see it only in black and white. I'm here because the poster suggested I come here (ironically, from a post about Invisible Man, a book ultimately about being an individual) because it shows how "systemic racism isn't up for debate". And yet all the video confirms is what everyone already knows: blacks were kept down for a while, and that contributes to our collectively being behind now (to what degree and how exactly varies according to opinion), and some racist people exist even today. That's a far cry from proving the great systemic continuing racist conspiracy (and really, this mentality whether justified or not, holds people back so PLEASE stop spreading it).	Black, Fuzzy, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	19/334	5.689
i think mostly black african behavior is why there is racism against blacks in general	African, Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/15	20.0
Racism in US exists alright.....mainly against White people	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/8	12.5
you have to be a special kind of close-minded to think that racism against white people does not exist.Or be an illiberal SJW.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/24	4.167

White racism is cultural racism , and it's very subtle. It's not gonna affect your life unless you hang out with people of other races. White Institutional racism doesn't exist also, except some very few and extreme cases. Black racism happens culturally, but mostly it's Institutional racism . And Institutional racism happens big-time, as seen on the video.White racism is out of the question until black Institutional racism is dealt with.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	10/70	14.286
awsomebot1 If by institutional racism you mean that the institutions of law and government in the U.S are racist against blacks ,than NO the video has NOT proved that.Therefore only 'cultural' ,as you put it , racism exist against blacks which to be frank is minimal . eg. A black actor can ,on TV, say that it was awesome that his role killed all the white people . A black Youtuber can say that all whites are racist and must give him money or there will be a bloody revolution where white bodies shall pile up .If the races in the eg. were switched than the character and name of that person would be smeared and destroyed as a bigoted racist .	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/124	5.645
WHITEPHOENIX OFTHECROWN "institutions of law and government in the U.S are racist against blacks"Look up institutional racism .Also, no. Black Youtubers etc can't get away with saying "I hate whites, they should give me money". Link me one video where some black person says that and doesn't get called out for it in the comments.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/56	7.143
awsomebot1 misrepresented . the black community has problems but they are not because of SYSTEMATIC RACISM .i strongly recommend you watch the video i linked above	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/26	7.692
The difference between black and white racism is that one race is currently being oppressed. To say that racism mainly exists towards white people is totally and completely inaccurate...are you that ignorant? Of the United States population about 13 of people are African American, and of those African Americans about 4 of their population are in jail... I dare you to research the statistics online of white incarceration and compare them to black incarceration. Such a shame that people are willing to ignore this eminent matter at hand...Don't delude yourself, you'll only sound like an idiot.	African, Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/96	7.292

+WHITEPHOENIX OFTHECROWN black people are more likely to be arrested for the same crimes as white people. Just because more black people are in jail doesn't make white people any better. Your white supremacy blinds you from seeing what kinds of discrimination your opposite race goes through. You will never understand because your white, no matter how much I try to drill into your brain that black racism is a more eminent matter than white racism . It is people like you who will consequently drill our nation to the ground, too.	Black, Nation, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	7/91	7.692
Oh +Alleyup1994USA smh Inferior scum? Would you consider yourself a white supremacist? That's what you sound like. You write pretty well but let's just say for the purposes of the next sentence, what you are saying is true, Inferior Scum? You couldn't come up with a better, less cliché, way of describing something you consider beneath you? I consider you to be an illiterate little simpleton who makes America look bad, kind of like one of our presidential nominees (you decide which one).Now let's get to the obvious problems in, well, your everything. You have made some extreme generalizations. You yourself wrote, " people don't want to hire blacks because usually they have poor job experience and the reason for that is overuse of welfare". If this is false, in even one respect then that entire argument is void. It is false, in more than one respect, this was outlined in the video. People with traditionally Black names could have the exact same resume as someone with a traditionally white name, and the person with the traditionally white name will be chosen. That may be why they have LESS or DIFFERENT LEVELS of job experience. This is simply talking about the job market this has not even touched on the legal system.You can make an argument about cultural racism , maybe, if you feel discriminated against (I assume you are white). People of other races and encounters will make quite valid arguments as to why what you are saying is invalid and why your ideas should not be adopted into anyone's personal philosophy. Institutional racism is a statistical fact.And just to let you know; you're going to be on the WRONG side of history, please do it with good grammar. I mean you should if you want your arguments to even be considered.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/305	0.984
Alleyup1994USA Blessed be I . i will keep up the good fight . To end the culture of victimhood an demolish the religion of oppression rising in the west . And restore the true meaning of LIBERAL which the regressive left has perverted.You however blessed be not . Sub-saharan africans lost the geographic lottery , making complex society impossible . Sub-saharan ethnic groups did not progress . Views incorporating racial inferiority and superiority have no place in the modern world.	Ethnic	Ethnicity - General	1/81	1.235

Fuck off Nazi	Nazi	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/3	33.333
Your mass assumptions just demonstrate the poor level of intelligence you all have (directed towards those who refer African Americans as ns). For one thing, as an African american with an IQ of 120, your automatically incorrect. I'm not even going to try to argue and point out everything else you incorrectly ried to prove, nothing will get through your thick skulls. Or should I say, your closed mindedness obscured by your rasict ideals. Your all going to hell.	African, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black	3/80	3.75
Omega Scarlet I guess the FBI is racist	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/8	12.5
Omega Scarlet Are you implying that the FBI and CIA websites are likely to be racist ? People like you need to stop denying statistics, it doesn't help your cause at all.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/31	3.226
Bailey Nevener they have been systematically oppressed ronald Reagan admitted to putting drugs in the black neighborhoods look it up	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/20	5.0
A lot of stuff in this comment section that I'm going to respond to for some reason... why am I doing this? So when I was living with my dad I lived a stones throw away from several meth labs, poverty can lead to criminal activity simply because there are no other choices to survive, and because of the need to rely on criminal activity it is easy to get a record that makes it even more difficult to find a way to survive other than criminal activity. As far as this relates to racism , from what I can tell and understand the main cause of modern racism in America is the fact that historical events, some which were pointed out in other people's earlier comments who know more on the subject, have caused a disproportionate portion of the black population of America to fall into poverty and fall into crime, which leads some people to associate black people with crime, which causes more poverty, which causes more crime, which causes more racism , which causes etcetera. Excuse my grammar, I'm an idiot. Feel free to rip this little theory to shreds.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/191	2.618

BLACK LIVES STILL DO NOT MATTER in the USA, especially back FEMALES &amp; CHILDREN to many White Witches in NOW &amp; the National Education Association! I am so glad U outed the Liberal Educators being Racists because in HS in Northern Delaware they (Female HATE Activists) made two Black minor females heavily flirt with me to pit me against Racists Whites in the Criminal Justice System, especially Police! Despite being a B- Student I was forced (against my wishes) to go to a 5th year at a Private HS School where I was sexually assaulted by many younger female Boarding Students &amp; they made a Soph Black Cheerleader sexually assault me on Campus and at a Shopping Area in May of 1976 in an attempted rape while I was illegally drugged! After being Obstructed for Forty years, I tried to get help for abused and corrupted kids by NOW, AWP, etc. from my 2nd closest HS friend and his son, a BAD Reverend, had a black Elder Female at his Church sexually assault me in the SAME City as the Private High School &amp; at the same Shopping Area! 40 years later! They reenacted the same HATE CRIME from HS with a Church Elder and the Black Female Elder was shaking at the Walmart Parking Lot for the 2nd assault and is a victim of severe female Hate Activist Peer Pressure by Haters from groups like NOW, AWP, etc.! It is so sad that Liberal EDUCATORS commit these Hate Crimes that corrupt and endanger minors! I accused them of endangering Black Minors the most so the started having people slap black children in Public trying to imply I do not care for these kids! They only slap a kid one time near a surveillance camera but I report every one without any action being taken! They commit many of these smears involving kids at Schools, Stores, Mass Transit, CHURCHES (DE, WI, FL, &amp; Africa) &amp; at Sporting events from Hawaii all the way to Africa! In 1991 on a plane from London to Kenya two US Female Police Officers &amp; two daughters (around Ten) of a SCORNED English female (like my mommy Dearest was SCORNED) made the girls flirt with me while I was illegally drugged but thank God I have ZERO attraction to KIDS! US Police are ordered to ignore my reports and some help the Child Abuses, especially in Bucks County, PA where my nieces &amp; their friends/classmates were severely corrupted &amp; endangered, even on multiple school grounds! Lawyers with their Private Investigators and/or Hate Activists order &amp; manufacture smear material against men! They illegally drug men/children and have men raped and/or sexually assaulted to smear and control them, especially Politicians, Police, DA &amp; Judges! These criminals also do this to destroy a man in divorce cases like my mom did to my dad and ALL 5 of her children who are 100 under her (their) control! The Lawyers/Educators from around the Greater Philadelphia area, especially Upper Moreland, PA &amp; Delaware, sent me to KKK infested Central FL (Lakeland) to College where the KKK worked me over and almost killed me and my Private High School Black Friend/Teammate when he visited me in late 1976! The KKK sabotaged my car after an oil change where it caught on fire and we were near gas pumps! The made the girlfriend of our FSC Basketball Team Captain (Black) sexually assault me in public so the Lawyers/Activists could mobilize the KKK better!,	Black, Elder, Sex, Zero	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Gender - General	15/838	1.79
---	--------------------------------	--	---------------	-------------

It's just a spiral. If we assume that money is needed for education which is needed for more money, it becomes a catch-22 for those without money. Some may get lucky but that isn't enough to boost the group as a whole. Giving money won't solve this problem, either. And when the group as a whole don't get to join up - via marriage, business partners, etc. - with the rest of the country, they'll never live like the rest of the country. They'll be, as a group, stuck in a spiral where no money means no education means no higher income means no savings means no inheritance; clean, rinse, repeat. Like quick sandThe solution, I think, should be free education, which fixes the catch-22 and creates a level playing field. Since black people are just like any other people, they as a group will rise up to average levels enjoyed by other groups.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/155	0.645
its not systemic racism . its a majority vs minority issue. when whites are the majority, its more likely for them to attain wealth and its more likely that minorities will experience far more restriction by racist individuals of the majority who are in positions of power. judges can be racist . jury's can be racist and cops can be racist . but there is no proof of any designed and controlled system in place. there is no established order to oppress minorities. it's just natural and has always been that way in every mixed nation . people are naturally tribal and more inclined to trust those who look more like you. if a black guy and a white guy were doing a deal with an alien from now her galaxy, I'm pretty sure the white guy is going to trust the black guy first. it's just nature at work. stop making excuses for the victim culture	Alien, Black, Nation, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	9/153	5.882
yea im sure isnt racism . ever read a history book you moron?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/12	8.333
Are you really that stupid? I didn't say it wasn't racism . I said that racism isn't systematic or some kind of white supremacist conspiracy. And yes I've read plenty of them, enough to know that they're full of lies	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/39	5.128
+Painter Mike it is racism you dumb fuck. again, pick up a history book you uneducated piece of shit	Dumb, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/19	10.526

so are you going to just keep making the same irrelevant point and calling me dumb while touting your pathetic mainstream public education as proof, or are you going to make a valid argument or point even? do you really not understand the difference between racism systemic racism??? are you really that dumb? there is racism I'm every race. when there is a mixed society, the minority will always experience more racism than the majority. even if the entire minority was racist against the majority. the point which you are missing (because you're a dbag sjw) is that its not a conspiracy. its pure numbers! there is no white patriarchal oligarchy controlling all of politics all the way down to the local small business level. You sound like an idiot when you make that argument. there are logical explanations for everything. racism exist and will always exist. you idiots out there calling all whites racist isn't doing anything to atop racism. you're only justifying it.and if there is a conspiracy to do any harm on anyone by an oligarchy, its the Zionist. so why don't you focus you energy on the federal reserve Bank and Israel instead of the poor white trash who poses no real threat	Dumb, Race, Racism, Racist, White Trash	Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - White, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments, Social Class - Working class	13/208	6.25
+Painter Mike Racism is still racism you dumb piece of shit. For minorities racism is inherently systematic. Of course you're probably too stupid and uneducated to get it	Dumb, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/28	14.286
nondumbass. I understand what you're saying. you don't understand me.how do you not understand that there is nothing that can be done about racism. you don't even know what you're arguing against because you don't see my point. which is that unless you can prove that systemic racism exist, you have no reason or no right to make laws against it. racism exist. but its equally spread out through all cultures. it must be learned. if anything, racism is cultural but based in biology. both things are organic and not creates by humans, let alone only one group of them. you seem to imply that racism against white a doesn't exist or that something must be done about racism against blacks. you want to fight racism but you feed into by assuming that all whites are complacent with a system based on racism against blacks.	Nothing, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	9/145	6.207
+Painter Mike look at this white boy explaining away racism to me	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/12	8.333
you just implied that I can't understand racism BASED ON MY RACE!!! you can't really be that retarded.... obviously you're a bigot. and a moron. lol	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/26	7.692

hey did you know that the Jews are systematically committing genocide on Caucasians? no you didn't. because in libtard land only whites can have racism and be the never the victims of it. you are one stupid fuck	Libtard, Racism	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - General	2/38	5.263
I guess Thomas Sowell or my mixed little brother and black stepfather who say the same things I'm saying now are all just sell out uncle Toms right??? yes that right, you can attack the very minorities you claim to protect from racism that you claim to fight against WITH EVEN MORE RACISM against them. you assume that all whites are racist and that all blacks are liberals and should think the same, and that they need special treatment as if they are weak, but no i am the racist here... if you're so oppressed then don't claim to be equal. just admit that you're either just a pussy or your race is inferior. I know many successful black people and I don't hear them whining about how oppressed they are. fucking loser. look how oppressed you are by me on here with my facts and logic!!! lol if this were face to face you'd feel oppression at my hands like the pleb that you allow yourself to be.	Black, Race, Racism, Racist, pussy	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - Chinese	8/169	4.734
okay whit guy??? do you not hear yourself? you racist pos	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/11	9.091
Painter Mike i am racist . i'm racist against white privileged fucks like you	Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/13	15.385
Painter Mike You're going on like you think i give a fuck about your opinion you piece of racist shit.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/20	5.0

You do give a fuck. You keep responding to let me know that you don't. And you're the racist here. I've not said one thing against you for being black . You however made every comment to me about me being white and being bad because of it... And without any merit or reason. I stated facts that you can't handle. Sorry but that doesn't make me racist . I can admit that black hebrew Israelites have been displaced from their land and put into slavery by the Jews and white Christians just as I can admit that whites went into slavery by the Jews and Arabs Muslims. I can admit that whites committed genocide against the native Americans (I am one BTW you prick) but I also can admit that black lives matter is just a black supremacy anti white hate group and that feminism is anti straight male without hating both women and black people. I judge individuals based on their character not their race . And from my judgment, you are one ignorant, hateful, whiney, weak ass, self entitled, lazy, selfish, brat with no life or purpose in it. Go watch some more videos about how great it is to hate white people because they are all bigots... Yes that makes sense. The hypocrisy.. I just can't. Its astounding that anyone still thinks like you in today's age . Have you even ever met a white person?	Age, Black, Brat, Race, Racist	Age - General, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	10/236	4.237
So because I'm white I can't have an opinion without thinking that it's more important than yours because you're black ??? Think about how contradictory that sounds. You're dismissing my opinion because of my race by claiming that my opinion is important because of my race ? Think about how fucking retarded you sound right now... please.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/55	5.455
Painter Mike Oh you can have an opinion. I just think it's an uninformed, shitty one full of racist undertones. But yea, you can have your opinion!	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/27	3.704
This video has the same problem pretty much every other discussion on race and racism has in the US.It ignores a number of races. Black lives matter, but apparently Hispanic lives don't for instance.	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/35	8.571
If anyone wants to understand this issue more read the book "The new Jim Crow ".	Crow, Jim Crow	Ethnicity - Black	2/15	13.333
madman3470 I think you meant to say "if you want to be more confused and made to feel guilty for something that neither exists or has anything to do with you". That book is all about how racism has only gotten worse since the days of actual Jim Crow by becoming more clandestine. It only perpetuates the victim mentality and obfuscates the actual issues.	Crow, Jim Crow, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/64	4.688
The issue is easy to understand. Racism does not exist.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/10	10.0

Math Man and you call yourself a math man. Smh. It does exist. It's just unhealthy for black people to let it determine how successful they'll be. The best revenge on a racist is proving them wrong	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/37	5.405
Math Man yes it does, I experience it all the time. you think its easy for me to collect money from my vending machine as a black person??? u think so? its not. so many people laugh and say oooo I thought u were stealing... I wonder why. if I want to be looked at as a paying customer (which I do) I just casually put my hands on top of my hands while browsing the back of a convenient store, of corse after taking off my hoodie.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/88	1.136
Math Man I prove you wrong every day. I'm not a victim of white people or anyone else. I determine my future and treat people with respect as long as they respect me. I'm a law abiding citizen, I know who my father is and graduated from college through my own merit. I've never been on welfare and am well on my way to having a substantial legacy to pass down to my child. I know racism exists. I just don't let it determine my future. If you think it doesn't you're in denial.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/94	1.064
John, higher incarceration rates for the same crimes has everything to do with repeat convictions. Black people are for more likely to commit crimes than other races. That is why they get arrested more, and are convicted for longer sentences. Look at the murder statistics for black people in america. The numbers are staggering. Of course they are going to be convicted for crimes more often. The resume thing I have some sympathy for, but that really has more to do with names. And you can't change your race , but you can change your name. Honestly, the fact that you say this is not debatable is kind of sad. Good virtue signaling though.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/113	2.655
Two of my bosses are black and one Muslim, their boss is Mexican, his boss is a white female, and her equal is a black male... I work in civil engineering, which is dominated by white people. I don't see any racial issues here. I will tell you this though, my bosses don't use race as an excuse to not succeed. It does no one justice. I'm Asian and ranked in the 15 wealthiest people on Earth despite coming from an immigrant family from a 3rd world country. I'm not smart, I'm short, and unattractive. I do notice that my white Southern friends get better service than I do, but I don't really care and take my business else where. I've mentored every ethnicity . When hired, Blacks tend to buy nice cars with nice rims and a sound system. Asians tend to spend their money on games or cards. Whites spend their money on a truck they don't need. I noticed most people don't succeed because they're immature with their efforts at work, don't invest in themselves, and just blow off their money on incredibly stupid shit.	Black, Ethnicity, Immigrant, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	5/187	2.674

The thing is racism can't be stopped (at least in our lifetime ) because A) How can 100 of people agree on anything (look at climate change for example) B) How can you be sure something is done because it's the logical consequence or because it's racist	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/47	4.255
i think part of it is that i as a white person cannot bring up the conversation of racism without being labelled as a racist simply because of my skin color. That uncomfortable-ness to not open up the conversation on BOTH sides, being labelled racist , and labeling people as racist . Part of the reason why race relations are worse now than 20 years ago.	Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	5/64	7.812
"The slight majority of white Americans don't believe that racism is a problem in America"Scrolls down to see all the white people in the comments section arguing why racism isn't a problem in America.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/35	5.714
It is a problem because everyone keeps talking about it.Maybe if we took Morgan Freeman's advice and just move forward, maybe it wouldn't be. People need to stop being racist to everybody.Cultural appropriation, and any of that stupid sjw s needs to stop. Because that's a huge part of the problem. People want segregation in a country that was built upon diversity.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/64	1.562
"All the white people". Yeah you're the racist here.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/9	11.111
Black racism against other communities is the biggest problem in the US today. Black on X murder and assaults are astronomical and the primary source of interracial violence.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/28	10.714
I'm black though...	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/3	33.333
Doesnt Matter nope saying 'all whites people are racist ' is racist .	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/11	9.091
Kelly Robinson You're actually being very racist towards me and its funny you assume i'm white. All the citing was in the comment honey but since you liberals aren't all there i will go ahead and list the agencies at which the information above was provided. US Census Bureau. Bureau of Justice Statistics FBINow i know that you're not completely helpless and to take action to learn facts and attempt to broaden your view point you need the proper motivation, i'm not here spewing hate, just facts and i'm sorry but facts don't care about your feelings. So go ahead and type away learn something new and stop being biased and racist , more or less quit being such a bigot.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/121	1.653

Salt whites are hilarious. How am I being a racist when you trotted out 'stats' that you STILL haven't cited (and I know this is new to you people since you think if it comes from a white mouth it's the truth but showing proof means showing a credible website and making it accessible) about black people being criminals. This is what I don't like about whites. You whine about black people like that is all you can think about but start whining yourself about people being racist against you and how you people are now victims. If a black person even used the word 'victim' in a sentence you people are screaming. yet you people call us crybabies. And I've been on message boards since they were created and I've seen the 'what makes you think I'm white' act before so you can save it.Next time, if you want to be seen as a believable person with proof, show a link with .gov and none that send you to a white supremacist website.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/175	2.857
Kelly Robinson the biggest difference between me and you is everything I've said is fact and you are in denial. I said you were being racist because you factually were discriminating me based on my color and you still are. If I said you blacks you'd call me racist so don't go liberal hypocrite on me. I never claimed to be a victim, the fact people get so mad at racism proves the type of pussies we've become. Every stat is from a government website, I provided all the information besides a link. Do I really have to hold your hand all through the steps to help you understand that you're wrong. I'm not sitting here talking shit on black people and I don't believe that the color of your skin makes you act a certain way but to turn your head from facts because it doesn't suit your opinion is just childish and you need to grow up. Once we can narrow down the problem then we can solve it, instead we have everyone running around claiming victim.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/179	2.235
Kelly Robinson he literally cited info from the FBI and saying you stopped believing whites is a pretty racist statement, that would be like me saying I stopped believing all blacks, but then I would be the racist one. You are so stupid it hurts	Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/45	4.444
Some or many white people are racist bc of ignorance, fear, and dim-witted! This does not apply to everyone (don't get butt hurt)	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/23	4.348
Les Claypool I'm from S.A and I think you should read the history book and stop constantly acting like racism is one-sided people who act like you should not be around any human being and saying black people are the most racist Of all, again read the history book, there are racist people regardless of which race and you should be fighting against it not implementing your racist views, you're a racist human being and filled with unasesary anger. Disgusting.	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/80	8.75
This is what irritates me, everything can be a problem in this country EXCEPT racism . I don't get that at all. Gas prices are a problem to people but racism isn't?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/31	6.452

Gorgo the Orc Please keep that same energy when white people continue to call the cops on black people for simply being black . I never once felt the need to clutch my purse when a white man walked by me. I never felt the need to call the cops on a white man for being in a black community because he looked "suspicious." What makes us look suspicious when we're simply walking down the street opposed to white people walking down the street? Did you see the video of the white neighbor who called the cops over 20 times on his black neighbor for no reason at all other than the fact he was black ? And as a black person you shouldn't speak on racism even though a lot of us have dealt with it and God forbid we do speak on an century long problem the first thing people say is "well black people make up 13 of the pop. and commit majority of violent crimes" as if that has anything to do with racism and the topic at hand. Sorry i'm going to speak on racism like I speak on every other major problem affecting the lives of people and that's that.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	10/204	4.902
Spencer AM Wrong is wrong period! I don't care what the stats or numbers say. If a black man is wrong for murder so is a white man. White people don't get a pass because the numbers in their stats are smaller which I don't even go by those stats being that it has been exposed that a lot of jails aren't reporting white crimes to those stats. Some jails had to be forced to report the stats to the database and why do you think that is?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/88	1.136
Don't commit crimes, than it doesn't matter if there's a judicial bias. Don't fall into believing you can't go down a straight and narrow path just because you aren't white, get a job or an education, whatever you have access too, and don't commit crimes. You will find success no matter what race you are. If you fall off that path, you are only contributing to the stereotype and that's not helping yourself, nor things changing.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/76	1.316

Nick Turtle Irish slavery was not the same as black slavery and a little research would show you that. The fact that you think black people's problems ended with slavery is crazy. So ok what about after slavery? The civil rights era is less than 100 years old, that's not a long enough time to change the way people have looked at black people for centuries. There are still towns where black people aren't welcome and black men are still being called "boy" not sir, mr and man like everyone else but BOY! Sorry not sorry racism is a problem like every other problem in this country that people talk about. Let's be real at one point in time black people didn't speak up out of fear and they were getting treated the worst then, so what should we do just go back to the days when we sat silent and allowed racism to fester? I'm not doing it, if black on black crime is always going to be a topic then so will racism. If you're not racist then this topic shouldn't even bother you.	Black, Crazy, Old, Racism, Racist	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	14/186	7.527
True Aries I'm not racist whatsoever. And the topic doesn't bother me, I'm just disagreeing with you. But yes, Irish people literally were enslaved, do YOUR research. The same way Black people were. This happened many years before Black slavery happened, and they were also released sooner. But even after they were released they were literally treated so bad that they were starving to death and killing their babies in the streets. Read the poem "A Modest Proposal", a famous piece of writing in the perspective of British Nobles talking about eating Irish Babies as it would be better for society. It's a humourous look into the way Irish people felt that British treated them at the time. But ok, maybe in the deep south there are pockets of racism. But telling ALL white people that it's their responsibility to change that is ridiculous. Saying all white people are racist because of that is not fair. There are places that are a majority black where white kids are bullied in school and where people call us "whiteboy". How is that different from what you are referring to? And if you are trying to tell me a black person in this day and age cant get their shit straight, go to college and get a DAMN good job, I'll laugh because three of my homies are making more money than I am and they earned it. Get out of the city. Race aside, cities just breed violence and expose young black men to negative lifestyles. Also own your own failures and stop saying it's out of your control if you fail. Where I'm from, not a single white person even LOOKS at a black person as anything other than a human being. Its entirely based on how you carry yourself and if you're doing what you are supposed to do.	Age, Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Age - General, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	11/310	3.548

Arn't they the ones complaining about racism how about the white liberals. There is racism and it can it directed to everyone including white people. And how do you that all these comments are from white people. You hate when someone generalizes about your race yet here you are doing the same. Hipocrisy at its finest	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/56	5.357
The part at the beginning has been debunked statistically. When you brought up that bit about black people getting longer sentences than whites for the same crime. Doesn't take into account the vast numbers of black people that are in front of the judge for the 2nd, 3rd, 4th or 5th time. That's not a racist statement either, because the numbers show similarly to white people i.e.:When you have a list of ten white people with no priors compared to a list of ten white people with "multiple" priors, they will typically get longer sentences. It's too easy to manipulate statistics(numbers can't lie, but can be used to lie). This is why we need context with our numbers/statistics.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/118	2.542
African Americans are more likely to be charged with a crime in the first place. For a lot of white people, that 1st or 2nd time doesn't exist, which can be a major difference between quality of life.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/38	2.632
Statistical despairity doesn't always mean discrimination. The vast majority of people who play in the NBA are black very few of them are 5ft 9 whites that doesn't mean their is some sort of anti white conspiracy to keep whites out of the NBA. Systemic racism is a fallacy	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/49	4.082
Like racism , this is one lesson we never, ever learn.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/10	10.0
Now shit, channels like this breed anti white racism , and the sad part is the self declared "anti racists" are too stupid to see how whites are targeted by racists who pretend not to be.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/35	2.857
Sherlock Heling I think they were talking the racist comments made here in the comment section.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/16	6.25
Yea...never, too many logical points may be expressed, that prove just how racist and idiotic your beliefs are.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/18	5.556
Native Americans weren't free while Blacks were freed by emancipation proclamation. Indians were forced to live on reservations. This was their land but you don't hear them calling everything racist . Why?	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/31	3.226
Mike Theman Because I love racism	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/6	16.667
PitLord777 I support racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/4	25.0

Curtis Howard I support racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/5	20.0
Thomas Gottstein I support racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/5	20.0
Thomas Gottstein Most definitely. I love racism	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/7	14.286
Look AMERICA'S racism is manufactured by Government leaders. Divide and concur.That's the lessonLook at the politicians and there religion you'll find there Jewish.Making policy for the brown and black people...Are Jewish people Racist ...Let Google racism in Israel..Full circle... It starts their. We end back up their.ApacheHopiTribeIsraelites Copper Bronze skin and long black hair of Genesis 1Walking with the Giants is our historyBat Creek Tribe and The Ten Commandments	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/78	6.41
The author does typical SJW propaganda inciting racial hatred against white americans while sweeping toxic black behavior under the rug, denying agency and responsibility to black people and handing them a license for violence. White privilege is the right to keep your mouth shut about black crime while being called racist .	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/51	7.843
Both violent and non-violent crime has been declining in the United States since a high in 1993. 2015 saw a disturbing rise in murder in major American cities that some observers associated with 'depolicing' in response to intense media and public scrutiny of police activity. In Baltimore, murders were up a shocking 63 percent and gun violence (including non-fatal shootings) was up 75 percent. Washington, D.C., saw an increase of 54 percent. In Milwaukee, murders were up 65 percent in 2015, and 91 percent of the victims were either black (83 percent) or Hispanic (8 percent). Detroit bucked the trend and saw a decline of 1.3 percent.This was known as 'the Ferguson effect.'	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/114	0.877
I'm talking about a lot of mostly black dead people in the democrat plantation. And the hundreds of thousands of white victims of black violence the media is conditioning us to ignore.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/32	6.25
I hope I'm not the only one who noticed that he was only talking about white and black , not Asian, latino, and others?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/23	4.348
being black I gata admit, the truth hurts	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/8	12.5

+eug3nius I am very curious about how you are using facts obtained by a racist organization that is funded by people that are interested in providing that there are inherent intellectual disabilities in people of different racial backgrounds. Before anyone starts to spew some nonsense trying to attack me or justify the misinformation provided, all I did was open the link, look at who published the data and then look at who funded the research.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/75	1.333
eug3nius Interesting snippet, but I wonder why it seems to go into detail about mostly black and some hispanic crimes? Of course there's charts (from years ago, it'd be nice to have updated data) but why does this not talk about white crime relative to others? That sentence came out a bit weird , but for example, a lot of sentences read like this: 'Blacks are the main cause of urban crime...', 'blacks are even more dangerous when compared to whites...', etc. A lot of it reads like 'blacks/hispanics are like this compared to whites'. Instead of (or rarely) 'hispanics are like this compared to blacks' or vice versa or something. I didn't see many other types of comparisons. Like why not talk about how things would be different if a place (Maybe not even NY or IL) was all Hispanic or whatever. Also, it never really talked about white on white crime being an epidemic, but talked at length about how black on black crime was a huge problem despite having similar murder rates for other races. Also, poverty wasn't talked about as being a major factor in these things. For example as a response to police killing more blacks than other races, he writes 'Police shootings of unarmed blacks is a very small problem compared to murder in the black community.' The same could be said for other races, though...In the same vein, some of the information seemed a bit unnecessary or superfluous: (ex) 'Three of the six officers charged in Gray's death were black — and they were charged with the most serious crimes — but the incident is still cited as an example of police racism .' The fact that they were black doesn't mean it wasn't racism . Also, he mentions that BLM was not driven by data, but in the same section says 'an unarmed black was therefore 5.6 times more likely than an unarmed white to be shot by police'. Actually, a lot of BLM supporters talk about similar stats. These are just a few problematic selections.This piece just seemed like...not equally distributed as far as the conversation was geared. Maybe biased? Idk. Just not talking from various sides. And if that's the case (speaking for one side about another side), then don't add in the unnecessary suspicions for any group.	Black, Racism, Weird	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	10/387	2.584

+Luca HassanOfficial US FBI, DoJ data can't be attacked so all you have is shouting racist at people to intimidate and shut up debate. It's 2016, the race card is no longer valid. In 2016 schools are teaching white 6 year old kids that they are genetically racist while black racists advocate for segregation and attack people on the street. Not talking about crime and responsibility creates racism and violence. If you can't even point out the bad stuff about black people, why would they ever improve?	Black, Old, Race, Racism, Racist	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/88	7.955
Look at the data again, this time without your fweewings. Stop cherry picking the police arrest when it's obviously proportional to black crime. You're doing what the SJW in this video does. And you throw the outdated crap now. That report uses the latest available data, you less than intelligent person, you. :)	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/53	1.887
eug3nius It's pointless talking to you. You seem to lack intelligence since you cannot come up with an actual, valid response. (Also, I mentioned it was outdated way before in an earlier comment, if you could read. Stats change, clearly, and all the charts were from years ago). Instead, you throw around the same tired, unoriginal, anti-"SJW" circle jerk that you ape from the sites all of you sheeple frequent online. Nothing to see here. You could try to make a decent argument to prove me wrong (or just establish a normal, human rapport with me) without stooping so low, but you're mentally incapable. I've provided evidence to show why I said the things I said. You don't have the capability to operate anywhere near my level, (and I didn't have to spend that much time to write that out, so the bar's been set low...). You're not worth anyone's time. Goodbye.	Ape, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black	2/152	1.316
Emotional troll, the data that report uses is official US government data. I answered Hassan the racist termite racist breeder racist who jumped right to ad hominem attacks instead of debating the data. Stop embarrassing yourself. Start using your brain. I know it's hard but damn, you gotta grow up some time. End of discussion.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/55	5.455
+eug3nius What? I mean no disrespect but is English even your first language? You seem to be having a hard time conveying your biased perspective. Let me try something. You believe that crime is caused by blacks. You site a biased study that is funded by a racist organization. Again, all I did was just state facts about the origins of the research and the funding. You are more than welcome to show me where I am wrong in anything I stated.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/82	1.22
"On average, black men's prison sentences are 20 longer than white men's for similar crimes"this study doesn't account for the persons previous criminal record, which has a lot to do with sentencing time.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/34	5.882

also for anyone who cares men will receive more then 60 longer sentences then women, that accounts for criminal background.whats that nobody cares or believes me, I will show myself out then.by the way this is according to professor Sonja.B Starr from the university of Michigan law school. [LINK]	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/51	1.961
yes it does count the criminal background. same background same charge, different penalties was the study. studies show 1st timers of both race w the same charge have disparity in their sentencing	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/32	3.125
+BOOBOO Smit no it didn't not in the study he sitedit also doesn't account for state to state law changessuch as states like new Jersey that has a higher black population may have harsher sentencing than a state with a high white population.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/45	2.222
+iceis why should a larger population of black people result in harsher sentencing? do you mean harsher sentencing for everyone, or just black people?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/24	8.333
Sean Cunnion,No you dolt. It means that a place like New Jersey that has harsher sentencing for ALL races but is mostly black will skew the result when compared to another city with more lenient sentencing for ALL races but is mostly white.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/43	2.326
Lee Baker that would be balanced out by states that are mostly white with harsher sentencing or mostly black with more lenient sentencing. if the study was national, differences between states will have no effect.furthermore I would think the study would take that into account and compare within states.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/50	2.0
or the difference between poverty rates. most whites being the majority will have greater access to positions of power, wealth and social and family support. the minority when suffering from a breakdown of the family unit and subsequently their culture, their economic power dies and so goes their freedom and safety. now they are surrounded by racist whites who may be a minority of whites, but still to the minority an oppressive force. this is oppression and racism but its not deeply engrained into our system of law or economy. it's just basic math. majority advantage vs minority disadvantage.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/99	2.02
No it doesn't ignore it. It explains it. Its not a denial of racism . Its a denial of systemic racism . Let's imagine that every race has the same percentage of racist people in it. What's going to happen when any minority goes to court? They are much more likely to face racism from a judge of the majority simply because they are the majority and hold more positions of power. Therefor, there will be that much more racist judges who are white than racist judges who are black . Its pure numbers. Quit being paranoid. If I go live in an all black or Hispanic or Asian country, and I get arrested, I will have a higher change of facing a racist judge than the majority in that country will face. its the same thing for employment.	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	10/136	7.353

There are more racist white cops than racist black cops not because whites are more racist by percentage, but because there are simply just more white cops than black cops. Stop selling drugs and become cops if you want to change that. Police your own damn selves and there won't be a problem. Not denying the problem. I'm denying the idea that the black community can't fix it themselves. Racist white liberals want you to feel like you need them so you'll stay on the plantation	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/86	8.14
--	---------------	---	------	------

Painter Mike despite what you may have heard, ”racist liberal” is almost an oxymoron. liberals tend to be more aware of race and therefore conscious of it. we are that way because we recognize that subconscious racism (most of which comes from the right wing), even that that’s not intended to hurt anyone, has caused this huge disparity between races in the U.S.there’s always been racism in the U.S. For black people it of course began with slavery. It’s important to keep in mind that only 150 years ago were they freed from slavery to white people. That’s two average lifespans- almost no time at all in terms the rate of change when it comes to nations, peoples, etc. The entire south hated the outcome and their opinions on black people did not change at all. Now it’s changed some, but to think that it’s not the usual in the south is naive.When slavery ended, black people still had nothing and anyone who had anything hated them. This of course was an extremely difficult obstacle to surmount when trying to do well for themselves and as a result most struggled. Th white majority saw their poverty and believed they were all lazy and stupid and the racism continued. This has been the cycle for decades. If aliens came to earth and saw only that cycle, it might be hard for them to know the truth. However we know for a fact what happened first- slavery. Racism. The answer is in the origin.Some might say they should be able to pull themselves out of it but that’s easier said than done. Anyone who hasn’t personally been able to be successful after starting off uneducated and illiterate with no skills, possessions, money, family, or home in a society that hates them with no escape is not really in a position to make that claim. Personally I think the amount of progress many have made is remarkable for happening within two lifespans since slavery and only 50 years since full legal equality. Fifty years. They were, under the law, officially, lesser than white people. The law said white people were better. When a nation’s law says that, what can you expect its people to believe? All the change that’s been made is owed to ”liberals” (in quotes because it’s relative), black and white- many of whom were hated during their time. MLK was hated by many. Hindsight is 20/20.So when it comes to black people ”policing themselves” and fixing the problem themselves, I say that’s a selfish, unsympathetic, and rude attitude. It was the U.S. government that caused black people to be in the situation they’ve been clawing their way out of for generations, and therefore it has an obligation to try to make amends.	Black, Nothing, Race, Racism, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	13/466	2.79
--	---	---	---------------	-------------

Sean Cunnion,You presume and assume quite a bit - to include knowing how other people "feel". You speak as though you know how everyone in the south feels about black people - that is a VERY elitist attitude.The fact of the matter is that the Democrat party (which tends to include most liberals) has historically (fact not feeling) been the party of slavery. They actively fought against the abolition of slavery and used the KKK as their militant arm.The vast majority of white supremecists have historically been democrats. By your own words, liberals tend to be "more aware of race " - biggots usually are. In fact they tend to be so conscious of race and expect racism to such a degree that they usually find it even when its not there.Liberals also are big proponents of socialism which is basically building a dependant cultre - and indirect form of slavery.I think Liberals need to stop infantilizing black people. They are just as capable as anyone else regardless of skin color and are well able to address their own issue without the "selfish" assumption they need white peoples help. Supporting any person or cultures tendancy to blame others for all their problems or expect some other people or institution to fix it only exacerbates the problem.Its time for liberals, white people, and black people to grow up and realize that the person that has the best chance at changing their situation for the better is themselves.	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/251	2.39
Thank you Lee Baker. I didn't have time to refute every retarded point this idiot made. Racist liberal is an oxymoron??? Lol I fell out way to hard when I read that to give a refutation.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/36	2.778
Lee BakerNope, nope, nope.Offering help is not infantilisation. Peaceful accords are not one-sided, there will always be two parties needed. A woman being sexually harassed cannot stop it by herself, whoever is harassing her needs to stop, somehow. Apartheid was never going to be stopped by those not in power, an agreement was needed with government. The only thing a party can do when facing a one-sided accord is revolt and seize power. Peaceful accord and progress is always better.Those of us watching from across the pond look warily on at America's relationship with its citizens. I think perhaps you all are too close to see it.	Woman	Gender - General	1/110	0.909
New Jersey is mostly black ??? LOL!!!!!!!	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/6	16.667
Painter Mike make excuses for you racist race fuckboy	Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/9	22.222

Lee Baker I appreciate your thoughtful response. I would ask you, though, if you believe people are in poverty because of lack of self-discipline, some questions (broken into more)1. How do you believe people come to posses self-discipline? Are children born with it, or taught it as they grow?2. How do you believe people come to be undisciplined? Is it that, at the start of humanity, some people were born more disciplined than others and kin tended to be like their parents? What brought about this lack of discipline within people/society, in your opinion? What's its history in the world/U.S.?3. Do you believe an undisciplined person can help their self? If so, how? If you believe it's possible for people to be born with less self-discipline, do you believe they themselves are to blame?4. If a child is born to undisciplined parents and in an undisciplined community and comes to lack self-discipline, who do you believe is to blame there? In your opinion, should society step in to give that child a better chance? And at what point do you think he or she goes from being a victim of its circumstances to an undisciplined adult who is to be blamed for its own outcome?5. What do you believe is the reason behind there being a disproportionate amount of black and dark skinned people living in poverty?Sorry, I know that's a lot, so I won't expect a reply too soon. If you're willing to have a discussion, so am I. I will of course be happy to answer questions you have for me.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/269	0.372
Painter Mike All the lynchings, hangings and rape. Not to mention history of jailing and executing blacks for crimes it was later proven they did not commit? Societal racism that led to black poverty, black schools getting less funding, etc. That was WHITE PEOPLE. But tell us again white guy. Tell us another story.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/54	5.556
is literally ice mass majority has to do illegal substances. it's crazy actually, "war on drugs" was an astounding failure.	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/20	5.0
Its a bigger percentage now, do independent research because you have no clue what you're talking about. Black men are trialed as adults and jailed at higher rates for same crimes committed even at first offense... so even if the criminal history is there it's still biased to use it.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/50	2.0
What about the other 50 facts he laid out? You got nothing for those	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/14	7.143

is literally ice oh so is that supposed to account for every case? how about the fact that a black person is 6x times more likely than a white person to be arrested for smoking weed despite usage between them being almost the same?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/44	2.273
Jacob Forrest if you count a questionnaire self report of asking if someone does drugs as a fact then I guess. That study literally just asks people if they do drugs and doesn't even question their answer. You could be smoking weed while answering that question with a No. On the other hand, studies found that black people are more likely to lie about drug use.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/66	1.515
Sean Cunnion I believe the main reason for people not having self discipline is a living in a single mother household. It's an epidemic in the black community due to those horrible welfare programs giving women an incentive to be a single mother. Single mother households of white people in poverty tend to do worse than a regular black household in poverty. The lack of discipline is due to the fact that they have no father figure to set them straight on some things that a mother just can't do.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/90	2.222
Debunked video: your bias effects every facet of this video. 1. 0:36 Black people have 20 longer sentences because they are more often repeat offenders. Repeat offensives give more time. Try doing first offenses for the same crime and you will see that the numbers are equal. 2. 0:52 Black people are arrest more often with drugs because they are more often committing other crimes with drugs on them. They more more likely to be stopped and searched because they commit more crimes. 3. 1:00 They more more likely to be stopped and searched because they commit more crimes. Police profile. As they should. according to FBI numbers. the next few points are for the same reason. stop committing crimes and you will get a call back from a job. People won't assume you're guilty. am afraid of bears because my father was murdered by a bear. I tell my children to stay away from bears. If i see a bear I go the other way. I have no bear allowed signs on my house. i can debunk any point you have. stop committing crimes and it will all go away. STOP MURDERING EACH OTHER. how many blacks kill other blacks in the hood? WAY more than cops. WAY more.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/210	0.952
Sean Cunnion it doesn't balance out because black people comitt far more crimes per capita than whites, so there are much more areas with a majority black population that have harsher sentencing.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/32	6.25

One thing also to take into account (when talking about laws from state to state) is that 55 of blacks live in the south, where in general sentences tend to be much harsher. You would have to look at the statistics on a state by state basis, and account for prior records (which increases sentencing times). Another factor to consider is (in general) poor blacks tend to be in urban areas while poor whites tend to be in rural areas. Even accounting for all other factors, urban areas tend to have higher rates of crime. This greatly increases the chances of running into the police (smaller areas constantly being patrolled or called to), and would therefore increase the probability of getting caught committing a crime. With things spread out more, it is a lot easier to avoid police overall and to get away with a crime (the distance could increase the time to respond, not as many potential witnesses, etc). Also, in a rural area, you are more likely to know someone... an encounter with the police might go quite differently if they already know who you are or are friends with your family, instead of another random person in a sea of people. In rural areas, it is much easier to be self sufficient, even if that means growing some of your own food or having animals like chickens. Because of less people in a given area, it is easier to find a niche you can fill, which leads to more opportunities. Sure, there might be less jobs overall, but also less people, and at least the opportunity to provide for yourself in ways you cannot do in an apartment in a city. With drugs, for instance, a high rate of usage and a larger population to sell to, combined with less opportunity, leads to increased profits... meaning you are more likely to see people take that risk in an urban setting. Like he said in the video, socioeconomic conditions play a role. Although there are about 2x as many whites on food stamps as blacks as an overall number, per capita more blacks are more likely to be in the worst socioeconomic conditions than whites. If you take this into account, it makes sense that you would see increased rates of crimes that is disproportionate. None of this helps with profiling or discrimination. Sure, it is racist to judge someone by their race or name (and not a good thing to do) but no one can argue that statistically it improves probability to do so. To be clear, I'm certainly not defending this, I'm just trying to get at WHY it happens. Our brains work in such a way that we naturally try to see patterns, even when they don't exist. Calling "heads" in a coin flip is a good example... thinking rationally we know it is a 50/50 chance, but still biases and irrational thinking guides our decision making. If there exists a pattern that can be shown statistically, it would be surprising not to see that (as sad as that is to admit). There is a lot of nuance in statistics (far more than he covered in this video) and if anyone is trying to find statistics to support their position you will likely find what you are looking for. Hell, two people can look at the same set of statistics and use them to come to very different conclusions (especially when trying to determine causation). I'm simply covering some of the points that run counter to the position of the video to flush out some more nuance and things to consider (not defending a position).	Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/610	0.328
--	--------------	---------------------	-------	-------

Painter Mike Racist Black cop would never fly and you know that. How stupid can you be? A Black cop can't just patrol around White neighborhoods assaulting citizens and looking for drugs. That's not how it works.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/37	8.108
a white man will serve worse sentence then a black women so its more sexist then racist but also you have to factor blacks make up 13 populous and 53 of crime,Therefore many times when you have a white guy and black guy with same charge but black guy serves longer sentence you have to factor in previous charges,If the white guy never even had a speeding ticket yet the black guy is a convict of course the black guy will serve harsher sentence.3rd is many blacks use a public defender and many whites use a paid laywer.This is a big one right here,Because blacks are 4x more unemployed and have more poverty many just cant afford a good laywer and use a state paid public defender therfore they get a worse sentence.If you have a white guy using a public defender a white guy with previous charges vs a black guy using laywer and no charges you will see the reverse.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/163	4.294
Anyone ever look it the Native population numbers?? I can guarantee you worse poverty, worse racism , less crimes (by nature and culture), decimated burial grounds, the Salish tribe Chief Seattle was in, the original Seattle city by the docks is tribal land. Governor kicked them out and sent them to Whidbey Island. Then named the town Seattle...Haha insult to injury is that Seattle wasn't even his name. Native women in western Canada and WA state are disappearing and being murdered at an astronomical amount per capita and no one will do anything. This has been since the 80s. Could you imagine the law and FBI refusing to take ALL of those cases reported??	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/113	0.885
Sean Cunnion well they clearly aren't aware of how white people actually are. To them, every single white person that exists is a racist .	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/24	4.167
mmsibi no matter what race you are, if you can get up and work for something, you can accomplish anything.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/20	5.0
There are colors other than Black and White...	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/8	12.5
whites are the most racist people they hate other races, wgte dont like u unless ur white like them	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/19	5.263
3:15 so past racism means that their is systemic racism ?I agree with all other point but this one is ridiculous.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/21	9.524
I think it makes sense, past racism led to system racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/11	18.182

RepComm No, he makes a video about misleading statistics and immediately jumps to the conclusion that it's due to racism. I mean, he even admitted in the beginning that he's "not an expert" so that already makes his video open to doubt. Here's a general analysis of the problems that I can see at first glance:&gt; His first point about 20 longer sentences for blacks is misleading as the data does not take into account the fact that most of those blacks are repeat offenses, and that when they do the same crime multiple times, judges are less lenient the second or third time around and they get the book thrown at them. Also, there's another statistic floating around that claims that men are sentenced 20 longer than women. If this is true, then according to the guy in the video's logic, the criminal justice system is sexist. I say this just to put his thoughts into perspective...&gt; His second point about the relation between drug use and drug possession is another misleading statistic; it's like apples to oranges. For one thing, it should be noted that causation does not mean correlation. I could just leave it as that, but that would be a cop out. So let's instead think about this rationally. Drug possession encompasses both drug use and simply having the drugs. This is important because drug dealers are often not drug users since they don't want to consume their own merchandise. Also, police are more interested in pursuing drug dealers (such as El Chapo) rather than the small fry drug users, which is why they often let drug users off the hook when they rat their drug dealers to the cops. With this in mind, we can look at the drug use/possession correlation and deduce that there are more black drug dealers than white drug dealers. Yes, the possibility that blacks are being targeted still exists, but it's important to realize that it's not as clear as the guy in the video makes it out to be, and to act like it is shows an inherent bias towards cops in general.&gt; My last point will be about blacks being more likely to be pulled over than whites while whites are more likely to have contraband. For one thing, the report that he cites only examines the city of Los Angeles. To conclude that his report represents the entirety of American police departments is a non-sequitur as it only gives us a representation of the city and the city alone. In all honesty, it appears to me that there was indeed racial bias in the city of Los Angeles in the year 2004 (the article was published in 2008 and they state near the end that the research was "more than 4 years old"). There are some concerns I have with the report. For one thing, they openly admit that their data was only collected from "select neighborhoods." This tells me that it isn't even an analysis of the city of Los Angeles itself and that the neighborhoods were selected simply because they paint a better picture of racial discrimination. However, assuming that the researchers controlled variables for high-crime neighborhoods and poverty, it really does seem that some form of a bias existed somewhere in Los Angeles. I will again state that this doesn't prove that it's a societal problem in America today.That's all I'll say for now...	Black, Old, Racism	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/574	0.523
---	--------------------	--	-------	-------

Question:Anyone here live in a black neighborhood ?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/9	11.111
I'm white and I work at a small convenience store in a predominantly black neighborhood, surrounded by drug dealers. When I started my job, I was told to keep pepper spray on my person, beware of black men, and to monitor black people for theft. I've noticed three things: 1. The majority of the drug dealers in the neighborhoods are white, and white cops are frequenting their homes. 2. The majority of people I've caught stealing are white. 3. The black majority of the neighborhood are hardworking individuals, doing the best they can with the hand they've been dealt, relying on welfare when they can't make ends meet. I've seen black crime, but I've seen more white crime that goes unpunished while the cops are in on it. Today, I held a black woman as she broke down over her mother's death. Yesterday, I gave a black boy my favorite Captain America pin. Black men and women bleed the same shade of red as the rest of us, and there's no excuse for the way we treat them. BlackLivesMattee	Black, Red, Woman	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - Native-American, Gender - General	11/179	6.145
+k Chacon Thank you for responding. As a matter of fact, Hank just did a video about this, you can find it on the vlogbrothers page. Black lives are not the ONLY ones that matter. All lives matter- but there are some that have been ignored for far too long. It's not an attempt to exclude other races, but a cry of pain at being dehumanized for decades.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/68	1.471
Brie Johnson that's true and I agree with you. But I believe people have lost touch with the simplest form of human compassion. If we only accept other peoples differences such as, religion, political views, race , and realize that we are nothing but flesh and bones.I believe if people where to understand that simple fact that if I get hit It will hurt, and if someone else gets hit it will hurt the same way. If I get cut I bleed red the same as anyone else would. If we only understood this little obvious idea humanity will see more compassion and mutual love.I came to this realization when my girlfriend feel off her skate board and chipped her tooth split her lips, and scrapped all her knees and elbows. Seeing her that way drove me nuts... I litteraly wanted to rip my eyes and skin off seeing her in pain. At that moment I would of preferred taking that pain for her. It made me realize how much I loved her as well. If only humanity would realize that all lives bleed and feel pain the same way, we would live in a better place were all lives mattered	Nothing, Race, Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	4/202	1.98
+Brie Johnson but black people only make up 14 precent of the population in America	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/15	6.667

+Dennis Diderot I will say one thing. to your point of there being no black stores. you realize it takes resources from outside of the neighborhood to do something like start a business right? it requires money, a bank loan, someone willing to sell you or rent you property (someone who likely doesn't live anywhere near there if it's a poor neighborhood). you sarcastically said the Mexicans and Asians were keeping them down, I would argue, if anyone, it is the same people effecting them everywhere else. your neighborhood is not a vacuum.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/93	1.075
So in this video on " Racism ", Green makes the classic move of only looking at data that supports his argument. Is looking at black v white data really the best way to determine racism in America? What about exploring the data for other races other than blacks? For example, guess which race has the high income in the US? If you guessed whites, you're wrong. The race that has the highest income, by far, are Asians. That right, Asians have a far higher income than whites, blacks, etc. It would seem to me that any income by race would be decent data to include in any exploration of race in the US. So this video does what almost all videos that explore " race " do...they don't actually explore race . Not even at fundamental level. This a video that pushes an agenda by finding data that supports it, but ignores data that doesn't.	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	9/151	5.96
I think racism is a problem in America still (ESPECIALLY in Police profiling) but I don't really know how much laws can help. Arbitrary quotas of "x-number of black people in this job" don't solve the underlying problems, I think. I also think you hit a bit point when you said that in many ways the Black community suffers from generally being lower class and is somehow getting worse, despite conventional wisdom indicating that the opposite would happen as we got more "progressive." I think a very real possibility is that the racist policies of the past set the community (in general, there are many exceptions) on a track of self-destruction that was only aided by tension with the police. Now, you have a culture that's all it's own and starting to spin out of control. I'm not really sure how to fix it, because there aren't really any racist policies to change. All I do know is that it's messed up.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/162	3.086

The point to the arbitrary quotas is kinda that a big reason that there's not "x black people in this job" already is sort of because... there's not black people on that job yet. It's self reinforcing, like the other problems you spoke of, because the people hiring are mostly or exclusively white, they are often (albeit for stupid, nonsensical reasons) not gonna hire black people as much, especially for that same high position which will in the future decide who gets hired. That can also in turn lead to black people over time not pursuing that career, as it seems pointless to hit a dead end where you can't get accepted to. And then as fewer coloured people are available in that field, it gives a smaller pool to draw from and thus results may be statistically lower just through probability, which in turn reinforces the view that black people underperform and thus their applications are undervalued and on and on it goes. So while it does seem unfair at the surface, it's still a bit hard to find a different solution than just getting some black people in and show that it works to break the cycle. Definitely shouldn't be needed, and doesn't at the core change the fact that people just need to stop being biased, but since the balance is so skewed to begin with, it would be an attempt to "skew back" so to speak. I super agree with your comment otherwise though, it's so goddamn annoying that it's even an issue anymore and it feels hard to change it, seeing as no matter what the law says, you can't easily change the scary way some people think :(	Black, coloured	Ethnicity - Black	7/284	2.465
Yeah, twice as many white people thought Elvis was alive than thought racism was still a problem in the 60s.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/20	5.0

Most of these are not proof of racism . Your claim that blacks are more likely to be charged with heavier sentences does not take into account prior offenses. Black people are more likely to be arrested for drug possession and be stopped and frisked because they live in more heavily policed neighborhoods. That, in and of itself, can be a problem, but it really isn't proof of racism .You may have something on the DNA exonerations. The link you provided no longer works. Black kids are potentially more likely to be tried as adults because of repeat offenses, too. The same logic applied to callbacks.The name study where the " black " names are less likely to get hired proves nothing about race discrimination. I can't prove this, but I have no doubt that if an identical study was done except names like Billy Jean and Candy were used instead, the results wouldn't be much different. It is because the names are abnormal. It doesn't have to be because of race .The issue of some courses not being given at some black and latino schools is a big problem, and so is the increasing segregation.The report that shows that blacks are more likely to be suspended ignores prior offenses. That, again, may be a factor worth considering. And also maybe the fact that blacks are perceived as older (as the article points out). I am not saying the racism cannot be a factor, but you need to take into account all of the factors when looking at these studies. You really aren't helping, by spreading unneeded race hysteria. The last thing we need is people going around assuming literally everything that happens to then is because of their race .	Black, Nothing, Race, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	12/289	4.152
+StateoftheNihil I hear you, you have a point(s). If you had to place a bet, what would it be? Is systemic race discrimination a major factor, or is it not?	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/30	3.333
matszz: That is a ridiculous question. How about we actually control for these factors and see the results? I will never believe in something without conclusive evidence supporting it.But if I must, I would say it isn't a major factor. People are way too quick to assume racism , when there could be other factors as well.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/57	1.754

StateoftheNihilI didn't ask what you conclusivly believe or what you know for a fact, I asked what you'd pick if you had to take a guess. Why is that so offensive? The reason in my opinion is that you have to reveal your actual belief on the matter, and you don't want to be a racist . Which is good. But you probably are, which is bad. We're talking about a soft science here, we can't ever control all factors or reach into the minds of thousands of people to see their concious or subconscious feelings regarding race . We have to eventually make a decision on what is more likely the case. We have to look at things like statistical correlations, history, and so on. You remind me of bought scientists from the tobacco industry, constantly planting doubt on what the actual scientists say. Let's say you're right, we control the factor of prior offenses. Why do you think they have more often prior offenses than whites?	Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/167	1.198
matsz: "Why is that so offensive? The reason in my opinion is that you have to reveal your actual belief on the matter, and you don't want to be a racist . Which is good. But you probably are, which is bad."Well I really wasn't offended. You can't really hear my tone of voice from typed words. Though I'm not surprised you interpreted it that way. You one of those people who try and find every excuse to accuse someone of racism ."Let's say you're right, we control the factor of prior offenses. Why do you think they have more often prior offenses than whites?"If you honestly think I am going to claim blacks are inherently bad, then you truly are stupid. You honestly want me to be racist . Quit trying to put me in that category. I gave my arguments. I meant no more than I said.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/149	2.013
StateoftheNihilI based my opinion that you probably are a racist on what you've said, I meant no more than I said too, don't throw stones in glas a glas house. If you honestly think I am going to claim blacks are inherently bad, then you truly are stupid No, I didn't want you to claim that, I didn't think you believed that. I wanted you to see that if that isn't the reason, what is? You neatly avoided answering the question by calling me stupid. Instead of saying my questions are ridiculous and that I'm stupid. How about you respond to the issue? I don't want you to be a racist , I want you to see that you are (if you are), so that you can change.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/128	1.562

+matsz: "I based my opinion that you probably are a racist on what you've said" Nothing I have said has been racist . I pointed out that there are other factors that need to be considered and even straight-up said, "I am not saying the racism cannot be a factor," and apparently that means I am "probably" a racist ."You neatly avoided answering the question by calling me stupid."No . . .I clearly made it known that I don't think blacks are inherently bad. I also called you stupid. Is it inconceivable for you to accept that both of these things were said? The only one neatly avoiding things is you. You neatly avoided my very obvious opinion on the subject. You can accuse me of avoiding your question, but my response clearly gives light to my opinion. But, of course, you're going to ignore that and, yet again, accuse me of racism .As I said, you want me to be racist .	Nothing, Racism, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	7/163	4.294
+matsz: You and I both know what you were trying to imply by asking that question.I dismissed the one bad answer to your question, so it dismisses your claims of potential racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/33	3.03
StateoftheNihilSo in other words, you hear what you want to hear, and answer the "implied" question instead. You didn't take me at my words, but placed me in the "everyone's racist category". I have already answerd why I asked the question (No, I didn't want you to claim that, I didn't think you believed that. I wanted you to see that if that isn't the reason, what is?), but since you just assume ulterior motives, whats the point of having the discussion? Notice, you still have not answerd the question, and that btw is the reason I believe you are a racist , not once have I claimed that you "said something racist " ie "blacks are bad".	Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/117	2.564
matsz: You wouldn't be asking the question in the first place if you weren't in the "everyone's a racist " category. I made my position very clear, but you're just going to ignore all of it, of course.I'm done. Have a good day.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/43	2.326
StateoftheNihilEven though I expressly stated my reason for asking it? Twice. Go on, go live in your bubble where everyone who says something "just says that because they are X" Kinda like a racist ...	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/35	2.857

StateoftheNihilSorry, I'll bother you just once more. You're convinced that you're correct, but for some reason I'm very difficult to argue against, right? Maybe you could entertain the idea that you're incorrect.Most everyone today agree that blacks aren't inherently bad. Apart from flagrant racists, which you aren't, as far as I can tell. Even though we rule out natural causes as a matter of course (this discussion excepted), that realistically only leaves cultural causes. This isn't a very difficult journey to take, logically speaking. You have a blind spot, or you wouldn't have such problems answering a simple question straight, or becoming frustrated in countering my arguments, when you know you are right.Honestly, I'm not in the "everyone's racist category", I'm not a SJW. Ignoring that statement's a logical fallacy. You don't think you're a racist , you don't want to be a racist . Maybe I'm wrong, you're not a racist at all, just incorrect on this topic that could have been about anything. Regardless, you should really give this some more thought. Because you're certainly incorrect.	Blind, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	5/179	2.793
You're not hard to argue against. I have no idea how you could get that idea. I am honestly gaping at the logical gymnastics you're going about, trying to call me a racist .Here is a shortened timeline of what has transpired:You asked me: if I had to bet on it, would I say systemic racism is a major factor in the justice system. I said that this was a ridiculous question, but I also said that if I was forced to bet, I would say no, it is not a major factor. (Keep in mind, this does not mean it isn't a factor at all. Just not a major factor.)You then proceeded to ignore my answer to your question, instead focusing on how I said it was "ridiculous", and accused me of "dodging" it. You then said I was probably a racist for "dodging" it. I did not dodge it; I answered clearly; I suggest you scroll back and re-read that part of the conversation.So at this point, I recognized that you really, really wanted me to be a racist . So when you asked your next question, I responded with this knowledge at the back of my mind. You asked why I thought blacks had more prior offenses. I responded with this exact statement: "If you honestly think I am going to claim blacks are inherently bad, then you truly are stupid." I didn't answer directly, but it was an answer.You then proceeded to ignore the obvious implication that I don't believe blacks are inherently bad by focusing in on the fact that I called you stupid. You then said that this is also "dodging", and, yet again, accused me of probably being racist . You literally accused me of being racist for saying blacks are not inherently bad. I don't care how you rationalize this in your mind, this has got to be some of the most spectacular mental gymnastics I have ever seen.I'm sorry, but I am convinced that you are a SJW, or at least a SJW-lite.	Mental, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	7/345	2.029

+matsz That was absolutely pitiful. You don't seem to of put any actual thought into the subject you're arguing about. You've done nothing but project your own racism throughout the entirety of this thread.	Nothing, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	2/34	5.882
But wouldn't abnormal names stand out on resume. This means that the employers saw these "abnormal" names, assumed the application was from a black person, and decided not to give them the time of day.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/35	2.857
jonathan lucas: I suggested that it goes both ways. That when anyone's name is a little out of the norm, they get ignored. You are claiming to know their intentions, but neither of us know what the people were thinking when they passed up those applications. Besides, not all black people have names like that.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/55	1.818
+StateoftheNihil Also the names "Jamal" and "Laqueshia" aren't abnormal. They are common names. They just usually belong to black people.	Black, Common	Ethnicity - Black, Social Class - Working class	2/20	10.0
matsz I know this conversation is a year old , but I feel like you completely misconstrued the argument StateoftheNihil was making. You called him a racist for pointing out the real flaws in the statistics used in this video. That is a hefty accusation to make of someone especially when they provided a well thought out defense of their position. The fact is that the black community in America is experiencing a crisis with violent crimes, most of which are almost entirely directed to other black people. Sure, you could use institutionalized racism as a blanket defense for all of the problems in the black community, but in doing so you also release their agency and personal culpability. You've basically argued that black people are not capable of independent, moral reasoning without the assistance of white people. Is this really the position you want to take? It's entirely ineffectual, disempowering, and worse: its counter productive.	Black, Old, Racism, Racist	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/155	4.516
StateoftheNihil but the reason why the neighborhood is heavily policed is because it's a black or Latino neighborhood	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/18	5.556
Not to mention black kids drop out of school and commit crimes at VASTLY higher rates than white kids. I guess now the school is at fault? At what point does personal accountability come in	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/35	2.857

Dumb. This whole video is dumb af. The part about whites and black using drugs at the same rate yet blacks are attrsted 3 times more with no further explanation kinda makes me mad. For a viewer who has no other facts this seems unfair, but when you know that black people speed more than white people, are far more likely to do drugs in public, and are 9 times more likely to run when confronted by police, the picture starts to change as to why they might be getting caught. who makes a 4 minute video about racism . You do a great job of pretending to not be biased but you clearly are. Studies have been out since the 70s that help explain some of the things yet you mention none. When the government does crime surveys and they survey victims of crimes and ask "what was the race of the person who committed the crime and what race is the person who got convicted?" they match 98 as of 2012. 98...it bears repeating.	Black, Dumb, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	7/175	4.0
4 minutes of a guy presenting cherry picked statistics colored with his own bias. This will solve everything!	Colored	Ethnicity - Black	1/18	5.556
Warrior for Truth IQ is not linked to low income, low income has a negative affect on IQ dummy. The murder rate is because of gangs and the fact that being poor leads to criminal activity. The situation of black communities is what facilitated this. While yeah the things he mentions are correct, to solve the problem we need to be working on racial bias AND the actual communities.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/69	1.449
+Alonzo Martin-FrazierJust because low income has a negative correlation with IQ does not mean IQ is not linked with low income. You think being smart has nothing to do with making more money? Obviously the smarter you are the more money you'll make. Delusional to think otherwise.Being poor does not lead to criminal activity. This is a common mistake pushed by you leftists. What causes someone to be a criminal is when they are poor AND a society that offers them no realistic way out of their poverty. That's why every kid gets to go to school. You put every kid through school and then everyone has a base minimum to keep them on their feet. Then work your way up in the workplace, or go to community college, or go to the fucking library and pick up a book! People don't realise education is already free! You just have to be willing to take it! But no, the problem is racism . Yeah right. So how do you suggest we "work on the racial bias and actual communities"?	Common, Nothing, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	3/180	1.667

+elizabeth randallYou mean when John said how approximately 30 of majority- black schools don't offer algebra 2 and chemistry vs a "much higher" percentage for majority-white schools?You're assuming the distribution of subject choices among black and white kids is the same, which is isn't. Let me elaborate.Let's say a school has majority white students, and it offers chemistry, physics, maths, english, music, korean and art. Say 50 chose maths, 80 chose english, 40 chose physics, 30 chose chemistry, 20 chose music, 5 chose korean, 10 chose art and 1 drop out.Now imagine the exact same school but with majority black students. Still offers the same subjects; chemistry, physics, maths, english, music, korean and art. But do you think the percentages of students in each subject will be the same? Spoiler, they're not. Just like Asians tend to go for the harder mathy subjects, blacks do the reverse. So it makes sense that some of the schools don't offer the same courses, it's supply and demand.Speaking of Asians, it's funny the same disparities between whites and blacks occur between asians and whites. Asians are significantly less likely to get arrested than whites. Asians are significantly less likely to go to jail than whites. Asians make 20 more than whites on average. Asian-majority schools are much higher quality than white-majority schools. Asians are more likely to get employed. Asians have a lower dropout rate. But you would never argue that racism exists between whites and asians in favour of asians, would you? Oh but when it's about black people then it's racism .	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/264	1.894
Asians work twice as hard for their shit compare to Whites to get the same reward so don't drag us into your shitty race wars.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/25	4.0

+F0RG1V3NWTF?! You think Asians are more oppressed than White people? Please give me any evidence to indicate Asians have to work harder than Whites to get the same reward. You're full of shit.And also I'm not saying between Whites and Asians there is racism against Whites. I'm saying that if you play this little identity politics game of racism between Blacks and Whites (which is what this is all about), then you should also apply that logic to all races, and instead of blaming white men for all the problems of society, you should really be blaming Asian men because economically and educationally, they're at the top of the hierarchy, not whites. If you're gonna play identity politics, atleast play it right, don't be a hypocrite and only analyse whites vs blacks.However I say that the reason Asians outperform Whites is because they are more culturally pushed to do so (or it may even be biological). They're better because they work harder because they're encouraged to. They break less laws because they're so conscientious from working hard. That doesn't make Whites oppressed by Asians. Statistical differences in race is not proof of racism . Same thing goes with the black-white race differences. Black people don't study as hard as Whites because they're culture doesn't push them that way. For example, the majority of blacks grow up raised by a single mother, no father. That makes a huge difference in educational and financial opportunities. And why do their fathers leave? That's a good question, but it's certainly not white people forcing them. If as many blacks were raised by 2 parents as whites, who knows what disparities between the 2 races would disappear? Lesson: Statistical differences in race is not proof of racism .	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	8/294	2.721
clearly you have no understanding of what your saying just blabbing out shit to sound smarter than you really are if you where listening to the video he said it hi,self even a person with with similar backgrounds one white one black whites are still more likely to be hired then black so disprove that then smart ass	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/58	3.448
+Doesnt MatterYou missed the point. I don't have proof blacks choose eaiser classes. But it's definitely a possibility, and it would explain why black-majority schools adjust their programs accordingly, without it being systematic racism . I'm saying that almost all of these statistics have so many uncontrolled variables underneath them, they do not prove systematic racism exists at all. The only statistic that comes close as proof is the Emily/Greg vs Lakisha/Jamal hiring bias one, which is still flawed for reasons I gave in my comment to Dwight Bullock Jr.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/90	2.222
I think the data on race and drug use come from a research asking "have you use drug before". But that don't account if the person is a regular user or not, or if he is a seller. For example just because Obama smoke weed before don't mean he is a drug user.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/53	1.887

Nikkole Adams You can try the fbi data on race and crime. Or read the book/video on IQ and bell curve. Some people find the research on IQ racist though.	Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/30	6.667
Secondly the classes offered reflect how students choose their classes and where the schools succeed.If you want to be seen as a successful school which is kinda important for the school board and school standings, you want to offer classes that you predict the pupils will achieve good grades in.put simply if the kids don't want to take the classes and the school kinda thinks they are going to fail them anyway the schools themselves have no economic incentive to offer the classes. that is not about institutional racism that is about peoples choices and the free market for education.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/102	0.98
I lied it wasn't the last thing.A couple more points firstly health care in America isn't bad because of racism it's just bad period. go to any socialist European country and the health care is better and more affordable.add to that that much of the black community doesn't have health insurance which was why president Obama introduced socialised health care and you will begin to see how this issue came about.hospitals in black areas would treat people who couldn't pay. white hospitals would treat people who could pay. Black hospitals couldn't afford higher salaries due to this so the best doctors went to white hospitals. The same effect on hospital resources and equipment. not evidence of prejudice just the inevitable effects of not paying into a system that is there to care for you, ergo you get a worse service. Basic economics.	Black, Racism, doctors	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	5/145	3.448
Ok last thing when we look at gender pay gap that has alot to do with personal choices and characteristics like assertiveness effecting likely hood of asking for promotions and starting new businesses.couldn't this also be the case here? If your cousin owns a bakery and your dad was a foreman at the steelworks perhaps you might have been more willing to go to the bank and ask for a business loan or think it's possible for you to get that promotion.Additionally there are class issues to take into account again. I noticed in the name issue that Emily and Brendon are kinda middle class when jamal and that other name you said are not really names you might be writing into the visitor book at the country club. that's not to say they are " black " names but rather they could be seen as kinda poor names. If it was a class issue that wouldn't be anything to do with race , but we can concede that is totally possible.Being middle class black is actually quite likely to provide a positive race bias with many companies eager to champion diversity gratuitously.finally if employers really could get away with paying black workers less for the same work then there wouldn't be a single unemployed black person. The market only sees green.	Black, Gender, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	7/223	3.139

Also if I was an employer and received 2 identical applications I might also realise something was a bit weird and out of safety not follow that up. It could be as simple as the "white" names (haha sorry but that's just so racist to assume anyway) were read and responded to first.	Racist, Weird	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/53	3.774
you're not taking into account for priors when you look at sentencing time. when you account for that it's equal, if not slightly skewed in facor of blacks. You also have to look at where people do drugs, whites are more likely to do the at home or indoors, black people are more likely to do drugs outside.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/58	1.724
+The Armin And the study that says black and white people use drugs at the same rate is based on self reporting. There was another study that showed that black people were more likely to lie about drug use on a survey(they tested them after the survey). This guys arguments have been refuted.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/53	3.774
i buy all my marijuana .....from white people.the have all the best drugs.this was even commented on in the movie "pulp fiction" when Lance (john travolta's character drug dealer) was giving the speech about how white people's herion was superior to n-bomb dealers. the italians relagated drug dealing to black people/ black nieghborhoods because they (italians) wanted to be seen as legit (The Godfather)	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/63	1.587
this video is produced in indiana, one of the most racist NORTHERN states in the union.(if you are black stay the fuck out of hamilton county)	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/26	7.692

I am oppressed. Please help me. African American, tax paying liberal opposed the Iraq War years ago. Got me on some type of harassment/anti-terrorist list; every aspect of my life negatively affected. Work life, health, wrote letters of complaint to State Dept., American Civil Liberties Union, Justice Dept., no help. Harassment continues. Sent documents to Norway requesting political asylum, U.S. Postal Service told me when I checked with them that documents weren't delivered and they have no idea what happened to them. I'm disabled, some in my family have been used to try to entrap me, especially when I was applying for social security disability, which, by the way a Legal Aid attorney recommended I do after I became ill. My life is hell. Any suggestions on how I can get out of here, and/or help my family, who I suspect has become entrapped in some government agency's attempt to entrap me. In my apartment I am followed from room to room. Suspect my computer is monitored. People have suddenly appeared outside my apartment making loud noises, at all times of day or night, frightening me. Two vehicles have hit me. Maybe 5 others have aimed themselves at me. I've been called the "n" word, had my foot stomped on by a man on the bus, been kicked hard in the butt as I sat at my sister's college graduation. My path is blocked as I try to use the sidewalk, therefore just to reach my destination in a timely way with minimal harassment I've taken to riding my mobility device in the street, as close to the sidewalk as I possibly can, as a bicyclist would. When I do not do that, people suddenly appear in front of me, blocking my way. All true. Any organizations that help honest citizens who's only crime was to oppose a war, in two private conversations. Kid you not. Help/advice would be greatly appreciated. Several health problems. Severe insomnia. Suspect I have post traumatic stress disorder. This harassment has been ongoing for over 15 years. As I type this someone in the upstairs apartment stands just over me, moving slightly, to show that they are there, and I suspect monitoring me as I lay on my bed typing these words. This tends to happen more when I ask for help or report the harassment.	African, Disabled	Ethnicity - Black, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/391	0.512
there is no denial that based upon the numbers that inequality between whites and blacks exist, but why is it so that numbers pertaining to income inequality and discrimination in general seem to be getting worse as the government implements more social services. its time to stop blaming systematic racism and for liberals to start admitting that their systems have not worked	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/62	1.613

More BS from the Vlogbrothers. Sentencing guidelines take into consideration past criminal convictions... hence the apparent disparity in white and black prison sentences.And as he said, ' I'm not an expert on race .' Hey Vlogbrother, you're a teacher. Get a teaching job in Detroit, Ferguson, or Baltimore and work for 10 years there. Then do a video on " Racism by the numbers." I think it would be very different from the garbage you posted above.	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/76	3.947
Why not make justice literally blind ? Hide names, hide faces of the accused, hide voices of the accused, and hide the gender and bodies of the accused! That way, out inherent bias is will not influence a sound judgement	Blind, Gender	Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/39	5.128
I know right? Maybe my proposition is crazy , but I can't think of another way to hide these negative influences.	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/20	5.0
Let's make voting blind too. No names or faces just the party on the ballot and a link to their policies.	Blind	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/21	4.762
"I'm pretty sure that's about race "Yeah, this is why we need people with actual knowledge to make decisions.And listen to people as an advice? You retarded or what? Perceived injustices mean jackshit. Look at how women feel unsafe while every statistic says that they should feel the safest of all demographic. Anecdotes don't mean anything.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/57	1.754
Black verses white racism is epitome of tribalism and xenophobia . It couldn't get any simpler than black and white. You must talk about black and white racism when talking about other groups and their dynamics.	Black, Racism, Xenophobia	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	6/35	17.143

Why are you so hard-pressed to interpret this as per racism ? This is something liberals just can't seem to dissect – not everything is racism . In a job offer, I am less likely to hire blacks because they tend to carry an inferiority complex; that is, the "Just because I am black " syndrome. So yes, I am less likely to hire them because I don't want that in my job environment. I respect all the work you do, bud, but sometimes interpretations, especially when it comes to dealing with mental attitudes, are more complex than just " racism ".	Black, Mental, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	5/97	5.155
That is literally racism "inferiority complex", that is its literal definition, congratulations, you played yourself?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667
How is that racism ? It is just acknowledging the fact many of these guys carry the "just because I'm black " syndrome. My Mexican people tend to carry it too but emphasizing a different aspect of it.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/36	5.556
turi73 You completely dodge what said, I said if you say that you want higher someone because of an "inferior complex" that is racist ! Simple."Because I'm Black " is a completely other matter.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/33	6.061
Hahaha. The "because I'm black " syndrome is tantamount to the inferiority complex, in my own colloquial terms.Notice how it is emphasizing the content of their character, not the color of the skin. If I were merely emphasizing the color skin then that would be racist .	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/46	4.348
turi73 Ya, but you're not disproving the point that there is racism in selecting employee's!	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667
Of course I am not. I am just saying that not everything is racism , as liberals are so eager to conclude. It can be a different motive which appears as racism on the surface.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/34	5.882
Everyone is a racist , but no one has the balls to admit it it, except Trump, so vote Trump	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/19	5.263
How is Trump racist ?	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/4	25.0

About the applications. There's such a thing as cultural clashing which is a well known thing in business. Basically if you do offshore in-sourcing of an Indian software developer you may very well face an effectiveness penalty even if you have extra manpower (depends on size of team primarily). These issues tend to be about miscommunication or different cultural standards for how responsibility is handled etc.While I'm certain not all cases were that. It's disingenuous to translate that particular number into 50 racist non-replies.I find the difference between white-highedu and white-lowedu vs its black counterpart in the study to be rather indicative of that. Black people gained 9 response from having higher education, whites gained 30. So with white people being a very large group of people compared to black people in the US the cultural clashing becomes more of a concern with jobs requiring higher levels of education since their time is more worth. Even if teams tend to be smaller the bias should lean towards white people right? You'd rather hire someone more likely not to clash than someone more likely.Looking at the demographics of people in Boston 2002 (when study was conducted). The population is disproportionately white compared to the US in general.So with that in mind. Would it make sense to hire someone with that risk over an identical person without that risk? Well it's my understanding they didn't send identical resumes. It's not mentioned anywhere in the link that was provided by you and that'd be a point to be made if that had been done given the overall detail of the description of the paper in the article. Cultural clashes in the workplace should have solutions. Not enough effort is put on that.	Black, Indian, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	5/294	1.701
racism won't end because of our brain's insatiable need to group things.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/12	8.333
Elephant Warrior I guess there is the exception, but really our current system of race doesn't make a lot of sense anyway.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/22	4.545
That's what I've been saying. Racism will end when all humans are dead. It's one of the most ridiculous things on planet Earth, but it is here for the long haul.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/31	3.226
Racism will never end but ut has actually decreased over the last 20 years. Black people have been able to lots things that wouldn't be permitted before because of discrimination. Having said that, humans generally love to statistically find connections and attribute them to grouping. We will never end up completely purging rascism/discrimination in our society.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/56	3.571
Dave Vaidya please dont speak for blacks jim crow never left,in america black people can get killed with impunity not just by a white cop but also a white regular citizen.economy,discrimination,lack of opportunities, gentrification and housing	Black, Crow, Jim Crow	Ethnicity - Black	3/36	8.333

Big L Like I said, racism will never be 100 be eliminated in America. But it is true that the Civil Rights Act of 1964 has prohibited discrimination through the basis race , color, religion, sex , or national origin. Yet, there continues discrimination.	Race, Racism, Sex	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	3/42	7.143
Dave Vaidya like i said racism hasn't decreased its getting worse	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/11	9.091
Big L you just proved racism will never die	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/9	11.111
I'm Batman you don't know what racism is,your statement alone tells me you have no understanding of the concept	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/19	5.263
But our brain's don't need to insatiable group things by race , if we dont categorize people by eye colour why can't we not by skin colour?	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/26	3.846
Basically what your saying is nobody likes blacks, even other blacks.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/11	9.091
I think it is important to make a clear difference between racism and cultural bias. I have worked for alot of companies who would have no problem hiring a black person, but they don't want someone who acts or dresses "ghetto". Or they don't like the fact that it is nearly impossible to dispute a racism lawsuit if you have to fire then individual. And while it isn't fair they also have to keep in mind their clientele. Take some place like Nordstrums, I can LOVE black dudes, but the old white ladies shopping in the shoe section will never approach a six foot four black dude with dreads to ask for help. So if I'm trying to fill that position I want someone my customers won't feel intimidated by. And even think of the name example. If you are hiring someone for customer service which name is easier to understand over the phone, the name Emily or Dawshanda? So while I'm sure it's true that racism exists, I think alot of the numbers can be explain by culture and circumstance as well.	Black, Old, Racism	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/183	3.825

I think it's worth mentioning that a large part of 'white privilege' is essentially 'non-poor privilege', what I mean by that is that a white man named Cleatus who wears overalls will obviously be taken less seriously than a black man named Clarence wearing a suit. I think it's important to note that not all white people benefit from being white, if a man is thought to be poor and uneducated he will be treated badly, a black man is more likely to be considered poor and uneducated. I don't at all mean to say that this is entirely the case, and that there is not a downside to being black, I only mean to say that the 'upside to being white' does not extend to all white people, and is therefore clearly not actually due to being white, rather it is due to certain factors which are more commonly expected from black people. Not that there is no benefit at all to being white, it's just not as simple as white=privileged or black=disadvantaged, and there are obviously other factors involved. Of course I welcome any disagreements with my assessment.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	4/190	2.105
That doesn't excuse the fact that a large majority do and some use it to bar other races from getting equal treatment. At the end of the day your comment wasn't needed and it just sounds like some excuses to try and shy away from the fact that systematic racism is a thing and led by a majority of white people. no one is shaming anyone but there needs to be an acceptance to move on. you are just making tired excuses and using rare cases. The amount who do benefit from white privilege far outweigh those who don't. Not to mention that even if a white person and a minority were both poor the white person would still be looked at as more valuable. so your comment is irrelevant.	Fat, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical Features	2/130	1.538

Living For Tony &amp; Kerry Olitz Scandal You seem to have extrapolated far more from what I said than is justified. I was simply saying that there is more to white privilege than 'black=bad white=good'. I'm not making any excuses, I've not said that discrimination based entirely on race does not exist, however in attempting to fix this problem I think it's important to try to understand that the issue is a complex mixture of prejudice against class and assumptions of class, as well as prejudice against colour. I've not said anything about those who are actually prejudiced against colour, and I've not said anything about being prejudiced against the poor being better than racism, maybe if you calm down and stop blindly fighting anything that even mentions race we can have a rational discussion and actually achieve something. This isn't a constant battle of one side verses another, some of us are merely trying to understand the complex situation. If you really think that these ideas result in any 'excuses' being made for some people then perhaps you should re-evaluate your stance and your dislike for these people, because if honest discussion and the removal of a misunderstanding results in a level of forgiveness and understanding then perhaps they were deserving of it. I'm sure you would not hate a black person for looking down on a poor person, even if you disagreed with it. Obviously those racists who this doesn't apply to are not forgiven by this, but those who simply are being human and are associating one thing with another due to it being frequent are obviously wrong to do so, but they are not the racists you say they are. I understand that some people could perhaps hide behind my point to defend their racist views, but that doesn't make what I said any less correct. Now as for your points, I don't know if you can say that a poor white man would be treated the same as a poor black man, perhaps you are right but to assume that the majority of people would do so is quite a jump. And my comment is not at all irrelevant if that were to be the case, it would simply imply that poor discrimination was not all of the problem. Which, had you not been so militant in your approach, you would see I never said. I am happy to admit that there is often a certain amount of racial prejudice, what I'm saying is that a certain amount of that is simple class prejudice.	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/429	1.399
---	-----------------------------	---	-------	-------

Racism does not exist, not the way it is being presented by blacks. It is a weapon. As for the video. 1.9 million people from all nationalities were assaulted because of the color of their skin, all NON BLACK! What is going on is RACE HATE! Why they don't get the call back because they have almost identical resume's. Is because 7 million aggressive assaults against whites cannot be a lie. Don't believe me, type in RACE HATE ABOVE, RACISM , School assaults, Missouri college riot. All based on lies and massive assaults. I close up my business because I did not want to hire blacks. WHY! Because I was assaulted and the guy told the judge, "HE called me a N!GG!R" Just like the 3 kids who beat that vet in front of the McDonalds. Your nothing but race hating people. Racism does not exist when you call white people that, just race hate!	Black, Nothing, Race, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	9/154	5.844
Im guessing you are in extreme denial? or just completely decided to ignore the statistics and facts brought to you in the video? lol keep living your life ignorant just don't try to harm others in the process. Racism exists and that's a fact.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/44	2.273
On average, every race equals out the same. Its not about statistics. Its about how we can be better for our own culture and get along at the same damn time	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/31	3.226
Can't really do that when people are trying to put you down at all costs for something as silly as race , which in large part doesn't even really exist.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/29	3.448
Racism does not equal racial bias.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/6	16.667
There's a lot of arguments in the comments ,but can we agree that the patriarchy is just ridiculous?	Patriarchy	Gender - General	1/18	5.556
Holy.....this guy talks fast. It's like I gave a squirrel Nos, 5 hour energy, and Red Bull, had it dripped together with coffee grounds and tried to have a conversation with it.	Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Native- American	2/32	6.25
I live in Canada..... Just wondering if we are any different..... Pretty sure it is because of differences in the black population as well as our absence of slavery. My only problem with this video is that it supports the notion that racism only exists as a systemic conspiracy to keep white people in power. All races can be guilty of racism .	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/62	4.839
+mceric Anyone can be racist , but institutionally, there's discrepancies that negatively affects blacks and hispanics more than others.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/18	5.556

+GMHannibal Besides the fact that the POTUSA is a visible minority, there are already affirmative action laws and laws to prevent people from spreading racism . Where I grew up, in Brampton ON, I was the minority. That is not an overstatement. My highschool was 52 south asian. There were no programs or rules in that school to help the the minorities. While I agree that people in institutions can be racist , the "system" is clearly (at east in Canada) is set up to make it much easier for anyone but a white man.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/93	2.151
He clearly stated systematic racism multiple times. Each race is obviously capable of racism but it does very little if the majority of the race doesn't have the power to actually affect ones life because of their toxic beliefs.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	4/39	10.256
Not to mention that in America at least the minorities aren't that delusional to think that they are the best when they are getting treated like trash What a lot of people want to. see as racism from minorities is prejudice from their harsh circumstances. Still bad but not as harsh or effective as all out racism or/and systematic racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/60	5.0
Educational discrimination by race ?You mean affirmative action?	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/8	12.5
Pete O'Connor white women and gay white men use affirmative action far, far more then ANY other group in America. Please read more.	Gay	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	2/23	8.696
You guys need Thomas Sowell in your lives. Racism exist, but it's not as prevalent as those from the left make it to be. You should consider the policies that promote and perpetuate broken down families which tend to affect those who were already in poverty the hardest.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/48	2.083
The perception of racism and the prevalence of racism are two vastly different things. I'd be interested in not just the sociological statistics but of the prevalence of how many people are racist .	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/33	9.091
There is racism against Whites.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/5	20.0
+master of keys. Unfortunately though, people only want to focus on the agenda that suites their narrative, so a straight white heterosexual male who is comfortable with their gender isn't going to receive any support from the lunatics who are like the guy in the video...	Gender	Gender - General	1/46	2.174

+UndertakerU2ber Or people focus on what is a bigger issue. Yeah there's racism against whites, but it's easier to see/prove there's racism with other minorities (this video, pretty much all blacks). Also if there are problems to fix you normally focus on the bigger problems which judging by evidence gathered isn't racism against whites.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/54	5.556
Brian MilesListen son, you're NEVER going to solve issues of racism , that's a fact. In fact, all types of prejudice will continue to exist no matter how much you try. Get used to it.With that said, the guy in the video is a fruitcake . His logic is "We don't know what explains this, must be racism ." Take for example his drug example at 0:52. Drug possession and drug use are two completely different things. The reason why you see so many more blacks arrested for drug possession is because there are more blacks dealing drugs rather than taking drugs. A drug dealer is a far more valuable criminal in the eyes of the police and will target them more often than small drug offenders. Also, a drug dealer probably isn't going to consume their own drugs as that will essentially hurt their business, so they can still possess drugs without ever taking them. In short, the racially disproportionate drug arrest rate isn't due to racism , but it's due to the fact that there are more blacks dealing drugs than white people, and police are more interested in arresting dealers rather than users.All it takes is some critical thinking and research to dismantle the myths that social justice warriors spread. Racism does exist against everyone unfortunately, and that's only because human being will naturally have their biases and assumptions. But is there systemic racism against blacks in the US, hell no, far from it. If anything, there's systemic racism against straight white men since we have affirmative action laws that force companies and schools to favor racial minorities and women over white men. Now THAT is legal systemic discrimination.	Fruitcake, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	7/281	2.491
UndertakerU2ber Racism won't disappear completely, but the issues caused by it can be reduced. And saying something will never be fixed isn't a good reason to not try to fix it as who knows what the future can do (maybe A.I. will be able to handle all college applications, who to pull over etc.).I'd like a citation on the second paragraph as i've only heard the chances of either race possessing drugs is the same. Also it'd make sense if there are more blacks dealing drugs but the police should keep it within a certain statistic as if it is only 1 more likely there should not be 100 more checks on the race .Finally these issues are complex and like the " fruitcake " in the video said he isn't an expert but there are people who spend years studying this issue, it's not a closed case after thinking about it just a little. And yes there is AA in college but that only came around due to minorities being under represented even after factoring in things like economic background. Maybe soon it'll be rid of when it's found unnecessary.	Fruitcake, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	4/190	2.105

+master of keys. A) There is not systematic racism against whites in the American system like there is to blacks! B) The day to day racism that blacks or other minorities display unto whites is minor, so stfu!	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/38	5.263
Samuel Appiah 1) many blacks say all white people "look the same", 2) Blacks can pull the " racism " card whenever they want to get what they want	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/27	3.704
master of keys. That's not systemic racism , do you even know what it means?Furthermore if Black's get to use this " race " card to get whatever they want, how come they still don't get jobs because of their names, or how come they still get more jail time than whites for the same crime?Your hypothesis completely self-crumbled.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/58	3.448
UndertakerU2ber LMFAO LOL, THIS WAS SOME BIASED BULLSH1TED ARTICLE LMAO..... GET SOME REAL STATS MATE, INSTEAD OF SOME DUMB WEBSITE WHERE WHITES WHINE ABOUT HOW LIFE IS SO HARD, GET OVER YOUR ENTITLED SELVED LMAO	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/35	2.857
+UndertakerU2ber Gotta say that article was lacking in statistical evidence. Individual stories are 1 thing but there's all kinds of problems with using them. America is huge and there are tons of bizarre things happening there because of it, 20 stories isn't enough. Didn't read it in depth but only saw 1 statistic and it was to point out that most violence is done against same-race victims. Not proving or disproving racism at all. Before you ask I haven't looked up evidence but that was a pretty weak website.I will agree though that Rev. Al Sharpton is racist and following him is hard to do without becoming racist .	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/109	2.752
Brian MilesI don't think anyone is denying that racism exists, however, "systemic" racism doesn't exist against minorities in America. If anything, there is systemic racism against white men. Affirmative Action and quotas are a legal way for companies and universities to discriminate against white men simply based only on the fact that they are white men. There is no law that explicitly allows for companies to discriminate against blacks, which means, the "system" that is supposedly racist against blacks is actually built to be in favor of blacks	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	4/89	4.494

UndertakerU2ber We're gonna have to just disagree on Affirmative Action being racism against whites. If I remember correctly it was brought in to bring the numbers for minorities up in universities because if you took poverty, crime etc. factors out it was still imbalanced towards whites. All men are created equal, so racism is suspected. Don't have the numbers on me but I believe in many places the numbers are still not balanced (favouring whites). It's a system to counteract the (perhaps unintentional) racism of recruiters. Yeah it'll lower chances for whites, but the argument is this system removes an unfair advantage they had before.master of keys. Dunno what you're sayin but i'm just here to discuss the other side. If yall got anything besides AA (or a good source with numbers) to use as a case i'd like to hear it. Long as it isn't "blacks use the race card, thats unfair" type arguments (can be unfair like but you get what I mean)	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	4/166	2.41
UndertakerU2ber Yeah just looked it up and what I said isn't entirely true. Still, there is more on the side of keeping AA than getting rid of it although pretty much everyone agrees it should be phased out. California and Washington already prohibit AA. Still though, this was just Wikipedia.That's a valid argument against race scholarships, I agree it shouldn't be like that. At the least there should be more conditions for it like only below $xxxx per year may apply. Kinda silly to say $500 is gonna make you able to attend college or not though, its pretty damn expensive. Doubt many fall into that territory.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/108	0.926

Brian MilesI agree that scholarships should be handed out based on actual income levels rather than based on skin color and gender. Here's a TIME article that details that white women in particular are benefiting the most out of AA programs: [LINK] What's weird is that women are being given advantages for AA despite outnumbering men in college enrollment: [LINK] Why are women labeled as the "minorities" and the "oppressed" when they are outnumbering men? Look, I know this is off-topic, but I hope that I can communicate the message to you that the "victims" that society labels aren't really victims at all. This idea that certain races and genders are being targeted by systematic discrimination is ridiculous. Speaking for the US alone, we live in a nation that presently naturally favors minorities more because of our past history. People don't want to be labeled as racists or sexists, and will give into the narrative that blacks and women are being oppressed. If they don't, then they're told to "check their privilege" and how they should blindly believe that some sort of boogeyman oppression exists. Believe me, I've talked with these people in real life. They're people who were born in unfortunate circumstances, and blame their problems on higher powers who are out to get them because of their skin color, gender, etc. They make up all kinds of excuses as to why they got into drugs and crime, but they'll never admit that they themselves are to blame for their own actions. "It's not my fault! Society made me do it!" What they need is acceptance. Acceptance that life isn't fair and that their problems aren't caused by some boogeyman racist, but by chance, and they're just going to have to find a way how to deal with the circumstance that they were born into...Sorry for the rant at the end btw, I kind of had a bad day to be honest...	Gender, Nation, Racist, Weird	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General, Nationality - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	5/325	1.538
Brian MilesI'm a little burned out from this discussion to be honest. I get that there was history of slavery and the Jim Crow laws that explain why a lot of black families are poor. It isn't fair, it really isn't. I'd just like to see people who want to contribute to society succeed and get the help they need in order to achieve that. If a black person is in poverty because their ancestors were enslaved and treated like property, then I do think they should be helped. Basically, we should judge based on circumstance, not labels. But you know what, I don't really think I need to tell you any of that stuff. You're awesome man, and it really made my day to see someone who disagrees with me be respectful in a conversation despite me being angry and bitter. I'm sorry that I got angry, it wasn't right of me to do that. If you keep that attitude wherever you go, you'll attract all of the right people in life.	Black, Crow, Jim Crow	Ethnicity - Black	4/174	2.299

UndertakerU2ber Yeah this discussion has been a long one. We may have some disagreements but we also agree on quite a few things. Thanks for the kind words, really boosted my day. Racism isn't exactly easy to discuss calmly I understand haha glad it ended on a positive note. Wish you luck in the future man it was good talking to you.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/62	1.613
I dont think that one can say that the name study is 100 based on racism . For example in germany people are biased against names as well.. Kevin is considered less intelligent than a Maximilian. Thats because of classism (?). People assume that only lower class people would pick such a name thus people with lower education. Same with the black name thing.	Black, Classism, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Social Class - General	3/63	4.762
+Inkognito91 In U.S.A it's different, 99.9 of people who would have the name "Jamall" are Black , whilst the names "Kevin" and "Maximillian" are both "white names" therefore there can't be " racism " involved.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/32	6.25
+Samuel Appiah Yup. We have the same discrimination of names without racism . So racism is not the main reason for this. The problem is just that the population which uses these names is part of the lower class.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/38	5.263
Inkognito91 YUP THAT'S HOW IT IS IN GERMANY, Unfortunately U.s.a involves race as well, but again the video is called racism in the United States.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/25	8.0
Samuel Appiah Apparently you wont get my point. If it happens in Germany without the race factor, what makes you think that in the US the phenomenon is only based on race ? The problem is just that it happens to be that black people with such names are more likely to be part of the lower class.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/57	5.263
Inkognito91 That's not a valid argument, because in germany the names kevin and maximillian are only associated withsocial class not race . Meanwhile in Usa there is race associated to the name Jamall.	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/33	6.061
Samuel Appiahahaha you wont get it. The name Jamall is ALSO in the US associated with the social class. If there would be a study which controlled the social class as variable and still gets a positive outcome of discrimination . THEN and only then it is possible to blame racism for the difference.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/55	1.818
Inkognito91 The Name JAMALL is MAINLY associated with Race in America. it's like a 9:1 ratio.Your argument is very naive!Again, you're not American, i don't blame you for being so naive	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/33	3.03

Samuel Appiah	How do you know if race or social class is the main factor in this? Your argument is unscientific and naive but then again, youre not a socialscientist or a statistician. You should still get rid of your ideology and try to search for the truth in an objective and scientific matter! :D	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/55	1.818
Inkognito91	If you eliminate race and social class, there is 0.1 reason why the names Brendan and Emily would get so much more Jobs, "In America".Can I be 100 sure that race and social class is the only factor in this? No. But I am 99.9 sure, understanding American culture and Society will help with this but again, i don't blame you..	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/63	3.175
Samuel Appiah	Great you are one step closer! Now, to know the true factor of race , you need to eliminate the social class variable. Unless we dont do that we can never discover the true impact of race to this issue. But this has to be proofen until one can claim its all about racism .Also I kinda doubt your 0,1 because the sex plays a role as well i suppose.	Race, Racism, Sex	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	4/71	5.634
Inkognito91	I hope you do know that they sent out "Brendan" and "Jamall" resumes, seperately from"Emily" and "Lacquisha" resumes right?so gender would not play a factor	Gender	Gender - General	1/28	3.571
Samuel Appiah	Yea I thought that we were talking generally and not about that specific study.By the way.. google laqcquisha (pictures as well) and you will see that that specific name is not well looked upon. Not because its a black name but because its a lower class name.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/50	2.0

Everybody is racist. Look at South Africa. Unmistakable white genocide. It's just that Blacks don't actually run a lot of businesses in the West, so they don't have the same opportunities for their prejudice to be acted upon, but they seize every opportunity. Also, people have a right to hire whoever they want. Those "black names" aren't inherently about race, they're about cultural identity. Plenty of black people have Western names too, but the ones with "black names" were raised by what amounts to afronationalists. Don't conflate "black names" with race, that's essentialism. Blacks with Western values and dialects don't see increased rates of discrimination in court trials. Sure, culture often falls on racial lines, but the real factors contributing to discrimination are a lack of shared values, beliefs, and language (which leads to miscommunication). That's not racism, it's not "the color of their skin" that's at the heart of it. It's different populations with divergent and incompatible ways of life bumping up against one another. It's inevitable, and you're not helping by saying it's about race. Not to mention, there are so many intervening variables, why do you focus on the same trite out-of-context figures we've heard again and again, without turning it around or examining the other possible explanations besides irrational hatred i.e. racism?	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	10/216	4.63
+themicle1 No. But they have school districts. Which means the neighbourhood you live in dictates where your kid goes to (public) school. The schools are funded by county taxes. This is where the economics and classes become tricky becomes major complicating factors. There are poor and rich neighbourhoods. There are also neighbourhoods that are primarily white, or black or Asian or Latino. So rich towns have rich school districts and they tend to be better.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/75	1.333
Racism is kinda pointless when you think about it, humans are all the same on the inside.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/17	5.882
Logan Sipe I do not agree with your statement as it is innacurate. But i have a better alternative. Individualism, looking at the person as an individual. I strongly support it as it erases racism. Do you agree?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/35	2.857
I think racism isn't systematic in the laws and regulations promote racism. I think people still have personal biases that cause racism. In most of the situations mentioned, a person had to make a decision, and that would be affected by personal bias. Lots of people apparently still have biases towards people of culture, so they become affected by these biases on a large scale.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/65	4.615

racism is your self lashing,guilt nonsense... race baiting ... such tired old pile of poop. blah blah blah ....tired old fossil you are,blah blah ,blah , why not drop it in the waste basket,where trash belongs!?!No one with a clear mind will buy your guilt rip!	Old, Race, Racism	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - General	4/46	8.696
Please notice us Asians we are a race	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/8	12.5
Here's the thing though. How come Asians and Jews have been doing so well in America but Black and Latino's haven't. it can't truly be about white supremacy then, so what is it? It's a poor argument, and it's good you said correlation and not causation, I'll give you that but it's more then just racism causing this. There are definitely wealthy black people, I mean your president's black , but no the whole country is racist and biased towards black people ...	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/82	7.317
+Mk Epicness I'm black and most of my family is black and where successful americas weird i just want there dunking donuts donuts to bring to canada here but the unsuccessful families are the ones who's ancestors where slaves write? so they wouldn't inherit anything but the chinese would have their parents saving money for them just like the stereotypes in action but the latinos and hispanics it most likely the south american ones because haven't you realized they have no economy but the spanish from spain would be rich because of their adventurous ancestors ravaging gold and selling slaves .conclusion every other race has their parent a little more wealthy but thats just america the contenents don't have black history mother or racist donald trumps like you don't say black people in england if ur in england ur english who cares for you ancestors but the states is in the past	Black, Race, Racist, Weird	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	7/152	4.605
+Mk Epicness Honestly, Asians need to stfu, when it comes to discussions on racism in America, because y'all have never even been close to experiencing what Black's and Latino's did.The statistics facts John gave in this video do not apply to Asians, therefore y'all do not have a systemic institution crushing you down to the floor, there is no bias against you in the west, that's why you are free to do well.Asians who compare their plight's to those of Black's and Latino's disgust me .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/88	1.136
gender pay gap is not real	Gender	Gender - General	1/6	16.667
PlanetMe nothing , I'm a whore and I wanted attention. I failed	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/11	9.091
hi John, I'm a sophomore in high school and I mentor the incoming freshmen at my school. for our homeroom, we are using this video to discuss how racism effects all aspects of life, and not necessarily just jobs. thanks for the great information :)	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/45	2.222

Differences don't mean racism is the only factor	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/8	12.5
See, heres the problem i have with the resume experiment. Just because somebody's name is Lakisha or Jamal, does not mean they are black . Names are not exclusive to race . I would venture to say that assuming these people are black based solely off the names is an over generalization. if the creator of the experiment decided to make Brendan and Emily black individuals. The conclusion would be the exact opposite. This comment dose not mean i Disagree with the experiments conclusion or any other conclusions made in the video.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/90	4.444
if anything makes me belive in racial systemic bias against black people it is this videoi wish the sjws would make vids loike this and not run into cars and cry racism it seems there may be real issues but the sjws are sure making it hard to talk about them*note i am not trying to troll or be inflammatory	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/62	3.226
why is racism in the US always about african americans? what about oriental people? indians? pakistanis? arabs?	African, Oriental, Racism	Ethnicity - Asian (East-China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam), Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - Chinese, Nationality - Japanese	5/17	29.412
+Kuj0Jotar0 i think it has to do with the fact that a majority of the poc affected by racism in the criminal justice system in america are blacks and latinos. although it does occur for other poc its not as prominent as it is for blacks	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/46	2.174

+Kuj0Jotar0 Because social justice warriors like the guy in the video love spreading the message that only black people are oppressed in America. This is largely due to the history of slavery and the Jim Crow laws in America, but they don't recognize that those events are now in the past and we've all moved on as a country since then. In short, they're the same kids who didn't pay attention in Social Studies and chose to sniff glue instead...	Black, Crow, Jim Crow	Ethnicity - Black	3/80	3.75
+Kuj0Jotar0 The racism those groups receive compared to black's and latinos, is minimal, which is why there's barely anything to talk about	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/22	4.545
+Kuj0Jotar0 " Oriental " is not a race , it's a type of rug. Do you Asians or people who are rugs?	Oriental, Race	Ethnicity - Asian (East-China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam), Ethnicity - General, Nationality - Chinese, Nationality - Japanese	4/19	21.053
YouJustGotAnimated how about " yellow " then?	Yellow	Ethnicity - Asian (East-China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam), Nationality - Chinese, Nationality - Japanese	3/5	60.0
Samuel AppiahSure, I guess? I mean, nobody really calls Asians that, but okay.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/14	7.143
YouJustGotAnimated The problem with saying "Asian(s)" is that it excludes does from the Indian Subcontinent and most of the Middle East, which are also Asians...	Indian	Ethnicity - Native-American	1/25	4.0

Samuel AppiahThen say East or West Asian or Indian .	Indian	Ethnicity - Native-American	1/10	10.0
YouJustGotAnimatedim british, we have common sense. Oriental refers to anyone or anything originating from basically East Asia. In the same way European refers to anyone or anything originating from Europe. Since we made the English language, I'll take it that we are right on this.	Common, Oriental	Ethnicity - Asian (East-China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam), Nationality - Chinese, Nationality - Japanese, Social Class - Working class	4/46	8.696
Samuel Appiahthat is completely false. They get as much racist abuse as any other minority maybe even more so when referring to brown people getting Islamophobic abuse. I hope you were just referring to the fact that there are less Oriental or middle eastern of Indian or Pakistani people in total in American compared to black people, which would be correct. However it doesn't make it less of an issue that they suffer racism .	Black, Indian, Oriental, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Asian (East-China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam), Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American, Nationality - Chinese, Nationality - Japanese	7/75	9.333

Kuj0Jotar0 Firstly, not every brown person is a Muslim, so get your facts straight.Secondly that's a Absolute BS claim, Black's and Latino's face much more discrimination in the America's than other minorities, Black's the most. These are facts hun . Asians ( of all sorts) actually continually discriminate against Black's and Latino's. Do you see how Korean's treat us when we go into the convenient store!	Hun	Nationality - German	1/66	1.515
Samuel AppiahI know not all brown people are muslim, do you think a racist bigot is gonna bother finding that out before being bigotted though? Also as to blacks and latinos facing "much more discrimination" well let me ask you this. America currently has a latino presidential candidate and a black president. Have they ever had an oriental or indian/pakistani/arab person even in congress or senate or mayor position? Guess why? Because it would simply not be allowed by this racist system. But anyway, its silly to argue which is affected more by racism - minorities should be united not divided.	Black, Oriental, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Asian (East-China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam), Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - Chinese, Nationality - Japanese	7/102	6.863
Kuj0Jotar0 What Kind of BS is that? That's stupid to say that because there's 1 black president and Latino candidate that we face less BS, GET OUTTA HERE WITH THAT BS. It makes more sense since there's more Latinos and Black 's in America, therefore it's obvious there will be more candidates...Yes Minorities should unite, so Asians need to stop treating Black 's and Latinos like 2nd class citizens. And recognize that though we all struggle, the plight of Black 's and Latinos, was much higher than Asians, the facts speak for themselves....	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/91	1.099
J R He fails to mention that the initial group sizes are completely different!!! Once again more trickery to fit a narrative!!! Race baiting again in the US!!!!	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/28	3.571
What if the 'white' names had been Billy-Bob and Lou-Anne? Or what if 'Emily' and 'Brendan' had put a black person's ID photo on their resume? I think it would be interesting to add a few more variables to the test to see exactly how nuanced the prejudice is.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/49	2.041

MrGalpino of course as Jhon stated in the video there are a lot more factors than race when it comes to discrimination. Things such as class, wealth, gender , etc.So I am assuming that you are using the names "Billy Bob" and "Lou Anne" as an stereotypical example of "poor white people names" and I am also asuming that you try to exemplify how white people also suffer discriminationBut for the record: nobody has ever said that poor white people (or white people for that matter) never experience some sort of discrimination, they do, obviouslyThe discussion here is how disproportionately huge the discrimination targets black people almost always in a bunch of areasP.D.: i am not black	Black, Gender, Nobody, Race	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	5/120	4.167
But this isn't studied so we can't exactly say. To you, you may look down on those name, but who knows what those who look at the applications think right? The negative connotation of Ebonic names being seen as 'ghetto, weird , unprofessional' seems to be a far bigger issue	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/49	2.041
My name is Kennedy and a lot of times when people see my name first they assume that I am a white guy. I am a black girl. It happened to me all the time at school. Every year I had to change my schedule.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/45	2.222
I'm just eagerly waiting for a black to explain to me (a white man) why Asians are more successful in this country than my race , yet whites are the founders who set everything up for their offspring to flourish.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/39	5.128
I'd like to hear about how racism leads to Asians getting higher pay than white people in the US. Or, could it be that Asians are taught the value of education, and hard work? You can't talk about differences, and pin it all on discrimination. What is emphasized in a culture makes a big difference.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/55	1.818
+UNPARALLELED SPAGHETTOR The suicide and depression among what age ? if it is among middle aged men it's probably divorces.And japan's baby problem is due to feminism.	Age	Age - General	1/26	3.846
+Spencer Cox see if it so happened that there was no systemic racism against black's and Latinos, and they were just poor and lazy, then no one would be complaining about " racism ". The problem is not who works hard or not, the problem is that no one should be treated unfairly due to their color of their skin, period.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/59	3.39
IQ. really. boy i did my biology GCSE's 1 year early and i got higher marks than everyone in the year above, who i was doing gcse's with. A*. guess what race I am?	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/34	2.941

Black Americans were climbing the economic ladder faster during the Jim Crow era then they are today. That's not because racism has increased between then and now.	Black, Crow, Jim Crow, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/27	14.815
Black people are just if not more racist than white people.Maybe its this bizarre perspective from both sides that proves troublesome for any real systemic change.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/27	7.407
+KomodoDojo yes and jews during nazi germany were more racist and responsible for all the problems in germany at that time right?...this propaganda is nothing new...oh black people are lazy...but they were forced to work for free for 100s of years...oh black people are violent...how many lynchings have there been? How many black neighborhoods have been terrorized by racists mobs?? oh and the new rhetoric...Oh it turns out black people are the real racists.. black people don't buy none of this bullshit..so obviously you must be trying to convince yourselves..	Black, Nazi, Nothing, Racist	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	8/89	8.989
Kayo Odoms Your first statement isn't true, and everything else you said doesn't have relevance to what i stated.I'll say it in a way where it's easier for you to understand, Both sides being racist makes it difficult to overcome a problem of systemic racism .	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/46	4.348
KomodoDojo might want to open a history book..and it does have relevance to what you are saying...think about it..blaming the oppressed by making it seem like they are the oppressor..a big part of nazi propaganda..also used today in present america..	Nazi	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/40	2.5
No, you want to put blame solely one group and excuse the other group's horrible perception. Racism is racism , and it has no belonging in the 21st century. And what I'm saying is in order to defeat this horrible ideology, both sides need to put in effort for large scale change.I'm well aware of the point I'm making, you're just a racist making excuses for your bullshit delusion.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/69	4.348
KomodoDojo i see effort but from one side..can you guess what side I'm talking about..because when I'm pretty sure black people or any minority in this country aren't really capable of systematic/institutional oppression...does racism (prejudice) affect white people in any other way besides hurting their feelings?? because all the stats seem to suggest that one group benefits from racism and one doesn't..	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/62	4.839

Kayo Odoms you're a crazy person. you're ideas are damaging. go home, do yourself a favor, lock the door, and never leave. they way you perceive things isn't helping society, economics, and bettering the future.	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/35	2.857
KomodoDojo yeah like saying black people are more racist then white people isn't damaging...and i'm crazy ...hmm maybe you're just racist ..could that be it?	Black, Crazy, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/23	17.391
+Kayo Odoms that was poorly stated, by more i meant population percentage that's racist . Not severity of racism .	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/18	11.111
+Kayo Odoms i can't be racist , i dont think people have different races. Black , white, tan , I know skin has nothing to do with who people are as people.	Black, Nothing, Racist, Tan	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - British	4/29	13.793
Does anyone have suggestions for things I can do (as an individual) to fight back against this? I make an effort to educate the people around me when race comes up, but I'm worried I might do shitty things without even noticing it sometimes. (I'm white, middle-class and cisgender so I've grown up pretty privileged) An example might be if I find myself in a position later in life where I'm hiring people I could make an effort to hire based on qualifications and be wary about subtle racial biases I might have? Can anyone think of other inequalities to watch out for?	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/103	0.971
If you want to get paid more, be worth more and negotiate well. Period. This is racist and sexist.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/19	5.263

The problem is that people like you only look at the issue from one side and conclude that the entire system is against minorities. You left out the facts that schools will give out minority scholarships just because of a person's skin color and will accept minorities more than white men. So for instance, if a white male were to send an application to Harvard, they'd have to show a lot more credentials compared to a female minority in order to be accepted into the school. Even then, they'd still have to pay more money just for the fact that they are white and a male. Now, if someone were a woman and a minority, they'd have to show fewer credentials in order to be accepted and they'd also receive a nice discount simply because they were a minority and a woman (this is especially true with Native Americans were they are practically treated like royalty). So okay, if there is systemic racism against blacks, then there is educational racism and sexism against white men.	Racism, Sexism, Woman	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	5/175	2.857
Racism is deferentially real, but don't forget to talk about reverse racism, which should not even be called reverse racism because that term is racist towards white people. Don't get me wrong, I still hear a lot of racist comment in public and different places that I work towards people of different backgrounds. However, I actually see more public displays of racism towards white people than towards black people now days, yet it's somehow considered acceptable to be racist towards white people. It baffles me that so many people are so stupid in our societies.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	8/95	8.421
And they told us America is the greatest country on Earth? Greatest at racism, incarceration rate, being fat, gun violence, coups and many other things. Go 'MURICA!	Fat, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical Features	2/27	7.407
+Vjatsheslav Gaidenko Gun violence?That's Honduras. A strict anti-gun nation lmao.	Nation	Nationality - General	1/11	9.091
You should visit other countries before making such a stupid claim. The US is one of the least racist countries, and im not saying the US aint racist but Asian, European, African, middle eastern, Australia, and South American nations or waaaaay waaaay more racist.	African, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/44	9.091
+Vjatsheslav Gaidenko The West is verifiably least racist of any place on Earth because of its individualism. Also, America isn't even in the top 10 of fattest nations on Earth, and our gun violence rates are not 1.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/38	2.632

Russia beats us in arroganceJapan beats us in racism Honduras beats us in gun violencenorth korea beats us in sheer evil.I am a black American male. I have personal experience and professional knowledge of my countries problems , and have experienced many of them.You are not American, and have no legitimate knowledge or experience with American issues. Which is fine, but you do not have the right to accuse us of being "the worst" at any of the problems you mentioned above.Focus on improving your own country instead of bashing ours.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/96	2.083
+D D - Guilt and incarceration rates, as you note, are not, in themselves, at issue. The notion of justice, though, is insulted in that minority offenders are more likely to be arrested for the same offences and then to receive harsher sentences, on average, than Caucasian offenders. Year in and year out, throughout our criminal justice system—police, prosecutors, juries, judges, all contributing to the inequality. And, for the most part, we do this without being conscious of our biases and the insidious results. That pretty much defines "systemic racial prejudice" and begs the question of "justice." That does not address the tendency of our legislators to pass laws that mete out harsher sentences, in consequence, to minorities, e.g. sentencing laws for crack cocaine vs. powder cocaine. Nor our tendency toward "mass incarceration," much of which is due, not to murder, but to the "War on drugs," now well past its fortieth year. This war has cost us billions upon billions of dollars in law enforcement, judicial and incarceration costs and with billions more going to foreign governments and foreign narco-traffickers, without any indication of ultimate victory, and no exit strategy. What we are doing is locking up tens of thousands of individuals—of all races—year after year after year after year and it changes nothing . Well, except that the drug lords of some of our narco-trading partners have now grown powerful enough to threaten the sovereignty of their own countries and the integrity of our borders, most of which borders are not with Mexico but are ocean shores. Nor am I much comforted, as some others seem to be, by the fact that we are not as stupid or mean-spirited as some other nations. It's a comparison list on which I'd prefer we were not included.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/299	0.334
+Vjatsheslav Gaidenko America actually isn't the racist country on earth. Apparently, the real most racist country is Jordan, followed by India. [LINK]	Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/22	9.091
+Vjatsheslav Gaidenko Go anywhere else in the world if you want to see the best of the best in the racism dept. There are certainly racist people here, but we're pretty damn good compared to the rest of the world.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/40	5.0

+Jack O’ Reilly - You mention a comparison that has been suggested by others in this thread, that racism in the US is not as bad as in other countries, but I think that approach is the problem we actually are discussing. It is the habit of Caucasian Americans (among which I count myself), in general, to minimize the racism in the US, through various rationalizations, rather than to deal with it, per se. In effect, white Americans, in general, tend to say things which mean, "it’s not that bad," rather than to say, "how do we fix it?" Even so, it’s somewhat disingenuous for white Americans to suggest we even know it’s not that bad. Or, for that matter, why do we even use that justification? Does that make our racism OK, because it’s not as bad as elsewhere? That’s the point of the video: we don’t deal with it and we say things like, "it’s not that bad" or deny it’s any sort of problem at all. Because it’s not a problem—for us white Americans.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/178	1.685
Gene Rybarczyk I understand where you’re coming from, but the problem becomes that when people want to push a narrative and need to exaggerate claims and essentially mislead people into thinking it’s a bigger problem than actually is, then that’s an issue. If a cause lacks truth and evidence then it can risk becoming fanatical (e.g. Black Lives Matter). I agree it would be much better if we could focus more on solving our problems rather than just bickering with each other. But, it becomes difficult when people aren’t giving specific policies/systems to discuss or simply lie/exaggerate the problem to further an agenda. It’s hard to combat an issue like "institutional racism ", because it’s essentially a meaningless term. I’m not saying we don’t have our problems, but we need to take a more constructive approach to addressing themLastly, on the point about America being better than other countries in terms of race relations I’ll leave you with the thoughts of black , liberal Harvard sociologist Orlando Patterson, who wrote: "America, while still flawed in its race relations ... is now the least racist white-majority society in the world; has a better record of legal protection of minorities than any other society, white or black ; and offers more opportunities to a greater number of black persons than any other society, including all of Africa."	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/223	3.139

+Jack O’ Reilly - Thanks for the very thoughtful comments. As to your quote from Dr. Patterson, I am not in a position to be able to compare the overall record of the people of the United States regarding race relations to that of other nations. If I were to place a bet, however, I would lean toward Dr. Patterson’s assessment. Moreover, I believe that any record of better performance likely owes its existence directly to our Bill of Rights, the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments and other Constitutional provisions not enjoyed or enforced by other nations. Nonetheless, enforcing those provisions, even in the United States, is not an automatic or default position that we can assume will be in effect. It will continue to require upgrades, similar to the Voting Rights Act of 1965. What I object to is that other respondents mentioned only that comparative performance, without any acknowledgement of the overall problem, like a man, pulled over for speeding, immediately whining to the traffic cop that other drivers were speeding even faster. That is a very common, and very human, form of denial used to minimize unpleasant circumstances without addressing them. But, rather than “institutional” racism, what I believe we are really dealing with, everywhere and in all races, is an inherent biological tendency—hardwired, so to speak—to reject and even be hostile to other people that are not like ourselves. This is, according to my readings and studies, a propensity based in genetics, so that the less someone is like me, i.e., other races, the less accepting I would be, and that those most like me, my own family, are those most valued. I suspect further, based more on extrapolation than on any evidence, that this proclivity is not distributed evenly throughout the human population but, like other racial, ethnic or individual traits (e.g., eye color or height) may occur in differing degrees or standards. That biological urge is the problem I believe to be at the base of these issues and is the factor we humans must eventually address.	Common, Ethnic, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	4/346	1.156
Im just going to chip in my two cents and say that racism in the US cannot be solved entirely. Sure we can reduce it, but people will ALWAYS be racist.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/31	6.452

Gene Rybarczyk I understand, but the original commenter was pointing to the idea that America is mainly exceptional when it comes to things like racism and I feel a comment like that is worth shouting down because it unfairly characterizes this country as something that it's not. But you're right to say that being not as bad as someone else shouldn't be the bar we measure ourselves by.In terms of the biological tendencies you point to, I'm sure there's some truth to that. We do seem to be hostile to things we don't understand, and people we grow up with or identify with are probably more likely to receive favorable reactions. However, that becomes a very hard thing to measure or account for when having political discussions and it can serve as somewhat of a green light to make assumptions about what people think, specifically in terms of race . That's a problem in my view. Humans aren't perfect but we're extremely intelligent creatures with the ability to think with reason. So whatever biological tendencies we may or may not have, if we apply the right kind of open-mindedness and rational thought we've developed over time, then we'll be fine	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/200	1.0
+Jack O' Reilly - I see your point regarding the notion of overcoming our negative proclivities, but your view of the human race is somewhat more sanguine than mine. I know that we think of ourselves as an intelligent species but, to a much greater degree, we are an emotional species. I believe we behave more in response to those emotions than we do to any semblance of intelligence we might possess. More often, our intelligence is employed in service to our emotions. I would also take exception to your description of us as "extremely" intelligent. We might be the most intelligent creatures on the planet, but we really have nothing to compare ourselves to by way of our type of intelligence. Saying we are more intelligent than dolphins or chimpanzees is not really saying a lot. Intelligence I will concede, but I think the jury is still out on the question of quality and degree. I concur that the goal is not to accept the situation as it is and to deal with our limitations directly, I am just not too optimistic at our prospects in the short term and suspect we may have to experience some additional evolutionary upgrades before the problems will be resolved.	Nothing, Race	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	2/209	0.957
+Jack O' Reilly - Will power? Don't get me started on the subject of free will. But, while I might not share your evaluation of the potential that human beings bring to the table, I do agree that we should advance programs of awareness and acceptance, including on the elementary and secondary education levels. While our biases for those who share more of our genes and against those who share fewer may be innate, many of the traditions and displays of racial prejudice are learned at a young age in family and other social contexts. This is an influence that will be difficult to overcome.	Age	Age - General	1/105	0.952

+Vjatsheslav Gaidenko Are you really saying that America is the greatest at racism even though there are countries that still have slavery ,and are you trying to tell me that America has the greatest gun violence when countries are having Civil Wars?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/42	2.381
+Jack O’ Reilly - Your mention of our history brought to mind the fact that our recent economic recession was not really a unique circumstance for the United States. We’ve managed to have one of these economic collapses—known as panics, recessions, or depressions—every few years, right back to 1790. And almost all of them caused by short-sighted management in the financial or Investment sectors. We humans seem to make it a habit to forget enough of our history make the same mistakes over and over again. I, for one, am not anxious to resurrect hardly anything from our past—except maybe those golden decades when all pizza was thin crust pizza. I think the whole issue of America’s greatness is practically meaningless. It’s not a trophy we can put on the mantle or a check we can deposit in the bank. It’s just an empty catchphrase that politicians like to bandy about when they don’t have anything substantial to say but just want to get the yokels worked up. America doesn’t need to be great, it just needs to be America. And this constant urge to compare ourselves to other countries—America is the greatest country in the world!—smacks a bit of poor self esteem. I mean, if your neighbor down the block stood out on his front lawn once a week and shouted out how he was the greatest one in the neighborhood, you’d pretty much figure he was just a loud-mouthed jerk. If I were to say what we most need in this country, it would be more critical thinking. People allow themselves to be led around by their emotions. Some politician gets up on a soapbox and shouts that everything will be better if we elect him to office so that he can bring us back to thin crust pizza and that will solve all our problems. Those simple solutions are always a crock.	Thin	Physical Identity - Physical Features	2/318	0.629

Gene Rybarczyk I agree with a lot of that, but critical thinking does require giving yourself some credit where credit is due. As a people, there is nothing wise in always looking to our shortcomings and thinking they're what defines us. Yeah hubris can be off putting, but there are values, principles, and achievements that give the people of this country reason to be very proud of its history. We don't need to live in or deify the past, but acknowledging and understanding its contributions is how we can improve on the present. Otherwise, we're doomed to never improve or learn from our mistakes and achievements.Lastly, free market capitalism, when left alone, will have its peaks and valleys, but the important thing is to allow the valleys to happen and let the market recover. The only true depression we've ever had came from the mismanagement of Hoover who thought he could engineer the economy back to health, not helped by the doubling down of FDR, and that took a long time to recover from. The 2008 crisis saw similar mistakes repeated and we still haven't recovered either. The point is we're not as morally or intellectually above our past as many think. And, yes, thin crust pizza is pretty awesome.	Nothing, Thin	Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical Features	2/211	0.948
Gene Rybarczyk I agree, that's a good way to put it.On FMC in theory, the point is that people are free to pursue their own self interests and will reap the rewards and failures of their own actions. We don't all have to be smart or reasonable, because no matter the results, you're responsible for yourself. Which, to me, does a great deal of benefit. When people can no longer blame society for holing them back, it does motivate people to make the most out of their situations instead of blaming someone else. That's essentially the trade off of freedom. Nothing is holding you back or restricting you from living your life the way you choose, but no one's guaranteeing you success. FMC is the best economic vehicle for that philosophy man has created so far.In practice, this economic system has certainly proven itself out in the past, especially here. This country has been mainly built on that system and has produced the greatest advances and innovations in technology, medicine, energy, business, and so on, the world has ever seen. Even more importantly there's never been a system that has done more to help the little guy and bring him out what we now consider poverty into prosperity. This country also produced the greatest middle class (which was non-existent to many countries) the world has ever seen on the back of that system. The biggest problems come in when business leaders use government (and vice versa) to distort and corrupt the marketplace for their own benefit and keep the politicians are bought off and happy for doing it. But that's a problem of corporatism, not capitalism.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/278	0.36

Gene Rybarczyk But again, this is why government was only given a certain amount of responsibilities. The idea that government infringement is a product of FMC is self fulfilling prophecy that gives safe haven to authoritarians. If the people held the government accountable and didn't allow them stretch beyond its lawfully prescribed duties, even if it was for something we find good or helpful, then we wouldn't have these problems. The issue is most Americans have often been too caught up in this left-right ideological battle that they become willing to allow state power to expand or infringe where it shouldn't, in order to get their way.The argument about campaign contributions, that many see nowadays as legalized bribery, only manifests itself when talking about donors with lots of money. The worry is that these people are essentially buying politicians and being given favors and advantages in return, which is totally true. But there's nothing wrong with trying to get politicians to do what you want, that's what politics is for. These people are our representatives and they're supposed to serve our interests. If/when they don't we punish them with the loss of our votes and support. And contributing money to a campaign is an essential part of our responsibility as an electorate. "Money is the mother's milk of politics." The problem arises when government returns their contributions with favors and alignment they aren't supposed to have the power to do.It's also a dishonest framing of the argument to make an emotional appeal when talking about people falling on hard times or needing help and painting libertarian philosophy as one that scoffs at people's misfortune and chalks it all up to laziness. This line of argument is often on the basis that it's immoral to allow people to live in poverty while others are well off. The fact is it isn't moral to steal from some to give to others just because they're poor. And the kicker is that these government programs don't even work to lift people out of poverty and often leave them caught in a cycle of dependency that's hard to escape from. Free markets and charity have done more to help people in those situations throughout our history than government ever has. And even today, research shows that in America if you don't want to be permanently poor you only need to do 3 things: finish high school, get a job &amp; hold it, and don't have a kid out of wedlock. That's it. Don't get me wrong I'm all for helping people, but we should be free to make those decisions for ourselves and not coerced by government.Finally, I think we agree that government and the private sector working in symbiosis is not a good thing, but that isn't affected by allowing capitalism to run wild. It's only when politicians want in on the action (for good or bad intentions) and make promises to the people in order to get what it wants.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/500	0.2
---	---------	---------------------	-------	-----

If you're willing to debate me I can show you how America is the greatest nation , friend. What do you say?	Nation	Nationality - General	1/21	4.762
Racism is everywhere and yes the u.s is ONE of the most racist countries its because of there justice systems and the abuse african americans are going thru but the u.s isn't the only most racist countries	African, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/37	10.811
Guess you should move your stupid ass to the middle East, where women are still on dog collars, and gay people are burned alive and flung off buildings.But America is Soo much worse, right?	Gay	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	2/35	5.714
No, blacks are the greatest at incarceration rate. It's not racist if it's true.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/14	7.143
People just had to be racist as an American, like just be a descent human being and not a bigot! You won't suck so much. Maybe	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/26	3.846

While I certainly understand your points and agree that there is some systemic racism in the US, the reality is that White Americans are not entirely or even primarily to blame for the struggles of African Americans. Even with affirmative action policies in place for decades, African Americans still struggle. Even while another minority, Asian Americans, has great success, African Americans still struggle. I would like to point out that there are significant differences in family structure & values within the African American community that put them at a significant disadvantage before any societal racism factors are taken into account. For example, let's take a close look at the percentage of African American children growing up in single-parent households. A whopping 67 of African American children grow up in single-parent households. This puts them at a severe disadvantage growing up, with a lack of mentorship and guidance that could help put them on the track to success. In contrast, 42 of hispanic/latino children, 25 of non-hispanic white children, and 16 of asian children grow up in single-parent households. Asian Americans are known as the "model minority" precisely because they have close-knit, supportive families with parents who instill in their children the value of education and hard work. If African American families valued family structure, education, and hard work in the way that the Asian Americans do, I believe that they could realize their true potential. Asian Americans weren't granted any major favors by majority-White Americans, and yet they have had outstanding success. (see: Children in Single-Parent Families by Race , Kids Count Data Center, A Project of the Annie E. Casey Foundation)To conclude: The problems endemic to the African American community are not solely or even primarily caused by White Americans, nor are they solely or even primarily solvable by White Americans. While White Americans can increase funding for inner city schools to help African Americans, they cannot solve the problems regarding poor family structure and values endemic to the African American community.	African, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	13/333	3.904
Yea let's completely forget about the fact that African Americans were enslaved for hundreds of years and Asians (and other minorities) were not. Slavery was (and is) the cause of family separation and lack of family values and instead of understanding that the systems in place in the status quo also keep these past behaviors in place, you blame African Americans for having 'poor family structures'.	African	Ethnicity - Black	2/66	3.03
progressive1802 Yes, I knew that, Captain Obvious. I was making a point "but I think you knew that". I just think it ridiculous to suggest that slavery, of any form, against African Americans is a DIRECT cause of their situation. Eh. Keep commenting I guess, but those are my thoughts.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/50	2.0

Guys like this can cite sources all they want but the problem is that conservatives like Ben Shapiro, Thomas Sowell, and Larry Elder (just to name a few) will also cite dozens of sources and statistics that in their view proves that institutional racism is a myth and most people will never know which side is correct.	Elder, Racism	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - General	2/57	3.509
+The Grumps Well, I guess the difference is just which sources are cited. Sadly of course many people do not actually look at the sources (or indeed the statements of the people citing them) when it's for a view that conflicts with their own. I've been trying my best to get better at this, I know I'm definitely guilty of it myself, but it's actually served to make my own convictions firmer in some cases, knowing that I've actually given the counterpoint a fair assessment.One big thing is to actually look critically at statistics and think about what they actually mean, cause you can say the same thing in different ways and use it to justify opposite statements. Like for instance I once argued with someone who wanted to stop all immigration to Sweden because he could link an article of some vaguely racist blog saying "immigrants commit twice as many crimes as swedes". I researched a bit and found a report from the criminal institute where it said something like 0.5 of citizens born in Sweden are suspected of a crime in their lifetime, and 1 of citizens born abroad... So the title in the article was almost true (even if being a suspect is a very different thing from being guilty of a crime), but the implications of the satement, that immigrants are dangerous criminals, was obviously pretty damn flimsy.So yes, everyone can cite sources as much as they want, but the actual contents of those sources is what matters. Of course the sad part is that some people just will not read sources anyway, and just take any statements they like at face value, but if more people actually take the time to scrutinize what they read and hear, and try to talk to people spreading or believing in untruth and plain meanness, hopefully stuff can change for the better...	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/315	0.317
Racism will take more than a single event to end.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/10	10.0
It can be ended with the complete anialation of the himan race , a solution which is looking more promising every day...	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/21	4.762
Elephant WarriorNot really. That's very hard to do, and any apocalypse situation will result in more racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/18	5.556
KASASpaceHe literally means the complete and utter extinction of the entire human race .	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/14	7.143
it will never end. sadly that is true but there is always going to be that percent whether it be small or big that is racist . it will still exist.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/30	3.333

+Elephant Warrior no, then you also remove the cultural history and family heritage of that race . such as I'm part German and part Cherokee, but if race wasn't a thing, I'd know neither. race is important in more ways than just discrimination. discrimination in it self isn't a bad thing, discrimination for factors you cannot control is the bad thing. if you are black , you can't control it so discriminating that is bad. being a criminal or being less intelligent you CAN control, and that's what we should be discriminating against. stop being racist and be dumbist or be convictist or be weakist. something like that which we can control.	Black, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/110	4.545
Jeremiah TabletThat is ethnicity and nationality , not race .	Ethnicity, Nationality, Race	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	3/9	33.333
rdizzyl yeah, but race has different heritage too. If I said I was Hispanic and English, it'd be race with Hispanic, and that goes hand in hand with my heritage. African people or people with African ancestry are most likely colored and if you took away that part of them to make everyone one skin color, then eventually their heritage is removed too. Once you start blending everyone together, everything blends more and more, and we lose heritage, because if we aren't racist , we'd be culturist (against heritage) and then people would blend heritage, then we'd turn sexist more than people say we are now, and we'd take that away more than now, then we have communism which we all know doesn't work.	African, Colored, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/123	4.878
Well you can start by stopping with the obsession over race . Maybe look past race and take your own responsibility in life.	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/22	9.091
WhatReallyMatters Trump has nothing to do with it stop trying to place the blame on one person besides he hasn't really done anything racist I'm not too fond of him but I can see the facts	Nothing, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	2/36	5.556
Racism will end when humanity ends.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/6	16.667

Your hopeful. It will never end. It will always reduce and certainty has over the past few decades but now the country is so polarized and rascism has been used as a football ofr that. "White minority" and other words like that. If only we can come together and actually treat each other equally and only judge when the crime has been proven in court. Anybody can be intelligent. The idea that certain groups of people are smarter than others is just a coincidence. Anybody can study hard and become intelligent. Intelligence does not choose race .	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/96	1.042
Racism will never end. Racism is like the ego and fear; a natural trait that developed as a necessity for survival.That is why every people on the planet is racist , and this will always be the case. You need to be racist to defend your homeland. All peoples need a homeland, so all peoples need to be racist . Racism keeps Japan Japanese. Only whites are not allowed to be racist , because whites are not allowed to have a homeland.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	7/80	8.75
Racism will end when people stop caring about what racists have to say.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/13	7.692
Jockmon alot of the most racist people are in powerful positions tho and translate their ideologies into horrible actions and deeds. Police murders, managers hiring discrimination, politicians making laws that will hurt minorities, etc....	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/34	2.941
affirmative action???college???That shit hurts high performing white and asian kids simply because it's politically correct to let black and latino kids go to college despite being performing at a much lower standard. Isn't college supposed to be a meritocracy????????? If you want to tackle racism , you gotta talk about that too	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/53	3.774
+beepybeetle Those programs were created in an effort to combat racism , if colleges weren't inherently avoiding selecting black (or other minority) students in the first place, these programs would've never become necessary. As racism gradually fades with each generation, these programs will become useless.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/44	6.818
+beepybeetle The arguments for it are: compensatory and diversity. College admissions were never purely based on merit. Look up Legacy Students. Also, some say that a black person can bring something to a college campus that a white person can't. Just like how a suburban student can bring something that a urban student can't. Or a cancer survivor, or someone who grew up in poverty. AA is a crumby bandaid to a hard issue. The correct means would be to fix poverty and make the K-12 education experience egalitarian, but that would cost a lot. We might be going in that direction if taxes are raised.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/106	0.943

AA discriminates against certain groups while allowing others a privilege. I wouldn't label it racism since it's not stopping whites from going to college just limits their chances of going to a better school	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/34	2.941
KomodoDojo That's racism ... If colleges weren't racist , they would allow only the highest performing students in, not pick and choose between the different races	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/24	8.333
secondpink So what you're implying is... being born poor is racism ... My parents came here from China with a few hundred dollars in their pockets a suitcase full of clothes. They came into this country poor but they worked their ass off and got educated. Being poor is not any excuse to not perform. Shit education? Bro if you want to really succeed, just study for AP tests or whatever on your own time and take the tests on your own. That's exactly what I did for multiple classes. You don't even need to buy study guides. Same can be said for the SAT/ACT and possibly IB.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/107	0.935
+beepybeetle Yes, AA is racist but that does not mean it's bad. AA was put in place in order to help combat the institutionalized racism against lower-performing minorities throughout society by improving their chances at a better life. Although AA is racist , it theoretically helps these minorities more than it hurts whites and asians. This is the core reasoning behind AA; it is not about diversity or political correctness.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/69	4.348
+beepybeetle True, the only racism that remains legal is against whites and asians.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/13	7.692

+beepybeetle I work in college admissions and that is factually incorrect. First and foremost, AA isn't actually instituted at the rates that it should be. Second, it definitely does not hurt white kids, in fact schools are often afraid of being accused of admitting black students only because of affirmative action, and tend to have stricter guidelines for admitting students of color. Statistically those who benefit the most from AA are actually white women (who these programs were originally created for)MOST IMPORTANTLY we need to acknowledge that college was never a meritocracy. EVER. Academic performance is very much linked to income in the U.S. so when you have policies that force particular people into poverty (slavery, jim crow, red lining, school to prison pipeline etc.) they will live in poor areas, and where you go to school is determined geographically. And schools are partially supported by citizens taxes. So you end up with poor schools, and students who are often also working. Which kind of makes it hard to have amazing grades, especially when 10 people are sharing one textbook, and teachers are being laid off. Also note that it has already been established that the SAT and ACT are both sexist and racist, and most importantly classist, which is why you might have noticed many universities going test optional, and Hampshire College going completely test blind. This affects all poor people in the states which is why there are parts of affirmative action that pay attention to income. Also remember that because of aforementioned policies, that pocs particularly black people are disproportionately effected by poverty.So if a student from a poor area is managing to do reasonable well despite the circumstances they are faced with, imagine what they could do with actual opportunity?!AND WHAT IS MOST INTERESTING is that in all these discussions about affirmative action, you never see people discussing the real, and actually unfair affirmative action: LEGACIES. you know the people who get in based (in some cases) entirely off of the fact that people in their family went to an institution. and this is part of keeping rich people rich, because with a degree you earn more, so compare that to families who were barred from higher education for hundreds of years? ALSO straight up, colleges are more likely to accept students whose families or associates seem likely to donate to the school.So if you want to talk about affirmative action, talk about that.	Black, Blind, Crow, Jim Crow, Racist, Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	8/412	1.942
+Courtneymae Fuller Your explanations are excellent and easy to comprehend. All races have problems and issues. Everyone must understand and agree that the US has a systemic racism problem, before resolution occurs.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/32	3.125

the study about distinctly black names is rather controversial because later studies indicated that it had more to do with the names themselves than the applicants implied race . This is still difficult as there are implied discrimination going on, just not the way it is implied to by the first study.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/51	7.843
I really care .....Now tell me what I can do, that I don't already do, to make a difference? 1st because I really want to know what you think I can do? 2nd So, I won't be told I'm a racist anymore, just because I have lightly tanned skin.....I would hate to be "white" I mean just look at the background of this page!?! Not pretty!Hey, I even took that "Do you have racial preferences" test and Ding, Ding, Ding I scored smack dab in the middle. Which basically means I associate happy things with light skinned faces and dark skinned faces equally.....also...and this was my own conclusion..... that I just don't like shitty people and I like awesome people.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/122	0.82
Racism certainly does exist in the US, but that last bit John said about economic inequality is a HUGE factor when it comes to incarceration rates.Yes, white people historically have had better inheritances and wealthier families, and the reason that economic gap exists today is because of racism . Plain and simple. However, I'm hesitant to think that the justice system is biased towards blacks... Blacks don't have access to the types of defensive resources that whites have. I believe this is due to the economic gap. A middle-class white person MORE THAN LIKELY knows SOMEONE who knows a lawyer, or perhaps they have a lawyer in their family. That connection will guarantee the white person to a better chance at getting a lighter sentence compared to an impoverished black person who doesn't know any lawyers and doesn't have the money. Again, this is most certainly because of HISTORICAL racism , and that a couple generations ago blacks didn't have the same rights that whites had. I will argue, given enough time for that historical racism to be left behind, and blacks continuing to have access to the same rights that whites have, this incarceration gap (and the economic gap) will decrease. It will take a long time for the damage to be undone, and programs like affirmative action are needed to continue to give blacks a boost to have the same success rate as whites have always had. I don't think the justice system is biased towards whites, but I think the justice system is corrupt in the sense that money talks and who you know matters. Blacks, at this point, are not able to play the system in the way that whites are. Is the justice system flawed? Yeah, probably... but I don't think the justice system is racially biased.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/301	1.661

+HiddenTalent77 Yup this is how the sexual assault statistics get skewed in various ways, in a huge majority of rape cases, they are under investigated, under convicted, and just fucked up in many different ways (such as not even processing the rape kits by the time the trial takes place) and as such, the person gets found not guilty (when they may in fact be guilty are in fact guilty). There is a distinct reason they use the term "not guilty" and do not use the term "innocent".	Sexual	Gender - General	1/88	1.136
While I agree our justice system is messed up in many ways, judges and people of the jury are humans just like we are. There is no way to know the truth 100 of the time if you weren't there when a crime was committed. Investigators collect as much evidence as they can to prove their case, but in the end, the best the jury can do is decide if the evidence is strong enough to convict. Therefore, sometimes the best they can do is rule on whether they think the person I guilty or innocent. This system is far from perfect and it is possible to tamper with evidence, racial or gender biases may come into play, and sometimes corruption completely takes over. However, no one can possibly know the whole truth so even in a perfect system, there will always be innocent people who are convicted and guilty people who are set free. Just my thoughts on this.	Gender	Gender - General	1/160	0.625
+HiddenTalent77 No it really isn't dumb ass	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/7	14.286
Jack Rundle In most countries it works, mine for instance, The Netherlands. You need to have enough supervision and openness (everyone may visit a court case, press too.) Of course, you have a point but in a lot of countries it works better than having a jury, because a jury has the same (maybe even higher) vulnerability for corruption. Furthermore, juries have the potential for acting on their feelings instead of by the facts (take the '60s when black men were more likely to be sentenced by white juries) etc	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/90	1.111
Yeah, the educated should have no power. Only woefully ignorant should hold the power because they're uncorruptable. Mob rule doesn't exist. In group bias never happens. Education has 0 value! Give only the bottom 50 power, they're too dumb to fuck it up right? Reading is for Nerds and Nerds are EVIL!?	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/52	1.923
This is the reality in Chicago. It's similar in many other cities. Murder in America is primarily a black problem. [LINK]	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/21	4.762

what about a video showing that you the black or non white guy killed the innocent person, it's still what someone else thinks, and not your fault?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/27	3.704
I know my reply is a year late..but if you took the time to read the transcripts of the OJ trial, you'd know there was nothing but circimstancal evidence against OJ. Our legal system holds to the notion that we all have to prove guilt BEYOND THE SHADOW OF A DOUBT. Please look up what "circumstantial evidence" means.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/58	1.724
Dave Vaidya I support racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/5	20.0
Sam Young I support racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/5	20.0
J'Quanöe Kwailé I support racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/5	20.0
Mighty Mouse I support racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/5	20.0
Gaming Palace I support racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/5	20.0
ware a. I support racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/5	20.0
Dave Vaidya Do you support racism too?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/7	14.286
The statistic about the blacks and Latinos having less education in their locations is flawed. If you look by the numbers, you will find that black majority neighborhoods also tend to be poorer neighborhoods. When you can't get enough money to pay for a teacher with a Master's in Calculus, the teachers will go elsewhere... like a neighborhood where better paying jobs are available, usually with a white majority. And it's not like the blacks will be denied a more advanced class at their school because of skin color. That education graph is more of an economics situation than a racism one.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/102	1.961
The liberals keep killing African Americans with the policy. Yet the blacks keep voting for them.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/16	6.25
African Americans were better off economically in the 50s and 60s than there are now. Stop "helping" us liberals.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/19	5.263
+TrillBandit ID (FalseSense) Yeah liberals! Thanks for giving African Americans basic civil rights!!!!	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/13	7.692

Actually they were better off economically. the vast majority of AA homes had two parents, the black unemployment rate was low compared to national averages, especially among teens. The crime rate was low and HS graduation rate was high. It was not until after the walfare programs that poor AA communities started erupting in violence and destruction. Even though there was alot of racism experienced by AA, in almost all categories economically AA where better off before the "walfare".	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/79	2.532
how about racism and discrimination against Latinos in the justice system?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/11	9.091
I'm PC Morgantown, WE known all white people think and do the same racist things and you can tell that they do because they are white.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/26	3.846
I see in the comments that people are conflating two concepts. Racism and discrimination are not the same thing. Racism is a hatred or other negative emotion regarding a person of another race , and by itself it cannot hurt you. Discrimination is the ACTION of treating someone unfairly due to trivial reasons. Blacks are discriminated against, and racism MAY be one of the reasons that happens. But just because blacks are discriminated against doesn't automatically prove that it is white people in general that are responsible. The reality is that the major source of discrimination against blacks is the federal government, not your white neighbors. Blaming whites for discrimination is not helpful and its not even true. If you blame the government, that will be true, AND helpful since then we can get down to solving the problem.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	4/138	2.899
Pro-tip, don't put your name on your resume, you can both be discrimated by race and gender if you put your name on your resume.	Gender, Race	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	2/25	8.0
Pablo GuzmanYou don't, that's the idea, you are looking at the persons credentials more than what gender they are or race . It's what I was told at my local YMCA youth program for employment a few years ago.	Gender, Race	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	2/39	5.128
The study about hiring people by name tells you that people discriminate names, not necessarily race . And I have heard, but am not sure, that the incarceration differential is due to repeat offender. I wonder if anything that gives away identity should be on applications.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/45	2.222

+Figaro Fog Names can (sometimes) indicate the race of the person they belong to. Example, Jamal (like used in the video) is given to black americans for the most part, Jose to Hispanics, Justin to white americans. Since when were there people discriminating by names?	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/45	4.444
+Figaro Fog Ah yes, it's not the people's race the employers are discriminating by, it's just their name! Not at all that they're associating that name with a particular race or anything logical like that.	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/35	5.714
It might not be conscious discrimination. And the study can only say that they discriminated names not race . It's more important that the names are outside of what they are used to seeing. You can extrapolate wildly. Sorry.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/38	2.632
Figaro Fog And is that not subconscious racism ? Yes, this study only proves that people with traditionally white names are hired more often than those with traditionally black or other race associated names. If you take into account the tons of other studies the evidence is even more undeniable.	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/49	6.122
+Les Epp There's definitely discrimination, but you have to be honest about it. There are better examples, I agree, but have some perspective. Jamal may be a commonly black name, yet it is the name that was discriminated against. I'm curious if we could create a system where identity is hidden until later in the hiring process so that we don't have such a problem. Of course tolerance would be good but it's always more reliable to do things like this semi-blindly.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/82	1.22
+Figaro Fog That's like saying if the names were "John" and "Rachel" and "john" got hired 80 more, and then you'll say, it's "name discrimination"no, just no....People clearly associate names with race , ethnicity , religion, and gender , let's not avoid that, but instead solve the problems attributed to it.	Ethnicity, Gender, Race	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	3/50	6.0

+Heath Blake It's not that simple. Crime isn't a symptom of race its the outcome of poverty. People who don't have a legitimate way to make ends meet turn to crime. That happens even in white impoverished neighborhoods. We have set up a system where inner city schools don't have all the resources they need to educate their students well, because we break up districts by taxes, and those kids then can't get jobs to reinvest in their communities and families because of that. But that was cause by two things Housing discrimination that happened until the 80s making ethnic ghettos, and white flight because white people didn't want to live near black people. That leaves black and Hispanics in a feedback loop that produces generational poverty. Affirmative action was made to attempt to remedy that problem I don't think that its the best way to do that, but that is the solution that people felt would hurt people the least. Also you aren't less likely to get highered at a middle class job, companies that use affirmative action tend to higher only a few minorities. Like that's a straight up myth. Also Black Lives Matter is about all lives mattering. But because Black lives are culturally treated like they matter less than white lives the slogan came about. This is a tired saying but its kind of like the slogan "Save the Rain forest" isn't saying "Rain forests matter more" or "fuck other forests" it's just noting that rain forests are being depleted more quickly than other types of forests. And can I say that white people are allowed to complain, infact you can say almost whatever you want. You just aren't free from the social consequences that come from saying misinformed condescending stuff like you just did.	Black, Ethnic, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/299	2.007
I think blacks only make up 3-6 of all college graduates. And only 16-20 of blacks have degrees considering them only being 13 of the population. Such small numbers. It's a myth that minorities are taking away educationally from white America. I think many whites are also feeling a lot social and economic pains such as low pay, under employment, long work hours, and lower standard of living. It likely due the the erosion of a strong middle class with corporate welfare running rampant. Black and white working middle class struggles are very similar. The wealth gap in America support this where the top 1 hold most of Americans wealth.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/110	0.909
Thank you for doing the research and presenting the information fairly. Racism is experienced cross-culturally as well as within subcultures. It would be nice to see in this generation everyone accept one another no matter their ethnicity .	Ethnicity, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/37	5.405

Alright, mate, not trying to argue with your point too much here, because I agree with you on the need to increase awareness of these terrible truths. However, I notice something in your language that is highly questionable:You said at the beginning, around 0:13, 75 of white US citizens don't think that there is racial bias in the criminal justice system and just over 50 don't think that racism is a significant problem in the US—emphasis on THINK. At about 3:21, you say "but do deny the existence of systemic racism ..."Not thinking something and actively denying are two totally different things, mate. There's no such thing as passively denying something (considering that it is a synonym with verbs such as contradict), whereas there is such a thing as passively thinking something—it's called being unaware. Now, some may say that the differentiation is minutia, but hear me out on this: a lot of these white US citizens are pushed farther away from the issue by this sort of accusatory language, because they don't feel as if they have been denying something, but you are telling them they have been.Just as white people should be significantly more open-minded about this topic, people really need to keep in mind that the audience is, fundamentally, white people, because they are the ones who can fix their thinking. This is an important issue, and it shouldn't be trivialized, but it also shouldn't be inflamed into a race war by hostile language on either side—in this case, yours.Cheers!	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/256	1.172
One thing I dislike about racism stats and discussion in America is it leaves out Latin, native, Indian , Asian, middle eastern Americans... OR, Some discussions group them all together as people of color. But ignoring them or grouping them is just... Inaccurate. Racism affects these groups as well and we need to discuss it.	Indian, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	3/54	5.556
+Zola Zora Not to mention that racism effects these groups on different levels	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/13	7.692
Linkgray Although I agree, its interesting to point out that US history is also full of Native American Genocide (not to mention native americans, by law, had little to no rights in most places... even to vote. This went on LATE into 1900's too), Japanese American internment camps, and xenophobic propaganda towards practically everyone else as late as the vietnam war.All these groups experienced and still experience racism , and because they are all vastly different experiences its not good to compare one against the other. Kinda why I believe they should all be discussed, not grouped or ignored.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/99	1.01
+Zola Zora There are numerous studies about other POC besides black folks, but they aren't discussed in the mainstream media unless it's specifically Mexicans or native Americans.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/27	3.704

+Zola Zora He talked briefly about LAtin american and black and when it comes to asian bias it usually helps the person as multiple studies have shown the majority identify asians as smarter and hard workers the whole middle eastern bias is often discussed and I agree that native bias needs to be talked about bc I'm from the midwest where there are practically no natives left but when i moved to arizona where a large minority are navajo and hopi I found a whole new world	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/87	1.149
+Geekly weekly Even within the specifics of the asian minority, there are certain nationalities of asians that are treated far worse than the average citizen than other nationalities, "dark skinned" asians for instance are treated on par(or worse) than african americans, while most "light skinned" asians are treated on par (or better) than whites.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/54	1.852
Time for the "more oppressed than you" wars.As stated several times already: different races face different forms of racism and incomparable to one another in "more oppressed than you" ideals.That's not what this thread is about.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/38	2.632
+The Grumps this thread is about discussing all racial groups that face racism not ignored them. Ranking them from most oppressed to least is completely irrelevant and maybe try another topic to do that at?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/35	2.857
Everyone is in agreement, let's include more races into racism discussions! Yay.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/12	8.333
+Zola Zora Asians are the highest payed race in the us, they are left out because it nullifies the argument that race dictates pay.Don't take my word for it look it up.	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/33	6.061
+brucinator9mm racism isn't just pay amount. Again, racism affects races in different ways. That's why they need to be discussed.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/20	10.0
Zola Zora Sorry are you deaf ? i said prison sentence racial bias stats, lets discuss this.	Deaf	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/16	6.25
+Zola Zora While I whole heartedly agree that we cannot simply group all races together, we can - and often times need to - talk about them as a single group in order to see trends. We can group them together to see the big picture over time, but I do agree that when we talk about how racism occurs we shouldn't group them together as one.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/67	1.493

Racism has historically affected black people more than any other ethnicity by far and it is totally fair to have debates about racism that centre around the black community. This is coming from an Indian by the way..	Black, Ethnicity, Indian, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native- American	6/38	15.789
Racism affects every group. I'm Asian and people have said racist things to me, did I commit suicide? No, because it DOESN'T matter. And you blaming white people for everything is racist .	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/32	9.375
I agree but, if their groups are exposed as African Americans are in this country it will change nothing except new labels on Chinese, Indian and other groups. We are pretending the system works fair so by including that fact that some Asians are discriminated against based on appearance and name we can not have another non-White group claiming the same issue because this proves more proof that our system is racist . The more we try to discuss topics on the ethic difference the more it creates a difference.	African, Indian, Nothing, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native- American	4/89	4.494
I hate how people say racism can apply to everyone apparently except for white people. White people can be discriminated too and anyone who ignores this fact, is honestly a reverse racist . It is important not just to treat people of minorities better but to improve racial relations in general	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/50	4.0
Dont say reverse racist . Only a racist would say there is reverse racism . Racism is racism .	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	4/16	25.0
Moesha Le Goldstein elaborate on what reverse racism is and yeah I agree with you about Jews but in the words of Ben Shapiro " people started calling Jews white people as soon as they started making money	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/38	2.632
Sure. Its like this. You know when people say reserve racism , what they are really saying is that they think only white people can be real racists. Why would you hold people to two different standards and two different terms based on their race ? Isn't treating people differently based on their race the very definition of racism ?Hope that clarifies what I was getting at.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	4/65	6.154
Mörk Moesha yeah I completely agree with you. Saying only white people are racist is the very definition of racism	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/20	10.0

Racism affects everyone and statistic don't really matter. The only thing that matters is stopping all racism . I hate when people complain about racism against their race but don't do shit to stop it nor care about other races being discriminated.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	4/41	9.756
Admiral Dan Von Billings You mean you don't think that slavery of African Americans in the US was a thing?	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/20	5.0
Admiral Dan Von Billings So are we including the over 90 of black people in the labor force who are employed? [LINK] Also, did you like your own comment?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/29	3.448
sis you listed nationalities....Latin, native, Asian can all be black sis lol	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/12	8.333
We need more racism to have war	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/7	14.286
racism is a subconscious response to darkness.a sunny day is better than a cave.light is bright but not always right.humans havent evolved enough yet white or black ,to understand this.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/29	6.897
We need more racism	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/4	25.0
Zola Zora not to be offensive but I find this a good thing because we now only have to deal with a smaller problem. If we had all these other races added it'll just make our situation worse with racism . All we need to do it just try our best to tone down the hate between blacks and whites	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/59	1.695
Why does it matter? If white people don't acknowledge racism against blacks, why would they acknowledge racism against latinos, asians, middle-eastern, etc?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/22	9.091
Indians hispanics and chinese are often victims of racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/9	11.111
True true, but you can't just expect people to advocate for you without doing anything about it. The only person who can understand a Latino persons struggles is a Latino, same thing goes for asians. The reason statistics on racism against black people are always made is because black people have a long and strenuous history of fighting for there rights, the BLM movement is a prime example of that.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/70	4.286
Lane Mcgehee Blacks and white racism is far more important to discuss than other races.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667
Cmon man give me a fucking break. If you dont know the real truth about black on white crime its because you dont want to know the truth.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/28	3.571

racism against asians is a lot different. Anti-Asian sentiments need their own video	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/13	7.692
Im black , and i feel this way also	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/8	12.5
As a outsider .. When we hear racism in the states, our minds dont go to those groups because its not as bad as with black Americans. Or so, we dont here about it as much, Im sure there is racism just not to that magnitude just like every country. People that say its not there is walking around with their eyes closed!	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/63	4.762
Because no one else stands out more than a us. Because no one else was forced here to build this country and are STILL suffering the consequences for it but us. Racism has a hierarchy and black people are on the bottom AND EVERYONE KNOWS IT EXCEPT YOU?	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/48	4.167
because america has a special relationship like no other,blacks are the only group they have enslaved and built the country,that's probably why its the most relevant,its like black is the gold standard of racism	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/34	5.882
As a person in one of the PoC groups you just mentioned... there is no widespread/systemic racism in america	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/19	5.263
vivalaruby I support racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/4	25.0
kimbalucy I support racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/4	25.0
Geekly weekly I support racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/5	20.0
If you ask me, I think whites are the cause of racism	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/14	7.143
Lane Mcgehee racism in this country affects African -Americans Native Americans and Latinos Asian Asian people do not get discriminated and harassed in this country because they try to be white and they blend in with the white culture how many Asians do you see hanging around blacks or Mexicans are African Americans very few they mostly hang around white people	African, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/60	3.333

Joey Flores you just really showed how stupid and ignorant you are your IQ is very low you just posted the same thing four times we got your point the first time why don't you get you a Sharpie and make you a big sign say I support racism and walk around in public with it and let's see how that goes for you don't express how you feel on social media go out in public and express how you feel coward	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/82	1.22
T Mia Pretty sure Native Americans have had it as bad considering they were nearly wiped out in order for modern America to even exist in the first place. Not to mention that today they are suffering the effects of forced relocation by living on reservations. Their voices can't even be heard considering their current population size. Just one example of why racism towards ALL races is important to be aware of and not just one.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/76	1.316
Latin is culture, not race .	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/5	20.0
True but their children and infants also weren't fed to alligators as bait. Racism is a thing that does need to be dealt with but, until all people realize that racism is not bigger than a concept; and is only as strong as the energy hurt people feed it. We will never overcome something that doesn't even breath or have a soul. Let's controll that which can be. That which is made by man's hands CAN be destroyed, but that of GOD'S hand shall never perish.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/86	2.326
Oh and also to speak on what happened to Native Americans is to also speak on the so called "blacks". The fact that all people of color here were catagorized as " black " was meant to make us forget, to decieve us through long decades and centuries of slavery to break our minds and spirits so we had no fight or memory left to claim what IS rightfully ours Turtle Island (America). This was also the deception which they "found" America. If they could get the Africans they brought with them to mate with the Aboriganal Americans, than they could say the Aboriginal were also "Africans" and thereby not fully human ( based on their ideologies) and their land could be conquered. Ever wonder why politicians and presidents dodge the topic of reparations for " black " people ? Its because their to debt to us is insurmountable. Just know no one has endured worse, not even the Ashkinaz Auschwitz. Dont believe me ? Do your research, I won't debate what ARE facts. The main point is though, that it still affects ALL people of Hue and seems like a gigantic thing that cannot be overcome; racism itself is as inanimate as a shoe or a table. The prison of mind makes us believe these REAL bars are unbreakable. Well I say where there is a will there is a way so BREAK THEM!!	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/232	1.293
Because black people don't give a shit about anyone or anything but themselves. They are in prison for a reason.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/20	5.0

Asain's can be pretty racist towards black people.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/8	25.0
US racism isn't as bad as liberals want it to be.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/11	9.091
Yeah liberals!!! Thanks for giving African Americans basic civil rights!!!!	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/10	10.0
How about another statistic that shows that 50 percent of all violent crime in America is committed by black people? This gives the incentive for the Police to operate more in black neighborhoods than they would in other neighborhoods. A lot drug users have also been arrested for violent crime as well, over 50 percent of state prisons are filled with people who were arrested for violent crime.If you look at one statistics but not the other you will not get the full picture. There is more too the story which also defeats the "systematic racism " argument.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/98	3.061
TheJoggingJolt When there are bodies lying on the ground I would be less concerned with the drugs than I would be with the murders. When you see more murders happening in black neighborhoods thats where you would go to fight crime.Besides, the cops don't go to black neighborhoods just because they're black . There are plenty of black communities that have no problems with the police. It just so happens that most crimes takes place in places that has a large black population.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	5/83	6.024
TheJoggingJolt So should we hire twice as many police officers so we would be spending more money and resources for you equality? Or should we spread them so thin we would have half the police officers doing nothing and bum around. These ghettos you speak of are not surrounded by huge brick walls with Nazi guards manning towers. They are not trapped there. Why are immigrants who lived in the real impoverish places are doing so much better than the blacks living in America. It's because of their mentality, there culture, their aspirations and there way of thinking.	Bum, Nazi, Nothing, Thin	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical Features, Social Class - Destitute	4/98	4.082
+Jinseual So what are you trying to say? Black people are more likely to commit a crime on the basis that they are black ?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/24	8.333

Jinseual A correction is still a correction, shouting the false 50 statistic is only fear mongering. You're not racist because you think racism is not a problem, you're racists because you apparently believe blacks deserve to be considered sub human because of "their behaviors", and you state false statistics to justify police targeting minorities. I have already rebutted your argument about cops and you haven't rebutted that so I don't know why you're still attempting to make that weak argument.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/80	2.5
TheJoggingJolt They are not false statistics. You can keep denying reality but the world is not going to change for you. I didn't call blacks subhuman and I'm not fear mongering. You didn't rebute anything you're just shift the blame.How does your logic work exactly? You can blame white people all you want but if you put any blame of blacks then you're a racist ! It's never the black mans fault he never does anything wrong. Everything that goes wrong with blacks is always the white mans fault and if anyone disagree they are racists. Never mind the real history of Africa and Europe. Is that all you can do? Is call me racist ? Whats with people thinking one race has a complete monopoly to decide whats racist or not. Who cares about true equality when all you have to do is to accuse other people of being racist to get special treatment.	Black, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/154	3.896

Africa was not ripped apart before the popularization of slave trade. Before the popularization of slave trade Africa had some of the best universities and had it continued without the slave trade and conquering of whites it would not be in the bad shape it is now. Whites convinced and gave incentive those in Africa to go to war and obtain slaves. Yes they had slaves in Africa but hardly as much as Europeans had, as they didn't have large cash crop colonies. They conquered territory then when they withdrew control it spiraled into chaos. Saying whites didn't make much of Africa into such a horrible state like it is today goes against basic history taught in high school. "It has been 50 years since that happened." You do understand that is younger than many people are right? 50 years is in no way a short period of time. The japan comparison is wrong in many different ways. Firstly you're comparing people from a single country to an entire skin color. There are 41 times as many blacks as there are Japanese people. The oppression of the African american community in america has been going on for 300 years, the Japanese only a few decades. In no way do I mean to minimize their struggles but they were doing well before they were interned, and they never need to do what blacks had to do simply to obtain basic rights. Don't compare 1,000,000 people to 41,000,000. Your statistics is wrong is not my rebuttal, stop using straw man. Here was my rebuttal. "I'm not saying that, I'm saying there should be less police officers in these areas, the idea that increasing police actually helps stops crime is completely false, as proven on the war on drugs. Police can punish those who commit crime, but they don't stop the amount. The money spent on extra police in these areas would be better spent in creating opportunities. But people like you who shout that blacks commit 50 of crime is what makes people afraid of a race." Again Indians are one of the smallest communities in the USA, not even 1, they're also many of them immigrating right now from India. I would love to rebut this but there's nothing to rebut. Yes some Indians came with nothing or very little, and were able to make a living. But when slavery was abolished all blacks had almost nothing, and many were able to make a living even with heavy oppression, so I see no argument.	African, Nothing, Race	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/423	1.182
---	------------------------	---	-------	-------

Jinseual Do you actually have a degree? Or have you only seen a few bias videos and think you can re write history? Yes most of central africa was under developed, but simply being underdeveloped does not make it the way it is today. Europeans convinced those in africa to go to war with each other so they could get slaves that they could sell. Europeans also took control of areas which when they lost spiraled into chaos. But in the end this has nothing to do with your argument. So I have no idea why you said "Never mind the real history of Africa and Europe." When I see no connection of that to your thesis.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/117	0.855
Syrian Refugee So now you're justifying slavery? Africa wasn't a utopia, nor was the rest of the planet, but it was exponentially better than it is today. Europeans did "fuck it up" and that's known history only the ignorant would disagree with.ickerish Thanks, yeah I think a lot of people just throw out facts to somehow justify their thoughts and actions. But they just ignore the obvious story behind those facts. Also, Samurai Champloo was a great show.	Refugee	Nationality - General	1/79	1.266
Syrian Refugee study history from 1500 till present then get back to me. until then, please stop polluting the world with your so called logic. what you've got going on in your head is what i call "bad math". i know people don't relate complex math with history or politics, but people who so often get things wrong don't understand the complexity of 500 years. they view history as a linear curve where they can say "because this than this" as if it equates that easy. you dont understand the hundreds of variables, the events, the years of oppression even after slavery was illegal. the fact that you dont see it as a problem is exactly the problem. have you not noticed anything different with whats happening all over the internet with cops shooting the shit out of black people in ways they wouldnt have if they were white folk? have you seen the tamir rice video? this is just ONE incident that portrays 500 years of holding people down. it is deep but its not hard to see or understand	Black, Refugee	Ethnicity - Black, Nationality - General	2/181	1.105
TheJoggingJolt indeed, its no different than before. we thought witch burning was something of the past but if you follow history, you understand that the mob- witch burning mentality we see in old films exists today and has never ever gone away. today we're burning muslims, gays, women, blacks, and anyone who doesn't think trump will be a good president. lol. ANNND yes, Samurai Champloo was a super sick anime.	Old, Witch	Age - Over 65s, Gender - Female age and physical appearance	2/69	2.899

Syrian Refugee Instead of attempting to twist my argument into something it's obviously not why don't you actually say what you are trying to say? Are you trying to say "If whites didn't do it someone else would?" I hate to be the one to tell you how to make a basic argument. The history of Africa and the United States are what they are. And I blame the ones to blame. If you believe I'm blaming the wrong people make an actually argument. If you only want to say "white man" you should just leave.	Refugee	Nationality - General	1/96	1.042
Syrian Refugee Next time try making a paragraph not consisting of mostly questions. Not trying to justify slavery but the slavery in Africa was much different than in the Americas, they didn't have use for all those slaves, slavery did exists, but most were debtors, serfs, and the like.(There were things like the Arab slave trade but you already made the distinction they're not the Africa you're talking about) It is fun to pretend like the Africans selling one another into slavery was just them selling all the slaves they just, you now had lying around. But in fact because of the Europeans, they attacked each other to obtain slaves that they could then sell. May I mention how annoying it is that you write almost completely in questions, This is only the internet so I have no idea if you're trying to be sarcastic, or you're just ignorant. So you're saying Africa isn't that bad now? Yes there is still slavery in Africa, not serf like slaves, more like 1018 sex slaves. Yes Africa is still having many conflicts, ISIS is one large and popular example. Because you like to falsely restate someone's argument with different words, let me do the same, but a lot more accurate. "All that cruel slavery, rapid colonization, forcing of change to western religion that Europeans did were really the Africans own fault you see. Plus it wasn't bad either because Africa is so good these days."	Refugee, Sex	Gender - General, Nationality - General	2/243	0.823
rdizzy1 Which is why I use homicide statistics and not rape statistics. A rape can go unnoticed but a murdered body are usually left on the ground. You can't expect the murder rates of each race to be equal like you can't expect every city or country to have the same murder rate. You can't deny that they are also the ones that are committing the crimes the most which is why they are represented so high in the statistics.I also look at the murder rate of each city and also turns out that some cities with a larger black population tend to have a higher murder rate than cities of other population, regardless to the number of police or the racial mix up of the police. You can see for yourself in neighborhoodscout.com. There are only rare exceptions.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/140	1.429

ickerish”mob-witch burning mentality we see in old films exists today and has never ever gone away.” ”today we’re burning muslims, gays, women, black ”What? I don’t see anyone in America or Europe creating mobs and burning people alive. The only places I see that happening are in the Muslim countries. The police are not holding blacks down either Tamir Rice’s case was a very rare event. Even then he shouldn’t be pointing a real looking gun at random people anyways. I see more footages of blacks running at cops with knives or guns than I see trigger happy cops. If at all many cops are more hesitant to shoot blacks than others because of the possible racial backlash they get for defending themselves.	Black, Old	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Black	2/124	1.613
JinseualMurders are notoriously known for putting innocent people in prison though as well, probably some of the highest rates of prisoners end up being released years down the road due to dna evidence overturning their verdicts. Police need someone to take the fall for a murder, so they target whoever is easiest to put in prisons, poor people that can’t afford good lawyers, and in inner suburban cities, this happens to be black people most of the time.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/79	1.266
rdizzy1 Most murder cases aren’t hard to solve in the first place, it’s very rare to have a person who sets up an elaborate plan to frame someone. You probably watch too much Monk, CSI to believe something like that occurs frequently. How bout the countless domestic murders and gang wars that happen in the areas? I’ve even seen a video where a black guy randomly shoot a school bus full of children. Some blacks seem to be proud to be part of a violent ghetto. How do you even know if it’s a black guy framing another black guy? You can’t just automatically assume it’s just white people framing black people.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	4/112	3.571
rdizzy1 Didn’t I already mention murder rates are higher in black neighborhoods than other neighborhoods? How do you know many black people are not getting away with murder with all these gangs scaring witnesses away.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/35	5.714

+Jinseual your argument here supposes the existence of secret murders that aren't being counted, which is a burden of proof argument, the absence of proof is not proof. You have to address what we know, and what we know is that black Americans are punished more severely for the same crimes, they are disproportionately sent to prison, they are treated like criminals more often when they are not, in fact, criminals. The argument in this video is thus far unmitigated by anything you have said. It really sucks to imagine our country has erred for so long, but we have to face up to the fact that the white kid next door is inherently no different from the kid growing up in the "black neighborhoods" you speak of. Finally, you should look into this violent crime statistic, because it doesn't hold any water.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/143	1.399
Ryan Beaudoin"your argument here supposes the existence of secret murders that aren't being counted"Nope, the bodies are lying there. The homicide rates counts people that are killed it's the other guy that's talking about secret murders. "they are treated like criminals more often when they are not, in fact, criminals."This is complete denial right here. If you murder someone to steal sixty dollars for some drugs then you are a criminal. Over 50 percent of state prisoners were incarcerated for violent crimes. "the fact that the white kid next door is inherently no different from the kid growing up in the "black neighborhoods" "You are the one that's judging whether or not someone is innocent base on their skin color. What you just said there holds no water whatsoever. That kid next door is most likely raised a lot more differently than the kid who lives next to him. More or less differently than a kid in a black neighborhood. It doesn't matter where they live but who teaches them. They tend to be taught that "society is always against them" and "it doesn't matter if they commit a crime society hates them anyways" or shit like "I'm a black guy I can fuck with whoever I want" A bad portion of them grow up with that kind of stupid mentality. That line if thinking is the problem and you and other people in this comment section is spreading the "society is trying to oppress us" mentality that causes other black people to grow careless and ignorant with their lives.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	4/264	1.515
JinseualStatistics showing how many homicides took place in total, count how many people die. Statistics showing WHO(age,race,etc) committed said homicides specifically only go by who is convicted alone. It doesn't matter what crime you look at, if one race is being over targeted for said crime to begin with, and they are being convicted far more often, they will be falsely over represented in statistics of said crimes. As john explains in the video, there is sufficient evidence that black people are targeted more, and convicted more than whites, as such, they will be over represented.	Age, Black, Race	Age - General, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/97	4.124

rdizzy1 Only by drugs! Nothing to do with homicides. Are you trying to convince me that black homicide rates are equal to white homicides? Just because you want everything to be equal, doesn't mean the whole world got to be equal to your liking. The murder rates in Brazil is a lot higher than the murder rates in Argentina, but let's just assume the murder rates of these two countries are exactly the same just because the Brazilians has more police officers and would target Brazilians more just so we can feel like they are equal. That's the kind of nonsense I'm hearing from you.	Black, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black	2/105	1.905
JinseualThere are no studies or evidence whatsoever that an individual race alone is inherently more or less likely to commit murders than another race .	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/25	8.0
Jinseual burning witches is a figure of speech, its an analogy for the mob mentality we see against muslims and blacks. just watch one trump rally when they kick out the only colored person at the event. they arent literally burning that person, but its the attitude, its the fear and scare tactics to oust a particular people. also, tamir rice wasnt a rare event, theres a long ass list of blacks killed in the last couple years that have made this push for black lives matter. it absolutely wasnt just one incident. the argument that blacks are doing way more crimes today then any other isnt as simple as seeing the statistic and just using it as proof that theyre somehow inherently worse than any other group of people. when you see that statistic you have to ask yourself, "why does that stat exist?", "how did it become this way?", "what has history told us about the black community and its struggles?", "being that all humans are the same, why is it that there are more blacks in jail, more blacks getting caught up in petty non-violent drug crimes, more blacks involved in murder, less blacks in higher paid jobs, less opportunities, less likelihood of getting picked for a job due to ethnicity or even their particular name.. why is this? if you dont ask these questions, if you cant see a connection in the history, if you blame the victim and have no ounce of sympathy, it is YOU that is the problem for it is YOU who have no idea what it is youre implying about a group of people who are inherently no different than you or i.	Black, Colored, Ethnicity	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/282	1.418

rdizzy1	How's this guy? It was over for me when I read this line from him: "They tend to be taught that "society is always against them" and "it doesn't matter if they commit a crime society hates them anyways" or shit like "I'm a black guy I can fuck with whoever I want""I'm sure there are statistics that explain this to be true.. that's absolutely what paints Jinseual as a racist . He specifically believes that the black community does not have the attitude to work hard, they're not raised with ethics and with heart and warmth, somehow that they are raised differently than other kids. It's unbelievable.. See, you can use the homicide rates all you like but I've already discussed that if you can't ask yourself how it is that we have gotten to this conversation about a particular race , then you aren't critically thinking. You are cropping a picture out of time and discussing it without looking at the time line leading up to the particular snippet. I believe that if we didn't tear down black communities since day one, we wouldn't have as many seemingly violent black men.	Black, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/193	3.109
+TheJoggingJolt	It's a true fact though, As the number of African American citizens in a city rises, so does things like gun violence.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/23	4.348
+Jinseual	it's kind of amazing how desperate you are to demonize black people	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/13	7.692
rdizzy1	I already have this discussion with other people you can reread what I wrote until you make a big revelation to yourself that whites and blacks don't commit crimes at the same rate. Meanwhile I would be living in a South African home surrounded by concrete walls, barbed wire, armed guards while having guns, panic buttons and trap doors all over the house.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/64	1.562
rdizzy1	"I'm white so I can say whatever I say about white people." I don't think your race makes your point any more valid if you were Asian or Black .	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/30	6.667
+Jinseual	I love how +TheJoggingJolt thoroughly proved you wrong and exposed you as either ignorant or racist a long time ago yet you continued to comment to other people as if what he said meant nothing . That is the height of intellectual dishonesty and stupidity. How does someone with your apparent intelligence even know how to use computer?	Nothing, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	2/58	3.448

Vito Corleone I show facts, he show speculation. If he refuses to accept the statistics presented by the FBI, the statistics from black neighborhoods and the dead black bodies lying across the streets that's his problem. If he choose to nitpick statistics to support his cause without looking at the reality of the situation as a whole. That's on him. I have said all I need to say to him. He didn't want to accept the statistics. I merely reply to other comments simply because each one gets dumber than the last.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/92	2.174
JinseualEvery race kills their own race in higher numbers than any other race , statistically.	Race	Ethnicity - General	3/15	20.0
rdizzy1 You really enjoy going the full circle.1. Every race kills their own race in higher numbers than any other race .2. Lots of blacks has been murdered.3. Much of the murders occur in places were blacks are the majority.Then you repeat "murder statistics are based on who is convicted in court" You really are going against your own logic?	Race	Ethnicity - General	3/63	4.762
JinseualNope, I'm saying, by statistics alone, it shows that every single race kills within their own race FAR more frequently than outside of their race . I am also saying, statistics alone do not show the truth behind ACTUAL murder numbers, as they are only calculated based on who is found guilty in court, not on the actual numbers of murders.	Race	Ethnicity - General	3/61	4.918
JinseualNope, you could insert ANY race into the same exact situation and the crime numbers would be the same. It has to do with the poorest areas in the country have the highest crime, nothing to do with race .	Nothing, Race	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	3/40	7.5
What about the University of Chicago study that sent out resumes to different employers with all the same credentials except name. Why did names like "Laqueshia" and "Jamal" get 50 less call backs than names like "Emily" and "Brenden." No racism there either, huh?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/44	2.273
I have a white friend named Jamal and a black friend named brenden. It is probably just that those names are uncommon and so our brains natural are less familiar than them. It is definitely a passive psychological affects because the rate of scholarship for minorities is much higher than that for white males.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/54	1.852

Jinseual The problem also relies with the fact that 1 you ignored most of the statistics in the video and 2 and most importantly, no matter how many times we stay on the issue of police brutality, people always refer to black on black crime as if the 2 are related. If we are talking about A, why are you talking about .Indeed the black community faces many problems some of which are brought amongst ourselves that we need to solve, but how can we be expected to even solve those issues when we cannot even be treated fairly under the law and are indiscriminately targeted by those who are meant to defend us.Like for example u mentioned the No snitching rule, did u ever once ask yourself why it is an unwritten but followed rule in some of the more poverty and violent stricken areas of the black community?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	4/152	2.632
StephySon I am not ignoring those statistics I am giving an explanation of why the statistics seem so scewed. I'm not ignoring statistics, the people who's arguing against me are. 'Most of them refuse to acknowledge the problems in the black community or think that white homicide rates are equal to black homicide rates. It's pretty obvious why there's a no snitching rule. People don't like seeing themselves in prison so they threaten witnesses. However, as a consequence more blacks get killed as enforcing the "no snitching" rule becomes popular.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/91	2.198
Jinseual And have you seen white homicide rates and crime rates?And your kinda wrong, while yes in some cases the no snitching rule is used as intimidation to witnesses the primary reason is that whenever people snitch, no one ever defends the person snitching.Here's an example, lets say a person snitched on a drug dealer and got them arrested. Other then maybe a pat on the back, the police will not defend that person from any possible retribution, and in some cases if a person is judged for "Withholding information" which I shit u not happens more times then anyone can think possible and is arrested and sent to jail, do u have any idea what happens to snitches in prison? The No Snitching thing as bad as it is came about as a reaction to the fact that it brings nothing but trouble to the person who usually does the snitching.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/154	0.649

Jinseual The statistics are a lot worse then that on all front when it comes to all Americans and crime by race.And what magical country of sugar and rainbows have you been living in? Crime has never been EASY to solve and if it was it was never in any benefit to blacks. Lets not forget that for a majority of this countries existence prior to the 60s, it was a shot in the dark hit or miss with relations especially in the inner cities and South between blacks and the police considering the country could not give a single fuck about them and even afterwards things shit hit the fan with the rise in crime of the 70s and the crack epidemic of the 80s and by the 90s as it began to decrease damage has been done and cemented for a while now and dirty practices from corrupt and biased law officers had all but severed and possible trust between blacks and the police and that "No snitching" rule came out in somme hoods as a defensive shield which sadly as fucked up as it is, still works in protecting the lives of those who would otherwise snitch because u damn sure ain't protecting them and the cops or feds damn sure ain't protecting them so its a continuous cycle of people getting fucked over that is only now being brought more to lie in recent years with the advent of recording technology.So please tell me what utopia you were describing that "Crime was a lot easier to solve" in the United States of America in the black community?	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/273	0.733
--	-------------	--	-------	-------

Jinseual Okay first of all, I am black so seriously your tone and your talking down to me is beginning to get annoying.Second of all, and most importantly its a holes like you that help further exacerbate the problem. Because apart from your statistics not being fully correct, I can tell your bias by how u speak. If you said "The statistics show that blacks do such and such, and its terrible, the communities need to work together, or I don't say this with ill thought" maybe just maybe I could at least partly listen to you, but you speak down as if blacks are all criminals, as if blacks are all saving thugs. Because that is EXACLT the same tone of voice the police used when they put a gun to the back of my head after knocking me to the ground because "I fit the description" they kept your same bullshit logic and judged me and all of my people instead of looking at me as a person.What stings more then anything when people like u say shit like that is its bad enough that we have problems within our own community that we have to face, but whats worse is even with clear evidence of police misconduct and us screaming for change, people like you could care less, because people like you divert the conversation to a bunch of other topics.So stop telling me your not racist because of this statistic and that statistic. Thats like going up to a Native American in a Reservation and saying "Oh most of your people were killed by disease so there wasn't really a genocide" And as I'm literally part Cherokee (None of that 1/6 bullshit I'm literally part Cherokee) no one thinks that shit is cute.And even with all of that, I may have even still have given u the benefit of the doubt of again u spoke with reason in your words. But you words sound as if they come from someone whose nose is high in the air who could not give a single fuck of the problems and issues of others. This is just another youth video for your to accuse people of "Being PC" or "Telling them to go back to their safe space" because of how wrong they are and how right you are. And even if you were right which your not, u aren't helping any situation or anyone. I actually volunteer in my community, I actually go to school, I actually help my home and my country, you probably just sit your ass in your computer chair and armchair warrior your way through every "SJW" video you see that triggers you as you commit biased statistics that aren't even fully right because it makes you feel better telling people that "Here's evidence that those blacks are making a big deal out of nothing" And thats whats truly sad. You could care less, your selfishness is even more scary then your uncaring nature.	Black, Nothing, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/504	0.595
--	------------------------	---	-------	-------

Jinseual Your argument is invalid because not everyone convicted of a crime actually committed it. The only thing you can draw that conclusion from is who the judges in our courts consider guilty. And if those judges are either purposefully or instinctively making racist judgements, Black people (and other people of color) are also more likely to be treated like they are more dangerous than they are.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/67	2.985
I'm a right-leaning libertarian and I totally agree with what you've said here – however, the LEGACY of unfairness and slavery isn't equivalent to racism in the status quo. Now, we have equal rights under the law - conditions may be dramatically worse for blacks through no fault of their own – but this is purely due to black communnitties being trapped in poverty. Whites who have grown up in these communities have very, very similar outcomes in nearly all facets of life, proving that active discrimination isn't a problem in the status quo. What we need to do is massively reform welfare and infrastructure (public schooling), incentivise charity, create economic opportunities, end the drug war, and undertake big cultural change initiatives like Ceasefire and others.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/126	1.587
"If you look at one statistics but not the other you will not get the full picture. There is more too the story which also defeats the "systematic racism " argument." The irony of this statement is going to overload the system. Hey Jin, do you want to look at other stats about crime, like say economic factors?, or is skin colour the only thing you need for an unbiased view?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/70	1.429
Jinseual black people call for the. cops aids in their troubling ways.my dad's a cop for benton township and benton harbor mi.type in benton harbor Michigan people nothing but blacks.my dad says their always calling.and they get tired of it.	Black, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black	2/40	5.0
BTW, this is the reality in Chicago. It's similar in many other cities. Murder in America is primarily a black problem. [LINK]	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/22	4.545
Jinseual see that that has to do with institutionalized racism see the thing is because African Americans are more likely to get arrested and they unless some turn to selling drugs and the thing that happens is they got money and they go to jail and when they come out of jail they have nowhere to go so they go back on the streets and keep on selling those drugs and it's just a repeated cycle	African, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/76	2.632
Jinseual so what about all the recorded school shootings being comitted by whites? By your logic whites are more likely to shoot up a school than a black .	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/28	3.571
I doubt it defeats the idea of systemic racism entirely, but I understand how those things mitigate the idea there is systemic racism in the USA courts system.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/28	7.143

Young Moist I'm black and this is annoying af. You still playing the victim card decades later? That's bs. Black people can do better they just don't feel the need to or aren't motivated to. It's bs how you use the study that simply asks people if they do drugs and believe none of them blatantly lied. And frankly it's funny how you were wildly incorrect on less policing in a few areas. In Chicago I'm sure you saw the amount of shootings that happened in a mere weekend due to the policing being reduced. Aren't you tired of making excuses? Yes, excuses, a reason for failure. That's basically what excuses are. It's time to stop blaming 'systemic racism' and start blaming the very culture of black communities	Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/128	2.344
Hey it actually turns out arresting more black people in fact does not help lower and crime rate. So please stop giving excuses for racism .	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/25	8.0
Young Moist if they weren't committing that much crime in the first place, none of this would be a problem, period. Victimhood is the worst possible way to solve any problem. The music and culture surrounding black people is mostly negative, incentivising them to never break out of the ghettos they were born in. If you want to break out, no form of racism is going to stop you. Blaming your situation on racism only hurts you, it's your mindset that needs to change first and foremost. Before the civil rights act, blacks weren't dependent on the government, crime and single motherhood rates were vastly lower. A moral revival of black people is required if they're to escape from this perpetual spiral of victim hood. Everything else will simply flow from there.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/132	3.03
unifieddynasty nothing make sense now, life is meangless	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/8	12.5
I speak on behalf of the American people when I say.it's our patriotic duty to be.an expert on racism . The Republican party seems to know a lot.about racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/28	7.143
Oh really? I support racism too!	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/8	12.5
naejimba I support racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/4	25.0
Can anyone out there come up with a realistic and considerate way of significantly reducing " racism "?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/16	6.25
No sadly, racism will always exist	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/5	20.0

+Dammit That Guy That’s untrue. There have been societies where skin color held no stigma. The best way to combat any prejudice is education. We have made huge progress in combating racism , ask any southern black man older than 50.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/40	5.0
notnormalyet We are human beings,there will always be that one small group that is racist ,to blacks,whites,Asians,Asians,etc	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/16	6.25
Listen my children.Human beings are not equal. Everyone is better than someone at something, everyone is worse than someone at something. We all 'deserve' different treatment, but the golden rule stands:Do not do to others that which you would not want done to you. Racism = accepted generalization about a race Example: I see man with black skin in America. I assume he is an African American and think he must experience racism like all African Americans do. Feeling the shame of my ancestors, I decide to talk to him hoping to reaffirm that non- racist white people exist. That action is racist . I begin a conversation in english, only to realize that he is actually South American, speaks no english whatsoever, has never seen a white person before and doesn't know what " racism " is because he is from a small village with only black skin folk. It was not morally wrong to assume he was African American. But it was literally wrong, and it would be morally wrong to accept this assumption as truth. I must now change my world view to compensate for the fact that I cannot fully accept a generalization to be true. The action of making generalization is essential to cognitive functions. In leu of information, we must still make decisions. However, the act of accepting a generalization is the cause of so many problems in the world.The primary issue is that generalizations are made for a good reason, so we are tempted to accept them. We say stuff like "i'm not racist , but its stupid how black people have large rims on their cars, speak too loudly in public, and have m&m logos bedazzled on the back pockets of their jeans." Today we think that discrimination is the primary indicator of racism , so if you aren't actively discriminating then you think you are not racist . But neglecting the underlying cause of racism (accepted generalization) is what allows inactive discrimination to become active i.e. choosing not to call laQui$ha because in the back of their head they still discriminate.	African, Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	15/346	4.335
When I see an article taken from Vox, suspicion towards this video having bias/an agenda goes up.Although I will give him credit, he didn't site Salon, Jezebel or Tumblr as a "credible source".Also, judging by some of the comments, apparently some of the people here can't tell the difference between disagreeing with someone's point of view, and racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/60	1.667

I have heard a lot of physical data about racism but I wonder why people dont realize its an emotional issue at its core, the idea that a fellow human is not equal to another's worth based solely on the randomness of birth is not only hurting, it is goddamned stupid, when so many counter examples of that idea exist, it is disgraceful that such an idea exists in the civilized world, humanity should be ashamed it has been such a colossal failure at not being able to outgrow such stupidity.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/91	1.099
That's the error though, this world is far from civilized. Remove race altogether and the same issues would still exist. Instead of your skin color, it would be where you are from, your likes and dislikes, your social status, wealth status. I think the entire human race is just too far gone, all people seem to care about are themselves, maybe a few close to them, they think its ok to do others wrong, a lot of times, even their own family. Humanity is lost in a big way, we live in a world where you can't trust anyone, race doesn't even factor in.	Race	Ethnicity - General	3/104	2.885
Manny Heffley yes, I know. Instinct often trumps intellectual understandings. I'm autistic, people make me uncomfortable, my nervousness is constantly mistaken for, "I'm weird, crazy or racist ". Really sucks to be me, I belong nowhere.	Crazy, Racist, Weird	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/35	8.571
Its not stupidity its a survival technique. It's what saved our lives throughout history. We were always meant to divide into tribes. Racism is just one issue. Look outside of America, people with subdivide ppl into anything. Be it a cast system, based on family last name etc...Thats why our best bet is just to encourage human altruism and kindness. This will inevitable decrease any sort of discrimination. Versus calling our racism directly leads to anger, bitterness and more divide just like u did.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/85	2.353
In the case of America this was instituted by white people and that needs to be said. By not saying it your are in many ways ignoring the cause of the problem, which is partly why it continues to exist today. And any hate white people experience from black people is purely reactionary to centuries of subjugation and discrimination...not racism . I appreciate your comments but this is something many good intentioned white people do. It isn't the "world's" problem so much as it is a white problem. Anywhere there is a majority white population racism exist, and if this behaviour is learned by teaching it to your childten, then who taught white people in the first place...or is it innate.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/120	2.5

+Syrian Refugee We need to fight all of it, but the problem i see, is how can you have a war on a concept that America already fights....that's like drug lords sponsoring a war on drugs, or the devil sponsoring a war on evil	Refugee	Nationality - General	1/44	2.273
Well, apparently we Americans are still racist . I didn't know that. Europe is still pretty damn racist . So is Australia.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/20	10.0
Don't forget 75 of white people don't think racism exists so don't argue with the white people in the comment section proving the percentage	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/25	4.0
so why dont black people adopt the Asian culture ? it would be better for them in the long run.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/20	5.0
Merc Culture isn't something you can just swap around. It's an incredibly complex social reality built through centuries of history. People don't just decide what they want to be like, they slowly learn it through experiencing the world around them and drawing conclusions based on social norms. I'm assuming you're Swedish, based on your Youtube history (fuck yeah Sabaton) so why do your people observe Midsummer's Day? Why do you continue to have a monarch when the parliament is really in power? Why continue to speak Swedish when English, Mandarin, and Spanish are more popular worldwide? Just get rid of Swedish entirely, right? Culture isn't something you can just change. Maybe you personally can, but good luck making a sweeping cultural change for an entire race .And that's not even considering non-cultural problems in the black community, like lack of funding for inner city schools. It's also ignoring the fact that China isn't exactly a utopia, despite having extremely high work standards.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/162	1.235
+circa blonk Really? Black people have no culture? So the whole Harlem Renaissance thing just never happened? African tribal beliefs, Haitian voodoo, and Jamaican reggae just don't count? Jazz and rap are white creations? Come off it, man.	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/38	5.263
I believe he is referring to African Americans, and he is somewhat correct. During the era of the slave trade, many Africans could not practice their traditions, have ceremonies, celebrate their cultures for very obvious reasons. To exacerbate the issue, slaves were traded, so children were often ripped from their families. Thus, if they cannot learn their parents' beliefs, they will draw upon whatever is around them, the Caucasian American culture.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/71	1.408
By the exact same logic, in a half-hypothetical situation, if 75 of blacks don't believe anti-white racism exists, then we should not be receptive to blacks on anti-white racism .Sounds a little racist to me.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/35	8.571
I'm white and I think racism still exist to this day but for the people who say no are morons	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/20	5.0

black racism against white people does exist but it doesn't hold white people from having a successful happy life, but racism from whites to blacks is the american way, since the birth of the nation , not the movie. to this day mass incarceration, police brutality, impoverished black ecosystems, lack of proper educational institutions, lack of human rights recognized standards of living, violence and murder caused by poverty. this is what racism has done to black people, and even if you make it through all these challenges, and get to a great university, you have to deal with getting a job because people think your not good enough because your skin. when clearly you must be some combination of very very lucky or one of the most amazing people on earth.	Black, Nation, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	7/130	5.385
Mystic Super Saiyan God Super Saiyan Kaioken x 100 White people know blacks are racist and therefore racism exist.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/19	10.526
mystuc super saiyan god super saiyan kaioken please show me that i not met a white person who does not belive racism is real and im republican so please show me that link	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/33	3.03
No.. people do not claim or believe racism does not exist. what you are mis interpreting is that the claims of BLM and the alleged systematic racism is either over exaggerated or flat out lied about.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/36	5.556
Mystic Super Saiyan God Super Saiyan Kaioken x 100 no.. The studies didn't say white people thought racism didn't exist, it was that most white people thought racism wasn't a big problem	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/32	6.25
I think the obsession about race in the USA is unhealthy. When people think there isn't much racism in a country they are probably not racists and also do not see or experience racism . Why would you then say that that proves that they're racist ? It's literally the opposite. People that discriminate on the basis of race KNOW they are racist but they frankly don't care. Lets reverse the situation. If 75 of black people think that racism exists, is that proof for there not being any racism ?	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	9/88	10.227
Mercurio I actually agree with you. But man it sucks to have too many racist people in America :(	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/19	5.263
75 is too low. Racism does not exist. People need to grow up.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/13	7.692
Yet blacks are far more violent and racist to whites. Hmmm	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/11	9.091

Funny though many white believe they're being patriotic but there's nothing patriotic about being racist . In America, as George Washington wanted it to be, was suppose to be great, to trust in god but America is not that great anymore and we definitely don't have much belief in god.... America was suppose to be racism free, according to Washington... accepting of others and most of all, wanted peace.	Nothing, Racism, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	3/68	4.412
Look everyone, the doctor aircraft and math man says racism doesnt exist so therefore we are making it up. Racism is as American as pie that they cant even see it if it hits them in the face. Funny how u ppl see ghosts and Santa claus but choose not to see racism . Sad and pathetic	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/56	5.357
Your comment is ironically racist .	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/5	20.0
Ima do ubracist acts to my black gf tonight she loves my ghetto BWC ;)	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/15	6.667
Aang Yang You know what else is real? My love for Black Women	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/14	7.143
another quick lesson. Both Obama & Hillary claimed that border security needs to be strengthened. But when trump says the exact thing, he is being racist (as media claims and the stupid follow). What the stupid suggestion is, is is perfectly fine for the cartel to illegally smuggle drugs and people across our border, it's so very wrong to try to stop them...it's racist to stop them. Mass stupidity!	Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/68	2.941
A. Van actually, if you become a successful black male, you become hated by ignorant black people also, you become an "uncle tom".	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/23	8.696
Racism doesnt exist and lol yes just like 99 of blacks agrre they cant be racist . So ya if u cant be racist neither can we thank you come again	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/30	10.0
Racism is hate it is part of human nature who are u to declare I cant hate ppl if I feel that way. racism is a tool Nazis invented and Blacks thrive on. 2018 Racism is irrelevant	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/37	8.108
Hamlettell exactly but when people bring up black culture that is hurting them everyone just acts like it's not a thing	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/21	4.762
I'm not trying to be rude but who on earth with a fully functioning brain really believes racism doesn't exist? Even if you never experienced it or seen it personally doesn't mean it isn't there.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/35	2.857
Les Claypool Go do your research and homework because data and stats shows that hate crimes towards black people by white people are higher than black on white crimes. Where do white people get y'all info from?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/37	5.405

True Aries of course it does there is racist Black people racist Hispanics and racist White's but is it a big problem no it is not	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/26	15.385
True Aries it really isn't a super big problem at all now in days very little people are racist	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/19	5.263
Mystic Super Saiyan God Super Saiyan Kaioken x 100 don't talk to someone because of their race , sure, you're fighting racism pretty well	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/23	8.696
True Aries you do realize that hate crimes of black people to white people are seldom, if ever, labeled a "hate crime". The amount of crime that blacks commit towards whites is astronomical, compared to the other way around. You will not hear about the black on white crimes by the media. Check out some Collin Flaherty for just a glimpse of the crimes that are committed daily. Do you remember seeing, on national news, the horrific story of Shannon Christians and Christopher Newsome? Yeah, me neither. If the races were reversed in that situation, it would still be brought up on a weekly, if not daily, bases. One of the worst cases I've ever come upon but it don't matter cause they were a young white couple. A.K.A. "PRIVILEGED" CNN would most definitely bring it up every single day, if the races were reversed.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/145	1.379
The Asian Power Structure discriminates against white, black and Latino Americans.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/11	9.091
ok I see your point on racism and it is the same as most americans from what i've seen When discussing racism almost all exclusively talk about white on black racism and none talk when is the other way around or about relations with other so called races or ethnic group.People of all races can be racists yet many fail to point that out concentrating mostly on how racists whites are to all other people	Black, Ethnic, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/75	6.667
He is talking about systemic racism . It really is impossible for black people to systematically oppress white people in this country.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/21	9.524
Wait - African-American is racist - because not all black people are from Africa	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/14	14.286

And also the fact that multiple news outlets are writing articles discriminating and demonizing white people. Such as I think it was the NBC or the New York Times that wrote an article that said white Americans are the biggest terrorist threat in America.	Terrorist	Religious Identity - Muslim	1/44	2.273
Don't forget the large amount of blacks who preach hate trade towards white people. Such as the nation of Islam who have repeatedly went on street corners and said to kill white people.	Nation	Nationality - General	1/33	3.03
So? How does that prove that theres not systemic racism	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/10	10.0
+Daniel Barker Also listening majority to the people "most affected" by racism puts their bias into what your listening to. You should be listening to those less affected yet morally (or otherwise) obligated to deter racism . To minimize personal bias in your studies.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/43	4.651
I'd like to say that these statistics are bent to show a much larger gap then what might exist. for instance while blacks are much more likely to get a longer sentence then whites they are also more likely to have had a criminal history that results in such sentence.while "systemic racism " (more aptly called the remnants of racial inequality) certainly exists I am certain it will take hundreds of years to rebalance. no amount of pointing it out or legislature will resolve it.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/85	1.176
So, only white people can be racist ?How come I live in a predominately white neighborhood, but there is a burger shop owned by a black guy, and he only hires black people? I mean, I understand that that is an anecdotal example, but considering all humans are equal, is it really surprising to think that black people would act racially towards white people, as whites do towards them? Seriously, all I have to do is read the comments from black people in this video to see that they are the same.It just sucks if you're on the losing team, I suppose...	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/103	4.854
+mon dd But... When did he say only whites can be racist ? I'm pretty sure he was just saying that there is a general racial bias against black people in the US justice system, and in the US in general, which there is.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/43	4.651

I understand your point but in america its really hard for us black people to get jobs so we try to help our people first because black people don't have the same opportunities that whites have ... My best friend is white we both filled out a job application to chik fil a the only difference on the app was birthday and race we are the same age I'm 1 month older and she got the job i never understood why they ask for race on job applications but they do and it sucks snd it also hurts knowing that i may not be able to do what i want to do or be what i want to be in life because i was born with melanin	Age, Black, Race	Age - General, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/127	3.937
"Help our people first," Ok, good point, from now on I'm going to help my white people first. Racism is wrong, there's no excuse, just like stealing is not justified.Can't wait for you to call me racist .	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/38	5.263
+mon dd I'm not going to call you racist but I'm just trying to let you know that the american government dose not see us equally again you wont understand because u don't know how it feels to be black in america we went through to much shit in this country we came a long way and we are still not 100 equal	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/63	3.175
And you should not assume that i was going to call you racist because i get your point but ur using your emotions and thats making you blind to the fact that blacks are not being treated equally and we get the shitty end of the stick	Blind, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/47	4.255

+mon dd so if one business owner says i only hire black people you're telling me thats the only business you can apply for? for decades black people have had to just suck it up and try again, you saying well he only hires black people so i must sit in the house and not try anywhere else, sounds like a cry baby to me. when blacks said the same that, white guys only hiring whites. they were told try somewhere else. so im simply going to tell you TRY SOMEWHERE ELSE. only difference is, the " black business owner only hiring black people" is far and in between while the "white business owner only hiring white people" has been going on for decades and still goes on today. they dont always come out and say we only hire whites like the black guy did but they'll give excuses like "sorry we arent hiring at this time" and theres a we are hiring sign on the outside or "positions just been filled" and the signs been up for months. or "you dont meet the requirements we are looking for" when in actuality you far exceed the requirements, so im sorry ONE business owner doesnt allow you to apply but that doesnt mean you know the struggle of having MULTIPLY business owners saying the same thing. im sorry but you get no sympathy. Im not even going to go into the details of how you want to complain about blacks finally being able to use nepotism. something whites have been using forever. i also hate how everyone is always okay with some cards being played but hate when the cards are used on them. im sorry blacks didnt introduce the we only hire our kind card in the deck. when its used on a white person you get mad? i dont see you going to white owned businesses saying you need to hire more minorities. unless you're doing that, save the equal speech. just to clarify im not mad at you and my respond holds no anger towards, you. i just wanted to state my points, i am eagerly waiting for your response and i will love to hear what you have to say. just had to put that out there dont want you responding thinking im attacking you.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	6/387	1.55
+mon dd John never says that racism against white people doesn't exist. He just says that systemic racism against black people does exist. (The word systemic is crucial.)	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/28	10.714
All in all race issue looks really stupid to me "oh shes born brown she is not good enough.. Hes born white he is not good enough" its stupid i cannot change the way i was born neither can you so people who are racist needs to get an understanding of the human body.	Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/54	3.704

Victor Garcia So much bull shit in this post.Everywhere blacks go they destroy the neighborhood. Of course whites may begin to discriminate; blacks give themselves a bad reputation. And, have you people ever considered it may be blacks own fault for most of their problems today? Better create another Black Society Foundation so they can compete with the white foundations. Oh, wait, there are none; because, whites are racist when they do it. How about WET to compete with the BET station.... Blame whitey , that's all I hear. Why don't they stop sucking off welfare, stop selling drugs, stop shooting up every neighborhood they come into, and start acting more like that black guy that owns the burger shop.Peace.	Black, Racist, Whitey	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - White	4/121	3.306
Harmony Ellerbe I'm not the one who brought up race , this racist hypocrite in the video is. I will judge you by your character, and, I hope, you'd do the same to me.	Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/33	6.061
ILBW That's a lie, it's not just "some", they are overly represented in prison for their population percentage. And before you say, " white cops jus racist " Asians have the lowest incarceration in proportion to their population. [LINK]	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/38	2.632
+Harmony Ellerbe Just a note of contention, if you have parallel resumes and onw person is highered of the two that is as likely to be random selection as any other event. If one wants to talk about racial bias in decision making then there is a much better case to be made for implicit own race bias. I can't tell you that those responsible weren't in some way selecting on the one distinction they were provided but neither can you necessarily prove such a distinction was made. The model I have faith in for change is driven by fair assessments of others businesses and attitudes as uncovered by social attitudes but I wouldn't dare tell a company not to ask about race if they thought it useful. Just let those businesses who do so and lose out on employees lose out.	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/142	1.408
Syrian Refugee but theres college graduates with thousands of dollars of knowledge but no jobs, what you said is a good start but if you dont know anyone on the inside ie someone that works in the company then you might as well not apply, its more about who you know than what you know. also depends on what your degree is in.	Refugee	Nationality - General	1/63	1.587
Syrian Refugee so what is it then? do you go to school and get a degree or do you meet people? how do you know that the guy that wants to work at chick fil a wouldnt meet the president one day and get a high position? or maybe he might want to own his own chick fil a one day. i wouldnt shoot down his job unless he doesnt have a end game. if you have a end game or a plan who cares how you get there?	Chick, Refugee	Gender - General, Nationality - General	3/89	3.371

+mon dd but i dont think its racist or wrong that a black person /or white person for that matter, likes to only employ others of the same race/culture. same goes for the study where companies were twice as likley to respond to a white named applicant (considering whites are probably a majority of employers this then makes sense like ur example...)	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/62	3.226
Totally Not A Cylon He's implying it by only focusing on racism against black people. You really think they're the only race who incur racism ? Anyway, the point is, everyone deals with racism , so lets not be disingenuous be presenting some facts to prove a close-minded argument; meanwhile, ignoring a mountain of evidence which could shine so much light on the topic.	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/62	8.065
I think it is daft but not wrong, to employ those of the same race in most cases. I think that should a businessman make worse decisions about employment based on racial preference any potential benefit in his interactions with them better be substantial, and he better hope his rival companies are not employing with a clearer focus on skills too. I think it is sensible for a racist individual to only avoid those of his race because he won't exactly get along well with those he discriminates against and so would be happy to allow this from a government perspective. The morality is pointless to talk about here. If such discrimination leads to lower performance such a company should succumb to it's rivals. If the system survives there may well be something to it. I think that racial selection can be incredibly useful in some situations. In police forces having more african-american officers may help in areas where there are high numbers of african-americans in the same way that one chooses female voices for female helplines. I want to allow the potential for discrimination so race may become a useful and pertinent tool where it might yield interesting results because where it clearly doesn't do so, those businesses will suffer.Becoming a government that mandates what one can and cannot select on the basis on is to deprive the world of the works of a limited perspective and the scenarios in which people can really be helped by those with a similar background to them so I defend you point Hammer but would also say you have to be mighty liberal to do so.	Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General	4/275	1.455
Honestly, it seems all of this bitching from the black community is so they can get money from the whites. I really disrespect that. I'm just eagerly waiting for a black to explain to me (a white man) why Asians are more successful in this country than my race , yet whites are the founders who set everything up for their offspring to flourish.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/63	4.762

Victor GarciaUnfortunately this video is neither the proof nor the argument that needs to be made for change. The debates concerning race are those of two halves, those who don't believe that the influence of active or implicit racial discrimination is a thing and those who do; and those who do acknowledge it arguing with those who ask them to tread carefully in what hey choose to do about it. Hopefully you will count me as one the latter :). The first statement I would like to make is about implicit racism. Real commendable studies have been performed about topics from emotive perception between races to even who white women are more and less attracted too as they approach ovulation, so I won't be denying the existence of even this most biological form of implicit racism. In a America there are also real signs of explicit racism in the form of hate groups and hateful speakers from an eclectic set of backgrounds. What the above video stands in the territory of is the muddy water of this debate. Most of the statistics are impossibly difficult to detract from social conditions, expressed eloquence and even economic background; and so even if I agreed vehemently with you that racism was the main component in these cases of disadvantage I couldn't prove it on the above evidence. Instead I will simply say be careful the the heavy handed approach, when a government takes issues of racial distribution into it's own hands what it actually is encouraging is mandated population representative racial discrimination/selection. The disadvantages many social groups in America face should be dealt with as issues ignorant of race. If one supports black peoples social mobility then they need ensure that support services you have in America are distributed fairly and effectively to these people, but not moreso to these people than non disadvantaged groups on the basis of race. Economic deprivation in schools could be the key resource perhaps. When balancing systems is done with a heavy hand you end up with real issues because race becomes a construct with impact when in reality it is without one. In Britian the most deprived group of individuals are white, working class britons yet we still here cries of racism. We have 22 black university makeup and 13 population with still calls for a bigger percentage representation. Black has become synonymous with educationally deprived at the expense of another demographic group and in doing so issues of distribution continue. The stats can tell us that there are forces at work that are negative and destructive to social cohesion, but let us not rush to a solution that will re-draw racism rather than move towards making race a redundant term via judging its effective us	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	14/461	3.037
---	---------------------	--	--------	-------

Tis not I am afraid. It doesn't separate the problem from implied economic class and also doesn't point to a directed policy against those of any particular descent. The is incredibly pertinent because one can also point to the effects of implicit racism, which should it be held responsible for decisions like this suggests that a re-balancing in those communities is rather penniless. It also doesn't resolve issues of recruitment until departments are re-balanced, but to invest in minority communities is to have this problem persist just with a new group. In Britain advantage based policies directed on a principle of race not of economic need has led to whit working class males being just as economically inhibited as many minorities were 10 years ago.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/125	1.6
---	--------------	---------------------	-------	-----

The study as far as I am aware has no directly referenced evidence of the faith of those judging the evidence as such. Therefore what remains impossible is to locate the source of bias in selection, even at the lowest semantic level if I choose to it only biases against people with names of the sorts provided. Nonetheless the case I am making is not one of stating any selection biases do or do not exist but in where with in the psyche you attribute these difference. Taken as signs of institutional racism the course of action may well be promulgation of affected communities successes. If the racial issue is seen as implicit or developmental then the issue not only remains as you redistribute resources to affected racial communities because family structures will remain primarily same race selection for the foreseeable future. Furthermore this is assuming a behaviorist development of racial bias rather than a biologically encoded discriminatory system. To even consider your statements of solution is to ignore the possibility that this racism may not only be case by case but also a basic developmental problem of exposure that all humans have the capacity to develop. The evidence of bias in the work place doesn't disprove this and studies in IAT's and empathy tests between different races (and even romantic attraction studies and partner success rates) suggest such a mechanic should be at play. So your solution is at best one of proportionally enforced racism, tasking the state with not only asking one to benefit on a non directly related factor for any time is not ending racism, it is awarding different social groups within the time with different racial advantages, at the whim of elected governments (ones in America that currently have a candidate who promotes whether faithfully or not inhibition of Islamic people's ability to move). Your moves award characters who you might disagree with immensely the ability to on a popular mandate redistribute advantage. To put a cherry on this mire of affirmative action equality of opportunity (as mandated by a state) you now have evidence from Britain and the USA the social mobility isn't even improving as redistribution advantage packages are awarded in both nations (the major point here being that the conclusions are still being refuted but to assume either answer is correct at this point is acting without precedent) [LINK] My question will never be one of whether racism exists, but one of asking how we avoid the mistakes of the past movements and similar movements. I don't want another movement to see redrawing lines rather than resolving and facing uncomfortable issues as a solution. It is significant that Islamophobia is rampant in European nations even with larger, more distributive, more select minority friendly policies, and so too do many have problems with there majority race working class individuals social mobility. The target can change so easily if one doesn't resolve the issue, and sometimes the scope of the argument needs to be beyond, get rid of x statistic we don't like.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	7/509	1.375
--	--------------	---------------------	-------	-------

+mon dd I didn't go through the other responses here so I apologize if I reiterate something someone else has said.Yes of course black individuals can be and sometimes are racist. The same is true for white, Latino, Asian, native American, etc. individuals. However, a large part of the race problem in America is linked to the fact that systematic racism is built into systems of our country and often despite individuals not intending to be racist, it still happens and harms people. Furthermore, while black communities can have systematic and built in biases based on race, a much larger portion of society today is based upon white cultures and leadership partly do to the fact that there are more Caucasians than any other group in the US and partly because a long tradition of racism set up the system which has never done away with its racist inter-workings. This all feeds into a system that is effectively rigged against minority groups in general. It's not to say racism doesn't effect whites or that other groups can't be racist or even that most white people are intentionally racist, rather it says that the systems in place systematically hurt more blacks for example than whites in disproportionate amounts that cannot be accounted for in any other way. That is the basis of America's race problem.Also, at risk of being used as an example of someone "on the losing team," I am a straight Caucasian middle class male. I am part of one of the most systematically privileged groups in the USA today. However, thanks to my family and friends I am aware of and opposed to these systematic biases despite the fact that I unwittingly benefit from them. This is how we end them, by having everyone come together in opposition to prejudice in all forms.	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	13/307	4.235
It's not that only white people can be racist but white racism affects blacks a lot more than black racism affects whites in society. Racism is bad in general tho. Fuck that shit.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/33	15.152
+Juice8815 not to mention that minority racism is usually prejudice.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/10	10.0
For a minute think about why..why are black people racist? As a white person I don't blame them. Our race has done nothing but bring hurt and pain to almost every other group of people To make matters worse we continue to dismiss their pain and make everything about us ,after we steal their culture and wear them as our costumes Basically mocking them	Black, Nothing, Race, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/64	6.25

Do you think this when you go to a chinese restaurant too? Those things are often family run. Getting a recommendation from somebody already working there is a very common and effective way to get a job as well. You give recommendations to your friends. Minorities are most often friends with people of their group because white people are more racist than they think they are. I'm not surprised when I go to get injera and I only see Ethiopians working there.	Common, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	2/82	2.439
+mon dd "read the comments from black people in this video to see that they are the same" LOL no	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/20	5.0
He probably only hire black people because he know that they are less likely to find jobs elsewhere... that is not racism , that is looking out for the people who need it.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/32	6.25
discrimination and prejudice can come from anyone. but only the group in power can impose a legislative and systematic method of oppressing another. jim crow laws only fifty years ago proved this exactly. many black people didn't like white people either, but white people were and still are the ones in power, and were able to actually impose these systems. there is a huge racial bias against black people, and black people are constantly vilified by the media as caricatures of who they really are. the reason that black people will help each other out is because no one else will. we need HBCU (historically black colleges and universities) and the NAACP and employers that employ some black people because there is no one else to help these people.	Black, Crow, Jim Crow	Ethnicity - Black	8/129	6.202
the name on the resume is a good point of reference, hey! if you want your kid to have a better chance, don't name them the name that gets fewer responses. I'm sure a last name of Hitler would not do so well either. i'm sure those two names were cherry picked and thus all other names did better in the response rate. It is also a racist way of thinking to believe those two names only belong to black people, so the study is flawed.  All kinds of immigrants in our past changed their last names so as to not face discrimination (wrong as discrimination is), they did what they had to do until they were accepted for who they were.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/122	1.639
this is what WRONG with this fucked up nation DENIAL. history has shown that esau has and still is the biggest hater of all other races than themselves. get fucking real	Nation	Nationality - General	1/31	3.226
America was literally founded on the enslavement of African Americans. Do not even try to say that racism does not play a role in our society.	African, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/26	7.692

+Bear Brown Yes, but if the system is made up of individuals who are racist , and the system is defined by the individuals and by absolutely nothing else, does that not then define the system as racist ?	Nothing, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	3/37	8.108
+Bear Brown While you make a fair point, I ask you this: Why, if blacks and white use drugs at nearly equal levels, are blacks significantly more likely to be incarcerated for the crime? Furthermore, in the example of blacks being pulled over more often despite being a smaller sample size (smaller population to draw from), why is it still more likely that contraband will be found when white individuals are pulled over? These cannot be accounted for by random chance because your argument would suggest opposite results from these. While not ALL aspects of the system show clear and definitive signs of racism , many do and that is the problem we face. While some of this can be attributed to individuals, the individuals are part of the system and are meant to be unbiased. Therefore part of the solution is to eliminate this bias (hence mandatory training is often employed to eliminated individual biases in police), but also we must defeat the systems in place that allow for such bias to perpetuate.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/173	0.578
Emily. Slavery ended 160 years ago. The only racism today comes from people singling out people by their skin colour. (hint, its liberals like you)Want to stop really stop racism ? Stop talking about other peoples skin colour.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/38	5.263
Thomas Korn Yea stop talking about racism doesn't end racism and it still has affects on our lived today racism did not end in 1865 it was abolish, plantation still went on illegally for years are how can you say race doesn't affect black people still to this day when there are so many negative stigmas about out race , I love white people but it saddens me when some fail to realize our struggle and systemic oppression. Did you forget lynchings police negative stigmas unfair court systems or stuff like people saying obama is racially inferior to whites? So sad but I hope you have a good day. Take a look in the mirror and think about all the atrocities black people went through and if you had to, would you really want to go through life in the 1900s or 2000s as a black man?	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	8/146	5.479
Pretty sure America was founded by the people that escaped British control, and that they wanted to experience freedom.Because I highly doubt we made America just to control black people.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/31	3.226
Every country that ever existed has had slaves - therefore your argument is typical anti white internalized racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/18	5.556

Emperor Emboar, it's not so much the consumption of drugs, but transporting and distributing them carries a harsher sentence than consuming. Also, more blacks live in low-income crime-heavy areas, these areas have more poilice and therefor more black people get cought	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/41	2.439
There was racism during the time of its finding but its not founded on enslavement of African Americans. Which history class were you in?	African, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/24	8.333
I might just show this when I arrive at Thanksgiving. If I'm going to ruin the day by refusing to agree to insidiously racist statements, might as well go big or go home.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/33	3.03
I remember very much appreciating this when it first came out. We can't keep pretending that racism is a thing of the past. But now I am indebted to this video. I procrastinated hard core when prepping a speech on racial healthcare disparities. When I got to starting it, some of your links in the doobly doo turned out to be valuable research launch points. Thanks, John!	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/67	1.493
Blacks in US are basically fucked .... Due to deep rooted racist legacy	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/13	7.692
race baiters*	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/2	50.0
Yeah but where did your data come from. and who was funding the studies aND polls. one thing is for certain, the mainstream news and race batters like al sharp ton and Jesse Jackson are throwing it in our faces and stoking the flames. my girlfriend sell real estate in ny and pretty much every other culture has racist elements but we here in America tend to zero in on the BLACK VS WHITE PROBLEM AND CONTINUE STOKING THE FLAMES AND CREATING AN ISSUE. I think if people dropped this racist shit and let it go, we would actually get along. most people aren't inherently racist . this political correctness bullshit is a cancer that's brainwashing everyone and making them stupid.	Black, Race, Racist, Zero	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/120	5.0

Heritage: Your history, it starts at birth. Not someone elses, even if they happen to be a similar type HUMAN.Opinion: What a paerson thinks about a subject with no supporting facts, always biased. Racism: The word used to make other feel better about themselves and often used as a crutch by individuals that want to make a point, most often biased and baseless in its common usage.Feeling sorry for yourself: Personal opinion, always biased, in which individuals feel slighted and forget about the rest of the planet and are only capable of looking out of their own bubble and perceived slights.Vicarious victim: People that live as if what happened to another person affects their lives personally and profoundly although they have nothing to do with the current situation or subject.Asshole: A person that uses guilt and the history of others to make points and stir up trouble where there is none. A person that seeks like minded individuals to cause trouble because they see the actions of others and want to be part of the action, whether its right or wrong. They do this knowing they have no basis in fact or subject matter. The Asshole will not accept consequence of actions, admit they are wrong or even admit they MAY be wrong. Racism doesnt exist.....Assholes do.	Common, Nothing, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	3/221	1.357
Other than reciting statements of fact, where is his evidence in support. Are there injustices, of course. Are some folk racist , yes. Systemic? Long ago, red-lining was outlawed in all 50 states, including real estate, health care, employment and indeed every civilized endeavor. Historically, yes. Today? There will always be economic disparities in a Capitalistic system. Perhaps less caffeine and more supportive evidence to go with his roll-out of "statistics" would be more credible. It might be noted that many slave "owners" , as well as slave merchants were African-American, perhaps more vile in principle than the other "enslavers." Did he miss this in his study of American history?	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/109	0.917
Oh, Cinispar, a Jewish clergyman with Imams as friends from West LA in the KKK, really? And I have read all the links. Check out US history and you'll discover what I stated, not as my facts, but as facts. Racism in any form is vile. Should you wish to exchange without ad hominem attacks, wonderful.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/56	1.786
It's really upsetting to see how many racist and intolerant comments there are on this video... Where's the thoughtful, polite Nerdfighter community we know and love?	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/26	3.846

I understand that there are issues sometimes but I do NOT think it's as big a problem as the media makes it out to be. ( Racism talk gets ratings/views which equal money.) I live in New England and I've never seen actual racism except for on the (untruthful) news. And you can pull up all the stats that you want but there are SO many other factors to bring into it. Minorities are generally poorer. Not because we're racquet but because their families are less established in the country and have had less time to right the ship. Black people are poorer because their parents were because of slavery. Anyone who says this is a problem totally misses the point. Some white people (believe it or not) are actually born just as bad off as the worst off blacks. If we want to start treating INDIVIDUALS equally without regard for the GROUP that they belong too, we need to stop GROUPING THEM TO PROVE OUR POINTS. The goal is not to get society 1/3 white 1/3 Latino 1/3 black . It's to make sure race (1)	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/185	2.703
I've been affected by racism . It hurts.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/7	14.286
most people in america moan and cry about rascism and wealth inequality instead of fixing actual problems like heart disease and cancer or uneducated people the us isnt rascist its ignorant the people dont want to learn history which in turn is ignoring other peoples culture and identity and its everyone of all races secondly doesnt the us have a black president , black senators , black supreme court judges , congressman etc that is not rascism at all its just that some people are uneducated and dont want to learn anything. Now a group of people that the US doesnt care about is the native Americans who most live in poverty but we dont care bout them there not white enough or dark enough I swear america is full of fucking retards	Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/133	2.256
"Thank you" - black people	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/5	20.0
If institutional racism should result in benefits for minorities, Whites should be able to tax minorities for using White inventions.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/20	5.0
funstuff81girl black racism isn't the biggest issue don't blame only us blacks you should blame whites to. Your racism is the bigger issue in the u.s stupid girl	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/28	10.714

James Joyce bro.. that is the definition of racism . Racism is the unequal treatment and superiority against another race . Minorities NEVER benefitted from institutional racism all the way from slavery started even till now. Minorities are still not benefitting from society. POC and minorities are still more likely to be stopped by police these days than a white person. What are you smoking???	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/63	4.762
James Joyce It doesn't matter. It is racism and racism is stupid and should end.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/15	13.333
Charlyn Duque well. Racism is actually the belief that other races are inferior to yours via skin, culture, language etc etc.... also slavery has been around for a long long time and almost every civilization suffered from it. Sadly it was an economical thing and no white people didn't start it. Traces of slavery can be found way back even in Egypt and I'm sure those people were not that fair skinned.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/72	1.389
James Joyce we all use black inventions all the time. We would be taxing each other in that case.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/19	5.263
Gunner Jones dumb	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/3	33.333
Douglas MacArthur I hate to say it hasn't changed in 400 years it's not going to change now it will always exist only thing we can do is try to raise our children and our grandchildren better than that and teach them that racism is wrong but you always going to have people instilling racism into children's heart	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/58	3.448
Systematic racism is a myth and is an excuse use to lower the confidence of minorities. I have been with alot of African Americans to know that is plain bullshit. From my experience, most of what I heard that have done crime had went to jail and came out with drop charges for drug related crime and robbery. No they didn't go back to doing the same crime either they had change. There are more black people with degrees and without criminal background than those who do have one and have no college degree. I remember I had a hard time getting a job at for a year while my friend name Brittany who is black got one in a week. Life is really what you make it and it is called bullshit. Instead of watching the news and looking up negative things, focus on being prosperous and look up financial, spiritual, and mental growth because in reality, life is what you make it and everything you are going through now is the result of what you spoke,thought, and felt in the past.	African, Black, Mental, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	5/183	2.732

proof that percentages lie.i mean who in their right mind says they are racist ? if no one then how create a page on it?	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/25	4.0
Racism is evolutionary baggage. While stating plainly through statistics that its existence is calculable we have not reached the idiots that are cognitively dissonant. The humans that can understand AND care about what these figures represent are not the humans that are perpetuating the disparity. In general we are just saying "look at that poor people, they lost 20 dollars and no one is doing anything about it". I'm not implying that the purpose of this video was an attempt at assuaging white guilt. Just that it only reinforces what discerning minds already comprehend, and that's not really progress. We have established the symptoms and have yet to discuss the root of the illness, which as I said at the beginning of this comment is " racism is evolutionary baggage". Watch my video about it and tear me apart over it, Or tell me how to improve it.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/147	1.361
Thank U for making this video sir, may the Almighty Creator YAH bless you.!!! Men Lie and Women Lie but numbers always tell the truth... my skin is brown but they may say I'm black , yet I'am just a normal hard working American	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/43	2.326
there should be no such thing as racism racism is a lie	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/12	8.333
You forget to mention that any programs whether it be education or the job market are at a higher percentage where the most interest is shown. for example: the Ferguson P.D. in Mo has a higher percentage of whites not cause of a racial bias, but cause the black officers got higher paying jobs in different municipalities. This stated by a black C.O. within the Ferguson P.D. As far as education goes, as a white male I have very little opportunity to further my education due to the difficulties of receiving and being approved for aide. I am no racist and have served my country along side every race . We all were taught there is only one color, green. The subject of criminal offenses, well you never hear about police brutality against whites cause its not race related. the race card is a card that cant be used by white so its not news worthy. The percentages of white and blacks in relation to brutality is far more in the whites favor, we just never hear about it.	Black, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/178	3.371
You don't know shit about black people.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/7	14.286
Ah yes look at all the racism in the comments. Good job America	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/13	7.692

Right! When people talk about racism everyone blows up! It's funny really!	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/12	8.333
Racists try to prove that there isn't racism by being racist . smh	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/12	16.667
Denisha Johnson You can thank liberals for that, and also conservatives for doing nothing .	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/14	7.143
Racism will never end because of whites.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/7	14.286
Cube 3 I support racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/5	20.0
witch , please Exactly	Witch	Gender - Female age and physical appearance	1/3	33.333
WOLF TECH I support racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/5	20.0
Cube 3 it is true I live in germany and I know bunch of people who hates arabs and black people	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/21	4.762
Cube 3 HAHHAHAHAHAHA maybe if you blame other people's bad genes that might mean.... gasp there may be groups of people with genes better suited for specific situations. Lol, racism is real, get over it.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/35	2.857
Race is a relatively new ideology on the human timeline. Modern racism helps justify the oppression and slavery of a perceived inferior person, like having a hooked nose, epicanthic folds or dark skin.If the other person is dehumanised, made to be different from the racist , it's easier to treat the non-human badly. This helps assuage guilt and responsibility. You wouldn't enslave a kinsman or tribe member, but "those non-people" it's OK.	Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/72	4.167

Last thing: People should be cold and statistically driven when discussing any facet of truth or they risk succumbing to biases in opinion based on uncalled-for, and typically blind emotional input. As many many many studies have shown, emotion almost always leads to inaccurate conclusions. When discussing and establishing facts, we must abandon our humanity. Decisions on the other hand should consider both fact and humanity. Forming opinions which cite emotions as a part of a logical argument invalidates the argument because it introduces bias. So, time to pose a question that I have a hard time answering: Why does racism exist in the first place? Slavery is almost completely unheard of in the modern world, yet racism lives on. Is racism the product of natural selection? Is it inherently wrong to have preferences in the genes that you would like to see carried on past this generation? What about in skin tones that you find appealing? If that is simply another physical feature, is it wrong to enjoy one physical feature more than another? Why? If each person is entitled to their own opinions, is it wrong for them to have a preference for what color palate they would like to see when they look at a person? Base your conclusion on logic alone, and while it remains wrong to discriminate for any reason, the reason that people become racist is much easier to understand.	Blind, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	5/236	2.119
--	-----------------------	--	-------	-------

A couple pieces of constructive (hopefully) criticism which, if taken into account, may increase the accuracy of this video, because I think it is very well made, agree with a lot of what you have to say (if you accurately interpreted the data that you are referencing), and want to help make it more trustworthy. Intro:What where the surveys you based this on? (Hyperlinks?) Were they conducted accurately? How do you know? Have you examined the methods sections? What was the sample rate? Was it a random sample? Was it a double blind experiment? Is the data relevant according to the previous criteria? Is the data statistically significant? Where the questions asked asked in a manner that imposes a bias to respond in one direction on the survey participant? Are you qualified to be making claims about these pieces of data? Are you representing them with a bias? How does the viewer know? Define: "Racial Bias" &amp; "Significant Problem" according to what the studies stated. Do the studies listed make overt conclusions stating anything overtly related to the topic of this video? Data Section:Point :1. Valid. This is a trend in the data that has been collected, however, how do you know that this is based on race alone and not other tendencies? The gap has been widening, but is racism causing this or are there other factors that aren't being considered? the relation ship between racism and this point is not logically valid as it is not presented with sufficient data to suggest that race is the issue. What happens to this figure when you include the fact that people from impoverished areas tend to be more likely to repeat offend and that it is more likely for minorities to be from impoverished areas? I think this point was not considered with enough depth to draw a link to racism. If you can't prove a point, you really should not include it. 2. Sources? Valid from what I've read, although why has yet to be established by data. So the link directly to racism is a huge stretch. Perhaps it is less likely that whites will be caught for or suspected of using drugs, but then again, that doesn't explain why ethnic minorities are more likely to be caught for it. It doesn't mean that the entire legal system is stacked against ethic minorities if there is one trend that pushes the data in that direction. Perhaps there is an overtly obvious presence of drugs in ethnically diverse areas that make it more likely to be caught. Maybe officers and enforcers are trying to clean up areas that are actually in need of a little legal attention. While all people may use drugs, if other crimes are being committed in the area, thus meriting police attention, and an individual is in that area who is carrying drugs, wouldn't there be a higher likelihood that that individual would be caught? Once again, correlation does not equal causation and this a really vague statistic to base this assumption upon. 3. African Americans are more likely to be stopped by police. Without including information about the sample taken, the areas in which the data was taken, or the sample size, it is hard to establish if this trend is accurately represented here, thereby making the argument that you are attempting to make off of it irrelevant because, if it is in fact a study of inner city regions or ethnically diverse neighborhoods, or even run-down neighborhoods, the likelihood of who is stopped is correlated to many more	African, Black, Blind, Ethnic, Ethnicity, Gender, Nothing, Race, Racism, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	37/1486	2.49
--	--	--	----------------	-------------

One simple answer to this, is his use of " racism " is more akin to "racial inequality".	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/16	6.25
Sir Lucian. You remind me of Jordan Peterson, before putting the stamp of 'factual' on it, you've got to dissect how these conclusions were made. It's amazing how stats can be twisted into anything you want it to say. That being said, I think there's still a lot of racism out there and as time passes by, we as a nation , are slowly purging it out of our hearts.	Nation, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	2/68	2.941
I couldn't even make it through this video because it's obvious that John Green hasn't spent much time around black people.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/21	4.762
Get your shit together black people. Your lucky that we live in a liberal society or pulling race card wouldn't mean shit.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/22	9.091
+FullTimeSlacker Lol I stopped trying to appease whites a long time ago. It's pointless. It's not like you guys want blacks to prosper in America, you never have. Any time any of you offer 'advice' to black people, you have ulterior motives and lie through your teeth.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/47	2.128
Laza AmafirinNot everyone can prosper, but when the leading figure against black lives matters, is a black man, than it says a lot about the division within yourselves	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/29	6.897
Liberals belong in prison. 31,000 stupid idiot liberals gave this video a thumbs up. Please educate yourselves about the african-american statistics. Then go to a black populated urban city. All liberals should be shipped to Africa to live among whom they declare as exact biological equals.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/46	2.174
Funny how people try to prove racism doesn't exist by saying racist things.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/13	15.385
+The muslim Atheist the argument some people use is Obama. aka if Obama can do it than there is no racism . etc...	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/22	4.545
The muslim Atheist you're a racist .	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/6	16.667
Or fight it by being racist . Oh I forgot, black people can't be racists because reasons. Silly me.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/18	11.111
What? Like those racist facts which BLM denies?	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/8	12.5

Exactly, Muslim Atheist. if somebody is anti racist then they should be anti racist , most of them go to rallies chanting racist and sexist anti-white male slogans, many hold racist anti-white signs. I mean you are not helping anything by being anti-white and you are certainly no fucking "anti- racist ". All any of these self described anti racists do is virtue signal.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	4/61	6.557
The muslim Atheist i agree the people that is saying racism dosen't exist must not know what words are.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/19	5.263
You wanna see ACTUAL RACISM !? Admit yourself into the California prison system. Tell me how ya feel in 3-4yrs	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/19	5.263
obvious owl racism don't exist	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/5	20.0
J'Quanöe Kwailé how old are you 12?	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/7	14.286
obvious owl old enough to pork your mom	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/8	12.5
J'Quanöe Kwailé pork? I don't think you have any pork for your age you have a shrimp stay in school kid.	Age	Age - General	1/21	4.762
Stephen Malacaria He's taking about people being honest. The definition of racism has changed .Since the human rights acts nothing more a slippery slope . Government imports and subsidies masses of different races now it's racist to complain about them. If you're white and stand up for your race it's now deem racist by the media and the insane left. Also just a look at the guys name.	Nothing, Race, Racism, Racist, Slope	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - Chinese	6/68	8.824
Funny how people try to prove racism exists by saying racist things.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/12	16.667
You just say that they are racist to invalidate their point when they are really just using statistical data that offends you, and prices you wrong. You try to make it impossible to argue against you by pretending that any argument is innately racist , and somehow proves your point, when really you're just sticking your head in the dirt and demanding someone else take responsibility for your shortcomings	Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/68	2.941
Many don't even know what racism is.People would call me a racist because i would support the white guy, if he was in a fight with any other colour..The truth is that most racists out there are not racists, they are just patriots of their own kind.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/49	4.082

I do believe racism is a problem, and this is from a white male upper class perspective, but I find that many of my african American friends care less about school than my other friends (white, hispanic, asian). We all go to the top private school in the state, and all have qualified to get there. There are exceptions to both of those groups, but I believe that from a white perspective, black people look like they care less about education and jobs. Obviously, this is not true, but when stereotypes are in play, it is hard to separate reality from urban legend (kinda like Zodiac signs and horoscopes). I think that black people look like they'd rather try and get one of 100 or so jobs in the NBA than as a computer programmer. There are reasons this happens (especially in the south where segregation caused the collapse of the public school system), but perspective defines reality. From the White People of America (Most of us recognize we've been dicks)	African, Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/171	2.339
I think the reason racism exists is because of slavery and when slavery ended white people got threatened by a drop in their power and so we try to take it back subconsciously and physically There will never be equality until there's a power balance and power balances can't exist because everybody wants something more then the next guy	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/59	1.695
If people refers to white ppl a European americans you likely be at least Sowhat correct since white ppl probably have some Europe ancestry. Black ppl probably have some African ancestry. Africa is a continent with clearly determined and absolutely accurate borders so with that said not all blks are Africans. What about the whites living here in USA thats from South Africa? They are really African Americans! !! Im not African American and im blk. I resent that and so do many others	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	4/84	4.762
People in the united states mix up race with nationality's, like mexican, puerto rican, cuban which are nationality's not a race .	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/21	9.524
We are human race . Life first took place in Africa. Everywhere else on earth was empty.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/16	6.25
The Banter, whoever you are, stop poisoning the internet with your vile and hurtful words. NO ONE CARES THAT YOU ARE TOTALLY RACIST !	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/23	4.348
Just saying blk ppl probably have some African ancestry I know that this isnt written into history, im sure its possible for there to be genetic hiccups so to speak. Our physical traits came from once upon a time when our ancestors migrated and adapted to various environments. So if youre perceived as white, you probably have ancestors who adapted to the land we now call Europe. If youre perceived as blk you probably have ancestors who adapted to the land we now call Africa	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/85	1.176

And just for the record, I know that while some blk ppl prefer african american to describe themselves, many do not. It is primarily a white invention by PC white ppl who are either scared to death of being thought of as racist or who want to keep blk ppl complacent	African, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/51	3.922
Its proven thanks to the genetics revolution we now know that there is no such thing as race . The white ppl are pale adoptions of blk ppl that evolved during the past 140, 000 yrs. So we are really the human race	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/42	4.762
The ones who are racist are fucking stupid because we are the human race . Those who are too stupid to see the truth are racist because of skin tones and how SOME blks are or justice scared as hell of the truth	Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/42	7.143
You will never solve it john, because you're unwilling to look in politically incorrect places.All you are doing with your sweet kind words is race baiting.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/27	3.704
How come you don't talk about the asians, the hispanics, persians, etc? Only black ??	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/14	7.143
Another thing about drugs and race: the case of cocaine. Crack cocaine and powder cocaine are the same in terms of chemical bounds. However, the Reagan administration, which is arguably a major point in the War on (some) Drugs, saw the two treated DRASTICALLY differently. The ratio of how many grams needed for an equal penalty was 1:100, as in 50 grams of crack and 5000 grams of powder cocaine earning the same sentence. Granted, this has been reduced to 18:1, but that's still a major disparity. The significance? Whereas crack is common in black ghettos and the slums, the major consumer of powder is white business people. Whether this is racial or economic is hard to determine, but since the two are nearly inseparable in the US, it does speak volumes.	Black, Common	Ethnicity - Black, Social Class - Working class	2/132	1.515
Black people make up a small fraction of the population yet they use just as many drugs. • •	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/18	5.556
This presentation extremely annoying. Who wants to follow this dude? There are racial injustices, prejudices and biases definitely in this country.But I think we need to be careful throwing around the word " racist " so heavily and easily.Here is the definition of racism :"The prejudice that members of one race are intrinsically superior to members of other races."I don't think most White Americans think they are superior to others. There are many big problems with racial inequality in this country, especially with the poor economic situation of blacks, but its not because white American values place themselves above other races.Racial inequality is a very complicated subject and to label it all as ' racism ' is VERY WEAK. Our overall corrupt economic system plays a larger roll in degrading blacks than racism does.	Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/134	2.239

I love this. Truly an important step for everyone not affected by racism would be to acknowledge that systemic racism does indeed exist.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/23	8.696
I don't like black people.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/5	20.0
all you talked about were white people vs black people, literally one mention of Latinos. I went through more bullying and prejudice than most of my black friends in the south. I'm tired of Latinos being the invisible minority, there's more to the argument than just black vs white. My people are being ignored	Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/54	5.556
all these comments about "dont name ur kid a stupid name" bullshit is just trying to cover up racism . you only think jamal and lakisha are stupid because you think " black people names" are ghetto which can only signify your stereotypes of black people. lol yall will cling to anything to justify your pathetic racism	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/55	7.273
laughs your only focusing on one point of the video. What he's really doing is pointing facts and statistics to try and point out that racism does exist. Take it from me, I'm a black girl living in a white community. Racism is a norm for me.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/47	6.383
+Shannon Fickling But in the USA such names have racial connotation linked to African Americans so there is inherent racism	African, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/20	10.0
Ya..thats the point I was making...it is racist that people discriminate against a name because it doesn't sound like a white name.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/22	4.545
Well it doesn't matter whether you have had bad past experience with people that had unusual names. The fact is it's illegal and immoral to discriminate based on names, race or socioeconomic factors. It might even be statistically true that people with unusual or stupid names don't do well in life, but hey, maybe thats because no one ever hires them. Besides, thats the thing about stereotypes, they aren't true of everyone in that group just because they are generally true. It's unfair to judge someone based on a name their parent's gave them. Lots of kids turn out nothing like their parents and many times, a lot smarter and more educated than their parents.	Nothing, Race	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	2/115	1.739
+Don Filer don don you're stupid ,because i have a friend named Donald he's not that stupid ,but now you're shaping my reality of my friend don & other don &makes me question if all other don could actually be all out dumb ,based on the fact their names correlate to you who's also profile name is don	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/58	1.724

+Denisha Johnson yeah you were like "racism does exist" and i agree my comment was calling out the people who were like "jamal and lakisha are ghetto" so we r on the same side here	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/35	2.857
+Greg Howard yes binch i am superior to racist people	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/10	10.0
+Nicky Tesla There is nothing wrong with "black names". It's people who take the names that are at fault.	Black, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black	2/19	10.526
+Denisha Johnson but if your a white kid living in a black community you will be targeted more and more violently for being white	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/24	4.167
+Ben Stokman yea don't happen often not a lot of white kids in that situation, I was that's why I said that. But in that same idea of why not a lot of black kids get don't by normal every day white people why they say its institutional racism , well the government runs the institutions in this country like schools and colleges and make it seem its like everyday working class white people is the problem to push hate and violence on them and cause riots and attacks, now whys that seem to be happening	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/95	2.105
Nicky Tesla but that's the thing it's not racism but discrimination because there are other studies that even appearances effect your chances on getting hired or people's impression on you. The fact is we judge people based on their outer appearance because the closer you look this is the reality and it's something that should stop or might never go away cause it's part of human nature.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/67	1.493
Shannon Fickling Just like black people consider "John" "Michael" and "Steve" to be "white boy names"	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/16	6.25
Just like the mythical wage gap, the arrest numbers for black people vs white people are grossly generalized.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/18	5.556

When I was in college I did a research paper on the socio economic divisions in education I went to my old elementary school and observed how and what the teachers taught in a school that was 90 Latino and working class then I went to a nicer side of town and observed the local elementary that consisted of 90 affluent white kids I was shocked at the huge differences in the working class the teacher was more of a authority figure they were given repetitive assignments and always taught to follow orders while the kids would always have to ask for permission to do something like go to the bathroom while the more affluent kids were being taught subjects like algebra way earlier in their education then the working class kids the teacher was their more as a guide helping the kids get to the conclusion themselves it was a open environment they didn't need permission they were free to go to the bathrooms whenever they wanted they were given an option to be independent and creative while the working class minorities were being conditioned for a slave mentality it's sad segregation is still institutionalized and part of every day life in America people don't even realize its their because it's always been their all our lives we think of it as normal	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/224	0.446
Tim Torrence 10/10 nice grammer nazi	Nazi	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/6	16.667
+The Banter Malarchy! They are only more prone to violence, because of racism . An endless feedback loop, because racism invokes rejection and and people all the time telling them that they are Bad People. I also notice that you neglected to mention all the terrible Caucasians, as well...	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/48	4.167

+The Banter i look at like this, when you advertise that one group is more violent and crazy ie lets say news and media, then eventually the people watching the news start to believe whats shown case in point ww2. there was ads running 24/7 on nazi side about how bad jews were and people believed it and there was ads and on the american side running about how bad the Japanese and germans were, like racist ads. people easily without a doubt believed those ads. now lets take a group of people today oh idk lets say minorities lets paint them in a bad light at all times in the news and media, what do you think will happen to the people watching the news and the media? they'll follow like the sheep they are. also for the minorities who watch the bad things being promoted against them will eventually start to believe that all their good for is crime and violence. you sir you're just doing what the media has taught you to do since the day you were born, now you see muslims are being used as the next target as i type this, but before 9/11, no one said anything bad about them, but today, their terrorists and killers and murders and pretty much "evil" because the media is portraying them that way. everything you've said has been said on the media before, oh look we give them aid we give them we give them food and they still act up. look at all the free stuff we give them. sir do you even know any minorities? if you do go have a conversation with them, ask them how aid do they actually received, them personally not as a whole. your argument sounds so one side and biased its whats crazy theres minorities who work their asses off just to survive and if just given ONE shot, would not only make something of themselves but something for their community. look at all the rich minorities who give back, if they were all bad, they would all be sitting on their porches with 40s in their hands smoking all day. you're being shown one bad apple and passing judgement on whole races of people just because the news says their bad, well news flash the news is going to report bad news, hell i even see a few bad white people on their now am i going to assume all whites are bad because little jimmy shoots up a school because he didnt have any friends? no that would be asinine. moral of the story the media always needs a bad guy, they always need someone to put down because thats how they operate thats how they get views. its up to you to discern whose really good and whose really bad. the people who are out making a living or the government feeding you the lies and bullshit while raising your taxes and sending your kids to fight in a war for oil while stealing your pension and savings behind your back.	Apple, Crazy, Nazi, Racist	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	5/516	0.969
fred barns You're just trying to cover up the racism that is obviously apparent. And the name "Hitler" is illegal in some places.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/23	4.348

Dude, Christian, that's low. Fred has a point, if you subtract the cussing. If you named your kid Napoleon, people might think you were crazy or drunk.	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/27	3.704
+fred barns> implying that " black names" are stupidWell, that explains your Stormfront membership.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/15	6.667
You know I used to vehemently deny racism in society because after being repeatedly told as a child growing up that racism was no longer in existence in America and anyone who believed otherwise was a fool until I began watching videos like this, and watching the news, and getting on tumblr to hear people stories of experienced racism and that is when I finally realized that society wasn't what I thought it was. It was also in that moment that I realized we live in a very discrimination based country, whether it be discrimination against race ,or gender , or orientation. I'm very glad that videos like this are on the internet for the incoming generation cause I find it really upsetting that I went so many years thinking that American Society was perfect	Gender, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	5/134	3.731
Do you know what statistics I want to see? How many black people are in a lower class and/or live in worse parts neighborhoods than whites. I can almost guarantee that there are more black people than white people in the "hood" and where are drugs and cops most common due to the vine rates? The "hood" so if there are more blacks in the more sketchy parts of town OF COURSE MORE ARE GOING TO GET ARRESTED. And this also goes the same way for the length of sentences. White people, because statistically they are wealthier, tend to be able to hire better lawyers than the black people. So really all of the "struggles come back to money! What is holding black people back from getting a good job? They just don't want to work for it! Case closed!	Black, Common	Ethnicity - Black, Social Class - Working class	5/140	3.571
with the name thing, i don't think that's about race . it's about not wanting someone with a retarded name working for you	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/22	4.545
Lauren H Please, ask yourself why you believe that black names are "retarded". Clearly the people who give and bear those names don't think there's anything wrong with them. Why do you?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/32	3.125

Lauren H and thats the subtle racism . how are those names retarded? some of them are influenced by african languages.Jesus Christ. This is what John means. The subtle disrespect. Its crazy	African, Crazy, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/32	9.375
Lauren H And it's not racist to think that one name, which is more often used by minorities is "retarded", and a more typical boring white name is less objectionable? Racism is buried in personal taste, and different tastes for names which more commonly reflect different demographics is racism in a subtle, but real way. In other words, many people associate those names as being stupid because there are atypical from the common white names attached to some people. There should be no hiring judgement based significantly on a person's name. First names are something the owner is rarely responsible for. And it's not like there was a mild difference in the study. It was a 50 difference. That's evidence of racism . And if you can't see that, you are part of the problematic racist community. Everyone is subject to make a slip from time to time, because some subtle racist things can be difficult to notice or overcome. But its disrespectful to make a clearly serious issue out to be an insignificant one. Again, it was a 50 difference.	Common, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	7/180	3.889
Because you're racist , next....	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/4	25.0
Matt Knight it is boring and lame and so is matt. You people are carbon copies other peoples are exotic	Lame	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/20	5.0
InbredDucks i once met and asian guy named jimmy. Later on i found his name to be jeme. Pronounced the same way. I said that to say this.. Different interpretation of a name can change your perception. Think of a white guy named Malik an african name and then think of a white guy named Abraham..an African name.	African	Ethnicity - Black	2/58	3.448

My ancestors were subjected to centuries of oppression and persecution by a foreign government. Their language and culture and land was repeatedly stolen and destroyed. They experienced mass genocide, and were taken as SLAVES to the Caribbean and colonial America. They faced further discrimination there for many generations. After slavery was abolished, they were either denied work or made to do the most dangerous labor for little or no compensation. The majority of their fellow exiled countrymen lived in poverty until recently, and were treated unfairly all due to their ethnic background.....they were IRISH, the native Gaelic tribes of Ériu, and they are still openly and negatively stereotyped to this day. What we associate with racism in the U.S. is NOT exclusive to "black" people.....do not forget it.	Black, Ethnic, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/128	2.344
Justice , Equality , Fairness are just an ideology ,just words in the dictionary, Nothing more nothing less.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/18	11.111
Gallup Pool 1958 - 2012 On American people voting for Black President1958 : 38 will vote for Black President2012 : 96 will vote for Black President.in only 54 years, the percentage jumps is 58if you consider number of white population then the percentage will go up to sound 5 it means 1 out of 20 white is still racist.definitely, they are older , less educated , poor southern white people.But,the young white americans are Progress sharply on dumping racism.thank to their parents, community and schools for their teaching of tolerance.Chris Rock call this sign as a White ProgressLong Live white americans for your understanding fully on humanitywe are created equal by naturebye bye racist boys white or non white.You are only 4 of populationyou are a minority in the mighty USA for Dylan Roofyou are only the 5 of white racist americans.blame them on your family n environment for teaching out of date racism Welcome to jailmay you rotten in your cage till death visits you poor racist scum boy	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	9/190	4.737
Awesome work, as always John Green vlogbrothers It's shocking that some people actually believe racism is over. Anyway, if you guys like this, we would really appreciate fellow Nerdfighters coming to check out our videos! We are a millenial-led organization that provides training and research to reduce implicit bias and racism. Tell us what you think! (: Another small group trying to do what we can to reduce world suck. DFTBA	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/71	2.817
Love how everyone focuses on black and white people when it comes to racism, like they're the only two races on earth.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/22	9.091

Something I've always had difficulty understanding is why the term " African American" is used. If we are trying to fight for equality, then why is it "white" people and " African American" people rather than just " black "? Also, I also realized that calling black people " African American" is confusing. So what do you call someone who lives in France? African French? What about someone whose family DIDN'T EVEN ORIGINATE FROM AFRICA?? Just some things I'm a little confused about!	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	6/78	7.692
The problem is one side says "your racist for saying I commit the most amount of crime and its your fault I'm robbing this store and your fault my illegitimate kids grow up in gangs cause I'm not there and it's your fault that the number one cause of our murders is against each other" yup I'm racist for telling facts. Listen to Adam Carolla, take care of your kids, stop blaming others for your actions and become a decent person and your situation will improve.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/86	2.326
3:20 Its still impossible for blacks to accrue wealth because certain whites keep blacks perpetually stuck on welfare. In fact that was the goal of welfare, to make sure the black man never has economic power. Its systemic racism ... the racism of lowered expectations. Also note that most whites ALSO could not accrue wealth. Ask the Irish. In reality only a small group of anybody could accrue wealth.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/68	4.412
'I am not a racist . I am against every form of racism and segregation, every form of discrimination. I believe in human beings, and that all human beings should be respected as such, regardless of their color.' Malcolm X	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/39	5.128
If you talk about stats why you dont talk about numbers?The thing is that black people in america is smaller population so the numbers are not so racist	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/28	7.143
David Roy I support racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/5	20.0

The most frustrating part of hearing the "what about white people" argument is the view of many that someone else's suffering somehow diminishes their own, or conversely, their suffering diminishes that of another. It doesn't work that way. Black people have been targets of opportunity because historically they've had little in the way of a voice - no real way of petitioning the government for redress of grievances. Harm could be done to them with little fear of consequence. Do unarmed white people ever get unjustly murdered by cops, or sentenced to prison? Of course. But they generally have more in common with black people on a socio-economic level than they do with other whites. Until we view the injustices inflicted upon "others" as our own, and until we value the freedom and safety of our neighbors (no matter where they live) as our own, then none of us are free.	Black, Common	Ethnicity - Black, Social Class - Working class	3/151	1.987
People are tired of hearing excuses. YOU drop out of school and commit crimes that's YOUR fault. Not racism . Not bigotry. Your own stupidity. Yours. Your family is broken? Fatherless? That's YOUR MOTHER or FATHERS fault. Not racism . Stop trying to garner sympathy.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/43	4.651
John, Black people on average are more poor. That explains most of this	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/13	7.692
holy crap.....a conversation on racism with FACTS???definitely not something you will ever see in the media or fox news	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/20	5.0
Like it or not nowadays anti racism has evolved into a synonym for anti white	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667
A simple answer as to why systemic racism exists in the United States is that despite what you and I have been taught in school, slavery was not actually abolished in 1865 and it in fact still exists today. If you read the 13th Amendment it states clearly that slavery as a means of criminal punishment is very much legal and we see it in the form of the American prison industry.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/72	1.389
+Cycling in Edmonton from the Eyes of a Teen: I would need to look into MDMA before offering an opinion. Are shrooms currently being consumed in sufficient quantities to warrant regulation?I submitted a unrefined idea regarding sales and consumption intentionally, primarily because I'm not being financially compensated for the work.(I'm aware that trying to push through legislation to make such things punishable by death would be a bootless errand, much like trying to scrub corruption from our pre-existing institutions without overthrowing them through violence...)	Unrefined	Social Class - Working class	1/86	1.163

+DJ Sapien-The fact of the matter over (in part, I guess) just why racism persists just goes all the way back to the systemic and institutional racism that has never fully gone away. Slavery was abolished in 1865 but it couldn't fix the people who believed slavery still needed to exist and black people were inferior, sub par humans who didn't deserve equal rights, nor could it heal the wounds inflicted by slavery, nor all the people who had grown up with it. Institutional (and often legal such as segregation) racism flourished in part because the people who had grown up with these hostile, racist , disgusting behaviors instilled it into a new generation, who only proceeded to pass it to the next generation, and so on and so forth.Finally, in 1965, black people were given the legal right to vote (100 years too late and is currently being ripped apart and deregulated as well) and ever since then, there has been a slow but steady climb towards better equality as newer generations grow up learning from their parents to respect others and treat others with respect. However, Southern states where families don't tend to move around as much and often grow up in pretty much the same area for generations will often pass on their ideals to the newer generation, and since those ideals are far more "homogenized," they will stick and stick hard.And when it comes to the corrupt police system in our country, police are a very tight knit community where people also don't move around as much, they'll spend their lives as a cop and live in the same area, and often family members will decide to go into the same field as well, to where the racist cops will very easily pass on their ideals to another generation to where the system is so mired with blood (figuratively and literally) to where they clearly see minorities as inferior subhumans who deserve every torture, possibly death, that they get, that these people somehow "deserve" this and it's so ingrained and wound into the system, often, these police don't realize any better (not that it's an excuse, it's just what they believe and on top of being trained to deal with suspects as enemies of war and turning police into soldiers). People have to learn to be better people in particular for racism to decay, systemic racism needs to be examined far more closely and we need to take steps on how to help people learn to be better individuals. You can't force people to change but you can encourage people to and you have to teach people young basic compassion and empathy to live a good quality of life and treat others with a good quality of life.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	9/463	1.944
+vlogbrothers Can you please make a video addressing Freddie Gray and other police actions towards African Americans?	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/17	5.882

Honestly, America is the most race obsessed society I've ever witnessed, you feel it immediately in the country, from the media to the clear cut segregation. That isn't to say that racism doesn't exist anywhere else, it does, in some countries probably even more so, but race seems to be at the forefront of EVERYTHING in America, literally everything is about race or made into racial issues, race is at the forefront of consciousness always.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	5/75	6.667
It makes me laugh when I see something on racism and then white people come out and say "well there is racism towards whites too". First not only will there NEVER be as much racism towards you as there is towards minorities but your racism doesn't not stop you from having things that you know ... everyone needs such as jobs... or healthcare... or education... or freedom. Not only that but its kinda self absorbed for you to come in here and complain about your problems when you even with your set backs have ALWAYS had it easier. To me its like I get shot and you come in like "well you keep complaining as if I have not been hurt also like one time I got a splinter and it really hurt" or I just got raped and you come in like "you shouldn't be complaining I too have been debased... One time this guy talked about my butt" . I know its cliché but its like that meme that's all over the internet where the guy is like "why do white people keep changing the BlackLivesMatter thing to AllLivesMatter.... Do they go to funerals too like "I too have felt lost!!!"? "	Racism	Ethnicity - General	4/204	1.961
Very soon the white race and their descendants will pay for the crimes committed over the centuries, in a few decades the white race will be extinguished from the earth. That's funny is not it, centuries ago white people invaded Africa, Asia and America to enslave and exploit the native peoples, these white explorers are now seeing the same people who were enslaved and exploited doing exactly the same thing as whites did in the past , destroying, stealing, killing and exploring,but this time in the land of white people . Issac Newton was always right on one thing: ALL ACTION, HAVE A REACTION. I see you guys in hell white people motherfuckers !!!	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/114	1.754

Everyone all over the world knows that USA is the most racist and segregationist country in the world, and the more scary thing is almost every white american citizen deny that. It is weird but, money and some technologies are the only things relevant in US, nothing more !	Nothing, Racist, Weird	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/49	6.122
What's a word thats analogous to racism for culture	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/9	11.111
distorted flamingic bigotry, xenophobia or chauvinism (though nowadays chauvinism typically implies gender bias, it's got a broader definition too)	Gender, Xenophobia	Gender - General, Nationality - General	2/18	11.111
Of course it's systemic, it is taught in the public schools. The full title of Darwin's most famous work: On the Origin of Species by Means of Natural Selection, or the Preservation of Favoured Races in the Struggle for Life has been shoved down the throats of American children by those who want to hate or dominate since it was written at the height of the racist movement (2 years before the Civil War). It has undergone many facelifts since slavery: Jim Crow , apartheid, separate but equal, multi culturalism.... I don't know what they'll call it next but as long as they deny that all men are created equal and endowed by their Creator by certain unalienable rights it will continue. If you are old enough you know this is why the racist coach in Remember the Titans handed Coach Boone the banana it was in all our school books and taught openly; the Africans they called the negro race and the aborigines of Australia they said were the least evolved races. Darwin's own " race " he called Caucasoid were the supremely evolved ones. At the time the world's most important real scientist, Louis Pasteur said Darwin's idea was rubbish not worthy to be even called a theory. It is still rubbish today but it doesn't stop those who either want to keep racism propped up or just avoid dealing with God from making it the official religion of the day. And thus systemic racism continues. It is loathsome but until you get rid of the root cause you won't get rid of racism . On the other hand the Bible says their is only one race the human race ; Eve is the mother of all the living.	Banana, Crow, Jim Crow, Negro, Old, Race, Racism, Racist	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Asian (East- China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam), Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	13/286	4.545

Brett Sexton the theory of evolution talks about how species will change and adapt to different environments so they can survive and continue their genes. it is simple, if a species/race cannot keep up, it will not survive. i'm not saying Africans and aboriginals are under evolved, but they did evolve and adapt in different environments than Europeans. Charles Darwin's Theory of Evolution is the best theory explaining how humans, are humans. the Theory of Evolution should even become a law not just a theory. and how is Louis Pasteur a "real" scientist and Charles Darwin not? all he did was invent pasteurization. The Theory of Evolution was made with real evidence and not meant to be racist at all. you cannot deny the Theory of Evolution.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/127	0.787
Britni Weiss even tho the theory of evolution is just a theory, the creation story isnt even a theory, its a fictional story!(unless you call it " the theory of creation"). The theory of evolution is such a good theory, we have tons of evidence to support it, and no evidence to deny it. Hopefully it will be made into a law. It still a very new theory(compared to the laws of physics) though, only being a century and a half old . The theory of evolution and the theory of relativity should both be made into laws. Just because it isn't a theory, doesn't make it false.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/107	0.935
Brett Sexton I would like to add in one more thing. You are calling Darwin racist for coming up with the theory of evolution, but he still called it a "theory". On Darwin's death bed, he admitted that the theory of evolution was probably ridiculous and that animals can't turn into new species, but now we realize with a lot more evidence supporting it like DNA and natural selection, we see that Darwin's "theory" was actually true, and should be made a law.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/83	1.205
CrazyNinja2000 the Catholic Church is not the original church and they hold many untrue (unbiblical) views. Perhaps you noticed the Reformation in your history lesson, but possibly not you thought the Catholic church was the original church. Nothing has ever evolved into a different kind what you have said is obviously false on its face. Everything reproduces after its kind. The phrase "natural selection" is a nonsense term. Selection requires a selector.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/72	1.389

CrazyNinja2000 hey glad you're still with me, I hope you won't find me harsh but the verse you are referring to doesn't reference the Catholic church as in the Roman Catholic Church but The Church which is all believers throughout all time. The (Roman) Catholic church as I said before hold many non-biblical ideas; and held even more before one of their monks -Martin Luther picked up his Bible and started to read Romans. But more basic Bible doctrine later if you're interested. I'm sure you couldn't be serious in what you said next, that the butterfly chose to have white wings. You aren't going to tell me you chose your height, or eye color, or your hair color (natural color not what ever you die it) are you?? Agian, I don't want to sound mean, I'm sure you are just repeating things you have heard. And what's wrong with that; everything any of us knows we learned from someone else. So let me share something with you. You mentioned a week ago DNA supporting evolution, molecules-to-man. Francis Crick the Nobel Prize winning co-discoverer of DNA and an evolutionist said, "An honest man, armed with all the knowledge available to us now, could only state that in some sense, the origin of life appears at the moment to be almost a miracle, so many are the conditions which would have to have been satisfied to get it going." His solution was Panspermia - life was transported to earth from another solar system. He saw that life from nonlife to impossible to take place so he pushed the problem off to some other place. Ironically this is what many evolutionists claim Christians and Jews do. We have a mystery so we invent a god. But we didn't He made us and gave us a book. Crick's Little Green Men from the other solar system sent no book. Crick was obviously a very intelligent man certainly more intelligent than me. His problem isn't intelligence it is that he closed his eyes tight to the truth in front of him. Another Nobel prize winning Darwinian scientist, George Wald in his work The Origin of Life, said, "Most modern biologists, having reviewed with satisfaction the downfall of the spontaneous generation hypothesis (life from non-life per Darwinian evolution), yet unwilling to accept the alternative belief in special creation are left with nothing. I think a scientist has no choice but to approach the origin of life through spontaneous generation. " And, "One has only to contemplate the magnitude of this task to concede spontaneous generation is impossible. Yet here we are, as a result I believe in spontaneous generation." The man know evolution can't be true and yet he believes it because he refuses to believe in the Creator he knows must exist. He is not stupid he is willfully blind. one more thing, most people like the idea of no Creator because it means no moral law, but it also means you have no purpose. If no one made you for a purpose you have none. You can invent one for yourself but why what will it mean? I can assure you Crazyninja, that you were made in the image of the Creator God who made you to show you His everlasting lovingkindness. These brilliant men I mentioned shut their eyes to what they knew to be true. Christianity is a reasonable faith. God in the book of Isaiah said come let us reason together (that's in the old Testament). He welcomes your inquiry. Another man who thought Christians stupid set out to prove it; he did a bunch of	Blind, Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/692	0.434
---	----------------------------	--	--------------	--------------

You are right but... Why don't you write about African Americans being the main chracter? It is rare to see it unless its written by an african american... almost every book has that white main chracter with a black friend or something... Its stupid.	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/44	6.818
white people are the most racists, black people are not really racist they're just tired of getting discriminated by white people.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/21	9.524
What about average IQ statistics? How do those look when we pair them with race ? And what do the stats show when it comes to IQ and crime?	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/28	3.571
mummylambs They're not ready for this,they never will be.All the IQ tests were made by racist white supremacists to them...even though they all put asians on top lol.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/28	3.571
Racism has to be some form of stupidity. The term " black on black crime" is one I've heard over and over. The fact that " black " people are far more likely to be victims of black assailants doesn't mean anything. It's true for every other so called racial group. For some reason people of these made up race groups live together, thus the attacker next door shares the victim's complexion. Pretending skin color/genealogy says something about a person is racism . It's also ridiculous. I will never see a "white" person and say, "You use sunblock? Me too! Let's be together!" I will never leave it unsaid and just act like it's true. It's because I'm not a dumb ass. Racism ? Dangerous stupidity is a more accurate description of this phenomenon.	Black, Dumb, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	9/129	6.977
One way to solve racism . I think social classes.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/9	11.111
the south and east coast us states are far more racist then west coast states	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667
I don't hire black people because in the past they fucked with my business. Especially when it comes to workmans comp. They lie, they cheat and they deceit. Are there great hires out there that are black ? Sure, but the percentage of them being awful? Significantly higher than that of other races. The saying of " Black people are trouble" is the sad truth.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/63	4.762
Can you do an episode about racism in other countries as well?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/12	8.333

Finally someone said. Sadly it takes a white guy to talk about it for some white people to believe it. White people are in denial about racism just like back in the 1950's. Racism is still alive; my friend Evan who is black was holding hands with his white girlfriend and some racist asshole said that he was going to hang Evan for being with a white girl. This did not happen in the south or in the 1960's, it happened in 2010 in New Jersey.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/86	4.651
Joe Raji He made a point about difficult it is for black former inmates to get a job	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/18	5.556
I think the issue is being treated fairly not getting a small consolation gift for years of mistreatment. Also white people are not the only ones who can be racist . I understand your frustration with this information being presented as if it is new. It is frustrating but at least it is being presented. Also if you could not call white people evil (you making an assumption on a group of people because of past actions done by a smaller portion of that group) that would be great	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/88	1.136
The racial bias for hiring is precarious because blacks and latinos are hired less frequently and paid less. However Indian-Americans (which represents 2 of America) has the largest percentage of their population going to college, they earn the highest wages in America ($40,000 more than the average American) and represent a disproportionate amount of IT technicians, doctors , lawyers, and bankers. I think that the main difference between Asians/Indian-Americans and other minorities is that they understand the poverty back home and will work tremendously hard to get the best education and the best jobs possible.	doctors	Nationality - General	1/94	1.064
Aditya159 Only those from India with some degree of wealth have the opportunity to go to the US. Even this doesn't mean there is no racism towards them as well. Perhaps white people that have identical qualifications are better paid.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/40	2.5
Thank you for giving some solid proof that racism still exists in America. The idea we live in a post-racist society makes me sad every time I hear someone say it.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/31	3.226
There is not one shred of evidence that supports racism exists in America. You need to grow up.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/18	5.556

I don't really know which issue to comment on because of how expansive and pervasive the list is in modern society, so I'll just quickly address something I'm seeing in the comments. White people have white privilege. There. I'm white, I have white privilege. It's so asinine to even hypothetically argue about its nonexistence that it boggles me how so many people are ignorant enough to even try to. We live in a world catered to lighter skin and less melanin, it's undeniable.Running hand-in-hand with this is if racism runs "both ways". Yes, it does. Does that mean white people are subjugated and marginalized to even a fraction of other ethnicities? Fuck no. Racism is any stance, action or mindset that distinguishes races so as to label one inferior or superior to another. If you're black and hate all white people, or vice versa, then you're a racist ; if you're Chinese and hate all Japanese, or vice versa, then you're a racist ; if you are x and you hate all of y, or vice versa, then you are a racist . Note that I'm using 'hate' to mean look down on or direct animosity towards people of another race regardless of who that person is as an individual. Racism isn't the only problem in the world, but it undoubtedly is one of the most important, looming issues that needs to be addressed right now. So just love each other, people. I know this sounds kind of hypocritical coming from a white guy, but society is made up of people and we only need to reach a tipping point before compassion overcomes our current system.Please, I welcome criticism of anything I've written above. I want to be part of the movement forward, instead of clinging to the broken systems of the past. So if you disagree with something I wrote, let me know and we can chat. :)	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/318	1.887
People who try to deflect this problem by saying "what about black on black crime" are basically advocating for collective punishment. They are saying because a black gang member kills another black gang member it automatically devalues the lives of 30 million human beings. Every race of people has killing amongst them selves,just because you don't hear it on the news everyday doesn't mean its not happening.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/67	7.463
You are now realizing this????? This shit has been going on even before those studies came out. GOD HAS BEEN WATCHING YOU WHITE PEOPLE. God knows how you undermine other races and treat us as if you are better than us. That's why he put a BLACK PRESIDENT as the president of the United States as a huge FUCK YOU - "There will be a black president even if you mothafuckers like it or not." God has always had we minorities back we don't need white people to have our backs for us	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/93	2.151
Perhaps you should look at races equally, and stop with the racism .Just because there are racists does not mean you should hold racist sentiments toward them. You are the evil that you dislike.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/34	5.882

This is such an informative video that I keep coming back. I also talked about racism on my channel but your video is like, wow!	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/25	4.0
I'm glad I ventured into the comments, I thought for sure I'd scroll down and read bible passages and racial slurs. Instead I'm reading everyone's honest opinions on racism . I have to say its kind of refreshing to be able to talk about this openly. I never get to hear how people genuinely feel about this topic, because everyone starts fighting. I'm proud of you today, youtube.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/67	1.493
Empep12 In the world. Whites have always seen themselves as the better race , and in alot of countries whites are being discriminated against or they are discriminating, but they are never grouped in with latinos or blacks	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/37	2.703
infinity pool Ancient history saw nothing but what ELD (the above comment) discusses, and race is a flawed term in itself. Where ethnicity can be brought up with facts and experiences such as nationality , familial history, court records, and most importantly, shared culture with other peoples, race is defined entirely by the group studying said cases. The different tribes, clans and migrant trade affiliations of the Middle East could have a race assigned to each group, and in an area such as that, we know what happens when we start discriminating based on a term such as ' race '. Group A expresses dominance over Group B, Group B points to cultural backbone or common cultural history to even, Group A [usually] succeeds in dominating Group B. The same for North Mediterranean civilizations. It has never been a White vs. Black vs. East Asian vs. Indian vs. Turkish vs. South American Native/North American native thing; it has been an issue in social partitioning and institutionalized advantage by the socially dominant group. In the case you describe, no they are not usually grouped that way because it is unlikely they would ever be in the same social situation as each other where they might be grouped. This does not make them superior or seem like they are that, it simply means they aren't because they just aren't around to be so.Also, let me be clear, this does not mean that members of the socially dominant group should feel the tables are flipped on them when this topic is discussed, it is merely a way to air out issues that have become an undercurrent of sorts that we cannot directly observe or directly link to one point or another. Basically, [blank] privilege is not a legitimate way to combat this issue, it is a way of starting at a low hanging point and working our way from there to find the leak in the pipes.	Black, Common, Ethnicity, Indian, Migrant, Nationality, Nothing, Race	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American, Nationality - General, Social Class - Working class	10/322	3.106

The biggest killer of African American men are other African Americans. Verifiable fact. Yet it's whites vs everyone else? You really are a dumb fuck aren't you?	African, Dumb	Ethnicity - Black, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/27	11.111
infinity pool It's neither black vs white, nor white vs everyone, nor any race vs any race - citing it as that is racism in itself. It's intolerant people vs normal people. No, I'm not trying to say "White people are discriminated against as well". I do know blacks have it the worst. I'm just saying that seeing this as a war against anything but ignorance is really not going to drive us closer together, it's just gonna drive us further apart and perpetuate the problem...	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/86	4.651
Evan Gray There's been books written in answer to your question, you just need to seek them out. Does it seem arbitrary to you? Why? Because intermixing exists? So let's ignore race entirely? 200 years later, we have 3-4 races remaining. 400, we have no actual racial identity, we're a single globalized culture with little variety in hair, eye, and skin color. One race , wrapped up with a nice, tidy bow. Now consider a world where we respect our differences, don't discriminate against one another, where there's places like America for intermixing but unique races have a right to exist independently among themselves; we are many cultures, perspectives, we come in all shapes, colors, and sizes and we can all communicate amongst one another freely, sharing ideas and beliefs, adapting them to our own individual cultures in a beautiful human tapestry. But hey, it's all arbitrary right? What a shitty excuse. Preserving, not squandering our genetic diversity should be an utmost priority. I rest my case.	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/166	1.205
It seems like you're confusing race with culture. I wasn't saying that we should not preserve our cultural identity. I agree with you completely in that regard. But when people say " race " they're almost always referring to the physical appearance of others. The physical appearance of someone is not part of culture. Also, your last sentence confuses me. What do you mean when you say that we should work to preserve our genetic diversity?	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/74	2.703

Immigration is happening all over the world. Europeans will soon be extinct, their birthrates are at catastrophic levels compared to the high rates of immigrant populations and the massive influx of new immigrants. The Chinese are colonizing Africa, sending tens of thousands. Climate change related drought will spread populations all over the world. Our genetic diversity, which often goes hand in hand with cultural diversity, is and has been continually degrading for about a century now, since then globalization has been eliminating competing cultures and languages at record rates, human cultural and racial diversity is being destroyed. The future Earthling will look like a cross between the Han Chinese, a South American, and an Indian; it's a statistical reality if we continue to allow immigration, globalization and cultural cross-pollination around the world, particularly in places with already endangered races.	Immigrant	Nationality - General	1/139	0.719
Evan GrayIt's good that you're dating a Vietnamese girl, being a White man it's your duty to spread our genes as much as you can. I do the same. Think of the history and invention we've inspired, imagine a world without the European. Intermixing doesn't increase genetic diversity, traits are lost over time and races are wiped out. Truly increasing genetic diversity would be creating protected subsections where specific races were allowed to intermix and that unique genetic line would be then preserved as it's own race . I'm glad you agree that cultural diversity is important, but so is racial diversity. People argue that the difference in genetics between races is too small to be relevant, but truly it's massive. To give you an idea, we share 50 of our DNA with bananas. 95 with chimps. The sometimes less than 1 difference can mean the neurons in our brains are arranged totally different, muscle structures like fast twitch vs slow twitch altered, our rates of infant development completely changed, and many other unique traits that give us genetic diversity, all that could be lost overtime to uncontrolled intermixing. How to end it is simple, in China minority groups have their genetic diversity protected. African countries are occupied largely by Africans, though that will soon change with a growing and soon-to-be migrating Asian population. Some tribes in South America and East Asia are allowed to live in isolation from encroaching populations. In Mexico there's even laws against immigrating populations that might threaten their racial composition. But all White countries are open to immigration, Whites are breeding less than ever, adopting more often from the 3rd world, barraging ourselves with 'White Guilt' born of a new sense of social awareness awakened following WWII. The most popular baby name in Europe is Muhammad. There's a lot of problems that need to be solved, but they start with acknowledging they exist.	African, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/318	0.629

DesmondCreighton Newsflash: I'm actually white.But it's nice to see that you think only a black person could defend blacks.Either way, I have fulfilled my duty here. There have always been racist people and always will be, I'm not going to change your entire personality in an online argument. What I don't like is when racists pretend not to be. Now that you have shown yourself to be a true racist , good bye and have a nice day!	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/79	3.797
--	---------------	---	------	-------

Oh the opinion of the founder of our modern understanding of DNA doesn't mean anything huh? Guess that makes your opinion somewhere on the level of shit under my boots then eh. ;) If you're so overly sensitive about homosexuality you're afraid of winky faces, I think you should take a hard look at yourself, seems you're suppressing some feelings of self-loathing.Thanks for listing those failed African civilizations, they're great examples some of the many tribes incapable of progressing past stick and mud-brick architecture, each and every one of them brought briefly into the level of civilization by foreign influence before destroying themselves with their warlike but thankfully incompetent nature. All the whining you did afterward just made me think you were projecting. Did I really make you cry bro? It's not the end of the world, being shown what a stupid hypocrite you are, you'll be OK buddy! ;)I didn't list a hundred other traits either, didn't mean I forgot them, just that they weren't necessary to prove my point, an easy task against you. Why fixate on the folded eyes of Asians though, feeling a little neglected? I've never met anybody who thought all Europeans lived in log huts, lmao. But let's be real, we both know that's a fucking stupid statement; even our most primitive Europeans were building wonders of the world like The Stone Henge all over the place. Guess you've never heard of the Greeks, or Rome. Or seen a cathedral. See, another thing about the freeze-thaw cycle is that we had to adapt past the mud and stick construction you're so proud of.Colder climates are easier? Haha, stupidest statement you've made yet. Ever heard of the dire wolf? How about the sabre tooth tiger? The wooly mammoth? Ever one of them are bigger and meaner than their African counterparts, and only the strongest animals survived winter, adding another level to natural selection. Think we had less disease? Is that why our diseases wiped out millions more than we could ever do with violence and not the other way around? See, another great thing about European cultivation and architecture is that it allowed us to progress past small primitive tribes into concentrated population centers where disease was rampant, adding yet another level to the natural selection. Your report shows that the Chinese had the highest frequency of wars, so try again. Boo hoo either way though, we were successful at dominating the rest of the world; want a tissue? You're right though about one thing, I flopped around a lot, smacking you around with the long dick of logic. Easy to see from your comment history you're obsessed and confused over race, projecting your desire for black dick on news hosts and insisting you have a "superior non-white intellect", providing no evidence for the fact while acting like you aren't racist and bias at the same time. XD Hypocrites make me laugh. Half Philippine and half ginger though eh? Guess your mom really did like that white dick, ironic that despite being half-white you still claim you have a non-white intellect. Uh huhh, whatever you say mutt. How's it feel to look in the mirror every day and know you'll never have the genetic strength and history of a pure-blooded European? You'll always be a mix between primitive tribal islanders and drunken Anglo-saxons, one of the last European populations to civilize; that's pretty low-tier. No wonder you're so butt	African, Black, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/601	0.832
--	------------------------------	--	-------	-------

DesmondCreighton "Oh the opinion of the founder of our modern understanding of DNA doesn't mean anything huh? Guess that makes your opinion somewhere on the level of shit under my boots then eh. ;) If you're so overly sensitive about homosexuality you're afraid of winky faces, I think you should take a hard look at yourself, seems you're suppressing some feelings of self-loathing"James watson even admitted afterwords that his opinion had no scientific grounding and that he had gotten it from reading the already debunked book, The bell curve. My opinion means more than his sinc eit is shared by the majority of scientists. I'm not afraid of winky faces i just find it weird that you are coming on to me because i do not "roll that way"'"Thanks for listing those failed African civilizations, they're great examples some of the many tribes incapable of progressing past stick and mud-brick architecture, each and every one of them brought briefly into the level of civilization by foreign influence before destroying themselves with their warlike but thankfully incompetent nature. All the whining you did afterward just made me think you were projecting. Did I really make you cry bro? It's not the end of the world, being shown what a stupid hypocrite you are, you'll be OK buddy! ;)"They failed because of european violence and colonialism. I thought you were educated in history? Afro confederacy, bonoman, Ashanti emprie, bamana empire, kong empire. I could STILL keep going."Colder climates are easier? Haha, stupidest statement you've made yet. Ever heard of the dire wolf? How about the sabre tooth tiger? The wooly mammoth? Ever one of them are bigger and meaner than their African counterparts, and only the strongest animals survived winter, adding another level to natural selection. Think we had less disease? Is that why our diseases wiped out millions more than we could ever do with violence and not the other way around? See, another great thing about European cultivation and architecture is that it allowed us to progress past small primitive tribes into concentrated population centers where disease was rampant, adding yet another level to the natural selection."It would be a stupid statement if it weren't a FACT. I am quite aware of your disgusting european diseases it's half the reason you didn't get your ass kicked by the native americans. Bigger animals doesn't mean anything, what was the point of listing them? "Your report shows that the Chinese had the highest frequency of wars, so try again. Boo hoo either way though, we were successful at dominating the rest of the world; want a tissue? You're right though about one thing, I flopped around a lot, smacking you around with the long dick of logic. Easy to see from your comment history you're obsessed and confused over race, projecting your desire for black dick on news hosts and insisting you have a "superior non-white intellect", providing no evidence for the fact while acting like you aren't racist and bias at the same time. XD Hypocrites make me laugh. Half Philippine and half ginger though eh? Guess your mom really did like that white dick, ironic that despite being half-white you still claim you have a non-white intellect. Uh huhh, whatever you say mutt. How's it feel to look in the mirror every day and know you'll never have the genetic strength and history of a pure-blooded European? You'll	African, Black, Race, Racist, Weird	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	7/1017	0.688
---	--	--	---------------	--------------

VaselineAvenger "Where are you from again? If you're referencing Africa, mind you that your car is barely moving and even then it's us that are providing you the basics. Who pays for your schools, your food and water? White people. Millions go to that shit every year. Still, you folks are trying to desperately come to our lands to leech off of our greatness on your shitty little rafts that sink in the Mediterranean. Good riddance. I'm all for your nations becoming something, so you could go back to where you belong. I wouldn't mind the collapse of Europe either, our current society is so rotten it could use a little reality check."I was born in the USA i eat american food and practice american culture i speak amercan english and have friends of all taht are american too. So it shouldn't surprise anyone when i say i could care less about cultures across the otherside of the world.Just because my dna says im filipino and irish doesnt mean anything. I grew up in the usa and I act like an american. Also Sorry to bum you out but african immigrants Do better than east asian ones. In fact Africans who had immigrants ancestors back about 2 to 3 generations have been known to score 90 and above on IQ tests. Suggesting the gap is easily mutable."Middle-East? Same shit they've been doing since the dawn of mankind, fighting over "holy land". Only thing different now is that they have modern firepower, politics, and the muslims are more inbred than ever. Jews are greedy and treacherous as usual, but maybe we have something to learn from them, they seem to be doing fine."The middle east has had the unfortunate curse of religion just like all peoples. jews are not greedy nor treacherous they just want to make a living like everyone else."As for Asia, China has a promising future, but Japan is knee-deep in debt. India is overpopulated and North Korea is still a dictatorship. It's certainly going to be an interesting future in those parts."I agree, if japan can get its young adult population out of depression and raise the population a little they would do fine. "USA? I could care less. A bunch of capitalists with huge debt, media-fed sheep and some of the most rotten cancer of the Frankfurt school running wild. They had their chance, maybe, but any hope for their utopia is long gone. All in all, the world is in some ways better, but some ways much shittier than before."Finally something we can come to terms on. If they had not held back blacks and other minorities for 150 years, that would have erased half of the issues we have today."And wait, I'm a white supremacist? No, I would not go out of my way to stomp you, as long as you stay away from my countries, since you're a burden. I wish Africa was as developed as Europe so you could quit your retarded debt and envy-complex and move on with your lives without leeching off us. There is no need to be hostile here, these are just opinions we're exchanging."Oh so you're just a neo segregationist. I'm sorry but i have to say fuck that as well. I like the different options of friends, women, and food and just culture all together and not all of us are rich enough to buy a plane ticket to go across the world. Multi culturalism isnt the issue it's the people who have an issue with multi culturalism that are the issue. The same who can't except others. Your ancestors brought over the africans as slaves you cant just say "nevermind we dont want them anymore." What is done is done.	African, Bum, Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Social Class - Destitute	4/811	0.493
---	-----------------------------------	--	--------------	--------------

+MegaGodfather12 You racist . Africans only are behind because they live on a barren continent and because we enslaved them.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/19	5.263
no it is stupid haters vs normal people who do not hate whites or any other race	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/17	5.882
No, it is every one else encroaching on white societies. Whites are NOT moving to Asian societies to live, but Asians are moving to white societies. Whites are not moving to black societies to live, but blacks are moving to whites societies. Whites are not moving to Arabs societies but Arabs are moving to white societies. White are not moving to Indian societies but Indians are moving to whites. How stupid can you be to not see different groups encroaching on other groups IS THE CAUSE OF RACISM .	Black, Indian, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	3/88	3.409
Infinity Pool You saying that means your racist because what you said is called discrimination...pathetic...stop thinking about race it's not just white people who are racist there are racist people everywhere not just one race	Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General	5/35	14.286
black industry your stupid you just were racist by saying it's whites vs everyone else your creating a stereotype that all white are racists...	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/24	8.333
BRAZILIAN JIU JITSU its allways been like that its nothing racist about it if you learned your history you'd know what im talking about its not in a racist manner	Nothing, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	3/30	10.0
black industry your stereotypeing white people	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/6	16.667
BRAZILIAN JIU JITSU didn't stereotype he said its white vs everyone i said its allways been like that and whites has always thought they were the superior race even tho back than there ancestors ruled and destroyed everything what you think its only white vs black ? Or white vs indian ? No its white vs everyone nobody stereotyped you took it in that direction	Black, Indian, Nobody, Race	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	4/63	6.349
Thanks for showing your overt racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/6	16.667

1. If your people had so much brains how come they didn't build the advance country that everybody else wanted to move to! 2. But you dont have the brains do you, why not? Because the average European country's IQ is 100 and India's average IQ is an abysmal 82. Deal with it and stay in your own country. Dont keeping flooding our countries and bringing your racism and hate with you - we dont want it.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/77	1.299
Last time I checked, White was a color. If your talking about me.. then maybe you should use TAN . There is a problem with racism , this whole video is color coding people and claiming certain people are differnt based off of the very cosmetic deviation of skin tone..... Thats all I can say, theres not much a racist would have to tell me thats very important, next you probably want to start categorizing us by our attached or unattached ear lobes..	Racism, Racist, Tan	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - British	3/81	3.704
Saying you should call white people tan is like saying you should call black people brown. Nobody does it.	Black, Nobody, Tan	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Nationality - British	3/19	15.789
just here to remind you that racism against white people doesn't exist!! :-)	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/13	7.692
vlogbrothers Did you know that in complete families (i.e. married and children live with married parents) income is higher for African Americans than for Whites?	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/25	4.0
Racism is only a branch of discrimination. Discrimination is everywhere. Humans discriminate instinctively. If we were more empathic, things would be different	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/22	4.545
Blacks can create wealth as anyone else. The fact they prefer to live from the government, which gives them money to keep their vote, is what keep them poor. They sell themselves as victims and they think as such, so they prefer to still where they are.The funny thing is that republicans are considered racist for treating them equally, but democrats are not for giging them priviledges.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/68	1.471
Why you talk about racism as just from whites against other races?80 of crimes are from minorities, mostly blacks.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/20	5.0
Why is it mainly white man vs. black man?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/9	11.111

im white with no job cuz my fellow citizens vote for politicians who tax our jobs out of the country.I tried to get healthcare=nofoodstamps=noand no one will buy crack from meh cuz im white.and you wanna complain about racism ? nigga plz	Nigga, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/45	4.444
Ajw Wade the voting habits of americans is a personal problem?I deny this. the voting habits of americans has absolutely nothing to do with me you moron	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/28	3.571
You know, another possibility for these numbers could simply be that people of Mexican and African decent in America are more likely to be trouble makers who don't care about school, and therefor lead to people assuming that any person of Mexican or African decent are as such. I mean the way people behave comes mostly from the circumstances in which they're raised and the way they're raised by their parents. So if a large portion of Mexican families in America for example came from Mexico poor and living in the "ghetto", then their children are likely to act like the people who are poor and live in the "ghetto" to. And most people of African decent in America came from people who were brought from Africa as being slaves with no rights, and then had to deal with poverty and racism even when they weren't slaves anymore. They probably had to live in the "ghetto", and as such made their children more likely to act "ghetto" to.Another factor could be that the people of African or Mexican decent in America are still kind of living in the poor conditions their parents lived in. I mean it's not the easiest thing to get out of being poor.I'm not trying to be racist here, I'm just throwing out ideas. Seriously, I'm DEFINITELY NOT racist , as some of the coolest people I've met are of Mexican and African decent.	African, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	8/239	3.347
The best way to counter racism is to make everyone understand the fact that we all descend from the same being and thus we are all cousins	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/27	3.704

The thing that seems to impede progress when it comes to racism is that people are more prone to react to "incidents" rather than "statistics." What I mean is when people hear statistics like these, the actual source of racial conflict, nobody really does anything about it because there is no "target." They listen, contemplate, and then continue on as they were before. People are more prone to react to "scandals" like the former owner of the Clippers (I think it was the clippers, I don't really follow basketball.) People got up in arms about it because there was a clear perpetrator of the " racism " and we were able to punish him because of it. And once the " racism " was defeated, we felt good because we had "won" and racism had "lost" even though, in the big picture, this was a minor incident and nothing had truly been gained from it. It's less a "White people hate black people, which is bad" issue, it's more an issue of choosing the wrong battles. It makes me wonder what kind of catalyst it will take to usher in reform.	Black, Nobody, Nothing, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/187	3.743
You should also watch the show blackish on abc . Black people like to be discriminated sometimes!	ABC, Black	Ethnicity - Black, Nationality - Chinese	2/16	12.5
Now I don't agree with choosing somebody just because of their name, but I think the employers didn't choose somebody somebody named Laqueisha because they don't sound smart. Not because they're black . I know s white person named Laqueisha and she's really stupid. Also I bet if you added idiotic white names like Maelyn and Braylyyn you'd get similar results. Same with names like L-dasha and Wednesday. That study isn't related to race .	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/73	2.74
Adam Kearley One day, racist fucktards like yourself will be gone.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/11	9.091
Good. Now you should make a video exploring how many of these justice system statistics would still be true, or at least very similar, if you replace the word " black " with "men" and "white" with women, ignoring race for that particular video.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/42	4.762
Black people are the most racist spectrum of humans ever. with out it they would be seen as simply..... blah	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/20	10.0

One big problem, and this is entirely anecdotal, is within the different races themselves. I clearly remember from my days at school that the quickest way for a minority to be made fun of by their own race is to try hard and be smart (which isn't true for all races). I took a lot of honors and AP classes back in high school and felt bad for the one black kid constantly being called an "Oreo", black on the outside, white on the inside. Same with native americans being called "apples".	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/92	3.261
About the job application things, using common vs uncommon names also matters, I wonder what would happen if they also did white names like Dante, Sven, and Natalia, or other names that have racial associations like Muhammad, Abha, and Gita.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/40	2.5
Well said John!!!! Spot on-I'm so glad you covered this topic- such an important issue that we must deal with as a nation.	Nation	Nationality - General	1/23	4.348
Thank you...a lot ....I'm am a black female students. I attend a predominantly white 4 year university. I also attended a predominantly white high school. I could write a book on how many times I have been denied my own experience from white people who simply couldn't fathom being treated unfairly or with out dignity because of race.... And because my experiences were different...they were discarded. I'm used to that. Honestly it hasn't bothered me in years but this year...I'm taking sociology of family and my teacher is the worst he completely disregards the the social, political ,educational and economical implications that have effect the statistical data that sociology calls the black family. He instead blames what he believes are personal weakness of black people who he sometimes refers to as negros. ... which gives me pause. But Anyway It helps to see an educator ,especially one who Is not black , acknowledge fact over personal bias.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/157	3.185
Racism in the US government is really only used as an excuse to give minorities an advantage through Affirmative action. Minorities have proven time and time again that they, as normal people, can be held up to the natural, same standards as whites and asians. Affirmative action is the worst Idea ever.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/52	1.923

okay okay okay but at a certain point when people are making choices about education and employment doesn't the distinction have to come from a place where we aren't thinking about race and just the merit of said individual that the way luck is handed down in a society as you point out when we look back at history that systemically minorities have less opportunity? The question anyone is really faced with is how unfair is this reputation that would give whites an advantage?I myself don't know but there are more questions that come with the issue of race . I believe we have reached a point where or will reach a point eventually that a distinction is made only on merit and therefore minorities like hispanics and blacks are judged by their own merit I also believe that with lets say issues like the Trayvon Martin case, at what point do you look at the countless home invasions that plagued that neighborhood as another root cause to this injustice? The reason Jamal is a name which may be associated with a thug culture is because maybe there is a thug culture? At what point does it become less about race and more about a relationship with authority ?? just to be clear this is coming from a hispanic person I'm Ecuadorian and I grew up in Queens ny a few blocks from the Queens Bridge projects I know that shouldn't matter but of course it does.	Race	Ethnicity - General	3/246	1.22
I hate racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/3	33.333
I have question to all those who say America or White western nations are racist in general.Can you name any other countries that have strived harder to help the minorities in there country? Any Black countries? Any Arab countries? Any Latino countries? Can minorities in any other country protest?Please answer the question & no speeches.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/57	3.509
Yes. As we know race is just skin color. There are no measurable average differences between the races in behavior and intelligence because evolution is hell bent on making everyone the same. There is one race , the human race . Our bodies can evolve but our brains can't because that would be unpleasant.	Race	Ethnicity - General	3/52	5.769

Yes, there probably is. But racism in America in the 21st century is a first world problem. Who the fuck cares if a black is payed 30 less than a white when America is so fucking great? If you were born in Russia or India, your biggest problem would not be race, but the fact that your sister was raped to death no matter what fucking race she was. Now, you say that, still, it doesn't defend racism and it does not. But the truth is you can't really stop racism. In the land of the free and home of the out-spoken, bad things are prone to happen. Humanity as a hole is not perfect and needs time to learn things. You could have a solution to destroy racism by forcefully regulating society via an efficient totalitarian system, but I'm not sure that would be a good idea, not to mention it might not work. And I want to say one more thing. If judges treat blacks different, that's just horrible racism. But if companies choose not to hire black people, it's because they have the right to do so, because being free means precisely being able to make decisions that come not from other people but from within, and if companies have a "hunch" that blacks are not a good thing for them, nothing can stop them from making that decision and nothing should.	Black, Nothing, Race, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	11/235	4.681
So basically, you are saying we shouldn't be concerned about companies being racists. You sound like the kind of racist hick that would support Jim Crow laws and segregation. Getting a job is hard enough for many people regardless of skin color. Saying it's acceptable for businesses to deny employment of black people is just insane in my book. You're just as bad as the "open racists" for that reason, if not worse. And Lorna was on the dot. The US as a whole still treats non-white people as inferior. Not as bad as during the '50's but it's still an issue that we have.	Black, Crow, Dot, Hick, Jim Crow, Racist	Ethnicity - Asian (South- India, Pakistan, Bangladesh), Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - White	6/105	5.714

NeocaskoWOOOOW BITCH! WOW! WOW! Segregation is a public policy, company racism is am individual matter. Propaganda fucktards always confuse those two. Personally, I don't hire people, and if I did, absent of statistics that show me not to hire blacks, I would do it. I would hire, not on criteria of race , but on criteria of who makes me more money. But if other people have statistics that tell them not to hire blacks, I respect that... or if they have statistics not to hire whites. Besides, nobody in their right mind would criticize companies, because they make all the shit you have and pay all the taxes, so they should be entitled to some freedom as to who they work with. Again, I'm not talking about the state. If the state treats blacks differently than whites, the judge should be kicked din the balls and fired from his job.You know what? I'm taking this the wrong way. I'm trying to be reasonable and it's hard. It's hard to be clever and reasonable, because totalitarian morons always win discussion fights. They yell something like "EQUALITY!" and win. Just like my freedom of expression and of choice, Freedom itself was never acquired through discussion, but through fight.If the two of us should ever meet, I would be glad to slit your throat. Maybe then you will understand that there is a more freedom-friendly point of view.	Nobody, Race, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	3/238	1.261
Wow, you are a bloody maniac. Threatening to slit my throat, eh? Man, you really are a racist hick . I'd break your back, your ribs, AND your pride before you do that kind of shit to me. - -	Hick, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - White	2/38	5.263
Lorna HensonBitch, it's common sense to say the EU is one of the least discriminatory places in the world, what with all of their high standards of living and human development and what not. I only think that most countries are even worse, AND THEY ARE EVEN FUCKING WORSE, with African genocides and Asian oppression. If you want to tell me that what I say is bullshit, then you'll have to bring some proof about the countries you speak of, in which rivers run pink milk and people laugh and play all day together like bros and sis. Until then, I will assume I wasted my breath on a no-brain hippie.	African, Common	Ethnicity - Black, Social Class - Working class	2/112	1.786
bigballsgame So calling out white privileged and institutionalized racism is destroying your freedom? Hahahahaha!!! XD	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667

NeocaskoThe same kind of people as yourself viewed themselves as "sane and rational" when they were arguing in favor of slavery. You don't do that. In fact, you are the opposite. However, I view you all the same: lacking moderation. Besides, you must have run out of arguments pretty quick if you start feeling superior all of a sudden.It;s pretty hard for me to draw you a map, telling you there are 2 kinds of people, those who moderate their shit and those who don't, and you're nothing short of the equality extremist, the same way people of the past were the inequality extremists. It's hard for me to explain all this shit to you. Other people should had done this.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/123	0.813
bigballsgame Dude, a rational person doesn't trash talk someone who disagrees with them when they are trying to make a real case. You calling me and Lorna all those nasty things didn't help. So you want to slit my throat because I have a problem with businesses being racists. How ridiculous does that sound? It's a very slippery slope to say we don't want to say anything against the decisions of companies.	Slope	Nationality - Chinese	1/72	1.389
"An injustice some where is an injustice every where."- Sista soulja That and racism as a whole cost America 2 trillion dollars. America might just be Fucked up due to race relations. From Housing to the war on Drugs, to gangs, if racism didn't exist many of the problems we have in society wouldn't either. Don't get me wrong i'm not saying it would be perfect but it would surely be better than what we have now.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/77	3.896
bigballsgame Sure, but people concern themselves with first world problems all the time. Suffering is not a contest. And every country has a lot of room for improvement. It's not like this video is arguing for money to be taken from supporting developing nations and put into eliminating systemic racism in the US. But while countries continue to invest largely in their own development, every country should look to improve its living conditions. The US has many of the more basic issues sorted (although I would argue that its healthcare and education leave a lot to be desired), and can thus afford to look into "lesser" issues such as this.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/110	0.909
Can you do a " Sexism in the United States by the numbers"? Since you're a successful man, people will listen to you more than the women who live it everu.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/30	3.333

I think the reason this sort of flies under the radar and gets ignored so much is because it's a very taboo subject. White people(I'm white btw) try so hard to not be or seem racist . Denial essentially ends up being our defense mechanism. We all know, that if people think we are racist it could ruin our career, our family, and our life as a whole. It's so bad, we will blatantly attack and judge even the slightest hint of racism , just to prove to ourselves that we aren't racist . This behavior just drives the denial and the need to not look racist to the point where they can't work or talk out those feeling. So, it eventually gets buried, hidden under the surface. Next thing they know, they're passing up Jamal for John not even realizing what influence their choice. Or worse, getting passed to their kids unknowingly.The next step to fighting racism is discussion, NOT judgement. No one is going to discuss there feeling when they know they are going to be harshly judged and risk ruining their lives.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	6/183	3.279
I think that looking at racism as only as black and white is the problem ignorance is bliss and discrimination happens to a lot of minorities as much as it does with black people	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/34	8.824
I think there is such a black white binary is because black people are the only ones who are willing to call white people out on their shit. I do see more POC from other races speaking out on racism but a lot of it is still riding on the back of black voices (which isn't bad, it is scary when you know the consequences that come with it). If more races are willing to endure the ridicule that comes with being so candid in race matters I think this black /white binary will begin to break.	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/96	5.208
I don't think that was the intention of John in this video. I think he would actually agree with what you are saying (so would most black people). The issue here is that black /white race politics in this country has a deep history due to slavery and Jim Crow . Focusing on those politics is not saying other forms do not exist. Specificity isn't neglect.	Black, Crow, Jim Crow, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/64	6.25
The biggest killer of African American men are other African Americans. Verifiable fact. Yet White people are the problem? Yeah okay.	African	Ethnicity - Black	2/21	9.524
DesmondCreighton So this is how you claim racism isn't a problem? I don't buy it.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667

Neocasko Nobody said something about discriminatory racism not being A problem, only that it's not THE problem, when such larger issues like African American criminal culture and violence towards themselves and other races eclipse your petty, sheep-like cries of racism ; comparable to someone terrified of terrorism when they're more likely to be struck by lightning than fall victim or even to know somebody directly victim to terrorism.	African, Nobody, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/67	4.478
Lucy Huerta What about Whites? We are only getting out nation stolen from us and can't say anything about it or we'll be racist or politically incorrect. It's not just in American, but in Canada, Europe, Russia and anywhere else where it's white dominate. Diversity is destroying the white culture, but it's okay for you liberals because of shit that happened centuries ago, disgusting.	Nation, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	2/64	3.125
kingofprussia17 White culture? Seriously? Minorities aren't "taking away" anything...except the hold racist nutjobs have over many societies. Diversity shows how we can be different, yet be together, and the fact "mixed people" exist shows how biologically insignificant " race " is. And mixing race and culture is a bad move because the difference is very distinct. Race refers to the social construct based on how we categorize people based on features common among groups of people whose ancestors changed/adapted while living in different regions of the world, while culture refers to the traditions, ideas, and values passed down among groups of people. People under the same " race " can (and tend to) have different cultures.	Common, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	6/112	5.357
Neocasko Diversity proves nothing , other than that it's sole purpose is the continue destruction of the norm for something else that is progressively more disgusting. I hope you are happy with your brainwashed mind.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/34	2.941

kingofprussia17Are you trolling or do you really believe this stuff? How is white culture being destroyed?Look, let me level with you. If you do really really believe this stuff then there's absolutely nothing I can say to convince you that the fundamental assumptions of your reality are incorrect. You are devout. That level of devoutness can only be changed through some sort of personal revelation.But to add some semblance of practicality to your viewpoint, I must at least tell you that there is no reset button on culture. Whatever it is you fear has already occurred and is likely to continue to occur as human culture becomes more progressive. No politician can get elected in this current era saying what you are saying. They'd be labeled a super ultra right wing bigot. Just not happening. Cultures will continue to mix. Partly due to globalism and partly due to the fruits of white supremacy (honestly, you kinda did this to yourself).This isn't going to rewind on itself. What you are asking for is the reverse flow of human history. You can't put it back in the box. This won't happen. The "minorities" have already infiltrated every aspect of contemporary life. They are presidents and UN council members. They are wealthy heads of corporations. And every day as the bigotry of white supremacy become more apparent, progressive thought is gaining ground. More liberal ideology is pushing public discourse further to the left, even in countries where that movement is annoyingly slow.White culture isn't going to die off. I am sure of this because I don't possess your level of convenient paranoia. But this viewpoint you have....well...Look, be a good person. Let this go. Find whatever peace you can. And try and actually have some real relationships with people that aren't your same skin pigment. You might find that they aren't so different and a culture of bigotry isn't worth maintaining.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/324	0.309
its racist to only act like there is only two races. The reason blacks are stopped and searched more, is because of their culture.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/24	4.167
I agree with a lot of what is said, except I feel that a lot of the problems are based on stereotyping, and not racism . They are very different. Racism implies that a race is inferior to another, while stereotyping means putting people who have a certain similarity into groups, which can often be construed as racism .	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	4/57	7.018
Yes, racism does exist. What isn't addressed in this and every other article is WHY it exists.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/17	5.882

Racism is littering: not everyone litters, but some are really obvious about it and don't care about the damage they're doing. Watching someone be racist to someone else is like watching someone empty their garbage bags out into the middle of the street. Some of us don't mean to accidentally drop their lollipop stick, or that paper just didn't make it into the trash can, but as more and more people slowly pile on more garbage, the world starts to look uglier and uglier. Even racism here and there can be offensive to the wrong people so make sure your trash is in your trash can and your recyclables are in the recycle bin.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/114	2.632
I agree with everything he said until the last bit. First hand accounts can be illuminating for pointing out what kind of statistics to gather, but beyond that almost useless. How common something is is hugely important for understanding it's relevance, it may well be the case that I am a Black, Homosexual , Female CEO from a rural economically deprived background whose never once experienced discrimination but that really doesn't mean that racism, homophobia, sexism and rural deprivation are not problems. Additionally, selection bias can be a huge problem. People love to blame things and people for stuff that goes wrong in their lives. If I already have it in my head that I am going to be discriminated against, I'm more likely to see it (both when it is there and when it isn't). If a bus driver doesn't stop for a White person, the bus driver was a dick, if it doesn't stop for a Black person, the bus driver was Racist . That in no way means that racism isn't a very real problem, just that first-hand accounts can be seriously problematic.	Black, Common, Homophobia, Homosexual, Racism, Racist, Sexism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General, Sexual Identity - General, Social Class - Working class	9/184	4.891
I'm about 90 certain that the guy in this video has not lived around blacks for an extended time. There's much much more to the story than numbers, and the story isn't so rose tinted in black peoples favor.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/39	2.564
hey john, this is something you might like. its a deeper look at levitts take on the racism study [LINK]	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/20	5.0
Dear vlogbrothers (John Green and Hank Green), My sister thinks that one cannot acknowledge that racism exists without being racist oneself. I strongly disagree. This video does a great job of giving some cold hard facts to prove that racism does, in fact, exist. Can you guys or other viewers on this channel help me convince my sister that it is not innately racist to acknowledge that racism exists? Thanks, Sarah ( Age 16, from Massachusetts)	Age, Racism, Racist	Age - General, Ethnicity - General	6/75	8.0
Your sister thinks being ignorant of race makes you non-racist? That is absurd! XD	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/14	7.143

Does she think acknowledging white privilege exists means you're racist against whites? Or that acknowledging blacks are dealt a bad hand means you're racist against blacks?	Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/26	7.692
It's weird though, because she isn't racist at all. She just seems like she's so determined NOT to be racist that she is getting ridiculous. I think she might be over it by now though. Racism is real!	Racism, Racist, Weird	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/38	10.526
You sound so racist Dragon.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/5	20.0
30 of black men in US will go to jail [LINK]	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/11	9.091
Pointing out that black men get longer prison sentences than white men is being socially conscious.Pointing out that women of any color get shorter prison sentences than men is being a filthy MRA.Your move, Social Justice crowd. Is it, or isn't it, alright that the court favors women over men, white over black ?. AsiA I. Sorry Im poor white from England and just trying to understand why whites are viewed this way in the US? This video aside what is your personal experience of racism please?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/55	3.636
They are racist to other ppl we are not racist to them	Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/12	16.667
Uh oh John, but I think you were racist ..rac · ismnounthe belief that all members of each race possess characteristics or abilities specific to that race , especially so as to distinguish it as inferior or superior to another race or races.(copied straight off google!) You talked about how a bunch of applications were submitted, some with Emily and Brendan, and some with Lakeisha and Jamal. Now, that's all fine and dandy, but Lakeisha and Jamal had a 50 less chance than Emily and Brendan? I could be being super arrogant right now, but doesn't that fall under the belief that a race possess a trait or attribute specific to that race ? Are we assuming that Lakeisha and Jamal are black only names? And that Emily and Brendan are white only names? That's certainly racist ! I don't think you were racist per-say, but I think there was certainly some racism in this study. Correct me if i'm wrong.	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	10/159	6.289
To deny systemic racism in America is to deny the 'REAL' America.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/12	8.333

Now merge racism and human sexuality by numbers, now that would be interesting topic to discuss.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/16	6.25
When I was in 8th grade, not so long ago, my school did this study on race because they wanted to see how the different races at my school viewed each other. There were three days, one for the hispanic kids, one for the black kids and one for the white kids. In my friend group, we were very diverse. We had different types of asian kids, hispanic kids, black kids, mixed/biracial kids, and white kids. One of my first thoughts when I got an invitation to this was "What about the asian kids?" I asked the coordinator and I she said she didn't know. I'm not saying my school racist to Asians, we have an AA club, but I just thought that was interesting. When I was with the white groups and we had a lead discussion with a lady taking notes on what we were saying in the back. We were in a secluded classroom with no other people around and were told that we could speak freely and anonymously. I looked around and I knew all the people, but they were all in the same friend group that wasn't as racially diverse. We had a very good conversation about how we think the other races were being treated. We came to a conclusion that we realized a few things. Most of us took the same "advance" (I call it that because my school really didn't have any named advance courses, but just separate classes with kids more apt to understanding things better) classes together, and also there were people in our grade calling out " RACIST " when someone even mentioned the color black or white, or even mentioned that someone was black , white, hispanic, asian, or any mix of. I thought this was a very important thing for the school to do, so the school can learn. I just wished they told everyone else in the school what had been said. The 30 of us out of the 100 in the grade got to talk about it, but only about what we felt. We didn't get a chance to hear what the others said, so we were never exposed to understanding. A lot of people are not exposed to this kind of understanding, and I think more people should be. If everyone could calmly talk about this kind of thing, anonymously, without being judged, then more people will be better off for it.	Black, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/405	1.728

While I agree that there is a bias against coloured people in america, one thing that may be a factor is culture John. If you listen to the way most blacks (teenagers) in schools and public places talk it is clear that many of them support illegal drugs, violence, and gangs or at least pretend to. I recognize that a black person reading this might dispute that they are not like this and I would agree, but then I would point out that most people who watch vlogbrothers videos are typically very normal and not violent or rude. I simply wanted to state that a reason behind a higher conviction number or search number for blacks could be the fact that many people have seen this behavior from groups of young blacks and associate it with the rest of them.	Black, coloured	Ethnicity - Black	2/140	1.429
I don't really think racism here is a big deal anymore. Actually. a lot of arguments that use racism make false claims to excuse failure or to dismiss a valid opinion. I've never been hated on cause of my race nor hated on anyone else based on their race and I know I'm only an individual compared to large numbers, but however, media incites that racism (most of media) is still a huge hot topic and is a huge problem only because of journalistic standards. Anyone who is racists is probably in hiding and hated anyway. And with that aside, some people say that cops are evil but if you really aren't full of hatred and are coherent you know that's not true. John, I liked your story ftios, but I disagree that racism is the majority of the United States.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	6/141	4.255
I wish I could say I agree with you. But as a black person, I can't say that it's a non-issue anymore, at least not yet. I think there is still a minority that messes things up for people and I think it's important to acknowledge that.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/47	2.128
I am African American. Use to think it wasn't a major issue. Boy was I wrong 8:.....(	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/17	5.882
I'm 5'10, statistically well over 75 of women want a man over 6 feet tall. Do I bitch and complain that the cards are stacked against me and blame everyone that when I can't find a girlfriend, its because of their prejudice against short people? No, because inevitably, You are responsible for your own destiny. All you can do is put your best foot forward, A true successful person will overcome these issues and adversity, even when the deck is stacked against them. Because I know this, I will always be successful in life regardless of my age , height, current wealth or race . Stop asking for other people to change to accommodate your feelings. It will never happen. It is far easier to change yourself for the better than someone else.	Age, Race	Age - General, Ethnicity - General	2/131	1.527

Since I am a white woman living in a 99.9 black community, I have a particularly unique 'take' on ' racism '. There isn't any racism in this community. All the black people accept and seem to like me. But these are the black people that you never hear about, kinda like chinese-americans, korean-americans, indian-americans (subcontinental Indians, I mean). Why not? Because they are WORKING FAMILY people who do not have time to buy into the bullshit that media and idiots like you like to spew out. Of course you are a minor minion member of the media, aren't you? You're only here to entertain and make money from your monetized channel. But as to the REAL body of americans, there is no particular ' racism ' per se. The black people getting arrested more than the white people thing.... WHERE did you get your 'stats'?? Yes. Exactly. FROM THE MEDIA. I'm unsubscribing from your channel because I just wasted my time watching your video and then responding. That's the last time, aren't you lucky.	Black, Racism, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	6/171	3.509
[LINK] To summarize this article, the patterns of " black " names such as Laquisha and Jamal are not exactly black names, but "poor black " names. Middle and upper class names of blacks are more akin to white names. If we are willing to acknowledge that race has mere correlation to crime whereas economic class has to do with the causation of crime, for reasons realistically conceivable (e.g. association with theft or drug dealing as a means to access money), then one can argue that employers are justified in less callbacks for Jamal and Laquisha. If comparing equal resumes, an employer would be realistic in being more eager to hire a middle class worker than a lower class worker, simply because less possibility of association with crime. Now, am I saying that it is impossible that an employer ignored the resume because the names are black and not because they are poor? No. It is in fact likely. But because it is nonetheless a slightly wiser choice to an employer's own self interest to call back a middle class person rather than a poor person, the race card can't be pulled from that statistic alone.This is the problem of sociology. Implications can't be gathered in the same way as in physics and chemistry. There are too many variables.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/218	2.752
Don't forget about all the racism against whites too. It goes both ways, we're not immune. We're the new jews.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/20	5.0
Its no racism against whites. You guys are put on a pedestal in this america	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667

Adrianna Maxwell Are you high? A soon as something bad happens to a person of color, whites are the first to blame, even when it doesn't make sense. I'm not going to say people don't experience racism , every race does. However, the majority of society turns a blind eye to anti-white racism on a daily basis and I'm getting sick of it. It's especially apparent on the west coast and other liberal areas.	Blind, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/73	5.479
Empep12 all that tells me is that white on white racism is possible now.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/14	7.143
mlgmake You vote radical right because americans are being discriminated? And you choose to vote right, the side of politics known for ethnic cleansing in europe? Not sure I see the logic.	Ethnic	Ethnicity - General	1/32	3.125
mlgmake Did I say that? No. I didn't. Radical right? Not a good tally for europe, or other countries. Look at america during the cold war! Radical left? Just as bad! It seems voting radical doesn't help the common people much.I live in Norway. White men still win domestic violence by a country mile afaik.No real radical? Do you want me to show you the nazi party in greece that got 3 seats? In time, sure, go ahead. Try. Every time a radical right party/group pops up racists infest it and ruin whatever it is they try to do. We have a communist party in norway and they're stupid as hell too.	Common, Communist, Nazi	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Social Class - Working class	3/114	2.632
Well that's just terrible. Racism is HORRIBLE! equalityforall Although, you only spoke about African Americans.What about other minorities?	African, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/19	10.526
Name discrimination are stronger than race .. If there are many asshole with the name of x, then people would have a stronger reaction to the name.. Just like facial feature.. If i been expose to a lot of nice guy name A, then whenever i saw someone with the same name, it would bring back the good memory n so do if the one with horrible memory	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/67	1.493
I think you should go a little more in depth, in another video, about the "challenges" African Americans faced as far as obtaining wealth goes.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/25	4.0

You're identifying things as Racism that aren't Racism. A lot of your data is simply White Privilege, as you mentioned, whites come from more affluent blood lines do to the Racist history of the western world, but that doesn't equate to modern racism. It means that blacks are disproportionately poor compared to white people, but not necessarily that whites today discriminate and continue to hold blacks back. Simply put, there are two possible reasons for the problems you describe: 1) Due to historic racism, blacks are more impoverished today than whites, and because poor law enforcement practice they are victims of higher arrests and injustices. This problem is continued by bad economic policy by inner-city politicians (Detroit) which has caused stagnation and dependency for much of the black community. 2) The White Population of America (excluding yourself, of course) is racist and refuses to let the Black Community rise up. Option one, I find, is much more reasonable. Instead of screaming Racism, and demanding a population, which almost universally abhors racism, become diversity loving, you should provide real solutions. Real Solutions like: creating economic growth zones in inner-city areas (cutting taxes and regulations), reducing sentences for drug-related crimes, and reducing entitlement programs to shake of dependency. If the U.S. Population was really systemically racist, this video would have many more dislikes.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	11/221	4.977
It would probably be weird to see either of the vlogbrothers speak in person, because you would expect there to be absolutely no pause after the end of each sentence they speak.	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/32	3.125
I live in the south and I can see racism as a problem every single day. I'm not saying it doesn't exist in other places, but it is very much accepted where I live. Racial slurs, stereotypes, and discrimination are apparent everyday here. It is unacceptable to me, but it is very much accepted here despite the idea that it no longer exists. It is difficult to speak out on this subject as people discredit opinions on the existence of racism, so I'm very glad you made this video. It is easily digestible for the less than intelligent, bigoted, and racist soul.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/101	2.97
Why is this video focused only on White/Black racism? Why not focus on it as a whole? I guess if you pick a subject that many find offensive and is in the current media you will get more views.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/39	2.564

What about Native Americans? I'm "white" but I'm saddened by the horribly awful mistakes we have made, in Canada for instance, in terms of overtaking theirs. I say this but I know I don't have the tools to make big change. I believe it's the same for the U.S. And African Americans. It's so hard to make a healthy start.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/60	1.667
there's nothing more funnier to see than white people with white guilt, oh god, is hilarious	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/16	6.25

I don't think it's racism as much as it is tribalism. People are naturally drawn toward those who are similar to them. A white business owner is more likely to hire white employees, and a black business owner is more likely to hire black employees. This has nothing to do with hate. And there are more white business owners in the country, so of course blacks will fall behind there. In downtown Raleigh, there's a barber business that is run by all black employees and serves primarily black customers. If a white barbershop tried that, it would be considered racist. So there are double standards. My dad is the "assistant manager", if you will, of a particular place that delivers medical gases by truck to nursing homes and hospitals. He's noticed that the black employees are indeed lazier and messier than the white employees. One black guy frequently urinated in the trailer of his truck and one time took a dump there. They take frequent smoke breaks, they milk the clock, and the quality of their work is less. Yet the black employees more frequently ask my dad for a raise than the white ones. The black guys working there show no work ethic whatsoever, and they can't be fired because it would make the company look racist. But is this because they're black? Do their skin color or DNA have anything to do with it? No. It's a matter of culture. A lot of black kids are raised in America being told by their family and from their music that this is a white man's world and that they'd never be successful. A lot of them see sports or rap to be their main options because they don't see themselves as scientists and mathematicians. They get a sense of defeatism that carries through their lives, so they never shoot high. Inner-city black kids especially end up not caring about their education, because they figure they won't get a good job anyway, and they end up growing up to get lower-end jobs. In the Raleigh-Durham area, so many of them get caught up in gangs and such, which contributes to why there are more black guys in prison. A lot of Bloods in prison. And this seems like a perpetual thing, because the parents who failed in life tend to pass those failures on to their children. It's really sad. In the end, I think it's the African-American community that's defeating itself and then blaming "the white man". These kids need to understand that there's nothing inferior about themselves, and they can be successful if they work for it. They need to be raised with a sense of dignity, higher standards for themselves. They need a strong work ethic instilled in them from the time they're small. This mindset of white vs black needs to be erased from their minds. They need to be encouraged and not defeated by their parents and the music they listen to. And it's up to the African-American community to empower themselves like that, not anyone else.	Black, Nothing, Racism, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	18/511	3.523
--	--------------------------------	---	--------	-------

Similar to the black and white name same job app there was a study done on white hand vs black hand holding an item on ebay and the items held by a black hand on avg got 30-40 less final purchase price.The way the police treat ppl of color is something white ppl will never understand. Now that I'm an adult and have moved to Denver, Colorado not sure if I would have had the same experiences with police in Maryland but I'm thinking Denver profiles much heavier. I have been harassed on multiply occasions just walking or sitting in front of my apartment building and they have some bs excuse (like pulling u over cuz ur tail light is out) many cars broken into in this area or we got a call about 2 ppl acting suspicious. Once I was jogging and when stopped at a light a rolled up and asked me for id and why I was running I wasn't in shorts cuz it was cold out but I wasn't wearing jeans I was in athletic gear.I have black friends that tell me when they get pulled over with friends in the car the cop asked for everyone's id not just for the driver. high school I was pulled over with a friend and they wanted to search my car said no then they said they were having trouble with the database or something looking up my id and just so happens 10 min later a K9 unit shows up and sniffs around my car and smells nothing then he gives me back my id and I can go	Black, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black	5/274	1.825
I agree with most points made in this video. But I am just a but bothered by how every time racism is analyzed, only black and white people are looked at. That on its own is kinda racist . Not to mention, Asians in general do quite well compared to other minority groups. This is rarely discussed	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/56	5.357
SuperEpicWin racism is hatred against everybody but the hatred is mostly focus on white/black	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/14	7.143
Look how they persecute Doctors Al Sharpton and Bill Cosby.	doctors	Nationality - General	1/10	10.0
the thing is, black people come from africa, which had a lot of tribes. Unfortunately, there are a lot of people that are still very territorial. Studies show that Black and Latino/hispanic are more than 3 times as likely to be in gangs as all other races. Not trying to be racist , just pointing out a fact. When we had that horrible thing called racism 3 or 4 centuries back, it's hard to adapt to such a different and new climate in such a "short" time. The will always keep their old ways in some form for 1000 years or maybe more. All everybody else has to do is just accept them.	Black, Old, Racism, Racist	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/112	4.464

My mom subbed in a preschool school when I was younger, and she got to see a lot of racism . She would find that young white kids were segregating themselves from the local native american indian kids and they inturn avoided the Latino. And they will attack each other in different ways. I know one family that consisted of a Mexican father an American mother and two daughters, when the oldest was about 3 she asked her Mexican dad "why did you marry an American princess" At 3!	Indian, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	2/88	2.273
While this certainly isn't including everyone, I have a feeling a lot of white people are accidentally racist (Is this a thing? Can't find a better to put it) through ignorance. I know I thought racism was almost gone when I was younger, but more and more I'm seeing that it is just incorrect.I rarely see people who dislike people because of their race , while I may also be wrong about what I'm going to say, it seems most racism today comes from fear of stereotypes and ignorance of the challenges of growing up apart of any particular race . And I'm talking about everyday people, not those in power, that's a whole different beast(Which is where the problem lies, but not necessarily the solution). Also racism through ignorance isn't excusable either, it's just easier to deal with as those who fall in that category would be willing to learn. Which I am looking to do. This is all just my opinion and me trying to understand racial relations on what little information I have. Insight is welcomed.	Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	6/177	3.39
you turned my head and got me to sit up and pay attention with your stats but I must point out that statistics are anecdotal evidence and prove nothing . I mean ask why the white people get shorter sentences, is it because they obtained superior attorney's? To assume you KNOW the reason is systemic bias is irresponsible. You need to ask more questions, what were the surveys used studying, what questions did they ask. My statistics prof confirmed the veracity of the statement that "95 percent of all statistics are made up on the spot"	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/95	1.053
Instead of bickering, let's find a solution. If you believe racism exist then you get your problem solved. If you don't believe it exist nothing changes.	Nothing, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	2/26	7.692
Thank you for this wonderful video! I'm going to look into the links you posted and see if I can use some if the data in my statistics math unit to talk more about race and privilege with my inner city students, most of whom are Latino or black boys.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/50	4.0

Suzanne Harris You're buying into this shit and you're a teacher...wow thats a big freaking problem.Don't forget to tell your students that theres no disparity between sentencing after prior offences, age and other variables are considered.Its something the idiot in the video didn't even mention because he was A)The typical ultra-liberal self-hating dishonest prick orB)He's just too stupid to understand these statistics	Age	Age - General	1/63	1.587
There's so much racism in the world, that even the studies to prove for and against racism are bias, for example the first study about longer prison sentences - didn't take into account that many of the African-Amercian males used had previous convictions where many of the White males did not.The second study fails to acknowledge that its studies were based in areas with large predominantly black communities and only reports figures by number rather than a percentage comparison to the population.About being tried as an adult; Doesn't mention that crimes committed by black teenagers have a noted increase in severity compared to white teenagers, which could me a major attribute to the spike in being tried as an adult.One of the biggest problems in racism today is media, the spreading of false or bias info and improper 'scientific' studies.	Black, Racism, Spike	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Religious Identity - Protestant	6/143	4.196
First as a highly trained and educated White Dude I have been underemployed and now unemployed going on four years, I have been in job placement programs were undereducated most black have gotten employment way before me. What is the point? most White which make up about 70 now would say there are not racist . I would say that most middle-class (white) don't understand the class called poverty, poor white outnumber Blacks, Latinos and Asians almost 2 to 1. The Fed. HSS department did a study and found out the the white (rual) poor and Blacks/Hispanic (urban) had the same mobility problems, access to education, health and public services. I also recall a study done by Duke or Yale on Suburban ( black , white, asian and latin) kids from grade school to after collage, they all had the same access to mobility. In my option race is not the issue it is the class or more specific mobility out of poverty to middle-class.	Black, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/162	2.469
Modern day USA and Nazi Germany are the only two countries I know that even talks about race . Like, it's not a word we even use when we talk about people of different skin colors in for example sweden. Maybe sweden is the exeption, but I doubt that.	Nazi, Race	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - General	2/48	4.167

I find it interesting that the vast majority of people who deny the continued existence of racism are typically the very same people who deny that climate change is occurring or that mankind could have anything to do with it..... They're what I like to refer to as the "Fox News" crowd.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/52	1.923
(In case anyone is wondering, I'm white with dirty-blond hair)I personally have some natural bias against or for different appearances. Like, for instance, I don't trust wavy or curly-haired blond (dirty-blond not included) guys. If their hair is flat then I don't feel that way, but if it's wavy or curly, I don't trust them. I don't know why. I don't think I had some negative experience with someone that had that appearance. And I don't trust muscle men who aren't attractive. Kind of random, and it doesn't really go with any racial things, but it's still a bias against appearance.I do think that black people tend to be more accepting, fun to talk to, and friendly than white people are though. It's a lot easier to find an awesome black friend than an awesome white friend.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/139	1.439
black people are nice people actually, i am from Belize and here everyone gets along, i have a lot of white friends, hispanic friends, indian friends and asian friends and we all get along.	Black, Indian	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - Native-American	2/34	5.882
Black Asian Natives. it doesn't matter in places where there are obviously more of one race around there is racism . places of employment where the majority is black and there is one white there can be and will be racism . Where the people of the majority can be bias to those of the lesser numbers. It is sad but true.	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/60	8.333
This is video is so sad. If only blacks had their own country without white people to oppress them. This is why nationalism is a good idea. I think we should support creating a country just for blacks, and should set up laws preventing whites from moving into that country so they can't oppress them. We should also set up border guards to turn back any blacks who might have Stockholm Syndrome and would like to go back into the white country. That way no group will be able to micro-aggress upon the other. Unfortunately racist whites insist on "integration", i.e. keeping blacks trapped inside White America where they can be more easily controlled. This is wrong. Support nationalism !	Nationalism, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	3/119	2.521
As fan and a black guy who's experienced the stuff you're talking about, this is a great video. Have you read Ta'Nehisi Coates's "The Case For Reparations" in The Atlantic? It basically explains everything you crammed into this video much clearly and personally.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/43	2.326

I don't feel like I am outwardly racist . I have no sexual interest in anyone of non-ghost-white skin but that applies to Caucasians with tans as well. Sorry if not discriminating personally isn't enough to do my part to do away with racism .	Racism, Racist, Sexual	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	3/43	6.977
Read The New Jim Crow by Michelle Alexander for more detail about the horrifically racist state of the criminal justice system.	Crow, Jim Crow, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/21	14.286
Just something to think about. I go to school in Philadelphia. It's a public school and around my area and in my school, I'd say about one forth of the students are Mexican. In my own personal experience, Mexicans are more open about smoking marijuana, lower work ethic, lower grades, and are more annoying(i.e. loud and disruptive). So is it wrong for me to say that Mexicans in my school are that way because they are Mexican or is it because of the way they are raised. Obviously I'm white and there are many people in my school that are white and there are many white people who behave with the exact same characteristics as listed above. I don't know. I don't think I'm racist just because I noticed that Mexicans are more likely to be trouble makers, drop out, or fail. Maybe I'm wrong but I don't think racism can be a word that is just thrown around when the actual definition implies a full hatred of another race or ethnicity . I don't think those people do those things just because they're Mexican but because they are just raised wrong and aren't responsible.	Ethnicity, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	4/194	2.062
While I don't really disagree with anything in the video and we obviously do have plenty of work to do—especially in the criminal justice system—I really do wish Americans, and especially American leftists were less solipsistic and provincial. Too often, I think we act as though America or white people are uniquely racist . Try living in east Asia, or India, or Sudan, or (god forbid) the Arab Gulf countries for a while and you'll quickly realize that, though we do have our problems and a very problematic history, America is actually arguably FAR better on race than most places in the world. Anyone who doubts this is quite welcome to google the Kafala system in the gulf or to spend any time at all in southeast Asia as a non-white person.	Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/131	1.527
Great piece. Please check out my latest artwork, "The 6th Amendment-Innocent until proven Black " about racism in the US justice system. On the Facebook page 'Asa Shoul art'.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/28	7.143

Have the same problem with neo liberals believing theres no such thing as sexism despite the number of women that are killed by men in their families for not obeying male orders.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/32	3.125
As much as it sucks, I don't think anyone isn't racist . It has started to eat me alive, almost. For example, even though I have surrounded my life with black culture the past 4 years of my life (my favorite genre of music is hip hop; which is a predominantly black art), friends, and so forth, I can't stop myself from sometimes "feeling" things. And I hate myself for that. If anyone has some advice, please give it. -DFTBA.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/79	3.797
How about a video like this on sexism too? I think both racism and sexism are big problems in our country	Racism, Sexism	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	3/21	14.286
For a plethora more of statistical information, here's this great book that I picked up last year. Black Stats: African Americans by the Numbers in the Twenty-first Century by Monique W. Morris [LINK]	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/33	6.061
How have we not abolished racism yet?!?!	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/7	14.286
Scrolled through the 4,292 comments and not one mentioned genetics. The human genome project showed that there is very little diversity amongst humans on this planet. Our common ancestors clawed their way out of the last ice age with only a couple of thousands survivors. Each individual has a unique genetic structure, distinguishable from every other. We are all special. That said, humans have 99.997 genes in common . Scientifically, race does not exist. The world has a systemic stupidity problem. Thank you for efforts to address this problem. Unfortunately, not unlike this comment they may be futile, buried under the rubble of history, the clamor of ignorance and eventually the next ice age . Keep trying though. Good luck.	Age, Common, Race	Age - General, Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	5/118	4.237

Charles Powell Beauty like race is only skin deep. People tend to believe what their eyes see even though it may not be the truth. Someone said,"They have eyes but they cannot see."Each individual has a unique DNA structure yet all humans share 99.997 commonality.The categories of race appearing on US government census forms are ( ) White ( ) Black , Africa Am. or Negro ( ) American Indian or Alaskan Native, print name of tribe ( ) Asian Indian ( ) Chinese ( ) Japanese ( ) Korean ( ) Filipino ( ) Vietnamese ( ) Other Asian, for example Hmong, Laotian, Thai, Pakistani, Cambodian and so on. ( )Native Hawaiian ( ) Guamanian or Chamorro ( ) Samoan ( ) other Pacific Islander- print race , for example Fijian, Tongan and so on. ( ) some other race - print race . You may notice the government's confusion concerning the difference between tribe, culture and race . Suggest everyone check the box at the bottom of the form and print the word "Human."	Black, Indian, Negro, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	10/174	5.747
Charles Powell Difficult to believe. It is possible you are rude without any effort or forethought. Dumb refers to a mute or an idiot's way to say stupid. Bullshit is a vulgar synonym for cow dung, which wasn't mentioned at all. You are unwittingly assisting in proving one of my original points concerning the futility of reason and have expanded it to uselessness of trying to help.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/67	1.493
Racism is just another version of tribalism.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/7	14.286
Charles Powell If you took any anthropology or genetics class, or read up on the subject, you'd realize that race actually doesn't exist. The different physical features people have, can be attributed to where their ancestors came from geographically. Genetically, humans - regardless of race - are essentially the same.	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/50	4.0

Robert A Dorrough All that shows is that we are the same species. Race isn't about what species you are, obviously we are all human, but there are differences in DNA that can be used to identify what race someone is. How can there be no race when even different ethnicities like Japanese, Korean and Chinese all can be distinguished from each other (if you know what to look for) just by looking at them. If there is that much genetic variation just among Asians, there definitely is much more between different races. Ever seen an African, with no recent white ancestors, with natural red hair? If humans have 99.997 genes in common that still leaves a little less than .003 (less because we are obviously not all identical twins). We share about 98 of our DNA with chimps. That's only about 2 difference for a whole other species so that .003 isn't all that insignificant. That and who the hell cares if race exists genetically. It most definitely exists as a social construct, and it affects people in a real way. Denying it is ignorance.	African, Common, Race, Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American, Social Class - Working class	8/186	4.301
Shannon Fickling That's absolutely correct. Race is a social construct. The human genome project showed that we are a migratory species which originated in Africa. Must take exception to your use of Japanese, Koreans and Chinese being visually discernible. Having traveled extensively in Asia I can attest to very little genetic diversity between the three groups. They are considered a single genetic loci. There are cultural and language differences also national animosity from fairly recent historical events. These in no way make them different in reality.The problem of race exists, there is no denying it. The problem is one of mass psychology and indoctrination. Mass human behavior is driven more by passion and fears than it is by knowledge and reason. Individuals on the other hand have the ability to recognize and correct the flaws in their thinking. Social constructs by their nature are sturdy, difficult to destroy but by removing their pseudoscientific foundations eventually they fall.	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/158	1.266

Well I'm sorry you don't agree to the asians looking different thing. They are subtle differences, but if you know what to look for you can tell them apart with pretty good accuracy. That was just an example, there is even more variation with Europeans because it's not just bone structure but also hair and eye color too. Maybe you are defining "race" different, but to me, being able to look at someone and tell their recent ancestry is race. Heck, you may even be able to tell someone's ethnicity, or close to it. I'm only 50 danish and the rest is british or irish, but I've met some scandanavian people who could guess from the shape of my nose that I was Danish. Certainly no one would look at me and think I was black or asian (I could maybe pass for a mix). You can look at Africans and tell what country they are originally from sometimes too. As the world globalizes people will have more "mixed" genetics and it will be harder to tell where someone is from just by looks (it already is sort of like that) but nonetheless there are clues when someone is just a few ethnicities.And these differences are in genetics, so I just don't get how you can say there is no race genetically. If you look at the genes of a bunch of northern europeans, there will be a gene for a more narrow nose than say, the genes of a bunch of people from Africa. If that isn't race, what the heck is?	Black, Ethnicity, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/263	2.281
ORANIA Industrial slowness, is that you? Changing the word from "race" to "ancestry" will not avail you. As mentioned before human ancestry traces to a common point of origin.Your new handle suits you well. Orania's meaning is either an Afrikaner enclave in South Africa or a genus of sea slug. Let's just say it fits you well.	Common, Race	Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	2/58	3.448
+ORANIA That is where you are completely wrong. Ethnicity exist which is what white,black, Asian, and Hispanic is. In all actuality, human is one race and we are ALL the same race	Black, Ethnicity, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/32	12.5
+Robert A Dorrough Don't listen to them. They are too dumb to know science from society	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/16	6.25
+Robert A Dorrough If we were all blind we would so treat each other equal	Blind	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/15	6.667

+ORANIA what the fuck does having sex with someone with AIDS have anything to do with race ? And for one, you can't even see HIV/aids on the person you are having sex with. You must of been dropped lots of times when you were a baby. Never go full retarded	Race, Sex	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	3/50	6.0
I think the reason people think that racism isn't a big problem is because explicit racism isn't a big problem. Rarely will you see people consciously and intentionally discriminate by race . We have come a long way in this regard, as half a decade ago, the situation was very different. Most of the race problem in the United States is implicit racism . In other words, subconscious associations that result in racial disparities.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	5/72	6.944
Great stuff John. Your Black get sentenced 20 longer isn't so much a source as a wall street journal post showing that the findings are inconclusive based on several different surveys that did not correlate. This is not a citation fro evidence. I really thought this was going to be an excellent data sheet but you only mentioned the first sentence. Don't just read the title John. You're better than this! [LINK] The part you bring up: Prison sentences of black men were nearly 20 longer than those of white men for similar crimes in recent years, an analysis by the U.S. Sentencing Commission found. The Other sections not brought up from the same article: "They've only got data on this final slice of the process, but they are still missing crucial parts of the criminal-justice process," said Sonja Starr, a law professor at the University of Michigan, who has analyzed sentencing and arrest data and found no marked increase in racial disparity since 2005." The Sentencing Commission released a similar report in 2010. Researchers criticized its analysis for including sentences of probation, which they argued amplified the demographic differences." "In the new study, the Sentencing Commission conducted a separate analysis that excluded sentences of probation. It yielded the same pattern, but the racial disparity was less pronounced. Sentences of black males were 14.5 longer than whites, rather than nearly 20. Jeff Ulmer, a sociology professor at Pennsylvania State University, described the commission's latest report as an improvement but said it was "a long way from proving that [judicial discretion] has caused greater black -white federal sentencing disparity." I agree there is racial disparity but this is a citation from an article hallmarking conflicting reports and not third party evidence. We need data, not articles about data from several sources that all disagree. I know you have a very short time to highlight points but it's crucial to state the differences that these organizations and analysts put out. Because in the end, if the statistics are found to tilt to one side we need to know who was citing a inflated claim.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/351	0.855

I think part of the reason white people (I'm white) deny racism goes like this: "I don't feel I'm racist and most of my friends aren't racist so racism /systematic racism isn't a problem." The way I see it, if tomorrow all personal racism was gone, systematic racism would still exist because it is the inequality created by a history racism . That is why we have to challenge ourselves to actively fight racist practices and thought patterns. For instance, two days ago my coworker who is black and I walked out of a patient room at the hospital where we work. A nurse walked strait up to me and asked if I was the patient's doctor. It never occurred to her that my black coworker could be the doc. I don't believe that she personally is racist (maybe she is), but the idea is still ingrained in our culture that doctors are white males (or immigrants) . . . anything, but black .	Black, Racism, Racist, doctors	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	13/161	8.075
Black people - if you don't want your kids to face resume discrimination, then stop giving them those ghetto names.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/20	5.0
I'm curious if you have any thoughts on people with mixed racial backgrounds. I always feel like all these studies pertain to people who are of one background. What about racism biased against those who are mixed? I'm half Chinese and half Hispanic. I always feel like there's something against me just because I don't fit into just once racial group. I mean I'd rather be just known as American, but that doesn't happen. People always seem to have to know everyone's background.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/83	1.205
racism against whites is more rampant and socially accepted than it ever was against blacks.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667
But here's the thing, Black and White aren't the only races affected by racism . What about the fact that we have almost no Asian-American reporters on TV or the fact that Latinos are always assumed to be illegal immigrants. It seems the topic of racism , people automatically assume that it is black vs whites.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/54	7.407

I'd like to just say, that one of the reasons that black people are convicted of drug possession more is because of the neighbourhoods. Now, I'm discrediting that it's racism. It almost 100 is, I'm pointing out the fact that black neighbourhoods are a much easier target for cops than a white neighbourhood. A lot of cops themselves are not racist, they just want to do a "good job" so they get paid more. Sadly, the differentiation between neighbourhood between races makes black neighbourhoods a very open target. A lot of factors contribute to this partially black people being disadvantaged because of; where they're born, where they can get jobs,etc. Now here comes the part that people might call me racist for. There are a lot of black people who do portray the black stereotype that cops see. These are the people that enforce the stereotype that causes cops to penalise minorities. If a cop goes through a white neighbourhood and see's no one acting suspicious they don't do anything, they just keep going. When they go to a black neighbour hood and see a bunch of kids acting all shifty in an alley, the cop is going to do something about it. Those people are the people who are making the situation worse, if they stop fucking around with drugs and other shit, then their entire race will stop getting stereotyped. I don't what it is. These kids are letting their entire race down, because these slightly racist cops and their very racist chiefs, see all these kids fucking doing stupid shit in the streets. I know you're going to hate me for this, but you don't see that in white neighbourhoods. I don't know why they do this...is it because white kids are mocked for trying to act cool because it's a "black thing". I don't know. Look, the point is. Don't fuck around with the law, don't break the law, don't do stupid shit. Because if you do that shit in front of a racist cop, he will assume every one of you does that. You stop breaking the law, they'll stop stereotyping you as law breakers. Now bring on the hate...	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	16/365	4.384
I work with THE MOST ARROGANT, RACIST white man I have EVER met. I don't know how to talk with him. He loves reading history—as long as it's written by white people. Last week I was literally speechless after he said "Native Americans are the biggest liars on earth!" And he ranted and I finally told him to stop, that I just couldn't listen to him anymore. (I didn't tell him that my great-grandmother was a Cherokee Indian.) I am going to make myself a sweat shirt with her image on it and the phrase "Proud Cherokee Descendent" on it and wear it to work. I really, really don't know how to deal with this ahole!!! (and don't even get me started on his opinions about Mexicans and Blacks and poor people). Thank you for this video.	Indian, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native- American	2/137	1.46

I think that it would be interesting to see how much of this racism is actually white people. I've noticed that people tend to assume that to be the case, but I have never actually met a racist white person. I have, however met a very racist hispanic. I'm not saying that racist whites do not exist in America, but to assume that only white people are racist seems to me a rather narrow approach to a very big subject.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	5/80	6.25
Racism has become something undebatable, because it is undeniably true. As a scholar, I must admit such thing happens with everyone, even me. It is something that happens subconsciously induced by every aspect of modern culture. The consequence of mental shotgun thinking, making everyone prone to racism shown by the mental ease of correlating good as light and bad as dark. More thoughts should be spend in stopping these invisible stigmas. We must acknowledge that we are racist willingly or not. Putting the extra effort in deliberately use rational objective methods of judging individuals as individuals, specially in formal legal bodies.	Mental, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	5/101	4.95
This is really interesting, but I think it would've been better if it covered not only racism in the sense of "white people vs black people" but also included other races/ethnicities into the discussion.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/34	5.882
Try getting a job in the whitest part of town when your over 6 ft and jet black . And considerably unattractive. Football or jail. or moving to the ghettos.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/30	3.333
Racism becomes very easy to understand if you admit there is a genetic factor. Read "A Troublesome Inheritance." Similarities between tribal behavior in African Americans and Africans are difficult to ignore. If human beings are really a "blank slate" why would blacks revert to tribal behavior (gangs, music that emphasizes rhythm and voice, physical assertion of manliness, etc.) after slavery without ever being exposed to it? Black in-group bias and black identity being tied to criminal behavior are just as much of a problem as white genetic history of strict adherence to judaeo-christian traditions that has given us a deep sense of guilt for slavery that and also a sense that we always know what's right. Put in this perspective, the demand for tribal justice demanded by blacks and the endless apologizing of whites makes a lot more sense.I like Richard Dawkin's sentiment, that we are all Africans, one tribe of humanity. I also think memes are more influential than genes and we can change things through education. But the first step is accepting the uncomfortable truth that our genes effect our behavior.	African, Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/184	2.174

How much does geography affect racism ? Is it still more prevalent in southern states? I'd like to see some studies on only the costs or only metro areas etc. It's obvious racism is ubiquitous, but I'm curious how much the most liberal of the country has managed to purge themselves of something that is mostly subconscious.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/56	3.571
I didn't want to watch this video because I try to stay away from the race argument on the internet. Thank you, John Green, for making a really informative video with DATA and no YELLING. No pointing fingers, just the facts.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/41	2.439
Most, if not all, of these statics are more complex then any one number can really say. Prison sentences difference for the same crime is not really a reasonable way to measure racism in the criminal justice system as the crime is only one factor of a prison sentences. Criminal history is massive. If you get a DUI with no early DUI you spend a night in jail, but if it is the third you are looking at 2 years... that over 700 times the prison sentences for the same crime!!! But no it is not. If any person has a criminal history, they will get a longer jail sentence regardless of race . Then income/wealth plays a huge part in our criminal justice system and white people have more of it then black people. I think OJ proved green is the MOST important color in our criminal justice system. I would guess a large difference in jail time for criminal with a lawyer then those without one for the same crime. This is not to say "the criminal justice system is not racist ", but really to show that the static is not as black and white as it seems.	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/199	2.513
How come white people have to share their countries with every other race in the world? Japan is ethnically homogeneous, China is, Nigeria is, but for some reason liberals demand that Europe and the USA become completely non-white.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/38	2.632
That's because we Asian countries are very nationalistic. Each Asian country protects there own culture, religion, traditions, and heritage from others. No to multiculturalism. We a culture dies, a nation disappears.	Nation	Nationality - General	1/31	3.226
Wow this is some great information. Frightening too. Just the other day I was in a discussion with a white guy and I was pointing out to him that the protests about police brutality was only about racism in one area of our society and that we weren't condemning all of white america. But damn after hearing this data I might've been wrong. 75 of white people is a huge number who doubt racism especially when compared to the statistical data presented in the video.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/85	2.353

I love that you talk about this, but I don't like it when you open with "african americans" and only mention hispanic at 2:20 when you talk about education: "...American schools with mostly black and hispanic students" - but this is the only time in this video you mention them. I don't even live at the same continent as you, but I've snatched up how people from South-America and the Middle East often get treated just as poorly as African Americans.	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/81	3.704
I think this vid, along with your stats and data, are all extremely racist against whites.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/16	6.25
Obviously this is a very sensitive subject for many. I am white. There are more white people in America than black people. Of course the statistics and percentages are going to be higher for us, simply because there are more of us. A person is more likely to trust or higher someone of their own race . It's not racism . Same way someone who likes football would be more likely to trust or higher someone who also likes football. I'm pretty sure there are more black gang members than white gang members. Cops are just trying to use better judgment. Of course there still are some racist people... On both sides. But I think most "racist" things are racist because people make it racist . This is just my opinion and I do not have anything against any race . Races exist for a reason, pretending to ignore that fact is foolish.	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	9/149	6.04
Nothing more annoying than white people who want to be victims.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/11	9.091
Wait a minute... I'm white and I haven't inherited any land or any other equity for that matter. I have an old-fashioned sounding name and have still had a tough go of finding a job, despite the fact that I have a degree, relevant work experience, and a desire to succeed in a career and thereby become a productive member of society. The findings regarding inequality amongst different races, while very probably rooted in some measure of truth, do not apply to the entire race in one broad stroke. It seems like a line is being drawn in the sand that's pitting groups of Americans against each other.. I guess what I'm getting at is that there are exceptions on both ends of the white/black spectrum, so instead of focusing strictly on skin color, we should consider the despairingly shrinking middle-class.. Things are in a bad way..	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/147	0.68

The thing about this entire law enforcement vs. race is that people will see a cop shoot a black man and immediately call racism . I know all of us teenagers tend to lean to liberalist thinking, being that teenagers are sort of in the state of liberating themselves from their parents, but honestly, I am not being racist , it's just a fact that more black crimes are committed than any other race in America, even more than white people, who make up the vast majority of America. (But I'm guessing that will change due to the "executive actions" Obama used pertaining to immigration.) There are a million statistics that I could pull up about this, but I'm not a cop, and their racial profiling based on those statistics are their own business. The thing is, if you're Michael Brown, or anyone for that matter, I don't care who you are, you attack a cop, you die. Sorry. Not even taking into account that he was just getting done robbing a store for cigarillos to stuff his weed in. Don't you try to say that he was harmless, because he attacked the cop in his car, and attempted to remove his gun. If you're anybody and you do that to a cop, you die. Sorry. So racial profiling or not, seriously don't mess with cops and everyone will be 100 more alive. Oh and one more thing, I never understood why these people were rioting in Ferguson and destroying their own home... It really makes no sense. Imagine 10 years from now where you burnt down the grocery store, and the nearest one is so far away that your milk is spoiled before you get home. So there is the opposing view Mr. Green (both of you), take it as you will. It's New Years anyway, I won't be dwelling on this topic much further I expect.	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/316	1.899
racism runs rampant in this GREAT country that we live in that is apparently the best in the world.....yeah definitely the best in the world. the problem is that super bible thumpers run this country...(get ready for the arguments in the comments)	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/42	2.381
I like how, even though there were two autopsies, and a grand jury (two were African American ) that agreed that the ferguson police officer was not guilty, because the victim was black , made the policeman a racist . I'm against racism , but making this similar to Civil Rights era brutality is ridiculous.	African, Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/51	7.843
Thank you for this video, John. It makes the world just that little bit better. Even if some of the other comments here are so racist and/or ignorant they make me want to throw up.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/35	2.857
dear god that sounds bad. I think there is less racism here in England... Well there is where i live.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/20	5.0

This dude’s a cringe factory. The word ”nerdfighter” is silly as fuck and makes you folks sound dumb .just saying	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/20	5.0
”I knew that something was wrong when a little pretty white girl ran to a black man’s arms. Dead giveaway.”	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/20	5.0
Interesting fact: men are far more likely to receive longer prison sentences than women, for the same crime. While there is a racial angle as well, the ranks goes like this: white women get the shortest sentences, then black women, then white men, and finally, black men get the longest. Sadly, your 20 longer statistic pales in comparison to the 60+ longer sentences men receive in comparison to women.In Canada, infanticide is a crime which can only be committed by women. If a man kills his own child, under the same circumstances, it’s murder in the second degree. I believe in Britain, they are lobbying to close women’s prison altogether. Apparently it’s not good for women to serve prison time, so the study says, but it’s a huge boon for men. You should try it!Back to racism though, black families with the same education level, show almost no difference in pay scale, similar to men and women, when you correct for all the factors. Yankees have a plethora of racial issues, probably the worst in the first world, but a biased interpretation of the data does make it any better or worse.I love the resume study too. While it is perfectly legitimate, the number of call backs in no way correlates with the number of job offers. In fact, if you follow that study up, you find the the number of job offers Jamal and Joe receive, despite totally skewed call back rates, are almost identical, just that Jamal didn’t waste his time going to 20 extra interviews, to achieve the same goal.Getting a call back from a racist employer, is about as valuable as the lack of a call back, from a racist employer. If someone isn’t going to hire based on your name, they sure the hell aren’t going to change their mind when they meet you. Just some food for thought. Racism isn’t going to be reduced by bringing it up and driving a wedge between the races. The problem is solved by ignoring the racist and not giving them power.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	8/348	2.299

America racist? I think the world has known this for a long time. Racism in America is more systematic which makes it the worst in the world.I think this stems from American history and slavery. Britain has slaves too but racially it is more advanced than America. I think the difference between American slavery and British slavery is that in American history normal people owned slaves, but in England only the very rich owned slaves so very few British had slavery in their past. In Britain it was more about class so a slave was considered equal to a white peasant and black person was considered equal to a white person of the same class and that is why slavery ended in Britain almost a hundred years earlier. The British also didn't try to kill educated black people like America.The fact average white people had slaves in America has created this superiority complex in white Americans towards black people that isn't as strong in Britain. That superiority complex is why black people are discriminated against and disadvantaged in America and why there is great cultural segregation in America compared to the UK.That white people are better and shouldn't mix with black people doesn't exist in Britain, you can't say that about all of America. This is why Britain has the highest percentage rate of interracial couples in the world and as well as the highest percentage of biracial people in the western world were 50 of the ethnic population has a parents of two different races. I would argue African Americans have higher respect in Britain than American white people. British do white better than America but they don't have a Martin Luther, Muhammad Ali, Tiger Woods, Michael Jordan, Will Smith and even anti-heroes like Michael Jackson and Tyson are massively popular in Britain. You throw up a great American white guy and the Brit have 10 guys better because it is the place of Shakespeare, Newton, the Rolling Stones, the Beatles and moulded the modern world.	African, Black, Ethnic, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	9/340	2.647
I live in South Dakota and when it comes to the race boxes, I prefer to not answer. I am 3/4 Euro American and 1/4 Native American (yes there are a few of us who are still alive). Being Native in SD is pretty bad. We are seen as alcoholics who are either in to drugs or can't support our babies. I don't fall in to any of that, but people still judge me as if I were. I've lost jobs shortly after I let my employer know that yes I am Native. I do however look white enough that people don't question my heritage, which is a double edged sword. I currently work in a small post office in a small town, where I don't talk about my self or my background. The small town is full of ranchers, who tend to be slightly against people of color. I don't understand why any one would have issues with people who have more pigment in their skin than others, to me we are all human.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/175	0.571

If only my Faux News obsessed family would listen to fact, John. But of course racism doesn't exist to them anymore.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/21	4.762
Though only marginally related, the resume experiment reminds me of the guy whose first name is Kim, who couldn't get an interview. He changed his resume to "Mr. Kim...", resubmitted his resume, and got interviews right away. We have a long way to go with racism and sexism in this world.	Racism, Sexism	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	2/51	3.922
Finding Indian role models is tough for kids even in YouTube because the closest relatable thing I can find is those "Things Asians " videos which are nice but it seems like Asian only refers to eastern Asia. However, this is not really a problem for anyone compared to other things, but I have been very lucky to not have experienced much racism in the past, but I thought that I would share my experience.	Indian, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	2/75	2.667
I've met many white people who have stereotyped black names, especially in the south... do these people, these employers really base things solely on a name? How ignorant can you be? Their racism is blinding them...	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/36	5.556
Is it just me or do a lot of people think that there are ONLY black and white people in the US? Because to me it seems like the racism issue only involves the two majority races in the US while other races (also facing race issues) are only briefly mentioned. I guess this stems from the other races' lack of public attention while African Americans are more simply much more vocal about their opinions.	African, Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/75	5.333
I'm white and in high school a girl became enraged since I didn't know who ...and, this will be spelled wrong, I am certain.. Kunta Kinte was. A friend had to tell me that this was a person related to black slavery in America so I could then tell her, "I'm sorry. My family only recently came to America." I'm not saying I'm proud of my ignorance or overly mad at the girl, but I found the whole situation to be ludicrous. And, to this day, I still feel it ludicrous to judge the mentality of a human being based on their appearance.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/103	0.971
I feel embarrassed that I live in a country where 12,86 of the people voted for a party (or whatever the word for political group is) that basically says that the biggest problem in our society is immigration, or immigrants themselves. They have also stated that the Sami people and Jews aren't Swedish and some other stupid stuff. Yes, I'm talking about Sweden. Our third biggest party stands for racism ... ( [LINK] link if anyone wants to read about it).By the way, nice Swedish edition of TFIOS on your bookshelf :) (Sorry for any misspellings and grammatically incorrect sentences.)	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/100	1.0

Fueled by this patent nonsense, the entirety of the US political, media, and educational establishments lurched toward 'righting past wrongs' by tyrannically imposing an endless litany of decrees, propaganda, and indoctrination whose sole purpose was to uplift blacks—the world over—out of their squalor and violent dysfunction.Fifty years later... after abolishing Jim Crow laws; after forced bussing, forced school integration, and forced community integration by the federal government and the courts; after the sundry Affirmative Action laws; after Johnson's 'war on poverty'; after endless 'disparate impact' rulings allowing state-sponsored discrimination against whites in favor of blacks; after trillions of dollars in food, medical, and other aid to Africa; after sacrificing blood and treasure in black hell-holes from Haiti to Somalia; after ending Apartheid; after forgiving every sin and failure of every black due to the legacy of 'slavery' and 'racism'; after pouring trillions into a school system that is obsessively focused on closing the 'achievement gap' between blacks and other races (all the while doing nothing whatsoever to close that gap, but successfully sinking to rank lowest amongst developed nations); after electing and appointing blacks into positions of power throughout the land—up to and including the nation's highest office; after coming up with every excuse at what point do we say enough is enough? At what point do we admit that, while the experiment was noble, it has utterly failed?Are we, as a people, capable of admitting the truth? Are we capable of summoning the courage necessary to accept unpleasant realities while scuttling comforting fantasies? Are we capable of deprogramming ourselves from the better part of a century's worth of culture-wide brainwashing and reestablishing a just and civil society that is based upon evidence and reason instead of wishful thinking?The answers to these questions will mean the difference between a rebirth of American exceptionalism, vs. a continued slide into becoming but one more hopelessly dysfunctional, third-world hell-hole.	Black, Crow, Jim Crow, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black	5/319	1.567
Thanks for finding these interesting researches! They are really shocking. It's not that I denied that there is still racism but I was maybe more naive to think that racism isn't as prevalent as it is today...	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/37	5.405
i honestly believe that sometime in the future we will look at racism in this country s a distant memory (some time WAY in the future). but to get there we have to confront it. its hard for everyone, even minorities, to talk about racism in depth, but if we just pretend it isnt happening things will only get worse.and as long as we're on the subject, another downside of racism is that it affects everyone, not just one or two groups. institutional racism is very good at making those it oppresses bitter, hateful, and in some cases, violent.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	4/100	4.0

Racism is bad. Mmmmkay?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/4	25.0
I hate racism and I know it exists, and I know it's harder for someone of color to move up in life and it shouldn't be. Several of the most amazing people I've ever known are black .I do think that a lot of the "racism" that is happening in law enforcement and job markets is less about people thinking one race is inferior to another and more about patterns they see from a people group struggling through poverty. Rich white people are more likely to have received a solid education and can be baled out of trouble if they get into it with the law. Employers should give every individual of every color an honest assessment without prejudice, and police officers should do the same, but I think their errors are usually more about presumptions and less about racism .	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/140	3.571
Honestly, I think racism will never disappear. I mean you are reminded of it every single day just by looking at the person and their skin. The only cure that we can have is more interracial marriages so that someday, everyone will be the same color. According to many experts, we may all have very similar skin colors by 2200. I really hope that happens.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/65	1.538
My theory as to why people don't like to believe there's racism in the US is because they aren't racist themselves. I don't think people like to hear that America is racially biased simply because it's not something you want to feel associated with.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/44	4.545
I admit I'm racist but if the race I don't like is actually nice I wouldn't mind being friends. Everytime I'm online looking for a potential boyfriend, the moment a black guy sees my photo they want to bang me. Which I am completely against.	Black, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/45	6.667
I think one of the problems is that when (white) people, including myself, think of racism , we think of the extremes of the past: slavery, whippings, Jim Crow laws, the KKK, being fired hosed when peacefully protesting... and those are just some of the examples coming from one minority group. Such extremes were common , deliberate, and can be reflected back on as being totally wrong. Nowadays some racist actions can so subtle that even well-meaning individuals might not even know they are doing it. What I would like to know is, what can be done now. Like right now. If there was one piece of advice that could be given to people in the majority to help steer them in the right direction for thinking more thoughtfully about racism , that could be applied daily, what would it be?	Common, Crow, Jim Crow, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	6/138	4.348

I agree that discrimination and bias of any kind when it comes to employment, civil, and legal issues are a huge problem in the US (I don't personally find this to be the case here in the UK and neither do any of my peers). But I also believe that part of the problem is people are trying to get rid of labels by adapting labels and then are trying to end racism by using affirmative action (which many consider to be just reverse- racism , thus just antagonizing the people affected). The problem will never end like that, it'll just flip to the other side and then encroach into other areas. I tend to notice that everyone's attempts at coming closer to equality only serve to segregate us all further apart. Unfortunately, I'm not here to present any kind of solution. Something like this is too complex to offer up a solution on a youtube comment. But I will say this: very rarely do I come across someone who claims to be fighting for equality without hate in their hearts for the other party. And no matter what their excuse, it's still the same hate that started the problems in the first place. I think we should all start from there.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/210	0.476
Knowing all these facts before hand, I had an argument with a friend before where my stance was " African Americans were less likely to be successful", in which my friend stated it was racist . I based that statement off of facts, yet it's considered to be racist , is this true? (In no way at all do I think African Americans SHOULD be less likely. I think all races should be have equal chances of success at life, without racial bias.)	African, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/80	5.0
No, I wouldn't say your stance was racist - if anything, it's just bringing to light the social problems that AAs face that make them less likely to be successful. But then again, I don't have your friends whole argument. Is she truly coming from a place of concern/support for AAs, or is it just "you're bringing up the fact things are harder for black people? Well uh you're racist for even bringing race into this!"?	Black, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/75	4.0
*heBut we were just discussing the new race of Annie in the new movie musical. Somehow it wound up into whether or not AAs are more or less successful.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/30	3.333
the KKK exists in America, how can anyone say that racism doesn't exists here anymore?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667
So do the black panthers.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/5	20.0
Racism exists every where. The difference is how large a voice the ignorant few have.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667
Viciousswarm88 They don't want to face this side of racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/10	10.0

I find this interesting and compelling I just was hoping, when I saw the video title, that this video might touch on racism as it applies to all races and not just black people.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/34	5.882
"Correlation does not indicate causation." It's OBVIOUS that Racism is the cause." Brilliant, John.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667
This is how white liberals look at " race " in the United States.... it's only a white and black thing. Attempts to level the playing field punishes Asians the most (affirmative action). Great....	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/32	6.25
Okay, een if you feel affirmative action is a problem- the systematic racism against black people in America is a much bigger issue than the fact some Asian people need to go to a non-ivy school.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/36	5.556
Tobie Rey The fact that you justify harming a race of people who have no historical advantage in the U.S. demonstrates the bizarre politics created by white liberal thinking. It is also proof of the need to improve history education: Asians did not own slaves in the U.S., did not benefit from Jim Crow laws, and in fact, were victims and continue to be victims of racist white liberal policies. When you find yourself arguing that it is okay to harm a group of people due to the results of their hard work, your thinking has gone awry and needs to be corrected.	Crow, Jim Crow, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/103	3.883

Tobie Rey (1) The points based system used by selective universities (e.g. University of Michigan- Gratz v. Bollinger, University of Texas), admission rate changes when universities abolished affirmative action programs (e.g. UC-Berkeley), and studies of college &amp; medical school acceptance rates according to race, GPA, SAT/MCAT scores (e.g. Association of American Medical Colleges data, Espenshade and Radford).In the first case, a great example is the University of Michigan’s point system that awarded 20 points for being a member of an underrepresented racial minority (i.e. non-Asian), 16 points for being a child of an alumni (overwhelmingly white), and 'bonus points' that disproportionately placed Asians at a disadvantage(i.e. points for graduating from an area with few Asian-American students). At the University of California-Berkeley campus, when affirmative action was abolished, the Asian population increased from 37 of the student body to today’s 42.8, more than any other group, including whites. A federal mandate was put in place to limit the percent of one race at a magnet school to 40 and when the courts eliminated it, Asian-Americans were by far the biggest beneficiary. The same statistically significant results were realized at UCLA, Cal Tech, and UC-San Diego, among others.Every major study has concluded that Asians are the group most harmed by affirmative action policies in college admissions. Checking Asian in your application REDUCES your chances of being offered admission. It is a scientific fact.	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/233	0.858
...the points system has been deemed unconstitutional and is not used by any school. In any case, that did no inhibit Asians from getting accepted- it just made sure groups that were historically oppressed to a level that Asian Americans never were (with exceptions i.e. the Japanese camps in WWII) were given a much needed boost.You’re aware having the credentials of getting into these top schools means that you had the resources to do so in the first place, right? Resources many black, latino, and na students don’t have.Great. Then don’t check the Asian box. I did check the Asian box, and somehow got into every school I applied to.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/112	0.893

Tobie Rey The point system was and is widely used in implementing affirmative action policies. Public colleges have substituted it for other methods, like quotas, to achieve the same means and still limiting Asian-American student populations. The point that it was recently deemed unconstitutional for public institutions to use it does not undermine the fact that affirmative action in university admissions, by design, harms Asian-American applicants.I didn't check the Asian box because I'm not Asian. The case of affirmative action Asian discrimination is the elephant in the room when white liberals talk about policies to diversify and 'correct' institutional racism. The example is a great argument against such policies and why they are fundamentally and ideologically flawed, doing far more harm than good. Justifying discrimination against an innocent group to combat racism... just doesn't make sense. The fact that Asians have achieved such great success, despite being a minority and obvious disadvantages (e.g. English not spoken at home), runs contrary to the white liberal view of achievement and race in the U.S. I got into the schools of my choice, but I know far too many instances where people were prevented from attending a school they were more than qualified for due to the idiotic policy. For example, a 4.2GPA/1470SAT Samoan-American was denied entry into top schools due to the infamous "Asian/Pacific-Islander" racial category used by universities until just a few years ago. This eurocentric view of racial categorization capped the number of Samoans at the top institutions as they competed for spots with Chinese-Americans, Vietnamese-Americans, and Korean-Americans. Thankfully, most colleges have recently 'updated' their narrow thinking when such failures were revealed. My friend would have been one of a handful of Pacific-Islanders at Cornell if he would have been accepted.I don't know why your personal antidote was included, unless you want to use it as an example for African-American, Latino-American, and First American populations to emulate. If we are to believe that you are in fact Asian, your story shows that you didn't need affirmative action to gain admission to the schools of your choice. However, one doubts you are Asian given your ignorance yet again about Asian-American history and policies negatively affecting them. Your issues with Asian achievement and your willingness to place obstacles in their way reinforces these doubts.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/384	0.781
---	--------------	---------------------	-------	-------

Hey, do you think you could do a thing like this on LGBT issues? I've recently been dealing with trying to get people to stop saying things like "OP's a faggot " on Reddit and was hit with the same kind of " racism isn't a problem anymore" level of comment about how "no one thinks of it as a gay slur", which as anyone who's actually talked to gay people knows isn't at all true. A quick fire little by-the-numbers video would be nice to have.	Faggot, Gay, LGBT, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality, Sexual Identity - Transexuality	9/85	10.588
Just curious, have you checked out recidivism rates by race ? Recidivism is disproportionately high among black males. Since the studies on sentence ignore everything but the sentence itself (according to the article sourced), it doesn't take this into account. Repeat offenders generally receive longer sentences than first time offenders. The article also indicates that the study doesn't take into account things like pleas or plea bargains.In fact, a lot of these links are manipulation of statistics. The drug use one, for example, admits that the direct effects of powder cocaine and crack use vary, and that one is used by a particular race over another, that it shouldn't matter because they are the same basic chemical and both bad for you in the long run. This is VERY bad science.Going further, this falls into the most common flaw of misapplied science and mistakes correlation for causation. This is especially problematic when ignoring important factors in the statistics presented.I have to say this is a very disappointing presentation of the information. When other factors are pushed to the side, or even blatantly ignored, to back up one's hypothesis the data becomes biased and is no longer scientifically valid.	Black, Common, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	4/200	2.0
Racism is a big problem in our world. There is not only racism by the appearance, also religious people are often discriminated.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/22	9.091

I live in the Pacific Northwest, a place where general or institutional racism isn't a big deal compared to the south, so forgive me if I sound ignorant. Something we forget, whether it is for right or for wrong, is people's right to free speech. People are going to believe what they believe, say what they are going to say, and they wont change, no matter how much we protest it. The population of these channels are overwhelmingly liberal, including myself, but many cross a line, becoming their own worst enemy. Many liberals try to make the whites and Christians look like the "bad guys", which based off of stereotypes, which in itself is all of today's racism . I myself am a white agnostic. So please, people of Youtube, please remember that racists are racist for a reason, and that it's hard to let that instilled hatred go. This is an issue that will take many many many years of patience and understanding to resolve naturally. Don't simply go "Lets arrest racists!" or even something as extreme as "KILL all racists!"I hope people can see what i typed as a kind of peace call, for bigots and open-minded individuals alike to try to come together to understand, and hopefully through patience, can reach a level of tolerance that would be revered today.You can't change the world with a protest, a murder, a video, or a law. The world will only change slowly, but naturally, as our world is becoming more connected than ever before.Also, I should note: Racist jokes aren't necessarily a bad thing, not in the way I see it. I love making fun of the stereotypes that our culture has developed, and I never use those jokes out of hate or dis-contempt for another race .If you would like to respond, I wouldn't mind an intelligent and open-minded discussion on the matter. You can't fight hate with hate, but only with patience and understanding.	Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	5/329	1.52
do you think racism is just on the side of white people? do you think black people are capable of racism ?	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/21	14.286
Yes, I think black people are capable of being racist , and there are, I'm sure, but, I think I can safely say the black oppression on whites is nothing compared to the white oppression on blacks. Nevertheless, it shouldn't be forgotten or ignored; all races can be racist to all races.	Black, Nothing, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/51	9.804

megasonikdude2 Oppression is something different than racism . Oppression can certainly result from racism but you can have one without the other. When Black Americans talk about being oppressed, are they speaking of today or the past, slavery? If that is the case for some of them, not all. Then would it not be illogical to harbor hatred towards people that are so far removed in time from what was committed? Im not saying that bad things are not still happening, but not to the level of what had happened in the past. I think that what happened in the past was deplorable. However, when do we move forward as Americans? Not white or black or native or hispanic, or any hyphenated version of the word American. We as humans can choose to act and react differently about the conditions of the world around us.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/144	2.778
A black woman who works with my mother doesn't do her job and is entirely incompetent, yet whenever someone tries to right her up she uses discrimination as an excuse to get out of. That is true racism	Black, Racism, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	3/38	7.895
All I want from life is to be white. This is what white people can never empathize with. I want the same opportunities you're going to get, but I never will because my mother is Indian and my skin reflects that.	Indian	Ethnicity - Native- American	1/41	2.439
As a black person I find it entertaining to think like the ignorant portion of the majority when watching videos like this just to laugh at all of the stupid things that I can come up with.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/37	2.703
God bless. A white person who can actually acknowledge the existence of racism and it's effects in America.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/18	5.556
John, Thank you so much for making a video about race . To all those in the comment section who aren't overt racists but are still taking issues with John's points: I hope you can realize that this isn't about trying to make you feel bad just because your white. It's about helping you to see the the reality of the world we live in.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/64	1.562
"Emily and Brendan are more hirable than Lakisha and Jamal:"For that to be indictative you'd have to find out if Lakisha and Jamal were considered high or low class names compared to Emily and Brendan and if "white" (or at least not particularly black ) names that were also considered low class also got less callbacks.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/56	1.786

LaQuisha and Jamal are considered stereotypically black names. Don't get hung up on semantics here or try to over-analyze it. A simple study for a simple reaction. They saw the name, assumed the applicant was black , and retaliated according to how society had taught them to: institutionally oppress the black person.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/51	5.882
aeather Yeah see you don't know that. All you know is that "Jamal" and "Lakisha" are names that employers don't like. It could be because they're perceived as black or because they're perceived as low class. We don't know. Blacks who name their children black names might be perceived as lower class, less likely to work hard, whatever. It doesn't necessarily follow that employers don't like blacks because they don't like people with black names.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/75	4.0
Ok, firstly not disputing that there is racism in the USA and specifically in the US "Justice" system. However the first point doesn't really cut it. Almost all convictions in America are from plea bargains and therefore we can conclude that almost all sentences are the result of plea bargains as well. Black suspects may perceive that they have a greater chance of being convicted at trail and therefore accept harsher sentences in a plea bargain. Additionally the study cited doesn't seem to have taken into account wealth, which would affect legal representation, therefore perceived likelihood of conviction and therefore plea bargained sentences. "[plea bargains] rose from 84 of federal cases in 1984 to 94 by 2001" Fisher, George (2003). Plea Bargaining's Triumph: A History of Plea Bargaining in America. Stanford University Press. ISBN 0804744599.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/135	1.481
2:00 You say it's about race but you never said what race the people's names you mentioned was. You went by names and you assumed the people with "unusual" names were black . That within itself is racial bias.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/38	7.895
So, when are we going to get a black vlog brother?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/11	9.091

We always say it is racism against the color black . But is it really? The unfortunate generalized perception of a black person is for them to have their pants sagged to their knees and their throw back cap on backwards. We associate people with names like Laquisha and Tyrone to be dressed like that, and act "hood" way more than we would ever associate it with names like Molly or Brian. Is it the color that Americans are racist against, or is it social behavior that is unfortunately pegged to black people. The truth however, is that both white and black people wear their pants sagged, and I'd be interested to see if employers and the justice system would be disproportionately biased between two people, one black and one white with the same resume, same name, same clothing, and same accent	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/141	4.965
Instead of stating statistics, why don't people suggest ways to fix them that aren't biased towards any race ?	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/18	5.556

This guy is basically ranting about the mostly mythological STRAIGHT-WHITE-MALE-PRIVILEGE....when really he is just trying to enslave &amp; sacrifice WHITES in order to copulate &amp; assimilate other races into a SYSTEM OF OPPRESSION UPON ALL INDIVIDUALS.THIS GUY IS A BABYLONIAN TRAITOR who is trying to use DIVIDE &amp; CONQUER tactics.I am not denying that racism/sexism exists &amp; that some Whites have made some really really really poor/EVIL judgments (slavery &amp; the fall-out of the Civil War)...but sadly....minorities are the most guilty of becoming just like them....&amp; everything DEMOCRATS do, is about COMMUNISM. Infact, the entire subject is about depriving people’s right to judge in all matters what they will risk in regards to themselves. SOCIALISM BENEFITS THE MOST FROM CONSPIRACY THEORY aka FEARMONGERING in order to circumvent my RIGHT TO WHAT IS ORIGINAL TO ME....which is exactly what this video is about.Sorry, but I will not be a pawn on anyone’s chessboard. I do not support this government whatsoever. Most problems can be traced back to THE STATE interfering/micromanaging in people’s lives. I don’t vote anymore. I will do absolutely nothing regarding politics. I would rather watch as the entire system crumbles, just because ”Minorities” can’t fucking get anything done in their own countries &amp; neighborhoods, so they come to invade/plunder ours.ps: There is no ”Master Race”. There is only The Master....&amp; although I am White, I want the White Race to go extinct, because all other races sickeningly enough, depend on Whites, Jews included, most of whom are White-Jew mixed. I honestly do not think other races will remain VIRTUOUS if they don’t make progress on their own.....more specifically each INDIVIDUAL....cuz progress never happens on the ”Collective” scale....cuz The Collective is an abstraction. Only The Individual is real.	Nothing, Race	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	3/293	1.024
So ignoring racism is like ignoring climate change? Good to know.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/11	9.091
”Racism” is the positive affinity/bond people have for those of their ethno-cultural/racial community. And the appreciation of differences among ethnic/racial groups.Otherwise some prefer the usage of Leon Trotsky and other Communists intended to stigmatize ethnic/racial bonds. This ’racial chauvinism/enmity’ usage is still used for political propaganda purposes by Cultural Marxists and those indoctrinated by Frankfurt School dogma.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/58	1.724

Dear Everyone: Can we agree that racism is not the same as bigotry? Systems can be racist and have complicated interactions with class and education status to promote unequal treatment in institutional systems... and yet the people involved in enforcing this difference may have no overt hatred of black people. Systems work in shitty ways. We should be able to accept that without feeling as though discussing racism is the same as branding all white people as racist . Its not. We need to let go of our sense of offense, of our instinct to say "What about problems whites face?!" or "But Mexicans are more mean to me!" and work together to fix systems.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/114	4.386
As someone who is of European decent and not a business owner nor an officer, I don't witness a lot of racism . When it comes to issues such as racism , I ask more about the alleged solutions rather than proof that the issue exists. If the solution to a problem is good, it doesn't matter whether or not the problem exists, as far as I'm concerned. People should recycle with or without global warming would be an example.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/78	2.564
This is amazing, i love it! I feel like i owe john a thanks. Hearing all this kind of makes me glad i live in the UK, not saying racism doesn't exist here but definitely not as much in the US.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/41	2.439
So what should we do? Take the land from white people and give it to native Americans and send all the white people to Europe? And while we are at it, should we send all the black people back to Africa? Exactly what are you trying to accomplish here...?I am brown by the way, so I can totally ask this question.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/62	1.613
What about the "why?", Why is there systemic racism in America? (and elsewhere), and let's be scientific about it.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/19	5.263
Most of these statistics are true, but to blame that on racism is wrong and lazy.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/16	6.25
I am kind of saddened that when we talk about American racial bias, we only talk about it in relation to white, black , and occasionally Latino Americans.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/27	3.704
I do not think that the term African -American is correct. There are some African people who are not the dark colored skin we associate with African ,yet we still say African American. We could classify them as Black , but that is also incorrect. Once we begin to classify people other than people we begin to do wrong.If we were to classify people, it should be by country and culture, not color. My teacher once said "If we call white people white than why can't we call black people black ?" I disagree with this. There is no category for skin tone. After al,l it is skin TONE, not skin COLOR.	African, Black, Colored	Ethnicity - Black	7/109	6.422

I live near Camden NJ right across from Philly and Camden is one of the most crime ridden cities in America and there are about no whites there and every day on the news you hear about a guy getting shot or a place getting robbed and the guy arrested is almost always black so living next to Camden when you see a black man on the street they are automatically assumed a gangster if they have muscles, a homeless drug dealer if they seem scrawny or wrinkly. Its sad because my best friends dad is a big guy and another of my friends saw him on the street and thought he was a gangster but he is a security guard at a Hockey stadium in Philly.	Black, Scrawny	Ethnicity - Black, Physical Identity - Physical Features	3/127	2.362
Racism does not exist in 1st world countries. Prejudice does. Racism is the belief that a person with a different skin color is a lesser animal than yourself; that it is in fact not human nor deserving of any human rights. This is an incredibly important distinction because Racism is a mental disease, while prejudice is a naturally occurring part of human development. The fact that our society throws racism all over the place makes the entire conversation needlessly hostile, and paints a picture of regular people with developed prejudice views as evil, selfish people with a mental disease. That doesn't help anything and doesn't pave the way toward any amount of progress.If we want to be serious about taking steps toward racial equality, we need to face the real issue of prejudice, which is vastly more complex than the wrongly-simplified "he's wrong, he must be racist " attack.	Mental, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	7/149	4.698
I find it disheartening that in this day and age we've become more adamant about proving that we live in a "post racial society" than actually creating a post racial society. I love how when I express how I feel and the things I've seen In my day to day as being young and black and female, there are a shit ton of white people just ready to discredit me. To tell me that I shouldn't find it bothersome to be stopped, Every. Single. Day. By the SAME cop On my way to school.	Age, Black	Age - General, Ethnicity - Black	2/94	2.128
How can anyone that isn't coloured pretend to have a good knowledge of what it's like to be black and therefore know racism doesn't exist, stop kidding yourselves	Black, Racism, coloured	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/28	10.714
Black/negros bring out the racism in most others if your rude or hateful disrespectful take what's not yours get in people face. or you care about your race so much that you always protest and say the world's against you black Santa black Jesus black history month homeless shelters gangs look in the mirror people. Get off your ass and come out swinging be the people you strive to be not what you were born in two and it's mainly black African Americans don't hate your selfs your just as beautiful as me.	African, Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/93	7.527

I think there's not a single country where racism is not a problem.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/13	7.692
Sadly your video is somehow true. If circumstance can't be changed, there would be more jobs to be taken care of than so-called average status ones. If sending one application to a company would take care of thing for an average guy, a person who is not, needs to send them out a lot more than that. You can go against all odds without knowing where you are standing. That doesn't mean a particular person has to be shamed by knowing "how", "what", "where",& "who". Knowing is the start ;then, putting a lot more effort to get result comes natural. By the way, the word " Racism " is such a raim term! From now on, we all needs to call it "Circumstances" instead (	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/123	0.813

vlogbrothers I don't deny that racism is systemic in the USA (and Europe... and Africa... and Asia... and everywhere), but I think causation is as important an issue as discrimination itself. In my opinion, everyone, EVERYONE is prejudiced against other people who aren't the "same" as they; be it race, religion, sexual preference, national origin or which sports team they follow. The way civilization is set up, we are indoctrinated from birth to see ourselves as "better" than those from different backgrounds and with different ideals, (for instance; the English people tend to be prejudiced against the Welsh and Irish). This is a centuries old problem and is endemic to all peoples. In Africa and western and central Asia people of different tribal heritages do their best to wipe out rival tribes, regardless of skin color. In southern Europe and the Middle East, it's religion as well as ethnicity that has people killing each other (Hindus and Muslims in India and Pakistan, Muslims and Jews in Lebanon and Israel, Shi'ia and Sunni in Iran and Iraq) along racial/tribal lines, (Persians and Arabs and Turks against the Kurds in Iran, Iraq and Turkey; Slovak against Germanic in eastern Europe). Wherever one looks, there is prejudice. In my opinion, the media also plays a prominent, if not pivotal role in the perpetuation of prejudice. I don't see news stories about racism anymore, I see instigation of strife for the purpose of generating violence and strife, prompting lurid follow-up stories to keep their audience's attention. The media FEEDS on strife and it really DOES NOT want the strife to end, so every time there is a crime that is "bi-racial" we see earnest anchormen and reactionary field reporters ramping up the race card. It's sickening, it's pitiful and it's destructive. The way I see it, there will never be true equality so long as people identify only with other people with a similar religion or the same color skin or from the same country or region (in America, that is often ten or more generations removed). Until the media stops inciting violence and hate for the sake of ratings and market share, there will be racial tension and through it racism.	Ethnicity, Old, Race, Racism, Sexual	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	8/368	2.174
What about non-institutional racism? I mean the only people I know who are actually racist are senile old daily mail readers (apart from a couple). Maybe, it's just that I'm from a middle income British family? Or that there are hardly any people of ethnic minority- but wouldn't that make it worse?	Ethnic, Old, Racism, Racist	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - General	4/52	7.692

The weirdest thing I find about American culture (I'm European) is the insistence on calling someone who's American and Black " African American". If you're gonna do this then surely you should call Caucasian people in America "European Americans". By subclassing black people it seems like your society is saying they are less American than someone of European decent, despite the fact many black people may be living in America for just as long.	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	4/73	5.479
What a messed up world. We can't even have a conversation about race without white people getting our feelings hurt.You know... sometimes just an acknowledgement of the problem is enough. But we can't even do that.We are doomed. : normalsize
	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/41	2.439
Don't say that, there is still hope!More and more we are living in a more multicultural world.I believe that by teaching our own kids these new ideas about how each human is different, we all have feelings and race is just a thing of the past and not feeding them the same perpetuating stereotypes (that comes from mainstream media (umm, the Simpsons too)) that racism will become the minority and we can live as equals."After all, children do not differentiate between people of colour. It is the parents who hand out the labels, generation after generation." -John Danalis, Riding the Black Cockatoo (Australian book, recommend it)<sorry I didn't word that very well, but I am extremely tired (had my birthday party today), it's 11pm and my new years resolution is to sleep more and I actually want to stick to it this time!> remind me to continue tomorrow please and thank you:)	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/156	1.923
Sayaka T I truly hope you're right. I hope sane people can drown out the cacophony of racism long enough for that to happen.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/24	4.167

Stephen Arnquist I'm not sure I follow you.Are you suggesting that just because I see with my own eyes how stupid white people can be I have white guilt?When I said "We can't even have a conversation about race without white people getting our feelings hurt." I was referring to the comments on this and other videos that address a racist system. The racist rantings got so bad on the tralier of "Dear White People" that they had to turn the comments off.I can be white and still acknowledge that America is a racist country.Acknowledging that cops treat black males differently than whites doesn't take anything away from my whiteness.I know that, even though I don't have the financial privileges of wealth there are privileges that come with being a white male. Women generally don't grasp their purses as I approach. Most store clerks don't follow me through a store.I don't feel guilty for being white. I had nothing to do with that. I don't feel guilty about slavery for the same reason. My family came to the States between World Wars.What I CAN do is acknowledge that there's a culture of racism in this country. I CAN call it out when I see it among my friends and family. Most of all, I can LISTEN to another human being without getting defensive because their experience, their truth, doesn't take anything away from me.When I said "we are doomed" I was expressing exasperation that we've been having this conversation over and over again for decades.And if I have misunderstood you, you have my apologies.	Black, Nothing, Race, Racism, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/273	2.564
Stephen Arnquist You are beyond a jackass and clearly don't know even they basics of genetics ( a link between an archaic, bronze age religion and natural processes??) Fucking idiot lol!	Age	Age - General	1/31	3.226
You are saying that white people can't disagree? This isn't supposed to be a racist comment but a lot of people in low-income neighborhoods dress like thugs as a statement, that might be why they are seen as thugs or is that racist and I am a bigot now? Tell me why I am wrong. There is racism but not to the point we can fix or do anything, some people are racist and they have the right to be ignorant.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	4/81	4.938

Atomicpenguin Not at all. Of course white people can disagree. And as far as I can tell there's nothing racist about your comment.I live in South Philadelphia where the under 20 crowd all wear the "uniform" ( low hanging baggy pants and an oversized white tee in the summer or dark hoodie in the cold ) but we can tell who's scamming and who's just trying to fit in and survive. The thing that most white folks have trouble accepting is the idea of "white privilege". It took me a long time to figure it out. There is privilege that comes with being white. It hase nothing to do with wealth. It's how you're treated. Being able to go through life without worrying if what I'm doing reflects badly on other white people is just one example.Unfortunately, we can't always have objective conversations about it among ourselves, let alone with people of other ethnic backgrounds, without getting defensive and nasty.The trick is to not make it personal. I think, as white people, we tend to take personal offense when acknowledgement is all that's necessary.But what do I know?	Ethnic, Nothing, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	4/192	2.083
Atomicpenguin i understand what your saying, as white privilege is a misunderstood term as it systematically associated with power, control and corruption. A mother or father has parenting privileges. An owner of a company has ceo, presidential privileges. The president has presidential privileges and so on.So the point I'm trying make is that those in positions of power, control or majority will almost always have privilege in comparison to those who don't. This country is predominantly controlled by whites in all executive, legislative, judicial, federal, state and local branches of government. This country has over 200,000,000 whites which is more than all other races or ethnic backgrounds combined! There is privilege in numbers! Some call it "white privilege" , and some call it the majority rules. No matter how you view it, whites have privileges like no other in this country!	Ethnic	Ethnicity - General	1/142	0.704
You know, when I replaced "White Person" in your sentence with " Black Person" or "Jew", it sounds extremely racist/antisemite. It's a good indicator of when an observation doesn't add anything to the conversation.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/33	3.03
Peter Peterson To what sentence are you referring? That we can't have a conversation about race in this country without "white people getting our feelings hurt"?That is a fact based sentence. Black people don't get defensive. Jews don't get defensive. Only whites.I suggest you scroll through the thread and read the rest of the conversation. You might learn something.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/61	3.279

Frank D Your entire second paragraph of your response was built on the incorrect idea that only whites get defensive in a race conversation. This is a stereotype. Actually, it probably can't even be called a stereotype since a stereotype has to be widely held. This is just an incorrect generalization. You are suggesting that the color of someone's skin determines whether or not someone is defensive when faced with this subject. People of all races get defensive in conversations of racism . White people get defensive when others call their entire race out on being racist . The Japanese get defensive when discussing their stereotypical Gonguro Girls. Some Zimbabweans get defensive when discussing their racially-charged land reforms.I know you were specifically referring to conversations of race on the internet from a primarily Western-centric view, though, but it is untrue even in this perspective. Just going on r/TumblrInAction disproves the idea that only whites can be defensive in these situations.So stop singling out entire races when talking about racism , even when you are trying to do it innocently. When you are trying to say "Racists", it can often come out to others as "Whites." That's why they're defensive. People like to stereotype and generalize in these conversations, which is highly detrimental to it.	Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	6/213	2.817
Peter Peterson I don't recall saying "without ALL white people getting our feeling hurt". (BTW- I said "our" feelings because I too got defensive at one time.)In this particular instance, in the comments section of this particular video, the majority of the complaints are coming from white people.In the YouTube trailer for "Dear White People", a movie which uses a bit of satire and comedy to address some of the odd things black folks put up with on a daily basis, the comments section has been disabled because of the downright nasty comments made by white people who got defensive.Minorities ( African Americans, Latinos, Gays, Asians, etc.) should be able to talk openly about their experiences without other people taking it personally.This is something that took me a very long time to understand. Just because a friend of mine complained about the racist treatment he was experiencing that day didn't mean he was talking about me. I know that sounds ridiculously obvious but it's kinda how we react sometimes.I shouldn't have to tell you that, when I say white people get their feelings hurt, I don't mean ALL white people. Of course I don't mean "all" white people. That would be ridiculous.I hope that clears it up.	African, Black, Disabled, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/212	1.887

Frank D Yes, I know you don't mean "all" white people, but when you say "White people" you are singling out the White Race . Many understandably take this personally. It's better to just take out "white People" since everyone is defensive in these conversations. Also, it's the Youtube comment section. The Youtube Comment section as a whole has always had racist , sexist, misogynistic, and misandrist people on here. Plus, we now have the buggy as hell G+ which is bringing offensive comments up to the top, for whatever reason.	Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/89	2.247
DesmondCreighton "They kill each other so why should we care?"YOU are exactly the reason we can't have a level headed conversation about race in this country.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/27	3.704
DesmondCreighton and the biggest killer of white American men are white American men....verifiable fact! But yet blacks are the problem?I get your point, but blacks killing blacks and whites killing whites has nothing to do with the systemically biased justice and policing system in this country. What came first.... Racism or black on black violence? Good try, but im not buying!	Black, Nothing, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/61	6.557
DesmondCreightonYou see, you assume that AA's are terrible because you still don't recognize that they are human beings and that the "bad" behavior of SOME of them may be rooted in real things in the world. You want to deny their reality to justify your own. And you think your lack of compassion is enlightened when it only shows that you imagine that there is some different breed of humans out there that operate under different laws.People are people. Black people aren't working off of some odd chemistry. They are human beings in a very specific context and their behavior is as rational as yours, flaws and all.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/110	0.909
DesmondCreightonBy the way, this is coming from a black person that doesn't fit any of the things you've described above. The difference is, I know and understand that black people are just people because I'm one of them. And because I have compassion, I don't think people need to earn a place on this earth by "lifting themselves out of poverty."I question a system that creates poor people and would let some starve while others have more than enough to eat. I question a system that would treat people as property for centuries and deny them basic rights and then would throw them into a world that wasn't made for them and then get angry when they struggle. None of this happened in some magical vacuum you seem to be a proponent of.I believe all people should have the basic resources they need to survive, that people should be treated well simply because they are people. When that happens, then you can complain about some people not being able to "lift themselves up." Not before.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/178	1.124

Cadwell Turnbull well said...but a racist will never see, comprehend or understand the true impetus as to why so many blacks feel, live and exist the way they do!Nor can they comprehend why blacks arbor so much distrust in them, ie "the white population". Well put and said non the less!	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/52	1.923
--	--------	---------------------	------	-------

Cadwell TurnbullAh good, someone else to educate. Jaime lacked the intellect to genuinely respond I suppose, all he can do is pat your repetitiously generic and presumptuous argument on the back, hoping for the best. We'll see how that works out for him.I see you're very desperately trying to imagine I view Africans as non-people, deluding yourself with obvious, petty validations like claiming you only have the opinion you do because you have compassion. Hilarious, the lengths you're going to try to demonize my argument, but admittedly a little pathetic.Cadwell, you do realize slavery has been practiced since before written history right? Every ethnic, racial, and religious group has, at some point, suffered widespread slavery. The Chinese, Irish, even Jews suffered persecution and general socioeconomic discrimination, Irish were shipped to America as slaves too even but you don't see them complaining. Unlike Africans, they didn't cling to this past like a crutch, waving it in the air as an example to all of why not only they're entitled to society's resources but also as an excuse for their embarrassing behavior as a race. Less than 10 of southern families owned slaves, a minority of slaves were sent to America even, the majority being sent to Mexico where today they've been bred almost entirely into local populations; at least here in America you have an identity. There were even fucking Blacks who owned other Black slaves, but you act as though Africans have, "FOR CENTURIES", been the world's exclusive slaves. Your excuses are so obviously self-serving, try to be less transparent. That's not even to mention that the majority of African Americans today weren't descended from slaves, nor the FACT that African Americans enjoy a far, FAR greater standard of life here in America versus their home continent. Go hang out in Nigeria for awhile and then come back and complain about the results of slavery please. Slavery was practiced in Africa for thousands of years before Whites showed up, and it's still a widespread problem there today, AMONG African Americans. What's the deal, you idiots didn't learn? Even slaves sent to America were originally captured by other Africans, taken to trading ports to be sold to White merchants, often acting through an African middle-man. Your own people are just as responsible for your misfortunes as Whites. Those former slaves that did return to Africa when Abe Lincoln purchased Liberia to initiate the 'Back to Africa' campaign soon got a taste of the violence of their own race when the country was overthrown by locals, and the ruling family, former African Americans, were brutally raped and murdered, only one member barely escaping to flee back to the arms of the US. Haiti used to be known as the Jewel of Caribbean until Africans overthrew French settlers, burning the plantations and leaving themselves in a state of poverty that persists today; ironically only kept from total chaos by the helping hand of yours truly, those of European blood.Leave it to an African American to blame the criminal culture of their own race on socioeconomic disparity and slavery though, despite getting preferential treatment for scholarships, college applications, and jobs. Going to cry and claim you don't? Organizations over a certain size are REQUIRED by LAW to hire a certain amount of minorities. Further, colleges can and often do select	Abe, African, Black, Ethnic, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Religious Identity - Jewish	17/921	1.846
---	--	--	---------------	--------------

You are factually incorrect. I don't know where you're getting your statistics, but mine come from the CDC and US Census, they're easily verifiable. Whites are more likely to kill themselves than be victim to or commit a gun crime, as opposed to African Americans who are killing each other in record rates; you didn't misunderstand me, you misunderstood the statistics you think are supporting your argument, when they certainly aren't. Hispanics are included with Whites, but if you subtracted their numbers you'd see a much larger decline in the gun violence rates than 1/4th and for obvious reasons. If anyone has the right to complain about the effects of poverty and systematic abuse from the government, it's them.Africans had thousands of years before the rise of European civilization to rise themselves and flourish, do you forget Africa is humanity's birthplace? For the reasons I mentioned in my last comment, Africans never had the need to develop more than a small, nomadic civilizations. The few exceptions are directly because of Arabic, Indian, and European influence and trade, bringing culture, architecture, and organized religion into the region long before the comparatively brief period slavery and colonialism that followed, not that, again, every ethnicity hasn't suffered the same treatment. The Chinese suffered some of the worst effects of colonialism, you don't see them perpetuating a criminal culture and blaming the British for all their economic and social problems. Africans had many, many opportunities to start over, I mentioned two of them in fact, Liberia and Haiti; no one forced Africans to burn down the orchards after they raped and murdered their White Masters. No one forced the African Chieftains to pillage and enslave their fellow Africans and sell them to Whites, as they had been doing for hundreds, perhaps thousands of years. No one forced African Liberians to hold themselves above native Africans, persecuting them in a way that's been repeated throughout history and causing the revolution that resulted in Liberia's fall. These are just a few examples, I could literally offer hundreds. All you can do is make sweeping claims, generalizations that have no basis in fact.There were stores in America that said, 'NO IRISH', many of them were brought over here as slaves. The very word slave is European, based on Slavic people who were enslaved by Romans. Many Chinese who helped build America weren't even paid, they were given meals and board. Japanese Americans who had their businesses, homes, and lives confiscated by America during WWII didn't suddenly turn to crime, they haven't been complaining for 70 years like African Americans have, many of whom aren't even descended from slaves themselves, even more ironically complaining to Whites who were unlikely even closely related to slave owners.Oh, there are more white millionaires and they pass the money down to their descendents? Gee, I wonder if that has anything to do with culture. How many black athletes and "musicians" appear to have a strong focus in creating a better life for their children? I suppose blowing all their wealth in such shocking rates that athletes are now required to go through financial-management classes before isn't very indicative of that though hmm? Again, hundreds of examples where they not only neglect their children, but	African, Black, Ethnicity, Indian, Nation, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American, Nationality - General	12/810	1.481
--	--	---	---------------	--------------

DesmondCreightonI'm convinced you must be a troll after reading your response to me.Or you are so racist that you are unreachable by the gifts of sound reason.It is utterly unbelievable that you think you can educate a black person on blackness. Then continue on to list every generic response I have ever heard from white people to justify racist thinking.Bringing up Liberia doesn't negate the racism of Americans. Neither does African participation in the slave trade. That's flawed logic. People that study African history and the slave trade know that Africa was a complex region of warring powers, the same as Europe during that same time in history. Africans did not see themselves as one people, no more than Europeans did (or do).Your choice to homogenize a whole race in some flimsy narrative of "well your people did it too" shows just how racist your thinking is. Yes, slavery existed everywhere. But that's shitty logic to use to absolve the industry that Europeans made of black slaves. That's like dismissing genocide by saying "well other people committed genocide too."Come on, man.There is no evidence of anything as massive as the Mid-Atlantic Slave Trade. We're talking millions of people. And you are over here asking me if I know about African participation? As if Africans convinced Europeans to rape and plunder an entire continent? As if they really had a choice when Europeans with massive armies came knocking at their door in search of slaves?I recognize that there were politics in Africa that played a part in the Atlantic Slave Trade. But the actions of powerful African kings doesn't absolve what happened to those millions of people. And it doesn't clean the hands of Europeans who benefited from that terror. It doesn't wash away the black people that were tortured and murdered under slavery.Modern Africans that know of their part in the slave trade have made their apologies. They are not innocent. But neither are Europeans. And lets be real. What black people are decrying is a long history of oppression in the nation they now call their own that continues TODAY. That is not the fault of Africans. Your logic is so flimsy that it hurts my eyes to see it.I won't even touch the effects of colonialism, since you seem to think that instability in formerly colonized places happened in some magic vacuum devoid of contexts.I won't even explain the flaws in your belief that wars in African countries somehow justify your racism, as if Europeans didn't engage in two World Wars.And your ideology about revolutions is similarly problematic considering the bloody history of European revolutions.People ARE people. Your racism is a product of your racist culture. At least I'm sensible enough to realize that your ideologies didn't happen in a vacuum.I am not your caricature of black people. Neither are hundreds of other black people I know. Neither are millions of black people that are living fulfilling lives. So please, save me your bigotry.	African, Black, Nation, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	21/510	4.118
--	--	---	--------	-------

Cadwell Turnbull Oh, you're convinced I'm a troll hmm? Do you have any reason except your obvious desperation to draw that assumption? If you can't step up to the table with adults, you should go back to your soapbox where the conversation is more one way because you seem pretty incapable of responding with anything but outrage and a petty statement of disagreement, backed with nothing except the all-qualifying validation that you're African. I wasn't aware every African was born educated toward their history, at home and abroad, but apparently you think so because it's 'utterly unbelievable' to you that anyone but a black person could know anything about 'blackness', as if that statement in itself doesn't speak toward your ignorance.Do you even know what bigotry is? I've found a lot of African Americans don't, despite the word being one of their favorites. Bigotry is intolerance towards those who hold different opinions from oneself. If you find my ideas so 'utterly unbelievable', then maybe you should take a hard look in the mirror and ask yourself who the real bigot is, and how that's clouded your insight. I empathize with your position though, your whole life you were barraged with these sweeping generalizations and now you just bleat them out like you're on autopilot.Bringing up Liberia doesn't negate the racism of Americans? Interesting how you fixate on that one example when I offered several and encouraged you to research the hundreds of others; but I'll entertain your train of thought, no matter how deluded. Of course Africa was/is a complex region, thank you Cpt. Obvious, but the point is slaves, in the MILLIONS, have been taken en mass from all races up to modern day, but only one uses this is their go-to excuse for poor performance; probably because you have so little to be genuinely proud of. Do yourself a favor and research slavery in Eastern Europe; numbers easily reach over the millions, yet you think, like Israel denying the equality of any holocaust aside from their own, that Africans are the great bearers of the burdern of slavery. Even further, that White Americans are the perpetrators; despite slavery being widespread in Africa long, long before we arrived, despite the fact slavery persists among Africans today, and all over the world. Stretching even more, you think all White Americans owe your whole race a societal debt, despite less than 10 of southern White families owning slaves and millions of Whites and Blacks who immigrated post slavery.Come on man.Again, I'll educate you in your own people's history and inform you that African warlords were doing far more raping and pillaging than any European ever did on the continent, and I'd argue I think accurately that today warlords continue to rape and pillage the continent, the only difference being their empowerment with European technology. Guess you'll blame us for that one too. Damn Europeans and their technology! Hilarious. African warlords pillaged, gathered the slaves, and brought them to slave markets where they were sold. A few hundred years before they were being shipped east, into Arabian and Asian countries. Do you realize that the entire American slave trade was run by less than a handful of corporations, and that the owners of these corporations were mostly foreigners? At least you acknowledge that "their were politics in Africa that played a part in the Atlantic Slave Trade",	African, Black, Nothing, Race, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	12/788	1.523
---	--	---	---------------	--------------

DesmondCreightonGrammarians/prescriptivists point out typos in other people’s arguments as a means of insulting THEIR intelligence. I could play that game with you too, but I don’t believe in that ideology (I’m a socio-linguist). I know the difference between there and their, but go ahead, use that to insult my intelligence.Listen dude. I get it. You are a bigot. (Bigotry actually has a few definitions in the dictionary. You are familiar with multiple meanings, right?) You took a lot of stuff from history and twisted it into a narrative that bolsters your prejudice. That isn’t a new trick. Anyone can do that. History is long and full of accounts. That is why historians will disagree with each other. But somehow you think listing the sins of African ”warlords” is supposed to make me believe that my people are only good because Europeans civilized them.I believe power is curruptable. But this isn’t unique to Africans. Neither is raping and pillaging. Neither is slavery. You seemed to miss my point entirely. Listing other examples of slavery does not absolve the Western slave system built on black bodies, nor does it absolve the over a century of oppression that followed suit, nor does it absolve the systemic discrimination still present today. Yes, other people do bad things. Using it as an argument to defend your own racist thinking is ridiculous. Humans everywhere have done the things you described. Europe was engaged in warfare for centuries. War stems from instability and fighting over resources. It also comes from power struggles and opposing ideals. SOME African countries are experiencing that right now, just like Europeans had their dark age. A lot of the instability is due to the effects of colonialism and the vacuum created after Europeans left the continent. However, there are African countries that are doing quite well and having some of the fastest growing economies.You call me boring as if you are spouting new ideas. You are not. If you think my ideas are old, yours are older. And worse, they are morally bankrupt.My big point is, despite other people doing bad things, Western white supremacist culture needs to take responsibility for its discrimination against minorities. Citing examples of African wrong-doing does not absolve white supremacist thinking or action because I am not arguing that Africans are free from wrong-doing. What I am pointing to is the systemic oppression of minorities in THIS discussion. Don’t assume that I don’t have things to say about my own culture. You don’t know me. You using this generalized notion of ”talking to other black people” doesn’t apply to me. I am myself. I have my own scathing indictments of AA culture. I don’t need yours compounded with the idea that we are inferior. All cultures have flaws. That is not the measure of human worth.I am not a miracle baby. I am a human being. I happen to be black and that is a part of my existence on this planet. It carries a history of oppression and glaring examples of discrimination against people that look like me in the present. It means I have to talk to people like you, that would use the same ideology Europeans used when they enslaved millions of black people, that we are somehow inferior., as a means of justifying your prejudice. It means I have to listen to you recite history to me, praising your European technology and civilization. But it doesn’t mean I have to think	African, Age, Black, Colored, Old, Racism, Racist	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	16/957	1.672
--	--	--	---------------	--------------

DesmondCreighton What you're ignoring is the racism that persists today.What you're conveniently overlooking is, the rason other groups who have been enslaved have been able to "move on" is the color of their skin. Skin color is the reason other ethnic groups that have found resistance, like Irish and Italian, have been able to assimilate into American culture.The truth is, African Americans continue to be marginalized in the US. White skinned people are more likely to be hired than a brown skinned person, in spite of Affirmative Action. The most appalling fact of all is the egregious way in which cops treat black men. A black man is more likely to be killed by cops than a white man.The best example I can give is on August 6, 2014 a 46 year old San Diego man was walking around the De Anza Cove Park area of Mission Bay, which was populated with children, waving a gun. The police negotiated with the man for over 30 minutes even though the man poited the gun at civilians and police! They eventually wounded him with a single gun shot. He lived.Yet twelve year old Tamir Rice, who was playing with a toy gun, wasn't even given two seconds. The cop shot the child dead.In the past year the instances of overreaction by police has increased at an alarming rate.It's important to understand that acknowledging this takes nothing away from other people who also suffer. Acknowledging that black men are more likely to be killed by cops does not ignore or negate the white men who fall victim to police brutality.Acknowledging that black men are discriminated against in almost every aspect of life does not deny the homophobia experienced by LGBT folks.This isn't a contest.	African, Black, Ethnic, Homophobia, LGBT, Nothing, Old, Racism	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality, Sexual Identity - Transexuality	14/299	4.682
---	--	--	--------	-------

Frank D I'm glad to see that you and Chadwell have the verve to stick with this argument.....because i don't! When he brought up Liberia and the hand that a "few" africans had in the mid Atlantic slave trade relative to the millions of africans whom were slaves...i was done!As if they " Europeans" needed a black mans approval to go to africa and make an estimated 16-25 million black men, woman and children slaves? Talk about pointing the blame everywhere else except where the blame is due!He brought up a lesser evil to justify the greater evil of slavery that the Europeans weren't the only ones who had slaves. As if that makes the mass genocide, torture and millions of slaves dying on ships during the mid Atlantic slave trades acceptable.....because after all, we " Europeans" weren't the only ones to had slaves! So what's the big deal! One atrocity does not then negate the next as they stand alone as their own witness to the barbaric nature of man! He made great empty points, but lacked in substance only to fall on the lack of compassion that slaves went through! Because when you strip away everything he said.....his main impetus was, whats the big deal, blacks weren't the only slaves, blacks sold blacks into slavery and other races or ethnic groups were able to assimilate into American culture over time and contribute to society. As if all 40,000,000 black Americans today contribute nothing to this country? Another fallacy that the media portrays. If you back a loving dog into a corner long enough and abuse it, beat it down and strip away its dignity....it will fight and bite back eventually in ways unexpected. I know he will probably have a response back to me because of this post to you and that's cool. But as a business owner.....i learned long ago to never argue or debate with a brick wall. I have better things to!	Black, Ethnic, Nothing, Woman	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	6/329	1.824 mlgmake You're an idiot. I'm not apologizing for anything. I have nothing to apologize for.Acknowledging injustice is not apologizing. Not everything is a freaking competition. :
normalsize	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/27	3.704
mlgmake I thought you muted this thread.You accused me of apologizing. So I corrected you.I can acknowledge injustice without apologizing for injustices in which I played no part.You seem to think acknowledging injustice requires one party to bow to the other.Admitting that some cops react differently to black men as opposed to white men doesn't reflect negatively on all cops. It is possible to support justice and recognize that most cops are good men and women that have the most difficult job in existence.Why does it have to be us vs them? That's a pretty antagonistic way of seeing the world, don't you think?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/109	0.917

mlgmake Any event with large crowd, regardless of race , creed, religion, nationality , or gender , acts like fools. Philadelphia's annual Mummers Parade brings with it crowds of drunken idiots who trash property and get into fights. Almost every sports championship game is followed by rowdy fans, intoxicated with victory and alcohol , leaving a trail of vandalism in their wake. And of course, there are always fringe groups that take advantage of protests as a reason for destruction. I used to see them at the ACT-UP protests I participated in, back in the 80s. (Yeah, I'm that old . )I know my way of thinking is in the minority. It took me a long time to get here. It's not always easy. I have to keep reminding myself that it's not always about me. In the end, I think your statement, "Judge everyone by the majority, but pay close attention to the exceptions" is probably a good middle ground on which to agree.	Gender, Nationality, Old, Race, alcohol	Age - Over 65s, Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General, Nationality - General	5/160	3.125
It's not logical to acknowledge nonexistent problems. No evidence whatsoever that racism exists today.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/14	7.143
Race is a touchy subject, and I honestly wish everybody, not just white people, could get over themselves. Racism exists in every way in America solely because we are still trying to get over the hump of civil rights. Just around 65 years ago, rights were established. We are still trying to overcome that. It's like our relationship with England. I guarantee it took a hundred years or so for us to align ourselves with them. It takes time. I understand white people can be ruthless and cruel. However, that doesn't mean that the minorities are innocent. I live in an area where being white isn't a popular thing. I was bullied relentlessly for it. I was profiled. People thought that the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow sat in my pocket. In reality, I was no different than the people judging me. They finally got over it. The races consist of White, Black , and Oriental . Heritages are the next little branch, and somehow we have all found a way to be nasty to each other. My question consists of two parts. When will people realize that we are all the same? When will people also realize that blaming one race is pure ignorance?	Black, Oriental, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Asian (East-China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam), Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - Chinese, Nationality - Japanese	7/207	3.382
As a proud Mexican male, I am outraged that it's always blacks that people talk about being feeling racism while Mexicans have it hard as well	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/26	3.846
Because too many Mexicans don't want talk about it. I always hear "We have better things to worry about or you have a victim mentality". I promise you that if you talked to other Hispanics about it, usually the ones that hang out with whites, they are going to brush you off and call you race baiting. Seen it many times.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/61	1.639
Kobe Jamez you got mad at me for bitching. And i thought you were mad because your race was enslaved. Apparently it only matters where it happens	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/27	3.704

SeñorSed You are very much hypercritical. You want people to pat attention to your struggles but you just used racist rhetoric of your own.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/24	4.167
Bethsaida Romelus facts are not racist	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/6	16.667
As a proud black man named Lakeesha, I can tell you it is 50 more harder to find work than my white friend named John.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/25	4.0
its not about race , its about the culture.if anyone has a name like daquan, regardless of race , they probably come from a less educated. while if someone is named like joseph or something they probably had a good education and is reliable	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/44	4.545
SeñorSed I can use the same racist narrative for Mexicans to advocate racism . I can use the drug violence in Mexico to paint brown men as thugs. Mexicans have the second highest death rate by gang violence in america and use that to promote stop and frisk. I can use the Mexican drug cartels in Cali and Chicago to continue to promote the war on drugs that puts a large number of Hispanics in prison for nonviolent drug offensives.Watch yourself because you might not be black , but you're not seen as an angel in society either.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/97	3.093
SeñorSed You said facts are not racist . You tried to dehumanize the history of African Americans. Apparently slavery in Africa should erase the importance of slavery in America. It seemed like you were creating those points to make argument seem better.	African, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/41	4.878
SeñorSed Becuase that has nothing to do with race relations in America. So the 100+ years of overt Jim crow and sharecropping that happened after slavery end, and that ended 50+ year ago should be ignored? The people who have been through Jim Crow are alive today. many black people who have walked with MLK are.	Black, Crow, Jim Crow, Nothing, Race	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/56	12.5
Bethsaida Romelus But that's not anything like what I'm saying. He is almost saying it's wrong if one race does it than when another. I'm not ignoring what happened in the past, but he's ignoring what's happening right now	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/39	2.564
SeñorSed The events in Africa have nothing to do with the events in America. Two different systems.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/17	5.882
SeñorSed 1. I'm pretty sure you didn't want my support or care about black issues in the first place 2. Your views is a common thing I see with some Mexicans, ignore the issues of black people but hold whites or WASPS in higher regard. I've seen Mexicans through other ones under the bus for white acceptance as well.	Black, Common	Ethnicity - Black, Social Class - Working class	3/59	5.085

Bethsaida Romelus I do, but if I said that you would continue to bitch and say i don't care about the issues of black people	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/25	4.0
mlgmake No Fox news is just old white people who hate everybody who is not an old white person. Their poster-child Bill Reilly has "debates" where he brings someone in and yells at them so they cannot get their point across.	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/41	4.878
Myth Tessi ( Old GT: Myth Deltah) you hurt my brain so fucking much. Do any sort of research dude	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/19	5.263
Myth Tessi ( Old GT: Myth Deltah) [LINK]	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/7	28.571
Myth Tessi ( Old GT: Myth Deltah) Do you label everyone you disagree with as American? I am Mexican. Also, having been there, I know they aren't the propaganda driven war machine you think they are. Many of these are charities too. I can just disagree with every source that differs from what I think and live in a world of ignorance, but I don't. I linked you the first sources I found, and not one stated this wasn't true. Some are also brutally honest in how other countries harbor slaves as well, including the west.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/95	1.053
+SeñorSed Mexican is a nationality not a race . Most Mexicans are intermixed with natives and white spaniards the rest are pure white or pure native. You ain't a race , you can't experience racism . Discrimination for being Mexican? Yes! Racism has to do with race . Mexican is not a race .	Nationality, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	7/49	14.286
+Rhaenyra Targaryen *racism has nothing to do with nationality . Nationality isn't a race .	Nationality, Nothing, Race	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	3/13	23.077
I feel like it's more cultural bias than racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/9	11.111
Somehow there's people who believe saying a lame joke like "white people can't dance" is exactly the same as having enslaved and systematically discriminated an entire race for years.	Lame, Race	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/29	6.897

I hate hearing people defend racism towards white people. Racial comments towards Caucasians, like "typical white girl", it's not something to be offended by. White people have and most likely never will feel the differentiation from society that people of color feel everyday. It hurts hearing people say, "Your pretty for an Asian". Or not being takin into the same consideration from friends because of your race . And it's something I and every other non white person has to deal with everyday.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/82	2.439
Is this actually African American people, or are you using African American and black interchangeably?	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/15	20.0
I agree with John about the rampant racism in America. But when talking about racial equality, you cannot ignore the countless non-black people of color.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/25	4.0
Hey Mr. Green, I don't know if you'll ever see this in fact I doubt you will but I just wanted to say I get the nervousness you presented at the beginning of this video. A few weeks ago for my English final I did a speech on racism and despite having a much smaller audience than you still got very nervous. I guess I just wanted to say thanks for your courage and stuff in speaking up.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/78	1.282
Although I do appreciate you bringing to light the topic of racism towards African Americans, which is most definitely a present and incredibly important issue, racism applies to all races. As an Asian American I've personally experienced racism , and I'm certain most minorities have as well. Perhaps highlighting the racism that affects the many types of minorities would be helpful as well. I mean no disrespect towards John or African Americans, but racism towards Asians and other minorities is a big part of my life and I would love to see it discussed as well.	African, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/95	7.368
I'd just like to point out that "similar crimes" does not equal "same crimes". It's not like the pay gap statistic so commonly thrown around in gender equality debates, where the two parties are supposedly engaging in the same work schedule. In this case, the term "similar crimes" is misleading, as it is presented in an argument which only really works when it is based on the offenses being the same - not just similar - and I wouldn't be surprised if someone watched this video and then misquoted the information later on as, " Black men usually serve sentences that are 20 longer for the same crime."This is not to discredit the argument of racism present in America. This is just focusing on one aspect of the argument that isn't well constructed.Sincerely,A Wikipedia editor.	Black, Gender, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	3/137	2.19

If people wanna talk about racism so much why is it only EVER about people who aren't white? Racism isn't not a one way street. Why, as a white male, is it considered racist for me to say I'm white and proud when it's fine for another male to say he's black and proud or mexican and proud or asian and proud, whatever the case may be? Why, when it comes to college am I not allowed some scholarships, that under all the fine print, are basically given for the person not being white? Why is there a mentality among people that though slavery was horrible, I should feel remorse for it, even though it was something that my ancestors may or may not have done more than a hundred years ago? Why is it that this comment, while not racist and not written by a racist will be called a racist comment by some? I'm not denying that racism still exists, it does. I'm saying that perhaps it exists so much because people make it exist so much. And if we are going to continue making it such a prevalent issue, then I think we should cover all facets of it, because racism is not exclusive of race to another.	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	10/211	4.739
John, thank you for having the courage to approach such an important and controversial subject. Unfortunately I'm sure the internet will fail to have the maturity to deal with this video appropriately, but in some cases conversations that need to be had, will be had, so I sincerely thank you for that. I know at least within the NerdFighter community this will resonate appropriately. The rest of the world still unfortunately sucks a bit too much to be optimistic in the hope that people can weigh overwhelming data against what they "think", and deal with it rationally. Faith and Feeling are Not Reason nor the means finding one's way to reason. With that in mind I want to bring up something that has been happening in the comments.The idea of Classicism vs Racism as the culprit. I think that people for the most part would rather believe that classicism is more or most at fault because they idea of having to admit there is a problem regarding racism in this country makes them "feel bad" or that one someone says it their "unpatriotic". Which is frankly just blind "nationalism", and dangerous.Is it not entirely possible that there is both Racism and Classicism in America, and that they are both a problem, one that ultimately disproportionately effects Black people of all heritages and cultures (not just African Americans), as well as Hispanics, Immigrants and the general poor (more or less in that order)? Does it really have to be one or the other? Has watching HOUSE all these years not taught us that sometimes it's more than one disease with similar or overlapping symptoms?	African, Black, Blind, Nationalism, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	7/275	2.545
"Savage Inequalities" by Jonathan Kozol. Good book on the topic and how it interacts in the education system. Well worth the read despite its age.	Age	Age - General	1/25	4.0

The real question is: does discussing these problems in terms of race help us solve these problems? Inequality exists undeniably; but are the solutions to inequality generated from racialized discussion? Race is a construct, like so many others... solely used for discrimination. Culture exists outside of race ; class exists outside of race ... does discussing race actually help alleviate the problem... or is it a way for white people to marginalize problems? To write them off as "affecting someone else." Poverty is a problem no matter who suffers it. Police brutality is a problem no matter who endures it. While the hashtag " black lives matter" may be a nice rallying cry... it's also perpetuating the problem by codifying the difference. Lives matter. We can't breathe. Race is not real, it's a fabrication... stop pretending it matters... fight against people who claim it's important. Stop racism by stopping " race ."	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	8/147	5.442
I've seen the name/resume thing first-hand. My dad (Iranian) changed his name to his nickname "Moby" and immediately started getting job offers after years of no offers. Everyone is racist - some people are just trying harder not to be.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/40	2.5
I think all this racism talk would be a moot point if people simply respected each other. If we each respected each other, no matter the skin tone, then we would all see each other as equal, and hence not inferior, nor superior to anyone. But every race has racists. It is not exclusive to whites. I've heard some racist statements from whites and hispanics, being hispanic myself. And if you go into mexico, forget about it, you'll find a racist around every corner (seriously.) Look, the only way to change people's racist perspectives is to be a decent human being to yourself and others. Doing that will shatter their perspective and world view, and hey, it might even give them a higher opinion of you and your ethnic 'group'.But really, trying to forcefully change people's racist beliefs is both futile and counter productive, because anything with force can be interpreted as an attack, and hence reinforce negative stereotypes. The world is the way it is, but its getting better, and the more good we do, the more good we show, and the more good people will see, and the more good people will think, and the more good people will do.Its all circle. But we gotta start somewhere. The easiest place would be with ourselves.	Ethnic, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	7/218	3.211

So many things wrong with your statement ...1. Has been tried but didn't work out 2. Since African Americans were brought here as slaves (aka forcefully and unwillingly take from their land) there is literally no way of knowing where in Africa they came from 3. You seem to think you are entitled to this land but your ancestors (that is assuming your white) stole this land from the Native American so to end racism maybe we just get rid of the people who benefit the most from the system( white people) and return them back to Europe ( by the time you read this you may be thinking where how the hell would you be able figure out which European country each white person would be shipped to since all you guys are like "I'm 20 Irish 30 Danish 45 German and 5 welsh" well you can't figure out 5. Not so sure nether of the countries in Europe and Africa would appreciate this new influx of migrants And those are 5 reasons why your idea sucks	African, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/178	1.124
the idea of 'race' is beyond me. It's meaningless... why is Obama called the first 'black' president if he is half white and half black? why am I given the choice to 'identify' as any race I want on an application form? why do reporters only specify the race of an individual when they are reporting on a crime?It's meaningless. Racism will end when the idea of race ends.	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/70	7.143
The idea of race was made by white people and is benefitting white people to this day while its caused people of color to be at a disadvantage. People's race are very important to them and its simply ignorant to ignore race.	Race	Ethnicity - General	3/42	7.143
Selanaxfanx Ethnicity/Nationality is important, not race. Race is made up. Nationality is real. If you are from from Somalia, you are not 'black', you are Somalian. If you are from Germany, you are not 'white', you are German. If you are from America, you are not a black american, white american etc.. you are american.	Black, Nationality, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	3/55	5.455
i completely agree with you. racism will stop being a problem when we stop identifying people by their race. its like if a news reporter started reporting a death and said 'this green eyed girl..' Does the fact that she has green eyes matter to the story? no. The color of your skin doesn't define who you are but the more people talk about racism the more they are letting it define people. Thats just my opinion.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/77	3.896
I'm pretty sure he's called the first black president because as long as races have been mixing, mixed kids have never been owned up to as half white they're always seen as blacks because whites don't want to see them as half white	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/43	2.326

Catherine CapeSo the magical cure for racism is to ignore peoples self identities... really now? why dont you just say "i dont see color" and move along. !DIFFERENCES ARENT A BAD THING!	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/33	3.03
SelanaxfanxNo i dont think that the 'magical cure' for racism is to ignore peoples self identities, i think it's for people to stop defining themselves as a 'black american' or a 'white german'. Of course that wouldn't be a cure for racism but it would at least be a start. I'm not saying differences are a bad thing i'm saying inequality is.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/63	3.175
Catherine CapeDefining is included in self "identity"... how does someone saying theyre from somewhere contribute to RACISM at all?!?! youre making racsim seem like such a small. easily fixable thing, its insulting and a little insensitive. I think the first step to curing INEQUALITY is for people to admit their privilege and accept others that are different than them. If someone wants to identify themselves as a black american woman and someone else says their white german man, who cares. I just dont get how that can cause division in a bad way.	Black, Racism, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	3/94	3.191
Well, being a Person of Color is an experience. Thus many people who are mixed can tell you stories of how they were treated as black people. Whether it be having doors lock as they stroll down the parking lot or even being spit at on the street regardless of how white they looked (Ex: Mariah Carey).Thus even if you removed labels, what are you going to do about the darker skinned ones who are still being treated differently.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/80	1.25
DirectorxMizuki Selanaxfanx I wasn't trying to act insulting or insensitive. I was simply just stating my opinion and then again i live in the UK where racism is a much smaller problem and i have never seen or experienced racism so I'm much more ignorant on the issue. I was only just basing my opinion off the things I've learnt in school so sorry if i offended either of you.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/70	2.857
Catherine Cape Oh it's fine and no offense was taking. It just that America is going though a whole " Racism isn't a problem, let's all be colorblind" campaign. Meanwhile, PoC are still being treated differently regardless of what we are called.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/41	2.439
100 agreed. When we think if race , the first thing one realizes is: they are different, and it is us and them.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/22	4.545

Selanaxfanx So your solution is for us to continually say "sorry, we fucked up" forever and ever. Rather than redefining the way you define yourself as a human being and not simply a canvas for the color of your skin? You make it seem like every black person on the planet is just that. A black person. Not another person with a family and a home and a country of origin like the rest of us. They're just a black person. That's really fucked up of you. I dont look at Obama and see a black person who made it to spite his white oppressors. I look at Obama and see a man with a wife and kids, and a home, and a seat of power we voted him into based off his qualifications. Not the color of his skin or white guilt. Its sad to hear that you look at a minority and give them props based off the color of their skin. That's racial profiling. Textbook.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	4/168	2.381
I'm acting like a person is more than the sum of their skin color. Instead of basing your entire personality on being a certain race , how about you develop a personality or a pride in your actual heritage? You can't go from one extreme to the other like that, it makes you sound REALLY dumb . You aren't erasing black identity, you're erasing racial supremacy. It's the difference between me saying I'm proud to be Irish vs I'm proud to be white. I can be proud of my heritage without wanting to diminish everyone else.	Black, Dumb, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/94	3.191
I almost married a black man, I'm pretty sure I'm good on how they feel about the subject. They're tired of hearing about it, just as much as I am. I was tired of him bringing it up all the fucking time tbh, all it did was distance us from each other. No surprise, since thats all that ever does to people, distance them from one another. Hence my entire point. Also it's spelled "experience". And your skin color isn't an experience. Its a personal statistic, like your age or eye color. It should have just as much importance as height or weight. Building your entire sub culture around that identity results in a chasm between your sub-culture and ACTUAL culture (like the one that everybody participates in, not the one that was created solely for one race . because thats racist .) You can have experiences based OFF your skin color, but if those experiences are what defines you as a person, thats really fucking sad. For a lot of different reasons, not just because they're all probably super shitty experiences.	Age, Black, Race, Racist	Age - General, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/180	2.222
Regarding the criminal justice system. I want to say that the Racism is not in the procedure it's self but in the system, in other words people.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/27	3.704

This video examines statistical correlations without examining or asking why those statistics exist. It therefore concludes that there is systematic racism . This is taking the easy route by actually assuming a cause and effect relationship. I'm not saying that racism doesn't exist, I'm just saying look more closely at the data and ask questions about it. Where does it come from? How were the various studies done? Again, I'm not saying racism doesn't exist in the US. I just like to see statistics treated more carefully than this. Eh, whatever, it's the Internet. :)	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/94	3.191
I was wondering if you could do a video on fangirls. I mean we aren't that different from "normal" people. Or are we? I mean if two different people are a part of a fandom... one being a fangirl one being a "normal" person, why are they having completely different reactions when the fandom is the same level of importance to both of them? I don't know. I just wanna know if we are possessed or something. This has nothing to do with the video but just a suggestion and I think racism is a bigger problem than most people think.	Nothing, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	2/102	1.961

Black people also have a higher rate of recidivism, resulting in progressively longer sentencing. Whites have a higher contraband hit rate for possession due to the lower stop rate: if they were to stop all whites, instead of just those who had done something else wrong already, then the hit rate would plummet. Of course, contraband possession is only one of several factors for which someone could be arrested, and even contraband itself can be split into severity levels: explosives, illegal firearms, narcotics, paraphernalia, and open containers. Yet, there has to be a reason that "stop-all-blacks" is practiced by officers of all races: if they were more efficiently taxing the populace with a stop-all-whites policy, you'd assume they'd gravitate towards it both for its financial incentive as well as in pursuit of the laziness that increased efficiency allows for? Exoneration by DNA by raw quantity is silly, as having more inmates with DNA-evidence capable crimes (specifically rape) means that more exonerations are possible; it would be better to use percentage rate; additionally, conviction versus exoneration rate points to there being a racial-identification problem, and not necessarily a racism problem: that victims, witnesses and possibly even juries are incapable of telling black people apart. This could also mean that it's just more difficult to discern between features of blacks (especially in the dark, at a distance, or via low-res video capture) than it is of whites. It could also mean that black features are more similar to each other intra-racially than whites, causing minor imperfections in a victim's memory or the officer's artistic ability to produce inaccurate forensic drawings that are then spot-on for an innocent person in the immediate area. Flat trial-as-an-adult rate doesn't bring into account any of the contributing factors: such as when a white kid kills somebody, it's usually someone within their own family. Black children's are significantly more likely to do strangers, and worse still to be gang-related. Obviously these will not be treated the same by a jury: since they're not the parent or sibling, the white kid who shot his mom for making him clean his room isn't a threat to any of them; in contrast, the black kid who shot a salaryman for his wallet is. Motive makes a difference. Convict callback study doesn't take into account record length, education, previous employment, age, or any other contributing factors. Emily vs Lakisha is a cultural thing, not a racial one. If I apply for a job as "White Power", I will never receive a callback from anyone, despite having a very obviously "white" name. What you see here is that Christian names, especially the non-Jewish Biblical disciples like Michael and James, or their feminine counterparts Michelle and Jamie, are more accepted than names of other origins, and American society-at-large is openly hostile towards names which emphasize cultural differences (Mohammad, Jakwon, Qiao, etc.): the more steps removed from cultural norms the person appears, the less likely they are to be accepted by that culture (duh?). Those seeking to assimilate know this, and that's why asian children receive a biblical nickname. So even though their name might be Huang Xu... he will be known as John Xu in grade school and professionally. High schools with mostly minority students are also more likely to be extremely poor, have	Age, Black, Racism	Age - General, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/612	1.144
---	--------------------	---	-------	-------

To the people saying that racism against white people doesn't exist: Zimbabwe. That is all.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667
Can you do one of these about sexism ? It is needed (especially on YouTube).	Sexism	Gender - General	1/14	7.143
So black people get 20 longer sentences and 3 times more likely to be arrested for drug possession that was the whole point of this video? It's impossible for it to be identical there is going to be some disparity, if we compared female vs male sentences I would bet theres a much larger difference between female and male, is that sexism ? Also how does asian and hispanic statistics compare.	Black, Sexism	Ethnicity - Black, Gender - General	2/70	2.857
I would wager just as guess without any prior knowledge, that the people who claim there is no racial bias or say that racism isn't a big deal in American society, are the people who are likely to be racist or display racist tendencies.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/44	6.818
I swear when bigots get bored they search " racism " on youtube and then comment on all the videos with all of their mindless, ignorant drivel for fun.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/27	3.704
Racism in America is very much like sexism . It will reduce some, only. People are naturally trying to keep their selves above others.	Racism, Sexism	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	2/23	8.696
Racial bias is not only a White problem, it comes from every race in America. The only difference is that Whites happen to still be the majority. Rather than culturally isolate ourselves from one another, we must come together to create a completely new culture. Neither a melting pot nor a mosaic; but rather a tapestry. Colored lines that cross over each other but also contain several unique patterns.	Colored, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/69	2.899
dking495 Seeing as black people were born here, it's their country, too. Idiot.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/13	7.692
Sethron Bowman dude, I'm black . Your point was my point. I guess it's my fault for not clarifying that, but there's no need to call me an idiot simply because you misunderstood what I was saying.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/36	2.778
Sethron BowmanThen stop bitching about how bad this country is. If it's so bad here, pack up your shit and go move to a Black run country like Somalia or Africa.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/32	3.125

Peyton NNo, you are wrong.Let’s break down the word Multicultural.Multi ( many) Cultural ( Cultures).Multicultural means many separate cultures living in the same space.Multicultural means that there are different cultures, different languages, different values, etc. It is where each race has their own groups or cultures separate from others.Example: Blacks speak Ghetto babble. Liberals and Blacks say ” It’s their culture to speak that way”. That means that Blacks never assimilated, they are a different culture all to their own.Melting pot means that people assimilate or mix to one binding culture. In a true melting pot society there is ONE language, ONE culture, ONE set of values.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/113	0.885
Dotsparrow1No. I want all Blacks to live in their own countries. Since they feel they are so deprived, and since they believe that the U.S and Whites are so racist, then let’s give them a place where they all can live without feeling oppressed.Since there are already of Black run countries, finding one will not be a problem. Haiti I hear is a nice place this time of year, why don’t you go live there? Wouldn’t it be nice to live in Haiti where you don’t have to worry about being profiled or discriminated against? Plus it has nice weather all year round.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/105	1.905
kingofprussia17 If it wasn’t for European exploration, I would most likely be a European living in Europe with other Europeans, as opposed to living in America with other Americans. My comment was neither racist nor a-hole-ish; quite the opposite. I merely pointed out that countries who were taken over tend to have a different opinion on history than the countries who take them over, and that keeping an open mind is good.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/72	1.389
MsGiantsrock So it’s not okay to say that all blacks should go back to Africa; but it’s okay to say all europeans need to go back to Europe? How is that not racist or hypocritical?	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/35	2.857
Grendel Wolf Yo Grendel, get your racist and probably sexist self out of here! I think (some) white people have a hard time understanding that despite how underdeveloped (according to your standards) a country is, it does not mean you are better than them or that they are less human than you are. People from all around the world have a different way of living, they have a different culture. Stop trying to justify that Europeans ”built this nation” because there was already a striving civilisation here, who did things their own way, which was the ”wrong way” according to foreigners who came because it wasn’t the way they did it. End of the story is that Native Americans were her first, accept that because there is no changing it. If you want to deport all of the black people, you may as well deport the other half of the country, because the U.S. is BUILT off of immigrants. Including yourself!	Black, Nation, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	3/161	1.863

MsGiantsrock This country was built by Immigrants that assimilated, learned English, and within one generation were indistinguishable from one another. Also, they were the same race .Lastly since I cornered you and you were not able to come back with anything intelligent to say and resorted to name calling, you lost the argument.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/53	1.887
Okay from reading your argument sir Grendel I can tell you for one, not educated in American History - or at least the "meaning" of America which you say was not supposed to be "multicultural" or one race and two, you do not know what Native Americans are as you continuously say they are from Europe - who in the right mind told you that? If you are talking about the recent "DNA" rooting, it's impossible for you to go back in time and search the DNA of all Native Americans. It's generalization and shows uneducated bias.America was founded on the hope of freedom. Of the people, for the people, by the people. Not of the Europeans, for the Europeans, and by the Europeans. "America" was stolen. It was not founded. This is where history gets extremely biased in America. "Indians" which Cortes stupidly named them after thinking he were in India, or Native Americans, lived here first. Yes, before Europeans. And Europeans came and invaded, slaughtering tribes and taking this land for their "own." You act as though Native Americans were animals for "killing eachother and stealing each others land" but sir, I can assure you, if you want to open a text book and look to Cortes, or perhaps the Trail of Tears, the Europeans were demons placed on Earth compared to them."Blacks." Using that term and grouping people together is generalization. Saying they are all better at sports or have lower IQs. Generalization. Al Sharpton, Yvette Carnell, Marc Lamont Hill, all of these black individuals could make your little white boy IQ look like you belong in special ED.You are not the founding fathers. You were not here when America was made. You had no part in the founding or "stealing" of America. So you have no place to be saying anything about who belongs where. You are not European. You are American. Your roots lie in Europe but I can guarantee they also come from many other parts of the world as well. I can guarantee most black people's DNA can be tracked back to Europe as well. The people born here are American. That is the LAW of America. Yes, a law: something that is above you.Dude, a black man is your president. He IS America.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/385	1.039

Lillypad1134 ” Okay from reading your argument sir Grendel I can tell you for one, not educated in American History - or at least the ”meaning” of America which you say was not supposed to be ”multicultural” or one race and two, you do not know what Native Americans are as you continuously say they are from Europe - who in the right mind told you that? If you are talking about the recent ”DNA” rooting, it’s impossible for you to go back in time and search the DNA of all Native Americans. It’s generalization and shows uneducated bias.”Considering that I am of Native American decent, and has researched not only my Tribe ( Apache) but the history of other tribes I can honestly say that you are out gunned in the conversation of the origins of the Native American.” America was founded on the hope of freedom. Of the people, for the people, by the people. Not of the Europeans, for the Europeans, and by the Europeans. ”America” was stolen. It was not founded. This is where history gets extremely biased in America. ”Indians” which Cortes stupidly named them after thinking he were in India, or Native Americans, lived here first. Yes, before Europeans. And Europeans came and invaded, slaughtering tribes and taking this land for their ”own.” You act as though Native Americans were animals for ”killing eachother and stealing each others land” but sir, I can assure you, if you want to open a text book and look to Cortes, or perhaps the Trail of Tears, the Europeans were demons placed on Earth compared to them.”There is no such thing as ” the Noble Savage”, Native American stole their land from other Native Americans.Let’s look at the Apaches shall we?The Apaches stole their land from the Comanches, who stole their land from the Pueblo people, who stole their land from the Folsom people, and it can be traced all the way back to the original people to settle in southwest U.S Clovis Man.Now let’s look at other ” Noble Savages”. If you knew anything about the history of the U.,S slave trade you would know that it was the African King Ghezo that captured and sold other Blacks to the U.S, Europe, and the Middle East. It wasn’t until 2007 that Africa banned slavery, but it still continues today.Also, the Black Moors have been known to travel into Europe to capture and enslave White Europeans. Once captured they raped the Women, Girls, and boys and forced them into slavery. White Men where killed. The Moors killed a couple Million White Europeans during that time.So to say that conquest is inherently a European trait just goes to show your lack of actual world history. But I don’t blame you for your ignorance, you were indoctrinated by racist, anti-White Socialists.” ”Blacks.” Using that term and grouping people together is generalization. Saying they are all better at sports or have lower IQs. Generalization. Al Sharpton, Yvette Carnell, Marc Lamont Hill, all of these black individuals could make your little white boy IQ look like you belong in special ED.”Really? You use a racebaiter like Al Sharpton as an example of a Black with a high I.Q? You lost your argument there.Al Sharpton makes a living by keeping his own people impoverished and enslaved to the Government, and he is a fraud, and a tax evader.” You are not the founding fathers. You were not here when America was made. You had no part in the founding or ”stealing” of America. So you have no place	African, Black, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	9/771	1.167
--	-------------------------------------	---	--------------	--------------

You're going to call me racist and ignorant? You are being racist to blacks? Don't you realize that's hypocrisy? Don't you realize your entire argument is hypocrisy?Native Americans "stole" each other's land. Okay, so European Americans did the same? They stole land from each other left and right, rich from the poor. It was some of the biggest "scandals" of the time back then. I actually am interested in what exactly you mean by European roots and how you know this. I am not attacking you on this I just see you keep mentioning it and I'd like to see evidence cause I genuinely am curious because I've only heard theories.I'm not anti-white. I am white. I am the whitest decent there is? I am purely European, Scottish, and Irish. With the whitest skin even haha. I burn suuperEasy haha.Al Sharpton is a civil rights activists who's views are less racist and more open minded than yours could ever hope to be. Once you can gain a spot in a political world with your views then perhaps I listen to this support less accusation of "tax fraud" that every person pin points on some freaking politican they don't like or agree with.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/205	1.463
Your argument on "noble savages" perhaps I just don't understand but it seems rather irrelevant and an attempt to add information to support your case while getting mildly off topic. Again, I may just not understand as I know what it means but not how it applies to my argument. If you could enlightenment me that would be great.Laws change over time! Yes! Thank you!So your argument on how Americas original image was to be an all white European country has changed because society has changed. Because we went from racist bigots to decent individuals who judge a person base on what they give to the world rather than their color.Until you can contribute something solid and helpful to the world like many black, white leaders have, you don't have place in saying which race belongs where. Because at the end of the day sweetie you can continue to get into a history debate with me but it's just your skin. You need to get over it. This is 2015. Stop living in the 1700s.	Black, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/177	1.695

Well because Black people had their lives, their heritage, cultures, etc. stripped of them in the act of dehumanization so Africa is not a place they are familiar with. And those in Africa are probably unknowing of them. Africa is a huge continent with many countries within it. And it's no longer easily accessible in a relative sense to Black Americans. And in many ways, as whites have a "stake" in America, as do blacks for building america, for finding america before white explorers, and for not having another place waiting-as others do. And since they were born on American soil and that...they cannot BE deported legally either. And all in all, the people who have the most rights to the land are Native Americans who actually, in that case, should have the right to kick us all the hell out. And I don't think it's; the blacks they'd want to kick out (if you read history books, it'll show they didn't really have beef with the africans but the whites who lied, tortured them, and tried to enslave them. Then stole their land)	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/184	1.087
GentleEstherActually the Blacks in Africa know very well about the Blacks in the U.S. They call them lazy and cry babies, and they also state that we took all the stupid Blacks that got caught.Africans know the truth about Black Slavery since it was their great something Grandfathers that captured and sold them off to the U.S to begin with.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/62	1.613
Grendel Wolf Europeans didn't build this country over 3 million slaves did . By 1860 African slaves made up 15 billion dollars worth of capital which was basically the unions economy at the time. "Europeans" made rules rules and laws to benefit white wealthy educated males and the rest where left with shit	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/53	1.887
Selena GilbertNo they didn't.Let's not forget that there were Black slave owners as well, and Unions did not exist back then.To say Blacks built the U.S would be like saying the Chinese that labored to build the rail road tracks to California built California.Sorry. there os no room for Afrocentric bullshit in conversations dealing with facts.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/60	1.667
Grendel Wolf Untrue. The most supported theories of Native American origins is of asiatic or african descent more closely than european. But despite their descent, they are the true "settlers" here. Europeans merely conquered an already settled land. It's not about how far back your ancestors stem but what rights people have to american soil (if we call it that). First, it's native american soil. Secondly, the conquering nation was built and fueled by african slaves so the builders would have rights afterward. Lastly is the "invading" force.	African, Nation	Ethnicity - Black, Nationality - General	3/88	3.409

Grendel Wolf Guess what? Some people don't have jobs or homes in their countries so they are trying to survive in others. You were probably born in America and you can't understand how hard it is to live in the country where you can't get a job and where nobody listens to your opinion. And then you leave everything you ever fought for in that crappy country and move to some other where you don't even know language nor people. It's fucking hard!	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/83	1.205
GentleEstherState your sources. You can just look at the skull shapes and you can tell Native Americans where not of Black African decent, in fact Native Americans despite being separated by miles of ocean for thousand of years have Neanderthal DNA which can only be found in Asians and Caucasoid and are not in Black Africans.One source: [LINK] another source amongst many: [LINK]	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/65	4.615
Grendel Wolf Various anthropology and History course textbooks, articles, and guest speaker testimonies. Take a class and you'd learn that African peoples were in the Americas along with the, let me repeat, Asiatic peoples as well. All of them are technically "Native Americans" which is why not all Native Americans when settlers first arrived looked exactly alike across the entire area known as the Americas. Secondly, the issue being addressed here is who has rights to the land and you are, still, wrong in your claim. Those who originally settled, all the natives, should stay. Those who created it, built it, and made it what it is today (not to mention these people were typically on good terms/favored by the natives) should stay. But those who have been stealing it piece by piece? They have the least amount of rights to the land they stole. They're called invaders or "conquerors" for a reason. They were not invited, entrusted, or bequeathed the land. They have stolen it and built upon it and have taken credit for others' labor. End of story.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/180	0.556
I think a lot of people think that the vocal overt and unabashed racism of the 60s is no longer a problem in the US when they answer that question. I also think that the ultimately racist decision making process latent in so much of the disparities mentioned in the video could very well be subconscious. I think we're all more racist than we really realize.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/66	4.545
Racism is the belief that one race or ethnic group possess characteristics or abilities that define them as superior or inferior. Prejudice, discrimination, or antagonism based on such a belief.You aren't describing racism , you are describing actions based on racial stereotypes, which is not the same thing.	Ethnic, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	4/48	8.333
"Systematic racism " is the phrase used to describe what John is describing, for better or for worse.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/17	5.882

racism is everywhere no mater your race religion colour or country ask people you know who travelrd back to there parents land it not nice	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/25	8.0
I'm glad you touched on intersectionality. I'm a sociology major, so when I hear people discuss race most of them time other factors aren't mentioned. I don't think it's a matter of white people simply disliking black people, there are far more layers that no one speaks of, so people who aren't actively hateful don't see or understand what the problem is. Understanding and educating intersectionality could be a big help in understanding new age racism .	Age, Black, Race, Racism	Age - General, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/76	5.263
Well put, I would highly reccomend everyone to read the book "Why Do All The Black Kids Sit Together In The Cafeteria" by Beverly Daniel Tatum. It explains where the social construction of race derives from and how it continues to thrive in our modern day society.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/47	4.255
God, I hate arguing with people that don't think racism is a problem.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/13	7.692
God, it is so frustrating to talk about the things that John talks about in this video and to have it met with "what about the victimization of white people, though?" Not because racism against white people doesn't exist, but because that attempt at paralleling the two situations is ridiculous. It's like someone saying "I know he lost 20 dollars, but I lost 5 dollars! Help me find my 5 dollars!" Ok fine, but your 5 dollars isn't what we're talking about right now. It's not less important, or even all that different, but trying to change the focus like that has nothing to do with the conversation we're having HERE.I think it's also important to point out that there is a huge difference between racism and discrimination. If you're racist , fine. Stay away from me and everyone else. That's your messed up problem. When discussing systemic racism , we're talking about discrimination. We're talking about profiling. We're talking about building institutions on racism and putting that racism to use to deny people of color opportunities that white people have. This is where the shouts of "what about us" from certain self-proclaimed white victims come apart. The fact is that the system that has been established has never afforded people of color, African Americans specifically, to even begin to shut white people out of these institutions. Those who cite Affirmative Action as an example of systemic racism against white people seem to forget that it was created as attempt to level the playing field of systemic racism against everyone else. If there were even one single example of white people being subjugated the same way the people of color in the United States have been subjugated, then we could figure out how to fix that too.	African, Nothing, Racism, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	10/296	3.378

Fuck off marxist race baiter	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/5	20.0
everyone is a little bit racist so it's not their "messed up problem" it's all of ours. No society in the world has yet reached a point where children are taught to be "color-blind." So for now it's all of our problem, and shunning those who are the most racist is not a reasonable solution. Honestly, racism is not an inherent trait people are born with. As said before, it is taught. So we should focus all our efforts on re-teaching equality rather than expressing our disgust towards those who express racism . Otherwise, we are only adding to the hatred in the world today.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	4/104	3.846
I agree that everyone's a little bit racist . And my point is, keep your racism to yourself. Don't use it to hurt anybody, don't use it to withhold opportunities from people. When I say "that's your problem", I mean that, to a certain degree, nothing can be done about people's individual prejudices, and though that's too bad, I think it's most important to focus on keeping that out of our institutions and combating people who combine their racism and their power to hurt others.	Nothing, Racism, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	4/84	4.762
I think it's about anyone who experiences hardships. I think blacks have it harder than whites. But I will tell a person "oh I'm so sorry about that" when they say something bad that happened to them because that's how I react. I don't need to know a person's race to have that natural reaction.I guess I would ask you to not assume that someone who wants to be inclusive wants something to be about themselves. Well yes, themselves, in addition to everyone else.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/85	1.176

Rob Graff Yeah I know I figured that's what you meant. I guess it's just that, I think that, in general, when humans point out a problem they have, it's not necessarily to boost themselves, but more, I guess, instinctive? As if the story just falls from their mouth because it's such a natural reaction to want to share happy and unhappy moments. We are emotional creatures. So like, when anyone says something about something they went through, I basically figure they have a direct experience they had that they are referencing. I think that's a really universal thing and I don't really blame people for that. You know, as long as they can keep it in perspective. But yeah I just think when people share things it's usually really specific, it's not so much to claim, therefore all whites go through this or all blacks go through this, it's more like I went through something and I want to share it because I share things and we listen and we say oh I hope you don't have to go through that again etc etc. That's why I think we should appreciate things moment by moment. Maybe one second I'll be saying, oh, I hope that black couple I know will get treated justly in the future, and then if a few seconds later a white person told me something they went through I'll want the same for them, I won't think, oh now I can't appreciate black people anymore. No, I still can, in fact, appreciate black people :) The white problem didn't exclude the black one, and the black problem didn't exclude the white one.I know that was rambly; usually I try to be clearer in my posts but the words just fell out this time :)	Black	Ethnicity - Black	5/300	1.667
This "colorblind society" is essentially an experiment with humans as the test subject. I have hope that it will work out, but if you think this is purely a "systemic racism " issue and not a cultural or genetic issue, you are falling into a trap that John Green himself often points out. Truth resists simplicity. It's disappointing to hear John Green parrot exactly the same information we've heard a million times instead of really trying to find the truth.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/79	1.266
Supporting prejudicial treatment of any other race to "level the playing field i" is a stupid route to take. We wont solve racism with more racism	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/26	11.538
I'm sorry you had to experience racism , Razatiger Ault. I hope some day in the future your experience will be less common .	Common, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	2/22	9.091

Terf Sorry but your assertion that "everyone's a little bit racist " is weak and I refuse to be lumped into that group. I think other people would agree with me as well. Racism comes with a sense of superiority simply because of the color of ones skin and the inferiority of others due to the color of theirs, which brings about prejudice. Hence all racist are bigots but not all bigots but not all bigots are racists. I acknowledge race (in the sense of people with different physical attributes), but I don't use that as a basis for determining an entire group of peoples worth (like a racist does). There are no degrees of racism, you either are or you aren't. Just because you have a friend who is a minority doesn't mean you can't be a racist anymore than having a wife means you can't be a misogynist. Also racists have a sense of superiority simply due to belonging to a certain race (how many whites think they are superior simply because they belong to the supposed "builders of society"?). If I were to base my superiority unto others (not saying I would but hypothetically), it wouldn't be something as shallow as race.	Misogynist, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	10/205	4.878
racism against white people(in the US) doesn't exist. in fact there are no such thing as a reverse -ism because those things require both power and prejudice. a black person can definitely be prejudice against a white person, but as a whole the black person's group does not hold the appropriate power to do anything with that prejudice. there are a lot of other nuances to this issue too, but teaching high schoolers these things all day and then trying to explain it to the internet is a little bit too much for me.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/94	3.191
Roman Stefan racism is not only about believing one race is superior to another. It's also the belief that all members of each race possess characteristics or abilities specific to that race (aka stereotypes), and we all fall back on stereotypes sometimes. That's what I meant, so we had a misunderstanding. Also, why do you claim that there are no degrees of racism? Bigotry and ignorance is not a yes or no sort of thing.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	5/75	6.667
Terf Racism comes in different variations (ie. institutional) but not degrees. All racists are bigoted and ignorant but not all Bigoted and or ignorant people are racist.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/27	7.407

Roman Stefan racism comes in different variations, but not all racists are bigoted or ignorant. Anytime you are raised into a culture you inherent cultural values. these cultural values are your biases, in other words they are your biases. For racism to occur you only need 2 things, Prejudice and Power. everyone has prejudices, whether they want to believe it or not. however, in the US the group in power are white people. so the only group that can be racist are white people. (that's why there is no such thing as reverse racism ). However, this is not to say that minorities cannot be discriminatory. remember that discrimination is to act upon prejudices. rather than give you an entire 40 minute lecture on why not all racists are bigoted and ignorant, I'll just sum it up for you and if you really want to understand why i say what i say you can do some research. TO SUM UP... All white people are technically racist because they come from and are part of an institution that perpetuates their cultural beliefs as the "right" belief and they have the power to continue to perpetuate that belief. Being knowledgeable about this doesn't stop you from being racist . (knowing that gravity exists can't stop you from falling once you've taken a step off the ledge, likewise in terms of race society has taken that last step a LONG LONG TIME AGO)	Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	7/238	2.941
enterfolly dude you are preaching to the quire here, i am well aware of all of your statements. "Reverse racism " is nothing more than a collective "victim complex" that the majority (whites) perpetuate so as to not incite guilt for holding their ( racist and bigoted)beliefs.	Nothing, Racism, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	3/45	6.667
Racism against whotes people does not exist? In fact, it is pretty common in The USA and it can cost your life in Africa.	Common, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	2/24	8.333
Joseph Ang that's not racism ... that's either prejudice or discrimination... people use the term racism without knowing what it actually means... I am not in the mood to explain it to you, so you can just do your own research on it if you want to understand what racism actually is.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/51	5.882
Everyone is not a little bit racist . Racism is hatred for a particular race or at least will treat someone from another race more negatively than someone from their own race or another race . Everyone however IS a little prejudiced which means they have a certain attitude or preconceived notion of a person based on several different factors ( race included). Once again, two similar but different words are used interchangeably.	Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	7/70	10.0

Keegan Harris what you said is what I meant in my use of the word racism . I used racism to mean prejudice too because that's how most people define it: "the belief that all members of each race possess characteristics or abilities specific to that race , especially so as to distinguish it as inferior or superior to another race or races." Racism is not just about hatred, prejudices are part of it. Either way, it doesn't matter how you define racism , as long as you recognize inequality for what it is.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	7/91	7.692
Right. I completely agree but I just did not agree with the statement that everyone is a little bit racist . I agree with all else you said though about how white people definitely don't suffer from racial equality nearly as much as people like to pretend they do.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/48	2.083
Keegan Harris Most physicians will disagree with your false idea that everyone isn't a little bit racist .fMRIs of children indicate that racism is inherent in most people at a fundamental level. It varies from person to person, but the messy truth is that almost everyone is at least a little bit racist , with many people being somewhat or very racist . The portions of the brain responsible for racism have been identified as being involved with the limbic system and oftentimes results in a partial or complete bypassing of the prefrontal cortex, which is why the most racist individuals will have little negative reaction to killing, raping, or stealing in order to act upon their racist intentions.The problem is how to detain and cure racists so that they stop harming the rest of society.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	7/135	5.185
commode7x we'll just have to detain everybody, I guess. You know that study was to measure racial prejudices and not " racism ", right?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/22	4.545
Keegan HarrisTherein lies the problem. Even if you could detain all racists, what you'd end up with is creating concentration camps of the most vile, twisted, and violent creatures this planet has to offer. If they ever got out, they'd raze the nearest major city to the ground.Measuring racial prejudices is one step in determining who is a sociopathic racist . It's one thing to have racist tendencies. It's another thing entirely to look at an fMRI of someone losing their mind due to their own racism .	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/88	3.409
enterfollyLiberals love to invent words. Nonsense. Racism is racism from blacks or whites.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/14	14.286
commode7x I was actually being sarcastic about the imprison all racists thing. Also I don't think being prejudiced or even racist counts as being a sociopath. Also, please stop using really proper and sophisticated diction and big words to sound smart. I know you just don't want to seem like the average jerk on the internet who had completely groundless beliefs and I'm sure you are smart but it's coming off as pretentious.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/73	1.37

Rob Graff I think the problem here is that we really do need to have a conversation about race... but no one seems to actually be willing to have that 'conversation'. When it comes to social issues, most people would rather monologue about their views than initiate a true discussion. When I try to have a conversation about race with someone who politically leans left, they tend to monologue about how only specific demographics can ever be effected by it, and will consider any dissenting views to be 'racist', 'bigoted', or 'distracting from the real issue'. When I try to have a conversation about race with someone who politically leans right, they tend to monologue about how majorities have racial issues too and will claim that minorities can somehow overcome racial oppression just by catering to their supposed oppressors. Independents and moderates tend to be a mixed bag, as they seem to lean toward either side, or they just flat-out shut down the conversation because it's too uncomfortable (understandably so). I've noticed that none of these people I encounter tend to provide viable solutions to these issues or even bipartisan ideals that could potentially lead to a solution... which is forgivable since this conflict is extremely ambiguous, but also disappointing. Reparations sound sensible at first, but then how do we decide who gets them when nearly every demographic has been systematically stepped on at some point in history? Besides, issues like racism, sexism, and classism aren't exactly quantifiable when it comes to figuring out how much compensation should be provided to those who've experienced them. Increasing legislature sounds sensible at first, but how do we create laws that'll benefit only specific demographics without stirring up more separatism in the general population? Besides, we've been trying to fix this problem through the law for centuries, and that alone hasn't resulted in much progress. Increasing awareness and pushing toward a cultural shift seems like the most promising potential solution, but you can never really control how a culture is going to change, and it could take centuries before we see any notable progress. Ironically enough, as big an issue as racism is... it really is a problem that'll eventually solve itself. Humans are guaranteed to breed all racial differences out of their species at some point, but I think we can all agree that we shouldn't try to wait that long for a resolution to these conflicts. I'd say that as individuals, the most we can do nowadays is learn to properly address and quell the subtle separatist systems and the not-so-subtle individual bigots we encounter in our daily lives. That alone would be a big step in the right direction.	Classism, Race, Racism, Sexism	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General, Social Class - General	7/449	1.559
---	--------------------------------	--	-------	-------

Samuel Epicurus The data of the criminal justice system of the current time period in the US seems to disagree with you sir. As a definition of Subjugated according to Webster is "to make submissive". I would say a system purposefully designed where one race of people are imprisoned longer and far more frequently would fit that word.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/58	1.724
Nathaniel Kramer "We just fixed the LGBTQ rights shit" - I'm guessing you are referring to the fact that same sex couples can not legally marry? However I would argue that does not fix all of the rights issues faced by the LGBTQ community, just one drop in the bucket. For example. Right now, in many places in the US a person in with in the LGBTQ can be fired from their work for being LGBTQ. That couldn't happen if you switched the words for LGBTQ with say Black , thanks to the Civil Rights act of 1964.The Civil Rights act of 1964 outlawed discrimination based on race , color, religion, sex , or national origin. But not sexual orientation. Some states have adopted discrimination laws for LGBTQ but that is just at the state level and not every state.	Black, Race, Sex, Sexual	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	5/138	3.623
+Rob Graff You lost 5(misunderstood because you are white) and the other person lost 20(mistreated because you are black ) but you have 1000(privileges that come with being white) and the other person only had that 20(privileges that come with being black . which are very few). A lose is still a lose but to each person depending on there life, effects them differently.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/62	3.226

And what institutions are you referring to, exactly? Where are the systems, in this day and age , that are built on the oppression of minorities within American society? When you consider affirmative action, an attempt to offer free scholarships on nothing other than skin color in order to give "diversity" to campuses all over the country (I use diversity loosely because the only diversity that I value is that of opinions and thought, and campuses don't have that), the extreme prejudice against police in the modern news media and the spike in white police fatalities that's resulted from it, and the continued blindness to overt anti-white racism within the BLM community because social justice is convinced white people are some evil demonic force that's immune to it, who's exactly being "oppressed" by some system? Nobody .I understand there are still issues within society. Black poverty is massive, black crime and prisoners are a majority in the country, and gang violence has ravaged inner-city communities. But there's no government or social institution perpetuating this. Is it a coincidence that white people who also grow up in "the hood" are living just as poorly? Of course not. Poverty is decided by where a person is born, not the color of the skin they're born with. Is it any less terrible? No, but accepting every other factor aside from race will help to fight poverty in the long run.The way to fix race relations is not to talk about them and try to level the playing field with Affirmative Action, in fact it's the opposite. The more we talk about race , the more value race has and the more tensions are increased. As Martin Luther King Jr. said once, judge people "not by the color of their skin, but by the content of their character". And that's a street that goes both ways.	Age, Black, Nobody, Nothing, Race, Racism, Spike	Age - General, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Religious Identity - Protestant	11/311	3.537
Black panther go around and screaming for the extermination of whites across the planet and call whites racist and many black are for the discrimination of whites based on their skin and these same blacks call whites racist . Left wingers even white and Jewish ones who hate the white race call white racist . Mexicans who hate the white race call whites racist . Black who want more rights then whites call white racist .	Black, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	10/72	13.889
Sorry, but shaming people just for the colour of their skin (and blaming our ancestors for THEIR ACTIONS) is a huge problem. You know, belittling people just for the colour of their skin is called... you know.. umm.. like Racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/40	2.5
The Black on White murder rate is 10X the White on Black rate. There is no such thing as "People of Color", that false racial dictomy is a dead give away that you are a neo-racist cultural/racial Marxist.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/38	5.263

Im white, I have no special opportunities. Its a complex situation, you seem to overlook that. Financial status, history with, the people whom founded this country...would be the reason for white people status in wealth. They have been here longer. Blacks and other races are on the up swing in financial status. Would you say there are more or less successful blacks, on a percentage, now than there were 10 years ago. If you say less, you are blind to reality. Notice the wealth gap, its growing. Wealthy whites and white people in general are two completely different subjects, white people in general are becoming more and more in poverty, just as everyone else, as whites...and even other races with wealth and connection ate on an upswing. The fact that the majority of the wealthy are whites is testament to....white people founding the country and have lived here longer than any other race ....??	Blind, Race	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/153	1.307
WethePeople. Actually, you don't even know me, so how do you know what i am or am not, exactly? And no, I don't play into the victim mentality, blaming everyone for my shortcomings. The hard, cold fact is, when parents raise a child correctly and make them do their school work and be over-achievers, race is irrelevant, your child will be successful. We don't have a racial issue, we have cultural issues. Asian's have done an excellent job proving that as factual. They have excellent cultural on average, they make their kids be over-achievers in school and they have a high success rate even though they are one of the smallest minority groups in America. Please do explain how they manage to make it in a mythical 'racist system'. Hell, they do better than white's in colleges and universities. When you observe the success of Asian's in the US, your whole 'minorities are oppressed' theory goes out the window, which is exactly why these SJW mindset people love to ignore these facts.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/172	0.581
Crimadella Phone You're racist . .	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/6	16.667
white people experience bigotry but racism is systematic,which does not affect whites to a degree because it was constructed to benefit them originally	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/23	4.348
Peyton N "You whites"? Peyton N, your little bit of racist being came out. How do expect any Caucasian people to read what you typed and take you seriously? How can you expect Caucasian people to want to listen, read, or consider what African North Americans have to say, iterate or communicate, when it starts with "you whites". You don't have to answer Peyton N, as this is more a statement about your YouTube comment. Besides, I won't be returning to this commentary, why would I. Good luck! :)	African, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/89	2.247

Thank you for the playlist! I love that you have provided to us a starting point to further intelligent more well informed discourse. Opening up a topic like racism on YouTube does not often lead to meaningful discussions in the comments, but I think that providing this playlist is a great way to encourage people to explore the issue further.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/60	1.667
I have to disagree with this. There seems to be an ever growing trend among minorities and leftists to drive home the supposed disparities and " racism " in America. Have any one of you guys stopped to understand why these phenomenon are happening besides "whites are racists"? Could it be that the bias for whites in this country is because whites make up the majority. and the poor state of black Americans is because their own actions which cause white bias against them?It funny when blacks and leftist remove the agency of blacks. As if portraying them infantile and in a bad state and the only people who can save them is essential whites because it was whites who put blacks in this state would improve anything. Maybe we have to accept the fact that no amount of forcing whites to show good will on blacks (no matter who they are) and no amount of social engineering will ultimately help blacks improve.Maybe it's our obsession with "racial equality" that's part of the problem.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/174	1.149
Racism exists still in this country unlike what many people may think but you all need to know that it isnt just the white people that are doing it. This disease is seeping out of every pore in our communities but most don't see it because it isn't the outright racism you might expect i.e KKK, Black Panthers etc. It is the store clerk following the black guy down an isle watching while he shops, but not doing the same for other races type of racism .	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/86	5.814
Wow, it's videos like these when I really miss YouTube's old commenting algorithm. Now even Vlogbrothers comment sections seem like they're full of racist trolls.	Old, Racist	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - General	2/25	8.0

Okay, All White People, go "home" to Europe, where you're likely to get free health care, free college education, and hundreds of years of cultural depth and a couple World Wars. Sure, Russian heritage won't get you the exact same perks as Italian heritage as British heritage as Swedish heritage, but they're still Perks.All Black People go "home" to Africa, where you're likely to get malaria, ebola, and child soldiers Sure, .BaKongo (Congo) heritage won't get you the same diseases as Baoule (Liberia) heritage as Yoruba heritage (Nigeria, actually pretty cool) as Ewe (Gold Coast) heritage, but it's still likely to be more unpleasant than where you're living now. No? Then STFU. Your nice nails, car, child support, hands (Not kidding. See Congo), all of that is courtesy of African tribes selling your ancestors to white traders. Those African tribes' children have life expediencies in their 50s. You have it in the 70s. Please for the love of all that is sane, you have no idea how lucky you are.	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/171	1.754
Lucky? Your peers destroyed a whole continent, robbed what was not theirs, destroyed traditions, enslaved to make sure you live the life you live now. Not only Bad karma is in your bloodline, but it became your curse. All you're complaining about right now: Black people on your back, with only the word 'racism' in their mouth,is only the beginning	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/60	1.667
and "Those African tribes' children have life expediencies in their 50s" bitch please, How many hundred-years-olds+ you can count in your city, let alone your whole country? My grandmother lived 106years, i don't count the neighbours and villages nearby. Your western medecine is so young, you compare it with millenium of knowledge in Africa, let alone the whole world(India: Ayurvedic, ect) My advice is you open an history book about your country, and understand clearly what it says. With that you'll understand the value of silence. When you don't know, it is better to shut up	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/96	1.042
i want to say racism , but, the japanese point of view doesn't need a explanation, its numbers, and the ways to destroy racism , ways to help in people with low resources, or(and) races	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/33	6.061

i like how John gives all these facts but some ppl on here are still disagreeing. Its hard to change ppl's core beliefs and willful blindness. You can't say 'well i watch COPS so i know how those ppl are'. It comes across as, and is, idiotic to claim. I love that john and hank always look to educate us all on current issues, my thoughts with this one is like some other issues they speak on is that were gonna have plenty of those who are secure in their ignorance and flat out deny the stance. I have no wish to discuss issues with those plugging their ears because then that wouldn't be a conversation. It'd be nice to talk about real issue's without ppl feeling personally offended by facts. I'll say this, my experience of growing up in the projects gave me a great dislike for police, seeing them rob and assault neighbor's, and even pulling a gun on me when i was 7 while i was out playing with water guns with my friends. i won't say nobody sold drugs in my projects but its still no reason to beat teenage boys half to death. Saying all this i know there are good cops out there, my recently deceased uncle was one. I could teach my son that cops are assholes or they're saviors but i don't preach either. We walk the city and i let him see ppl with his own eyes and let him come to his own conclusions. He knows right and wrong and nobody "denying" his experience will hold weight with him. A little all over the place, not my best sentence writing. Didn't mean to rant exactly, oh well. Peace to all.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	2/290	0.69
I don't understand how people could just not believe racism exists!	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/11	9.091
Yes, there is actually systemic racism against whites in the US.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/11	9.091
I know it's your format but addressing all your points to Hank makes it sound like you're calling him out for being a racist .	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/24	4.167
Getting a lesson on racism by the whitest white dude in America. Priceless.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/13	7.692
Racism is about having the power to effect someone's well being socially or economically and unfortunately black people have very little in America.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/23	8.696
John is you keep pulling on your hair you may go Bald faster then normal..JUST SAYIN	Bald	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/16	6.25

every once in a while i get taken aback from how seriously ignorant comment sections can be. this in one of those days. the pseudo intellectual hyper racist comments here just slay me with their sheer stupidity.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/37	2.703
I find it funny how racism is only applied to minorities. For example, it is completely legal to create all colored churches and colleges without anyone batting an eye, but as soon as a white person makes an all white church or college it is automatically racism . I understand that it is because of white supremacy, but I feel that this is causing colored people to willing separate themselves from the white majority.	Colored, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/73	5.479
Of human ignorance I am almost in despairFor racism is around me everywhere But like they say sheer ignorance is blissNow stop being racist or I'll hit you with my fist!	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/33	6.061
Some real nasty people crawling out from the woodwork to cry out "not all white people" and "but what about reverse racism " and i'm just sitting here smh. How can people just watch a video like this and only be able to think "oh, but golly gee, this hurts my fragile feelings so it must have flaws". You can just tell that most people commenting didn't even bother to click any of the other links or even tried to gain a better understanding. they want to be able to claim ignorance so that when they say super racist stuff they can't be blamed.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/103	1.942
Sure, we should have as many values as we can. Wanting to help black people, wanting to help white people, the more the merrier. I think those two values should complement each other rather than go against each other, since they both come from empathy. Unfortunately, some people might use issues for white people as an excuse to not think about issues for other people. And others might use the issues for black people to become angry about a white person's problems rather than empathetic towards them. I think as long as we always try to look at things with empathy, we will be able to identify a person's problems without it turning into an "us vs them" mentality :)	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/120	1.667
We won't even begin to fight this newer, more insidious racism until whites/those in power realize that being prejudiced does not make them evil. We tend to think of racism in terms of the KKK and lynching (and not saying those aren't still big problems), not in terms of feeling 'unsafe' when there is a black man walking behind you on the sidewalk. We commit hundreds of tiny acts of racism , even (and maybe especially) when we don't mean to.It is something that can be overcome when we are aware of it, but as long as being ' racist ' is one of the worst things some people think they could be accused of that awareness will be slow to come. I'm not saying the label isn't accurate, or that we should stop using it. I'm saying that maybe we should call the words/actions racist rather than the person.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/148	3.378

What I think the comments reflect is the global nature of the Intenet, Racism in the United States appears to be a lot worse than here in the UK, thats not to say that racism doesn't exist here, it certainly does, but I do feel that a lot of the inequalities, particularly in job opportunities are a result of class inequality rather than exclusively race, as class inequality is a serious issue here. Children raised in poorer families are typically not expected to acheive as much as those raised in wealthier families, and the vast majority of those are white, you are much better off being born to a middle class black family than a poor white family.In response to the study conducted by the university of chicago, I would expect that you would see a similar result if you compared more 'working class white names' such as Cheryl or Tyler (no offence if you have those names) to less working class names like Eleanor or James. I accept that in a 4 minute video, it's impossible to discuss everything relating to racial inequality, but, Socio-economic class inequality is such an important issue that it can't be ignored when discussing any form of social injustice.	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/206	1.942
kingofprussia17 Please read the links John gave. Please rewatch the video. Please educate yourself on what white privilege means and how it is not a personal insult but an institutional reality. Please learn the difference between racism and prejudice, between dislike and oppression.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/43	2.326
elwynbrooks Yea, I'm the one that needs to be educated when more people are racist towards whites then anyone else and blame everything on us. You need to be educated by something then the totaltarian liberal propaganda taught at school these days.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/42	2.381
Please learn the difference between racism and prejudice.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/8	12.5
elwynbrooks I think this person just hit the nail on the head, in regards to racism as a whole. Differing definitions of these two terms is probably what fuels the entire debate in the US.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/35	2.857
ELD So true! Racism is seeing one, a few or most races and or ethnicites as below or inferior to ones own race or ethnicity based on an internalized, taught or fear based hate.Prejudice on the other hand, is seeing or judging someone in an unfair way or light based off little to no experience or interaction with that person, race or ethnicity. Just a brief explanation, but true non the less.	Ethnicity, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	5/73	6.849
elwynbrooks Um... racism and prejudice are very related... racism is a prejudice against someone's skin tone...	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/16	12.5

Cruz Nunez Increasingly in conversations regarding social issues, racism is defined as prejudice against race backed by institutional power (i.e. institutional advantages as outlined in this very video).Prejudice is absolutely required for racism and is also a terrible thing, but racism is an uglier beast because it can damage more than just feelings. It damages lives and entire communities because the privileged have the power to actually "make good" on their prejudices.Does that make sense?	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	4/77	5.195
But... racism is still a form of prejudice. Just like sexism , ageism , whatever. Although, I admit, racism seems to be much more... popular, for lack of a better word. And destructive. But it still goes under the category of a "prejudice".	Ageism, Racism, Sexism	Age - General, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	4/41	9.756
Cruz Nunez Yes, that's correct. Racism is a specific subset of prejudice against people based on skin colour that is especially damaging because it also means that there is institutional power supporting the prejudice.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/34	2.941
I think learning more about racism and getting educated on social issues is definitely one of the firsts steps toward turning the :( into a :) though, thank you for listening!	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/31	3.226
elwynbrooks No, 'institutional' powers are not required to support ethnicity-based prejudices, one must simply have a mind. You seem to be referring to other dynamics that may be produced as a result of racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/34	2.941
Arachnoscribe Hey bud, this is treading the same ground as before. Unfortunately, if you don't wrap your head around racial prejudice + institutional power = racism , we aren't going to be able to speak very meaningfully about this.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/38	2.632
Arachnoscribe I'm not sure you're quite understanding what I'm getting at, and I've got to admit I'm having trouble figuring out what it is that you're trying to get at, as well. Racism , in this discussion and as explained by both John and myself, is when racial prejudice is supported by systematic power.That's the definition we are speaking from, so if you don't feel like that's a definition you can agree with, then fundamentally there's nothing we can really discuss.I'm unsure what you mean by combining dynamics and bringing the discussion "into the 21st century". While there past certainly informs the discussion, we are speaking about modern issues of racism and oppression.	Nothing, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	3/114	2.632
elwynbrooks Simply, I understand and disagree. While you might be discussing racism and oppression as you perceive them, combining them into a single concept is a practice adopted many decades ago as a sociopolitical maneuver with a very limited scope. If you believe that you're making progress with your narrative, I sincerely question your objective.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/55	1.818

ArachnoscribeI think I'm getting why this conversation is always so difficult to have. These are totally different reality structures at war with each other. Of course elwynbrooks thinks she is right about this and you do too.I happen to fall more on elwyn's side but I can see your side as well. This is a difficult moment in time to live in. The shift is starting to become threatening. Are today's progressive activists attempting to create equality or a new supremacy? Your question of objectives is relevant here. Exactly what are the objectives of people that are trying to combine racism with institutional oppression as dual factors in our current state of inequality?For the people combining those ideas, the connection seems obvious. I admit, it seems obvious to me as well.But you don't think so. You either dismiss its obviousness or you think something else is at work.In my opinion, the work isn't done. If our objective is to create a society that is equal, that hasn't been achieved yet. We still have some distance to go. What John talks about in the video is some of the reasons why.Do you have other reasons? Is it that you believe there are no institutional/ideological structures preventing equality? Is it already equal systemically but we will just need time to catch up?I'm extremely distrustful of systems. They are creations. None have functioned perfectly for the needs of all. In order to improve we need to keep looking for where systems fail.But I'm deeply intrigued by your thoughts on this. Are we there? Or is there more to do?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/274	0.365
---	--------	---------------------	-------	-------

Cadwell Turnbull Thank you for responding courteously (which isn't a negative personal implication, but one of refreshment).I understand the stated objectives, but remain guarded as their strategy contains no small measure of deception. (We can hardly have an honest national discussion regarding racism while some insist upon conflating very different and important concepts.)It's obvious that everyone is capable of racism (according to the most widely-accepted set of definitions), and it's important to establish our inherent propensities for benevolence and malevolence as being equal. In my opinion, the majority of our white citizens aren't concerned about ethnic elements as they go about their daily lives – until someone points out that they're being racist for breathing. It's a good way to start a brawl instead of a constructive dialogue...We can (and should) go through the various elements that comprise hiring practices and other things associated with (privilege, oppression, pick an article of contention), but dismissing the responses of a given camp is a reprehensible practice.Even if we (as a culture, or even species) removed all ethnic disparities from the equation, we would merely direct our competitions along other distinctions. We're human, it's what we do.Many of us are beyond weary of the political end-arounds that are convenient when conducting large-scale social experiments.As far as I'm concerned, those days are gone and attempts to revive them will lead to war.	Ethnic, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	5/234	2.137
--	------------------------	---------------------	-------	-------

ArachnoscribeI agree with you that dismissal is a really bad approach. I do think, however, that many minorities feel dismissed. The burden of proof is on them to legitimize real systemic injustices. When they are dismissed they dismiss the dismisser, which may not be the best approach, but is understandable considering.It is also understandable when white people feel victimized when minorities say they are part of/perpetuating a racist system. Even if we don't think about what we are doing in regards to (insert political issue) it doesn't change the fact, however, that our actions and behaviors are causing them or maintaining them. Oppression isn't always an active process. It can be passive as long as social ideology allows for it to exist de facto.Many minorities with the ability to argue this fact will assure people that they are critiquing systems and our conscious/unconscious maintenance of those systems. Sometimes passions lead to blaming people.But it is my opinion that we all share responsibility for these things. Even minorities. None of this is happening in a vacuum.Your perspective is reasonable and I thank you for sharing it in such an intelligent way. As far as I can see, I agree with you.But I also agree with others on this that say these things intersect. I think they do. Racism and systemic oppression intersect. They are both cause and effect of each other.I don't think we can move forward and have real change until we can be honest about all the ways our laws and practices do harm. Instead of blaming, maybe we can work on better practices. But that won't happen if each side chooses to dismiss the other.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/284	0.704
Cadwell Turnbull "When they are dismissed they dismiss the dismisser, which may not be the best approach, but is understandable considering." You're right, that's not the best approach, but understanding something doesn't imply compliance or even grace.If we are going to discuss oppression, we should address elements on a case-by-case basis without referring to conceptual metaphysics.By allowing an ongoing narrative of objectively unprovable dynamics to go relatively unchallenged, the discussion often devolves into an unreasonable bout of demands.(The dismissal of irrational or unreasonable demands is often perceived as unfair...)Racism, an internalized or expressed form of antipathy based upon apparent ethnicity and (actively or passively) directed towards a person or group, needn't be caused by or result in oppression.We do agree on many things.Thank you, and you're welcome. 8)	Ethnicity, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/134	1.493

Arachnoscribe I'm not sure I agree with address things on a case-by-case basis – in my view these things are very interconnected and that we'd be a little remiss if we weren't cognizant of how these issues inform each other while we discuss or work to eradicate them.What you're calling racism currently is what I would define as racial prejudice. If we don't agree on the definition, there's not much I can say about that.Allow me to submit, however, that we do need some word when we want to talk about the interplay of systemic oppression and racial discrimination, since it exists and, I think, warrants discussion.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/109	0.917
elwynbrooks modified:The term 'racism' is used to denote a range of internalized or expressed antipathy-based dynamics that are centered around apparent ethnicity and (actively or passively) directed towards a person or group.	Ethnicity	Ethnicity - General	1/33	3.03
ArachnoscribeI understand your perspective. And you are right, we do agree on some things.However, like elwyn (and sociologists who study this), I believe that discrimination and oppression has been shown to be systematized. This is apparent to those who see it. There could have been no enslavement without a system (both ideological and physical) that devalued humans to that status. In the same way, discrimination may be individual but can also be a part of a larger system of discrimination. Jim Crow is representative of this. The prison industrial complex is representative of this. Systems exist. Some positive and some harmful. If we can conceive of governmental systems then social systems are not a stretch. They exist and are observable. A person can look at things within context. This is good. But observing micro contexts does not refute the existence of macro contexts.If the point of this conversation is to reach a conclusion on where we align, then I think we've found it. If it is also to discover our disalignments, then I think that has been accomplished as well. It may not be possible to convince you further than where you stand.Still though, it is important in these discussions to acknowledge subjectivity. Perhaps the conversation shouldn't be who is right. Perhaps it may be better to allow different conceptions of the world to exist simultaneously. It is unlikely that you will convince an entire population of oppressed people that systemic oppression doesn't exist. It might be better to accept that this is a fact of the world and leave the discussion of such issues to those inclined to them.I think it is a mistake that we believe everyone has to unanimously agree on a thing in order for it to be legitimate to some. Some people, because of their beliefs, simply will not, can not, acknowledge some things. We should not require anyone to give that up for the sake of an objective/absolute truth we have yet to prove. We simply can acknowledge difference and move forward.	Crow, Jim Crow	Ethnicity - Black	2/343	0.583

Cadwell Turnbull *cheerful smileWe are in agreement that this subject is viewed through subjective lenses, and attempts to standardize perceptions is a bootless errand.You're right – a consensus needn't be reached in order for people to adopt a certain perspective, which is an underlying theme throughout our conversation. (That's one of the reasons why I came up with a definition that didn't automatically exclude segments of our population on the basis of ethnicity .)I'd like to pick this up tomorrow if we could...Take care, and thanks again. 8)	Ethnicity	Ethnicity - General	1/91	1.099
--	-----------	---------------------	------	-------

ArachnoscribeGood morning, friend.Thanks for taking the time to respond back to me.Science is an invention and more than anything it is a set of standards/approaches used to discover "truths" about the world. Social science is useful when it comes to looking at and discovering things about society. How it works. How it maintains itself. And what unsavory/unexpected byproducts come out of societal systems.I think the scientific method is very useful when we look at how societies should function for the benefit of the most people (though that shouldn't be the only consideration). This might be another difference of ours. I don't see activism disguising itself as science. I see it as using the scientific method to point to/discover the failings of systems. If we say A, but results show B, then we have something to think about/look at. If we want equality but when our institutions are tested with the scientific method and shown to not be equal and we can see the reasons why that might be, then it is something worth looking at.The scientific method, though repurposed to be as efficient as possible, has existed since forever. Monkeys do it. You test the world and the most favorable result, you adopt. We conceptualized it to fit our ideals, but it too can be stretched to meet other purposes. Come up with a hypothesis. Test it. See where the results lead. Analyze them. Make conclusions. Scientific disciplines have used this approach to revise its own ideas since its inception. Why should this be different for activism or any other human endeavor with real human impact? And why can this not be "scientific."Of course I am biased, being that I am a member of the social sciences and consider myself an activist. I just don't see those things as needing to be separate. They feed into each other. Just like a physicists passions and ambitions for himself and the world play into his study of physics. Again, we reach another perceptive difference.I will say this too. I agree with creating alternatives. That is my personal mission as well. But while you choose not to measure which camp is less malignant, I choose to be a part of that conversation and move passed conversations of malignancy and towards collective benefit. It is not a war tactic for me, but one for establishing peace. I'm very passionate about it and deeply invested in it, I must admit, since I am black and have experienced many of these systemic inequalities. What I wish is to change conceptions or expand them as much as possible so that all people can live peaceably and according to their needs. Part of that is creating alternatives (something I explore constantly) and the other part is being critical about the culture and society I currently inhabit. These two efforts culminate in activism.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/481	0.208
---	-------	-------------------	-------	-------

Cadwell Turnbull Hello again...It would be awkward to repeatedly explain my continuity lapses, so I just wanted to clarify... I had a CVA (cerebrovascular accident) a few years ago which affected several regions of my brain (reducing my ability to separate thoughts, retain short-term memories and causing other inconveniences).At any rate, the subject that came to mind tonight is the perpetuation of narratives that limit the scope of racism. I know we've covered that already, but I wanted to throw something out there...So many African Americans (pick a synonym) seem to be convinced that they are incapable of racism. They often cite variations of the formula Racism=Oppression+Prejudice (which we've also covered) as justification...(Am I correct in believing that the aforementioned is a reference to whites?)I submit that by suggesting non-white people are incapable of generating certain sets of thoughts and/or actions which have helped to define our species* (as stated ad nauseam in countless settings), one possible conclusion is that only white people are fully human. (I'm sure that's not the intention, but it's certainly logical.)*Some activists are adamant about proclaiming that you and I are not of the same species. (an observation)	African, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/199	1.508
--	-----------------	---	-------	-------

ArachnoscribeI am very sorry to hear about your accident. It sounds like it would be extremely difficult to deal with. I've found your arguments quite clear actually, but I appreciate you sharing that with me. Please, come back to the conversation when you are most able.I'd like you to elaborate on the following though:"As someone who studies the reactions of those who aren't activists but are exposed to (what they perceive to be) unusual practices, I have become invested in bridging the gap. Unfortunately, many of our citizens circled their wagons in 2014 – and their wagons are unlikely to move again. (While it's true they'll just die eventually, that's hardly comforting.) It's an interesting development."I'm not one of those people that believe minorities can't be racist. The situation is way too complicated to make such a statement. Prejudice is not unique to dominant peoples. It is a human quality.However, I do believe that power imbalances do affect the amount of harm that prejudice can inflict. That is a different thing altogether.To elaborate further. I think it is racist to say white people are evil. However, it is not racist to say that white culture dominates. Or that we live in a white supremacist society. Often in media discussions I hear people say that to even bring up racial inequalities is racist or to point to systems of oppression. That to me implies that racism="talking about race relations" when that is not what I believe it means at all. Being color-blind is ingenuous and works to mask the way color still affects our society. A better state of affairs would be to acknowledge difference while acknowledging the basic humanity of other people. We are all humans; we just have different experiences of the world.I like to tell people that they should assume that people are people. This may seem redundant, but for me, it helps alleviate racist thinking if applied properly. If there is a crime in a certain area, it might be good to ask the right questions about environment and social situations. When people in the media say that the problem is black crime, I believe that this comes from a fundamental assumption that black people aren't people. Crime has causes; it isn't the cause itself. To say that assumes that black people just want to commit crime in a way that isn't true of other people. Sociologists have studied and found that crime is usually a result of resource problems (lack of or unequal access to resources). That isn't to say that ideology doesn't affect this, but even ideology is contextualized. Human beings, just like everything else in the universe, respond to stimuli, whether internal or external. We could assume that there is something fundamentally different in black brains, but science has yet to show that, and it begs the question: why would we want to make that assumption? Better to assume people are people and address resource inequalities.I think the same applies to what you are saying. If white people can be racist, all people can be racist.	Black, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	12/520	2.308
---	---------------------	--	--------	-------

Cadwell Turnbull (Thanks... It's good to know that I can once again share thoughts, at least on 'paper', without coming across as broken.)In reference to, "As someone who studies the reactions of those who aren't activists but are exposed to (what they perceive to be) unusual practices, I have become invested in bridging the gap. Unfortunately, many of our citizens circled their wagons in 2014 – and their wagons are unlikely to move again. (While it's true they'll just die eventually, that's hardly comforting.) It's an interesting development."I've always been interested in studying human behaviors, particularly regarding conflicts but not in accordance with established institutions. I was born in a large, well-known Arabic city/nation then moved around... a lot. My early life centered around Vietnam and the Cold War, which helped to sculpt my predilection for viewing things in military terms.I cannot speak for an entire generation, but I do know what it's been like to spend a lifetime trying to compensate (voluntarily and otherwise) for past sins. I've yet to gather enough data to absolutely confirm my hypothesis, but a fundamental shift seems to have occurred within a large amount of white social hubs... beginning in 2014. The contract of compensation, for many, has been broken. I will not work to mend the break, choosing instead to show others how to vehemently oppose social engineering initiatives spearheaded by academia. (I must admit that nearly everyone in my ever-expanding circle was already on the same page, somehow reaching it simultaneously.)So much of the resources that we (GenX/Boomers) poured into impoverished black communities was used to forge corrupt political empires... and for many, the well has run dry. So here we are... (I'd like to run an experiment, with you and I as simplified archetypes of our camps.)Thanks again, and be well...P.S. It's good to know we both believe that people are people. 8)	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/319	0.313
---	-------	-------------------	-------	-------

ArachnoscribeI am not particularly confident that I will sway your perspective with this, but I will speak honestly about what I think is happening in our world. I could be wrong. And you could be right. Or vice versa. I do believe, however, that we may both be a little bit right. It is my humble opinion that society is shifting. It may have always been doing this. It may not be significantly more than in the past. But what we are seeing is educated people taking to the interwebs and speaking into cavernous chambers of society: "we want equality." We are seeing more critical thought about race, gender, orientation, and a million other issues that we never saw in the past. Critical eyes have been focused on the way we treat society's poor and the need for poverty generally. "Progressives" as you might call them want equal treatment of gay people, minorities, queer peoples, people with different religions or creeds. Fairness and the realization that people are people and that by the very act of being present in our society should have certain rights. I love all of this. When people say social justice warriors aren't allowed or I witness the venom of bigoted people on the internet, I see this as either a death rattle (that world is shrinking more and more) or an ideological war playing out among human beings. You already know where I align. But among the ever growing "over-educated" you see a criticality burgeoning, not just toward these ideologies of our past that justified so many atrocities, but towards the ideologies of our present, that are so complex that they require measured and sustained thought. Among these young people, no institution is safe from scrutiny. That includes academia. "Social justice warriors" as you call them are passionate about such causes and can be rabid. This can be alienating. And it no doubt has stifled important conversation that we aren't having. That overzealousness is a human trait. It is problematic and should be challenged. We should do better when it comes to talking about this things. I do believe that this is the lesser of two evils. An evil still (in a loose sense of the word since I don't really believe in simple binaries). Our systems of inequality and oppression have a deeper toll on human life than overzealous social justice warriors. And I find it dubious that "social justice" has become a bad word. Justice is a good and social justice is a wonder that should be reached for. How we do this is a better conversation to be had. Activists are not bad people. That said, I do agree that the way we've been talking about things isn't helping. But that is not because I think that activism is bad or that social justice warring is such a terrible thing. I just believe that too easily we cross the line from empathic criticality to rabid ideology. We must always question, even ourselves, because there is no road map, and we will fall if we aren't watchful. There is zeal on both sides, my friend. And we all think we're righteous. This is our mistake. We can do better for ourselves and others if we take care to be considerate and empathetic. But we can't move in any direction too aggressively or people will get trampled. There is a balance. In our urgency we forget to question ourselves. We forget to watch our feet.	Gay, Gender, Queer, Race	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General, Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	6/582	1.031
---	--------------------------	---	-------	-------

ArachnoscribeI will be honest with you. Totally honest in fact. I truly believe that every person on this planet should have equal access to education, food, shelter, healthcare, and clothing. I think these things should just be afforded at birth. I think meritocracies are just as problematic as racist/classist societal structures. If we are human beings and we believe in treating people well, people should have these things. It is our job to figure out how. Government shouldn't be by force. People should have choice. Which also means we should try to not force people into doing certain things with their own lives. We should give them as much agency and autonomy as possible. It is our job to figure out how. And we shouldn't base how we live and care for each other on the worst possible circumstance. We should be cautious, sure. We should be prepared. But we should treat people well, regardless of what horrible things we may imagine. It our job to figure out how. We should learn from our bad. We should be honest with ourselves when we fuck up. When people do bad things we should learn from that too. We shouldn't hide from the darker aspects of the human race . It should be learning material. It our job to figure out how. One day I hope we can figure out how to let humans live life through their multiple perspectives. That we can be at peace with diversity and that we don't need to oppress other people in order to live good lives according to our wishes. This is very utopian/idealistic. And we may not get all the way there. But it is our job to move closer to that goal. Because it is a beneficial one. I'm saying all of this to offer a simple version of my perspective. I believe in this devoutly. It is near religious. From this foundation you'll be able to understand most of my thinking. I figure this is the most direct way to understanding me and where my opinions will fall. I'd like to know yours too, if you are willing to share.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/358	0.279
---	------	---------------------	-------	-------

Cadwell Turnbull *chuckle(We do not view these things in quite the same manner, which is understandable.)I don't believe for a moment that the ongoing conversations regarding important issues (social or otherwise) are indicative of an increase in critical thinking, although many are absolutely convinced that things are somehow different. (I get that...)I also understand your positions, as stated, quite clearly. I don't consider your ideas to be progressive, but rather as old concepts with varying degrees of usefulness. We both seem to have a propensity for stating the obvious.I commend you for pursuing your objectives.I've been debating the value of presenting you with expansions of my earlier statements. So much is predicated upon decades of rabidly dissecting concepts in an attempt to strip away modernity... I don't have a naturally anthropocentric outlook and must rely upon an ever-dwindling set of abstract reserves.Hmm... Would you mind narrowing the scope of the conversation to one specific topic per session? That would be helpful.Cheers... 8)	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/169	0.592
Cadwell Turnbull We're not all preaching the same things, and sometimes what we want (or say we want) isn't of universal appeal...In my opinion, what now passes for critical thinking is often a thinly-veiled attempt to seek personal relevance. (I grew up around Gen X, and skepticism was a prerequisite.)What, do you believe, is the primary motivation for many African Americans to vote according to ethnicity ?	African, Ethnicity	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/68	2.941

ArachnoscribeTrue, we don't all believe or preach the same things. And not all things are of universal appeal (though I feel like the five human needs (healthcare, food, etc.) should be afforded to all people). Because we cannot claim universality I am a proponent of panarchy. If we can't all agree why not shoot for peaceable diversity.I don't agree that this is what critical thinking is largely because it isn't the reason I critically think. I'm optimistic so let's just put this in the different dispositions category. We won't be able to go into the minds of other people to prove in either direction.As to your question, I think there's a few answers to this.I think a lot of black people would vote for a black candidate because they've never seen a black candidate before (for the president anyway). This, I think, is perfectly reasonable.Also, a black candidate would likely be a democrat (with some notable exceptions) and they would vote for someone who would be aligned with their worldview. A black candidate would likely align more than another.But this, I feel, is a complicated question. You are asking about a people that have never (until recently) seen a black candidate in office. White voters have seen whites in office since forever and this was in part due to black voters voting for those candidates. Why then is it not an issue when a black voter votes for a white candidate, but it is if they vote for a black one.A better question: why is it not questioned when white voters vote for white candidates?This is an altogether sticky issue. It is difficult to untangle people's motives. But even if a black person votes for a black candidate simply due to their blackness, we have to take into account that this isn't happening in a vacuum. Under-represented groups will likely vote for those that represent their groups, the same way dominants have historically done. But this is due to power inequalities that affect both sides and affect the judgments of both groups.I'd love if people voted according to other reasons. But honestly, when it comes to politics, there isn't much else to go on here. It is basically a popularity contest based on unproven promises. Presentation rules. The two-party system only provides the illusion of choices. There is so much wrong with the system as it stands, that the question of why blacks would vote for blacks is not even close to the most interesting question.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	11/425	2.588
--	-------	-------------------	--------	-------

Cadwell Turnbull We agree that the basics for those living in agrarian cultures are important, and I believe we disagree on the specific methods of provision.Options for panarchy, if provided at this very moment, could result in a revised Confederacy (or similar coalition) with global alliances. The remainder of America (or whatever it would be called after the breakup) might be looking forward to military occupation or, at the very least, versions of siege warfare on an unprecedented scale in the Americas.There have been black politicians in this country for quite some time... It's difficult to believe that the novelty is still appealing.(It should somehow be passed along that a world existed before the founding of Philadelphia, and an accurate and unbiased portrayal of that world is paramount.)When it starts to become a modern trend for white people to vote for candidates primarily on the basis of apparent ethnicity, I will be the first in line to kick some ass. Until then, I will underscore the tendency (based upon verifiable statistics) for African Americans to champion members of 'the home team' even if the results are catastrophic.There is an historically gargantuan amount of political considerations to digest at this time, and popularity contests are cringeworthy. I have noticed a tendency for many to disregard policies (including statutes, which are available to anyone with even the most primitive data connection) in favor of ideals with no legal or practical basis.(I wasn't going for interesting. I don't care what others might consider to be appropriate for that genre, but... surely you must admit that this topic is important as we move closer to 2016.)	African, Black, Ethnicity	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/278	1.079
--	---------------------------	---	-------	-------

Arachnoscribe	Black politicians are rare outside of black communities.How we define "catastrophic" might be different. Plus, I find politics, white or black , to be equally horrible.Questions of home-teamship don't arise with white voters. Why is that? It could be said that they've been voting for their home-team since the dawn of the republic. Most of that time it was due to blacks not being able to run for office. And then not being able to vote. This issue of home teams could only be considered if we disregarded history. Since I don't, I find it difficult to understand the relevance of it.Voting for your home team makes perfect sense to me in the oppressive society we live in. It goes beyond novelty. We don't live in a society where pure merit is the basis for most things. And opportunity isn't evenly distributed. Thus, people would likely vote for the person that looks like them especially if their needs are underrepresented (and historically when their people are over-represented).So I remain unconvinced that home-teaming is the source of the problem. Inequality seems a more likely explanation.As for panarchy, my views are a bit more nuanced than I've highlighted. I don't believe panarchy can or even would happen from above. It would happen from the bottom up. It would be change from below. We'd have to work our way towards that in our collective consciousness. Because of this, I'm not confident it will be so in my life time.However, panarchy as a basis for grassroots work and radical thinking, that is well within reach. Movements could be panarchic. Companies could as well. All sorts of things could be panarchic without requiring the nations to be the originator of that change. That kind of change from above would be against panarchist principles. Truly change should happen in the every day lives of human beings.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/316	0.949
---------------	--	-------	-------------------	-------	-------

Cadwell Turnbull *sighI am pantheistic (in my own ways), and my perception of reality stems from the core belief that nothing is no more or less sacred than the next. (I do not believe in anthropomorphic deities or centralized nodes of divinity.)I believe that everything is part of a web... a matrix of energy moving inexorably towards other states of being. I view our species as something of almost unimaginable brevity, and believe that quests for personal relevance are hardly more than masturbation.We both invested a bit of ourselves in this exchange, and that alone is praiseworthy. With that in mind, I look like someone who belongs on a set for 'Game of Thrones' – hard and somehow anachronistic. In all likelihood, I will only live for another decade (due to a host of cardiovascular concerns). Did I mention that I learned how to place a .30-06 round consistently on a matchbox-sized target at 250 yards by the time I was 6-years-old? Or that my band opened for the Skatalites? (If you're unfamiliar with the group, I recommend a detailed examination.)If I had only one thing to impart, I'd ask that you never underestimate those who are routinely marginalized by academia.Thanks again... 8)	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/208	0.481
---	---------	---------------------	-------	-------

ArachnoscribeI didn't ask the question I did as a conversation ender. I was just a bit curious about your intentions. If an even franker conversation about race could be had I'd like to have it. I just wanted to know what you truly think about blacks (outside of them being capable of racism or voting for their own home-team). If that is all, then my question was unwarranted.I would say I'm an agnostic pantheist when it comes to my beliefs about divinity. I don't believe in any religious creed, but I am curious about universal mysteries. I would also say I'm an anarchic panarchist. I believe people should have the choice to govern themselves or choose their own government and that process shouldn't involve force. This is more of a principle that governs my life than an expectation of the world (yet). Our social technologies are woefully archaic when compared to what we've managed with our physical technologies. We don't think as society as a technology, but it is. It is in need of a great deal of advancement.I listen to all sorts of music but I would say that my knowledge is still quite limited. I'd love to check out Skatalites at your suggestion.Academia is quite marginalizing. It is actually one of the points of the thesis I'm currently working on. I don't know if I will spend the rest of my life in academia. I'm quite ambivalent at the moment. All I know, is despite its flaws, I've met great people engaged with thinking and talking about the world and I love that part. But I do sympathize. Deeply. It has been my experience as well.It has been great talking to you. A truly great experience, which seldom happens in youtube comments. I hope you have many more years/decades on this earth, though I know how cruel life can be. Still, I hope you do.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/322	0.621
ArachnoscribeThey weren't rhetorical. I was trying to be more direct to get at the intent behind the question: why do blacks vote for their home team?--and more generally at the thought process (about black people) that inspired the question.I guess I wasn't direct enough. I probably should have asked: hat exactly do you think of black people?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/59	3.39
Cadwell Turnbull My intention was to gain insight and to discover any potential gaps in my analysis. Direct, and inspired by a range of subjects within political chatter throughout the webs, journalism and activism. Black people are humans, and as such are prone to no more or less than anyone else. (We covered this already, so I must be interpreting the question in a manner that doesn't address your objective.)	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/70	1.429

ArachnoscribeOkay, to be even more direct. You asked why black people vote along ethnic lines. What do you believe to be the reason? And how is that different than what other people would do within that same context? Are you implying it is different or typical? If you think black people are humans, then there is a human explanation. What do you think it is?Earlier you said we were looking at it from different place/perspective. Where is your place? How are you looking at it? I'm also assuming, as part of communication that you are wishing to show me something. I'd like to know what that is.My belief is that black people are underrepresented and so they vote for people that will represent them and speak to their concerns. Black politicians often talk that talk to a subset of people starved for their own leaders. This doesn't seem to be a uniquely black motivation. Any group in that situation would do so, have done so. It is my opinion that race has always been a motivation in elections. The fact that most people don't see it that way is because it has been naturalized when it comes to voting for white leaders. It seems like a given when it really isn't. My point is, if blacks are guilty, humans are guilty, and the root cause is unequal system, that doesn't encourage voting beyond race due to inadequate representation and cultural narrow-mindedness.The fact that it is so difficult to communicate what black's experience to the white dominant culture makes it unlikely that blacks will vote for members of this dominant culture when they have an option of voting for someone of their own social experience. This conversation is a good example of this. Despite how civil and wonderful our communication has been, it remains difficult for this experiential gap to be bridged. This, I believe is the root of the problem. Savvy black politicians can and do exploit this, but that isn't the root of the problem. It is merely an effect of the problem.	Black, Ethnic, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	9/348	2.586
---	---------------------	--	-------	-------

ArachnoscribeThanks for your response. I am not one to believe that automatic acquiescing to demands have ever existed. It has always been hard won, especially now, since the conversation is infinitely more subtle/complex. While a discussion of causes may not be of interest to you, it would have to be considered when asked a question like: why do blacks vote for other blacks? Causation plays a heavy role in determining the answering why. I understand the argument for reparations. But I think that would be a mud soup to get entangled in. There would never be agreement on how much. How do you value human life, enslaved, murdered, or oppressed? I don't know if we possess math for that, so I'd rather focus on other things. Still though, I sympathize with the argument. It is not that I doubt your experience at your school (there have been places in America where equality was more than just a dream (Buxton comes to mind)). However, I am skeptical to believe the past more generally speaking was so rose colored for minorities or the present. And for this reason I don't think inequality could be easily solved without critically/radically changing society. You likely believe I overestimate the prejudice in this nation of ours. I think you underestimate it. Who is right? We aren't likely to agree on that.	Colored, Nation	Ethnicity - Black, Nationality - General	2/226	0.885
Cadwell Turnbull Hmm...I understand causation, and I'm not sure why you believed it necessary to underscore such a basic concept... My intended search for analytical gaps yielded nothing to suggest that my perceptions are critically unbalanced.I've tried to be accommodating, but I don't see the value in continuing this conversation.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/52	1.923
ArachnoscribeI don't understand your sudden attitude shift, but I'm sorry if I seemed condescending. I wasn't trying to be. I simply couldn't figure out why you would ask me a question like you did (why do blacks vote along ethnic lines?) and then say you are not interested in causation when causation is an important part of my explanation. I was basically justifying my reasoning. I can't answer a question like that without talking about historical/sociological reasons, i.e. causation. Again, not an insult but a justification. Honestly, I don't think you really could find your perceptions critically unbalanced. The gaps in your reasoning are wholly due to your perceptions. There is a rather large experiential gap here that cannot be addressed if it isn't acknowledged. We can end the conversation here if you like. Try as we might, I feel like there is a great deal lost in translation.	Ethnic	Ethnicity - General	1/150	0.667
+kingofprussia17 Oh shut up, are you really oppressed because a few black people said some shit? You wouldn't last a day being black .	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/23	8.696

+Jamie Cox no that isn't racism because the facts are Indians are superior. Indians invented religion education and medicine ,surgery as well as language. nothing racist about the FACTS!	Nothing, Racism, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	3/28	10.714
+Cruz Nunez truth is white skin has cancer suffers from epidermodysplasia verricoformis, Xeroderma pigmenstousm.human papilloma virus HPV, varicella zoster virus which mutates into shingles. nothing racist about that I don't think anyone would want their children to grow up to marry to someone who is white and has all these health complications and suffer through constantly going to healthcare..whites should be segregated from races of color and placed on a deserted island.	Nothing, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	2/72	2.778
I am quite pleased with the comments section because it shows that all the BS about "there is no racism " is about the most delusional lie in U.S. history. There is some high-powered hallucination needed not to see racism in our nation . That is why I like to say that "Get Out" was a documentary.	Nation, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	3/55	5.455

elwynbrooks, this definition of racism stems from sociology and had branched out to other social sciences. It is great to have the term to discuss institutional racism (like apartheid or jim crow). However, there is a distinction I think is being missed. Sociology studies groups, institutions, and societies... not individuals. When we don't make that distinction (at best) we are having two separate conversations. At worst, when we conflate this distinction, we lose the original meaning of the word. For example, it is common now for someone to say "black people can't be racist," because they define racism as prejudice + power. What is really being said is "an individual who is black can't be racist." This is nonsense. Any individual can be racist. No individual (of any race) can implement institutional racism.... only a collective can (and in a typical hierarchy only a few in positions of power can make those decisions). It would be correct to say "black people do not wield institutional racism." Also of note, is the fact that simply because a collective does something, does not necessarily mean an individual who belongs to the collective has anything to do with it. To state otherwise would be the fallacy of division: what is true for the whole must be true for all parts that make up the whole. This is immensely important to understand, as it is the primary fallacy used in prejudice and racism. For instance, someone who is racist might assume a black person is going to rob them simply because of their race. If pressed on the matter, they might refer to crime statistics that show a much higher rate per capita of theft and robbery where the perpetrator is black, compared to other races. Although the statistics cited are true, we instinctively KNOW this is wrong, and that they cannot assume something about an individual based upon race. To be able to put a term to it; to understand the flaw in logic, is the best way to fight it. The emphasis on collectives (and judging and punishing people based upon the group they are divided in) is the main problem I have with "social justice." Justice is based upon an individual's actions, while social justice is focused on the collective. Throughout history, this has ALWAYS led to atrocities. A great example is how the Nazis treated Jews during WWII. It did not matter whether the individual had done anything wrong, they are part of the collective, and therefore, must be punished. If someone is punished for a crime they did not commit, or not held accountable for a crime they committed, this is by definition injustice. Because of this, social justice (based upon collectives) is entirely at odds with justice, and will inevitably lead to injustice. This is also an important concept to understand, because this is precisely how people attempt to justify violence against someone based upon their race. By using the fallacy of division, and taking action against a person based upon group identity and not their actions, what they have done is unjust. Going back to the original point of contention, to define all racism as "prejudice + power," is to redefine a word to fit an ideology, or a specific argument. This is known as the fallacy of redefinition. There are two very different terms (racism and "institutionalized racism") that are only appropriate in specific contexts. When we conflate the meanings of words, and lose the nuance they convey, we also lose the ability	Black, Common, Crow, Jim Crow, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	28/760	3.684
--	--	---	---------------	--------------

A bigger issue is just the criminal justice system all together. They say you have a right to a trial by a jury of your peers but most cases rarely get that far. Say you are at a bar and some drunk gets inappropriate with your wife and you beat the crap out of him. Regardless of race you get arrested and they throw a huge list of any charges they can apply at you. Then they set bail which is usually unreasonable, so unless you have money you sit out the process in jail. The idea of throwing a ton of charges on you is so the DA can drop some of the charges to force you into a plea deal where you take a more serious charge than you deserve in most cases. Also to keep this initial deal on the table the DA will demand you waive your preliminary hearing where the judge could drop many of the stacked charges. All of this takes months so if you are stuck in jail it is all the worse, it is to ware you down, and the Public Defender is usually on some level not fighting as much for you but really playing along with the DA. They both will lie to you and try to scare you, the Public Defender will come and say you will be convicted in trial of all these charges and get the maximum sentence because you took it to trial (and wasted our time and money) so take this deal, get a felony, and we will put you on probation for years. This is the case unless you have the money for a private attorney that will truly fight for you. It is about money, and certain groups are at a disadvantage because of wealth disparity.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/303	0.33
Thanks for making this video. Recently I've just tried writing down my thoughts on racism just to get my head around what my thoughts are on the topic. So far I haven't gotten anywhere. Those sources you left should help me out a good bit too.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/46	2.174
Here to offer my greatest appreciation to Mr. Green for making this video. As an Asian student, I've realized the vehement existence of prejudice and arrogance for multiple times, which thanks to racism, rooted in many white (sorry for using this) mentality, and worth mentioning, subliminally against not merely to African American. I use 'subliminally' because sometimes I noticed that people act in a way offensively without realizing that and you could tell they did not do it deliberately– but as if they were taught to be racist. I think that comes from the so-called heritage. Nobody is born with prejudice but taught to behave with it. I am contrite to say that, but America can be the greatest country in the world, however so far, it's the greatest country for white people. Just hope that Mr. Green can do a video for Asian-American and may be Mexican. Happy new year and DFTBA.	African, Nobody, Racism, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/153	2.614

Perhaps the reason that a majority of the population doesn't see racism as a major issue anymore is due to how most people(including myself) haven't been exposed to racism . For me because I am a white male and live in a Christian home, I have never witnessed racism . As a result racism seems abstract and distant. The reason that racism and hatred in general has continued to exist in the world is because fallen human nature. People will always find an excuse to hate whether it be towards Blacks, Jews, Christians, Homosexuals, Atheists or whoever. Racism is like murder, you can't keep it from happening all the time, but you can find ways of minimizing its impact.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	6/117	5.128
A bit of both. There just so many upvoted ones (and otherwise) that are utterly ridiculous (particularly the ones essentially sticking their fingers in their ears and going 'lalala this isn't actually happening there's no problem here, in fact the problem is apparently solved so much that the tides have been turned and so much as pointing out hard facts is now reverse racism , i'm paraphrasing, but still that's what many of them seem to be getting at, cue enormous facepalm). BUT even if someone has an incredibly ignorant opinion about a social justice issue like this, there are civil ways of having a discussion and/or shutting someone down politely. It's a skill we're usually pretty good at in this community.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/121	0.826
It's so annoying how everyone's being racist towards whites and acting like they aren't being racist .Saying "All white people are racist monsters." is as bad as saying "All black people are thieving murderers."Role Reversal motha fucka	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/37	10.811
No you are the stupid one, by thinking racism is about names calling...lol its about power.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/16	6.25
We're equal.You just complain so much it makes it seem like you're being put down.You have the same rights I do. and you choose to try to take mine away, racist .	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/31	3.226
the fuel Dumb ass you are the one on here complaining ,I know I am Equal.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/16	6.25
LMmfao I'm obsessed with you yet you've bothered to go through my youtube. Now i feel like a bully. I'll do you a favor and ignore you and not point out your lack of common sense. Your welcome	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/38	2.632

I'm of Mexican descent and have been living in the US since age 5, and I have never ever experienced any racism . At most, I get the occasional 'hey, amigo' from older White folks but that's about it. I don't think they mean any harm tho. Once, I had a White older woman ask me how one goes about to prepare fajitas (she pronounced the j in fajitas, took everything I had in me not to laugh) completely outta the blue when I was at the store, but, yeah, nothing major. I gave her a quick run-down and got my beer and left. I have to say, most White People seem to be...well, a bit apprehensive when it comes to race . Almost as if they are a bit afraid to be called racist ...which I find hilarious! Maybe things are getting better, idk. I have to say, because of the internet: your mileage may vary, yada, yada, yada.	Age, Nothing, Race, Racism, Racist, Woman	Age - General, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	6/157	3.822
excellent summation, awesome list of resources, VERY RESPONSIBLE and self reflective to refer to the voices of PoC in speaking of racism in the united states. i second the folks who said that this guy is doing something in only 4 minutes that tim wise has failed to do for decades.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/51	1.961
It may be cliché and may even sound a bit ignorant at first but hear me out, time heals all wounds. You've got to think it's only been a tiny speck of time since there was segregation in America, there is still a lot of work to be done to air out all the bugs in the system and face societal demons. Plus it'll help when a bigoted old generation of national leaders of government, economy and industry die off and slowly open the door to a more progressive thinking generation. Education is the key to it IMO, if there is freely available and unbiased (bin all this "minority scholarship" nonsense) then we can progress. The poor neighbourhoods have little or no opportunity in them for betterment through education.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/129	0.775
This is a great and informative video! I was wondering if you would consider doing a similar one on sexism , I often have a difficult time convincing people that sexist bias still exists in America today	Sexism	Gender - General	1/36	2.778
—Improve our public education system. And I don't just mean give it more money - it'll just get wasted. I'm talking significant reform. Every demographics study ever done shows that better education is the key to a better society, but decent education is something that minority communities in this country often lack.—Decriminalize drugs. The reasons for that should hopefully be obvious to the people reading this.—Eliminate racial quotas from government institutions and businesses. You can't have a post-racial society while still treating people differently based on their race . The only place where you need to identify your race is a doctor's office.	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/104	1.923

It's nearly impossible to have a real conversation about this without getting people's blood boiling. There are so many variables in time, place, and experience. I'm from the south, and in some places everyone gets along. In other places, people won't talk to you if you're a different race .	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/49	2.041
Why is racism only acknowledged when it's between "whites" and "blacks"? The United States is a large mixing pot of different cultures, races, and ethnicities. The problem is everywhere and affects everyone.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/32	3.125
White supremacy is an old political institution in America. This is old news and this video revealed nothing new. White supremacy also exists globally. My question is and this should be everybody's question, how to resolve the problem of white supremacy? Everybody knows it poisons everything, now what is the antidote to this poison?	Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	3/54	5.556
The reason that racism is still incredibly imbedded in our culture is because African Americans have been enduring oppression for decades, and white people have not. It is not racism if a black person makes a remark about a white persons skin because it is not backed up with a century of inequality. Sure, it might be mean, but it is not racism .	African, Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/63	7.937
that's so correct and it irks me so much to hear people use this argument that black people are racist because of words about skin color,This topic is a lot deeper than words about skin color. Racism is about having the power to effect someone's well being socially or economically and unfortunately black people have very little in America.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/59	6.78
Also racism comes with a sense of "superiority". Tell when was the last time you heard blacks (or any other minority for that matter) brag about being the "creators of civilization" or "blacks invented everything"? I never understood how many whites today could take credit for something other (read dead) whites created in the past, not to mention whites in the past had an incredible advantage over every other race in the past dues to obvious reasons...	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/77	2.597

littlerickery Yes it is racism you stupid cu....ugh....you can't just change the definition of a word because you feel like it.1. The belief that race accounts for differences in human character or ability and IS racism by definition.Also,the numbers he used about longer sentencings are incorrect.It didnt even take in consideration prior offences,age of the convict,his salary,whether he has a job or not and ton of other variables.Its pathetic that people like you are just too dumb to understand how much prior convictions are important when looking at these kind of statistics,so you will believe whatever bullshit some guy whos as dumb as you will regurgitate.Also 85 of all violent interracial crimes are committed by blacks toward whites.Over 34000 white women get rape/sexually assaulted by blacks each year compared to statistically ZERO (less than 10) white on black rape but shhhhhh thats a secret,people dont have to know that.	Age, Black, Dumb, Race, Racism, Zero	Age - General, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	10/167	5.988
There is racism on both sides. This video loses validity based on that fact alone.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667
I almost forgot to mention this. America isn't the only racist place in the world. I dare say any area in the world that has been influenced by white folks is affected by racism. Europe Oceania and the Nordic countries are no different. Racism by any other name and any other country is still racism. The only difference is whether the racism is coming from Jean-Pierre, or Olec, or Brandon.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	5/70	7.143
Everyone should read the books "Just Mercy" and "The New Jim Crow."	Crow, Jim Crow	Ethnicity - Black	2/12	16.667
Dear white people,Not talking about something, does not negate the existence of it. I know non-confrontation is your nature, but that's not how reality works. If I have cancer, and then I refuse to talk about it, treat it, address it, or even acknowledge it's existence. Will my cancer be cured? No right? I'm going to die a very painful stupid death if I go about treating the problem that way. Now replace cancer with racism, and be amazed (or don't). If I "choose not to see myself as a black person" that doesn't mean nobody else will see me as a black person, not to mention it denies me my very existence. So please don't say stupid things like that. Also lets stop with the whole race card thing. Even though white people like to call out others for playing the race card, they seem to have theirs surgically attached to their hand (since they use it so freaking much). All right white people, I think that's enough knowledge of the non-white experience for one day.	Black, Nobody, Race, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/178	3.371

I think that most of this data is more cocidence than cause. To be fair no matter what we do and any where we go some group is going to be disliked, whiether it's whites, blacks, Christians, Jews, Atheists, or whatever other group you want to put there, there's going to be racism .In all seriousness I believe that racism between blacks and whites is being made because we're freaking out about it. In today's culture everyone wants to have some drama so when everyone is talking about racism , well... of course a lot of people are going to start finding any case in which racism has accured even if it's been decades since it happen just to make the sistuation more dramatic.We must also remember that racism means to hate someone because they belong to a certain group. So if we're going to look at racism we should look at all of the groups that are being hated for believing, not just the ones that are trending (examples: blacks and the entire list of different was people think they should have sex ) I am glad, I guess that we are looking into racism though I believe we should remember to keep it in prespective and look at the causes not the cacidences	Racism, Sex	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	8/214	3.738
Can white people talk about race issues?Can men talk about gender issues?Can a straight talk about homosexuality issues?.Can cisgender talk about transgender issues?	Gender, Race, Transgender	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General, Sexual Identity - Transexuality	3/26	11.538
Myka Dassano yes, but why is it then so common for to see people say "oh you part of group y, so you should not have your own opinion on thing to do with that"JacquieVlogsHere why not? why can a white straight middle-age cisgender man, who have spent his lift studying black homosexual transgender women, talk about that? okay that may be an extreme. why do people look at some things as being only good or only bad? then most thing have more then one side. now the good coming from a bad thing may be really small compared to the bad.I don't like 0 and 100, in the real world they things can come close.	Black, Common, Homosexual, Transgender	Ethnicity - Black, Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Transexuality, Social Class - Working class	4/118	3.39

Well, I think we should break down any opinion in the same way. Think about whether what the person is saying is plausible and do one's best to reach a good conclusion based on that. It might be that there is a greater likelihood of a black person's view on something being true than a white person's view on something for example, but in any event, if we want to be more sure we should still delve into the argument and see how it stacks up with reality regardless of the ethnicity of the person making the argument.	Black, Ethnicity	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/98	2.041
Personally I disagree with that wording rather strongly. I think at that point you're not really looking at the opinion, but the skin color or gender of the person giving the opinion. It's like, well, ok, you make a good point, but you're white so get out. I think if you tell a person to get out, it should be because of something they did, not their skin color – we should not rely on skin color to tell something about a person. What I am, of course, against, is people who are not willing to think about what a certain group goes through, or make assumptions about that group without attempting to put themselves in their shoes. But just expressing an opinion in itself? Yes, if it's on-topic, I think that should be entirely fine.	Gender	Gender - General	1/136	0.735

Derek G If the opinion is appropriate, thoughtful, respectful, and takes into account that there are certain elements of sensitive topics that they can't accurately know or appreciate because of the nature of their race, identity, or orientation, then you're absolutely right in saying that relevant discussion is fine.My point has less to do with "if you're [member of a group considered to be in a position of power over another group], you can't talk with us so go away," and more to do with, "the members of [marginalized group] may have very different experiences and perspectives about a topic that centres on them and the things they go through in direct relation to people that are a member of ["majority" group], and as such are more qualified to speak about those matters."Take, for example, discussion about transphobia in media. This is one that I, as somebody who isn't cis, am comfortable with and can exchange dialogue referencing my own personal experiences. There's no question that when it comes to trans issues, trans people have a lot more stake in the topic than someone who is cis. We've got important cis allies and they can occasionally provide good insight that aids in our discussion. This is fine and good and encouraged and not what I'm disputing at all.But at the end of the day, the trans community still goes through a lot of pain and suffering at the hands of cis people who are bigoted and dangerous. There are certain specific things about transphobia that cis people will never be able to understand because they have the privilege of being cis and being accepted because of that. If a cis person takes an interest in trans issues and wants to educate others, then great! It's a wonderful thing!However, if a cis person talking about trans issues becomes widely-received and gets a lot of attention, what might at first be a good thing reveals a startling trend that most people aren't willing to listen to or participate in matters that concern a marginalized group until a member of the majority group dips their toes into the pool and gives their two cents on the subject. The exact same points made by somebody who is POC or trans get pushed aside in favour of what somebody white or cis has to say, which should not be what happens. My original reply was about using their voices to amplify what's already been addressed by members of an under-represented community rather than adding your voice to the mix and potentially drowning out somebody else who rightfully has more say.Maybe our opinions differ on this, and if there's something I'm missing, feel free to say so, but to sum things up: White people's thoughts on POC discussions have their place but should not be considered more important or meaningful coming from somebody who's white than from somebody with whom the issue actually concerns. If you are invited to share, then yes, by all means, but I personally feel that as somebody who may not experience oppression in the same way, it would not be my place to think that I can accurately speak for somebody else on matters of race in particular. If I was unclear in either of my expectations, then I want to correct that, but I hope that I got my point across adequately.	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/567	0.353
--	------	---------------------	-------	-------

Your point is very much taken. Look, here's the thing. I think, sure, it's going to be more difficult for a person outside of the group to be correct because they have to infer things without experiencing them directly. But why assume anything? If a person expresses an opinion that makes sense, should we then reject once we find out that the person who said it isn't the right skin color?Sure, a person not in the group has to do guesswork, but that doesn't mean they can't be right. In any event it can go both ways. If, for example, we automatically assume the person in the group is right, then they have too much power. What if, heaven forbid, someone in this group wanted to take advantage of this trust, and just make something up because they know they will be believed. I'm sure not many people want to, but I just don't think it's logical to put one's whole belief based on what the people of a group feel like telling you. It's not that they're lying, it's just that it's difficult to confirm what they say.I think what's more realistic though, is not so much that people in a group could outright lie, but more that they could stretch the truth. Maybe even unintentionally. Maybe the stress of the group being oppressed gives them a bias to exaggerate what they go through. Or maybe a few really bad experiences stick in their head and this makes them think they go through it more often than they do, or that there are more "bad" people out there than there are.So, at the end of the day, as I said earlier, I think it makes sense to judge the opinion itself, rather than the person. One could make some sort of guess, oh this person is black, so most likely they're right, well, ok, but to know for sure you might as well look at the content of their opinion too, not just make some guess based on the color of their skin.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/347	0.288
Alexander Campbell , hope you read this. what about opinions that are not wanted but is need.now I have not mentioned my skin colour, gender sexuality nor transgender status. and I am not planing to, I thing and this is just my opinion that people need to back what they say up with data. and arguments needs to be against the data not the person saying it. when people are talking about things in general.I also thing most people could learn couple of things from the song "everyone's a little bit racist" from avenue Q.	Gender, Racist, Transgender	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General, Sexual Identity - Transexuality	3/97	3.093

steamcastle OP, you've caught me at a bad time where I've got very little patience so let me be clear here: Your race, gender, orientation, and other miscellaneous information does not matter here and it's not what I'm after. The only reason I mentioned the fact that I'm not cis is to draw a comparison much like the issue of race to a topic I'm more familiar with. That's all. When you say that people need data for their claims, I can give you statistics till the cows come home but what you asked originally is a very subjective question that does not rely on hard evidence, but rather, subjective opinion. "Can [majority group] talk about [minority group] issues?" It is not the sort of thing you can sample from studies unless they are ones specifically geared toward gathering opinions. Also if you think that particular song from Avenue Q applies to this situation even a little bit, I'm sorry to say that I think you're very, very wrong. There are people (rare, but they do exist), who have or are in the process of unlearning a lot of toxic behaviour toward people of differing race and, shockingly enough, don't actually think it's cool or fun to demean and mock other people based on where they or their family were once from. People without a racial bias or who are actively correcting their racial bias are real, they exist, and to sweep racism under the rug as "just another thing we wacky humans do!" is not cute, it is not funny, and I am not impressed. I am officially taking my hat out of the ring and will respond to no more notifications regarding this, but I thought I should at least humour you with a reply seeing as you are the OP of a post I'd originally answered. This conversation is now closed. Please engage with somebody else from now on.	Gender, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	5/322	1.553
I have two male white cisgender friends, who both have had girlfriends the hit them, but as they were both white and male there was nowhere for them to go at get help, now they both got out, but if they try to bring out the subject of men being victims, even when they have data showing that they are not the only ones, they are told to shut up, and then looked down on for not being a "real". I am almost done with paper towns, and I think one of the main characters may be black, but that character is just a person, take any story flip the genders around flip the races around, do that changes anything, any of the big points. why ? next time there is a story in the news where they mentions race or gender, why slipping the story around and see if you react the same way. and if not then why not.	Black, Gender, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	3/161	1.863

Yo, steamcastle , if an issue is actually affecting a group in particular, that group should talk about it, and nobody should speak over them. Usually with sexism, we are talking about the patriarchy, and how it oppresses women, and that the ways that it oppresses men, are still, yet another way, to oppress women. Though, if we're talking about men being domestically abused? Talking about men being sexually abused? All of these things that are hushed up because of the patriarchy, which, in this case, is actually hurting men quite a bit- yeah, men need to have their voices dominate the topic when their safety is in question..Just like how things are different from location to location; The Christian/Atheist dynamic is very different in the American south than it is in the American north, where in the south, Christians overpopulate the states and put their finger prints on all public government properties, and atheists, or any other person of any other religion for that matter, are more common to be given death threats by Christians, telling them they're going to hell, or beating them up. While in the north, it is the opposite, where atheists hold a superiority over Christians, claiming themselves to be the far intelligent group of people, and demonizing all Christians based on their religious extreamists, and making fun of their "imaginary friend" and the way they behave and etc, etc.So, definitely, certain things need to be accounted for but, generally speaking, if you're not the oppressed group, you probably should listen to those who are speak and amplify their voices. As a Southern Atheist, I can tell you in detail the treatment that I, and my other non-Christian friends, got for not worshipping their god in their particular way, or breaking one of their religions rules that shouldn't apply to people not-in-that-religion. However, I acknowledge that it's different in the north. While I can scream until my face is blue just ever detail about the religious issues in the south, if a Christian from the north started talking to me about their experiences living in the North, surrounded by people who are not Christian- I would never, ever speak over them. I would keep my mouth shut and I would listen. I would take their experiences as legitimately as I take my own. Their experiences with religious bigotry will of course be very different from my own. I also expect them to not invalidate my own experiences with it in the south.This was just a random example, since it's far less clean cut than "can cis people talk about trans issues", which is a far, far, far different area. Sexism? Yeah it effects all genders, and differently- but sorry, men shouldn't be talking over women on the issues of catcalling, and birth control pills (unless they're afab), and being murdered for rejecting a guy at a bar. Just like how women shouldn't speak over men about just how devastating rape culture is for a 11 year old boy who got raped, and how he was told he had to celebrate being raped, because man she was hot, or be silenced completely because "men can't get raped".See, what I'm doing here, when I'm addressing the issues of sexism is I am amplifying the voices of women, and I'm amplifying the voices of men, both in subjects where they're oppressed terribly. I'm repeating the concerns expressed by seperate men and women from these areas. I am not, however, giving my own opinion about a topic of which I am not directly affected	Common, Nobody, Old, Patriarchy, Sexism, Woman	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Gender - General, Social Class - Working class	9/687	1.31
--	---	---	--------------	-------------

Alexander Campbell I am in on way saying that people should make fun of other people, but sometime people needs to overlook miner thing, as focusing one the minor thing can make people loss view of the big picture.and if you want to change things on a national plane you need to national data,show me the data, if there is no data then we need to get some data.You not being cis means that you have data on you not being cis, you may know other non-cis people, and there for have more then just your self as a data point, and than that gives you a better starting point, then someone looking into it who is cis. but it is a starting point, and in time they may end up with more knowledge when most non-cisneither my lesbian ex girlfriend nor me, are interaster in the gay pride parade, and don't want anything to do with it, but if a white heterosexual man said that...	Gay, Lesbian	Sexual Identity - Female homosexuality, Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	3/170	1.765
So yeah I'm different hehe :) For example, I am completely, utterly, ok with women who want to talk about what men might or might not go through, is there pressure to be macho, whatever, etc. I might tell a woman I go through x, and maybe she's sceptical that I do – honestly, I totally get that. I don't expect her to believe something just purely based on what I say. I would try to give her reasons as best I could. Sure I might want her to give me some leeway, some benefit of the doubt, but I would understand if she was sceptical too.The way I see it, if that woman helps me see the things I face in a different way, I think that helps me. Or maybe I'll disagree with her. But, yet again, I will look at her argument, not her gender , to determine that.	Gender, Woman	Gender - General	3/152	1.974
We might be talking past each other just a bit, KrissLucia. Obviously, if I want a primary source of what certain people go through, I'll want to listen to that type of person's experiences, not tell them what experiences they had. So that's one thing.On the other hand, if I want to form an overall political opinion, well, then I'll have to decide, to what extent do I believe this person, do I think it justifies such and such policy choices, etc. I will assess anyone else's opinion in the same way. Sure, whether or not they experience something personally will factor in to whether I believe them or not, but I don't want to make a hasty conclusion until I really see what they're trying to say. It is, indeed, possible that I will disagree with a person in the group, and agree with a person outside the group (and, of course, I might agree with the person in the group, and disagree with the person outside the group :) ).So I think those are two different things in a way. If I ask a person how was your day today, I am not interrogating them of course :) In that case, of course, I am asking because I just want to hear their experiences and nothing more. All depends on the context :)	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/227	0.441

Thanks for asking for clarification, I was starting to feel discouraged by this! :&gt;By "talking over" I mean make your own opinions on other people's experiences more important than the other people in question- by the oppressed group in question.I'll make several examples of this at different levels of severity, because I think this is very important to understand.Autistic Person: It really sucks cause organizations like Autism Speaks treats autism as if it's a disease, or an impairment, or something that should be fixed. I'm autistic. If you take my autism away, I'll be a completely different person with a completely different personality. I don't want that!Parent of kid with Autism: But your autism is terrible! You'll have autism for the rest of your life- until we find a cure! I heard that this one kid learned how to act normal! Don't you want to be like that person? You'd be normal! And anyway what's the chances of getting that life threatening disease? We are working very hard on finding a cure for you! You want this! Why are you autistic people so ungrateful!? Is it because of your autism?? Is that it? We'll fix you don't worry!Autistic Person: But... I don't want to be fixed.Parent: Yes you do! Autism is terrible! I've even seen you get depressed about it!Autistic Person: I get depressed about it because people who aren't autistic keep trying to make me feel inhuman, or like a child, or like I've got a disease and am really not normal.... It's how I'm being treated by you that makes me depressed.Parent: You don't know what you're talking about. You'll understand when you become a parent! Now, let me move on so I can tell other people without autism just how terrible it is to be you! We'll fix you, don't worry.In this example, we have somebody who is more sure about how autism makes autistic people feel, than the person who actually is autistic. The autistic person doesn't "know" what they want, but the person who isn't autistic decides they do instead.Now for a very mundane example. One without an oppressed group, but somebody whose experience on the topic is still getting talked over, to try to illustrate this in a way somebody who doesn't face so much oppression can grip onto, hopefully, more easily.Bus Driver: The drivers on the road make me so nervous. I have a dang stop sign attached to my bus, and yet, drivers still break the law and drive through anyway! I'm scared that one day one of these kids are going to get ran over...Driver: Nah, I'm sure you're overexaggerating. Like, how many times has that even happened to you? Like, once maybe?? Don't make such a big deal out of something so small! No kid is going to get ran over, you're just overthinking it.Bus Driver: Okay, yeah, it's only happened to me twice this year, but it happened three times last year, and two times the year before... It might be 'too few' for you, but this is a serious issue. Kids cross the street all the time without looking, especially when they're meant to feel safe by laws enforced TO keep them safe.Driver: Maybe we should change the law then, and get rid of the sign all together? Then the kids will have to look before crossing!Bus Driver: You don't understand..! You're not a bus driver, you don't even work with kids.Driver: Well, I'll tell you! It would be easier on ME if you didn't have that sign and I didn't have to stop! And there's more drivers than there are kids. Don't you ever think about the	Nobody, Woman	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	2/1284	0.156
--	---------------	---	--------	-------

I don't know... I would like it quite a bit, honestly, if a woman made a post about it being ok for men to be macho. I wouldn't think of it as intruding at all. I would think of her as a woman , who wanted men to be under as little pressure as possible, which sounds nice.	Woman	Gender - General	2/57	3.509
Yes, yes, yes, and yes. I'm a male and I've always talked about gender issues. People listen and take me seriously.	Gender	Gender - General	1/21	4.762
Umm yes. I think it's good for white people to talk about racism , men to talk about sexism , straight people to talk about homophobia etc. etc. Would you rather they be ignorant about those issues? Discussing is learning.	Homophobia, Racism, Sexism	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General, Sexual Identity - General	3/38	7.895
talk about it, yes. but in those contexts, listening is usually more important, and taking the lead in those discussions is a definite no. The thing to remember is that you don't decide what oppression is or what it looks like. I'm white, so when I take part in discussions about racism , i do more listening than talking. if someone says I've said or done something racist , I probably have. That's on me. It's not the job of white people to say what's racist , straight people to say what's homophobic , etc. I don't ever DEMAND someone educate me on these issues, I've got a brain, curiosity, and access to google. It's no one's job to teach me this stuff (though a lot of people DO want to, and will if you're respectful about it and actually listening.) most of us have ingrained problematic stuff we don't even realize is wrong. You're going to mess up, and when someone tells you you have, it's your turn to listen. Don't try to defend it, chances are they know better than you do why you think that, because they HAVE to.	Homophobic, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Sexual Identity - General	4/188	2.128
Yes of course, only 6 percent of the world is gay , and their actions ( gay marriage, open gayness, etc.) effect the world. So it is unfair for only them to have control. Imagine I said only corporations should control the taxes on corporations, that would be very annoying for the democratic party.	Gay	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	4/52	7.692

David SommerLOL "open gayness" are you kidding me? What even is that? Also, you're incorrect, it's more like 20 to 30 depending on what your qualifiers are. And "the right of decision" is not the same thing as having "control." The LGBT+ population very seldom has "control" over the way that they are perceived, and has the same control as anyone else in policies which would only directly effect them, which they are only JUST getting in the last few years. (which is weird and gross. Someone else's marriage or what they call their spouse does not affect you. Yours will still be important to you, and your significant other will still love you, and you will still be treated like a family unit, even when OTHER people have that.) What they do have, is the knowledge of what living as an LGBT person actually is like, and knowledge of exactly how wrong perceptions are, and the harms they cause. So yeah, their opinions on matters pertaining to them SHOULD matter more than heterosexuals opinions on the same.	LGBT, Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments, Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality, Sexual Identity - Transexuality	7/179	3.911
recklesstenacity You are telling me that only LGBT people get to decide what happens to them. In a hypothetical example, gay people are 20 times more likely to get into a self caused car accident. Should heterosexual people have the right to restrict LGBT people's driver's license?	Gay, LGBT	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality, Sexual Identity - Transexuality	8/47	17.021
Oh great, a question about whether cisgender white men can talk about racism . It seems the vaguely racist and misandrist Tumblrites are here.Seriously, just asking the questions, "Can White people [blank]" or "Can Cisgender people [blank]" is just asking for reponses reenforcing or establishing stereotypes. Because, believe it or not, White Cisgender Males are not a hivemind, just like every other demographic on Earth.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/65	3.077

David SommerPlease point me to the study that says LGBT folk have more accidents than straight people. I have never in my life seen a correlation between sexual preference and road safety, and I'm curious about the goal of any scientific institution that would conduct such a study, much less find someone to publish their findings. Also, "self-caused?" how was that proven, exactly?	LGBT, Sexual	Gender - General, Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality, Sexual Identity - Transexuality	4/64	6.25
recklesstenacity I quote myself " In a hypothetical example, gay people are 20 times more likely to get into a self caused car accident" Key word hypothetical	Gay	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	2/27	7.407
David SommerMy answer is the same. I would want to know who is doing the study, what is it's aim, where are you getting this information FROM? Because scientific study has it's biases in cultural attitudes (case in point: once upon a time, people took Freud seriously.) And those attitudes are harmful to certain groups. And my answer still stands. IN REALITY, as in, the very-much-not hypothetical world we live in? Heteros are a huge threat to gay lives, not the other way around. So IN REALITY, yeah, LGBT folk should have a bigger say in what happens to them than heterosexual people. And if you have to use something so egregiously fictional to make your point? Chances are you don't have one.	Gay, LGBT	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality, Sexual Identity - Transexuality	5/124	4.032
recklesstenacity Constitution says that all men are created equal. Not, gay people are more important.	Gay	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	2/15	13.333

Yes, yes, yes, and yes, unless they also talk about reverse racism , prejudice against their own gender , heterophobia, or cisphobia. No matter what a person's identity, it is not impossible to at least be objective about what they're talking about.	Gender, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	2/40	5.0
Ethan P.so you say yes, and that say only "but only when it is oneway" what is reverse racism ? Is what you are saying "when talking about problem for one group, don't change topic, just because it is not exclusive to that group" ?because otherwise it sound like you are saying " Ape shall not kill ape "	Ape, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/58	5.172
steamcastle What I mean is that when people are not objective about a topic, and/or make it about themselves, perhaps their opinions when stated so should be discredited. For example, white people saying that they are oppressed by black people (so-called "reverse racism "), they are not being objective of the true facts of widespread and institutionalized racism against people of african descent.	African, Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/62	6.452
Ethan P. okay. thanks.I do think it is wrong to call it "reverse racism " as racism by it self don't indicate race . and "reverse racism " could also be used to indicate positive discrimination.Isn't a problem then that no one is neutral.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	4/43	9.302
steamcastle can black people get a moment without the last 3 "issues" being thrown into the mix to water it down?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/21	4.762
Roland Taylor you say "water it down" are you saying that that " black people" issues are more important or bigger then gender or sexuality.also you do know that race covers more then just " black people"	Black, Gender, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	4/36	11.111
steamcastleI think what Roland Taylor is saying is that the video is about racism , specifically, and people are turning into a more general discussion of what oppression is. We shouldn't derail conversations about a specific group and what they are facing by pointing out what another group is facing. This video isn't about The Problem of Oppression and Marginalized Groups. It's about specifically, racism in the US. We are not helping either people affected by racism in the US, or people affected by other forms of oppression by asking that it focus on something else.Having said that, I'm sorry, I know I took the bait at least once in this thread, and probably contributed to the derailling. My bad.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/121	2.479

recklesstenacity what I have seen in the commons of this video and once about gender and sexuality, are people disagreeing, with what is being said will say "you are not part of x so don't talk about x",especially when there are people that are part of x telling x that any one that is not part of x is against them.	Gender	Gender - General	1/62	1.613
You act like men is not a gender . HAHAHh	Gender	Gender - General	1/9	11.111
So the only differences between the resumes was their names? How is that racist ? If anything that would be nameist (If that is a thing). Or are you being racist about names generally given to specific races?	Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/37	5.405
Higher chance of finding contraband during a traffic stop = white people Higher chance of actually being stopped and/or murdered during a traffic stop = black people Mind-boggling. And people have the nerves to say racism doesn't exist? You people are crazy .	Black, Crazy, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/42	7.143
In reading the comments, it seems we are all quick to blame this or that, or make assumptions regarding one class vs another, or the perceptions we all have of each other. I think everyone's reality is only based on their experience and they are all correct in their own way. That said, we don't seem to offer and answer to the communities problems. Rules, Laws and Government will not change any of this. But an entire Nation will. To accomplish this, we need to all band together as one and help each other in a way that doesn't recognize any thing but the fact that we are all in this together. If we each took some time each day, week, month to help each other and get to know your neighbors, we could form bonds that could truly change the perception we all have of one another. Help your neighbor with yard work, help the single mom/dad with some babysitting, take out an add online and offer whatever your expertise is for free with no catch, To a few local neighbors. Just go out and get to know your community and help support each other. That will slowly make all of the challenges we face from hunger, to health care, crime and social inequality fade into the past. Creating true relationships with one another is the answer to almost all of the challenges we face.	Nation	Nationality - General	1/236	0.424
Can't wait to hear the racists retort to actual proof that there is systemic racism in the US.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/18	5.556

Why do you only have 4 minutes? Did someone hold you down and tell you you couldn't talk longer? No , you cut it to 4 minutes so you wouldn't have time to actually tell the truth about the bullshit you spout. You keep talkinf fast and using jump cuts in an effort to confuse and overwhelm the viewer. But it isn't working. You are a fucking idiot John and no mater how fast you talk it doesn't change the fact you are lying by omission and that makes you a race baiter asshole.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/94	1.064
thank goodness. This information needs to be disseminated to the masses. it's amazing how many ppl ignore these fact or say they're biased... which blows my mind. Its amazing how many Americas simply choose to ignore race issues as if it doesn't exist or will disappear on it's own. We need this type of information to help race relations. Nothing can be fixed if there's no acknowledgement of a problem. This video, and the information associated with it, is not in an attempt to erase racism , but to highlight the already available wealth of information that supports its ongoing existence the roots of engrained presence in American society and history.	Nothing, Race, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	4/110	3.636
The solution to racism; Autonomous ethnic Nationalism . Multiculturalism is a failure, abandon it and move on.	Ethnic, Nationalism	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	2/16	12.5
On the names in that study. Personally, if I am a recruiter for a company, and I see a name that is not "normal" on a resume and I am going through a bunch of different resumes (15+) I will probably stick odd names to the side and only come back to them after I've gone through the rest.Why? Because for me names like "Nikki", "Benji", "Unique", "Vicky", "Braylon", "Nevaeh", "Keshawn" and other similarly shortened or obviously made up names signal a, to be frank, trashy background. Honestly actual african names have a better impact than "Diamond", Hasana is better than Laquisha, Kofi is more impressive than Jamal.If someone decides to name their kid Vicky, then give them the name Victoria and call them Vicky. If the kids name is Benji name them Benjamin and call them Benji. Weird name are just that. Weird . And weird things tend to be chosen less than "normal" things.	African, Weird	Ethnicity - Black, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/157	2.548

So what exactly is the solution here? In the example of the resumes with literally identical qualifications, with the exception of the names, can you really call that racial bias? If the people looking over the resumes are mostly white people, they're going to lean towards the names similar to their own cultures. Where as, if the people looking over the resumes were black, I bet you they would have leaned more towards the more ethnic names. So what exactly can be done here? It's going to take generations of people for things to even out. Otherwise you're going to have instances like with colleges, where they'll chose minority groups just to make their school look good, which isn't really fair either. Usually when I apply for things, I leave the gender and ethnicity spots blank if I can, because it's irrelevant information that has nothing to do with my abilities to do a task.	Black, Ethnic, Ethnicity, Gender, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	5/155	3.226
I am sorry I was born white... next time I will choose black!	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/13	7.692
It's important to remember that most white Americans are no longer racist, just as most American men are no longer sexist. The hateful few still may appear to be the loudest, but they are still just a small percentage of any group. The challenge now is to fight systemic racism and sexism – outdated rules and habits within our systems that can disadvantage a person because of their ethnic roots, their gender, their sexual orientation or for other bogus reasons.This is not about elevating one group at the expense of another, or about one group being made to feel guilty for things that nobody today is responsible for – it's about rewarding the things about all of us that really deserve to be rewarded and disregarding the things about all of us that don't really make any difference.	Ethnic, Gender, Nobody, Racism, Racist, Sexism, Sexual	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	7/139	5.036

I think its impossible for you to tackle racism without looking at all races and all angles. Racism isn't a scale to be balanced, you cant solve racism by only looking at one "race" (which most videos do when talking about racism - they talk more about issues faced by black people than other ethnicities). I saw a comment on a popular music video which says "holy shit this song is sung by a white boy????????? wow amazing!". Now if we change the word white with black then suddenly you are marked as being derogatory and racist, but its perfectly fine to call a man a "white boy" surely something is wrong there. I've also saw another video where it was a little white girl doing an African remix of frozen and most the comments are asking why she wasn't black. Again, imagine this girl was black and people were complaining she wasn't white. And, because I'm a white man speaking about these problems automatically I'm being racist because of something my supposed ancestors did, is ridiculous. Why should issues facing my ethnicity be treated with less importance because of something that I DIDN'T DO.	African, Black, Ethnicity, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	13/195	6.667
A WHITE MAN TALKING ABOUT RACISM ? WOW, YOU PIG!	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/9	11.111
Racism discussion and the comments on the video all seem to think that the only races are negro and Caucasian. Why did the discussion leave out groups like Asian? Let me show everyone here something. Try typing the word caucasian into a comment window and also asian. both will show up as misspelled! Now capitalize the first letter of each. Now it is accepted. Now try the first thing with the word negro. Google is helping me prove my point. What you are broadly calling "racism" is not what we have here. We have a distinctly lesser opinion of African American blacks. Blacks coming to America from outside the country are quickly accepted and financially successful. This shows that there is not actually a prejudice against black people. If you look further at the statistics used to try to prove there is a problem it can be shown that they further back up what I am saying. Like the resume with an "African-American" name on it being rejected more often. The test didn't say what happens when the name is of other types. Submit the resume with a Kenyan name, for instance. Sorry to spoil your game race baiter. Respect is earned and thus far, our looters and rioters have done nothing to earn respect. That is why Latin, Asian, Caucasian, Arab people in America don't respect African Americans.	African, Black, Negro, Nothing, Race, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	9/229	3.93

hey i got a great idea if you dont want to get in trouble over illegal activities dont commit crimes.....or is common sense " racist "	Common, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	2/24	8.333
How long before some people attempt to justify these clear examples of racial inequality by citing crime rate statistics by race ?	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/21	4.762
It sounds silly and cliché, but us young people really are the future, and we can't let our kids grow up to be as hateful as our parents, teachers, friends and family are. And PLEASE don't forget that racism isn't just about color, it's about all minorities; race , religious views, gender , sexual orientation, people with disabilities and diseases, different hobbies and interests, overweight and underweight people and over all appearance. I myself am bisexual and in a wheelchair, and have been judged many times because of that. Let others be however they choose or don't choose to be. I didn't choose my skin color, my sexual orientation or my inability to walk, but you have the freedom of choosing how you treat me. Don't let poor judgements rule your life.	Gender, Race, Racism, Sexual	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	5/130	3.846
yeah how about Black history month , black miss America , Black BET awards , whites can not have a White Miss America so who is the real racist - go to the manufacturing plants like Tyson Foods , Eaton, walmart, Coke and Pepsi driver, cab drivers , bus drivers , I can gp on and on see how nearly all of the workers are all black , how nearly all of the management is black , HR is controlled by blacks who control the hiring - look around see how the USPS is nearly all black a black employee, a black supervisor , black HR rep can gang up on a white employee and its OK but let the exact opposite happen white VS black and its a law suite - yeah tell me again how Blacks have it so bad how about the public housing I see very few whites get and assistance - yeah tell me again yeah tell me again !	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	11/164	6.707
1:06 "...chance [... ] is higher in white people"Sooo...there are differences between races or not? Isn't that precisely a racist supporting statement/fact? If that's true, then just accept it, and stop crying about racism , because it seems that reality itself support racists differences and you are just confused presenting supposed facts and denying it's implication at the same time...denying reality while describing it...	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/64	3.125
Yeah alright. Go to a Hispanic/Asian/Black/Indian owned business and tell me how many Whites work there. Racism means preference for their own race . It's perfectly normal to want to be with people that are like you. Just stop pinning it on White people.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/43	4.651

that's NOT the problem. the issue is a whole system based on race that effects society as a whole. Those businesses are minimal.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/23	4.348
You're an idiot.OK now go to the millions of white owned businesses and tell me how many black people work there proportionately?Even as a black person in the UK I don't think I've ever worked with more than one other black person in large offices.Those small businesses you mentioned are probably the way they are because those people can't get hired anywhere else. How many white people do you even think applied to work for those businesses you mentioned. Most likely less than 1.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/87	3.448
Cory Trevor "Even as a black person in the UK"50 years ago the UK was 99 white. Even today most of the UK is white. Come to any southeastern part of the US and then talk.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/37	2.703
Yes I totally understand that point, however I actually live in London which has the vast majority of black people in it, along with many other races.For the better jobs, I can guarantee that it's harder to obtain for a black person and there seems to be an average of one black person in an office, if that. I really don't want to think like that, but I'm noticing it more and more and I would be happy to provide examples if you're interested. Like I said, it's a lot more subtle over here, but it exists.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/98	3.061
Cory Trevor Racism means preferring your own race over others. It's perfectly normal and okay to do it. The problem is that in the Hispanics/Africans and such, it's THEM who come to white countries, not the other way around. When I go to non white countries I don't expect preferential treatment over the native people, in fact, I do not get any, and get discriminated on actually. Even in the south of the US.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/74	2.703
You make racism sound like such a light and fluffy topic, when really it is much more complexed than just 'preferring your own race'. I personally can't relate to that feeling, because I have many white people in my family and friendship groups and I see them all as individuals that i love equally. In fact I love having a diverse group of friends and family.It's fine for you have you personal preferences as long as you don't discriminate because if I went to a job interview with you and you refused me just because of the colour of my skin, that would be criminal, just as it would be the same if the roles were reversed.Or if I get stopped by a police officer and you don't. I'm not sure how you can think that kind of behaviour is justifiable. We should all strive to achieve a fair society where everybody is given equal opportunities.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/158	0.633

You're asking way too much, if you don't want people to prefer their own race, which is not only natural, and you will find it also with animals, but when most countries and especially Europe were 99 white and their respective races just 50 years ago.And no, I do not support discrimination, but there is a difference between discriminating and choosing based on who you want to be with. Employers refusing to hire you is discrimination, but they can also give you an employment opportunity and yet chose a white person, because it's their right and their nature to want to be with people like them.It's not just about race either. Look at all the trouble that happens between people their own race like Asians and Africans and South Americans, many of which hate people from other countries or cultures. Racism IS actually simply preferring your own race. After that there's culture and communities and any other group. Irish and Italians and Catholics and other religions were not as accepted here decades ago.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	5/175	2.857
White Identity is making a comeback though, check out the "race realist" organization called American Renaissance. Whites in the south who are tired of their cultural history being taken from them, schools being renamed, statues taken down etc. I don't support this "white nationalism" but I find it a fascinating movement indicative of how even white people will eventually assert their identity when they feel it's been taken away from them. Politically speaking, white identity has become primarily about white guilt. That guilt is going to dry up when whites become a minority in the future due to low birthrates, we are seeing that process now.	Nationalism, Race	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	2/106	1.887
Racism means a sense of superiority over other races you jackass. Typical dumb ass tries to argue against something he clearly does not understand. Also, my first employers where Vietnamese (I'm black) and they also hired whites as well. Many of those ethnic business owners you speak of hire people of their own race/ethnicity because of the limited opportunity that is presented in America for them. Usually due to institutionalized racism, mainly perpetuated by whites.	Black, Dumb, Ethnic, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	5/75	6.667
Is the below statement racist?Every time I see a white homeless man on the street I think. Damn that's a waste of white skin....	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/25	4.0

I really hate when people try to act smart enough to tackle and want to take down a form of collectivism or tribalism yet are too stupid to realize it plagues every facet of our society so rather than address the larger picture they'll just deal with one of the most easiest to see, racial collectivism, with the notion that it is somehow more important to deal with one small aspect because of 'reasons'. Despite the reality that these collectives will forever be set in stone unless you destroy them. so long as a " black community" exists there will always be someone who opposes the community either through exclusion, disagreement, or being targeted by the group itself. The most frightening properties however is those who wish and do control said groups.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/131	0.763
I wonder if it has something to do with prior criminal acts? In other words, does the average black criminal have a longer rap sheet than the average white criminal who committed the same crime that is being compared in this article?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/42	2.381
Fuck out of here with that social justice bullshit lmao blacks and Hispanics are just as racist as whites	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/19	5.263
The fact that " black " names get fewer callbacks than "white" names isn't really about race it's about advertising. When I was little, and didn't know much about cigarettes I said that if I ever smoked I wanted to smoke Marlboro cigarettes most likely because the street that my elementary school was on was named "marlborough." It was spelled differently, but it familiarized me with their name, and that's why I think that the white names got called back more. Not because of racism , but because they were more familiar with the the common "white" names like Chris, and Joe than the uncommon " black " names like Jakeem or whatever. If we ignored race and sent out applications that had common "white" names like Joe, and ones with uncommon "white" names like Mikhail, the common names would get more callbacks by a similar margin.	Black, Common, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	8/142	5.634
countries like america are immigrant countries. white people are not the native people of america and they have no right to tell people of other ethnicities to adapt to what makes them feel comfortable. Through genocide and slavery white people have managed to construct a system that benefits them at every turn. white privilege exists. just because you run into a few black people who are like "damn white people are so annoying" doesn't mean you are being oppressed. black people are getting killed like dogs because of the stereotypes they have. police officers aren't gonna shoot you in the street because you're bad at dancing or you drink starbucks. there's nothing more you could possibly ask from a system that is already designed to work in your favour so shut up and stop whining.	Black, Immigrant, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Nationality - General	4/135	2.963

Where I live in California I have gotten beaten up and picked on, it's almost impossible for me to get a job and the cops will shoot you or arrest you no matter what race you are. White people are a minority here and I didn't get any damn privileges when I was waiting with everyone else at the food bank or when I dropped out of high school and started using public transportation to get to random babysitting jobs(that I only got because I know some Spanish, because of my Hispanic cousins not because I got the privilege to take any classes). Please don't assume all white people are the same, only the rich ones get privileges...	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/118	0.847
Well that proves it. Black people would seem to benefit from being separated from white people. No more being beaten down by the police. The police are black like you. No more harsh punishment from the courts the judge, lawyers and jury are black as well. Black tax dollars pay for what black people want. It's a system I think should be implemented. We self segregate anyway. Forcing people to be around each other only creates more animosity, people should have self determination.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	5/83	6.024
Racism common in...Blacks against Blacks, Blacks against Asian, Asian against Hispanic, Hispanic against Hispanic, Hispanic against Blacks, Blacks against Whites, Whites against LOL NOPE [HOLD THE FUCKING PHONE] DAS RACIST , UNACCEPTABLE WHITES CANNOT BE RACIST CUZ SLAVERY, INHERENT AND SHIIIIIIIIIIET.	Common, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	4/41	9.756
So basically racism is still a large problem but it is.... I don't know...., cleverly disguised by political correctness and people's lack of desire to go out and get facts about racism ?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/32	6.25

2:55”Now Hank I want to be clear that this is mostly correlation which is not causation, but you know, facts are racist , history is racist , white people should feel bad that things were bad in the past and everything I said should be taken in how it emotionally affects you. See, I’m only making this so you feel my appeal to emotion, since logic and study and understanding are very hard, and just ranting is more fun. I could tell you, Hank, that most people who watch these shows don’t actually read the descriptions and won’t click any of the links I posted, they’ll either believe me or won’t and will just start ranting, but I want you to know that that’s good. It’s good that I get to spew jargon that sounds like objective fact but isn’t really because I warped the context, not the content, and in case anyone catches on, I have an out. In this, I’ll jumpcut a bunch so you don’t have time to really process what I say, or in Crash Course I’ll make a joke about Mongols to distract you, or throw animations to dance and tease you.That way you won’t notice how much I inject my personal bias into everything I do.How I have a near sociopathic hatred for my past and the United States, and yet ironically profit off of both in a big way through Alaska.How when that one guy subbed in Crash Course he was more informative and direct than I’ve ever been, and how I really should turn this leave of absence into just leaving my show.And how, in conclusion, I’ll see you on Friday making a much better half of this channel.”	Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/290	0.69
RACISM IS DEEPLY ROOTED IN AMERICA....EVERYTHING IN AMERICA IS RACE RELATED....THIS GOVERNMENT & EVERYTHING INSTITUTION RELATED IS RACISTS.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/18	11.111
I think a more appropriate argument about racism is whether or not it’s improving or getting worst. Arguing that it doesn’t exist at all is roughly the same as saying there’s no meth labs in the United States. It obviously exists, but to what extent? Also it’s not the type of problem that we can just flip some metaphorical switch and it’s gone, it has to decline over generations.We can’t change the people who are the cops or judges or employers. Instead what needs to happen is people need to stop conditioning their kids to be racist , so when they’re the ones who run the world there will be less racism . Outside of that, there really isn’t much the individual can do to stop racism . The best they can do is not be racist themselves. Also I would like to point out that for a lot of the legal racism , the average black man has significantly less to worry about if he’s not doing anything illegal. Granted there will still be some unfair treatment, but you’re not going to get arrested for drugs, whether you’re white or black , if you don’t do drugs in the first place.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	8/198	4.04

How can 75 of white Americans possibly think that there is no bias in the justice system when it comes to race ? They must all live under an enormous rock.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/30	3.333
did you not watch the video at all? Do you not listen to the millions of black people in America who have a story of their race affecting their lives?	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/30	6.667
"Data is cold in a way humans are not." Great quote. The best way to learn about these things is just to hear accounts of how legitimately profound these effects are on people.Also, though I believe experienced market bias is worse for black people, women in general face the same issue that the resume study found. At least in science, that is. Systemic racism exists in so many forms. Great video, John.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/73	2.74
I do recognize that the U.S has a problem with racism , and I'm glad that you are standing up to your beliefs. BUT this protesting in the streets and I guess tonight when the 2015 ball drops is a stupid, irrational thing to do. My dad almost lost his job because he couldn't get to his work in Minneapolis, protesters marched on the roads, people who unlike my dad, have nothing better to do but screw up the things for those who do. Imagine if he were going to a funeral, or to the hospital for some reason, this needs to stop, and we all need to recognize that blacks and whites are really the same inside and out.	Nothing, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	2/119	1.681
I think this is one of the most important vlogbrothers videos ever. A must watch not only for all nerdfighters, but for all people. The fact that the vast majority of white Americans think racism is not a problem is a very big problem in itself. Please share this video	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/50	2.0
isabel martin No the problem is idiots like you too dumb to understand statistics,who will parrot anything some guy equally as idiotic as them regurgitate.The disparity about sentencing doesnt exist or is too small to be taken in consideration.That double digit IQ in the video didnt mention how that 20 figure he uses,dont take in consideration variables like,prior sentencings(prior convictions is fucking huge when you look at these kind of numbers), age ,salary etc... but im sure you wont even bother looking at the links he posted and will believe everything you hear if its makes you feel good :) like a nice little sheep.	Age, Dumb	Age - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/104	1.923
Imagine a world where black people aren't born into a system where they are already seen as second class- where they don't receive worse treatment, education, respect, monetary opportunities, etc, etc. You didn't even watch this video, did you?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/39	2.564

Emery JayAfrica, basically every western nation ? You can kill, rob, rape and you would have a legion of whites defending it. Disgusting.	Nation	Nationality - General	1/23	4.348
We're talking about black people in America. That's this whole conversation. Why are you trying to bring other countries into it?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/21	4.762
Imagine a world where white people took responsibly for the genocide of millions of native americans, and the enslavement of millions of africans and acknowledged that a lot of the racial issues we have today are a direct result of systemic racism that they instituted! That would be a great world indeed!	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/52	1.923
Do you suffer from some sort of mental retardation? Imagine a world where black people aren't born into a system where they are already seen as second class- where they don't receive worse? You wrote that, idiot.	Black, Mental	Ethnicity - Black, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/37	5.405
cindy QueenBecause only white people committed genocide and enslaved blacks. Keep ignoring that your warring tribes enslaved each other in conquest and the arabs that colonized africa and started the slave trade centuries before the white European came. Blacks africans have sub 80 IQ, nothing will ever change that. And looking through your profile, you are another perturbed black women. Continue being salty.	Black, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black	2/64	3.125
cindy QueenYou cited nothing , sheniqua. Stay salty.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/8	12.5
Sethron BowmanWhites had control over the nation they have created, idiot. South Africa didn't exist without the Europeans who made it. Now south africa is a black apartheid. The Europeans created the health care system there as well.	Black, Nation	Ethnicity - Black, Nationality - General	2/39	5.128

It's not surprising to hear that White people are are less racist than Blacks, Hispanics, Asians, etc. After all, no other group of people willingly allows third world mass immigration to overwhelm the founding stocking. Japan/China/Korea have harsh immigration requirements and non Asian populations remain insignificant, Mexico (Hispanic) has very strict immigration laws (much more than the United States) enforced towards Central Americans, Qatar (Islamic) sees virtually zero citizenship for foreigners and the foreign population is cheap labor treated in slave-like conditions, once their contract ends they are deported, and Africa still has wars over which group gets to be in charge. It seems everywhere except in the West, it's pretty natural for populations to want to preserve their people and culture.	Racist, Zero	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	2/122	1.639
I agree that racism is a problem in the us. But I belive it comes from all areas, majoritys and minoritys alike. Racesism in not a white thing just like rape isnt a man thing. Its a people thing. I think race , sex , creed, religion, etc should not effect ones rites.	Race, Racism, Sex	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	3/51	5.882
my dream is that one day we can all (races, ethnicities, people) can talk about race and not feel uncomfortable about it	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/22	4.545
I don't have an Iphone but is it true that there's no emoji of a black person? Have they changed it yet? There are at least 7 emojis of a cat and a whole white family but 0 people of color.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/41	2.439
I've said it before in this channel. Racism is in the DNA of the USA. It was created as a slave state, by slave owners that wrote 'Liberty and Justice for all' where 'all' was implied didn't include black people (and most non-whites). When you emancipated the slaves, most countries, including Britain, had already banned slavery. Your own president Roosevelt was super shitty with Jesse Owens, who had just won gold on Berlin. Hitler even waved at him, but in America, he had to go in the Hotel through the service door and was not invited by the president. HITLER the most famous racist , has nicer to Jesse Owens than the entire United States. Race is always an issue in America because you are born racist , in a racist state. And racism and white guilt is probably one of your biggest cultural exports, too.Not that other countries are not racists, but american racism and race -relations are uniquely poisonous because of your toxic history.	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	8/164	4.878

Does this take into account those that actually have money for a decent lawyer and not just the bottom rung court appointed lawyer? Does it also take into account those of color fitting the stereotype and having FAR more crime per capita than those of non color? Racism is nothing other than stereotyping, to break the stereotype you need to stop being stereotypical.	Nothing, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	2/63	3.175
I think it would be interesting to dive into. Discrimination against a different group other than black is still discrimination, even if on a different level. Asians, Latinos, etc are still being discriminated against...just more unseen. I think it would be interesting to see what can be dug up on the topic.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/52	1.923
...no, but that's just fact. Indians especially were seen 'caucasian' when the british took over. I'm Indian , and I've had racist things happen to me because of that, but I'm not going to compare those experiences to those black people face.	Black, Indian, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native- American	3/41	7.317
That doesn't mean we shouldn't talk about and give attention to those experiences. Just because one problem may be more severe, doesn't mean we should ignore other problems. And the whole attitude of "you're never going to have it as bad as black people" does not do anything to advance any goals pf unity, equality, kindness, etc. It only divides people.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/61	1.639
Tobie Rey not sure where you are getting your facts from.... I am Indian as well and not just saying this from opinion, but Indians were NEVER looked at as caucasian...and we shouldn't be because we are not?! The British took over South Africa as well, were they treated as "caucasians"? lol your comment does not even make sense.	Indian	Ethnicity - Native- American	1/59	1.695
I am not arguing with the fact there is racism in the US, there is. But we need to keep in mind that racism happens both ways and that black people can be racist against white people just as much white people can be racists against black people. It's not genetic, it's what you are taught.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/56	8.929

I think that this take on racism was remarkably eye-opening compared to others. The majority of the statistics that were presented were much more about equality of opportunity instead of opportunity of outcome, and I think that in order to truly solve the problem of racial inequality we need to focus on equality of opportunity. The numbers about crime and jobs fit this description well, as did the healthcare ones to some extent, but I have a few discrepancies with the education statistics. First off, it's important to note that schools that are majority latino and black are typically in poorer areas just from the trouble we have had in creating that equality of opportunity among races in the past. Because of this, the schools in those areas would have less funding, which is arguably a flaw in the system, and then would be able to offer fewer of the courses that were described. Regarding health, I think that there could be a connection between poverty among minorities and factors like life expectancy. Overall though I thought that this was a fairly unbiased description of how racism actually is in the US, and I appreciated the treatment of the statistics, especially the acknowledgement of the presence of correlation, but not necessarily causation.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/212	1.415
Although this doesn't really cover every instance, sometimes any given white person is better educated/richer/more likely to get health care/etc, because they take school more seriously/don't get the education to get a good job/are less healthy. It doesn't have everything to do with race . John touched on this, but there are too many factors to really narrow it down to race . The same thing with a black person being smarter or whatever than a white person, not because of race , but rather circumstance. That said, there is such a thing as racism . My friends family were called terrorists because they are Muslim.	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/102	4.902
The +Vlogbrothers need to do a video on Leelah Alcorn and trans people and their lives. If you disagree with my support as a straight, girl born girl person of the LGBT community, please don't reply to my comment to tell me so because I don't need to hear it. But nerdfighteria is an amazing community and I bet here there are so many more supportive people. If you like this comment that would help so we can get it to the top for the Vlogbrothers to see. If your trans, gay , or anything else, or just having a hard time, keep fighting, because it's not hopeless. Look how many people support Leelah, when she thought she was alone. Sometimes it's hard to find those people, but they're there. Have a nice day everyone!	Gay, LGBT	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality, Sexual Identity - Transsexuality	5/134	3.731
I really hate how when we have a conversation about racism , we forget about Native Americans and Asians.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/18	5.556

Emery Jay ohh... well that's kind of a weird structure for a channel	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/13	7.692
Anyone who dislikes this video, I'm (73.7) Your a Racist .	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/10	10.0
Can you do one of these about sexism ? Thank you!	Sexism	Gender - General	1/10	10.0
Just a few stats no reason to be offended, unless you're RACIST ....lol	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/12	8.333
Racism does not only apply to African Americans and Hispanics. Why were other forms of racial bias, such as racial stereotyping of Asian Americans not addressed in this video?	African, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/29	6.897
I think a large part of African Americans being stereotyped has to do with what the media portrays, but also how they portray themselves.For example dressing a certain way, talking a certain way, embracing an urban hip-hop culture. Now hip-hop doesn't translate into being a criminal, but that's how it's viewed.I have seen many races including whites who get treated differently because of what they like. Hip-hop is sadly represented by negativity, violence, drugs, treating women poorly, etc.So when you see someone who looks like they embrace that, it can create this act of judging. The thing is almost everyone is guilty of this. If you see someone who is skinny ,wearing glasses, carrying comics, you might label them as a nerd. Or if you see someone in all black , chains on their pants, colored hair, you would label them gothic.There is also a small percentage that think what they hear in these rap songs are cool or should be emulated. So people label all blacks because of the actions of few.	African, Black, Colored, Skinny	Ethnicity - Black, Physical Identity - Physical Features	4/176	2.273

for some reason after playing this video my phone smells like propaganda! Statistics are always the easiest to twist in a debate.. Example kids in white neighborhoods are using drugs in there garages and low crime rural areas as blacks are more likely to use in the streets or on corners of bad neighborhoods that are heavily patrolled by Police already hence the higher likely hood of arrest.. Also white kids are more likely to be respectful during arrest than urban kids that favor minorities.. So a basic MJ arrest turns into a mj possession and resistance without or with violence there for the longer sentence...Not saying there is not a problem of inequality because is quite obvious that there is we all know this.. But I thinks its more the responsibility of parents to educate there kids and teach respect and responsibilty to the kids... To many black kids come from broken fatherless homes and or have adult parents that have a F the police attitude and listen to music that degrades there own people.. Its not racism as much as it is culture. IMHO	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/186	1.075
John, you always look like you just woke up when you make a video. Your hair is all frizzy and messed up. Great points, though. The amount of racism in America is disheartening- the numbers I'm seeing are dismal, but they just keep getting worse. We need to eradicate the idea of racial intolerance from our society. I mean, I'm Canadian, and you should see our country. I don't see any racism at all except a little bias against Natives, which is rare unless you live in Winnipeg. That's right, Manitoba. I said it.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/94	2.128
Ashleigh Downes People just don't like anything that is different, that's the hardwiring in there that we've had since the beginning of time, and it applies to everything about people, not just race . The real solution to racism (which I believe is actually culturism) is to stop treating it like it's something that we're taught and instead that it is something innate. Once we realize that it's just a part of our brains, part of the human condition, then we can start approaching it from more scientific angles, instead of just looking at statistics and saying "that's racist " and leaving it there. Perhaps you are right in that the reason we don't like differences, is because we are afraid of them.	Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/121	2.479
Why is it always about black people? There's lots of other races in the states, and they don't seem to have anywhere near the same problem. What does that tell you?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/31	3.226
I've been waiting for you to do this and I'm so happy you did. Thanks for using your platform to elevate black voices.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/23	4.348
Trying to tackle racism without discussing class is difficult...	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/9	11.111

I believe it is time we talked about racism against white people for the very fact alone that white people are lumped together as some non-descript group from the mythical land of "White" who are apparently the cause of every problem any person has. If you have an opinion on "white people" then you are by definition racist . I do not see color when I discuss people. But hey, it's easy to control stupid people by making them think they are a victim and only you can fix their "problem."	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/90	2.222
this comment might sound racist , but I always think of this when i'm shown the "users vs jailed" stats on black vs white drug use. Where do those lines fall when the "white vs black transportation styles" is averaged out?	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/40	7.5
Many high populated cities have a greater African-American community living there due to the plentiful amount of jobs they could receive throughout WWII. Public city schools are generally poorer to suburban school districts. This leads me to the conclusion that many high populated African-American school districts may not offer Chemistry or Algebra II because of a lack of funds. Not due to racism towards their students.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/66	1.515
Not to say there isn't Racism in our Nation , but to prove this specific statistic false.	Nation, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	2/16	12.5
It's both. It's the legacy of racism that created their poverty. Blacks are most likely to live in racially segregated areas after constantly being denied equal access to housing that would allow them better opportunities, ex: redlining. Also the suburbs were designed for white people, not blacks.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/47	2.128
I missed the part where they asked who pays the majority of taxes and who proportionally receives more, or where the entirety of government race-based privileges go, or who commits the most violent crime and against whom, or whose racist terms can bring about legal punishment and who else's are ignored, the list goes on...But, if John says he is a racist because he is white, then I will believe him. Funny, he appears to hate white people as much as his numbers support that he hates black people too. Good guy.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/93	3.226

I have no choice but to subscribe. These guys on news channels spend 30 minutes a day for 2 years arguing about what you just summed up in 4:00. The sad thing is that if you were black stating the exact same thing you wouldn't even be taken seriously. When White America starts to speak out again injustice and remember what America is all about, then we will have some progress on this issue. The first stat you pointed out is the real problem. 70 of White America doesn't see this as a problem. When White America starts to care about this problem, only then will there be any real change or progress. Blacks can march until their feet fall off, it won't change until White America speaks up.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/129	0.775
Very well put, John. Race has always been a problem. Contrary to popular belief it never disappeared. It is just that people are caring more than they did before. And that's great!	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/32	3.125
Im not racist , love everybody but white people doesnt think race has nothing to do with nothing because it never happens to them	Nothing, Race, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	4/23	17.391
I have some questions about those sentencing statistics. You mention that they're for similar crimes; are the sentences given out in the same courts or by the same judges? I think it's a reasonable hypothesis that sentences for a particular crime are harsher in areas where that crime is a bigger problem, and perhaps those areas have higher black populations. There are dozens more reasonable questions that can be asked about the information presented here that wouldn't support this idea about "systemic bias against African Americas" being "not really a debatable point."I think it's far better to dig into the numbers first before we make Youtube videos that claim to be about fixing the world, but really only serve to convince parts of a population that they're victims and other parts of a population that they're subconsciously evil.You're deepening the divide that you claim to want to fix, John, but go ahead and make a follow-up video about how people are blind to their own systemic biases and privileges. That will probably make the most impact.	African, Black, Blind	Ethnicity - Black, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/178	1.685

I had to sign in. I didn't want to but this video made me. Don't you bitch to me about 'MUH RACISMS' when you're using the white internet, which runs on a white/EastAsian computer, powered by white-invented electricity, in a white-designed home, as you wear white clothes, drive a white/EastAsian car, on white-designed streets, and type comments in a white-invented alphabet, as you use white/Jewish invented political rhetoric to argue for a white-designed egalitarian democracy. Without a white/Jewish/EastAsian majority ruling the world, the rest of you pissants would be nothing but hoards of murderous stone-age tribes, and the only thing that keeps you from devolving back to that is US. And frankly, we're getting tired of supporting you and taking care of you. Colonialism, imperialism, and multiculturalism failed, and we're about to go the f ck back home and close the doors to you. Why don't you ignorant f cktards prove our evil white/EastAsian/Jewish science wrong and go build your own countries? Six thousand years of sub-Saharan African history, and you didn't even invent the wheel. Six thousand years of Meso-American history, and your greatest accomplishments were impressive mathematics, astronomy, architecture, and oh yeah, mass human sacrifice, rampant sodomy and bestiality, and paranoid degenerate mysticism. Six thousand years of Middle-Eastern history, and Persia (white), Egypt (white/semitic), and Babylon (white/semitic) were doing quite well, until the Arab invasion and Islam, and look at it now! Public stonings, car bombs, women doused in acid, gays and Christians put to death, etc. Ongoing social violence and cultural degeneracy goes hand-in-hand with the non-civilised 'peoples' of the world. Be thankful and shut up.	African, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black	2/267	0.749
Racism in our judicial system disgusts me. That is supposed to be a public service to keep people safe punish criminals; in actuality, people are paying taxes towards a system that screws them in every way possible if you are a minority.Yes, it's like paying to get fed.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/49	2.041

My freshman year of High school I never did anything wrong. I was a football player, I made straight As and Bs in preAp and MST classes. I was nice to everyone to the point where people walked over me and I was fine with that because I was happy. I even had a girlfriend (my second one) and she told me she was going to be with me forever and I believed her and she broke up with me and started dating another guy and I got so jealous of him so I wrote him a really mean poem on Facebook which the principal interpreted as "Threatening his life". All I was saying was that I hate him and I envy him and he better make her happy. I ended up getting suspended for 3 days, so they could think of what to do with me, then they sent me to an Alternative Education Center for 20 school days just so I could come back to the news that they decided to expel me. I don't know if it was because I'm Hispanic and they didn't trust me or because I was a football player (most of them were kind of ghetto even white and one asian and other Hispanics) but I tried staying pure and doing everything right, staying away from drugs and alcohol and peer pressure and I make one stupid mistake and suddenly I'm expelled from a school I love. I ended up being so depressed I thought about killing myself but I would never do something stupid like that for some stupid school I probably won't care about later. But I still want to know why. Why was I expelled. I know it's not just because I "Threatened" him. I know there's something else but I probably won't ever know.	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	1/305	0.328
If people just saw others equal to what they are and judged people by their actions not their race , everything would be a lot better	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/25	4.0
It's really sad that race literally plays such a key role in our every day lives. Those who are not minorities take it for granted because they do not notice the small things that end up being big problems in our every day lives. Excellent video.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/46	2.174
It's racist to assume that Jamal and Laquisha are exclusively black names.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/12	16.667

I just want to say that while I agree with much of this video, I think the idea of class and wealth disparity trumping race cannot be stressed enough. In every work environment I've ever seen save one (which was explicitly and unabashedly racist ) a black person in a suit would get a job over a white person in "poor looking" clothes with the same skill set. Similarly, judges, prosecutors and police are, in my experience, far more likely to give a pass to a black person who looks and sounds well-educated than a white person who looks and sounds like a high school dropout from the inner city.The problem (as you allude to) is almost entirely the association between race and socioeconomic status, both in reality and in perception (which I think you'll find is why there was so much disparity in the handling of those resumes... not that Jammal sounds " black " but that it sounds "poor" or "inner city"). If we can shift black communities out of poverty (not merely make poverty more comfortable) I think we can actually make the end of most racism in America a reality.So, to that end here are some ideas:1. Stop emphasizing teaching inner city kids what they need to get through high school standardized testing. Teach them what they need for life. Teach them to measure risk/reward; to understand finance and the time-value-of-money; etc.2. Give more technology tools to youth in these communities. Not laptops and tablets, but Raspberry Pis and 3D printers. Let's fire some imaginations and get the next generation of Steve Jobs and Bill Gates into their parents' garages!3. Make. Marijuana. Legal. Everywhere. It's hard to make more of a dent in the prison culture of the US than to eliminate the primary reason that people are jailed as an offense. We can do it.	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	8/312	2.564
You missed the one study that proved that both parties, largely write back to their Caucasian sounding constituents. Im brown and i also had so many awesome experiences with all races, but sucks that these leaders of ours just bring us back to the stone age .	Age	Age - General	1/46	2.174
"Data is cold in the way humans are not", except when it's being abused to look differently than it is to further an agenda, such as the gender paygap fallacy.I don't think you'd misrepresent data though, at worst you misunderstood it or was misinformed yourself.I have to ask; When black people on average get higher sentences, is that for the same type of crime or on average? There's quite a distinction...	Black, Gender	Ethnicity - Black, Gender - General	2/73	2.74

I get this is a four minute video, but it also only covered Black and Latino people. It doesn't cover the erasure and genocide of Indigenous peoples of North and South America... People still are trying to erase the culture and language. And still think that Casinos make a ton of money—which they don't. And people STILL think that indigenous peoples lived in one huge tribe. I had to fight with someone over that... Algonquins are not Navajo.How the myth of the model Asian is a myth. (Read Myth of the Model Minority by Joe Feagin and Rosalind Chou.) For example, people auto point to East and South Asians in particular as "making it" (ignoring things like South West Asians... Iran, Iraq... 'cause apparently that's not part of Asia??? Since when?) but then ignore that the majority of Asians also live in major metropolitan areas, such as San Francisco, New York City, Seattle, Los Angeles, which are also by numbers some of the most expensive cities in the country. Not to mention the Japanese concentration camp (Jewish Death Camp... let's call it what it is), and then the killing of Vincent Chin because he was Chinese, mistaken for Japanese...People often mistake racism for only black and white, and talk about black civil rights leaders, but then ignore civil rights leaders from other groups. Hey, on Crash course someone actually said when I mentioned Marquez that you were covering only American Lit... when Marquez is part of American lit classes (and also one of the most banned...). Doesn't that say a lot? Racism isn't only black and white, it's also brown and white. And while black and brown peoples have different struggles, even per ethnic groups, the basic goals are still the same.	Black, Ethnic, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	8/294	2.721
Oh how I relate to the nerve factor of making this video. I am currently writing a YA book with a black Australian main character (because do you notice how all the women on YA covers are white?) ...but as a white person, I am very nervous about it, because I fear I cannot possibly do justice to the everyday racism experienced by people of colour.Now, I'm not going to stop, because it's important to share this story, but I'm going go make every effort to listen to those who have been affected by racism and do what I can to help.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/103	2.913
I was talking about this with a family member who believes racism is dead. When looking at the data and hearing stories from people who've experienced it you can't tell me racism is dead. When I have to worry my husband will get pulled over JUST because of his race, racism is alive.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	4/53	7.547

Yet more than 50 played a blind eye	Blind	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/8	12.5
You mention that correlation is not causation as a complete aside when the entire message of your video is that racism causes these things. For someone so smart it baffles me how you can be so stupid. None of this information challenges anything you already want to believe, John, so you don't question it. You should question it; not question that the cold numbers are false, but as to what these numbers might mean. "It's systemic racism " is such a broad, non-specific, elusive culprit that it should only be declared when every other possible explanation has been ruled out.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/99	2.02
Oh race is nothing .	Nothing, Race	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	2/4	50.0
Thank you for posting a video about this, John. But mostly, thank you for allowing black voices to speak on this topic through the playlist and links. I feel that a lot of the time when white people talk about racism , they tend to talk over those mostly impacted by it and dismiss their experiences, whether they mean to or not. I'm glad that didn't happen here.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/67	2.985

Being with and liking people you identify with is normal (same goes for nerdfighteria), xenophobia (that is the fear of what you do not know, not hating it, get your latin straight, please) is also perfectly normal. Therefore a weaker person will use this to want to feel superior, or if they are in some ways better of than other they will use it to maintain their position of power. The core issue of racism is the social isolation of people who are weak and different, who then come together over projecting blame onto others for this. Institutional racism is different, as most who do it are not even racists, but they get racially charged data, and then they make a rational choice based on the data they have. If the statistical data says black people are X, Y and Z, and that is the only data they get, well then that is factored in, when they decide who to hire. This is not about data and truth, but about discourses and perceptions. Certain group have certain social stereotypes and those affect everyone in that group. And it is not just up to everyone else to accept that. It is also the job of that group to fight their negative stereotype. As I see it from outside the US (it is pretty much the same everywhere), the vast majority of both the majority and the minorities are not will to put in the proper effort to look inside themselves for what they can change, and people just blame society instead of thinking about that they are a part of that society.	Black, Racism, Xenophobia	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	4/271	1.476
I know this is besides the point but is it really necessary to say African American? What's wrong with just saying black ? That's what we're getting at, right? Black people who live in America, not people who have emigrated from Africa... they aren't exactly synonymous	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/45	6.667
Systemic racism in the US is rampant and obvious. Having said that, I think I will avoid the flame war and just add that I'm glad to see John is feeling and sounding much better.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/35	2.857
racism= STUPIDITY . But calling someone racist with no reason is ALSO offensive- making someone sound ignorant for no reason	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/20	5.0

Part of the problem is that, for the most part, we're speaking two different languages when it comes to racism . For people who believe in the system, citing statistics on black conviction rates and criminal sentencing can reinforce rather than tear down preconceptions. We can't eliminate bias, we're certainly not going to in the next two decades. The best avenue for reducing police violence against the black community is to remove legal burdens on all of society, rather than trying to pass laws to make current laws more fairly adjudicated. When police enforce ordinances against non-violent crime, it brings violence to an otherwise peaceful situation (as the primary tool of all law is the use of force and coercion.) Ending the drug war, reducing regulations, and lifting unnecessary laws (such as the one that prompted the confrontation between Eric Garner and police) will level the field more than positive legislation ever could.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/152	1.974
Another aspects to bear in mind is that non- african immigrants reached political posts faster than african (forced?!) immigrants. Just consider how much italian- or irish-descended (to point some of the immigrants who did not received a fancy welcome into america) official, mayor and governor one can count before reaching the first black male or female elected for such a post.	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/60	3.333
This is all easy for john to say from his white, gated community. Try being white and growing up in a black neighborhood, then we'll compare notes.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/27	3.704
Shalom, Your correct, and if your brave enough to listen to those voices and nothing but documented FACTS then you can view it here "Whited Out 2: Background Check" here on you tube. Shalom.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/34	2.941
Ever looked at GENDER BIASES in THE SAME STATISTICS? Men get much harsher sentences for the same crime then women (effect is about 3x the racial difference in sentencing) and make up almost the entire prison population (remember: biological differences do not exist when a statistic favors men, so they don't exist here, too). Men are also much more likely to be the victim of violent crime then women (yet women allegedly have a reason to be afraid). In education boys lag behind, which is gleefully celebrated by feminists who allegedly just want gender equality. There are even laws that just protect women, like the "Violence against women act", despite the fact that women are as violent in relationships ( lesbian relationships are actually the most violent). And finally health care: men die almost six years earlier then women. Remember: life expectancy is really the ultimate measure...	Gender, Lesbian	Gender - General, Sexual Identity - Female homosexuality	3/146	2.055

what kind of losers give a shit about racism . quit bitchin make something out of urself, become a millionaire. money doesnt have a race and nobody hates money	Nobody, Race, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	3/28	10.714
This my dear friends is why I live in Canada. Sure there might be racism , but it is no where close to as bad as it is in the States. Throughout my life I have noticed barely any racism and people of colour often have the same positions in the workforce as whites do and they also have access to the same healthcare no matter what. Canada is a cultural melting pot and the majority of Canadians (especially my generation, I am 18) like it that way. I love my country for many reasons and that is one of them. I really and truly hope that the US can do something about racism in their country in the future, because if you eliminate hate and ignorance, life is much more sweeter to live for everyone. :) Happy New Years Nerdfighters!!!!	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/140	2.143
Great video! The only thing is, is people act like there are only two "colors" in America, which is definitely not the case. Racism happens with other races too, it's not just African Americans.	African, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/34	5.882
Thank you for including a playlist made up of PoC voices. It's so important to have representation in the media and though you did a great job of explaining systematic racism , emphasizing on the words of actual marginalized people is a huge deal.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/43	2.326
It's a mind set problem. I heard it said one time that " poor white people have a lot more in common with poor black people then they have with rich white people ".	Black, Common	Ethnicity - Black, Social Class - Working class	2/34	5.882
Bottom line ,The Usa was founded by Men Who Wanted There TRIBE Of white men to be equal to other white men and to experience freedom,BLACKS,MEXICANS & ANYONE ELSE WAS NOT IN THE MINDS OF THE RACIST FOUR FATHERS!	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/39	2.564
madebutante what you just said was done by every race , and white people were victim to. so this is not unique to whites.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/23	4.348

But we're not responsible for other people, only our own country. We're only 200 years old - a young nation relatively. A 'democracy'. The fact that racism was created to divide the people from joining forces to become a stronger united democratic force should send red flags - IF you care about democracy and the end of oligarchic rule.As to the moral and legal aspects, the United States was built on stolen land by an enslaved people. I believe the only way forward is to be accountable for our past, make amends and go forward. That's the only formula for healthy growth that I know of.History shows our Treaties weren't kept; we are engaged in illegals wars and have been for the last oh, 200 years! Time for accountability.	Nation, Old, Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Native-American, Nationality - General	4/131	3.053
Those first racist laws in America made after Bacon's Rebellion when Africans/Englishmen rose up together to overthrow the elite, continued past the time when everyone else was getting Social Security Benes but Domestics couldn't, to Blacks not getting their GI benefits like education and a house in the burbs. Cumulative wealth which is how most 'white' people become wealthy wasn't available to most African Americans. . The average income for a 'white' person is $100,000 and for an African American, it's $4900. Stats r here: [LINK] Have a happy ny	African, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/90	3.333
First I hate to be a grammer nazi but it fore not four... sorry that was bothering meAnd umm... mexico wasn't a thing then... and um... serveral of the Fore Fathers fought for Black rights... or thought that blacks weren't actually human begins... but that's besides the point.If you read through documents that have been added to our law (I'm assuming your in the US) then you see that there are equal rights to all human begins... Now why do blacks get hired (or whatever other action you wish to put there) less than other parties... well, I hate to break it to you but these studies took data from a ton of areas with a ton of different beliefs, cultures, economics, and a thousand other factors that these studies didn't take into account....	Black, Nazi	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Black	2/136	1.471
I don't think you guys are realising how racist towards whites you're being right now.Just because white people are known as racists ( racist stereotype of my race ) doesn't give you an excuse to be racist .Thats like just because bears are known to kill people so we should be allowed to kill all bears.	Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General	4/53	7.547
grit1 the declaration of independence never specified race you bigot	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/10	10.0

the fuel you can't deny that the founding fathers were racist . They all owned slaves. Not only were blacks not allowed to vote or given any guaranteed rights (like the right to hold land) but black slaves only counted as 3/5ths of a person. Treatment of slaves, free men of color, and native Americans declined significantly after the revolutionary war. These are all documented facts.Also, believing in broad cultural racism and institutionalized racism is not racism against white people. Discussing white privlage is not being racist against white people. White privlage is real and exists. Don't complain about people being racist towards you. With all the white supremacists running around in the comments section you're hardly dealing with any serious issues of racial harassment.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/125	5.6
Alexis Fountain I don't think you should argue that the founding fathers weren't racist . Nearly all of them owned slaves and there is no way to justify that. They owned other people and thought it was okay.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/37	2.703
NotTotallyHopeless You shouldn't have to worry about people being racist towards you.With all the black superemicists running around you're hardly dealing with any serious issues of racial harrassment.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/28	7.143
the fuel okay first off, you can't justify slavery. Nothing justifies slavery. There were plenty of people during that time who realized how entirely messed up slavery was and freed their slaves. It wasn't even exceptionally rare. So don't try to justify the owning of slaves. It's super fucked up. Also I doubt I'm being the KKK towards white people because I'm white. I'm lily white. I'm so white that I wear SPF 50. Not being racist towards African Americans does not mean I'm being racist towards white people. Calm down. I doubt I'm claiming white people all deserve to die because then I'd be saying I should die, along with my family. And I like them, my mom pushed me out of her vagina, I hardly want her to be lynched.	African, Nothing, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/132	3.03
the fuelI Have many friends from eastern europe,they are white and they also view western whites as total racist and a threat to world peace and stability! so no,we are not racist towards whites as whole we just have a strong dislike towards the ones from WESTERN EUROPE AND THE U.S,Russia did not have to invade africa to build itself up and make itself strong but all of western europe did.so no not all WHITE PEOPLE,JUST WESTERN AND SOUTHERN WHITES,FRENCH,BRITISH,BELIGUM,SPAIN,PORTUGEL AND AMERICAN WHITES! ETC Your guilt is really glowing my friend ;)	Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/93	2.151

MRDESTRUCTION26 I'm sorry but why am I, as I white female in the USA, attomatically thought to be a racist and a threat to world peace? I don't hate anyone for being of a different race and or belief, and I think world peace is impossible right now but something we should definately work towards. In truth very few whites in the USA are actually racist . People just like to point the finger at some one.	Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/76	3.947
Because it was mostly white people who created this nation .	Nation	Nationality - General	1/10	10.0
It's fucking hilarious how some of you think the fact that they owned slaves influence what our nation is like today.Yeah theres racial unrest but thats because some cops went out of line but it's not like it's because of slavery.If I thought the way you did I would say "France was founded by neanderthals for neanderthals and no no mention of the homo erctus's or homo sapiens there france is so speciesist."	Nation	Nationality - General	1/73	1.37
Charles PowellWorking hard has nothing to do with how you treat other people,the bitch is dumb !	Dumb, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/17	11.765
the fuel Okay, first of all, again, I doubt I hate white people as a race because I'm white. I don't think all white people are racist because I'm white. I don't only want to hang out with white people. I didn't exactly grow up in an area full of WASPs so it'd be kind of hard. You're just upset because I'm white so you can't run around saying how I don't understand how "oppressed" you are. You're not opressed, you're privlaged in many many ways. As for people freeing there slaves, it actually was common . There were basic forms avaiable for slave owners to do it, and many people did it in their will. My family did it. Also, you shouldn't use anti-gay slurs. It's inappropriate and propagates the oppression of LGBTQ+ people.	Common, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	3/134	2.239
NotTotallyHopeless faggot	Faggot	Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	1/2	50.0

the fuel I hope you know you're just embarrassing yourself. I'm not bothered by you thinking I'm gay , but good God do you look like an idiot.	Gay	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	2/27	7.407
NotTotallyHopelessIt's also ironic seeing as how much support the sexual and gender minorities movement gave the black civil rights movement.	Black, Gender, Sexual	Ethnicity - Black, Gender - General	3/21	14.286
dee jay I couldn't disagree with you more, Look at world history, Sure other ethnic groups have discriminated against themselves and one another. But none like the European, From India, China, Japan, The middle east, Asia, Africa, This Country known as America and many others, there is no country today that does not bare the scars of Colonialism. Leaders of the Dominican Republic actually still believe that the mother land is Spain. To say any one group has done what the European has done is just grossly inaccurate. Also even after this video you said that there is no way that Blacks are legally discriminated against in today's legal system. Again wrong Read "The New Jim Crow " sorry i forgot the name of the author however this book examines just how legal racism has evolved over the years. The Audiobook was also posted on YOutube.	Crow, Ethnic, Jim Crow, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/145	2.759
Alexis Fountain how would you know if most people are or aren't racist in America?	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667
the fuel so your mad at me cause I cant see how most people aren't racist ? Funny how the people who don't experience racism are the first to say its non existent. I have no wish to insult you. But since its SO obvious that must, means it shouldn't be hard to prove. SO tell me how do you see that most people aren't Racist	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/65	4.615
Christopher Shakur I have never met one racist person in my life.I've gone into the deep south and I've encountered 0 (count 'em zero ) examples of racism .Heres a better question, how do YOU see that most people ARE racist ?Also what racism have you faced that was SOOOO terrible in your personal life.I'd love to hear your sob story that sounds like "BOO HOO I'M BLACK AND AUTOMATICALLY OPPRESSED WHITE PEOPLE CAN'T SAY ANYTHING BECAUSE THEY'RE WHITE WAAAAAAH!"	Black, Racism, Racist, Zero	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/77	7.792

Christopher Shakur Also I do face racism with threads like these so don't act like white people can't be offended by racism .Just because I'm white doesn't mean I don't know about racism .Thats like saying just because someones black they wouldn't know what it's like to be rich.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/47	8.511
Christopher Shakur DAMN SON you expected me to read all of that. Fat chance!HAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA fucking loser who'd spend time typing this shit about "MY OPPRESSION!BOO HOO WHITE PEOPLE DON'T KNOW ABOUT ME!"	Fat	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/31	3.226
You must've failed history class. I can see what you're insinuating about, and you're wrong.Did you know that it was a black man that was the very first slave owner in the United States and that he actually went to court for his right to have a slave? His name is Anthony Johnson. You can read all about him if you took the time to look him up. Have you ever heard of Antoine Dubuclet? He was the son of two free blacks. He ran his father's sugar plantation and managed over 70 slaves.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/95	1.053
the fuelBut they were the ones who profited the most from it This Is Fact :D If it was not for the bastards of the british owning africans & destroying the natives with the help of the spanish then i can bet my dick on a chopping block that the usa as we know it would have been totally different and not in the favor of the racist as well. Another fact is SLAVERY AND WW2 MADE THE USA ALL KINDS OF WEALTHY,Each event c played a huge role in the usa becoming the super power it is today.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/100	1.0
kingofprussia17I Also respect Fidel castro,stanin,mao,thomas pain,putin,Einstien,The African King of mali Munsa,Thomas sankara,patrice lubumba,kwame nukurum,muhammad ali,the maroons ,EVEN BUDDAH lets also throw in NIKOLA TESLA & many more who fought against WHITE RACIST OR WHO WERE ENLIGHTEN ONES , ,the four fathers are on the bottom of my list,in fact,they arent even on my list. Read a book called LIES MY TEACHER TOLD ME. Hitler openly said all of his views But Men like Linclon freed the african slaves in this country after 500 years only to contribute & continue the racism long after the civil war,oh & FUCK TRUEMAN TOO and lyndon B jhonson who was a functional racist !	African, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/110	4.545
Christopher ShakurI Wish Africa Had a Hitler around the time when cheap poor europeans started coming into africa,working with arabs & some africans! if we did have man wit that kind of fire for his people,same as the many black leaders in africa who were shot dead for trying to help blacks in africa,then i can assure you that the u.s would not be the most powerful country there is to date.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/73	1.37

Christopher ShakurLook a the u.s as a drug dealer who got rich off of or robbing other dope dealers and innocent peoples houses or a partner who worked with other partners then once they became more powerful and didnt need the help from there partners,they turned on them and established supremacy. All Black Brown white, african ,european,asian and mexicans and other natives of north central and south america need to know the true history of the founding of the united states. Watch a documentary on youtube by ” Oliver stone” The true history of the united states.	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/96	2.083
Christopher ShakurExplain about tulsa and women? and yes munsu was very wealthy,also read a book called,the destruction of black civilization by dr chancellor williams,you can read some of it online or watch a doc on it here on youtube.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/40	2.5
Christopher ShakurShaka zula was a great man but had way to many enemys of his own race ,unlike queen Nzinga of angola who destroyed the portugese army along with help from the dutch and saved many africans from being taken as slaves during the time. i respect her far more then shaka zula,his tribe genocided many other tribes. not a very smart move.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/63	1.587
”MEXICANS” isn’t a race ...	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/4	25.0
The funny thing is that if our white colonial ancestors weren’t racist there’d be almost no blacks in the US or the rest western hemisphere for that matter.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/28	3.571
The past was a bit dark that is also not a fully true statement but many nations before us were like that and we created a nation with revolutionary ideas of freedom and we repaired those racial issues since then	Nation	Nationality - General	1/40	2.5
Look up ”Glen Beck Black founding fathers” They speak about the many black who weren’t slaves at the time of the Revolutionary war it’s on Youtube. Don’t be like the fool that dudes a idiot. Doesn’t even know when someone’s calling him stupid	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/43	4.651
+MRDESTRUCTION26 Our Four Fathers were racist ??? I believe slaves were bought and sold in Africa by people of the same color. I also remember in History that a white repulican President allowed his country to divide and fight a war, a war that took a lot of lives... white and black , to take the first step towards equality.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/58	3.448
A lot of important information was shared in this video, but why when talking about race does everyone leave out any information about racial bias against the latin-American or asian-American communities. I know the evidence might not lead to as much injustice towards those people, but they to are persecuted and deserve to have light spread on there situations.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/59	1.695

I like to see a study that show your change to die in a black neighborhood by a shooting vs a white neighborhood.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/23	4.348
--	-------	-------------------	------	-------

”There are three kinds of lies: lies, damned lies, and statistics.”While it is somewhat refreshing to see that you’ve attempted to make an argument that is backed up with facts instead of emotion, I must say that your conclusion that racism is the underlying reason is a hasty one. While I agree that a small few of these studies could be used to support your point I disagree with the vast majority of it. Some of your arguments I took issue with because they were immediately noticeable to me as being illogical, while others require careful deliberation not worthy of a YouTube comment.The more illogical of them are as follows...”African Americans are far more likely to be stopped and searched”Because the average black person is more likely to be criminal. In almost every Police Department across America, police are required to meet some sort of quota. They simply choose the most likely person who is going to get their quota filled. Are the police profiling based off of race? Of course they are. But to assume it’s out of some hatred of black people is illogical. If the facts had shown that Asians committed a significant portion of the crime in the United States, Asians would be pulled over. It is not at all unique to black people. Don’t like it? Participate in your community and voice your desire to change how the current system works. So long as quota’s exist, profiling will exist in noticeable numbers.”although the contraband hit rate is higher among white people”Because Whites are only stopped when there is a more concrete reason to suspect there is something wrong.”Those wrongfully convicted and later exonerated by DNA are disproportionately African American”So what? Take a look at the source you posted. Look at all 383 cases. The vast majority of the convictions were made in the 80’s and early 90’s, which was decades ago. How is this supposed to support your argument that there is a racism problem in 2015?”Black kids are far more likely to be tried as adults and more likely to receive life sentences”So what? Nowhere in the article does it state that whites who have committed the same crimes that warranted this punishment received a less severe punishment blacks.”Emily and Brendan are more hireable than Lakisha and Jamal” [LINK] You seem to love the socioeconomic approach so let’s apply it to this situation. Lakisha and Jamal are names associated with low income and ghetto culture, while Emily and Brendan are not. I highly doubt that if the names had instead been Xavier and Jasmine (top 20 blackest names, see source above), the results would be the same. I’d also wager that if the white names were Dustin and Brandy, you’d see similar trends.”High schools with mostly African American and Latino students are less likely to offer courses in Algebra II or Chemistry than high schools with mostly white students”So what? These courses are not offered because the students are not taking them. If you had bothered to read your article, you’d see that when the classes were offered, black students took them at significantly lower rates than Whites and Asians. If there is nobody to take the course, then it won’t be offered. This can’t be blamed on racism. It’s the fault of the students alone.”And this story discusses the fact that African American students are more than twice as likely to be suspended as white students—even in preschool.”Once again, this is	African, Black, Nobody, Race, Racism, Whitey	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - White	20/774	2.584
---	---	--	---------------	--------------

" racism existsso what?"	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/4	25.0
Every race contains good and bad people (i.e criminals, racist people etc.) the race of a person doesn't determine whether a person becomes a criminal. It's just that some races tend to have more bad people than others and that has to happen. It's near impossible to achieve an equal amount (in percentage) of good and bad people between every single race . It doesn't mean the races that have more bad people are bad. It means that there are bad people in that particular race . and the good people who come from that race shouldn't be treated badly because of the other people in the race . Even if a race has ONE good person from it, that person shouldn't be unfairly treated. That's all I have to say to every single racist person including both white and black people.	Black, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	10/139	7.194
What about the racist human resources sector? What about how the front lines of systemic racism is the human resources sector, which routinely throws out resumes from applicants with black- and Spanish-sounding names if they're applying for more technical, creative, and administrative positions, unless it's a region of the country where blacks and Spanish predominate, or if they specifically speak Spanish? Or what about how EEO (Equal Employment Opportunity) personnel are secretly in place to actually dismiss EEO complaints by applicants who have indeed been discriminated against, unless it's a kind of discrimination that is fashionable to clamp down on, like discrimination against women? What about how this whole system of specifically barring blacks and hispanics from jobs is really the very front lines of the well-oiled and seamless system of crypto-apartheid, socioeconomic feudalism and even genocide in America? What about that?And don't even get me started on the so-called "academic advisement" sector in the college industry, and how they secretly wage psychological warfare behind closed doors on "undesirable" ethnicities striving to improve in majors that yield higher incomes after graduation. Don't get me started on that.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/188	1.064

I won't preach about racism in the USA and how to solve it because I don't live there, but I can say this, even as an outsider you can tell that it still exist. And in my opinion is not just mainly against black people, latinos and asian people get singled out a lot. The thing that strikes me the most is the fact that Cosmopolitan, a magazine about fashion and "celebrities" and sometimes health (who am I kidding, it's just about dieting) , anyway something that women of al races are intrested in, has a "regular" version and a latino one (I don't know if there are more, but if there are it just make it worse). Even on their online page they have articles directed only for latinas, and it gets me thinking... are latinas not allowed to read whatever they want without someone telling them "this is the content disigned for you so read this". And every latina article deals with a stereotype, many are just lists of stereotypes, and then you get the ones where they complain about the stereotypes...they are the ones enforcing them!!! It doesn't make it ok that a latina wrote it, because I'm pretty sure that's what they hired them for, not to write articles, but to write latina articles. It all makes me pretty angry.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/224	0.893
309 racist disliked this video so far. Smh	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/8	12.5

Indeed racism is nuanced and I believe a more nuanced discussion is needed. 0:25 You use the word systemic; that is debatable. If you mean to say that racism happens within the system, I agree with you; it does because there are racist people in the world and some make it into positions of power and decision making. But what I think you mean to say is that racism is a product/outcome of the system itself. That I disagree with. You used systemic broadly in this case to mean economic, political, and justice systems; and in these cases the inequality that exists might be better explained with the history of race (not necessarily racism now) and the way that wealth relates to power. You're going to see me say this a lot: we need to control for wealth of the individual, family, and/or community before we can confidently suggest racism is the cause of an inequity. 0:37 Control for wealth. 0:52 Control for wealth. 0:59 Again, control for wealth. Either way though, stop and frisk laws promote discrimination as the subject of the stop is subject to any of the law enforcement officials biases with no oversight. 1:14 You could make a few arguments here. You could say the reason that blacks are exonerated more is due to the fact that blacks are charged/convicted/sentenced to death in higher proportions, and whether or not that has to do with racism. You could say that there is more concern about false convictions due to race, so blacks get exonerated more because their cases get looked at more. In any case I'd like to see more data. 1:19 Control for wealth. 1:24 and 1:43 Fair enough. It is in our best interest in all cases to account for possible influencing factors in cases like this, and it seems in this case race was the chief and possible sole factor in this huge discrepancy. Now we must ask ourselves what sort racism was at play here; an intentional malevolent racism, an unintentional racism, or perhaps some other racism that doesn't quite fit in the other categories. The sort or racism at fault will dictate what our response should be. If it is intentional then some systematic change or punishment must take place. If it is unconscious then exposure normalization of race and working towards a post racial society should be our goal. 2:15 Again, control for wealth. Most schools are funded by property tax. 2:31 Control for wealth. The reason that I am so focused on wealth inequality is because I am concerned about equality as a whole. I fear that we are focusing so much on race that we are failing to address where the majority of inequality steams from: wealth. It's not that racism isn't something to be concerned about, but we assume it in cases of suspected inequality to the exclusion of other factors. We need to seek the greater picture that a full examination of wealth would provide.	Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	18/498	3.614
--	----------------------	---------------------	--------	-------

But what about black people being racist toward white people? ..don't be mean to me, I'm just saying,	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/18	11.111
he said it in the video. confusing correlation with causation. if that statement is applied to this video then the entire argument is shut down. don't be fooled by this race apologist. he can talk as fast as he wants and mislead as much as he can but we don't buy it. GB2IndoctrinateU	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/53	1.887
Regardless, you're focusing on semantics as opposed to the point. Racism exists. White people in the United States are privileged. What we call that privilege is completely irrelevant.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/28	3.571
Charles Rogers If you read the definition of privilege (and the perks it has) than you see that most of it applies to the black majority.Also what exactly has been "demolished"? Uplifting a civilization is never without victims. Most whites paid the price for the industrial age as being forced to live in poor conditions for centuries and so paid nearly every other human population on earth. However, in the end, everyone profited from it.I'm pretty sure africans prefer their current technical comfort over their old tribal life.	Age, Black, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Black	3/90	3.333
Charles Rogers And its not irrelevant how you call it. Calling it white privilege adds an racist (against whites, since a whole population gets generalized) marking instead of the class based privilege of the majority.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/35	2.857
"I'm pretty sure africans prefer their current technical comfort over their old tribal life."This is so disgustingly inaccurate it hurts.The idea that technical comfort and tribal life are mutual exclusive is disgusting... and the suggestion that people in Africa are better off now than they would have been had Colonialism never happened is hilarious.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/56	1.786
Charles Powell Why there a castles in Ethiopia? Because it lays next to the red sea and got influenced heavy by Arabs and later by Islam.Africans owned Africa for millennia but they never managed to use those resources nor did they know what to with them. Resources don't get their value from nature but from humanity itself.They didn't benefit from electricity? running water? The basic idea of hygiene? Civilization itself?	Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	2/72	2.778

Charles PowellOh, I forgot the Ancient Greeks, Ancient Egyptians and Ancient Romans were black . Stupid afrocentric garbage. It was only recently that black africans created a written language. I love this logic, they claim white people are so racist and yet here are these black africans and arabs risking their lives to enter Europe. Ahah, clowns.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/57	7.018
Charles Powell Are you saying the ancient Egyptians were numidians?The ancient Egyptians moved in from the middle east so no, they weren't black .	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/24	4.167
Charles Powell Escape the Romans? Ancient Egypt was a thing long before the roman empire (Actually, when the Romans came along Greeks were rulers in Egypt (Cleopatra).Never heard kemet and had to google it. Evidence for black Egyptians is sketchy at best and there is actually counter evidence on Wikipedia (kemet means black but also a lot of other things) [LINK] This is how Egyptians saw the Africans (numidians).	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/70	2.857
White privilege is a GLOBAL thing. But it manifests more acutely in western countries. Even in south america where the white population is relatively small as compared to the united states, whites still possess a disproportionate amount of power and wealth in pretty much every nation as compared to the indigenous, mestizo, or black populations.	Black, Nation	Ethnicity - Black, Nationality - General	2/55	3.636
Charles Powell I know you're just trolling m8 but for people who read this and seriously believe Cleopatra was black : No, no and no. She was born into the Ptolemaic family, a Greek dynasty from Macedonia.And your evidence is sketchy. Its a black nationalist website. I put those on the same biased level as communist websites who ramble about a fascist conspiracy or national socialist forums where they blame everything on Jewish supremacy.	Black, Communist	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Black	2/74	2.703
cindy QueenSouth Africa got overthrown by natives decades ago and the government in south Africa consists entirely of blacks (ironically they transformed a state on the same level as any other first world country into a crime ridden hole and the life expectation dropped by 30). But there is white privilege there since whites have a huge chance to get revenge killed, its common that farms get attacked and wiped out.But you said white privilege is global,tell me about the white leaders in china, japan, India, turkey, Iran, Venezuela or any other country where apparently the white man reigns.There is no such thing as white privilege, just privilege of the majority which isn't race based but class based.	Common, Race	Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	2/121	1.653
RaniK Yeah with money they got from the resources they stole from the land and the exploitation of black workers. Oy Vey!	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/22	4.545

Yes, Asians in Asia are mostly of Asian decent, MOST Africans are black , but Americans are not just white, we are pretty much every kind of people. The way you are phrasing this statement suggests that only white people in America are Americans which totally contradicts America's purpose and statement of freedom as a country. Furthermore, you have (most likely) NEVER been to Africa or Asia, how would you even know who the "privileged" people are? I, myself, have actually been to a lot of Asia, and the majority of people are Asian but they don't really discriminate against other races and welcome/treat persons of other skin and others that carry the same color all as JUST people. So before you post any nonsense on YouTube please educate yourself and get your facts straight.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/134	0.746
RaniK Oh, so you are attempting to mock me by doing racist impression of a black "mammie", which, in turn, exposes how you see black people, and also explains your ignorant original and subsequent comments. What's disturbing is that 11 racists also agreed with you. To address your second point, the jobs that the white Afrikaner's "gave" to the indigenous blacks of South Africa were menial, low wage, or high risk (like the miners working in the diamond mines) and also exploitative. Whites also segregated blacks to living in the poverty stricken shanty towns outside of the major cities. So no, the white man was NOT doing them any favors. More like relegating them to a life of poverty and second-class citizenship.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/122	2.459
cindy QueenIf we use that kind of logic then we can say that there is also Muslim privilege because a tiny minority used to reign over the Balkans or how about Mongolian privilege because a tiny minority of Mongolians used to reign over European lands. This logic leads to nowhere because it isn't current anymore. While whites used to be in positions of power BACK THEN they aren't now. Nowadays the majority rules in South Africa which is black . So no, what you wrote doesn't refute my argument it actually just misses the point.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/95	1.053

SiloAAOlisWell that's human history for you. No race on this planet is innocent of spilling blood, hell our whole history as humans consists of the strong conquering the weak. I don't see the European colonization of America any less bad than the spread of Islam which killed and enslaved countless Christians and Jews or the Crusades who were an answer to that violence. Further more you really should look up how Chinese citizens treat black people. Unlike America or Europe blacks get openly discriminated and not even the state cares about that. Businesses will deny you services or jobs simply because of the color of your skin. The difference is that this kind of discrimination was nation and not race based. Europe had a strong sense of nationalism and folk hence why you see people referring themselves as Irish-Americans or German-Americans while blacks get the summarized Afro-Americans due to blacks living rather tribal and never developing nations. Also blacks have been persecuted/oppressed by nearly everyone due to their low technological level which made them a punching bag. Starting with the Egyptians who regularly used to fight against the Numidians, to blacks that were carried to Europe as servants to Arabs who enslaved them. And don't forget that Africa, when it was left alone, wasn't that happy dandy land either. It was in a state of constant tribal battles. From all the right wing ideologies, why do you use the one who is the most left? The Asians faced merciless racism during the 20th century in America but where are they now? They dominate universities and all kinds of white collar jobs. They didn't have riots or famous people who spoke for them but they still managed to not only overcome the racism they faced but to even outperform the majority which oppressed them.	Black, Nation, Nationalism, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	7/304	2.303
---	---	--	--------------	--------------

SiloAAOlis Oh boy, no you're a special kind of person that on one hand uses cheap rhetoric to prove a point but when I do exactly the same its somehow different to you. You brought up this talk about the "history of racism" and I gave you a rebuttal that this happened over and over again in humankind making it not something special.You do know why the don't let Asians in, right? Because they dominate universities. They make such a huge chunk of students that they take away the space for the rest the population. I do however not agree with this sentiment since it basically lets people who undergraduate taking the spots of students who would deserve them more. Especially you, who is probably in favor of affirmative action, should be welcoming the ban on Asians students.Did you even read the Wikipedia article you quoted? They face discrimination by the natives and police. Also it became the center of drug dealers, holy shit, you not only owned yourself but basically disproved your own point.So let me get this straight, on one hand you get mad when I show you similarities of current situations to past ones while on the other hand its the only thing you do? Hypocrite.Truth? You're delusional and try to pin the failings of blacks on racism and discrimination even though the state actually trys to do everything to keep them afloat. In no other country a minority can expect the same treatment as in America where they get affirmative action and fed even though they're employ-less. Try to do the same in, for example egypt or Turkey, or Russia and then see how you get treated as a minority.Also I don't really understand what you mean with black communities? Do you want segregation?	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/303	0.99
---	---------------	---	-------	------

SiloAAOliChina has a long story of being racist to its minorities, a popular case is actually how they treat Tibetans. [LINK] And even though the amount of black people is extremely low in china they face massive discrimination by the population.Do you know how much 7 are? This is insanely high (even higher than I expected to be honest). Crime rates do not work that way since the majority abides the law. But when a crime happens the chance that it was a black guy is extremely high.Also look up what prejudices mean because when something is true that it isn't one. Saying:"blacks do on average more crime" isn't a prejudice but a sad fact.Furthermore you're so loaded it isn't funny. Assuming that you support affirmative action is simply based on my experience. A simple:" I don't support that" would have been enough instead of playing the race card when I didn't even knew your race (not that it matters tho).I don't think you know how admission to university works since you have to pass a minimum requirement to get a spot so if a white or Asian get one they deserved it. Affirmative action circumvents that.You just stated:"but 93 of blacks are innocent" and then you have the audacity to bring up 9500 hate groups? Guess what the amount of innocent white people who do not belong to such groups is even higher.Also calling me a Nazi (? I doubt you know what that is , otherwise you wouldn't call me that) doesn't help the case nor assuming that I'm an American (which I'm also not) but unlike you I base my views on statistics and my interpretation of them while you only state your feelings about certain issues.	Black, Nazi, Race, Racist	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/297	2.02
um No. You will find that in Africa, white people are received the same as everyone else....its actually more about them not being African then it is their color. Don't speak about things you have not experienced.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/37	2.703
NotTotallyHopeless Knowledge and intelligence aren't synonyms.I need a source on that western nations don't allow the modernization of trade in Africa.So are you implying south Africa only has the mine business and everything else is just small native business? Nothing in between?Furthermore, you do know that Nigeria had control over that oil for decades right? But due to greed and corruption of the native government the ran the whole industry down. They still own those oil fields but they have no know-how resulting in collaborations with western companies. Hardly the fault of whites but rather of natives who lack the required education. Also they pay taxes and employ natives, both parties profit from it.Post colonial exploitation? You mean giving natives employment? Because all the African countries where the whites left are falling behind in HDI and life expectancy while the crime rates sky rocket.Also loved the appeal to authority at the end. You sure love logical fallacies.	African, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black	2/162	1.235

good goy If we use that kind of logical than we can say that there is also Muslim privilege because a tiny minority used to reign over the Balkan or how about Mongolian privilege because a tiny minority of Mongolians used to reign over European landsThis logic leads to nowhere because it isn't current anymore.It's all about the legacy.The Ottoman Turks went out of their way to integrate non-Muslims and non-Turks into their empire. If you were a Serb and Muslim, you were able to rise to a high position at court. If you were a Jew (therefore, non-Muslim), you could easily help the nation prosper through commerce. While Sharia law prevailed during this time, nobody was denied the chance of accruing human capital because of their skin colour.The Mongols went everywhere, made vassals (through conquest and diplomacy) and often left those vassals in peace so long as they paid tribute. The Mongols often assimilated into the nations they conquered, too. For example, no Persians were oppressed because of their skin colour during the time of Ilkhanate.Supremacy of a specific skin colour, something that a person cannot change, was not among the legacies left behind by these empires.One cannot simply expect blacks to play a quick game of "catch up" to make up for the hundreds of years of bondage and systematic oppression in a matter of years. Apparently, the legacy of white supremacy and colonialism has left Africa reeling, with crime and conflict currently defining much of the continent. Great ZimbabweKongoEthiopiaAksumMali EmpireSonghaiZanzibarKanem BornuSome African states and empires that existed in history, just to name a few. You would do well to look them up.Whites brought their own form of civilization to sub-Saharan Africa on the backs of sub-Saharan Africans, for their European empires. Apartheid in South Africa did not end so very long ago. Blacks in South Africa live with a legacy of poverty hardship, while Afrikaners do not. The fact that white nations with a history of imperialism like Portugal, Belgium and France have prospered in some fashion at the expense of native Africans is white privilege. The fact that whites in general do not live with a legacy of being oppressed is white privilege. Nope, Italians don't live with such a legacy despite Roman slavery. And Irish people today are seen as just as white as people from England, Germany, The Netherlands, Russia, Slovakia, etc. etc. etc.A person being white and being able to actively deny that white privilege exists is white privilege in itself.	African, Nation, Nobody	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Nationality - General	3/434	0.691
--	--------------------------------	---	--------------	--------------

Aarchione”The Ottoman Turks went out of their way to integrate non-Muslims and non-Turks into their empire. If you were a Serb and Muslim, you were able to rise to a high position at court. If you were a Jew (therefore, non-Muslim), you could easily help the nation prosper through commerce. While Sharia law prevailed during this time, nobody was denied the chance of accruing human capital because of their skin colour.“Into the trash you go. Lets deny the enslavement of Christian Europeans at the hands of the Ottomans. Or deny that they had to pay a tax to practice their Christian religion in their homelands. They even had to follow their religious views and had their children taken from them to become janissaries in their armies. Ah, yes, peaceful. You are being intentionally dishonest to prove your bullshit point of view. Continue with your bullshit semantics, only you and the delusional left would deny the achievements of Europeans and deny it under the shroud of “white privilege.““Whites brought their own form of civilization to sub-Saharan Africa on the backs of sub-Saharan Africans, for their European empires. Apartheid in South Africa did not end so very long ago. Blacks in South Africa live with a legacy of poverty hardship, while Afrikaners do not.No, whites BROUGHT civilization. And the apartheid still exists in Africa, the government is entirely black. Great improvement, according to you. Oh, ALL white south Africans are incredibly rich, not one of them lives in poverty. “The fact that white nations with a history of imperialism like Portugal, Belgium and France have prospered in some fashion at the expense of native Africans is white privilege.“You mean like the Arabs, Ottomans, Mongols, Chinese, Aztec, etc. See what you are doing? You are being intentionally dishonest to “prove“ your argument. All races have been enslaved at one point in time, blacks merely use it as an excuse to act the way they do ignoring the obvious IQ differences between the races. “One cannot simply expect blacks to play a quick game of ”catch up” to make up for the hundreds of years of bondage and systematic oppression in a matter of years. Apparently, the legacy of white supremacy and colonialism has left Africa reeling, with crime and conflict currently defining much of the continent.“Yes, which bring me back to the IQ difference which is what, 80? Perhaps in a thousand years, if the african continent were to last that long, they could evolve. You downplay the ottoman and mongol empire as if they were good things, and blame everything on colonialism which everyone dominant people have done the globe over. Lets not forget the arabs, they conquered much of sub Saharan Africa. Too close, you have no argument and “white privilege“ does not exist, but the privilege of the majority does.	African, Black, Nation, Nobody	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Nationality - General	4/476	0.84
--	--------------------------------	---	-------	------

AarchioneThe ottoman empire (and any other islamic dominated state) also makes clear to remember you that you were subjugated by forcing the conquered population to pay tribute. Furthermore you were limited in practicing your religion and often forced to convert also the majority of the subjugated serfs never had a chance on court expect if they were gifted somehow, This was the case for black people in Europe and the USA also. The mongols wiped entire civilizations from the face of earth and often razed cities even if they surrendered. However they were a pure warrior society with little to no cultural capital making them susceptible to the conversion of other cultures. Its hard to imply any racism into the mongols since they killed and raped indiscriminately however their tribal courts mainly consisted of ethnically mongols making it a racial dominated government.Also nowadays there a lot of black officials in the US which, according to your logic, basically disproves privilege of the majority.Then what about the time before colonialism? Why do blacks "have to catch up"? Why did they have no own inventions? Or a written language? Also most of this empires developed due to contact with Arabs, north Africans and Europeans who brought foreign knowledge but not on their own..The fact that any nation who conquerd an another one and propsed from it could be called privilege of the victor. Even in the battles of African tribes there was one victor who would prosper instead of the killed off tribe.Obviously uplifting a civilization isn't without cost. White people paid this price by living in harsh conditions for centuries and so did they people who got conquered by them. However, in the end everyone profited from it.Do you know the history of Europe? It was a constant struggle of war and slavery. Thousands of tribes getting wiped off the face of the earth or enslaved and assimilated into the bigger tribe. Millions of deaths due to mongol and Arab invasions and later getting oppressed by their very own leaders and elites. The people of Europe have a legacy of being oppressed but they do however also have a legacy of overcoming it and prosper despite the worst circumstances.	African, Black, Nation, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	5/374	1.337
--	---------------------------------------	--	--------------	--------------

NotTotallyHopelessUnlike you I'm not blinded by an Ideology which makes me, despite your "education", apparently better and more open minded to look through this issues.And yes, I want a source because I can't find anything with Google about this supposed conspiracy theory.I'm not saying that mining isn't an important sector of the south African economy but they do however also rely on their own industry and agricultural sector which are dominated by natives.Do you think that the common European or American person somehow equally profits from the businesses? Obviously the elites of Nigeria will get the money from the oil companies as do the elites in Europe get the majority of the money from our businesses.Well you may can call me out that this doesn't correlate but if I look at statistics which show me the life expectancy and HDI pre Apartheid and after then I do see a connection there. You're free to disprove me but don't rely on cheap rhetoric as did till now.Admitting to a logical fallacy? Pretty brave. However if you knew what you were talking about you would make some better points. All you do is talking around the subject and shifting blame at the very people who uplifted Africa.	African, Common	Ethnicity - Black, Social Class - Working class	2/211	0.948
---	-----------------	--	-------	-------

good guy No, the whole reason I commented on that thread is that you're one of those false intellectuals who like to talk about things that you actually know nothing about. Try watching the movie Black Gold which is about fair trade and talks about larger market inequality between the developing world and the developed. If movies aren't your thing then I'll find you some articles about it which you could find on your own. I don't think you understand how multinational corporations work. They're multinational meaning that a large portion of the money leaves the economy. Not to mention, as scholars like Dambisa Moyo talk about, Nigerian elites have problems with "bad corruption" meaning that most of their money is in off shore accounts and is spent internationally instead of in the local economy. The political and economic changes that came with the end of apartheid are more complicated than "white people were better rulers". They basically restarted the government, which is no easy task. Any significant change in control like that means that corruption runs high and government programs falter as changes are made and other people take control. If I were you I wouldn't call it "cheep rhetoric" when someone's calling you out for defending apartheid and the racial segregation and oppression of blacks in africa. No, you don't understand what a false appeal to authority is. A false appeal to authority is "well my uncle knows someone who works at the world bank and he says..." that's the authority fallacy. Me being an academic in a field and you not knowing anything about a subject are not the same thing. If you need it PBS did a great video explaining what these fallacies actually are. Also do not say that white people "uplifted" africa. Again you're falling into false white supremacist arguments again. Try to avoid those when trying not to seem racist.	Black, Nothing, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/318	0.943
--	------------------------	---	-------	-------

NotTotallyHopelessFunny how you call me a "false intellectual" when you fail to post evidence for your conspiracies and rely on logical fallacies for the rest.Well, that's the ugly face of capitalism since those farmers, if they want big businesses to buy from them, need to keep their price low. This is more an issue of competition and they only can gain more profits if they cut off the middle man which is, in most cases however, is a native with better connections than the farmer.South Africa is a failed state now. You can't just throw out the intellectual elite of your country and hope everything works out fine. The same happened after the second world war in czechoslovakia where the Czechs kicked out the germans and had problems afterwards keeping the industriy together since no one knew how to run the machines or lead the business.Nigerians elites having a problem with corruption is their fault and not of the joint ventures who provide the know-how for the industry. You fail to realize that the natives lack this knowledge and would not be able to function the same way without help.No, you don't understand that your education is worth nothing in an internet debate. First, everyone can lie about personal matters without the ability to prove or disprove. Secondly, you got a lot more time to form an argument which gives time to recherche issues and puts everyone on equal footing.Do you know the history of Africa? On what technological level they were? Do you know that they didn't develop a single written language nor had any inventions when they were left alone? Europeans brought them education, electricity and basic hygiene, so yeah they got uplifted - by a lot.I seriously can not fathom how delusional one has to be to not see that everything that matters came from Asians and Europeans. If you want to call that "white supremacy" then apparently reality is a white supremacy.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/333	0.3
Charles Rogers Whites are privileged in Africa? LOL! South African government is ignoring poor and murdered whites as we speak. If that is privilege I don't want it. On the other hand perhaps Bill Gates is privileged in Africa, but that's only because he gives them loads of free stuff and heals their sick, I bet he's like a modern day Jesus to them. They're probably worshiping a statue of him in every village by now.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/76	1.316
cindy QueenThe individual white definitely has more wealth than the average black however the government consists entirely of natives and they have overall more wealth.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/26	3.846
NotTotallyHopelessSo before the age of colonialism the people of Africa were an advanced society with electricity and a functioning government?Uplifting a civilization is never without cost.	Age	Age - General	1/28	3.571

NotTotallyHopelessThe point is every other race also committed genocides but at least ours wasn't for nothing .All the african tribes that wiped each other from the face of the earth? Nothing was gained from that.	African, Nothing, Race	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/36	11.111
Zane HusethThis is not even remotely related. Nowadays the natives in south africa control the majority of the wealth and power - do they have black privilege then?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/29	3.448
Zane HusethObviously he says that because its the only reason people vote for him. Most mines are owned by natives (which are the dominant economic post) and so are most businesses. Whites in south Africa are usually farmers and even here there is more black farmers than white ones.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/50	2.0
Basic idea of hygiene?! Europeans acquired all of the common illnesses we're familiar with, thru husbandry with farm animals, like the flu, small pox, syphilis. In other words, Europeans slept with their cows, sheep, pigs , horses, chickens, dogs, etc. Talk about hygiene HA HA!!!	Common, PIGS	Nationality - Southern European, Social Class - Working class	2/44	4.545
Javontae Eaddy There also rivers and lakes in Europe, are you saying that we don't need running water?And yes, it is a bad thing considering people in Far east Asia and Europe came up with ways to not only conquer nature but to use it while Africans did literally nothing .	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/51	1.961
Pei TonYou really need to read up what privilege means: the ability to conquer others stems from our technological advances which means it was earned.Furthermore, are you seriously saying that Asians and blacks don't have the majority of wealth and power in their own homelands? Which is the definition of privilege as your weird ideology puts it.And last: Europe was dangerd for over a millennia by middle easterns and later mongols. More Europeans were enslaved by Arabs than blacks in Africa by whites. Where are your reparations?	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/90	1.111
You don't really know much about Africa, do you? If you look into the historical and current situations of many African countries, you'll find a majority of the higher positions - politically, economically, and socially - occupied by white people (usually European) or those white people placed in power. If you've heard of South Africa, you'd know of the situation there where, until very recently, a white minority used a apartheid to force the black majority to live within smaller, poorer sections of the land. Bottom line - take a middle school history class before you try to address this issue again, please.	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/103	1.942

Rachel SteinerCould you please show me all those African countries where currently the majority of the population aren't in control of the wealth and power?Apparently middle school is the pinnacle of your education.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/35	2.857
It all goes back to the slavery days. Any one who isn't black has a lot more opportunities or they're easier to obtain. Businesses, wealth, homes, and job opportunities we're passed down from generation to generation, after slavery ended majority of black people didn't have to many good high paying jobs because racism was still around & never really ended. It's like things really didn't change besides having more freedom.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/70	4.286
cool so when are you gonna ban racist extraordinaire shane dawson from vidcon	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/13	7.692
just wanna point out that there is not only black racism but also yellow racism ...	Black, Racism, Yellow	Ethnicity - Asian (East-China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam), Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - Chinese, Nationality - Japanese	6/15	40.0
Just wanna point out that this video is about systemic racism and not personal prejudice. This video isn't about "white racism ."	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/21	9.524
the funniest part is that there was a video titled Why Do Black People Smell? right above this one in my subscription box	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/23	4.348
y no control for socio economic statusyes there is unconcious bias and racism in america but the real damage comes from how we treat the poor of any color, fighting classism is the best way in my mind of fighting racism	Classism, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Social Class - General	3/42	7.143

I really think that the US has serious racial inequality. However, the fact of the matter is that the only ways to fix the system are by giving blacks preferential treatment in jobs, healthcare, and the justice system. This is obviously not real equality. As far as education, at least where I live, black schools are very unsafe and spend more of their money on security and basketball arenas than they actually do on education. The buildings are falling apart except for the metal detectors. This is probably really due to lower socioeconomic opportunity causing a higher crime rate and the gang affiliations that go with it. We should really be focusing on the plight of the smart, well-mannered kids that do everything they can to learn in one of these unsafe and essentially unaccredited schools. The solution to the problems of the racial inequality in the US is to educate the children on the subject and wait for the racist older generations to pass. Anything else is just a bandage.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/171	1.17
When people state that black people commit more crime it gives the notion that this is across the board or spectrum of criminal activities. This is highly inaccurate, if we are discussing a particular sector of crime for example a specific street related element of crime you may have a point.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/51	1.961
I'm surprised at the comments in this video. Usually when there is a racial based video on YouTube there is a bunch of racist spewing things about my race ,(I'm black ofc) and generalizing and putting us all in one group. But it isn't the case in this video.FeelsGoodBruh	Black, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/49	6.122
I'll take cold data over annoying people any day of the year. Also the thing about inheriting land/money is that 99 of Americans aren't even pure they're mixed race and their ancestors (be it 1 generation or 5 generations) came here with nothing and died with a little more then nothing . The only people in America that really inherit a lot are the very very wealthy, but that's fine with me I hate having this handed to me wealth feels better after you work for it.	Nothing, Race	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	3/86	3.488
Unfortunately there is not much cross-over between vlog brothers viewers and deniers of systemic racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667
Do you and Hank wanna stop supporting racist youtubers then? Say stop inviting racist youtubers to the largest youtube convention that you guys set up and control? Maybe?	Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/28	7.143

I don't think systemic racism doesn't exist. But I think it's highly reciprocal. In the vast majority of cases, the average white american can't do very much to stop it. It's very specific people, with very specific roles in society that have all the power. From the experience of a white person - if a black person is more likely to commit crimes, steal from the workplace, whether out of poverty of culture, people will generalize. The bias isn't just in peoples heads, it's because of the whole socioeconomic status of african americans. And african americans are often quite racist to white people back. While not systemic or organizational in nature, this absolutely does not help. Because if white people were to see how victimized black people were, they might want to be more willing to give them more changes. But due to cultural differences, they see drug use and poverty as a reason not to help them, not as a reason to. And while white people do inherit more land and wealth across generations, there is no ethical reason to offer that wealth to someone else because of race. That is also racism. Also, did you know that an overwhelming number of slave owners were african american, including the very first one in the united states? Also, did you know there were white slaves, as well as black?Slave ownership was a thing in Africa, amongst black Africans, long before it was ever perpetuated in the United States. If we're talking about whose to blame for historical reasons, the argument that white people are indebted to black people is a very weak one. Additionally, the wealth experienced by black people, while proportionally lesser than the wealth experienced by white people, is still far higher than what it would been if slavery had not been there to build the economy during the earlier years of the United States. Modern African Americans, while benefitting less than white people, are still benefitting hugely from what the slaves actually did for the US economy.inb4 white people, brainwashed into feeling guilty, discredit my argument as being racist.	African, Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	15/354	4.237
---	--------------------------------------	--	--------	-------

I keep seeing this argument that racism against white people doesn't exist. You cannot be serious when you say that. Look at Ashkenazi (European) Jews. Look at how mean people still are to the Polish. My great-grandmother said that her grandparents came to America from Poland (part of the German Empire at the time) and when they would walk down the street people would say, "Look at those dumb pollacks." I am sick and tired of the term reverse racism. Reverse Racism implies that racism has a single race as a victim and a single race as a perpetrator of it. That belief is racist in and of itself. It sickens me to think of how divided we are by racial lines in America. Racial lines are imaginary lines that are made real by people such as Al Sharpton and Jesse Jackson. Racial division is a problem that we have brought upon ourselves by creating false narratives. The "Hands Up, Don't Shoot" protests were based on a concocted story that the witness retracted and has since been disproved. Racism in all of its forms is one of the most evil sins one can commit. As someone who has been marginalized at some times due to Autism, I cannot say that there is no discrimination in America. There is discrimination against Race, Disability, and a number of other things that people think of as "different." I understand what people go through when discriminated against. I have been discriminated against for my Autism by many teachers in my past. Many teachers would send me out in the hall for problems that I couldn't control at the time and I would get bullied in the hall by kids who had nothing but a black heart. I also had plenty of friends to that helped me along the way. I do not think we should focus on the bad in society, but we should focus on the good in society. When the evil in society loses influence it will ultimately fade away. Whenever I have a situation where I am discriminated against I can advocate for myself because I have taken classes about self advocacy. I have had to take classes just to understand how a proper conversation works. So that is why I hate it when people whine about discrimination. Do like I did, quit whining and advocate for yourself. Even better yet, move yourself out of that toxic situation. I ended up having to switch schools but it was the best decision I have ever made. People need to stick up for themselves and realize that not all white people are racist, not all cops are bad, not all black people are criminals, not all disabled people look injured or intellectually impaired, and not all people are bad. there are many more good people in this world than bad people. Whenever I feel marginalized or discriminated against, either because of my disability or my christian faith, I read the Beattitudes. Mathew 5:3-12 He said: 3 'Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. 4 Blessed are those who mourn, for they will be comforted. 5 Blessed are the meek, for they will inherit the earth. 6 Blessed are those who hunger and thirst for righteousness, for they will be filled. 7 Blessed are the merciful, for they will be shown mercy. 8 Blessed are the pure in heart, for they will see God. 9 Blessed are the peacemakers, for they will be called children of God. 10 Blessed are those who are persecuted because of righteousness, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. 11 'Blessed	Black, Disabled, Dumb, Nothing, Race, Racism, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	15/653	2.297
---	---	--	---------------	--------------

No mention of the overwhelming disparity in crimes committed by black men.No mention of the overwhelming disparity of single mother households in the black community. It's ridiculously biased commentaries like this that makes the race debate so damned.John Green has no intellectual credibility. Only an agenda.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/48	6.25
Its not about race . its about behavior - every single thing you said	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/13	7.692
How doesn't white privilege exist when 5 out of the 44 Presidents were either members or direct supporters of the KKK (look it up because you won't learn that in High School American History). And those are presidents that we know of how many more since then have shared the same views in private but not in Public for fear or political retribution. For those that don't know the KKK just doesn't hate black people that hate everyone non white and are all for pushing their white supremacist agenda. So how are we all equal when the people who have been voted to "lead" us hate us? And before some short bus rider mentions Obama let me just say that Obama has been the worst thing to happen to Black people because it has made way for every to secretly let out their inner Klan member while still being able to "feel better" then the red necks under the sheets.	Black, Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - Native-American	4/160	2.5
thank you for this. I have African American relatives and I love them and I want them to be safe, happy and have the same opportunities I have had. The tendency of white Americans to pretend none of these disparities exist is dangerous to the lives of the people I love. So thanks, because the more real understanding of all the disparities of the culture we live, the more hope we all have.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/73	1.37
This video is 100 true. The sad thing is you'll have racist white bitches claiming this video is nothing but lies. Then they'll take to the comment section and actually contradict their own dumbasses by making racist statements against black people. It's like facts don't matter to these people outside of their perfect lily white world.	Black, Nothing, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/56	7.143
Let's just fuck until our kids turn gray there racism probably solved	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/12	8.333
I don't know how to say this bc English is not my native language but here in the Netherlands some of the "rasicm" really is based on facts. Don't get me wrong I really hate racism and I would do anything to stop it but what happens a lot here is that the " black " people are getting more in trouble and they do work slower and so on. Not everyone, ofcourse not but when you look at the facts they surely do.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/82	2.439

While I hate that racism exists, the reality is that unless we completely stop being human and become perfect beings, racism will never stop. In America racism consists of blacks and white, in Germany it's whites and Turks, in Rwanda it was/is different types of Blacks (Hutu and Tutsi), in Asia the Japanese especially dislike the Koreans, etc. etc. We think of racism as something that can be treated like hunger and low literacy rates, yet on a broad spectrum, racism is in every country on earth.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	5/87	5.747
Racism has always existed and always will, boo hoo get over it, even if you teach your kids not to be racist it doesnt matter because black people end up making themselves look bad anyway, and how about stop committing crime so your sentence time doesnt matter	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/47	6.383
Racism is nonexistent in this day and age . Trust me, I am a straight, young and healthy white male.	Age, Racism	Age - General, Ethnicity - General	2/19	10.526
I need white people to explain to me how equality actually works. Are we all "equal" because the President is black , Tiger woods played Golf and Oprah is rich? How are we equal in a system that we had no hand or opinion in creating? Black people had no opinion in how the judicial system would work, Native Americans had no say in how the job market was structured. Latinos has no say in how the Medical system is ran. So are we truly equal? Think of it like this if your partner moves into your house is he or she truly equal in your house or did she just have to conform to the way that you did things before she got there. The only way equality will ever exist would be if we all equally had a say in the system we have to live under instead of one particular group. The media is trying to make this out to be a white vs black thing lol You guys really think Native Americans, Hawaiians, Asians, Arabs, etc etc forgot what happened to them? lol. They're just not as vocal as black people are but don't think for a second they forgot. This isn't a white vs black thing. This is the world saying that they are tired of living under a white supremacy.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	5/225	2.222
What, so because the founders of a system were of one race , people whose grandparents didn't even exist yet at the time that happen to be of the same race , who have exactly as much say in how the systems are arranged as any other voter, are supremely above those of other races?	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/53	3.774

Stanley Campbell Well, that varies on what sort of company it is. If it's publicly listed, the stockholders will vote in whichever executives they think are fit for the job, and a grandchild of a founder doesn't have much hope of outranking the unrelated people. Or you could consider only companies that are actually organised to keep it in the family, but that would beg the question. And of course we're not talking about George Washington's grandchildren here, we're talking about people whose only thing in common with the founders of whichever system are a language and a skin colour.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/100	1.0
Rowan Evans Why do Doctors hang with Doctors , why do Psychologists befriend other Psychs who does China town exist and white people like living in white dominated suburbs and Black people like hanging around Black people. Answer = People like people who are like them. That's human nature. So why is it out the realm of possibility to think that a system that was created by white people would still benefit the same race that created it. The reason why you can't cannot accept this and why millions of white people experience cognitive dissonance when the topic of white privilege is raised is because your egos can not take that you people just might have had a leg up do to your skin color. Btw everyone none white person knows this it's not just black people. White people refuse to acknowledge this for the same reason that my son will refuse to acknowledge that him being my son assisted him in getting the position of CEO one day in spite of the fact that they may very well be way more qualified people for the job. He will tell his self that tel he l his self that he worked harder and is smarter than everybody else that's why he got the job. Now that may be true but it's my also true that being my son doesn't hurt neither. Now magnify that example a million times over and you'll understand white Privilege. Happy New Year.	Black, Race, doctors	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	6/246	2.439
Stanley Campbell Segregation can arise spontaneously even if people just don't want to be in minority-(their race ) neighbourhoods, here's a simple explanation of how - [LINK] - it's a different situation entirely from racist bias in e.g. a country's constitution.And I'm not even American, what do I care whether white Americans get a leg up? And if we're playing the "you must be wrong because you're biased" game, surely it's really tempting to believe other races have privilege that you don't?	Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/82	2.439

Rowan EvansIf you didn't care about whether white Americans have an advantage then you wouldn't of commented. And I stated earlier that people like people who are like them. So that would also imply that other races do indeed have certain privileges that other races do not. For example a black rapper would be more privileged in the black dominated Hip Hop world accepted than a white one would. However that white one would experience more privilege in the white owned and dominated Music business. So yes privilege in every race does exist however white privilege out weighs it all because white people created the system that runs this world. That is what I'm saying. You know whats funny I have many friends from many different walks of life...even white friends. And every non white friend understands two truths, white privilege exists and minorities have to work two to three times harder than the average white person to get the same results as that average person does,	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/168	1.786
Stanley Campbell When I see what look like bad arguments and false claims, I care about that even if I don't care an awful lot about the thing the claims are being made about. And you haven't at all addressed my actual objections there, you used the existence of segregated neighbourhoods as evidence for everyone being generally racist and inclined to give their own race privilege in areas where their race is the majority, I pointed out how segregation can arise without people being any more racist than "I don't want to be a racial minority in my neighbourhood", so now you need to find something else to justify your theory with, or a good argument as to why the same sort of effect could cause the phenomenon of racial privilege.	Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General	4/131	3.053
Rowan Evans Are you black ? If the answer is no then truly this is where our discussion ends. I don't know what life is like as a white person I can only go off my experience as a black person. As a black person most of what I have experienced (either directly or indirectly) has been highlighted in the above video. I have tried to spell out white privilege in the simplest language I can use and still your ego won't allow you to accept it which is fine. Re reading your comments I'm not even sure that English is your first language. So on that note my friend all the best for 2015. Happy New Year.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/117	2.564
Rowan EvansAlso I asked Why do Doctors hang with Doctors , why do Psychologists befriend other Psychs" I phrased that question like that on purpose to show that people like people who are like them. That's not a racist thing that's a human thing. For example with out even knowing you I'm sure your friend share similar interests with you. That has nothing to do with race .	Nothing, Race, Racist, doctors	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	5/67	7.463

Stanley Campbell But are two white people meaningfully similar to each other the way two doctors are? Besides the shared experience of med school, any two doctors have both the intelligence and discipline required to actually get through med school, and the personality traits required to choose to become doctors , which probably includes common interests. How does having a similar skin tone compare? I mean, I guess to some extent there's a common experience of being white, but with an ethnic majority that's going to be a pretty diverse range of experiences.	Common, Ethnic, doctors	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General, Social Class - Working class	6/92	6.522
thanks for sharing, lots of good facts and data on racism and racial bias	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/14	7.143
Josh O'Connor nobody gives af what you think good for you we'll see how that works out when you're no longer here	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/22	4.545
Great job John Green!!! Nothing better than White people telling white people how it is!!	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/15	6.667
I am writing a play in parallel with the recent racial tension in the US, and in the play society isn't divided by the colour of a persons skin, but by the colour of their eyes, to highlight how petty and disgusting racism is. So this information was really really useful, thank you John!	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/54	1.852
Okay. Are the brown eyed and blue eyed peoples all from the same race ? Or are there, say, brown eyed whites and brown eyed blacks who are part of the same 'supreme group'? Again, sorry for the questions, you might not want to explain everything about your story lol.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/49	2.041

Well as you said, it was only four minutes. I think that the issue of racism is so inherent within American History that it will be almost impossible to have a clear, honest discussion about its effects among open-minded people. However, this (at least to me) makes that goal all the more worthwhile. Much of the denial among the white population can be attributed to the fact that so many white people live in parts of the country that have very low percentages of other ethnic groups. Take for example, the Midwest and Central United States, the majority of their residents are white, therefore how could they come to understand the issue of racism as deeply as white populations in Southern, Northeastern, and Northern parts of the country. It is as if they look at this issue from a not-so-distant, but just far enough away place that they are shielded from any of its direct effects. Yes, they do encounter other ethnic groups and co-exist, but these encounters are so few and far between that it creates an environment like that of The Truman Show. They are protected from the issues and any problems that they encounter are easily overlooked because it would be too troublesome to bother to find out what is at the root of the issue. Another key factor is that white people simply don't have this race conversation among one another nearly as much as their ethnic counterparts do. You rarely ever hear people complaining "I didn't get the job because I am white". They are not hindered by the color of their skin. Instead they are enabled to pursue their goals with substantially more freedom (as shown by the study you provided). This is what is known as "white privilege". It is something that is often overlooked and sadly, even denied outright. Among blacks, Hispanics, Asians, etc. race is something that is undeniably a factor in your life. To an extent, your ethnicity comes along with certain preconceptions that you must struggle to overcome. It is an essential part of your identity. This is why there are a certain amount of expectations even within these communities and their people. If these expectations are not met then you are no longer considered to be "black enough" or "Spanish enough" or whatever the case may be. Comparatively, whites come with more of a clean slate. It's like the lack of color on their skin represents a lack of preconceived notions about their origins and their past. They are not as easily as classified and filed away as people of color are. It is not that whites have something we people of color do not, it is what they don't have that allow them to advance easier without having to constantly be pigeonholed. While there are stereotypes of white people, these typecasts aren't nearly as overbearing and taxing as ours are (at least as far as I have seen). Furthermore, the complicated history of race relations within the United States has made so many of these stereotypes so intrinsic within its people that they no longer even know that they have bias. The job study you provided is also a good representative of this. Who is to say that the people who were hiring were racist? I would bet that the majority of these people are tolerant, open-minded people that have never been discriminatory toward someone due to their race. It is just that these prejudices have been hammered into the American psyche through centuries of struggle within its people. This is perhaps the

Black, Crow, Ethnic, Ethnicity, Jim Crow, Race, Racism, Racist, Woman

Ethnicity -
Black,
Ethnicity -
General,
Gender -
General

25/1070

2.336

Really glad to see someone addressing a common problem in modern-day America. Very few people have the guts to do so. Kudos to you.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/24	4.167
Do gender next.	Gender	Gender - General	1/3	33.333
Just want to throw this out there :the prison populations in the south(where most Africans live) are more equally white and black while while northern prison populations are a higher black majority	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/32	6.25

Lets start by saying that yes, there is racism out there, but the extent that race plays a role in all of these issues is blown WAY out of proportion, and, in most cases, race is just a pointless correlation that doesn't hit the real problem: Wealth disparity. The growing issue of wealth disparity explains pretty much all of these issues, and the rest are pointless correlations. White people are more likely to be rich so their health care is better, their schools are better, and they are more likely to have a competent lawyer get them a reduced sentence for the same crime as a poor person.Racial profiling is indeed an issue for poor minorities living in areas like LA and NYC. Still, it's a socioeconomic problem and not a race one. Cops in these cities spend more time in the poor areas, because that's where the violent crimes happen, and there are many minorities in these areas. I guarantee white boys hanging out in the ghettos are getting profiled by those same cops. The issue with ethnic names is addressed pretty well in the book Freakonomics, I suggest reading it or watching the Netflix movie. Basically, if you want your child to succeed in life, don't give them a name like Lakisha or Unyque, because it is a red flag for employers for reasons other than race. Anyway, with things the way they are now, it is MUCH worse to have a middle eastern sounding name. Damn ISIS ruining things for Muslims everywhere.The study about black and white ex-convicts trying to get employment was done by a grand total of 4 students, 2 white and 2 black (seriously, read the study), proving nothing other than the possibility that the 2 black students were slightly worse at job interviews? What a pointless study.The article about black college grads having a harder time than whites at getting work is pointless because it doesn't provide what their majors were in college, what college they went to, what fields they are trying to get employed in, where they are looking for work, etc. just another pointless correlation involving skin color. For all we know, there is a disproportionate number of minorities getting liberal arts degrees (African American studies, anyone?), and then wondering why white grads with engineering degrees get all the jobs. Or maybe they just didn't do as well in school, or went to a less reputable school? We'll never know, the article doesn't address any of these things, it just tries to make a blanket statement implying inherent racism in employers. The study he linked comparing black and white mortality rates is a 15 year old study... based on information from the years 1940-1999, to do an estimate about what the year 2010 might look like. So beside the fact that the data is old and pointless, this is a just a correlation that doesn't take into account differences in lifestyles and socioeconomic statuses (lets think about this logically: who lives longer, poor people or rich people?). This is the same as the health care issue... without socialized medicine, poor people will suffer, and in 'Murica, unfortunately, minorities are the poorest. TL;DR: being poor sucks.I would argue that it is better to be a minority from the middle or upper class than a white person in the lower class living in the ghetto, getting harassed by cops and going to those shitty schools, and whats worse, with affirmative action working against your chances to succeed.but hey, that's just my opinion. but its right. (because I'm a	African, Black, Ethnic, Nothing, Old, Race, Racism, Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	18/603	2.985
--	--	--	---------------	--------------

All fair points. Though, you said it yourself, I see much of this being a result of economic status. Which may in itself be partially due to racism , but I would chalk most if that up as implicit bias rather than explicit bigotry, which could also be said for much " racism " in the justice system. There is of course more to the issue, as well as opposing arguments, like welfare culture and inverted academic racism , but thanks for sharing your views.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/81	3.704
My town is almost entirely white people and we have like 3 black families and 7 black kids that were raised by white families. Last year there was a new black family that came to town and I tried to welcome the son (he was in the year above me) and he said I was basically his only friend because no one wanted to be friends with a black person and I said "that's kinda weird , there are like 10 other black kids in the school and they all have plenty of friends" He replied "yea but they were all born here or were raised by white families. Honestly, Tori, they white people too." Do with that what you will, but after that day, I saw that racism is still alive.	Black, Racism, Weird	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	7/131	5.344
This is honestly the most respectful, educated, and insightful comment section of a video talking about modern racism I've ever seen. Then again it's a vlog brother's comment section so I guess this is pretty normal.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/36	2.778
ok John you have convinced me. Race is still a problem in the US. But I haven't heard a solution. Since what we are clearly doing isn't working.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/28	3.571
What does systemic racism mean? The racism is in the system? Is it in the rules of the system? Did some committee of people sit down and decide, "We are making this system and we want it to be racist in these ways?" If that were the case, it would be easier to find the problem and fix it. Isn't it the people who execute the system who introduce the racism ? If that's the case, then is there a difference between systemic racism and normal personal racism ?	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	6/87	6.897
Thanks for making this video and also for sharing all of the information and resources in the dooblydo. It's appalling that so many Americans insist on believing that our justice system doesn't unfairly punish racial minorities. Next time my brother insists on telling me that it's just because black people commit more crimes, I'll direct him to your video, the resources you included, and some videos black YouTubers have made about the topic.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/73	2.74
Data is nice, but i have to look no further than my extended family to see, that in fact, cold, blunt racism still exists.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/24	4.167

I live in Asia and I hear and read stories about how there's still racism in America. These stories/journal articles/books aren't just about racism between the blacks and the whites. Some also consider how US citizens of latino and asian roots find it more difficult to find jobs and be respected compared to white americans. I'm not saying they're all true. All I'm saying is that we cannot deny that racism still exists in that country. Although, US isn't all that special when it comes to that issue. Most, if not all, countries all over the world suffer from a certain type of racism . US is lucky in a sense that it gets the attention it needs. In other countries, people are killed when they speak about things like that.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	4/130	3.077
These statistics are all very compelling but if I had to guess, most of the racism is inherently unintentional. The statistics mentioned (Prison sentences, arrests on drug possessions, stops and searches, exoneration by DNA, kids serving jail time, life imprisonment, hiring, education, healthcare), explore the disparities between races, but don't fully express the scope of the problem. Trying to "solve" racism is more complicated than evening out statistics - which would only cause injustice for everyone.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/76	2.632
That is true, a four minute video isn't going to stop racism as a whole but, it didn't really seem as though that was John's intention. It at least appeared to me that John was trying to inform his viewers that there are still racial bias in many aspects of today's society which sparks a very important dialogue like what has been occurring in this very comment section. Also, John made a playlist of some other very important videos that also deal with racial bias in the description which furthers the conversation. Remember people need to acknowledge a problem in order for it to be solved.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/106	0.943
The thing that frustrates me the most, is that I could work as hard or even harder for something than a white person achieve something and I only achieved it because I'm black . I recently got accepted into an excellent business program in my state, and some people in my school claimed I only achieved it because of my race . I don't deny that affirmative action had some cause, but I worked my butt off in my high school career, working, clubs, AP classes, but I'm reduced to a lazy black kid who gets everything handed to them because my race wins out.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/104	3.846

I have lived in Houston, TX, in the Alief school district, which is labeled as the most culturally diverse part of the state. I grew up among people of every race so I've seen my fair share of racism . Rarely it was meant to be hateful, usually it was just plain ignorance, or an built in bias sometimes unknown to the offender.John my question for you is not if there is racism , but why do you think that racism still exists today in the US? I'm white and I've been accused of racism on many accounts. Sometimes it was because I was rude to a black person and they thought it was because they were black , when I just didn't like that. It wasn't right of me, but it wasn't because I'm a racist . I have many friends of color, I even dated a black girl. But if I know that I don't hate black people because they are black , and I feel that most white people are the same, why do you think these things happen?	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	11/178	6.18
A pretty nice set of numbers on Racism in the US. One thing i'm curious about is how those studies would be affected by class/wealth. I'm of the opinion that wealth can negate or at least greatly reduce the affects of racism on someone. In other words, a rich black person will be treated much better than a poor person. Like for example, the prison statistics. How do those numbers change when wealth is involved?	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/75	4.0
I recall too a co-worker of mine said she read a study that showed that good looking people also have social and business advantages regardless of sex or race .	Race, Sex	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	2/29	6.897

Four counter points:1. If blacks really are targeted more and hated more by people then how come the majority of blacks think the recent cases in which black men died are stupid because of other blacks calming its a race thing?2. What is "white" in these studies? Is it anyone NOT with black skin? Most people say there are latinos, asians, whites and blacks. But "whites" is a term that never made sense to me. If I am german I am not white for example. What I mean is there are many "white" skinned people in america but these studies need to break down whites into ethnic groups. Maybe some groups are more prone to being racist then others. I know alot of people in america come from england for example. Are they more racist then lets say german-americans? Because if you clump all white skinned ethnicities together then obviously the stats will seem slanted. BTW not saying racism doesn't exist of course. It does. But we should also remember there is racism against more then just blacks. Even whites experience racism .3. The race card thing and the "white privilege" thing is BS. If whites really had privilege then how come blacks pretty much have whites by the balls? Blacks open black only schools, pageants....etc. If a white person does that the NAACP is all over it and makes sure it doesn't happen. If you even look at a black person wrong they yell out racism and can get you removed from a job or in trouble. Yet if they look at you and you claim racism ... its reversed on you instead. Blacks have more power then they think. Heck a black man is president. 4. Someone pointed out to me since this is all about minorities who can't get far in life... what about latinos? They seem to be (to some degree) issue free. They do alot with their lives. So whats a black persons excuse?	Black, Ethnic, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	16/330	4.848
John, I get the point you're making in this video but I have a few questions,Why just compare whites and blacks? How do Chinese, Indians, Arabs, Jewish, Persians, Japanese, Korean, Aborigines etc compare to whites and blacks?If we are going to look at racism in America shouldn't we look at all races and how they compare to others and not just compare whites and blacks? If we sent out those same resumes to businesses owned by blacks, would the call backs be the same as if they were sent to businesses owned by whites? or Indians? etc	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/99	1.01
I think a reason that race has continued to be an issue in the United states is partially because of how the issue is approached. It seems to me that when a person is racially discriminated against people seem to split into groups and fight race verses race . I think the issue ought to be approached not as two sides fighting against each other with a winner and a loser but as people, as equals, as Americans working and conversing together to better become equal Americans and individuals living in peace.	Race	Ethnicity - General	3/91	3.297

Thank you for making this video John! I'm mixed ( black and white) and I often DON'T like to think of the issue as white VS. black , but rather white AND black AND hispanic AND asian AND all other races as a whole. People ( race aside) should be treated with equal respect and fairness. These stats are meant to educate us on where these inequalities in society may still lie, so that we can learn and improve. These stats are not meant to pit us against one another.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/87	4.598
Of course white people couldn't care less about racism because it doesn't effect them whatsoever. Wait another 30-40 years when whites become the minority...	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/24	4.167
Reading these comments, I can see why some people think anti racist = anti white.: )	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/16	6.25
since when was racism defined to bias against African American people df	African, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/12	16.667
John please take a second to read this. In "Racial profiling in L.A.: the numbers don't lie" you gave us. it is said "For every 10,000 residents, about 3,400 more black people are stopped than whites, and 360 more Latinos are stopped than whites." Doing the maths this mean there is 2100 white man stopped for 5500 black . Now according to [LINK] there 29.4 of white men while 9.8 of black men. This mean black men are stopped 7.85x more then white men. Therefor even if they are "25 less likely to be found with drugs" this leave us with black men being 6 time more likely to have drugs in L.A. . Now I'm not saying that to be racist in any mean but rather to show you that your source distorted their data as much as they could to prove their point. You should be more careful about the sources you chose.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/154	3.896
GoSu MonSteR The police in LA is 8 time more likely to stop a black man. If it was random they'd find 8 time less drugs on them not 25 less. Obviously there is something going on there that is not only pure racism .	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/44	4.545
What would cause a person to be racist ?	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/8	12.5
Racism is a HUGE problem, I am an Arab and I get called " terrorist " and "bomber" and a bunch of other crap. I try to ignore it but after a million people call me that. It's hard to do well when all you hear is racist things. How can I deal with this? Someone please tell me	Racism, Racist, Terrorist	Ethnicity - General, Religious Identity - Muslim	3/58	5.172

Dear people in the comments, racism isn't the same as institutional racism . Racism isn't "prejudice + power", that's institutional racism . And "reverse racism " doesn't exist, it's simply called racism . That's all.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	5/31	16.129
I had a discussion about race with a friend a while ago and we were talking about the university of Chicago article about the names and I could see how the names have to do with race but would rather choose Emily bc a name like latisha just sounds more ghetto and u would not really want to deal with a ghetto person during work	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/65	3.077
I get that if something doesn't affect you directly you give it little thought. It takes so much for people this day in age just to survive. The important thing is that just because it doesn't affect you doesn't mean it doesn't exist. Stop putting more value on a persons opinion just because your skin color is more relatable. Listen to others and learn. It all starts at home and in the classroom. Until then this will continue. White people are not bad. American culture just gives white people the luxury to not focus on something that doesn't affect them. Be open and try to be sympathetic.	Age	Age - General	1/107	0.935
I remember when I applied for a job at Target twice in the same month. The first time I used my own address in a mixed race neighborhood, and the second time I used my grandma's address in a "nice" neighborhood. Guess which time I got an interview.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/48	2.083
ADVICE NEEDEDmy friend is pretty racist toward African Americans... I've tried to talk to her about it, but she just laughs. what should I do? I still want to be friends with her, but I just wish she would realize what's wrong with her mindset.	African, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/46	4.348
I love that the internet is a place where we can discuss racism and also use the word dooblydoo.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/19	5.263
John, couldn't agree more with this well stated video. However, there is one point I would like to add. The key to eradicating this racism that is very real in our country is providing a quality public education to ALL Americans. It is no coincidence that many of the worst schools (lowest standardized test scores, high teacher turn over rates, high drop our rates) are in the poorest and most African American areas. A group of people that has been systematically oppressed for hundreds of years cannot be given the bare minimum and expected to compete with those who have been given everything for hundreds of years. Though there is a real problem with our criminal justice system that needs to be addressed. There is a larger problem of unequal public education that also must be addressed before systematic racism can truly be eradicated.	African, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/144	2.083

one thing i would like to share is that yes...i 100 believe that there is racism in the justice department and that needs to be stopped. but i also would like to say that not everytime a white cop shoots a black man its racist . In order to establish that you have to look into the circumstances of the situation and the history of the cop in order to draw an educated conclusion. I believe that racism a legit thing. people who deny that are just ignorant	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/87	4.598
Wow, it's so sad how easy it is to get views and support by becoming an anti-white black supremacist on youtube. Being the typical liberal "guilty white man" talking about "muh white privilege". Who kills more black people in america? Black people. Who rapes more black people in america? Black people. Who kills AND rapes more white people? Black people. " Racism " is such a pathetic and childish accusation against people who are well educated on the types of people that exist and their typical behavior.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/85	8.235
The first self made female millionaire in America was Madame CJ Walker. She was a black woman who was sold out of slavery when she was a young child. She started her own beauty product company and worked her way to being an incredibly rich woman , even back in the day of Jim Crowe laws. I think its important to remember her and factor that woman into the conversation.	Black, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Gender - General	4/69	5.797
Hard to believe there's even a question of racism (systemic or not) at this point. It's pretty clear in my mind. We are racist in twenty-first century America whether intentionally or not.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/32	6.25
My problem with this video is that the definition of racism is not "whites hating on or mistreating blacks". I am a Jew and I see all the time "I hate Jews" written all over buildings. I don't think it's fair to just pity the blacks, Arab or Latinos in this case because there are Jewish Asian and many more races out there to talk about. I was so exited when I saw your video on my feed to learn more about jewish racism statistics and whatnot but now I am really disappointed. I'm not raciest against blacks and I think this info is all fine and dandy but after America saw what happened in ferguson, I think we did our research. I have recently watched a video as a school presentation about 10 misconceptions of Israel and Palestine and I can't explain how this topic is over 10x more important than blacks being arrested more in America. That video actually had to do with worldly politics and this one was just about blacks feelings being hurt. I was and still will be a fan of you, your books and your YouTube channel, but this post really ticked me off. Please respond to this. Thank you.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/206	0.971

I'm really glad John is using his platform to pass important information on like this. It's a discussion that many people don't believe we need to have. John's use of only information backed up by statistics and research really helped because John comes from white privilege. He get's the good side of things and instead of trying to take this issue and become a figure in it thus abusing his privilege, John takes an more allying approach. He states the facts and then proceeds to direct us to people of color talking about racism in a playlist. He is giving his audience a gateway into understanding the issue and helping them ally and fight against this problem.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/117	0.855
American blacks in general have hedonistic, lazy, immoral cultural values. Yeah I made a generalization there, you should be willing to make more of those... Do not deny this, John Green. you know it's true. It doesn't even have to be connected to their race , it can be connected to their upbringing. Don't blame poverty for these sins, many other cultures handle poverty perfectly well, they aren't dysfunctional like american blacks and move out of poverty quickly. If anything, you worsen these traits by rationalizing for the problematic ways in which some of these people act, you make them feel justified.Companies deciding based on the limited information they have to not interview them may be just a good business decision. Going through applicants costs money. Yeah, some things in the world aren't fair to individuals who go against the grain, get over it, there's not much you can do about that.The best thing that can be done is to admit that there's a problem in American black culture. Read some Thomas Sowell you tard.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/176	1.136

I find it sad and disheartening that people are turning the issue of police abuse into a race issue. It is depressing to hear people go on about how police have justified killing people who "look like me", meaning black people. It shows a profound lack of understanding of the issue and the problems that society is truly facing right now. Allowing this sort of ignorance to divide people into groups, and miscast this very serious accountability problem as a race problem will only have one outcome: further pain and suffering. Further pain and suffering is the only possible outcome of turning this into a race issue. This is not a race issue. That doesn't mean there isn't a racial component, but race is not the problem here. The problem is how society has bent itself around in such a manner as to hold people in a position of power unaccountable. Rather than forcing police to comply with the highest standards of professionalism, we, as a society, have allowed police to fall to a standard of "I thought I was doing the right thing." I thought is not a professional standard. Opinion is not a professional standard. When you allow people to fall to these low standards, you will always have abuse. And the first people abused are the people with the least ability to fight back. That is where the racial component comes into play. People who are lower class, of a minority, mentally ill, or any other of a long list of potential risk factors are more likely to be abused by the system. But the fact that those people are more likely to be abused isn't the issue. The fact that the system allows abuse in the first place is the problem. If you were to "fix" the racial component overnight with the wave of your magic wand, all you would end up doing is shifting who the victims are. There would still be victims. Probably the exact same number of victims, but they would be a slightly different demographic. We need to address the actual issues here. The underlying problem is what you need to fix or nothing will ever get better. And just so I state this plainly: race is not a factor in police being held unaccountable in deaths of people. Police kill people of every race every single day. 2,3,4 people per day are kill by police. Police are almost never held accountable. I remember a case of a cop shooting a young boy who opened a door holding a wii remote. I remember a case of police beating a mentally ill man to death while he screamed for his daddy to help him. Police kill people every single day. Race is irrelevant to this fact. Race may, and I stress may, play a roll in who is targeted. But it absolutely does not play a roll in the fact that police get away with killing people on a daily basis. The problem is this lack of accountability, not which demographic is more likely to be the victim. We should be aiming at zero victims, not an even racial makeup of victims.	Black, Nothing, Race, Zero	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	12/529	2.268
--	----------------------------	---	--------	-------

I don't see why putting gender and race on applications for say, standardized testing, is necessary. When it comes to grading papers, teachers should assign each student a number, and the people who grade the tests should not be allowed to know the students' names, race , or gender . I know some schools do this, but many don't. That's a problem.	Gender, Race	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	4/60	6.667
Here's a problem I'm not sure how to solve: if we use the word racism to describe a subconscious bias, then 100 of the population is racist according to that definition (which is ridiculous, and is going to make people defensive). Alternatively, if we only use the word to describe people who are being consciously discriminatory, then we are blind many of the problems described in the video.We need to draw the line somewhere in between, so we address the problem of systemic inequality without accusing everyone and their dog of racism .	Blind, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/93	4.301
Why do a video like this... I mean I haven't seen a black person saying that white people are not the only racist . There is only 2 fibs in this world the one that people tell and statistics. Is it the Google money that you are after?	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/47	4.255
great video. i am glad that you chose to talk about race because this topic needs to be a continuing conversation among everyone especially that 3/4 of the population that believes racism does not exist or that all people are considered equal by law. i started watching you back in the day, years and years ago, and i since have graduated college and still come back and occasionally watch videos. i never leave comments but man, thanks for always being such a positive role model.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/85	2.353
White men aren't allowed to talk about racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/8	12.5
I didn't realize white people were that unaware... For some reason I thought those numbers would be lower, but it does explain why complaining about racism is more likely to get me white people trying to convince me that things aren't always "like that".	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/44	2.273
Systemic racism is totally a problem that needs solving, but it is best to be careful about the manner in which it is solved. When colleges or companies accept those from a minority background over those of equal merit in the effort to maintain a greater diversity, that isn't solving anything. Finding a way to achieve a perfect balance is tough, but it's what needs to happen in the end.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/70	1.429

So. I am black. XD (How could ya tell?) And I am glad this video was made. Like John said, I really think the most important thing is to listen to peoples stories. Yeah, there are statistics, but like he said, there are other factors involved. (More below.)My experiences with race range from funny to ridiculous/funny/sad simultaneously. It is subtle, but I see it when I walk with my white guy friend and get dirty looks from the local white suburb folk (I thought I was being . . .overly sensitive, but my friend even pointed it out). And then, on the flip side, a black guy asks me out, I say no, and he gives me a dirty look and says, out loud in a store, I probably only date white guys. XD When I come in for an interview after being on the phone, and they're looking around for the not black girl., because my voice does not match my skin color. In high school, a girl said to me that she did not believe in a black president, because she was not raised that way.I have a ten year old (very smart) little brother, and I kind of worry that people will..be suspicious of him as he gets older. Actually, once last year, we were in an area that was mostly white, at the store, and a (white) mother pulled her child away from my brother (they were playing a game at a Best Buy), and gave us a dirty look. At the same time, I wonder if he will be considered...negatively by his black peers, because nerdy/smart/polite is not "how black person should act" (internalized racism is a completely different, and uglier, animal). I got that a lot growing up, as early as ten years old.These situations are more instances of prejudice than racism, but the latter stems from the former.So yeah. . .prejudice and racism? Pretty real stuff.	Black, Old, Race, Racism	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	12/326	3.681
Thank you John for talking about this issue without alienating any other groups in this process (such as people perceived to have privilege). I agree that systematic racism is an important issue but far too much debate about it on the internet involves intentionally dividing privileged vs non-privileged, which isn't the answer. We all, no matter who you are, need to come together to work on this issue and create a more united humanity.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/74	1.351
Really good to see so many facts in this video to back up what you're saying, John :). I hope more people wake up to the fact that even in 2014, racism is a bigger problem than some people realise.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/40	2.5

So I claim to not be racist. Generally because I have black friends. However I may be without even thinking about it. I don't have any black friends who fit into the category of what most (white people) think of typical African American culture. They don't speak in Ebonics (they just have southern accents due to them being from the south), they don't wear clothes that are too big and "sag" They are just "normal" people. This in of itself shows that racism may indeed be ingrained in people. But the truth of the matter is that when the majority of black people I personally meet act and talk in a certain manner it's extremely difficult not to label the rest like them. Though in reality for me it may not have anything so much to do with the color of their skin and more to do with the culture built up around the color of their skin. I don't have a problem with black people in general. However, the moment I hear someone "talking ghetto" or the like I get uncomfortable and I could never be friends with someone who talks or acts that way white or black or any other race. I don't do it out of maliciousness or that I think I'm better or just to be mean it's more like I am trying to protect myself from falling in with the "wrong" crowd or with people who my personal safety might be put in jeopardy. Now remember this is all my feelings and opinions. Not backed up with any data or anything. Just experiences I have had meeting black people. In my view there are normal people and people I don't associate with. It may not have anything to do with race at all. I don't know for sure though. I asked one of my black friends his opinion and he said "people are people and some of them are shitheads". I have to agree XD	African, Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	12/330	3.636
I've heard of that resume name study before, but by this point, I wonder if that is really solely about race rather than just names being outside the standard American national pool of names. African Americans giving their children "ethnically black" names is a relatively recent phenomena. I wonder if you would get similar results if you used names like "Casimir", "Yannick", or "Giacamo"	African, Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/64	4.688
I wish I could be as well spoken as you, John. Or maybe just have a more open minded and receptive audience... I try to explain the racism issues in America to white people and they just shoot me down. I myself am white, and someone they know. It's so frustrating for me, and I'm not a POC. I'm just a person who thinks all people should be treated equally and fairly. I wonder what year that'll happen. Will humans still inhabit Earth? Le sigh.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/85	1.176

The only thing I don't like about this video is that he kept on saying "African Americans". But this is only because not all black people are African Americans. As an example, my sister's friend got mad at their other friend after he called him African American because she's Brazilian. Just wanted to make people aware of that - if I (somehow) offended anyone I apologize <3	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	4/67	5.97
See, almost all the time, when people talk about racism , they think of people with dark skin. Not really. Racism to black people, of course, is still a huge problem, but most people only acknowledge racism to black people. Asians (specifically from eastern parts like Japan, China, Korea etc.) are subject to racism as well, however no people seem to see the need to acknowledge and/or identify it. Racism is does not only affect black people, and though it's important to acknowledge that, it doesn't end there.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	8/87	9.195
not to be devils advocate or anything, but the different name study might not completely indicate racism . for instance, i think laqueesha (spelling?) is a stupid name. is that racist ? maybe, but it's biased in different way. also, if the position is some sort of public, other-people-see-your-name-and-interact-with-you kind of job, then maybe racist customers have more of an impact than racist hirers.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	4/62	6.452
Social Justice Warrior. You cannot get an unbiased definition of it.Some would say: "SJW is a derogatory term used by anti-feminists and right-wingers to dismiss the arguments of people who want equality."Others would say: "SJWs are idiots who go on Tumblr and whine about bullshit misogyny , racism and gender crap that's distorted rubbish."You just have to experience these people. If you find yourself agreeing with the statement: "Non-transgender people don't get to say which genders are real and which aren't." or "White people twerking is cultural appropriation (stealing black culture.", then you are probably an SJW. If you think that's ridiculous and silly then you are not.	Black, Gender, Misogyny, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	4/110	3.636
One other note is that much of the racism talked about here is not intentional. As a black man I understand that discrimination is more an evolutionary development than a cognitive choice. People look at what is different than them and are afraid of it. With all this being said I would also like to point something out. Minorities in any country are almost always discriminated against. In any country it is better to be the predominant race than a minority, and that is a fact.	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/86	3.488

One subject that I think many studies fail to address when comparing the prison sentences given for similar crimes is the concept of wealth. Due to the higher volume of blacks in lower class areas, many cannot afford the more high end lawyers that many white clients are able to obtain. This is not racist , but merely me stating a fact based on the difference in social stature between the two races. Overall, with this being said the argument that blacks receive longer sentences may still be valid, but is much more questionable.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/93	1.075
Can you guys maybe make a video discussing other minorities in America. Or maybe something about mixed race people in the US (like me hey :)) Orrrrrr a video on the hawaiian monarchy (as I am Hawaiian and live in Hawaii and would like to see other people know and talk about such things that are interesting and relevant in my life)<3 You guys are awesome :)	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/68	1.471
A majority of people don't realize that racism still exists until they or someone they are close to is affected by it. Although cultural diversity is somewhat 'embraced' in 1st world countries the stigma being a person of colour will always be present until we as a human race can wholly accept each other in solidarity .	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/57	3.509
I just saw some comments today along the lines of "all white people are racist ." So it's not exactly true that no one is saying it.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/26	3.846
Sylvia O Yeah, it occurred to me right after I posted my comment that given how many people talk about these things, someone somewhere probably was saying that. But as far as I can tell, it is a vanishingly small percentage of people.Incidentally, people who would claim that all white people are racist suffer from the same inability to grasp nuance that I was referring to.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/67	1.493
phosphenevisionIf you say "everyone is racist " then the word becomes meaningless. If you use the same word to describe a white supremacist as you do to describe a well-meaning liberal with a slight subconscious bias, you are not going to be able to communicate effectively about the nature of the problem.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/52	1.923
phosphenevision That's one way of looking at it. I think everyone probably has some internalized racism , but when people start saying "all white people are racist " then I think the line starts to get blurred between racism and privilege, and then it's like there's no way for white people to STOP being racist , so it doesn't really mean much. White people can't stop being privileged, but they can do things to avoid perpetuating racism .	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	5/74	6.757

The problem is that " racism " is biological, and like sex , there is nothing inherently wrong with it, but like sex , everyone calls it evil and thinks it should be repressed. Unsurprisingly, you cannot repress it.	Nothing, Racism, Sex	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	4/35	11.429
Yeah, lots of people say things like "All white people are bigots" and "All cops are overt racists". It is not a 'vanishingly small' number of people. I've even seen mainstream news articles proclaiming "Reverse racism doesn't exist" and going on to explain why being racist against whites is totally justified given their systemic oppression of POCs.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/57	3.509
deadeaded Everyone is racist , but not everyone is a racist . Being a racist implies that you consciously believe in inheritable differences between racial groups that justify differing socio-economic statuses, and even willing to argue such to other people. It's sort of like the difference between being someone who cooks and being a cook. One describes a component of your everyday life, while the other actually defines you.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/67	4.478
DaScribbler You sound like an idiot. But it's okay, many people do these days. You see racism is a system of oppression. By the tone of your writing I'm guessing that you're white. Only white people would complain about how others can't be considered racist . You see there is no system of oppression that subjugates white folks. Therefore no one else has the ability to be racist . It's a uniquely white facet. I mean, if someone treated me like shit for the past 400 years, I'd definitely not like them. Oh wait, that's the black experience in America.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/98	4.082
amanworthy Actually, you sound like the idiot. First off, yes, white people can be victims of racism too. Secondly, yes, everyone has the fucking ability to be racist . Thirdly, where were you 400 years ago? Where are the white people who owned slaves today in 2015? You yourself haven't suffered through anything that happened 400 years ago unless you have a goddamn time machine. Racism is still around and it effects blacks and hispanics the most, but it still effects all other races. Also, why hate on white people and be bitter over what happened hundreds of years before you were born when NONE of the people currently alive that you're hating on were direct aggressors. I'm white/middle eastern and i've lived in a majority black city for my whole life. I hate racism and i've seen it directed at all kinds of people. I've been bothered by racist people quite a few times. Don't talk like white people are the only aggressors and minorities, especially black people, are the only possible victims. That's a racist and ignorant thought in and of itself.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	8/183	4.372

Hero Lydragius the racism that matters is the racism that results in the loss of life or a damage to livelihood. in the united states, white people have never ever suffered at the hands of institutional racism . a white person may have been called a name, or looked at funny for being in the wrong place, but none of that is the same as years and years of inequality in schooling, jobs, and housing.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/73	4.11
snootylittlecutie It doesn't happen regularly but racism can be situational.For example- I knew a white person who loved a black person. The black persons family didn't want them to be in an interracial relationship, so they made them break up. That's an example of significant black on white racism . I also know a story of a racist black guy who worked at a fast food chain who would spit on the food ordered by anyone who was white. Didn't even know them."Damage to livelihood" is a very broad thing. And if you think no white people have ever been killed or put in a situation where they were almost killed over their skin color it means you're just being selective about what racism is.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	8/126	6.349
Hero Lydragius the individual stories you mentioned don't compare to systemic racism over decades and decades.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667
Hero Lydragius white people in america have never been affected by systemic, institutionalized, programatic racism . that's simply a fact. a couple of thousand white people who got looked at funny, or beaten, or had their food spat on...sorry, not sorry. that's not a big deal in the grand scheme of america. it just isn't.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/53	1.887
Hero Lydragius white people were never enslaved for being white. white people never had to sit at the back of the bus for being white. NEVER. white people have never had their resumes thrown in the trash because their names were too "white" sounding.individual cases don't trump systemic racism to a whole swath of people over decades.slavery only ended 140 years ago. that's two old ladies back to back.	Old, Racism	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - General	2/70	2.857
snootylittlecutie True, but that doesn't mean that only black people can be victims of racism . Nobody deserves racism . And again, unless you're over 140 years old you didn't really deal with black people dealt with back then.	Black, Nobody, Old, Racism	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/37	16.216

Hero Lydragius do you think that the effects of slavery have disappeared just because it was 140 years ago? it wasn't like slavery ended and everyone had a big party afterward. the bedrock of american racism was slavery and the reason why race relations are still strained today is because of slavery's after effects on this territory.the few things a couple of white people have gone through will never compare to the historic things that black people face past and present. NEVER.i'm simply not impressed with a black guy that spits into a white guy's food cuz he hates white people. that is a drop in the proverbial bucket, when you take everything into consideration regarding american racism .	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/119	4.202
Hero Lydragius white people trivialize racism . when black people talk about racism , they are talking about long lasting systemic problems that have affected people over years and years. and years. the things white people have faced in the US simply don't compare.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/41	7.317
snootylittlecutie Oh wait, a few more things. Black people weren't enslaved for being black . They were just black people who were enslaved because they were there. Then people were racist to them because they were different and were being sold off like chattel. People back then were basically sociopaths to people of other races. But slavers would have kidnapped people for slavery back then if they were from any other race . Africa was simply the easiest place to do it. Secondly, " Black people never had to sit at the back of a bus for being white"- you claimed just a little while ago that the only racism that matters is racism resulting in the loss of a life or loss of livelihood. Just saying. And thirdly, yes, people have gotten resumes thrown away for being too white sounding. Because as i said, anyone from any race can be racist . What makes you think an employer racist against white people wouldn't throw away a white persons resume?	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	11/166	6.627
snootylittlecutie Let me put this simply-It's true that racism and residue from slavery are pretty significant to this day. It's true that it affects some races more than others.But i'm not about to listen to someone who says "White people trivialize racism " as an all inclusive statement without seeing the irony. Especially when you yourself are trivializing racism . You're trivializing racism against all races other than black people and you're stereotyping white people.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/75	6.667

Hero Lydragius you misquoted me here: "Black people never had to sit at the back of a bus for being white." not what i said.jim crow segregation (bus seats, lunch counter service, bathroom segregation, etc) was all about ensuring that black people had a lower quality of life. disallowing human beings from eating or using the restroom in a clean facility is a detriment to their lifestyle, when others are not treated in the same fashion based on race."And thirdly, yes, people have gotten resumes thrown away for being too white sounding."prove it.i don't think you can. the research shows that "white" sounding names on resumes are more likely to get call backs than non-white sounding names. if you need the study about this i'm glad to provide it for you.	Black, Crow, Jim Crow, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/134	3.731
Hero Lydragius when white people talk about the racism in america they've experienced, it's my opinion that they are trivializing the concept. what they experience is nothing compared to what others have experienced, specifically black people. i've already laid out the reasons why. i can give more examples if you are still unsure of what i mean.	Black, Nothing, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/56	5.357
snootylittlecutie That's true, but it doesn't mean white people don't get turned down over their skin color too. The one trivializing racism is you.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/24	4.167
snootylittlecutie If you were actually interested you would look it up yourself. You're on the internet. I have a handful of examples, but as i said, theres not a reason to pour into a full cup. Any "proof" i give you would simply be rebutted with a "Well those incidents aren't common so they don't matter". Theres not a reason for me to waste my time talking to you when you're choosing to remain ignorant either way.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/77	1.299
Hero Lydragius "If you were actually interested you would look it up yourself."no, i only asked you for proof because you made a claim. i've already "looked up" this topic and the research shows exactly what i said it does."Any "proof" i give you would simply be rebutted with a "Well those incidents aren't common so they don't matter". "you're just making excuses for proof you don't have."Theres not a reason for me to waste my time talking to you when you're choosing to remain ignorant either way. "no need to call names, as neither one of us are ignorant about these topics. we merely disagree. as i said earlier - do what you want. all of my comments still stand.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/125	0.8

TheEpicBoss yes, i know. irish slavery is a common rejoinder brought up in discussions of slavery as related to racism in america. i'm very well aware of it, and i'm aware of how people use it as a wedge to derail discussions in order to minimize what black people experience in america.	Black, Common, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	3/52	5.769
snootylittlecutie Alright, i wasn't going to mute this post from my notifications because i wanted to see other people respond to the thread, but you're ignorance is just irksome. I'm going to try to show you one last thing- You see your last comment responding to TheEpicBoss? You see how they said you would just trivialize it? You went on to do just that. That's what you would do if i bothered spending 10-30 minutes dredging up proof of what i said. You're not even subtle about being ignorant. You blatantly cherry pick from the history of racism to your taste. So no, i'm not making excuses. In fact, i'm being bluntly honest. I have no desire to spend my time pouring into a full cup- in lay man's terms- i have no desire to try teaching you something with facts that can be simply found by you if you were interested only to have them rebutted with your arguments of emotion. In fact i'm somewhat suspect that you're actually a troll. Theres a certain point in which i want to give people the benefit of the doubt that they're fucking with people rather than actually being as ignorant as they portray themselves.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/203	0.493
Hero Lydragius all of my comments i stated before still stand. you're welcome to disagree or agree with any of my commentary. as i said before, it's not necessary to call names such as "ignorant" or "troll" just because we have different views on the matter. it's my opinion that name calling and using profanity are a sign of being emotional and lacking in objectivity and reason. it's possible to disagree without verbal aggression. try it sometime.you misunderstood my questioning of your claim regarding white people's resumes as a request to be "taught" something. when i ask questions of people as to how they know something, it's because i'm interested in their thought process. it has nothing to do with my needing to learn a factoid, ie, being a tabula rasa. i feel perfectly secure in my understanding of the matter, and i have no problem with the fact that you don't see things how i do. have a good weekend.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/161	0.621

snootylittlecutie It seems that when addressing events which have been devastating (such as slavery, mass torture, attempted genocide, etc.) to a particular demographic, convenient regional and temporal restrictions are often used to limit the discussion.For instance, "white people in america have never been affected by systemic, institutionalized, programatic racism ."Some of our ancestors were, however, exposed to such things (and worse) beyond CONUS and prior to the expanded colonization of America."white people were never enslaved for being white" –Semantic.Many whites were enslaved for belonging to certain cultures... They experienced episodes of dehumanization for factors beyond mere pigmentation. (" Race " is a combination of various elements, nicht wahr?)In my opinion, most "white people" don't trivialize racism . Many have grown weary of hearing the same accounts ad infinitum while being aware of double standards and complete fabrications...What's your bottom line?Better still, what's the next move beyond your bottom line?	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/152	1.974
SlypherSpoons " Race ", MAYBE, is biological, " racism " is not biological it is completely a social construct.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/15	13.333
phosphenevision EXACTLY! OMG, preach, man. The only way to combat racism is to acknowledge its existence in society, to know that as an individual whether you are white/black/male/female you reap some sort of privilege based on an injustice someone else faces, whether it be as dangerous as the racism Blacks face, or just as hurtful as someone assuming you are a bigot based on your race .	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/66	4.545
You can also call it "racial inequality" so we're not indirectly going to falsely accuse each other and provoke racism where there wasn't any to begin with.But if you want to be the idiot who says: "well, technically, it's still racism and people are racists, because... ". You're really not contributing anything to the process of getting rid of racial inequality. In fact, you're stagnating it.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/67	2.985
snootylittlecutie Actually, no, you didn't address it. Either time.You dismissed it as derailment, because you know you don't have a valid argument against it, so you can only attempt to divert attention from it by calling it irrelevant, because you are an ideologue.For your other recurring argument: Neither were black people. They were captured and sold by other black tribes in africa to the slave traders.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/68	2.941

snootylittlecutie Slavery is Slavery. Race /Sex is just the GENETIC context in which one looks for strengths or weaknesses in order to Dominate or Destroy.& after looking at our WELFARE SYSTEM & $17-18 TRILLION in debt.....it is quite apparent that WHITES are the Slaves & Sacrifices for everyone else....but frankly, although I am White, I want my race to die.Why? Whites are the primary reason why THE SKY hasn't fallen. They are PROMETHEUS & THE OLYMPIANS."Minorities" cannot call themselves minorities forever. Infact....Blacks & Latino's are not minorities in their own shithole countries or neighborhoods & haven't been.....for thousands of years.All the ELITES try to do, is inspire us so that we work. If we have any "idea's" they are through emotional calculation & political correctness, shot down, & your energies are then redirected toward what they already knew how to do.THEY KNOW WE ARE ALL GOING TO DIE, BUT THEY WANT TO FEEL GOOD WHILE THEY WAIT!	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/161	0.621
snootylittlecutie For what? Giving you proof that Whites are racist ? Actually they are the least racist . They simply don't want to feed VICE.It's called THE SIN OF PROMETHEUS....& he's the champion of all mad dreamers....until they realize....Prometheus is really a slave of both Cronos & Zeus....The Devil & The Devil's Son. All that lives in this world is going to die.ps: if you answer at all in mockery to me, then it is proof that minorities have a parasitical attitude & must be either kept "happy" slaves, or be marked for death....or BOTH>Welcome to HELL.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/98	2.041
This is also true when talking about sexism .	Sexism	Gender - General	1/8	12.5
Yes! I've talked about racism with some of my students. It's a difficult conversation that needs to be had. So many of my students (mostly black and Latino boys) see racism as a decision by others to hate, and some decide to hate back. I (a white woman ) am trying to help them see that racism and privilege is a complex system that many white people don't even know they are a part of, or to what extent they perpetuate it.	Black, Racism, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	5/81	6.173
Suzanne Harris Wait, are you saying that Blacks & Latino's don't have their own internal racism ?People trust those that seem most familiar. It's a matter that usually transcends race ...which is why THE INDIVIDUAL is worshiped over race or any other collective identity....something no Liberal would understand.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/47	6.383

Suzanne Harris No, liberals have become quite homogeneous in forcing diversity. They're all the same in their methods. Otherwise, they wouldn't be voting to force people to equate creators with non-creators.You're a liberal for not being able to recognize that they have fallen from The Dialogue.One is as they do...& that you chose to focus on WHITES alone means you're a tool & a fool...or a vampire yourself.Either way, it's people like you that burn bridges & then blame those who didn't want a bridge in the first place for burning it down.Circular Reasoning is typical of Statists & Dragon-Worshippers that seek to force everyone to conform.Babylon did this with Greece...& the Greeks responded with a pretty big FUCK YOU.ps: Name one Libertarian Woman that you look up to.	Woman	Gender - General	1/135	0.741
Suzanne Harris As a fellow teacher I want to congratulate you on trying hard to have a good discussion on youtube. I often have days when I want to talk to adults but end up having the same kind of discussions with black & white people where I need to be the adult (and I realize I usually am double the age of the person that I'm speaking with). So I feel for you! :)	Age, Black	Age - General, Ethnicity - Black	2/75	2.667
DeusExMachinae01 Yes, cuz as long as you're older, you get to tell other people how to live their lives & get to make every excuse under the sun to justify the lack of an articulated argument.HA!Why don't you insult individuals directly rather than stereotype & dismiss them before you ever have a chance of being part of The Dialogue, & then they have to inherit all the bullshit they get from your generation that hasn't figured it out themselves!I feel for myself, cuz nobody gives a shit about understanding the context of a person's argument anymore...& it's thanks to the "adults" that utterly failed preserving The Dialogue (& not getting us into debt, war, & national/spiritual doubt)....& they likely had your same cynicism. Old hack. Take responsibility for the sins of your own long life before you judge the non-existent sins of those who have been here a short while. Listen before you speak & ask yourself what a person might not know before you lecture/remind them, lest you give guys like me the opportunity to give you a few licks.	Nobody, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	2/184	1.087
DeusExMachinae01, thanks! After just one talk, I've already seen some of my kids become more aware of their own biases. As for having those conversations with adults, we are all at different points with our personal understandings of race and privilege. I had a very different understanding just a few years ago before I saw these systems first hand in the lives of my students in inner city schools. Some people just aren't ready for the conversation because they still haven't seen the system in action.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/86	1.163

snootylittlecutie "white people were never enslaved for being white"The enslaving of Africans is a fairly recent thing, only a few hundred years old in thousands of years of human history. Not to mention, the slave trade was started by Africans enslaving other Africans, and then selling them; it didn't become a racism thing until later.Slavery has lasted for far longer. Anyone who took over a group of people could either kill them, convert them, or enslave them. So yes, Europeans were enslaving other Europeans for being a different group of Europeans. Even the word slave comes from the group called Slavs.	Old, Racism	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - General	2/103	1.942
Videotaping RS For the individuals who try, I pray for them to succeed. For those who don't....they don't want brotherhood...& so no one can help them.Individuals who isolate themselves can't really be helped. I say this from my own personal understanding & experience of isolation.They are a powerful race , but are the element of our species that fell into a more bestial state. Whites fell into a more demonic one. Jews, extreme paranoia.The Western Linear Races are at serious oddes with one another at the moment. I think Black education has been impeded by Feminism destroying the motivation to really do anything.I hope Blacks recognize the threat & fight against it. I'd like to see them pulling their load again, with pride, discipline & a dream.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/130	1.538
ironmandoja1 ...it was more than just that. Blacks enslaved other blacks more than other race on Earth.The Greeks were right. Some people are just born to be slaves, like breeding a particularly domesticated animal.It's only because of what it does to the human spirit....to everyone involved....that slavery became outlawed. That doesn't change the fact that some people are born requiring direction for the rest of their lives.....	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/69	1.449
DanThePropMan The term ' racism ' does not carry universal meanings, therefore any discussions (in the absence of consensus) will yield marginal results. It's far too commonplace for some to combine several concepts into a single, sociopolitically-charged definition, often narrowing or expanding the scope of racism in order to selectively absolve or demonize behaviors. (Actions such as subjugation or oppression may arise from racism but do not define it...) Here is mine, submitted for approval: " Racism is an internalized or expressed form of antipathy that is based upon apparent ethnicity and (actively or passively) directed towards a person or group."	Ethnicity, Racism	Ethnicity - General	4/98	4.082
I'm amazed to see people in the comments saying that racism is (a) the minorities fault or (b) not a big deal. If you think that, PLEASE take this anonymous test constructed at Harvard: [LINK] (click on the bottom test). It will reveal some of your own prejudices you probably aren't aware you even have. Spoiler alert: You're not going to like the result of the test.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/67	1.493

Thanks for posting this, John, and for discussing the issues of systemic racism /racial bias in a way that encourages Nerdfighteria and others to become more aware of the issue and discuss it as well. Unfortunately, as other people in the comments have said, there is no easy fix here but awareness and conversation about how racism in America still exists is a start. I think it's interesting and very relevant that you brought up the increasing gap in economic equality between racial groups. It's interesting to think about how that factors into systemic racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/94	2.128
While I do believe you make a wonderful point and I agree with you that there is most definitely racism in the United States, but I don't believe that all of the racism is white people attacking black people. What I'm saying is that it doesn't need to just be an effort from one party. It must be an effort from both. We need to let go of bad history and make our own, as human beings white, black , Hispanic, or any other ethnicity . The second we realize that we are all at fault the sooner we may come into a new age of peace.The video was very good though (as all vlogbrother videos are) and I can't wait to see what amazing changes you make in the world. Thank you for doing what you do.	Age, Black, Ethnicity, Racism	Age - General, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/137	4.38
I'm not honestly denying racism but I can't imagine a police officer like you have pot thats okey have a nice day!	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/22	4.545
Thank you so much for making this video John it is a very important topic. I thought you guys would never touch on racism because you tend to not cover things that the internet normally talks about regularly (because you guys say that you want to bring light to things that the Internet sometimes forgets or neglects). I'm glad you decided to use your influence to address this topic and I apologize for all the inevitable flack you will be given for openly discussing racism . And thank you for noting that "statistics are cold in a way humans aren't" because I think arguments are often very cold and don't consider the heat of human emotions (which can both help and cause damage).	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/122	1.639
If these white guilt ass holes want to help black people perhaps they should talk about the thug culture that is bringing them down. The 70 illegitimate birth amongst the population. The fact that black youth are being killed for Air jordans by other black youth, the fact that if you speak proper english, and do good in school, you are derided as acting white. Well maybe the facts are pretty inconvenient for him.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/74	4.054
I would like to point out that insults are not only logical fallacies, but also entirely uncalled for and get nothing done. Here's to some good discussion that will actually help us get somewhere. Keep an open mind and learn something new.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/42	2.381

I don't disagree with this video at all. But I will note that you kinda didn't cover that racial bias college name study bit:"So you might think that names make a big difference. But Steve Levitt insists otherwise. In a paper called 'The Causes and Consequences of Distinctively Black Names,' Levitt and Roland Fryer argue that a first name doesn't seem to affect a person's economic life at all." [LINK] The podcast about this topic from Freakonomics is GREAT! I highly recommend it.But again, yeah totally agree, folks be tripping in a bad way against nonwhite folks.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/99	1.01
The reason why people don't admit to being racist is because they're afraid lol	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/14	7.143
From my vantage point, I opine that the predominant reason why racism is still alive is that we as a species haven't fully evolved yet. We can assert all day as to how we are all the same under the membrane called skin that holds our body in one piece; however, the truth is that most of humanity gravitate towards other bipeds who look similar to them. I said "most" because, we all encounter the few people who belong to that rarefied strata of our species who have already evolved past that stage and are truly devoid of any racial biases. I am not trying to impose a harsh indictment on humanity and neither am I painting a hopeless picture of the state of affairs. Instead, I am optimistic that a large swath of humanity (if not most) will have evolved past our prejudices in the future. As to when that will happen, who knows?! Maybe in a few decades, maybe it will take 100 or 200 years or more! Point is, I am just trying to rationally explain to myself as to why, in spite of all the data that suggests that racism is still alive (and kicking harder than ever), we continue to perpetrate it. Most of us think that we are not party to this (and we truly believe it in the deepest recesses of our hearts), but we are all covertly subscribing to a world view (most of the time unintentionally) by various actions of ours (or the lack thereof) which encourages racism or at the very least blatantly disregards it, because we are just not able to overcome it owing to the stage of the evolutionary process we are in as a species. We must continue the open dialogue which will help us accelerate our evolution even while fully understanding and accepting that we are eons away from claiming to be a truly evolved subset of the primate order. Until then, unfortunately, this issue will persist :(	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/332	0.904

This is further eye opener to me. Thank you. I read Malcolm Gladwell's David and Goliath and even the advantages and disadvantages in education is drastic. We really do need to be more aware of the water in which we swim. And we do have to be carefully taught. That's no easy endeavor and the issues brought about by the neglect of the race issues need to be talked about.I also read about is the inverted U-Curve and how we live in a world dictated by this relationship. Too much and too little do eventually become harmful. I wonder how that graph would fit on different factors in this discussion of racism.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/113	1.77
I love being a part of this online community because the vast majority of these comments are so surprising for what I'd expect of a youtube video about race. One thing I would like to say though, to the people who are trying to claim that racism isn't a big deal anymore because they don't see much overt racism. You need to understand that systemic racism is a much more insidious thing than overt racism. It thrives because it can be ignored, especially by those who benefit from it.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	5/89	5.618
Thank you so much for making this video. It's good to see someone like you with an audience like nerdfighteria, so willing to learn and intent on participating in discussion, making a video bringing attention to racism. Lord knows there aren't a lot of popular youtubers, especially white ones, who'd do something like this.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/54	1.852
THANK YOU! I've been wanting to hear you talk about racism ever since Ferguson happened AND THIS MAKES ME FEEL BETTER. Well . . . not really, BUT STILL!The first step to fixing a problem is acknowledging that there exists a problem. You, sir, have suggested just that. Hopefully we, as Nerdfighteria, can start thinking of solutions!	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/58	1.724
I think some anti-immigration is also kind of racist. Mexicans stealing jobs? And you deserve income more than they do because you're American even if you're less qualified?	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/28	3.571
Can I suggest to the vlogbrothers to maybe do a piece explaining that there are in fact NO races within the human species, and thus the concept of racism to be a very stupid concept to have. Once people realize that there are more differences (dna) between a big and a tall person then between different skin colours its all just silly. It does not remove the discrimination bit, but now the "excuse" is ethnicity, or cultural, which should be seen as a stupid thing to do really.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/88	1.136

This video is revolutionary in that it makes strides toward awareness of racism however I think that we must also be aware of racism. This can include prejudice against other under-represented groups such as Native Americans and even white people (gasp). In order to fight racism can't isolate one kind of it. In other words to fight racism we have to fight it all even if the racism there is less common (for example racism against white people). This is the only way to truly get rid of the problem. I'm no expert on this. I'm not even out of high school, but I am not too young to understand. I hope I don't sound like I'm belittling racism against certain races, that's not my intention. I want to end this for good. I just think we need a more productive method.	Common, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	8/142	5.634
What is racist is to strip a race of their moral agency &amp; to have the sentiment that they can't help themselves. If you want to murder the heart &amp; crush the hope of an individual who is already down on their luck; tell them those things.	Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/47	4.255
This is one of the best videos I've ever seen about racism. I like the fact that you just used cold hard statistics to prove your point. Sometimes people get lost in what they've been taught, or what they've seen, and that can be limited. When you throw numbers out there like that, there's really no way to argue. Very informative, and really shows that we still do have a race problem in this country, no matter how much people try to deny it.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/84	2.381
il be honest the jemaule thing isn't necessarily racist. in general those kind of names arent as much race as they are class driven, i have nothing against any race... whatsoever, but the name jemaule dose imply that that person may have been raised in a less than fantastic home. i know plenty of great black people and none of them are have that kind of name	Black, Nothing, Race, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/67	7.463
A lot of people are saying that reverse racism is impossible and I would like to point out that this is not true. Minority groups can be racist against other minorities. Minority groups can be racist against the majority. Racism is not bound by political/economic standing. On the other hand, prejudice can in most occasions be associated with the majority/power, because the majority/power holds the upper hand and thus they enforce limitations on those "below" them. Of course, there are cases where a minority could display prejudice when he/she has the power. Peace out, and I love your stuff Lamarr Wilson! Seeing you on here made me remember to subscribe.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	4/110	3.636

Racism has nothing to do with numbers	Nothing, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	2/7	28.571
vlogbrothers you guys are so freckin awesome for posting content like this, a lot of youtubers don't even talk about the struggles of racism or any real topic due to the fact that there may be people who will poke holes in their argument, but here you are, showing them how it's done. I can see that the wording included in this video is very stern, yet diplomatic. Kind of like a fiery United Nations speech. I also believe that systematic racism has a cruel domino effect against the "minority" races, like Latinos or African Americans, who are now beginning to grow larger than the white race . However, I'd love to see what possible solutions to this problem nerdfighters may have. Reply!	African, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/122	3.279
I work in criminal justice. There's a lot of judgment from cops to judge and jury based on a person's appearance. People really think they can tell what kind of person someone is based on how they look, and a lot of times that's where race starts to factor in. It's a deep, cultural failing that I have no idea how to rectify except to teach our children better than we were taught.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/73	1.37
OMG did you look up the data about how asians were treated worse had less opportunities than black when they were imported massively for slaveryDATA IS COLD YES MOTHER FCUK!$$ LOOK UP THE OTHER STUFF LOL FUKCING "WE ARE ALL THE SAME BULLSHIT"	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/44	2.273
How do these statistics look like per state? The US as a huge-ass country, to use the technically ascribed jargon, and a federal country, is basically a bunch of countries wound up into one. Surely, it must be easier for black people and minorities in general in places like California and New England right?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/54	1.852
This is a brilliant video. Thank you so much for making it. It's a sensitive topic that I think was handled very well. To experience racism is a sad reality for far too many people. In the era where America has an African-american president and the richest man in the world is Mexican. I think many people need a reality check.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/61	1.639
the part you mentioned about black people not being allowed to accrue wealth or land (inheritance, 3:07) for most of US history opened my eyesin realising an obvious cause to the large disproportionate amount of the black population of the US (compared to other categorised ethnicities, according to what I have heard and seen) living in social housing.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/59	3.39

I want to hear more on this subject from vlog brothers, as well as similar topics regarding gender, sexual orientation, etc.	Gender, Sexual	Gender - General	2/21	9.524
Um I agree with most if this except Schools that are predominantly african american tend to be poor areas and therefore have lower education. This isn't a direct product of racism but rather caused by a domino effect. Racism and capitalism>slaves>freed slaves > can't find jobs> poor and raised in ghettos > children stay there > children stay there etc.	African, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/60	5.0
please don't forget the countless Latino, Asian, Middle Eastern, Native, etc. people who are affected by racism as well	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/19	5.263
I'm going to go ahead and share this with all the people on Facebook who say that they "don't see race ". Perfect video John!	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/24	4.167
Thank you for making this. It's a tough issue with no easy answers, but it will never be fixed unless people admit it is happening. I hope to see a world where racism is no longer a problem.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/38	2.632
Racism will never go away completely, it is the sad truth	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/11	9.091

I know that vlogbrothers are all about complexity so allow me to add some complexity to the issue of race and the criminal justice system by linking to an excellent review of a huge breadth of the evidence. [LINK] The TL;DR version is that the evidence of sentencing being biased against blacks based on racism (here in defined as the explicit or implicit belief on the part of individuals that there are inherent differences between races, I'll show why this definition is important later) seems rather solid. The evidence that racism in the previously defined manner impacts police work and arrest rates is much, much weaker. This does not mean race isn't important, but it does mean that for police work STRUCTURAL racism not the previously defined racism is the problem and that has major consequences for good policy making. Structural racism is racism that exists because color blind rules actually impact one race more than another. So for instance, the law may ban whites from using crack as much as it bans blacks, but if black usage rates are higher then there is structural racism in the system even if every police officer and every judge is completely non-racist. Arrest rate issues actually seem to come down to structural not non-structural racism because black live in poorer more crime-ridden neighborhoods because of the history of non-structural racism they faced.I think it's vital to keep the concepts of racism and structural racism separate because they have different solutions that are required. For non-structural racism the answer includes things like anti-discrimination laws, diversity training, and more exposing people to other races. For structural racism these methods are completely ineffective because no individual has to be racist for a racist outcome to occur. With structural racism you need things like changing laws that disproportionately disadvantage oppressed groups and wealth transfers to make up for previous oppression. When people hear "police are racist" they too often think the answer is hire more black police officers or increase diversity training. Or the police and their supporters get offended by being told how they feel about blacks when that does not match their internal experience. It's basically like telling a black person she doesn't really feel oppressed, and that she's faking it. Not to mention the evidence doesn't actually strongly indicate the traditional racist charge is right. Talk about structural racism, and no individual police officer need implicitly or explicitly hold racist views for the system to work poorly for blacks. The problem then becomes "how do we need to change our laws and welfare rules to counter-act historical oppression?" That's a very different question than "how do we get police officers to stop hating black people?"

Black, Blind, Race, Racism, Racist

Ethnicity -
Black,
Ethnicity -
General,
Physical
Identity - Physical (and Mental)
Impairments

29/453

6.402

PREFACE: I am not racist. Yes, I am white. Yes, I am privileged. Yes, I am American. Yes, I have hardly any black people at my school. No, I do not know many other black people. One time, I was in Over the Rhine in Cincinnati, Ohio because I was at the library. I was at a crosswalk with a lovely and happy looking black family with two little kids, and I felt a little uncomfortable. I didn't say anything rude or whatever, but it just felt weird. I felt out of place. And I was out of place. I was in a predominantly black area. Maybe I thought I might get mugged. I don't know. I'm not intentionally biased or stereotypical. Okay, enjoy my response. *When I say 'we' I'm usually referring to the majority white corporate employers, the United States as a nation, or just the near 100 white community I live in.Lol,I agree that not hiring someone just because of their name is a bad reason for not hiring them. But really? Lakeesha? Google doesn't even recognize that as a word. It recognizes Jamal. It's just that they have ridiculous names. It just sounds dumb in our culture.But what about Asian names. I'm going to come up with a Japanese sounding name: Ikamoto. Doesn't that sound Japanese? Out of two people with the exact same resume, would you hire Ikamoto or Lakeesha? I would probably hire Ikamoto. It still sounds ridiculous to me, but I don't think it's a funny name. I wouldn't laugh if I heard this name in real life.I think (I am in no way making any statements, only speculation.) the reason for this bias is because Japan has more of aa presence in America. We are familiar with Japanese (and other Asian) sounding names, not because we are like Japanese people more than black people, but because we have less of a relationship and connection with African culture. I could not tell you an African sounding name. I honestly have no idea whether Lakeesha or Jamal are African sounding names. And despite lots of black people having bizarre sounding names, we still sorta shun them, because they are unfamiliar.Or maybe I'm wrong. Maybe all these employers are racist, and when they see a resume with a black sounding name, they just throw it out. If I were an employer, I would definitely be swayed if I saw a resume with a black sounding name, but I don't know if it is because of race. If I interviewed a white woman with the name Lakeesha, I would be swayed in the direction of a person with an identical resume with a normal sounding name.If I have offended anyone, I am not sorry. Get over it. Comments are welcome for civilized discussion. If this starts a string of racist comments, I will delete it.	African, Black, Dumb, Nation, Race, Racist, Weird, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General, Nationality - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	19/484	3.926
Lakisha/Laquisha and Jamal are common African-American names. You probably haven't heard them because of the place you live in.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/19	5.263

The situation with feeling uncomfortable in a predominately black area is quite common and I would say isn't racist. Most everyone feels out of place when they are the only one or seemingly only one in a group of ppl that are "other" (Not eloquently put but can't think of another way to state it). Its just that while the feeling never goes away us minorities become more accustomed to it because white ppl are the majority and most of us have contact with white ppl quite often whether it be at school, work, relationships etc.....As for all your opinions on names I'll just condense it down to this:"Or maybe I'm wrong. Maybe all these employers are racist, and when they see a resume with a black sounding name, they just throw it out."»&gt;I think this is where some ppl find it kind of hard to believe. Not every manager who looked at the resumes said "Well that person is black and I don't like black people therefore I'm not going to hire them" sometimes preconceived notions and bias are an unconscious thing that still negatively affects how minorities are viewed and treated.Also one other thing I liked to point out you stated:"Out of two people with the exact same resume, would you hire Ikamoto or Lakeesha? I would probably hire Ikamoto. It still sounds ridiculous to me, but I don't think it's a funny name. I wouldn't laugh if I heard this name in real life."Why is Ikamoto preferable over Lakeisha? You both find them funny sounding but you choose one over the other, why? Could it be that you hold preconceived notions about the people who hold these names? Only you can answer that. Either way Lakeisha just got turned down for a job, not because she wasn't qualified but off of something that shouldn't matter, her name.In closing (taken from a commenter who could tie it up shorter than I would ever be able to)"You need to understand that systemic racism is a much more insidious thing than overt racism. It thrives because it can be ignored, especially by those who benefit from it. "	Black, Common, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	9/366	2.459
--	-------------------------------	--	-------	-------

Hey dustichux one more thing I would like to discuss is the difference between Africans and African Americans. When dealing with race relations in America while recent immigrant of Africa certainly can experience discrimination most of the examples and links are dealing with African Americans. An African American is just another name for an American who is black . I am an African American born and raised in America and so were my parents, grandparents etc.. up to a certain point. So while the US may have less interaction with African culture the same can not be said for Afr Amer culture, heck we are a part of the culture. So being "less familiar" wouldn't work when dealing with Afr Amer since we are Americans. Its sad to say but in some cases it really does just come down to what race you are take a look at these 2 links: [LINK] [LINK] In the vid at 00:13- 00:25 John stated that a majority of white Americans don't believe in racism to be as problematic or systemic as it really is and his vid as well as links provided are set to illustrate that it does exist. But this shouldn't get any of us down as the 1st step to solving a problem is acknowledging it and hopefully this has opened some ppl eyes. Lastly sorry for the long post and DFTBA! :)	African, Black, Immigrant, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	10/232	4.31
busymike It's an analysis based on conjecture and personal observation as to why we have that particular aspect of nationwide systemic racism . The preface was to give the reader and potential replier some kind of background on myself, so he or she knows my perspective, and why I may have some possibly incorrect assumptions. Stupid.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/55	1.818
On the topic of names, I'd like to raise a question. What were the races of the employers? Because culturally, names that are familiar and easy to pronounce are more likely to get hired. Black culture in the United States is unique, and it's understandable (Although certainly not acceptable!) that this might occur. Perhaps there is a definite bias due to the disconnect of those who are in the position to decide such matters (Criminal justice and business) purely out of culture. I'm certain that there is injustice, but it's sticky and prevailing enough that it's perhaps not just race .	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/100	2.0

I have this take in racism probably nobody would agree firstly because im not an American and secondly because im from Mexico. You see here in Mexico racism exists thats a fact, it happens no matter what you cant avoid racism anywhere in the world, yet most people are not as racist like in the united states,our first president for those who dont know was Mulato just like Obama he was Called Vicente Guerrero and some called him el Negro guerrero the point is that he created a law in which race is forbiden to be mentioned in any official paper or document, here in Mexico legally you have no race . And even if people will still discriminate its not an institutionaliced problem its not part of your identity as a citizen. I mean its just a recomendation ist not like itll fix personal prejudice in the first place but atleast a person wont have to judge you while watching an exam etc.	Negro, Nobody, Race, Racism, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	8/163	4.908
the thing about racism is its harder then just convincing people to stop being it, a lot of it is subconscious and for people to put that out of their mind is next to impossible	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/35	2.857
Don't get me wrong I totally support African Americans but I feel like the internet likes to ignore the rest of us minorities like Latinos, Asians and Native Americans. :(	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/30	3.333
I don't think most of the people here know what racism means. Most are confusing it with bigotry.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/18	5.556
You have to do a video like this every now and again to filter out staunchly racist community members. I mean most of us are probably guilty of implicit racism but it's only the really hopeless cases who would take issue with such a reasonable and well-made video like this one.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/51	3.922
I liked your name difference on resume's argument. It's been a while since I've heard anything other then assertions, playing the victim or ridiculous statements of correlations. around here we call black people black and white people white. Why?.... Because we choose to actually call people by there name as race is kind of a useless thing and is pretty irrelevant. I don't know why the states cares so much about race . But then again... You have the Tea Party.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/80	5.0

Will probably get flamed for this but here goes (long post alert!):There are major cultural differences that correlate fairly well with 'traditional indicia of race', and which are likely to be relevant to a sentencing judge or a prospective employer. In the former case, for example, a judge is entirely rational in deciding to give a longer sentence to someone exhibiting more signs of thug/gang culture, and sadly that culture has captured many more blacks than it has whites. Thus, simply aggregating the statistics will create a false picture of bias; it's not quite the fallacy of the third cause but it's similar.As for the resumés, a hiring manager generally has to go through so many of them that they are forced to use more-or-less arbitrary criteria to 'thin the herd' before reading them properly. Maybe they think names are a proxy, not for race, but for the attitudes and values of the candidate's parents, which will have been major determining factors in the candidate's development. Or maybe any other criterion would produce similar levels of bias against some group, and some settled on names as the least obnoxious. (It could be a statistical artefact of the names chosen; I have heard claims that some employers will sort CVs alphabetically and stop when they've got enough good ones, in which case Brendan and Emily would be looked at before Jamal and Lakeisha!) Oh, and let's not forget that employment law creates strong incentives not to hire minorities, because if they turn out to be unfit for the job they're much harder to fire than a straight white male. The employer who, on those grounds, avoids hiring blacks, is not being racist - he's just being sensible. The racists are the people who wrote the law and didn't think about the incentives they were setting up.Moreover, it is well-substantiated that the mean IQ of black Americans is about 85, i.e. one standard deviation lower than average, and the situation is similar with measures of self-control and time-preference. (Let me forestall the inevitable howls of "IQ is meaningless/the tests are biased": no, IQ reliably measures Spearman's g, and the error does not appear to correlate with race.) While this does not, of course, mean that any individual black person is unintelligent (and interpreting it as such would be racism), it does mean that "black people are worse off" is not (necessarily) evidence of systemic racism; the same results could, generally, be produced by systemic 'bias' in favour of intelligence. (A good analogy is: if you pick your sports teams based entirely on performance - race-blind - you will find your sprint team is mostly black and your wrestlers are mostly white. If that's evidence of "racism" then the word "racism" no longer has any meaning and we have no word with which to label and condemn real racists.) So for example, maybe the US health system is such a convoluted mess of overlapping systems, poorly-conceived Federal programs and perverse incentives that ability to get good treatment depends not on your insurance status but on whether you're clever enough to play the system. And maybe a defendant who exhibits high time-preference in court is likely to get a harsher sentence than one who behaves well and only speaks when it's his turn (this is entirely rational: time-preference is a predictor of criminal behaviour). And maybe a drug user who lacks self-control is more of a danger to those	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	18/891	2.02
--	-----------------------------	--	--------	------

I think "black people" segregate themselves all of the time by identifying themselves "black people". I'm still waiting for they day when "black people" stop identifying themselves by the color of their skin and start calling themselves just "people".So black history month is a problem that clearly contributes to a differentiation between "black people" and the rest of humanity. Get rid of black history month and "black people" will be in the same boat as the rest of humanity. I personally think it would be cool to have just a world history month, or a Africa history month, or just any history month. Anything except a white history month or a black history month or any other race based history month.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	9/122	7.377
Black history month exists because at the time it was started, and even far after that into modern day, only the history of white people and European countries was being taught.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/31	3.226
Tiana Buchanan Public schools ignore much of history. They shouldn't ignore any of it. Tell me what government school talks about the Armenian Genocide. Of course we wouldn't have these problems if we didn't have the government socialist schools system.All of this is beside my original point. Identifying one's self as a "black person" instead of just a person is harmful. Stop identifying people by skin color. It only perpetuates segregation in the mind.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/75	1.333
tradecenter7 I disagree. I feel that my being a black person is a big part of who I am and not something that can be erased. I don't think identifying ones self causes problems. I think the idea that certain identities, particularly in the US, (gay, black, transgender, etc) are worse than others (straight, white, cisgender, etc.) is the problem.	Black, Gay, Transgender	Ethnicity - Black, Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality, Sexual Identity - Transexuality	5/60	8.333

Tiana Buchanan Think if I said "being a white man is a big part of who I am". Just saying that sentence immediately segregates myself from all other races of people. I also think identifying one's self as a "gay man" instead of just a man immediately segregates that person from all groups of humanity that are not "gay men".I'm saddened that "being a black person is a big part of who you are". I believe it was MLK that wanted people to be judged by the content of character and not by the color of their skin. You are identifying yourself by the color of your skin. And because of that people will always stereotype you by skin color.I do thank you for thinking critically about my point. I hope that one day all races and demographics will just call themselves "people".	Black, Gay	Ethnicity - Black, Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	5/145	3.448
tradecenter7 People are going to stereotype myself based on my skin color no matter what I call myself. If I decide to go "I just think of myself as a person, not black or anything" people are still going to call me African American or black or whatever they're most comfortable with. I have no control over how other think of me beyond giving my personal input. Whether or not they take it into account is out of my control.The fact that I am black has strongly affected my life and how other people interact with or think of me. Not only that but it's affected how i view the world. So it is in fact a big part of who I am. It's not all of who I am, but it is a part of me. Just as being a girl and being bisexual are parts of me as well. On your point about "what MLK wanted", every Black American is not Martin Luther King Jr. We don't all have to share his exact philosophy on every little thing. Black people are not a collective hive mind that has to share opinions on everything. And even still I'm about 99.99 sure he himself identified as a black man. Also, there were so many more civil rights activists than just Martin Luther King jr. So many more people I have to thank for the current rights I have as a black person in the United States. Hanging the singular idea of the only one that you anything about over me as if it's supposed to affect my personal opinion is silly. How often white people go "well I don't think this is what MLK would've wanted!!!" Whenever a black person expresses them self in a way they don't approve of is amazing to me.	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	9/305	2.951

Tiana Buchanan	So you don't respect MLK, that's fine. I just know that most people do, and I thought his quote about character instead of skin color applied. Yes, people will allways do and think whatever they want, this is their free right. And you cant change that. I'm just saying it would help change people's minds, somewhat, from thinking of you as a black bisexual if you didn't immediately and directly identify yourself by those things that seperate you from most people. If you consider your self to be equal to others by identifying yourself as equal then surely you will be treated a little more equal. I think you do understand my point though you disagree. And probably you subconsciously are attached to your differences that separate you, and you think that makes you who you are, I understand that. You can stay different and apart from the norm and that's fine, but I think proclaiming yourself different is just asking for people to treat you different.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/169	0.592
Malik Edwards	Do you think a black man is physically different than a white man other than skin color? Because man and women are actually vary different physically.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/28	3.571
Lawrence Bryant	You can't help what other people do, but you can stop empowering them by playing their game. If they say "you are different", and you say "I am different", then you are just getting what you are asking for. Call yourself black and you will be most definitely be treated black .	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/53	3.774
tradecenter7	Yes. Why do you think humans have 3 separate skeletal structures? Negroid ( African ), Caucasoid(Caucasian), and Mongoloid (Asian).	African, Mongoloid	Ethnicity - Black, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/17	11.765
tradecenter7	I hate your mindset."You blacks can't have this! Whites only!" "Ok, we'll just have to make our own..."50 years later" Black people always wanna separate themselves from everyone else."	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/32	3.125
Charles Powell	the civil war ended over 140 tears ago, and that's when black people stopped being bread.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/18	5.556

Hey, my bad I'll start calling all black people I see " black ". Everyone here is saying that we should identify ourselves by the color of our skin and that is somehow not racist . We should all segregate into groups determined by color.Ok, so now I'll become white and proud of it. I'm going to start petitioning for a white history month. I'm going to start a white only dating sight, perhaps a white only club. Let me just call myself white, and call blacks black and call Asians yellow Indians red .	Black, Racist, Red, Yellow	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Asian (East-China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam), Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American, Nationality - Chinese, Nationality - Japanese	9/92	9.783
And hey you are fond of name calling you call yourself black .	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/12	8.333
Lawrence BryantYour typing has no tone, and thus no sarcasm can be picked up, and you can help that. And more name calling, that makes you look intelligent (sarcasm).Tell you neighbor to call you a person and not a black person and perhaps he won't think of you as a nigga as much.Gooday Sir.	Black, Nigga	Ethnicity - Black	2/57	3.509
tradecenter7 How are we segregating ourself by using a DESCRIPTION? I'm a black guy. my race is black , my sex is male. That's the basic form of description. You're acting as if the cure to racism is to not mention race like??????	Black, Race, Racism, Sex	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	6/42	14.286

yu raYou are missing my point, i'm saying by definition black history month is racial discrimination. I'm all for learning about great people whatever the color. In fact specifically not by color but by the merits of their achievements.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/40	2.5
Lawrence Bryant The sad thing is so many people believe that that is the best way to end racism , and they get mad at us blacks for bringing it up all the time.That's like saying "He keeps crying about being bullied all the time. The bullying will only stop if we all stop talking about it."	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/57	1.754
Malik Edwards "History is mainly (in fact, almost exclusively) taught from a white prospective. " yes and it shouldn't be. Black history month is teaching it from a black perspective and that is just as wrong.History should be taught as unbiased facts.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/43	4.651
Lawrence BryantYou missed my point and I didn't say that. I said calling yourself black is segregating yourself.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/19	5.263
Lawrence BryantI do get racism , I think that you are missing what racism is. Because it is a belief that one race is more genetically dominant than another. you said "You are white, you are a dominant race " therefore you are a racist by definition. Just think about that for a second.	Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	5/53	9.434
Lawrence BryantYou are a violent, frustrated person and you do that to yourself, unless you admit that I have control over you (and I don't). The number of whites is irrelevant to my point. I never said racism doesn't exist. All I have said is that identifying yourself as a " black person" instead of just a person contributes to segregating yourself.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/62	3.226

tradecenter7 I do respect him, but I also respect Malcolm X and Shirley Chisholm and Bessy Coleman and Angela Davis and all the other civil rights activists I have to thank for what I have. It doesn't begin and end at Martin Luther King jr and for whatever reason, you're acting like it does.I do respect Martin Luther King jr, I just don't in any way think "I have a dream that one day people will not be judged by the color of their skin, but by the content of their character" has anything to do with choosing not to identify with a particular race. He wasn't trying to get rid of the idea that race existed, he was trying rid of the idea that one race was somehow better than all the others. Which is exactly what I'm saying. The problem isn't that people identify as different things, the problem is that so many people insist that certain identifies are better than others.I don't think "different" should mean "lesser" and that's clearly how you're analyzing things, which is super upsetting to me. Calling yourself something different isn't asking to be treated differently, being different in general results in being treated differently. It doesn't matter what you call yourself. People don't care what you call yourself, they're still going to call you whatever they want. I'm not going to be treated "more equal" if I choose not to identify as bisexual. If someone sees me kiss a girl, and then a kiss a guy a few weeks later, they're going to draw their own conclusions. They might call me a queer or a fag or they might be accepting of who I am. Regardless of me explaining that I like both. Regardless of me specifically identifying as bisexual.If some redneck asshole sees me on the street and mumbles some shit about me being uneducated or dirty or whatever, what I call myself doesn't matter. Your logic is flawed because it depends on the idea that everyone respects your thoughts on yourself and takes them into account just because they respect you that much. But maybe that's just what you've come to expect from other people being a white, straight, cisgender, man. Maybe you don't know what it's like not to be what most of the United States considers to be the default. I can't be totally sure.In the general response you left here for everyone you said a lot of things about starting the "white" versions of things because there are a lot of black versions of things (dating sites, TV channels, or whatever). And you need to understand that the world we function in is largely built in favor if white people. Our justice system, the films we see, the comic books we read, the police departments in many parts of the country, many dating sites (black women are often ignored or disrespected through them because our skin color isn't "attractive"), the TV you watch, everything. If black people, or any race that isn't white in fact, wants to carve out a little space for ourselves in a country that is run by and for white people, then that shouldn't be a problem. There's a black history month because the rest of the year, public school teachers are teaching the history of anyone else possible. Through the 60s and 70s there were textbooks with no information on Africa. Nobody thought anything ever happened there. So of course people go "we need time to talk about us too, we deserve time".BET exists because throughout basically all of television and film black people are hugely underrepresented. There's a black entertainment television	Black, Fag, Nobody, Queer, Race, Redneck	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - White, Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality, Social Class - Working class	16/627	2.552
--	---	---	---------------	--------------

tradecenter7 Ok, even if identifying myself as a black person is segregating myself, what does that have to do with anything? How is removing "black" as a description for myself going to stop systematic oppression?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/35	5.714
tradecenter7 What Lawrence Bryant was trying to say with the "number of whites" thing is that Whites are the majority in America, further proving his point that it's harder for Whites to understand racism due to them being the majority and having the most privileges. At least that's what I'm getting from it.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/53	1.887
Stupid statement, ignoring race will not solve the issue. Also it's not just black people that call themselves black people, all throughout facets of society like government documents, criminal records etc. require you to state your skin colour, you can't just say black people are calling themselves black people. I know you watched the Morgan Freeman video, and his point is valid, however it is too basic of an idea and it solve anything. Just because you stop saying it, doesn't mean people will look at a black person and not see the colour of their skin. I think removing the any connotation/preconceived notion that is often associated with different skin colours will ultimately be the best solution, although I don't think racism/prejudice will ever go away.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/127	4.724
You're joking right? White people came up with that crap and segregated black people from them. White people were so committed to this that they came up with laws that ensured black people would not have the same rights or access to resources that whites would have.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/47	4.255

You can describe yourself as black. That is perfectly fine; I was just saying that I think it is harmful to get your identity from it. To say I "have black skin" is different than saying "I am a black man". You are not your job, you are not your skin color, those are just things that you have.And I think focusing on unfair practices, harassment, and unjustness in general will cause less racial division than focusing on race.And Tiana Buchanan, I think it would be great if everyone thought "hey it's fine to be different but equal". But that seems pretty far off and unrealistic. I think where we disagree is that "Calling yourself something different isn't asking to be treated differently". I think to the subconscious, it really is. Because when the brain identifies a difference it says to itself " therefore how should I threat this different thing differently".And Ryushai, no joke. Yeah "white people" in history have created unjust laws. And unjust laws still exist. The point still remains that when you identify (not just describe) yourself by the color of your skin you are judging yourself by the color of your skin and that is just plain immoral. It is immoral to judge a person by the skin color (this goes both ways), and it is immoral to preform a action solely based on race (because it is by definition discriminatory to race and therefore immoral).I feel like I'm talking to a wall. lol, I'm ready just to agree to disagree here.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/261	2.299
Malik Edwards"Ok, even if identifying myself as a black person is segregating myself, what does that have to do with anything? How is removing "black" as a description for myself going to stop systematic oppression?"I would say focusing on the systematic oppression and unfairness instead of race is the better thing to do. If you make it about race and not the oppression, then it will only cause further race division. This is my opinion.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/77	6.494
tradecenter7 But the oppression is because I'm black.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/8	12.5
As a black man, I agree with tradecenter7 . We should quit black history month because it does no good to black American culture and mentality. To have one month dedicated to brief black history is a joke. Blacks should be able to learn and embrace our rich history (not slavery) every month.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	4/53	7.547

tradecenter7 I agree with you views, but you have to see the views of other people...Malik edwards made alot of great points...and until the end of time, we will all have to continue to describe ourselves by skin color and race ....because for some reason, it does matter...I fill out a job application...Check race box..I fill out a college application..Check race box..I sign up for a credit card...Check Race box...this is the system that we do not perpetuate, but that we are forced to deal with.. black white asain/pacific islander/other	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/88	5.682
I hate white people like you. Ignoring the fact that I am black only to make you privileged whites more comfortable, is not something I or any other conscious black person is willing to do. Acknowledging our differences and how they affect how we are treated in this patriarchal, racist , white supremacist, homophobic , classist society will help us figure out ways to address the systemic issues we face. Not ignoring them.	Black, Homophobic, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Sexual Identity - General	4/71	5.634
cindy Queen maybe you learned more about dead white men, because dead white men built the world around you? like literally everything you take for granted. automobile, cell phone, telephone, personal computer, airplane, locomotive, television, radio, western society. the fucking country you live in. jesus christ how blind are you?	Blind	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/50	2.0
cindy Queen not just some things. they invented the world around you. that is why you learn about them. if blacks want to learn about black culture, and history, you should learn about it from the black community. not the fucking state funded institution that white people founded in the first place.what the fuck makes you so privileged you deserve a month in the first place?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/67	2.985
Tiana Buchanan you realize those indians that slaughtered and committed genocide against the aztecs of tlaxcala, and eachother; warent the fucking government, and established nation of america right? they didnt even hold the same culture from tribe to tribe, they were different, and waged wars with eachother daily, fighting for game, and land just like the whites did. the only difference was, the whites were better. american culture is anglo saxon westerners, not the the fucking conquered natives of a land, and this goes for every nation .i dont understand why your emotional speculation of "muh oppressed demographic" should trump the logic that has been established. anglo saxon europeans established AMERICA, and its culture.	Nation	Nationality - General	2/114	1.754

dee jay You're speaking of America in a political sense, I'm speaking of it in the sense of a landmass. Where individual groups of people have come and gone, grown and dwindled. Erasing certain groups of people because a one in particular decided to declare it a country for themselves is a poor way of teaching. Your insistence that white people were the building blocks of American society because they set the government in place would require the complete erasure of black people up until the abolition of slavery, as until then they were either considered to be literal objects to be kept as property or 3/5 of a person. Which again, would be a completely flawed way of teaching the history of a nation . European colonists didn't define American culture, it's been developing and changing under the influence of many people of many races/nationalities since it was founded. Culture varies across states, among religions, throughout races, age groups, etc. American culture isn't a definitive idea that was set into place when the land was colonized.	Age, Black, Nation	Age - General, Ethnicity - Black, Nationality - General	3/176	1.705
dee jay Culture isn't defined by a government, culture is defined by a populous. Music, art, architecture, literature, social customs, etc. are defined by the population of an area, not the specific group of people who have seats in government. You keep speaking of native Americans in the past tense as if there aren't Native American still here. There are many natives (not Indians, Indians come from the country of India) who still live in The States and practice their culture. To attempt erase them from out history as you're trying to do because they didn't found the singular government that exists here today is small minded and harmful. Just as erasing black Americans throughout the nations existence is small minded and harmful.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/123	0.813
Tiana Buchanan yeah, and all of that what you said culture is comprised of; is that of western europeans, and under sovereign authority of a government. i call them indians because thats the colloquial term used for native americans, im not going to censor myself for a politically correct doctrine. everything you basically said was rhetoric, and speculation dictated by emotions. not factthe fact is europeans conquered the americas. with them brought their government, laws, and people. with that came the culture of europeans. the natives who were once the people of their own respected governments, were no longer the dominant culture, and were never the culture of what is known as america. that is how conquest works. its not unique to one race of people, and the natives did it to eachother, like i said they completely murdered off the aztecs of tlaxcala with aid of the spanish, and esnlaved one another. no amount of liberal mental gymnastics is going to change fact	Mental, Race	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/165	1.212

So, If I got this right, OP, you're saying that you think it is bad for people to identify themselves a belonging to a specific subset, rather than to the larger denominator, because doing so creates more unnecessary fragmentation and division, to the point where the "group" learns to hate everyone who is not of the group. Correct?I actually agree with that. Yes, I'm white, straight, and male (according to some, not a good place to be typing from), but those aren't really much of my self-characterizing. Something as minor as how close to the equator your ancestors lived shouldn't be the primary identifier of a person (in my opinion).That being said, I of course understand why people are upset. That idea only works if a critical mass of people can all set aside the stereotyping and attitudes, and look past skin, gender , whatever. It is naive to go into a world that disagrees with you and expect your opinions alone to be shared with any of the 7 billion others. Unfortunately, these comments (on a vlogbrothers video? Really? Is name-calling and ridicule the best discussion Nerdfighteria can have over this issue?) highlight the improbability and necessity of the attitude. Perhaps I'm thoroughly idealistic, but it does seem that if people can't figure out how to stop both self-isolating and other-isolating, the tragedies John described won't actually stop.	Gender	Gender - General	1/230	0.435
Tiana Buchanan all you are saying is culture evolves through generations. my reply. so the fuck what? the point was "the history of america, is the history of europe"you have no real argument against this. all you have done is sidelined the point, and emotionally rambled about what you feel the culture was when the reality is the culture of an established government, and nation is the descendants of the conquerors. every time, all the time. you are learning white american history, because white europeans founded american history. no amount of fucking mental gymnastics is going to change this.	Mental, Nation	Nationality - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/100	2.0
dee jay I'm sorry, I'm done with you. For whatever reason it's impossible for you to grasp that America hasn't at any point been 100 white European throughout it's history. You'll continue to insist that all culture, even if it was developed and perpetuated by Black or Native people, is white European culture. Why you are so intent on your race receiving credit for literally everything that's ever happened here (because god forbid someone not white contribute to American society at some point) is beyond me but honestly at this point, Im over it. Any more time i spend trying to talk to you will be a waste of my time.Happy new year, I wish you all the best.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/120	1.667
Tiana Buchanan america is nation colonized by the european people, before their settlement; it was a completely different doctrine. come to terms with this. i never took credit for anything. im astounded by your lack of accepted knowledge, and replace it with your own emotional speculation.	Nation	Nationality - General	1/46	2.174

dee jay There's more to History than just America. Even in World History, we still focus on White people's perspective of things. Actually, come to think of it, I can't recall a time where we learned about anyone who wasn't White (or Asian, since they were involved in a lot of wars) outside of Black History Month or Hispanic Heritage Month.I mean, sure, they mentioned Native Americans and slaves, but we never learn about the important figures in said races.inb4 "there are no important Native Americans, Blacks, or Hispanics. Hell, throw Asian in that pile too."	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/98	1.02
dee jay Also, calling a Native American " Indian " is incorrect. Christopher Columbus is the one who mislabeled them, since he originally thought he sailed in India before realizing it was America. Historians were just disrespectful enough to keep referring to them as "American- Indian " despite them being here first (hence the name " Native American.")	Indian	Ethnicity - Native-American	1/54	1.852
Malik Edwards i dont care, indian is a colloquial term for native americans, and it always has been. im not going to censor myself for a politically correct doctrine	Indian	Ethnicity - Native-American	1/29	3.448
devilangel777 I completely agree! Everyone who's not white shouldn't be ignored in favor of white people as they are in so many history classes. Most of the things I know about the history of black Americans is things I've had to seek out on my own because my school didn't care to teach much beyond the bare minimum "slavery, Jim Crow , Martin Luther King jr" while they'd spend full weeks of the curriculum on White Americans.And after a quick look at that dudes google+ page Ive found that he's racist (often insisting black people are lesser than other races), homophobic , and sexist so i know I was right to decide arguing with him wasn't worth the effort. I just saw he replied to you too so I wouldn't recommend you bother, but of course you can do whatever you want.	Black, Crow, Homophobic, Jim Crow, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Sexual Identity - General	6/141	4.255
Tiana Buchanan>implying other races are ignoredyou speculate with no real clout in reality. your argument is that american funded education should be required to teach more than the foundation of the nations culture. in what way are they obligated to do this?"hur this guys a racist "you really showed me man.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/54	1.852
dee jay No, I don't think you understand. You are literally racist . On your g+ page and even in your comment on this video you're constantly on about how some races worse than others, particularly black being just at the bottom in your eyes. That's gross and bigoted thinking and I obviously won't be able to change your opinions if you think that way. You can spit whatever "facts" you want; I'm sorry but you'll still remain irrelevant, racist , and disgusting.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/81	3.704

Tiana Buchanan >implying you can hold your own on the merits of a discussion without calling someone a racist you had potential	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/22	4.545
dee jay I love having discussion with open people and learning about others' points of view but, and I'm not even sure you understand this, claiming one race is inferior to the rest is literal racism . I have no desire to discuss anything with someone who's literally racist because I know it won't get anywhere. Feel free to say I'm just "pulling the race card" or whatever you shitty racist old dudes have to say so you don't have to think introspectively, haha.	Old, Race, Racism, Racist	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - General	6/83	7.229
Tiana Buchanan superior is subjective, and i never claimed one race is superior. i claimed races were not equal which is biological fact.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/23	4.348
dee jay You repeatedly claim on worldstar videos of black people that the people in the video ( black people) are inferior to other races. You claim that minorities are never to be trusted. And you imply that black people are inherently dangerous and that white people need to "wake up". You literally just said to me the races aren't equal. That is in fact racism , whether or not you care to admit it. If you're looking for any form of respect or desire of a dialogue from me I can assure you that's out the window so you can stop replying to me.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/103	3.883
Happy new years guys! Let's not be so hostile eh?I think you both make great points. American history specifically has vastly more to do with the Anglo-European or the Caucasoid race and that is just a fact. There are obviously some black people in American history books, but they are way out numbered, not because of racism but just because America is majority white. And white people in history have done more significant things pertaining to the America we now live in. Black influence is greatly noted in social studies (mostly because of all the culture that African decedents have invented), probably just as much or more than white people.Now I do think that public schools fail greatly with world history excluding the middle east and Europe. Public schools should be more inclusive with world history such as African , Asian, and South American history (Also Australia they have a pretty short history). Also Nativa American History. Basically the focus is American and European (because most all of the first Americans came from Europe) history because we live in America (logical).All of this is really not my original point though.	African, Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/192	3.125
You are erasing the struggles that civil right's movement fought for. Black history was crested because whites were not teaching people black history and when they did they barely mentioned black accomplishments. It's a way to remind everyone about our past.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/41	7.317

Sensei Aishitemasu Who said being black makes you inferior or superior? I was just stating that having your identity as a " black person" instead of just a person separates yourself from everyone that doesn't get their identity from the color of their skin. In fact it seems a bit racist to be so focused on skin color in the first place. So I'm saying drop the racist focus in your identity.If a white guy goes around pointing out how he is so proud of being white and is proud of his white skin color and white heritage, would you call that racist ? So I say why can't we all just be people?	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/113	4.425
Lawrence Bryant Who puts their skin color on their resume? Nobody that's who, because it is irrelevant and racist ! And on job applications you don't have to submit to that racist labeling b.s. Be above it. The only reason that labeling is on job applications is because of unamerican, affirmative action, anti-free market, socialist, fascism. I say get rid of it and be above it. I mark other or nothing and I'm white.	Nobody, Nothing, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	4/73	5.479
Lawrence Bryant No shit, but a resume it's still a relevant point to a job application.But whatever man keep Identifying yourself Black ( just as negro in years past). There was a time when you where forced to label yourself, and now you do it voluntarily. keep labeling yourself apart from everyone and keep being segregated. I'll stop giving a shit.	Black, Negro	Ethnicity - Black	2/62	3.226
Dekko DakkoAre you better than anyone at anything? I do think I am better than many people at many things, because reality. But still Hitler was racist , the Ku-klux-klan is racist , the Black Panthers are racist , but the majority of Americans are not racist . The majority MAY be a bit bigoted, but the majority of Americans are not eugenicist (which is what racism really is).I don't think you know what racism is. You are using the wrong word	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/80	8.75
Dekko DakkoI'm sorry but, you just said that white people think they are superior and I can't see that because I'm white. That is probably the dumbest thing I have read in this chat.If I'm white, I by default know what white people think because I know what I think. Are you saying that a black man knows what white people think better than a white man? No white people are not telepathically connected. And all white people do not think the same. You are just stereotyping the majority of white people.And besides what specifically do you accuse white people of thinking they ate superior at?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/109	0.917

tradecenter7 Hi, me again! Uh, quick interjection, describing ones self by a race isn't racist . Racism is:A.) The belief that one race is inferior or superior to anotherB.) The hatred of or discrimination against one or more racesor C.) A way of describing a system of oppression that harms one or more races on a grand scale (as in PoC in America).Looking at myself and going,"I'm black " or looking at you and saying "You're white" is not racist . It does not imply inferiority or superiority. it does not imply discrimination or hatred. And it does not imply systematic oppression.	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/103	5.825
Tiana Buchanan Obviously your identification of yourself isn't going to change what people think about you, but as long as there are minority specific clubs and programs and such, yes it does to an extent empower minorities, but it also reinforces that they're different, which empowers racism like that. And eyeammi , he's not saying not to study nonwhite history, he's saying to mix it in with the rest of it instead of setting it aside in its own special month. If we only study the history of black people (or any other race or related for that matter) it says "These people are different." which is what we're trying to avoid.	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/112	2.679
I agree with the point that continually referring to black people as such, rather than simply people, is dehumanizing. Also, if we are talking about racism , what about Hispanics, Asians, etc. Racism does not solely exist amongst "Whites" and "Blacks"	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/40	7.5
Tröggâçom Càctüs There are "minority specific" clubs and groups because the people who start/join them feel unwelcome as minorities in the so called "all inclusive" groups that already exist. In a country that largely functions in favor of white people, PoC doing what we can to make safe and accepting spaces for ourselves is not a bad thing. All minorities (PoC, gay people, trans people, etc) are viewed as different no matter what we do and establishing clubs where for a while we don't have to feel out of place and unwelcome isn't perpetuating any form of discrimination. Sometimes people are different from each other and that's okay, differences are not a weakness. Differences are not what's causing the problems. Peoples' constant inability to accept differences is the problem. Lack of respect for and education about people who are different is the problem.	Gay	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	2/143	1.399

eyeammi Which is a nice thought, but realistically speaking, it just reinforces in the minds of students that black people are different than white people and their history needs to be separated. And even beyond that, if teachers or curriculum people want to separate African-American history from the rest, then they should probably isolate Asian-American and Mexican-American and all the other minority groups' stories too, else call black people's history uniquely different, which it isn't, or say that history is defined by the race of the people it happened to, also untrue.In short, that black people are different is the message that is conveyed to students, and isolating all minorities' histories says that the history is special because of race , which isn't the best way to stop racism .	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/129	4.651
Tröggâçom Càctüswell black people are different, just like asians are. we are all different. races arent the same. why would you lie to children?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/25	4.0
dee jay I'm not saying to tell people that everyone is exactly the same, and they can see that different races are different by themselves. But teaching kids that race is what defines who people are and what they're like, teaching them to categorize and compartmentalize people and more generally groups of people by their race is what enables racism . I'm not saying to tell children "All people are the same and race is just ornamental," but rather "Different people have different colors of skin, but that doesn't mean that all black people are like all other black people." Don't pretend it doesn't exist, but not emphasize differences for the sake of isolating different races, or anything else for that matter. Socio-economic class, sex , favorite genre of music, anything.	Black, Race, Racism, Sex	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	7/129	5.426
Tröggâçom Càctüs kids already know about races and stereotypes of race they pick up from media and text books. if you aren't a parent or a teacher you should probably stop deluding yourself.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/33	3.03

You all make interesting points but the truth is this issue of racism stems far beyond what you all have mentioned...I suggest you all (particularly black people as this is truly our fight/plan of action) do more research on the truth behind racism. I seriously suggest watching documentaries such as Hidden Colors parts 1-3 and reading books such as From the Browder File. Racism started out as a primal human need and non European people have been oppressed at the highest power....through religion) Black people have been targeted more so bc of our history of immense power...civilization itself began in Africa. Mankind began in Africa (whether white, black Asia on Native American) Jesus himself was not named Jesus and in fact he was a black man not white not tan but black; brown skin and woolly hair. If u do research from legitimate documents across the world (which I am currently doing) you will begin to see specifically the extent to which Europeans have manipulated history. The manipulation of history etc is a contributing factor to the systematic oppression of black people today. From an emotional standpoint it's very enlightening....life as we've been taught throughout school, politically, even religiously etc has been manipulated. And even the majority of white people should feel bamboozled...	Black, Racism, Tan	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - British	9/213	4.225
When you fill out a application and it ask 4 race it ask latino, white, black, or other so whos separating! !!!! When I wake up I see brown, when you wake up u either see pink or pale!!!! Now stop making stupid comments!!!	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/44	4.545
The fact that you think a group of people must discard their very own ethnicity and history in order to "be in the same boat as the rest of humanity" is undeniable proof that racism is alive and well and doing its job to the best of its ability. I'm not saying that you yourself contribute to racism, but the fact that this is your solution only proves that it racism is a powerful thing.	Ethnicity, Racism	Ethnicity - General	4/75	5.333
Courtney Wilson i knew somebody would bring it! But you just said something that 90 of people don't want to hear, can't understand and don't want to except! Your asking a race of people to totally set aside centuries of false teachings, beliefs and except something that because of lack of knowledge , they have no concept of! The black population is a whole different animal altogether! God says his people parrish because of lack of knowledge!	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/77	2.597
Finally someone that shares this opinion! Skin color is literally no more than SKIN COLOR, just another trait like eye color. By having things like black history month, and terms like "blacks and whites" we give meaning and value to skin color.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/42	2.381

dee jay What you see as American history is what happened after the colonists arrived and officially deemed that land mass as "America". However, the Native Americans that lived before the continent was named continued to sculpt American history after the land was conquered. It is not right to focus on a European-centric historical view when the cultures that came and went in American history had (and have) incredible power in sculpting history. It's ignorant to only view those historical events through one perspective (even if one race did "conquer").	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/90	1.111
But at the same time, black history month is such a thing because black people did have a significantly different experience than white people all due to the fact that they were referred to them as "other," which spoke to their treatment in American history. If we started off from square one? Maybe. We are all just people... but we haven't treated ourselves as "all just people" in the past and that has affected our present and our future, and it is important not to forget that.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/87	2.299
tradecenter7 Okay. Look. The default history in US classrooms is US history from a white (usually male) perspective. What Black History is about is learning about a perspective that is not acknowledged in "standard" history, but it is still about stuff that ACTUALLY happened, and that needs to be addressed.It's US history from a viewpoint that is not generally considered in the texts people use for US history (and every single history book you have ever read, including classroom textbooks, are biased – that is one of the first things you must recognise when studying history).Just as Asian, European, African , and American textbooks will all talk about WWII, but will each offer different perspectives and crucial, individual context, Black History Month offers an opportunity for an oft-unheard perspective on US history – a perspective that is really important for getting a full picture of what went on.The differentiation does not exist to be racist . The differentiation exists because historic texts contain bias and when something that so incredibly divided two peoples happens, it is REALLY important to hear both sides and not have one side report both.	African, Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/190	2.105

elwynbrooks I agree 100 with what you said except for one thing (so not a full 100). BHM doesn't accomplish this. It's still the same teachers teaching from the same perspective about different people. It's important to look at many people's perspectives, but unless we start using multiple textbooks (almost impossibly unlikely) it'll just emphasize "minorities are different." If we integrate "This is how the Germans wrote about WWII, and here's how the Brits, Russians, and Americans wrote. Now let's compare and contrast. How are their perspectives different? Why do you think that is?" then it's much more integrative than "Americans wrote this and this and this. test test test test test Oh look, it's February. Now let's study black people. March now, back to the usual." I'm still in school and most people I know really don't like BHM because it isolates one group. Some because they think it's raising black people above everyone else, and some because it implies that they need to be specially separated, segregated from the rest if you will. That's the message that gets across, that's why, in my opinion, it needs to be reworked.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/191	1.047
Tröggâçom Càctüs I'll be honest, I'm Canadian, so I probably have a more idealistic view of what Black History Month should be accomplishing. But yeah. It's important to understand that the point isn't "isolate and elevate black people" it's "understanding history more comprehensively", hopefully in order to make sure something like that never happens again.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/55	3.636
So you that people are racist because black people think they are black	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/13	23.077
Nate Smith The problem is we don't really black skin. My hair is black but the skin is brown.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/19	10.526
tradecenter7 Or how about you place the blame on yourself for racism rather than on the actual victims of it, and stop baldly lying to everyone's faces about how you don't care about skin color.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/35	2.857

We learn more about white history than black history on school. We have AP European History in schools but not AP African History or AP Latino History or AP Asian or AP Native American. Why?? Black History Month is to promote rich culture. Nobody said we were separating ourselves. Minorities still celebrate the 4th of July,say the same pledge, cheer on the same country. Assuming your white, why do we have to have your history shoved down our throats for our whole life and the only thing we have to get from it is that we were slaves, we had our land taken, ect ect?? Learning about other cultures and history besides white would actually help racism and bigotry decrease.	African, Black, Nobody, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/120	4.167
you're telling me that people can't leave the ghettos and everything john just said is that black people know the color of their skin. Fuck off dude.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/27	3.704
BLACK is not a term created by the people you speak of. And because of the issues blacks have faced over time, it has become a culture of people in a way white has not.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/35	2.857
tradecenter7 MLK was a lot more than that quote you should really read up on socialist, union, communist , black rights activist that he really was.	Black, Communist	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Black	2/25	8.0
I wish so called " black people" would stop separating themselves with their darker skin color too. I mean talk about childish.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/21	4.762
JoYoJoYoJoYoJo o1.) Hispanic Heritage month goes from September 15th to October 15th.2.) Black single parents only account for around 25 of single parent homes in the US.3.) Black history month was started with the intention of recognizing the history of black Americans as a whole, rather than erasing our history in favor of white Americans. We, unlike you seem to be, are not looking for brownie points from white America to congratulate us on what we have and have brought to the table.4.) Please take your bullshit racist attitude somewhere else.	Black, Brownie, Racist	Ethnicity - Asian (South- India, Pakistan, Bangladesh), Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - Hispanic	6/95	6.316

you are asking them to forget their heritage so that they get treated equally? That's one of the worst things you can say. We still categorize ourselves as white people. We categorize everyone. It shouldn't matter what you call yourself. You should be treated the same no matter what your heritage is. Calling yourself black is not the problem; saying that they should forget their heritage is. You are also forgetting that many unrecognized talented and intelligent African Americans are not give the full honor and attention that they should because we only learn about whites. There shouldn't be a white history month because it has always been about white people. Blacks have not been given the honor they should. Sit down and stop abusing your white privilege.	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/128	1.562
No one asks you to stop you from identifying as whatever race or color you are to be treated equal. I disagree that anybody is segregating themselves by categorizing themselves. If you were asked to identify yourself, would you honestly say a 'person'? We celebrate black history month as a way to acknowledge people and the oppression that has (and continues to) gone on for hundreds of years. To not identify and celebrate black history (and all history) is dehumanizing and does nothing for moving forward in the human community.	Black, Nothing, Race	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/90	4.444
tradecenter7 Where you dropped on your head as a child? Or did you have to work at being this stupid?Your views make zero fucking sense. How does someone identifying as a black person make them less likely to be targeted by racists? ALSO it is not black peoples jobs to change in order to end racism , it should be US.A large majority of white people are extremely racist , you saying that black people should start identifying as just people implies it is THERE fault that people are being racist towards them and it is up to them to change.When it is us, white people in general, myself included need to change. And even if they did change to think themselves as just "people" and not " black people" it would change jack diddly squat.Your toxic attitude towards racism is a problem that makes us all look like assholes.	Black, Racism, Racist, Zero	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	9/151	5.96
We're all people. I wish everyone would stop labeling themselves. I leave race blank on any questionnaire, because I look forward to the future where everyone is seen as equal, regardless of age , gender , and/or race . Racism will end when we stop separating each other and acting as if we are different. We are all one race : the human race .We should celebrate the accomplishments of all humans.	Age, Gender, Race, Racism	Age - General, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	6/68	8.824
yeah, I think the difference is instead of saying labels are horrible you should accept people for who you are. I mean, yeah, we're all humans but we all have different backgrounds, and different cultures. Idk about the usa but in canada black history month kinda promotes acceptance between races.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/50	2.0

Man, people should really read the replies before replying to your comment.I must apologize for the book ahead of time, but I was thinking about this recently, and since this is the vlogbrothers, I don't find this to out of place :)At first I disagreed with you (and still do on a few points, skip to the 6th paragraph to see where for those who wanna know) ,but after reading further I felt we have similar views here and there.I agree with the fact that someones race isn't apart of someone, someones skin color isn't who they are anymore then their eye color.I have brown eyes, I like my brown eyes, I'm occasionally proud of my brown eyes, but I am not my brown eyes. And me saying that isn't me giving up my heritage of brown eyed culture. If I say my eyes aren't who I am, I'm not conflicting myself in the philosophical implications.If I were to say that all the traditions, holidays, teachings, art, music, conversations that I grew up with weren't apart of me, I'd be lying straight to your face. Those are the things that make us! Our family, friends, where we live, how or what we're taught, that's who we are. Yes, genetics play a role, but you can't know someones favorite quote because of their skin color. Our skin color doesn't define who we are as a human being. Our culture does some, our genetics do as well, even then we are ever changing people, and our culture can change without changing who we are.Where do I disagree? Many of your points seem to undermine the ever so evident color bias of our culture. And even worse, some of your points blame those who are being mistreated. You said how you "get harassed from the police", but if you look at statistics (as mentioned in the video above), there are strange correlations that can't be by chance. And "Driving While Black" isn't a complete invalid statement. Lets not even discuss the obvious racism in the southern United States.The idea that this is all their fault and none of our fault is blatantly racist, and I find that this seems to be a part of your argument. There are so many complications to racism that I don't think can be cured because all of humanity decided to denounce that they are 'different'. Its not only not going to happen, its so much to ingrained in everyone (started by the racists who will continue to hammer it in even without POC's approval) that it will not work.If one day it happens where everyone just see's each other as people, with all the sameness and uniqueness in between, it will be a very long time from now.TL;DR: I ain't fitting all that into a summery! That would take more work then actually writting the thing!(I apologize for the many grammatical errors, I'm only a white american [heh heh, contradictions...])	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/503	0.994
---	-----------------------------	--	-------	-------

I Agree with you to some degree. even though your words seem to be twisted. Its not that identifying with your skin color that's bad, its the part where you make yourself separate from others. For example, if I say I am Black , then use it as a tool to make others feel bad about arguing, and yell racism every time someone doesn't agree with me, then you are separating yourself. You can still identify and be proud, like im proud off my European heritage, and not separate yourself from others. I never get mad at black people and tell them they are just getting back at me for other white peoples wrong doings. Thats ridiculous. I get what you are saying, I wish others would too.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/127	2.362
So you essentially blaming black people for why whites are racist towards them!?? You ARE PART OF THE PROBLEM IN YOUR RACIST COU TRY	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/24	12.5
I think what he means is sometimes groups make themselves separate. Maybe an employer would be more willing to hire someone if their name didn't look like it was picked from random letters out of a scrabble bag. It can be confusing. And it is really really unfair about the legal system but sometimes I feel like some groups (not only black cuz my Hispanic family does too) emulates an air of thuggish which is unsettling. I agree we should have a multicultural month.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/84	1.19
And then there's the fact the race classification was invented by slave owners in the last 500-600 years. Before you could have "Roman Blood" or "German Blood" or some other reference to ethnicity but it was never lumped into " Black " and "White"- which were racist terms referring to the religious imagery of evil being "darkness" and holiness being "light". And even then, blood only really mattered to nobility.(for example in Rome) All Plebeians were Plebeians and citizenship was given to anyone who completed service in the army.	Black, Ethnicity, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/87	4.598

I think the reason Black History Month is so important is that we must never forget what happened in times of slavery, as a human race it is our duty to learn from our mistakes which will never happen unless we are always reminded. So no, ignoring the past will not allow us to grow it will only hinder us. Also, black people need to be referred to as black people in terms of medicine because black /asian people do have some biological difference e.g. black /asian people who live in western countries are more likely to have a vitamin D deficiency. Also, when a witness is giving a report of a crime they may need to describe the person, when it comes to the description that person has to be comfortable enough to give an accurate description even if that includes mentioning the skin colour, referring to them as a 'white person' or a ' black person' it is the same as saying someone has blue eyes or green eyes. It is just another biological factor which can help us to differentiate the mass sea of people. There is nothing wrong with that.	Black, Nothing, Race	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/191	2.618
I love you, but you couldn't be more wrong. Black people see themselves as being Black because White people treat them as Black . The simple fact is Black people live different lives than White people and that largely comes from the history the two groups have had with each other. If you get rid of Black history month, Black people WILL NOT be in the same boat; the only thing that would change is people wouldn't understand why.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	6/78	7.692
You do realize white people created the terms "white people" and " black people" right? No one is born thinking "oh I am black and that person is white"	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/28	7.143
Please don't miss my point. Everyone is just getting offended and defensive because they have grown up their whole lives identifying themselves using these exclusive labels for their self identity. I'm not saying getting rid of them would cure racism . I'm saying getting rid would them would help. When you set your self apart from other with your title (regardless of skin color), then you will more likely be treated as apart from others. I'm short we should drop the labels that segregate us.I don't want to get rid of black history. In fact, I think it would be great if we had more black history in our textbooks. I am saying we should get rid of black history month because it excludes all other races. A minority history month would be better (there where also white minorities in history such as Jews), but even better still would be just covering a more well rounded history in school.And if you think a white person or some white people definitely created these labels, then you fell for some racist white guys physiological trap. Don't continue to use these segregating labels to identify yourself. They don't help.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/197	2.538

I was bothered by the signs saying "black lives matter", it should have been "all lives matter", or "ours lives matter"	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/21	4.762
hoosierhiver NO ONE IS SAYING ALL LIVES DONT MATTERbut right now we are focusing on the black ones because THEY are the ones being taken repeatedly by racist cops so we are focusing on them!Jesus why is this such a hard concept to grasp.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/46	4.348
hoosierhiver No it IS a racial problem, because its almost always black people who are killed by these cops.But you just want it to be about you. "WHY DOESNT IT SAY ALL LIVES MATTER" essentially means, your prioritires are skewed and you care more about your own inclusion then the people who are actually affected by this.No one is saying only black lives matter, jesus christ, but right now those are the ones being ended mercilessly.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/78	2.564
Mistah MorningstarSome people are saying only black lives matter but they are in the minority.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/16	6.25
hoosierhiver HOW?NO ONE IS SAYING ONLY BLACK LIVES MATTER NOT ME AND NOT THE PEOPLE PROTESTING HOW MANY TIMES DO I HAVE TO SAY THISI am white, and I know that this issue IS NOT ABOUT US so stop trying to make it about us!It's about the black people being killed by police! Yes other lives matter jesus christ but stop trying to make this about you!BECAUSE WE ARE NOT THE ONES WHO ARE KILLED IN MASSE BY THE COPS	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/84	2.381
Lawrence Bryant Yeah get rid of the "black people" label, but don't get rid of all labels. Like in my original statement "just call yourself people". So get rid of the bad, exclusive, segregating label, and be above it with a good, inclusive label like "person". Crayons do not separate themselves into groups according to label, crayons do not make any decisions. You analogy most definitely does not apply.My point remains the same. And you still misrepresent it no matter how plain I put it. What do you think I am trying to say exactly?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/96	1.042
Lawrence BryantI obviously don't have to do any command you say, such as "Stop saying shit. STOP!". And yeah you being "happy as shit" would effect your mental performance. Though you probably still wouldn't get it. I don't think you are trying anymore.	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/44	2.273

Lawrence Bryant Do you think Morgan Freeman is a dumb ass now? Can you concede that perhaps you just disagree with a view that is a little more popular than you realized.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/32	3.125
The irony is there use to be no race just people until the Europeans start thinking they were superior came to all people ,then started classing other people in color with them being white "pure"	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/36	2.778
DaGen Tzar I don't think your absolutes in that statement are true, but as a generality about post a.d.1500ish history it would be mostly true, your statement encompasses much saying "all people" and "there used to be no race (implying all history)". There has been much racism and racial segregation and distinction among the Asian world throughout most all history and today. Even still there is irony.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/67	2.985
As a minority I've been hoping for the day ppl look at me and not think "she is latina", the day I say I'm from a small town in iowa and people don't say "but where are you really from" you want blacks to not refer to themselves as black yet in this country it's the whites who systematically racially categorize the minorities	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/63	1.587
in that case, italian americans, jewish americans, british americans, etc have to do the same thing and just call themselves people. but they in many cases dont have the same obstacles as black americans and other minority groups. racism is not about culture or how people identify themselves. racism is about others' judgments, conscious and unconscious, of people who are different from them (and sometimes, one person or people maintaining prejudiced for people of his/her or their own race ).	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/79	5.063
JSMN Most "Italian Americans, Jewish Americans, British Americans, etc" do refer to themselves as just people most of the time. I'm half French-German and half Scot-Irish but I don't go around identifying myself as such. I identify as just a person; just as I consider all people. And you are vary correct, there is much more to racism than just the color-blind issue.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/63	1.587
tradecenter7 BECAUSE YOU ARE ASKING PEOPLE TO FORGET THEIR CULTURE SO YOU DON'T SEEM RACIST . HOW THE HELL DO YOU NOT UNDERSTAND HOW THAT IS WHITE PRIVILEGE?	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/27	3.704

but what if you can tell danny is jewish by the way he looks or speaks or by the religion he practices? not revealing your identity is not going to shield you from racism , thats the point. especially with people who have darker skin or accents or " ethnic " names, this is unavoidable.danny has the right to reveal he is jewish and he should be proud of that. the racists making jokes are the ones as fault, so he should not be punished and not get to take pride in who he is. we should all be part of the global community, but rejecting our heritage by hiding it not only hurts diversity, it ensures that everybody is trying to look and act like a stereotypical white american.	Ethnic, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/128	1.562
JSMNYou have verbalized the exact counter argument as contrast this entire chat. Thank you! I agree there are going to dumb asses that will always make fun and persecute people that are different (and this is a large part of my reasoning). And It's not the Jews decision or choice for being Jewish (as a race not religion obviously) or the Black persons choice or decision for having black skin. Where we disagree is that I think NOT putting you differences in peoples faces WILL (somewhat) shield you from racism. I would say put what you have in common with all people forward as your identity. Yeah there are definitely unavoidable, obvious differences, but we don't have to throw our differences at others when we could try to put our commonality forward in it's place.It's the bully's fault for bullying, but if a nerd walks up to him with his lunch money in hand on the first day of school. He is most definitely going to get pummeled. It would be smarter for that nerd to plainly put his lunch money away even though it's not his fault. Then once the bully has seen that this nerd isn't so bad he can flaunt his lunch money all day, safely.In short (though I have said it many times, in many ways), put forth first commonality, and later you can celebrate differences. Don't flaunt your differences, yet don't be ashamed. Don't go around labeling yourself as different, but once you are friends people are more receptive to differences. This is how the world works.And it also comes down to: some people want to be treated different and some want to be treated the same.I am thankful that you put forth the logical counter argument. Though I still disagree. But you are a breath of fresh air. I think we understand each others points.	Black, Common, Dumb, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments, Social Class - Working class	6/316	1.899
im not suggesting anyone make every other sentence that comes out of their mouth "i am (insert ethnicity )", which im assuming doesnt happen often. but being proud of your ethnic background shouldnt be seen as something to ignite racist actions or feelings against you. its like when you where a shirt that says kiss me im irish. so you catch my drift. nice chat this was.	Ethnic, Ethnicity, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/66	4.545

JSMN Thank you, I see your point. And I think you see mine. I am pro color-blindness to a reasonable extent and you are against it to a reasonable extent. We just differ on where that reasonable extent is.I think it's reasonable to just introduce yourself from commonality and get your identity as just a person; beyond that you can tell your culture and all differences you like at your digression.You think it's fine to come straight out with your race and identify yourself from it. If you are more likely to be persecuted because of that, so be it and perhaps the racial pride will normalize people to the differences.Of course both sides are dictated by free will and not commands, but they are suggestions.These are the two main sides to the argument.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/138	0.725
Ummm do you not see the problem which what you're saying? It is actually EXTREMELY racist . You're saying that black people should abandon their racial identities (which do exist) and their own history (which includes injustice and hardships) to conform to what YOU think is the proper solution.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/48	4.167
Terms like " black people" and "white people" aren't just going to disappear, we can't just pretend we're colorblind	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/18	5.556
Camryn Jordan " Race is just a social construct but fuck white people."We're onto you.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667
tradecenter7 By asking them to forget their identity as a black person (which by the way is disrespectful with you putting quotes around the label, treating them like a conspiracy or some imaginary thing) you are asking them to forget who they are. Skin color is part of your heritage. White people honor their European culture all the time, hell, they use is against blacks to establish themselves as the superior race . By you asking them to quit calling themselves blacks, you are asking them to forget who they are and what they stand for as an individual. This is the most racist thing out there to say. Blacks aren't separating themselves because they address themselves as black . They're honoring their heritage and culture as a person, and if you see that as a negative thing, then you need to reevaluate. You asking them to "conform" to one description dehumanizes their race and shames them for being prideful of being black . shut the fuck up.	Black, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/165	3.636

you can't oppress oppressors. Things like black pride exist because they are necessary, things like white pride don't because a lot of what we could call "white culture" has been built on the idea of the innate superiority of white people, and the dehumanizing and harming of OTHER cultures (that is, when we're not stealing from them.)which is probably why you get so confused at the idea that battling racism does not mean turning the tables against white people. And frankly, as a white person, there are aspects of our history I don't feel we should celebrate (hi, thanksgiving?)	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/100	2.0
hoosierhiverUh, given that it disproportionately affects non-whites more than whites? I'd say the brutality in the police force IS a racial problem. Because it affects non-white populations a LOT more than white. Despite the number of white serial killers taken into custody and extolled by the media as "quiet" and "you'd never suspect him." while young black men are gunned down in the street for "looking suspicious" and the media throws the worst positive light on their lives to justify it. Hesitancy to call that a racial problem is, in itself, racist .	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/93	2.151
tradecenter7 Your post displays that you are very NAIVE about Black people and history itself. You are blaming black history month on the ills when there is a Hispanic History Month, Czech history month etc. You need to do your research and have a SEAT.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/45	4.444
tradecenter7 Now I read most of your comments and the replies towards you. The only thing I hear from you is "I think, I think, I think" What I don't hear from you is a "I know". Your problem is that you think but you don't know. My opinion is that you are a young white person who refuse to understand the entire concept nor you want to hear black people's experiences. Thus makes you look foolish, naïve and even dumb . How in the hell can you say you are not racist , but your original statement is a wagging your finger moment towards blacks instead of the topic itself. I am going to make a video about you and your naive Bullshit you just spew.	Black, Dumb, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/125	2.4
recklesstenacity I wonder if those dumb white protestors who got beat with hammers feel the same.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/16	6.25

recklesstenacity Disagree. Sure, the majority of relationships between Europeans and Native Americans were exploitative. Thanksgiving was an instance of cooperation and it was a celebration of thankfulness of that cooperation, so to suggest that we should ignore a bright spot in our early history out of deference to a larger shame is like saying we should eliminate Andrew Goodman and Michael Schwerner from the Mississippi Burning story because it doesn't fit our rigid racism models. Sure, there's a ton of lamentable material in our country's history, but going back to expunge any instances or celebrations of transcendent community isn't an effective method of healing.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/104	0.962
I identify as a black person because it is true! Also, because it is more than a color - it has shaped my culture, my personality, etc. The goal shouldn't be to delete what makes us unique, but to understand that one color or one culture is not superior or to or in any way better than the other. Let's not erase who we are, but embrace the differences for what they are - different, but definitely not better or worse just different:)	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/83	1.205
Abigail EndashawYou should and can be accepting and different, but the point is that you (your identity) are not the color of your skin. You have a skin color, but that does not make you who you are. You should feel insulted if you are black and I single you out for being black . Likewise you should not single yourself out for being black (or any other race for that matter).Absolute, embrace your culture and others cultures, but don't say "oh your Leroy the Jamaican, or Danny the Jew, or Jamal the black guy" or "I'm Leroy the Jamaican, Danny the Jew, or Jamal the black guy. That kind of speech is just plain rude, discriminatory and causes further segregation of humanity (in the mind).Get your identity from your name and character, not the color of your skin.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/141	4.255
tradecenter7You really have no idea, do you? Referring to yourself as "just a person", skin color irrelevant, is a privilege of white people, and also the result of arrogance - thinking that we're the normal, the default, because no one profiles us or discriminates us based on our skin color. And then you dare to say to people of color, who live with that discrimination and reminder daily, how they should behave and how they should see themselves? Get off your high horse you ignoramus, and learn to shut up and listen to those people who go through life actually experiencing what being a person of color means. You say that they shouldn't let their skin color be who they are? Well, newsflash, if you read anything that African people have said about race , you'd hear that they never see themselves as black in their home countries, but they immediately feel and see their race when they come to America. I wonder why that is the case. Oh wait, that's right, because the society immediately starts seeing them as such, and (mis)treating them accordingly.	African, Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/185	2.162

I've never brought up my race with my white friends. Then one day my roommate/friend/co-worker (who is white) told our other co-workers that she was bringing me to a New Year's Eve party with her friends, a guy (also white) that I thought was my friend told her, "Make sure you tell your friends that [insert my name] is one of the good ones." She later came up to me & told me what he said. It made me sad to know that I guy I thought was my friend was only defining me by stereotypes about my race the entire time I knew him instead of just seeing me as a person.	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/113	1.77
Everyone in the room knew exactly what he meant by that comment. That's why the girl told me about it. I'm not going to let you try & pretend that's not what he meant because you want to try & explain it away. Sure some things are gray, but some are black & white. (No pun intended).The sad thing about it was that he thought he was doing something good by saying that.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/74	1.351
Trust me I'm not one of those people. I have known people like that though. I remember once I had to explain to a friend what the term "brown-noser" meant because she was freaking out about a " racist " white woman calling her that.	Racist, Woman	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	2/43	4.651
jdlgrishanne So glad I don't live in a commie shithole.	Commie	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/10	10.0
OP by saying that identifying as black instead of as a person you are implying that you cant be black and a person at the same time??? People are not one dimensional. For example I am white, middle class, and female. Those things doesn't necessary define my whole being, but it is a part of who am and it has contributed a lot to my experiences in life. By keeping people from identifying with their race you are failing to acknowledge that we are different, and that difference is not a bad thing. Stop ignoring people of colors expericenes, stop trying to fit everyone in the same category cause that's not how it works, people are different and instead of erasing peoples identities we should embrase our differences and try to create a society that allows people to be different without being punished. How can we solve race problems if we ignore they exist??? Do you have any idea of how change happens???Also there are so many smart amazing people here taking time of their day to try and educate you, and tell you their experiences, and you're completely ignoring them and repeating your point over and over again without listening. You are a part of the problem.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/209	1.914

ACKNOWLEDGING OTHER CULTURES IS NOT RACIST !!! I'm not white, I'm mixed! I'm not a man, I'm a woman ! I'm not straight, I'm bisexual! You will treat me as such regardless of your belief! You will acknowledge my differences and the differences of black people and white people. Not erase them into a world history month.	Black, Racist, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	3/55	5.455
Penny Lane By saying that Black Americans have a distinct culture, you're implying that there is a difference when it comes to race . I'm not even trying to be mean here, why does there need to be a Black American culture and a White American culture (And Latino, Asian, European, ect, ect) aren't all Americans under one culture?	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/58	5.172
Brandon Desfosses No! Black and white culture and different. Races are different, and thats OK! Races may be different, but one is not worse than the other.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/27	3.704
tradecenter7 Your just going around in a circle of confusion. What is a black person supposed to do when he's filling out a job or any other government application and the box on the bottom tells him to identify himself as either black , white, latino, or an Asian?How does black history month isolate blacks from the rest of humanity? Its a day of remembrance thats all. Are jews isolating themselves from the rest of humanity when they celebrate Yom Kippur? Are Americans isolating themselves from the rest of humanity when they celebrate the 4th of July which commemorates there independence from Britain?The United States Judicial system simply wasn't made for black people and you can clearly see that, blacks have been forced to leave there native homes, they have no culture, language or heritage, they were put into these poor neighborhoods and throughout history weren't socially accepted.But hey like Malcolm X said:What do you call a black Lawyer/Doctor?A N.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	5/164	3.049
blaming black people for their own ostracisation...alright then. you do realise that black history MONTH also exists because white history gets the whole YEAR, right?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/25	8.0
Brandon Desfosses I also agree that cultures are different. Between the people groups you listed their are different social customs (dances, greetings, cultural foods, lingo, etc.) that makes us different!That being said I am black and an American who has never seen or eaten "chitlins" (a very "soul food-ish" dish). DefyingStereotypesLeftandRight so its possible that not all people in a people group relate with specific cultural norms even though they are technically in same categorical group :)	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/78	1.282
most intelligent comment about racism i have ever sence	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/9	11.111

I don't think black people identifying themselves as " black " is contributing to their segregation and discrimination. It would be very hard for me to completely disprove it as a matter of course. However, just as an antecedent, resident of New York City had always identified themselves as "New York-er". I don't know if they have "New York history month" every year, but let's suppose they do, would you image the nation start to systemically discriminate against residence of New York because of their overt self-identification?	Black, Nation	Ethnicity - Black, Nationality - General	3/85	3.529
So what you're saying is that the systemic racism found in all facets of our society is because black people call themselves black people... I'm sorry but that is by far the stupidest thing I've ever heard.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/37	8.108
Ah, so racism is the fault of the victims? What a convenient way to absolve ones self of any guilt, whether merited or not.Does identifying as female warrant sexism ? Does identifying as British warrant ignorant comments about my teeth or how I would be speaking German if not for the actions of that particular person who happens to be trying to lie about historic events at the time? The idea that having an identity somehow means the abuse you receive is your own fault is ridiculous, you are trying to shame them for existing openly with something everyone already knows about that individual... the colour of their skin is a different shade of brown* than yours.* Yes, all human skin colours are just varying shades of brown. Surprised? You shouldn't be.	Racism, Sexism	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	2/133	1.504
First saying Africa History Month would be the same as calling all Asians Chinese; but my main issue is why can't Black People identify themselves as such? What most don't understand is that Black doesn't just mean Race its more than that, it has ethnic and cultural implications in America; and when Italians, Irish, Indian , etc...can be People, be American, and still have cultural history, food, and traditions that are unique to their ethnicity and are celebrated and studied, someone identifying as Black shouldn't be an issue.	Black, Ethnic, Ethnicity, Indian, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	7/87	8.046
dee jay Nope it is not a biological fact. What makes black people black is their genetic code simply produces more melatonin in thier skin that is about it. Genetically speaking that is the difference. It is literally skin deep. Whatever perceived biological differences you are talking about are socio-economic and cultural as well as geological. Not biological.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/58	3.448

James grigsbyThere are other genetic differences besides melatonin between the Negroid and the Caucasoid (or the Mongoloid for that matter). Not that any of these genetic differences warrant any mistreatment or unequal treatment.	Mongoloid	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/34	2.941
My being proud of my own race has nothing to do with segregation. Equality isn't about everyone being the same, just everyone being treated the same. You seem like the type of person who would say that you don't seen color. First of all, you most likely do see color and that statement just prevents you from unlearning that subconscious bias. Also, while I know you mean well, it is sort of arrogant of you to say that no one should see color or that black history month shouldn't exist. I'm proud of my race , and one month during the year to celebrate the culture is fantastic, especially because racism is still very prevalent today. Discrimination did happen in our history and is happening today, telling everyone that they shouldn't talk about their race is only going to encourage shame of their culture. I am a person, and I am also black .	Black, Nothing, Race, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/152	4.605
tradecenter7 are you dumb ?	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/4	25.0
tradecenter7 It's not like only black people label people by race ...	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/11	18.182
tradecenter7take the words negroid, caucasoid, and mongoloid out of your vocabulary. its disgusting.	Mongoloid	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/14	7.143

But race and ethnicity are both important cultural identifier. They're things with which we as humans can feel comfortable with and that have a ton of history and stuff behind them, and while I do believe that we need to see everyone as equal, equality does not mean everyone is the same, just that they're treated the same. That's sorta like being like "Let's abolish all holidays and set up one holiday for everyone, because I don't see religion". That's a bad example, but we can't just start with a clean slate, because every racial and ethnic group has its own culture and traditions.	Ethnic, Ethnicity, Race	Ethnicity - General	6/104	5.769
Let's get something straight. I am mixed with Asian and white and I have history class and it is only white history that we have to learn sense it is mandatory. Walking into history class is like walking into the throne of hell waiting to be judged by why you are here and what you did. History class seriously make white people look bad. It says that white people did this and this for the country but if you think about it, our ancestors have destroyed so many ethnicity's lives it is unbelievable that when we walk out we walk out feeling damn guilty for what we weren't even born to see or be around. The Japanese bombing, slavery, triangle trade, racism in the 1900s, stealing credit from what black people invented. What's worse is African American studies. In that class which I have never been in but I have heard of it and seen it the pictures show beating and cuts so deep on a black guys back its inhuman and disgusting. Our ancestors are really the lazy, cruel, tyrannical snobs. The food you eat today are not created by white people. Yes, they took the recipes of black cooks and claimed it there's when black people were the only ones really cooking for white slave owners. We destroyed millions of Indians, Asians, probably Hispanics and so forth. Whites have been so racist against Hispanics, Asians, Blacks, and there own damn race . I may be half white but I remember when my mother faced discrimination in front of me. They squint thier eyes at her and laughed. I was very very young but I remember. White slavery existed too which sucks. Whites have a horrible history and it's time I tell the truth.	African, Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	8/294	2.721
"I have a dream that my four little children will one day live in a nation where they will NOT be JUDGED by the COLOR of their SKIN but by the CONTENT of their CHARACTER." "I Have A Dream" Martin Luther King Jr. August 28th, 1963 Lincoln Memorial, Washington, D.C.	Nation	Nationality - General	1/50	2.0

Erm...no actually, black people identify themselves as such just how a white person would identify themselves as white. It's not called segregation, it's called identification. I don't hear white people being described as "people", so don't expect black people to. Also, black history month is a month that allows black people to be appreciated and recognised for their struggles and efforts to become treated as humans, because CLEARLY black people aren't treated as human beings on a daily basis if you look at the FACTS. So step out of your white privileged bubble and educate yourself before you speak.Thank you.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	5/101	4.95
Now if you could do a video on what racism IS, that would be great. Because white defined racism is limited to race when in reality it's about power.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/29	10.345
I'm not quite sure the education comparison is fair. It's not on purpose. Black communities = more likely to be poor communities = communities that have less money to spend on schools = worse schools. I live in Rhode Island, a very white (yet very liberal) state, and the town I live in (Barrington) is one of the richest towns, and we had the best rank high school in the state. Race != bad schools poor = bad schools	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/79	2.532
The healthiest way for a white person in America to approach this subject is first to recognize whether one feels that they treat others differently based on skin color or race , regardless of reason. Most would say no, so then the next step is to recognize that just because you feel you don't didn't mean you absolutely don't, even if you have the best intentions. And even if you do treat everyone equally, you should finally recognize that not everyone is as unbiased as you. Xenophobia is a part of human nature, we relied on it for survival as recently as thousands of years ago, brains don't change that quickly. And unfortunately visual cues are perhaps the most important to our species, so skin color is going to be a discriminatory factor within the core of most people's beings. Even if we don't intend to alternate or discriminate, it is a primal urge to favor those we recognize as our "kin" when no other difference is observed. Recognizing racism shouldn't be a matter of guilt or hate or shaming, but enlightenment. Humanity no longer needs xenophobia , we need cultural differences to progress, we need to embrace people different from ourselves for our own sakes.	Race, Racism, Xenophobia	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	4/204	1.961
Another seemingly intelligent person telling anyone who will listen, statistical data with little causation. Ultimately, it all just furthers racism , because as long as there are incapable leaders and speakers, there will be incapable followers. I commend him for caring though, and it's not all false.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/46	2.174

Man, I never would've thought Hank was a closeted racist . Thanks for setting your brother straight!	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/16	6.25
You under-reported the racism shown in Devah Pager's study of the effects of race and a criminal record on job callbacks. Black men with no criminal record were shown to be less likely to get callbacks than white men who had a criminal record.	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/44	6.818
we need to focus on the people who are at the top of the racial inequality tree, asians and jews. they have the most benefits from any other race in America, every study even the ones this guy sites have asians and jews on the top. We need to remove the asian and jewish supremacy from our system..... blah blah blah its all fucked up. one race one nation is a better> A more social cohesive society. Racism cannot exist in a nation with only one race .	Nation, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	6/87	6.897
How did you go from wanting to talk about racism and then going to talk about racism towards African American? That's very 20th century thinking. America is more diverse than the white vs black . Expected more from my favorite Youtube personality.	African, Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/41	9.756
Anyone who still denies racism in the US should take a nice little vacation in Lubbock, Texas. (I live here, I would know.) It's sad, and most of the time, people who are "denying" the racism are those who don't want change because they are perpetuating it. They are lying through their yellow teeth.	Racism, Yellow	Ethnicity - Asian (East-China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam), Ethnicity - General, Nationality - Chinese, Nationality - Japanese	5/54	9.259
I would hypothesize that a lot of the reason people are so resistant to the notion of systemic racism is that they don't see themselves or their peers as racist . And consciously, they're not; these instance of racism probably are not due to people consciously deciding to treat people worse based on their race , but due to subconscious biases producing negative attitudes towards people of a different race . And that's not a problem that's going to go away if we pretend it doesn't exist.	Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	5/84	5.952

I know racism is a problem that we need to deal with, but lately with the whole Ferguson thing I'm tired of hearing about it. I can't get away from people complaining about racism . At this point I usually won't even read /watch anything that talks about racism . This is a problem because something obviously needs to be done, I fear that the majority of people are becoming like me. where am I going with this? Oh yeah, quit complaining. In my own personal experience I find that people are willing to help so long as you have a set goal, a way to get there and an easy step by step on what they should do but if you just get on a soapbox and yell statistics people would rather dismiss your cause then try to figure out what to do on their own.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/145	2.069
Is life expectancy also the most important metric when discussing sexism ?	Sexism	Gender - General	1/11	9.091
So the best question to ask now is: How do we fix this? Additionally, I'm curious if younger people are less discriminatory than older folks who went through the 60s civil rights movement. If that's the case, is it possible racism will decline as time goes on or will progress to a more equal society stagnate?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/56	1.786
Hey, more Racism talks! I would like to point out that Nerdfighters are generally as anti-racist and aware of institutionalized racism as John and Hank Greene themselves, and that these repeated videos about it aren't doing much. If you want to make a difference, you have to spread the word outside of the fanbase, or it's just preaching to the choir.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/61	3.279
The question remains now: Why? Why are so many white people explicitly and unconsciously afraid of black people?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/18	5.556
Mostly agree, but I think the applications study has one flaw. The names Laquisha and Jamal sound like they're not from around here. I get that they're common names even in America, but is an employer gonna want someone he/she can speak with and get a straight answer, or are they going to hire someone who they're going to have to say it a few times while trying to understand their accent? There's nothing wrong with the fictional Laquisha and Jamal figures, and I doubt even the employers think it, but in the hectic nature of a work day... you're gonna not want to have to repeat yourself.Better study would have been to rule out the naming factor, use 'traditional' "american" names, and just have their race in the race section of the identical applications say white, black , hispanic, whichever.	Black, Common, Nothing, Race	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	5/141	3.546

In the US Laquisha and Jamal are common names for black people. Pretty much nobody in the US would hear the name "Laquisha" and assume they weren't originally English speaking.	Black, Common, Nobody	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Social Class - Working class	3/30	10.0
Then I question where the study took place next. I've heard the name once, and it was when I was working closer to the nearest big city (Laquisha, that is). I should clarify I do see systemic racism does exist, but I want studies without an ounce of doubt for showing others. The other points made in the video were uncontested for such reason.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/64	1.562
Evidence doesn't matter to people who don't want something to be true. There are people who simply don't want to know and don't care about facts. The "Skeptics Guide to the Universe" podcast recently mentioned this in reference to the percentage of people in the USA who accept evolution. I'd be willing to bet many of the people who ignore the evidence about racism also ignore the evidence when it comes to things like climate change, evolution, and the big bang.I think there's another motivation as to why white Americans don't see racism as a problem. People at the top of the socio-economic ladder like to think they earned their spot and are entitled to what they have. That leads to the idea that those on the bottom also earned their spot by being lazy. If they admitted how much of a problem racism is their preconceived notion that those on the bottom may be there due to factors beyond their control. Thus their own position in society may not be due to their actions but due to luck. Seriously, how many of the 1 would admit in public, "Yeah, I got here because I was really [censored] lucky. By all rights I should be in the gutter making friends with Jack and Jim."	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/215	1.395
It is past time to end the war on drugs. It does way more harm than good. The impact on society of rampant racism , tyranny and injustice is far more detrimental than drug use could ever be. People with substance abuse issues need assistance from healthcare professionals, not incarceration. I speak from experience.End cannabis prohibition worldwide NOW!May reason prevail.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/61	1.639
I feel like racism used to be really bad. It's gotten a little better over the years. But for the most part, instead of combating the problem head on, it's just been swept under the rug, which will fix absolutely nothing . That's why many people think it's not a problem.	Nothing, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	2/50	4.0

As a 20 year old black girl that is from a predominantly white area filled with people that deny racism is still an issue, I give you tons and tons of thanks and appreciation.	Black, Old, Racism	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/34	8.824
Racism is extremely saddening. We are letting down thousands of African Americans, Caucasians, Hispanics, Asians, Indians, and any other race of people that have fought for civil equality. It's such a terrible feeling to have to live in a world where we judge people by first glance, but it will always happen with some people. The only thing we can really do is try and try to get as many people thinking correctly.	African, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/73	4.11
I think it's also worth looking at what's going into the future. I plan on approaching this strictly from an education point of view, because when John said that racial bias is not an arguable thing that definitely applies to the justice system in the US. With that said, we're seeing a major swing in who's being accepted into colleges, to the point where a lot of colleges are even accepting disproportionate amounts of minority applicants compared to what the American population is comprised of (although this is not a nationwide trend. Based off of what I've seen universities located in more left leaning areas as well as the south exemplify this, logically so for the south). It's definitely worth noting that this will (eventually) change things when it comes to economic status assuming this trend continues. Nothing is going to change overnight, and statistics we're seeing, although the current state is not necessarily meeting the criteria of what is seen as equal (which is a very subjective, so the criteria may have already been met by some, or will never be met by others), are indicative of change at least when you compare it to similar statistics of previous years. The only part I'm fearful of is that the balancing act between equality is a difficult one. "Everyone is equal but some are more equal than others" often comes to mind. Assuming trends continue, although they probably won't continue indefinitely, we could be seeing society turned on its head, creating a new cycle of inequality but reversed. This is simply a fear though, and there's no evidence to say that it's reasonable for it to be happening soon. But with some of the more militant activists, it's apparent that at least some people want that. But I don't judge the sentiment off of extremists, the same way the Civil Rights Movement is often judged based off MLK and not the Black Panthers or Malcolm X. Tl;Dr Shit might not be "equal" but it's getting there. I just hope it never goes too far.	Black, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black	2/344	0.581

I'm really happy to see John talk about this. I have been feeling very discouraged because of the lack of notice racism has gotten on youtube even after recent events. Many popular youtubers have incredibly large audiences and are therefore very influential, so I feel major issues like this are important for them to talk about. Many avoid the topic purposefully but IF WE DON'T TALK NOTHING WILL CHANGE.	Nothing, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	2/69	2.899
Sure, this kind of systematic racism is real. Like Hank said, there is correlation, not necessarily causation. However, that experiment he mentioned about the identical resumes with different names is depressing.MLK Jr. called for people to treat others not by the color of their skin, but by the color of their character. Personality clashes will happen regardless of race, but you should always remember to give a person a chance by looking beyond what you see. You will find that they are humans just like you.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/87	2.299
The job applications University of Chicago study is explained in the movie Freakonomics (available on Netflix). It was more about names than race though. I mean, there's this rule that I find good for naming your child: If it doesn't look great on a judge's plaque, don't name your kid that.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/51	1.961
hank its funny your only bringing up black and white not Muslims not polics not any of the people that are actually taking the employment not the religious groups that are treating whites now how Americans treated the natives your fixing on black and white people when yes white privilege is a thing we see it in the news all the time but think about this some of the things that happened to the blacks have happened to whites aswell when you go to Nigeria for instance black people in those countries are extremely racist towards the white person	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/99	4.04

I would like to respectfully disagree. I think that many of the things we take as racism are, in reality, socio-economic classism. The poorer classes in America have less access to education, less access to quality health-care, and are then discriminated against on the basis that they are unhealthy and uneducated. Now, it is true that African-Americans (let's broaden it to minorities in general) make up the poorer classes. We're talking about the same problems for more or less the same people but using different words to describe it. What's the difference? Who cares what label we put on it?It matters because the words that we use to describe something have power in their own right. As an author I think you will understand this more than anyone. When you say racism its accusatory. Someone is deeply to blame in racism for holding backwards views. But it doesn't scratch the surface of the problem at hand. In fact, I would say that it misses the issue entirely. It's easy to look at the statistics and think racism. It is, after all, occurring to minorities in general. But I think that that is sort of a lazy explanation. It's lazy because racism is easy to fix. Just get people to stop being racist. Racism is a human problem, not a economic problem. But what we've been describing; what we've been talking about here IS and economic problem. It's something we can fix, but it won't be easy. It will be a lot harder. Solving poverty is a hell of a bigger challenge than solving stupid. Fixing capitalism, is a massive endeavor. Finally, I take issue with your opinion that the voices of those affected are more important than the statistics. I'm not trying to detract from the importance of the affected, but rather to impress the dire importance of statistics. You know that old phrase :”There are lies, there are damned lies, and then there is statistics.” That's complete bs. Statistics are the most important tool we have for determining the cold reality of the world we live in and the issues that afflict it. Data is vital to decision making. But they can be mishandled, they can be misread (as I, respectfully, think that you are misreading them), and they can be outright forged. I would amend the old saying, perhaps, to this: ”There are lies, damned lies, and damned liars who lie with statistics”.Happy New Year John.	Classism, Old, Racism, Racist	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - General, Social Class - General	10/410	2.439
The resume study 'proves' that race discrimination is still large. There are others, like classism, but race is still a major cause of discrimination.	Classism, Race	Ethnicity - General, Social Class - General	3/24	12.5
I think that the resume study can also be described by classism. I am simply expressing caution when we're talking about studies that are far from conclusive.	Classism	Social Class - General	1/27	3.704

I don't disagree with you Joseph I think classism plays a role in how people are looked at and treated but I don't think racism has as little to do with it as you. Racism is no longer outright cries of slurs and attacks towards minorities, its more quiet and insidious which in turn makes it far harder to track and attack. If you need examples of race relations and how some races are viewed in America just:Take a look at the doll study (the original, as well the subsequent ones)Take a look at the hashtag crimewhilewhite on twitterTake a look at all the reports of black ppl being racially profiled and followed around in stores so often that the term "shopping while black " was coinedAlso going back to the resume situation a man named Jose did his own little study of sorts, after applying for numerous jobs and not receiving any responses (0, not 1 response) he decided to tweak his resume. The only tweak was to drop the s from his name in which Jose became Joe, and whaddya know Joe got many responses.In closing, yes I know some of this is anecdotal but when it happens to a huge group of ppl, multiple times, all over America its hard to dismiss it as a coincidence or a "far and few between" situation.	Black, Classism, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Social Class - General	6/230	2.609
As somebody whose name is actually Joe, let me tell you that you don't get that many call backs with that name either.We have evidence that is far from conclusive and people are touting it like it is the end all be all of facts. There is certainly a great deal of interpretation to be done and, at this point the truth is really up for grabs. There is nothing more poignant or truthful about either of our interpretations. Perhaps I'm a little more optimistic on the subject. I'd rather blame economic systems than people.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/96	1.042
Joseph Beck I don't understand how the resume study is associated with classism . The resumes were identical except the name, which was specifically chosen to be stereotypically ethnic . None of the typical classist things - such as education - were changed.Your personal experience doesn't have the same kind of control over the variables as this study. Literally the only thing that changed was the name, giving this result: [LINK]	Classism, Ethnic	Ethnicity - General, Social Class - General	2/70	2.857
Even still the names relate to socio-economic standing.Or it could be much simpler.People associate themselves with what they know. They are far more comfortable with Jake than they are with Deshawn, or Chaim Ben Zucker, or Zul Lord of Darkness. It's wrong, its prejudicial. But is it racist ? I would say no.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/54	1.852
Really? All of the data that we have could point to Socio-economic status, or race . There is little to say one or the other. You're allowing your pre-conceived notions to tamper your opinion	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/33	3.03

Joseph Beck "We have evidence that is far from conclusive and people are touting it like it is the end all be all of facts."»>Whether you are talking about the examples that I gave which I said were anecdotal or the links that John provided it clearly show that there is a negative bias towards minorities. If it was only about class than well-to-do black and latino ppl would never had experienced being racially profiled and stopped by cops but that isn't the case.*"Perhaps I'm a little more optimistic on the subject. I'd rather blame economic systems than people. »>Talking about racism doesn't make me any less optimistic than you, it just means that I won't dismiss a problem no matter how hard or sad it is. Also economic systems are set up and ran by people, and people bring all of their preconceived notions and biases with them.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/152	1.316
I would say that you're partially correct and partially incorrect. Racism is clearly an actual problem. The statistics regarding the treatment of black people for near identical crimes are ridiculously significant. But there have been controlled studies done on all kinds of measures proving that racism is alive and well in the modern world. The evidence is staggering.However, that said, you're quite right that the economic issues should be put front and center. The economic issues feed and accentuate race issues in the way you describe. The reason race is still relevant is that it is historical racism that has led to black people being poorer than white people – it's the root cause, historically, not the other way around. So when you know the full history of the current socioeconomic structure of the US, it is really hard to not talk about racism . One could argue that it would be intellectually dishonest to ignore race in that context.(I think of it kind of like carbon dioxide and temperature in climate change theory. Increased temperature causes increased CO2. Increased CO2 causes increased temperature. They're both very much nested together. You can figure out which is the driving force (or forcing) and which is the weaker feedback in a particular time period, but it's hard to mention one without the other. If you did, it would be a huge simplification.)All that said, as a democratic socialist, I can't help but feel a lot of the world's problems would be improved if we could deal with economic hardships. So I'm behind you on that.	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	9/265	3.396

I think that it's more harmful to the debate to focus solely on race than it would be to ignore it (though I'm not advocating that either). What I'm saying is, when we make it about race we make it an accusation. White people become racist simply for being white. It's a discussion that has a lot of vitriol and not a lot of place to go. It's also an exclusionary discussion. If you look at other comment threads on this video you'll certainly see people questioning where a white man gets off discussing race . As I've stated before, I think that jumping to the race conclusion is pre-mature. I believe that all or most of the above can be caused from socio-economic standing rather than outright hate. Focusing on race ignores the problem. I mean, it's great for stirring up conversation and emotion. But that emotion is so often hatred. And hatred isn't going to move this thing along. I could talk for hours about socialism and why I'm not necessarily a socialist anymore, but I won't bore you with that. Suffice it too say that I'm still very close to socialism but find that the cultural benefits of competition outweigh the detriment of disparity.Regardless, I will agree with you that the current alignment of race along class lines is a result of historical racism . You can't look at America's past and not come to that conclusion. For my part, I believe that education will even things out. We need to work to make sure we have the best education system in the world and really make sure that no kid gets left behind. We need to educate our children at all costs and from a young age regardless of race , religion, or socio-economic standing.	Age, Race, Racism, Racist	Age - General, Ethnicity - General	10/297	3.367
"It's easy to look at the statistics and think racism .....But I think that that is sort of a lazy explanation" 12 sentences later. "Statistics are the most important tool we have for determining the cold reality of the world we live in and the issues that afflict it."Lol. Come on, man. Why do you think minorities make up the poorer classes? Do you think minorities just don't work as hard? Do you think we all are born with equal opportunity? Do you really?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/84	1.19
Of course you would disagree. Most whites refuse to acknowledge systemic racism and white privilege because it would undermine the narrative that they have created for themselves. You know that "we're all equal", or "all you have to do is work hard and anyone can succeed in america." If it is true that racism and white supremacy play a major role in the outcome of peoples lives in our society, (which is definitely true) then that would mean that a lot of the the things that whites possess and achieved has been a direct result of it. And that is a notion that far too many whites readily reject. Because "everyones' the same" right?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/114	1.754

Cindy, the only racist I see here is you.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/9	11.111
Joseph Beck See that is the typical white denial response. No one accused you of being racist but since I brought up race and racism and discussed it in a frank manner, you want to name call and deflect the issue. Thats why America's racial issues will never be addressed because white cowards like you don't want to address it. Typical white racist move.	Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	4/64	6.25
But wouldn't you say that because African Americans largely make up the poorer classes that is evidence of systematic racism ? They are poor because they are black , not just some weird coincidence, it's because of their race that black people are more likely to be poor, receive a worse education, have less opportunities etc.	African, Black, Race, Racism, Weird	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	6/54	11.111
[LINK] Zidra, the reason they make up 'poorer classes' is because laws prevented them from 1) getting social security 2) getting GI bills for education though they were vets 3) getting houses the same way 'white' people did. Most wealth is gotten by inheritance, but when you aren't allowed to accumulate wealth through generations because of racist laws, that would give you no alternative but to be poorer (of course there are always exceptions, but in general)Our laws today reflect centuries of racist laws - Black men receive 20 longer jail sentences than 'white' men for the SAME CRIME,-Blacks and 'whites' use drugs at a similar rate but Blacks have a higher drug bust rate> There's more stats like these here (go down the page) [LINK] Also, these stats show the discrepancy between how 'white' people are treated and African Americans are treated: [LINK] Here's a great interview with Ta-Nehisi Coates which might help explain, too. Best in 2015! [LINK]	African, Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/162	2.469
JosephBeck I completely agree with what you said. Very few people are racist towards a very rich and powerful black man (or Hispanic, or member of any racial minority). The real problem here is classism and class struggle, but that's probably very hard to talk about in an extremely capitalist country, where words like communism and socialism are treated as insults and represent pure evil.	Black, Classism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Social Class - General	3/65	4.615

Im so sick of this willfully ignorant, 'actually, it's classism' excuse. As another commenter said, it's not some weird coincidence that Black people are the poorest, lowest class. It's because your decades of racism within the structural institutions of this country, from the schools to the neighborhoods to the pay. We were prohibited BY LAW from accumulating wealth, owning land/property, voting, attending quality schools, living in quality neighborhoods for hundreds of years, including decades after slavery. The socioeconomic status of Black people in this country is merely a symptom of a much bigger issue, wide-scale and systemic racism. Open your eyes.	Black, Racism, Weird	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	5/101	4.95
cindy Queen You insinuated that I hold my position because I'm a white man and I'm just trying to protect what I've already got. You questioned my motives and drew broad conclusions about me because of my race. And then you were shocked when I responded defensively. I called you racist because you were being a racist. And until you can conduct yourself like and adult, I'm not going to indulge you any longer.	Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/74	4.054
Sensei Aishitemasu No one is denying that the actions of the past are the reason that poverty and race are so correlated. Racism in the past is the reason that minorities are today starting at the bottom of society. But minorities aren't staying there because "fuck those guys". It's not a white circle jerk that is keeping the black man down, its a rich circle jerk. We have the capabilities. Racism is no longer institutionalized nor is it systemic. The correlation that we see can be fixed with better education and better access to health care. I can understand your frustration and I can understand your passion but please remember that I'm not the bad guy here. The bad guy is wealth disparity.	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/123	3.252
Zidra Lily I think you are making my point for me Zidra. Poor minorities do have significantly less access to education. But so do poor white people. The data doesn't point to race alone. If we fix education across the board and give every child the best teaching that they can have, we will see an end to the race correlation in a few generations. Furthermore, the correlation isn't evidence of racism in itself. To prove something you must find a causal link. Correlation is sometimes useful as a clue, but it is not conclusive.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/95	3.158

I'm sorry but I just can't believe someone as intelligent as you come off to be really believes racism is an "easy fix" that to simply fix it a we have to do is to get a person to stop being racist ! If racism was such an easy fix, why is there still racism . You cannot force someone to stop being racist . A person does not wake up one day and says I think I'm going to stop being a racist today. Stop trying to ignore the fact that racism isn't a big problem in America and maybe one day it will be "fixed".	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	7/104	6.731
Joseph Beck Slavery and systemic and systematic oppression and suppression of people of color is the reason why you're allowed to thrive as much as you do. This video shows that and you people still sit here with your fingers in your ears saying "lalalalala." Then, you want to complain about the "powerful people in the world" why? Because whites always turn something about racism into classicism. Why? Because they don't understand racism , never experienced it, to them it doesn't exist. Now classicism, that's something you're familiar with so to you that's a bigger problem.. Open your eyes and perk up your ears and learn to LISTEN clearly you don't like listening to people of color telling you what it is hence why this white guy made this video. No one said all whites are racist , but all white people benefit from racism and racist systems which have existed and still exist not only in America but on every continent which has been tainted by white supremacy and colonizers. Africa, South America, the entire Australian continent, Asia and of course North America, from Canada to the Caribbean.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	5/187	2.674
Joseph Beck it is, in fact, a white circle jerk. ' Racism in the past,' don't make me laugh, you have your head in the sand. Racism is alive and well and affecting Black people in this country. But since it doesn't affect you I don't expect you to understand that.White people fucking disgust me.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/55	3.636

iiNDiie1 I appreciate that you think I come off as intelligent. But I resent that you are using that to attack my view point. I say that racism is easy to fix because, in theory it is. It's a social problem. It can be fixed through discussion and debate and little more than that. It's far simpler than fixing poverty. It's far easier than cleaning up slums or researching economic cures to our social woes. A racist problem has a villain, the racist . It is the fault of a person or persons. An economic problem is far less accusatory. It's not the fault of any person in particular, it's just how the chips fell given their past trajectory. It can be fixed without blaming anyone. And that's what is so wrong here. Nobody wants to really fix this. They want to blame. I think blame is useless. No one alive today has ever owned a slave. No one in this debate has forced a black person to the back of the bus nor has any black person in this discussion been forced to move there. We are a clean slate. Tabula Raza. We can move past this, but we have to abandon race . For some that is a hard thing to do. Some of my most ardent opponents in this thread are unwilling to do so. If the ember of racism is being kept alive today, it is by those unwilling to let it go.	Black, Nobody, Race, Racism, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	8/245	3.265
Joseph BeckDid you ignore the video? Privileged doesnt mean you get free things and dont have to work hard. Privileged means "having special rights, advantages, or immunities." This guy in the video tells you how you are privileged and you still ignore it.Oh your ancestors where killed by nazis, well my ancestors where fighting for your ancestors while still being victims of jim crow at home and in the military. We where fighting for your civil rights when we did not have the our damn selves. We did not get them until the mid 1960s you fucking crack pot. What your ancestors went through lasted a few years black people are still going through it.You are whats wrong with the civil rights movement. YOU! You refuse to recognize the racial divide you instead say it doesnt exist that what does exist is a class divide. You, white people, are the ones with the power to change it. This is your country. You refuse to even acknowledged it given the facts. STFU.	Black, Crow, Jim Crow	Ethnicity - Black	3/174	1.724

Derek GI dont have an opinion on the matter, I actually live it, I see it. The only one with an opinion is Joseph. It is racism plain and simple. White people in the USA are privileged plain and simple. HOW THE US GOVERNMENT HELPED TO CREATE WHITE WEALTH AT THE EXPENSE OF OTHERS. INFORMATION THEY DON'T WANT YOU TO KNOW Here are 11 ways federal government giveaways gave an economic head start to white people while excluding people of color. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. Free land</li> <li>White Revolutionary War veterans were given nine million acres of Indian land.</li> <li>Legalized squatting</li> <li>In 1841, the U.S. government legalized squatting, allowing white settlers to take over Native American land.</li> <li>3. Military-enforced squatting</li> <li>The U.S. Government helped enforce squatting by employing the U.S. Army out west to beat back Native Americans from land coveted by white settlers.</li> <li>4. More free land</li> <li>In addition to conquering half of Mexico, the U.S. Government reclaimed Latino landowners' land for minor infractions such as missing paperwork or back taxes, and then sold it to Anglo settlers at a minor cost.</li> <li>5. Even more free land</li> <li>The Homestead Act of 1862 provided free or very inexpensive land was provided by the government to 1.5 million white families.</li> <li>6. Revoked promises to slaves</li> <li>Following the Civil War, freed slaves were promised '40 acres and a mule.' Following Lincoln's death, this promise was revoked and land was returned to its previous White owners.</li> <li>7. Preferential treatment of white workers</li> <li>Through the New Deal, the U.S. Government provided minimum wages, union rights, and social security to industrial workers, almost all of whom were white. These same benefits, however, were denied to agricultural and domestic workers, most of whom were people of color.</li> <li>8. Government-sponsored aid</li> <li>Government-sponsored aid was provided to struggling white farmers while denying it to most black farmers from the 1930's right through the 1980s.</li> <li>9. GI Bill benefits</li> <li>Provided free college education, vocational training, and cheap mortgages to nearly two million white WWII vets via the GI Bill, while simultaneously blocking most veterans of color from accessing the same benefits.</li> <li>10. Neighborhood investment through homeownership</li> <li>Invested in infrastructure to expand suburban neighborhoods where white households were able to access government-subsidized mortgages while urban, inner-city neighborhoods were red-lined.</li> <li>11. Tax breaks</li> <li>Tax breaks on investment income (such as dividends, capital gains and inheritances), which are disproportionately owned by wealthy white people, have been cut and lowered much more than taxes on income from work.</li> </ol> The foundation of American White supremacy sits tenuously on a rickety base of lies and deceptions about how Whites gained their wealth and status. A century and a half after slavery the median wealth of White families is $100,000; for Black families, it's $25,000. The belief that Whites achieved this 20-1 wealth advantage by HARD WORK is an absurd and a historical fantasy. Nonetheless, the airwaves are filled with the self-righteous pronouncements of Caucasian commentators anxious to 'advise' Blacks to 'work hard' and to 'pull themselves up by their bootstraps' if they want to succeed in America. Not only do they seek to invent a fraudulent fairy tale that whitewashes a very bloody	Black, Crow, Indian, Jim Crow, Nothing, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	7/605	1.157
---	---	--	--------------	--------------

It's quite possible that by living through it you, yourself, will know for sure the extent of racism going on. However, people who don't go through it can't read your mind, and have to do the best they can with the information they have, not jumping to conclusions too quickly or slowly. And certainly one of the things they should consider are the sorts of things you brought up.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/69	1.449
Well, maybe in some hidden way his original post is trolling, but it seems like he could have been a lot more provocative. He could have sworn at people who disagreed, and just use a lot of ad hominem in general. I mean, I don't know, is there a much better or more civil way you have in mind, in which he could have expressed his opinion? Or are you saying he is trolling simply by being an individual who has the opinion he has? I think that's a bit strong since political disagreements are rather common .	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/97	1.031
Derek GIf I never experienced racism and a guy told me it exists and happens to him almost every day I would take is word for it, not call it classicism. It is a fact white people in the USA have never experienced racism . When I say racism I am not talking about bigotry or prejudice. I am talking about when someone can take their prejudiced and bigoted views and effect your natural human rights. Less than 13 of the population making up 59 of the people in jail for drugs is racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	4/94	4.255
By your logic though you have to take the white person's word for it if they say they experience racism . So I don't think you really use that logic and understandably so. You are making inferences without observation (assuming you are not white).So I think there's sort of a balance. I think to some extent we can take a person's word for it, but I don't think it's awful to still investigate the issue oneself a bit too because what people say is not always reliable.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/87	1.149
Then what is the reason for the minority's lower socioeconomic status? If it isn't cultural or systemic racism ?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/18	5.556

AlexI may be wrong in my interpretation, but I don't think he is denying that racism exists. I think he is stating his opinion that many of the problems we attribute to racism have roots in other isms. He is saying that if we work on socio-economics that things will be better for all poor people, of which a disgustingly large porportion are black.No issue is simple or one faceted. Racism and classism are entwined in each other. Let me give you an example:Why is the average socio-economic status lower for blacks than whites?Generations upon generations of racism.Does the lower socio-economic status of blacks contribute to racism towards blacks?Yes! For many reasons. Poor people in general are seen as less trustworthy, poor people are less educated generally, poor uneducated people tend to commit more crimes. From there it is easy for our* lazy brains (who really want an excuse to think we* are better than everyone else) to take two seperate issues, conflate them and form a generalized idea that all blacks are untrustworthy, uneducated and criminals.*I am using our and we in this instance to refer to whites in this circumstance but it is true across the board. All human brains are lazy and really love to generalize.More racism begats more classism, begats more racism. It is disgusting.I think you make an excellent point about how whites have never experienced bigotry and prejudice like blacks have.You also make another good point about the importance of defining what we mean when we use a word like racism. It is easy to misunderstand one another and make assumtions about what the other was trying to say.	Black, Classism, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Social Class - General	11/285	3.86
Joseph Beck Sometimes accusing people who are guilty makes sense. The reason people are bias in favor of other people with names like Chris or Tom, but bias against names Dashawn as you describe is because quite straightforwardly the name Dashawn is associated with being a black person. I don't know how you can't see that, its clear as day. If I was named Juan or Carlos saying you don't trust me because my name is different is no different than saying you don't trust me because it is Hispanic or non-white. What your talking about is semantics. The wording is different but the issue is the same. When black people get more prison time for the same crime than white people I have no idea how you can read race out of that when it is an intrinsic part of the statistic. I am a white man with every privilege in the world, and admitting that there is racism in the world does not make me guilty of it. It is simply acknowledging the writing on the wall.	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/179	2.235

Derek GNo I am not telling you to take my word for it. The dude in this video proved it for you and I proved it to you in one stat. I have plenty more if you want them. What racism have you as a white person experienced in the USA? This is the white mans country, white people dont know what racism is that is why they say there is not a race problem only a class problem. They can identify with classicism not racism . Black people can identify with both. So again tell me what racism you face being white in the USA.	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/106	5.66
Chris ReidExactly racism caused all the problems not classicism. All that other shit is an effect not a cause. The cause is racism and it still effects black people till this day. The government has yet to right any of the wrongs that have been done and are still being done to black people.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/55	7.273
Derek GI never said nothing about disrespect or respect. He his wrong, if you think like him you are wrong. Talking to white people about racism problems is like talking to a noseless person about smell problems.”We dont have smell problems we have nose problems.”-Noseless guy	Nothing, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	2/48	4.167
Derek GHe said I was the one wrong with the civil rights movement first that was a response that actually gave factual evidence as to why he was the problem. Black people are less than 13 of the country. No matter how many black people vote we cant change a damn thing by ourselves. The more white people deny racial problems the longer they will remain.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/67	2.985
AlexI don’t disagree with you. You can’t ever right slavery. You can’t right lynching and the Jim Crow laws. That is impossible. Racism caused the problem, but classism does make it worse and it also causes more racism . Racism causes more blacks to be denied the oppurtunity to suceed like they would if they were white. Which in turn makes them even more vulnerable to the effects of classism , which perpetuates more racism .I may be misunderstanding your arguement but what I am getting from you is that you think Racism is a bigger problem than classism .What I am saying is that it is a feedback loop that just keeps producing shittier outcomes for blacks.The orginal poster stated his opinion that it would be easier to fix classicism than racism . I don’t know if that is right or wrong, but maybe if we can fix one it will make the other easier to fix as well.	Classism, Crow, Jim Crow, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Social Class - General	10/159	6.289

Chris ReidYou can right it by giving us an even playing field. The USA just swept it under the rug. The Native Americans are still getting reparations black people literally got nothing . Classism is prejudice against or in favor of people belonging to a particular social class.You fix this buy evening the playing field for black people. Black people are the poorest people in the USA, why? Because of racism of the past and present.	Black, Classism, Nothing, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Social Class - General	6/77	7.792
AlexI do not disagree with you about the fact that racism exists, it is a major problem or that it needs to be fixed. Nor am I disagreeing with you that the best way to end unfair treatment of black people is to even the playing field.How do we even the playing field? That is a legitimate question. I do not know the answer.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/66	3.03
Chris ReidEnd laws that where made to attack black people. The war on drugs, mandatory minimums, marijuana prohibition, child support. 5 grams of crack = 5 years while 500 grams of cocaine = 5 years. Crack is found in black areas. Not to mention when the war on drugs started the CIA admitted to smuggling drugs into black areas. ie cocaine, crackYou can look up the quotes Anslinger, a government offical, said about marijuana.It is no lie that a lot of black kids are born out of wedlock. If you are taking care of your kid financially and you and your girlfriend are not married but she signs up to receive gov. assistance the male is charged child support. If you are married you are charged nothing . Government sponsored anti gang programs. Gangs are a problem in low income black areas and it is a direct effect of the war on drugs aka black people. Fix the schools in black neighborhoods. Another huge problem. Free college/school after highschool for all slave decedents. As reparations. Low interest rate loans for black entrepreneurs and home buyers. As reparations.	Black, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black	9/189	4.762

"It's lazy because racism is easy to fix. Just get people to stop being racist."If racism is so easy to fix, why isn't it already fixed? First of all, John addressed the issue of socioeconomic differences briefly in the video and addressed your first point. However, you go on to suggest that racism against black people that comes from assuming they're poor is not actually racism. That's utter bullshit. That's the primary form that racism took in the north after the civil war and is one of the primary excuses used by racists after the 1967 civil rights act in order to exclude people who it had just become illegal to discriminate against. That assumption is old and plays into old stereotypes of lazy black people. It is most definitely racism. "Racism is a human problem, not a economic problem."Any problem can be called a human problem, including economic problems, is a human problem. For example, why don't Americans give large amounts of money to African families to enable them to fix their countries and why can't those stupid people build important things? Economies are run by humans, thus all economic problems ARE human problems. By taking this view you have taken solutions off the table that could help large numbers of black people for no good reason, and denied that there most definitely are systemic problems why black people have the problems they do.(from another comment, same author) "What I'm saying is, when we make it about race we make it an accusation. White people become racist simply for being white."And this is why it's so important to talk about race as a system. In the US, white has always been seen as a default, and efforts to include black people in media, going back even to the 2000's, always comes off as just meeting a quota. To be frank, we have a society that continually reinforces racist stereotypes in subtle ways. Another example, black people are more likely to be convicted of crimes, thus we understandably tend to think black people are more likely to be criminals and are logically then more worried around them. This happens to black people too, they end up more worried about other black people being thieves than white people as well. It isn't just people, it's institutions people have built that need fixing. Finally, if you have objections about the studies that John cites, air them. Don't hint that their may be some little detail wrong, no EXPLAIN!	African, Black, Old, Race, Racism, Racist	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	23/420	5.476
---	---	--	--------	-------

is this a joke? I live in the south, where many people have it WRONG about racism . I deal with racism EVERY DAY of my life. My mom just got a job after TWO years of searching because of her age . It's a job where she is literally the ONLY white person in the office, and since she is white, she has two women who are trying to get her fired. they had the BALLS to come to her and say " if you tell anyone, I will deny it to their face." My family was bringing in not even enough to pay ANY bills, and we couldn't get FOOD STAMPS. I went to a predominately black school and was attacked on a daily basis. Just because im white doesn't mean I haven't suffered just like the rest. Don't you ever get that twisted. But you grow and realize that NOTHING will change unless YOU try and change it. how do you ever expect someone's respect if you disrespect them?! life doesn't work that way. and im truly sorry about the way cops deal with it. But just as you came in assuming my life is rainbows and butterflies because im white, they assume too. See what I mean? They assume, you assume, so how are they any worse? You both did literally the exact same thing.	Age, Black, Nothing, Racism	Age - General, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/227	2.203
Are you basically accusing Joseph Beck of "liking to" disagree because he hates black people or something, Paul Dienhart?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/19	5.263
I quite agree! :) But I always consider the possibility that I am overlooking something, making some mistake. We don't want to make the immediate jump that just because we think something is true, means it is, or that it's fact – it might be that we merely think that we are right, but are making some mistake.In other words, if you want to get people on your side, just saying your opinion is fact is circular reasoning; yes, if it's fact, then of course it's something worthy of belief; but when people disagree that's the very thing they need to be convinced of.It's not like Joseph Beck is only asserting his position. He is at least responding to certain observations from which people conclude racism , and is offering alternative explanations. They may be right or wrong, but it seems like he is making an honest effort to address certain arguments, rather than ignoring them.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/157	0.637
Joseph BeckI never said you could not have an opinion, but all you have is an opinion. You have no experience you dont know what it is like to face racism . Your opinion is baseless.I have experience, I live the life, the facts back me up. You are wrong plain and simple. You would not tell someone that has been to war what your opinion on whats wrong with war. You have never been, you dont know what it is like. You are on the outside looking in. When someone on the inside tells you what it is like, stfu and listen. Until then nothing will change.You have never faced racism in your life! How in the fuck do you know what racism is? Classism is something you have faced that is something you can identify with. Racism isnt. USA has a race problem.	Classism, Nothing, Race, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General, Social Class - General	7/147	4.762

Explain how a black american man driving an expensive car who is stoppped by a police at gun point due to "probable cause that it's a stolen vehicle" fits in with your explanation that "the things we take as racism are, in reality, socio-economic classism "? My point is that racism directed at blacks in America doesn't just disappear because he/or is wealthy or of higher socio-economic status, which would be the case based on your logic. Your comment ironically sounds a lot more dismissive and lazy than anything John said in the video. However, I agree that being black AND poor in America makes one's experience as a citizen intensely worse. You must understand that there is a perpetual cycle that exists between racism and economic status. Self-fulfilling prophecy if you will. If you're black it's harder to get a job (this is a fact, explained by racism not class) making you more likely to be poor. If your poor you are at a greater disadvantage for receiving proper healthcare and education. If you're poor you're also more likely to commit crime. The children of impoverished individuas will grow up with less opportunities and experience similar disaparities in healthcare and education. Now they will probably become discriminated against on the basis that they are poor and unhealthy as you said which will make it even harder to get a job because remember that being black in itself already makes lowers your chances...	Black, Classism, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Social Class - General	9/242	3.719
So pretty much you just say that there is no racism in the U. S.?There isn't a way that you can fix something like someone not hiring you because of race . After all, all they have to do is put one person of a minority there and then they can say they are fair and impartial even if they aren't.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/61	3.279
The problem with seeing racism as a separate issue from other social problems is that it divides attention between a multitude of issues that are deeply inter-connected. It's not that racism isn't a problem, it's that it's part of a larger problem of inequality in society. You won't solve the problem by targeting racism alone, so to focus on it alone is to miss the bigger picture.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/67	4.478
Sooooooo how is not being hired because of your black -sounding name an economic problem again? How do you economically explain the fact that a white man and a black man from the same economically challenged neighborhood won't be treated the same by law enforcement? You can't blame all of this on neoliberalism and capitalism Joseph.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/55	1.818

I would say that human problems are typically a lot harder to solve than economic problems, just saying stop people being racist would require such a massive change in the way we think. For better or worse (most often for worse) we use race to classify people based on our, and moreover the media’s representation of that group. You seem like a very reasonable person and I hope even if your not convinced you might understand there is some level of naivety in what your saying, also I think the Benjamin Disraeli quote you used at the end doesn’t really work in this instance, whilst statistics can be manipulated I dont think Disraeli is saying just don’t believe in statistics period. Given the independent nature and breadth of the studies John has given which make up a fraction of the research done on this topic its impossible to disprove the existence of racism in every society. I’m of the belief its an unfortunate part of our nature, a dark side to our gut instinct that we can look past if we see people for who we truly are. Have a nice day :)	Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/193	1.554
Joseph Beck There is undeniably a very significant intersection between poor socioeconomic standing and the African American race in the US, and classism is a significant problem of its own. Nonetheless, there are issues that extend beyond the mere coinciding of low class with a race. Reasonably speaking, considering how prominent overt racism was not many generations ago, it’s entirely unlikely that said racism has disappeared. Cultures change quite slowly, and 50 years is a very short time for a culture to entirely change its stance on anything. Moreover, issues such as longer sentences are unlikely to do with classism, as the most likely perpetrators of those crimes are people of low class (thus eliminating that factor in large part). Or take mainstream US media and how, for example, violence is portrayed there; the same acts, often by people of the same class, are interpreted very different. When the white man commits crime, the reasons are situational; the condition he was in, maybe mental illness, etc. When the black man commits the same crime, the reasons are dispositional; this ”is just how black people are” (is pretty much what is said when you read between the lines).	African, Black, Classism, Mental, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments, Social Class - General	10/197	5.076
I knew I subscribed to this show for a reason. Sadly, many white will watch this and still come away with an excuse for why the stats are what they are and post a negative comment in response that gets a bunch of likes. Cognitive dissonance. Arguing against the reality of racism in this country is now a sport.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/59	1.695

Obviously racism creates unjust prejudices against large groups of people, which means certain individuals may be unfairly judged, but is racism always unjustifiable? If statistics show that certain races are more likely to commit crimes than other races, why is it so wrong to be more cautious against the race that commits more crimes? Also, the United States is transitioning very quickly from a land with segregation to complete social equality, so while racism is still a prevalent issue, it should be noted that it has vastly increased, and the trend will most likely continue to favor equality.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	4/98	4.082
It takes guts to talk about such a delicate matter that can be hard to talk about without offending someone and with such a wide audience. Racism is not a big thing where I live (in Ireland) so I haven't been affected much by racism . Yet this is still a world-wide problem that needs to be tackled.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/57	3.509
I would call this an educational video, so I would think the 4min max would not apply. That said, thank you, this is very important and hard for a white woman to help her daughters understand.	Woman	Gender - General	1/36	2.778
Is reverse racism only a thing where I live?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/9	11.111
Thank you for addressing this important subject to your followers. Providing this truth to your generation is paramount for change. Because of your generation's views on gay rights, my partner and I of 19 years were finally able to marry. Maybe they will tackle racism with the same vigor in the years to come.	Gay, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	3/54	5.556
Americans, Just stop doing dumb . Counties where people the same race discriminate over just skin tone. Quit over thinking your data and know and be better people. Do you really think if everyone was the same race in your country the mindset of racism would not exist still? If everyone was the same race that kind of people will still attack you for your where you grew up, who you keep as friends or personal beliefs.	Dumb, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	5/76	6.579
The Australian National University did a similar resume study (with all kinds of " ethnic " names vs "Anglo" names for the same resume) in Australia and found very similar results: the Whiter your name, the more likely you are to get a callback. [LINK]	Ethnic	Ethnicity - General	1/43	2.326

John you are absolutely free to say whatever you want, about whatever you want. Can I ask you a favor though? Could at least try and understand why the majority of Americans don't believe in systemic racism against minorities? On crash course, and this show as well, you and Hank always encourage us to view the world from all perspectives, not just what is commonly talked about in media.This opinion is parroted constantly by all kinds of media; Books, TV, music, movies, games, the list goes on and on. Yet the vast majority of people think it's an illusion at best or a fabrication at worst.You might think that numbers aren't helpful - that they don't tell the whole story. It might help if you didn't stop short too. Only including the opinions of white people seems both intentional and manipulative. As if inequality is already factual, and white people are all guilty until proven innocent.You actually touch on some of the issues at play here starting at 2:18 but you also completely ignore others - seemingly to construct a narrative. For example neglecting to mention that while black people make up about 13 of the population 45 of crimes are committed by black (yes this is inflated by repeat offenders, and yes white people also commit about 45 of crimes while clocking in at 70 of the population). This is far more crimes per capita than any other ethnicity, and I'm willing to be it's because of that point you made at 2:18. Which is odd considering inner city public schools receive more funding than other categories of public schools (before anybody jumps down my throat, inner city public schools are financed with less local tax revenues but also receive much higher state and federal funding, grants, scholarships, donations, and other subsidies resulting in more money over all (As a side note, this money has a higher tendency to be misappropriated and/or embezzled by school officials but more money is sent)).The study you mentioned is also under fire since it lacked many things that make it a valid and scientific study. First I feel I should clear something up, a panel of industry professionals was hand picked by the University to evaluate a series of applications - these applications where not being sent to actual companies. I'll remind you, these professionals were hand picked and often were not hiring managers. There also was no proper control to set base line behavior. Not all panelist were given the same applications so no consistency in decision making could be made. The applications used were determined to be 'equivalent' by the University, but were not identical save for the name (meaning similar schools, similar extra curricular activities, etcetera) (Similar does not mean same, there is an industry bias against hiring MIT graduates because they tend to be arrogant and bad at compromising and working in groups - this is an example of something a professor that has only been in academia their entire lives likely wouldn't be aware of. Then there is also room for bias against rival schools or Fraternities/Sororities that wasn't accounted for). There is also evidence of missing or incomplete data. Essentially, it is being accused being poorly conducted or worse yet fabricating results entirely.When it comes right down to it, the uncomfortable truth is that these are correlations as you said. The problems that disproportionately effect the black community more than any other ethnicity hasn't been proven to have	Black, Ethnicity, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/651	1.075
---	---------------------------------	---	--------------	--------------

I find it funny that my parents think I'm overly optimistic when they are the ones who don't think that racism is a problem. More people need to be aware of this.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/32	3.125
A large factor of so many people being in denial of racism most likely because in school they are taught that people like MLK completely abolished racism and it flat out didn't exist after the civil rights movement. I'm still in school and a concerning number of people I know were surprised and appalled of statistics of something they didn't know was a problem.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/64	3.125
Thanks for the video, John. I don't know, it's just really awesome to see an adult white male talking about these issues. It can be really disheartening looking at youtube comments that say stuff like " Racism isn't an issue! People are complaining about a nonexistent problem! White people have it just as bad!" But when people like you and Hank talk about these things, it's kind of empowering. So, yeah, just thank you for believing that progress is a possibility.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/80	1.25
If you had asked me 6 months ago if racism still existed I would probably said no. And now I know how wrong I was and privileged I am and from now on I am going to speak up as loudly as I can when I think racism crops up.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/50	4.0
You don't say African German to a German person. We are Germans or Americans or Japanese. Appearance: Black or Latin or white or Asian. And combinations and mixes in between. Unite by birthright (county or planet) not looks.	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/38	5.263
It is comforting to know the there is a God who is not partial as shown in the story of Cornelius in Acts Chapter 10. Cornelius was an Italian army officer who was called on by God to hear what Peter, Jesus' disciple, had to say about God. So, Cornelius sent for Peter. This was a problem because Jews were not allowed to associated with people of another race . However, Jehovah allowed the meeting of Cornelius and Peter.America may not provide equality, but God's Kingdom will. For more information, please visit jw.org .	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/93	1.075
There can be no doubt that there are many injustices. The implied question that I hear is, how should these statistics effect policy? Since it is already illegal to discriminate based upon race , I don't see what can really be done. Serious question	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/43	2.326
While watching this I couldn't help but think about how Harper Lee's "To Kill a Mockingbird" has been banned in several schools because "there's racism in it" when, in fact, it is all around us in the real world. I don't know it just feels like another example of how a lot of people are in denial about the whole topic.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/61	1.639
ok so denying racism is foolish. Now what? I genuinely want to listen to feasible ideas to combat it.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/19	5.263

The "problem" isn't with the sentiment of trying to end racism, but the lack of understanding how racism works and how we, as individuals and as societies, can surpass it and create more systematic equality for all. Every little thing we are, or do, affects how people judge us, from our skin color to our hair style, to our smile, to our words, to our gestures, to our opinions, etc.–and every one of these judgments lies within US. We cannot always stop ourselves from making pre-conceived misconceptions, for sure, and not even time will be able to cure us of that bias–our bias exists particularly because it's helped us survive as a race. HOWEVER, we can become more aware of our own biases and make our own decisions to stop such biases from how we end up treating others as much as we can. The issues run far too deep to completely stomp out in each one of us, but the more we know about ourselves and others, the more likely we'll be able to avoid conflict, create peace, and more than anything else, provide equality to our peers of every shape, size, color, gender, street, and kind. And feel like better people as a result.	Gender, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	4/206	1.942
As a latin guy living outside the US, wealthy white people's obsession with racism and sexism is hilarious. Especially when they don't actually do anything about it and are usually more racist and sexist than most. You have proven you're not one of them Mr. Green, but you're the exception. Tumblr posts and whining about privilege does nothing just like liking a facebook post doesn't solve hunger.	Nothing, Racism, Racist, Sexism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	4/67	5.97
"Slactivism" as it has been coined by the media, is a very interesting and complex topic. I agree that people post on Tumblr and like anti-poverty charities on Facebook and think they're changing the world (which they're not) but it's also interesting to grow up in a generation that's increasingly aware of their own privileges. There's an interesting video by a professor at UC Berkley I was watching the other day, and it talked about finding the path between cynicism and foolishness in which to improve the world. It's foolish to think you can change the world through a tumblr post, but it's also overly cynical to say that becoming more aware of racism and other global problems isn't a good thing.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/122	0.82
It was super brave for John to come out with a video like this. Even though it is important to talk about this topic often just the idea of a white man to talk about racism is enough for the internet to go into a frenzy. Good for him for not being afraid of speaking out. I know there is one particular sjw youtuber that will probably find some problem with this video but she can do what she wants. I support this video.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/84	1.19

Might I say this has good intentions but I must implore you change the way you present your point, you should not compare how minorities are treated compared to whites but rather how people of certain races are treated compared to other races. This may just be a coincidence but all of your examples were weighted against white people and saying that makes nonwhite people racist against white people and we get a lovely circle of hate. Martin Luther King Jr. didn't say blacks should be treated equally to whites he said all men should be created equal, an all inclusive statement(he was talking about women to ladies) and he got his movement going. We shouldn't strive for any goal that specifically names a race gender or creed but rather strives to create equality for all regardless. Also for those who think white people can't talk on the subject for some truly stupid reasoning I'm Cambodian.	Gender, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	3/156	1.923
Sure systemic racism exists but black people and the communities they live reside in don't offer a positive perception of themselves either.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/22	9.091
I didn't take John as a race baiter...fucking disgraceful	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/9	11.111
well thats cause the difference between crack and cocaine, crack has a way larger sentence then cocaine and its cheaper so its in the worse neighborhoods which has more blacks but i do agree about racism	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/36	2.778
Not to discredit the awareness efforts of John, but this video reminds me of a comment I received on a paper in college:"You've successfully convinced me there's a problem, but done nothing to convince me there's a solution."	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/39	2.564
No doubt these are some disturbing statistics. Some things will simply fall to implicit egotism, but there is clear evidence of a systematic bias does exist in a lot of areas. Edit: Part of this always make me uncomfortable. I'm white but my family has never held any privilege because so far as I can tell, wealth is the only factor in that. I can't help but think that "white privilege" somehow passed over my family so I could never afford to finish college and in grade school my family was homeless. The truth is, the wealthy are the only truly privileged class in our society, but poverty is completely colorblind. The institutions in this country are not though. Police agencies are not color blind . The justice system is not colorblind. Government is not color blind .	Blind	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/136	1.471

Something I've always heard about bias, it that it exists regardless of your particular demographics. Like, I've always heard black judges are still more likely to give longer sentences to black defendants. And women bosses still pay their female employees less on average. Perhaps I'm biased to believe this as a white male. But I like to look at these problems in terms of societal and cultural issues rather than just people being brought up to be bigots intentionally.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/79	2.532
You can't have an intelligent discussion about race when an overwhelming number of blacks believe that ALL white people are racists and that you can't be racist if you're black .	Black, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/30	10.0
We had a talk from a gentleman who worked at out local Social Services but came to speak to use regarding his struggle through the education system in kenya. Whilst he was there a discussion started about the tribal wars which occurred and said " Black people cannot be racist because we do not hold the power, until we hold the power we cannot be racist towards other. The white people hold the power and therefore can be racist but we cannot be racist back as we do not have power backing us." This sparked a lot of arguments but in the end the majority of the group agreed thoughts? x	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/110	4.545
So I don't feel like I'm particularly racist . I do recognize that as a white male from an affluent family, I've had a huge leg up in the world. I get that minorities will face more adversity in many aspects of improving their status. But here's the thing. What can I do to stop that? I'm not in any position to affect hiring standards for the company I work for, I don't work in law enforcement to apply the law, I don't work in the finance to approve loans or college admissions or really anything that I can see having a tangible effect on race relations. I work doing manual labor in construction and various other part time jobs. What can I do to change this state of the world? Me feeling "white guilt" doesn't change it. So if we recognize the symptoms, what does change it?	Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/147	1.361
"pretty sure that's about race " no that's about parents naming their children stupid unprofessional names	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667
Whoa, I wasn't one to deny racism , but I didn't even think about it being this in depth. I feel ignorant.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/21	4.762
Something to consider: Black people are still owed reparations, upwards of 100 trillion dollars.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/14	7.143

I agree. It is sadly a problem that is in Britain today with painful reminders like Stephan Lawrence and when G4S deporting a man killed him on the plane and were then found not guilty and although I am no lawyer nor was there from the articles I've read it seems quite likely that the G4S staff killed him and then got away with it simply because he was an illegal immigrant and Britain currently hates those which I find hard to express how hopeless and upset I feel about this and the current attitude in Britain. This is a problem which I wished the world had rid itself from before I was born like Smallpox.	Immigrant	Nationality - General	1/116	0.862
Heres a study on this very subject, "The Essence of Innocence: Consequences of Dehumanizing Black Children,' Journal of Personality and Social Psychology, Feb. 24th 2014'. There is just way too much research on this to ignore, this isn't malice anymore, it's systemic; unconscious. Mostly. That's why it's called Privilege.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/49	2.041
Our system was methodically and strategically created and placed for us to hate each other and divide, not just your skin or background. Black people are targeted cuz early europeans knew their capacities especially if they are united. Just like mexicans, what happens if all Mexicans united? What if blacks and browns united? Amerikkka'z worst nightmare...	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/56	1.786
Another fun fact, in 2013 cops were more likely to by killed by a white person than a black person. Source: FBI crime statistics.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/24	4.167
And yet I know a ton of people that deny the existence of systemic racism in the US.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/18	5.556

WowThose numbers are pretty badMy mum once already had a job as opéar (life in babysitter ) in London trough a office and they extanced letters and suchBut when she came here they almost literally told her "We didn't expect that your skin to be so dark" and didn't let her in the houseThey said something about her not expecting to be from Africa since she lived in Portugal and the wife told that her husband didn't want her. Lucky something that bad never happened to me. The worst I had was a hairdresser saying they wouldn't straighten my hair that it would be to much work and that they were a "European hairdresser". Which was odd since I asked the if I could make an appointment and they didn't do that but the guy said that I just needed to come. Also my hair looks more like what my Dutch father has instead the kinky hair my African/Indian/South-European mom has. But then again my skin is lighter not white still dark enough to need vitamin D pills but not 'Black'black my brown hair has curls and my name is really common. Also I wear cute stylish clothing all the time. I don't even speak her language since they advised against it. Not that stops every single person who knows me for more than half a hour to ask where I'm from. I really hate that question since the most simple one would be ,here, most of the time. but the real anwser involves war, kaste, another war and different tribes. Which isn't really something you want to explain to every single new person you meet. But if I oversimplify and then people ask so you're from Portugal I could say yes but that would just feel like lying not that it technically would and making some people the most important part of my heritage when all I know is a guy from Portugal. And I don't like to lie to every single person I meet. And people don't want to hear the simple answer since the wouldn't ask if they thought I never have stepped a foot out of Europe and lived my whole life in the same house being raised in mostly the same culture and having mainly Sealandish blood. Or comment on how big my hair is. Or ask where I bought it. (Well that was only one but still!) Or assume I'm Muslim after a comment that I don't drink ( while it would soon be illegal for me).Or be jealous that my legs are brownish in the winter. One time this guy before the library starting hitting on me but I just wanted to go to library and I was tired so I just start speaking in Japanese and then he continued in bad Spanish! Well that was a long rant over insignificant things. I am not an African American man but I am a agnostic bisexual Dutch, Indian, Mozambique, Portuguese woman with probably Autism who is very glad to life in the Netherlands in this time while having rich, open minded , loving family.	African, Common, Indian, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - Native-American, Gender - General, Social Class - Working class	4/524	0.763
people talk a lot about of racism in the US. but they are unaware of how much xenofobic they are becoming, its like you need somebody to hate	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/28	3.571

That part about the identical resumes really pissed me off. So all they need to do is change their name to a "white persons" name and get the interview. Racism is bloody pointless.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/33	3.03
Considering how advanced the human race is I'm ashamed racism still exists.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/12	16.667
I completely agree with what you said that it is important for people to listen to the voices of those affected by racism . For some reason, since even before the development of our country, people have believed that leaders who are the least emotionally involved in an issue will be the most adequate for the job of representing those people because apparently they are most likely to view it in the most rational, and least biased way possible. While this may be true, we see now today that certain political leaders who are not directly affected by racism cough(Rudy Giuliani)cough don't even acknowledge systemic racism as a problem.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/108	2.778
It's easy to discuss this in the wider context of society as you don't have the power to try and change the mindset of a nation ...but as two of the most influential YouTubers in history- I have to ask what are you guys doing to adress this issue in the YouTube community where you guys actually weild considerable power eg.vidcon.Cause judging by the British YouTubers who are regularly invited to panels at conferences, (not only at vidcon but around the world) and are mentioned and subsequently promoted by not only you guys but other oldschool YouTubers-you would think that the only popular vloggers that exist in the Britain are the the Harries twins or the Zoe/Alfie/tanya/pixiwoo/marcus butler and their 20 man strong clique of family and friends (and the only popular americans are teenage white boys)...which is such a disgrace when I follow so many londoners/british YouTubers with a ton of subscribers and who are just as popular but are not included in things like vidcon. And a disgrace when as a Londoner I know they don't represent the wonderful diversity of my city, my London. Is there a panel which discusses race and YouTube at vidcon? Are there going to be more people of colour invited? Am I missing something?... Cause all I see is a sea of white and Glozell with her green lips.	Nation, Race	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	2/227	0.881
To deny the failure of black culture is to deny common sense. There's a real reason that all the black kids dropped out of my college after the first year, and it's not because of a "shameful" white person like myself.	Black, Common	Ethnicity - Black, Social Class - Working class	3/41	7.317

Annoying liberal.When you tell me about black on white racism and all the other types of racism then I'll care.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/21	14.286
I am really glad the Vlogbrothers are talking about this, jonny and I live in the Deep South and we see racism every day and then to watch the news and hear them say it's not a factor frustrates us	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/40	2.5
I don't understand how anyone can argue the presence of systemic rascism in this country. White Americans have never been greatly effected by rascism which makes it hard for us to know what it looks like sometimes.We see slavery and segregation as a distant past and we think that we've done so much better and we've even elected an African American president. While there have been improvements since the 1800s, we're still far from perfect and I think it's good that attention has been drawn to the issue lately, although I'd rather it happen under different circumstances. It's an unfortunate truth that rascism is still present in this country, but it's a truth that needs to be dealt with. I hope day people will look back at 2014 and think about how ridiculous this inequality is and how glad they are that people are just treated like people. And I hope that day comes soon.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/155	0.645
Pretty sure most of the things you talked about weren't actually racial bias so much as they were poverty bias. There were a few points that have everything to do with race and nothing to do with poverty, but a majority were about poverty more than race . I understand that there is a connection and that correlation makes a poverty issue a race issue, but it seems wrong to talk about those issues as if race is the cause rather than a symptom of the bias.	Nothing, Race	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	5/86	5.814
Brilliant job, John. My ONLY complaint is how much of this focuses solely on blacks and not Natives, Asians, Polynesians, or ethnic minorities like the Irish and Hispanics. The discrimination against such groups is very real and problematic, but getting far less attention.	Ethnic	Ethnicity - General	1/43	2.326

This is a repost for I felt bad for what I said in the last one thank you guys for letting me know. :) Alright, please don't hate for me saying what I think, and how I feel.Firstly nice video John. :) Secondly why are so many people cowards when it comes to "racism" I mean... If it's something you believe in, you should speak your mind about it! For instance if you see some guy being a "racist" you shouldn't just cower, and think "should I say something? Or should I let it pass? What would be the consequences?" I mean granted there will be some cases where it might be best not to for some people... I'm not certain what these cases might be... But I do believe you should say something! And remember, while we are trying to get rid of "racism" you must ALWAYS! Remember this quote from, Christopher Dawson. "As soon as men decide that all means are permitted to fight an evil, then there good becomes indistinguishable from the evil they set out to destroy. " Basically what I'm trying to say is... Fight evil when you see it... But there is a fine line of what you can do when you see it without becoming the evil you wish to destroy. I know I'm probably sounding like a hypocrite but... I'm not the best with my words... But I tried to make my point. Thank you for reading this, and have a good day. :)	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/253	1.186
Please read the whole thing firstI have a question to ask, but I'm scared to ask it in case I get loads of hate, but I generally want to know. And yes, I know I'm ignorant on the matter, that's why I want to ask it: if a white person went to somewhere such as Dubai, where the amount of black/Asian/ethnic (I'm sorry, I don't really know the correct term) outweighs the amount of white people, then do you reckon this sort of awful societal flaw/phenomenon is likely to reversed? I mean, whenever a video like this is released about racism, it is always about white on black racism in the western world, but surely other types of racism must exist... as horrid as it is.... right? Shouldn't we be made more aware of those issues, too, as I'm pretty confident I can't be the only person in the world who's education lacked anything about the eastern side of the globe and their state of affairs. I don't know, maybe I'm being over-sensitive, but whenever I watch a video like this it always makes me feel awful for being part of an ethnic majority. I don't feel like I have a right to be curious and a willingness to try and understand better.	Black, Ethnic, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/214	2.336
I don't think it's an accurate depiction when the playlist is all black people talking about white people being racist. it should be more diverse. Equality is a great wonderful thing. But it's not going to happen overnight. Every single human being on this planet will have to change and be accepting of one another before that can happen.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/59	3.39

I think everyone is racist against everyone, like subconsciously. I have a very white name but as soon as people see me in an interview having dark olive skin (I'm North African , but lots of people think I'm Indian ) I can see on their face the surprise of how I look, and then I never get the job, even though I know I can give a good interview. It's absolutely disgusting, you should hire someone because of their ability, and if they fit in to your businesses values, not because of where they come from.	African, Indian, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	3/95	3.158
Thank you for using your privilege and huge influence online to empower others. The playlist is great as well, bringing to light many important videos by PoCs! Thanks for putting that together and emphasizing the importance of listening to the people of color affected by racism in the US.Hopefully this video can serve as the beginning of a discussion and examination of racism in the U.S. for every viewer. Don't let it end in the comments or at the end of the video. DFTBA!	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/85	2.353
The thing is that i agree that there is racism , i mean John just pretty much showed that. But whenever i hear black racism groups, or just individual black people, talk about racism they don't use valid points like this at all, they'll use some dumb example to show that racism is a thing and it just hurts them. Those groups themselves are also racist many times too, they'll often deny racism against white people, they'll ignore facts if they might go against their points, and they often make is "Us vs them"(e.g. black vs white) and that hurts them a lot.So yeah if a group came out and said exactly what John just said they'd have my support, but the typical black rights group i will not support because they themselves are generally racist , ignore facts, and make it worse by making it about "us vs them" instead of us all just being the same.The black rights groups are generally like modern feminism groups, where it's more like extreme feminism and makes it women vs men instead of making us all equals.	Black, Dumb, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	13/185	7.027
Is racism a problem? Hell yes, a huge one. But keep in mind, white people are victims of racism too. Also, not all whites are racist . These do need to be taken into account	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/34	8.824
Sorry here but white people are never the victims of racism speaking as a white person you have to be oppressed to experience racism yes there may be prejudice towards white people but no we are never the victims because of white privilege and power and to target your comment about not all white people that is totally irrelevant its still there lets say you're at a party and there's a bowl of peanuts on the table and 60 of them are poison, would you still take a handful? Its still using the same premise that not all of the peanuts are poisonous.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/103	1.942

There have been cases of the exact flip side of the collage essay thing. Black people getting chosen over white just because they're black . you must be a really dumb person to say that racism isn't a two way road.	Black, Dumb, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/40	10.0
I'm not dumb you're just painfully ignorant considering most popular collages are all headed by white people. White people are the most privileged there are you need to be oppressed to experience racism and you can't be ignorant enough to even consider for a moment that white people are oppressed	Dumb, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/50	4.0
you need to be oppressed to be a victim of racism , eh? So you're saying that if a white guys calls a black guy stupid just because he's black , that ISN'T racism ? because that sure isn't oppression.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/37	10.811
well see black people are fucking oppressed already you ignorant whiteboy they've always been oppressed	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/15	6.667
I actually agree with you white racism does exist, is it as common as black racism , no. The trend the frustrates me is that if a black person is racist , people jump all over it saying look blacks are racist too, but if a white person makes a racist slur, they a defended by many people saying it's their freedom of speech. A lot of black people deny white racism exist, which in its self is a problem.	Black, Common, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	10/78	12.821
Chris, you're dodging the fact that I caught your stupidity. You're supporting a double standard. THERE is your racism towards white people.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/22	4.545

I said almost the same exact thing and I got so much hate I deleted the comment. I have personally experienced racism in the form on insults and violence against me and people still try to tell me that I can't experience racism because I'm white and I have privilege. It makes me sick people think that!! I got the opposite of privilege! Grew up in the ghetto, lived off food banks and had to drop out of high school as a freshmen to work so my family had a crappy place to live. If that sounds privileged to anyone then they must be living in a third-world country!	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/109	1.835
Reverse racism is non-existent. As white people, we are not oppressed by our race . An African American getting any opportunity over you is not you being oppressed because white people are more likely to get opportunities than African Americans. By God they are finally given opportunities without every single white person complaining that they are being oppressed. Nothing is being taken away from you. This issue isn't about us, and it never has been- it is about African Americans, and how much we have mistreated them/still do over the years. Instead screaming "not all white people", maybe you could stop making all about yourself and actually help those that we have oppressed and mistreated over all these years.	African, Nothing, Race, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/118	5.085
Autumn BolinskyI see your point but reverse racism IS existent. If someone insults me with a racist remark, that is being racist . Period. It doesn't matter what color their skin is or mine is. That's like putting two wrestlers in a cage and saying both can punch but only one of them has the power to hurt the other with their punches. Not true. If one of them punches the other, they will be hurt.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/76	3.947
" White people are victims of racism too" John, what the actual fuck is wrong with you...	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/17	5.882
Laura N Anybody can be subject to racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/8	12.5
no no no no no you have it wrong. Whites are NOT VICTIMS OF RACISM . Racism implies actual violence and institutions that abuse you just for being white. No such thing exists. Blacks have faced and still face racism today because there are people who use violence against them solely because of their skin color and may I remind you of the KKK. No shit all white people aren't racist , but one things for damn sure: All white people have privilege. It's important not to abuse that privilege and use it to help others who do not have it. The word you are looking for is "prejudice", not " racism ".	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	4/109	3.67
Yeah, I think white people should be nice to others, and try to make the community better. They shouldn't make fun of other ethnicities. We want to limit hostility because of ethnicity as much as we can.	Ethnicity	Ethnicity - General	1/37	2.703

gerenago sorry I just now saw this. You are correct. I encountered this especially when I was applying for scholarships last year, and I remember becoming very upset because I was not allowed to apply for a single one due to my being white. But then I realized that other races truly deserve it more than me because it the past they were less likely to get opportunities and I am glad that is changing. It's irritating yes, and maybe one day it won't be necessary but for right now I think it is perfectly acceptable and I am glad more and more people of different races are able to get an education with ease. African Americans and Hispanics have a higher poverty rate than white people do in America by quit a big margin. So, the scholarships and the easier acceptance is trying to help change that.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/148	0.676
xoxdanielle18 hey there! yes, by literal definition of racism it is possible for other races to be racist towards whites, but that does not mean the same thing as legitimate racism . When someone looks down on a white person or says foul things to them because they are white, it does not inhibit that white person in any way. We've never been oppressed, and we never will be. Whites have the lowest poverty rate and lowest death rate. We are in no way oppressed by rude remarks at us or by this so called " racism " towards whites.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	4/97	4.124
Peyton N Racism as you define it towards white people does exsist. It is FAR less common but it does exsist. This does not make the digusting racism that blacks experience any less real and revolting nor does it lessen the need to improve the situation.A common theme that I see is the arguement that we need to destroy prejudice, bigotry, and racism in all of its forms no matter who it is directed towards. That is an arguement I can get behind.	Common, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	5/84	5.952
Chris Hamilton When did you people make up your own bullshit definition of racism ? Fucking idiot.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/16	6.25
First off I want to say I regret saying that. not because I am wrong, but because of the trouble I seem to have caused. I have seen some agreeing with me but most calling me an idiot. One said "there is no such thing as reverse racism ". True. but there is racism towards white people. it's not reverse. but the main one: " racism is being oppressed, physically injured..." or whatever. by that logic, insulting a black person because of their race IS NOT RACISM . Obviously, it is. So, therefore, insulting a white person based on race IS ALSO RACISM . Pick a definition, and let it stand FOR BOTH SIDES. Why is it that stereotypes about white people all being homophobic racist idiots are ok, but a police officer cannot stop a black man and not get criticized!? There is a double standard, attacking lighter skinned people.	Black, Homophobic, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Sexual Identity - General	11/147	7.483

I'd like to jump in here and point out that there are two kinds of racism : institutional racism and individual racism . It seems like everyone arguing that "white people cannot be victims of racism " is talking about institutional rather than individual racism . Institutional racism is where the an entire system is set against you (take John's point about prison sentences being 20 longer for black people, for example) whilst individual racism is one person verbally, physically, emotionally, etc. attacking another person because of their skin colour, culture or religion. So you're partially right: white people do not suffer from institutional racism . However, anyone can be a victim of individual racism . My aunt (white woman in her late thirties at the time) was attacked six(ish) years ago by two young black men because they wanted "justice" (I'd call it "revenge") against white people. Being attacked on the street because of the colour of your skin? Individual racism . Doesn't matter what colour your skin is. The problem I have with your original comment, John Adams, is that this video is not about racism in general. John is specifically talking about racism against black people. He's not saying racism against white people doesn't exist, he's not mentioning it because it wasn't relevant to the type of racism he was referring to.	Black, Racism, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	17/218	7.798
Racism, "ism" means system. Race-system. Please explain to me and others what system of oppression have Black people enacted to keep you and other White people down.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/27	7.407
Thanks for making this and including myself, Akilah and Miles in your playlist. I hope this encourages members of your audience to think more critically about how racism is applied systemically and institutionally, since there's only so much that can be covered in 4 minutes. Lots of great resources in the video description box!	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/54	1.852
M CJ You mean actually passing the mic to people of color and not trying to exclude us to make a buck ?! You mean that thing?	Buck	Ethnicity - Black	1/26	3.846
Nkenge Ragan chescaleigh Thank you both for the replies. I vaguely remember the Facebook kerfuffle, but I thought he accepted correction and apologized. I'll revisit it today for a closer look along with the Sept. '09 post. I tend to give allies a pass for limited missteps only because I don't expect them to be on the money 100 of the time just due to lack of experience in living as a minority. No matter how well meaning and how closely connected they are to our communities and to individual black folk, there's still much left for them to learn.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/100	1.0

projenna i'm not calling you racist and i will say there is truth in your statement, but once again, your missing the point about the topic at hand!Every single black movie star, athlete, talk show host or person within the government make up less than 2 of the entire black population of 38,000,0000!You really want to know why whites have more money than blacks and this a fact coming from a white guy. 50,60,70,80 years ago when blacks wanted to be productive in society. Be doctors, lawyers, dentist, pro athletes, movie stars etc, the whites of the early to mid 1900's said hell no! Whites from around the time frame of around 1920 - 1960 didn't want blacks in their neighborhoods, in there schools, in their churches , working in their businesses etc. Whites could establish viable businesses that would grow and flourish, while most blacks who had jobs could barely make ends meet.You say why? Well because a lot of whites didn't want blacks working for them, and if they did, blacks pay was often at or below minimum wage because minimum wage wasn't enforced back then as it is today! Whites could get bank loans to start up a business, buy land etc, whilst blacks of 50, 60,70,80 years ago couldn't even get a bank loan for such things. I won't even go into blacks being lynched almost daily around the US, or whites not wanting blacks in their schools, or blacks riding in the back of the bus only, not being able to vote, and so much more!Here's my main point and i hope you get this? It takes decades to build sustainable wealth . Sustainable wealth that you can pass on to your children, and children's children. Whites of 50,60,70,80 years ago were able to do just that, build wealth, build very successful businesses that flourished and are still around to this day! They left a legacy of wealth, to pass on to their children, and children's children that is very much alive and thriving today.Blacks of 50,60,70,80 years ago didn't fair so well, do to the fact that it was next to impossible for blacks to startup any kind of businesses that was profitable because they couldn't get bank loans, buy any kind real acreage, at least not in the hundreds or thousands as their white counterparts could! I could go on, but what for?Conclusion! Because of the racism of 50,60,70,80 years ago, whites built a legacy of wealth that they could pass on to their children and children's children. Blacks of 50,60,70,80 year ago, because of prejudice and racism couldn't build a legacy of wealth to pass on to their children and children's children! Blacks instead had a legacy of poverty, structured ghettos and inequality to pass on to their children. So all the rich black movie stars, athletes, rappers and R&amp;B singers etc of today? They will now have the ability to pass on that wealth to their children and children's children! So this mess that you see today is partially the faults of our white grandfathers and fathers if your above 40 of age. Those are facts , even if it was an abbreviated version.	Age, Black, Racism, Racist, doctors	Age - General, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	8/539	1.484
---	-------------------------------------	--	-------	-------

chescaleigh hey like i said, i'm white and i'm tired of whites acting like this garbage doesn't exist! My race helped make this disaster and now they wanna say what's the problem? You can't cut some damn bodies leg off and expect to have a fare race !	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/47	4.255
I didn't saw your channel yet but saying that this video has "lots of great resources" gives me a bad feeling about it. This whole video is build up on the logical fallacy:"Correlation =! Causation", misinterpreting statistics and general deceit. (for example blacks do in average get 20 more jail time but they also have on average a bigger police record which automatically leads to higher punishment or about the higher drug use rate;If you check the statistic they totally forget to mention that blacks only make up 16 of the American population so if you have a random black guy and a random white guy the chances that the black guy uses drugs is dramatically higher)	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/117	1.709
Jamie Cox you know that old saying that goes something like this. There's nothing new under the sun! I feel like i'm in a time machine and were fighting over the same thing we were fighting over back in the early to mid1900's.There are 38,000,000 blacks, and no one will ever convince me that the 2 of blacks that are violent, are worth treating the 98 that aren't violent like crap. I'm speaking more about a corrupt system that is corrupt from the top to the bottom.It targets minorities in ways that most whites can't even comprehend! It also treats the elite, rich, middle class and poor differently, and that in itself is a form of social and or economic discrimination. I will say this, that as a white person i see racism on both sides black and white. But there is a tremendous difference for reasons for racism . White racist see blacks for the color of their skin and the negative attributes portrayed by the media and their personal experiences pertaining to blacks. Some whites see blacks as non responsible and not taking ownership of their wrongs in the black communities, whether it's murder, violence, drugs, education, parenting etc. There is some truth to that, but the media blows that perception way out of proportion. A lot of whites eat it up and assume most or all blacks feel this way. Not true!Blacks that are racist typically draw their feelings from personal experiences and are not typically media based. And here's something that a lot of whites will find hard to believe, but most blacks who have issues with whites, typically have issues with whites in positions of power and very rarely with whites in the general population .Blacks typically don't trust whites in absolute positions of authority, because it is whites in those very positions of power and authority that have abused blacks for centuries! Sad truth about it, is that there are statistics and data that shows that the same system that targeted blacks back then, is still doing it to this day!	Black, Nothing, Old, Racism, Racist	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	8/350	2.286

Jamie CoxIf you think that you are fighting the same fight as your ancestors (who faced real racism ) then you're not only ignorant but also spitting on their graves.Also its funny how you use pure racist logic i.e. generalizing. You say all blacks get their racism due to personal experience and all whites get their racism due to the media - Ignorance in its true form!You also base this only on your "feeling" and how you perceive it which is automatically wrong since you, as an individual, can not even hope to comprehend it enough to judge it accordingly. If you want to make a point then base it on evidence, statistics etc. Just don't be as intellectual dishonest as the guy who made the video.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	4/129	3.101
Jamie Cox Huh, why only on black slavery? What about all the whites and other races that got enslaved during world history? Don't you have a heart for them?" Old numbers"? So because those numbers are " old " there somehow not right?Oh boy and a lot of totally unrelated statistics.The " black man" (sexist by the way) makes laws in countries where they are the majority i.e. in the whole of Africa. And Asian people make laws where they are the majority and so on. That's not difficult, isn't it? Or do you want to be ruled by a minority?Thanks for the talk tho, I don't meet such ignorant and delusional people often. It does put things into perspective.	Black, Old	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Black	4/120	3.333
Jamie Cox I don't mean to interrupt but I doubt their even is 2,000 books about racism written. And we can assume that if there were 2,000 books, with an average of about 300 pages each. And you read 200 words a minute so on average it should take you about 2 and a half minutes per page. So it would take you about 750 minutes per book. Then you times that by 2,000 and it would give you 1500000 minutes, to put that into perspective that is 25,000 hours or 1041.66666667 days or 2.85388127854 years of reading.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/98	1.02
+campbell david I never said i read 2,000 books about racism ! I said 50 books about the plight of the black man and slavery. The two great migrations of blacks etc. Civil rights books and the great depression are the books i have studied the most, but i have read many more unrelated books. Secondly, you are a complete idiot as i read on average 4-5 books a month, sometimes more if they are 100 pages or less! I'm in my late 40's, so if i read on average 5 books per month, that's 60 books a year x 30 plus years of reading and i would say that puts me in the vicinity of 2,000 books give or take !I'm being nice here, but your assumption of pages per book and hours given to each book , thus equaling said amount of time and hours, was very entertaining to say the least.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/155	1.29

To shine a little light on your doubt, campbell david, an amazon search on the word " racism " under books reveals that there are 21,815 titles to choose from. Good job, Jamie Cox on reading over 2,000. ;)	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/37	2.703
Jamie Cox I am a woman and far from a 'baby girl', but I get the sentiment, lol, and you're welcome. Thank YOU for having the patience to at least try to educate those who are willing. ;)	Woman	Gender - General	1/38	2.632
campbell david do me a favor and add 35 years times 60 and tell me what you come up with? I've been a book lover from the age of about 12 or 13, and i never said that all the books i read were 100, 200, 300 or even 400 pages. You made that assumption for me ! Anyways, 60 x 35 = 2,100 possible books that I've read in 35 years! You think I've read a lot of books? I have a friend who is 70, and he says that he has read over 3,000 plus books! Please get back to me after you've run those numbers as to why that's impossible . I would really love to see those!	Age	Age - General	1/121	0.826
Jamie Cox I'm not questioning your love of books, stop getting defensive.And your numbers are a bit optimistic. As you mentioned, you read 4-5 books a month i took the middle number of 4.5. And now, as you've given me a more specific age , it still comes to 1890 books which is still 110 books off !!! you'll get through that in another 2 years!	Age	Age - General	1/66	1.515
projenna Okay. You're a pissed off racist (anyone who speaks of "playing the race card" is one) mad that people of color have ANYTHING because, in your mind, we're supposed to have nothing .What you've listed are exceptions. The few White supremacy has let in thinking it's camouflaging itself that way.I think it's funny as hell when anyone wants to point fingers at people of color about our "merit" when White people have never made it on merit in this country ever. They've never made it a level playing field for all people. They haven't made it so now. You obviously didn't watch the video. And I bet you're the kind who only bombs any post discussing White supremacist racism because you have a racist dog in that hunt.I guess you're going to have to stay mad because people of color aren't going anywhere and we aren't shutting up to placate the likes of you. You can go back into your cave and pick fleas off yourself now.	Nothing, Race, Racism, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	5/170	2.941
"I want to hate Black people for existing, but I don't want to be/be seen as a bad person. Let's see how I can blame THEM for MY racist views of them!"	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/32	6.25

campbell david First of all, I know Nkenge Ragan. She is not an ignorant sassy twit, far from it. Second, speaking on issues of inequality in terms of race does not mean that someone is playing the race card. If those inequalities exist, they exist and there's wrong in calling it out, especially when you have so many acting as we live in a colorblind, race neutral, meritorious society. Sorry, but throughout American history, back in the day and now, the idea of a true meritocracy has never been the case and racial (as well as gender ) privilege and hierarchy has always existed. Racial privilege, bias, and inequalities certainly still exists. Instead of being defensive and reactionary, acknowledge it and listen.	Gender, Race	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	4/121	3.306
Nkenge Ragan M CJ While in the mist of campbell david deflecting, pushing back, and even attacking, dude fails to realize that he's speaking and the tone of his comments reflect the same attitude that often lead to, produces, manifest, and perpetuates the same bias and inequalities that was discussed in this video. He talks like someone living in a bubble, unwilling to deal with certain realities outside of his sphere. And when he's challenged, his response is calling people race baiters and accuse them of playing the race card. It's like he feels and thinks to talk about race and bring up racial disparities, especially as it pertains to POC's, particularly Black folks, is a a form of racism itself and is complaining. SMH	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/125	4.0
Michael Wilson Nkenge Ragan Jamie Cox let's not waste time on racist trolls in 2015. this guy clearly wants to stir things up and get attention, he's not worth the time or effort. either way, i appreciate all of you immensely. happy new year!	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/44	2.273

good goy because im trying to stay on topic! This isn't so much about how whites feel as much as it is about disparities between how blacks and whites are treated in a racially biased nation . I know most whites aren't racist , but i think we all are racial to a certain level, myself include. But at least i'm willing to be honest about it. When i find video after video after video of police corruption, and minorities and Hispanics being targeted so cops can write so many 250's a day to meet quotas, then i will speak up for minorities on this topic.The last i checked, the damn police are here to protect and serve, not purposely target people for financial gain! Cops won't admit it, but they literally have quotas now, yes QUOTAS!The badge and uniform has been corrupted and is no longer the unbiased, fair entity it once was or suppose to be.Before you respond back to me with a rebuttal, please google police corruption and you will be amazed at how bad it is. Hell you will find numerous videos of undercover cops exposing the dirt within the police departments across the nation !If you want to ignore it, then i would say your agenda is impure and your heart has been tainted. Who knows, maybe it's you cognitive dissonance kicking in!	Nation, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	3/229	1.31
There is no systematic and institutionalized racism in America.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/9	11.111
Mikaele BakerActually if you check the sources it becomes clear that John made a huge logical fallacy (correlation =! Causation to be exact) and was generally intellectual dishonest. He used statistics while forgetting to mention important key points for example:Blacks on average have bigger police records making the 20 longer jail time on average rather logical.Or about the drug use, while its true that in, absolute numbers, whites do consume more the rate on blacks is astoundingly higher making the chance to hit an black offender much higher than to hit a white one.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/97	1.031
Mikaele Baker That's another racist troll trying to spread lies and illogic to derail. Block and move on.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/18	5.556

Jamie CoxAnd your only statistical evidence is based on a logical fallacy which basically means its worthless. If you don't include necessary variables into a statistic you can let it say what you want.You seem to forget, even if a black person gets stopped more often he wont get into jail or arrested if hes innocent. If those blacks get frisked and arrested then the police is doing its job because it caught a criminal.There seems to be a massive misunderstanding between us. Racial profiling obviously exist and I have been explaining you the whole time why it does. For example, if there was a theft and theres two suspects, one is white the other one is black . Simply based on statistics the police would be retarded not to check the black guy first since the chance that he did it is much higher. However if he's innocent then there is no problem.And again you don't seem to grasp the math behind rates and the relative amount of the population. However you seem to understand now how the discrepancy of 15-20 comes together.One last point, you talk about how only you see the truth and the other whites do not baffles me. This is one major sign of an ideologist. It also sickens me how you act like a lapdog to people who are above you in the hierarchy in your ideology. Like the girl who made the first comment, it simply hurts to see how much self-hate and loathing you pent-up.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/257	1.167
---	-------	-------------------	-------	-------

good goy this argument is and was no longer about the 20 disparity as i already said that you were partially correct on that one. So I've moved beyond that one.I do understand variables and how they work and why they are important. But i also understand that variables are only consistent and accurate when those who are keeping track and are putting those numbers together in an fair and unbiased way!Dude I've been best friends with my cop friend for 35 plus years now, and he's been a cop for 24 years. I've seen this man in tears because of all the secrecy within the policing system. If cops make x amount of arrest in a week, but x amount of those arrest need to say aggravated assault and not attempted murder? Then they change their police report to fit whatever the numbers need to be.This happens a lot more than people realize, and this is nationwide! Police departments get a certain of their annual income based on how many crimes such as murders, assaults, drug bust etc. Of course their are no hard factual statistics to back up what im saying, but it is happening all over this nation in most police departments. Police departments are investigated for these types of discrepancies, but typically little or nothing is done when discrepancies are found to substantiate anything other than a ? Mark on the police departments file of evidence reports.They are literally allowed to make up reports at times to fit what the departments statistical quotas need to be. This isn't coming from my knowledge, but from a cop of 24 years!I know you don't want to think this is going on nationwide, but it is and that is were we differ! You believe that all statistical facts coming from police are somehow biblical, without bias or a tainted purpose.I know that wise the black youth are out of control!I know that wise that black on black violence is on the rise!I know that wise that if a white criminal and black criminal are approached by a cop, that chances are, the black criminal will more than likely arrested first based on the that blacks are more violent! I get it!But it still doesn't excuse the obvious profiling that's been taking place across this nation for years, which is part of the reason blacks have a higher arrest rate in the first place. Even the prosecutors are practically on the side of police, and thats why police are rarely found guilty of any crime, even when there's a mountain of evidence to suggest otherwise. The police and FBI agents are some of the few agencies within the system that literally polices itself. That's like my best friend doing something illegal, and i'm suppose to punish him without any bias? He's my best friend! Of course there will be bias!Dude, send your rebuttals, i get what your saying. But i see the other side of the equation, that you aren't looking at, because there's no statistical data to prove or disprove!According to a lot of white, there's still no statistical data to prove racial profiling! Even when cops are now saying, yes it does exist.I'm not trying to excuse the action of criminal activity on behalf of blacks no more than i am with whites. The system as we know it has been CONTAMINATED, and when that happens, corruption will run a muck in the name of law!	Black, Nation, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Nationality - General	8/595	1.345
--	------------------------	---	-------	-------

Jamie Cox You sure typed a lot here which I have read but I won't go into that. Simply because its a conspiracy theory based on anecdotal evidence. This kind of evidence is already extremely shaky in a real life debate but absolute unacceptable in an internet argument due to the fact that there is no way to prove it right or wrong.But, in the end, its just a conspiracy theory.However on the topic of racial profiling. Sadly yes, due to the high crime rate, the majority of blacks (even though they are innocent), have to bite in the sour apple .	Apple	Ethnicity - Native-American	1/103	0.971
Jamie Cox Sorry, but Black youth are no more "out of control" than White youth. I've seen the shit White kids do, and get away with, all the time. If they were Black they'd have BEEN locked up.Actually drug and teen pregnancy rates have been DECREASING for Black youth and INCREASING for White ones. So you can quit that " wise Black youth are out of control" bullshit.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	4/69	5.797
NKENGE RAGAN! You didn't read my post correctly! I was arguing with a guy who continually wanted to throw percentages at me and say how blacks are this and blacks are that! Percentages and actual numbers aren't the same. I was actually trying to defend blacks, but i had to let GOOD JOY know that i was aware of what a particular article said, which was, percentage wise, black youths are out of control.You and i both know whites may have actual higher numbers in certain crimes, but blacks may have a higher percentage, and that's what i was implying. Whites have a lot of higher numbers than blacks and i don't doubt that when it comes to certain crimes! I've been fighting with a lot whites who simply want to trash blacks and i've been fighting on your side from day one!Your fighting the wrong person!	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/149	0.671

Jamie Cox "I thought letting you know my kids are mixed and my wife being black, shows you that i have no animus in my words towards blacks! " LOL!PLEASE! Tell that shit to every slave-rapin' Massa! Hell, even Strom Thurmond had a Black kid! Being willing to rub genitals with Black people has no bearing on whether or not you value Black people as human beings! Hell one of the White cops who tortured Abner Louima had a Black fiancée at the time he committed that atrocity! Big whoop on having a Black spouse and mixed kids (as if you are the first or the last one to do this)! You ain't doing Black folk no favor exchanging fluids with us!"when you can find videos of black kids fighting in the mall, McDonald's, subways, schools, out in the streets, that is out of control!"You can also find videos of White people fucking everything from horses to vacuum cleaners. I guess I'm to see White folks as extreme, nasty-ass sexual deviants. You can also find a lot of videos of White people doing a lot of racist shit. Guess you're going to the KKK clambake too? My point is, you can videos of people doing a lot of dumb/sick/reprehensible shit. Doesn't make ONE RACIAL GROUP "out of control." "This will really piss you off. I seem to hear that old blacks can do no wrong attitude again. I point out a truth about something and because i didn't say white juveniles are out of control as well, thats going to somehow get my kids and other black kids shot ?"And now we're playing willfully obtuse? Try to follow. You're using the same language ("Black youth are out of control") that bigots use to JUSTIFY the extra-judicial murder of Black people. You're giving credence to the idea that Black folks are inherently criminal therefore SHOULD be more policed, therefore SHOULD be assumed to be criminals before anything else and treated as such. Sorry, but folks ain't gonna give a shit that your Black wife and kids got a White hubby and daddy when they're putting the label of inherently criminal and "out of control" onto their Blackness. A racist cop won't give a shit. A racist White vigilante won't either. And neither will the media which will go out of it's way to smear them after they've been killed.The idea that "Black youth/adults/men/women/people are out of control" has literally CENTURIES of racist history and baggage with it. That baggage gives false credence to the idea that somehow Blacks are more criminal and that somehow Black criminality is somehow WORSE than any other group's. That is used to JUSTIFY the shitty way, including justifying killing us, that Black people are treated. NO where did I say anything about Black people not doing any wrong. You pulled that strawman directly from your ass because you couldn't manage a decent rebuttal. It's okay. Just keep repeating "The Black woman knows more about this than me." It'll be alright. "Listen, i don't argue with racists, "And I don't deal with the deliberately stupid." I'm not implying your racist, "Yeah you did and with no subtlety at all and a complete and utter lack of finesse for all the passive-aggressiveness. Come back when you learn how racism REALLY works in America. I don't do Racism 101.	Black, Old, Racism, Racist, Sexual, Woman	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	28/568	4.93
--	--	---	---------------	-------------

"I'm on Black people's side as long as I get to do what I want even use language their enemies used to justify killing them. And no Black person had ever better correct or criticize me! I'm an ally CUZ I SAY SO! Fuck what any actual Black people think! They got no say in this!"	Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/56	5.357
Nkenge Ragan sounds like reverse racism to me! To imply that all whites are evil is just as ignorant as whites implying that all blacks are thugs and every other derogatory name that some whites throws at blacks! The statements that you are making towards me are not those of a beautiful or smart black woman , but instead of an ignorant woman !It's you who make it about race and therefore, you are a racist ! Like i said, i haven't called you one name, but i also said i don't talk to racist ! I will not reply back to hateful and bigoted post!	Black, Race, Racism, Racist, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	7/103	6.796
I don't do Racism 101 and I don't talk to ghosts.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/11	9.091
Llurendt "the fact of systemic racism ". There is no such fact but rather a point. A point made by your ideology backed with faulty statistics and build up on logical fallacies.There is a reason only tiny fringe group really believes in this "white privilege" nonsense - because the whole idea isn't based on reality.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/55	1.818
Llurendt if your not very educated on the topic, then why put my name in it at all? I don't even know you, but yet you feel it's ok to put me in there with NKENGE! She's a nut job , and she fights with everyone who isn't black !Again, you've made a horrible accusation against me ,but i have not been rude to you ONCE! I must be a really bad person?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/73	1.37
Jamie Cox I did not call you a bad person, I only said that I had a problem with people making attacks, you just happened to be one of the people I saw making them.And my being educated on the topic of black issues has nothing to do with my being educated on the topic of debate and logical arguments.	Black, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black	2/61	3.279
Llurendt my primary argument from day one, was that police officers across the nation arrest blacks over 4-10x more than their white counterparts. That explains why there is such a large disparity as to why black have longer criminal histories. Racial bias against blacks exist, it dictates a lot of the reasons why blacks are arrested more and have longer criminal records. That is something that I can prove.If that makes me a problem or argumentative, then I guess that's what I am.	Black, Nation	Ethnicity - Black, Nationality - General	2/84	2.381

Llurendt I also know that racial profiling against blacks does exist. I see it almost weekly in my company owned business. My black employees are stopped to 2-5 times more than my white employees are. So I believe and know that racial profiling does exist! All I can say is, thank God that my company vehicles have cameras in all of them.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/62	1.613
Llurendt I'm not ignoring it but rather not acknowledging it. Its literally "Correlation =! Causation", the Study. So many variables and factors were not included and the interpretation from Marianne Bertrand that this is all based on " racism " clearly shows that she just shoehorned her agenda.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/46	2.174
Jamie CoxThe difference is I just state what the statisics says without doing any interpretation. Bertrand however correlates that black name = less callbacks and immedeatly interprets it as racism . She picked names which are commonly assosicated with the lower class while picking average "white" names. Lets see how the study goes if she uses "Crystal-Ray and Billy-bob-Jimbo" as white low class examples.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/64	3.125
Jamie CoxNot lower class of people but the low economic class. I say that this discrimination is class and not race based.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/23	4.348
Jamie Cox Obviously racism exists, I do however view it as valid form of free speech as I do every other kind of speech.A free society also (should) allow unlimited freedom of association. I have no problem if a black owned private business refuses to employ me simply because I am white. When I hear systematic oppression/ racism I immediately think that the state i.e. the goverment excludes indivduals based on their race which isn't the case in any first world country to my knowledge.	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/85	3.529
Some of the white commenters still don't get it. It's not so much about racism as it is about the abuse of the system to maintain a status quo. It's inequality that is the scourage of our society. We keep on telling black people that they are free to be whatever they want to be but....insert too many traps along the journey.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/62	3.226
Ann Boylen [LINK] Their unemployment rate is higher due to a lack of education and a anti-intellectual culture m8.The problem with quotas is that not merit but rather race and gender will get you a job.	Gender, Race	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	2/37	5.405

good guy Context is everything. The devil quotes G-d all the time but does that make him a benevolent being? I highly doubt it. There have been many studies done to show inherent employment bias; white ex-cons twice as likely to get a job offer than a black male with no criminal record. A black college graduate has equal to or less than the same chance as a white ex-con of receiving a job offer. You don't get to rewrite the facts. Discrimination is an American institution. I was almost entirely sure of it living in CT so that I joined the USMC after I saw how much better historically black veterans were treated and you know what? That was the best investment I've ever made.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/126	2.381
Ann BoylenBut this study says that white ex-cons have the same chances as blacks without a conviction, it doesn't says anything about a higher education. Furthermore nearly 50 of the African American males have a conviction so obviously this will make finding a job quite hard.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/47	2.128
Ann Boylen Then show them to me. If they're so easy to find you will have no problem to link me one of those follow up studies. If you scroll up you see that I linked to every controversial point a source, this is a standard I also apply to you.Furthermore being a convict or not has nothing to do with having less ability, it just means that they served some time in jail. One can has a college degree, go to jail and still will get the job instead of a black without college education.	Black, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black	2/97	2.062
Jamie Cox Fucking ridiculous. I was ALMOST here with you and then you fucked up and tried that white supremacist falsehood "reverse racism ". Despite holding the overwhelming share of economic, political, and social power, many whites ACTUALLY have the audacity disingenuously propagate this 'reverse racism ' fuckery. You need to: 1) get in touch with EVERYDAY REALITY and 2) don't log back on until you've read a REAL anthropologically and sociologically sound history book. " Race " has a very specific historical context: the European 'Age of Conquest', when European colonists created ' race ' to justify RACIAL chattel enslavement, colonization, and imperialism in the face of being increasingly hypocritical to their "all men are created equal" Enlightenment ideals. Racism is ONLY 500 years old . It is a SYSTEM that did not exist in medieval times, antiquity, or throughout most human history - racism is NOT "natural." Ancient people NOTICED phenotypical differences but they didn't deem people to be BIOLOGICALLY and/or CULTURALLY inferior on a global scale because of their physical differences & blood ancestry. So grow up, face reality, and read a fucking book. Kay? Thanks	Old, Race, Racism	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - General	5/182	2.747

Jamie Cox	[LINK] 'Personal is Political: Dismantling Racism and White Supremacy Must Come from Within'	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667
Jamie Cox	[LINK] " Racism isn't a partisan issue. It's a White people issue." "Part of acknowledging that race has real impacts in our lives is taking responsibility for the subtle and overt ways that we may contribute to racial oppression. However, we as White folks like to simply point fingers, as it absolves us of doing the more difficult work of self-reflection.Let's be clear, though. When it comes to maintaining systems of oppression, there's been plenty of White bipartisan cooperation.School-to-prison pipeline? Bipartisan. Expansion of racist criminal industrial complex?Bipartisan. Structuring of wealth to flow toward wealthy White people and away from everyone else? Bipartisan.Why is this? Well, politics in the United States, whether advanced by Republicans or Democrats, have by and large created, reinforced, and entrenched White supremacy in our systems.Thus, racism is a White people problem, not a partisan problem. Until we as White people understand our own investment in ending racial oppression, there will be plenty of people all across the political spectrum who will say and do racist things and, more dangerously, pass racist policies."	Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	6/181	3.315
Jamie Cox	From Colorlines.com 'The White Conversation on Race ': 'For white people who're trying to understand why their reactions to race conversations are so fraught, DiAngelo's concept of 'WHITE FRAGILITY,' is one way to get there. Although coined in a 2011 journal article, the term came into popular use this July in Seattle to describe WHITES' INABILITY to bear EVEN CIVIL CRITICISM of a production featuring Japanese characters played by an all-white cast.' [LINK]	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/74	1.351
Jamie Cox	Instead of FIXATING on non-white people's REACTIONS to the brutal white supremacy you BENEFIT from, YOU need to FIX state-sanctioned white supremacy in the United States.THAT is your job. That is the ONLY position YOU have to play when it comes to white supremacy: stopping it. Period. It is NOT your job or place to EVER tell Black people HOW to feel about or handle white supremacy. EVER. Never ever in a million fucking years will it be your place. You need STFU about what black people are doing and deal with racism . NOW. The fact that you even have the sheer GALL to tell people of African descent how WE should handle racial oppression YOU benefit from is a clear sign of egomaniacal racism and a false white superiority complex. Check yourself, egomaniac. You are NOT superior OR "more objective" just because you are white. Period.	African, Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/149	3.356

veronicajade20 when have i ever told anyone who's black what to do? I can handle a person being mad at me, but at least tell me what it was i said that's made you so mad. And where is this reverse racism talk coming from?	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/45	4.444
Nkenge Ragan GIRL!!! I loved EVERYTHING you had to say here! Everything! The human brain has the HARDWARE for empathy and ethics but the SOFTWARE comes from cultural socialization. White people - PARTICULARLY white Americans - are socialized to be SOCIOPATHS. Sociopaths seem charismatic and lifelike on the outside in order to mask an INNER DEADNESS. It's been shown that even BLACK CHILDREN are less likely to get pain meds in ER than white children in similar medical situations. [LINK] So thank you for calling these white lunkheads out their on abstract, theoretical "debate" about the white supremacy that is posing an immediate, everyday, LEGALLY SANCTIONED threat to our very lives. It's something disturbing and disgusting that I notice whites tend to do. They NEED to stop FIXATING Black people and FIX their fucked up selves. Period.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/137	1.46
Nkenge Ragan Oh and I don't think they believe that ANYONE but whites have the right to self-defense on ANY level - which of course goes back to racial slavery. In 1723 they made it illegal for all African -Americans to defend themselves or testify against their attackers in a court of law. This essentially legalized the rape of ANY African American woman by ANY white male at ANY time. And if any African American males tried to defend her? Instant death. Basically the right to ANY kind of self defense - verbal or otherwise - or even the basic human right self-preservation in the face of being attacked is denied to all POC. ESPECIALLY people of African descent.	African, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Gender - General	4/118	3.39
Jamie Cox You to Nkenge Ragan : "sounds like reverse racism to me! To imply that all whites are evil is just as ignorant as whites implying that all blacks are thugs and every other derogatory name that some whites throws at blacks! The statements that you are making towards me are not those of a beautiful or smart black woman , but instead of an ignorant woman !..It's you who make it about race and therefore, you are a racist !"	Black, Race, Racism, Racist, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	6/79	7.595

veronicajade20 i don't believe nor have i ever said that all whites or blacks are evil! That is one post that you will never find me saying. I do however spend most of my time trying to educate racist or racially bias whites on the written biases that have been written into the very constitution that so many whites believe in.Did you happen to read any of her post to me? She called me names, spoke ill of my black wife and mixed kids. I told her that she is not my enemy, and i even apologized to her for saying something that upset her and that was not my intention. She continued to make it about race and attack me verbally. The worst thing i said to her is what you just re posted back to me.She took ONE post of mine that i said after reading an article on violence in black teenagers being out of control, but i also said in another post to him in another forum that white teenagers were just as out of control, but the media never covers that! Why was it ok for her to imply that i was a racist or reverse racism, but because she kept making it about race when i wasn't, makes me the racist for calling her racist rants at me "racist"! If you haven't, please read her post to me? You may not believe me and that's your right, but if the day ever comes when i have to choose sides? I would much rather die fighting on the side of the oppressed than the side of the oppressors! I will man up and say it again. I'm sorry if i said something to offend to you or NKENGE!	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	10/295	3.39
--	-----------------------------	---	--------	------

veronicajade20Oh boy, I never read so much nonsense and going down with all your shitty sources (literally feminist propaganda sides, that's like looking up information about jews on a nazi website) will exhausting but here we go:Indeed race is a rather new term (relatively speaking) however, as you said people were distinguishing others simply by phenotype and prejudice did exist then as it did today (more probably if you think of all the pogroms).Furthermore they did indeed view others as culturally inferior, let me quote the roman Frontious: "Will anybody compare the Pyramids, or those useless though renowned works of the Greeks, with these aqueducts?"Also there is no such thing as "reserve racism" because its simple racism. Blacks can be equally as racist as whites.Oh boy, the first link is literally hate speech and basically only says:"End the rule of the majority". Sorry but that's fascism.Next link: Whites are root of all evil and minorities have no faults even though Asians also got racial discriminated and they dominate colleges while blacks somehow fell behind. Also doesn't take into account that blacks commit more crimes so its their own fault if they land in jail. The majority of the wealth is in the hand of whites because , oh gosh, they are the majority with 70+ people. According to that logic Nigeria has black supremacy and china has Asian supremacy. Again: The power and wealth must be concentrated in the majority, this is democracy.Next link: "Inability of whites to bear even civil criticism". The racism I have to read from this so called "feminist" and "black nationalist" fascists is astounding. Basically all their arguments are taken out of context/ignore self made problems. There never was a civil intercourse of arguments but rather wild conspiracy theories.Brutal rule of white supremacy? You mean living as minority in a white country? Oh boy, how out of touch can you guys(or girls) be? Minorities in the US, Canda and Europe have the best living conditions in the world. Minorities in other countries get oppressed and killed by their own governments.When it isn't my job how to wrong they are than why should it be my job to listen to them?Yada, yada more racism. Generalizing a whole nation as sociopaths.. I call Poe's law. This must be satire. It simple must be.	Black, Nation, Nazi, Race, Racism, Racist	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	10/396	2.525
Jamie Cox Read ALLL of the links I posted to you. Especially the one about white conversations on race and white fragility. Thanks.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/23	4.348

veronicajade20 my white grandfather had his very life threatened by whites because he hired blacks in positions that whites usually held back in the 50's &amp; 60's. Whites burned his business down to the ground for supporting blacks and he rebuilt the same building and 9 months later, was back in business! My grandfather knew and supported certain people in the Bpp ( black panther party ). When i say supported, i mean supported financially when needed.My grandfather was a GOOD man who taught me long ago that, when God comes back, will i say i stood on the side of blood/race or ethnicity, or did i stand on the side of the oppressed and those treated as unequal?I've been self employed for almost 20 years now, and i do very well! Not as a white man, even though i understand white privilege, but as a hard working man who treats his employees as business investments. If i put quality into them, then i get the same back! My highest paid employee is a black gentleman who's been with me for 15 years and some of my white employees don't like it, but i see quality, not race or color!Good goy and i were having a debate about race and violence in black youths, and of all the debates and topics and discussions, Nkenge verbally attacked me for that one post! When i tried to explain to her what i meant in a respectful way, she verbally attacked me. When i told her i support blacks in this system of internalized bias of racial/racist inequality, she verbally attacked me more with what some would call racist aggression. It was white devil this and white supremacist that. I told her my wife was black and my kids are mixed and she still she verbally attacked me and my family!So when i told her she wasn't acting like a beautiful black woman, she wasn't! Instead it was her that verbally threw racial innuendos at me. So i told her she was a racist, because it was her that made it about race, not me!I'm called N—R lover by some whites and i get verbally attacked by blacks at times when i speak the truth about black crime at times, just like i get verbally attacked for speaking the truth about white crime at times. Nkenge took what i said TOTALLY out of context and so here we are.White fragility i understand, but "white fragility" is a mold that not all whites fit! I consider myself the opposite of white fragility! I am not your enemy and just because we don't always agree as people of different ethnic backgrounds, doesn't make us foes !	Black, Ethnic, Ethnicity, Race, Racist, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	14/457	3.063
--	---	--	--------	-------

veronicajade20 yes i read or glanced over them. Some of made perfect sense and other aspects of some the articles seemed to put all white people on the same plateau of unrecognized white privilege, internalized racism or racial biases and other biases or privileges just based on the color of skin.I'm well aware that there are empirical biases or benefits built right into the constitution that most whites are even aware of or give any thought to. I don't just stand by idle whenever i witness an outward expression of racism from whites. I ALWAYS speak up! If you're implying that i start a group to educate whites on racism and how to better understand racism from a white perspective, thus treating and respecting minorities on an equal playing field in all aspects of life? I'm working on that.I'm also very aware of the differences between prejudice, racial and racist . But i will also say this isn't a one way street. We can only change this systematic problem together. I don't mean to preach, but this isn't just about color! The devil has had his hand in this mess from day one! We don't wrestle against flesh and blood, but against principalities and spiritual wickedness and so on. Just like a demon can possess a host, the devil can influence a race and use that race to break the very promise of freedom, hope, peace, power and equality that God has for his people. But only for a season!The devils season is drawing nigh, and All men and women will know one day that the color of ones skin was just a distraction to keep us from the true realization, the character of our hearts is the true measure of power, love, compassion and equality!	Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	7/298	2.349
veronicajade20 Your entire ideology is based on racial hatred and emotions. Bullying and guilt tripping are the tools of your twisted minds. Your racist arguments cannot stand in any debate which is why your tactic is to simply yell louder than everybody else.You're a disgusting human being.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/48	2.083

veronicajade20 I can tell that you are an educated person VERONICA, but sending me links about white fragility and white privilege is not going to fix the problem in America! Trying to get white people to somehow realize that they are the only problem in this equation is in itself, is a form of racial bias. We can all be racial, prejudice and racist as those words describe the outlook, the reason or purpose and the content of ones heart.I know you will disagree with me, but i realize that color, race and or ethnicity are in the picture, but the true impetus in this argument is about money, power, control and moral darkness that ALL have fallen prey to! If you want to change this country and how it functions and flows racially, morally and systematically? Then i say get in line because the devil is way ahead in the hearts, minds and the very infrastructure of this nation and of those in positions of power and control! The devil is orchestrator or author of confusion, and master of deception. The point im trying to make, is that you have to change a persons heart before real change will come to any color of people. Educating people about racial anything without addressing the the real problem, will be a frustrating journey! The real problem is that if God is not our true focus, then we will become lovers of everything BUT God!	Ethnicity, Nation, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	4/244	1.639
Jamie Cox Because racism is only racism if a white person says so. Right? ::Eyeroll:: I don't care how 'well meaning' a white liberal you THINK you are, your behavior is racist and based in a false and unfounded sense of white supremacy. If you have not experienced what it is like to be African in a white supremacist culture then surely they are not qualified to define what that means.You don't get to dictate what is or is not racist . It is SOCIOPATHIC for you to fixate on the RIGHTEOUSLY ANGRY reactions of the people targeted and perpetually racially oppressed and dehumanized by this white supremacy system that YOU DIRECTLY BENEFIT from, instead of concentrating on eradicating the system in the first place.	African, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/124	4.032
Jamie Cox 'White Fragility': Your behavior is blatantly white supremacist/racist and extremely arrogant. Deal with it. Read this article on white fragility over and over again until you get it. [LINK] "Reverse racism " against whites does not exist in ANY reality. Prejudice can exist in all of us, but prejudice employed as a governing structure is something different.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/58	1.724
veronicajade20How comes that you can dictate what racist is and what not?Can a European that lives in south Africa who has to suffer from African supremacy dictate what racism is?	African, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/32	9.375

veronicajade20 Well Veronica, you're entitled to your opinion no matter how well you write or articulate it? I've now been called a racist by nkenge and now you, because i don't share all of your ideologies of white privilege and fallacy. You pick articles that tell partial truths as if their biblical and then try shoving them the throats of those, ie "whites" who don't agree with you or your articles .You continually use ad hominem and misandrist arguments against me for calling someone out on their racial rants against me, because i called her what she was calling me, "a racist"! Whites, blacks greens and yellows can be instruments of racist or racial benighted statements! And because some whites on these post are the true clear racist... using derogatory names and racial statements against blacks as a whole, but you would much rather verbally attack me with ad hominem arguments, because i called someone a racist who continually called me a racist plus a whole slew of other derogatory statements? I'm not trying to fight your battles for you, but when i see "white people" using racial hatemongering to spread what i would call ignorant racist rants... then i will speak out against that!Call me what you will, but i am not your enemy! But nor will i just sit back and allow you to attack my character based on what your perception of "white people or white privilege " may be. I stand my ground in a respectful way and I'm a racist? You try to educate me on whites privilege as if you fully know what it like be and live as a white person! You make broad based statements and arguments about whites as if the whole white population is somehow the only problem in this equation? I may not know what it feels like to be black and live as a black person, because God didn't make me black! If i fully agree with you, then I'm on the right team...but the moment i say anything about black behavior, I'm a racist?You call me or my behavior sociopathic? I give on average $50,000 annually to non profit organizations aimed at helping inner city kids with various career opportunities for their upcoming employment future and pre-college education. I've been big brother to black kids for last 10 years and I've helped put two of them through college because government grants wouldn't cover all their academic choices. I do various and other things to help blacks and other minorities groups or organizations, but that's not the issue here! I guess i must be a complete sociopath for at least trying and understand and help those who are less fortunate than i!But i guess you will find some way to belittle those efforts on my behalf and make that about race or some other underlying agenda that i supposedly have? It can never be a about a white person who genuinely cares about any other race, but ones self?Please do not contact me anymore as i no longer wish to correspond with you! This is one white person that won't fit in your bigoted box! Please take your ad hominem and benighted arguments elsewhere!	Black, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	16/541	2.957
--	---------------------	---	--------	-------

Jamie Cox "I'm not racist . I just grew up in a white supremacist culture, learned white supremacist things, and think white supremacist thoughts. It's how I grew up so I refuse to take responsibility for myself and the racist things I say and do to other people.' - You	Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/49	4.082
I think being called a racist is worse than ACTUALLY experiencing racism ! I'm a goddamned sociopath!" - You...Look, get a fucking grip. You've been called a racist by MORE than one black person. It doesn't have to be a permanent state of being. Instead of being in denial and whining about it, do something productive and address it. Good god. It's about whites being more cognizant of the things they do and say in this VERY racist society, so that racial disparities, relations, and TRUST can ACTUALLY be improved for REAL in this country—instead of just improving the fake, flimsy, and fraudulent image of white American racial progress.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/108	4.63
Jamie Cox "I'm a white person™ I think I know about racism cause my ancestors invented it." - You	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/19	5.263
Jamie Cox Not only were blacks and others not able to get jobs and such, but even when they did, the lynch would come along, just like you said. If a black man had something worth a lot of money, it's very likely a white would say, "Give that to me." If the black refused, they would be lynched and the white would get the stuff. If they handed it over, they would lose everything...	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/75	2.667
Cruz Nunez The story of " Black Wall street" in Tulsa, Oklahoma 1921 is a great example of that!	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/18	5.556
veronicajade20 >And what is it with you and your SICK obsession with Black people? You've been at it for MONTHS, creep.Months? Really? Writing a comment takes a few minutes at most. Less when writing one to you since you don't like to use any factual evidence which means I don't have to recherche/fact-check.>I'm DISGUSTED at how you dumb and childish whites are quick to quote things at Black people that always seem to apply to you. Projecting much? Lol.This makes absolutely no sense. What should I do? Not point out contradictions and lies propagated by the likes of you?>you white sociopaths need to grow up and just DEAL with your racism ,Contradictions like this. Oh wait, I forgot, blacks can't be racist - you're a joke.	Black, Dumb, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	5/130	3.846

veronicajade20 >DELUDED WHITE SUPREMACISTSadly reality is a "white supremacy" since nearly everything you use and learn is thanks to "white" culture - and no, the Egyptians were not black , neither were the Phoenicians and Semites.>Who the fuck told you that YOUR racist white ass should be seen as an "objective" source of information about ANYTHINGYou could have just asked for my source. (Its the official FBI statistic by the way)>let alone a system of oppression you DIRECTLY benefit fromYeah, I have to pay for your welfare - clearly I'm benefiting and not you. Also as a black woman (which I sincerely hope you are) you also get into college much easier than me. Nice system of oppression we whites got here.>If EMPIRICAL REALITYMy "empirical reality" clearly contradicts your "empirical reality". Who of us is right now?	Black, Racist, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	4/143	2.797
veronicajade20 >can't survive without USWhy tho?>We've done it BEFOREYeah, and look how african history turned out. The punching bag of middle every eastern/European civilization.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/27	3.704
veronicajade20 >I think I know about racism cause my ancestors invented itKek, even if that was true it would mean I do know more about then you.>let me tell you how you should handle the oppression brutally forced onto youYes, this "oppression" is so brutal. Welfare and affirmative action are killing your people : ).>white privilegeDoesn't exist - there is zero proof for that.>I just want to explain why they're invalidBingo. You need it since your IQ is in the double digits.	Racism, Zero	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	2/88	2.273 veronicajade20I'm a black person™ I never invented anything.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/9	11.111
veronicajade20 I'm a black person™ I've never worked a day in my life. Literally.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/14	7.143
veronicajade20 I'm a black person™, despite belonging to the oldest culture around I never developed a written language on my own nor did I invent anything significant. I have no military accomplishments and constantly lose battles even though my own forces outnumbers the enemy 34:1. [LINK]	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/46	2.174
veronicajade20 I'm a black person™ due to the lack of a written language most of my history is unknown since no one bothered to actually write it down.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/28	3.571
veronicajade20 I'm a black person™ despite protesting constantly that black lives matter they actually mean nothing to me. Despite being a minority with 38 million people we abort 350.000 each year or 13 million in the last 30 years. I get angry when a cop shots a black when he attacks the police but I don't care a bit that every year over 6000 blacks die due to black on black violence.	Black, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black	6/72	8.333

veronicajade20 Wait, are you trying to say that people from the middle east are black ? Race isn't skin deep and there more differences than just facial structure. People from the middle east are not white but they are Caucasian and so are most north Africans. Blacks, as we understand them, are sub-Saharan.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/52	3.846
veronicajade20 Black woman kills 12 yo white boy with blow torch [LINK]	Black, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Gender - General	2/12	16.667
veronicajade20 >Name one thing that Black people - as a GROUP - have stopped whites - as a GROUP from doing that they HAD A RIGHT TO DO?Blacks never were in a position where they could really project force onto others. However, Africans fought for their right to have slaves against Britain so its safe to assume how blacks would have handled other races.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/65	1.538
veronicajade20Can you show me a race that didn't murder and enslave others?>the Europeans weren't smartest or brightestHow do you explain the progress of Europe then? Why did sub-Saharan Africans never develop anything that matters?>remember, the non-white psychos TODAY had the finest teachers in anti-human psychopathy for HUNDREDS of years: the Europeans!Actually the Europeans more or less pacified Africa. Sure their methods were cruel but just look at south Africa - during the Apartheid it was a first world country and literally had no crime but today? Rape and murder capital of the world.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/98	1.02
veronicajade20then please enlighten me about the hutu and tutsi genocide? Red terror in Ethiopia? Nigerian civil war? The list of genocides of Africans by the hand of Africans is higher than what whites did.	Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	2/35	5.714
veronicajade20But many of the African genocides happened before the whites came.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/12	8.333
veronicajade20tfw no black nationalist gf you can bully into submission.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/11	9.091
veronicajade20 black spammers matter.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/4	25.0
Racism in the US today is NOT institutionalized.if a minority suffers any "oppression" its 100 self imposed	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/18	5.556

Racism is a excuse for failures of the black community. If you cant be racist neither can I common logic. Thank you come again. Idgaf about your struggles i have my own struggles like I care about 200 years ago pft slavery is thriving in Africa and you cry babies are living in the past smh	Black, Common, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	4/56	7.143
In which John Green talks about racism in the United States.The playlist: [LINK] If you have suggestions for additions, let me know!	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/23	4.348
With your statement, forgive my paraphrasing, "to deny systemic racism exists is to deny a lot of evidence," that's something people are really good at in all regards. Take for example, the anti-vaccine movements, or he'll just the anti-science movement. People believe something blindly and then deny all evidence to the contrary sometimes with an unprecedented fervour. And normally, when you say that, people agree it's not a good thing and leads to problems, like denying massive problems exist and therefore doing nothing about it. Until you say that's what faith is.Honestly, my personal belief (and I would love to be shown I'm wrong because I don't like it) is that people will deny systemic racism in America because they have faith that it isn't happening and that leads to a lack of solutions to the problem. Humans are weird .	Nothing, Racism, Weird	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/141	2.837
Nikky Jay"Humans are weird " Is one of the most clear and knowable things about us. :)	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/17	5.882

Nikky Jay I think you're completely right that people, specifically Americans in this case, will deny systematic racism . But it probably isn't due to the fact that we hear a celebrity or a politician say it, but because we hear it said. See, many, many Americans simply do not want to see that our nation is screwed up in different ways. It is not because we are a stubborn people, but because believe it or not, some people pride themselves in being American. I know I do (at least in some historical aspects). But the problem is and always will be that people will not want to lose their pride in the process of saying "there is a serious problem", and as powerful people begin to say it, such as politicians, the public that entrusts their power into them takes their side because they already believe it themselves. I mean, there is a reason why these politicians are elected, because they represent the people voting for him/her. And to add to what Joe Betsill said, they begin to quote politicians and say that it is fact. This is because we think so highly of politicians and (being the devil's advocate here) if they're smart enough to lead us, they're smart enough to state "facts". This can all fall into the category of: The Rise of American Ignorance, but like John stated "only got four minutes..." (I kind of don't want to write an essay).	Nation, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	2/244	0.82
+Kevin Cliffe I see where you're coming from. I do and I do agree with you. I still believe however that faith plays some role in that. Pride is a contributing factor as well, and the politicians they will quote are the ones that confirm their beliefs. Whether the belief is religious or sociological faith, pride and biases, particularly confirmation bias, all play their role. As does ignorance. In my comment earlier I was merely trying to present blind faith as a reason some people refute evidence provided for them in issues like this and others. But you are right, there are other reasons too and pride is a factor.	Blind	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/110	0.909

Nikky Jay Our educational system teaches a false reality of what the state of the country is, especially black history month that only portrays a small fraction of the history and ends with Martin Luther King Jr, the studies that acts as if everything is over by that point and that acknowledgement of that history only calls for "a time of remembrance" and nothing more, that "everything is even now and that it won't happen again". Coupled with the blind unquestioned patriotism echoed within the system, few people are willing to acknowledge America being "less than" in any manner, take how often "America is the greatest country in the world" is parroted in media and by politicians... We've become utterly narcissistic feeding off an ego politicians and media inflates, hating when someone tells us otherwise because we loose that high given by our beliefs of being "the greatest". Were taught to unconsciously ignore the bad and instead only acknowledge the good when it comes to our opinions of America, this is further enforce by our lack of teaching of other systems from other countries that excel in fields we lack. Were purposely kept ignorant of our flaws in every medium, from schooling to television. If given a platform to speak out about the flaws, it must be within an acceptable context otherwise the media and politicians choice is to distance and attack that source with as much ferocity as can be mustered, take Martin Luther King Jr's final year when he spoke out against Vietnam and stated, a very true fact, that America is the greatest source of war and strife in the world, demonstrated through numerous records and studies of (I think) near a hundred American fueled uprisings and revolutions in the last hundred years, American backed dictators and war mongers, mass torture and killing of both criminals and civilians, invasions waged solely for oil, bombing of civilians, secrete wars, crippling of countries that won't fall inline with America's will (Cuba for 50 years for instance), ect... Most all of which is hidden from the educational system. We are taught to turn a blind eye to our flaws.I know I am greatly focusing on the educational system, there is in fact a lot more to it, but I feel it starts with children. What children are taught when they are young they grow up believing as adults, taught that racism is over and done with, that racism was slavery and segregation and nothing more, and changing this belief that people don't want to let go of is... well hard.	Black, Blind, Nothing, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	7/431	1.624
Well guys let's look at this- sentences do not tell the whole story of a case, but I will admit there is possible racial bias in the court system that had bias towards black Americans.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/35	2.857

CynicalStormPossible? Did you watch John’s video? Of course systemic doesn’t mean racism is enshrined in the rules of law (or whatever), but that some people treat other people unfairly regardless of the rules.Such inequalities are tearing at the seems of any nation experiencing them, because it undermines the existence of a good and just society.	Nation, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	2/57	3.509
projenna I don’t understand why you’re saying cultural bias doesn’t equal racial bias, when racism is as American as apple pie and baseball. Culture is just a word that describes what a specific group does. When racism is part of that, the culture is racist .	Apple, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	4/45	8.889
projenna There are so many things wrong with what you just said. 1. You create what is essentially the mother of all false equivalencies by insinuating that linking racial bias to issues faced by minorities in society is the same as saying that the Barbary pirates vanishing caused climate change. Not only is that a feeble attempt to discredit a huge body of statistical as well as empirical evidence, but it doesn’t even make logical sense. The fact of the matter is simply that there are hundreds of examples of racial bias negatively impacting minorities and hundreds of years of undeniable racism in this nation and in others. There is only one point of very weak correlation between the barbary pirates and climate change. To say that the two are equivalent in terms of the correlation causation debate is intellectually disingenuous. 2. You assume that the barbary pirates vanished in a vacuum, uninfluenced by other factors. The truth of the matter is that the conditions which caused the barbary states to fall are directly related to climate change. If the western world hadn’t industrialized, increased production, and developed new technologies then the pirates would have been around for much longer. The huge British navy, made possible by the industrial revolution, was essentially what led to the end of the age of piracy. In that knowledge, only a fool would suggest that the industrial revolution hasn’t contributed significantly to climate change. So no, the fall of the barbary states probably didn’t cause climate change, but the conditions in the world at that era in history definitely led to an increase in global temperatures. 3. If you insist on the argument that racial bias doesn’t play a factor in the huge RACIAL disparities we see in so many areas then please tell me, what could be causing it? And no, cultural bias is not a viable alternative reason, they are intrinsically linked at the very, very least. Even if they are not 100 equivalent (which i have yet to see a reason for), they are undeniably linked.	Age, Nation, Racism	Age - General, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	3/345	0.87

projenna You didn't read mine either. Racism is in American culture, so cultural bias includes racial bias.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/17	5.882
projenna i'm white and i will say this, whilst i do understand your point and angle, it is without question a mute point and or argument. As we all live under the same rules, laws and or legal regulations, but somehow the race with 38,000,000 people are incarcerate 3-10x more than the race with 198,000,000 for the same crimes and sentencing guidelines! The very fact the stats say or show that blacks have up to a 20 longer jail or prison sentence for the same crime is evidence in itself. Up until 2-3 years ago you couldn't convince most whites that cops were racially profiling blacks. But after the new york stop and frisk laws stats came out. It was all too clear who was being targeted. Blacks and or minorities were stopped and frisked at a jaw dropping 87 minority to a 13 white ratio! Then you look at the elicited drug use numbers which suggest that whites use drugs more than blacks, but blacks are arrested 8-10 more than whites for drug use. There's Nothing cultural about it! It's racial, plain and simply! You saying this is cultural, is almost as bad as saying slavery was an option for blacks. Now slavery was cultural, because it was part of the whites culture. Some whites trying to explain the plight of blacks is like blacks trying to educate a kkk member on how to be more racist .	Nothing, Race, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	4/238	1.681
Kenneth Dawson again, i agree with you that the law is not even remotely consistent when dealing with rich, middle class, poor, blacks and or as you called it, trailer trash etc. Money speaks louder than justice or law at times and that in itself is cultural and biased! Maybe we're both saying the same thing, but from different perspectives.	Trailer trash	Ethnicity - White, Social Class - Working class	2/60	3.333

Talk purely about the social aspects of racism, not the economic aspects. It is racial bias to suggest that changes should be made to raise black people to the upper class just because the majority are in the lower class. I understand that you did not do this in your video directly, but discussion about the economic results of racism are meaningless and only encourage more racist behavior via affirmative action programs that favor particular races. One could argue that it is to counter social racism, but in reality, there will always be social disputes among people, and trying to fix that one social issue by economic means is just hiding the problem and probably making it worse. Any such efforts should be made for all people in those situations, rather than due to race (such as to help the lower class, rather than to blacks). Of course racism exists on a social level, but don't talk about economic equality, just social equality. Even though the US was left in a heterogeneous state with more blacks in the lower class, that doesn't mean that black people are more entitled to resources to leave poverty, since race should be irrelevant. Anybody that isn't racist shouldn't feel that there is an issue with that, because whether you are born into one family or another doesn't make a difference, and it can only be unfortunate that somebody was born into poverty economically, not that they were born into a minority family. One thing that is an issue though is what happens in our social lives, which is where racism takes effect and has been causing issues, including the economic issues. So don't detract from the issue by discussing economic statistics, talk about how social disparity and stereotypes effect us, which is the real problem. Also, I admit I am picking on you, since you didn't really push that point enormously, but I want to emphasize this.	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	11/323	3.406
you cannot cut racism into little cubes of social, economic or anything else. It is all connected and of a piece. Why is one reason more blacks are convicted crimes than whites? Because they can't afford good lawyers and get shoddy representation. The cops know this and so do the prosecutors so blacks get arrested more often and brought to trial more often to make their crime fighting record shine. It is all inter related irregardless of what you think.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/80	1.25

Ricochet Babalon I'm Australian so I wouldn't know about the American education system but, from what I understand, what you've told me might also tie in with biases, prejudices, beliefs and faith, as does all education really. Those who believe there is no systemic racism in America might, as you've said, learn it through the education system and then confirmation and cognitive (and other) biases take over from there, and they (deniers of systemic racism) subconsciously look for facts or statements or evidence that confirm the beliefs the person already holds. That's fine, we all do that constantly, like all the time, some of us are just a bit more aware of it than others for various reasons. You went on to mention that people get quite upset when they're shown or told that what they believe isn't true. From that one can infer that those who get upset about being shown this will often deny the evidence and that, I'm sorry, is what faith is. It is the "denial of observation so that belief can be preserved." The education system probably plays a big role (I'm definitely assuming here because I need to research it to have an opinion). But what I've gathered from the research I've already done is that all of these factors come into to play in the form of biases, prejudices and the denial of evidence that says those very established biases and prejudices are wrong (faith).	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/242	0.826
Ricochet Babalon I really do think that this entire problem of denying systemic racism anywhere, not just in America, comes down to the fact that people don't want to believe it's happening, despite the evidence to the contrary, because then we, as a society will have to do something about it. I personally believe that education, religion and other influences create and confirm certain biases and faiths that make people blind to the truth. That is why I believe people deny systemic racism, not just in American but other parts of the world as well. Hell, not even just racism but inequality in general really. Again this is my personal belief and it doesn't really matter why it happens, it just matters that we're somehow able to stop it, and try to make people a little less ignorant to things like this so we can start fixing it. How? I don't know, but we might just find a way.	Blind, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/159	2.516

First, it's only racist if you're white. Because everyone knows being white makes you an immediate scapegoat. Second, you are in denial if you think you can alter human nature. Humans will always be racist , if not racist some other prejudice. Its human nature to adopt an us vs them attitude. That being said, I think this data is cherry picked. For instance, minorities tend to live in shitty areas so there is a greater police presence er go more terry stops that result in criminal charges. Police will also be more stringent in their duties because of greater criminal presence. Also, these areas also tend to collect less in taxes for schools due to poverty rates and public housing assistance, so some unnecessary courses go untaught.I am not denying that there isn't discrimination, but I think I must have missed the part when it became a crime to be a white male.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/154	1.948
St0ttZy I would argue that "minorities tend to live in shitty areas" is a race issue in itself... if black and hispanic people are less likely to get a good education (and even with the same qualifications and experience as a white person, still less likely to get the job) then how will the situation change?It's not a crime to be a white male (or female) but the numbers suggest you're more likely to be convicted of a crime (with less evidence) and punished more severely as a black male, and it wouldn't be "punishing" white people to fix that disparity.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/102	2.941
Tom Black They live in shitty areas because THEY trash the area they live in. They aren't working so what the fuck is stopping them from cutting their lawns or picking up their trash just like working class whites do every fucking day. Don't give me your absolute bullshit.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/49	2.041

Nuckelhedd Jones dude i can't even deny that what you just said doesn't has some truth to it because it does! Keep in in mind, i already said your statement has truth in it. But here is the other part of the equation? A lot of blacks don't have the money all the time like a lot of whites do to pay for fertilizers and lawn care services to keep their yards looking good all the time. I guess when you have more dirt than grass and more weeds growing than grass why cut the grass!Also look at home as well? If the house isn't kept up, its a good chance the yard won't be either. But again, it takes money to fix that leaky roof, that faded paint and cracking sidewalk leading up to the house.Also a lot and i mean a lot of homes in black communities are also owned by slum lords who don't give two shits about the house or the yards.Again, your point is valid as i have pondered the same thing! Here's a closing fact! Whites that are poor or live in poor communities have the same problem with their yards as blacks. It takes money to keep up the appearance of a house and yard.Suburban homes have money and own their properties, whilst blacks don't always have the money and quite often don't own the homes they live in. The blacks that typically do own their own homes and make good money, their yards are well kept.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/258	0.388
Great job Hank.This is one of the best YouTube videos I have seen on the subject of race . I love the focused push-back against the current trend of seeking race -neutral explanations to downplay the pervasiveness of racism . I saw this even amongst educated liberal minded peers in law school. Nothing devious about their motivations as almost all Americans are on board with the basic premise of eradicating racism . But we've gotten a little too caught up in our desire for race -neutral explanations that can more easily be resolved.	Nothing, Race, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	4/88	4.545
I agree. It seems to me that we whites are showing our true colors. Whenever racism is discussed either historically or in the present, the white screams of 'bigotry' ring out. What a bunch of candy asses. They are frightened out of their wits by the notion that people of other races might really gain equal social and economic rights. They perhaps know that they can't compete without the white man's cushion.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/72	1.389

Drache222222 This article should address points regarding Asians [LINK] A quote: Asian success in the U.S. relative to others is largely due to immigration policies that favor immigrants with pre-existing skills and education. As the Glass Ceiling Commission discovered in 1995, between two-thirds and three-quarters of the highly educated APA [Asian Pacific American] community already had college degrees before coming to the U.S., or were in college upon arrival. Thanks to preferences for educated immigrants, APAs are two-thirds more likely than whites and three times more likely than blacks to have a college degree. More than 8 in 10 Indian immigrants from 1966-1977 had advanced degrees and training in such areas as science, medicine or engineering.	Indian	Ethnicity - Native-American	1/116	0.862
Drache222222 Acknowledging the largest majority of racial prejudice in the US-Systematic racism towards Blacks is not meant to alienate other people who feel the brunt of racial prejudice. Yet the prejudices that white people feel, are NOT systematic and at worst result in hurt feelings. And people who complain about affirmative action need to educate themselves,these days, even colleges who claim to implicate AA really don't, and you can see that in the race ratios at top colleges and universities-people will use anything as an excuse for their own failure. Nothing is stopping anyone from getting into a college if their resume is up to par, except maybe, being asshole enough to say because someone is black they did not truly earn their spot and stole it from you.	Black, Nothing, Race, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/129	3.101
I appreciated the perspective of theJanitor's video, but did not appreciate his backdrop. As a woman , right now, I am reminded how lucky I am not to be targeted for police violence. However, there is a form of violence I am very likely to encounter: sexual violence, which is closely tied to sexual objectification of women. I wonder how much he has considered the fact that the only photographic representation of a woman on his set is so sexualized. I would love for all of us who face violence and discrimination to be aware of and respectful to each other, and find common ground, and work together on our shared goals. I even watched his "sexualization/objectification" video in hopes that he would have put some thought into the imagery. Unfortunately, that image simply hangs there, conflicting with his statement that "just because women are fun to look at does not mean that they exist to be looked at."	Common, Sexual, Woman	Gender - General, Social Class - Working class	5/158	3.165
Chris VaxevanisI'm not racist , but when vetting job applications I assume that a person's job performance will be strongly negatively correlated with the amount of melanin in their epidermis.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/30	3.333

991woot119I wrote that women are more likely to experience sexual assault than be shot by police. Thank you for reminding us that men can be victims of sexual violence as well, and that rates of sexual assault in prisons are horrifying. However, less than 1 of the US population is incarcerated. Even if they were all male, and all raped, they would represent a small fraction of the 16-20 of women who experience sexual assault, so women do make up the vast majority of rape victims. That said, every form of violence is despicable, whether it affects one person or one million.	Sexual	Gender - General	4/103	3.883
Nerdy Dragon 20 of women facing some kind of sexual assault (while very bad) does not mean that more than 1 are raped.	Sexual	Gender - General	1/23	4.348
Ell3m3nta1 There is no racism against black people in the US, it is just an excuse for failing.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/18	11.111
Drache222222 The job application thing does happen in real life; the experiment was just a way of measuring it. As to your counter-example, there certainly are places where affirmative action gives a minority applicant the advantage against a white person with equal credentials, and I agree that affirmative action is a questionable policy. But I also recognize that there are existing, often subtle, difficulties faced on average more often by minorities that outweigh any advantages they get from affirmative action. If you could choose whether to be born into a random white family or a random black family in the US, you'll have less stress in life by choosing the white family.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/112	0.893

SilentBudgie you are 3389 right in your statement.I didn't want to say this earlier but i think there's something everyone is missing here: it's not even just in America where this is all true. Yes, it's one of the few places with systemic racism , and it's more obvious in America, but there are many places with racism . Also, in Australia, if you're white and you walk down the wrong street in some bad areas you're spat on and verbally abused for being white. In places like Darwin you're more likely to be victimized for being white than black . But then there are racist white Australians as well. Racism is not an American problem. It is not a black problem. It is not a white problem. It is not an Asian, American-Indian, African , Arabian, etc problem. It is a human problem. Everyone is affected. (Although, if you are white, you're much less likely to be subjected to it, and far more privileged.) I do recognize that but I still see and have experienced racism against white people. Racism is not a problem for certain groups, it's a problem for everyone because we still /see people as certain groups. We are not. We're all fucking human. That's all there should be to it. But, of course, there's so much more and it is a complex issue. We still need to fix it.	African, Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	9/231	3.896
Nerdy Dragon Sexual assault and rape are different. And due to a long-standing definition, rape statistics are skewed away from males. And even with that, they are still raped more.I just find that absolutely astounding.Nikky Jay I feel like 'systemic racism ' is a bad term, since it implies that there's a system set up for it. In America, it's just underlying racism giving most races a disadvantage (I say that due to the pay gap between Asian males and white males). There isn't a law that requires employers to call back to black individuals less often. Hell, there are systemic countermeasures. The problem is an underlying one which is extremely hard, if not impossible, to remove completely.	Black, Racism, Sexual	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	3/119	2.521

Hey John. I am actually an economist that studies discrimination. While I tend to specialize in gender discrimination, I will tell you about a common criticism of that Chicago paper you cited (and a little background to make it easier to digest). Ethnically "black" names are not only signals of race but also a signal of cultural background and class. It is unclear whether the discrimination observed in the Chicago study (or really most studies on the subject) is due to the sort of racism people traditionally think of. When most people talk about discrimination, they are thinking about "taste based" discrimination. These are discriminatory policies based on dislike of the group discriminated against. However, there is also the concept of statistical discrimination which I think is more complicated. If there is an overall pattern of African American applicants being less able than otherwise observably identical applicants, savvy employers will hire white employees even in cases where African American applicants are as qualified or slightly more qualified by obvious metrics. It is essentially an information problem: employers cannot directly observe the quality of an applicant so they use all possible information at hand to determine whether one applicant is better than another. This is not to imply that African Americans are in any way intrinsically "worse" than whites. Rather, it could have everything to do with these people's background. In this video, you mentioned that predominantly African American schools are less likely to carry certain classes. Even just from that, there would be a tendency for African American applicants to have a less well rounded educational background than their white counterparts even if both sorts of applicants performed equally well on their more rarefied collegiate courses. The influences of social groups and peer groups exacerbate this effect. White applicants are probably more likely to have better educated and better connected friends that both expose those individuals to new ideas but also act as an outside resource to call on in situations that fall outside the applicant's specializations. Even amongst African American applicants, "Shaniqua" is probably going to have a harder time finding a job than "Alice" since the name "Shaniqua" is associated with a certain social group and background that may also be associated with lower levels of productivity.	African, Black, Common, Gender, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General, Social Class - Working class	11/379	2.902
--	---	---	---------------	--------------

Ryushai racial bias is not " as American as apple pie" bias on race or any other factor is as old as civilization. Many of the originating social establishments used class and race to determine your status in that particular civilization. USA is a country of less than a few hundred years of age .	Age, Apple, Old, Race	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	5/54	9.259
Robert ÉivaSorry, I've let this get very off-topic, which was actually my point: it is a shame that theJanitor inadvertently alienates part of his audience. This limits the reach of his intelligent, thoughtful video about an important topic. For example, I would not share this video with a child because of the image on theJanitor's wall, though young people could certainly benefit from the vlogger's perspective. It is unimportant whether men or women raped or assaulted more - it is important to know that some types of imagery can distract people from hearing a sincere message (about race , remember... this was not actually about sex ).	Race, Sex	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	2/106	1.887
Hey John, so I just wanted to add another school of thought to this discussion more or less. While i do believe that the effects of previous generations is still slowly trickling out (i.e. African Americans largely inhabiting cities and Caucasians being more likely to inherit money) I think america is missing a very large piece to this puzzle. That piece being that america is a very vast country. very few countries rival our pure size. With distance comes difference in culture. I don't believe that is 100 black and white. Black people immediately feel the need to side with blacks and vice versa for white people. (Only after the initial information is released do you see a few jump to the other side) None the less my point is going on to say that people who live in California aren't going to experience the same culture relations as those in Ohio. Same as Florida to Maine. Arizona to Pennsylvania. Just how people talk varies from city to city. Racism won't ever not exist amongst people. We have to be tolerate of the fact that people have these views. It's the inherent risk that we live with by living in a free world. IT WILL NEVER BE A UTOPIA. I don't support racism . I view much how I view the West Brough Baptist Church (Who I am also not fans of). Do i believe the numbers in Racism can drop? Yes. However, I don't think we are at the point anymore that we can just blame people being racist as blatantly as we do. It's not out of the discussion, but I think the fingers are being pointed at the wrong reasons.It's Not All Black And White	African, Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	8/288	2.778

Nerdy Dragon Fair enough. I guess I'm finding the core discussion about racism against blacks to be kind of boring at this point. John already provided all the proof anyone should need to prove that racism is still making life hard for black people in the USA.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/47	6.383
I am saying that a a " black " name is plausibly a signal of a lower quality work. Race itself may be as well even if race is only a signal for cultural background.Separating taste based discrimination from statistical discrimination is a considerable empirical problem.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/45	6.667
Hello John, the issue with racism is huge in the U.S. and the problem is that we as humans and Americans divide our self into factions. We all need to understand that we are humand and yes we do have differences, from skin, accents, culture and the list goes on but those things makes us special. We should change the way we think about each other and assimilate as the human race but also be diverse enough to stand out.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/80	2.5
Too many old people in my opinion	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/7	14.286
And yet you assume that people who disagree with your perspective are "anti-science" and should be compared to "anti vaccine movement" people....while in truth, people who think this video is scientific or rational don't understand science or reason. This video is full of irrational claims. For starters the video tries to build an argument of racial bias by showing discrepancies in criminal sentencing, but it only give examples of cases in which black people receive worse sentences then white people, even though worse sentencing is not generally true. White people are 50 more likely to be sentenced to death then black people for identical crimes. Pretty much every example he gives he assumes is racist , but in fact there are other explanations. Most of the examples are better explained and consistent with global trends reflected not by racial bias but by income disparity.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/143	2.098
Excaliburproxy Okay, let's assume that statistically, these managers are correct in their assumption that a " black name" means a lower quality worker.It still makes it harder for a black person who is equally qualified as a white person. It makes it harder for this black person to obtain further qualifications. It makes it harder for all black people to break the stereotype that they are inferior, because they don't have the same opportunities as white people. This is systematic racism .	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/81	6.173
No.....no, no. You scenario is fine, but it shows that you don't understand what " racism " means or is. Racism is prejudice based on race , but your scenario says that the selection criteria is based on "quality".	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/36	8.333

Excaliburproxy I was very surprised to see that in thousands of comments there seems to be very few contesting the awful presentation made in this video. People are so simplistic and lame that they don't even stop to think that if "Resume" was all there is to evaluate, a simpleton with basic arithmetic skills would be enough to select winners. Any sophisticated person knows that just as important as someone's abilities on paper, is the long term emotional stability of the staff and that can only be achieved in an environment where people can create social ties. If a company has the bad luck of hiring people that have nothing in common, that have no shared interests to talk about, that can't relate to others in stuff like hobbies, weekend activities, music, sports, political views, science, what happens, is endless days where people spend most of the working day in silence, they go to work in the morning with no energy, because they perceive others to have crappy boring tastes.Before anyone gives this a bad interpretation, it's not that a white person and a black person can't share common interests, it's just that based on empirical trends and patterns, the probability of similar personality profiles, drops with different races, people from different races DON'T like the same things as often, it's just a fact. The employer cares about smooth relationships, he cares that if he needs to criticize someones mistakes, he will not be acused of being racist. Why bother to hire a problem? Why bother to hire someone that talks about race issues everyday?I thank edentulate1 and Drache222222 for their inputs too, they touch on a crucial point. "Just putting out statistics is NOT science". Science needs a structure of reasoning, just saying that white people are racist because they treat others differently, is garbage. People don't hire because they feel genuinely uncomfortable with the aggressive LOUD CULTURE.There are thousands of videos with crazy fights where 30 - 40 black people go insane and these people live in houses that actually look nice. Black Culture is a PIECE OF GARGABE, and that's what needs to change. The day when black violent crime is not 50 of total, but only 15 and when school performance is on par with others, NOT on a individual level but on a wide basis... there is the day when people can talk about "systematic" racism. If blacks continue to turn their schools into a circus, listen to rap and be violent, the good black people will continue to pay, that's how nature works. Human beings evolved to find patterns to make more efficient decisions. The efficient decision is to avoid hiring blacks BECAUSE making a person by person analysis is too costly. This is an pure investment concept. Cost/Risk vs Return. If the ENTIRE demographic group changes for the better, this problem ends, because the risk profile changes.	Black, Common, Crazy, Lame, Nothing, Race, Racism, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments, Social Class - Working class	14/487	2.875
--	--	--	---------------	--------------

Jeff MacKenzie The country was created by racist slave owners that promoted racist ideals and laws. That makes America's foundation racist , and America being racist is as American as apple pie.	Apple, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	5/31	16.129
KaMe HaMe Everything you just said was racist .	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/8	12.5
Ryushai Humanity suffered a huge blow due to slavery but the concept was embedded in mankind long before the discovery of America and slave ownership, to be quite frank, was only by the affluent. That era is receding more and more at an ever increasing rate. It WILL, in my humble opinion, recede very quickly when the black people as a whole have removed the embedded notion that they're second class citizens.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/72	1.389
Atheism101 How are black people supposed to "remove" the embedded notion that they're second class citizens when they didn't put themselves in that position? Black people already know they deserve respect, equal rights, and a reality where existing doesn't bring hate and violence from random, racist strangers.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/47	6.383
Ryushai IDK...but, you said " Black people already know they deserve respect, equal rights, and a reality where existing doesn't bring hate and violence from random, racist strangers." Now, consider 3 black guys walking beside the street, walking toward them is a white person. The white person suddenly crosses to the other side of the street...why?	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/55	5.455
Atheism101 Don't ask me why people may or may not act off of racist stereotypes. That's a problem they need to fix for themselves.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/24	4.167
Ryushai Wrong goddamned answer ace!!! The correct answer is ....the white person crossed the street because he/she was possibly approaching three VERY racist people who also PROBABLY have a chip (second class citizen chip) on their shoulder....	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/37	2.703
Atheism101 And how would a white person know all that just by looking? Mind reading isn't real. The fact that they're even screening black people like that is racist , and they even act on their racist assumptions. Meanwhile, the black people are just walking...	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/44	9.091
Ryushai Yeah, dude....stop using all this logic and say something that caters to this non racist guy's agenda. You can't expect people to carry on an intelligent debate with you when you keep poking holes in their logic (or lack thereof). Shame on you. Making solid points and rebuttals that highlight people's predetermined assumptions is just disgraceful.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/57	1.754

Ryushai Alright, Ace...now that your feathers are ruffled, here's the answer you should/need to retort with...Historically and up until present times, the media continue to broadcast daily imagery of Black men as dangerously criminal, using and dealing drugs, hypersexual, unemployable, idle and the epitome of death and doom. This is true despite the reality that white people have, and do, participate in mob and domestic violence in higher numbers, and that whites comprise more than 70 percent of drug abusers and dealers in our country.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/86	1.163
Atheism101You are right of course but the problem with debating with these people is that they deny the truth, perhaps even worse than religious people. They live sad, bitter lives with nothing to base their self esteem on but the color of their skin and are frightened to the bone at anything they think is taking this away from them. They are already doing their time in hell. I'd feel sorry for them except that I don't think they deserve even my pity.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/84	1.19
As usual, leftard John Green spews bullshit from his extremely punchable face. [LINK] Here's a blog that actually brings the facts out. Ooooh... Sorry John, leftard narrative dies when reality comes out. Try harder, tool.Self-hating whites should just oven themselves, already.	Leftard, Oven	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Religious Identity - Jewish	3/42	7.143
The Doctor Mayhem Fun Time Hour Are you purposely trying to appear illiterate or is that just who you are? Moar? Yeah, I'm done with you. I thought you were just a racist Republican, but now I know that you're stupid as well. Enjoy your day.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/46	2.174
Jamie Cox Aw, poor baby. Reality is racist , I know. It's okay. Cry more in the glass and try the cheese.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/21	4.762
St0ttZy Its no crime to be a "white male" (which covers so many ethnicities like " black male" but that's another topic) But speaking on the comment about terrible neighbourhoods/house leading to bad schools, etc. I think you nailed it. The only thing I would add is that the poor housing is a direct result of the federal government adopting/pushing laws that segregated communities into black and white in the 1950s or so.ThisAmericanLife did several episodes talking about housing laws in/around the 50s and another episode about getting housing now.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/90	2.222

Do you see the problem with that statement? "Open your mind to OUR views so that we DON'T have to open up to YOURS." That's just discrediting us before you actually think about what's being said, and that's unfair. But just to play along, answer me this: Why do you think there is no systemic racism in America?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/58	1.724
MindControlFilms some whites can't get past the media based bias machine that portrays blacks as uneducated, lazy, violent etc.Some whites feel that whenever a black person is arrested, assaulted or killed by cops, that the black person MUST have done something wrong and therefore racial/ racist profiling doesn't exist? Because again, the media paints a not so nice picture of black culture. Even though if you take ALL black crime and arrest annually, it makes up less than 6 of the 40,000,000 plus blacks in America. The media would have everyone believing it's more like 50, when that's the deception that too many whites are buying!The FBI just announced last week that not only does racial profiling exist, but they also acknowledged that a lot of police view and treat blacks more critically than whites even when no laws have been broken! You can find story after story and article after article of police coming out or being exposed racially profiling and mistreating blacks and other minorities. I think systemic racism might be the wrong question to ask, because it is next to impossible to prove. Also to a lot of blacks, racial profiling feels like racism when it's not the same thing. Black cops views blacks more critically than they do white people. Does that mean black cops are racist against their own color? No, it means that black cops view blacks more critically than whites typically. Thus racial profiling! I'm not suggesting that cops can't be racist , because i believe there many cops who are racist . But to suggest that cops are systemically racist might be a stretch? There is systematic corruption within law enforcement across this nation and minorities bare the brunt of the corruption.	Black, Nation, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	14/289	4.844
jlindsaExactly! And if you calculate the rate of calls per resume, you get 1/10 for whites and 1/15 for blacks. And if you then divide the rates you get WR/BR=(1/10)/(1/15)=1.5=150 which means that white response rate is 50 higher than black response rate, also that black rate is 33.(3) lower (NOT FUCKING 50 LIKE THE VIDEO FUCKER SAID), as black rate is two thirds of white rate, the same way 100 is two thirds of 150 (NOT HALF LIKE THE FUCKER IMPLIED).	Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/83	3.614

The Doctor Mayhem Fun Time Show They've always been classified as white because Hispanic is NOT a race . For example, David Ortiz, baseball player for the Boston Red Sox . He's Hispanic but he's black . Thus if he committed a crime he would be categorized as black male. Alex Rodriguez on the other hand, though Hispanic, he is Caucasian. Thus white male. Please grab a dictionary and look up the word Hispanic.	Black, Race, Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	5/71	7.042
The Doctor Mayhem Fun Time Show Well apparently not a good one if you don't know that Hispanic is not a race .	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/22	4.545
The Doctor Mayhem Fun Time Show what the fuck is so bad about living in a white neighborhood. I live in a neighborhood that's more than 80 white and less than 5 Black and Hispanic. To the east is the rest of the Bronx, you know the part with gangs and crime and that's probably more Black and Hispanic than my neighborhood is white. THAT is a more segregated area than my neighborhood. But of course that doesn't matter. Black and Hispanics can't be racist and only a racist would criticize someone for living in a Black and Hispanic area or take pride in living in a white neighborhood. But the exact opposite is something only a hero would say.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/120	5.0
The Banter He won't respond, bro. John Green probably gets some 10k comments per day. Also, I think you nailed it on the head about how the black community suffers from a lack of fathers and general low-trust society. I honestly think that you put fathers back in the homes of black families, and most issues would disappear within one generation. Sadly, that would require killing the welfare state that gives incentives to single momhood.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/75	2.667
The Doctor Mayhem Fun Time Show Affirmative Action is the MOST UNCONSTITUTIONAL thing ever!!!!!! It is EXTREMELY RACIST JUST LIKE THE MINORITY SCHOLARSHIPS!!!!!!	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/23	4.348
Nerdy Dragon you realize your doing 1 of all Americans for men, but 16-20 of just women for women. About 2.7 of American males are incarcerated. Sexual assault does not=rape	Sexual	Gender - General	1/30	3.333

vlogbrothers The sentencing disparity doesnt consider prior convictions, age and other variables.Its inexcusable for someone to report on these numbers without mentioning those.The only study i read that came to the conclusion that blacks faced longer sentences than white,was talking about 5 difference,and that was still before other variables like salary and whether the convict had a job or not were considered.I can link that study if anyone wants it and if i can find it.Im not going to watch the rest of the video as you showed you're completely dishonest OR too stupid to understand statistics.Pathetic.	Age	Age - General	1/97	1.031
WORKING IT! THAT'S presumptuous and political-party-ist. DISCLAIMER: I do NOT believe the following. It is just an example."At first I thought you were a negro liberal, but now I know your stupid as well.	Negro	Ethnicity - Black	1/35	2.857
+vegaskidd you do understand that West Indians, and Island African people ARE Black in America right? there can be many cultural and socioeconomic factors to differences with the African American population but overall it's important to note that Jamaicans (just as an example) will face the same discrimination as any other Blacks in America. Not really trying to argue with you but just clarifying because your point wasn't completely clear to me. may just be a misunderstanding.	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/77	3.896
+vegaskidd No, but Jamaicans are still affected by institutional racism on the basis of being Black so it is skin color related. Just because there is variation amount the group of Black people does not mean that skin color isn't very relevant. No one said that the most able Black people can't accomplish more than the least able (I'm not saying that Jamaicans are necessarily more able). But an able Black person is still in a worse position in American society than an able White person is. So skin color completely matters.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/92	5.435
+vegaskidd the fact that some Blacks have higher income or better outcomes than other Blacks doesn't prove anything... you can't look at one racial group in isolation and declare that racism doesn't exist.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/33	3.03

+vegaskidd Right. OK, well we clearly aren't on the same page. Watch the video. Read up on the actual definition of institutional racism , and racism in general. It's not "stare downs" and that idea is laughable. Trust me, I'm not someone who sits back and blames everything on race . I'm a minority who works hard and I've done pretty damn well. Both of my immigrant parents have grad degrees and good jobs. Systematic racism has nothing to do with the individual though. It's about the society as a whole. I'm getting the sense that you're coming at this conversation with no background in the actual facts. Even in the first few minutes of the video the guy states facts that should have opened your eyes to how this things play out. I'm not sure how, with all the research compiled in this age , people still claim that racism doesn't exist. I honestly can't begin to explain everything from the ground up. You need to do your homework. Believe me, even though I was raised being taught about the civil rights movement and racism , I thought that it was a foreign concept as well. But it is clearly alive and kicking. I've learned that through structured academia (undergraduate and law school classes), private studies and anecdotal experiences. I'm fairly open-minded but frankly this discussion requires not only a lesson in logic, but also at least a cursory understanding of sociology, anthropology, and American history. Again, far too much for a youtube conversation.	Age, Immigrant, Nothing, Race, Racism	Age - General, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	9/251	3.586
---	---------------------------------------	---	-------	-------

+vegaskidd First, I agree with you for the most part. Educating everyone is not a bad thing. What is a bad thing is educating people who do not want or need to be educated. Most jobs require training on the job regardless of initial qualification level. There are jobs that need to be accomplished that do not require technical skill and for those positions, positions vital to the functioning of society as a whole, there is a need for people that are able to perform these individual tasks. They need no more ability than to perform this single task and therefor are not in need of a formal complete education. Assuming wages are based on how hard one works, the overall contribution to company profit margin, and the qualification of an individual, if their work load is equal to someone who does have a higher education it would stand to reason that wages should be equal. Quality of life, ideally, should be equal for all individuals that work hard enough to deserve it, regardless of any external factors. True equality is not about making people socially equal, it is about celebrating our differences while at the same time not allowing them to separate us, and allowing equal opportunity by granting everyone the best resources to increase their standard of living above others if, and only if, they have earned it. Its just as wrong to steal from the rich as it is to steal from the poor. Stealing is stealing. Don't grant people anything they haven't earned on any basis, no mater what that basis is, unless you personally feel like giving away your personal value, that they have, in no way, earned.The issue arises from the fact that the world is not ideal. We have issues that arise from the fact that there are more people on earth than there is value on earth to go around. So, we can either all have so little that we starve to death and the entire world is illiterate and poor, or allow the existence of classes based on the value that a person has created for themselves. Humans are not yet at the point where we can give everyone free life on a silver spoon. We are not yet out of the woods, and so long as we are reliant upon nature to sustain us, natural selection will place wherever there is competition. Life takes work and each individual is responsible for their own part of the puzzle that is a successful society. It's not the wealthy, the poor, or even the middle class that need consideration, its the value of what each individual has produced with their lives. That value is what earns a person the right to continue living. Nothing is free, especially life. If you want proof of this, imagine trying to live in modern times with no technology or society. That would take a ton of work. Without contributing to the world around you, you have effectively put yourself into this situation and have no right to expect anything in return. However, if we all do our part, no one will be left behind because there will be plenty to go around once we no longer depend on natural resources to sustain progress. People who generate little value and contribute nothing to society are often the first ones to complain that their free ride is being cut off. Reality check: there is no free ride. This is simply the process of natural selection weeding out bad eggs from an evolving sociopolitical infrastructure based on the value that an individual can produce. Even education can be accomplished without an institution. Don't believe me? Check out home schooling. Public education is simply	Nothing, Transition	Age - Youngsters, Sexual Identity - Transexuality	3/720	0.417
--	----------------------------	--	--------------	--------------

Because only white people are racist , right?	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/7	14.286
looks at the commentsWe can talk about how racism affects other people of color with out delegitimizing or minimizing how it affects black people.....We can talk about how class is important without delegitimizing or minimizing how racism affects black people.....We can talk about how gender is important without....sigh	Black, Gender, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	5/52	9.615
this was a brilliant video. very important subject that was, as always, well approached and well executed. would be very interested to watch a similar video on stats and numbers to do with sexism and gender inequality, perhaps you could consider doing one?	Gender, Sexism	Gender - General	2/43	4.651
This video has been requested for ages and is well overdue but I am really happy to finally see the vlogbrothers discussing race in their videos. This has restored a lot of faith in the vlogbrothers.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/36	2.778
I'm really glad you brought this up. I doubt this will be the case (VlogBrothers have done videos regarding LGBTQIA and still invite shane to vidcon who uses gay slurs and relies on stereotypes of these to make jokes) but I'm glad you mentioned it honestly and I pray that John and Hank alter this	Gay	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	2/55	3.636
What about other races though out the USA, such as East Asian, or Native American, rather than just African Americans?	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/20	5.0
Jews can be any race . Jews in themselves are an ethical group but racial wise, any race can be Jewish (especially from a religious perspective)	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/25	8.0
Hi John! Just please remember to keep most videos regarding racism in the playlist from the perspective of POC (on general ex racism ) or black people (for specific issues like BlackLivesMatter). White people are usually listened to more which means we need to use that listening power to make others listen to those with less privilege	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/56	5.357
isn't it racist to talk about only black and white people on racism video (I am not talking about only this video) and not including others like Asian and Europeans?	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/30	10.0
It's racist of you to think white people cant be named Lakisha or Jamal. That say's to me that people should name their kids something pronounceable.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/26	3.846

When I lived and worked in Asia, racism got even more interesting. Over in that country (which I won't name), many people didn't think highly of their neighboring countries, and saw white people as sexual deviants who want to steal their women and smuggle in drugs. I'm an Asian Canadian (but not of that particular country), so I was looked at with even more suspicion even though I didn't break any laws or do anything shady. It got to the point where a co-worker tried to "prove" that my academic credentials were forged – this could lead to criminal charges, possible jail time, and deportation. Obviously it didn't work, but to be targeted like that was disturbing and really shows that unfortunately, racism exists everywhere – just in different forms. (And since then, I've become a paraplegic, which has introduced me to another type of discrimination known as " ableism ." It never ends! lol)	Ableism, Racism, Sexual	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/153	2.614
this was an awesome video and was very articulate, which I expected nothing less from you. But anyway, thank you so much, John. You are a famous author with a HUGE audience and I'm glad you decided to attack this topic.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/41	2.439
On the first part of this video, RE the criminal justice stuff, I'll agree minorities have it worse, but the whole system is borked. Our incarceration rate as a nation is huge, and we literally have corporations controlling prisons and entering into contracts with states that mandate those prisons must be kept full to a particular level.This might be a bit cynical, but I think it might be easier and as effective to sell a general reform of the criminal justice system that just happens to deal the racial inequalities, than it would be to sell a direct effort to remove racism from the system while leaving it otherwise untouched.We have to accept that people, even people who are not racist , tend to look out for their own interests first. Where at all possible, efforts to make life better for the underprivileged should be branded and presented as efforts to make life better for everyone.	Nation, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	3/157	1.911
John, you are awesome, but fighting racism is pointless. Just think of someone like Bill O'reilly who has ALL of the resources, if not more, to access all of the same information you have. At some point, ignorance is a choice..	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/41	2.439
Jahmar Fearon We're not trying to change Bill O'Reilly's mind. The people we want to inform are the ones who haven't even been exposed to this issue...people who have no idea racism even exists because it just seems like how the world works. Amazingly enough, that's probably a majority of Americans.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/51	1.961

Fighting Racism is pointless? What a self defeating response that just rot the paragraph. Stay willful because when we're removing the spell of racism off of people you damn sure can't be discouraged. And negative language to speak about a negative mindset is not the medicine. WILLFUL, speak power and life into the change we want and need to see. Get tired of black people representing inferiority or even begging to get the attention of white people to fix it. No, WE be the answer. Civilized white people who are beautifully on this thread have to campaign to be the answer. TOGETHER. But absolutely no defeatist ideas which produce defeated living, which shapes defeat altogether. And dammit I'm not loser nor quitter .	Black, Quitter, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - European or anti- Europeans	4/122	3.279
--	------------------------	--	-------	-------

Jahmar Fearon I think you are correct in your second statement: it is probably true that some amount of prejudice is ingrained into human nature. However, you yourself point out that "there are ways of combating prejudice without ending it." Unless you think that racism is not a form of prejudice, then that statement seems like it directly contradicts your first claim that "fighting racism is pointless."It might be the case that some amount of racism is genetically programmed into our genes*. After all, we do live in organized societies, and before there were countries, humans lived in small tribes and mostly produced offspring only from within that gene pool. It makes sense that we would have an automatic function that differentiates a "them" from an "us". If skin color or other physical traits give those markers, then you get racism. To give an analogy: who would you be more likely to hire for a job? Your best friend, or a tree? Obviously, your automatic response will be to pick the organism that you know best and whose characteristics you are most comfortable with. Now, how about this: would you rather hire a tree for a job, or a human? Again, you will probably pick the human at first glance. It doesn't matter anymore whether the human is an individual known to you. In fact, it could be that you made the wrong call. What if the job was environmental cleanup, and the human candidate was a three-year-old kid? You would probably be better off with the tree. I do not mean in any way to literally compare humans of any sort to trees, but simply to illustrate how people are often more comfortable with and more trusting of groups of people who are more similar to them.Just because racism may be a natural instinct to some extent, that does not mean it cannot be overcome and it certainly does not mean that it should not. By educating ourselves and accepting that racism is very much present in this country, we can be on the lookout for biases in our own thinking. If we can recognize some of those automatic responses and think them over, we can use the rational parts of our mind to help make an unbiased judgement or choice. It is very easy to say that "ignorance is a choice" and prejudice "can't be helped", but it is a problem that can improve with effort and education. Maybe we will never have a country where nobody is ever racist, but even changing one person's prejudiced views is a step in the right direction. Maybe vlogbrothers won't reach the same number of viewers as Bill O'Reilly, but every person who watches this video has already taken a step to broaden their knowledge about racism. We have the power to continue reducing our own prejudice by catching those times when we are accidentally biased and using our rational minds to think things through. There is no reason why Brendan should be a better employee than Jamal if they have the exact same resumé. Our automatic, intuitive thinking may not see this, but we can detect the error very easily if we take the trouble to put in a little mental effort.Fighting racism is not pointless. Prejudice may be human nature, but there are ways of combating prejudice without ending it. We shall overcome someday.*(I have no actual evidence for this statement at the current time, but I will try to use logic based on things I DO know for certain to make my point.)	Mental, Nobody, Racism, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	11/599	1.836
---	---------------------------------------	---	---------------	--------------

Jahmar Fearon I do not agree with your resignation. I do not think that is pointless to fight racism	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/19	5.263
Yeah, but insert probably at least pretty racist anecdote	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/9	11.111
Great video John! I was thinking about this topic just this morning. Now bare with me, all that I am going to say isn't trying to deny that there's racism in the USA, but I am Italian so I'm going to talk from my perspective. I've never been to America, but from what I can see through media and film and whatever, African American people are fully integrated in society. And that's right, since you've been cohabiting the same land for centuries.Here in Italy, racism is everywhere and we never address it seriously. Of course we youger generation are taught about it, but when it comes to actual life it's a whole other story. I've known people proudly calling themselves racist , believe it or not.For example, I've never seen a black waiter, a black bartender, a black driver, let alone non-white teachers or doctors . You only see non-white people working in their neighbourhood shops (like muslim butchers, for example), or in buildings or little shops in big cities wher they sell fake merch. I've never even seen a non-white cashier now that I think about it.It's really a COLOUR thing, though, because a white immigrant , like an Ukranian or a Romanian, has double the chances to get a job than a Moroccan or Bengali (or Chinese!) immigrant .Do you see where I'm going? Some (Italian) people say that the government shouldn't think about "foreigners" until they're able to take good care of their citizens, and that's kinda true, but not all "foreigners" are clandestine, and in fact most of them have the citizenship. That's why I feel like saying that, despite the racial inequality still existing, you are really, "progressed", in lack of a better term. This post was really rushed but I hope I got my point across!	African, Black, Immigrant, Racism, Racist, doctors	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	10/302	3.311
This is probably the first comment section of something talking about race that is not super depressing and upsetting. Thank you, Nerdfighteria, and thank you, John for helping bring light to this issue.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/33	3.03
I hope this video means that the people behind VidCon are going to be putting more thought and care into who they invite (Shane Dawson) to VidCon. This will only mean something if everyone does their part to make sure racism and racist behavior (individuals like Shane Dawson) aren't given a platform to continue to push those beliefs.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/58	3.448
Thank you for posting your video and the playlist! The playlist gave me a very different perspective on racism ! I which I could show this in my classroom but I would definitely get in trouble. =(	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/36	2.778

I'm not even sure how to respond to this video, but yes racism exists.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/14	7.143
vlogbrothers You kind of left out some information that's makes your message kind of misleading. Like how most blacks live in poverty which explains most of not all of the stuff you said about crime and education. Also the fact the Americas population is mostly white so that can of effects the whole inheritance thing you were talking about. Im not saying racism dose not exist but you are being a bit of a alarmist and fear mongering.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/78	1.282
Everyone needs to stop feeding the trolls. They won't stop being trolls or stop being racist fkers because you get angry at them. The only way to stop them is to ignore them.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/33	3.03
so... what are we supposed to do about it? this is the problem i keep running into with race, gender equality, environmentalism, et al. people keep throwing out numbers (that everybody has already seen) and then getting mad about some great injustice that has to change, but no one ever actually does jack shit to fix the problem.is there a problem? i don't know, probably. is there a way to fix the problem? again, i don't know, because people only ever cry foul instead of finding ways to fix the problem.	Gender, Race	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	2/92	2.174
I am glad you discussed this John! I agree that racism is UNDOUBTABLY still a big deal and present!! Against african americans, muslims, etc, etc!!!	African, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/25	8.0
Thank you so much for this video, John. It was excellent. I love that you linked a playlist of black people talking about racism . I agree that it's so important to listen to actual people talk about problems that affect them, and not just listen to people who support those groups, but don't have the same problems.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/57	3.509
Thanks for this. Its been frustrating the past year to discuss the issue of racism around anyone out side of my circle of friends and family. The denial of racism it the judicial system, job decisions, and education has been unfathomable to me. So many people around me like to act as if racism , slavery, and civil injustice never happened and isn't even a considerable factor as to why there is violence and tension between races. Its unsettling. I honestly just want to live in a world where the first thing I'm judged on is personality and not my complection.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/100	3.0

All in all, a good video and I agree with its basic premise i.e. that racism does exist in America. However, I was taught to call a foul or at least cringe whenever someone says "It's not a debatable point". That's almost as loaded a statement as the ever popular "do I look fat in this". My belief is that racism is a "grey" area that nuances nearly all interaction among people throughout the world. The real question I'd like to hear discussed is: "Is America more or less racist than the rest of the world?"	Fat, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical Features	4/96	4.167
I disagree with your "Not a debatable point" assertion. It is always easier to engage in endless debate instead of making changes. How long do you think people should have to live with poverty, oppression and denied opportunity? How long would you wait? Racism is "grey-er" than it used to be, but it is a bit irrelevant to wonder about if the US has the pole position in an international racism race or not. Most people will live their lives in one country. I want my country to be getting better, not just better than.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/95	3.158
Thank you for posting this video, John. I am doing a research paper on police brutality and how race is associated with it, but it is hard to find statistics and facts, especially when some people are trying to hide the fact that racism is usually involved. So thank you for posting this and posting links so that I can understand the topic and information and hopefully write a good paper!	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/71	2.817
I was really hoping the vlogbrothers would make a video about this after all of the terrible racism in the comments of their last video. :) I still can't believe that people were justifying the killing of 12 year old boys in Nerdfightaria. It's important that our community has a discussion about racism and seek to improve ourselves. Next serious video about sexism and street harassment?	Old, Racism, Sexism	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	4/66	6.061
I prefer the term 'racial bias' to racism . Racism to me at least seems to conjure up some extreme pre-civil rights act images, perhaps thats why people feel that racism no longer exists in America. Racial bias though - aka to prefer to be among people similar to oneself - I think explains the situation better. There still remains a real fear of blacks (and Muslims) in America, most of it unjustified, and it is this that causes so many to prefer to be around people they feel safe with.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/90	2.222
Our governments cause racial divide = Divide and conquer = Keep the slaves poor but give them hope ! Divided they will continue to fight amongst themselves and ignore us ( the elite ruling class = our masters ) So any of you that have a notion to blame the black guy or blame the white guy do your homework ! This ruling class has ruled for 10,000 years and will continue to rule as long as you slaves ignore who the real terrorists are !	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/86	1.163

I moved 2 years ago to the U.S. And I really never encountered racism . Idk people say that there is a lot against Latinos but certainly I can't see it	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/30	3.333
As a 28y old Caucasian Latin America Man who has been around most of Latin America, USA, Japan and Africa, I can say USA is the Country with Less Racism I been around, obviously I have no idea how is the life in a day/day basses, but as a foreigner I can say USA is one of the nicest ones, at least some parts in the South.Africa (Morocco) felt welcoming too but I could feel a little tension and racism there, constantly being pushed to prove my value.Latin Americans are good people, but even if everyone is welcoming you can feel a little of tribalism going on went some habits and language usage (Even if they all Speak Spanish there are specific terms and pronunciations that are super easy to misinterpretation and feel like you are totally left out of the group).The thing I do not get is how Japan (And most Asian countries) get a free pass with the Racism , Japanese people are like EXTREMELY racist , I could not believe the racism and how is supported by the society and system, I always thought were all about Tradition, Manners and Honor, but damn you can get kicked of any restaurant or bussiness only for your Race , and no one give a shit, myself and a friend experience that, and was not in a rural area away from civilization, was right in Akihabara the heart of tecnology and young people.Kinda crazy how the world works, is almost like we have a Tribal sentiment went talking about races and languages.P.S: Sorry for my crappy English.	Crazy, Old, Race, Racism, Racist	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	8/269	2.974
What about Hispanics, Asians, and people from the Middle East? Because it's just as bad for them, and they have Black people, white people, and other ethnicities going after them.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/30	3.333
I think the anti-black racism is particularly strong in America due to slavery, Jim Crow and institutionalized racism that put one large demographic of people so far behind the rest of society.	Crow, Jim Crow, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/32	12.5

nah man... we hispanics have it pretty bad, but not as bad as the blacks do... Hispanics have been living in the US in large numbers for a far shorter time than blacks, and we have already surpassed them in a lot of stats... Hispanics will turn out to be like any other migrant group that had to endure discrimination (though it might take us longer because most of us are noticeably different in our skin color and not just in our names or religion). They will work together, build each other up, and then eventually close that gap, (and probably mix with the rest of the population in the process)...Blacks on the other hand, will have to over come far more than anti-immigrant sentiments. IMHO, they can close their gap in ways similar to those of immigrants, but they will have to work twice as hard as the rest of us. And it sucks, but I don't see any other way of the situation getting better, and the best we can do is be aware and help whenever we can.	Migrant	Nationality - General	1/182	0.549
Ella Brickman All of those you mention are just as racist as whites towards blacks, especially in their counties.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/19	5.263
John Mansa the two nyc cops that were shot in retaliation to the to shootings? They weren't even white cops, it was an Asian and a Hispanic American. every single ethnicity is racist to each other.	Ethnicity, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/36	5.556
Am I the only one that noticed that this talk is almost entirely about racism against black people? The other groups will feel left out!! Anyway I don't have much to add to this topic other then I am not racist and I am treating anyone equal. But Huzzah for the Us if in 2015 and then next few years if they will catch up with the rest of....europe.. let's see if Russia will join the party like...the 22nd century?	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/80	3.75
Thank you for a thought-provoking discussion on "systemic racism ". I was sure prior to watching that you would be pointing out mainly facts such as "a higher percentage of African-Americans are convicted or arrested for crimes than European-Americans", which does not factor in higher percentages of crimes being committed per capita by African-Americans. However, you provided some statistics that show a very definate prejudice in our judicial and law-enforcement systems. Thank you for helping me to see that I was likely in error in my idea that we, as Americans, were systemically over racism (other than in quota-based systems which are somehow acceptable due to past wrongs...).	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/107	1.869
Racism is a complex and difficult subject, and I think John handled it correctly. Racism exists and it hurts everyone. It affects everyone (although certain groups, like African Americans, are affected much more and in worse ways). I hope with time it will cease to exist and we can learn to understand each other as people and not by appearances. Wouldn't that be incredible?	African, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/64	4.688

im sorry people, this is just a video and every other racism video these days doesnt really hit anything, for one thing racism IS NOT A PROBLEM, its a genetic application our ansestors have been doing for millions of years, and we dont do it just with race , we do it with objects too, biases make your life easier, and more efficient, when you sit in your chair you dont try to take it at face value, you dont check if its falling apart or anything, you JUST SIT IN IT because your assuming through a bias that it will support your weight.So if people being racist isnt the problem, is our cultural biases derived from genetic associations the problem? No, the real problem is the constant promotion and identification of race , for example when people say "blacks go through this and whites go through this" every single time you promote a color or a race you are identifying it, that is the problem. SO if you dont like racism , the best thing to do is shut up about it. Your turning me into a racist because I got to ignore it my whole life, I dealt with blacks, whites, yellows, every fucking color of person my whole life, and I treated them like a human, and like a brother, but now people want to identify them as different, or as special, and simple fact is, thats whats causing the problem	Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	8/242	3.306
All binaries are false. I am Half-Asian and Half-Caucasian. My asian mother was born in California, and my white father is an immigrant . I'm not saying that racism does not exist, but I want to say that " race " itself is far more complicated than you let on, and it may be the case that thinking of a race gap as "white vs black " may be overly reductionist. Also it is frustrating that Asians are often not considered "underrepresented minorities." What advantage did my grandfather, who immigrated by boat in the 1950's, have over a mexican or african immigrant at the same time?	African, Black, Immigrant, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	7/102	6.863
Salt Facts More black men in prison than white but Black males tend to commit more crime... Now it is very systematic and problematic where the government is bringing in drugs then putting it in low income communities then arresting in that low income community... You get arrested, get a felony and can't work so go back to selling drugs you get caught 3 times life in prison... The system is crazy	Black, Crazy	Ethnicity - Black, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/72	4.167

VAiNE SANTΩ I'm just stating that these are conspiracies and there is no factual evidence to conclude that is what was happening 100 percent. First off, our countries government is not capable of hiding something that massive from the masses it's never happened before to any civilization is the history of the world without the public being fully aware but the difference is they were being controlled. Accusing the government of doing that is in my eyes illogical without physical evidence (send me the picture because i'm looking for it) also even though what you have claimed (the CIA did this) Many times before rogue agents would break the law to make money abusing their power that is no secret but i still need physical proof the government does this at a systematic level were drugs are annually pumped through these low income neighborhoods. let's say they are it's still the users fault in my opinion, make drugs legal so all the dumb people kill themselves by overdosing that is how i see it. I'm a different breed of animal though, i'm a realest and when i see a problem i always search for the permanent fix the funny thing is so are the drug users. I know multiple people who grew up in low income neighborhood's in st Louis Missouri and i asked them how they got out of the hood and they said because they worked, both parents were in the house hold, and the parents were very involved in the child activities, preventing him from becoming a hoodlum. The parents were there because either of them lived with there mom and grandmother and was neglected there entire life and dove head first into all the gang violence. Once he did a 5 year sentence he got his head on right and worked there way out the hood.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/310	0.323
Salt How can it be the users fault when the truth about the drugs they are using is not 100 factual... And are you blind to the thousands of operations this government used in it's own military testing drugs... The CIA dosed a whole village with LSD to see what happens. Ohh and sorry that when they do open the investigation to the public everything is blacked out	Blind	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/68	1.471
Tbh it's actually supported to make this kind of video. But nobody has the balls to talk about the flip side, about how people are now putting blacks on a pedestal and most white people must be racist .	Nobody, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	2/38	5.263
Miami-Dade Cop Watch sure, the government is bringing in drugs and sterilizing black men and kidnapping black children in white vans. Blame the evil white man of course	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/28	7.143
Maybe it's because Brendan and Emily are just nicer names than Laquisha and Jemaul, and who's to say Brendan and Emily are white names and Laquisha and Jemaul are black names, isn't that a racial stereotype in itself?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/38	2.632

This is why John Green is Time's 100 most influential people of 2014. And Speaking for socks and SockPuppets.. Racism Sucks! DFTBA!	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/22	4.545
I recommend the book Savage Inequalities by Kozol. It is the most depressing thing I have ever read.Any white person that does not think racism is endemic and institutionalized is either willfully ignorant or an active bigot. The former can be partly explained by white privilege. Many white folks just never have to think about race . Funny about that.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/60	3.333
Black people are just as racist as white people are just white people have more power.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/16	12.5
I have a strong urge to send this to all my "they're just pulling the race card" family and "friends"...	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/20	5.0
You know that society has reached a bad place if John is worried to talk about racism to a primarily nerdfighter audience...	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/22	4.545
Without action, admittance of a problem is tantamount denial, and I think it would be naive to suggest that racism and racial profiling have absolutely no place society. However, it may be wise for governance to behave contrary to such pretenses, as to maintain illusions of equality.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/47	2.128
I think people who are denying racism exists simply don't want it to be true and don't want to confront what people of color have to face.Ignoring the truth doesn't make it less true! I don't know why anyone would rather live lying to themselves then live with discomfort. I know the first one would make me more uncomfortable.When we know the truth, we can make changes. When we don't, everything stays the same.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/76	1.316
Wait, does racism mean dicriminating against black people only? Because the data that this guy is citing is in regards to black people only. What about the other races? Does he even know what the definition of racism is?	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/39	10.256

As a Hispanic male that looks white I have seen some of the points you speak about. I have been treated as white till I speak Spanish then people of color will change how they speak to me. So its a little strange some times to look like me. The interesting part is I am a brown statistic when it comes to education, health care, and criminal justice.When it comes to health care, education, and criminal justice, there is a definite separation of available doors that are provided by the "system". The key difference I see between white people and other races is the fact that people of color have to work harder because we don't have the established connections or roots in this country we must start from scratch. The great thing about America is that we have the option and right to work as hard as we desire to reach the goals we desire. Most Americans have not been to countries like mexico, Nicaragua, El Salvador, or really asked the people of those countries the situation that made them decide to leave. Life in these countries is very tough so to come to a new country and start from zero is a feat on its own, now add the issues of avoiding immigration when your at work, driving to get work fearing being profiled, or just walking to the store and being asked for your documents, this is real stuff but white people or African American people will not understand it because they are seen as Americans. I truly believe that this race craze has come to light because of things like ferguson and school shootings whom have been by white males, I think its a positive matter that these statistics came light and will shed concrete data for people who don't understand that racial tension is real on either end of the spectrum, I just think is very interesting that Asians don't tend to come up much in these conversations, it's always white, black, and brown but that's a different conversation.Thank you for the well balanced video. Being a white male and saying what you said is showing some progress and that people are evolving. I would hope that more and more people recognized that bigotry and racism are things that have to be understood by listening to those who are directly impacted by those actions.Love your channel keep up the interesting work!	African, Black, Race, Racism, Zero	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/409	1.222
In nursing school we were told about medical studies that shows poor and minority patients are given less pain medication.46 of white patients with moderate/severe pain were given opioids, compared to 39 of black patients. And 45 percent of non-Hispanic people received the drugs, versus 40 of Hispanics.Likewise, 47 of pain patients from the wealthiest neighborhoods, based on zip code, were prescribed opioids, compared to 41 from the poorest areas, the study team reports in the Journal of General Internal Medicine. [LINK]	Black, Zip	Ethnicity - Asian (East- China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam), Ethnicity - Black	2/89	2.247

But all of that isn't racism and it is what is called optics... the perception and reputation.Say, for instance, a "white person' is told to get on the ground and, if COPS is any indication (that's optics), they do... But if a " black person" is told the same thing, they run, grab a weapon, as resist... followed by protests of racism , looting, and violence against police...Well, the chances that this is the image associated with each category is going to be re-enforced, just as a bell makes a dog salivate.The names thing. Maybe it's you who thinks Jamal is a " black name". Laquesha sound like a made up name to me and there are plenty if respectable names like Herman , Ben, Mia, Colin, Condoleezza, Alan, Larry, Clarence, Michael, Thomas, Star, Niger, Amy Ken, Walter and so on. Wait... names aren't what held any of them back.As for listening to black voices... I would love to. Just have them stop shouting " racist " every other word and using the excuse "If you haven't lived it, you wouldn't understand" because, if you use that to not tell me about things, I'll never know it you are serious or not.You can tell me. I'll understand. I have a great mind and imagination.	Black, Herman, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - German	7/213	3.286
I think you would find this video interesting. [LINK] That link was posted by one of my old gaming friends and I have to agree with the man in the video a lot. He, me, and what seems like a minority thinks this. Yes there is racism but there is a point and time when you have to look at yourself and wonder are we helping the situation?	Old, Racism	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - General	2/68	2.941
LadyJenxx He was much more articulate than I was, saying about the same thing. But it isn't just the black community. There are professional race-baters in politics who don't want to see their means of livelihood vanish.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/37	2.703

1.”Say, for instance, a ”white person’ is told to get on the ground and, if COPS is any indication (that’s optics), they do... But if a ” black person” is told the same thing, they run, grab a weapon, as resist... followed by protests of racism , looting, and violence against police...”So John posted a variety of links and info to back up his points and you use ”well I watch COPS therefore I know the complex interaction between cops and civilians.2.The names thing. Maybe it’s you who thinks Jamal is a ” black name”. No its not just him, a vast amount of Americans associate Jamal as being a ” black name””Laquesha sound like a made up name to me” well its not and that is also considered a black name”and there are plenty of respectable names” <— and there lies the problem. What makes a name respectable? What does a name tell you other than that the parent of that child liked that name?As for your response to cminmd he/she asked you about Tamir Rice because in your post you only mentioned black ppl not complying and resisting arrest whereas Tamir Rice wasn’t even giving the chance. Within seconds they shot that young man dead.As for your questions asked in response to that, they in no way answer the question that cminmd asked and nowhere in his/her post did he/she ever mention or imply that the shooting of Tamir Rice warranted the horrible killing of the 2 officers. Stop trying to derail the conversation.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/258	2.326
To suggest that white people all always do what the cops say and black people always resist arrest is silly. Arrest rates as much higher for African Americans due to the problem of over-policing, which is a very serious issue. Your assumptions about what African Americans might have to say on a subject and your dismissal of their opinions and experiences are silly. Laquesha and Jamal are both widely considered to be ” black ” names and if you think that Laquesha is made up then I’m sorry but it isn’t. Also, your use of the term ”respectable” to describe some names is silly. Ethnic names shouldn’t be considered not respectable. They’re names, and having an ethnic name shouldn’t mean that you can’t get a job. Also, you look like an ass when you cite a TV show as evidence while everyone else is talking about studies and academic sources.	African, Black, Ethnic	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/148	4.054

NotTotallyHopeless "To suggest that white people all always do what the cops say and black people always resist arrest is silly."So, then you get my point... that it doesn't happen this way... or are you pretending to agree that it is silly because you didn't have a clue what I was saying?"Your assumptions about what African Americans might have to say on a subject and your dismissal of their opinions and experiences are silly. "Yeah, I see you missed the point because of that stick up you ass. Oh well, so much for civil discussion. After all, if "As for listening to black voices... I would love to." is a dismissal, then you really have a warped sense of reality."you look like an ass when you cite a TV show as evidence while everyone else is talking about studies and academic sources"Wait, you do get it? You are being very confusing. Do you get the point or are you the asshat who thinks you get the point, but miss it by a mile?I wonder. If you think that optics is the problem, that reacting uniformly one way because you create an image from a single source, say a TV show that purports to be a reality program, is a stupid way, then why do you call me names for agreeing? Or did you just skip the information and make up stuff?Should I even go on to inform you the sarcasm used in the middle of the comment was, in fact, sarcasm. Would you know sarcasm if it bit you on your asshole? Did you even recognize any of the names on the list? Notice a commonality among them?Condoleezza, Mia, Niger??? You see any ethnic names in the shortened list?And you questioned the word "respectable", but why? Maybe there was a deeper point and you are a surface asshat? Maybe you are correct? Maybe it should be the person? But you didn't get the list of people, so why should you realize I said that and you are sticking your head up a dark and damp neather orifice of your own anatomy where it is physically impossible for most people, but you did so well?By the way, the name "Laquesha", or Lakeisha is a variant of the Hebrew Kezia meaning "cassia tree", via Keesha and Keisha. And it probably follows a french lineage through to it's African colonies. It is, in all essence, made up as much as Scott is made up, or how Hank and John technically have the same name (see Hank's video about it).But the comment I made was in line with the sarcastic tone I was using, which you assshatteredly picked up on and rather than reading the comment thoroughly.And the data John pointed to didn't really research if resumes by Ethel, Marion, Clarence, Herman or Melvin would have been more accepted as Bob, John, Bill, Sue, Jane and Jill. it never dealt with the possibility that Robert would have been better than Bob or Susan would have been better than Sue. So the study that didn't determine if names common to nerds were better than jock names or names common to the 1890s were better than the names that are timeless or if formal names are better than shortened names... it's a very incomplete result that could have easily been performed in a limited and biased manner.	African, Black, Common, Ethnic, Herman	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - German, Social Class - Working class	8/572	1.399
---	---	---	--------------	--------------

Benjamin Abruzzo If you are trying to use satire or sarcasm than I suggest you learn to write a little better. Your use of language is at best poor, which is I think reflected in the number of times you felt the need to say asshole.Regardless of a name being "made up" in the historical sense, it's still a common name today and I know people who have it, so it was perfectly understandable for the study to use it.I said you dismissed black voices on the topic because you said that you would if they would all stop yelling about racism . Because yes, that's dismissive. If you didn't know that there are classes in conversation skills you can take.So, if you would like, I could provide you some resources on how to write good satire and how to use sarcasm correctly. If I'm understanding your response, which is hard through your garbled language, you're original comment was meant (partially?) to be sarcastic. Anyway (slow clap) good job. God, the onion should have you work for them. You're really a master satirist. Jonathan Swift should take some notes from you! (See? That's sarcasm. And it's funny cause you're not good at satire)	Black, Common, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	3/205	1.463
---	-----------------------	---	-------	-------

zoeynakya "and you use "well I watch COPS therefore I know the complex interaction between cops and civilians."I apologize.. we have a new asshat. I don't watch COPS, but thank you for playing."What makes a name respectable? What does a name tell you other than that the parent of that child liked that name?"Hey, you figured it out. Hazzah!There you go finding the same fault in the study I did and illustrated with the list of names. Now have yourself a cookie and join NotTotallyHopeless in asshattery."because in your post you only mentioned black ppl not complying and resisting arrest whereas Tamir Rice wasn't even giving the chance."1) My OP pointed out the reason that optics occurs and why it's wrong. It used sarcasm, which you didn't get.2) The Tamir Rice shooting is an off topic discussion, but in seriousness, yes, if I see a kid who is holding what looks exactly like a gun turn to me, and I am having a mental breakdown after two cops were assassinated based on the events of out of town rabble rousers and race-baters stirring up hate for police, the 30th of a second I have to choose if I'm next or not will lean to taking down another possible murderer. Maybe I'd be wrong, but you make the same choice in the same 30th of a second after your own fellow officers were assassinated from behind, in their car while the race-baters like Al Sharpton churn up more hate for the police."they in no way answer the question that cminmd asked"Okay, then I'll answer it. Yes, I did see the video.That was a dull answer."nowhere in his/her post did he/she ever mention or imply that the shooting of Tamir Rice warranted the horrible killing of the 2 officers"No, not of Rice's shooting, but cminmd0041 did mention "the attention to this issue because of Michael Brown and Eric Gardner", which was what lead to the shooting of two police officers, which put the officer on edge (and should have been removed from duty for some therapy)."Stop trying to derail the conversation."Um, wait, I started the conversation and mocked the use of the way names sounded and pointed out it was ridiculous to use persistent optics, which get repeated like a pavlov's dog type reaction.If anything comments that didn't get it, then repeat the same as I said and accuse me for saying something else derail the actual conversation, while I called for a real conversation and not an accusation of "If you haven't lived it, you wouldn't understand".	Black, Mental	Ethnicity - Black, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/441	0.454
--	---------------	--	-------	-------

NotTotallyHopeless "Your use of language is at best poor, which is I think reflected in the number of times you felt the need to say asshole."That was asshat as well."I said you dismissed black voices on the topic because you said that you would if they would all stop yelling about racism . Because yes, that's dismissive. If you didn't know that there are classes in conversation skills you can take."I said I would listen. But when I ask I get called a racist and told I don't understand. If you actually read my comment, I never said I wouldn't listen, just that I wouldn't know who is serious and who is Al Sharpton's followers (with his track record, the chance he is involved with a serious offence is 50/50).Who's the one with the literacy problem if I wrote a very clear statement and you thought it said the opposite?"So, if you would like, I could provide you some resources on how to write good satire and how to use sarcasm correctly."Hmm, I'll stick with Jonathan Swift. Eat the babies!You know, where you actually sound serious, but say obviously ridiculous things... like relying of the TV show COPS as a point of reference. And that the name Condoleezza, Niger and Mia are more normal sounding names (on resumes)."Jonathan Swift should take some notes from you! "You know the name. My asshat is off to you."See? That's sarcasm."That's more a flippant tone than sarcastic."And it's funny cause you're not good at satire"I never said I was being funny. Odd you thought that.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/273	1.099
Benjamin Abruzzo But you see the reason Swift was good is you'd have to be a maniac to disagree with him because he pushed the boundaries by starting off sounding like a normal argument against the Irish than derailed it until he was talking about eating babies. Your comment would have been better satire if it had been a bit clearer in the beginning and then derailed more. Also, who doesn't think the name Mia is a normal name? I know half a dozen people off the top of my head who I know named Mia, it's super common . Also Condoleezza Rice is one of the most famous African American women in the US.No, I was being funny being sarcastic. I'm god damn hilarious :p	African, Common	Ethnicity - Black, Social Class - Working class	2/126	1.587

Benjamin Abruzzo Petty politicians aren't helping either. They only reenforce a destructive mindsets in the black community. Honestly nothing will change unless those mindset changes and far too many of them don't want to. I don't know if they are worried about keeping their 'blackness" or what but they don't want to change. They just want to talk about how bad they have it and expect people giving them everything. They don't want to do different. It's like the only drive they have is to get angry and blame others to avoid responsibility. Changing out politicians who care only about their image isn't going to change things. Address just one problem and ignoring another and calling others raciest I've I seen who pointed it out isn't helping either. If that flawed mindsets and destructive culture that lies in the black community remains, there will be no progress. There might be some but it won't last. Its just a matter of time before history repeats itself.	Black, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black	3/165	1.818
LadyJenxx I really hope you didn't just blame black poverty and racial discrimination on African Americans, because that is so horrifically messed up on so many levels.	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/27	7.407
NotTotallyHopeless "Your comment would have been better satire if it had been a bit clearer in the beginning and then derailed more."At least that was helpful and not confrontational. I'll try to do better.Unless you are still trying as sarcasm."Also, who doesn't think the name Mia is a normal name?"Who doesn't think Laquesha isn't a normal name?You got it. By George I think you've got it."Also Condoleezza Rice is one of the most famous African American women in the US."Miss Dolittle would be envious.You got the point. At one point a name that wasn't common becomes common . Another name that is not common becomes famous for being a highly appointed government official.And another common name of the resume makes it less picked because? Therein lies the point.Yet, did we address Herman or Clarence? And why did Mr. Wayne change his name from Marion to John? It happens to white people, too."No, I was being funny being sarcastic. I'm god damn hilarious :p"Meh. I got the sarcasm and the flippance. The funny was so-so.	African, Common, Herman	Ethnicity - Black, Nationality - German, Social Class - Working class	6/185	3.243
Benjamin Abruzzo The issue of changing one's name to seem more employable is an issue that overwhelmingly affects minority communities. I have a friend from Ghana who has a fairly strange name and was recommended to change it to seem more employable but I have a weird last name and it was never recommended to me because it's a German last name so it's okay.	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/65	1.538

NotTotallyHopeless "I really hope you didn't just blame black poverty and racial discrimination on African Americans"Messed up as it might be, African Americans and progressives both have a hand in the making. It might be small in comparison, but when you realize that the people who are called racist are sometimes the successful black people or white people who never did a racist thing, you have to wonder why them.And there are studies that show the current economic downfall of the African American community (and portions of the white and hispanic communities) is the break-up of the family (no, I'm not against homosexual parents, because they bring stability).In a serious point here, with the weakening of the dollar, more families need two parents to keep up. But as religion and the common two-parent family ebbs away (and I know atheists can make good, moral parents, too.. but we are talking historically), the required stability fades with it until government steps in... and we all know how stable and good with money government is.As with anything, you can't turn around decades of inertia in an instant, but it has to be recognized and not dismissed. And not made impossible by cutting out the people who actually ask to help find the solutions.	African, Black, Common, Homosexual, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Sexual Identity - General, Social Class - Working class	9/215	4.186
--	---	--	--------------	--------------

Benjamin Abruzzo”I apologize.. we have a new asshat. I don’t watch COPS, but thank you for playing.”»> So you use COPS a tv show to back up a claim yet you don’t watch it? Interesting. If you talk about a book most logical ppl assume you read it, and if you talk about a tv show it goes without saying that the safe assumption is that you watched it. You calling me an asshat only shows me you are incapable of civil debate and get rather combative over simple things.”There you go finding the same fault in the study I did and illustrated with the list of names. Now have yourself a cookie and join +NotTotallyHopeless in asshattery.”»>If you believe I found fault in the study I can assure you I did not. Just because I or a few others believe names to hold no weight on who a person is doesn’t mean that everyone is free of preconceived notions and biases, and the study shows that. Also what makes a name acceptable? And if some are acceptable than conversely some names must be seen as unacceptable, correct?”yes, if I see a kid who is holding what looks exactly like a gun turn to me, and I am having a mental breakdown after two cops were assassinated based on the events of out of town rabble rousers and race-baters stirring up hate for police, the 30th of a second I have to choose if I’m next or not will lean to taking down another possible murderer. Maybe I’d be wrong, but you make the same choice in the same 30th of a second after your own fellow officers were assassinated from behind.....»>Tamir Rice was killed in November, the two incidents that you stated happened in December so the cop who shot and killed Tamir couldn’t have had that on his mind because it hadn’t happened yet.I’m not here to be combative or call you out of your name so if that is what you wish to do, this will be my last response. However I am opening to civil debate if you are.	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/361	0.277
--	--------	---	-------	-------

NotTotallyHopeless ”The issue of changing one’s name to seem more employable is an issue that overwhelmingly affects minority communities.”Well, that isn’t the only variable in the choice. But the research seems to ignore many other variables. What were the jobs? Did they test hispanic or Asian names? Did they test for names that were popular 100 years ago, but have fallen out of favor? Did they check to see if middle names helped or hurt.There are too many variables that were not screened, meaning the data was to loose and not reliable.I’d love to really see a Mythbusters on it.”I have a friend from Ghana who has a fairly strange name and was recommended to change it to seem more employable”And most of my co-workers have names like Nimco, Giri, Dwark, Suresh, Mohammad, Setsusko, Reina, Yasmeen, Alan and David. Oh, and I’m Benjamin.Which ones are the successful people? Can you tell by name? No, you can’t. And that’s because there are too many variables you don’t know.”but I have a weird last name and it was never recommended to me because it’s a German last name so it’s okay’Yet Stanley Lieber had to change his to Stan Lee. Alphonso Joseph D’Abruzzo (hey, my last name, sorta) had to become Alan Alda. And for some reasons (stated publicly) Caryn Elaine Johnson, a very ordinary name that would get picked on those resumes, was changed to Whoopi Goldberg, to sound more Jewish and like a whoopee cushion.Name changes are based on the job, the response you seek and the times they exist in. The names in the resume study were names from people born in the 1970. At the time, those people were 30 year olds. But what of people in the 1990s? Would they have been treated differently? What about in another 10 years?I mentioned the Mythbuster before because they do basic experiments that are often to shallow to be really useful, even though they do follow scientific methods. Likewise, this should have been a generational study over 150 years, using every variable possible to weed out possible outliers.	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/358	0.279
---	-------	---	-------	-------

Benjamin Abruzzo how do progressives cause black poverty? I don't know if you've studied American economics but one of the root causes of poverty is neo-liberalism (known more as libritarianism in the US). Not providing the correct social welfare and safety nets for the poor is a significant problem in black American poverty. As for the "breakdown of the family" this wouldn't have the same kind of negative affects on single mothers and their children if there was a comprehensive system in place to help them with important costs to make sure the children could go to school and that the mother (or father) is able to be there to support them instead of working multiple full time jobs. People say "the breakdown of the family" like it's this scary horrible thing. But in reality if two parents have a miserable (and possibly abusive) marriage, that's not really much better. I don't really think you should always stick by your partner no matter what, especially if the situation had become abusive. The problem with blaming black culture or people wanting to keep their "blackness", as the commenter I was responding to so elegantly put it, is that it pretends that all of the poverty black Americans face is because of divorce rates, or single mother rates or "cultural laziness" when in reality black poverty is prevalent because for the majority of American history African Americans were either enslaved or had little to no political or economic freedom. Share chopping and Jim Crow anyone?	African, Black, Crow, Jim Crow	Ethnicity - Black	8/253	3.162
---	--------------------------------	-------------------	-------	-------

NotTotallyHopeless "how do progressives cause black poverty?"Um... The government guaranteeing food shelter and medical. It has caused poverty, black , white and pick with purple stripes."I don't know if you've studied American economics but..."But I can't tell if you have either from your comment.And do remember that the progressive model of making a government larger and more responsible is what leads to governments printing more money and running debts, devaluing the dollar and making it more necessary to have multiple streams of income.That's economics 102, right after the 101's supply and demand. And it doesn't matter if it's a progressive Democrat or Progressive Republican that increases the government's spending."Not providing the correct social welfare and safety nets for the poor is a significant problem in black American poverty" And I agree. And currently we are not providing even close to the correct safety nets, as we are using programs that are bloated in expenses and overhead, duplicated and inefficient."As for the "breakdown of the family" this wouldn't ..."Fully agreed.What, you were thinking I meant something else? You are so jaded."But in reality if two parents have a miserable (and possibly abusive) marriage, that's not really much better"You and I are very much on the same page so far. Why are you arguing with me?"The problem with blaming black culture or people wanting to keep their "blackness", ... pretends that all of the poverty black Americans face is because of divorce rates, or single mother rates or "cultural laziness" when in reality black poverty is prevalent because for the majority of American history African Americans were either enslaved or had little to no political or economic freedom. "Which is partially due to individual actions. If you discount these, as small as they may be in comparison, you are belittling those who overcame the very "Share chopping and Jim Crow anyone?" attitudes to become President of the United States, Secretary of State, Justice on the Supreme Court, or any other huge financial achievements like running a major TV channel or a large Pizza company.	African, Black, Crow, Jim Crow	Ethnicity - Black	9/354	2.542
--	--------------------------------	-------------------	-------	-------

Benjamin Abruzzo just because you believe in conservative economics and a weird version of the invisible hand doesn't mean all economists do. Poverty is a complex problem, and not one caused by the government guaranteeing food, shelter, and medical assistance. I can prove it to you as well. You know how? Because the US government doesn't guarantee any of those things! And if I'm wrong then why don't you go tell some homeless people that apparently they now have a place to stay, free food, and free medical coverage. I'm sure they'd very overjoyed. Actually yea, I'm in the field of international developmental economics and poverty alleviation. You know, poverty. What we're talking about. Smart government spending is not that hard to complete. There's a huge amount of bloated spending that could be cut to improve welfare spending. That's called government 102: a balanced budget. A lot of things in our budget are actually highly detrimental to the developing world anyway, like farm subsidies. Individual actions are not the solution to poverty. This weird "pick yourself up by the bootstraps" thing doesn't work against institutionalized racism. Some people make it, but it's very rare and under certain circumstances.	Racism, Weird	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/198	1.515
---	---------------	--	-------	-------

NotTotallyHopeless I see another person who can't read and is skipping what I say to make up their own version."Poverty is a complex problem"And I agree." and not one caused by the government guaranteeing food, shelter, and medical assistance"When the government over spend, it creates too much debt to pay off and must print money, devaluing the currency... and you know what, I said this all before and you didn't listen. Why would I think you would understand monetary policy via central banking?"I can prove it to you as well. You know how? Because the US government doesn't guarantee any of those things!"Food: food stamps, which can be used for food of all types (not just the "approved" foods)Shelter: HARP and the more recent forcing of adjusting of mortgages' principles, and the various programs since bailing out the banks to keep those who gained mortgages through the CRA's loose policy.Medical: Um, Obama Care, Medicare, Medicaid"And if I'm wrong then why don't you go tell some homeless people that apparently they now have a place to stay, free food, and fee medical coverage."Hey, it was in place before... and yet they make new laws to give more away."I'm in the field of international developmental economics and poverty alleviation."And yet you prefer the things government does now?"Smart government spending is not that hard to complete. There's s huge amount of bloated spending that could be cut to improve welfare spending. That's called government 102: a balanced budget. A lot of things in our budget are actually highly detrimental to the developing world anyway, like farm subsidies."Ah, so you agree with the same things I do, but you just preferred to argue???"Individual actions are not the solution to poverty. This weird "pick yourself up by the bootstraps" thing doesn't work against institutionalized racism."It works a lot more than you think. You change yourself and others change themselves and soon all individuals are thinking "why am I hanging around with those racists" and tend to move off. Then you see that "those racists" either have changed or are alone.And the biggest "institutionalized racism" the government (and people... was going to say, like you, but you took both sides on this just to pick a fight) telling minorities they can't do anything without help. One person can change his own life 100 just by doing the right thing, no matter the skin color or genitalia. Telling a person they can't, even if they need some help from friends, family and, in the most extreme circumstances, from government, they will always be nothing but losers to this imaginary ideal of suppression is more harming than somebody outright calling a person names.People begin to believe what the government tells them, that welfare is better for the economy, that a dollar that is currently worth $0.50 of what it was 60 years ago is good handling of currency, that making an economy that requires people to earn $15 per hour because the government wants to spend money on losing financial choices is good for the future and that leaving so much debt on our children the entire incomes of the world could never pay it off because this Senator or that Congressman wants you to have a new healthcare law that will itself bankrupt the country is helping them.Okay, you said: "There's s huge amount of bloated spending that could be cut to improve welfare

Nothing, Racism, Weird

Age - Youngsters,
Ethnicity -
General,
Physical
Identity - Physical (and Mental)
Impairments

5/672

0.744

Benjamin Abruzzo um you were trying to blame blacks for their poverty and the "progressives"? fact checking time Jim Crow laws, segregation, and the federal housing administration during the 40s through the early 60s put blacks in project homes to keep them out of "white neighborhoods" (suburbs). whenever a black family managed to move out of the projects into the "white neighborhoods", the whites in the neighborhood would move out because just one black family could lower the value on their homes. When this happened, the neighborhood's schools and infrastructure would lose federal funding. again project buildings garner no value for black families. whites were able to gain value through their house as you know owning a home is beneficial for a families wealth. less not even touch the subject of the drug war of the 80s that disproportionately attacked black neighborhoods. the unfair housing had residual effects in that the average white male has a vast head start over a black male	Black, Crow, Jim Crow	Ethnicity - Black	7/163	4.294
A Maddy "you were trying to blame blacks for their poverty and the "progressives""I was, out of the 100 of things that effected people who are harmed through a system that can encourage poverty in the United States, 25 (or make up your own number) blame monetary policy, human corruption and bad mathematics when it comes to spending, and 1-10 (or whatever you think is a correct number) include people's personal involvement in your own lives.If you think I dismissed history or evil or God's hand or the wawa dance of YouTube egos, you are sorely mistaken. And you wonder why I called you all Ass hats, when all you do it ignore what I actually say in order to lie and make your points." Jim Crow laws, segregation, and the federal housing administration "Progressives, seeking larger government control over people's lives.Thank you.And everything you listed beyond that point was a list of progressive programs, both Democrat and Republican, that in turn harmed everybody, but had a worse effect on the African American community.	African, Crow, Jim Crow	Ethnicity - Black	3/179	1.676

Charles Powell ” suppose to take cover behind their car doors”A car door doesn’t stop a bullet, nor does it prevent a ricochet from hitting innocent by-standards.A police officer has to protect his life and the life of others i a fraction of a second once a gun is presented and turned on him. Fake guns are, by law, supposed to have bright orange markings at the very least and reflective tape for night use.”When ever the police kill someone i blame the police 100”I blame the officer 100 for the handling his gun and for the choice he makes.I don’t blame a person who has a mental breakdown for being in control of their mind.I don’t blame the officer for the boy carrying any non law-conforming toy gun, because it was that boy’s choice to have it on him, to have bought it.I don’t blame the officer for the airsoft product having the fault it did, because the manufacturer know US codes and laws and had to have known the gun didn’t comply.So, you can take the officer’s job away, he isn’t suited to be a police officer. You can hold him accountable in criminal and civil court, he held actions that made him do what he did, with mitigating factors the jury will undoubtedly hear.But, if you are putting all the blame on a man, like all men who can make mistakes and are subject to mental breakdowns, and ignore the responsibility of others, you, like people who think an African American man is not responsible for his own actions in life, are missing important parts of the puzzle and will forever keep people in the dark and unsafe.” the fact that you don’t blame them seems like you sympathize or can relate to them because they’re white”The only thing keeping you from assbattery is you said seems rather than outright blame. Are you speaking for others or yourself? Are you confused? I hope I cleared it up a bit.”but would you blame a black cop if he shot and killed a white boy”Here’s what I do. I take the same circumstances and change all the races around to every combination and see if the events have basic truths to them (not racism, though that can come into play if something is off).If it were a white child with a gun turned on a rookie black officer having a mental crisis, I would still blame the same three people, The officer, the child (which includes the parents because of age), and the gun manufacturer.It does seem unlikely that there would have been white race riots for 6 months or so over another black officer justifiably shooting a white man for trying to steal his gun, then charging him, so the mental breakdown would have less of a situational effect on the officer’s mental state.I mistakenly placed the the assignations of two police before this event, to that I am wrong.”You seem like one of those people that 100 trust police officers well...”Yes, I must. Innocent until proven guilty. If you don’t trust the people who are there to protect the people, then you can trust only yourself and if you want to live in a world of no trust, you can do that.That isn’t to say police officers aren’t human. And we know power corrupts. But keep in mind, the number of crooked officers is a tiny fraction if the number out there. Statistic show there are about 250 officers per ever 1000 people, which sound like a lot on duty, until you remove clerks and detectives, then divide by three for each shift, then remove those who are in court at any given time (about 25) and you have about 20 or so on patrol protecting ever 1000	African, Age, Black, Mental, Race, Racism	Age - General, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	17/893	1.904
--	--	---	---------------	--------------

Daniel J No problem.Now, I noticed something I don't like, but something I do...I don't like when multiple news sources use the exact same story and headline and treat it as if they are doing more than reading a poll or study that somebody else wrote. It smells of sloppy journalism.But I do like that they all point to an actual source and Brookings.com.I can tell you, it is a statistic game and I need more information, but you are correct that the numbers tell one story.If you read the supporting notations and articles, you'll notice that one reason this is the case is because of how each transaction or use occurs.Let's presume for a moment that it isn't race but something more base... sloth. The police are bears looking for food. They can go to the river and try and fish for salmon or they can go to the campground and steal from the campers. One is easy and gets you tasty, fattening goodies. The other is hard work for the healthy but bland fish.So the bear stops going to the stream and river and only walks around the campgrounds.Now, take the police. They was to make the war on drugs look good, so they learn where to find the most arrests for less work. If black drug dealers work outside, the will be caught more often that the hidden white counterparts.Now the DAs are lazy, too. They want to pump up their resumes with either many convictions or big convictions. The white druggies and dealers learn to make a trade and deals, marking them as punks and rats and whatever. The black users and dealers stick to their code and not talk, but that gets the low-level guys locked up and not the big guys.Sometimes statistics don't tell the entire truth.Like I said, optics and pavlov's dog responses.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/321	0.935
Benjamin Abruzzo I was ready to tear into you when it came to the names. I didn't realize you were being sarcastic. Just a little advice sarcasm does not translate well over the Internet in a message. I do see you're . About constantly being a victim. However well, it is going to take more than a can do attitude to fix problem in the black community. It certainly is a start though. But as John stated even with equal qualifications the assumed black applicants were not give him equal responses. You can say that the study is a good inconclusive and that Susan may be better than Sue.The point of the study is not to find if a white trash name is better than a more proper name; the point of the study is to find if an assumed black applicant has a fair shot compared to assumed white applicants.And it was proven a black applicant even with equal credentials did not have as much of a chance. That is more than blacks having a bad attitude. That is real whether you want to admit it or not. Now playing the victim does have to stop. Yet like I said a better attitude isn't going to fix things. Being optimistic doesn't guarantee you anything.	Black, White Trash	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - White, Social Class - Working class	6/217	2.765

Daniel J I'm not here to say there isn't racism, and I certainly can't defend any who are racist. Still, I think the persistence is being less due to actual racism and is due to the same phenomenon as "Fool me once, shame on you. Fool me twice, shame on me."Other traditions and beliefs persist in a culture that once had meaning, but no longer do. Why did the 1970s housewife cut the end off the rump roast before cooking it. She was taught to do that by seeing her grandmother do it. But her grandmother was from the 1930s and she cut the ends off because the pan was too small.That was generally the entire point of this thread, from my post on. It isn't racism because people don't connect the actions to race any more, they connect it to what they see and their brain, a miracle in many ways, does what it did when we were still proto-humans, animals in many ways, it fills in the blanks from what we see, hear, and smell, with what we know happened before. What was the great thing about humans that helped us survive and evolve is now what holds us back in many ways.Maybe some would call what I'm saying "institutionalized racism", but I think racism has to be an active choice and it has to be proved before somebody gets the label. Using the label for every action a person doesn't like demeans the real acts racism, making more people deaf to them. Basically, rather than shouting louder and not being able to hear others over the din, we should all quiet down and listen with open minds.But, as you can attest, even when listening, hoping for the truth to become clear, you will get attacked bu people who want to yell because they believe so much, they can't communicate their position without making people close off.Look back at this thread and tell me I'm wrong about that. Who is the person who admits when he is wrong, talks with those who are civil and willing to share, and only name calls and yells when being attacked for the sake of the attack and the passion of the opposing belief?Not trying for pity here. I'm just saying.I am about to begin making videos on politics and society and I know I'll be making mistakes along the way. I'll be looking at TV shows and their messages and will probably be looking to The Wire for some of the reviews. I hear it highlights the issues very well. I have found that out of all the current shows that use politics as a plot, few try to explore and most exploit the topics. One show I found is good for what can be done in Hollywood on network TV is Blue Bloods, as it tries to explore the many opinions, including the generational racism, the conservative side and the liberal side and even the black side vs the white side. It's not perfect, as few shows can grasp a complicated issue in 45 minutes, but it is more of a conversation than I've ever seen in real life.I doubt we will see the solutions in our lifetime (or at least mine), but we can only get there on calm waters, as the chop and the storm will only capsize us.	Black, Deaf, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	11/569	1.933
---	-----------------------------------	---	--------	-------

devilangel777 "And it was proven a black applicant even with equal credentials did not have as much of a chance. That is more than blacks having a bad attitude. That is real whether you want to admit it or not."I'll accept that, though, this is still lower than a Mythbusters experiment.It reminded my of a test years ago where people who were applying for an apartment and different people would call over the phone and based on their voice would be told the apartment was or was not available. It got the same type of results, but given the test on a random group of people, nobody could accurately tell which voices were white, were asian, were black and were hispanic. And it was even done where one person who was good at voices did multiple accents and dialects and got similar results.I actually find that experiment more conclusive than the resumes because you can test the same person with the group of people rather than give Robert's resume to company X and Tyrone's resume to company Y. If you give them both to the same company, the resume will ring as fake, and giving them to separate companies ads the "different HR department and hiring needs" variables.And I get that sarcasm doesn't work well in written form and especially on YouTube. But sometimes I can't help myself. I'll try to do better both in my skills and knowing when to use it.	Black, Nobody	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black	3/247	1.215
Li Hope "I was going to jump in and have a civil intellectual debate with you and then I saw how you speak to people and the manner in which you debate things."Well, that's you loss, Little Hope. If you are able to surrender to things like this that easily, you miss out of a person's redemption or discovering the truth. Sometimes you find the most precious mushroom growing in compost."but for you to have any words to justify the killing of a 12 year old "you use the wrong term. I don't justify any actions. I rationalize them, sure. That must be done for the truth to be found. Buy I can only rationalize what happens, as I am not the judge of these things.I'm certain you don't justify things like this when they happen in your favor, do you? it would be a shame if you chastised me for it, then turn around and do it yourself.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/162	0.617
Well I'm a 26 year old African American male I work make a honest living take care of my family never been in any major trouble never had a ticket but as soon as I bought me a brand new car I was stop 7 times in a 2 weeks spand for ridiculous reason speeding while I was at a stop sign not using signal when I was driving straight not turning and the list go's on everything is not race related but now I have a tendency to try to stay as far away from cops as I can because I don't want to continue to be harass	African, Old, Race	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/109	2.752

NotTotallyHopelessNo there are problems in the African Community need to address that aren't helping matters. There is a mindset there and I've seen it in my family as well. I've seen it in my aunts, I've seen it in my uncles. In my cousins. I've seen it in those who I went to school with. It is very hard to describe only as they are those who would rather play victim because they can and never strive to be better people themselves without some excuse. They get up in arms and get angry when something happens and strike out of those who they see as enemy but when all the dust settles they are back to their selfish way of thinking not making things better for themselves or those around them. They would rather be petty. They would rather blame others without taking a little responsibility when their actions have attributed to the problem. These people hold back those who lives will improve with more strives towards equality by continuing doing selfish things. They hold back equality just like those who don't acknowledge that racism exists.	African, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/187	1.07
Consider genetics. Whites and Asians have been living in civilized nations under laws for a very long time and have adapted by developing behaviors that respect laws and authority. Blacks have needed more generations to adapt to the environment. When a cop stops a black man, it's more likely to elicit their fight or flight mechanism because their more recent ancestors were in an environment where that mechanism was key to their survival.It sounds racist to consider these things, but it's actually much worse to ignore them. Being aware of racial differences in behavior could help law enforcement more safely confront and apprehend suspects. I have a feeling many cops already know this instinctively but aren't allowed to say it because it's considered racism .I think it's much healthier for society if we start to recognize the genetic differences between races and deal with them respectfully instead of pretending they don't exist.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/153	1.961

Oh lordy, now we are stepping into this.Stephen Arnquist Your comment should be a new thread and not included in this because this is a discussion of my comment of how things look and how people form opinion, good or bad, based on the assumptions of previous actions and how it is portrayed in the media.To justify racism because of "genetics" is to ignore all the obvious contradictions to that very thought, from African Americans (or any other ethnicity ) who acts what one culture might call "civilized" to whites (or any other ethnicity ) who might act like savages compared to another society. In fact, the "genetics" line of thought was abandoned long ago when it comes to comparison within a species. Yes, there are minor variations in level of heart attacks or certain conditions like sickle-cell anemia which have some correlation to ethnicity , but it is more an origin and lifestyle issue than base genetics.I am leaving your comment up for clarification to my objections, but please know that it steps way off topic and I implore you and other commenters to take this branch off the conversation to a new thread.	African, Ethnicity, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/195	2.564
What may work for the majority might not work for minorities. In regards to examples of how an African American life may be different than a completely similar white person. Ex: You may find that blacks have more crime but also protest for gun restrictions. This may not make sense because states with open carry have less crime. However, blacks are frequently shot/violently assaulted because they are assumed to have a gun by police and vigilantes alike. It would predictably (not factually) make even more chaos to increase the possibility that they have a gun. Even if they were walking into their middle class Target, things would happen very differently than it does for the plenty of white Americans that can stroll into a store with a rifle on their backs.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/131	0.763
Okay, people, time to add some of the "right thing to do" to this conversation when there is a white police officer, a black suspect in custody and a heart attack. [LINK]	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/32	3.125
It's important not to forget that the USA is NOT the only place where this sort of racism can and has happened, however.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/23	4.348
I live in FL, where a couple of years ago 'educational reform' laws were passed that effectively lower the bar for minorities so that test scores for historically underperforming districts would look better on paper, leading to more money for said districts. Insane, insulting, insidious institutional racism - almost as scary as the criminal 'justice' system!	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/56	1.786

If you haven't already, I recommend checking out Ta-Nehisi Coates' article on "A Case for Reparations."It's a really interesting analysis about how there are still people alive today that had to endure government sanctioned racism that undermined their ability to accrue wealth (and often just had wealth stolen from them). Was one of those eye opening moments for me in 2014.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/62	1.613
How come when people talk about race they only talk about Blacks and Whites. What about Asians?	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/17	5.882
Why is it people only look at racism as if it is a one way street? Racism is an issue for EVERYONE. Even white people can be the target for racism . It is, admittedly, rarer for a white person to be discriminated against but it still happens.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/47	6.383
thanks for taking the time. it's really important for people of color to have privileged allies who speak out on behalf of them. please make a similar about sexism . it's essential for struggles of females to be heard; and they will be taken more into consideration if they are told by a man! :)	Sexism	Gender - General	1/54	1.852
Racism is innate in man.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/5	20.0
" Race " is a social construct created to divide. Their is only one race , the human race .	Race	Ethnicity - General	3/16	18.75
do you want real equality? I'm sorry to say that it will take something the American public is (unjustifiably) terrified of, GOVERNMENT CONTROL! while it won't eliminate all inequality, Universal Health Care will eliminate a good deal if not all of health inequality, a properly funded and regulated state school system will help eliminate some of the education inequality, and brining in stricter and properly enforced laws against racial bias will help to deal with it in the private sector.now the Police on the other hand... well that just needs a complete reorganisation, we still have HUGE problems with racism in the Metropolitan Police even today even though things have got a lot better since the 90's, though our version of huge is not the same as yours, the shooting of Mark Duggan, a known gang member with previous firearms convictions who had picked up a gun and that was the reason the police were following him when he made a sudden arm movement when he saw them and so they shot him, was a lot more clear cut than the recent ones state side, and that still caused huge riots in London	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/194	0.515

Half of white American's don't think race is a significant problem in America. As a white, male American (pretty much the most advantaged type of person in the world), I have to say that those people are stupid. Just because racism doesn't affect you in your ivory tower, and just because you're not a racist , doesn't mean that it's not a major problem in America.	Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/65	4.615
Basically America Sucks and needs to be burned! so nothing new then.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/12	8.333
Thank you John. I appreciate when you guys talk about "touchy" subjects like this one. I find it ridiculous that people discriminate others because of the amount of melanin being produced by our melanocytes. That's all it is really. Just wanted to address something that I saw if a few comments- racism towards white people does exist. In the US as well. Just because we don't talk about it doesn't mean it's not there. I believe racism comes from experience and socialization. It could come from your parents or your day to day life. A memory that I cherish- is my preschool and kindergarten days. Both years, I was the only white girl in the class. (With only black classmates and teachers) At a young age , no racism even existed or was even THOUGHT of. The first day, I was hugely welcomed and played with everyone. Wouldn't be able to recall any bad memories from the teachers. My brother, then in first grade, wasn't so lucky. He was victimized by the teacher and classmates for being white. My parents as well, have experienced it first hand. Not getting help for being white, or racial/sexist slurs towards my mother. During high school, I heard hundreds of things that were racist towards white people, that are so common that they don't even realize what they're saying. I'm not trying to downplay racism that's happening in the US today, just a reminder that fighting racism by racism isn't the way to go. Race is just a word, we're all human after all. :)	Age, Black, Common, Race, Racism, Racist	Age - General, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	11/260	4.231
0:55 " Black people are three times more likely to be arrested for drug possession" Yeah, and black people are over 9000 times more likely to seek revenge and get on the media because of that lol I am sorry but I never saw any kind of racism actually actively happening, so I say screw the media - they deform the view of society upon their needs. Also, video about racism - yet all I hear is " black people, white people, black people, white people", only once I remember you saying Latinos. This is not about racism . This is about "inequality" against black people.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	8/103	7.767

America is just really really dumb . So many climate change denyers, so many warmongerers. So many greedy capitalists. I don't like being half american, i wish Alaska wasnt owned by the US.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/32	3.125
I want to know more about drug possession statistics. Namely where people are arrested for the drug use.If black people are more likely to do them in public the higher arrest ratio could make sense.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/36	2.778
Just curious: what about racism against Asians? As a group, Asian Americans don't experience the economic marginalization or police brutality that black , NDN, and Latino Americans do (though certain Asian ethnic groups do), but they are the victims of a lot of cultural stereotyping. Cultural stereotypes have real effects on people, but they're harder to measure than things like wealth or prison sentences. Where can I find data on these effects?None of this is to detract from this video, which addresses some very fascinating and enraging issues about racism against black Americans. I'm just wondering about this other issue as well.	Black, Ethnic, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/102	4.902

Of course there is racial bias. Of course there is racism. Why? Why do people treat black people differently? Why aren't Asians treated the same way? Why aren't Asians ever discussed when it comes to "racism"? It's because they, magically, are immune to racial bias, I guess. It seems that the melanin content in African skin sets off some sort of irrational rage gene in people. Isn't that just awful? Of course, we could consider that, perhaps, people are responsible for teaching others how to treat them. And/Or we could just look up the FBI's statistics on crime and compare the race population percentages to the percentages of races that commit crime. ...Let's see... As it turns out, there are about 5x more white people in the US than black people. That would mean in order for the general public to have an equal perception of black people to white people, when it comes to violence and crime, black people would need to commit 5x less crime than white people. If this is not the case, black people disproportionately are responsible for violence and crimes when compared to white people. Given that they are an easily identifiable minority, it should be no wonder why there are negative stereotypes, and why they are treated differently by the general, poorly educated public. SO, what is the solution? Well, if it's the melanin theory, which I'm sure is more pc, they are up the creek. If however, modern "racism" is a result of actions taken by people within the black community, it seems that the only feasible solution for ridding the country of "racism" (a reaction) would be to fix the problems within the black community first.	African, Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	13/283	4.594
Do classism	Classism	Social Class - General	1/2	50.0
Thank you John for not bringing up the needlessly thorny issue of the dictionary definition of racism . The data you selected clearly speaks for itself as to the injustices in societies at large.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/33	3.03
I have a question for anybody who feels like answering. Do you feel like racism won't be as much of an issue 100 years from now? I'm not asking whether or not you want it to be. I'm asking do you think it will still be an issue, regardless of your stance on it now. I personally feel like we have been making amazing progress towards a more equal America. Just think of how it was back in 1914. Now think of now. I think in 100 years we will see great progress but that's just my opinion. :P	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/99	1.01
Serious question for y'all, how do you think comedic show and movies affect racism in the US?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/17	5.882

Is there racism in America? Yes, some people out there are still racist , but that really is an exception to the rule. Racism for the most part has disappeared, most people simply aren't racist . Sadly, there is no way to control racism on this level without infringing on the rights of the people. The government and state can't persecute someone who hasn't broken any laws. But systemic racism (i.e white people are racist against black people) just isn't true. If it were, it could be prosecuted, but the racism exists on such a small level today that it's just about impossible for racists to be persecuted for saying a racial slur or something. Not saying it doesn't exist or doesn't matter, I just think there are so many other things in this country that we need to clean up, but we're stuck in the mud with this issue, and it kinda breaks my heart to see people wasting their precious breaths pushing against a brick wall.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	9/166	5.422
What about all the data that was mentioned in John's video?Why are people with black names on their CVs/resumes being denied jobs when people with white names have the same qualifications? Why are black people getting longer sentences in jail for the same crimes as white people?Why are black people getting systematically more often killed by police than white people?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/62	4.839
Firstly, like I said, the callback for an interview thing isn't systematic. One or two people who decide who gets hired decided on the "white names" over the " black names", not even all the time, only sometimes, possibly randomly. There is no law against what they did, and they therefore can't be prosecuted. As someone who previously worked in hiring, my boss told me if two people come in with similar resumes, then I HAD to give it to the person of color, no exceptions. That hardly seems fair.Secondly, black people are getting longer sentences just 20 of the time, for similar crimes, not identical. There are details that are always going to be overlooked in those studies, usually in the favor of whoever is writing it. Not saying it doesn't happen, but you can't judge a national problem by a headline from CNN, you have to go deeper into the problem itself and judge every issue case by case.Lastly, saying black people are getting systematically killed is just wrong. For every study you can come up with, I could find two others that go against it. There is so much information out there, all claiming to be true, that it's hard to say whether blacks are killed more than whites or not.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/215	1.395

1. Provide studies that go against it then. Show me data that says that proportionately white people get killed by police more than black . I guarantee that you won't, because it doesn't happen. All the available data shows the opposite, that black people die at the hands of the police a disproportionate amount of the time.2. Similar crimes are all that can be considered, there won't be two crimes that are identical. A trend is a trend. You're seriously going to stand there and tell me that all of these cases can be explained away by details. Doesn't it seem odd to you that in all the cases involving white people there just happen to be these minute details that override things, where as in black cases there aren't.3. No one said white names get chosen over black all the time. But a study involving literally thousands of resumes showed that there was a trend. People with names commonly found among black communities are getting less call backs. Now I agree that your affirmative action experience is unfair, but that doesn't undermine the results of this study. I am not saying that the recruitment consultants should be sued, just that procedures need to change.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	5/206	2.427
1. Having a hard time finding any unbiased, factual evidence about the matter, for either side of the argument. If you can find a completely factual, unbiased, proven true study or statistic proving your point, I'd love to see it.2. Details mean everything. The national justice system cannot go into detail for every crime in every state every time something happens. That's why it's the state's responsibility. And yes, I know no two crimes are really identical, I just think it's unfair so many people are comparing apples to oranges in so many cases. Also, a link to the FBI site explaining that a) black people commit more homicides than whites overall and b) that black people kill black people 10 times more than white people do: [LINK] 3. That fact that it happens that " black " names get called back less than "white" names (even if only by a small amount) is not evidence of racism , because there is no relation between racism and the trend. You can't say "Well black names are chosen a bit less than white names, so the people who hired them are racist !" You have to explain the relation between your source and your thesis. There is no proof to say they are racist , and no proof to say they aren't. Not a good thing or bad thing, just kinda a thing. Could be a coincidence for all we know.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	9/236	3.814

Justin Breedon 1. The US census department and US Justice Department are listed and referenced in this blog post by Channel 4 [LINK] 2. Details are important, but the fact remains that a trend is a trend. Again, by relying on details what you are essentially saying is that in 20 extra of black cases there are details that mean that black people should be more harshly punished. Do you not see how that stretches the bounds of credibility? Also, the fact that black people commit more homicides isn't relevant. It is racism to judge an individual's potential actions by the actions of those with the same race as him/her.3. The reason it's not a coincidence is the number of samples involved. The source involved literally thousands of resumes. If it was just one or two, then yes, there could be coincidence. But the study avoided that possibility by invoking thousands of resumes to thousands of different employers. The proof that they are racist is in their actions. They made decisions based on race . Their decisions can only have been based on race because the resumes were otherwise identical.	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	8/190	4.211
Justin Breedon If the sample size was large enough, it would all would have averaged out more or less, and people with black names getting call backs less often could not be attributed to chance. The employers must have been acting racist (consciously or otherwise) Also with the prison sentences mentioned in the video that were "similar" for the same reason above can't be attributed to chance. Say that you take 500 cases of unarmed assault committed by blacks and another 500 for whites. Overall you can reasonably assume that in an unbiased court room, both groups would have a similar average jail sentence. If this is not the case, you can assume with some level of accuracy that courts have some racial bias.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/122	1.639
A lot of people need to open their eyes and not only see the problem, but do something about it. The racism that has been, and is going on in the U.S. is making me furious! I live in Norway, and I want to help, or do something or make people realise what is going on. And it's so frustrating, seeing all the people who stand up against the racism while the government seem to turn their backs and do so little to prevent it. Isn't there any way we can make it stop..?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/94	2.128

i'm latina i get it all the time people think i'm gay or transgender i'm all female worse when i do yoga..	Gay, Transgender	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality, Sexual Identity - Transexuality	3/22	13.636
See, I don't consider myself racist for one reason being that I have friends of all races. There are bad people in all races but more bad tends to show up in black and latinos in my experience.. And statistically blacks and by black I mean American born blacks not Africans as I have many actual African friends who are really nice. Everyday I go to school I hear " nigga " in the hallways and more often then not it's black and Latinos using it. Nextly I have class clowns and more often than not it's blacks and Latinos. It's just that I don't see the world being equal; as much as I want it to be, until the statistics are equal which they currently aren't. Now I'm not saying Whites and Asians are perfect but I don't seem to find Asian and White thugs as much as I do Blacks and Latinos. There are good of each race indeed but the amount of BAD showing out is higher in Blacks and Latinos, we need the GOOD blacks and latinos to show up more than the BAD, especially this day and age . I love old times ex: Martin Luther King and his followers riots were powerful with speech and class, not setting fire to businesses. Once again, until the statistics are equal this world will never be equal and that's just how it is in my opinion.	African, Age, Black, Nigga, Old, Race, Racist	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	9/236	3.814
You might see more black & latino thugs, but if you assume that its just something intrinsic to being black or latino that makes you a thug, that's racism . Clearly something outside of them is putting them in that situation.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/40	7.5
Oh thank god, for a minute there I thought I could get to the end the year without another rich white guy telling me how to feel about racism . That was close.Thanks john, your "not even four minutes" of breathless pratling about something you "ARE NOT AN EXPERT OF" was just the dialog we needed to get anywhere in this country	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/62	1.613

Are job app names really correlated with race though? I mean, I wouldn't blame an employer for not hiring if the applicant has an extremely unusual name like Adolf Hitler, or Lucifer or Ringadinalingdong. If you've got a name like "La—Sha" (Ladasha) or "" (hashtag) it doesn't sound professional, legally change it, then people will take you seriously. Parents shouldn't ruin their kids lives by giving them ridiculous names, even if it seems like a nod to their heritage.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/79	1.266
There is clearly an issue of racism when one culture's names are somehow considered "unprofessional". You might think that a name like Laquica is ridiculous, but in Spain or parts of Africa, they think that names like "Hank" sound absurd. There isn't any such thing as a universal arbiter of name sensibleness.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/52	1.923
But there is such a thing as common sense when naming a child though. I never said that foreign names are ridiculous or unprofessional, what I said was that some parents misguidedly name their children after things from their heritage or life. I grew up with more "Hunter"s and "Tanner"s than I can count (in southern Ohio), and for me that never really seemed like a name with meaning or effort behind it. Names are paramount in first impressions and in that case I would much rather hire someone named jamaal than someone named hunter. Titles are part of an identity, and parents shouldn't taint a child's life by making it laughable. For example some Dutch names sound like cuss words in English. Would it be prudent to name your child like that if you lived in America? No, so clearly there are some guidelines.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/145	0.69
Michael Trimmer I'm talking about if the resumes were exactly the same, only determining factor being the name itself, as I'm sure they would have done in the study John mentions. Yes, judging people on one aspect isn't the ideal but it's what happens anyway, perhaps without even being aware that they're doing it. You can't expect everyone to accommodate /creative parents by being more educated about names; trolls will be mean and tease inevitably.Do you think some names are objectively, universally better than others, either by just the way it sounds or its context/meaning? IMO Robert sounds better than Bob, Jacqueline better than Jane, etc. In fact most artists and other entrepreneurs craft their names or brands to be more artistic, memorable and representative of their particular passion. Their names are specifically meant to stick in people's minds, like an insidious pop song or commercial jingle. Anyway, I'm just saying that judging a name and judging a race aren't always an overlapping prejudice, and there's probably a lot more to it that we haven't discovered yet.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/178	0.562

I think you can indeed expect everyone to accomodate creative parents, and even if you can't accomodate them, why should people judge someone on choices made by their parents?I agree that name judging isn't always about race , but it often is. When it comes to bands etc, that's a bit different. In those instances, the name is part of a product. A person is not a product.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/68	1.471
I would love to see less of the discussion focus on definitions of what is/is not racism .For some reason there is a particular section of the anti- racism movement that feels the need to go beyond merely attacking racism itself, but also suggesting that it is impossible for a white person to be on the receiving end of racism .I understand why people feel the need to do this, because there are people out there who are trying to derail the conversation by saying "Let's not forget about it the other way round" etc, but the problem is that this seems to be causing more problems than it is solving, and is turning off many people who would otherwise be sympathetic.These groups of people, those who deny that PoCs can ever be racist or who say that white people can never feel racism as something turned against them, are just creating more drama and are causing more problems.Can we not compromise and just accept that PoCs can be racist , but that in the US and most of the western world it is only PoCs who suffer from institutional racism .	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	7/191	3.665
This study proves the advantage of whiteness in America. Very troubling. [LINK] "Our results show that black applicants were half as likely as equally qualified whites to receive a callback or job offer. In fact, black and Latino applicants with clean backgrounds fared no better than white applicants just released from prison."	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/52	3.846
Okay, I'm glad that you were willing to discuss racism with your audience, especially in light of the Ferguson protests, but I'm still waiting for reproductive rights to get attention. You and Hank have talked about racism a few times now (and should continue, and my request is not meant to replace these discussions, but to join them) but I'm sensing continuing reluctance to take on the weighty issue of abortion that a solid 1/2 of your followers will be affected by in their lifetimes.I feel ready to migrate away from Vlogbrothers for what I'm beginning to perceive as willingness to trade the issue of female bodily autonomy for viewership maximization.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/112	1.786
Well, I believe they have talked about the issue a bit (correct me if I am wrong), but it is in ways a more controversial topic than racism , particularly abortion.Most people know that racism is wrong (which is not the same as them not being racist ), but abortion is an issue where both sides tend to feel that they are morally right. The issue would also start a huge war in the comments, with little gained from it.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/79	3.797

Michael Trimmer 1)It's a uterus, not a womb. 2) pro-lifers are trying to take away bodily autonomy from pregnant people. Already we have people trying to keep a corpse, a literal corpse, alive because 'omg, fetus' even though the pregnant person asked not to be on life support. We have people dying because 'omg, fetus is still alive, sorry' while the pregnant person is literally being killed by the fetus. In case you're wondering, if you people manage to strip that right, it's a very slippery and quick slope down to forced organ transplants, blood donation, owning bodies, etc. 3)People tell those with pro-life views who do not have uteri to stay out of it because these people DO NOT LISTEN to the people who can get pregnant and do not care about the people they are putting in jeopardy. Also, fun fact. The pro-life movement started as a response to increased availability of the pill and abortion only became a cultural issue because upper-class white women started having fewer children. Basically, it has always been about denying people the right to govern when they have a family and how.	Slope	Nationality - Chinese	1/190	0.526
The real problem at this point is getting rid of the racism . Many people are racist in their subconscious and you can notice it. It's really not something I see going away any time soon. I.e how many people say jokingly in a stupid voice and says something to the effect of " im lakeisha and I like fried chicken"	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/60	3.333
Racism? I hate everyone...	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/4	25.0
I dont get why racism still excists. I know it sounds kind of child like but i cant help but think that in all reality 'white' is just a lighter shade of brown.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/33	3.03
spottytongue i know right! Sometimes it make me wanna laugh when i hear people talk about black or white cause in a way we are black , just a lighter shade of black . But what I'm trying to say is that i cant help but question why others dont see it this way. I guess I'm saying it a little simplified but in a way it is.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/66	4.545
Johanna Swan so i know it sounds kind of stupid but i honestly dont get racism . I would never ever judge one by his or her skin colour.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/28	3.571
Dalek Thay yeah of course i understand that thats the reason why racism excists, but it was ment as a theoretical question. What i ment was, if we just forget about all the history between dark skinnend and lite skinned people for a sec. Then why did white people, when they first came to Africa in like 1400 feel like they were any better than black people. I mean stuff like that blows my mind. Why couldn't they see that we're all equal? How can you set foot on someone's land and decide that you are better than them?	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/99	2.02

Dalek Thay I get that racism has those origins, but I just don't get why it's still around. It's not like we're a generation slowly adjusting to desegregation or other new equality laws - for God's sake, Americans voted in a black president over 5 years ago! Is it so much to hope that maybe we'd be used to this whole equality thing by now? Or at the very least, police wouldn't go around shooting and strangling black people to death because they have this fucked up prejudice that they must be somehow more dangerous because their skin is a bit darker? That sort of thing really confuses me.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/109	2.752
There's nothing wrong with seeing race . You can see if someone is a race , you can ask them in a polite way what race they consider themselves to be. The only problem with noticing what someone's race is if you take that information and discriminate against them.	Nothing, Race	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	5/47	10.638
I'm not sure why they call white people ,white anyway. White people's skin is more of a yellowish-red and black people's skin is more all different types of brown. Even yellow also.	Black, Yellow	Ethnicity - Asian (East- China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam), Ethnicity - Black, Nationality - Chinese, Nationality - Japanese	4/32	12.5
Yay! Data always tells the whole truth! It can never be interpreted to suit any one groups agenda. There isn't possibly any other factors...ergo... racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/24	4.167
No mention on sexism in our justice system. Regardless of race , men get stiffer sentences than women across the board. Men make up the majority of prisoners well be on the percentage of crimes there gender commits. No one will talk about this.	Gender, Race, Sexism	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	3/43	6.977

I looked up the literal definition of the word 'Racism' and not once did I see the word hatred there. I'm not trying to act like racism doesn't exist because it does, and it does on all sides, but if people looked at what it actually means instead of thinking that "all white people hate all black people" then there would be significantly less racial tension on a day to day basis in society. But what do I know? I'm a straight, white, Catholic, 17 year old girl that comes from a good family and goes to a good school. What do I know about discrimination? I do know this; In class, a white teacher told a black student to take out their head phones and stop talking back. The student accused the teacher of being a racist and told her 'I'm not your slave' but, did not get in trouble. Is it the fear of being accused as being racist that prevented the teacher from pursuing the student further? If it were the other way around, I would have been in the principal's office being accused of being a racist white student. As a white person, I've had to over compensate in order to 'right the wrongs' of other white people. If we are picking groups in school, I can't deny people a role in our group, even if they're a bad student because some how my denial will turn into something racial. Things like "is it because I'm black/Mexican/Asian?" are thrown around like they're hello's. That shouldn't be the case. Some people need to stop using race as the explanation for their failures or successes. Sometimes, things just happen, whether in your favor or not, but it can't always be about race or hatred. Racism isn't a hatred thing, because not all white people nor do all black people hate all other black or white people. It needs to stop being portrayed as such a simple, two sided argument. It's so much more than that. Look at what you're trying to do, where you live, and who you're surrounded by. But ultimately look inside yourself, because if racial tension is ever going to end, we ALL need to stop it.	Black, Old, Race, Racism, Racist	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	12/372	3.226
Racism. I think about cars-Germany and Japan. People are quite different physically in those two countries. Attitude to work is quite close, as it seems to me.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/27	3.704
Racism is honestly the most POINTLESS thibg humans ever invented. Such a primitive way of thought. Anyone who looks at another person of different racial backgrounds and automatically thinks wrong of them are a scum. The more diversity in this world the better. Music,food,movies,dance etc etc would be so boring without real flavours in this world.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/56	1.786
Racism isn't an invention	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/4	25.0

Sebastian Crawford So race is a human creation, in that it is a social concept. We know this because there is no scientific basis for race. Like, is race dependent on skin color? No, because blackness, for example, ranges many skin-colors. Location? No, because Asians literally come from an entire continent. Like, it's a continent. North American isn't a race. Why? Because the people who live on that continent are too varied to be grouped together in that way. Japanese people and Indians are likewise very varied, but they are both considered Asian. Why? Because it's not based in anything but cultural perception.Culture is made by us. I hope you don't dispute this. If you don't agree with this, this conversation is mute.So race was created by humans. We argue about why, but I don't feel like it. IT was then utilize to create a hierarchical system that allowed them to justify the dehumanization of an entire group of people in order to exploit them for slave labor. This process, the one that allowed "Christians" to kill Native Americans and enslave Africans, this method of dehumanization, is racism.So yes, statistics REFLECT racism. But racism is a creation, a violent and disgusting and INTENTIONAL one. It's important to remember this so we can understand that it can be deconstructed and abolished. It's not some intangible process. It's something that was made and continues to exist and will continue to exist until we destroy it.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	8/246	3.252
Sincerely, Elle The way I see it, it's just another type of fear or ignorance, if you don't know alot about spiders, you're more likely to be scared of them. I know a thing or 2 about them so they don't freak me out as much. But still... fuck earwigs!	Freak	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/50	2.0
I think the people that could help the situation are the powerful voices in music and media that speak for minorities. But the fact of the matter is most of the culture of "today's youth" promotes a sense of and I quote "fuck what you say, don't really give a fuck about choo, started from the bottom (of network television)Now we here."I think most of the rich black people unfortunately aren't educating their brothers and sisters to the racism. I wish p.diddy or someone black and rich could say "Hey Eric garners death was fucked up" but their is nothing said.Nobody rich and black cares, then it doesn't matter. You know, Bob Dylan and Bob Marley used music to sing about injustices that were wrong in society. I'm just hoping someone in the black community can do the same and stop rapping about loving bad bitches like it's a fucking problem. No weezy talk about something other than your money. That's the problem. No dialog. No conversation. Not my problem. Outta site outta mind.	Black, Nobody, Nothing, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/177	3.955

For people commenting/attempting to negate the presence of racism in our education systems:1. Realize that your story is incredibly important, but not always representative of the whole. I am a black kid who was part of the IB program and took Algebra in Middle School too, but that means absolutely nothing in context of how overall the educational system is racist . Nerdfighteria is sure to have an abnormal amount of AP and IB students. We are nowhere near equipped to be an accurate sample size of what minority student's have access to in terms of educational resources.2. Most areas are incredibly racially segregated due to white flight. When integration happened, white people literally ran away. Suburbs? In part, created to escape the integration of cities. Leading to those cities being stripped of resources, including good schools. Leading to many people of color who live in majority people of color neighborhoods and attending public school not having access to NEARLY the amount of resources as their white counterparts. Which is all a result of racism . Furthermore, the attempt to integrate by moving black kids to white schools rather than getting white kids to attend black schools and giving those schools the resources the white schools were already getting, was a horrible decision that resulted in schools that were already doing good for black people and other people of color to continue to not be funded properly. So when we say that majority brown (specifically black and hispanic) schools are underfunded and denied resources, be aware of the history and be aware that just because you did not encounter it, does not mean that it is not happening.Just saying.	Black, Nothing, Racism, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	9/280	3.214
Question: Are there comparably as many black people living in the united states, or is the number far less?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/19	5.263
For lots of information about how race negatively effects the American criminal justice system see The New Jim Crow by Michelle Alexander : [LINK]	Crow, Jim Crow, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/24	12.5
I feel like the statistics in this video are the most important part. The experiences of people dealing with racism are fundimental, but anecdotal evidence ultimately isn't enough to prove the existence of anything like this. Thank you for putting data at the centre of this.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/46	2.174

I feel like this is a losing battle. People who deny that systemic racism exists don't let facts get in the way of their convictions. Ever. In fact, this video has been up for, what, 40 minutes? In like half an hour someone is going to start screaming about "SJWs" and posting statistics about black people committing more crime than white people. And that shit is going to get like 100 likes because people would rather listen exclusively to whatever fits the narrative they like than accept that some things might be harder for other people than themselves.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/98	2.041
The SJW thing AND the " black commit more crimes" comments have already been posted - scroll down. :(	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/18	5.556
Tell me about it man, that's why these topics are so hard to discuss.It's a knife edge of giving equal opportunities to everyone, flaying oneself for being caucasian or being inadvertently racist .	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/33	3.03
I will say though, part of "not forgetting" to be awesome - is not accepting that anything is a losing battle. What's the quote about evil only winning when good men do nothing ? Our job is to fight the evils (in this case racism ) even, and probably especially, when they're hard.	Nothing, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	2/51	3.922
Joker13621 So, what? Because i'm white, I shouldn't care about racism in America?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/13	7.692
It's such a shame that you're right, this year should of been a huge wake up call for America, the awful events that happened in Ferguson and New York should of been a catalyst for racial equality. There has been a lot of great activism, but the fact that America has a black president and almost none of these white killers have been punished angers me so much. Obama is in such a unique position in history and he has such a opportunity to make a big change, that's not to say he hasn't made some great changes, but if he just put his neck out a bit more he could of really used these tragedies to make a change. Instead Fox News has convinced the majority of white America that's it's not about race and that everyone just needs to go to church and calm down so we can ignore all the problems. Tell me when we can vote for Jon Stewart.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/163	1.227
energizerkelley And why can't change come from inside AND outside " black culture"?? For instance, John just cited the UChicago study about biases based on black - or white-sounding names: that's an area where every business owner can educate themselves about the hiring decisions they're making. When we are more mindful of our own biases (when we educate ourselves, like by watching this video and/or the playlist) regardless of our position inside of or outside of black culture... that's when the world wins, and worldsuck is decreased.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/85	2.353

Implicit egotism suggests that any one of any race will give preferential treatment to their own race on a subconscious level. Your race (which is a social construct) changes the statistical likelihood of a great many things. You will be more comfortable in a community that is populated with the same race , around people who have similar career as yourself, and people who natively speak the same language. You are also statistically more likely to marry someone who has the same first letter in their first name. All of these things mean nothing to the individual, but as a whole it paints a completely different picture. That is why no one should be allowed to just drop the race card when race happens to be part of something. I'm a fan of the idea that racism has be overtly provable and can't be based on what people think other people are thinking. The thing about racists/bigots is they will have a pattern of racism /bigotry. A one off isn't proof of racially driven crime, it can't be. One event cannot determine a pattern.	Nothing, Race, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	8/183	4.372
in fact someone DID use the letters SJW in the same post where they reference supposed black crime and violence... sigh. Why is this so predictable? So frustrated.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/28	3.571
NickGreyden The reason those messages go south from those groups is everyone puts in their two cents. A few people try to get the message out. A few extreme viewpoints move in and you get what one college lecturer calls a "social version of gresham's law", meaning that bad arguments eventually out good arguments. An example can be seen here in some other comment threads. Good evidence is presented by John to support his opinion, then more like minded but extreme view points move into the discussion, and before you know it you have a bunch of people calling all white people racist and barring any discussions. They hold that view as sacrosanct and not up for argument, and the forward momentum of John's message is lost because people lose the view of the point of the video altogether. It becomes about people fighting over the arguments rather than arguing about the point of the video.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/156	0.641

IdleDrifter I can understand my white brothers and sisters who work hard everyday and feel that with the weight of taxes and burdens of life. I do point out not only John's stats in this video but also in this country, white people's problems are America's problems. Whether it is taxes, Ebola, cigarette smoking, LGBT issues, family, etc. The country will spend more time, energy and resources towards the problems of the white community than any other group. If there is a problem with wage stagnation, family values, culture, police state, prison sentencing and drug use, it will not get the attention and support of "American institutions" unless the white community suffers from it or if others protest. My white brothers and sisters will also see their people represented in history and in the media in so many various levels. For many black folks up until the most recent generations we have not been able to see ourselves in other form but as the backdrop or an annoyance. IMO, if the current conservative view point about individualism, merit and hard work as at play over 100 years ago, we would not be having this conversation. However, black generation X'ers are the first generation to experience "wealthy white male freedom" since the founding of this country. So as John stated, the majority history (238 years) of this country has not looked good for most black folks and minorities.	Black, LGBT	Ethnicity - Black, Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality, Sexual Identity - Transexuality	6/237	2.532
I feel like the whole idea of racial stats is tainted, Like John touched on, it's difficult to separate figures from other figures. For example: for many years, the most broken-into car was the Plymouth/Dodge minivan, then is was the Honda Civic. Is this because these vehicles are especially vulnerable?? No. It's because there was such a high percentage of them around. People in general like to congregate with others like themselves (not necessarily meaning race ), so if you have an area where there are many of a particular race , than you'll find high stats of that group causing issues. We also tend to downplay the good things and exaggerate the bad. In my area, the worst racism is against native Americans as lazy drunks, however there are many who succeed. And honestly, they succeed so much greater than I ever could because they have a much more difficult time. They are set up to fail in every aspect, and those that do fail are set up as the norm. I'll admit that being from Canada, and a white male, what I've seen may likely be very different than the average American.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/192	1.562

DanThePropMan My biggest issue is that bias and racism is used interchangeably. Bias is completely natural, it's simply a preference. People present it as a false dichotomy though. Your feelings about anyone are on a range. If you subconsciously prefer to be around people who are like you (implicit egotism), that does not mean you hate people who are not like you (different language, different skin color, different religion, etc). It just means you are naturally driven to be around people like yourself. There is nothing inherently wrong with a bias. You are driven by your biases every single day. What way do you prefer to go to work, what kind of ice cream do you buy, what color car do you shop for.. all of these things are bias. But so is who you choose to hang out with (statistically likely to be same race, same economic status, have similar interests). Hiring probably falls into the same trap. John talked about that study where they submitted identical resumes but with different names. Of course if the person who is hiring is presented with the same resume with all the same features, they are going to choose a name that is like there's if they have an anglicized name. It's not proof of racism, just a bias that is naturally ingrained. That study is very suspect to me though. I looked over it and all the resumes they submitted were identical, but then near the end it states that people with an anglicized name were chosen even when the Afrocentric named people had a better resume... directly contradicting the study itself. It could have just been a slip up though. I'm not going to doubt the overall data they have presented though. Racism though is basically choosing not to hire those people based on race.. which that study doesn't entirely reveal. It would be more telling if they instead left out names and only were shown the race check boxes. But what can happen in those situations is that people who are made aware of their bias will consciously fight it or at least seek to cover it. Meaning that if they were made to choose consciously based on race it is probably that the hiring would have been more even rather than relying on a subconscious tick that literally every single living person suffers from. My only complaint about what John presented was that particular study. The numbers for all the rest seem to hit the nail on the head in my experience. I don't think it's all that intellectually honest to look at all of these things and come up with a single conclusion though. But he did only put up a four minute video and I definitely mean no disrespect to John or Hank.	Nothing, Race, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	8/467	1.713
Actually black men don't commit more crimes than their white counterparts. They are just more likely to be convicted of a crime. Back to that biased justice system.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/28	3.571

IdleDrifterDid you actually watch this video? I get the feeling that you did what most of the defensive people did. You saw the word " racism " rolled your eyes and immediately commented. Do you truly believe we are all Equal because the President is black , Tiger woods played Golf and Oprah is rich? How are we equal in a system that we had no hand or opinion in creating. Black people had no opinion in how the judicial system works, Native Americans had no say in how the job market was structured. Latinos has no say in how the Medical system is ran so are we truly equal? Think of it like this if your partner moves into your house is she truly equal in your house or did she just have to conform to the way that you did things before she got there. The only way equality will ever exist would be if we all equally had a say in the system we have to live under instead of one particular group.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/174	1.724
Edgebotv4 "yet the offending rate is nowhere near as high." Based on who's stats? What are the nationality of the people who took those stats? What are their basis's? Do you know? If you don't know that those stats are invalid. This is coming from someone who deals with stats on a daily basis. Nothing is set in stone. Every result that you can find will reflect what the researcher was looking for. The only way we'd ever been able to have a complete unbiased view on race relations and crime would be to have a a complete neutral and unbiased researchers from different nationalities and cultures research it.	Nationality, Nothing, Race	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	3/109	2.752
Netro1992 Forgive me I was always taught when you using quotations marks to actually quote the person word for word and not it's not actually a quote if you are rewording it. Secondly as someone who has studied Criminology and worked for the criminal justice System I am speaking from experience that this system is incredibly basised towards black people. Thats not to suggest that some black people haven't engaged in illegal activity because they have the same white, latinios, Native Americans Asian etc have. I am saying that there is no shred of scientific evidence that suggests one race is more prone to violence than another. If anything History has repeadly shown that white people have been easily the most violent and ruthless. And that's not only to black people. So yes those stats are complete bull shit and are nothing more than for white people to feel justified in their treatment to black people and other minorities. Good day to you.	Black, Nothing, Race	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/163	3.681
Edgebotv4Can you prove that they are correct? Can you prove that a system which was created by white people could not benefit the same race of people that created it?	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/31	3.226

can you move the goal posts any more in this discussion? what is your standard of evidence to prove the reality of Black crime levels?, without something to add other than rhetoric you appear to be simply in denial.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/39	2.564
Blatant Ad Hominem, and accusing me of cognitive dissonance is borderline comedic as it would imply im holding 2 conflicting views as fact which has not been demonstrated, my point which i appear to have failed to communicate is that the black community has a serious pervasive problem with criminality and simply pretending it doesnt and all evidence supporting it is fabricated does a disservice to everyone, the cycle will continue.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/71	1.408
energizerkelleyare you honestly suggesting that the ENTIRETY of black culture glorifies crime?because that would make you a racist .	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/20	10.0
Joker13621 Not really. There are genetic differences, but humans have very low genetic diversity. Besides. two unrelated people of the same race generally have a similar amount of genetic differences as two people of different races.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/36	2.778
William Hadley The problem with your statement is that most people who recognize that racism is still an endemic problem in our society also recognize that intra-racial crime and crime in general are problems. The existence of one problem does not mean the other does not exist. It would be very hypocritical to say that crime stats don't matter, but that's not what Denshuu is saying, he's saying that people don't want to talk about both. "People would rather listen exclusively to whatever fits their narrative..." Exclusively is the operative word there. While I am more than willing to talk about and attempt to resolve both issues, people who deny the existence of racism are ignoring the facts.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/118	1.695
Fabre Zeitgeist GeffrardDo you realise how many racial separatists agree with you there? Do you realise how many people who advocate splitting up America into different chunks completely support your idea that people have difficulty (and sometimes even outright refuse to try) understanding the concerns of different races?I've even heard it said that Mike Brown was killed by diversity. That had he been in an entirely black country and a black policeman had stopped him them he wouldn't have felt like they were out to get him. He might have co-operated and still be alive today.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/98	2.041

I'm not a racial separatist but I do agree with them that many white people are in denial of the systematic racism that blacks faces and would rather ignore the problem and pretend it doesn't exist instead of addressing it. Why do you think with so many years gone by since Martin Luther King and the civil rights movement not much has fundamentally changed? It will probably have to have to take another civil rights type movement to complete the vision of the late Martin Luther King of an equal society with poverty irradiated.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/95	1.053
Nothing but excuses for the failure of communities.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/8	12.5
All of what you say is true...but the worse alternative is if we stop talking about important issues. Even if a lot of people think like that, opinions are always being formed, whether by people who're coming of independent thinking age or someone who was truly astounded by some reality. I wouldn't call it a losing battle, just an incredibly tough one :)	Age	Age - General	1/63	1.587
I'm really starting to hate the term "SJW". I know where it originated from (immature teenagers on Tumblr who think they know what social activism is and how it works, but really don't), but I think people are inherently beginning to derogatorily berate someone as a "social justice warrior" whenever someone starts talking about social issues; even when said person actually has evidence and a good, concise argument to back it up. I feel like it's making people afraid of actually speaking up on inequalities in society out of fear of being branded a "whiny crybaby" or "butthurt".Do you know how dangerous that mindset is? So just because I acknowledge the existence of blatant racial or gender bias in our society, I get branded with a passive-aggressive, derogatory title?	Gender	Gender - General	1/130	0.769
James Russell That is weird .. you don't know a single thing about me. I don't benefit from any of the things John has talked about. You just assume I have for some strange reason or that I want the situation to be as it is, which I do not. You are talking the "bullshit".	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/54	1.852

William Hadley But you can't honestly believe that the two aren't related. Hundreds of years of systemic oppression and decades more under institutional and even unconscious bias are going to cause some huge problems in the communities that deal with them. Additionally, the purpose of this video was to discuss racism, not crime. If the video had been about problems facing the african-american community and he didn't mention crime then that would be a different story. Crime is a problem, but I would argue that it's not the fact that people are black that causes them to commit crimes at a higher rate than other people. It's the conditions that a vast majority of black people in the country face. If our places were reversed I guarantee you the situation would not be much changed.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/135	2.222
Ok, did you seriously just call slavery, jim crow, and the klu klux klan "people being mean"? Becasue if so, then there is absolutely no taking you seriously. If you contend that a systematic, directed and often fatal campaign that was perpetuated against these individuals for hundreds of years is simply "people being mean"... then you either ignorant, in denial, or racist. I can only hope to god that it's one of the first two. Also, your claim is bullshit, first, blacks are disproportionately more likely to be affected by poverty In 2010, 27.4 percent of blacks were in poverty, compared to 9.9 percent of non-Hispanic whites ( [LINK] Additionally, poor black people are often even further under the poverty line than are white people. In addition, the highly disadvantaged Black neighborhoods were more likely than the white neighborhoods to be grouped together, which may intensify the negative effects ( [LINK] Finally, two separate studies from Villanova University and Ohio State University both support the hypothesis that crime is tied to poverty, not to race. ( [LINK] Jed Feldman at Ithaca College even did a mathematical analysis of the two. His results supported that the two are indeed positively correlated [LINK]	Black, Crow, Jim Crow, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/201	2.985
The actions of a few are not an excuse to vilify an entire group. Accusing black people of being a "violent race" because of their skin color is sick, wrong and just plain racist.	Black, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/34	8.824

William Hadley You are making the same kind of mistake about black people that people on the left love to make about white people. Looking at populations as a whole is just a bad way to make the judgement you are making. As not all white people are rich and affluent, not all black people are likely to commit crimes and end up in jail. Also, I feel this point was already covered in John’s video. Police profile black people more, which consequently gets them caught for minor crimes that then land them in jail. It skews the statistics to make it look like more black people commit more crime overall, but the numbers are forced that way by the habits of the police. It can’t be said that black people have a more violent culture based on those statistics because of the circular habit of affirming the consequent, but it also cannot be stated they do not. The statistics are not useful in this because they do not confirm your what you are saying, they only confirm that more black people are incarcerated.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	6/184	3.261
William Hadley First: You certainly can racially profile murder statistics. It is a well established fact, as laid out by defense attorneys, that the police are not charged with catching the correct person for a crime but anyone they can fit to the crime. Which fits neatly into the profiling situation. That would also be why the largest portion of inmates exonerated by DNA evidence is also black inmates.Second: My point is that you cannot make a statement about the culture overall based on these statistics, you are inferring far more than you should from some numbers and furthermore, those numbers are not meant to be read to determine the overall makeup of a given portion of a population.Third: Police admit to using profiling all the time. As does every security agency on the planet. It’s not unprovable by any stretch of the imagination. Furthermore, the belief that more black people are criminals makes the profile that way when they do profile. I have to drive home from work every night through a township filled with police that will pull you over for driving late, regardless of how you are driving. This is because they are more likely to catch a drunk driver if they concentrate on people who are driving past a certain hour. They are profiling when they do that, it’s quite obnoxious and common.	Black, Common	Ethnicity - Black, Social Class - Working class	3/229	1.31

James Blunkett You are really just a very unreasonable person. The language you use this discourse shows you have very little to invest besides wildly emotional accusations.You want the evidence to show that there are more black criminals as a matter of fact, but the facts here are very skewed, whether you like to admit it or not. No matter how you frame it, the statistics don't prove more black people are criminals, only that more black people are arrested for crimes, which is not the same thing. Also, profiling is independent of the actual crime committed. Cops clearly profile people all the time on many things, including race . Did I say all cops do it? No, I simply said that it happens as a matter of fact. And it's not like it's only white cops that do it, so I'm not even calling it racism . But racial profiling is a thing. Start using your brain a little. I never said that DNA evidence exonerates the majority of them, just that they are the largest population exonerated when actual empirical evidence is shown. I'm not even remotely left leaning, I just don't sit here and believe everything I read or leave others to tell me what it all means. You sure are making a strong case for everyone on the right being a bunch of racists though, good' job, you dumbass.	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/232	2.155
ljkolnick The only issue with that idea is that I can't think of any common person who benefits from racial inequality. Not even the top 1 benefit from it. As a white person, I don't benefit in any way from an unequal playing field. I don't benefit if there are people with worse educations than myself. Climate change is a bit different, in my opinion, because the things that are suggested for change are quantifiable. They are physical things that people can measure unlike this situation where people can choose to either see it or not see it (racial inequality). What I think kills the climate change debate is that no matter what is done it will not make a difference in "my" lifetime. Meaning that you are suggesting that people give up things for no noticeable change in their lifetime. They probably feel they trying to be made to give up things and it may be for nothing . Also, Republicans hate the concept of how it would be enforced. Higher taxation on goods and services, part of it would be an "attack on the middle class" because that is who would most be affected by climate change suggestions. Not that I'm defending it, but it makes little sense not to take into account the other sides bias (that is what rhetoric is, afterall, arguing to a given populations bias).	Common, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Social Class - Working class	2/230	0.87
Why should I care if black people are discriminated against? All the better I say.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/15	6.667

Euron Greyjoy Even though recent trends show some aspects of racism to be increasing, the general trend in American history is that racism is going away. Regardless of whether or not you care, you have a choice to make. You can be looked back on as the hero in Remember the Titans who didn't care about color, or the bastard who let a stupidly old inherited bias make him cruel. DFTBA	Old, Racism	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - General	3/71	4.225
Oliver Tilly I agree that there is a lot of toxicity in African-American culture, but there're reasons for that that must have to accept are systemic to our entire social construct, and while we (whites) don't necessity need to bare personal responsibility for that, we do have to recognize that by keeping a certain segment of our society marginalized the conferences in our cultures that displease us are rooted in common decisions. At that point we have a choice to make.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/81	1.235
energizerkelley But systematic racism is part of the fuel that drives the problems you are talking about. It is everyone's responsibility to fight injustice.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/24	4.167
Spencer Geller I come here just to see the black on black crime comments :)	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/15	13.333
bravo. excellent and let me say most intelligent post on youtube i have seen on racism . Thankyou.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/17	5.882
The media narrative of the Michael brown case was a lie. The gentle giant attacked the cop, not the other way around. If there was racism it came from Brown and the blacks in Ferguson, not Wilson or the police. White people have their faults shoved down their throats by the liberal media every day but blacks need to learn to take criticism also.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/64	1.562
Joker13621So basically "If you don't like the racism , move from your own BIRTH COUNTRY and let us be?"You are scum of the highest.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/25	4.0

Racism and discrimination is a bad problem in the USA. I am originally from the Caribbean. I lost everything because of attacks against me by racists. My ex wife was Hispanic and her mom who had black in her was racists against blacks. My business fell in Miami by acts of a racist Judge (Marc Schumacer) who was Jewish. My business on wall street was attacked by a racist Jew (Hal Shaw, 10 Hanover Place, Ny). Before all this, when my daughter was just a newborn, my Management job in Miami, I had to leave when a racist name Ed Cunningham continued harassing me. He became the comptroller at Canam Associates in Miami Lakes 16095 NW 57th Ave, Miami, Florida... and the owner would not stop him because the founding partner wanted to promote me to a partner. A cuban woman named Maria Garcia who worked for me at the warehouses on 5100 NW 167th street, Miami, Florida... joined the attack against me and she even told me that I was hiring too many black people there. Well, they pushed me out of my partnership and now she is managing. She later rehired one of the former black employee as a part time as her cover up of being a racist .... ken Ramnath, Director, Celine int'l, Inc Wall street, NYC	Black, Racism, Racist, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	9/220	4.091
DesmondCreightonThat's amusing, because your post literally suggests that the ONLY problem and killer of black men is other black men, which is historically, systematically, statistically and LOGICALLY false. But keep trying to hide the facts.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/36	5.556
DesmondCreighton Its funny because by the numbers you are very Mich wrong. There is statistically more white on white crime than there has been black crime. Couple in black disadvantages in America such as the War on Drugs, the lack of effieience in the justice system, a severe amount of disguised prejudice and racism in the media and you have why racial tensions are a major problem in this country. And racist dicks lime yourself are only more to blame for the tragedy. You are the lowest common denominator, by far.	Black, Common, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	5/91	5.495
Derp Meowslurp youre a racist moron, great job	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/8	12.5
ironmandoja1 How did I prejudice or discriminate against anyone? Or are you just so used to throwing out that label, you don't really care what it means? Facts are not racist . If you keep ignoring the problem, you're doing no one any favors.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/43	2.326

I laugh at white people when they bring up those flawed black crime ”statistics” How are they even accurate when the racist criminal system itself is broken and disproportionally places black men in jail more than any nation in the world. Pathetic and a way to deflect from their racism they’ve created, they could care a less about black people committing crime against each other as long as the focus is not on their racism /white supremacy, notice that’s the ONLY time they bring ” black on black ” crime up. Wherever we talk about racism . People are starting to wake up.	Black, Nation, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	9/99	9.091
Derp Meowslurp And you do realize that the reason those blacks commit those crimes is because they have no other avenues right? When people say that racism is systematic, that includes the War on Drugs enacted by Reagan and our beloved forefathers. Crack didn’t just materialize itself in black communities and hoods. So where didn’t come fr?  Get a clue	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/60	3.333
Derp Meowslurp Lmao you mad?? No one believes that bullshit statistic except racists. Is this video about black people committing crime? Nope! so let’s keep the topic on YOU. The criminal system is racist , and yes white people like you only bring up FBI statistics to hide and divert AWAY from your mistreatment and racism against blacks. Getting a racist white person like you to even admit that racism exists is like pulling teeth so I won’t be wasting time and I don’t care if you ever do admit to anything. I know owning up to treating a group of people in such a barbaric way for over 400 years is a hard pill to swallow. This video is about YOUR ( white people) racism against blacks so watch the video again if you’re slow and didn’t catch on to that the first time. You never addressed WHY the criminal system is broken because you’re a racist . Stay on topic. What was the reason for the broken English and atrocious grammar in your comment? Are you assuming because I’m black I can’t command the English language? You’re just another butthurt racist who puts your KKK robe on when faced with the truth. You’re the reason why the original commenter got over 1000 likes, lol . Don’t reply, I don’t go back and forth with delusional and racist white people like yourself because I lose brain cells while doing so.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	10/239	4.184
Denshuu Since humans are conformity-prone creatures, all social phenomena are inherently systemic. Racism is an internalized or expressed form of antipathy that is based upon apparent ethnicity and (actively or passively) directed toward a person or group. The one element that I’d like to underscore here is that a national consensus regarding the form and function of equality is not only an impractical aspiration, it’s undesirable.	Ethnicity, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/66	3.03

Allen Finn (Pertaining to: "The vast majority of Americans continue their racism by trying to ignore the whole damned issue. The point of all the protests is to get people to TALK about this and not keep it under the rug as we have been doing for the past decade or so.")How have you been able to determine that the vast majority of Americans are trying to dodge the issue of racism , and why have you singled-out the last decade?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/81	2.469
Arachnoscribe Because that is a true statistic? The majority of whites in this country do not understand the racial problems and disparages of blacks. The disconnect is extremely alarming.In example, I remember a Daily Show skit, right after the Zimmerman verdict, that basically showed a white group of people and their views on racism in America versus a black group. One of the whites in the group literally said something like," racism is almost completely gone in America now" or something to that effect.Ignoring the problem and not trying to understand is just as bad as being one of the racists that keeps this institutional mess going.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/108	2.778
Allen Finn Bias effects worldview wholeheartedly. It cannot separate between the large and the small, it affects all things on all levels. But when you get into a situation that more hiring managers are of a certain background, it starts to look a lot like systematic racism . Racism is a form of negative discrimination. Deny services to someone based on race or sexuality is not the same as someone with an anglicized name hiring someone who is equally qualified AND has a similar name. If you read all my comments, I have addressed this. If you disagree, that is fine. I think more studies need to be done, that is what this proves: That there is something there worth looking into and one study is not enough. I'm not even denying it is systematic racism , but I am denying that one study shows that it is. All it does is prove bias, which has been proven time and time again and is not explicitly bad like people on the internet would have you believe. You have a bias and I do, we use it every day and it serves us well. Also, the fact that it's jobs and money is inconsequential. Hiring managers look at resumés all day long. They aren't sitting there thinking about who deserves it more, and that isn't there job. In the end, regardless of race , no one is applying for that job that does not feel they need it. And no one deserves any job based on their race : Not whites, not blacks, not Latinos, no one. A person in charge of hiring is only concerned with filling a position that needs filling.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	4/278	1.439

Allen Finn I question the method(s) used to obtain the result of 79, and my own observations don't support your claims.(Discussions regarding race relations have been routinely occurring for many decades without involving social media, academia, journalists, activists and politicians. Without tapping into the memory resources of millions, quantitative assertions are purely speculative.)As you've undoubtedly noticed, there is no universally-accepted definition of racism . It's hardly surprising that perceptual diversions are commonplace...	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/73	2.74
Um... " black people committing more crime than white people" is a fact. You talk about skeptics ignoring facts while you stated a relevant fact then ignored it.Simply crying "institutional racism !" is fighting racism , or any thing real at all. The existence of SPECIFIC INSTANCES of racism does not = INSTITUTIONAL RACISM . Show through fact based evidence the institution that is racist and I'll denounce it along with you, but your not going to get rational people to chase after boogeymen in order to satisfy you own sense of personal outrage. Also it's kind of hard to say the racism is "systemic" or "institutional" in America for quite a while now, you know, with all the constitutional amendments, anti-discrimination laws, and affirmative action that exists with in the "system" and "institutions." SMH	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/132	5.303
Afro Bohemian, lol have fun trying to fix problems you cant even admit to lol and good luck saving those brain cells when you aren't smart enough to see the blood on the black hands that sold your ancestors to whites and even more so to the people of the middle east, Sucks slavery happened here but if your ancestors had not been bought from blacks by whites you wouldnt live in america, a great country because of white people making it so, you would be africa, a black made hell hole, and dont delude yourself ,whites tryed to make it better but africans made their homeland what its today, a hellhole	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/112	1.786
Racism isn't just about black people being discriminated. White people are being dicriminated too, maybe you should have mentioned that too	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/21	9.524
Too often people think of racism as a 1960s problem that was solved, so no one has to worry anymore.Unfortunately, that is not the case. Thank you for making this video.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/32	3.125
It's still weird to think that segregation was only 50 years ago. Our grandparents all lived through it.	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/18	5.556

i love that you reference african americans when speaking about racism when racism exists in every human to some degree against some other race ; period; so any race needs to get over it work hard and stop whining	African, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/38	10.526
It's tremendously disappointing that the problem of racism still exists in our 21st century societies, especially in countries such as US and Canada which are nations of immigrants.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/28	3.571
I think there is an important distinction to be made between conscious racism and subconscious prejudice. The segregation of 1950s America or Apartheid South Africa is conscious racism , believing that one race is inherently superior to another. I think the events of Ferguson for example fall under the second category, I doubt that police officers think "shoot him he's black " rather they subconsciously interpret a black man as more threatening as it is different and so are more likely to act violently. Both are bad, but they take very different methods when it comes to solving them. Subconscious prejudice can't be easily eliminated through law, it would take a long time of changing cultural attitudes about race to change it.	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/120	5.0
In my opinion, racism is a huge problem here in the United States of America. Anymore, you can't open your mouth without being called a racist . America is the best country in the world. But, that's my opinion, and I don't care what people think. Because of the way Obama is treating our country, I believe that we are becoming much less of a free nation every day.	Nation, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	3/68	4.412
I'm glad that the conversation about race that should have been happening for many decades now has finally achieved the prominence it deserves,however its unfortunate that it took the deaths of many innocent and untried black men and women in order to spur it.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/44	4.545
We need to keep in mind that we came into this world and inherited a lot of the systems that were in place. Systems set in place during times of different social norms. Instead of ignoring it and making pretend being "color blind " is a good thing, We need to open our eyes, accept the truth and work towards social change. It doesn't matter the marketing done on the front end of systems if the back end was initially established with different intentions. Thiink About it	Blind	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/86	1.163

I think all people black , white, Hispanic, Asian are all subconsciously racist . They do not discriminate but they do have preferences. A black man would much rather have a black kid dating his daughter than a white kid and vice-versa with all other things being equal. People are subconsciously more comfortable around people of their own race does that mean everyone is a cold racist ?	Black, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/65	9.231
This in a nutshell is the problem. I mentioned in another post that there have been studies done (no links handy, sorry) that did mathematical modeling of racial segregation. What they found was that even if there is a very small preference to live around people who are similar to you (just a few percent), you will eventually end up with highly segregated neighborhoods.Over time, that separation leads to a divergence of culture and even stronger drive to segregate. Basically, the natural tendency of society is to fragment into factions that if not outright hostile, are at least poorly connected to each other. The 1960s had numerous efforts to try and force mixing of racial groups such as mixing different racial groups attendance at schools through deliberate busing of children to schools away from their place of residence. I think that efforts like these would have eventually helped but in the 80s and 90s, the US basically concluded that racism was done and started ending those programs.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/168	0.595
High-Waisted PantaloonsThe problem is that the tendency to preferentially treat people who are members of your 'tribe' is the actual root cause of racism . If you are preferentially treating people of a certain type, you are definitionally discriminating against others. Over time, this further separates and segregates groups of people until you have full on institutionalized racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/58	3.448
there's a bit of a difference between prejudice and racism . Prejudice is having preconcieved assumptions about someone based on some category that you place them in. Racism is institutional. It is changing social, economic and political realities for people based on their race .	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/43	6.977
Richie Lomas Racism is actually exactly the same as prejudice, except that it is specifically based on race . Any form of prejudice is capable of being (or not being) institutional.Sadly, it is often institutional, but I felt a pedantic (and not particularly constructive) need to point out that your definitions seem off. Your final sentence described institutional racism , but could also be changed to refer to any institutional prejudice.Hope that made sense and I didn't come off as too much of a dick.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/85	3.529

I think that the answer to the question "is everyone racist " is yes, subconsciously. The real problem comes from people not accepting that their biases exist and especially from the more powerful people (in the west, that is predominantly white men) making decisions and rules based on their subconscious tribal loyalty. The only reason anti-white racism is barely a problem in the west and anti- black racism is a huge issue is that the white racists have a fuck tonne more power than the minority racists (because obviously there is more than just black and white).	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/95	4.211
sebrussell nah, it was a semantic error of mine. I meant when the conversation about racism generally refers to institutional racism . So when people talk about battling racism in America, or racism being a problem in America, they aren't talking about individual prejudice, but the institutional manifestation of racism . There can be slip ups when you've had to correct the ignorant mantra of "white people suffer racism too" over and over again.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	6/72	8.333
Actually, if you look at the implicit biases of black people, about half actually prefer white people over black people (prefer meaning they associate them more easily with good things.) And they didn't necessarily have to have a bias, the test acknowledges that some people have no preference on race . So, yeah, most people are racist , but usually in the favor of white people.	Black, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/64	6.25
You're right, at least regarding the older generations in today's society. In London, this can be clearly seen in the various neighbourhoods formed of clumps of minorities (Wembley/Harrow is very Indian , Golders Green has lots of Jews etc.). I think this is because when people migrate, they have a strong feeling that sticking to their own is safer. I've recently become engaged to a person of a different race and have come across negative/surprised gut reactions from both sides of the fence.I'd like to think that more people of my own generation are not like that, but speaking as a non-white person in the UK, I think it can be harder for minorities to shake off this type of inherent prejudice than majorities. White British people can't get away with as much racism as can be found in some minority race groups in the UK, including my own. Hopefully, since the newer generations are being taught in schools that racism against any race is bad, this problem will die out. Hopefully.(I also agree with sebrussell's descriptions of the meanings of race vs prejudice).	Indian, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native- American	7/185	3.784

It depends on how they are conditioned. My parents really do not care who I bring home as long as they love, respect, and do not drag me down financially, morally or in society. Not all people are like that, but if more people looked at people's core personalities and the like instead of acting on stereotypes and judgemental thoughts, a lot of prejudice and racism could be solved.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/69	1.449
If your race is what you've been mostly surrounded by most of your life.. then sure...but to say that a black man would rather their kid date within their race isn't necessarily true...I know plenty of parents ( black , white, hispanic, etc) who simply don't care as long as they are respectful and whatever else...not to say some people are racist in that way.. but to make such a statement is really untrue and illogical	Black, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/74	6.757 debbiesedemI don't think anyone here is arguing that the racism in the US is not a direct result of the deeply entrenched institutions of both slavery and subsequent discriminatory society.However, at the heart of it there has to be an underlying aspect of human psychology. US slavery did not arise in a vacuum. It has antecedents that go back hundreds and even thousands of years that created a mindset where the ownership of human beings was viewed as normal and correct.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/83	1.205
Jake Karpman First, you may want to investigate the difference between bias and racism . What you are referring to is bias and, yes, we all do have biases. With regards to the resume study, however, prejudice and racism sneaks into these scenarios since workplaces are supposed to be equal opportunity landscapes. If bias excludes someone from opportunity, especially when it is a "sight unseen" situation and based on judgments about a name– that hints at more than bias and leans towards the possibility of prejudice. When that prejudice (or even bias) outright and solely excludes someone from the process of competing for a job, that is racism . Consider also that with whites being the majority in this country...and if whites in a supervisory position only want to be around (as you put it) their own kind, how is a black person supposed to earn a living? Get a job? A promotion, raise a family, pay for college, etc.? Exclusion based on race is racism whether it's rooted in the simple bias you speak of or whether it begins with prejudice– the result is the same. Racism is using one's power to deny someone else an opportunity simply because of the color of their skin. This is why so many argue that blacks, as a whole, cannot be racist against whites. Bias, yes. Prejudice, yes. But in order to practice racism against whites, we have to control the power structure and have the ability to shut them out of opportunities. We simply don't have the power or ability to systematically do that.	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	9/261	3.448

Jake Karpman The key part in the definition of racism is the feeling that your race is SUPERIOR to others. Being more comfortable around your own kind isn't racist .. it's just familiar.. as long as your don't think everyone who doesn't share your race is inferior to you, you're just.. a little close-minded I guess to only want to commune with people (if you're race ).	Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	5/67	7.463
Ever heard of a little song called Everybody's a little bit racist ?	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/12	8.333
High-Waisted Pantaloons do you understand what he is saying? that type of thinking is what causes this in the first place, go ahead fuck whoever and continue your lineage lol, but a certain perspective of the world unconsciously leads to biases of all sorts, including racism ....do you understand?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/48	2.083
High-Waisted Pantaloons It has nothing to do with personal preferences ie who you marry your friends so on and so forth. But institutionalized racism , in which certain people are preferred over others due to biases, can you comprehend that or are you a idiot?	Nothing, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	2/44	4.545
lightsout4u1 Damn the internet, home of all kinds of crazy .	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/10	10.0
Invalid really, many asian parents have no problem seeing their child with a white person. However, switch it to a a black partner and hilarity begins	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/26	3.846
lol Black 1st huh? lol if you ask all Brown people, ( Black , Indian , Japanese, etc.) who were their oppressors, the answer will be white people....its white history.	Black, Indian	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - Native-American	3/27	11.111

High-Waisted Pantaloons why do people think their "lineage" will disappear if they date outside their race ? You do realize that this is a country of immigrants right? There are hundreds of millions if not billions of people of your race that live in your country of origin and all over the world. Trust me. Your " race " isn't going to disappear because you or one of your relatives dates outside of it. The U.S. population is roughly 350 million. There are over 7 BILLION people on planet earth. In other words, if the entire U.S. was abducted by aliens, there'd still be hundreds of millions, if not billions, of whites, blacks, Asians, Latino's, etc...all over the globe. Its really not that serious guys. Date and be with whoever you want. Your race isn't going anywhere. People who think like this have no world view and think that the U.S. represents the whole of humanity and whatever happens here is a representative of life as a whole. Open your minds a lil bit'	Race	Ethnicity - General	4/171	2.339
There are 6 or 7 billion people on the planet. How would you know each and every one of their preferences? Have you got evidence to support your claim that a black man would prefer a black guy dating his daughter to a white guy? That's just your idea of what people think and prefer and it doesn't make it true	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/61	3.279
Yes, people are tribal, but the nation itself is set up in a racist , white supremacist way.	Nation, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	2/17	11.765
That my friend is what we call prejudice. Racism is a systematic structure that allows certain people to get ahead based solely on the colour of their skin. Prejudice is that feeling that you described when you "don't like someone" or "have a bias"	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/44	2.273
That thing you're talking about is an unconscious bias and while it is not inherently problematic it does create racial issues when Black people (for example) are seen as more dangerous, aggressive, etc so they are stopped and killed at alarming rates.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/42	2.381
i dont think that that is so much racism , as such, thhats a case of gravitating towards the familiar, which is part of our human instincts for a long timepeople tend to stick close to those like themselves because they feel thyre more sure that the person will work better with themnowadays that dynamic is changing but it hasnt gone awaywe have towns and cities with very ethnocentric regions, take chinatown in california, or greek , italian etc diustricts neighbourhoods in new york or the greek areas arab areas or jewish areas and neighbourhoods in australia or the usa	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/103	0.971

elgostine I agree! Things like this is what racism stems from. People in general like to keep with their own kind. We are then fed with dominant ideologies from the media, movies and even our own parents who teach us stereotypes. These stereotypes that just paint others over with one colour when there are plenty of other shades beneath. Like colouring the grass with just one crayon like we did as a kid when there are actually plenty of other yellows, tints and different tones of green.-people want to keep things simple.-We need to endeavour to look past these labels and interact with others.Judge from our own experiences and actually make conclusions for ourselves.Not like sheep that are influenced by biased media and stories.... I could go on and write an essay, but the real question is:What are you going to do about it?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/150	0.667
Richie Rich How will race mixing ensure that your children don't go through racial bullshit when you have no idea the way genetics will play out? J. Cole has a white mom but looks Black and has been identified as Black in his dealings with police. Darren Hunt was biracial (white mom) yet still looked Black and was shot dead by police in Utah while complying with a fake sword. Claiming race -mixing is the answer is a cop-out and a way to perpetuate cycles of internalized racism and anti-blackness. [LINK]	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/90	5.556
Richie Rich 'No such thing as internalized racism .' Ok	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/9	11.111
Charles Powell Race mixing is the reason that we are all here. If we didn't interbreed with the Neanderthals, we would not have the immune system that we have. Race mixing is inevitable.	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/33	6.061
What's wrong with racism ?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/4	25.0
Prejudice is different from racism . Predjudice is discrimination on a smaller, individual scale. Most people can deal with other's predjudice ways. However the issue is racism , where entire societal systems are discriminating groups of people from jobs, education, healthcare and jailing them at high rates.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/45	4.444
... What do you mean preferences? I don't even understand what you mean? Like, a preference for the kind of person you would be friends with? Their skin factors into that somehow?People are not subconsciously more comfortable around people of their own... " race ". That just is not true, all you are saying here is YOU feel that way and you can't imagine anyone else feeling differently. News just in, not everyone is a carbon copy of you.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/78	1.282

I'm glad my comment sparked so much discussion. The simple fact is there are two solutions 1. "Get rid" of all white people 2. Separate each race . Both these solutions are horrible. Therefore one must only hope and pray that the human race can become more enlightened that includes you and me plus there are far greater issues like debt, machine age , murderous organizations to worry about.	Age, Race	Age - General, Ethnicity - General	3/67	4.478
CanadianNerdFighter I am also white I was referring to the majority of comments saying that all white people are racist and I gave a mock solution to their complaints. I think that total equality is a fantasy and that people shouldn't hold their breaths.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/44	2.273
Hm...interesting but I would disagree. Many describe racism as a structure because it often time because too mixed with prejudice (which one must have to form racism but they are not the same). Many people, white, black , etc. are not in fact racist though many are and might not realize that's what they are (thinking they just have prejudice views).Feeling more comfortable is a type of prejudice one could say but more from a sense of xenophobia-fear of the outside or unknown. That is not prejudice as we know it. They do not hate the foreigners. In the example you gave, a prejudice reason might be the case though. Many black people (conscious ones) feel mistrustful of white people (and rightfully so) because of the history behind their horrific killing, beating, using, and rejecting Blacks in america. The black person is then prejudice, mistrustful of the white individual and not wanting his/her family to associate with them.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/158	3.797 mlgmakeIt has nothing to do with right or wrong. That is the root cause of racism and segregation. The sources of a bad thing can be innocuous.	Nothing, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	2/28	7.143
mlgmakeWhat I was referring to was the bussing of students to school to ensure that they were able to be exposed to people that were not just of their own ethnicity . This has been show time and again to help reduce racism . The forced integration of african americans in the US armed forces during the WWII was one of the turning points of the decline of institutional racism in the US.And you take this to be some sort of "forced breeding" of humans like dogs?Fuck you. You are a piece of shit.	African, Ethnicity, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/95	4.211
I'm struggling a lot with my mental health so for a verity of reasons i have mostly cut myself off from the News/media. I was wary of watching this video, but i decided to trust John to be sensible and factual and thank god he was. I am certainly not going to scroll down to the comments for the inevitable shitstorm that is taking place, even in this little sanctuary of relative sanity that is Nerdfighteria. Basically i just want to thank John for managing to talk about this issue without causing me lots of mental pain.	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/97	2.062

The reason why the majority of White-Americans don't believe racism is an issue is simply, because it does not affect them.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/21	4.762
Ah. Talking about racism in America. This ought to be uncontroversial. I'm predicting a happy, loving comments section.Okay, sarcasm over. I'm going to grab some popcorn. This is going to be fun.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/33	3.03
Here in Indonesia racism is still happening even though we're all actually in the same race .	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/16	12.5
High-Waisted Pantaloons It's stretching the definition of racism a bit but you can easily be discriminatory against someone for religious, cultural or political reasons. Indonesia suffered from a terrible period where the government sponsored racism and discrimination against Communists (who were heavily ethnically Chinese but also included people from all ethnic groups) which led to the massacre of over half a million people in the 1960s. The act of killing ( [LINK] is an incredibly fascinating and chilling documentary about the event and the killers who are still free and at large today.	Ethnic, Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/93	3.226
It was a long time ago, I haven't even born yet at that time, the act against Chinese ethnic in Indonesia have been better after one of the president take an act on it.	Ethnic	Ethnicity - General	1/34	2.941
Great video, great start. Massive topic. Perhaps a follow up video on how white people have benefited from systemic racism and how this massively affects white peoples willingness to engage with the subject, preferring to shut down and say, but not all white people..rather than to say, holy fuck, why yes I do indeed benefit from racism , let me shut up and listen to how I can do better.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/69	2.899
Pleasantly surprised to see no one from other countries saying, "That's why America sucks. Good thing I live in Europe where I deny racism is an issue as well."	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/29	3.448
Racism is present all over the world. Europeans, Australians, and Canadians can say that they're pure and progressive while America is a cesspool of racism and hatred all they want, but the reality of the situation goes against them. America just has a lot of more racial tension because we're more diverse than any other country, so our heads clash more on it. And not just in white countries, racism is present in color countries as well. Take a look at Latin America. Holy shit they're racist , and they're blunt about it. Or take a look at places with growing diversity like Japan, where racism towards their Chinese, Korean, and South East asian population is just as blunt. I've yet to hear of a country whose hands aren't tainted by racism .	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	6/131	4.58

I'd argue that, in the UK at least, while we have racism our attitude towards combating it has been more successful. I think in the UK we take the view that the way to solve the issue is to regard everyone as the same, rather than to regard people as members of different groups that all need to be brought up to the same level.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/65	1.538
In short, I think in the UK we advocate the idea of being colour blind . That doesn't mean we don't see race , but rather we only see it when it wants to be seen. If someone wants to be seen as X then see them that way, and the way they want to be seen. If they don't want to be seen as X and want to be treated in the same way as Y and Z, then treat them that way. We do still have racism in the UK, of course, but unlike the US we have stood up to it with specific indictments against the authorities. The US still has yet to experience its own equivalent of the Stephen Lawrence inquiry.	Blind, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/123	2.439
Dear John Green, Thank you for making this video. I'm glad there are people that care! I think its awesome someone like you cares, because you're a famous writer. People will care because you care! You're getting the word out there, that we're not fully equal yet! Thank you! You're helping to make my future and others better!Also I never got to go to Vidcon to tell you and your brother have changed my life! You opened up the world for me, so I could do great things in my life! Thank You! (I have been watching since I was 8 years of age .)	Age	Age - General	1/105	0.952
Hi John, thanks for speaking up about this. It makes me feel much more like this is a community that has a place for me and that I belong in, when much of youtube isn't. Also, thanks for putting together the playlist which I love for many reasons, not the least of which is that it directed me to some more awesome black creators. thanks!	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/65	1.538
I'm a special education teacher and all but one of my students are of a minority race . There are so many racial injustices in our educational system. For example, if you look up Oppositional Defiant Disorder (ODD) you would see that there is no coincidence in how we diagnose students based upon their race and socioeconomic status. Yet, we have come far and hopefully we can come much further.	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/69	2.899
If news organizations were not allowed to publish pictures or information on race , and the justice system was literally " blind " such that the individuals making the decisions could not see the defendant, might help the problem?	Blind, Race	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/36	5.556

To all you people saying that this is racist towards white males, it isn't. John is only stating facts which means they are true, therefore cannot be one sided.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/29	3.448
I heard that there was a mexican man in usa named José and when he start searching for a job, and each time he requested for a job, they said no, and then he sent again all the request, but this time why the name of Joe, and they start accepting him.So yeah, I consider that racism is a big problem, especially because I am mexican.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/67	1.493
I appreciate you making this video, John but it really bothers me that you continue to give special invites to racists like Shane Dawson to Vidcon. If you're serious about this then I hope you're also serious about stopping racists from getting another platform to make racist jokes on.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/49	2.041
LuciferDeathbringerThere were other Youtubers that were quite popular that ended up getting banned in the whole sexual abuse scandal. I'm pretty sure that if Shane were still unapologetically racist that Hank would have banned him. Hank seems to be pretty good about putting his money where his mouth is and making choices that he feels are right even if they hit him in the pocketbook.	Racist, Sexual	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	2/66	3.03
Yeah but have you considered that black people are less white?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/11	9.091
Technically white people are less black , as they have less melanin in their skin. It's like heat, you can't add cold or absence of melanin, so you have less heat and less melanin, not more cold and more absence of melanin.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/41	2.439
I think it's great that you made this video John, and I would emphasise that you needn't have been afraid to do so. Just because 14 year-olds on Tumblr and SJW crazies tell you that you can't have a voice on these issues because of your race , doesn't mean that normal people think that way. I would also praise you on citing research for every one of your points - something a lot of people neglect to do when discussing issues such as systemic discrimination, in whatever form it might take.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/91	1.099
Really now? I'm pretty sure ever single popular SJW blog I know would commend a white man using his platform and power to raise awareness about racial issues. In fact, most tumblr asks from white people wanting to help are answered the same way: "use your privilege to speak to others (especially other white people) about the issue in a way people of colour can't".Dismissing real activist work solely because of age or platform is as bad as someone saying John can't speak out about racial issues because he's white.I'm definitely not trying to attack you, and I see why you would believe what you say, but the reddit-4chan-circlejerk about tumblr SJWs is really ridiculous.	Age	Age - General	1/117	0.855

JenCanary	Why do you lump GamerGate and Mens' Rights in the same category?	Lump	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/13	7.692
Gajanti	Ok, because I got a bit confused with your choice of groups. (GG is focused on 'exposing the misogyny in games' and MR is focused on 'exposing the lies that tumblr feminists spread')	Misogyny	Gender - General	1/34	2.941
Gajanti	Sorry, I mistaked Gamergate for the backlash of Quinn et al. instead of the original movement, which, as it stands, is about reforming corruption in game reporting. Nothing more, nothing less.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/32	6.25
I see	I've sparked something of a debate, but I'm afraid I just can't get on board with Tumblr and SJW's particular brand of "justice". Any community that hosts TERFs (trans-exclusionary radical feminists) and gives them a voice has a serious problem in my opinion. Not to mention the abject racism towards white people shown by a large amount of the SJW community, and their seeming misunderstanding of the difference between institutional racism (which largely only affects non-white people) and racism , which can affect anyone. Furthermore, Tumblr is a community infamous for never being able to cite sources or quote actual facts, and is instead a melting pot for false statistics, rumours and folklore, which SJWs capitalise on to create a bastardised, paranoid view of the world in which white/cis/het people are out to destroy minorities. That's the reason I praised John for citing actual sources in this video. But finally I would say that the biggest problem for Tumblrites/SJWs is their utter inability to take criticism. If your goal is equality then that's admirable, but the amount of people I've seen deny any form of criticism towards how they're going about it by simply replying with a barrage of abuse is staggering. If you're a woman and you don't like the way that the feminist movement operates, they don't listen to your opinion and take it onboard, they tell you that you have 'internalised misogyny'. The invalidation of anyone who isn't a minority (and lately a lot of people that are, i.e. white gay men) is a problem. We all have things to contribute to the ongoing discourse about social justice, and we need to throw away the pettiness and the prejudice, and give minorities voices without silencing people in majorities, because they have useful things to contribute too, even if they are criticisms.	Gay, Racism, Woman	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General, Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	6/305	1.967

Josh H it's sad that people associate tumblr like that :( there are some amazing people on there who taught me a lot about racial and gender inequality, homo&transphobia and feminism. It felt like a safe place to talk about injustice and put the world to rights. :) but I guess when you get a lot of people together who are angry about the same things and no one around who disagrees those views become stronger and more radicalised.I know there are people on there who use the name feminism as a means of spreading hatred of white people, white men, men in general but that's a tiny section of the tumblr community and it's super annoying that we get a bad rep for that. I guess it's an exact mirror of what happened to feminism, the crazy ass vocal minority makes everyone hate us.	Crazy, Gender	Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/146	1.37
Tumblr is a hate machine ran by feminists and used by misfit kids that don't have the slightest clue about anything they attempt to talk about. Nobody is going to take you tumblrians seriously until you stop re blogging posts like "I'm a wolf trapped in a mans body, I'm also a transvestite , I may be white but I think all white people should be eradicated".	Nobody, Transvestite	Age - Youngsters, Sexual Identity - Transexuality	2/66	3.03
Nick Joseph if I may input, I can definitely see why you would feel a lot of the content on tumblr is not accurate or shall we say 'mature' however I think it dreadfully unfair to make such hateful accusations about who runs tumblr based on the small minority that you've seen of it. Nobody is forcing you to use the website, and if you despise it so much then simply don't go on it.There are some people on YouTube saying just as ridiculous things, in fact there are these people on all free to use social media platforms, so to single out tumblr as the only one seems incredibly unfair.Finally, just because somebody is what you class as a 'misfit' or in fact a feminist, does not mean they have no idea what they're on about. I believe you'll find feminists can be just as well educated as anybody.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/152	0.658
Jasmin Read Nick raised an interesting point, which I think was a sentiment shared by the people replying to my earlier comments. The select few really hateful and vitriolic bastards on both tumblr and GG fuck up the image that the group sends out. Of course, these people are the minority, but, in the case of people like Anita Sarkeesian, the most idiotic and outspoken. Frankly, I agree with most of feminism's principles. But I WILL NOT join a group which people associate with the radical feminazi crazies. I think Nick is voicing the same complaint against the whole "feminism" movement.	Feminazi	Gender - Female intelligence	1/101	0.99

questions I have, please don't attack me for asking I'm merely trying to broaden the scope a bit, though inevitably it will come out as a racist lash most likely. I'm not saying which side I'm on with each question, this is only for getting to the real root of the problem.Is the racism merited? Is it really racism , or is it cultural clash? Are your numbers based on probability or just sheer number of incidents, because the population of each race inhabiting America is vastly different?Why are blacks and whites the only ones included here? Are those who are not black and live a lifestyle more closely related to " black culture" statistically more or less likely to have outcomes similar to how you described for black people in your video? Thanks	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/134	5.224
Is the racism merited: No, otherwise it wouldn't be racism . If you're not calling people back when the only difference is their name, there is no other reason than racism .Is it really racism , or is it cultural clash? Police are more likely to stop and search black people, even though they're more likely to actually find something if they stop and search a white person. How is that 'cultural clash?'. Even if it is cultural clash, does that make a difference, especially if your main way of telling what culture someone belongs to is the colour of their skin.Are the numbers based on probablilty etc? John was talking about percentages and rates, so the absolute sizes of the two populations is irrelevant (as long as your sample size is sufficiently large).Why are blacks and whites the only ones included here? Good question, probably because it's a 4 minute video and white people are the majority and black people the largest minority in the US.As to your last question; yes, that's what John was saying when he talked about the influence of class, socio-economic status, etc. Thing is a lot of that is tied up with race as well. E.g. what your chances are of being born in a certain socio-economic class and how many opportunities you have to change that.	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/224	3.125
Thanks for your input on it! I may not have worded some the way I meant to, he definitely did site some very interesting, credible sources which I don't disagree that there are racist whites (as there are of every race ) but that seemed more of an isolated incident with that example, but that just my opinion! I know there are countless other sources like it. If any human being is dressed like a thug, blaring the profane type of rap music they will be profiled more closely as a criminal. I certainly don't have any numbers for this, so it isn't a credible statement, but don't most worse off black kids dress this way? The reason why I ask is how are these numbers affected when it's a very knowledgable, wealthy, well dressed black man? I would be very interested in finding a credible source that presents that information. I find it to be more likely discrimination than racism .	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/160	3.125

Artavenge Why does being dressed like a poor black person equate to being 'dressed like a thug'?In the resume study John talks about, literally the only thing people have is a letter (identical in all cases) and a name.How do you get to be a knowledgeable, wealthy, well dressed black man if your school doesn't offer advanced classes and people won't hire you for a job?	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/68	2.941
Before I begin, I am black . I grew up in a poor community and most of my friends dressed like thugs, I certainly tried not to but I was labeled as a "white" black person and a nerd because I attempted to be eloquent in my speech and dress in a respectable manner i.e. Not having baggy profane clothing and wearing pants at my knees. I was an outcast because I tried to do my best to write and speak grammatically and my fellow African Americans labeled me as, "talking like a white person." The culture perpetuates ignorance, and criminal profiling, and I didn't want to be a part of that. The ones who dressed like thugs and spoke in slurred ungrammatical sentences were more likely to behave in such criminal acts as the cops profiled them to do. I grew up poor and in that community, in a poor school, now I'm a nuclear engineer. How about that?	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/159	1.887
The only thing with the resume thing is that he doesn't specify the ethnicity of the person rejecting the two African American names. It may have been blacks doing it to themselves with whatever ethnicity was looking at the resumes, there is not conclusive data supporting that, and I am not a perpetrator of assumptions.	African, Ethnicity	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/55	5.455
ArtavengePeople disproportionately being denied call-backs based on their race is racism , regardless of the race of the person who to chooses to call them back or not.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/28	10.714
Not once did I say, or suggest that it wasn't. In fact, I did say that it was racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/19	5.263

John-Alan Pascoe I somewhat disagree on the callback part and here's why (short version). People on average like familiar looking people which most of the time are the same race as you (parents at least if you are not adopted, community you live in etc.) This is an average. Some white people react better to asians, some blacks better to whites etc.So if I' running a law firm for a court room defense lawyer in a predominantly white neighbourhood area, why shouldn't I choose the white guy or girl with the identical resume when I know it most likely will affect their job performance?A lot of job are about perception and whether you like it or not, a white person in something that is visible and in a white area (btw US is 67 white so it's pretty damn likely) Let's use my example of a defense lawyer. As John already mentioned in the video, black people are more likely to have longer prison sentences, so we know the courts, without a shadow of a doubt, are biased am I right? So, this most likely would mean, a white defense lawyer with the same abilities as a black one, is still going to outperform him which is why I think in those cases it's ok because your race, whether you like it or not, is a factor unlike when it comes to cognitive abilities etc.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/237	1.688
I do agree, familiarity can be wrongly perceived as racism and discrimination. It's all about relative association and inclination. A black person may be more used to being around black people, whites with whites, Asians with Asian, because we tend to believe the race will carry the typical values and habits of the culture, which is 100 not a bad thing it's simply diversity, and would be easier to assume that the people of similar cultural background can relate. They view the social and technical aspects of the type of people they might typically be familiar with to be more secure in compliance, acceptance, and accountability. It's human nature, and there is no changing that. Familiarity is security and peace of mind. But again I have no citations or credible data supporting my statement, this is just from my experience which may be vastly different from others.	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/147	2.721
lolpauveThe problem is this creates a vicious cycle: black people aren't hired as lawyers because lawyers aren't black, and lawyers aren't black because black people aren't hired as lawyers.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	4/30	13.333
John-Alan Pascoe I know, and I am not saying it should be the solution, because it isn't. I'm saying you can't blame someone for doing it and that in it's own way it is merited since race is also an attribute at this point, not just an ethnicity or origin.	Ethnicity, Race	Ethnicity - General	2/50	4.0

This world need to grow up and leave racism in the past (unfortunately, if it were to stop in a couple days, the "past" would then be 2014). Equal rights means equal rights, simple as that. A fair trial and trial by jury mean FAIR for everyone and fate is decided by a third, unbiased party. Also, the résumé thing, I think often times white people are more likely to be hired than nonwhite (not just black but all nonwhites) is because of this ridiculous imperialistic view that is shared among people that is formed not by personal beliefs but stereotypes (I am, unfortunately, slightly in this area. I tend to be ever so slightly biased even though I have slightly darker skin because of my Latino heratige. Just saying that skin color doesn't determine god biases). These stereotypes make it so if someone sees say a Mexican working for a car repair shop and a white man at the next car repair shop, they'd be most likely chose the ladder simply because of a national image that whites are more effective workers (obviously there's no correlation). I think that's why some people turn down colored skin people. Not because they want to but because the "have" to for better business. And that's not even a millionth of the situation	Black, Colored, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/220	1.364
White privilege is evidenced by the fact that we are even able to ask the question "does racism exist?". Gives me the willies.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/23	4.348
projenna The nerdfighter community is pretty weird i would not be surprised.	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/12	8.333
Only if you want to spread more hate, fear and racism.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/11	9.091
shut your black lives matter crying ass up	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/8	12.5
Sachin The Gamer just keep proving his point, another racist troll.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/11	9.091
Go look at the crime rate of African americans and what kind of crime they are committing, contrast that with crime sentancing of African immigrants and you will see it's not a race problem. African immigrants, who have black skin do not experience the same thing african americans do.	African, Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/49	12.245

I'm half black half white and I am in 7th grade. I'll be taking advanced algebra 2 in two years and I took chemistry last year. My school is about 50 Asian (including Indian ) 23 White 22 Black , and 5 Hispanic. Although, I do go to a school that requires testing to get into and specializes in math, science, and computer science. But the thing is, my community is very diverse and definitely not racist , so I've never personally experienced racism before.	Black, Indian, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native- American	5/82	6.098
I really liked this video and it was helpful to here all the data-especially about criminal things. And I do believe racism is a problem in America. However, when it comes to schools I have something to say. I go to a school that's about 50 white and 50 Hispanic. I'm a white female from an upper middle class family. My school offer higher level classes (IB classes in my case). I take almost all IB classes and I can say that those classes are about 75 white regardless of the Hispanic population. I have taken non-higher level classes and the ratio was usually 50-50 or more Hispanics than whites. Even within the IB classes, the white kids tend to preform better. I'm not at all saying that Hispanics are not as intelligent, but their families may not value education as much due to cultural differences, which could be part of the explanation for the statistic about minority schools not offering upper level classes. Just an observation. Feel free to do with it what you like. Thanks for the video, John.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/181	0.552
Poverty, culture, family life, etc. are all factors and I should have included them all in the original comment. I didn't not mean to imply that Hispanics are lazy. My main point was that the reason higher level classes aren't offered in many minority schools is not (at least only) due to racism in the school system, which is what I thought the video was implying. I did not mean to offend anyone.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/73	1.37
In some cases you're right it is completely the fault of the students that they aren't learning anything. I went to a really mixed school, blacks, whites, hispanics, and asians were all about equally represented. Out of all the people I talked to that had failed at least one class only one person said it was because it was too hard, most people were either rebelling against someone or just didn't care. I'm sure they were being honest because I'd seen them all be smart in other ways. I also think race has little to do with it, families do of course but we shouldn't be looking at it as a race problem because my anecdotal evidence shows me that it happens to all races and if we shove it into a race issue then we might miss the solution. BTW I am only talking about the problem stated in the original comment about schools, so no one please try to make this into anything else! :D	Race	Ethnicity - General	3/167	1.796

thank you for emphasizing that listening to lived experience is far more important than data. As nerdfighters, we ought to be on the side of listening and empathy (but also on the side of overwhelming data, and in this case they are the same).I wish you had taken the time to talk about racism faced by other people of color in the US – this would be the time to make an exempt video or take the punishment.I’d also love to see a bit of discussion about another piece of data: in all of the nerdfighter censuses, the proportion of nerdfighters of color has been very, very low. We ought to discuss the reasons for this and what we can do to make it better. (And also the implications of applying US/Western notions of race onto what is an international community)	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/143	1.399
I contemplate my major in Criminal Justice. I just don’t want to work in a field of hypocrisy and racism . I want to be a part of the reform in our system but sadly I believe a change will not occur in my lifetime.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/44	2.273
I’m confused on what systematic racism is. Does that mean that the people in charge are generally racist , or the system itself is racist ? And what is the system? Don’t all races have the same rights? I’ve heard the phrase ”institutionalized racism ” before, is that the same thing?I’m just kind of confused...	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	4/53	7.547
Systematic racism (also called systemic racism a lot of the time) means that racism is ingrained into our society. People can be consciously or subconsciously racist within this system, but basically it means that the actions and policies that govern our daily lives are typically influenced heavily by racist beliefs.So the person in charge of interviewing people for a job may not realize that they are favouring people named Brendan and Emily over people named Lakisha and Jamal, but they are doing so because they have internalized the belief that Brendan and Emily are more suitable, responsible, respectable, etc... all because their names suggest whiteness. It’s systemic because it’s routinized and it comes naturally to us.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	5/117	4.274

The System is a lot of systems combined into one force that majorly affects every aspect of life in America (and like, the world, but I'm in America so I'm just gonna try to stay in that lane). So like the healthcare system, the justice system, the educational system, the media system, are all parts of The System and all interconnect. This system is racist. A lot can be said about how it is inherently racist and built on racism and cannot thrive without racism, but that's like a lot and I don't want to overwhelm you. What's important is that the way the system is currently carried out is filled with racism, which is why all the statistics John provides happen. The system not only guides our lives, but shapes our thoughts and behaviors. Because of this, not only is the system racist, but the people within the system often carry out racism subconsciously. This allows them to continue contributing and building a racist system whether or not they hate black people. In our age, racism doesn't always have to do with hating black people, but rather with denying them their humanity and basic human rights. It's hard to explain what the system is because it is literally EVERYTHING. It's a very complex entity that has been working against black people for a millenia, which is why it is so hard to destroy. So, for example, you asked do all races have the same rights and the answer is we have always all had the same rights. If we consider rights to be things like the right to free speech, we have always had that RIGHT. But it's been consistently denied. So even contextualizing the conversation as "don't we all have equal rights?" Is flawed because that was never the problem. The problem is that those rights have been denied. But it is a racist system that stops you from thinking about it in that way. Understanding that even the way we THINK about these problems is affected by racism allows you to understand how powerful and how silent it is. That's the system. It is everywhere and nowhere and scary. And racist.	Age, Black, Racism, Racist	Age - General, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	16/364	4.396
its a kind of confusing thing, but basically the idea is that the system overwhelmingly favors white people than it does any other race. While technically everyone has the same rights, in application they don't because of the enforcement of those rights being unequal. So like he was saying black americans are much more likely to be charged for crimes by the justice system than white americans are. Systemic racism usually refers to the overall system being racist as opposed to lots of individuals being racist (although they still are.) I dont know if I'm making any sense? Its about how the system is structured in a way that it favors white people, and that is simply so ingrained into the system that its incredibly hard to change it.	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/129	3.876
DoctorPetrie it has a lot to do with unconscious racism from everyday people as opposed to conscious decisions to be racist I guess	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/23	8.696

I don't want to come across as stubborn but I'm a rather big skeptic and I need to think things over a lot before I accept them as reality.Could there not be more factors to this? I'm not denying the statistics, but could it be that more black people live in the ghettos and poorer towns/cities than white people, and the reason for most arrests/whatnot is largely influenced by wealth? As in perhaps the poorer you are, the more likely you are to commit crimes?I of course agree there is racism and there are racist cops, people, businessmen, and whatnot. I just don't understand a " racist system", nor do I even fully understand what a system is in this context.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/122	3.279
Teaky Okay disregarding how classcist this is (poorer people are not more likely to commit crimes hun . They are just more likely to get jailed for it.) why are black people living in poorer towns and cities than white people, percentage-ise? Why do they have access to less wealth? Again, a lot of reasons, most of them having to do with the racism embedded in the system.When we talk race we must talk class, because racism cannot be separated from class in our country. Which is something John mentioned toward the end of his video.So even saying "this has to do with lack of wealth" implies racism . Because black people aren't just inherently less capable of accumulating wealth. There is a reason. The reason is racism .	Black, Hun, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - German	8/128	6.25
"institutionalized racism " is a garbage terms because we have no institutions for racism . Systemic racism is a concept that takes correlation and attributes it to causation (society is functionally racist as the cause of all racial differences). While many argue that addressing systemic racism is a mean to create equality, it is used as a means to create a reversal of oppression by considering all non-minorities as having guilt in subconscious actions. I am not saying there are no racial prejudices among individuals, but systemic racism implies that the majority of whites are subconsciously being racist . A racist statement in itself.And Corinne S does make a good description of how systemic racism could operate, while Sincerely, Elle is a race baiter who uses circular logic to attempt to prove a point.	Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	10/132	7.576
TheWeakMindedactually systemic racism implies that everyone is subconsciously racist . I have no interest in saying only white people or all white people are racist . Our culture is racist . And that's not even surprising because its been only fifty years since we stopped applauding the lynching of black people in this country, so to suggest that we could just STOP being racially biased after that, and so soon, is naive.People who are not racist ? Those who acknowledge the racism in our system and work to combat it.But, whatever.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/90	7.778

TheWeakMinded it's not called institutionalized racism because there are institutions for racism. Like obviously there aren't official Schools of Racism that you can attend as a student or something. Racism IS the institution. To institutionalize something is to make it common, accepted, etc.And saying that "the majority of whites are subconsciously being racist" is not racist in itself. MAYBE you could say it's prejudiced but it's not even that because it's not a statement based on preconceived notions. Saying that white people are often subconsciously racist is a fact, as proven by the numerous statistics that John noted in the video as well as by the plethora of testimonies from people of colour about the racism that they have faced.Racism relies on power structures and, in Western culture, white people have the power over people of colour. So it is not possible for people of colour to be racist because they do not hold the power to oppress white people - they can discriminate, they can be prejudiced, etc. But they cannot be racist. And pointing out racism is DEFINITELY not racist.	Common, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	14/184	7.609
Sincerely, Elle What the hell is classcist? The reason I said poorer people are more likely to commit crimes is based off of their need for money and food. People who are better off don't need anything urgently, whereas poorer people are more likely to need things urgently but not be able to pay for it. So they resort to theft because they are more desperate.Am I pulling this out of my ass? Could be, I wasn't meaning to say this as fact, but more so the way I see things. I also thought I saw articles about this as well, but I guess I gotta find them first.Why are black people living in poorer places? I don't know. It could have to do with America's racist past and that white people are more likely to inherit wealth because they weren't put down, but black people aren't legally put down now. Could their past be negatively effecting them now? Sure, but what can we do about that?The way I see it is the best thing we can do is just be good people. I'm not going to treat anyone differently for superficial reasons. I'll judge by content of their character and everyone gets the same basic default respect until they do something to either lower or raise the bar.Are you saying even though I think this way, I'm still going to be doing racist things?	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/239	1.674

Corinne S Hold up, did you just say "So it is not possible for people of colour to be racist because they do not hold the power to oppress white people - they can discriminate, they can be prejudiced, etc. But they cannot be racist ."?Do you understand what racism is? "the belief that all members of each race possess characteristics or abilities specific to that race , especially so as to distinguish it as inferior or superior to another race or races." Racism is a belief, a mindset. It is simply thinking one or more race is superior to one or more races. Anyone can be racist towards anyone, no matter how oppressed or privileged.	Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	9/115	7.826
Corinne S IT is hard to grasp the level of stupid in your comment... Racism IS a prejudice based on race . "the majority of whites are subconsciously being racist " is claiming a prejudgment of whites based on their race . Are you seriously saying that is not racist ? Racism is not about power structure. Racism is about prejudice in attitude and action based on race ."Pointing out racism is definitely not racist ." I would quite agree with that statement, but "the majority of whites are subconsciously racist " is the same as saying "the majority of black people are criminals." It is as racist as you are ignorant.	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	13/106	12.264
Teaky 1. [LINK] 2. I am not trying to attack you. I am sorry if that's how you feel? Deep breaths. Any statement I make is not aimed at you, but is made in general. I do not know you, thus I can't make a statement about you specifically.3. It's been proven that being poor doesn't really lead to more crime. See the drug stats John said in the video. For example, rich (and middle class) people occasionally shoplift, they just don't go to jail for it. So it's not a matter of who commits more crime, but who gets away with it.4. Half-yes. Black people, specifically, have a hard time accumulating wealth because they weren't legally allowed to accumulate wealth until very recently. But they also have a hard time accumulating wealth because of job discrimination, housing discrimination, high healthcare bills because of healthcare discrimination, etc. etc. All effects of racism .5. I'm not saying you are doing racist things, I'm saying we live in a racist system. Your individual actions are important in that you should strive to be a good person. But they have very little effect on the The System.	Black, Classism, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Social Class - General	5/196	2.551
And to Corinne S's point what you both are describing is racial prejudice. Racism requires you to be privileged in the racial power structure. Otherwise, you are just racially prejudiced. The distinction is important because it makes it clear that while black people can certainly be hateful toward white people because of their race , white people are not living a culture that systemically discriminates against them because of their race . There in-lies the difference.	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/74	5.405

Sincerely, Elle Alright, I'd like to say I didn't feel attacked so it's all good there lol. And according to that definition of classcism I didn't mean or intend that at all. I'm not saying to treat poorer people worse, I was just coming from the position of "I see poorer people as more likely to commit crime", this of course could be false as you said, but I need to look into this more.And I can agree with you on that black people will have a harder time finding jobs because of racist people, and that more racist people are racist towards black than white people, but isn't that people being racist ? Not a system? I dunno, it just seems like that's an individuals problem, not an entire system that governs things.And forgive me for being slow but I'm still confused on what "the system" is. I can't relate to this very well. Correct me where you see me wrong, but the way I see it is that people are racist , and can encourage racism in other people. To say that the system is racist is to say that it's not the people's fault and it's out of their power, almost like the laws are racist .I could be wrong though...	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	10/214	4.673
Sincerely, Elle You're redefining the word racism ..."the belief that all members of each race possess characteristics or abilities specific to that race , especially so as to distinguish it as inferior or superior to another race or races." "prejudice, discrimination, or antagonism directed against someone of a different race based on the belief that one's own race is superior." [LINK] [LINK] [LINK] [LINK] Racism is a mindset. Racism does not require to you be privileged, it requires you to think one race is superior to another for no other reason other than the fact that they are those races.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	9/99	9.091
Teaky If they do not redefine the word racist , they have to admit they are racist . They do not wish to do that.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/23	8.696

Teakyyeah, so The System is maintained by people. It doesn't exist independently of us. It informs us and we inform it. This may seem like "circular logic" but it's just to say that culture is cyclical, and that this is both good and bad. To use a good example: Say one of the proponents of a culture is democracy. We teach that democracy is a great thing, that it requires certain freedoms, etc. Soon the way we think about the world is within the context of democracy. It is not longer an "idea" but simply is. "Of course I have freedom of speech. Duh." And thus, everything we make from the Internet to educational spaces allows freedom of speech and encourages it. We encourage it among ourselves. It becomes innate. Does democracy exist independent of us? No. If we stop encouraging it and enforcing it and carrying it out, and someone comes along and encourages, enforces, and carries out authoritarianism, then authoritarianism is gonna happen. But we aren't born believing in democracy (obviously. Babies are tiny dictators after all). We learn democracy from each other and from our culture. The System teaches implicit racism . Then people internalize that, enact that and contribute to the system. After hundreds and hundreds of years, we internalize that black people are inferior. Then there is a break in that logic and we say "no, actually thats not true." What we are in the process of doing right now is breaking the cycle, but the break in that cycle is SO NEW that it hasn't been a clean one. So laws aren't always racist , but the ways they are carried out often is. Same for, like, everything. We learn racism from each other and from our culture. But we could just as easily UNLEARN it in the same way. So when we try to say that only specific people are racist , we distance ourselves from the problem and we minimize it. We make it less of a problem than it really is. It's not that racist are in charge of the system. It's that we live in a culture that is racist , teaches that racism to everyone living in it, and then everyone living in it enacts that, adding to that culture, making it racist , and repeat. Its a cycle. But we have to KNOW that in order to break it.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	9/397	2.267
TeakyI'm sorry, I was using the sociological definition of racism , because that's the one that is most commonly used when talking about instituional racism , since it is a sociological phenomena. Some links: [LINK] [LINK] [LINK] So, not redefining, but using another definition. Which I believe is the one Corinne S was using as well.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/55	3.636

Sincerely, Elle "Using a different definition." No, you are using a definition that fits your agenda. Racism is racism . Limiting or excluding, in any manner, another for their skin color/ethnic origin is racism . The separation of prejudice and racism based on "power" screams of agenda driven definition. This doesn't even take into account that "white people" are not in a position of power by their race . If people want to find racism , they will find it because of the conformation bias.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	6/81	7.407
TheWeakMinded1. I didn't create sociology. It's an entire academic field that has lots of white intellectuals in it, as well as black intellectuals. Most of them agree on that definition.2. You may cling to the definition that best fits your agenda, but that doesn't negate the validity of my definition? The Webster dictionary definition is a valid one when we talk about racism as a word, but limited when we talk about it as a social phenomena. If you don't believe in sociology, that's fine, but that has nothing to do with me being biased in the way you are implying.3. It seems that to me that you are saying that if I think racism exists its because I want racism to exist. I don't know why you would believe such a thing, but I do know that it's not something I can argue with you about. Like, anything I say is will just be "confirmation bias". So.	Black, Nothing, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/161	3.106
Sincerely, Elle 1. Agreeing to a definition does not make it unbiased.2. I am not claiming you are biased. I am identifying the bias that is present whether it is yours or external from you is not my aim to prove.3. I don't think you need racism to exist,I think you are someone interested in solving problems they find. The problem becomes if you are finding something that someone else wants you to think it there.The issue comes down to the fact that I do not find us to have a system with ingrained racism , rather we have a system that treats individuals equally that has racist people within it.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/113	2.655
TheWeakMinded 1. I mean, nothing is unbiased, but fields of studies tend to be pretty objective? 2. Okay. 3. I disagree. Which, in the long scheme of things, as long as we are addressing racism in our society (whether we think it is individualized or systemic) and are treating other people equally, this particular disagreement doesn't matter. So that's fine.	Nothing, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	2/60	3.333
Denying racism is racist . Denying that race factors into the way a person is treated is racist . Trying to derail a conversation on racism into a conversation about your own opinion that you don't think it's racism but is racist .	Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	7/41	17.073
The thing about racism is... that I don't care.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/9	11.111

I agree, You can't say that it doesn't exist because we have data to proof it but I have no idea how we should solve this problem. I don't think that you can solve it via restriction and law which help the minority but mostly this law will piss off the others and that kind of supports racism . Btw. racism is a world wide problem and it exists since the beginnig of humans. Because of that I think you can reduce racism but you will never solve the problem.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/89	3.371
I was very upset to hear that certain schools with higher African American and Latino populations don't offer Algebra II or Chemistry. As a future educator, it is so upsetting to know that students will not receive the same quality of education based on their race . I will definitely be sharing the article to some colleagues of mine, thanks for posting this, John.	African, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/63	3.175
This was really, really, really, really, well done John. As someone who thinks/learns about these things a lot I was really prepared for you to screw up in some major way in this video but you really did not. I especially appreciated how you acknowledged so many nuances and facets of racism , I thought that was effective. So much covered in 4min!	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/62	1.613
If they identify as Caucasian, then yes they do. They identify as coming from the part of Europe they come from, but their race originally comes from the Caucuses.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/29	3.448

For a long time, I was convinced that the disparity between ethnic groups in the modern US was more due to classism more than racism. However, my observations since Obama's election in 2008 have led me to rethink that position. While the institutionalized and overt racism of Jim Crow are long gone, we're still a long, long way from any sort of racial equality. Class distinctions obviously still play a large role but there is clearly a strong racial component that remains. Since the last wealth redistribution that occurred in WWII, the US has steadily been growing more and more wealth-divided. The civil right movement came too late for the black population of the US to really have a chance to ride that wave of middle class mobility. It's a vicious cycle - there's poverty which leads to increased crime rates which is followed by police profiling and an estrangement from government institutions which leads to less opportunity and more poverty. I see in the 1960s civil rights movement a sad parallel to the aftermath of the US Civil War. In both cases, there was a surge of investment and the construction of the societal structures needed to give an even footing between races for a decade or two. However, these changes take at least a generation or two to really work and the public has a fickle attention span. Also I think that modern media plays a large role. Black people, particularly young black men are almost always cast in roles that glorify strength and machismo (and often outright hood glorification) over intellectualism. I think that if I were a black teenager, I would have a very hard time finding any sort of role models in music, TV or movies that didn't tell me to equate my self worth to my capacity for violence or acquisition of flashy wealth. Like modern media's continuing tendency to cast women as passive recipients of the actions of men, this has a very strong and toxic effect on people who don't have a strong set of personal role models to counteract this.	Black, Classism, Crow, Ethnic, Jim Crow, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Social Class - General	10/349	2.865
Dear John,(Given that I am a white male so generally speaking I am not suspect to racial discrimination) it is very important that you put these numbers up and for that I thank you!!! It is very hard to form a valid claim without quantitative data, and to make a valid argument without numbers standing behind it. Today you have proven to us that racism is a large problem in America and needs to be solved. Again, thank you for putting numbers behind words!	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/85	1.176

Since Ferguson happened I have been thinking about racism in Germany and I don't know if our racism is the same as the one in the US. In Germany it's more about nationalities and social backgrounds that are discriminated against. Like if you only get 9 years instead of 12/13 years of education has a lot to do with your parents nationality and job. We have problems with treating foreigners equally. There is a lot of prejudice against Turkish and Polish/Eastern European people and not against "race". And people from Eastern Europe do not look so much different than Germans, so its not really a race issue. Which is why I do not understand the problem with "African Americans". Don't these people have an American citizenship? Have these African Americans got a dual citizenship? Why are you discriminating against your own people?Don't get me wrong, I hate it that especially Turkish boys will have a lesser chance to apply to Uni than German boys with worse grades, but it is far more understandable that old people complain about "those Turks" which they don't see as part of our society (which they are!) than about people that are actually the same nationality, but just look different! Our racism is more about national identity than race, as we are a bit sensitive when it comes to the word "race" and don't wish to repeat old mistakes. The US on the other hand seems a bit fixated on races. Like when I fill out a survey or form on an American site, they sometimes ask for your race. That is so weird. Up until 3 years ago, I never even knew the term "Caucasian" and it sounds to me like a word for sea food...	African, Nationality, Old, Race, Racism, Weird	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	15/293	5.119
The US's discriminatory practices are based more on the extremely profitable Slave trade that the US was entrenched in until 1808 (and Slavery itself, which ended in 1865 due to civil war). In that, racism became a useful mindset in justifying why you could own people, being that they were of a certain color.The taking of land from native populations also entrenched this idea I think, because they were societally different from the white settlers who took their land and well, they were almost like a different species that couldn't/wouldn't be understood (due to understanding not aiding efforts to gain a profit/land)	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/103	0.971

But why do people still believe this? Why would one even ask people what kind of race they are? If I hear or read that question I get really weird feeling. Germany has seen were those kind of thoughts/ideas can lead to and it is not a good place. I learned in school that there are no different human races, only different groups of people. Every teacher in a German University learns about Adorno and this quote” Never again Auschwitz, never again war” and it is the foundation on which our educational system after 1945 has been build. So why has the US never done this? They know about the Nazi Regime and all of the horrors that they committed because of racism . They know that slavery was bad. They (should) know that killing the Native Americans was wrong. They learn about segregation, Rosa Parks, MLK, Civil Rights Movement as well as the crimes of the KKK in their history lessons, don’t they? (Because that is just an excerpt about what I learned about the Us and Racism in school)How come that does not translate in trying to make sure that history never repeats itself?	Nazi, Race, Racism, Weird	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	5/196	2.551
” African American” is just what people say largely as a substitute for black , because black can have a negative connotation. Personally, I think it’s overused to the point where people will say ” african american” even if someone’s ancestors aren’t from Africa or if they aren’t American. I personally dislike the term because it implies that black people are somehow less American when it’s likely that (if you’re descendant from slaves) your bloodline has been in America longer than most ”white” people’s has. It’s also important to note that in America, we say ”I’m Irish” or ”I’m German” when your ancestors hail from there, even though our nationality is American.	African, Black, Nationality	Ethnicity - Black, Nationality - General	6/109	5.505
Cheyenne Marie ” I personally dislike the term because it implies that black people are somehow less American when it’s likely that (if you’re descendant from slaves) your bloodline has been in America longer than most ”white” people’s has. ” that is exactly what I meant but couldn’t quite put in words.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/52	1.923
Cheyenne Marie I dislike using African American because 1) It implies to me that they are actually african b) it takes longer to type and it’s easier to say black .	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/30	10.0

Actually, a big part of the problem in Europe is that no matter how many generations a Turkish family lives in Germany they're still considered Turkish. The reason we don't just call Asian decedents living in America "asian" to describe their race is because they're not simply Asian, they're Asian American. The term African American evolved out of the other terms because it acknowledges their ethnic heritage while affirming their american identity. Germany, and other western nations, should really pick up a practice like this. For example, I have a group of Swedish friends I made abroad. One of them has a mother who was born in India, but adopted into Sweden as an infant. His mother doesn't speak Hindi, he doesn't speak Hindi, and he has never even been to India. Regardless, all of the Swedes think of him as being Indian and not Swedish. Isn't that wrong? Racism is very different in the US. A fair amount of that has to do with us having a huge former slave population whose decedents are still facing discrimination. No other "western" nation really has had a comparable problem since they didn't have slave populations as large as the US. We also conceptualize our national identity very differently. If you move over to the US and live there for long enough, you're american. Even if you keep a huge amount of your national identity from your foreign nation or origin, even if you lived most of your life there, you can still be american.	African, Ethnic, Indian, Nation, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American, Nationality - General	7/253	2.767
NotTotallyHopeless That's because Asian is a widely used term refers to an ethnicity not a nationality .Sweden lately ha had problems with immigrants that is caused by their sheer number. Sweden alone take in more immigration applicants than Germany and Spain combined. Sweden is a country of 9 million while Germany and Spain are 50 or so each (I think). There was never before been mass migration except for during the fins were at war with the soviets and there were tens if not one or two thousand children that were moved to Sweden.P.S. I'd dare to guess that Britain or rather the British empire had more slaves than the US. Just a guess though.	Ethnicity, Nationality	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	2/116	1.724

lolpauve You also call people Indian American and Italian American and those are both nationalities. ... How does talking about the amount of Swedish immigrants mean anything? I was talking about the seeing of people who are not ethnically Swedish as never being considered nationally Swedish which is a complex and ultimately racist problem. For comparison to the half Indian Swede I know a half French Swede in the same friend group and no one has ever questioned him being Swedish. It's a racial issue and your data about immigration has nothing to do with that and is weirdly out of place. Also, while the British Empire had a lot of slaves, they were mostly kept in the colonies. Today the black population is about 3 of the British population compared to the 13 in the US. It's also worth noting that a large chunk of the 3 figure have immigrated there post slavery from one of Britain's many former colonies with whom Britain shares complex immigration policies with. So no, they did not face the same former slave problem as the US.	Black, Indian, Nothing, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native- American	5/183	2.732
NotTotallyHopeless You're right. Racism , and its notion, in Europe differs from the US's. Racism seems to br more about ethnicity in Europe (I.e 'this person is from Eastern Europe so add some poorly made comments ect). They are more people from one ethnicity against people from another ethnicity (with same colour of skin) in Europe than in the US where it seems to be more " black vs white". But one doesn't replace/erase the other - I don't deny you have both 'system' of racism in the US and Europe. The same can be said in Asia where different ethnicity are prejudiced against the other. If you look at the official definition of the UNO, it's quite broad and does not only include skin but also ethnicity and other criteria.	Black, Ethnicity, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	9/129	6.977

NotTotallyHopeless I do not call any people any-american. Please don't project on me.Believe it or not perception matters. I don't know in what context this whole indian thing was meant so I can't exactly comment on that. But I assume, he looks indian right? If someone looks unfamiliar or different or whatever of course people are going to notice. Our brains are programmed to respond to familiar faces more friendly. Considering the traditional frenchman looks a hell of a lot more like a traditional swedish man than an indian one I don't think it is a) a surprise or b) racist.(Also considering swedish royals are of a french bloodline, well you get the point).I'm actually sure you know this but I don't consider that racism (again, I don't know the exact context). Race is a part of each persons identity just like other genetic factors. Considering those genetic factors have been a part of the national identities for hundreds and in some cases thousands of years, well, that will not change quickly.I mentioned the race part because recently the major uptick in immigrants has in part lead to some socio-economic problems and, like in many other european countries, have actually lead to race relations worsening and the rise of somewhat racist (nothing compared to what you guys have in the US) far-right parties.I never said anything about the slave problem I just said that a) they had more slaves and b) I think it's incredibly racist of you to assume that the only slaves were black... It's not like indian soldiers were used by the brits as cannon fodder as late as world war one. Oh wait... they were.	Black, Indian, Nothing, Race, Racism, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	13/284	4.577
firstly brilliant point. secondly it really does sound like seafood. And lastly, there have been studies done to prove that all americans are subconsciously racist but only in the u.s. even black people! But in other countries such as Germany, experience a different type of racism which is what you were talking about like it being based on social background and stuff. Blacks are citizens of course and they are people just like whites but i think its more about what black people represent than their actual skin color. Mainly stereotypes such as, black people are thugs, black people do drugs, black people are ghetto which was stemmed from the many years of slavery that has occurred. Once racism starts, it's hard to get it out of your system.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	8/129	6.202
I would think once white males are in power why would they give that up no matter how wrong they know slavery or racism is.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/25	4.0
A really good video on race and the state of the U. S. regarding the issue us Dan Brown aka Pogobat's video, "On Hope, Six years later" I suggest you watch it because it is very interesting and covers the major issues of racism.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/44	4.545

As a teacher in public schools, I see how difficult it is to really get diverse bodies to interact in meaningful ways, even when there is no animosity between them. Somehow, we need to find better ways to get diverse groups of people talking about race and culture, and just as importantly, talking with each other about things BESIDES race and culture. But it isn't easy. It's hard even for Nerdfighteria to come to much agreement, and Nerdfighteria, for all its awesomeness, is not an especially diverse group. But in Hank's last video, and this one today, there's an opening there, at least.	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/103	1.942
Great video, John. It left me with more questions than answers, but it was good to hear you talk about this. Now if only we could stop looking at white versus black and start focusing on that giant growing Hispanic majority in the United States. I'm sure the growing Asian, Indian and Native American populations I share my beautiful city with would appreciate a little more attention too.	Black, Indian	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - Native-American	2/68	2.941
I agree. when racism is spoken of, it always ends up being about whites vs. blacks. The other people of color who have to deal with similar problems are completely left out.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/32	3.125
The Black /White Issue is just a simplification of the larger issue that's easy to use as, other than perhaps Native Americans, the Black community has had the most injustice done upon them. I would like to see some more talk about other races though, too	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/45	2.222
32lizOtuseM Hispanics are South American/Americans and do feel the effects of racism	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/12	8.333
Now if we could only look past race as well. No, seriously, we must do this. That doesn't mean ignoring obviously racial discrimination. But looking at every factor behind a prejudice. Class, sexual orientation, and religious denomination, etc. Its all holding the lower classes down. Equal opportunity flat out doesn't exist, and there must be a clear distinction made between the race baiters and serious activists. Its not so cut and dry, black and white. I live in new mexico, its Hispanic population is the majority. With one of the largest native populations in the country. We still have our racial problems, and dealings with poverty. Even with Hispanics holding the baton. So don't believe that if the demographics just change. It will fix your city or state. There is still going to be work to be done.	Black, Race, Sexual	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	4/138	2.899
32lizOtuseM Though they can be white, there's an added cultural stigma against them, and a black hispanic isn't just set back by being black , he's also set back by being a hispanic. Though it's not a race , it is an ethnic group defined by people from certain countries. An Asian that moves to one of these places is not considered hispanic, and their children aren't either, for example	Black, Ethnic, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/68	5.882

FUCKNewChannelLayout Alright, it wasn't a concrete enough mention, but I swear I have met more Native Americans in Texas in the past few years that was quite surprising. Much smaller scale, but either everyone gets representation, or we stop making such a big deal about race and start seeing everyone as a complex individual, to respond to what yemo34 was saying.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/61	1.639
Calling attention to a particular sub-set of American racism is important - trying to tackle ALL of American racism in 4 minutes would just be too much. While I would love to see more discussions of other branches of American racism , a focus on anti-black injustice is an important place to start.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/52	5.769
It's an ethnicity . I used it as a broad term since taking the time to say Mexicans, Puerto Rican, etc. would be too long and not cover everyone.	Ethnicity	Ethnicity - General	1/28	3.571
Hispanics aren't a race of people though, in fact, most spanish speaking countries have vast racism (and colorism) and have detrimental white supremacist systems just as much as America does. 1/3 of Laitnos in Latin American are white (or at least consider themselves to be). In fact, over 50-60 of hispanics in the united states are white. So, we're not going to talk about that "growing hispanic population" any more than we talk about that "growing igbo population." We'll continue discussing racism and as it pertains to various races and admixtures there of which will include those hispanic people of color since they belong to those racial groups. We can talk about hispanics in discussions about ethnocentrism, but in discussions about racism ? Sorry hun , they aren't a race .	Hun, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - German	6/128	4.688
D Exactly, the same in Cuba. I remember doing a report for my sociology class (that was assigned to me by my teacher) on racism in Cuba. I had no idea (nor do most people) that about 62 cubans are black ! Yet, they are often forbidden from working at tourist locations such as resorts and what not because that would show Cuba in a negative. Hell, even most of the Cubans that make it to the U.S. are white. I advise everyone to watch the PBS documentary series " Black in Latin America." Very eye-opening.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/94	3.191
Storm-Y Bey Did you not see my reply saying that Hispanics are an ethnicity , not a race ? I said it an hour before your reply. Or did you ignore it so you could give me your two cents and call me hun ?	Ethnicity, Hun, Race	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - German	3/42	7.143

Leah Moreno Nope didn't see it, in any case. My reply was to your initial comment, if you meant what you said and actually what you're talking about then you would have edited your comment that started this 27 comment thread instead of writing a comment under it explaining yourself. Not to mention your comment "explaining" is just as stupid and inaccurate. Mexicans and Puerto Ricans are nationalities, not races of people. So, again, we will not include them in our discussions about race just as we won't include any other nationalities.I see you're latina so you have a bias in this, but just because your last name is spanish that doesn't make you a person of color. So, clamor elsewhere. My comment still stands.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/125	0.8
Leah Moreno I already answered that here, "Not to mention your comment "explaining" is just as stupid and inaccurate. Mexicans and Puerto Ricans are nationalities, not races of people. So, again, we will not include them in our discussions about race just as we won't include any other nationalities.I see you're latina so you have a bias in this, but just because your last name is spanish that doesn't make you a person of color." Even if you would have changed "hispanic" for mexican and puerto rican your statement still makes no sense. In discussions about race we do not mention specific nationalities, why? Because there are over 200 in the world. Being mexican or puerto rican does NOT make you your own race . They are nationalities, there are black ones, white ones, mixed ones, etc. So, in racial discussions about " black versus white" we are actually encapsulating puerto ricans since majority of them are mixed black /white with large black and white minorities. Why? Because they aren't races, they are nationalities made up of people of various different races and admixtures thereof. Discussions about race doesn't exclude hispanic people because they come in all races. If you want to have discussions on ethnicity or nationality (as you mention one ethnicity and two nationalities) then that's a completely different conversation considering there are tens of thousands of ethnic groups in the world, one of them being hispanic and hundreds of nations in the world two of them being mexican and puerto rican.	Black, Ethnic, Race	Ethnicity, Nationality, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	11/251	4.382
Storm-Y Bey I know I'm speaking from a biased place because I live in Texas where there are more Mexicans and Mexican-Americans than Caucasians or African-Americans. It's curious that you're able to say, "We're not going to worry about a specific nationality in this conversation" when things such as the "Latino vote" is popular and important to the U.S. Is this something John needed to address in his video? No. It is something I wanted to bring up as a reply to his video topic and I'm happy we could come across each other so that I could hear a different perspective.	Nationality	Nationality - General	1/102	0.98

Leah Moreno I live in Texas too and the demographics aren't as you describe. According to the 2010 census non-hispanic whites are 45 of the population while hispanics, of any race, are 37. When you break it down by simply race, then 70 of Texans are white. The Latino vote is popular and important to U.S. because it's a large demographic that isn't as partisan as, say, the African-American vote which goes almost entirely to demographics therefore politicians are fighting for a voting block which can go either way with the right conditioning. I said we're not going to focus on those nationalities because this is a discussion on racism, not on nationalism or ethnocentrism. Hence, we will speak about races, not nationalities or ethniciites.	Nationalism, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	4/125	3.2
1) Hispanics are not a race, you'll find black, white, mestizo, etc. 2) Blacks in Latin American countries arguably endure severe racism, more than most folks. Those in glass houses...	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/30	10.0
like you say causation does not imply correlation and i would say most of the studies you linked or talked about also has gross issues over generalization and dose not talk or inspect reason to why that is as such they merely state something is not if it is a systemic racism issue. what you see as a systemic racism issue i see as the US having a poor system in which people move up and down in economic class. and what is widening gap of whites and blacks i see as widening gap of rich v poor.to me it is not a case of systemic racism but rather the ground issue the US has of the rich get richer and the poor get poorer. even in the case of education you need parrents to be involved in school and the children that dosen't happen in poorer naibourhoods as parrents are working 2 jobs and just expect the school to do all the work that is not how public schools with more white kids gets better education it is threw parrent intrest, bake sales etc. that they are better.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/190	1.579
He even mentioned economics, and recalled the (VERY TRUE) fact that race is not completely removed from even that. You are hearing what you want because it's easier for you to be in denial about the fact that systemic racism exists in this country, even when the people it hurts are telling you directly. You are the problem.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/58	3.448

I think you make good points here, but I don't think these points imply that racism /prejudice is not the issue. Black Americans are more likely to be in the poor/poverty class than the wealthy class. Why is this? Because of a long standing system of racist laws and businesses that gave advantage to whites over minorities, because of over two-hundred years of advantage white Americans had to build businesses during which black Americans were in slavery, because of the long-standing prejudice and racism on the part of business owners that led to black Americans being unable to get jobs, own good property, get good loans, etc. Certainly you can see this as a class problem, but when your classes are largely split on a color line, you have to admit it is also a race problem.	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/136	4.412
I do think in many ways race plays shorthand for poverty. Often the demographics of poverty and race overlap, but that just makes you double transgressed against. It doesn't excuse either bias- either for race or economics. The people rejecting Jamal's resume didn't know anything about his poverty level.	Race	Ethnicity - General	3/49	6.122
If you take any class on American Poverty, no one will deny that race plays a big part in it. The oppression of the poor in the US can't be disconnected from racism in the US because minorities make up such a large portion of the poor. Hell, you can see racism when you see people arguing about welfare. The popularization of the black welfare queen is so hugely racist , and relies on racial stereotypes of lazy black people.	Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/79	7.595
Im only racist towards the muggles. Im not proud of it but i cant help it.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/16	6.25
Handled incredibly well. Thank you for making this video, John! I can not tell you how much I appreciate you speaking logically and thoughtfully about the issue of racism in the 21st century.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/33	3.03
Bravo. Although, as you said, we need to listen to the voices of those who are experiencing racism on a daily basis, the conversations need to be started by those who have a platform and directed to those who have the experience and knowledge to know what to say. Thanks for starting the conversation, John. Now onto that playlist...	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/59	1.695

Racism is everywhere in the world, and I hate to say that but its true. Like seriously, my parents told me and my brother this ” No matter which area we live in the UK, or how wealthy we are or we are good people to the community or we live here for many years, we will always be seen as foreigners”. Yes I live in the UK but there’s still racism in the UK just as much as America. I don’t know when will people accept that this world/planet earth is shared by everyone, and everyone belongs to live a happy and satisfying life here because we are all human beings and must interact with everyone equally and with justice. Great video John, and maybe 2015 holds a better world	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/131	1.527
sadly where i live racism is encouraged among the younger generation.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/11	9.091
America is extremely racist , and most white Americans uphold racist institutions because it benefits them and they want to hold onto those benefits. Erasing the fact of racism only benefits one group of people: white Americans. Erasing racism is racism . White Americans, even when they consider themselves liberal and open minded uphold standards of racism . Even the so-called Youtube community with its lack of diversity, uphold racist stereotyping in some of its most famous partners. The KKK is not a threat to black Americans, it’s the casual white American who loves Hip-Hop and Rap, has posters of Black Athletes on the wall, and yet say nothing when Black people are gunned down and lynched. They do nothing but sit in their homes and flip through channels and ignore anything that might be a threat to their privilege in society. Those white Americans are the biggest threat to equality, because they uphold the white supremacy with their silence and they are by far the majority of white Americans, not the minority of crazed white supremacists. Conservative Media, Liberal media, the Republican Party, the Democratic Party, Liberal comedians, enlightened authors, consumers, all practice racism for their benefit. Unless people acknowledge their own racism , they’ll remain in denial and nothing will change. It is a witch hunt for racists, if you’re white in America, chances are you are racist because you practice the subconscious act of upholding the white supremacy. Hopefully your video ignites a few individuals to the plain of consciousness about the society they live in and how they contribute to the oppression of others.	Black, Nothing, Racism, Racist, Witch	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - Female age and physical appearance	17/264	6.439

John- I love the video and it's incredibly informative, well said and eye opening. But my question is: as a young white female in the US, what should I do to work on fighting this systemic racism ? What can I do to attempt to fix it? I often feel helpless in issues like this that don't directly affect me, and I feel like I'm left with an issue that I know and understand is important, but that I don't know how to act on because I'm not necessarily experiencing it myself.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/91	1.099
Racism affects you. Just because you're white doesn't mean racism doesn't affect you. It just affects you in the positive rather than the negative. You're afforded privileges because of it. What you can do it be counted at protests, and be heard at the dinner table when casual racism pops up. Don't wait to go on tumblr and talk about this obvious racist thing you saw, talk on it. Also check your own racist practices.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	5/75	6.667
BookishBirdy It also affects her in the negative, I would believe that were every member of every race be equally empowered to make change from their perspective, all of society would be greatly advanced	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/34	2.941
When you are old enough to vote, vote for a representative who is against racism . Right now you could go out and give money to a struggling black family. Hand out bus passes, that sort of thing. "The great aim and end of all learning is service to society" -Ben Franklin. You have been educated, so go out and serve.	Black, Old, Racism	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/60	5.0
Have uncomfortable conversations. Re-examine your own beliefs and that of your family and friends. Challenge people when racism comes up.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/20	5.0
Be the change. Support business that support change. Elect officials that support change. Keep a fair and unbiased mind when looking at situations and people. Don't form prejudgments'. Don't assume that I'm a loud annoying angry black woman that will curse you out when actually I'd rather you join me and some finds for dinner and conversation at a nice restaurant. And finally, talk to your friends and family and encourage them to do the same. Pay it forward.	Black, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Gender - General	2/79	2.532
Cady Stanton Your sincerity really warms my heart. Thank you. On top of all of the other good advice you've been offered here, I'd add for you to continue listening and continue asking how you can help. Also, don't become offended or uncomfortable when people say things about white people. These conversations are not against compassionate white people like yourself, but are referring more to a system of white supremacy and racist individuals who hope to defend that system.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/79	1.266

Cady Stanton Influence your friends, family, and coworkers. If you become a Human Resource employee who gets to view applicants don't do the same instead make a difference. Make friends with hispanics, blacks, and other races. Date out of your own race . One person makes a difference.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/47	2.128
Dear Race : Get the hell out of education.If you want equality, why the fuck does race and gender directly affect your score?If a white male and a black female enter the same test to be scored, the black female gets a higher score,Equality.If a white male and a black female apply for a high level course, the black female gets it,Equality.If a white male and a black female apply for scholarship, the black female gets it,Equality.If a white male and a black female turn 18, only the white male must register for the draft,Equality.If a white male wants to play a female sport he can not, if the black female wants to play a male sport she can,Equality.We are so fucking equal now, aren't we?	Black, Gender, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	10/137	7.299
Men of all races register for the draft. This is a gender issue not a race issue. Also, if you're going to state things like this please cite some proof. I don't believe most of it.	Gender, Race	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	2/36	5.556
THANK YOU! as a hispanic female who is applying to college, I feel terrible for my white male friends. One of my good friends has the exact same grades as me, except he is a blond haired blue eyed white male, and he begged me not to ED to the same school as him bc he knows with my gender and race , equality could mean he doesnt get a spot	Gender, Race	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	2/70	2.857
You get extra consideration for going to a university if your parents or family members went there. Some school banned Black people and women from going so they would not be able to benefit from there parents going to that school. Also if you are handicap people have pretty hard time getting to school.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/54	1.852
Myka Dassano I included that as I decided to move it from just a race thing to an equality in general thing, and decided to keep the "white male" and " black female" going so the comparisons were consistent with who it was.Also, the proof is my experience.	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/48	4.167
ThePuppyTurtle No, we should really extend it to all citizens, male and female. Though in the digital age the idea that we need to have a special system to get names for draft lists is absurd anyway.	Age	Age - General	1/37	2.703
cpMetis so what your saying is is because a people who so happened to be black and a female does better or is more out their (cause I can play a girls sport and be fine) its sexist/racist, no your just a smock	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/43	2.326

Affirmative action is a way of giving minorities unfair advantages, and does not help fix the issue of racism (ironic as it becomes racist in the process of attempting to end racism ).	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/32	9.375
If a white male and a black female turn 18, only the white male must register for the draft,Equality.If a white male wants to play a female sport he can not, if the black female wants to play a male sport she can,Equality.But a black male, like a white one, also has to sign up for the draft. That doesn't have to do with race; it has to do with sex . Same goes for the second one. You're mixing up the issues here. And for the most part, I don't think any progressive female would rage over having to sign up for the draft in the name of equality; nor would they rage about having a male in a female group (so long as that male's intentions were honest). ...also, I'm pretty sure male cheerleaders are a thing. I'm guessing the ones who would rage about these issues are the same backwards conservatives who want to keep the system of inequality as it is.	Black, Sex	Ethnicity - Black, Gender - General	4/168	2.381
aron gebrehiwot No, I am saying these exist under the pretence that the "white male" and " black female" are equal under all other categories than those stated.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/27	3.704
female sport? can you name a female sport i'd be familiar with? i'm confused.also, let's not forget that it's not just gender that matters when you make money: white females make 76 cents to a white male's dollar black females make 64 cents to a white male's dollarlatino females make 55 cents to a white male's dollar.I don't really understand what you're trying to say, and i hope that what i just said contradicts it, but if it doesn't, then please explain?	Black, Gender	Ethnicity - Black, Gender - General	2/85	2.353
theblackrainbow21 Again (as I have said in a previous response) the "black white" and "male female" portions do not necessarily both affect the situation at the same time. This was meant to cover both race and gender inequalities.EDIT: Also, the male cheerleaders were not what I was talking about, but rather sports like softball or volleyball, which seem to be girl-only for some freaking reason.	Gender, Race	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	2/66	3.03
ThePuppyTurtle A draft could still go into effect assuming major global conflict. I disagree with the OP on many issues but the draft needs to be abolished.Women being allowed into all sections of the military wouldn't immediately preclude selective service of women. Legally the case for making US selective service gender neutral was dismissed in 2013.	Gender	Gender - General	1/57	1.754

My mom was a civil engineer in Texas and Arkansas in the 80s, and let me tell you, her coworkers ("good ole boys" she used to call them) HATED her. She got raises, promotions, all that, simply because she was a female. Her coworkers, mostly all men, because that's who were engineers in the 80s, hated her for this "unfair" treatment, so she hated her job and quit when she got pregnant. While I know this has nothing to do with race , and only gender , I wanted to point out that sometimes these "advantages" aren't really even advantageous to the receiver of them.	Engineers, Gender, Nothing, Race	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General, Nationality - General	4/103	3.883
cpMetis I agree that favoring one person over another based entirely on appearance and ethnic background isn't going to fix the problem, but as it is there is already a huge discrepancy with PoC and "urban" youth getting a higher education. Programs like this can encourage kids to continue their education. It might seem incredibly unfair to you right now, but the number of PoCs this kind of programming favors hardly affects the total number of white students who attend school. It's definitely not on a 50/50 basis like your original post suggests.	Ethnic	Ethnicity - General	1/93	1.075
cpMetis The white male demographic is "stimulated" in almost every aspect of our society. If you think picking a handful of black students over white students is appalling and racist , then I'm surprised the whole of this video didn't blow your mind.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/42	4.762
Myka DassanoMore Latino's died in the Vietnam war then any other race . Something about that doesn't seem right.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/19	5.263

cpMetis These "advantages" you're talking about don't even affect a large number of white people. Just by existing in our society we are given a large number of privileges not granted to PoCs.This is the solution we have in order to increase the number of PoCs in higher education and encourage others to follow in their footsteps. If that bothers you, you should consider looking at how systemic racism actually works in the world around you. How are you unknowingly benefiting from this system? Does a few dozen favored PoCs really affect your chances of getting into college, or are you just looking for someone else to blame your inadequacies on?It might bother you that PoCs are sometimes favored in the education system, but that's because there is a low number of them achieving a higher education. This is literally ONE aspect of a very broken system that benefits PoCs over white people.It might not seem fair to you, but fair isn't everyone getting the same, its everyone getting what they need. White people don't need social and cultural advantages getting into higher education because we've ALWAYS had that advantage. You're literally whining because a handful of students are achieving things they might not have had the opportunity to do otherwise.If you're worried a black kid is going to get into a school over you, then you're going to need to work harder to stand out. Which is significantly easier than living in a society and culture that is actively working against you. White people are not the victims in this situation.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/266	0.752
cpMetis but believe it or not, racism and sexism ARE STILL A THING! don't make white males feel like the victims here. because they're not.	Racism, Sexism	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	2/25	8.0
cpMetis Those who ignore history are doomed to repeat it. Whether you like it or not, the past is ALWAYS going to affect the choices we make today. As it should. You should consider reflecting on your past and the choices you've made and how racism and society have influences those choices. It might teach you mindfulness, and understand why these types of programs exist.How the hell can you call this an "injustice" after watching this video? Get some perspective.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/81	1.235
JessieTheLookout Um, no. That's EXACTLY what is happening in that case. If a group of people is given an advantage for no reason other than their race , that is discrimination. If I gave 10 higher test scores to white students, would that be fair? Of course not. If I gave 10 higher scores to everybody except white students, that isn't fair either.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/62	1.613

cpMetis I understand what you're saying. If we give (for example) the black female or advantages than the white male, then the white male will be the one suffering. Yes, they have had advantages for so long, but if people want equality, that means no one gets more or less than the next person.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/54	1.852
NotTotallyHopeless There is a point at which that advantage becomes unfair. I believe that's what cpMetis is trying to convey here. Tutoring in school, maybe a scholarship, that's fine. Handing out jobs and college acceptance letters to those who don't earn them is not equality. That's racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/47	2.128
Jim Reardon This is why america should use a system similar to the UK where scholarships and extra credit to universities and colleges are means tested, meaning that it depends on the families income, not their race . This would mean that those starting off with less will get hep, no matter their race . It is a much fairer way to reward those who have come from hard backgrounds and succeeded, not just one race .	Race	Ethnicity - General	3/74	4.054
"If a white male and a black female apply for a high level course, the black female gets it," where are you going to uni lol"If a white male and a black female apply for scholarship, the black female gets it," there's scholarships for everyone, even white males. Just don't have the mental prowess of a potato and you're good. "If a white male and a black female enter the same test to be scored, the black female gets a higher score," this stat is just straight bullshit, check the Collegeboard site for scores by percentile by race .	Black, Mental, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	8/99	8.081
Samuel Swindley this is actually a great idea. When Texas switched it's algorithm to just help poor students regardless of color they actually found that more minority students received scholarships compared to just having scholarships based on race .	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/38	2.632

Also, I think someone needs to point out, that although we love to cry over how hard things are for white men (I mean they do have it sooooo hard) the hardest thing to be while applying for colleges is an Asian woman . Ivy League schools specifically turn down Asian women at a higher rate because if they didn't most Ivy League schools would have massive Asian populations which might lower application rates by other races. In fact, when you have schools that don't factor in racial and economic background of students and go purely by grades and test scores you see a massive jump in the percentage of Asian women at those schools. *Note: I would be saying Asian American women but this data also includes international Asian students so I just shortened to say Asian women. Though if you're talking just about Americans you should say Asian American :)	Woman	Gender - General	1/151	0.662
How fast can I throw a brick at you, the problem is that black females cannot do that, and the hypothetical that you came up with is not equality and that wasn't the point of the video and no one is arguing about males playing female sports and females playing male sports, the test scores you are talking about individuals, it's about how on average black schools have less opportunities than white schools, THATS ABOUT RACE and that on average black schools have lower SATs than white ones THATS ABOUT RACE . Could you stop focussing on how your definition of equality might affect you and look at the big picture, in the liberal utopia equality means that everyone is treated equality, yes sadly for the white male it means that they might not get the privilege of being the highest safest class in society in almost every state of history, but it means everyone gets that right and I have no idea how that a bad thing. Everyone gets EQUAL opportunity everyone gets EQUAL treatment. If you can't see that's not happening then you are so incredibly fucking blind .	Black, Blind, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	6/189	3.175
NotTotallyHopeless My advice is to apply to a couple Cali schools, they don't have any racial discrimination. this is why uc have so many asians and asian women. I'm not condoning anything, but being Asian isn't a sort of academic death sentence.You can look at the UCB, UCSB, UCD, UCLA, UCSD and it's a universal trend; same with Caltech. As a result, they're becoming more competitive too. Caltech is hands down the most selective Uni in the nation .	Nation	Nationality - General	1/79	1.266

vector313 I'm certainly not saying Texas has any sort of good race relations. The textbooks were crazy and their lack of interest in helping end black poverty is disgusting. At the same time, their move in accepting the top 10 of every high school class into their state educational system has increased racial and economic diversity at their schools. No one is holding up Texas as a good example of anti-racism but they did innovate a great form of affirmative action that really helps poor minority students.	Black, Crazy, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/87	3.448
lol you are fucking retarded, race is a legitimate biological classification. there is more to it than skin color man, this is what you liberal kids dont understand. there are 3 races, negroid, caucasoid, mongoloid and they all have traits that make them similar to one another other than skin color. the whole argument for equality is based on FAITH. it is a RELIGION. there is no evidence that supports people are equal in any fucking way.	Mongoloid, Race	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/77	2.597
That's not what he's saying. He's saying that if a white male is able to get a certain job,so should a African American female if they have the same résumé. Your name or your race shouldn't keep you from getting a job. What really matters is how qualified you are.	African, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/50	4.0
dee jay It usually helps to take a look at racism from a sociological perspective. According to researchers, " race " is likely socially constructed, the groups we divide into races (often based on skin color or other features) are mostly arbitrary, with their differences based only on genetic variation within the same species. What I'm trying to say here is, there really is no clear-cut difference between races other than the constraints by which we define those races (e.g. skin color).A few sources: Wiki article - [LINK] Research Guide - [LINK]	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/91	2.198
dee jay Huh, I think you're right now, about races being different genetically. So it looks like race is a legitimate difference, but I doubt that can justify stereotypes and prejudices against a people, there are always exceptions.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/38	2.632
So all of a sudden it's GET RACE OUT OF EDUCATION because it's affecting white men . Give me a fucking break.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/21	4.762
All 18 year old white men have to sign up for the draft and blacks and women are left out? Would you mind sharing the name of the fictional society that you made up where this happens?	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/37	2.703

RACIST	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/1	100.0
Explicitproductions1 I don't think you understand both the problem of racism in academia or what programs are actually being used to fight it.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/23	4.348
ffffffffffffad Yeah i clicked on most of the links and some of them were just pointless or didn't work, and i know the guy is probably a white supremacist or something by his tone, but I did read what I could and I just wanted to cede the point that there is difference in the races according to the Fixation Index (which was like the only actual argument he made). Of course, the FST between the two races is a moot point, because clearly there isn't enough difference to justify racism . This dee jay guys has a serious lack of empathy	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/101	0.99
Alan Lasater its pretty pathetic you disregard factual evidence of anthropology and cater to your own emotional speculation. show me evidence that proves races are equal. there is none. its biologically impossible. "this guy disagrees with me, he must be racist "this is the logic of your average liberal these days.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/51	1.961
U R A DISGUSTING RACIST I BET U WISH ALL MINORITIES WOULD BE KILLED IN SOME HORRIBLY WAY	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/18	5.556
Some guy Some guyI don't think race is a legitimate Classification since not all Africans share genes with Neanderthals. While most people outside of Africa do. Meaning Northern Africans might be closer related to Europeans then Sub Sahara Africans because Sub Saharan Africans don't have the Neanderthal gene while North Africans do. We still refer to the majority of people from Africa as Africans.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/65	1.538

dee jay Since you asked so nicely :) If you look at many of the factors that go into college acceptance rates, many of them do not give equal opportunity to African Americans and other minority students. African Americans are more likely to suffer from poverty, and are more likely to live in poverty stricken areas. This effects two major factors for getting into college; SATs and the prestige of the applicants high school. Not only do poor areas have worse schools with lower budgets which damages a students SAT scores, but unlike wealthier students, they can't afford personal tutors or even SAT classes. Wealthier public and private schools even offer these classes for free or at a discount which poor (mostly minority) schools cannot afford to do. There's also some cultural biases on the SATs, but that's a whole other issue. As for quality of school, a minority student is more likely to go to a poor school district with lower academic standing than a wealthier majority white school district. So, even if two students have the same grades and are both equally good students, the one from the poorer district will be less likely to get in. There are also some issues of race in applying to college that wealthy minority students face, such as letters of recommendation. Older white teachers may (consciously or not) give minority students worse letters of recommendation or refuse to write one for them. Also, affirmative action in universities and colleges is generally created by the school itself. Some of these programs are used to try to help minority students, but many are in place to make the college seem more diverse in order to attract more applicants. I know the diversity index was something I thought about when I looked at colleges. Some states do have programs, but they're not huge and don't have the wide impact on acceptance rates that people think they do. The state who is considered to have the biggest affirmative action plan is Texas who accepts the top 10 of each individual high school into its college automatically. Diversity at their state universities has increased dramatically, but the program mentions nothing about race. There you go.	African, Nothing, Race	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/369	1.355
dee jay I never said the races are equal, I actually said you were right that they are biologically different on average, but I think you're reading too much into this "anthropological evidence". So what if we are, scientifically speaking, genetically different (slightly), it's still plain to see the variance within races, so it would be statistically unsound to discriminate against a group of people based on anthropology. This video is about racism, not genetics. I'm genetically different from Jamal as i am from every human, but that doesn't mean we should be treated differently under the law or employers because of differences in genes.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/105	0.952

dee jay Also, you're clearly catering to your own narrative by dismissing other people as "fucking liberals" and oversimplifying the thought processes of others to "this guy disagrees with me, he must be racist ". Like I said, I think you're lacking empathy, which is really important when considering racism	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/49	4.082
I agree, people fight and fight for the "losing side" whether it's woman or blacks only for the roles to reverse. If you fight for equality, then fight for actual equality.	Woman	Gender - General	1/31	3.226
dee jay You completely missed what I said and reacted to my using hitler as an example to explain empathy. You jumped on this chance to once again, like I said you were doing, over simplify the thought process of others. You then repeated the pointless bit of info that "no race is equal to one another" even though I've already explained why this is a moot point. For all your talk about "rationality" you sure do like to ignore argument for the sake of your own ideology. I won't be replying again, as you've fallen into a state of self-delusion and are not adding to the conversation. bye.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/109	0.917
NotTotallyHopeless You're right, i don't. I'm look at this from a black and white (perspective (not a joke). "An eye for an eye makes the whole world blind " as the saying goes. All i'm saying is that people (whether they be white or any other ethnic group) shouldn't be put at a disadvantage later on in life just to compensate for the disadvantage of another ethnic group.	Black, Blind, Ethnic	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/68	5.882
Explicitproductions1 yes but you're not being disadvantaged by affirmative action. Unless you're an Asian woman getting into college is not really any harder for you. In fact it's easier for men than women. Also, for most colleges (including my own) they don't take away from white students in order to help minority students. My college (like many others) has a full ride scholarship program for minority students from poor areas. And like many of these programs, it's paid for by alumni donations specifically for the scholarship program.	Woman	Gender - General	1/87	1.149
NotTotallyHopeless yeah you are. minority quotas is hiring one people based on their race , at expense of another. that is putting them at a disadvantage	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/25	4.0

speed0spank That's because placing women in danger goes against basic biological instincts for any reasonably sane man. They've tested it over and over in the US military, and almost without fail trained male soldiers will ignore orders and their own safety to help a woman in danger. It has nothing to do with women being "icky".I will agree that dee jay is a moron though, if that's who you were referring to.	Nothing, Woman	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	2/73	2.74
Your argument is more about gender inequality than race . All male citizens are drafted no matter their race . And most of the stories you hear about a girl wanting to play on a boys' sports team it is usually a white female at a predominately white school. Also this is usually because there is no girl version of the sport. Example, there is no such thing as a girls' football team however, there are boys' volleyball teams. I am a black female and I went to a fairly diverse high school. Test scores and getting into higher level courses had no correlation with race . The scholarship can be bias but like I said, I'm a black female and still had an extremely hard time getting scholarships. Sometimes it is race , but sometimes it's just the fact that a person of color worked harder.	Black, Gender, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	7/143	4.895
Fuck that, asian Males have it even harder than white males. Its the exact same thing as you said above, just replace white with asian and black female with white male.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/31	3.226
Mike Hoth Though that is sweet of them I don't think that's biological instinct, I mean if early human men sacrificed themselves every time any woman was in danger, surely that wouldn't be advantageous to his genes. If their mate was in trouble, yes they probably would help but that's more about emotional bonds, which men have with each other too. I think it's more likely due to the social belief that women are fragile and need to be protected, in which case women fighting in the army is vital to change that belief. There are also plenty of accounts of mixed gendered...uh platoons? I don't remember the military term they used, but they've been very successful. Throughout history women of many countries have fought in armies off-record because women want to protect their men too :) like in Mulan. There's an entire alternate history where heroic women whose contributions have been forgotten or diminished.I hope i don't offend you, cause even if you disagree with me here, and even if there are downsides to women fighting in the army, we still have to do it, because if we don't take the same risks/responsibility as men do, how can we ask for the same rights/privileges? The MRA would jump on that straight away saying 'women want to be treated as superior while men die for their safety' (though they already say that anyway). And they'd be right, it's not fair on men if we don't share the dangerous jobs. It's about proving ourselves.	Woman	Gender - General	1/254	0.394
False equivalence. Affirmative Action in NO WAY equates to or even comes close to racism . It's not even a real problem.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/21	4.762 mlgmake european guilt will never end aslong as whites have condecending attitudes about brown and black nations. Yea i know north african arab slave trade.	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/25	8.0

seems things are only equal for black females lol	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/9	11.111
I love this video so much. Finally a good video to share with my racist family that say racism doesn't exist.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/21	9.524
Racism is often thought to be hatred for another race and while most everyday citizens would never agree that this would apply to them or any of their tax paying law abiding friends. Racism takes new form in out modern world as micro aggressions such as preferring a white face to take a PR job than a black one. These instances are what is keeping racism alive and making it difficult to battle intersectionality even in 'the twenty first century'	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/80	6.25
The problem is that it's extremely difficult to right this form of racism , even if everyone is informed and motivated to improve things. Humans have always had an inherent bias towards people we view as being similar. There have been studies (no links handy, sorry) that show that the segregation of people into racially divided neighborhoods can easily result from a preference to being around racially similar people by just a few percent. Over time, these small preferential differences magnify.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/80	1.25
It's very much about a more silent cultural racism than racism among individuals	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/13	15.385
Mary Kate King "such as preferring a white face to take a PR job than a black one"I think you used a bad example there. PR people, in general are seen and people, no matter what race , on average prefer people of their own colour more and how you look affects your performance. Same as with a law firm hiring a lawyer. If judges in the area or district are mostly white, hell yes I'd rather take a white candidate over a black one with the same resume. But if it were something like a copywriter, well basically anything where looks do not matter much at all, then it's a different story. This is where think racism is not intolerable. However, of course with the CJS it is and the US (well basically every country in the world) has a loooooong way to go to fixing it or making race such a non-factor.You should search a datings sites study (they do a lot of similar studies) but basically the least wanted group was black women, even black men preferred other races over black women, but I don't remember exactly.	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	8/191	4.188

Dan Heidel This is a confirmed ingrained bias resulting from what's called implicit egotism. It's not racism by definition, which very much needs to be overt (speaking of individual racism, not systematic). We are programmed to be the most comfortable with things that are more like us. Hispanic or Latino ghettos, for example, result from people of that background wanting to live close to people who are like them and share a language. Consequently, this prevents many immigrants from those regions from learning English and assimilating into normal American society, which holds them back from getting good jobs or improving their situations. The upside is that this effect can be minimized if people are aware of it, like any psychological phenomenon, but it won't disappear.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/125	1.6
BaresarkSlayneYes, but how do you think racism (both personal and systemic) gets started? You're always going to have the occasional crank that hates on a group of people. But for that hate to become prevalent, there usually needs to be some breakdown in cultural communication.The more cultural/racially/religiously distinct a group is, the more their culture will be divergent from the surrounding community and the more likely they will be to be objectified and to objectify others as well.Generally speaking, the more mixing there is between cultural groups, the less racism will be able to take hold. Take the Irish in the US for example. They were once a very culturally and religiously separate group from the rest of Americans. However, in the last century, the Irish cultural identity has faded and become more integrated with general US culture. The idea of stores with 'no Irish' signs on them is absurd to us today.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/156	1.282
BaresarkSlayneI think we're largely in agreement. However I think there's much less division between kinship preference and institutional racism than you think.One important note about the Irish - some of the hatred was due to class distinctions but the most important divide was a religious one. America was staunchly Protestant at the time and most Irish immigrants were devoutly Catholic. Different churches, different belief systems and a long history of antagonism were the source of tremendous amounts of distrust. The division was large enough that entire units of Irish soldiers mutinied during the Spanish-American war over the desecration of Catholic churches in Mexico by US troops. Also, I'm not sure what you're basing the idea that the Irish would be indistinguishable. That was definitely not the case. People of Irish descent have distinctive features and accent. How would you explain the effectiveness of Nazi Germany in hunting down Jews or the massacre of Hatians by the Dominicans? [LINK]	Nazi, Racism	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - General	2/160	1.25

Dan Heidel I don't know for sure if there is such a thing as institutionalized racism in America, as much as institutionalized bias. I would never make the argument for it not existing so much as the two terms are used interchangeably when they should not be. I wish neither existed, though we would be talking about something else entirely in the space if it did not, of that I am sure. There are no shortage of deficiencies in the area of human sociology.Part of the answer is that if you put more people of color into hiring positions then it might help even out the hiring statistics, but that may not help at all. Just like in instances where more women are put into hiring roles, it doesn't actually even out the number of women vs men employed in a given job. Lots of times women suffer from the same bias that makes men get hired more often for certain jobs. Cops who are black or Hispanic also search more cars of blacks and Hispanics. I have seen videos of police that would have been called racism in a second if the cop wasn't the same color as the person they are antagonizing. First generation immigrants from Ireland were a lot more distinguishable than second because of how they spoke. And some Irish have discerning features, but for the most part they not different enough from their European counterparts. I'm aware of the religious aspect and it's one of those peculiar things. People, even today, make the peculiar decision to wear their religion on their sleeve.As far as the Nazi's are concerned, Germany had detailed census information available to them. Once Hitler started invading other countries and demanded that Jews were identified where a census was unavailable, it became an "us or them" situation, though many still did have the courage to not turn over their Jewish neighbors to the Nazi's. So far as Hatians and Dominicans are concerned, I don't know that much about the event so I don't know how one knew to hunt the other.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/351	0.855
--	---------------	--	-------	-------

BaresarkSlayneSince we've digressed to two separate topics, I'll address them individually:- Racism is a specific form of bias. Of course, that bias can take many, many forms such as sexism, etc. But given the context of this video, I think it's reasonable to keep our focus on the race aspects of bias.As far as that goes, it can be argued that the institutionalized racism of the US's past has been abolished but the effects of that are going to be strongly in effect for several more generations before they are gone. Look at how long it took from the abolition of slavery to the civil right movement. While official, institutionalized racism may have ended, it is an ingrained enough part of our culture that it is still quite reasonable to treat it ass if it were still an official institutionalized part of US culture.Racism is also definitely not dependent on skin color. I get really incensed when people say that only white people can be racist against blacks and not vice versa. It's an insanely simplistic understanding of racism. (and bias in general) It is quite easy for someone that is black to be racist against other black people. Our media is inundated with imagery and music that trains all of us to think of young black men as thugs. Even if you are black yourself, you don't get to escape that indoctrination.- I think you're missing my point here. I'm trying to emphasize that you don't need a physical attribute as obvious as white/black skin color for bias to occur. Just because you or I might have difficulty picking an Irish person out of a lineup of US citizens circa 1850 doesn't mean that someone back then would have. Irish people do have a particular look that is fairly unique, just like you can generally distinguish someone that is Thai from someone that's Chinese, despite thousands of years of genetic crossover between those two cultures.If you looked even vaguely Irish back then, you would be discriminated against. Do you think the people who did that cared that they occasionally discriminated against someone that wasn't actually Irish? Racism is inherently stupid.As for the Jews in WWII, I used that example to point out that even a group of people that do not have a specific racial background can be effectively identified and discriminated against. As for Haitians/Dominicans, if you read the link I provided, it explains that they forced people to speak the Spanish word for parsley. Haitians have a difficulty properly trilling their 'R's and would be killed on the spot. Over 20,000 people were butchered. You are drawing an artificial distinction between group preference and out-of-group hate. The instant that we start giving preferential treatment of those we are 'kin' to, we sow the seeds for racism, sexism and all the other terrible crap we've been talking about. We live in a universe of limited resources and conflicting beliefs. The instant an 'us vs them' dichotomy is set up, you inevitably set up the future stage for conflict. For now, you may be genteel and cooperative but the instant there's a lack of food or jobs or a divisive argument about shared governance, that kinship means that you will preferentially side with your kin vs the other.	Black, Race, Racism, Racist, Sexism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	16/556	2.878
--	--	---	---------------	--------------

Dan Heidel Holy god... I had a reply set up on that side bar drop down and it closed on me. I'll do my best to sum up my thoughts.- racism is a specific form of bias. But the language and meaning are two different things. Bias is neutral. Bias is your preference for things and basically exists as an environmental adaptation and it informs our social structures. It's natural and ingrained in us and is not racism. Racism is negative, it's a flash judgement based on race (ie. all latinos are criminals). This is a negative bias that informs us (most likely incorrectly) about what we should do when we come across this type of person. Racism, being a social construct, can clearly come from a bias like this. But having a natural preference is not the same as discriminating against something else that is not like you. That is a false dichotomy. Our feelings about anything land in a spectrum and the extremes would racism on one end and... excessive amounts of love for one's own features would be the other.. I guess. I don't know what the opposite of racism is actually. I would caution against lumping in things that are not race related with things that are though. Like, sexism is not the same as racism, and anti-religious sentiment is not either. Communism is a specific form of socialism, but it's not appropriate to label everyone who believes in a socially progressive form of government (ie. Liberal goverment) a Communist. The language is very important.My point is that it's important to understand that while racism is a type of extreme bias, it's not the same just having a preference for something, which is what a bias is. My main issue with treating bias as equal to racism is that you end up in a point where you can determine a persons intentions for them. It's like thought policing. Your brain is making decisions for you all the time. It makes so many in such a short time you can't even fathom it. One of those decisions is who are going to most likely be comfortable around. That is just reality, and to label that as the same as racism is not in alignment with reality. - racism is a social construct, so you don't need a physical feature. But physical features are commonly shared among people of a given race. They don't look all the same, but all black people have dark skin (to varying degrees). All Haitians share a language (which is also a social construct). Jews are of a certain religion but many do not share physical features, so the Nazi's wiping out the Jews was not racism so much as anti-religious sentiment (heaped in with a good amount of scapegoating from Germany who was treated, quite frankly, unfairly by the treaty of Versailles). - I am not making artificial distinctions between group preference and out of group hate. You can say that when times get tough we are at each others throats, but that also denies all of the cooperation that has existed between varying groups since the beginning of western civilization. Far more cooperation has occurred. During the Holocaust, many Jews were evacuated or hidden by friends and neighbors who were not Jewish. I am curious to see how many Haitians escaped execution by this same means.- I don't know if I made this clear, but I'm not implying implicit egotism to everything John talked about. The only place I would put that on is the citation of the hiring study. Cops arresting more black people is not a simple bias. Cops literally	Black, Communist, Race, Racism, Racist, Sexism	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	22/679	3.24
---	---	---	---------------	-------------

BaresarkSlayneI know your pain, I hate the Youtube comment editing system.I think we're going to have to agree to disagree here. It may be that your point isn't coming across completely clearly from having to retype it but I'm having trouble following your points here.I'm not sure why you draw the distinction between sexism, racism and other forms of bias, both personal and institutionalized. They are all the same - the assumption that someone with a particular characteristic - having dark skin, believing in a particular god or economic system, etc etc defines who they are as a person are all fundamentally the same. They all have the same basic causes. Sexual, religious, cultural, and any other form of biased discrimination in existence have been institutionalized at some point. Racism is not any more of a social construct than anything else either. I challenge you to name any single distinguishing feature of racism that differentiates it from sexism, religious intolerance or any other bias-driven discrimination. Yes, they are different because the underlying criterion for the discrimination is different but they are all otherwise identical.The thing I think that you are missing here is that racism and all other bias-driven discrimination are just that - a product of bias. Money drives much of the injustice in the world while being a simple, ethically neutral construct. Bias is the same. Just because it is a simple, innate and morally neutral thing does not mean that its results are the same.Racism does not form in a vacuum, nor do the social constructs that support it. They are all the very logical conclusion to our brains' tendency to categorize things and to then prioritize them. The very act of privileging something means that you are commensurately denigrating its cognate. Whether that means you're eating less meat in favor of vegetables, throwing a life preserver to a family member instead of a stranger or giving a job to a white person rather than a black one, the end result is the same. Sometimes the act is morally reprehensible, sometimes it is neutral and sometimes it is good. It does not change the fact that the underlying cause is the same.The fact that people have been cooperating throughout history does nothing to counter this fact. People are not deterministic machines. More than any other animal, we are capable of self-reflection. We are inherently biased but we often see this in ourselves and make a conscious effort to fight it. Just because many humans overcome the fear of the dark and the unknown in no way disproves the existence of that fear. We expand the horizon of our bias to be larger than just our immediate kin to encompass cities, nations, empires and hopefully all of humanity.	Black, Nothing, Racism, Sexism, Sexual	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	10/466	2.146
That was interesting- racism is such a big issue so it's nice to actually know some facts about it :)	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/20	5.0

Shane’s non-apology for his blackface followed by his declaration that he’ll continue being racist (as well has harmful in other ways) and people shouldn’t be offended, and his movie which has widely been panned as racist and problematic in other ways... Shane should be banned from VidCon. The fact that people think his token gestures are enough to offset his poisonous influence is sufficient reason that he shouldn’t be welcome there, because that makes a statement about how VidCon feels about racists. Just as allowing Shane to return as a ”respected creator” would send the exact opposite message about how Vidcon feels about racists.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/104	1.923
AyyThe fact that he addresses criticism by making it all about himself and how he feels instead of actually apologizing and correcting his behavior should be a huge red flag. But of course people are going to turn a blind eye to that.	Blind, Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/44	6.818
”Oh no, I’m offended by this guy’s jokes.”Suck it up, not everyone finds all the same jokes funny. He’s clearly not a racist or sexist individual, he just has a warped sense of humour like the majority of the people on the internet. Most just don’t show it.I’d also like to address rape jokes specifically.Tell me, how often do people make jokes about murder? Drug abuse? How often are people criticized for it? Almost never. Rape is undeniably a terrible, terrible thing; but that does not preclude it from being joked about. There is nothing , in my mind, that is not to be joked about; barring, perhaps, very recent events.This world is filled with tragedy and misery, and the only way to fight it is to laugh in its face.	Nothing, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	2/134	1.493
Fox Force 5 While I don’t like Shane Dawson or his comedy, that was not ”blackface”. ”Blackface” is literally painting your face black and saving room around to mouth to make your lips appear large. Shane Dawson put on brown makeup, lipstick and all, because he was impersonating a black woman .	Black, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Gender - General	3/51	5.882

Amber Lewis Rape apology, racism , and mocking people with mental disabilities is not a "sense of humor."	Mental, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/17	11.765
Charles Powell Right. Black face is equally as racist as white face... which is not racist in the slightest. It's not any more racist than it is sexist for a man to dress up as a woman for comedy.	Black, Racist, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	5/39	12.821
Charles Powell I'm saying that black face, in and of itself, is not racist . It is only when you use it to portray black people as lesser beings, like they used to back in the day, that it is. If a black person can put white makeup all over his face and imitate or poke fun at white people, then no, I don't see a problem with the other way around; so long as it is all in good fun. This is what equality means. It's a good thing.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/89	4.494
Charles Powell "at the end of the day you can wash it off i can't"You make it sound like being black is a bad thing. I don't get you, man.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/31	3.226
Ayumu Yukimura Because you're making fun of something really horrible that a lot of people are going through?? Take Family Guy's ED jokes.. Telling a woman she's fat until she goes to the bathroom to puke, and the man saying "...good" and "her breath smells like shit but she looks great". How can you find that okay?Shane's ED jokes aren't this bad, and i know he doesn't want to hurt people, BUT HE STILL DOES. He still says stuff like "wow ate so much better put a finger down my throat hahaha" and worse. Not only does that trigger people while there was no reason to say it, he also goes into defense mode when people say something about it and that's just gross,	Fat, Woman	Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical Features	2/125	1.6
Charles Powell Nothing wrong with dressing up with a black face he playing character or stereotypes thats not racist . you should look up the meaning of racist being calling every little thing racist , if he dress up with a black face and did something about a particular race is superior to another then it would be racist .	Black, Nothing, Race, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	8/57	14.035

Adamc1233 That's like saying "if you don't like racism u shouldn't be around racist people" like ???? just because other people agree/find it funny doesn't mean it's okay?	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/28	7.143
Ayyexcept he does it for humor, he isn't really racist . so if you don't find it funny go away and stfu	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/22	4.545
Pryen4 Just because something is meant for humor, doesn't mean it can't be racist /sexist/homophobic/you name it. Do you think it's okay to say those offensive things but only if you say "haha just kidding" afterwards?Saying "ok i have a joke: a black guy actually pays before walking out of a store haha" is meant to be funny and still is racist .Saying "ok nice story woman now go make me a sandwich haha" is meant to be funny and still is sexist.Do you get it now? You can be an offensive asshole and saying "but its a joke!!!!" doesn't make it okay.	Black, Make me a sandwich, Racist, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - Female intelligence, Gender - General	4/104	3.846
Ayyya but i don't give a fuck because your just being over sensitive. racism has changed, racism used to be if you are ok with lynching blacks, thats racist , now some white person is offended at a black joke and you're racist its fucking retarded	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/46	10.87
Ayy What you taking about, I was talking about this joke in family guy "Telling a woman she's fat until she goes to the bathroom to puke, and the man saying "...good" and "her breath smells like shit but she looks great".	Fat, Woman	Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical Features	2/42	4.762
Charles Powellhe's not racist because he doesn't believe his racial group is superior, so you're still wrong now shut up and go away	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/24	4.167
Pryen4 That's not how racism works, a person doesn't have to believe in racial superiority to be racist .	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/18	11.111
Nijūshi yes actually that is the definition of racism , as stated by the other person	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667
Charles Powellno you're just a fucking idiot lol. you can say whatever you want. just because they keep track so they can stop you from doing something dumb if you say something like "tomorrow im going to shoot everyone at my school" doesn't mean you can't fucking say it you idiot... seriously are you like fucking 12?	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/58	1.724

Out of curiosity did the research into black vs. white criminal convictions take into account prior criminal history and income? Just curious as to what variables they controled for. I imagine that black american's have less access to quality legal protection as a result of a lower income compared to whites, and therefore are more likely to do jail time.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/60	3.333
My history teacher once told a story on how when the Patriots won one of their Superbowls, her son (then 18) through a beer can at one of the celebrations, and got arrested. At the hearing for these people who did this behavior at these celebrations. A 19 year old Veteran who had just gotten back from Afghanistan got 200 something hours for the same crime, there was a harsh judge that dayMy history teacher issued a stay where she could her son a lawyer because she had the money where she could use that tactic and delay the trial and lessen the charges	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/105	0.952
If there are individuals or groups that benefit from a society being labeled as racist , can there be unbiased discussions?	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/20	5.0
High-Waisted Pantaloons This is true. I get really annoyed at FB commenters who are white and think racism doesn't exist. I just notice it more there than anywhere, but I'm sure a few will show up here eventually as well.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/40	2.5
Yay great video John! Racism and white privilege are tough subjects to handle (especially on the internet) but you did great. I'll be checking out your links as well.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/29	3.448
Just a thought, if white and black people started their lives with the same economic status, same education, same everything, how would they compare at retirement.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/26	3.846
I get scared any time a wealthy white man says he's gonna talk about racism so I clicked on this link with some trepidation. I am pleased to see you are not in denial about reality the way so many people in your cohort are.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/45	2.222
Your opening sentence itself contributed to the issue of racism , along with biases towards people of wealth. However, everything else you said, I agree with.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/25	4.0
Chris Lowe Not really. White people talking over people of color about race and racism in America is a huge problem, and rich, white males doing so is an even bigger problem. What OP said is valid. Being an ally is about listening. John did very good as an ally, in this video. You, not so much.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/57	3.509
Chris Lowe 1. racism towards white people doesn't exist my friend nice try 2. their opening sentence addresses John Green's privilege which is a very relevant thing	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/27	3.704
Chris Lowe racism against a white man? Not possible. Reverse racism does not exists.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/14	14.286

IDKendy I'll preface this by saying that I am a Hispanic woman . You can be racist towards white people, and I don't appreciate John's ethnicity being referred to as a "privilege." Being Hispanic is awesome and I have so far lived a very privileged, awesome life. I think your intentions are good, but remember that we don't all see being white and rich as a step up in this world.	Ethnicity, Racist, Woman	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	3/70	4.286
Stanky Nuug Actually, she's right. Racism towards white people doesn't exist. I'm not too keen on explaining it to you, but you can google why.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/25	4.0
IDKendy "1. racism towards white people doesn't exist my friend nice try" Racism against white people absolutely exists. However, a lot of people often confuse racism with discrimination. If you had said "there is little to no systemic discrimination against white people in American society," there would have been merit to your statement."2. their opening sentence addresses John Green's privilege which is a very relevant thing"No argument here.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/70	4.286
SunyiSideUp Firstly, John did very well as an ally. Secondly, white people talking over people of colour about race and racism is a huge problem; I agree with you. I also think that there is an issue with people of privilege (rich, white males) thinking that their voices are worth more. With that being said, however, all I was saying to the OP is that I didn't appreciate their immediate judgement on John/the video, just because of the fact that he is of privilege. That is directly following the definition of racism (the belief that all members of each race possess characteristics or abilities specific to that race , especially so as to distinguish it as inferior or superior to another race or races), along with the whole bias towards rich people thing, that I mentioned. Lastly, I don't appreciate the fact that you assume I don't ally with people who are victims of racism , simply because I was defending John.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	7/160	4.375
IDKendy John Green's privileged is very real- I'm aware- however, racism does not just apply to non-white people, but to any race , according to the dictionary definition.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/27	7.407
Pruncible Calling it a "personal jab" is pretty weird . It's true that that particular commenter was not being a good ally. Being an ally is not about policing when people are allowed to call white people out or not. And ignoring the fact that a good many POC find their voices silenced by white people who derail the conversation (like you all are doing) by going "BUH WHAT ABOUT ME??? THIS HURTS MY FEEEL!" Let's talk about racism that results in the deaths of innocent people, not "reverse racism " that results in the hurt feelings of one white person on the internet.	Racism, Weird	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/102	2.941

Stanky Nuug And with the mention of the term "SJW", nothing else you say matters. That is a term used to invalidate the movements of oppressed people who dare to speak out against their oppressors.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/35	2.857
Chris Lowe I speak English well enough to know when "good" and "well" should be used. I am speaking colloquially because this is the internet. Do not correct my grammar. That is very rude and has nothing to do with what I am saying. I actually knew you would do that as soon as I posted the reply. I knew. You guys always do that. Because what I'm saying doesn't matter, as long as I'm not using perfect grammar and MLA format, right? Fuck you. You're not my professor, this is not an essay.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/94	1.064
Chris Lowe The dictionary definition is incorrect. Racism is power + oppression. White people are not oppressed by POC. What you're speaking of is discrimination, prejudice, sometimes xenophobia , but not racism .	Racism, Xenophobia	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	3/31	9.677
IDKendy "racism towards white people doesn't exist my friend" - What a gloriously US-centric thing to say. Racism towards white people is and has been a real issue, just not in the USA. See, for example, Ireland under British rule, the ethnic cleansing of the Circassians, the Greeks under Ottoman rule (especially during WW1), what Stalin did to the Lithuanians, Latvians, Estonians and pretty much all the non-russians in the Soviet Union, NAZI GERMANY (it wasn't just Jews they were racist towards, the Poles took it hard too), pretty much the entire history of the Balkans, although specifically Yugoslavia post-1941.What I'm saying is that white people can be victims of racism , just not necessarily in the USA as it is today.(Although it used to be that Americans were pretty racist against Italians and the Irish and anyone they perceived as dangerous foreigners)	Ethnic, Nazi, Racism, Racist	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - General	7/144	4.861
SunyiSideUp Institutional racism is power and oppression, Racism has never needed power to exist. The dictionary definition is NOT wrong.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/20	10.0

SunyiSideUp Just as a side note because Stanky Nuug is saying virtually everything that I want to say: It was a personal jab, and calling it that is not weird . By saying I wasn't an ally, you were inferring that I do not support those oppressed by racism . You do not know my standpoint on this just from the fact that I made a comment that was unrelated, defending someone from my own race .In revision, I told the OP that their post was in fact being racist toward white people (which does technically account as being racism ), and what you took from this was that I did not support ANY other race victimized by oppression. I am an ally of every race and just because I defended white people doesn't mean I don't defend African Americans, Hispanics, Asians, an so on and so forth.	African, Race, Racism, Racist, Weird	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	8/145	5.517
Pixels Mossman Notice you're listing specific groups of white people who were attacked not because of their skin color but because of other factors. For example in Nazi Germany, white Jewish people were killed because they were Jewish - not because they were white (same goes for all other groups of people that were targeted in Nazi Germany).	Nazi	Ideological and Political Identity - General	2/58	3.448
SunyiSideUp If you'd like the definition of the words discrimination, prejudice, and xenophobia , I can provide those, too.	Xenophobia	Nationality - General	1/18	5.556

SunyiSideUp	You can't just unilaterally declare that the dictionary definition is incorrect. Racism is a word that has a definition. If you want to draw a distinction between institutional racism and individual racism , that's perfectly acceptable. If you want to point out that there is far, far more racism directed towards black people in the US than the other way around, you would be quite correct. However, it is entirely possible for a black person to be racist against a white person and insisting otherwise is, ironically enough, exceedingly racist . Even if you were to redefine racism to the existing meaning of institutional racism , your argument is terrible. Are you saying that all black people are poor and powerless? That Oprah Winfrey and Barack Obama are somehow personally disadvantaged to a poor, rural white person? How about racially driven violence between economically disadvantaged racial minorities like the large amount of black /hispanic violence? By pigeonholing all people of African descent in this country into a single, monolithic block, you ignore their wildly varying life experiences, personal ideologies and individuality. You're being guilty of the same racism as the people who argued the 'noble savage' vs 'barbaric brute' debates about native Americans in the 17th-19th centuries. Just because it's a superficially more positive depiction doesn't mean that you aren't generalizing and dehumanizing someone. Black people are people. Period. Some of them are racist , some aren't. Just like everyone else. Some are the subject of racism , some aren't. Some engage in racist behaviors against others and others do not. Stop trying to take away the individual agency of an entire race of people simply because it fits into your personal narrative.	African, Black, Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	18/278	6.475
SunyiSideUp	His original point literally said that white men with money typically have poor opinions on racism . There is no point there. There is, however, valid criticism toward the video, saying the video was good, which I agree with completely.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/40	2.5
Pixels Mossman	You do realize that racism only works if the person is actually a different race , right??	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/19	10.526
SunyiSideUp	If Racism were truly a matter of Power + Oppression then homeless white people could never be racist because they have zero power. Thereby removing one of the criteria.	Racism, Racist, Zero	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	3/30	10.0
SunyiSideUp	The dictionary definition is fine. Simply re-writing the definition because you don't like it does not deal with the issue. Fighting over the definition is pointless, especially since people can agree with you that what you are describing is important. They just call it "Institutional Racism ". Why is that somehow worse?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/52	1.923

SunyiSideUp First off, no need to get so inflamed; Chris might have corrected your grammar but obviously does care about what your saying- this is Nerdfighteria, we like conversations.Secondly, and I say this as an Asian American, I feel like it's very easy for minorities to group white people into the same basket just as a lot of white people do to minorities. So a white person in modern society may never experience true racism firsthand, but they can still be discriminated against or stereotyped just for being white. I just think it's unfair to discredit the idea of white people being able to empathize and voice their own opinions and experiences, because in the end, we're all just people trying to solve one common issue.	Common, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	2/127	1.575
OfftheDott I do care about what they're saying, I just don't agree with it. Not to mention, SunyiSideUp took a jab at me by saying that I did not support those opressed by racism and I got offended by that.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/40	2.5
Tony L. In that case, there's no such thing as racism since there is only one human race: homo sapiens	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/20	5.0
SunyiSideUp Before continuing with this argument, I want to take a second to apologize. Things got a little heated, as they do in debates about such heavy-hearted topics, and I think that we both may have said some things that we didn't mean. You had a lot of people bombarding you and so it probably added just that much more pressure. I'm sorry, and though we don't share opinions toward the topic at hand, I feel arguing senselessly in a YouTube comment section won't help either of us. I would like to let you know that I hate racism and ally completely with any race falling victim to it and oppression, and I'm sorry for correcting your grammar and arguing with you. Cheers,Chris	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/124	1.613
Pixels Mossman What I mean to say is there is a difference between ethnicity and race . What you described is mostly just white people killing and going to war with other white people. Germans vs Polish is a war between two different ethnicities, not two different races.	Ethnicity, Race	Ethnicity - General	2/47	4.255
Tony L. I did mention the Ottomans vs. Greeks, you know. If you're going to dismiss all my examples of racism on the basis of "white people vs. white people" then what about the greeks under Ottoman rule?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/38	2.632
Tony L. Oh and "white people" and " black people" are the same race . The human race . Making arbitrary distinctions based on skin colour... That's racism .	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/25	16.0

IDKendy having worked in the middle east i can tell you that racism defenatly goes both ways. we had fellow employees that went to the police to report that they had been robed only to be told that "if you wouldn't have come here to work here in the first place you wouldn't have been robed."they refused to report the crime. and sure you can argue that it cam be more a "foreigner thing" than a skin colour thing, but it is hard to know. and does it really mater? isn't oppression, miss treatment or homicide of any group equally horrifying.no mater if it is for religious reasons, sexual orientation or colour of ones skin?ppl seem to put way to much energy in fighting over what can be classified as racism , when it is the oppression (no mater the reason) that is the problem.the oppression and killing of jews in the 30s is in no way any less horrible even if you might not be able to call it racism . the oppression of homosexuals in Uganda is not racism , but is not less bad	Racism, Sexual	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	5/188	2.66
Pixels Mossman To that I would say the calling the Greeks "white" as they would have been back when the Ottomans ruled them is anachronistic: 'white' is a term invented by westerners to excuse slavery and colonialism when they wanted to steal land from its natives. To add to that, the ancient Greeks and ottomans didn't think of themselves as white. To them, the world was divided by language, not by race . Basically if you spoke Greek, you were Greek and if you didn't, you were a barbarian. Also, if you look at the region they're from I seriously doubt they were actually "white" by today's definition anyways. Ottomans and Greeks were probably racially similar. What separated them was ethnicity and culture.Besides, Ottomans (who don't exist anymore, politically) officially ruled the Greeks until about 180 years ago when they (the Greeks) declared their independence. So it's kind of irrelevant to bring that up anyway since this is about racism in the US, where it is arguably the biggest issue.	Ethnicity, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	3/170	1.765
IDKendy Go to Pakistan and say racism against white peole doesn't exist. Just because one group is better at something doesn't mean the losing team never gets to play. Privilege is really destructive when talking about civil rights because it shuts down communication and isolates anyone from being able to help.using the term "privilege" is a way to tell someone trying to understand your plight is telling them that they shouldn't bother helping, because they can't. In no way is this ever, ever helpful.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/85	1.176
every time you promote a color when you discuss humans you are promoting racism , so therefore you are the problem sir.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/21	4.762

Tony L. For fuck's sake. I wasn't talking about the Ancient Greeks. Clearly. Since I was talking about the Ottoman Turks as well. And the original statement I was replying to was "racism towards white people doesn't exist" and I feel like I proved that it does. And Greece gaining its independence doesn't mean that there weren't Greeks living in the Ottoman Empire as I described. Bloody hell	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/68	1.471
Tony L. In his opinion Germans were a different race, even if another country was also white. It was not ethnicity vs ethnicity anymore, but the German superior race and the other one(s).	Ethnicity, Race	Ethnicity - General	4/33	12.121
Kalle Centergren What you stated is true. However, this is a conversation about racism, not about oppression, discrimination against religions, sexual orientation, etc. Social reconstruction is like an assembly line. You've got to focus on certain problems first, without trying to make a situation about ALL people. When you do that, you take away the ability to hone in on specific problems.Also- I'm pretty sure that the racism you and your coworkers experienced was less racism and more incompetence/apathy/anger towards foreigners that (as a whole) were wreaking havoc upon their social structure, culture, etc.	Racism, Sexual	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	4/95	4.211
aZnchuux3 If you're a Nazi-affiliated german in the 1930's/40's, in your mind since you believe you are another race, yes killing white people, jews, or any other race for that matter would make you a racist. However, by the standard, accepted definition of what a race is in the 21st century, and not by the definition of a crazy person, he was not being racist. Discriminatory, yes. Racist, no, not really.	Crazy, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	7/71	9.859
Leah Moreno they are in fact correct about racism toward someone who is white not existing. Racism is a doctrine that was created long ago as a way of justifying the enslavement of certain persons based on the color of their skin. This was in part due to the fact that our founding fathers said that "all men are created equal" but knew that slavery would contradict that if slaves were considered men. So based on skin tone they were not considered people and this same doctrine was used on all ethnicities that were not white, as well as on women because of gender. However, prejudice and bias towards someone who is white can and does exist. But the majority and those in control created racism as a way to justify that control. What we see today are the remnants of that way of thinking.	Gender, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	4/145	2.759

kazooga 1234 Racism /= Systemic racism .You don't need a majority of anything to hate someone. White people don't face systemic racism in North America and Europe. Except many black people assume all white guys to be immediately as racist as a Missouri cop. Ignoring this is the same as you saying " black guys don't mind getting shot". You're ignoring the complexities of systemic violence. You're breeding the kind of hate that our predominantly white legal system uses as an excuse to not hire more black Officers, justices ,legal reps. You're making misplaced, justified anger into the problem of " black guys are just angry", because if they can't be angry about racism then it it must just be them.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	9/119	7.563
Tony L. Yes that's true, but it is about how they thought of themselves being a different race back then and not today's definition.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/24	4.167
kazooga 1234 I do think that any race can be racist to another race . It's just that minority-on-white is not a huge issue in America because white Americans are treated so differently (and I don't mean worse) by society here. It's just a cold hard fact with the numbers and studies to back it up mentioned in this video.	Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/59	5.085
Way to be a racist and classist. No concept of irony, eh?	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/12	8.333
Leah Moreno I also want to add that when they speak of John's privilege, they aren't only referring to his ethnicity . John understands that he does have certain privileges because of his gender , race , sexuality, income, and even his beliefs. There is no need to take offense when someone addresses "John's privilege" because they are referring to the things that are automatically given to him or afforded by him based on what I stated earlier. And as you stated, you have your own privileges. You as a Hispanic woman who may or may not be cis-gendered and me as a cis- gender African American woman . Let's try not to discount what anyone is saying just because we don't like it and focus on keeping the conversation that John has started going.	African, Ethnicity, Gender, Race, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	6/130	4.615
Pixels Mossman I'm sorry. I did get a little carried away. However, most of your examples were still White-on-white " racism " (which isn't even really racism .) I agree that one race can be racist to another, even if the oppressed race happens to be white. The thing is, the oppressed race is pretty much never white. At least not in the western world (for example, USA, Australia, Europe.)	Race, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	6/67	8.955
I'm pretty sure that the OP was simply having trepidations about what an apparently privileged white male would have to say about systemic racism . I doubt she was making any assumptions about him in general. Because, you know, this is John we're talking about.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/44	2.273

NightmareXA16 I checked your channel and found a white genocide - I believe you do not know what genocide means- playlist. I also found conspiracy theories about a race-mixing agenda, how Egyptians were white and how Hitler was "The Greatest Story Never Told". In fact, a lot of your content is directly linked to Storm Front.Jesus, you might as well just join the Aryan Nation at this point lmfao	Nation	Nationality - General	1/70	1.429
Tony L. Relevant in the way that racism towards white people is not impossible	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/14	7.143
Eh, not worth getting into the debate. Racism is something that can exist for any race , any other arguments are just playing semantic games. This country is biased towards white people as a whole, though that is actually getting better when you look at progress in individual areas (ie. established areas of work, for example, are still predominately white, but new areas don't suffer from that same bias. I work in IT and it is a mega diverse field).	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/79	2.532
Pixels Mossman But in not a single of the cases you mentioned was it because they were white, it was because of their specific ethnic background or religious background.	Ethnic	Ethnicity - General	1/29	3.448
Chris LoweExcept their opening statement is the most common result of the idea.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/14	7.143
I hope everyone in this thread can see the value of Nightmare's participation. Yes, people like this really do exist. And there are a lot of them. But don't lose sight of the big picture. We are all inherently racist . It's in our DNA; trust in our own tribe for survival (e.g. trust whites cuz I'm white, trust blacks cuz I'm black , trust Christians cuz I'm Christian). There are many studies that show our innate racism . It is civilization, empathy, education and our humanity that allow us to rise above our animal instincts. Maybe one day Mr. Nightmare will understand this concept.	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/102	2.941
I hate it when people class a whole group based on a small minority. That is definitely a form of racism . Not an extreme form but a form nonetheless. I myself am a middle-class brown teenager in England. I live a privileged life and I feel that I should not be judged because of my race . What you are doing is judging a person due to their race . Yes, white people thinking they "own" this conversation about the oppression of people of colour is a problem but the solution is not cutting them out completely. That is being racist yourself, defining a whole race by the actions of a minority. I also see a problem with people seeing a white person and instantly jumping to the conclusion that they know nothing about what they are talking about when it comes to racism . I'm actually glad I'm brown so I can contribute to the conversation without the looming threat of public vitriol.	Nothing, Race, Racism, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	7/161	4.348

I definitely agree with comiclover99(I am using a mobile) we should be opening our minds a bit more when it comes to racism even though we are trying to a solve a problem here we will not be effective if we dismiss people's views because of their race or being white, that is quite obviously contradicting the situation. These things are not easily seen and often overlooked but are important if we ever want to be free of race issues. I am a mixed race English teenager.	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	4/87	4.598
NightmareXA16 You're using twin studies to make a point about an entire race , and then say that between strangers there is no such correlation (races aren't one huge family, let alone twins). This is your fundamental misunderstanding of how genetics work. I told you to read that book in my last post, I know you won't but it'll give you a general sense of why your racial conclusion is the entirely wrong one. Intelligence is only directly correlated within identical twins, but that is to be expected they are identical after all. For the general population, this is simply not true.But even then, among predispositions for addiction, aggressiveness, shyness and depression, intelligence is consistently one of the weaker genetic links and last time I checked hasn't been directly linked to a neurological process like depression has with seratonin and other sensors.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/142	0.704
Pixels Mossman well see, the video is titled " Racism in the United States" so that's kinda what we're talking about here, whether or not there is racism toward white people IN the United States. There isn't.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/36	5.556
eustacia03 White-Immigrant racism is still a thing, dude. Coming from the UK, where people will not shut up about Poles and Romanians (who are white) I know this. And since people of different "races" are really divided by language, religion and culture more than skin colour, it seems ridiculous to argue that "American" and "Russian" aren't different races if you're arguing that Japanese and Chinese (or any two ethnicities) are different.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/71	1.408
That's just about as racist as the racism you were worried about.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/12	16.667

IDKendy ALRIGHT LISTEN UP. Y'ALL PEOPLE NEED TO STOP WITH THE WHOLE "THERE'S NO SUCH THING AS RACISM TOWARDS WHITES" THING. RACISM IS NOT ALWAYS ABOUT WHITE VS. BLACK . IT'S JUST NOT. DESCRIBING IT AS SUCH IS INACCURATE AND INEFFECTIVE IN DESCRIBING THE ISSUE. YES, IN THE UNITED STATES, RACISM IS LARGELY DIRECTED TOWARDS PEOPLE WITH DARKER SKIN, BUT IF THAT'S ALL RACISM IS, THEN EXPLAIN WHY WHITE ENGLISH-DESCENDED DUDES IN THE 19TH CENTURY FUCKING HATED ALL OF THE WHITE SCOTS AND IRISH IMMIGRANTS?? WHY DURING WWI AND WWII DID THOSE SAME SCOTS AND IRISH AND ENGLISH ALL FUCKING HATE THE "KRAUTS"??Yes, racism now in the U.S. is largely directed towards POC, but that's not how it is in the rest of the world. Racism is xenophobia . That's it. Fear of "The Other". Just read this [LINK] This person explains it better than I. But yes. POC can be racist , and white people do suffer from racism . Yes, you can encounter racism against white people in the US, but white people do not suffer from racism in the States as POC do, i.e. it's not systemic.But elsewhere in the world, racism is NOT FUCKING BLACK VS. WHITE.	Black, Racism, Racist, Xenophobia	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	14/198	7.071
AgentWuttzisfaas Yes, racism is not just white vs. black , but there is almost no racism against white people in the United States. Prejudice, yes. But racism is systematic for of oppressing a group of people based on their race .	Black, Race, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/39	12.821
IDKendy " racism towards white people doesn't exist my friend nice try" I'm not even white and this is fucked up.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/21	4.762
tubedjinni you are full of shit, and sociology is a fucking cult these days. racism isnt exclusive to some people, at the expense of others. your little cherry picked definition of "power+privilege" is made up internet bullshit that nobody but tumblrites use	Nobody, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	2/42	4.762

Leah Moreno I think you've misunderstood the word 'privilege' in this context. You are not alone in your misunderstanding and please don't feel like I'm coming down on you. Instead, I'd like to respectfully suggest that you Google 'white privilege' to understand how it is being applied here. It has nothing to do with wealth or whether or not you've lived an 'awesome' life. A white person can be born dirt poor and live a terribly rough life and still be afforded privilege in this society over all other races, especially blacks. John understands this and accepts his privilege, which is why his voice in this issue is so important. Respectfully, again, this is one of those times when it may help to listen with the intent of learning and understanding.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/131	0.763
ELStands telling someone to google a pop reference term that has never been proven does not solidify your argument. please provide evidence that "white privilege" is even a real thing. especially seeing how black people get federally established privilege in the form of minority quotas and affirmative action based on their skin color alone, while whites have to earn it.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/60	1.667
It's nice to see a cat that knows so much about the subject of human racism	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/16	6.25
I can't even count the times I have been called a " skinny white bitch" by different races. I'm pretty damn sure that if I walked around and called people " fat black bitch" I would get beat up because people would call me a racist . Hatred and ignorance knows no color lines and if you HONESTLY think that it magically only happens to people with a certain amount of melanin then you are a hypocrite and a liar. It happens to everyone sadly.	Black, Fat, Racist, Skinny	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical Features	4/82	4.878
This shit is so old Obama won the biggest job in the country by a majority vote racism is only here because of race stirrers like sharpston keep it alive	Old, Race, Racism	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - General	3/30	10.0
ELStands I don't need to Google "white privilege." It's blanket condemnation. I'm not saying race specific privilege doesn't exist, but white people do not have a monopoly on it. I was given scholarships and special privileges just for being Hispanic, while my white boyfriend grew up in poverty and had to work at a refinery to pay his way through college, despite us having similar grades. You seem really nice. I hope we all end up living fulfilling lives despite the obstacles that may stand in our way. DFTBA.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/89	1.124
Hans Paul Zweite That isn't what the article says at all. You just assume that nobody will go read and discover what you said is total BS.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/27	3.704

Hans Paul Zweite Your little story has absolutely nothing to do with white privilege at all. Nothing . Smoke screen. Distraction that I'm not going to address.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/26	7.692
Hans Paul Zweite More evidence: [LINK] [LINK] [LINK] The only difference in each of these is race . There's more if you look, but these are some that I remember off the top of my head.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/35	2.857
Hans Paul Zweite I don't care what the dictionary says. The dictionary isn't a place where you learn anything about sociology. And yes, the only difference is race . Racists treat them differently, only because of their race . Now are you starting to catch on?	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/44	4.545
Hans Paul Zweite "I know history, I know biology, I know anthropology, I know sociology and all those things support racism " You'll be disappointed to know science has advanced considerably since the 1930s and all those things that support racism have been proven to be nonsense. You're welcome to join us in the 21st century.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/55	3.636
Hans Paul Zweite Last time they were debunked was in The Mismeasure of Man, by Stephen J. Gould in the 80s. And Watson was merely venting his opinion, nothing scientific about it. No study. The only argument for racism is 'I'm speshul'. The argument against it is all of biology, genetics, sociology and decency. I don't care if you're convinced or not, you exposed your racist views to all the world and I hope it bites you in the ass.	Nothing, Racism, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	3/80	3.75
sogghartha LOL you are saying sociology, and biology prove that all races for equal? the whole science of race is documenting discrepancies in skull capacity, metabolic rates, common genetic traits, and PROVING races are different from one another. its basic anthropology, and there isnt anything in nature that is equal to one another.	Common, Race	Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	2/53	3.774
dee jay i didn't say they were the same in every single way. Straw man argument. Only twins are the same. I said it disproves racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/26	3.846
Hans Paul Zweite you're being deliberately obtuse. I didn't say twins disprove racism , I said only twins are the same. You're just trolling. Bye.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/24	4.167
Hans Paul Zweite That is completely irrelevant. I know what you're getting at, most of Africa isn't as wealthy as Europe, nor do they have as much freedom as we do. But none of that has anything to do with race .	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/41	2.439
sogghartha sociology, anthropology, and science dont disprove racism . it solidifies " racism ". its the science of how races are difference, and unequal, not asserting one is superior; but still a record of genetic/cultural differences. if we classified humans, in the same manner as we do animals; blacks, whites, and asians would be different species. its not about how much genetic makeup we share, but the difference between one, to the others, and how one evolved into the other. so yer wrong.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/80	2.5

sogghartha you say race , and government have nothing to do with one, or the other. but i disagree. as the old saying goes”is the place is good, the race is good.”government is just a forcible entity that have sovereign authority over you and land. if the creed of a culture is based in altruism, progress, and a code of ethic; it would probably be embedded as a covenant between government, and citizen. the peoples tolerance, and negotiation with authority become an identity; the self aware domestication for benefit of society, but still holding tradition.	Nothing, Old, Race	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	4/96	4.167
dee jay Umm, no they wouldn’t classify Blacks Whites and Asians as different species because a Black and Asian or a Black and a White, etc.. can reproduce and have viable offspring that can also reproduce. That’s what identifies a group of organisms as being from the same speicies. Just like a poodle and a pit bull are both ”dogs” so too Blacks and Asians and Whites are all ”humans”....	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/70	2.857
I find it laughably crude, with the assumption you’re against generalization, that you’ve just breached the own ”cultural” strata you criticize yourself.”I get scared any time I see a black man walking down the street, so I proceed with some trepidation. After all, they’re more likely to commit a crime.”	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/51	1.961
That’s racism .	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/2	50.0
Chris Lowe You have nothing to teach about racism : ) we live it everyday bitch by your peers. you should do some learning of your own behaviours. Educate your kids better to not sink America down	Nothing, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	2/37	5.405
Wendy bah One: I’m Canadian; I won’t sink down America. Two: I understand that there are people who live it everyday and I made recognition of that later on in my commenting. Three: I can’t learn in regard to any of my ”behaviours,” most of which are fairly well educated- I mean I am replying to your comment on a video with the sole purpose of teaching individuals about racism - because you didn’t reference anything that I said, that wasn’t right, in particular.P.S. I don’t know what you think I’m trying to teach through giving people the definition of racism .P.P.S. What you’re doing is like a Jewish holocaust victim getting mad at you because you’re trying to tell your kids about how such an awful thing happened to the Jews, alongside many Poles, etc. and then getting told that you shouldn’t say anything at all to your kids because the Jewish survivor ”lived it.” That doesn’t sound like good reasoning not to share information. Fact nonetheless.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/168	0.595

Well done, John. I think that, without being accusatory, you have shown through data that racism still exists and that it affects people in significant ways. I will now forward this video to several of my friends who think otherwise.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/40	2.5
Interesting that nothing controversial was said in this video yet John still felt nervous and people (hopefully not but probably) may still get upset. There's something pretty miraculous about some people's ability to remain ignorant in the face of so so so much data. Socialisation or choice?	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/47	2.128
"While I think statistics and data are really important, I also think it's important to listen to the voices of people who have been affected by racism . Data is cold in a way that humans are not, and to really understand these statistics and their impact on the real lives of real people, we need to find ways to listen to those people." I appreciate this quote, John. DFTBA.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/69	1.449
i'm uncomfortable with john using black and african-american as if they're the same	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/13	7.692
Myka Dassano We're not worried about Nerdfighteria's reception, but about getting stuff wrong. People are going to try to poke holes in anything you post about racism , making it seem like it's not an issue...or not as huge of an issue as it is. The goal here is just to make it clear that there is an issue, and we want to do the topic justice. - Hank	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/68	1.471
Yes, I have had some bad experiences with nerdfighteria (really just since TFioS made it big) with both racism and ableism . I know I'm not the only one who has had problems as it is something that was brought up at the HPA's Granger leadership academy.	Ableism, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/46	4.348
Chris Lowe Of course, but that comes as nothing but a lie, like, we believe some things don't exist because we should totally be over that now ... like slavery, in a time when there are the most slaves alive than at any other point in history. So that phrase relating time and progress can be very decieving.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/58	1.724
People say "It's 2014" to appeal to a certain feeling they think that might conjure. It is a strategy when you don't have data to back up certain opinions. I often hear that when some racist tell me I should stop praying to God or if they think I should have some political view that they have.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/57	1.754

Same. I am unfortunately forced to face the reality of socialized racism every time I log on to Facebook. People I know and love continually posting "Cop lives matter" crap, while non-white friends of mine talk openly about the discrimination they have faced in their lives. I honestly don't understand how, especially with recent current events, people could still deny that there is an issue in this country with race .	Race, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/70	2.857
But if racism is over then we don't have to fix it!. Fixing deeply ingrained systemic failures is hard.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/19	5.263
Chris Lowe I agree completely. It's just that the whole "cops lives matter" thing kinda derails the conversation about racism in the same way that "not all men" derails the conversation about sexism . Yes, not all cops are bad. The problem is that the bad ones aren't being weeded out like they should be.	Racism, Sexism	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	2/54	3.704
Bareerah S Yes but none of those things are related. They may have an impact on society in different ways but there is no reason to believe just because scientists have been able to transport a human being to the moon that is an indication of a more socially tolerant world.As far as western civilisation is concerned, what groups are being treated as subhuman? Bit of a strong word to describe certain inequalities, like saying someone apparently being denied freedom is speech indicates a modern nazi germany.Although this is mainly about the US, people keep talking about the "western world" and speak of it as exclusively the US.The year is just a number mind you, nothing changes unless people do something about it rather than believing that because time moves forward then so does social progress. But really it's only just a pet peeve I have.	Nazi, Nothing	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - Youngsters	2/149	1.342
Blaze fair enough I guess I agree with you in a sense, that scientific discovery shouldnt really dictate whether or not we treat people well.But I think the use of 'we are in the year insert year here'....is to try and bring perspective into their argument? Like since the year zero weve been sharing the planet(and before that...) and yet still we are arguing coz people are born differently! Ok subhuman is a strong word to describe inequalities but sometimes when you read certain peoples opinions of other different people...they say things which make it seem as though some lives are of less worth than others...based on social class or skin colour or religion....whivh isnt exactly linked to the video so...sorry.I guess people usually link these things to the US as the vlogbrothers are american and use mainly American examples which people refer back to and then it becomes a hate-the-usa-fest. As well as the us being rich and the 'big country of the west' so its easy to pick on...and hearing racial prejudice in the news doesnt exactly help their case. dftba	Zero	Age - Youngsters	1/185	0.541

Edward Rosario When people utter this phrase, they are stating it as a fact that racism doesn't exist and their are no racial problems in America. They are not saying, "Racism in our country exists and it is a problem because it's 2015 and it should not exist."	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/48	4.167
racism is a hard topic to discuss	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/7	14.286
I'm racist towards everyone except (wait for it) ...the Mongols!!!	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/10	10.0
I'm only racist against the Mongols... and sea sponges.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/9	11.111

Table 2: Summary of the results per sociolinguistic variable

Sociolinguistic variables (Hiper - Hipo)	KeyWords	Number of occurrences	Frequency	Frequency(%)
Ethnicity - Black	Black, African, Colored, coloured, Buck, Crow, Jim Crow, Fuzzy, Ape, Negro, Nigga	2949	2949/403454	0.73
Ethnicity - General	Racist, Race, Racism, Ethnicity, Ethnic	5377	5377/403454	1.3299999999999998
Nationality - General	Xenophobia, Nation, Immigrant, Alien, doctors, Nationality, Refugee, Migrant, Nationalism, Engineers	141	141/403454	0.03
Sexual Identity - General	Homophobia, LGBT, Gay, Homosexual, Queer, Homophobic	54	54/403454	0.01
Ideological and Political Identity - General	Communist, Red, Snowflake, Libtard, Nazi, Commie, Leftard	50	50/403454	0.01
Ethnicity - Native-American	Indian, Apple, Red	74	74/403454	0.02
Social Class - Working class	Common, Coarse, Hillbilly, White Trash, Unrefined, Redneck, Trailer trash	100	100/403454	0.02
Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	Weird, Dumb, Crazy, Blind, Mental, Dim, Disabled, Deaf, Lame, Mongoloid, Ableism, Freak	183	183/403454	0.05
Age - General	Age, Ageism	56	56/403454	0.01

Age - Youngsters	Nothing, Zero, Nobody, Brat	315	315/403454	0.08
Gender - General	Sexual, Woman, Gender, Sexism, Sex, Patriarchy, Chick, Misogynist, Misogyny	231	231/403454	0.06
Religious Identity - Muslim	Terrorist	3	3/403454	0.0
Age - Over 65s	Old, Elder, Senior	94	94/403454	0.02
Nationality - Italian	Hike	6	6/403454	0.0
Nationality - British	Tan	5	5/403454	0.0
Ethnicity - White	Hick, White Trash, Whitey, Redneck, Trailer trash	9	9/403454	0.0
Sexual Identity - Transexuality	Transgender, LGBT, Transition, Transvestite	20	20/403454	0.0
Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	LGBT, Gay, Fruitcake, Faggot, Queer, Fag	43	43/403454	0.01
Ethnicity - Asian (East- China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam)	Yellow, Oriental, Banana, Zip	14	14/403454	0.0
Nationality - Chinese	Yellow, pussy, Oriental, Slope, ABC	17	17/403454	0.0
Nationality - Japanese	Yellow, Oriental	12	12/403454	0.0
Religious Identity - Jewish	dodger, Abe, Oven	3	3/403454	0.0
Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	alcohol	3	3/403454	0.0
Physical Identity - Physical Features	Fat, Thin, Scrawny, Bald, Skinny, Lump	16	16/403454	0.0
Social Class - General	Classism	22	22/403454	0.01
Nationality - German	Hun, Herman	7	7/403454	0.0
Social Class - Destitute	Bum	2	2/403454	0.0
Gender - Female age and physical appearance	Witch	3	3/403454	0.0
Ethnicity - Asian (South- India, Pakistan, Bangladesh)	Dot, Brownie	2	2/403454	0.0
Religious Identity - Protestant	Spike	2	2/403454	0.0
Sexual Identity - Female homosexuality	Lesbian	2	2/403454	0.0
Nationality - Southern European	PIGS	1	1/403454	0.0
Nationality - Hispanic	Brownie	1	1/403454	0.0
Nationality - European or anti-Europeans	Quitter	1	1/403454	0.0
Gender - Female intelligence	Feminazi, Make me a sandwich	2	2/403454	0.0

Result analysis:

- Taking into account the words that were detected, we can reach the conclusion these comments are associated with : : Ethnicity - Black;Ethnicity - General;Nationality - General;Sexual Identity - General; Ideological and Political Identity - General; Ethnicity - Native-American; Social Class - Working class; Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments; Age - General; Age - Youngsters; Gender - General; Religious Identity - Muslim; Age - Over 65s; Nationality - Italian; Nationality - British; Ethnicity - White; Sexual Identity - Transexuality; Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality; Ethnicity - Asian (East- China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam); Nationality - Chinese; Nationality - Japanese; Religious Identity - Jewish; Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol; Physical Identity - Physical Features; Social Class - General; Nationality - German; Social Class - Destitute; Gender - Female age and physical appearance; Ethnicity - Asian (South- India, Pakistan, Bangladesh); Religious Identity - Protestant; Sexual Identity - Female homosexuality; Nationality - Southern European; Nationality - Hispanic; Nationality - European or anti-Europeans; Gender - Female intelligence;

- The percentage of hate speech related words is 2.434.
- Considering that the variable Ethnicity - General has the most occurences in the post, we can interpret that this is the predominant hate speech.
- Overall there were 9822/7193 occurences of hate speech related comments.