

In youtube_extraction_english_174.json :

Title: Millennials in the Workforce, A Generation of Weakness - Simon Sinek

- Table 1: Summary of the results per comment;
- Table 2: Summary of the results per sociolinguistic variable;

Table 1: Summary of the results per comment

Comment	KeyWords	Sociolinguistic variables (Hiper - Hipo)	Hate Speech Frequency	Hate Speech Fre-quency(%)
TRUTH ,PATIENCE ,HUMBLNESS,HOPE ,FAITH.LOVE. YES LEARN TRUTH EARTH IS FLAT ,PATIENCE LEARN PATIENCE FOR LOVE IS PATIENCE. AND YEAH IT WHAS NOT WORTH IT TO PAY FOR YOUR COLEGE DEGREE BECAS ITS A LOT OF FALSE NEWS AS POSINC AS EDUCATION ,INDOCTRINATION WHIT WRONG STUFF MESES YOUR VIEW OF PERCEPTION ,AND YEAH EARTH IS FLAT ,THE OLD WORLD IS GOING DOWN .THE NEW IS APEARING. AFTER THE APOCALIPSE.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/68	1.471
Are they weak or is the person working hard for a company weak.how do we define weakness.an easily managed person can be defined as weak minded.maybe the people laughing when they are supposed to weak because they are already conditioned.what is weak and what is strong and does it really matter when the matrix is real and you are in a slot and labled regaurdless to what you choose anyways.if you are of a certain complexion and your hair is a certain grade you are black even though the definition proves that not to be true.is that weak that we all follow this truth?the people that you animated on the paper are all white you are not what does this say about us and you.even the obvious Buddha is drawn to be white.everything in your picture has color except the skin.you could have made them all brown.but we know the backlash that would cause.are you weak for choosing the path of least resistance??? Idk i dont even know what the point of your whole exhibit is. Whats your point	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/179	0.559

There is nothing wrong with telling a child they are special. Saying that special is something you have to work hard to have, means that your only value is based on employment. If that is the case, old people who can't work should also be given no pity. Or have they proved they are "special" now that they have nothing left to give and are near death? Watch some Mr. Rogers. Blaming it on their parents and society, but not the mega-companies that have helped strip away social policy? Oh, companies are going to save the day? This is one of the most company ass kissing things I've seen in a long time. Your end message seems nice, but it fails to address the many problems that millennials face. Hint, it isn't because they have apps.	Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	3/136	2.206
Jealous OLD MAN	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/3	33.333
The product of the age of child-rearing "experts" and social experiments in schools. Luckily some had good parents who knew better.	Age	Age - General	2/21	9.524
I'm 30 so technically I fit in the millennial category, except I didn't have everything growing up we were poor and I wasn't told I was special I was put in care and was dealing with violence as a child and my dad dying of cancer. Now I'm older I feel like the black sheep of my own generation but I have to say it... I'm glad I didn't turn out like these pussies	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/75	1.333
Millennials usually don't work. They complain, bitch, moan and groan, and generally accomplish nothing . They lack respect, and intelligence.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/19	5.263

I am a millenia, I was never cuddled nor complimented. I babysatt my baby brothers from they were born, the responsebility of my stephfathers dog was mine, if it got sick i cleaned, if it peed inside i cleaned, feeding it, walking it, grooming it. cooked food, cleaned, and still got yelled at or ignored. I was always told you are not good enough, why can't you be like "insert classmate" I was bullied at school, My childhood stopped early I did go to the internet to have a break from reality or meditated, daydreaming about becoming an adult and what I wanted to do. But I always created deep bonds with my friends, I didn't have many and that was fine as then I had time to nurture the friendships I had. I did learn to take responsebility from a young age so I am doing kinda good enough as an adult, but it takes time for me to create meaningfull relationships. I have never fallen in love tho as ive seen only bad relationships all my life and I am quite choosy not to end up in one be so either me destroying it or the partner. I can't stand dating apps as you said requires no skill of comunication and feels quite impersonal, I like to build bonds over time but all I talk to are quite impatient. I love animals and can take care of them, I am a good nanny and extra aunt, I am quite fine in my own company, I still have deep bonds when it comes to friends, I moved out at the age of 15-16. I do have unrealistic dreams of wanting to change the world for the better for all in this world but have neither the knowlege, contacts, power, money, or any means to start as I have no idea how to start as I don't really find any schools or classes for this nor anyting that has multiple topics to teach. I was always asking questions in school as a kid that the teacher was annoyed at like: am I gonna be using this knowlege as an adult? Is this important to when I am in a job? Will I use this in a job? Why are we taught someting outdated? Why are we still using this school system? Why hasnt school evolved? Why can't I be taught about what is important for me to be an adult? Like taxes, money, how to think outside the box? How to take care of my home and how to find a balance between job and freedom?Why aren't we taught to be leaders as Well as followers? Why arent we taught critical thinking? Etc. I remember a class in middleschool when we got a project of imagining tecnology that would be likely to devolp in the next 10 years and I wrote about a microchip in the hand to use as id, cashcard, house key. I wrote about most of the bills would be sendt by the internet instead of as post etc. Most of my class where drawing flying cars and got good grades, I got a bad grade and was told it was impossible, it didn't even take 10 years before I was reading about a chip that where inserted in the hand to use in different workplaces as id and some homes with that lock system. There is an app now that is similiar to paying all your bills online, and yea flying ambulance drones :) so I gues we all kinda got it right but still i got Worse grades. I apologize for my english as it is selftaught and for the ramble, don't think most people have the patience nor the ability to focus long enough to read all of this anyways so probably all good. And if you where able to read all this, sorry and thanks for your time :)

Yeah people of my age normally are like this but Im really not like them and dont give a fuk about social medias lol I know its bs and most of these people are dumbass and slow thinking and feels depressed for almost nothing lol when I think about them Im just kinda laffing for and compare to my life they dont even know what real suffering is and so I could go on but yeah as a millenial I never was one hahaha ;)	Age, Nothing	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	2/85	2.353
My name is Kenny. I am 16 and i know exactly what i want in life.. I want to live my best life possible, experience everything i can. I dont wanna be an old man and think well shit my life was boring. i wanna have some badass stories when im an old man so i can tell my grandchildren about my experience. we have one life. we dont get any after that we just get one. dont waste it on your phones and video games. go do shit. dont be a pussy	Old, pussy	Age - Over 65s, Nationality - Chinese	3/93	3.226
This reminds me of a lady that drove her kids to school everyday across the street WTF he was 17 years old	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/22	4.545
This videos conclusion is wrong. Millenials are not entitled to feel entitled. In history nothing has changed. You are not special.Is this video propaganda?	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/25	4.0
this all seems evidence to me that this is the beginning of the age of the individual. I think it's actually a good thing and is the next big step in human evolution.meaning, we're going to find our own meaning and have our own feelings instead of just being productive robots in a mechanical society	Age	Age - General	1/56	1.786
Ironic how millennials are called narcissistic, truth is EVERYBODY is a narcissist. While some can cooperate with others for a common goal, this does not cancel the fact that self interest is a required mechanism for self preservation. So stop singling out generations as narcissist, think of what force drives the social acceptance of things like war and violence. Make no mistake if you support nationalism you are a narcissist. You believe others should die to make room for your lifestyle. Candy coat it how ever you need to sleep easier at night, in the morning when you wake up go look in your cleaning closet and look at how many chemicals you have that serve only the purpose of killing, be it insects, bacteria, or the like, you are a part of nature not apart from it. I think I've more than made my point.	Common, Nationalism	Nationality - General, Social Class - Working class	2/146	1.37

So you're saying in this video that it's the "corporations" (employers) job to give these people the skill sets and reality check that should have been done by the parents?! I fully agreed with the video up to that point. The parents need to stop raising children without rules, respect, and with this over entitled mentality with no sense of RE-SPONS-I-BIL-I-TY. These skills should have been taught at a very young age and already well established by the time that young adult enters the workforce. It is not the corporations' fault that these young people have unrealistic expectations, it was a failure of good parenting. All of this is laid out in this video until the end when suddenly and mysteriously it became the responsibility of the employer instead of the parents.	Age	Age - General	1/132	0.758
Weird to think about, Kids we were watching grow up are now working	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/13	7.692
So this is what Facebook, Apple , Instagram, Amazon, Samsung and all the big companies do to us? They make us less happy and more depressed while making tons of money from us?	Apple	Ethnicity - Native-American	1/32	3.125
The other problems that compound the situation are people like you, creating biased generalizations based on nothing more than arrogance & intense juvenoia.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/23	4.348
The problem with an elder complaining about what the younger generation is this, progress. The generations to come can shape the way the world works. This is evolution, and if the previous generation doesn't understand, than that's why the current generation exists. Not to satisfy a middle aged person's wet dream about a perfect society, but to focus on making the difference that they failed to do. To bring more good into the world through proper self fulfillment. Again another problem with the previous generation complaining about the younger generation is that they must take full accountability for everything here that is counterproductive to the succeeding generation. You think children spend too much time playing video games, yet you go out and buy them. You complain about over sexualized teens, yet you go out and get them a device that lets them see everything from death to porn. The thing is, pointing fingers won't do shit. You want change, focus on your change and leave the world behind, it doesn't need you. Proper change will positively change all that is around you. The world will eventually follow.	Elder	Age - Over 65s	1/187	0.535

I was born in '95 and I thought this video was slamming my generation. But, it turned out to be a wonderful speech that summed up a large part of my frustrations in life. Thank you Mr. Sinek. I really hope things change for the better, but my optimism grows thin .	Thin	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/51	1.961
It's funny seeing all the millennial sin the comments trying to defend themselves by deflecting blame and crying over the video. You people do realize that what you're doing is one of the things that's wrong with our generation. We deflect blame instead of fixing the problems. Guess what kids our age did in the 1910s and 1940s when times were shitty? They took care of the problem. They stormed the beaches of Normandy straight into German machine gun fire. They charged onto Iwo Jima and fought off the Japanese. They didn't deflect blame to the previous generation that caused the wars they fought the problem head on. We are lazy cowards and we need to accept that so we can fix the problems	Age	Age - General	1/124	0.806
You can have anything you want. The only thing is you have to go to work and earn the money to pay for whatever it is you want. Nobody is entitled to anything they don't work for. working and earning something or working to earn money to purchase something makes you appreciate it that much more.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/56	1.786
Climb that mountain and all you'll find is that you worked and toiled for some big payoff that will never happen. It was just an empty promise to get you to work hard for nothing . A big nothing . Fuck this.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/40	5.0
Facts. This video won't reach everyone or may not even impact them but our nation should not spend so much time in front of a screen	Nation	Nationality - General	1/26	3.846
Yeah, look at those millennials wanting a steady job, and not only that, wanting a wage that can cover bills and rent. Total entitlement. They should be happy of zero hour contracts, automation, and less jobs on the market for them to worry about.	Zero	Age - Youngsters	1/44	2.273
Got it... fat people are losers...	Fat	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/6	16.667
Stop this labeling, they might believe it. Spoiled brats will believe it because nobody wants to be called spoiled brats! People only see what they want to see.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/28	3.571

Millennials are the first generation to grow up on a planet being destroyed by self serving capitalist cannibals and they are powerless to change the direction of the world they inherited from the "Me" generation that failed to prepare them adequately to deal with the hopeless and helpless world they created and insist on maintaining. The basic human needs of survival, freedom, fun, belonging and power are all more difficult to achieve than ever. Like everything else, they are dependent on money. Modern capitalism and the mentality it festers is the source of all the world's problems. This video is a perfect example. This is nothing more than business complaining about their young employees.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/114	0.877
Failed parenting told they where special that made me laugh so hard. My mother beat the shit out of me and told me I was "good for nothing ". That is failed parenting. Maybe I'd believe in my self a little more instead of what I do now.Parents supporting there children are so not the problem. Children who lack emotional and social support end up with problems. If they are growing up in a toxic or neglectful family environment where they are not supported to cope with difficult feelings and situations, they are more likely to use alcohol or drugs as a way of dealing with things. It is less likely that they will be able to 'integrate' it into their autobiographical narrative (the story of their life), if they have neither the words to talk about it, nor anyone who is willing to listen and to care for them in it.A child's relationships with the adults in their life are the most important influences on their brain development. Loving relationships with responsive, dependable adults are essential to a child's healthy development. These relationships begin at home, with parents and family, but also include child care providers, teachers and other members of the community.	Nothing, alcohol	Age - Youngsters, Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	2/205	0.976
I used to like this channel. It had a lot of fact with it. This topic however was extremely biast and left out all of the real reasons millenials are struggling. I dont even have insurance cause I cant afford it. I have a mental illness that has no cure and I cant even get the only treatment cause it's to expensive. so I just keep going. It's not like I can inherit anything from my mom. She has nothing of her owen and my father is a pedophil who is probably dead by now. My husband busts his ass. He wanted to do culinary but gave up his dream to move back in and help his parents with there house payments cause he is a decent human being who wouldn't abandon his family in a time of need. A lot of people only associate people who live with there parents as lazy men in there 40s playing video games. Not thinking of the people who stayed cause there parents are to old or disabled to do it on there owen anymore.	Disabled, Mental, Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/182	2.198

I was born in 1995. Started working when I was seven bought everything ive ever wanted and had to work hard for it. I hate that I'm in this age group. These people dicust me. My parents used the belt on me I didnt get away with nothing . My parents loved me punishment is not evil. love can be expressed through punishment so parents honestly punish ur kids.	Age, Nothing	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	2/68	2.941
As an inorganic chemist, I only get paid 40,000 a year with no room for promotion. They keep cutting all the regulation testing for 'human safety' based on lobbyists and price cuts for human heath, preventing us from getting new equipment (even if we were ALLOWED to test for things in your water causing cancer, which we can't due to fears of lawsuits). Since they're over-saturating the market with all these STEM programs, they can replace us at any time with some college kid who will work for less. My 10 years in the field count for nothing because they can get it done cheaper.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/105	0.952
The truth of this is undeniable. That's the first sad thing about all of this. The second sad thing is, at 75 years old , I just don't care any more. My generation toughed our way into life and through life... some succeeded and some failed and some just muddled through. That's the nature of nature as it always has been. Get over it... It is what it is. Truth is, the increasing suicide rates as well as newly devised ways and methods of population reduction such as abortion on demand are good for the world... Nature has always found a way to regain a balance through famine, pestilence, plague, war among others. The millennial generation will be but a small blip on the history of mankind and will be seen as a plus by future generations as yet unborn. So... having the wisdom to understand that is the dopamine fix for my generation.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/153	0.654

Not their fault? Gimme a break. This is just my two cents, and I think that there are a lot of wonderful qualities that Millennials and Gen Z bring to the table, which I will get into at the end of this VERY long post. But this ‘poor me’ excuse for everything is ridiculous. EVERY generation had obstacles and growing pains, and there is a time when you grow the fuck up and adapt when you’re thrown into the real world. That’s how you transform, and it seems to me that this is another excuse for not taking responsibility, which is one of the main things that Millennials have been charged with. The Baby Boomers have had a hand in screwing up, well, pretty much everything. BUT, they were supposed to turn out differently if you follow the logic of parenting. They were supposed to be model citizens and emulate the values of their parents with their 50s mentality. Fat chance. They were fierce enough to say SCREW THAT NOISE, and started a counter culture. Say what you will, they sold out, etc, etc. Very true, but the point is they were fierce enough to rebel in the first place and started a movement that changed so much in, not only this country, but the world. From what I understand, they did not shift responsibility and blame their parents for how they were, they just rejected it. Oh, they did talk a bunch of shit about their parents, not to mention, talking a bunch of shit about the next generation(s). It started with Gen X. Everyone seems to have forgotten about Gen X, which is my generation, btw. They called us entitled, spoiled, and apathetic. Now, in hindsight, I have to say much of what they said was true! We were definitely apathetic, far from the political crusaders they were, and we were more lazy. And, horror of horrors, more entitled. Of course there were things they were wrong about, but for the most part, in the most general terms, they were pretty accurate. BUT, we were, and still are self-sufficient, enterprising, self-starters. We were the first to herald the technological age, period. The first gamers, the first to use the internet and be part of the internet boom. Aside from that, we remember the analog world, and truly witnessed the transition and speed of technology. It wasn’t just magically there when we were children. We were not coddled, in fact, I’d say we were more ignored. This taught us to be self reliant, and learned to grow up in the ‘real world’ much sooner than maybe we should have. Every generation has pros and cons, one of our cons was apathy and angst. So, I think much of the frustration for the Millennials and the older generations stems from the amount of coddling the Millennials experienced, more than any other generation. When Gen X was growing up, teachers AND parents threw reality in your face every chance they got. The whole world did, really. We definitely grew up in a more hostile environment and things were not that inclusive, for sure. I can’t imagine the treatment my parents had when they were kids, not to mention my grandparents childhood. All of this coddling does produce ‘snowflakes’. Sorry, but it does. It’s just common sense to me that adversity produces tough people, period. My grandparent’s generation, now those fuckers were hardcore. I think every generation tries to make life better for their children, and things did get softer, and now we have this coddling situation. We tried to make children feel	Age, Common, Fat, Immigrant, Mental, Old, Transition	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Nationality - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments, Physical Identity - Physical Features, Sexual Identity - Transexuality, Social Class - Working class	8/1211	0.661
---	---	--	---------------	--------------

I know that my mother after the divorce tried her best to provide me with food , shelter and things, but the problem was that she overlooked the importance of emotional support. And I understand that my sadness and existential breakdowns are the product of that lack. When I told her that that might be the reason, she didn't really understand what I meant saying she provided me with everything. From what I understood my parents generation lacked in money and could't get most the pleasure we can now, so for instance my mom thought that overcompensating for her own lack in the past she would make me grow into being happier. With more people recently talking about the importance of mental health it is clear that my generation (millennials) grew troubled and with the lack of emotional support grew up with low self esteem. When I told my mom that she got mad thinking I blame her which I don't just stating what might be the truth, for her it was a touchy topic, so what we could do for the other generation we birth is to understand the importance of both material and mental health but give more emotional support so that a kid wouldn't think that leaving life is a good idea :/	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/216	0.926
dopamine is also released when you get a hug and hang out with friends, should we put age restrictions on that too?	Age	Age - General	1/22	4.545
dumb video spreading dumb ideas	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/5	40.0
I've never understood the obsession with social media, I've tried it before. Maybe I'm weird , maybe I'm lucky. My friends have the obsession and I've seen it first hand, I just don't understand. I don't get the validation from it.	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/40	2.5
Motivational. Not true. Most majorities of populations will always be dumb .	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/11	9.091
Tuned out at ye olde participation medals trope. Because right, kids who got participation medals thought "holy fuck, I'm amazing!" Those medals were for our snowflake parents, geniuses.	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/28	3.571

Kind of glad I was a bit of a hard ass on my kid, he knows nothing is handed to him but earned. Proud of the boy	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/28	3.571
---	---------	---------------------	------	-------

What a lot of people don't realize is that this hate and judgement on new generations has been happening since the beginning of humanity. Our lifespan is just not long enough to see these incredibly repetitive patterns in attitudes towards the new generation of people introduced to our planet. But, if I must comment on this Sinek man's babbling, basic education and job qualification(s) are becoming more and more demanding, which means school debt is larger than ever before. Most who want to enter a career that makes $100k+ a year must spend about that much on education alone. Could you imagine being $100k in debt before you're 30? It's not their incompetence, impatience or laziness, it's the ever-mounting pile of requirements that society is throwing on newer generations. Our society's "checklist for a good life" is becoming more and more complex and difficult to achieve as the decades go by. I am a Gen Z (which to some people is pretty much the same thing as a Millennial), which is the newest generation. I, like many, have parents who are not able to help me whatsoever when it comes to paying for my education. And no my mother didn't raise me telling me I'm "special". My mother was an amazing single parent, thank you very much, Mr. Sinek. To those who are older and a tad bit judgmental like this Simon Sinek who think us young folks can't make it in the "real world", imagine having a weight of $50-100k in debt on your shoulders by the time YOU graduated your chosen education curriculum. Imagine that a 4-year Bachelors degree on top of high school education is the MINIMUM education to get you a somewhat decent paying job. And imagine that that job doesn't pay nearly well enough for you to live more than comfortably (paying for your 2 to 4 children to participate in their favourite sports, taking them on trips, saving to help them with THEIR future tuitions). I'm pretty sure Millennials (and us Gen Z) have an idea of how stressful and individualistic the "real world" is. All you people who were able to get a good-paying job with an 8th-grade education don't understand the struggle to get by (excluding those who experienced the Great Depression etc, of course). Not to mention the cost of living is constantly increasing while wage is increasing only slightly. If you don't have a kind parent or parents who lets you live at home while you attend higher education, well good luck my friend, you're going to need it. These days, life isn't as simple as 1) go to school (maybe a bit of college in there) 2) get a good-paying job, 3) get a house and a car, 4) have kids, and 5) retire. No no, if we want the same financial success that a lot of you have, for most of us "lazy" and "technologically spoiled" generation, it's: 1) go to school, 2) work your a off in school even if you hate it or you'll struggle financially for the rest of your life, 3) get a car, 4) go to a more difficult school, 5) go to an even more difficult school, 6) get training, 7) get a good-paying job, 8) payback all school debt/get married in the meantime, 10) have kids and save up to help them with their tuition costs while probably still paying off your own (oh and save up for retirement somehow), and 11) retire. Every single generation has its own difficult and unique struggles. And I do not in any way, shape or form dislike/hate any older generations because I know they must have struggled immensely in things we younger

Gender, Racism

Ethnicity -
General, Gender -
General

2/827

0.242

They're old complaining about the youngsters.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/6	16.667
I guess growing up poor paid off. I only use my phone to check BANK, im making Bank, i did have a rough upbringing as a 'm' ... nothing abusive or super negative.... just po lol so you know growing up less fortunate WAS the best. I had real friends and we were family because all of us had a dozen things in-common all circulating around lack of cash. When your less fortunate, you start putting in way more work in your ENTIRE LIFE; not just that mountain & countless handouts. Now not saying every 'M' got a handout but boy it seems when baby cry someone had tit for it and yeah connivence of technology is killing the young ppl at the same time again feeling sorry and saying 'm's were delt bad cards' nah leave em out & make em learn.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/143	0.699
I was born in 1982, in the communist Romania as a hungarian and I did not understood why everybody is talking romanian when my parents and family is hungarian. Nobody ever told me I was special at all, they (my family, friends, teachers, people, colleges, bosses) told me i am a fucking piece of shit and i deserve nothing , i have no rights at all only duties and responsibilities. I ran away from fucking Romania after I was working in IT full time for 4 years earning around 200-300 euros / month. Its not a typo its 2 hundred not thousand. Now i live in Denmark for 10 years I am dish washing and cleaning the shit after danish people because i am just a filthy foreigner who do not deserves more, but at least here i earn 2000 euros in my cleaning job, who da fuck cares. Oh yeah and i am a drug addict and alcoholic too, but im happy.P.S. not only millenials drink and spend time on social media, just check 10-15 year old children nowadays, its even worse.	Communist, Drug addict, Nobody, Nothing, Old	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Behavioural Addiction - Drugs	5/183	2.732

In response to the younger generation saying that older generations always say such things about the younger generations, there is obviously truth when the older generations today say to the younger generations that they are lazier, more disrespectful, feel entitled to things and are extremely sensitive.Remember, America at one time, really not so long ago, didn't even have welfare. We didn't have the level of automation and access to information that we have today. If you needed to write a school paper then you went to the library, often many times. We didn't have the madness and lie of political correctness that kept the truth from people. If you were fat then you got called fat . We had strict discipline in schools where misbehavior was dealt with harshly. We were a much more religious nation , and so while not perfect, of course, morality was much greater. We weren't typically driven to school. Busing was something more for rural locations. We walked. Me and my friends walked a few miles to school every day. Imagine that, children walking a few miles in the morning to go to school and another few miles after school. We weren't given participation trophies when we lost at something. We were told things like oh well and better luck next time. We also typically had a mom AND dad raising us, unlike today where it is mostly women doing the raising because of a corrupt judicial system that favors women over men as parents and does more to push men away from their children. The result is very delicate children and future delicate adults. I could go on but these are just some examples.	Fat, Nation	Nationality - General, Physical Identity - Physical Features	3/279	1.075
What I do as a 12 year old is sell goodwill books to the Philippines to gain profit. My profit per book is $.25 with my capital being $.50, so basically I've sold at least 1,300 books	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/37	2.703
Millennial bashing is just a lame way for old fuckers to feel better about themselves. It's such a massive cliché that anyone who can think critically will see right through it. Every generation of old fuckers complains about "these kids today." It's a massive oversimplification based on nothing but people's bitterness and arrogance. Every generation (to the extent that "generations" even exist) has things they are better and worse at than previous ones, and the same is true for individuals within each "generation." Stop whining, already.	Lame, Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/86	4.651
"I deserve a six figure salary for my advanced degree in medieval lesbian dance."	Lesbian	Sexual Identity - Female homosexuality	1/14	7.143

Flooded job marketsExperience and education irrelevant in an interviewThe perfect slave over the smartest employeeColliding job titles (someone could do the job of two people and is normally expected to with the same small pay)Tech abilityI think we could solve unemployment by updating tech. All these baby boomers using 2003 systems to handle business might as well retire to open the job market if they can't work certain software. The main complaintMillenial:this way of business is bad and doesn't use any of my actual skills.Baby boomers: You aren't doing things the way I want even though you got the job done. Kill yourself trying to be as physically exhausted as possible and don't expect me to do all of my job description. Conclusion. Millenials are going to confuse baby boomers with the way they handle business and dont exhaust themselves. Baby boomers are going to wonder why no one is nice or polite anymore.Theory: In their old age, millenials will not receive 1/10 the respect baby boomers get while complaining about being disrespected in the present day. Theory 2: Baby boomers are going to die before we are in charge and can exploit their professional irrlevance.	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	2/204	0.98
mayb we just don't wanna be the slaves anymore and make our own living, so many new ways of making money are discovered nowadays, the old way is not working anymore. why would anyone sit 8 hours in a fkin office when he can do the same shit at home.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/50	2.0

Its Bullshit it is thier fault i missed cutoff for millennial by two years.Born in 1980 proud of that. You have to take ownership of your faults before you can overcome them. Stop blaming corporate America its how its always been. Put down the 5 dollar coffee and pick up a tool. You want fulfillment fuck an office job. Build a house take part in the building of a skyscraper or a nuclear dam now thats fulliment. Im an electrician an employee 10 people i refuse to hire under 30. If i do hire under 30 its 10per hour and shit jobs 1st month. Then if you're still around you get 15 with a dollar a month raise to 20. And my respect with a job aslong as i have work. Ive went thru over 200 helpers in 4 uears but i jave one hell of a crew and they all own part of the company. You have to earn respect and work for a raise thats just how it works. No one deserves 15 per hour to start for an entry level fry cook job. Its a transition job not meant for adults. If they deserve 15 then any of my guys are worth dounle that. You have to offer a skill or a trade just showing up isnt enough. Make Yrself worth that 15 or more per hour. You dont need college,my going rate is 75 per hour no negotiation and im booked 6 months out on projects. If customer bitches that my rate is to expensive i decline the project. Cause i know when presented with the invoice they will bitch and try to nick pick. If i charge a proper rate i can do a better job bot having to cut corners ti make a profit. It even allows me to do things customers dont ask for free. You yalk bout happy customer throw in extra for free.	Transition	Sexual Identity - Transexuality	1/322	0.311
I believe there are some other fringe areas that contribute to the Millennials, in 70's there was too much effaces put on qualifications when as to where one was slotted into the management ladder. In the 60's every new sales representative who joined YALE forklifts U.K had to send the first two months on the production line. This gave them the edge when dealing with purchasing engineers. By concentration on the qualification without any experience only exasperates the problem as your finish up with to management and executive that have no understanding of the business or the people who manufacture the products.	Engineers	Nationality - General	1/102	0.98
What's weak is generalizing against a whole group. It I'm glad people are frustrated about the way the world is changing. Hah deal with it I say! OUT WITH THE OLD IN WITH THE NEW	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/35	2.857
I take Bart to work now and I look around and think 95 of people seriously need phone addiction help. I saw a 3 year old have a tantrum because they couldn't figure out how to watch what they wanted on the phone. That kid was acting like an addict needing a stronger fix.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/54	1.852

Me,me,me,me,me. That's the millennials way. Lazy, dumb and are the most useless generation in history. They don't want to work but they want the money.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/25	4.0
Yup. I've worked with the soy boy's and blue haired girl's more than once at a local cafe on weekends. Very sensitive and you have to tiptoe around with your words or they'll get upset. Little or no upper body strength. They're fighting skills are sabotage or set you up. Get you to say something then run to the boss and tell on you. Very politically motivated in a mutated communistic way. Absolutely against firearms. Cold demeanor or simply looking at you like your an insect or something comical. If you talk about anything other than work your walking a tight rope with them. They'll take it wrong or disagree with your opinion and want to destroy you because of it. Your always under psychological analysis with them and they will resonate on how to hurt your feelings or someone they don't like. Looking for those buttons to push. Then when found. They will push that button without mercy trying to get you to snap.Enjoy.	Insect	Age - Youngsters	1/166	0.602
What's strange about looking a porn on your phone when you have sex with your girlfriend ?	Sex	Gender - General	1/17	5.882
And this has to do with the parents and their parents... This is ridiculous. Leaders do not ask their followers anything, so in reality management is the true problem because they think for some reason yelling is the best way to handle people. But the reality is I can work anywhere and being treated shitty is not worth any amount of Money. Our parents and grandparents trashed the earth, created the technology that ruined the kids, and just raised children's not paying attention to them or teaching anything at all. Actually as a 25 year old I have only used YouTube, no social networks in almost 10 years. This is a generalized thing aimed at the millennials that aren't successful in an attempt to explain away the problem, instead of starting with the source, the teachers,elders, politician. When we are surrounded by all these older people that actually don't do anything with their lives and are only focused on extrinsic values and then they reinforce these ideals to their children, we will always have a younger ignorant generation.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/178	0.562

Maybe this can be seen as helpful for some:I'm 27 years old making 75k salary and saving 2-3k a month in California. High school drop out, no college, literally not a single piece of paper stating my competence (not even a GED). I started working construction at minimum wage ($7.25/hr in Georgia) and over the years of my 7 promotions what I realized is that most people just want the clock to hit 3:30 so they can go home, and also want jobs that pay more- a double standard. The reason I kept getting promoted is that instead of going home and wasting the 3-6 hours I had left of daytime, I stayed an hour or two later everyday at work for free to ask my supervisor questions and help him with anything he needed done. That's all it took, showing him that I'm eager and my attitude was fit for growth. Now I'm a construction superintendent with no immediate bosses around me and I'm making bank. It wasn't hard, all it took was that extra hour I gave for free of asking technical questions and helping where my supervisor needed it. I stopped partying and dating and decided to stay late everyday at work just for the growth, and sure enough it took off and now I'm able to take care of my mom and help my family financially. Quit wasting your free time and use it to learn and grow.These 10 things require 0 talent, and guarantee growth if diligently practiced:1) Be on time2) Work ethic3) Effort4) Energy5) Body language6) Passion7) Doing extra8) Being prepared9) Being coachable 10) Attitude	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/282	0.355
wow all the people on here want to blame somebody else they don't want to take any responsibility for themselves. all my friends that are my age or a little bit younger all have great jobs make lots of money buying homes most of them never went to college all they did was take responsibility for themselves and work hard none of them have been homeless. They didn't spend money they didn't have	Age	Age - General	1/73	1.37
to everyone who says „the old generation always hates the younger generation': you are obviously right, but what if millenials are actually worse than their parents? it could be true for this generation. so much changed that i may be worth a thought.ps: i was born in 2002 and i think that millenials and gen z suck and i 100 agree with this video.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/65	1.538

That generation also elected the fully inept nitwit named Obama (talk about the Participation trophy President)! He's my age , and seriously, I would not hire him to work a loading dock or the front register. We grew up in the LBJ/Nixon/Carter era.....not exactly what anyone would call "Leaders". 20 years of economic stagnation, the Misery Index, double-digit inflation, double-digit unemployment, 21 Prime interest rate, my first job At Micky-D's in 78, $2.22/hr minimum wage, gas was $1.68/gallon, my 64 Chevy got 8 miles to the gallon on a good day.I received my college degree in 83, didn't start making 6 figures UNTIL I left my chosen profession and found greener pastures in my 30's, all the while working between 80-85 hours a week.You can do it Chris, but you have to EARN it..... nobody will ever give it you.	Age, Nobody	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	2/140	1.429
Hit the symptoms on the nail, but whiffed the cause. Our generation cares more about intrinsic values than the baby boomers. We want the people around us to do well, we want to do well, we want to make the world a better place. What we are met with is a sterile environment that cares about nothing but profit over people. The majority of people are getting fucked and we feel powerless. The establishment has failed the populus, but has a death grip on how life should be run. Life costs exponentially more to be poor/in debt	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/97	1.031

This started off so stuck up and stupid. The speaker takes the fact that we want purpose and meaning and equates it to wanting bean bag chairs and free food. How do you even make that leap? All of my working experience has been in some kind of shallow customer service job (retail and downscale hospitality) and I've hated every second, dealing with impatient (almost always older in these cases!) people who act like an expired coupon or a denied return for something they bought ten years ago is like I assaulted them, and I want nothing more right now than to drop that bullshit and do something with Purpose and Impact as stated in the beginning of this video, but bean bag chairs do not equal purpose or impact, how did this guy even make that connection?? If I'm looking for a job with purpose it's something like working in an animal shelter or on a farm (as examples), not some dumb office job cold calling to peddle overpriced health insurance just because I get to sit in a bean bag chair all day! Completely and obviously stupid comparison, makes me question if this guy can even think straight let alone know what he's talking about. And if the point he's trying to get at is that these Boomer managers think that's what we want when we say we want purpose, which generation has the real problem here?My generation has the worst hand dealt since the Great Depression, I have friends who work THREE JOBS and can still barely afford a studio apartment+utilities+crappy cheap food+phone bill (since almost all jobs require that they can get ahold of you outside of work now), and those are just the BARE NECESSITIES and still not have enough money left over to save ANY money let alone save enough money to invest or plan for the future, and most of them are college graduates! I shared an apartment with one roommate for $900/month + electricity, we split the bill evenly and we still lacked adequate food to the point where I went from healthy weight (like 175lbs) to being underweight (like 155) within one year of moving in, and neither of us had enough left over to save more than a few dollars every month, and at that slow rate no one could ever save for anything like a car or a house. We ended up moving apart after the end of that first year back to each of our parent's places because it made it more affordable AND each of our parents needed the help to afford their apartments and necessities too! It's so soul-crushing and demotivating when I see some of my friends killing themselves every day at multiple jobs and being so miserable and tired that one of them even called me at least once a month for a year in this type of situation having a borderline suicidal mental breakdown from the emotional and physical stress only to have nothing to show for it (they now live with three roommates so they don't have to do that anymore. That's literally our only option right now). You want to know why so many people in my generation are unmotivated and unhappy? Because we see no hope for our futures, we see no fruits from our labors, I mean Jesus Christ forty years ago you could pay for college with a summer job and outright buy a cheap house on minimum wage, and now it's almost impossible to even feed ourselves while living with roommates in shitty apartments! These days your lucky if that summer job even covers the costs of your textbooks! And	Dumb, Mental, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	5/683	0.732
---	-----------------------	---	-------	-------

Syklone like a typical Vagina whining loser just blame everyone but your stupid lazy self .Try working hard and acting like a mature adult nobody owes you shit.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/28	3.571
El Lobo maybe you got handed something. I had to work. WWII vets and their kids from before and shortly after the war sucked up all the good jobs and affordable homes and college long before I got here in '58. The later boomers have more in common with millennials.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/50	2.0
Id screw a Minoin in its tight yellow bumpholes. With a name like you're using, NOTHING you have to say has any substance.....but nice try.Go back to playing your video games and riding a skate board.	Nothing, Yellow	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Asian (East- China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam), Nationality - Chinese, Nationality - Japanese	4/37	10.811
Id screw a Minoin in its tight yellow bumpholes. That's funny?? Since when are filth and funny the same thing?Again, you prove what a low life you are. Does your mommy know you talk like that??	Yellow	Ethnicity - Asian (East- China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam), Nationality - Chinese, Nationality - Japanese	3/37	8.108

Id screw a Minoin in its tight yellow bungholes. Some kind of Lame point you're trying to make?? She obviously taught me better than yours, did (or maybe you just didn't listen)? But most adolescents think that diarrhea-mouth is cool when anyone with a brain knows it's NOT. It's called "self control"....try it sometime. People won't look down on you so much.	Lame, Yellow	Ethnicity - Asian (East-China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam), Nationality - Chinese, Nationality - Japanese, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/62	6.452
Id screw a Minoin in its tight yellow bungholes. Again you solidify my point....THANKS!!! Between your user name and what comes out of yourtoilet-mouth you continually prove me right!!	Yellow	Ethnicity - Asian (East-China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam), Nationality - Chinese, Nationality - Japanese	3/30	10.0
Id screw a Minoin in its tight yellow bungholes. Stupid IGNORANT loudmouth lazy punk!! Tell your PARENTS all about it kid and watch them takeaway your cell phone that THEY'RE paying for and the food you eat! You wanna see entitled.....GO LOOK IN THE MIRROR if you pull your face away from yourphone long enough!!	Yellow	Ethnicity - Asian (East-China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam), Nationality - Chinese, Nationality - Japanese	3/57	5.263

WILD WES Wes.....NEVER thumb up your own comments, it only makes you less credible and hurting for attention.Also....it's you KIDS that supported Bernie the Commie last time around and are focusing on him again today.....GET YOUR FACTS STRAIGHT!!!	Commie	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/39	2.564
Curt Brennan You obviously have dementia if you think I supported Bernie and bashed your communist boomer generation. Take a bath you stinking hippie.	Communist	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/24	4.167
Curt Brennan I work harder than you ever have and do it for my future ill at least have a couple kids so when im your age I dont have to bitch and whine about being such a sad pathetic old loser. Your generation is as smart as the dumbest millennials just listen to you.	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	2/55	3.636
Curt Brennan Not every boomer but youre straight up so dumb man, im glad the world will have less of your shit stupid genes.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/24	4.167
Curt Brennan You know who else is a Boomer? Bernie Sanders, Hillary Clinton, and that lifelong liberal Democrat Trump. It's your loser ass parents and teachers that failed your generation and you're just mad your Geriatric ass is old besides stupid. Thanks for being part of the problem.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/48	2.083
Ahhh it's funny. Baby boomers got shot on the beaches of Normandy to stop Hitler from killing Jews but 'baby boomers don't care about nobody but themselves.'Millennials are screwing shit up so bad. Even if millennials were given everything, which they have been, they still will find an excuse to be lazy and complain.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/55	1.818
g g wot makes you think you should have a better choice than we did we had to shut the fuck up and get on with it in 1957 there was nothing just hard work for little money	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/38	2.632
Facts they have destroyed the earth, pushed racist ideas, and now they can't cope	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/14	7.143
And Boomers still won't fucking retire!! How many 70-80 it old folks ,they you see working at Wal-Mart or other retail establishments, shouldn't they be drawing social security by now? Step the Fuck down and let some kids have the damn jobs who need them. Before someone says they need them too, to ask your Wal-Mart greeter why they work and they'll say "to get out of the house* as if there wasn't a damn thing to do outside of the home except work, it's ridiculous.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/86	1.163

I normally like Simon Sinek but here he's perpetuating toxic stereotypes about a whole generation and oozes with ageism . I didn't ask to graduate high school just before the 2008 stock market crash.	Ageism	Age - General	1/33	3.03
Speaking about participation medals. I was born 92 as a kid I used to do triathlons. now the last year I did one, I struggled, my new water shoes almost drowned me I was last out of the lake and the chain fell off my bike several times in the race . Still I was competitive and I managed to place 3rd out of 30-40 other kids. I was proud until I was given the same medal as everyone else.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/79	1.266
Is it just me or is this the new old guy I'm going to start getting shit from?	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/18	5.556
You say it's not our fault but if we don't blame ourselves, if we keep blaming the hand we were dealt nothing will change. We need to take responsibility for our own lives, no one else will.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/37	2.703
Oh fuck you us young lads are getting worked hard on site by the lazy old men trust me no one gets a free ride	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/25	4.0
Alannah Hawes Since when was looking someone in the eye and shaking their hand a skill? lol you just proved my point. I've gotten jobs, had grades upgraded by teachers, and created life time friendships from just that one skill. My Dad taught me this at the age of 4. It is a first impression that means everything.	Age	Age - General	1/58	1.724
Work in a place with purpose and make an impact? Fuck you. Us Gen xers worked 50 hours per week doing nothing of any value and you will too!	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/29	3.448
Shut the fuck up , what's wrong with wanting , purpose and impact and who the he'll has bean bags , the fuck , is wrong sign this and parenting , and yeah you still have to earn things back then and kids still get participation awards and kids these days don't make it on YouTube and freak out when they don't become a star..... this is every generation, your talking about your kids or future kids and yourselves and our generation did not get cell phones till we were a junior in high school and I bet your super ugly and that's why you gotta make this video	Freak	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/109	0.917
The reason millennials are having so much trouble is because the financial practices of boomers ruined the economy leaving nothing for future generations. all the while capitalist bosses pay minimum wage and hoard all the wealth. You have to be a total scheming jew to get ahead in this corrupt society and more often than not companies won't hire you anyway. Boomers say younger people are lazy because they can't find work but nobody hires you no matter who you are.	Nobody, Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/81	2.469
Great points but the moment you find yourself bitching about the next generations you're officially old	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/16	6.25

It's up to the individual to fill in the blanks and find a way in this world and I'm a great parent I taught my kids all of that and my children didn't and don't care because I'm not instant gratification enough and they're not willing to work for a relationship with me they're more interested in the stupidity on their social media accounts rather than something that actually has some sustenance that will give them a deep sensation and meaning in life they don't want to work for anything they are lazy and for someone to say that it's of no fault of their own that's bull it absolutely is because they don't care and that's a choice Point Blank and it isn't for lack of trying to cuz I have a son whose 20 years old and he doesn't care about anything except his phone that's all he's ever had a relationship with that's all he wants a relationship with people disinterest him including his own mother I could send him awesome Inspirations I could have a conversation with him while he ignores me when I send him videos that would be inspiring things that I feel would be fulfilling for him to explore ignores them and then he gets mad at me for expecting more from him and that's what we're dealing with so it's really not the parents it's really the kids so I'm not going to be enabling anyone or making excuses for someone who doesn't care and I won't spend my life guiltning her saving myself as if I didn't do enough because I've done more than enough and furthermore I never gave up they gave up on me and unfortunately I don't have a relationship with my kids because they don't want it and as much as that hurt me I can't let it affect me or ruin my life. Unfortunately I have to move on without them and it's sad but again it's their choice meanwhile they're trying to blame me for stuff and I did everything I could to keep them from having any Electronics but their wifi-enabled so even without service they can still use it and one kid infected the other and that's how it went downAnd I do have an answer for this dilemma I think the best relationships they can cultivate our with animals because they release dopamine also so volunteer get your kids into a habit of giving distract them with healthy substitutes and practices as well as behaviors does talk is cheap and children don't listen they continue out but if you take them somewhere where there isn't time for them to be distracted or to distract themselves or looking for that next fix on their cell phone get them involved in things that matter and being the change in the world that they wish to see or that you wish to see eventually it won't be second nature it will become first nature because they feel good being a part of something greater than themselves. and there's a lot of animals out there that can relate animals that were discarded abused neglected and they're scared to so basically they're on the same playing field and that's where we should beginTo take it a step further making that connection between the human species and the animal kingdom will make it pretty obvious how special the animals are After experiencing a rich relationship with one that you had to earn the trust of especially when animals are already aware upon birth who they can and cannot trust and the human race is one they don't and there's a very good reason for that. In doing so in cultivating a relationship a meaningful one with an animal we start to realize the	Old, Race	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - General	2/1055	0.19
---	-----------	-------------------------------------	--------	------

Fuck millennials. Nothing but a bunch of snowflakes. Like man the fuck up niggas.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/14	7.143
I am a Generation X'er. As these words are typed I am 51 years old and I was born in 1967. I remember not too long ago how people my age were being told that Generation X was not only going to bring down America but the planet earth as a whole. Get off the millennials' cases.	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	2/57	3.509
I just don't think 84 is a good year to start from.. Cause most of the people my age I know all work, most finished school. We see through the bs, we still have the generation before us in us. I see it in my own family, there's 9 of us. My older sister was born in 82 I was born in 88. We're probably the last ones to remember true friend and family connection. Me an my older sister try an teach the opposite of all this shit, the rest? Are completely different, I feel bad for them	Age	Age - General	1/99	1.01
I dont know he doesnt sound old and plus he isnt complaining about you specifically so dont get triggered	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/19	5.263
Actually, there are age restrictions for social medias.	Age	Age - General	1/8	12.5
Lmao, there are age restrictions on porn too, and everyone watches it at like 12.	Age	Age - General	1/15	6.667
So, there is all this information about what is going on with millennials. These millennials have access to all this information. They also have the choice(s) of how they apply this knowledge to their lives. Dr. Phil says, "You have to rise above your raising." Meaning your life is your responsibility, embracing victim mentality does nothing good for yourself or society. The only person you have to be better than is yesterday's self. Many people have been dealt a bad hand, put on your big girl panties and you make your life better. The universe owes you nothing .	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/98	2.041
Video started out making sense, then quickly degraded into "its not your fault." and "blame everyone else for your problems." Literally coming full circle to the beginning of the video. Yes, take no responsibility for your life, that makes sense. If youre a millennial watching this video, wake up and take responsibility for your actions. Theres always time to change. No matter, rich, poor, smart, dumb , ignorant, neglected, abused, injured, abandoned, or adopted; people can make something of their lives. If you dont believe it, read some biographies. You can be a success too, but it wont be easy. They call it work because its not play time.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/108	0.926

Why should I settle for being paid NOTHING ? I have a master's degree (no loans), and started working for a fortune 500 company for shitty pay and shitty bosses. What did I do? Opened my own business and make more than 100k...i am a millennial (not lazy), but why should I settle for a shit paying job and mind you, all corporate jobs pay shit...the economy sucks and etc...so screw the system and the haters...again i am a millennial that has a good education, my own business and NOTHING in this video applies to me. So let's see how gen z will be (my guess most of them homeless lol)...	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/110	1.818
Your comparison of social media to alcohol could be made with food as well, when people feel stressed they eat, get that dopamine and get fat and unhealthy, but you can't make food illegal	Fat, alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol, Physical Identity - Physical Features	2/34	5.882
Old ppl complaining about young ppl is the most profoundly boring thing ever	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/13	7.692
Ahh the old pick on the millennials shtick... lame	Lame, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/9	22.222
Is this applicable to all ethnic races or all the citizens of countries on earth?	Ethnic	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667
I'm 64 years old ... a boomer. I dislike anything that tries to paint a whole generation as bad, entitled, etc. Regardless of generation, it's all down to the individual.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/30	3.333
Ha! If the older generations are going to be so judgemental, why do I want to work with them? We millennials have been demonized. The workforce has decided that my skills as a scientist are redundant. Thus I am raising my children in the dirt with no electricity or running water in a developed nation . Please tell me where this sense of entitlement I should have is living in my brains?	Nation	Nationality - General	1/71	1.408

I don't care who's fault it is. Blaming others wont get you anywhere. That's not to say that you're always wrong, quite the contrary. Look it sure might be the boomer cunts that fucked us over, and that's great; you recognized a problem, good for you. Now what?See what I mean? It isn't that pointing out the problem is wrong. No, it's that doing nothing to solve the problem does exactly that. It doesn't solve the problem... It's not just this generation either, everyone seems to have this mindset. Hell I'm doing it right now in this comment...So what now? Am I telling you to work hard/harder? Not necessarily. My advice is to first start. Just start. You clearly know what the problem is so go on to the second step and start solving it. Forget succeeding and failing. Just start.And yes, I realize that it isn't always your fault that, that specific problem, occurred, but that's life sometimes. I mean, is it your fault that it rains sometimes? No, but still, you go out of your own way to wear appropriate clothes, maybe carry an umbrella, drive safer and so on.So am I saying that you should take care of everything that comes your way regardless of what or who caused it? No. Of course not. That would be really unhealthy, and also impossible.I am however saying to do something about it. Don't like the politicians that are ruining the country? Why don't you become one yourself and set a new standard? You're incapable of this? Why not look for somebody else already doing it and support them? You hate the younger generation because they're lazy and entitled? Why don't you teach them self-reliance or how to be strong?But people don't want this. They'd rather give up and just care about personal issues. And then, when something happens that wasn't their fault, they get pissed off, start complaining and constantly point out what might have caused it and expect for somebody else to fix it. And this goes on so far that the who or what caused the problem starts becoming more and more vague, to the point where everything is the problem and you're just not made for this world. I know this. Because it's what I did.You have every bit of right to give up on humans and start only caring about yourself. We've already been doing that since the dawn of time. But just don't expect to be respected for your opinion regarding a problem.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/426	0.235
---	---------	---------------------	-------	-------

The technology is the problem because there's no traditional guidance on how to behave with using it. It's also allows unnatural human interaction where you can talk to anyone anywhere at anytime and they can talk back to you. Humans never had to deal with this level of communication and it's overwhelming and that is a mental burden.My view on the Millennial generation is that they have a massive potential to change the planet and the older generation has a responsibility to guide them to help them unlock that potential. No one is special it's just how you look at things. but if you have a generation that wants to make an impact then they have to be taught what it takes to make an impact, a change and get them to learn from what previous generations did to make changes and always ask is necessary to make a change.But if the millennials are ending their lives that's a terrible failure of the previous generations.	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/167	0.599
What a load of bullshit. Every young generation wanted that. Easy life. Not work so much. Told they were they special? That's a generalisation fallacy. Majority of parents will try and love their children in any generation structures. Mobile phones promoted it? Well my generation, video games produced the dopamine, my parents had television, my grandparents had radio, and if they didn't have that, they had alcohol and drugs and theatre. Nothing has changed. Only the source where we get our dopamine from. Stop labelling generations as worse or better. Just start loving them and supporting them as much as the others. The kids are OK.	Nothing, alcohol	Age - Youngsters, Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	2/106	1.887
I'm 22, I'm currently attending school for welding technology, it's been about 2 years since I've started, now summer time is approaching, I have a lot more free time, my "current" job fucked me over, back in February, I asked for mother's day weekend off, they said yes, I even asked them three more times as the date kept approaching, so I take the weekend off and when I come back, guess what, I got fired for not showing up on Mother's day, and this was at a resteraunt, but a few days prior to that, I got a job offer as a Welder's helper starting out 13.50 and hour, I think what the problem is that most people my age is that they usually pick their dreams over opportunity, when really, it should be the other way around, unless you have all the means and criteria go follow your dreams, other than that, if a opportunity comes to you, take it	Age	Age - General	1/162	0.617

Saying that anyone in particular should do better means nothing if people don't put it into practice. Actions speak louder than words and the chances of large scale change happening enough to "save" this generation is to slim because for corporations the "do it better" mentality is fine because if they decided to quite they can easily replace them unless its in trade school jobs which society deems as not the correct method of education and instead believes that a 4 year degree will solve their problems in life. Just like in a video game learning a new skill helps you progress faster to eventually reach the goal of getting a class upgrade. But if everyone just wants to rush to get the class upgrade and doesn't put any points in their skills they will have to go through the game with the most basic of abilities and thus making it seem like the game is on hard mode.If that terminology makes no sense to you it basically means most people want the end result of a degree without really caring about the time and effort it takes to learn a real skill to help you in life. Its basically like highschool where kids don't care about anything their learning, they just want to get out of it thus partly the reason for increase of drop outs. The point of school SHOULD be to learn a skill not get a degree; Trade schools are completely about learning a skill and they cut out the extra subjects you won't need to complete the job or learn the skill. Its also fsr less expensive.If you wanna learn a skill most trade schools might not teach than theres tye option of tuturing and though it can be costly so can collage.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/300	0.333
Are we really blaming Boomers? They're not your bosses! They're retired. Lol. That boss you are complaining about is Gen X. The Boomers don't have a horse in this race anymore. Leave them out of it.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/36	2.778
Who told us that we need to go to school for 90 percent of our youth. School school and what, we only need a few hr of learning a day and for only a few years of our lives. The rest is just babysitting. That is why people go to school for years then only begin to learn the day they enter the real world.Conclusion school is bad life is good, school and life have nothing in common	Common, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Social Class - Working class	2/79	2.532
This video begs the question, what is our purpouse anymore, This country has turned into one large walmart on black friday.We all work just to exist, because there is no other acceptable option.I was born in 1965 and my generations upbringing was very different than the current young people.Its true they are an aimless generation but they were raised that was.The computer age killed modern civilization.	Age, Black	Age - General, Ethnicity - Black	2/70	2.857
Ok so I'm 23, I drink occasionally, have two kids and a wife, and a job at a gas station. I love YouTube, but when I'm stressed I dont talk about it, instead I go skeet shooting or fishing. Is this a healthy way for a 23 year old father to cope?	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/52	1.923

if you would ever travel the world then you'd see reality. The world and millenials are nothing like he describes once you open your eyes to what's real and fake in the world. You obviously don't do much travelling and have a narrow perspective on life. Hence you saying "social media" is the problem. I assure you, that's silly when you stop and actually think about it.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/67	1.493
This guy didn't even draw in a single person of color.Why? Are they not good enough for his drawing?I am appalled at the racism .Learn to be diverse, this is America you fascist.You are not wanted here!	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/40	2.5
Whats wrong w/America: [LINK] This is what happens to a nation that bans Jesus Christ from all the places He was once honored, then turns to celebrate embrace: lgbt , abortion, rampant divorce, teaching the "theory" of evolution, legalized drugs, on/on. We rejected God and He's removed His hand of blessing. Read Romans 1:18-32. People are trying to right a ship that God has been slowly, purposefully sinking since the 60's.	LGBT, Nation	Nationality - General, Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality, Sexual Identity - Transexuality	4/71	5.634
If I was a millennial I wouldn't be real thrilled either. Society is screwed from left to right top to bottom. Preceding generations fixed nothing generally kicking a can down the road, it's a mess.Every single facet is corrupt. Just minimum wage is a joke 1.45 in 1970 based only on inflation should be 11.46 now, is it ? NoGreedy rat bastards are everywhere at every level yet somehow these turds gotta fit in & start carving a niche for themselves?Who gives a fuck about ceo's & share holders? I never have & I'm one of em. I guarantee the companies I hold shares in don't give a shit that I do. They're pounded every day with bullshit special interests agendas just like I am & no idea how to slap them off like I do. So they get spun off in circles.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/146	0.685
Millennial means you're aware of the white man system the natives spoke about. "Sign this paper and things happen."Not even the Bible is or was known by the natives, the black people we enslaved.White people are the only ones enslaved...they turned the beautiful land into a coast to coast shopping mall.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/53	1.887

This entire comment section summed up Anyone born earlier than the 1980's: this new generation knows nothing like my generation which is obviously superior in every way cuz we didn't have the internet Millennials: actually stating why the workforce and society as a whole is kinda stacked against them with it only getting more difficult year by year Boomers: tough shit kiddo but your problems are invalid because my generation had to go through (insert now irrelevant period of time) Jeez this generation is so soft Expecting to get paid a livable wage just because they worked through 20+ years of school mIlleNniAls aRe sO enTiTleD	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/105	0.952
Called life everyone needs to make yes it cost to much I agree but nobody wants to suggest ways to make it cheeper all your gen wants is free everything someone has to pay the bill for the the stuff	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/41	2.439
As a Gen X er who the fuck raised these soft core pricks ? this shit started in the 70's, got worse in the 90's was one of the many reason's I decided not to have kids,my sister is a typical diaper sniffer (in her early 50's)...it's a social change that lands firmly at the feet of my generation and Baby Boomers,look up " self esteem movement "Never met a 20 + year old who could pass laws....I'm going back to the 80's when people were " Gifted "based on their achievements,not the fact they simply exist, Watch The Fight Club and stop blaming people based on poor parenting and a system that is failing to provide workers rights,jobs and ethics,while based on the 50's work model,Socialism isn't a dirty word	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/134	0.746
I was born in 1983. I have nothing of milennial, neither my friends. Maybe it started earlier in other countries.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/20	5.0
fuck off old farts	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/4	25.0
Bullshit you are 14years old kid	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/6	16.667

every generation thinks its superior to the one that comes after it - even in the 1800s it was being said about ppl reading too many books nowadays and stuff. The title of this video is not very good.. its not about weakness.. humans haven't suddenly become naturally weaker in a generation the differences are actually down to things in their environment that are not their fault at all. it also should be admitted there are many things current young people are much better than our generation at doing. The world is much more ruthless place than it was for us in our day - there are more people, so things are much more competitive so its much harder to become something like a doctor for example than it used to be. house prices are way higher.. people should try to consider these things rather than just say the next generation is weaker than us thats childish.. theres nothing at all novel or interesting about saying it as the same has been said for thousands of years.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/177	0.565
Funny, it is the babyboomer and generation X that invents shit like ping pong tables at the workplace, and sociopathic crap like open office spaces... No wonder the younger generation is shocked when they see what offices are like after graduating.. There is a complete lack of adulthood, nothing to look up to...	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/53	1.887
Millennials are a lost generation. A generation of systemic mental illness, childlike expectations, and complete ignorance of facts as caused by the 'education' system (especially colleges) and the media teaching them what to think rather than how to think and pushing obedience to a one-sided fringe ideology rather than fostering critical thinking and open minds. But, if you are going to make a video on the generations, get the generations correct. You are an entire generation off. Millennials are those born from 1981 - 1995 (born 1966-1980 was Gen X). The oldest millennials are now closing in on 40-year-old. The youngest are now in college. The generation born 1996 - 2010 is Generation Z. The Gen Zs born in the 90s tend to think and behave much as millennials do, but many of the kids born from about 2000 on tend to be more free thinkers, question ideologies and authority, search for facts and truth, and have a more goal-oriented outlook and stronger work ethic compared to the millennial's participation trophy, give me everything for free, work sucks, life is unfair, ban free speech, provide me my self-esteem for being lazy and useless. There might be some hope for the second half of the Gen Z generation. Maybe.	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/208	0.481

The world is coming to an end anyway, we need a complete apocalypse that we can recover from and start a fresh start, without the regulations and laws of the current governments and without the corrupt ethics of the big businesses, we need a new world where we live with less technology (although still quite a bit) and where we live in small scale communities (like 1000) with small businesses and with a lot of communist policies, but people can still own their own possessions, just share food, etc, each community run by a small group of people, (probably older as they cant do manual labour), so no one person is in charge, legalise the use and growing of natural psychoactives and have small scale trade between communities, this is how the human race should be.	Communist, Race	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - General	2/136	1.471
What a bunch of fucking bs. Simon is a dumb fuck.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/11	9.091
Young people freak when I'm talking to them and I silence my phone instead of responding to it when it rings. I explained to one person: if you were face to face talking to someone and someone else walked up to your friend and just started a conversation with them, that would be rude, sooo... when my phone rings while I'm talking to you, I wouldn't answer it or respond unless it's an emergency. They can leave a message and I can always call back after I'm done talking to you. Simple but young people are accustomed to lots of instant gratification, and lack the learned social skills to cope. :(Freak	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/111	0.901
Young people are a problem one of my teachers works with young people he goes out on job sites with them, he says we are failing them. Employers are calling and complaining can't you teach them any common sense.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/39	2.564
thank you Chan Ho Woo—I agree one hundred percent and commented pretty much the same thing you said (Above)	Ho	Gender - Female sexuality	1/19	5.263
Lavel Hare I decided when I was a teen that you can't blame previous gens or stereotype with blanket statements cause you can't really know what it was like. If you want to get an idea what it was like for us boomers growing up, watch only black and white TV and movies for a month. No internet etc. Beyond the boredom, you'd get an idea how people acted. No Gen since the boomers wants that.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/76	1.316

Old generation has one job in the life, today we have many jobs in our life, today people don't see the point to put a lot energie in a job because they will not keeping it forever, so yes they want to see a direction, see the purpose of the work they provide.Things change, the context change, that evolve.It's like the man who talks in the video put his frustation on the new generation.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/76	1.316
oh. now i get it. a chemical imbalance is cause by either to much or too little alcohol . that explains it right? so if we are just normally drunk, we are then normal right? how delightful it is to be normal isn't it? you can perform work but is too stupid to invent anything new and use ages to change a patent. if you were not drinking at all you would be in imbalance so that means you would want to change the world by improving it with all kinds of advanced technology that nobody understand because their normal and are normally drunk and the people that drink too much are sad because their bodies are wasting away faster than their able to recover and they get so dumb , they can no longer perform average. normal is geat, everybody stay in limbo land, we need no more patents, no more inventions. all the stuff we ever needed is a ready invented. you can't make anything new because the world science knows everything there is to know. we are done with that. now we just need to stay cool and be normal.	Dumb, Nobody, alcohol	Age - Youngsters, Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/191	1.571
Is it weird that I feel like I like my generation is more enjoyable to live with than the previous? Like I could live with many millennials in one house everyone could get along take care of the house clean up after themselves but if I have to live with one or god forbid two of the baby boomers AKA married I'm expected to clean up after them. I wish I could say these two would end up as my parents but I've actually had to move between many households because of this issue. I've never had it with my mom or dad. I'm not talking older people or children here. This be pre retirement. AGE BUSTERS PLEASE HELP	Age, Weird	Age - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/119	1.681

Im part of gen z, and my parents are in the boomer category. I think that the biggest strain on my generation is the unending sense of disappointing our elders. As someone who is preparing to enter college, I, and my peers alike, am faced with ceaseless pressure to know everything and do everything on earth.You must get perfect grades to even have a chance at getting a decent job. You must dedicate yourself to multiple charitable causes to pad a future resume. You must be a 'leader' in multiple clubs or societies so that you can stand out from the endless crowds that apply to colleges and jobs every year. Hell, most of my family shames me for not spending time partying like they did, even though doing so would probably ruin my prospects for what was formerly mentioned.My father, a baby boomer, was educated as an engineer. He couldn't tell you how to find the derivative of y=x.Millenials dedicate hundreds of thousands of dollars and destroy their bodies and minds just to GET an education, and they end up working at a denny's no matter what. And they're looked at by the elder generations the same way one looks at dried up worms on the sidewalk.	Elder	Age - Over 65s	1/211	0.474
Dopamine is also the chemical that is released when we win at something like chess or baseball, when you finally perfect that recipe or learn that new song, when you get a good score on a math 'test', finally graduate, get or get a raise. Do we have age limits on any of these no we don't... wait we do, you guys won't let us get a raise because we are too young. Dopamine in short is the short term happiness chemical, your examples of gambling, drug use and social media are all valid and I understand that you are trying to make a point but maybe next time list some other example instead of cherry picking.	Age	Age - General	1/117	0.855

I really love this video and I'm a millennial. It is my opinion that my generation is too concerned with how they appear to others. An understated example of this how a great deal of energy goes into the careful manipulation of one's peers through appearances and communication (or the lack thereof, "Ghosting"). In light of current politics in the United States, it seems clear the manipulation through social media has reached new heights. While the most memorable example of fiscal manipulation through social media could be DashCon or Fyre Festival where individuals composed everything from nothing with the intention of selling more nothing (personal brand, appearance, social media scores), politicians are tapping into the technology and platforms to relay specific messages. These messages can be contradictory, a combination of truths, half truths, or lies and they can save nothing at all (buzz words) or contain a great deal of substance. But their IMPACT is entirely dependent upon who reads the message and when. The idea of what constitutes IMPACT is regulated to the breadth of a single message over the consistency and content of messages over time. Furthermore, the discomfort associated with non-instantaneous procedures and paths defines the millennial culture. We drink to be drunk, we take drugs to get high, and we communicate when it suits our needs. We do all of these things because we are so myopic. How do we reverse this? Learn to live modestly and for the little things. Each lifetime has an impact (an inarguable point, thank scientists for calculating the average carbon footprint in the USA per person). We don't need things instantly, as convenient as it is. The rapid growth of the world around us is the product of people taking their time and not rushing things. It is ok to take your time and it is especially ok to not look like you're a rock star when you're not a rock star. This is not to say ambition is misplaced, but to remind you that only your passion will help keep you on whatever trajectory is needed to achieve your goal. Be honest with yourself and with your peers. That's the best thing you can do for yourself and for the people around you. TLDR: Great video. Watch till the end. Can't be that hard since you read my long comment.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	3/391	0.767
Sorry- I am not buying this! Why do companies have the responsibility to fix what the parents in general have fucked up? THAT has been the sole task for every single individual (growing up) since ages past: "get your (OWN!) shit together". You are making millennials feel even more entitled-> they are not responsible for their own lives/failures addictions? It is all of a sudden OUR problem, not theirs? Not buying it! Nobody did shit for me, so why are they more entitled to be cuddled? Just because they've been treated that way till they left the nest... so not my problem!	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/102	0.98

Corporation has nothing to do with the attitudes of the Millennials. The Government formed the Millennials who are people who are not familiar with the word fear, but they are also far away from reality. There are not familiar with the mentality of the Generation X. And very far from knowing about the generation boomers. When the millennials are in their 50's they'll get it, but it'll be too late.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/70	1.429
My problem is I work in an intensive labor job with a bunch of baby boomers . They can't afford to retire . But they just kind of pistol around at work too old to really do anything . So it is up to me and a few other guys to carry their load . Guys are making 16 and $18 an hour doing the same job I'm doing . I'm capped out at just under $14 an hour . Then I hear how easy my generation has it . these guys had a percentage in the company monthly bonus got health insurance I could buy a pickup truck for $15,000 . May have only paid $70,000 for their house now expect $200,000 from anyone who wants to buy it . And they're probably going to get some form of Social Security . I really doubt I'll have that luxury . Baby Boomers motto is make a lot spend a lot and have a shity relationship and die miserable . I want to have a relationship with my son and I've learned to be happier making less money .	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/189	0.529
The main problems as I see is addiction to technology, cellphones, and the internet. Sometimes technology is not always for the best. Just take a look around. I see young people in restaurants, supposedly on dates. Two guys and two girls sitting at the same table, all 4 of them staring blankly at their cellphones. Nobody is talking for like 90 minutes. That is the problem today as I see it.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/71	1.408
I grew up in a failed parenting method. When I tell my parents something they either get mad when I'm honest, or we make a plan and we all forget it. Both me and my parents have constant mood swings and it's driving me crazy . It's like I have to grow up so soon and figure out a way to do it all myself.	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/64	1.562

AliceArtAnimal I know that my mother after the divorce tried her best to provide me with food , shelter and things, but the problem was that she overlooked the importance of emotional support. And I understand that my sadness and existential breakdowns are the product of that lack. When I told her that that might be the reason, she didn't really understand what I meant saying she provided me with everything. From what I understood my parents generation lacked in money and couldn't get most the pleasure we can now, so for instance my mom thought that overcompensating for her own lack in the past she would make me grow into being happier. With more people recently talking about the importance of mental health it is clear that my generation (millennials) grew troubled and with the lack of emotional support grew up with low self esteem. When I told my mom that she got mad thinking I blame her which I don't just stating what might be the truth, for her it was a touchy topic, so what we could do for the other generation we birth is to understand the importance of both material and mental health but give more emotional support so that a kid woudn't think that leaving life is a good idea :/	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/217	0.922
This video is so dumb	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/5	20.0
They, like each of us need a transformative relationship with Jesus Christ. In Christ each will find identity, purpose, and fulfilment (Fruit of the Spirit - Love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, and self-control).	Fruit	Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	1/36	2.778
what generation said let's make up most religions to control people via fear or rewards. Humans are crazy and for the most part don't trust anyone. you can't promise people everything and you have to trust people to essentially be good on their own without the fear of going to a place that's either eternally bad or very very good when they die.also why the Fk are we commenting on this. we've all been trolled. heh.	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/77	1.299
The pussy generation	pussy	Nationality - Chinese	1/3	33.333
The only fault of new generations is being young. Older people are just jealous and that's quite sad to criticize someone else just because of its age .	Age	Age - General	1/27	3.704

Milenials are mosly with low inteectual queficient vecause of the modern diet low in fat , the brain is 99 fat , so the bodi consumes hes brain in order to take fat for survive, for these a lot of milenials have hes brain missing. Olso the lag of organ meats of wilf origin have contribution to the modern malnotricion ho efects more the youngest	Fat, Ho	Gender - Female sexuality, Physical Identity - Physical Features	4/63	6.349
Too bad. Facts and truth have NOTHING TO DO WITH FEELINGS. SNOWFLAKES SUCK. They are ruining this world	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/18	5.556
Im a black male, where never told that we can "be whatever we want." This entitlement is from well off areas. Id like to learn about other Americans please.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/29	3.448
If you didn't watch the video then nobody cares about your worthless opinion you subhuman creature.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/16	6.25
I don't agree with the comparison of alcohol gambling and smoking to social media, simply because nearly everything enjoyable gives you dopamine: sex , eating, positives social interactions, achieving goals. Social media can be dangerous, but not as dangerous as most things I listed. It should be monitored, but not removed. I'm young, gen z. I I only really got into social media a few years ago, and still hardly use it, I really only use it to share memes or talk with friends. Most of my friends live half way across the country, but it's been the only opportunity I've had to make friends due to personal circumstances. I do see it abused all too often, but it's done a lot of good too.	Sex, alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol, Gender - General	2/124	1.613
Millennials are more the 90s babies and not 80s babies because I'm a 86 baby and I do nothing like this shit.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/22	4.545
Pac said it best. "Got no hope in the youth when the truth is there's no hope for the future". I was never told I was special and I was never told I could do whatever I wanted. I in fact was abused and neglected. Got kicked out and I was homeless at 19 with a pregnant girlfriend. We had nothing and grinded to have what we do now and we keep working. So idk wtf this guy is talking about. He obviously don't know what really happens.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/88	1.136
Millenials not mentally sharp. Dumb asses.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/6	16.667

Funniest thing in this video is a picture of Buddha saying anything abt "hard work." Buddha is abt creative in- action, & the hidden smile.This thing you keep saying, "thru no fault of their own", I don't know where you get that. It was entirely my fault when I picked up smoking, & drinking, & weed, & hallucinogens, & dope, became an addict, fucked my life up, now I'm rebuilding it. All. My. Fault. Durr.Like, I didn't fall out of the sky at 14 into a party, & while I'm blinking wondering where I am, had a bottle of Jameson fall on its side on a shelf, dumping liquor into my stomach.What this "generation" needs to learn is respect for its elders, Christianity & moral values, the value of work, that human "happiness" or w/e is entirely over valued, & grow the fuck up. Like, saying they're just these great, awesome ppl dealt a bad hand, bullshit. Suffering builds character, they haven't suffered, they're not good ppl. Suffer thru some hardship, get punched in the face, realize the world doesn't end, & get the fuck on w it.Greatest generation were born after WWI, lived thru the great depression, the dust bowl, fought WWII, the watched their queer ass little bastard children (the baby boomers) take everything & fuck it til it was dead. The "millennials" now live in that corpse, & don't even care to know their own history...W/e, I loved the dude like, "heeeeyyy", shoe untied was a great touch. Sound of your voice, sounds like you're Jewish? Not surprising, given the narrative you're spinning here...Baby Boomer Generation: [LINK]	Queer	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	2/275	0.727
This is why I hate the elderly. So close minded.. best generation my ass.	Elderly	Age - Over 65s	1/14	7.143
Matthew mange we work hard when are males in our achievements and we didn't just get a participation trophy for showing up and pick her boogers ever do so know we work hard we learned how to work hard and if you came in last at me and you this picture yourself up from the ground dust off and try much harder to do better these special little sjw soyboy Millennials and these third-wave Fame and Oxys you know just don't get it in your thick domes that they need to get up and you need to get up get some gumption and just keep plugging at it no matter what yes you don't get metal for coming in last but you might get some self-respect if you did it on your own Merit so weird lesbian Shady Little Snowflake Millennials you need to get your shift or nothing to jerk and get kicked in the balls a couple of times just so you get understand what it means to stand on your own two feet and not be worried about Mommy and Daddy not treating your wife cuz back in my day we had a walk uphill in the snow both ways your school and that's the way we liked it to have a nice day	Lesbian, Nothing, Snowflake, Weird	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments, Sexual Identity - Female homosexuality	4/217	1.843

This applies heavily to video games, more specifically speaking, MMO's today. Look at Blade & Soul. It has one of the most toxic communities in gaming history where people pay loads of money simply for looks and progress just to show off. It's a virtual world where you can have superficial love from people you've never even met before, that don't even care about you. MMO's today simply hand you whatever you want as long as you pay for it. You no longer have to think or work hard by connecting with other players and building up a relationship with them to create long lasting meaningful guilds that create a vibrant gaaming community like in the old days of WOW. Gaming used to be about connections and figuring out the mysteries to defeating enemies. It's pretty sad. This is prevalent everywhere in the 21st Century and as we progress technologically, people will become less genuine and more artificial. The long lasting connections are becoming a thing of the past.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/169	0.592
They are narcissistic... and fucking dumb I am a born approximately around this time but realize this obvious truth... millennial are half old school and new school which makes a good balance and the other half is bat shit retarded, weak, and hollow, shallow as fuck, and lazy. So happy I grew up with parents that made me understand the meaning of hardwork and suffering and how both are inevitable consequences of the human experience. You will never escape it. Well not until social media and now you can and do and this is what's happened...	Dumb, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/97	2.062
Sounds about right. I dont wanna hear nothing from no old person saying how they made their own way and had money left over back in 2001 or 1980's or some shit.	Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	2/32	6.25

Only an idiot or socialist piece of crap would borrow money for college knowing that the field they choose to get into doesn't pay enough to repay their loans much less live on. Most people have no business entering college, major college degrees that once were absorbed by real intellectuals who deserved a spot are getting crowded with dipsticks that believe that their race or socioeconomic background should allow them to knock off someone who has spent their time wisely learning and studying instead of skipping classes and partying. Community colleges are more suited for lesser intelligent folks and those who can't afford major universities. Study and get scholarships and try working to save up money for your extended education. If you're not college material you definitely need to learn a trade or skill that is marketable. Going to college while racking up insurmountable debt during the first 4 to 8 prime years of your working life is retarded. If you create debt pay it off. If you want a living wage then get a living wage job. McDonald's, Walmart and the businesses like them are not supposed to be living wage jobs, they are companies that a person goes to in order to gain work experience and build a resume for moving forward to a real job that pays a living wage and rewards you for hard work and dedication. Only a moron would consider a career at a burger joint or service related business. Life choices have consequences and some people start life with a pair of sixes instead of four of a kind, life isn't always easy or fair but you don't steal from other people to pay your way. If the cost of living is too high where you are then move. If you can't afford a 3000 square foot house start with a starter home like 900 square foot. If you can't afford a Cadillac buy a used Civic. A high schooler and even a college graduate doesn't necessarily start their independent years with the same income, status and net worth of those people who have earned their way through the years. Toughen up and wise up buttercup.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/362	0.276
K M , living decent middle class life, lost every penny in 1985 on a bad real estate deal, been through two stock market crashes a bursted housing bubble and a negative 20,000 dollars in attorney fees because of a corrupt judge. That's called life, crap happens and you have to go through it. Participation trophies disappear when you reach adulthood. Quit whining and get to work. I'd wager I could survive on the money you spend on alcohol, cigarettes and vacations.	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	1/82	1.22
Walt Lonsdale moving costs money dipshit, and I have to have a job lined up in the new area. Oh and my broken truck that I was saving money to fix got towed because there is this old lady on my block that has nothing better to do. She called the cops on us when my partner was teaching me how to ride a motorcycle next to her house.	Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	2/69	2.899

Daniel Kaufman and one more thing, my partner is a film editor, he works with people like Danny trejo's son and others and he is barely making it too. Being a film editor means we have a very limited number of places to move too, and most of them are just as expensive as here. So stfu and do some research before opening your mouth about shit you know nothing about.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/71	1.408
Daniel Kaufman dude, I moved every 3 years from the day I was born till the day I turned 21, I have lived in the cesspool that is the south, I have lived on the east coast, I have lived in second and third world countries. I have lived on the west coast, I have had my house taken from me by hurricane Katrina. Get on my level. I am a military brat , you dont know moving.	Brat	Age - Youngsters	1/77	1.299
Daniel Kaufman in order to buy a house, a nice house. My partner and I need to be making 300k a year between the both of us because in order to be considered for a house loan your total mortgage cannot exceed 1/3 of your total income. Times have changed old timer, banks have new rules and the housing market is only increasing	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/63	1.587
Daniel Kaufman here I am trying to make my breakfast and get ready for work and you continue to argue points that are quite easily proven wrong. Idk what it is with your generation being so damned stubborn that you continue to deny what is reality just so you feel better in your little world. Wake the hell up. And stop bothering me, you obviously dont have enough brain cells to carry a good convo with me and you started by being rude and telling me that I need a better job and that i am this and that. I have better things to do while you sit on your phone and be a keyboard warrior.Btw I am a conservative leaning centrist so you are arguing with your own, fucking retard . Go read some books, do some reasearch and learn how to not be rude and maybe I would have been nicer with my language.	Retard	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/156	0.641
Daniel Kaufman I have never taken a European vacation in my life.... there is nothing wrong with a gay relationship I am getting married soon btw. The fact you just assumed I take EU vacations just proves your stupidity. Do me a favor and die already so my vote matters more than your stupid ass.	Gay, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	3/55	5.455

Skaard Dragon who said anything about a gay relationship???	Gay	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	2/9	22.222
Daniel Kaufman glad I am not stupid like you... you cant even come up with good comebacks. And you keep coming back. Nice maturity level for sombody who appears to be older than me. You are arguing with a 22 year old in the internet.... get a fucking life	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/49	2.041
Skaard Dragon I've got a life, a fine one too in my opinion. As far as maturity goes you'd be a pretty poor arbiter, you've got the gutter mouth of a 10 year old . You know nothing about intelligence and less about wisdom. It's no wonder you can't get a decent job your a walking time bomb. If you don't learn to master your tongue, you'll never get out of your miserable lifestyle.	Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	2/73	2.74
Daniel Kaufman are you srsly still here.... I just got back from volunteering to help run an event for mentally disabled young adults... not really in the mood dude. Tired af. Go away	Disabled	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/33	3.03
Yank ee "Baby steps and challenges are part of life." Says the Boomer who had everything handed to him in his youth.	Yank	Nationality - American	1/22	4.545
Skaard Dragon Jesus christ all you fucking do is whine, Yes things changed but you seem to want shit handed to you in a field that's swamped with a surplus of people and want to live in an affluent neighborhood. Get real retard , it's your life and your choice. Make the right ones and quit blaming others unless you want ot look into the illegal immigrant cause of the housing crisis and mass inflation. But I doubt you fags will want to look into that.	Immigrant, Retard	Nationality - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/85	2.353

Kire Harvey that would be something like manufacturing, engineering, carpentry, excavation, logging,...as opposed to babysitting, fast food entry level jobs , gender study professors, car wasters, lemonade stands. Most people understand what real jobs are where people actually have to critically think, sweat , have realistic responsibilities, where they actually have to show up for work, dress appropriately etc.. as opposed to jobs where you simply call off of work so you can stay home and play video games or show up for work and have trouble assembling a cheeseburger correctly dressed in slut clothes with nose piercings while disrespecting customers.As for percentages...there are more jobs available than workers right now. Nobody seems to want to leave McDonald's to work in construction, they just want McDonald's to pay construction wages. The odds of getting a good paying job..real good if you honestly want to work. But you can't whine if you like to stay drunk, or can't put drugs away or complain if you've created circumstances that won't let you become employed such as having kids like rabbits and you cant afford day care for all of them or choosing a piece of crap for a spouse who won't stay around. I hope you can get the point. I also don't consider most public sector jobs to be relevant, anybody who aspires to suck off the taxpayers to make a living should at least not be permitted to vote.	Gender, Nobody	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	2/240	0.833
yyou're literally giving advice to who?! your 18 year old self? REMEMBER: WE'RE PUTTING CHILDREN IN $10,000'S of debt that's larger than some of your mortgages . Get the fuck off the horse you rode in on.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/37	2.703
Yeah, living costs more than the job even pays. Especially when you consider that part of that living costs includes a $1000 smart phone, 23 tattoos, $175 sneakers, all the trendy clothes that look like they are worn out while still on the rack, etc. etc. Sure, college was much less back in the 60's, but also the minimum wage when I started working was 75 cents an hour. It went to $1 an hour in 67 and went to $1.60 in 71. From 67-70 I went to college and worked 3 part time jobs to pay for it. Granted, I went to the college in my home town and stayed at home in order to do so. But I also got an education without having to borrow thousands of dollars by going to a University and take things like Lesbian Dance Theory. It all boils down to choices.	Lesbian	Sexual Identity - Female homosexuality	1/149	0.671
Company's could care less, though. The vast majority, anyway. Everyone has become a number, young & old, only as useful as long one's strength & health holds out. We're all expendable. We're all replaceable.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/34	2.941

Let me tell you a secret Millennials. "You can't get there from here". That phrase says it all. 30 years ago to get a Liberal Arts degree you had to understand Socrates and Plato, all the Greek classics. But kids wanted the Animal House college experience. So Colleges dumbed down the curriculum. I know this is true because my brother in law was prof and I know a guy that paid his way thru grad school by programming micros for video games in arcades. Yes, the logic taught by Greek Classics is the same stuff inside programs. If you read enough legal briefs and well documented programs you will instantly see the similarities. Today A.I. possesses what the Ancient Greeks figured out. Which means good paying jobs are becoming fewer and fewer.The old path of go to school, get a lax liberal arts degree in Communications will NOT get you a good job. Nor should it.Yes there was a transition period after 1980 where a total goof off could party for 4 years, graduate and get a good job.That was never a standard, or tradition, it was a period of time where Universities competing for student tuition money lowered their standards. The original argument was very sexist: Well most liberal arts students are women and they are just going to get married and have kids anyway. So teach gender studies, race studies, etc..... Unfortunately these Colleges have not changed their thinking and still offer crap degrees where kids end up working at Starbucks. So you cant get there from here. However you can still get there but only thru a different path. You can take a tech school, in high school even, get a trade, work the trade and save, do not get married or pregnant, start your own company and take courses online. This is by far the most efficient way to climb to the top. You dont need that degree, but you do need to learn a boat load of information and knowledge. You can go online read your States statutes on Tort law, then read several Court cases and rulings and you will be able to write contracts and kick the crap out anybody trying to screw you in business. Everything is on line. I rebuilt the automatic transmission in my van using YouTube only. Its all there, the ivory towers of university no longer are the sole bastion of knowledge. Quit being a sucker, you dont need them, you dont need anybody, go do it for yourself because being spoon fed at University is a dead path.	Gender, Old, Race, Transition	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General, Sexual Identity - Transexuality	4/434	0.922
'Millennials are the gayest generation'Gen z just watches as they progressively find ways to be more gay	Gay	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	2/19	10.526

u can always be more gay	Gay	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	2/6	33.333
No one's gay for Moleman	Gay	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	2/5	40.0
I hate the phone because people your boss,girlfriend think they can contact you anytime they want and they know if you don't answer your ignoring them not like the old days when you left a message	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/36	2.778
I was born 1992 raised by grandparents, with classic rock, old cars and old fashion. I grew up working on old cars collecting vynal records, 8-tracks and old clothing. I graduated highschool and three years of automotive in vocational college and ive worked since i was 15 and a half years old and ive worked in retail for 10 years and all i need is money and full time hours. I dont rely on any one but myself and i have the ability to make friends easy. Of course i have nothing in commom with people my age at all, plus i dont bother with social media and youtube just where i go when i listen to music i dont have or board. Im just old fashion. Im good with out technology, just give me my vynals and a classic car or van to wrench on an im happy, or even fishing im good to go. So gonna say nope on this whole millienals thing. Its sterotypical.	Age, Nothing, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	8/167	4.79
I'm not a millennial I'm gen z but might as well be one, I find it sad because I can relate with everything said in this video and don't know what to do. I go through life like a zombie and so do most of the people at my school, I try to develop deep meaningful friendships but fail because know one can seem to no how, are even know what it is to have one. I've only had a couple meaningful friendships in my life, mostly because I would show my friends how to care and look out for each-other and we had values. Now days I have a friend it means nothing they will drop u for the next best thing and you can't show them better because they are grown and already have there own broken values. They just don't know better. I also find my self esteem to be low sometimes and I don't know why. Life is hard and I'm just trying to find meaning in it to be honest.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/175	0.571

1. I believe most people are referring to Generation Z not really Millennials, this group now goes up to close to 40 years old , 2. Who raised us...Baby Boomers so there is more than just pointing fingers at millennial., 3. This is a blanket statement, I believe ethnicity , socioeconomic, status and gender play a factor someone 20 from upper class is going to have a different experience from a 20 year- old improvised person and 5. I've worked hard for every single thing I've received.	Ethnicity, Gender, Old	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	3/85	3.529
millenials are bigggg gay	Gay	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	2/4	50.0
We are not lazy nor we want everything handed to us. I have been working and going to school since I was 16 but things are getting more expensive and wages are very low. My latest job was construction where I used to work hard and hoping after a year or 2 to get a raise since I got good operating the machines but after over 2 years I get a lousy $1.50 raise and as time went by and my knowledge was expanding my boss expected me to do more and get pay the same, I said "fuck it", quit and started doing my own thing where I do better than my old job.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/115	0.87
Can't hack it? Millennials are 22-36 years old in the year 2019. My house cost almost 3x the amount it cost my parents to buy theirs (which was bigger than mine) and the minimum wage has only gone up from $5.65 to $10.25. The job market is flooded, the available jobs are substantially lower, despite education. What used to be $91,000 is now $220,000. 3x the cost at 2x the wage, yet we were taught to be educated...so we have masters degrees and huge loans with hardly any jobs available to pay them off. The generation prior to us, work whatever job you want and you can afford a family. Nowadays $25 an hour can barely pay off your school loan, let alone a mortgage + kids.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/127	0.787
Surface4 shut up please....Boomers had to worry about nothing because college was cheap as fuck, they got paid a shit ton of money and now because of their age have even more benefits. You motherfuckers call millenials lazy, while you left the economy in shambles, destroyed the fucking ozone layer and a bunch of other shit but blame millenials on it	Age, Nothing	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	2/61	3.279
You not a science project just trying to figure out why thus generation is so lazy and run from good old fashion hard work. Its the social media brainwashing them	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/30	3.333

Go suck a nut, I am 22 years of age and I am a construction worker. I frame houses for a living.	Age	Age - General	1/22	4.545
Since our youth we have been decieve. Fu.ck the schools, certificates, trainings.. It was all just waste of time for us with no profit! In our country - if you are not IT specialist, lawyer or craftsman, you can looking for job (in your field) after school for many many months or years. Just a big scam to young people! Establish a family is suicide for young men at this time. And we pay for the problems that have been caused by previous generations. It will be a miracle if we get some retirement in our old age , we will have to work to our death. Fuc.k today's system	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	2/109	1.835
Jump off a bridge bro. They pay scale hasn't changed in over 30 years, there is a education saturation in all markets, and the cost of living has gone nothing but up. The financial gap hasn't been this high since the early 1900s. And all we hear is this generation is so terrible yet we are the smartest group and most educated. Statistically speaking the world has never been safer, the average IQ and literacy rate never been higher. So fuck your holyer then thow attitude. The system is broke and odds are stacked. But don't worry. Blame all the last generation's mess ups on us. We will be fine.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/110	0.909
Your communist President Barack Hussein Obama created the crash in 08	Communist	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/11	9.091
gordon mathew Nice job not actually proving him wrong with what you said, so in essence nice job making yourself look like a dumb ass. If your generation DIDN'T cause the 2008 financial crisis with the economic policies your generation advocated for, prove it.I'll wait, Boomer.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/47	2.128
DA If the Millennial is wrong, prove him wrong. Otherwise you're just an arrogant dumb ass Boomer, but judging from your comment, you seemed to prove that from the start.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/30	3.333

Mr. Kvlr Nobody handed me anything. The past isn't how you see it on TV. And besides, I guarantee you that there are plenty of people in every generation who only have their own interests in mind; and, it gets worse as people get older and get screwed over by more and more people. Eventually, many just get disgusted and give up trying to be nice to everyone. There will always be greedy people who want more, more, more. Zuckerberg is a perfect example; just keeps taking advantage of people and screwing them over even though he has absolutely no reason to, other than greed. Don't become complacent; keep trying to do the right thing, because I guarantee you, lots of others will not. It's still a dog eat dog world out there; time has not changed anything. I, too, thought it would all change, with those I grew up with, thinking we'd never make the same mistakes that our parents generation did. Nope, same old, same old, problems, same old greed.	Nobody, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	4/172	2.326
Chris I went to college in my thirties with mostly millennials. You guys are practically handicapped. So you're probably right. I think your Boomer parents did too much drugs and you guys are a little "slow."	Handicapped	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/36	2.778
Wayne Mullins communist? He must've been a magician to retroactively crash the stock market. He didn't take office till 2009.	Communist	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/20	5.0

We research how to get the things we want and we see these people saying they got it within months. We see these "special" people that were selected just by walking in a mall and given a contact for lots of money and we get to see the awesome lives they live. Well....how come they get to be lucky and they're worth is realized but I work harder and get good grades and all they did was . If they can do it then I can too.That's the message we grew up with. If they could do it then I can too.The world is Changing and it has changed so fast no one knows how best to deal with it. That's on our shoulders everyone else just does what they've been doing. We are problem solving but the problem is that the answer is a problem. It's really time for revolution and revelation. Everyone is so stuck in their ways but their ways are old , inflexible, and wasteful. They have no thought for the consequences that future generations will face and we are stick trying to fix and reverse and evolve your mistakes. You say we are entitled. Yes we are entitled to you guys taking some responsibility and letting us for what we need to do without you getting in the way with you " can't do that" beurocracy stuff. You're too far gone with worldly things and this status game that makes you feel like a decent person when it all really has no weight. You blame millennials for the message you made and say we are not as good or hard working. There's so much for us to do and you Even You don't know what and where to begin. So you insult an entire generation of people. That's how you solve your problems and you say we're problematic?	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/314	0.318
Born in 2000My parents used to say to me that I wasn't special at all, that I wasn't going to achieve nothing in my life and that I couldn't find anyone who loved me.Boy I was raised the good old way	Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	2/43	4.651
LMAO the good old way	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/5	20.0
I keep hearing similar stories on and on. Well Gen z is coming fast (they'll start working at a very young age) and Gen x seem to be the longest working generation in decades, so I think millennial will be simply be crushed out at the working environment and sadly used as an example for generations to come.	Age	Age - General	1/58	1.724
And id like to say even though people born in the 80s are considered Millennials they are nothing like them. Honestly I think it should be anyone born in 1990 and over should be considered millennials.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/36	2.778
All I want to know is how does he draw all that with the same black marker with the cap on. Wizard.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/22	4.545
Lol Boomers love to complain about millenials when I outwork so many pussy boomers, u mad?	pussy	Nationality - Chinese	1/16	6.25

This is trash people have had these problems for generations this is a problem of capitalism and how we organize our society. We live in a alienated non communal society. You wonder why so many people deal with depression and anxiety. Take the 1970s for example women used to get really high on pills and alcohol because of their role in society they were treated like trash even take the 1950s for example. This is a ideology used to mask the social issues Cali gives off	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	1/86	1.163
$17 an hr for a skilled worker ? that's crazy .	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/10	10.0
The performative contempt about millennials is nothing but a defense mechanism to hide one's own personal issues.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/17	5.882
Hugh Jones yikes, people who got their lives handed on a silver plate now get to complain about others now?! Isn't it funny how the 10 successful boomers are all out there creating jobs for the next generation and contributing to society, meanwhile all the failure boomers who bought a house on some useless bullshit job just like everybody else feel like they are some special snowflake even though this literally describe 90 of you???The biggest sign of a privileged brat who faced zero hardship in life, is how dismissive they are of hardship. Meanwhile people who succeeded despite real hardship are the first to extend sympathies and the last to dismiss the idea of hardship, because they truly know what hardship is from experience. Meanwhile the guy who had everything handed on a silver platter is confused on what's the big deal because they blew all their money on a vacation and couldn't pay rent once oh the hardship!!!	Brat, Snowflake, Zero	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - Youngsters	3/161	1.863
FireRaccoon "The biggest sign of a privileged brat who faced zero hardship in life is how dismissive they are of hardship."That should be one of those quotes people pull out when they're trying to make an important point about life. Bravo!	Brat, Zero	Age - Youngsters	2/42	4.762
A1 ip I refer you to the quote I repeated in the previous comment. You sound like a privileged brat .	Brat	Age - Youngsters	1/20	5.0
Brian Mead butt hurt much snowflake ?	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/6	16.667

James May If you're implying that he doesn't have the right to be "butt hurt", feel free to explain why. Otherwise it looks like your just a whiny name caller. And since you apparently can't stand someone criticizing the system, you are a snowflake according to a consistent application of your own logic. Of course, the logic there's inherently something wrong with a person if they complain about anything is bullshit anyway.	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/72	1.389
Adam Davis sticking up for your fellow snowflake is so cute	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/12	8.333
James May Not sure why I expected a logical response. Again, you are a snowflake by your own reasoning.	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/19	5.263
Hugh Jones Oh sorry it is so easy to just make a company when you have college debt and nobody is willing to give credit it is sooo easy	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/29	3.448
100 from an entitled point of view. I'm not saying you aren't right about a few points. You are. But you also forgot about free will and freedom of choice. Nobody owes you or me anything more than what we earn. If you feel you aren't getting what you are worth. You are free to make the choice and go somewhere else and go get what your worth. Being a leader is about owning everything in your life.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/78	1.282
Brian Mead go fucking mine coal for 5 cents an hour and buy a loaf of bread that costs 20 cents and a gallon of gas that costs 25 cents. You act like your job at McDonald's paying you $15/hr is so damn bad go do that work you pussy	pussy	Nationality - Chinese	1/50	2.0
Thrunabulax the system is fucked and there's not a lot of ways to fix it. Someone gets screwed at the end of the day. I just think if kids from my generation would work and be patient instead of wanting things right away things would be better. But sadly not too many kids want to work hard for little money anymore so many will never meet their potential. I think college plays a part in this too as many kids my age are just graduating college and getting their first jobs and aren't happy with it because they think they should make 80k a year with 0 experience right out of college.	Age	Age - General	1/112	0.893

full of shit. Your greedy and lazy generation has destroyed the housing market, job market, environment and whole nations with carpet bombing and exploitation. You entitled selfish "profit above everything" weirdos fucked everyone over and now it's us who is the bad generation? There are full-time employed "millennials" who literally sleep under the bridge in tents. You see one poor soul sucking on an "avovado toast" and freak out like we are all even more spoiled than you are. I know so many so called millennials who work multiple times harder and care much less about getting rich (like your people did on the expense of others) than 35 - 60 year olds from your generation. And they will probably never get retirement, they often study and work at the same time, all the time, and can't even help their working class parents from escaping a fatally health damaging situation in factories or construction sides. Many cant even afford a small apartment anymore because your neo-liberal, war-horny idiot generation thought it was a great idea to privatize and shamelessly capitalize on even the most basic necessities for survival such as meds and a roof. And now we have to listen to your uneducated, pathetic bullshit that you picked up from some questionable sources of entertainment and pseudo-news. And yeah, my english is awful but it's one of several languages I had to learn and I can't help but write this all down in my shitty english just to let you know that you are a massive, cynical, spoiled and shameless piece of shit.	Freak	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/263	0.38
---	-------	---	-------	------

Western women have been utterly ruined by feminism. With their feminist indoctrinated narcissistic minds Western women who can hardly cook a healthy meal from basic ingredients or clean a house sit complaining in a comfortable chair in an airconditioned or heated environment made by men, in factories, designed, built and run by men. They use a computer invented and programmed by men, built in a factory by men, using electricity discovered by men, transported on a national grid of power lines that were planned and engineered, maintained and made by men, using electricity generated using methods invented by men, in power stations built by and run by men. They use the Internet, which uses protocols invented by men, transmitted over cables laid by men, in an international network invented, planned, and made by men. They are fuelled by food that was the result of farms and agriculture planned and created by men, delivered to them by global food networks and transport systems invented and built by men. They are diagnosed and healed from sickness by scientific methods and medicines in hospitals invented and built by men, They live in houses that were invented, planned and built by men, They are entertained by programmes transmitted globally by signal technologies that are beamed directly onto large large and small viewing screens invented and built by men, They are kept warm or cool by technologies invented and built by men, in cities with roads, bridges, shopping malls, hospitals and other infrastructure planned and built by men. They drink clean water piped into their houses by a national network planned and built by men, from reservoirs and treatment plants that were planned, built and run by men. They are protected by laws invented by men, and enforced by men who risk their lives every day to protect citizens, their property and protect their country. Women enjoy the benefits of everything men discovered, invented, created, built and maintain and are treated equally (by law) and allowed to do anything they wish in the society men created, even if lives are put at risk by allowing women to join by lowering men's higher standards for entry into the military/police and fire services. And yet there are so many western women who are so privileged and devoid of hardship that they spend their time constantly complaining that all of this is not enough for them, that men should be ashamed, that men have too much in this society that they made, and that men need to give even more to women because they are entitled to it just because they were born a woman...and emasculated men agree to it. Take away everything that men have done, and western feminist indoctrinated women would be sitting in the cold rain outside without anything to eat until a man comes along and offers them shelter, food, warmth and security. Western women are self-entitled fat ass deluded state weaponised sluts who routinely steal hard working, faithful honest men's children, wealth and livelihoods and plunge men into abject poverty or even worse suicide by divorce raping them at a whim with no fault divorce. Western women also wrongly think they are equal to or are superior to men. What sane man would go anywhere near poisonous parasites like that just for access to poon. its bizarre behaviour for any right thinking man yet these deluded women who bring absolutely

Fat, Nothing

Age -
Youngsters,
Physical Identity -
Physical Features

2/580

0.345

IN REALITY:Millennials are working just as hard and better than previous generations but the only difference is that the economy is fucking trashed and nobody can actually afford to live a comfortable life. This guy can go fuck himself.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/40	2.5
Amen! Can we get more likes on this! More people need to spread the word here, because the ones who are spreading the 'truth' about millenials now are either rich or old and have no damn clue what we lower and even lower middle class young adults have to go through. They aren't having to try to start from square one and establish their whole lives in an economy that has caused inflation to grow out of control and the educational requirements to become higher and increasingly more expensive than we can afford. Not to mention we've all been raised with the pressure of being the best we can be. We weren't given medals just for participation, we were given praise when we tried, if our parents were good people. If they didn't know how to nurture properly we were taught to do everything with 1000 effort and nothing less and are expected to become famous and rich and we just can't always do it. We can't push ourselves to worry about becoming millionaires before we're even legally allowed to get a job. We can't even worry about getting rich when we're still working over 50 hours a week just to afford rent and Ramen noodles, and no one ever truly listens to any of us as to what is actually wrong and what our country needs as we are now the ones who are working in this country and making the products everyone needs. We need to be taken seriously and looked at as the people who actually make this country run like we should have been seen all along. Without us the old and disabled have nothing . The rich won't do anything for the poor, so why should we do anything for them?	Disabled, Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	5/295	1.695

anthony chacon honestly it's not. Based on the progress of inflation while the price of living keeps going up and wages are going down as well as the education requirements of certain jobs to progress to higher paying levels. Plus we still have huge racism problems, domestic terrorism is at an all time high, and misogyny is becoming more aggressive. The 1920s were the golden years of this country as our economy was at its best and our job industry was always in high demand and inflation was almost nonexistent, because this was before capitalism was allowed to run rampant and allow your employers to abuse you and your hard work. We aren't lazy or entitled, and the people who say we are either have been brainwashed or are in denial. In the 1980s, $6 an hour is equal to over $19 an hour as of 2018 inflation calculations. Many of us younger people who are trying to establish themselves and get out on their own would be so much better off making $19 an hour working full time. Instead we're barely able to afford our bills and food, let alone think about maybe going out on dates or having fun more than once a year	Misogyny, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	2/206	0.971
anthony chacon not all Americans are lazy, that's how the rest of the world sees us though. Yes modern technology has made our society easier and more connected, but in a purely capitalist economy the CEOs and many employers barely pay a living wage. Minimum wage where I live, Indiana, working 40 hours a week can't even give you enough money to afford a regular apartment plus bills and food. You either have to work 50+ hours or never do anything for your mental and physical health at all. Most younger people I know can't afford to even take sick days or get a checkup at the doctors because they can't afford the bills	Mental, doctors	Nationality - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/114	1.754
By now I am 18 years old ,I can approve that the most points he mentioned were absolutly right and there is a huge problem with mobile devises. I also count myself as a digital addictive, I saw many things said in the video in my own life. And yes, it is true, many of us millenials seek for quik impact and are frustraded if that isn't happening after a few weeks.But still, it is indeed very hard to get off the phone	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/84	1.19
I'm actually seriously thinking about it because: I'm a pussy , depressed, don't sleep, eat whenever, watch porn for relief, have aspergers, live at my mom's, and don't know how to manage anything down to basic overall health.(why tf would you read this)	pussy	Nationality - Chinese	1/43	2.326

Im a millenial:Im the youngest with my brother from all the grandchildren since my father was the youngest of 6 children.I have learnt in school NOTHING... First day at work when i graduated : first guy i talk too at work in the morning,, Forget everything you have learned in school,, I have learnt more about life in 1 year of youtube and internet browsing then i have learned in 18 yrs of shool.The worst people i have met in my life are between 45 and 60 years old.They say „ Hey i have been working here forever and know everything and you know nothing so you better listen to what i have to say,, Ok i think to myself hes probably right so i listen.But you know what these people dont know anything: they are scared to make mistakes,hate all there colleges but smile at them when they are close,hate their job and boss but go there every day thinking 20 years and im outta here,10 years and im outta here.They need the money and thats the only reason why they put up with this shit.Working like a slave for 45 years and getting nothing in return????You must be joking right???Politicians,banksters,insurance brokers and ceo s from big companies get caught doing corrupt things.Punishment for it???A slap on the wrist.The world is heating up:Politicians say :„we will do something about it,, What they dont say is „We will do something about it if we can make money on it,,My parents are a great example of one hand washes the other.They say we are green because we sort out our plastic...What they dont see is : eating meat 3 times a day 7 days a week,when they go to a restaurant sometimes they drive 2 houres in the car one way to eat and then come back .The fuel cost is higher then the food bill but that doesnt matter because my father has a car from work and can fuel up for free.Bosses think that it will work to have an employee work for free for the first 10 years of his carreer just because he is the boss.Saying our parents have failed is BS they have done a great job because we dont want to be slaves in a society run bye money mongering criminals who have no respect for us.One thing is for sure its the end of a long cycle that has repeated itself trough history .REVOLUTION is the only answer we can give to this whole situation.	Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	4/421	0.95
absolut rubbish, I am a Millenial and i think not many people in my Age use the social media as much. Especially the ”fact” wirh not true friendship is absolut wrong. There is not one argument that states that.	Age	Age - General	1/39	2.564
Brilliant analysis. I’ve had the misfortune of working with this entitled generation and it is just as this video depicts. They carry their phones everywhere, are the least productive and complain about everything. They have zero work ethic and don’t take any pride in what they do. The maritime industry is full of them.	Zero	Age - Youngsters	1/54	1.852

Just a crabby old guy that wants to shit on the new generation coming up. Nothing to see here.	Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	2/19	10.526
I'm not sure about the US, but for Europe this video is complete crap. Millennials here work their hands to the bone and take social responsibility, unlike baby boomers who voted for Brexit and Viktor Orban to just pick two relatively recent events. While baby boomers are screaming "give us back our old comfy world with clear borders", Millennials are bracing for overpopulation, climate change and salaries that increase far slower than prices do...	Brexit, Old	Age - Over 65s, Nationality - European or anti-Europeans	2/74	2.703
I was born in 1996 so i'm a "millennial". I was taken advantage of my naive personality that resulted in a pregnancy when I was 17. And I was that "virgin" that didnt like boys. All my friends just dropped me. And I finished my highschool and started uni with only 1 year delay. I am now 23 I have two kids with my husband I met shen my eldest was 8months. I have a house and a job and don't do social media that much (except youtube... peppa pig i'm coming for you annoying swine) I have an awesome life.. full of stress and hard work but my life makes me happy. Except the loneliness, i refuse superficial friendships on FB and people of today are freaked out with human interaction. I'm an old fashioned person stuck in a millennial's world. It sucks	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/144	0.694

This is pretty much garbage. Most millennials don't care about making an "impact" at work. They want a livable wage and feel their hard work has value. I'm technically a millennial as I was born in the 80s and I didn't have social media or a cell phone growing up. What we have is wage stagnation that doesn't keep up with inflation and a destroyed housing market that basically shits on any chance the younger generation will ever own a home of their own. It isn't that they are entitled, it's that they know they are replaceable by someone else who is willing to work that same shit job for almost nothing because we have no choice. Now even entry level jobs with entry level pay require college and experience. You think I am making this up but I will give an anecdotal example. My grandfather worked at the power plant in my home town. He was a drop out who went to Korea and then came back to get basic employment. He started at the bottom but climbed the ladder until he eventually became the top dog in the plant. This man didn't even have a high school diploma and he was making damn good money. When it came time for him to retire though, he had to work another 5 years longer than he wanted because they couldn't find a replacement for him. They were looking for someone with all this experience and with a degree that even my grandfather didn't have. Even the employees there could no longer move up the ladder. We now live in a society of glass ceilings and limitations to success that just didn't exist in the past because you could just get what you needed with hard work. Now hard work doesn't guarantee you anything. We need to stop blaming kids, cell phones, social media and address the real issue. That's the economy and society. Sure, bash cell phones but don't pretend boomers didn't have alcohol or gambling which was the same idea, isn't it? Don't act like cocaine wasn't popular in the 70s. This isn't a new thing to try and ride dopamine. And don't act like millennials are just living in their mom's basement, unemployed, and smoking pot all day. Even the boomers on FOX will brag about this record low unemployment rate. That means millennials are holding jobs, it just isn't enough to thrive. As for this generation being the worst generation? They literally say that about every generation. Once upon a time, boomers were kids and it was the bra burning, wild child, hippie love era. Think the older generation of time liked that much?

Nothing, alcohol

Age -
Youngsters,
Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol

2/447

0.447

That's ridiculous, generationalism is just a way for old people to hate on the youth it's been done over and over by each age generation I personally don't participate on social media instead if I need dopamine I'll just smoke or blow back some.. well blow or sex is good one too. I hear also entitled as well as narcissistic why don't you let generation millennials no there more narcissistic generation than the generation age of 1910-1924 what were they called again?.... oh right greatest generation sounds pretty audacious to me.	Age, Old, Sex	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Gender - General	4/91	4.396
32 years old , born in '86, technically considered a millennial, steel fabricator/welder, very good at it, always worked hard, run on sentence, lots of commas, was meant to be short. Anyway. You get it. It's true for many, many young people, especially people roughly 10 years under me, born right around the turn of the century. There is hope, though. - I'll add it's not a corporations responsibility to teach people these deep seated things.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/75	1.333
Started out good but went off the rails when you start blaming corporate America. Corporate America is the financial engine to drive our economy. They were not designed to solve social problems with America's youth, nor are they here to play the role of parent or coach to employees. Nothing has a bigger impact on a child's development than his/her mother and father.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/63	1.587
Do u people realize Millennials are between 22-37 years old ?	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/10	10.0
That is everyone's problem we aren't all rich no matter how old or young we are. I'm a Boomer from the 50's and fought this all my life.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/28	3.571
Yank ee You forgot the five or six years of "internships" that follow (you are, after all, accepting a lower salary to be "trained"); or the four to five years required to do the masters and doctorate.	Yank	Nationality - American	1/37	2.703
More and varied sex is the answer.	Sex	Gender - General	1/7	14.286
George Macy yeah youre right all those boomer manufacturing/coal workers sure are dumb ..	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/13	7.692
On god anybody saying 'I struggled thru life so you should to' is smoking dicks. Isn't life about making things better for the next generation? Things like sexism and racism are also outdated things in our society.	Racism, Sexism	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	2/37	5.405

Ricky Johnson sorry, I thought I'd posted a response earlier. Look up the definition of exploit, get back to me if you don't comprehend it.Further to that, first the worker would need to have surplus value, as a rule they don't if they are in training, and once they are out of training the business owner needs to recoup the losses. In real terms for a skilled craftsman (no not making crafts) this can be a seven to ten year situation. Most kids wouldn't sign up for anything they had to stick at with one company for that long. If you go back through the comments the point that keeps coming up is that the colleges are over supplying the labour market with useless idiots who couldn't hold down a job cleaning toilets if you paid them executive wages for doing it, so they need to adapt to survive. I've been a tax paying citizen longer than most these kids have been alive, and when I started working at fifteen the old "modern" model of employment was already dead, no benefits, no overtime, no stable contracts. I've gigged my way to making a living - and have a good enough following/customer base, that I can afford to keep advancing my own training to pursue a path that suits me. I could do with help from time to time and I'm willing to reciprocate, but I reserve my right to choose not carry dead weight, and am prepared to continue on my own if no real help is available.If you graduate Harvard Business school and "get a job", you failed the final test.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/274	0.365
Ricky Johnson your reading defaults to the most negative conotation, not my fault. I didn't berrate you. Seems you have a poor outlook determining your interpretation. Nothing hypocritical going on here but you... I thought you'd checked out buddy, but here you are trolling away.I don't rent.I own in one of the most proportionately expensive markets in the world. I own three work vehicles and a classic car, 100 no finance. My tax is up to date, and my insurance covers me for about the equivalent of 150 years worth of turn over. I pick my kids up from school everyday, and work a four day week.. you could say I'm like a Boss, except I'm not hiring this week. Workers co-ops are proven to be a far better model. Given that statisticly I fall into the top 15 of businesses by the fact I've lasted as long as I do and my liquidity rating, it's fair to say my advice is backed up by bona fide credentials.Just in case you missed the point, I'll repeat.There is an over saturation of university qualifications for a limited job marketThe wider labour market has shown no growth in wages since 1974, conditions have worsened, and it's about to get tougher.The way forward is self management.It's not a personal attack on you Ricky, or a general assault on Millennials. It's observations on reality from a generation that has known nothing but economic doom and gloom by way of neoliberal "reforms".Baby boomers robbed their children, and are continuing to screw it up for their grandchildren.No one is coming to save you.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/276	0.725

Mr Mukura Pay your mortgage*We weren't discussing university so I don't see the point in reiterating anything, but yeah. I agree. We have generations of people who were told they needed to go to college to have a future, we gave them unlimited subsidized loans, and now we're here. This is why Bernie's free college plan is a dumb idea.Andrew Yang is coming to save us, actually. But it's okay, in 40 years the mass majority of the world's labor will be automated and most people won't be working at all, so in the end it really doesn't matter. It's a shame you have all that you have and you still waste your free time dicking around pontificating in a youtube comment section, though.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/126	0.794
Charles Ghalib True, I am retired from the aviation industry'I was a helicopter crew chief for a major helicopter manufacturing company. I worked in the flight development,(flight test). I once heard a college professed telling a group of college kids ,(I am 67 so I can call anybody 66 or younger a kid), that right out of college they can command $100,000 a year salaries. Having worked with young aeronautical engineers and I informed this professor that a person with a fresh engineering degree has nothing but a degree to learn and these kids will be indeed very very lucky if they get hired at $45,000 to $50,000 a year salaries and must be willing to put in long hours in many cases without being paid overtime. As a rule most salaried positions don't pay overtime, you are being paid to do a job for a set rate of pay no matter how much time it takes. So, don't believe everything counselors,recruiters and professors tell you. Do your own research and find out for yourself the truth before you jump head long into a degree program that may not be in demand.	Engineers, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Nationality - General	2/192	1.042
Millennials are all nothing more then little kids who haven't got a clue. Once reality kicks in they will really start crying.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/22	4.545

You had me until you blamed it all on the corporation, that sounds like socialism to me. It is the fault of parents. They enabled there kids instead of being tough on them, then after 18 the government continues enabling them with social programs. This is why President trump made a executive order that if you are an able bodied youth getting food stamps and a check every month you better get off your ass and get a job, or work for the county to pay for the help, no more free ride!! I've been working since I was old enough to help out around the house, now you have to pay a kid to do chores, and they do a half ass job ! Tell you what, take a belt to there ass a see how good a job they do, smart ass good for nothing little shits. MY grandson actually told my wife he has enough money saved up from birthdays and holidays does he really need to help in the garden ? How dare you blame a company, a corporation, who has built something from nothing, employees numerous lazy kids, is active in the community and has a goal for success. Stop enabling you kids ! Get tough take there devices away, make them help doing chores, don't be scared of spanking them when they disobey you, and stop giving them money for free make them work for it, teach them how to build there own business, we are a capitalist country because socialism doesn't work !	Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	3/260	1.154
---	--------------	--	-------	-------

MILLENNIALS = 1982 TO 2001....PUSSES AND WHINEY PEOPLE DESTINED TO DO GOOD WITH NO EFFORT..BUT NO....AIN;T GONNA HAPPPEM DUDES YOU;;R 35 EARS OLD NOW....WAKE UP, PUT ON MALE UNDERWEAR,NOT YOUR GIRLFRIENDS UNISEX DRAWERS AND STOP METROSEXUAL MACHINATIONS AND FORGET BILL GATES HE WILL NOT SAVE YOU....AND TROPHIES AND YOU ARE OWED NEVER NOTHING BUT A BLOWJOB (YOU B'LIEVES THAT).....STUPID ENOUGH TOO HAVE GROWN UP WITH CNN, CAPTAIN PLANET, NINJA TURTLES AND ACTUALLY LISTENED TO IT AND BELIEVED IT...YOU CAN HAVE ABSOLUTELY ANYTHING YOU'RE WILLING TO WORK FOR.... RACE SPECIFIC PROMOTIONS...UNOFFICIAL REPARATIONS ...DON'T WANNA EAT LEFTOVER HOT DOGS OR FRIED BOLOGNA SANDWICHES....PUSSIES DRIVE A PINTO OR GREMLIN AND SAVE YOUR FUCKING MONEY AND DON'T TRUST ANYONE WHO OFFERS TO LOAN YOU MONEY UNSOLICITED...(REMEMBER I'M ONLY GONNA PUT THE HEAD/TIP IN DUMBASS LOL...).DUH...OH YEAH....THERE AIN'T NO APP FOR ACTUAL PRINCIPLES, LITERACY. YOU AIN'T REQUIRED TO ACCOMPLISH ANYTHING NOT COMFORTABLE FOR YOU OR ATTAINABLE..MY NIECE, WENT TO SCHOOL, AT AN UPPITY COLLEGE AND MY BROTHER BUSTED HIS ASS FOR A NEW CAR, TUTITION ETCTHEN SHE GRADUATED AND OOOOPSIE DAISY..I HAD REPEATEDLY TOLD AND RECOMMENDED HER CHANGE TO A MEDICAL SPECIALITY NOT EDUCATION.....OH WELL MISS JOHNSON.,..WE CAN'T HIRE YOU FOR YUPPIE UPPPITY SCHOOL LIKE YOU ATTENDED WHERE YOU WERE NOT EVEN ALLOWED TO HEAR THE "N" WORD....WE ONLY HAVE JOBS IN SHITHOLE INNER CITY SPUNKHOLE SHIT CRUST SCHOOL UNTIL YOU PAY SOME OF THOSE DUES YOU NEVER EVEN GOT A BILL FOR...HAHAHAHAH....MAYBE IN 10 OR 15 YEARS...HELP I WANNA DO OVER!!! DUMBSHITS THEY WANNA BE GROWN THE USE THEIR OWN BRAIN BUT W/O ANY ADVICE THEN MAKEUP TEST WHEN THEY SHIT IT DOWN THE DRAINSORRY GIRL!!! GET YO ASS (OR ASSES MAY APPLY) DOWN TO JEFFERSON DAVIS DELANO LUTHER KING HIGH SCHOOL AND SOCIALIST MEMES CENTER AND TEACH THEM FOLKSES SOME ALJIBRUH!!!!	Nothing, Old, Race	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	3/300	1.0
What is Facebook?! I'm old	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/5	20.0
Millennials are not the worse generation listen to every statement some of them goes on certain percentage of every generation goes down the wrong path ! Great now age limits to technology	Age	Age - General	1/32	3.125

HRMPH. As a Gen X successful person, I have nothing but respect and admiration for the millenials that are young enough to be my children but are mature enough to be my peers. I live and work with millenials, most of whom are working their asses off in team situations to be good successful people. In my life, I face significant conflict from older generation Americans like the author of this self describing video and often turn to millenials for my solutions. The problems described in this video, I see more in older generation Americans including senior citizens than I do in millenials who on the whole are far more mature than my awful GenX generation who didn't face the crushing problems millenials face today. By the way, that stupid 'mountain' mentality doesn't work anymore for millenials who are unable to access good employment even with super hard work and often can't afford the skyrocketing rents even if they land that job. Not all mountains should be climbed, not all jobs should be kept, not all patience is productive, and not all authors of videos have a clue about the people that they arrogantly criticize.	Nothing, Senior	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	2/195	1.026
---	-----------------	----------------------------------	-------	-------

It will take at least a generation of cleansing society of the taint of the millennial yoke before we can hope that the following generation, Generation X (which claims openly to be 'red-pilled'), will hopefully improve where millennials failed. While there are good young adults who qualify as 'millennials', the majority I have encountered over the years soft and weak, possess little drive or ambition for meaningful productivity and self-improvement. Finally, those even within the AP and Honors classes in high schools have demonstrated their woeful lack of knowledge and critical thinking skills (ignorance) - and not because they are incapable or lacking in intelligence. They are victims, in many cases, of the bigotry of low expectations. Had they been taught appropriately how to conduct themselves by the age of 10, life would be much better for them.The problem is absolute and widespread; the entire generation will suffer as the sum of the parts whole, as is the cruel reality with the invented myths we know to be 'equality' and 'diversity'. The world is stuck with millennials. They cannot be disposed of. We may want to improve the world by permanently liquidating the problem (millennials), but it is no use. The generation, the byproducts of Dr. Spock, will have to live out its life while the remaining baby boomers, Gen. X'ers (me) and the rising adults among Generation Z try to prevent the total collapse of western civilization by way of legalism and humanism, which can be traced to the collapse behind the mission of modern public education and the university system.For those millennials and their parents who will take offense by my remarks (just as you have Simon Sinek), read my lips: No one cares if you cry and claim that perhaps your civil rights were violated. The truth cannot possibly be attributed to bigotry, and however self-destructive your behavior might become manifested (drugs, alcoholism, legal troubles, even suicide), no one can save you from yourselves, nor should anyone try. It's far more important to preserve those choosing to live free of the legal and personal consequences that might arise from saving the very millennials' who one day will hang them because of triggered 'microaggressions'.	Age	Age - General	1/368	0.272
Every old generation says this same stuff it's so bland but at the same time our phones and internet has made us impatient and obsessed with image and the archaic systemic racist rule set fucked everyone up for sure.	Old, Racist	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - General	2/39	5.128
Simon is right on target all the way up to the point he blames corporations. Im sorry moron but im not here with my S corp to undo the shit parenting and the snowflake pussytards that have been raised by 2 generations and 5 decades of bullshit teaching and self absorption.	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/51	1.961

Stop choosing schools that you cannot afford. Do what we did 50 years ago; work on your off hours, and take semesters off, and work HARD to save money to go back. Yes, that sometimes means taking on two minimum wage jobs in between going for a semester AND SAVING YOUR MONEY instead of spending it on every little thing. I can't remember the last time I saw a young person brown bag their lunch when coming to work; it used to be the norm. Decades ago, maybe. Oh yes, and nobody had credit cards. If you couldn't pay for it, you didn't buy it. That's why previous generations learned to save their money and not buy every stupid little thing that they wanted. we drank water, FROM A WATER FOUNTAIN, not bottled stuff for $2 a piece. All we hear today is 'Eewwww, that tastes nasty'. Brend Langford Then work before you go to college, save your money, and pay your own way. Bingo. No after school debts. Luke Sautler Go to school when you've figured out what kind of job you will be able to get with your degree. No one is promising that you can walk out of school with any BA and get a corner office.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/210	0.476
Ray Hawk SOME colleges were cheaper. But plenty of kids worked their way through expensive private schools. Many private schools give financial assistance to very good students. That means, of course, WORKING YOUR ASS OFF TO QUALIFY FOR THAT, not just before enrolling, but during as well. And few want to be bothered to do it. Kids can't be bothered. Nobody delivers newspapers anymore. Snow? Not a single kid comes by wanting to shovel snow for money. They're all sitting in some basement playing Xbox. There's money to be made to pay for college, but it seems few are willing to work. Everyone wants 'a job'. No one wants 'work'.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/110	0.909
D.E.B. B you say no one comes to shovel snow for money, but do you know how many kids will do all that for free feeling their work isn't worth being paid? I was one of those kids. I would put in a full days worth of work, from sun up to sun down, just to mow two lawns that had become overgrown, and didn't ask for a dime. Yes they were family, but that amount of work was ridiculous. Or maybe a friend of my Dad's needing me to help him build a log cabin from scratch, working from early morning to late at night multiple days in a row on it, and me never asking for any kind of payment. I've known many other kids my age who don't do the work because they won't ask for payment. We don't go around thinking I'll mow their lawn for money, because if they can't mow their own lawn we would feel we owe it to them to help and never ask for money	Age	Age - General	1/174	0.575

D.E.B. B you can apply a difference in age and generation to something as simple as Millenials and Gen Z being more likely to reply to Thank You's with No Problem, whereas Gen X and Baby Boomers are more likely to say You're Welcome. You're Welcome implies you didn't have to provide your help and/or services for this person and that you're very kind and outgoing for doing it for them, and this can subconsciously make them want to pay you for your trouble and effort on something you DIDN'T HAVE TO DO. Now look at No Problem, this implies you're happy to help for no reason other than to help and your effort wasn't any trouble on your part as you had no ulterior motives for helping, therefor they will not feel they have to pay you for your help since you have already dismissed the trouble you work caused you as being negligible/nonexistent. Now ask this, which generations most commonly say No Problem vs You're Welcome? I can tell you right now I almost never say you're welcome to anyone who says thank you	Age	Age - General	1/186	0.538
Commie detected	Commie	Ideological and Political Identity - General	3/2	150.0
Evil Pagan nothing is free.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/5	20.0
ODINS trash nothing is free. If you do not understand that repeat it until you do. Nothing is free.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/21	9.524
James Ruehmann Dont even bother. We are doomed. The communists got in their heads at a young age .	Age	Age - General	1/18	5.556
College is nothing but indoctrination. Waste of time. Communist propaganda.	Communist, Nothing	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - Youngsters	2/10	20.0
Jobs being a need is straight stupid. The fiirst and only goal of a job should be its direct objective, nothing else.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/22	4.545
Aaron Oliver Yah having an income sucks bro! You b woke mf'er, I remember loser dumb ass people like you giving out crap advice. Not everyone wants to be a homeless loser like you, that's where you're headed your just stupid.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/41	2.439

Snowflake	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/1	100.0
making income vs making something, thats why nothing left here, after you pussy generation go to past	Nothing, pussy	Age - Youngsters, Nationality - Chinese	2/17	11.765
Smokey Monjes Slaves? Are you one of those "woke" people I keep hearing about? Seriously unless you are being held captive against your will and forced into labor without pay without a signed agreement. Then "slavery" is just a mental state of mind for weak people.	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/46	2.174
erigor11 What would be your opinion in fast food when the goal is sort of endless since people keep going. Would it be classified as a nice hobby to work on ? Some people find it as a dumb job , im on debate about it at the moment ..	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/50	2.0
I think you like to put the blame on millennials but the fact of the matter is, the millennial generation is growing up in a time where the student debt has increased to astronomical levels, the job market has shrunk, automation is taking over, previous generations have raised the overall cost of living per person, marriage is considered a dated and old traditional concept, and job experience/opportunities and education are no longer what they used to be. The world is going to hell in a hand basket and millennials are the ones picking up the tab. Older generations never had to worry about competitiveness, hell even high school and regular education wasn't needed to be successful. Now a days a secondary education might not even get you a job, you'd be lucky to snag a good career right out of college. These older generations like to preach how wrong and lazy the new generations are but in reality they were the ones messing around having kids they couldn't afford at 18 and failing to even pass high school. Meanwhile they're taking out mortgages and loans for homes they can't even afford so they can collapse the housing market and then blame everything on the 'banks' when in reality it was their fault to. Take ownership for your own bullshit instead, how bout that?	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/223	0.448

There's a lot of baby boomers and others in the comments complaining about the issues millennials 'cause' even though it's the previous generations fault. It's crazy how the previous generation is complaining about millennials on the platforms that millennials created. It's just hilarious.	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/43	2.326
Millennials are 24-39 years old Gen z are born after 1996	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/12	8.333
Please stop making me feel old . I am just 20, or at least I want to think I am.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/19	5.263

When people say that they work hard for their money in a frustrating response, they have not understood that they are not the source of their income. Your prosperity & abundance comes from Source, you are not source. It doesn't matter how hard you work, you will never be able to work hard enough to keep up with The Source of Prosperity. That requires Faith in the Unseen. The ability to plant that seed, metaphorically, and allow Source/God to bring in the harvest, requires a stretch of Faith. Others also call Source/God as the Law of Attraction. Its all the same thing! Surprise!! Abundance & Prosperity is barely taught in most christian churches, and it is completely obsolete in schools. Not enough people understand what it means to give and then know that your harvest is coming in. And even if you do understand this very important lesson, it needs to be studied often, because we tend to forget it very quickly. Once we forget, we fall back into Lack and only See what our pay check can give us. And thats not a good place for you & your faith to be at all! This is important to understand even while going through difficulties and circumstances. If you only know what your money can buy you, based on your pay check, then you aren't understanding this powerful lesson. There are 3 categories of income that needs to be understood. M1, M2, & M3: M1: This group "trades their time for money." They punch a time clock. This is whats typically called a: job. 96 of the population does this. This strategy is also engrained in our public educational system, that is why they have a 96 success rate. Which is still teaching from the Industrial Age. (1900's) M2: This group invests money to earn money. Married to a Franchise, Management, Salary, still a job, etc. Real estate, rentals. 3 of the population does this. M3: This group multiplies their time by setting up Multiple Sources of Income. MSI! Cash flow while you sleep! Passive & Residual income. 1 of the population earns 96 of all the money being earned. M3 seems to be the hardest category for most people to reach, because its so misunderstood and not taught. In the past this knowledge has been hidden away for only a select few. Thats why its only 1 of the population. Because they know something that most of the population does not know. How to build Multiple Sources of Abundance and Prosperity. And anyone can decide to be apart of the M3 category. They just have to decide.	Age	Age - General	1/438	0.228
---	-----	---------------	-------	-------

Cloud Seeker Then you go ahead and labor. I've labored plenty. No more! I'm gonna work smarter. That's why rush hour on the freeway has so many people in them. Google map any city in the country at 8am on a weekday. It'll show backed up traffic. That's the Industrial Age . We needed that evolution in order to advance. But it won't last forever. I call it sheep following each other and listening to each other. It doesn't matter how much they make fun of the younger generations in this video. They are finally getting it. And the only way to manipulate them to try to get them to settle down is to make fun of them. This is the greatest shift that our world has ever seen! It's amazing! People use to talk about back in the day as 20 years ago. Now back in the day is 24 months ago.	Age	Age - General	1/152	0.658
This is stupid to say everyone born sense 1984 I was born in 1989 and I didn't own a cell phone till I was an adult maybe the one who are in there late teens now but if you remember life bfor home computers where a common thing or like rewinding the tape bfor you return it so you don't get a 75¢ rewinding fee that I wouldn't consider you a millennial and then there's the "generation of weakness" part first we would need to agree on what defines "weakness" the fact is the baby boomers done there best but ultimately they handed down an already on it's last leg system and then points the finger at the guy holding it when it went down there are entitled people but and this is a promise they are not limited or confined to the age group starting in 1984	Age, Common	Age - General, Social Class - Working class	2/148	1.351
what about people who was born during 1900 that started world war? f u guys. damn old people you guys are worst piece of demon	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/25	4.0
I swear to god gen Y talks so much shit. I'm not anything to brag about, yet this isn't fair to my friends who work their asses off on a daily basis. There's plenty of millenials (mind you, there's millions of us, idiot) that have strong work ethic, leadership skills, know-how, intuition, and specific talents and knacks outside of the damn hyper-capitalist rat race that we all have to apparently participate in in this stupid fucking system.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/77	1.299

i'm sorry to say but I can't quite agree with most of what u say here. I am a millennial and I have worked most of my life since I was maybe 13-14yrs old bc my family had always had convenient stores to run until I went to college and now I work in a more well known store. And I believe u say we don't have goals or dreams of own? That is absolutely wrong. Everyone has one or a few of those no matter what generation they are. They might want to become famous singers/actors/athletes etc and even now these days they may even want to become well known activists no matter how old they are. Especially when it comes to the environment, their family, friends or maybe when an innocent person needs help. And that is possibly bc they have good guidance from their parents, teachers, coaches, churches, and great friends that they can trust. So basically what i'm trying to say here is it just depends on how they were disciplined and influenced.	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/177	1.13
A generation which stands up for itself and for the planet. A generation which is responsible rather than Selfish. I stand with Millennials and the so-called 'snowflake generation'. The Baby Boomer and post Baby Boomer Generations have shat over the world for decades and are now so selfish and so out of answers that they prefer to PLAY THE BLAME GAME by placing all their OWN PROBLEMS onto a younger generation. Clap Clap old people, you are sooo impressive.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/79	1.266
Typical argument against millennials from an old head. Your argument is a bad generalization on everyone.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/16	6.25

THERE IS NOTHING INHERENTLY RIGHT OR WRONG WITH BEING BORN TO ANY GENERATION ...THE ABBREVIATED EXPLANATION IS MUCH MORE SIMPLE THAN THE USELESS FORAY INTO BLIND ALLEY ARGUMENTS WHICH ATTEMPT TO DEFINE X FROM Y BUT ACCOMPLISH NOTHING OTHER THAN A MONUMENTAL WASTE OF TIME.THE ABBREVIATED VERSION IS SIMPLE.... EVERY GENERATION HAS TO COME TO GRIPS WITH THE ESTABLISHED ORDER THAT IS THE FOUNDATION OF THE SOCIETY IN WHICH IT IS BORN AND PRESERVE THE CORE VALUES THAT HAVE ENABLED IT TO ENDURE TO GIVE BIRTH TO THE NEW .NEW CUSTOMS GENERATED BY EACH GENERATION CAN BE REGARDED AS DESIRABLE OR UNDESIRABLE BASED UPON EMPIRICAL OBSERVATION OF THE RESULTANT STATE OF THE SOCIETY IN QUESTION .ONLY A GENERATION OF INSIPID , MORONIC , INTELLECTUALLY BANKRUPT, ABJECTLY SEMI LITERATE IDIOTS , CAN BE PROUD OF BEHAVING LIKE FUNCTIONING AUTOMATONS , BRAINWASHED AND PROGRAMMED TO FUNCTION TO PERFORM IN ACCORDANCE TO AN EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM DESIGNED TO TRAIN THEM FOR ABJECT FAILURE, AND A POLITICAL SET OF DEGENERATE REPROBATE SCUMBAGS WHO PROFESS TO BE ABLE TO CREATE A SYSTEM THAT IS EQUITABLE FOR ALLAND IS RUN BUY GOVERNMENT BUREAUCRACY. AMERICA IS LESS THAN 500 YEARS OLD AND IS CLOSER TO DISSOLUTION THAN ANY OTHER PRECEDING EMPIRE NATION ITS DEMISE WILL NOT OCCUR AT THE HANDS OF A FOREIGN ENEMY ... NO ... AMERICA IS DESTROYING ITSELF FROM WITHINBECAUSE IN THE MOST OFFENSIVE REPRESENTATION OF LUNACY THE GENERATIONS OF ITS SOCIETY WHO HAD CORE VALUES WORTH PRESERVING FAILED TO INSTILL THEM INTO THE ONE THEY CREATED TO REPLACE THEM .IN OTHER WORDS FROM THOROUGHBREADS TO FUCKING MUTS , THAT.. IS AMERICA‘S DESTINY.	Blind, Nation, Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Nationality - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	5/275	1.818
This analysis is almost completely devoid of economic factors. How about the rising cost of living and the mountains of dept that other generations did not have to be saddled with at the same age ?	Age	Age - General	1/35	2.857
Generation "Me" is taking this getting old thing really badly	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/10	10.0

You can't judge the whole vid if you didn't even finish. Case in point is the fact that you didn't finish it. Understand what he's trying to say before taking it personally, and you may just find it helpful to you if you so choose to let it. -Love from an Elder Millennial with mental health issues who's learned life is hard, but it's alright	Elder, Mental	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/66	3.03
I'm from the millennial generation and we aren't doing anything to fix the problem, we aren't even trying to play the hand we are dealt, my peers are just demanding a new hand, many people from my generation criticize baby boomers for the housing crash because they got loans on houses they couldn't afford that weren't even worth what they were paying for them, my generation is going into debt to go to college for degrees in either non existent or with very few opportunities to get in, in a class of 300 students two of my classmates got degrees in theater and now they live with their parents working the same jobs they held in high school and I think the problem starts in the school system, guidance counselors push college like it is the only option, every year when I was in high school we had to sit down with our guidance counselor and tell them what we planned on doing after school and they would try to push college so hard, while I was in school I was able to attend a free program where I was trained and certified in automotive collision repair, where I'm from starting wage is $15 per hour, I was dead set on the military but that was my backup plan, the program even would help us find a job in our certified field if we wanted it, I told my guidance counselor I was going to join the military and my back up plan was to go into my certified trade, she looked at me and said "College is a much better choice, honestly I'd be disappointed if my daughters joined the military or did manual labor." I looked her dead in the eye and told her I thought my dad, a retired USN Senior Chief Petty Officer would be proud if I joined the military and left her office.5 years later I am about to be promoted to E-5 in the USAF, am about to earn an associates degree in my field without once paying for a textbook , class or even sa in a college classroom, have deployed to the middle east and seen aircraft footage and maps of the area showing the impact that the work I did has made. I live comfortably within my means and have not once regretted my decision.	Senior	Age - Over 65s	1/396	0.253
Shit it means I'm a millenial..... I see a few siblings and friends 30 yes old and still living with their parents... not me I've been in my own house with my wife and kids and own a business. I can't stand all this grown asses still living of their parents.. but guess who's fault is it?? THE PARENTS! I make sure my kids learn to work to earn. Not just ask for shit on their hand..	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/77	1.299

I am a millennial and I am on my 20th year of education and 1 year away from starting residency as an anesthesiologist. Don't begin to tell me that my age predetermines my grit.	Age	Age - General	1/34	2.941
Way too generalised I consider myself part of first year of gen z instead of millennial but there are some things that millennials do bring up are a problem. The older generation looks down on younger all the time throughout history. I myself never experienced participation trophies, my family values healthy competition so my trophies were for first place my grades I made on my own. if I ever got a bad grade like a C I never smooched to get it higher I accepted it and learned from it. It just annoys me that I get thrown in to that generalization. I worked hard for where I am now I am happy and I quit social media when I left for college. Most people I know my age do not show even a hint of what this guy is talking about. I don't know everyone but i know enough to conclude that this video I way to generalised.	Age	Age - General	1/159	0.629
So I learned nothing about millennials in the work place. But BONUS, I just found out that I'm an alcoholic, disinterested person out of touch with reality and addicted to social media.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/32	3.125
I'm a millennial and I love eating all the fucking lunches of my pussy ass peers. Everyday, they complain and bitch more and more and everyday I'm eatin' their fuckin' lunches, haha! Thanks mom and dad, for teaching me how to not be a useless, whining, piece of shit leech.	pussy	Nationality - Chinese	1/50	2.0
You think that milenials are so weak come out and try what I do for a living you soft pussy . You wouldn't make it one day.	pussy	Nationality - Chinese	1/26	3.846
I hate being called a millennial, all my life I've worked for everything I have and at age 15 I'm making an income that can keep me going through my entire life.	Age	Age - General	1/32	3.125
Fuck this guy. Get his old , entitled dumbass outta here. The economy is fucked and so is our Government. Wages haven't kept up with inflation and all the wealth is going to the top 1 percent. The costs of college and cost of living just keep rising while wages stay flat and even decline. Generations of jackass Baby Boomers and corrupt politicians have screwed up this country royally. Yet losers like this blame the kids for the problems they created. Get the fuck outta here.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/85	1.176
This "impact" reasoning put forth by millenials is mostly a bullshit buzzword, because their idea of impact seems to include more personal accolades than truly influencing the world in a positive, sacrificial way, over time. Its quite often all about them, and nothing else. And I can see in 2019 there are thousands of millenials who are triggered by this man's well reasoned message. Truth hurts. So much for participation trophies.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/71	1.408

Entire generation? Not a single case of exception? You're dumb dude.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/11	9.091
im kind of tired of ppl dissin on millenials, generalization is just dumb , the described behaviour isn't exclusive to an age group. most of us has their own ways of escaping, maybe the way to connect with millenials isn't by putting them in a box with labels on it	Age, Dumb	Age - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/49	4.082
They don't now to communicate with people. Lazy ,unfocused and no common sense. They have no guilty consciousness. And cold as hell. What happens if the president turn off the net. They will continue playing video game or take picture all day. Ultra sensitive generation.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/45	2.222
I'm a 24 year old chef in the making i work in corporate with tattoos and I have a full time job and part time job and I'm in college full time. I also live by myself. So please tell me how all millennials are lazy. Not all of us suck ass	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/53	1.887
this guy has his perspective on dam Pluto idk which generation you need to be in for it to exist or not. but seriously I was born 1991 and no body told me about black wall street, and anti miscegenation laws . so idk what mountain he talking about it is more like a fortress and you have to perform several satanic rites "IF" you want to get to the TOP. after the whole trans atlantic slave trade in 2019 we still have inequality and certain members in the human genome that consider themselves to be more supreme than the other soooo honestly WTF is this guy talking about entitled, that's a scapegoat to..... yeah we know we FUCKED WAYYYYYY up but hey heres what I can do , I can keep a eye out for you and put in a recommendation; What type of Devilish laymen terms are those.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/151	0.662
They need to stop drinking soy milk it suddenly makes them get a fuck boy haircut and dress very gay .	Gay	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	2/20	10.0

I see that today everybody is making some weird videos. Generalizing and simplifying things. So let's "crush" your theory. As a "millennial" myself, I was thought to be self sufficient. Started to learn cooking and cleaning at age of 9. Finished highschool at age of 18. Right after did my part as a cadet. Later attended faculty for IT and gain bachelor degree. Almost after graduation got job and work since then. After only 2 years of work, I attended another 2 years of college to gain my master degree in IT while working in parallel. Our system is not like in some Western countries where you can attend classes or not. It was imperative to be on all or you fail. You would work from 8-16, and from 16:30 to 20h you would attend classes every and each working day. So far, I have changed couple of countries living all by my self finding my way. Currently I am head of IT department..., so please tell me, how come I get into your stereotype? I am millennial as well, which means I should be a snowflake like you just described. Let me tell you something. Your video might apply to all Western countries where you get used to "easy" comfortable life..., but in Eastern or Southern Europe, we need to battle and find our own way, which actually making us stronger and better in any aspect comparing to same folk on the West... We don't whine or cry foul. We pick ourselves up and carry on. So before you start making such a story, entertaining other generations while mocking other, it would be really great, if you would put all "variables" into consideration...	Age, Snowflake, Weird	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/284	1.408
From my vantage point they do great. It's just old people who aren't good leaders complaining about young people because they aren't buying into the garbage older generations learn and accepting it which they shouldn't just because "that's how it's always been" or "time to grow up."	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/47	2.128
Baret.....Wow, your second pretty hard dick. Congrats on the Viagra order arriving. I'll bet it makes you feel like a man.Three year enlistment in the Coast Guard. Big whoop. So you barely graduated high school. I commanded a lot of kids like you from flyover states during a 15 year career as an Army officer and I'm pretty sure you've never written had a thesis let alone had one approved. Unless of course it was from Trump University and you graduated at the top of the Conservatard class, limp dick and all.Anyway, hope the Viagra continues to serve you well.	Limp	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/102	0.98
Baret cool man i also have a black belt and several degrees but these imaginary things dont win arguments	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/19	5.263
R K Big words coming from a keyboard warrior, did you take the time to google the Viagra statements? Depending on your age I'd say you're either one of those small-penis syndrome kids or a middle aged guy who can't get an erection. Sucks to be you.	Age	Age - General	1/47	2.128

Q LaSalle Still yet to prove it - by the time the prior generations were your age they had more gumption about themselves.	Age	Age - General	1/23	4.348
R K who cares. I'm 38 have zero respect for assholes who think they are still hot shit after being in the military. I have no use for some prick who barks orders once your out of the service you are a nobody just like everyone else.	Nobody, Zero	Age - Youngsters	2/47	4.255
R K awhhjj buthurt snowflake	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/5	20.0
yourdeadgrandpa1 sup highlighted the gay comments. LOL. I know a generation of the arseholes that haven't.	Gay	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	2/16	12.5
norton wayne The real question is why so many people like you have yet to realize that bigotry against millennials is still bigotry, no different from bigotry against someone for their skin color, gender , or sexual orientation.	Gender, Sexual	Gender - General	2/37	5.405
Millennials love to blame everything and everyone. The biggest generation of virtue signaling and victim identification. I never saw it this bad until the millennials came of age .	Age	Age - General	1/28	3.571

R K, Baret is pretty much spot on. The primary and secondary educational system has been in a downward spiral intellectually for many years. Way to many liberal arts majors go into teaching positions thinking they are some kind of savant that can really teach when in reality they merely indoctrinate young minds with their liberal beliefs. Children spend much more time in the toxic educational system than they have available at home to learn.Years ago teachers and principals were required to get a childs parents permission to go on a field trip. Now anything goes, can't get an aspirin but your teacher can line up an abortion. Teachers used to have a modest dress code, now they show up in crocs, orange hair, tattoos, piercings with tits falling out of their tops and every part of their privates pressed into a pair of yoga pants.Any teacher that even breathes a conservative thought much less tries to instill a high moral code into their teachings is run out of the system by the libs which outnumber them. But the libs...they spit on anyone's Christian beliefs and any decent mores that a student has and claims they're not progressive, as if that is a good thing.The libs in the name of progressive have brought every deviant lifestyle and behavior that is destructive to the vast majority of students in a down your throat manner, forcing them to agree with liberal mentality or be chastised with ridicule and lower grades.Students no longer are rewarded for studying and applying themselves, earning a decent GPA to receive scholarships... many intellectually qualified students are bumped out of great university by some snowflake that believes that they are entitled to that spot because of their color or ethnic background and so on.I've got a great idea...instead of becoming a "teacher" in Gender Studies, getting paid to inform students that even though they are supposed to be college material, they don't really know if they are a boy or a girl, maybe we could educate them so that all the higher math they learned could translate into a balanced checkbook or maybe a savings account in the black.Congratulations 2019 college graduate. Can't write your name in cursive, can't balance a checkbook, can't fill out you tax forms, can't operate a vacuum cleaner, a lawnmower, a drill, doesn't know what a trash bag, a dishrag or a pair of gloves are used for, still hasn't figured out if it's a she, a he, a she he, a morphodite. It's pretty sad, the older dumber generation used to take a peek down their pants and discover whether they were a boy or a girl, the progressive liberals now spend $30,000 and 2 years in a gender studies program to find out that they might be an it or a they or a liberal, with a 40 greater chance of committing suicide than a natural Male or female. They can't get a job because they're lazy or unmarketable but they learned how to community organize to steal money from hardworking taxpayers to give to more lazy unmarketable liberals.They can text at 600 words a minute, figure out how to navigate 100 different useless video games but can't understand that you have to pay for goods and services, poor decisions mean bad consequences, the list goes on. If you happen to be in the few percent of graduates which actually used your brain to think critically and gives a crap about presenting yourself as a moral upright decent human being who wants to work and pay their debts	Black, Ethnic, Gender, Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	5/628	0.796
---	----------------------------------	--	-------	-------

We'd have less mental illness, but hey save a penny here and there at the cost of a whole generation	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/20	5.0
Baret you said libtards, don't call the kettle black . You're simple, and worthless, deal with it	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/16	6.25
Daniel Kaufman Adam Davis is a fucking bozo mate. Nobody cares about his bullshit.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/14	7.143
Mitchell D Adam Davis is a fucking bozo mate. Nobody cares about his bullshit.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/14	7.143
Adam Davis Adam Davis is a fucking bozo mate. Nobody cares about his bullshit. LMFAO.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/15	6.667
gringo locoSorry grandpa, respect is earned through your actions and what you contribute, not because you've managed to avoid dying for 75 years. You don't get a free ride on those things just because you're old . If you were and idiot when you were younger the chances of you getting any more intelligent as dementia kicks in are pretty close to zero . I'm betting you go around talking about your 3 year enlistment in the Army 40 years ago and drive around with those veteran license plates begging for respect.	Gringo, Old, Zero	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Nationality - American	3/91	3.297
R K I rest my case. Learn some humility in your youth. One day you'll say, "you know what? That crazy motherfucker was right." Good luck in your journey.	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/29	3.448
.....just out of curiosity, how old do you think I am considering that I have two millennial age sons?	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	2/19	10.526
jamesmarhen It's a weird combo. Generations before us have mishandled our planet presenting us with issues never before faced by any human generation that we know of. That coupled with the rising prices for pretty much everything and the amount that people get paid staying roughly the same and the general lack of parenting or the extreme cases of over parenting, has causes our generation to face problems that the 2 previous generations haven't ever had to deal with.	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/79	1.266

norton wayne well if you boomer dads would have stayed with our moms maybe we would be able to get over those mental walls because there'd be some fucking leadership in our lives. Naw y'all left us to get raised by the fearful consumer mothers	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/45	2.222
Pseudo Wrestler - Adam Davis is a fucking bozo mate. Nobody cares about his bullshit. LMFAO.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/16	6.25
Initial part went fine. Then all of the sudden it side tracked and started saying "You are not at fault" Its the fault of others/corporations that you are going through this bla bla bla. Thats exactly how you empower a millennial to improve LOL .. Dumb ass !	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/48	2.083
fuck you man I'm a millenial yet work my ass hard as I can you know nothing so shut the fuck up	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/22	4.545
Best decision I ever made was to get into hunting, fishing & (primarily) foraging. 5 years later & I no longer need to rely solely on grocery stores to feed myself, meaning I can survive without slaving full time for your wrinkly old asses that fucked the future generations over. I have zero interest in playing society's games, or participating in this sick, fabricated world designed to enslave & domesticate. I'll do the bare minimum to get by, but that's it.I'm more than happy working part time & spending most of my time catching or finding my food, enjoying life. Yet I'm still called lazy by the older gens because I don't "work" as much as they do or did. I guess working 70+ hours/week and bragging about it is considered a great existence by them, but I'm pretty convinced they brag about that in an attempt to ease their troubled minds because they've wasted their entire lives being slaves, but, whatever. This video sucked. Time for a nap.	Old, Zero	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	2/170	1.176
Fuck this! Said Gen X guy. You define you in life, be diverse, have older friends, your own friends, don't diss, embrace - there's nothing really wrong with Ms, you could dress cooler but, whatever gym pants generation.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/38	2.632
How about reversed racism and reversed sexism ? Guess you dont even know what that is even you? Is like Metoo has never happened	Racism, Sexism	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	2/23	8.696
Nothing gets you youtube hits like overgeneralizing and scapegoating some group as being responsible for everything wrong with the world today.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/21	4.762

Who wouldn't be unmotivated in this day and age is my question. I think people are more than excused to be lazy just like every previous generation was, young people are growing up looking back at all the nasty shit the generation that created us are going through knowing we will have to do the same but this time around at a higher cost and requiring more time. I'm not defending any party in this instance because everything happening is a lesson to be learnt from and society as whole will continue to evolve and adapt but that doesn't mean it isn't absolute crap to get through right now. Y'all need to stop being such entitled arse holes to each other already.	Age	Age - General	1/122	0.82
I guess this video was tongue in cheek but I for one feel it has a very serious and perceptive undercurrent. Audience laughter seemed false at first as if to say 'Yeah we see that, kinda funny isn't it and we feel we SHOULD laugh' but peters out when some very hard hitting facts and opinions are put forward by Simon. An excellent video- great graphics but so true to life. On the point of the attitude of the corporate world, what happens when directionless millenials are managing even more directionless millenials as the new intake? Many times I've seen situations where a graduate gets a position about which they know little or nothing and approach an old timer with years of experience and tell him he's doing his job wrongly because MY book says so or because his methodology doesn't fit an ingrained left wing liberal stance.	Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	2/148	1.351
Im 19 been working since I was 14. Ive bought everything I own my car. my insurance. my phone. school. now Im trying to move out. Its not that hard. I dont know how everyone my age is a pansy	Age, Pansy	Age - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	2/40	5.0
Just wait tell we get into the work force you millennials will complain about us for nothing and then we'll have to come up with some bull crap like this	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/30	3.333
All that is weak is these old people, Entitled to BURN their children's future for convenience... Elders were obligated save the environment for the next generation. No generation is as bad as the greedy boomers.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/35	2.857
You cannot try to change the nature of the world or corporations to accommodate people who are maladjusted because their educators and parents did nothing but accommodate them when they were young. It is not the job of the corporation to make people whole, nor can they ever achieve this. Yours is a snowflake response. They are who they are. - people without proper coping mechanisms. Yes, it is the fault of parents and educators, but they are who they are. Again, you cannot try to change the nature of the world or corporations to accommodate people who are maladjusted because their educators and parents did nothing but accommodate them when they were young.	Nothing, Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - Youngsters	3/114	2.632

HERE IS THE MILLION-DOLLAR QUESTION: Will you go to Heaven when you die? Here's a quick test: Have you ever lied, stolen, or used God's name in vain? Jesus said, 'Whoever looks at a woman to lust for her has already committed adultery with her in his heart.' If you have done these things, God sees you as a lying, thieving, blasphemous, adulterer at heart, and the Bible warns that one day God will punish you in a terrible place called Hell. But God is not willing that any should perish. Sinners broke God's Law and Jesus paid their fine. This means that God can legally dismiss their case: 'For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whoever believes in Him should not perish but have everlasting life.' Then Jesus rose from the dead, defeating death. Today, repent and trust Jesus, and God will give you eternal life as a free gift. Then read the Bible daily and obey it. God will never fail you. For a deeper look into this, check out Living Waters to see it explained to different people, like this: [LINK]	Woman	Gender - General	1/191	0.524
--	-------	---------------------	-------	-------

Christopher Lee.....Where to begin with your wheel of Swiss Cheese logic.So you offer up the generalization that your entire generation were willing to work their hands to the bone for shit wages and that somehow represented a better work ethic that, along with the completely original idea of networking resulted in 100 merit based promotions and opportunities.And then you offer up another generalization that the millennial generation is universally lazy and has a horrible work ethic, is too stupid to network and unwilling to trade their life for shit wages like you.You sure seem to like like simplistic generalizations based on the evidence you've made available with your comment. Do you have no awareness of how stupid those generalizations sound?Newsflash Einstein, humans have participated in networking since the first group of hunter gatherers got together and began to cooperate in order to survive.Another newsflash.....the evolution of human technology and knowledge has accelerated over the past 200 years with the advent of science, the industrial age, and the information age. But human social development is still developing at the same pace it was developing at 3,000 years ago.So not much changes from one generation to the next in terms of people. I'm Baby Boomer who graduated from college, served a career as an Army officer, then went on to a career in Fortune 100 in finance, and then a career in Private Equity at the top of the financial ladder. I did OK for myself.But I went to high school with guys who were dropping acid. I went to college with guys who were kicked out for doing coke. I've seen plenty of alcoholics. I've seen plenty of boomers with no ambition and no brains who were working their bodies into ruin in a factory because they were too stupid and untalented to put themselves on a path to success early in life and stay on it. I've seen boomer housewives who live from a bottle of wine to a bottle of pills. I've seen people work their entire lives in dead end jobs because they didn't have the guts to get out there and take risks.And guess what? That's exactly what I see with millennials. You can't paint an entire generation of millions of people with the same brush. My kids are both successful and ahead of where I was at their age. The older one is the lead concept artist for a studio in LA, has a video game, development company on the side, and has negotiated freelancing rights so he can keep his hand in other projects as they come up. And he gets calls all the time for his services. His younger brother earned a full ride scholarship in an audio engineering program and has made dean's list every semester. He's also doing all the music production for his brother's video game company. The older one networked to bring one of his friends into his studio as a developer programmer which helped out his friend and made points for him with the studio. He was able to make the recommendation because his friend is a kickass developer programmer with great people skills and the studio is going more and more towards CGI content.My son's girlfriend is a freelance writer who basically runs her own business. She develops quotes, negotiates scope and pricing, executes contracts, and delivers a final product to customers in corporate and education markets.I could go on and on with their circle of friends. Don't tell me that all millennials are stupid and lazy. I know that makes you feel better about

Age

Age - General

3/663

0.452

joe PerschkeWe ALREADY PROVED IT through 22 YEARS of training.Time for you to PAY UP now, you entitled little COMMUNIST!	Communist	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/22	4.545
Josiah Peters I'm supposed to die for a check. I'm supposed to give a fuck about a job where people have created short cuts clicks and are usually perverted and looking for validation in my work for who? Me. I find validation playing chess, helping the less fortunate, connecting with people I care about. Not some old pervert waiting for a moment of weakness so they can still their back in my day story. When coke was everywhere 16 year olds buying beer gays can't even walk in schools and being sheep to the media. Y'all old niggas all the same and I just cool it and watch y'all bitch y'all lives into the fire talking bout how hard y'all work cause y'all lost your creativity.	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/126	1.587
Adam Davis If an individual works harder for more pay it's because they had work ethic in the first place and worked their way up from the bottom. Or they realize it'll be difficult to find the kind of pay they're receiving else where. Or they went to some sort of school and thus have the skills to earn such an income. Perfect example of work ethic not being proportionate to pay is a work place with union and non union workers. Funny how many story's I've heard of how a union man making much more than the other guy is the lazier of the two. It's almost as if the entitled and protected union worker has poor work ethic. Huh. Not to say that that he represents the majority of union workers by any means but its common . So no, paying people more does not overcome their laziness. As far as serial killer ethics... really? How many neighbors thought the guy across the street was nice and normal until the cops found a body in his freezer? Twisted and sick fantasies have nothing to do with displaying some good character traits. You can throw a pillow case full of kittens off a bridge but still tell the truth about it. Killing kittens; bad character trait. Telling the truth about it; good character trait. And last, better products are made with better materials by skilled workers. Skilled workers EARN more money because they are SKILLED. Not because they deserve a gold star and a raise because they graced the company with their presence that day. If you're the type of individual that thinks the whole paying burger flippers 15 dollars an hour was a good idea, then I'm genuinely concerned for your future because sincerely... you've got alot of disappointment headed you're way.	Common, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Social Class - Working class	2/303	0.66

Josiah Peters Being a hard worker is not a morally good character trait. That's not to say it's a morally bad one either, but there's nothing mutually exclusive about being a hard worker and being terrible person.The rest of what you posted is full of interesting theories, but none of those theories match anything I've seen in the real world. I hope you find your imaginary world comforting.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/69	1.449
Josiah Peters If you're arrogant enough to think a person wanting to be fairly compensated for their work is "entitlement and laziness" then I don't want to find common ground with you.I hope you find that fairy tale world you seek where people can be motivated to do a welder's work for the salary of a grocery bagger. I certainly haven't seen that my current workplace or the prior one.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/71	1.408
Thats definitely a millennial answer. When I started at McDonalds making at minimum wage, I wanted more money. So I worked harder than my peers. I received raises. This sneaky technique would work quite well for the next 3 years getting me raises and promotions. Then I wanted more. So at 18 I joined the United States Marine Corps. I worked hard for the next 8 years, did some stuff in the desert and came home. Decided it was time to re-enter the civilian work force and use the benefits of serving to get me an education past my HS diploma. Decided I would also need a job, because the government doesnt pay it all ya know what I mean? First job out, digging ditches for a landscaping company. This is when I learned how insulated the Marine Corps was from the Millennial culture as a whole. First day on the job I start digging with my shovel like any Marine would, hard and fast. Immedietly the three youngest guys started talking shit, one was talking about "they just juicing you man, you working hard for nothing " the other two were more idiotic, " look at this loser busting his ass for no reason haha!". The other guys that were on the crew in their 30s just got in the trench with me and started diggin also. They kept telling me all the kids were like this now. I was only a few years older than these "kids" it was crazy . Anyway, I ended up taking over the Landscaping company about a year later and sold it for a pretty penny. I hired mostly convicts fresh out of the pen. They tended to be older, better work ethics and knew how to be respectful to home owners and supervisors.	Crazy, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/299	0.669
Boomer: Pays minimum wage for minimum wage jobMillennial: i just won't work hard lolYou are just proving his point, the fact that your comment has so many likes just shows how many dumb millennials there are	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/38	2.632

Adam Davis You are in fact missing the point. No two people’s circumstances are exactly alike. Some have everything and piss it away. Others have nothing and turn it into something. There is no one recipe for success, but few succeed without determination and perseverance. Take a risk. Learn a new skill. Get knocked down. Get back up. Repeat.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/59	1.695
Adam Davis That’s hilarious. Go ahead, defeat yourself before you even start and blame anyone but you.One of your problems (as a group) is that you think your very first job should pay you enough to buy a 3 bedroom house, a car, a giant TV, internet, a gaming computer, $1000 phones, nights out on the town, plenty of weed, etc. You think all the frivolities are necessities. You want to get that ”easy” job, lots of pay, no effort, no sweat, maybe some light typing between vacations. You were sitting on the couch with a controller in your hand instead of out mowing yards, raking leaves, helping clean up construction sites, washing cars, collecting bottles and cans, painting houses....Just remember that when you’re SITTING around bitching about no jobs... Nobody ever came to my door and volunteered to pay me money, I had to go out and get it. It wasn’t always something that I wanted to do. Get the job you can get and start looking for the next one.That boomer you’re jealous of, who owns say, an excavation company worth millions...most likely started out with a shovel in his hands. He didn’t make millions by handing out money to lazy ”minimum effort” employees either.Some people are just bad with money.You can give two guys $5. One might head to McDonalds or the liquor store and then need more money...one might buy himself a hammer, do some work to make more money, buy a saw, do some work... and eventually own his own construction company. Being saddled with debt is due to poor choices. You fell for the spiel, you bought the magic beans. C’mon, try to ”educate” me some more, boy. It doesn’t sound like you’ve ever worked with any Men before.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/300	0.333

Simon Sinek means well, I'm sure - and I listen to him when I need a pick-me-up. However, this portrayal of millennials is the most close-minded and condescending piece of bullshit I've ever heard him talk about. Not all millennials want free food and bean bags... we want to be treated with respect and have fair wages and benefits from employers who seem to funnel profits upward and not adjust wages in accordance to that increased profit margin or inflation in the economy. You call millennials weak because you don't want to admit that the way we have been institutionalized and trained to treat subordinate employees (as well as young people!) has been wrong this entire time. Is he taking into account how the workplace has experienced mistreatment of workers or the discrimination/harrassment experienced within the workplace before millennial? Workers then were expected to shut up and feel grateful to have a job despite relinquishing their sense of individualism, empathy/compassion, and probably values/morals/dreams if it fulfills the paycheck to survive and make end's meet. There is a shift in consciousness right now and that is in part to the technological paradigm: The internet has allowed us to be creative entrepreneurs or organizers who can pursue work elsewhere if we are being mistreated by employers. Workplace compliance policies in sexual harassment fair-pay equal opportunity no discrimination and so much more have protected workers over time who would then be abused and silenced in the workplace. When people are working 2-3 jobs or gigs to get by and barely making a living wage while senior admin/staff at cooperate increase bonuses, that is a problem. When student fees are increasing by the hundreds yearly as university admins receive increase in pay yearly, that is a problem. Working hours and days of your life away to fulfill someone else's demands or dreams and not work with purpose and even not being paid enough, that is a problem. I am really glad millennials want to make an impact, and are speaking out against injustices or mistreatments whether it be in the world or in the workplace. It seems like Sinek comes around towards the end, but it was condescending af. Millennials aren't a bunch of misguided puppies who need to be directed into purpose. We have purpose, and it's here to change things.	Senior, Sexual	Age - Over 65s, Gender - General	2/392	0.51
--	----------------	----------------------------------	-------	------

Like Clint Eastwood said, 'this the new generation of pussies'. There parents were just plane lazy and misinformed, lack discipline, never put them in challenging situation that makes you grow you have to fail to discover the way to to success. Failure is success turned inside out, so you must turn it ride side out to have the success you desire, it is called 'working for it'. They are 'mind mechanics' that know everything' an older person cannot mentor them they are unreachable.They think a credit card is the way to instant gratification. There parents set them up for failure. My Favorite quote, ' why should I listen to you' because I don't have any bankruptcies like you (this kid had 2 bankruptcies) at 38. I told him we were done he was unteachable, The other was in love with an illegal alien who wanted a baby right away. He went to Mexico to meet her, he told me , ' she was very friendly with other men in the hotel and disappeared for awhile, then she wanted to have him bring back a box to the U.S. , but wouldn't disclose the contents. He bought her a diamond ring ($3,000) and then wouldn't contact him again for awhile. She finally cut him off and then he got mad a me because he said , ' I am in love with her, I said she is a 'hooker', she wants you to be a 'mule' for drugs and she needs you as a ticket into the U.S. with an 'anchor baby', he got furious with me after his mother finally told him the same thing. So he ended our friendship. This has been my experience trying to help this young men that can't get it together. HE HAD A FATHER, but no involvement. This is the males in this age group. I don't have the energy for this anymore.Why the light didn't come on for him I will never know.	Age, Alien	Age - General, Nationality - General	2/329	0.608
I am an '84 baby. I don't worship facebook circa 2013. I use instagram to post my art to attempt to try to streamline my work but it has not yielded any fruit whatsoever. Every job I've had, I've never deluded myself in striving to make an 'impact' because what gets us to survive is money—I want money because a handful of faceless globalist thieves have indoctrinated the world with the notion that we have to struggle, blood, sweat and tears so that we can make money that we then have to pay to them—in order to live another day. The fulfilment that I am lacking is quality of life. I am unlucky because I reside in California. I live paycheck to paycheck and am renting a rundown room. Go back to school is what people keep saying—but I can't because if I don't work full time - who is going to pay my rent also: who's going to give me money for more college? No, financial aid won't help because I've defaulted on past loans for a college program that has done nothing at all, for me. With that said - please continue to joke and laugh.	Fruit, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	2/198	1.01

Well said indeed! A comment worthy of a Thumbs Up! (which I have done & I certainly gave So I am as u put it an ‘84 baby lol, and I also make bits & pieces of art work. (If you would like to see some cute & funny animal videos (to help calm & relax after a busy day or after watching some bs like this garbage strewn & laden video, I make all of these little videos make myself, then plz subscribe to my channel, I will subscribe to your channel in return If you wish. My Channel - [LINK] And here’s my website (it’s a work in progress) - [LINK] And I only just this month signed up for instaGreed, (and I say that since I have a windows laptop, not new at all, and I had to first download the app, ok fine, then I go to run the app, next I am told they first need to access both my built in camera & microphone. Before I can even add any content other than my 1 profile picture. Since I am totally uncomfortable with any company or app or website or anything or anyone having access to my comp. I turned that down faster than the damn thing took to download! So much for Instagreed being artist friendly ! Just another UNsatisfied NON-user here!Plus I live in Connecticut, which has an insanely high tax rate, and I too completed some college courses, but it just got to be too expensive. Since (yah me also again) cannot get financial aid, due to defaulting on some very old accounts, they never actually explained a damn thing about how credit actually works! And the really funny part is that here, in CT, one needs to come up with several hundred dollars to declare bankruptcy!! Unreal right? So in order to legally declare I have no money I need to some how some way get several hundred bucks, and give it away to the system!! Sorry I need to scrape up whatever dollars I can in order to do stuff like you know eat food, purchase basic items like say shampoo, clothing sometimes, keep the lights on, ect.So yah keep on LOL-ing & telling me & the other Millennials how I’ve always been told I can have whatever I want when ever cause I am so special! How great & easy life for me is being on the state health ins. program... And one more thing: The joy of having disgusting & toxic tap water here in my area! (I know it could be worse, I don’t live in Flint but lead & other toxic chemicals are the same no matter where you live, granted the levels & exact compounds may vary but lead is still lead. So I hope you check out & subscribe to my channel & have a nice night or morning or afternoon, what ever time you read this!	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/496	0.202
--	-----	----------------	-------	-------

Hey buddy I'm a millennial and that term means nothing other than the period in which you were born . There's many types of people from many different times , you can't just label them I'm the way you are and have any credibility. You seem to get all the facts backwards though...I don't have social media.I am happy.I am a minimalist , I like things simple.I'm also self employed since 19 and an now 31, I enjoy my job too. Also know lots of similar people in my age group . I stopped watching 2 min in , so can't comment on much else .	Age, Nothing	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	2/110	1.818
So baby boomers fucked up by buying houses above their market value with loans they cannot afford, crashing the housing market, and hurting the economy, but millenials are doing the same thing with student loans, too many people that I went to high school with went to college and majored in fields with either non existent jobs (the joke is gender studies but I actually know somebody who majored in african american history and minored in women's studies) or jobs with very small job markets, I know two people who went to school for four years and majored in theater, they both now have degrees in theater but live with their parents, one works at the same McDonald's I worked with her at when we were 17 and the other waits tables at Applebees. These people now have an enormous amount of debt and no way to pay it off.	African, Gender	Ethnicity - Black, Gender - General	2/150	1.333
They might be working hard but why would you think previous generations didn't work hard?. Any millenial that has discovered that work is hard and has found out that it is difficult to get established in a career, buy a home, buy a car, pay your bills etc is just learning exactly the same lessons everyone else in previous generations learnt when they were the same age . That is the problem, a lot of millenials think they are 'special' and the problems they face are new. The problems of making your way in the world are not new, they are exactly the same as they have always been.	Age	Age - General	1/108	0.926
Really Hairy Bush I'm not gonna try to fight that because it's sadly true, when I was in high school I was accepted into a trade program where I was certified in automotive collision repair for free before I finished high school, the school would have helped me find a job in that field but I wanted to join the military instead. I had a clear plan and a viable backup plan but every year when I had to sit down with my guidance counselor she did not want to hear anything about joining the military or going straight into the work force, she always pushed college, it got so bad that my senior year she straight up told me "Honestly you'd be better off getting a loan and going to college right away, I'd be ashamed if my daughters joined the military or did physical labor." I told her my retired Navy dad would think differently and I walked out of her office.	Senior	Age - Over 65s	1/164	0.61

The snowflake generation doesn't know what work is.	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/8	12.5
Nothing to do with us. What, did you expect us to clean up this society that you've so thoroughly destroyed instead of just turning our back on it the way you did with us? Stop being so entitled and lazy. Fix it yourself.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/43	2.326
Consider, also, that these kids got many more new, improperly tested, human fetal tissue and heavy metal laden vaccines. in 1987 Regan/congress made it illegal to sue the vaccine manufacturer, too.....then, funny enough, the vaccine schedule doubled. and is still doubled today... 72 shots by age 18yrs. the healthiest and most productive kids are the unvaccinated. time to rethink the cult of vaccination that says vaccines are necessary and safe because the vaccine injuries can vary from mild depression/anxiety to death and these injuries are skyrocketing. this will definitely effect the economy down the road.	Age	Age - General	1/95	1.053
Nice to hear you put your daughter through college. You gonna put me through college too?No?Well I'll just work my minimum wage job where I keep getting promotions because I work way harder than my boomer bosses that do nothing but dish out orders so I can keep paying my student loans as well as other bills just to stay alive while I drive my dinky used car that probably isn't street legal hoping it doesn't blow up before I finish school because I don't even have the money to buy regular meals let alone a new car and I'm just praying once I do finish school I get an entry level position that's at least enough to pay my bills long enough for the next group of boomers to scream at me to do their orders until I take their positions	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/143	0.699
As a millennial you didn't even scratch the surface of why my age group is so unbelievably fucked up.	Age	Age - General	1/18	5.556

New Grad with 5 years of experience. This is what it was for me (Gen X) and funnily enough what my dad also used to tell me it was for him. My solution? I took an unpaid job (funded by my parents to pay petrol to get there and come back every day) as a BA in a freezing warehouse n kept sending my cv out as my experience was increasing. 2 years down the track I made it into a major consulting firm. Where there is the will there is a way. I keep hearing people saying Boomer want you to work hard and not pay you enough...Sense of entitlement is exactly wanting to decide what is a fair pay. If nobody offers you a job, your fair pay is zero . Accept it and work on your skills and experience until you have an offer. Once you have an offer the fair pay is that offer. Keep improving yourself until you have 3 offers. Now the fair pay is the highest of the three offers and you chose it. If you keep going like this soon you'll be on a 100k+ and continuously growing. At that precise moment you'll realise how relative the concept of fair pay is. your salary is always fair until you get a better offer that makes your current salary not fair anymore.	Nobody, Zero	Age - Youngsters	2/228	0.877
E A But how are you supposed to pay your rent, food, clothing, car insurance, etc if you don't have parents to take care of you? How are you supposed to perform well if you have a weekend job that absorbs all your energy? Does no one know how the human body and brain works? If you stretch it too far you will max out and get sick, while bosses say "I don't care, you don't produce enough for me" while giving you nothing in return.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/86	1.163

Develop the skills and knowledge, then offer to work for free at the job and company you want to work for. Agree that if they want you after a probationary period, then they will pay you. Show them what you have to offer. If you're as good as you think you are, you'll get a paying job. Put in the time and the work to prove your value to an employer; most of us would LOVE to find motivated new grads, but sadly, all we find are entitled spoiled brats. Remember, too, that most of the population simply by the numbers, will never get promoted. There simply are just so many higher management positions. Unless you stand out you're only ever going to have a go nowhere job, you'll make enough to get by, but fame and fortune are for the few who are willing to work their asses off to get it, and it's obvious to hiring managers that those types of people are still extremely rare. Kids today watch TV and think it's reality, that everyone gets the job they want, gets promoted, loves their job, and makes tons of money. That's not reality. Reality is usually scraping by financially to get through school, finding a job in some random company because it's all you can get, then spending the rest of your working life doing some mundane tasks in order to make enough money to support yourself and then get married and continue to have to budget carefully in order to buy a house and have a child or two. Then get old , retire on a pension worth maybe half what your final salary was, and continue to be mindful of your budget as you grow old . THAT'S REALITY FOR ABOUT 90 OF THE POPULATION. And guess what, you're probably going to be in that 90. So find the joy in the little things of life, because very few ever get to be in that top 10.	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/330	0.606
Millennials are about 30 years old now.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/7	14.286
D.E.B.B.HA! So if I am not willing to 'prove' my skills ON TOP OF the 22 years of PROVEN TRAINING by working FOR FREE for an arbitrary time period, I am entitled?!Oh boy, the rent be damned!You know, BOOMER 'capitalism' sounds an awful lot like COMMUNISM, where only YOU enjoy the fruits of my labor ... Libtard .	Libtard	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/60	1.667
D.E.B. B "If you're as good as you think you are, you'll get a paying job."No, that's not how the world works. Nice job teaching people to get exploited by offering to work for free, though. You've just proven that you're the entitled spoiled brat .	Brat	Age - Youngsters	1/46	2.174
If they wouldn't get a major in Art's and other dumb crap many people would hire them for better jobs	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/20	5.0

Blake T we did actually, I did in 2012 because I am from long island and we had a super storm called Sandy, which led to a gas ration. But even then, I couldn't afford much beyond gas to get to work because i got paid so little and gas was very expensive.but that isn't even important. Only now as an adult do I see how completely the world changed and how my generation was shaped by the aftermath of September 11th. The whole mental health crisis I hear about now I can trace back to those events. I was a small child and saw the whole thing play out, and the economy crashing after that. I'm just happy that I made it through and still have my family. It was a very dark time and I hope children today never have to see anything like that.	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/147	0.68
Cheek Cheek yep and I had CA wild fires destroy my condo with a 5 month old escaping with our lives, and went through an earthquake that shut down water and freeways for a few days, had a ice storm that took out electricity for a week..etc etc..your point is ? Sorry you went through but your generation is not alone.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/61	1.639
Cheek Cheek no that's what you're doing...you just act like no other generation had challenges. Nothing different. Your immaturity is you were the only ones. Give it a break,	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/29	3.448
Blake T and this is why it's easy for millennials to see baby boomers are full of crap: if you had to go through tough times, you needed to work hard, you would have the qualities of a strong person, like patience, maturity, self control. In the posts you wrote, you showed impatience, insecurity, and a lack of personal accountability and lack of self awareness. What a blessed life you must have lived if you have gone through life without getting the hammer brought down on you! If I spoke like that to my parents I would have been writing lines and grounded from anything fun for days! You haven't earned anything and it shows in your lack of intelligence and entitled attitude. You're doing a good job of making baby boomers look like high maintenance little old brats, no wonder they wrecked housing and job markets and polluted the planet! Everything is about you!	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/155	0.645
E A that just feeds the corporate machine, they can hire and fire as many of us as they want. Why do you think there's such a high turnover rate. True unemployment is down but that has nothing to do with everyone working a single job. Most of us are working two jobs then come home to our apartment with a drug den next door haha. We aren't entitled, we just want our fucking due	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/75	1.333

Nice diatribe against the public and industry INSTEAD of against LAZY PARENTS and OVERBEARING PARENTS and the "Millennials" that are looking for someone to "blame" for their lack of backbone, patience.... and guts... Dealt a bad hand? No fault of their own???? Nice applause.... the audience must have been filled with 100 Millennials seeking justification for their crappy lot in life AND BEING TOLD THAT IT IS NOT THEIR FAULT LOL.... Give me a break.... Common sense is available to everyone and FREE to see in real life (YOU CAN CHOOSE TO DEVELOP COMMON SENSE OR YOU CAN CHOOSE TO BE "CLUELESS"....) WHICH IT APPEARS MILLENNIALS HAVE CHOSEN THE LATTER.... IF YOU HIRE ONE OF THESE CLUELESS MILLENNIALS, THEN YOU HAVE SCREWED YOURSELF AND YOU MUST DEAL WITH THEM YOURSELF... IT IS not THE COMPANY'S JOB TO UNDO the LACK of Decent Parenting.... Actually the BEST course of action is the easiest... try and sort out the good ones and do not hire the entitled ones.... Personally I never hire someone right out of college, they must have three to four years of work experience (post college) before I will consider them for hiring.... Please note that Low self esteem is earned.... as is HIGH SELF ESTEEM.... the same thing with confidence.... Also Challenging what you have been told (EVEN FROM YOUR PARENTS) is also common sense... If you believe all this BS being feed to you by parents, society, ... etc.... That you ARE "Special" THEN you DESERVE the results of believing that BS!!!! No one is special unless you MAKE YOURSELF Special.... Get over it.... GROW UP, accept responsibility for your life, TAKE ACTION, GROW A BACKBONE and move on.....	Common	Social Class - Working class	3/282	1.064
97k ppl are dumb old fucks	Dumb, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/6	33.333
Blind Squid great suggestions, interesting opinions , i am not sure ,i am guessing 'Sm" for social media ? unfortunately being sociable is not one of my strong points . being a car profile is more comforting..... again thanks for input .	Blind	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/42	2.381

Old people do not even realize that they made a shitty world and we, the young people, have to pay for they mistakes, polution, war, poverty, slavery, and the stupid political system that produce all of that.	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/37	5.405
Born in 96 and none of this shit is relevant. Don't forget a lot of us grew up pre social media, pre modern bull shit like this dumb ass talk	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/30	3.333
They have hacked your brains and social media and cell phones are more addictive then crack. No matter how hard you try you can't put your phone away and never will be able to for the rest of your life. You can quit cigarettes and smoking or alcohol but you will never be able to quit your phone. They have hacked your brain and Facebook Amazon Google are getting rich and destroying society and we are becoming idiots. The President is on Twitter. Great.....	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	1/86	1.163
Nonsense, the real problem is the overpopuation, lack of employment, those of older generations not comprehending this fact and education becoming hellishly expensive as well as property pricing going through the roof and older generations stuck in old mindsets, a lot of them had it easy, they could keep their 40 year careers as well as their wonderful salaries, today the ratio of people to the amount of work available is insane, that is why a lot of us are flogged out of our positions after 1 to 4 years and not to mention being severly underpaid! Oh and this video has so many likes as these are all the OLD PEOPLE LIKING TO FEEL BETTER ABOUT THEMSELVES, DUMB VIDEO!	Dumb, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/120	2.5
I'm a millennial born in 1989. But I honestly feel that I have avoided a lot of these bad things. I don't have social media I have it up when I was 19 cuz I noticed that it made me feel bad about myself. I didn't go to college. I just worked and made money. Bought a house at 24. Got married at 26. And now at 29 I'm having my first baby. I see so many people my age still stuck in the 'college' phase of life. I mean I'm definitely still a product of some of these things but somehow I've avoided a lot of these bad things.	Age	Age - General	1/110	0.909
Well u dumb old fucks. U must lead by example.	Dumb, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/10	20.0

I think this is a man insecure about his age	Age	Age - General	1/10	10.0
Im a Millenial , we are a 50/50 generation I like to say . Half good , half bad . Ive met a lot of highly successful Millenials that are doing a lot better than most people Ive met in their 40s . I used to work for a boss and now at 28 I work for myself and contract with other companies . Ive worked from 6am to 9pm some days for myself with one break , ive chased my dreams and am getting better at life everyday. Now the one thing that pisses me off is constantly hearing about how much of a shitty generation we are . Ive met more messed up older people through out my jobs with messed up relationships and family problems with different kids from different couples etc and work to know that our generation is not so bad lol another thing ive learned is that being older doesn't make you wiser especially when ive met older people who like to preach about how to live life even though they have gotten no where in life to begin with , living life like shit doesn't entitle anyone to think they can give advice to younger generations , living a shit life just means you are still shit at 50. I think the term being old and wise is outdated and bullshit because you can also be old and absolutely stupid. In saying all this I know I sound arrogant but its true from my life experience , ive met very few older people who inspired me to be better everyday apart from my Family and some older friends .	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/276	0.725
You mean the generation that grew up with iPhones and iPads while in kindergarten?? Lol a 5 year old with a $1000 phone. What a great idea	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/27	3.704
The weak think they are strong. Millennials have more common sense.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/11	9.091
The fact that there are people who laugh about this is so sad. This is a real problem, nothing to laugh about. I don' t want to generalize people's character but those people laughing in the beackground are probably not millennials	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/41	2.439
What a crock of $h!t. Buck up or buck out.	Buck	Ethnicity - Black	2/10	20.0

As a millennial, I do not relate to this. I'm a millennial that do not care for extreme cellphone usage nor have a social media account. The problem with these studies is how they lump every millennial together which add to the problem. I'm just going to put it out there. The reason why I struggled after high school because I graduated a year after the recession. When jobs were closing, everyone was going after everything. When I say everything, I mean everything. Entry level jobs were being taken by people with experience, the jobs that interview me did it more to meet their required interview quota and most did not want to consider me because I was a college student despite applying for hours opposite of my classes. The problem is not climbing the mountain, it's finding one. In college, I wanted a job I can work from the bottom up and was willing to work at places temporarily for a few years until I found one. They wouldn't have it. I applied for a hospital housekeeping job where you are cleaning the floors and nasty rooms people stayed in. It said there is no experience required and they would train on the application description. I applied for it, waited for a week and called for the status of my application to show I am still interested. Now, remember they put the job is entry level. I called the HR and they said this to me, "don't take this the wrong way or anything, but why don't you work at a fast food place for a few months and then apply again." So despite the job being entry level and they would train you, they want someone with experience. I ran into multiple jobs that say entry level and not consider people with 0 experience. The job pays $10 an hour, which isn't enough to live on your own in my city. A typical fast food job pays $7-8 hourly where you work 1-3 days a week and work less than 5 hours on the job. And I know all of that because I did take a fast food job after all the decent entry level options turned me down. The bad thing about working a job with those hours, pay and days is not finding anything decent even AFTER months of doing it. So I did the next best/horrible thing by applying for desperate jobs on craigslist. Desperate jobs are desperate for a reason. They ran a bunch of people out and is looking for people in mass. I applied for one and found out the hard way WHY past employees ran out. Depending on season, you are working 13+ hours on your feet and your brakes cut. Instead of working to live, you are living to work. Instead of staying with your parents because you cannot afford it, you are there because you don't have the free time to house search. But this time you have health issues because you are over worked. So I agree with the statements in this video. Corporations are shady as well. Thankfully I found a job with offers me a mountain to climb and I ain't EVER planning on leaving. It has great benefits, great hours, great promotional opportunities, don't lie about training entry level people and great wage's. I've hit the jackpot.	Lump	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/562	0.178
---	------	---------------------------------------	-------	-------

I hire damn near exclusively millenials. They are the most educated generation ever, and have trouble finding jobs in the fields for which they were educated largely because our generation has failed miserably with job creation, latching on to things like the coal industry rather than finding suitable replacement for coal, and the jobs lost in the coal mines. These are motivated kids who by virtue of when they were born and the failures of their parents generation are stuck in economic purgatory. Without creating new jobs to replace dying industries, and boomers saying in jobs longer because we cant retire, these youngsters don't have the same advantages we did in terms of job market, wages, cost of goods etc. They have to pay more than we did while making less and rather than accepting our fault we saddle the generation we raised with blame. Being a younger boomer (58) I would like to out live the rest of my age group and see where things are after they've stopped dragging us down.	Age	Age - General	1/173	0.578
This is another undocumented clickbait video gathering together all the tv fake news and cliches with no serious statistics and research backup.Here is a few hints . Previous generations promised us an easy future after finishing university, we are still processing that big lie. We are not as interested in money as previous generations, we prefer to work in places with basic ethical red lines. We are not gonna tolerate more exploitation just because it is "an opportunity" to work . We are trying to manage all the shit previous generations did. Anyway you do not care about this, because you generated you emotional porn for the babyboomers and succesfully created a shitty clickbait despite this "millenial facts" infoxication is getting so big that is affecting us in real life, making every opinion we have treated like a childish nonsense.	Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Native- American	2/141	1.418
lol just because your an elder doesn't mean u deserve respect, all through my life Iv been told things by older people that turned out to be absolute horseshit.	Elder	Age - Over 65s	1/29	3.448

Synth Wave Dreamin Believe me, getting older doesn't come with free respect... neither does being smarter than the average bear ;-) It actually gets you the opposite of respect :-s But same here, been told too much horseshit as a kid... So I went on my own critisizing search for 'the true truth', but I mostly found more lies :-s So if you want to me to crumble your belief in this system, all you have to do is ask... I can debunk most of this society as outright lies to manipulate ya'll. But I've hardly found any truth in this world, so I had to define most of it myself ;-) By critically analizing lies and cross linking the lies... now, all these lies serve to steer you away from what is right, just, and actually plain logic(if you isolate yourself from stupid society-cheerleaders it all becomes much clearer)... So, the truth must be the thing they try to steer you away from... Deductability, dear Watson :-p Youth is often smarter and more pure than 'grown ups'. In my experience a persons character is most beautifull around 14-23y old ... But once they start working, they all turn to shit! They literaly start regressing back to a the mental lvl of a 10y old , while turning backstabbing bastard for the rest ;-) Some even revert back to kindergarden lvl: painting, play pretend, etc. Now A GOOD PART OF MILLENIALS HAS BEEN RAISED BY THESE KINDERGARDEN ADULTS... I don't blame them, I blame their enviroment for not setting better examples	Mental, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/259	1.158
4Guy I'm not forcing you to read anything ;-) Ya little troll ;-) If you can't even read, do you really believe YOU are intresting enough to add a comment to it? Braindead zombies are overrunning society ;-) You're a disease :-p What a waste of comment space, what a waste of skin ya are, what a waste of life?! Wants to be heard but has nothing to say ;-) I'm pretty sure a few extra animals and plants on the world and a few less you's in the world, would make it a better place for all of us ;-) IMHO excelsior or die!!!	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/105	0.952
B B So you're basing a whole generation off of an experience you had at a fast food chain? You know that one person doesn't speak for 80 million people, right? It's fast food.. where 98 of the people who work their hate their jobs and their lives. I've had experiences from both young and old people at restaurants that don't greet you. There's plenty of old people who work fast food who hate where they ended up and will be rude. Paid minimum wage to service 50+ people per hour, do you expect those people to lay a red carpet out for you? People are just people, regardless of your age or generation you came from. My great-grandma was one of the nastiest people I've ever met.. Never smiled or had anything good to say about anyone.	Age, Old, Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Native-American	5/138	3.623

TONICSS says troll no3 ;-) Why don't ya 'fakers' use your primary accounts on me? Why these profiles with hardly anything on them ;-) Shall I point out again: members of the Golden Dawn have to make that public... So plz, show me your REAL faces or just f off :-p Add some in depth counter arguments in stead of making stupid remarks ;-) When it all comes crashing down, your IP's can still be traced ;-) Unless your military lvl, secret service or the corporate equivalent ;-) Grtz, the Golden ZeroOw, and I just happen to reply so often because I still have the pop-up notification on for Youtube... If this keeps going at this rate, I'll just turn them off. And then I'll reply as often as I check facebook: once every 3 to 7 days ;-)	Zero	Age - Youngsters	1/140	0.714
The Truth this comment bit has been divirging away from the vid from the start, as I commented in reply to... Helping them is getting involved: - by setting a better rolemodel for some1 who's lacking it...- or put effort into gradually talking in on the parents untill they are more committed and involved in the upbringing of their kid. The 'targetted talks' are just a fraction of it, as you'll find the adults have a lot of problems on their mind or are just depressed into a zomie-like state. Sleep, work, eat is all that's left for them for good part of the time, and they drag themselves thru the day counting away the minutes :-s Nearly every1 in this world has less real friends and ppl they can lean on then they need :-s- going for society in general, the building up style: trying to 'increase overall morale' and thus hopefullness and joy-capacity (they're linked, unless you're killin your braincells). Thus being some1 ppl can turn to and trust when they have it ruff, as that's what everybody seems to be missing... because when that 'social safety-net' sytematically fails, that's when you'll see 1 person after the other 'expire' and turn superficial backstabbing egoist(mostly with lots of damage to the group they belonged to, before they move on and out of your life) :-s The support role is what I used to do.- going for society in general, crusader style: manouvering and even taking out harmfull elements to protect groups that haven't turned sour yet... There's a whole lot of trolls, CONs and slave-enthousiasts out there. You know, sometimes in a group you have 1-2 persons that kinda systematically pick on the rest to always have it their way, always be considered 'better', and such. The 'crusader goal' is to disrupt such activities. I always say, ppl can make themselves happy, np... What they need is a break from the shitpile that is life :-s So they can build up a stable and secure position in life: job, some good friends that can be trusted, a steady partener in stead of getting stuck in the 'blowjobs for the driver' system. For millenials, I think their selfimage is something that needs to be put up front. Without falling into the gratification for nothing trap. So they'd learn what well-earned pride is, that's something our system also tries to deny	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/403	0.248

Socrates, plato and aristotle were lame asses - 2019 AD, said by Me.	Lame	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/13	7.692
Scrub annihilator I've solved the little 'energy riddle' and I can restore the old underground irrigation channels ;-) Thus making Africa into a new Amazon forest! The corporate is responsible for covering that stuff up, and using the old irrigation channels to house military bases and secret research!!! Now I'll let you in on a secret: I don't need money to restore it as these underground irrigation channels were built before we invented money ;-) I could just start playing Napoleon, all I need is workforce and resources, both are plentyfull in Africa... So I don't need the corporate, I need them to stop abstucting/sabotaging this!!!!!! The corporate can bow to this movement, or the corporate has to be eradicated ;-) Everything for free!! Away with profits!!!! Away with capitalist abuse!!!!	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/131	1.527
I agree with that but Millenials do actually suck there zombie iPad baby's who want attention and fame and have no respect and told that there all special and gods gift to the world fuck those little twats back in my day we RESPECTED people that's out the window now terrible parenting mixed with the media controlling there little minds from a young age .	Age	Age - General	1/64	1.562
dickhead625 no it gives me someone to shit on and disrespect, people look down on my generation and im really tired of being stepped on so you know what im gonna get my satisfaction, being respectful is kinda boring as well especially to these fat asses walking all around this country that I work tirelessly for every fucking day.	Fat	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/59	1.695
P E Yea... no. I'm Gen X (born 1975) and 90 of my friends are Gen X, and none of us complain about millenials.. We all complain about baby boomers. They are the ones who ruined this world with their spoiled and entitled behaviors. Only a dumb generation of people known as the baby boomers would deny global warming and believe the earth will just "fix itself".	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/67	1.493
Ghost'f ChristmasPast taking ideas and weaving them into a semi coherent message. You are a smart schizo, but dumb enough to think that you know something no one else does, or few do.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/33	3.03

Ghost’f ChristmasPast Smart, correct, right thinking. Too bad MIL gen. does not have attention span to read it. History of human race stupidity started way back in the past, from the point in time when ppl were able to create accumulated wealth (extra value) , ”money invention” and ”religion as control tool”. All that fueled with greed resulted with war after war and periods of wounds licking, while secretly planning and searching for a new ”targets”. It was always about ”think BIG”, newer be smart. Latest wars were about ”resources” and profit for 1 more than ever before. Tendency to merge everything at the end only creates big monopoly(s). Tendency from company to corporation to merger and than it grows up to a state-country level. Now governments are ”flexing” their muscles at each other - trying to sell-or-win markets ANY WHERE that matters. Creation of EU is step toward one world government. Europe is loosing national, cultural and racial identity pretty fast with this constructed ”migration tactics”.Fake democracy everywhere, illusion of choice (except what donuts to buy :-)) mass media brain washing and reinventing ”conflicts” among people and DISTRACTING commoners with ”important” ”new gender inventions”, SJW, YOU2 , BADRUSSIANS, STOPCHINA-Progress-BAD5G-tech, buy-this-that, LIBERTARDS , MY-GOD/YOUR-GOD MYRIGHTS, BADTRUMP, BLACKLIFEMATTERS POLITICAL CORRECTNESS or BUST ... etc. And while RICH people are going to the bank to unload moneybags, YOU on the other hand are standing in FOOD bank line, unemployed or paid min-wages, with no pension plan part timer, no health care, affordable housing, fighting to keep your small business afloat against corp. taxman and rising Asian market. Western world is ”producing” less and less. Before Reagan era, say 50-60’s middle class growth generated goods and purchasing power as well. No more!CEO had have 5-10 x average salary plus bonus, today few hundred times is more likely happens. Unions were dismantled first, hey coal-workers say HAY to Meggie Tacher. At least here in Canada, what you see on ”sunshine list” is that: top 5 in every mayor city belongs to Health Care CEO’s, BANK CEO’s follow, ENERGY sector as well, PHARMACEUTICAL. But NO manufacturing related CEO’s. They don’t teach you school monetary skills at all. You learn this too late from ”fine print section”. No vaccine for GREED. Big PURGE, or REVOLUTION?? Fat chance, need to check fb.This is not going to end well for our children or their kids. Thank you for reading.	Fat, Gender, Race	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical Features	3/406	0.739
--	-------------------	--	-------	-------

Ghost'f ChristmasPast Your comment is basically ignorant. You pointed out a key factor why the newer generations always disappoint the later ones, have no manners, are selfcentered and have narcissistic characteristics. That is because we always think we're smarter then our parents. But the reality is that we are not (at least for a vast majority) The truth is that the youth is so incredibly ignorant due to their lack in experience. They just haven't lived long enough to understand things better.Unfortunately we do have many who stay stuck in their juvenile ways of thinking, and they contribute to this youth behavior. They seam to think our youths ignorance plays to their advantage, and try to use manipulation.But that's just ignorance in their part, because they still have much more growing, and learning to do.In time you start to see ignorance from lack of experience does not equal stupid, and in fact the newer generations are indeed smarter then their peers, they just need time to gain some life experience. When we mistake ignorance with lack of intelligence it fuels the ego, and because of their ignorance they interpret that ignorance the exact same way.But lacking life experience doesn't mean someone is stupid, only that we haven't crossed that plain, and are yet to learn.In reality today's youth is smarter than their peers, and by the end of their life they have the potential to learn more than their parents. It's part of our evolution, and why we continue to addvance in every field, and aspect. But being smarter does not equal knowing more. You still have much to learn, and your potential is greater.I'm old enough to understand that, and humble enough to addmit it, and accept it. There's nothing wrong with it, and it doesn't make anyone lesser than what they are. Denial won't make you greater either. But if you are young then you don't have to believe anything I say. Everyone goes through life, and the only way to learn is through trial and error.Newer generations tend to have greater potential. Just be careful with those narcissistic behaviors, and thinking so highly of yourself. We stop growing when we believe we know it all. There's always more you can learn, don't matter who or where you get it from. We caould always learn from everywhere, even children, and animals. There are so many that believe just because they know more then someone else there is nothing they can learn from them. Just look at why we have Greed, Envy, Hate, Selfishness and so on.	Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	3/435	0.69
---	--------------	----------------------------------	-------	------

Many thing wrong with this qoute :”The children now love luxury; they have bad manners, contempt for authority; they show disrespect for elders and love chatter in place of exercise. Children are now tyrants, not the servants of their households. They no longer rise when elders enter the room. They contradict their parents, chatter before company, gobble up dainties at the table, cross their legs, and tyrannize their teachers.” -Socrates (469–399 B.C.)”Children are the image of the parents, if they are poor, so do the children.Children less likely to have fear of authority if they do not own much or any property. Elder have to show respect in order to get them, having to receive respect regardless of what they do just cause they are elder is entitled thinking.Having to rise just when elder /senior/superiority enter the room is what military-state nation will do. (Just look at singapore NS).Each have their own mindset and thinking, just because they contradict the parent, doesn’t mean the children are pure rude, they now life in a different era then yours. A different norms and different time line.	Elder, Nation	Age - Over 65s, Nationality - General	3/187	1.604
Synth Wave Dreamin I’m 35 and there is far ruder far more entitled old people, but at least there generation was successful this one will fail it’s impossible it won’t need to be proper up in the next 50 yrs. Mellenials the lame generation.	Lame, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/44	4.545
You had me until you said that the responsibility for fixing the problem lies on the companys’ shoulders. I’m sorry but that’s like saying that an entire generation of individuals are victims and there is nothing they can do about it so someone else has to fix them. They may have been dealt a bad hand but they are grown people who can recognize this within themselves and take steps to fix it.personal responsibility is something that they were not brought up with and it’s time they learned it.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/89	1.124
I’m just happy my dad always kept it real... I told him when I was 6 I didn’t want to play soccer and I just wanted to chill instead. He said just chilling is lame and you’ll become a loser or something along those lines. We never kept any of the participation trophies either, and he was pissed when trophies were given to everyone.	Lame	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/64	1.562
Safee Ilmudeen I am 19 years old and I don’t know the answer to your question	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/16	6.25

As a 44 year veteran of the corporate world I can say without question that leadership (ie....those who lead) is at an all time low for QUALITY individuals. Now, those leading most often have far less experience than those they are leading. This is a reversal from the 70's and 80's where SENIOR people with tons of experience, led organizations. Not any more. Putting that into real world situations.....if you were a soldier, would you want to follow a rookie with no battle experience into battle as your LEADER ? I think not.	Senior	Age - Over 65s	1/93	1.075
Statistically majority of millennials all over the world are leftist, liberalist, indoctrinated, commercialist, adulterous, globalist, materialistic youth that had destroyed the moral fabric and naturalistic characteristic of a society. They are ignorant sheep, alcoholic and had more lust towards Beer, dance fashion, video games, celebrity shows, music, social media, movies, adultery and porn. Infact they had raised those trends. They are the most arrogant, irresponsible generation who had raised the culture of self projection. Millennials are indoctrinated sheep who stress and live the culture of group think and collectivism. Millennials are ignorant, corporate mindset gen who never question the authority. The millennials literally always summons the Satan. Millennials market had been saturated and declined. Generation Z are more conservative, ideology, philosophers, idividualist, intellectuals, creative thinkers and nationalist,. Mostly people in that Z generation will break the Chains of globilists, group enslavement, racism , zionisms, One World Orders, economic, political, social, moral and cultural crisis in this World. While Generation Z keeps on questioning the authority.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/164	0.61
phones n' social media n' all that should be illegal until you're 18 years old	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/15	6.667

Some of what he says is true. Helicopter parenting, parents telling teachers "you can't tell my kid no or talk to him like that" is a major part of the problem. Let the teachers educate your kids and stay out of the teachers face unless they are really doing something wrong. Also parents need to stop acting like their child walks on water or is made of glass. Teach them Independence and a good work ethic. Every generation can claim they were delt a bad hand but at some point you need to take personal responsibility for the things you do and stop blaming everyone else. Our schools need revamped, without a doubt. Some teachers should find another job. But stop treating kids as though everything they do is worthy of a medal. Tell them no once in a while. Make them play outside and use their imagination. No one is helping any of these kids by coddling them instead of preparing them for the real world. Don't give them a diploma they didn't earn. Keep cell phones out of the class..period. Base success on test score not "they failed but i think they really tried so I'll let them pass". NO! Make them earn that grade. We are the only country i am aware of that puts emphasis on a graduation rates and very little on test scores or proving the child actually learned anything. Example of how this "just pass them and don't hurt their feelings" crap is failing kids. The other day i went to pick up a pizza from pizza hut. The highschool aged girl who brought out my order couldn't even read my name off the PRINTED receipt. Snowflake parenting and snowflake schools are producing snowflakes. It needs to stop. As a parent myself i can tell you it is worse than you think and we all need to make it stop at whatever the cost.	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	2/321	0.623
I agree and then disagree with what you are saying just by the simple fact that you are labeling a whole generation as lazy or egotistic. I think that will imply to anyone that grew up without any struggles and their parents babied them the entire time. On the other hand you have people like me that never experienced getting anything I wanted, and life taught me since a very young age that nothing is fair! Ive literally had to work for everything that I have. So you should change the title to 'SNOBBY MIDDLE TO UPPER CLASS KIDS'	Age, Nothing	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	2/99	2.02

The structure of marriage is broken, I cant afford housing, the jobs that would let one support themselves on a blue collar wage dried up and went to China, there is food made by scientists to be addictive all around me and nobody knows how to cook, and an easy escape is always nearby with the use of my smart phone, computer, gaming console or legalized marijuana and opiates. No regular access to sex but there is porn. No savory nutritional food but there is taco bell. Soy is in everything. I mean what the fuck do you want from me. I worked my ass off in warehouses but my back cant handle it anymore. I'm planning on moving to the midwest because I cant afford the coast. They fucked us. This isnt thr country that is was for the previous generation. Everything you need to physically survive is available but the things that a person needs to be sane arent.	Nobody, Sex	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	2/161	1.242
I was making a delivery once on a very cold day. As routine they phoned the receiving dept for a fork truck for me. After a while i asked what was taking so long. A new hire refused to come out and do his job. So an old guy did. "What's going on" i said. The company hired a bunch of new guys to save $. The new guy said: "i ain't goin out there" but it's your job! "I don't care, it's too dam cold."	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/86	1.163
I hate these fcking kids. I have one. I hate the kid, I can't get it out of my house.. it's going to be 21.. omg.. I am going to have to leave or die to be free.Yeh, poor them! Hate them.I did too much for my kid. We need to go back to old school ways. Thanks Dad, you were right.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/64	1.562
I stood in a crowd of 20-25 year old people and not one did I see take a break from their smartphones. The longest I seen one off their phone was 5 minutes	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/33	3.03
All Things Cars I've sat in a room full of old people & not one did I see take a break from their newspapers or magazines. The longest I seen one looking away from their paper was 30 seconds because he had a burping fit, probably from acid reflux	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/49	2.041
Pussy Millenials	pussy	Nationality - Chinese	1/2	50.0
I get angry when I get a text. I've deleted all social media a little over two years ago. I work my ass off at work, I chose to have a physical job. I dont kiss anyones ass to move up in my work place because i was raiced to earn my keep by hard work.I spend maybe two hrs a day looking at YouTube videos . Donts I don't drink alcohol I don't smoke anything I don't play video gamesI don't follow any sportsI don't take any drugs prescribed or illegal. Do'sI travel I hike I camp I ride my bicycle to workI read real books paper books I listen to real music from 1950s to 1990s I Lived in a homestead for 4 years with my grandmother.I was born in 1985 therefore I am considered a fucking millennial.	Hike, alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol, Nationality - Italian	2/145	1.379

I think the real problem was only touched on close to the end and that is the "lack of good leadership" today. I should qualify that as the lack of mature and unselfish leadership. I miss the mentors who managed me in my younger years. Sometimes they were irritating in their old ways, but now that they are gone I see their true value and how much we've lost with their passing. And yes, I watched what was happening to parenting in the 80s and it was clear then we were in for a rocky future. It was the "me decade" after all and children were inconvenient.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/107	0.935
Millennials stop letting other generations tell you that you are the worst generation. Next time an old person tells you are the worst, respond to them and say will you hated people based on the color of their skin and separated them because you felt like black people carry diseases and you also still believe that your government is for you, so who's the stupid one. You had to have a whole movement to tell you that separating people was wrong and you're calling millennials the stupid one OK	Black, Old	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Black	2/89	2.247
BTW, when you drink alcohol , it's not the dopamine that makes you high, it's the alcohol that makes you high.	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	2/20	10.0
So I should be a faggot that can draw pictures? Tell me who the failure is? Good job for your YouTube success. Your runaway dad would be proud.	Faggot	Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	1/28	3.571

you know i did not really have any social media or phone use till i was 17 and let me tell you life sucked dick before hand and didn't make me feel any better what so ever when i got a phone because now i get bothered by people more often on my phone than in person and if i could get away with never owning a phone i would only drawback is i need a phone for work and when your family finds out you have a phone they want your number then their friends want your number i liked things when i was younger and you could avoid people but internet and phones made that shit sooooo much harder to just have some peace n fucking quiet i do not enjoy life or other human beings to be honest in my opinion human beings are parasitic garbage that just waste resources time energy and steal from each other and monopolize things that should not cost money and it is pretty funny how every person no matter a lot or a little is racist why cannot we just see each other as another human instead of black man or white guy or Hispanic to be honest who in the flying fuck cares whether you came from Africa or Germany or mexico because at the end of the day no matter what color you are social status or even where the fuck you came from you are gonna die one day so why go out of your way to fuck with other people that you do not like because he just has a different pigment and that is the reason i am depressed/have a feeling of no purpose because every single day i wake up go outside or do anything i am bombarded with these stupid things everyday and btw you can be a grammar fuck boy idgaf because if i could chose to have learned a language i would not have chosen one because communicating with people is a waste of time and effort when i can just do it myself and to cover all bases only reason i commented this is because i felt like it tbh i know my outlook on life is probably the lowest of the views on life and blah blah and i do not think i am some edgy special fuck just typing how i feel about life and my current viewpoint on it so go ahead insult me berate me it is fine it just proves my viewpoint and thought process

Black, Racist

Ethnicity -
Black,
Ethnicity -
General

2/429

0.466

Not really, it's all this stupid fucking SJW bullshit and they think they know everything, now that point is hard to argue for because most of the generation that comes after the millennials are largely conservative due to internet and social media openness, the leftest are very few, either your views are mostly mixed or in the middle but right wing or your on the right side there is a silent group but tbh let's be real, thier not silent at all their annoying, cringey, and dont get anything done, you know those cringey loud obnoxious kids in high school that sit on the floor that try to be funny but are cringey and over dramatic and loud and annoying? Yeah, sadly that's 75 percent of the leftest or liberals right there, you cant put a blanket statement and say "that bullshit, liberals are everywhere!!!" No thier not, some Republicans can be liberal some Democrats can be conservative and some conservatives can have leftest views and some liberals can have right wing views, but when it comes to everything, statistics , science, theres more conservatives and even my self a 16 year old self aware boy is a conservative, and I live in what is considered a liberal state that vote democratic during presidential elections, and yet it has voted Republican for the last 3 decades.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/226	0.442
--	-----	----------------	-------	-------

WELL....YOU CAN DO WHAT YOU NOW DO.....OR WE GOT THIS SLEDGE HAMMER OVER HERE AND HEAVY GLOVES, AND STEEL TOED BOOTS..OH...DO DO CHOOSE..DO YOU NEED A LITTLE TIME OUT?A COOKIE? WHINY WINGEING'....AGAIN...ET AGAIN.....EVER SWITCHED A BOXCAR....?DROVE /FIXED A FORKLIFT?.HOOKED STEEL WITH 100+ POUND CHAINS TO LIFT?HOOK STEEL (12 X 50 LB PER INCH "I" BEAMS 60 FEET LONG)IN 3 FEET OF BETHLEHEM PENNSYLVANIA SNOW IMPORTED IN JANUARY WHILE BREATHING COAL SMOKE TRAPPED UNDER THE ROOF CAUSE THE GAS CO RATIONED GAS THAT WINTER??..EVER GET STRUCK ON THE LEG BY A 517 POUND I BEAN THAT WAS DROPPED BY A DEFECTIVE CLAMP WHEN YOU WERE ON THE JOB 2 WEEKS AND COULDN'T GET COMPENSATED PROPERLY OR GET SET-UP FOR A REPETITIVE STRESS INJURY.....EVER SWING A SLUBJAMMUH? 20 POUND? .HAND WRESTLED TRACTOR TIRES ONTO A PALLET?...SACKED GROCERIES? EVER LIVED IN A WORLD WHERE MAMA AND DADA DID NOT AFFORD FOR YOU TO PLAY FRAT RAT OR ENTITLED YOU SELF AGGRANDIZING UNDER EDUCATED BUT OVER ENTITLED BOOR? EVER WALKED TO WORK ALL WINTER TO GUY AN 19 YEAR OLD CA AND STILL WALK UNTIL YOUR COULD AFFORD INSURANCE? EVER MISSED OUT IN YOUR LIFE CAUSE YOU COULDN'T AFFORD A CAR ERGO NO DECENT JOB WHATSOEVER? EVER HAD TO PUT FOLDED CARDBOARD IN YOUR SHOE IN 7TH GRADE CAUSE YOUR PARENTS COULDN'T QUITE AFFORD YOUR NEW EASTER SHOES YET AND YOUR SHOE WORE THROUGH?? EVER LOOKED AT THE BOTTOM OF YOUR FEET AFTER THE CARDBOARD WORE THROUGH 1/2WAY HOME FROM SCHOOL YOUR FRESHMAN YEAR?...EVER HAD A FAMILY THAT HAD TO HAVE 2 COUNT THEM (NOT A SECOND BUT 2 FULL MORTGAGES UNTIL THEY COULD SELL A WHITE FLIGHT HOUSE AND IT TOOK 4 YEARS????)2 MORTGAGES CAUSE THEY HAD TO BUY ANOTHER HOUSE TO KEEP YOU AND SIBLINGS IN ELEMENTARY HIGH SCHOOL CAUSE YOU WERE ZONED TO A UNATTENDABLE GHETTO SCHOOL.....ATTEND AND BE ASSAULTED..WITH WEAPONS? OH AND IT WAS ONLY 10 MILES OF PEDESTRIAN WORK FROM HOME....NO ONE TO RIDE WITH.....YOUR FRIENDS LIVED UP TO 200 FEET AWAY BUT ANOTHER SCHOOL SEEM SO NO RIDES COMING??EVER HAD TO WALK HOME AT 10:00 PM FROM WINN-DIXIE IN DRIVING FREEZING RAIN CAUSE NO CAR, NO MONEY NO NOTHING CAUSE YOUR FAMILY WAS RENDERED WORKING POOR BY GOVERNMENT TARDS? EVER HAD TO GET UP AT 4 AM TO HUMP TIRES IN A WAREHOUSE?....EVER DONE ANYTHING BUT DRINK AND PARTY IN COLLEGE JUST CAUSE YOU COULD?EVER HAD A PAIR OF MIN WED BLUE JEANS,,A PAIR OF TUES THURS BLUE JEANS AND A PAIR OF WHITE	Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	2/656	0.305
--	--------------	--	-------	-------

I find it funny that this is all about them getting fulfillment behind a desk but swinging a hammer never comes up because their just to fucking lame to work an actual physical job. 1st world bitch ass kid problems lol	Lame	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/41	2.439
Yet there's no escaping this manufactured pestilence and the scripted Armageddon that will ensue. All created out of lust for power and avarice. The issues society faces today are insurmountable. No man woman government or corporation can alter the course they have chosen. We may as well of all been lobotomized.	Woman	Gender - General	1/51	1.961
Old pricks use overly simplistic stereotypes of 78.8 million people then wonder why the country is fuck up.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/18	5.556
I relate to none of this? Millenials struggle because we're stuck in a cycle of being underpaid,being in debt, not being able to enter an industry because of lack of experience and/or contacts, not affording housing, healthcare or starting a family, there's global warming, corruption, consumerism, corporate propaganda, with that and the current political/social/economic climate there's nothing to look forward to. But sure yeah, blame it on facebook or whatever.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/70	1.429
Sounds like yer describing israel. Pick up $10bil a day for doing nothing , sitting in Tel Aviv cafe's mooching off others to fight wars for them... We are expected to swallow this BS unchallenged? Yeah you can expect a lot more disinterested people in the future Shimon. If jews get money for nothing why can't we ?	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/57	3.509

I respectfully disagree. Just like most of the people on here are pointing out... what actually happened is that the idea that they ARE special (we all are) and they DO deserve to be happy... doesn't actually fit into the system that was designed after the war to create a working class that would support a handful of wealthy upper class, BY that handful of wealthy upper class (who also designed the education system to support this premise and "get them ready"... and in fact, they are simply smarter than the generations that came before that swallowed the idea that we must suffer for the sake of someday maybe owning a home and car and some fancy shoes hook line and sinker. WE have created a system where we are miserable and we are simply clueless as to how these kids are seeing things a different, better, way. With the number of 23 year olds (I'm 45) that I know who work for themselves, travel the world and have created an income using technology and creativity... who are HAPPY.... compared to those who are my age who are either miserable, or have spent most of their life miserable and are only now starting to "get it"... I have no doubt that they just saw with pretty clear vision, from that actually extremely good parenting that they could change their way of doing things. Our issue is that we don't know how to keep up. So we write books and make accusations and get frustrated that they were smart enough to NOT tow the line... and we weren't. More power to them. We fucked up the world pretty badly... they need all the help they can get to fix it... but I have no doubt that their STRENGTH and VALUES (that's what IMPACT means btw) actually will.	Age	Age - General	1/306	0.327
As a millennial who is actively working to teach myself the skills and mindsets in order to succeed in life despite the constant bitching of elder generations let me say this. Literally anyone who has a problem with "Millenials", the literal generation of humanity that is the cumative result of precious generations, are fucking wastes of oxygen.I hate the elderly to the point where I want to fucking kill them. They are a constant hindrance to the new generations progress and they are literally farming us. Our dollars are worth less than their's were growing up. The fruits of our labor are taxed heavily and given to people who have had their whole lives to provide for themselves in an easier environment. Education and health care are constantly becoming more expensive for us, and at this rate many of us will never be able to retire and will likely drown in debt.TL:DR - If you are someone who would rather bitch about the generation you produced and raised, you can go ahead and do us all a favor and take a shotgun to the head. Nothing of value will be lost. Stop bitching and stay the fuck out of our way.	Elder, Elderly, Nothing	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	3/203	1.478
Ricardoenrique that's what they all say. No one is a hipster or a racist or clingy etc.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/17	5.882

Pisses me off. They lump gen z with millennials	Lump	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/9	11.111
Lane Waite nah, you're a first of your kind. Gen x was over by the by the time 1980 hit. Millennials started in 1980 but didnt take a effect until 81. 1980 was a transition year from Gen X to Millennial.	Transition	Sexual Identity - Transexuality	1/41	2.439
My research from a few years ago kept showing that millenials are born 1984-2004, giving each generation 20 years so those born at the beginning of it can be grown up and be old enough to start the next generation. 1981-1996 wouldn't make sense because you would be making Gen X last only 17 years and Millenials would only last for 15 years. That's not long enough for the oldest Millenials to even get a job before you're moving on to the next generation. That doesn't work	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/87	1.149
Brent Langford that is absolutely ridiculous. Gen Z is from the late 90s to about the mid 00s and they're basically just getting their life started and they've been coming into the workforce recently so what you're saying isnt correct. Millennials are already grown, in well into the workforce, and family people now. I'm an 80s millennial and you're tryna tell me a kid born in the late 90s to early 00s is a millennial too? No. Millennials are born between 1981 to 1994/95 that's what they're truly classified as. Millennials were effected directly by the recession, the creators of social media, and got Obama elected. If they werent old enough to vote in 2012, they're not a millennial. Millennials have come and gone now, it's this new Gen Z aka iGen (96' to about the mid/late 00s) that's is today's youth. The oldest are just in the first years in the workforce while the youngest are still in middle school And 2010 til now is Gen Alpha. The rapid advancement of technology makes it confusing I know. But generations go by a parody of 13 to 14 years. Gen Alpha started this decade. What I'm saying is realistic.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/199	0.503

What I never understand is when it comes down to portraying a "millennial" it always shows some lazy hipster sort of person in his/her early 20s fucking around or feeling he/she is the center of the universe because he/she has a useless university degree (but lacks all the essential soft skills). Now by terminology people who were born in the 80s considered a millennial too, wtf? Why? I am 30 now and thank God I was alive before this new wave shit like Facebook, Instagram and I do work my ass off. Everything what I have now I had to work for it like a horse. I think the generation now in high schools are fucked up. They are addicted to social media, anxiety and depression and all this shit is more common than ever. Getting proper education and starting your life without you being already in debt is a dream for a lot of young people. The world changed a lot, baby boomer generation in the western world were spoiled.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/171	0.585
Not and after.... age from 25 to 35. Not teenagers. Not hippies. Not entitled. We were lied to. Told college meant a happy career then 2008 happened. So you can shove this up your ass. This guy is clueless and a moron.	Age	Age - General	1/41	2.439
When will people realize it's not based on generations??? Age is the tiniest factor with society's problem. Some people on here are making sense luckily but doesn't anyone see that money is such a large part of the issue? Regardless of your generations nickname conjured up to constantly pit you against each other there isn't enough money left to support what ANYBODY does or strives for. You can work 3 jobs and still barely cover a rent check. Believe you me. Wealth sits on wealth while the gap between them and everyone else gets increasingly wider. Debt no longer can be erased as our ENTIRE COUNTRY IS PISS BROKE. We owe many, many other countries trillions of dollars in debt. Our governments only solution seems to be increasing taxes, tolls and many other highly expensive "solutions." The ones who bemoan life as we know it are the ones who have become painfully aware that in the end there isn't really a point to working non stop for nothing . Many people are turning to the bare minimum work and just doing things that numb the one very obvious fact that what you do will absolutely never positively impact your own life. Impact is a shit word to use in the video because the only impact millennials can ever really want to make is not in careers or even "personal happiness." The impact in question is now how we can fix the mess that history seems to keep repeating. STOP BLAMING EACH OTHER. By pointing fingers, we waste valuable time, energy and hatred on something that has never been the issue to begin with. Everyone is at fault. Everyone is their OWN WORST NIGHTMARE. People need to come together and find viable solutions instead of picking one group of kids to whine about. Not that they are kids anyways.	Age, Nothing	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	2/307	0.651

”The American people are turning sullen. They’ve been clobbered on all sides by Vietnam, Watergate, the inflation, the depression. They’ve turned off, shot up, and they’ve screwed themselves limp and nothing helps.”– Network (1976)as true today as it ever was.	Limp, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/42	4.762
--	---------------	---	------	-------

there's a lot of smoke in this video...but also some fire.1) true "Millennials" are people who are now about 17-22. those of us who were born around 1979-1995 are typically called "Xennials", the bridge between Gen X and true Millennials—also sometimes called Generation Y, but that name never really caught on.2) i find a lot of these points to be true of Millennials, but not of Xennials. those of us who grew up without much technology are much better equipped to gain and maintain meaningful relationships. BUT, the people who absorbed themselves in technology when this new wave began (about 2001, 2002ish) strangely seemed to revert into this Millennial behavior. weird but true, it's like they adopted Millennial behaviors.3) i was born in 1980, and as a kid, i don't recall ONE event that gave out "medals for coming in last place" or "participation trophies". this must have been a mid-1990s thing, or maybe it just wasn't as widespread here in the Midwest. anyway, i remember competing and losing lots of times, going home empty-handed, and having to deal with it...but i also recall the times i won and got a trophy.4) i disagree about the addiction thing. actually, statistics show that Millennials are drinking, smoking, using drugs, and having early pregnancy less than any previous generation so far. i do know quite a few Xennial alcoholics, though.5) i agree that the majority of Millennials are lousy at gaining or building relationships, and even having "normal" conversations. they seem highly concerned that certain topics are too dangerous for discussion, or they question why you're being curious about them, etc. i think it's partly because emojis, memes, etc, form such a big part of their communication norms that they're at a loss without them. how do you communicate "wink emoji" in verbal form? we older people will tend to say "i'm just messing with ya" or "you know i'm just kidding, right?", or chuckle and tap you on the shoulder. but younger people rely heavily on memes and emojis for that purpose—because this is what they grew up with, and it's hard to communicate without them.6) younger people bore easily. take the reason above: they aren't used to long conversations. when you can boil down communication to emojis, abbreviations, and memes, you can have "conversations" with very few words—communicating feelings and thoughts with pictures. talking for 10-15 minutes gets arduous for them, and you see it makes them uncomfortable and sometimes even awkwardly at a loss for words. factor in the generation gap, and it's even tougher to communicate clearly. 7) the generation gap: i'm sure young people are SICK of hearing "when i was your age, we didn't even HAVE the internet!! we had to entertain ourselves the REAL way!" and "back when i was 19, WE knew how to meet girls/guys, we didn't need to depend on Tinder to get dates for us!" and all this Old Person nonsense we SWORE we'd never say!! but now it's happened. it's like rapid technology has made we Xennials elderly at the age of 40. TV first got popular in the early 1950s, right? and that didn't change to cable being popular until the 1990s!! 40 years...two generations....of people watching the same box. people using the same old phone (my parents had the same telephone from 1978 until about 1991, and it still worked perfectly). technology just didn't advance as quickly as today, so it's	Age, Elderly, Fruit, Mental, Nobody, Old, Weird	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	12/1184	1.014
---	--	---	----------------	--------------

Forget about the worst economic crisis since the 30s, stagnant wages, and the tuition bubble. We're just kids that were told we were special, and all crazy narcissist, because of social media, this guys a joke!	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/36	2.778
According to 'The Center for Generational Kinetics' the generations are;Traditionalists or Silent Generation (Born 1945 and before), Baby Boomers (Born 1946 - 1964), Generation X (Born 1965 - 1976), Millennial's or Generation Y (Born 1977 - 1995), and Centennials or Generation Z (Born 1996 - Present). I think that these are the correct dates.I was born in September 1998, which means I'm 20 years old and part of 'Gen Z'. I think it's a case of older generations always blaming younger generations for whatever problems or issues arise anywhere really. I know from experience that young people aren't as entitled or lazy as some older people claim them to be. However, I have also met young people who are extremely rude, but I've also met older people who are extremely rude as well. I passed all my BTEC's and GCSE's, have a part-time job and went to college. My cousins and siblings all use technology, yet they still achieve high grades in school, meet their friends, talk to people and go out, some are even at University. The older people in my family who are part of the 'Baby Boomers', 'Generation X' and 'Millennial's' generations have full-time jobs, pay all their bills and taxes despite them rising, and they all work very hard to earn that money. I don't think that it's necessarily a bad thing for the younger generations to have an overall easier life either, I wouldn't like to be living in the generation my grandma did from the stories she tells me, and consider myself quite lucky to have it easier than the older generations, I would also like to think that when I have children and my own family that they will have a similar mindset.P.S. Sorry for the novel, and I hope this doesn't come off as being boastful, it's just my personal experience. :)	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/313	0.319
Old fart shits like this are just pissed people like Miranda Signs & Fred can be a self employed, American icon from making baby noises on a video camera EAT IT	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/30	3.333

I am an alcoholic, I did not have the tech toys to escape with I used alcohol to get through those years. I worked construction because, I could drink on the job. I still learned a trade and was able to fit in with my peers on the jobs, even if they spoke no english. The millenials, we had a real problem with. It takes to hands to do most jobs in construction. There were many fired because they could not put their phone away. They were much worst than drunks on the job. Most often we just could not get them to understand basic principles of safety and performance required to do a job. Also, they are the weakest physically able bunch of people I've ever been around. Try to get them to do something simple, like stay hydrated, which means drink water from the water cooler, it's 105 degrees. They tell us they don't drink water, they got to have gatorade. Anyway you are right about the parents and the corporations, but you left out the Government which implemented many programs to set this up. Like elimination of physical punishment. Now they are letting them decide whether they are a boy or a girl. These next generations will be worse.	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	1/212	0.472
I concur...except, it's strange that Millennials as a whole are those born between 82-00 (give or take). The vast majority of what you are describing pertains to those born in the 90's. The vast majority of us born in the early 80's (myself included) DID NOT grow up with cell phones. I didn't even have a cell phone until I went to college...and it was literally just a phone (not even a camera on it). Computers when we were young kids, were certainly not in every household. And even if it were, the internet was in such infancy it was useless. There was no Facebook, Tinder or anything like that until well beyond the time we all had to learn how to actually talk to people in real life (I believe Facebook was circa 2005- if you didn't learn how to talk to people by the age of 21, you probably weren't going to anyway). Sure, there were chat rooms in the mid to late 90's, but if someone picked up the household phone, you were booted off the internet. And the internet back in the day did not give any sense of instant gratification...not in the least. There was no Amazon. We actually spent the majority of time playing outside with friends, riding bikes, causing trouble, snowboarding, skateboarding, etc.	Age	Age - General	1/220	0.455
I clicked on the video ready be hate it, but at the end of the day this isnt an angry old man saying the youger generation is terrible, this guy is saying this specific generation has specific problems that old and young people alike should work to remedy.I dont agree with all of his points but dont chastise the man for trying to help	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/65	3.077

according to sciences and its research.. millenials are THE MOST RESEARCHED GENERATION IN HISTORY...and once again.. public opinion is grossly wrong... millennial are exactly like their parents and grandparents when they were their age.. just under different circumstance.. one differences is millennials unlike their parents and grandparents are for more optimistic.. more of them are looking for CAREERS and not just jobs... which to an ignorant person would lead u to believe they are unreliable cause the move from job to job.. they dont want just a JOB... they are looking for more then that..and 50 of millennial have reported that living close to family friends is very important.. unlike roughly 29 of boomers and 40 genx...bad parenting is absolute bs... clearly parenting was good enough that half of millennials think being in touch and close proximity to their parents and friends is a good thing..FYI: about lots of them living at home with mom and dad...u fking know College and debt is a fking killer on most people.. both the parents and their kids fking know this.. we all fking know it... the best solution is to save fking money by living at home longer to deal with it... how fking stupid must one be to not understand this and instead out of sheer ignorance ignore the reality of college and debt and just say "they're fucking lazy and no good and spoiled cause they live with mom and dad.."according to economics and business... CEB for one.. which polls 90,000 american employees each quarter.. millinnial are the most competitive... 59 of them.. compared to 50 boomersalso if u remove.. guess what COLLEGE... unemployment is on par with previous generations and the later gen.. once again the issue of being in school/college/university as well as full time working is an issue for some..."Millennials are a generation that is very much about owning and controlling their destiny in a way that other generations haven't been," also millennials believe (know) they can make money online.. work anywhere and on their own time...she/he who cares less wins... millennials have options.. cooperation dont have options for labor...scientific data and research utterly shifts on or corrects public opinion of millennials.. just like it does everything else...one FACT we all should come to understand is.. if its a PUBLIC OPINION... its more often then not.. WRONG or distorted...	Age	Age - General	1/403	0.248
---	-----	---------------	-------	-------

I don't think Sinek takes into account the differences in this generations privileges. That is to say, yes we have more and better technology which supposedly gives us something to be grateful for. But as a result we don't get the same "highs" as older generations did. e.g Going out with your young buddies back in the day and getting drunk is something unheard of for an isolated young person who's joy comes from video games and comfort.My point is we should consider that actually, sometimes the old ways do need to change. Recently its been discovered that teenagers are very sleep deprived, their mental state is doomed to failure because of this. It would make sense to give them more sleep. But of course the Boomers complain "I had to get up even earlier", oh yes and just look at all those alcoholics, abusers, addicts, ect ect.	Mental, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/149	1.342
Millennials were born between 1980/81 to 94. Theyve been in the workforce for years now. They're mid level senior level workers now so idk where this logic comes in from. Gen Z is just now coming into the workforce.	Senior	Age - Over 65s	1/39	2.564
Exactly. People think that millennials were born after the iPhone was released. No millennials were born when VHS was the major media platform. Born before cellphones were common place. Born before cable/satallite was widely adopted. Millennials grew up with modern technology. From VHS to DVD to Netflix. From the basic flip phone to the Motorola Razor to the smartphone. From dial-up to WiFi to 5g. Like people who are over 40 think millennials were born with a phone in their hand just because smartphones are common place. No! When millennials were 10 yrs old they were playing hopscotch and watching fucking sesame Street and playing make believe.	Common, Old	Age - Over 65s, Social Class - Working class	3/107	2.804
I don't agree I'm more old school 1970's, I was born in 83.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/13	7.692
Brent Langford It's not. Millennials are 1981-1994. Sorry to say. You're most likely one of us. But be proud of who you are. Why let people on the internet intimidate you or tell you how you should feel? Literally everything this guy is talking in the video is almost not true at all for some of us Mils. I was born in the early 90's and I'm nothing how this guy is describing it. This is just a basic, typical stereotype.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/81	1.235

Obsidian Dragon yes it is a stereotype, I know that, and according to those years you'd be saying I'm Gen Z, but anyone who talks to me will say I'm a Millenial. Also the years I listed above were from research I did two years ago, and it has been changed now. Even your years for Millenials are different from the official ones as researchers now say Millenials are from 81-96. So if you go by that the oldest Millenials would have only been 15 before Gen Z starts, which doesn't make sense. How can you start a whole new generation before the previous one isn't even allowed to drive or get a job? A generation is a single age group of a population, so a generation would have to last until those of that generation can have children and create a new generation. Your years, 81-94, would mean the oldest Millenials would have been 13 before Gen Z started. How can you say 13 year olds are old enough to where you can cut off the generation? If someone born at the beginning of the generation isn't fully grown, the next generation isn't done. The baby boomers lasted for 20 years, long enough for the oldest baby boomers to have jobs and start families and create Gen X. If Gen X were to last from 65-81, that would mean the oldest Gen X people would be 16 before the millenial generation started, and 16 year olds aren't old enough to establish themselves and create a new generation yet. Also if you look on Wikipedia, which anyone who keeps up with the times would know is a much more reputable source now due to users correcting it constantly, and the article on Millenials says the years change a lot depending on who you ask, but generally it's decided the Millenials are from around the early 80s to the late 90s or early 2000s	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	3/323	0.929
Lets just remember that the GenZ generation is more realistic about failures. They often look at certain millennial's mistakes and are now trying to avoid them. (going for an art major or archaeologist or degree in gender studies) They don't want to come out of college with a useless degree and a ton of debt. Many also grew up with their parents losing their homes in 2008 filing for bankruptcy. Many born in the 2000's might be avoiding college all around and especially credit card debt. Just think the videos explanation doesn't fit with people born in 2000's. Also remember class has an impact here as well. I was born in 97 lower class and wasn't introduced to the internet till 13 phones didn't become common till I was 16. (I didn't own one too expensive) Many GenZ didn't grow up with technology in their hands beside VHS/DVD/CD player and Millennial's definitely did not grow up with Phones in their hands. It's the Millennial's children who are the people who are growing up with an IPAD.	Common, Gender	Gender - General, Social Class - Working class	2/177	1.13

dude we're here on this planet for 100ish years, what patience, what mountain and a summit, especially when the people around you are the fukin mountain, even if it's the small things that some dumb fuck does to you on a day to day basis, it's a justified reason to feel like shit/depressed w/e u wanna call it. i have huge respect for everyone older than me and i've learned that the tough way, older people are just simply wiser, but wise and smart isn't the same thing, and lemme tell you a thing nobody can deny, millenials are WAY smarter than the previous generation.. knowing and not being able to act upon it is the biggest depression oh yeah one more thing- you can't fucking compare a group of people that alive for 50 years with a group of people thats 25 - thats like comparing yourself to a kid, more or less, all of your argumentation is fundamentally flawed, wait and see what we got in store for you. as Google User pointed out below - bottom line is - every generation complains about the next for that exact reason i just explained then again why am i trying to explain this to anyone, if you don't get that an argument is fundamentally flawed, you'll just keep arguing, or mb you don't even know whatthe fuck fundamentally flawed means i better stop typing	Dumb, Nobody	Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/235	0.851
You think millennials are bad? Look at the elementary school kids. My eleven year old girl would rather talk to her friend by text then talk to her when her friend is there.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/33	3.03
Another old geezer hating on the young. Blame dam baby boomers for destroying our world.. we get the end results of their mistakes . We don't get our 15¢ coffee . It cost more than that. .	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/37	2.703

Don't blame the corporations only. PARENTING MATTERS! BETTER TEACHERS MATTER. Besides that, being a millennial myself, everything you said is spot on. Instant gratification: HMM, when I was in elementary school around the time the PlayStation Portable came out around Christmas time, I remember causing a fit. It's embarrassing to think about it today. I was screaming, crying and refusing to eat because I wanted the PSP badly. I thought I deserved it. Mind you, I'm in like 3rd grade probably so I haven't done shit nor could have done anything to deserve anything but life itself. Back to the story, I went so far as to yell to my father "I hate you. Wish I could have someone else" or something around those lines. I feel like shit about it even today and I'm 24. Millennial's, we have to understand this ASAP: we are not entitled to anything, but to be fair we should not beat ourselves on it. Parenting matters. If my parents did a better job in being around and teaching some life skills instead of making money to feed us, I'd be better off. My parents raised me with resources. Food, shelter, and extras (gaming consoles, etc). I sound stupid to many reading this maybe. "How can he blame his parents for giving him so much?" Sometimes less is more. Some shitty meals but life lessons and my parents actually talking to me could have helped with my anxiety and self esteem issues today. But the teachers in my life sucked too. Being in such a low-income, immigrant city that epitomized "easy-way out" didn't help either. School dropout Drug dealers in every block doesn't send good messages to the younger generations growing up. No Role Modelz, as J. Cole says. The kids never respected teachers in my city. They seldom did, in fact. Fortunately I was smart enough to never fall so much into peer pressure that I smoked or even sold, but that could also be because I knew my father would fuck me up if I did so haha. It wasn't until I went to a school choice school outside my area that I was able to understand what good teachers do and how a middle to high income city does schooling. Social Media is also to blame. How can such idiots who make music about sex, drugs, and gang banging have millions of views?! Millennial's have left their imprint on this era. Generation Z doesn't seem any better. The world is not over. Hope is endless as long as you believe in it. But we have to do a better job now, and we have to do a better job when we have children and raise them. We have to love them. We have to talk to them. Don't give them cell phones but self-respect. They'll appreciate it later on. AWESOME VIDEO!!!!!!	Immigrant, Sex	Gender - General, Nationality - General	2/479	0.418
--	----------------	--	-------	-------

No one understands that we're like this because we're just trying to grow up and learn how to live a normal life but the shitty environment we grow up in and the constant politics being forced down our throats then to then be immediately pushed aside because we're "kids". But worst of all is when people get mad at me or set aside my opinion just because I'm a millennial. This shit is sad but I think that another fact is that alot of millennials need to grow thicker skin I know too many gay trans feminist guys girls or just normal kids that are way too sensitive. And i think that that is single handidly the reason why milenialls are on such a donward spiral for the future	Gay	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	2/129	1.55
This is what is called talking for a long time without actually saying something. Millennials across the world are working way too hard mate and not getting paid enough. Millennials don't only exist in your western rich city. You sound so so so pseudo intellectual. Major cringe. It is high time these british american old dudes stopped dictating what the world should BE like.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/64	1.562 such a generalised view, only got as far 1:48 and he's already talking about all millennials like we're spoilt children, everyone grew up with different circumstances. Old man...	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/28	3.571
One example out of millions proves nothing	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/7	14.286
That's why these sweeping generalizations and labels are so inaccurate and harmful. They are just shitty logic to begin with. You're being dubbed something STRICTLY because of how old you are, like they can determine how everyone is. absolute ignorance is what this stems from.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/46	2.174
that's the problem with a species as disgustingly out of control as ours. billions of people means mountains of exceptions. even minorities and anomalies are common and numerous with numbers like that.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/32	3.125

Good presentation. I would like to point out that millennials don't have everything easy. They may have huge student debts for a useless degree before they even start work, for example. Also I would like to point out that no generalisation about an entire generation will hold true for large numbers of that generation. 1. You skipped over one major issue with millennials. Up to half of them grew up without much involvement from their biological father. This is a major factor in their lack of self esteem, dependency issues and a whole host of negative outcomes. This also significantly affects their suitability, usefulness and productivity in the workforce. 2. Many millennials fit the stereotypical snowflake generation. They are offended by anyone with a different point of view. Particularly anything that counters the ideology they were raised in. They lack basic critical thinking skills. They lack tolerance for differing points of view. This is a massive issue in the workplace and all of society. Some are even unemployable as a result. For all their other faults this trend is the most insidious because it means they lack the skills to properly evaluate things and learn from history. It means they lack the skills to self correct. Often they get a shock in the real world which forces them to rethink this ideology but that can be a hard landing. Business leaders don't want that hard landing to be at the expense of their business. 3. You say that us managers and business owners have to teach millennials basic human skills. I'm running a business not a day care. I can hire older workers. Plenty of older workers are living longer and want work. Particularly if I can structure it part time. If I need to hire millennials and then teach them basic people skills well then millennials need to expect lower than adult wages and need to expect to be lowly paid for some years while they develop these skills. But the reality is that a lot of millennials expect to be General Manager after 18 months. No Sir. The first thing millennials need to learn as adults is that they need to identify and fix their own shortcomings in life. They need to STOP thinking older generations are going to layout the red carpet for them in the real world.	Red, Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	3/391	0.767
I'm 29 have beat REAL addiction got not just a job but a career have bought my own house... by myself... have a wife and a child that I 100 support. I find it hard to find sympathy for people my age that can't get there lives together... Oh and by the way... I didn't go to college. So I had to WORK my ass off to get were I am. No sympathy for lazy self righteous children	Age	Age - General	1/78	1.282

My two cents: They may have been dealt a bad hand by society, but once a person becomes an adult it is their responsibility to take personal accountability for their success or failure. Corporations have never cared about their employees, so why say it is their responsibility now? The individual is responsible for their own success or failure. You do the necessary to enable you to do what brings you happiness. It is a bonus if you are able to support yourself and your loved ones doing something you love, not a right. If everything is handed to people, and they are never expected to work for it, then they will never appreciate it. I was given a pretty poor tool kit by my upbringing, but I realized it was on me to fix where they screwed up. My partner gets to do a job he loves which in no way can cover even his expenses every month, while I do heavy physical labor in a mindless and thankless environment that gives us the ability to have pretty much anything realistic we could want or need. I break my body further every day so I can see him smile and help others, but at least I get the joy of seeing him fulfilled in life and I get my rare books. It is a worthwhile trade, and also one heck of an example of the state of the world. Do I hate my job and feel like I'm not living up to my potential, heck yes. But, the world is not just me...I have to take joy and pleasure in caring very well for those around me. The current generation needs to buck up and do what is necessary, not what is desirable. It took me a long time, and to be honest, sometimes I still struggle with accepting that this is how my hand in life was dealt. But, that is actually growing up. If I can do it, surely others are capable as well.	Buck	Ethnicity - Black	1/336	0.298
There should be an age limit on CAFFEINE and ENERGY DRINKS!During an emergency doctor visit, someone I love was given a prescription of antidepressants after she had sudden and uncontrollable anxiety, which then led to a full-blown panic attack. After talking to her mom, she decided to stay home and rest for a couple of days before she started taking the new medication. After the second day of feeling relaxed and focused again, she realized that she hadn't stopped at Starbucks those last two days on her way to school, and that it was the caffeine that was wiggling her out! There should be an age limit!	Age	Age - General	2/108	1.852
As a Millennial, I can say this is true. There's a book called The Dumbest Generation, guess who that is? The problem is soft and bitchy people on their phones and social media. Nobody wants to work hard anymore. That's why I've always rebelled toward everything my generation represents. We need more Clint Eastwoods in a generation full of babies. Man up and get to work.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/66	1.515

My great grandmother raised my dad and my dad raised me I was raise the old fashion way wooden spoon to the ass if I fucked up in any way like manners at the table not having homework done on time etc.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/42	2.381
Ok, so I'm a millennial. I agree about some parts, like instagram lol but really most of things in this video are SIMPLY NOT TRUE AT ALL. I'm from Europe, maybe it's different than in USA, but a most of these don't apply to me - nor my brother nor my millennial friends. My parents and a lot of my friends parents were quite strict, there is no WAY I could manipulate them with crying or I-want-it.. hell no.. they would simply said "NO" if I was being a brat . My brother and me are both in college (medicine and dental medicine, soon ending) and I have also very often worked part job during my schooling to help with expenses. And quit after 8monts? Bitch what. I'm so happy to finally start working as a dentist. I would say I'm quite hard working and most of my friends on college too. Btw no one has EVER given me or my friends medal for coming last at something, wtf. Where do you people live	Brat	Age - Youngsters	1/174	0.575
statistics don't lie, but describing this generation lazy and self en-titled is non of those reasons on how we work in the office. tbh its best not to define a person base on statistic or who they are, very weird logic you have there. and no, its not the fucking phones	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/51	1.961
dis nigga just called dopamine addictive hahaha	Nigga	Ethnicity - Black	1/7	14.286

We can turn that around. Baby boomers are the most entitled generation I've ever seen. Not only are they shitting on millennials endlessly, but they also demand top service and behavior from their environment and whine like babies. How often did I see elderly people in a restaurant shout at the innocent waiter because their food took a little longer due to the chef, who hasn't slept in 43 hours, being too busy? How often do I walk past elderly people on the street, doing the nod+smile greeting, only to hear 'It's cALLED 'GoOd MoRnINg'!!!!' ? How often to people get insulted by elderly people when they put their luggage (which is too much to carry) on the seat next to them on the train for one stop, while the elderly person could have asked literally anyone else with nothing to carry to give up their seat for them? How often does a boomer on a bike try to run me over for riding my bike on the opposite (empty) sidewalk (the bisicle lane) before I turn to the bisicle stand because I didn't want to cut off cars? HOW OFTEN DO YOU HEAR BOOMERS SAY 'IT'S YOU'RE WELCOME AND YOU ARE SUPPOSED TO THANK ME !' ? How many boomers demand being treated like queens while shitting on the people they expect the best treatment from? HOW MANY BOOMERS see themselves as SJW in every social situation possible and criticize everything they do?! There was a boomer in my village who destroyed someone else's car light because it wasn't working, so the police could 'take further care of the criminal'.So yeah, there are even more extreme experiences with boomers. So what's wrong with millennials trying to get a job they can live off without being enslaved? To have purpose in life? To make the world a little bit better? But yeah, no, millenials are lazy and shitty and don't deserve basic human rights.	Elderly, Nothing	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	5/325	1.538
---	------------------	----------------------------------	-------	-------

So basically: I'm not a millennial, therefore I believe the stereotypes the baby boomers shout on repeat, and thus millennials are lazy and entitled. It's got nothing to do with the economy, the stagnant wages and increased poverty at all. I don't live in the US, so the poverty isn't very prevalent here, but old people that only had to go to school for 9 years and never needed experience for a job, are complaining that we as 20-somethings are stressed and struggling, because we're expected to study non stop until we're at least 24 with a much harder curriculum, while working on the side so you can have experience or else you won't get hired, and then you'll have to work for 10 years to be able to afford a house, because our parents have inflated the market, and you'll still live in debt because of loans. Over 10 years the housing prices have more than tripled where I live now, and it's infuriating when old people that almost didn't have to study, got a job with little to no education, could buy houses and maintain a family for a fraction of the costs today, and could retire several years before we can, speak to millennials like we have the same starting point and options as they did and are just lazy, when we CLEARLY don't and have to work harder and longer for the same results. If I grew up when my grandfather did, I would've been living in my own house by now. The depressing part is that I probably won't finish my studies until I'm almost 30, and owning a house won't come before I'm creeping on 40, and you can forget about kids... Everything seems so pointless because it feels like you'll never get anywhere tbh. Parents and grandparents don't fucking understand this, because they refuse to listen!	Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	3/313	0.958
I honestly don't see this in my personal experience. I was born in 1994 and have worked around and with many millennial s. We work two jobs and go to school. We work and take care of our kids/siblings grandparents. We work for lower wages and higher cost of living. We bust our ass and get shat on by everyone. This video must be describing privileged people with money because no one in their right mind would be asking for bean bag chairs in my place of work. Fuck this characterization of my generation. Plenty of old entitlement though. I've worked at a nursing home you should deal with those queens!!	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/111	0.901

this guy is an idiot. I am a millennial. And the older generation feels that it is unreasonable that I feel "entitled" to have a decent shot at A)having a community that functions for more than just the generation that owns everything and has been making all of the decisions for 30 years (the Boomers). and B) that we should be excited and enthused to toil away for our career so we can help to squash the planet to make our boss rich. I think people can tell that something is wrong and it is easiest always to point the finger at the people who have zero control. Did any of us ask for the schools to give out fake awards? how about for the lawyers to take out all the good playground equipment? Less space to play outside every year? shitty suburban houses with nothing to do. I could go on, but to have to listen to all this BS about how we cant make it in the "real world". Its obvious that we are generation sold out and the solutions that these guys have seems to be that we just shouldn't educate people enough to know more than it takes to be a happy gear in the machine turning round and round for peanuts while we watch the planet get abused.	Nothing, Zero	Age - Youngsters	2/223	0.897
Ur a communist lol	Communist	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/4	25.0
Nah, I'm just not blind to the dangers of unrestrained capitalism which are just as bad and just as inevitable as the dangers of a totalitarian communist economic system. Different but, just as bad. Anything created by people can and will be corrupted when left unchecked where there is power and wealth at stake. It's a fundamental part of who we are as human beings.Blind faith in anything is stupid.....including Gods.	Blind, Communist	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/72	4.167

Well of course my evidence is anecdotal. I don't have access to the entire population of a generation. I'm not a researcher with a well funded study.But then this video is completely subjective opinion too. It proceeds to paint an entire generation of our young people with the same brush. And that is pure conservative alternate fact. It's an insult meant to bolster the self esteem of losers.Here's the truth I see. Human technological advancement has accelerated rapidly in the past 150 years while human sociological advancement has more or less stood still for over 3,000 years. We just don't change that much from generation to generation in a fundamental sense.Hence, I look around and I see a generation of millennials who look exactly like the generation I grew up with. There's some pure trash. Some slackers. Some who are dumb as a bag of rocks. Some who are just average Joe's trying to get by in life but playing by all the rules. Some driven people. Some exceptional talent. And a handful of visionaries. Just like every generation that came before them.What's different is that knuckle dragging conservatives have discovered the internet and a whole new "Other" to blame their problems on. An example of technology outstripping social development!And BTW it's not just my kids. I look at their circle of friends and I see good kids with good values trying to make their way in life just like I did. Granted my kids make good decisions when choosing friends. And they were brought up in relative privilege and educated at top notch schools. But not all of their friends were.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/277	0.361
R K stfu you fucking commie FOH. A good commie is a dead commie	Commie	Ideological and Political Identity - General	3/14	21.429
Deklan Kilgoran... WALKAWAY»> Democrats are not democrats anymore !!! They have been taken over by the insane far left progressive socialist communist liberalist ... they're barely american and cant stand Americas laws and its Constitution !!! Leftist want to change and destroy everything this Country was founded on tearing down their own democrat statues (Confederates)!!! Leftist are biased. elitist, ignorant, of social reality and contently applying double standards !!! Truth facts and laws are just obstacles for them !!! Leftist promote homosexuality, transgenderism, sexual promiscuity and perversity, abortion, feminism, illegal immigration, muslim terrorism, welfare abuse, anarchy, identity politics, speech censorship !!! Leftist have no real sense of real problems in the real world !!! Leftist are like the Borg (StarTrek)... all in a mindless collective ... void if individualism !!! Leftist media is the biggest threat this country has ever faced misleading, misinforming the people !!! Every word is TRUTH !!!	Communist, Sexual	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Gender - General	2/151	1.325

R K Teach your kids about the DemWit party !!! »> Our nation’s top historians reveal that the Democratic Party gave us the Ku Klux Klan, Black Codes, Jim Crow Laws and other repressive legislation which resulted in the multitude of murders, lynchings, mutilations, and intimidations (of thousands of black and white Republicans). On the issue of slavery: historians say the Democrats gave their lives to expand it, the Republicans gave their lives to ban it. The Democrats: •Democrats fought to expand slavery while Republicans fought to end it. •Democrats passed those discriminatory Black Codes and Jim Crow laws. •Democrats supported and passed the Missouri Compromise to protect slavery. •Democrats supported and passed the Kansas Nebraska Act to expand slavery. •Democrats supported and backed the Dred Scott Decision. •Democrats opposed educating blacks and murdered our teachers. •Democrats fought against anti-lynching laws. •Democrat Senator Robert Byrd of West Virginia, is well-known for having been a 'Kleagle' in the Ku Klux Klan. •Democrat Senator Robert Byrd of West Virginia, personally filibustered the Civil Rights Act of 1964 for 14 straight hours to keep it from passage. •Democrats passed the Repeal Act of 1894 that overturned civil right laws enacted by Republicans. •Democrats declared that they would rather vote for a 'yellow dog' than vote for a Republican, because the Republican Party was known as the party for blacks. •Democrat President Woodrow Wilson, reintroduced segregation throughout the federal government immediately upon taking office in 1913. •Democrat President Franklin D. Roosevelt’s first appointment to the Supreme Court was a life member of the Ku Klux Klan, Sen. Hugo Black, Democrat of Alabama. •Democrat President Franklin D. Roosevelt’s choice for vice president in 1944 was Harry Truman, who had joined the Ku Klux Klan in Kansas City in 1922. •Democrat President Franklin D. Roosevelt resisted Republican efforts to pass a federal law against lynching. •Democrat President Franklin D. Roosevelt opposed integration of the armed forces. •Democrat Senators Sam Ervin, Albert Gore, Sr. and Robert Byrd were the chief opponents of the 1964 Civil Rights Act. •Democrats supported and backed Judge John Ferguson in the case of Plessy v Ferguson. •Democrats supported the School Board of Topeka Kansas in the case of Brown v The Board of Education of Topeka Kansas. •Democrat public safety commissioner Eugene 'Bull' Connor, in Birmingham, Ala., unleashed vicious dogs and turned fire hoses on black civil rights demonstrators. •Democrats were who Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. and the other protesters were fighting. •Democrat Georgia Governor Lester Maddox 'brandished an ax hammer to prevent blacks from patronizing his restaurant. •Democrat Governor George Wallace stood in front of the Alabama schoolhouse in 1963, declaring there would be segregation forever. •Democrat Arkansas Governor Faubus tried to prevent desegregation of Little Rock public schools. •Democrat Senator John F. Kennedy voted against the 1957 Civil rights Act. •Democrat President John F. Kennedy opposed the 1963 March on Washington by Dr. King. •Democrat President John F. Kennedy, had Dr. King wiretapped and investigated by the FBI. •Democrat President Bill Clinton’s	Black, Crow, Jim Crow	Ethnicity - Black	9/672	1.339
---	------------------------------	--------------------------	--------------	--------------

Wow, you've really bought ALL of the Reich Wing propaganda haven't you? I mean every bit of the Faux News, Alex Jones, Rush Limbaugh program. You've been drinking all the Kool-Aid flavors. And you seem so concerned that your totally subjective hate for education, non-white immigrants, non-christian religions, science, women, and what someone else chooses to do in the privacy of their own bedroom be accepted as "truth". That screams your own insecurity dude.If you are looking for a mindless collective, aka a real life Borg collective, you may want to take a look around at the people you hang with. Are they all white guys like you who listen to nothing but Reich Wing talk radio and Faux News. Do they focus mainly on hate for the "other" or do they have a diverse range of ideas and opinions on lots of topics? Do they seem angry all the time? Do they listen to other people's ideas and opinions or are they simply demanding that everyone adopt their Reich Wing propaganda. Sorry to break the news, but it's you who has been assimilated by a Borg collective. Your mind is no longer your own. You are part of the hive mind of hate.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/205	0.488
JUSTACHIPN.....and by the way, Confederate statues are NOT Democrat statues. Those monuments were erected by Southern Dixiecrat racists who all switched parties in protest and became Republicans when Lyndon Johnson signed the Civil Rights Act and the Voting Rights act in the mid 1960's. Since that time, Republicans have chosen to welcome the Conservative racist elements of our society with open arms in the moral and ethical judgement that any vote is a good vote. Because they know they can't win any other way. Nothing to be proud of in my opinion.And back to the statues. Those are anything but "American". Those monuments honor a group of traitors who rebelled against our country and declared war against it in order to break it apart so they could perpetuate an immoral economy based on the slavery of our fellow human beings. 600,000 of our fellow Americans died in that attempt to create a separate immoral country before we beat the Confederacy into submission. And 150 years later the South still clings to their racism . And you think those symbols of traitors and racists should stand? On public grounds? Paid for with taxpayers money? Sorry, I have to disagree with you there. I think those monuments should have never been allowed to exist in the first place.	Nothing, Racism, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	3/216	1.389
dickhead625 And old idiots too, like Bernie.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/7	14.286
Mama Jedi.....Yeah well, I'm a liberal but not the snowflake conservative filth like to believe in. I'm no pacifist. And I'm not desperate for your approval. I am what I am. Take it or leave it as you will.	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/39	2.564

Wow, you've really been sucking up the Reich Wing propaganda on Millennials haven't you. You people really seem to NEED to find something to diminish the "other" in order to feel better about yourselves. So "ALL" Millennials are little snowflakes who have received participation trophies their whole life. NONE of them can cope with failure. Seriously? Listen to yourself. How likely does that seem? Were all Millennials born as clones and raised by the same parents in the same environment?Dude, let go of the simplistic lies you've been listening to and start thinking for yourself.But to answer your question, my sons deal with failure differently but well. In part because I taught them to navigate setbacks. They both took AP physics in high school and they both aced it. When they would come to me totally lost on a given problem and absolutely sure the teacher had not given them enough information to solve the problem, I taught them to break down the problem into multiple parts and led them to the understanding that this problem didn't have a one step solution. Instead, there were two interim solutions required to produce the information required to solve the question that was being asked.Now both of them ended up in the arts so, they had no real interest in math or physics. The reason I made them take AP physics was to teach them to think and problem solve. And even though they've both left math and physics behind in pursuit of a career, the ability to think and break down any problem into simpler and easier to solve components remains in their skill set. So they don't get overwhelmed. They don't give up. They think through life's challenges and come up with solutions they can live with.But they do have vastly different personalities. The older one has always been super optimistic and upbeat. Nothing gets him down. And the kid ALWAYS comes up smelling like roses. If he loses one opportunity, he's looking forward to the next. His younger brother is more of an introspective thinker and brutally intense on anything he's focused on. He hates to lose. But at the same time he's a really sensitive and kind kid. He has a 3.9 GPA and taught himself to play guitar and keyboards. He's bored in college. When he fails at something it affects him more but he just comes back at it even harder or puts his energy into the next thing.So I'm sorry to bust your propaganda bubble on Millennials but you've bought into a bunch of lies dude. I'm sure you can find plenty of Millennials that fit the stereotype you've been taught to believe. But, people are individuals and there are also plenty of Millennials who will leave you in the dust when it comes to intelligence and drive to succeed.I always told my kids....."Be thankful for all the stupid lazy people, it means less competition for you. The sheep may be annoying but they are actually a blessing".And they have both come to realize I was right. They are very good at zeroing in on what matters and blocking out all the garbage that doesn't matter.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/539	0.186
--	---------	---------------------	-------	-------

American millennials want that they should be not ignored. They don't want there jobs taken by immigrants.Don't forget Obama has name HUSSEIN joint to himObama destroyed industries, he took your jobs and gave it them to immigrants, refugees,ms 13 gangs, legal safe land for criminals called as scauntary cites.American kids, daughters , son r getting raped & killed by these criminals [LINK] [LINK] Don't forget , these Indians(like SUNDAR PICHAI with help of democrates influenceing election so they can bring more Indians like him and replace American workers) r Stealing American jobs, these H1B visa holders r Stealing jobs [LINK] And there Spouses on H4 visa Stealing American women jobs [LINK] Now u should know why wages r decreasing and how it get more decreased for American woman after allowing H4 EAD to work By OBAMA.Majority of people working in silicone valley r Foreign people living in mansion's where as AMERICANs living in trailers & tents [LINK] [LINK]	Woman	Gender - General	1/162	0.617
I have age restrictions on phones and social media for MY kids!	Age	Age - General	1/12	8.333
As someone part of this shit generation I mostly identify with generation X. I never got a participation award. I had to work my ass off just to be a "B" student. Look at me now a 26 year old electrician with no debt and more than $50, 000 in my savings. As my dad always told me " The only excuse for failure is a lack of effort."	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/69	1.449
Millenials ar going out soon as the millenial womans are getting old and loosing they sexual value rapidly and i cant wait for the newer generation to grow into adulthood so i can fuck more of that barely legal pussy !If they cant work fine i buy more pussy for less!	Old, Sexual, pussy	Age - Over 65s, Gender - General, Nationality - Chinese	4/51	7.843
I sell residential and commercial solar I was born in 1986 I made 250k last year. You people kill me. Dumb dee dumb dumb . Haven't had a job that paid me less than a hundred grand a year since I was 20 years of age . Wanna make more money? Do sales on commission. Stick your salaries up your ass!	Age, Dumb	Age - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/59	5.085
I am 16. I have worked planting trees, cutting trees. I have been working with machinery of all sizes. From driving trucks and excavators to lawnmowers. I can survive in the wild on my own. I hunt and grow my own food. I find work to be an escape from the boring lazy people my age who forgot about their future. All my friends say I will work my life away. I think I will in the end be the one who had a life. Just my thoughts	Age	Age - General	1/88	1.136

A simplistic view of millennials, ignoring the socio, economic and political factors as well as educational systems. Education is so poor and the assessments are even worse. There are no decent jobs and kids don't learn skills to do the few jobs. They additionally have no value system because its been degraded for the masses thanks to a culture which rewards the rotten eg bankers, celebrities. How can you tell kids to work hard to succeed when all around are those who do little and get a lot. While those who work hard get nothing?? Look at society before blaming the young generation.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/103	0.971
The truth is as always; you have to have a marketable skill and many do not have any skill beyond basic labor. Many of those are not in mental or physical shape to do those. When Penagon study shows only 25 of draft age are qualified to serve that shows deep problems.	Age, Mental	Age - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/52	3.846
No we dont want to work for nothing and receive nothing for them to gain everything ... We want independence ... Many jobs r for robots ... I have worked for everything i have .. But everyday at work was miserable... Untill i started my business and i paid myself my worth ... The top senior people r disrespectful and pampered .. The economy is not the same there is no stability .. And we r expected to be greater than of parents or acheive more how ?... I used every dollar and dime i had to gain freedom... U r correct in some terms but u were flat in explanation... Real life is progress for hard work ... If every employee gained as much as the boss who does basically nothing .. Because i have become one .. If they management structure better they could keep a workforce Modern Day slavery	Nothing, Senior	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	4/153	2.614
Didn't watch most of this video. I could tell it was misguided and resentful. I don't really get this emerging trend of "generation prejudice". But can we be honest? Working conditions in the US, and society at large, are totally fucked up. If you want to look at facts, we have the pretty much the worst work life balance, healthcare, and income inequality in the entire developed world. We have been rated a flawed democracy for years in a row by the EIU, and are no longer even in the top 20 countries. This is a big deal, especially when nobody is even acknowledging it. Greed is grabbing the work force by the balls and seeping deep into the political system, and it seems to only be getting worse. But go ahead and blame millennials for everything, because you're too fucking arrogant to even entertain the idea that there is problems.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/151	0.662
1 this vid is old 2 i was happy af to fight for a 2nd place medal for wrestling get some tissues cunts	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/23	4.348

What is wrong with America: Corruption is eating our democracy. This nation is the definition of corrupt. Private dark money in campaigns.. candidates that have to go out seeking bribes (campaign contributions) to run for office. In turn, All the politicians do is represent the interests of the billionaire class. Next, the billionaire's bust the labor unions so you need a job and food stamps. Then for the final insult they perpetuate the rugged individualism myth of fairy tale meritorious reward for hard work. They say, I had it hard! You are not a real man! I hate vacations! I'm the CEO you need to conform to my ways! Like, cancel that child's birthday! Your boss feels like working late tonight? Oh you have to go see your child? Well, maybe this isn't really the line of work for you! And finally you can see right through it just like Trump. Donald said about his long golf trip mid year "I hate vacations. If you need a vacation you don't love your job!" Then the fat motherfucker goes and plays golf for two weeks. Don't buy their "you ain't tough enough" bullshit. The elite are the most fragile of all.	Fat, Nation	Nationality - General, Physical Identity - Physical Features	2/200	1.0
Damn bro! This is super dumb . Using your same thinking, we should ban sports because sports help us to release dopamine within our bodies. Also, such sad that you're looking for other people's approval. And well, your video basically says "I don't understand social media, we should ban it". Bro, any addiction is just showing a deeper problem. So, even alcoholic, workaholic or gambling issues are showing another bigger issue. It may be a physical or psychological issue. You can't just blame something because you don't understand it. I would definitely blame "standards" for any issue within society :v	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/99	1.01
this generation of old people voted for donald trump. fuck you. no one in any generation has it figured out.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/20	5.0

The baby boomers and generation xers created the modern world as we know it. They created the Federal Reserve scam, they created the corporations that overcharge everyone, and they also created the technology with full intent to get us addicted to it. So if anything we should be blaming the Generation X people. I have never seen anyone in my life who gives a shit more about money and stocks than a goddamn Generation X and baby boomer. Millennials are the generation that are smart enough to realize that everything the past Generations created is bullshit and it's just a system to keep us enslaved. The reason we do so many drugs and we need so many dopamine enhancers is because we live in a shit World which is an exact product of Our Generation X and baby boomer populations. Thanks for fucking the world up, there's nothing left to live for now. Back in the seventies you could go to school with a guaranteed job afterwards. In the 50s a man could just finish High School get a job at a corner store move on up to become the manager and own a house have a wife and three kids and live the American dream. Millennials were told by their parents that all they need to do is just go to school and study something you are interested in and you will make a lot of money. I mean that's what I was told anyway and I was born in 1986.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/253	0.395
The worst part about millennials is their utter lack of belief in anything especially themselves. They are incapable of defending a nation let alone a culture or a family and they actively oppose anyone who does. The only currency with millennials is equal nihilism and socialist conformity.	Nation	Nationality - General	1/47	2.128
I'm 30 years old ! My parents were so hard on me growing up and I hated my childhood growing up. But years later I finally realized why they did it! They molded me into one tough son of a bitch! To all my millennial generation grow the fuck up and grow a pair and handle your business!	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/57	1.754
This is nothing new the same shit happened in the 70's-80's and 90's, the only difference is that they were taken advantage of by the military. Then we get out with nothing gained.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/33	6.061
So what's the common denominator here? Hasn't every generation second to last complained about the previous generation in exactly the same manner?	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/22	4.545
Working sucks! Jobs suck! Being ordered around & told what to do sucks! Low stagnant wages suck! The whole hiring/interview process sucks! Being a mindless insect worker drone in a giant human hive sucks! The government sucks! The economy sucks! But let's overlook all that & simply blame millennials for everything. It's easier that way. If we just push the blame onto the nearest scapegoat we won't have to fix our broken fucked up world.	Insect	Age - Youngsters	1/75	1.333

Keep perpetuating the problem by removing all responsibility for the millennial's plight! These kids are all master manipulator pussies who can't stand on their own two feet. Your 'they were dealt a bad hand' excuse is just that- an excuse! So keep coddling these babies. I agree the parenting has created these monsters, but society (ie, schools, sports, employers, etc) only kiss their asses rather than confront the problem. Unfortunately these morons are our future. A few generations ago 18 year olds were storming the beach at Normandy. These fragile snowflakes need a safe place and 'comfort' dogs in class to help quell their anxiety! While tech-savvy, they lack basic common sense. They rightfully earn the dumbest generation award thus far !	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/122	0.82
You sound like just another perpetually offended snowflake millennial. Good luck with that. I'm ashamed of my generation.	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/18	5.556
Everyone is sick of this and they want change yet nobody gets up to do anything. We need big crowds, and not a protest. Protesting is a joke to most	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/31	3.226
WRONG! alcohol is bad	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	1/4	25.0
Are Millennials really lazy or is the better answer is Old people are too stupid to change?	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/17	5.882
As generation Z, I'm 16. There's absolutely nothing wrong with this video. I feel the same way, actually.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/18	5.556
This moron needs to take a sociology class. This paradigm is not that sophisticated and the integrity of his claims is razor thin ...	Thin	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/23	4.348
He had me until almost the end when he stated that it was up to 'them' (the pre-millennial generation) to fix the 'kids' of today ('kids' in parenthesis because I'm one of them and I'm a grown woman of 31, and surely don't need 'them' to work extra hard to build my confidence).	Woman	Gender - General	1/53	1.887
As a Senior Surgeon I usually got to work with younger Doctors ..most of them are Millennials..and shall I say that we got a mutual respect relationship..I understand that be young in these days are really hard...regards ...	Senior, doctors	Age - Over 65s, Nationality - General	2/37	5.405

people are mad that millennials have technology and much more at our disposal, what took them 20 years to achieve we can achieve in a matter of 5 years, they also get upset about losing money in things they don't know such as cryptos, advertisements and just online money making in general, fuck the workforce im my own boss old bitch	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/61	1.639
You don't "graduate school". You "graduate FROM school". The school actually graduates the student on to the next stage of life. PLEASE GET IT RIGHT. Nobody benefits from so many people saying this wrong. Anyone that says "I graduated college" to me just shows how little they learned while in school. It is a shame to ruin a perfectly good video with a sloppy mistake like this.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/67	1.493
Yes they are a bunch of pussies and soft cock vegan feminist transgender freaks !!! The world is fucked !!!	Transgender	Sexual Identity - Transexuality	1/20	5.0
Wow, you've got the date for a "millennial", why off, if you dont remember y2k, your a millennial, 84' are NOT millenials, exception being anybody who subscribes to millennial ideologies can be labeled a millennial at any age , but The 90s Kids ARE NOT MILLENIALS !!! STOP CALLING 90S KIDS MILLENIALS! Being born in the mid or early 80s makes you a 90s kid, and they ARE NOT millenials, some 90s kids are dumb shits, and lazy, just like every generation has, but "Millennial " is a very specific set of conditions in which they experienced childhood that has created the worst yet footing for a generation to come up from, and into, the world which they have, 90s kids did not experience this, they, unfortunately have been disregarded between the two generations of 80s and the millenials, and are far too often given the discredit of the doubt toward millennial. How can you disregard an entire generation of people and say they are of the next?	Age, Dumb	Age - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/167	1.198

Wow. Does nobody understand that stupidity and ignorance has engulfed Americans of all ages? It's very true that the older generations, of which I am a part of, have ruined this country's opportunities from the inside out. I've never been the "corporate ladder" type, so I can say, I personally had nothing to do with it. Liberals, conservatives, old , young, "Christians", heathens... it doesn't matter. The quest for the biggest profits has made life VERY depressing for nearly all of us who live in America. All except the affluent. I'm not that, either. How this stupidity came to be, I can't say. Food chain? Some crap in the air/water? Microwave radiation? Nuclear testing fallout? Radio & TV?? Medications? Who really knows, and, at this point, does it even matter? I know people of all ages, races and occupations who used to be quite intelligent, but are now merely complete idiots. Worse than that, they somehow are too dense to see how stupid they have become. In the meantime, the corporations have all but completely gutted America, in terms of society, economy and quality of life, all for a few more bucks in profits. Sure, this is a global phenomenon, but America is currently closest to the finish line (being the proverbial "cliff") and sprinting as hard as they can to get there. It's beyond sad. The time for handy labels and blanket insults is over. Americans need to STOP and just look around. Yes, go meet your neighbors and talk to them. I bet you find far more who are struggling to survive despite their hardest efforts. It's because the corporation is now king. All they care about is profits, regardless of the social or economic damage they may cause. The few you do find that claim to be "doing well" do not realize they are but one pen stroke away from complete disaster. Too many people have their heads in the sand as the monster approaches from behind them.	Nobody, Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	3/330	0.909
At 1:25 - Looks like the old electronic game Simon Says from the 70s.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/14	7.143
Wait a minute, what? This video is such a massive generalization rationalized by even more massive generalizations. Literally ever generation to join the workforce has been described as lazy, entitled and narcissistic. Why? Because young people are lazy, entitled and narcissistic. It isn't just this generation. Exposure to technology does literally nothing to influence laziness and the other stuff. People 400 years ago didn't like their kids reading newspapers because it was new technology that they thought was making their kids lazy. In regards to parenting, they all do the "You are special." And the "You can have it." And parents always have said that kind of stuff. Notice how the parents in the 17th century let their kids buy the newspaper even though they thought it was the source of all their problems. I know you guys are all about entertaining an idea even if we don't agree with it, but this isn't even a new idea, it's an old idea that you are spreading as false information.	Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	2/169	1.183

Jesus Christ, I hate when people say "You get Dopamine when you drink, gamble and smoke". You also get Dopamine when you exercise, have sex and win a competition.It's not about the "Addictive Dopamine", it's about how you get it.	Sex	Gender - General	1/41	2.439
Dopamine a chemical released to make someone feel happy. There should clearly be an age restriction on everything that releases dopamine to your body. Nobody under 21 should be able to eat good food, have romantic relationships or enjoy physical activity too. Also the mountain analogy makes no sense. What, If someone is working a meaningless job and they want to quit it to pursue something more meaningful, they clearly should continue to work the meaningless job until it becomes meaningful to them?Just because you're scared of the future doesn't mean everyone else is.	Age, Nobody	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	2/94	2.128
Dopamine is also the chemical released when someone feels happy. Clearly there should also be an age restriction on having romantic relationships and eating good food.	Age	Age - General	1/26	3.846
Dear lord. They were not taught the racist , sexist bible.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/10	10.0
Haha wow... a simple answer to a complicated question... think God millennials aren't dumb enough to fall for crap like this anymore.. it's easy to convince the unknowing but the world has changed	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/33	3.03

How can you even post this completely one-sided, uninformed opinion on an "Educational" channel? There is literally no facts in this video. All it is is one man, who is clearly biased against millennials, ranting about "The reasons old people assume millennials are the way they are" and it doesn't give any factual or statistic based information. Not a single mention about how past generations have ruined the economy, or how they have tried to force their ways which they think are right against us, yet if we were to do the same (which we aren't but since the world is changing they obviously have to blame someone else than themselves) then they would throw a FIT. I also would hate to not point out the fact they the speaker literally just threw every single millennial in the same category as if we were all the same person with the same morals, views, likes, and dislikes. because, you know, that's not how segregation and racism started (which once again was something created by and supported by past generations very well lasting to this day while the millennials don't judge regardless of any sort of character other than who the person is inside) So basically I would just like to thank you for showing all of us your ignorance. It isn't the person who gets hit by the thrown stone who should be ridiculed, but rather the person who throws it. Please keep throwing those stones tho, we're getting quite the collection.	Old, Racism	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - General	2/251	0.797
Bill Nye I dropped an apple and it fell to the ground....	Apple	Ethnicity - Native-American	1/12	8.333
I am a lazy millennial. I grew up in an environment where someone worked their rear end off for me. I'm dependent on them now. People say I'm weak but I have the strong doing my dishes. Why on earth would I change myself when I'm one of the most efficient machines there is? The machine that can do nothing but produce everything.I'm kind of depressed because I feel so empty that I have no character of my own though. Maybe I don't have it hard but I wonder why I don't just end it every time I wake up. There's really no point to my existence when you think that the absolution that is death will nullify my nothingness at the end of the day.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/127	0.787
They are fat ugly soft spoiled brats.	Fat	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/7	14.286
I can't wait for all the old generations to die off already you people feel to obligated to express your opinions	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/21	4.762

Then you will be the old people who is at fault for everything. As told by the younger generation yet to be born	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/23	4.348
Very one-dimensional story. We don't hear anything about the entrepreneurial spirit of millennials that carve out careers for themselves online. Or the hard work that goes into maintaining online relationships or platform presence (nothing lazy or instant about that). Not to mention the fact that they face a bleak future because of the misconduct of those that came before them and the unwillingness of past generations to act to solve the problems that they created. It's not a fair assessment.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/80	1.25
Th1zDwK so did I misread you? we're you sneering at them, or surprised by their numbers?if I should, I'll apologize now. but I thought the phrase "Butthurt" meant you were sneering at them, and Butthurt was to trivialize their pain. so I kind of got defensive there. I'm not a millennials, and I think they take abuse they don't always deserve. I don't think they can grind like the old timers, but grinder types are getting screwed over hard these days. so, what's up? I'm genuinely curious here.thanks	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/90	1.111
Says the 45 year old who's generation raised the majority of millenials today. Nice try buddy. Now excuse me I gotta go work overtime at my job and it's only Thursday but still only get paid hardly enough for groceries, rent and college debt. - a lazy and entitled 22 year old .	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/52	3.846
I worked with a 26 year old man who couldn't be at work by 9am. One day I overheard him saying he was up at 5am looking for a Pokemon in his yard.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/33	3.03
Nancy Selzer probably because she is becoming an engineer, i'm not sure if you are trolling . Its like asking her how many newtonfeet of torque something has. Its not common to use pound as a unit, especially the colloquial pound as derper derp is suggesting. But I admit 10 is funny .	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/53	1.887

Dr. VegaPunK What you missed is: "not a common one". The pound at least here is if anything used in the most rural regions to order meat or eggs and even there its not exactly common or just used plain wrong as half a kilo (thats one reason why its mostly abandoned here (because it spawns unnecessary disussions "i orderd 2 lbs of steak why do I get only 900g")) derper derp, thats what I meant with "colloquial pound". Maybe its still more in use in your region, BUT even than it has near to no relevance especially (and thats the context here) in the STEM disciplines (like feet, inch, Fahrenheit or cubit, its just not in use anymore (at least in the universities i know from)). So, and thats my point, if you ask a younger engineer its highly possible that 4th grade was the last time he or in this case she heard about it. Here its likely you run over a engineer with this question as he tries to remember the exact conversion factor he learned that one time 15 years ago or just doesn't remember it at all (*2,20462 or 453,592g just for reference). Thats why i tried to explain that its not that wondrous to me that she had no idea. Its like how some still order in cubits because it was more commonly in use in the 50s. I came from a rural region so at least I know how the pound was used .. but here in the city often the pound is at best recognized as a currency. Not exactly a "ohh those millenials" problem . And it doesn't mean that i want to proof you wrong because yes, its obviously a used measurement in some places. I want to sharpen your perception that this is a very regional and often discussed issue and this does not necessarily mean that his niece is or is not an idiot .	Common	Social Class - Working class	2/328	0.61
--	--------	---------------------------------	-------	------

I am 25 years old . I am a millennial. I am a veteran of the U.S. military. I grew up in a rural community where most people resisted becoming hopelessly addicted to and obsessed with technology and media. I was a good wrestler in my youth. So I would train as much as twice a day and even on weekends often. I competed and figured out how to win often. It took a good deal of toughness. My time in the military required some mental toughness as well. I have a good full time job now and I go to college full time to go even further. But because of people like you that say generalizing things like this, and because I look my age (20's) I catch all kinds of flack wherever I go and whatever I say. I'm the entitled millennial who cant possibly know jack about squat. So to you I have to say, . Because I cant live everyday life without being insulted or just flat out blown off. And when I get pissed? Oh ya because he is a millennial. And I get thrown in the mix with all the idiots you just described in your little video which im sure you broke a sweat making. And my patience gets tested by so many pansy boomers and gen x'r douchebags every single day who dont seem to think that I will react to their stupidity the same way anyone else they know would.They can do or say whatever they want to me and disrespect me in whatever manner they want to because people like you spread this info and this SENTIMENT around like a cancer. And those generations cannot decipher for themselves so they believe your garbage 100 percent but then cant put it into context. Screw you. I was raised right. Also, you are probably a huge pansy . I enjoyed the animations of your vid and even some of the points but I am mad so I'm gonna go ahead and call you a little feminine fruit cake.	Age, Fruit, Mental, Old, Pansy	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	6/345	1.739
Its Miillenials who taught me all the computer skills I know. This is just ignorant and people who talk all sh are old stuck in their ways and mad that the world is changing and they don't understand, but news flash when your old , in Hospitals need to see a Doctor, who do you think will be that Doctor or Nurse? Millenials will be in charge of the World.	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/69	2.899
I think this guy is terribly wrong and has it backwards. Young people are meant to be young and basically virtue-less. Virtues are what young people experience from their elders and then aspire to as adults. Wisdom, patience, old age , have been replaced with romanticizing being young, even in very old age . Basically old people taking boner pills, plastic surgery, and get remarried at 60 instead of reading books to learn as much as they can to pass on as much as they can before lights out.	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	5/87	5.747

I worked with some of that age group in schools. They said they did not need to learn math to work on computers or run an office. They would have someone do that for them, or they would learn it when they needed it. They all wanted to be the boss on day one. You know, go get a boss job and tell people what to do. You are boring me man.	Age	Age - General	1/72	1.389
So funny to hear people rag on younger people..... The boomers are by far the worst generation America produced in a hundred years., I could enumerate but the list would be too long of what's wrong with them. We won't make progress until dirt is thrown on the face of the last of that worthless generation. I'm 50 years old and I have the utmost faith in the people coming behind me. I lived with the people that came before me and to me they are Beyond worthless.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/88	1.136
I think This video is bs it's true to an extent it leaves out the fact that were more prone to seeing how the world works. We haven't been withheld the vital and damaging information that you wish to keep from us. Like issues regarding racisms. Thus my generation is less racist than the previous ones. It's not that we don't want to wait or lack patient we don't want to bust our ass's for wages that haven't gone up for 5 years. We refuse to buy houses and take on loans because we know that it's beneficial and profitable for corporate America, real estate agents, and the banks. We have been lied to for 150 years we have been giving false information about every race on the matter of history that isn't white. Because they choose how the story is written and decided our fate. White Americans didn't intervene during the drug crisis until they were affected by heroin, meth, and cocaine themselves. I do agree that we feel too much, but we as millennials refuse to be ignorant. To think too little because we're too aware of our surrounding not all of us have low self-esteem. We deal with a lot of trauma question that we have for our parents that they can't answer because they don't know themselves. Angry and rage from continuous shootings and graphic assaults, and school bombing that go unaccounted for. It's a fucked up place and you tried to shield us from it with a distraction. So we will play your game, but don't bash us for using it sort of like an escape. I mean what place is actually safe, accepts-all and everything and wants the best for everyone (democracy sounds like a lie) right now America sounds like a lie were just trying to make sense out of the shit holes you dumped us in as u said the cards have already been dealt it's not my fault that I'm here but I'm here	Race, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/334	0.599
A lot of millennials are lazy, complaining, SJWs.I am a millennial, but it is very difficult to identify with people my age .They have such an insane view of reality	Age	Age - General	1/31	3.226

I am 47 years old I work in a store this 20 year old girl was whining about being soooo tired from her 5 hour shift and I was working on overtime that day OMG give me a break she looked at me and asked how can you work and not be tired.	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/53	3.774
The globalist mask is OFF and we the people are rising. The real reason for the yellow vest movement is to take our planet back from the globalist banker leftist elite. They have seeped in to every aspect of our lives. Taxes, Education, media, healthcare... but... The elite made a grave mistake because we the people are the ones guarding them and their stolen gold. We are the government employees and the police. We the people are awake now and we will turn on them like a pit-bull on his fake lying owner. We the people are taking our planet back. The time is now.	Yellow	Ethnicity - Asian (East-China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam), Nationality - Chinese, Nationality - Japanese	3/105	2.857
Stop belittling men and the importance of their role in raising a stable family and stop turning a blind eye to the negative impact of single motherhood and you will see real, positive change, fast.	Blind	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/35	2.857
Ben SmithI'm curious Ben...how old are your grandparents? Do they live in a manner that indicates they "destroyed the economy"? The truth is, our grandparents were/are mostly poor to lower middle class. The ones who did the "destroying" were the central banks, the globalists, the greedy, corrupt politicians...and an education system that continues to hide these truths from us. The fact that you solely blame our grandparents...means that you haven't taken the time to do your research and have actually 'bought into the lies'.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/85	1.176
millenials are the product of the transition from pre-social media era to social media era.	Transition	Sexual Identity - Transexuality	1/15	6.667

I think they sling all the blame and hate at millennials for a few reasons. One of them being the prior generations don't have answers for the far broader and thought-provoking questions that we have. When people can't fathom or comprehend questions that have a bigger range of answers, they just waffle and become belligerent. Especially in the older generations that take age respectability too far, when it comes to youth, they'd rather run the risk of sounding stupid and uninformed than to just say they don't know and/or do the proper research. All millennials are asking is how can I be at fault for sinking a ship I wasn't given the reign to run and was essentially sinking prior to my introduction anyway? And why am I not allowed to access the capabilities to keep this ship afloat being that I'm taking the brunt of the blame? And the fact that the answer we get sums to being, "well because you're a snowflake libtard ", ends up kinda proving my point. Because trust me, most of these people who make these unfactual videos use the lowest common denominator and lowest IQ in our generation to prove their point. But bring in a millennial that can have an intellectual, fact-based debate and watch how irate and belligerent these people get because their bs can't be validated against the experience of damn near an entire generation with stats to prove.	Age, Common, Libtard, Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - General, Social Class - Working class	4/238	1.681
the thing is everyone creates their own idea of what milennial is. People who are 55+ will lump the kids born in 2001-1985 which is ridiculous. Anyone born after 1995, and especially after 2000 grew up in an environment unlike those born in 1980-1995. And people born in 1980s, had a different childhood than the adults born in 1990s. Simon Sinek in my opinion...reflects a guy insecure with his age and has dedicated his life to something older people have done to the younger generations for centuries. Write a book about a baseless opinion which is a theraputic rant for however many pages on end.	Age, Lump	Age - General, Physical Identity - Physical Features	2/105	1.905
Nathan Medina right i re-read what I wrote and I was only trying to express everyone will look back on their experiences as being something different than those born after them. It is just ridiculous to lump everyone together based on that lol. I think we are past looking to horoscopes for information.	Lump	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/53	1.887
Another needlessly long thought piece on millennials. Maybe the world has become super depressing as a result of missmanagement and old people just dont get it? We are mad that weve had all the tools we need to build a legitimate utopia since before we were born and yet we are all still struggling to survive while capitalist old hats make excuses for why we are still barely paid enough to cover all the ridiculous costs that those same old fogies have left for us. And then we have to sit through these elders shit talking and shaming the very generation that THEY failed	Old	Age - Over 65s	3/104	2.885

Lol it just gets worse and worse. Almost like the years and years of electronics altering our nervous system and television melting our brains has had negative effects. Almost like destroying circadian rhythms and mental health for decades and feeding people poison is BAD o: we are the lab rats	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/50	2.0
There's nothing wrong with millineals. They have the gall to question authority. Good I'm glad, I'm generation X and judging by our generations contributions we need to be questioned. The millineals are special, they have to save the planet.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/39	2.564
Sure they were dealt a bad hand but at some point you have to take responsibility for yourself. If you are 34 years old and you are still blaming your parents for all of your problems than you will never solve them. The arrogance narcissism and impatience of this generation is appalling. I totally disagree that it is the corporation's job to hand-hold these losers. The only responsibility of these companies is to make a profit. I think they understand this on some level that's why they embraced communism and they love Bernie Sanders. 'EVERYTHING FREE!' Somehow someway these fucking people need to learn personal responsibility. They need to get over themselves stop thinking they know everything and ask an older person to help them figure out how to be a grown up. Obviously not their parents because they were hippie freaks that foisted the fake-ass self-esteem movement on these kids that has failed miserably.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/155	0.645
They never say nothing about the real Cancer. Feminism and modern women.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/12	8.333
as a 50 year old i think he makes a lot of good points with some not so good/correct points, one he has missed out is that while children are growing up parents are (at least in my country) are told you cant say "no" to a child cause it will hurt their feelings and lead to depression and so on. soo after a life of being told yes they get out in the real world and an employer said "no", it wold be a bit like a cricket bat to the face i would think. i don't think rejection is a life skill children and adolescents are taught how to deal with that much maybe	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/117	0.855
You have millenials born between 1985 and 1996 that are nothing like millenials born after 2000. Completely different culture and era. This generation is actually called generation z. You can't tell me that someone that is 33 was socially indoctrinated the same way as someone that is 18 today. This is stupid and ageist .	Ageist, Nothing	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	2/54	3.704

Well, this is the same problem people Black People have been going through in this racist country, Welcome, it does not feel very good, does it? Now, white america is reaping its just desserts with their lost generation. Good for you	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/41	4.878
F.I LOWE-PERRYThis is probably one of the most hateful and racist comments I've come across in a long time.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/20	5.0
2 Timothy 3: 1-5. The behavior of people in our day was foretold long ago. Likewise, Jesus gave a composite sign recorded in Mathew 24; see also Luke 21. Many Bible prophecies are being fulfilled in our day, as the current system of things draws to a conclusion. Thousands of years ago Satan challenged Gods sovereignty and raised the universal issue that has affected everyone ever since; God has allowed a period of time to pass so that this issue will be unquestionably resolved once for all time. Satan's power on earth is reaching its conclusion; he has failed and been proved a liar. Much suffering has occurred during Satan's attempt to govern earths affairs. Now he has a very short time left and is very angry, wreaking as much havoc as possible. However, Jesus will soon remove all evil influence and restore peace, paradise, and perfection by means of Gods kingdom. Daniel 2:44. We are promised conditions such as those depicted in Psalm 35 and Isaiah 37...if we take our stand on God's side and love his righteous standards. This here was simply a video on millennials, and I have expanded quite a bit away from that central theme, going out on a tangent. But many people do notice something very different about current conditions earthwide, in a particularly disastrous way. The Bible answers all of life's tough questions. I know what I am saying is scoffed at by those who reject the Bible as God's word. That's ok, free will allows for it. For anyone who might wish to see answers for themselves in their own bible, free study aids are available and downloadable at JW.org. There is nothing to lose by checking it out, if interested. I don't mean to sound like an advertisement here, and have nothing to gain by mentioning it. But it's hard not to notice the change in many people's attitudes today, not just millennials, plus the changes everywhere around us in so many ways.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/332	0.602

dmaster225 and, adding to that, how many commercials show the husband as a fool or weakling? I'm not mgtow, not at this point anyway, but dayum. a little variety? country music has been called formulaic. all those county boys, but when there's a breakup, the writers have "I'm sad and sorry" $ongs, and" yeee-hah", time to get drunk" songs. but can you Lagine a guy talking about keying the hell out of cheating girlfriends truck, like Gretchen Carlson does to her boyfriend? if property damage is so cute, why do cowboys not get to do it to girlfriends who cheat on them? oh, now it's promoting abuse. but if a woman does it, it's grrrl powerrr! there have been lots of things like this. look at how the male characters were treated in the latest star wars movies. Left and Right are both playing badly, and in addition to all the economics stuff we got the culture wars!!! millennials got a full plate.	Woman	Gender - General	1/163	0.613
In a Joe Rogan podcast on fake martial arts, he said something to the effect of "When these con artists don't know what they're talking about, they get really into anatomy and technical terms, to make it seem like they've got credibility." I couldn't help but think about that when he started going on about dopamine, and likening social media to alcohol .	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	1/62	1.613
My friends 28year old son (never worked)is such a unpleasant little shit,	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/12	8.333
The world may not be prepared for the mellinials but the world better be ready for us. Light is igniting rapidly under the embrace of mellinials. We will get you as our time to become the masters of the universe transition .	Transition	Sexual Identity - Transexuality	1/41	2.439
This bum dowsnt know what hes talming about, this guy acts like he god lmaoooooooo, he dont eecen motivate anyone, why is our generation getting shit talked by the worst generation in the world 'baby boomers' all yall did was sit there and have babies	Bum	Social Class - Destitute	1/46	2.174
I am a millenial, when i saw the title i got pissed and dismissed this as another old fart who whines about the younger generation. But this guy is actually saying some good stuff, watch it till the very end (note: he never actually blames millenials.)	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/47	2.128
If your young reading these comments. Just focus on love. Focus on giving and receiving love everyday. Ask YOURSELF, what your life means to you. Ask YOURSELF what you can do to improve yourself, and your loved ones. Accept criticism and don't be a pussy . The truth is.....no one has the answer.....Your soul has the answer. There are so many distractions in the world that want to separate you from oneness. Everyone is looking for an answer to an undefined question. But the answer you seek lies within. Shut your eyes and look within. Happiness is Reality minus Expectations.	pussy	Nationality - Chinese	1/99	1.01

Just so you know your using the term generation wrong. a generation is within a specific family, for instance my sister and i are of the same generation, and my father and his brothers are of the same generation, but he is not of the same generation as his friends (who are all around his age).	Age	Age - General	1/56	1.786
o also saying that my age group is entitled is 100 incorrect. What you see on the internet and hear from your friends and family about children being entitled yes that does happen, but that's all you hear. Now a days adults just like to bitch and moan and when kids do something good you don't mention it at all because you are in fact entitled and expect the world from us, but the minute children do something wrong you post it on facebook and do your best to embarrass your children.	Age	Age - General	1/92	1.087
The generation that came before Simon worked 12 hour shifts in factories/mines and fought in world wars, they called Simon's generation lazy for wanting 8-hour workdays. The generation before that one worked 16 hour days in factories/mines and called their children lazy for not wanting to start working at age 14 and hopefully not die of exhaustion before 60. Millennials are paving the way for future lazy generations, and more power to us.We'll be calling our great great grandchildren lazy for downloading entire doctorates directly into their brain because we had to work for 20 years to pay off a bachelor's.	Age	Age - General	1/102	0.98
It's weird to see the words millennials and work in the same sentence.	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/13	7.692
We just don't want to spend 40hrs doing something that can be done in 10. I quit my job because the boss was just a stuck up old head that assumes they know everything simply because they're old . Now I make 5k a week without leaving bed	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/47	4.255
I agree, but as a 17 Year old , i agree with some things he said too. It seems to me like some of my friends are just lost, they just do things they have been told to do, not that they really want to do them or understand why they are doing those things. I hope this is just the part of being young and confused.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/66	1.515
I think its funny these companies expect quality while paying less than it takes to rent an apartment. Yeah... I don't blame people for not giving a shit about their job. Its got nothing to do with Facebook or work ethic... its the fact that people would simply rather move to Cali and live in a tent than waste their life trying to get material crap in a world of ever increasing irrelevance.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/73	1.37

FIRST OF ALL, YES–THE BOOMERS TRIED TO MAKE THEIR KIDS THEIR FRIENDS AND NOT THEIR KIDS, AND THEY WERE WRONG FOR THAT.HOWEVER–TO SAY MILLENNIALS WERE DEALT A BAD HAND IS ONCE AGAIN BEING A CRYBABY AND NOT AT ALL ACKNOWLEDGING THE FACT THAT MILLENNIALS MORE THAN ANYONE ELSE CONSISTENTLY REFUSE TO TAKE RESPONSIBILITY FOR THEIR ACTIONS–AND NO, YOU CAN’T BLAME THAT ON THE BOOMERS, IT’S A PERSONAL CHOICE–AND THEY REFUSE TO CHOOSE IT!!!AND FAR AS PATIENCE GOES–THAT WORD HAS MORE THAN FOUR LETTERS IN IT, AND EVERYONE KNOWS THE MILLENNIALS ONLY KNOW FOUR LETTER WORDS!!!AND AS FAR AS DROPPING OUT, DRUG USE AND SUICIDE–HAVE YOU EVER HEARD OF THE 60S & 70S??? THERE WAS AS MUCH IF NOT MORE OF THOSE THINGS THEN–AND THEIR PARENTS MADE IT THROUGH BY JOINING THE NORM AND JUST PLAIN GROWING UP–WHICH MILLENNIALS REFUSE TO DO!!!FACEBOOK IS A CHOICE, NOT A RIGHT–AND THESE MILLENNIALS HAVE CHOSEN TO ROT OUT THEIR BRAINS BY SPENDING EVERY WAKING MOMENT ON ITAND OTHER SOCIAL MEDIA!!!!”AMAZING FANTASTIC GROUP OF YOUNG KIDS THAT WERE JUST DEALT A BAD HAND”???? I’M READY TO PUKE AT THIS TOTAL LIE AND BULLSHIT!!! YOU’RE JUST MAKING THE SITUATION WORSE BY COW TOWING TO THEM–OH, WAIT A MINUTE: YOU’RE A MILLENNIAL YOURSELF, AREN’T YOU??? THAT EXPLAINS THIS TOTAL SEWER OF A PRESENTATION–WHAAA,WHAAA,WHAAA–GO BACK TO MOMMY AND GET YOUR BOTTLE AND SUCK ON IT AND THAT WILL CURE ALL OF YOUR SELF MADE PROBLEMS!!!AS FAR AS THE WORKPLACE GOES–THAT’S LIFE, PAL, SO JUST SUCK IT UP!!!! COMPANIES ARE NOT HERE TO MAKE YOU FEEL BETTER ABOUT YOURSELF, THEY HAVE A JOB TO DO–AND IF MILLENNIALS CAN’T OR WON’T DO THEIR JOB THEY DESERVE TO BE FIRED!!!NOW I SEE WHY THIS IS SO FULL OF SHIT–YOU DREW A BUDDHA, SO GO AND SAY OM UNTIL YOU PASS OUT!!!MILLENNIALS NEED TO BLAME THEMSELVES–THEY’RE THE SOLE REASON ALL OF THIS IS HAPPENING IN THE FIRST PLACE!!! TO TAKE RESPONSIBILITY YOU HAVE TO ADMIT YOU’RE WRONG IN THE FIRSTPLACE–NOT BLAME EVERYONE AND EVERYTHING ELSE!!!!IF THIS WAS MEANT TO EXPLAIN THE MILLENNIALS–ALL YOU DID IS MAKE THE GENERATION GAP WIDER BY REFUSING TO EAT CROW WHICH YOU SO DESPERATELY NEED TO DO!! GROW UP AND QUIT YOUR BITCHING AND MOANING!!! YOU MAKE ME SICK!!!

Crow

Ethnicity -
Black

1/372

0.269

The idea that the dopamine released when you drink alcohol is at all comparable to the dopamine released when texting a friend is one of the silliest things I've heard all day, but this video was p funny. Thanks.	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	1/39	2.564
I like these little drawings... Hey friends, I was born in 1985 & have never felt entitled to anything except like maybe a "good morning" or any friendly greeting or manners. Which is almost too much to ask for these days... Haha!!! Social media wasn't a "thang" until I was like 18, a "legal adult" LOL... wayyy after I had discovered smoking weed & underaged drinking & actual SOCIALIZING with real people, my friends, my peers. I lived like that nostalgic meme on FB about coming home when the streetlights came on, drinking water from the hose & knowing where my peeps was at because their bikes were there. I never experienced "participation" trophies that I can recall & the only folks saying "you can be whatever you wanna be, etc" was in the public schools. Becoming an adult in today's society can be depressing, I agree. Especially when it is all so monetarily driven & we have to put in so many hours to barely get by. Time is the new money. And millennials ARE sayin' "eff this" to corporate America & starting to live in vans & tiny houses or RVS so they can work less & live more! That is the PURPOSE we are missing. To freaking live & love & enjoy this crazy existence!!! To not just be another "functioning cog in some great machinery serving something beyond me". - Fleet Foxes – And also, destroying the only Earth we have for riches is not cool. Real life is kind of definitely a horror story... Peace & Love, Just another entitled millennial that wishes they could save the planet & mankind <3	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/276	0.362

I'm a millennial and my problem is that I work hard and yet I still struggle. I've worked in the same job for 7 years, which used to be a place where people made top dollar for the cost of living at the time and now we're making half that. I work a blue collar assembly job, on my feet for 11 hours a day with no A/C. No one can say that's lazy. I still hate my life and wish I was doing something I could be passionate about but I couldn't afford to stay in college, which is also the case for a lot of millennials. I still don't have a house, am stuck in apartment living because I can't save up the money for a down payment on a house and was only barely given a loan for my used car as it is. My 30 year old brother (also a millennial) has worked in the same job for 15-ish years as a UPS driver. He has a son in which he has joint custody of and can't work full time because he has to be home on certain days that he has his son. He can't afford child care and can't afford to live on his own. He lives with my mom and pays no rent, yet still struggles. There should be no reason people at that age who have been in the same company for that long, can't afford to live alone. My boyfriend, (also a millennial), works full time at multiple jobs and can barely afford $400 to help with rent each month and pays no utilities. There has been times where he's had to work 7 days a week just to get $400 for the month.

Age, Old

Age - General,
Age - Over 65s

2/293

0.683

This video isn't too terribly bad. That's nice to see for a change. I would, though, as I often do, like to see more of a comparison of millennials to previous generations that looks at how millennials really aren't in that bad of a place as the previous generations weren't that great, either. One example that often comes to mind is this idea that millennials aren't tough. Well, if we look at the metoo movement or all the pedophilia the Catholic Church engaged in, the "toughness" of those previous generations led to them covering up their problems rather than addressing them. So was their toughness really that great of a quality to have? I personally find it to be overrated. Let's also recognize that another reason previous generations didn't address these issues was for the "likes." Sure, these weren't Facebook likes, but they didn't want to rock the boat because doing so could lead to being shunned. E.g, you couldn't rat on that Catholic priest for getting fiddy with children as you'd be looked down upon by the parish. This video at least recognizes there are problems with the environment, but, unfortunately, I felt it danced around pinning much blame on prior generations, speaking about corporations as if they have minds of their own and aren't the products of people that they actually are. Or, while it did compare technology addiction to other addictions like to alcohol, smoking, or gambling, it failed to point out that millennials don't have those problems at the same rates of previous generations. How about some credit where it is due?	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	1/266	0.376
Let me tell you something you already know. The world ain't all sunshine and rainbows. It's a very mean and nasty place and I don't care how tough you are it will beat you to your knees and keep you there permanently if you let it. You, me, or nobody is gonna hit as hard as life. But it ain't about how hard ya hit. It's about how hard you can get it and keep moving forward. How much you can take and keep moving forward. That's how winning is done! Now if you know what you're worth then go out and get what you're worth. But ya gotta be willing to take the hits, and not pointing fingers saying you ain't where you wanna be because of him, or her, or anybody! Cowards do that and that ain't you! You're better than that!	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/144	0.694

I'm gen X and from my perspective I watched an entire generations robbed of their wealth. My grandfather was at Omaha Beach Normandy. My grandmother grew up in a dirk floor shack on a tobacco farm. My grandfather had an 8th grade education and my grandmother had a 3rd grade education. Both retired with more money then me or any Millennial I know will ever make. The opportunity for my grand parents was there for them. Now they tell you to put yourself in debt and that collage is the only way. In the 1950's half of this countries workforce was unionized. Today it's less then 6. Both my grandparents were UAW and they bled red white and blue. My grandmother worked in a munitions factory and made parts for the bombs dropped on Japan. She retired from Crystler with over a million dollars in the bank. The middle class in this country has been destroyed. Starting in 2001 I watched entire industrial complexes disappear. By 2005 my area looked like a ghost town. I watched as a mass exodus of manufacturing jobs left for China. We were sold out by the corporations that wanted more profits exploiting Chinese slave labor. This isn't my grandparents country anymore. If Americans don't want to work 2 jobs at minimum wage we're called lazy.	Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	2/221	0.905
1984 is not the milenial generation. My opinion. The milenials are born about the time of the milenium. It's not the time of coming to age . 1984 were the eighties generation. The milenials are now in their late teens and some are giving birth to the new generation just starting school. But hey I am not a USA citizen brought up on Bart Simpson and popcorn. Milenials do not need the type of USA junk publications such as the above video.	Age	Age - General	1/81	1.235
I'm a millennial in college and working about 30 hours a week in a high stress restaurant environment and I can vouch only a few people who aren't middle age adults can hang when it comes to hard work, everyone is victimized lazy ass people just look at the stats for voters, most of us went liberal	Age	Age - General	1/57	1.754
I was born in 1985. I have a lot to say but I will refrain. Too many trolls and people with old ways of thinking that are afraid of change. I don't wish to engage in an argument where we cannot respectfully disagree with each other. I don't want to keep being a corporate slave and be told that I'm an outlier for questioning old methods and processes. I no longer want to destroy my physical, emotional and mental health so I can please society and be 'normal'. Work hard? There are millions of people that 'work hard' and get absolutely no where! If being normal is constantly hustling to keep your head above water.....then I refuse to live this way.	Mental, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/121	2.479

Simon Sinek is an ungrounded, intellectually dishonest pseudo-intellectual. I mean that his lofty erudite criticisms have no acceptable philosophic basis, he draws upon his own unexamined neurotic premises while placing himself as a provocateur-for-profit. He is of the same posturing ilk as Jordan Peterson, Dinesh D'souza, and the rest of the dishonest, public gadflies. What he doesn't seem to grasp, when he refers to millenials as entitled and critiques their softness, is that his 'toughen-up' , 'pull yourself up by your bootstraps' cliches imply the dichotomy of a culture where institutionalized violence via capitalism rules the day, and is thus the moral standard. Let's be clear, his unexamined philosophical premises regarding ethics, imply that money is the moral standard over an individual's life. He also doesn't seem to understand that the Internet allows for anyone on the planet to check their premises and or the premises of their culture. There is no foundational empirical premise to support that capitalism works for the average person. In fact, a gentle examination online will reveal that the World Health Organization, The United Nations, and the National Institute of Health, recognize major depression and anxiety as the leading causes of disability in the world, and the exponential increase in these problems directly correlates to capitalism, modernity and industrialization. It takes only a tertiary examination to discover that capitalism is a form of institutionalized violence, and that we have been lied to regarding the old model that education=success=career=happiness. FALSE! Further, consider that based on minimum wages, housing costs and employment opportunities through the 1970s, it was possible to attend college and perform a part time job, and likely find a position in some firm or develop a start-up. This is almost impossible today with wage disparity vs living expenses, with the addition of predatory lending, and a debt culture wishing to satisfy their misery and neurosis through the purchase of junk. Not to mention the distillation of economic power to the financial elite. Millennials are simply responding and rebelling against a failed system that is philosophically corrupt to its core due to the influence of Christianity, Pragmatism and Postmodernism, and they refuse to delude themselves into the Randian idealism of the mindless tough-talking conservatives or comply with the institutionalized violence of it. My message to the millenials, is fight and resist these conservative charlatans with every fiber of your being. You will outcompete them in the long run.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/403	0.248
This is a load of wank. This is the age of monopoly. Monopolies granted by Governments have destroyed all opportunity. So the true Narcopaths the elites blame them. People know it's all rigged against them. Davros man and the politicians fuck everyone	Age	Age - General	1/42	2.381

Why do you call us useless adults? We make up majority of the workforce. Millennials are so hard working and advanced it's mind boggling how everyone is attacking Millennials yet say nothing about the current generation that is spoiled and lazy as hell...	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/43	2.326
Joe Miranda They say nothing about the current generation because they haven't hit the work force yet. Don't worry, it will happen then	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/23	4.348
naw yall ARE kids trust me. yall act like 5 year olds! all the time whining and crying over dumb stupid shit and getting your feelings hurt!! chk your feeling at the door shit stick aint nobody got time for your feelings	Dumb, Nobody	Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/42	4.762
Darlene Wigston Who are "they"? We Millennials talk about GEN Z Post-Millennials all the time. And most of what we say are exactly what this guy says. Except he is talking about the wrong generation. I'm sorry you are incorrect, The current Generation most certainly ARE in the workforce and this guy is talking about them... Everyone who is Currently 15-23 years old are part of Generation Z Post-Millennials aka iGen... That was the whole point of my comments. This idiot is confusing the current Generation Z Post-Millennials and applying their traits to Generation Y Millennials which is my Generation while never mentioning the Current Generation meaning he don't realize that there is a new generation. Everything he is saying exactly describes how Gen Z Post-Millennials are yet he does not mention Gen Z one time in all of this. He applied all of his speech to Gen Y which is the incorrect generation. That's like applying things that Gen X did in the 1980's to Baby Boomers... It don't make sense and obviously the guy is confused.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/178	0.562
No, you are large old useless children	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/7	14.286
Eric Anderson Says the old man using YouTube which was created by a Millennial... Fail	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/15	6.667
Should I kill myself for being a Millennial? I honestly feel like you some good points. I hate my own generation. I went to college only to find nothing but loans to pay, and it's obvious my brain is not meant for any work force. Please be honest. I think you are the only one that has been about us. Two Bunz	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/62	1.613

Baptiste Badillo lol...he is right. And you go on about student loan debt....let's see, while I was in college, there were endless numbers of people getting totally WORTHLESS degrees. Spending 6+ years on a four year degree. Spending student loan money on Xbox and booze. Now, I've been out of college for 7 years. And not surprisingly, many of those people are having "trouble"....hmmmm, whose fault is that? Just FYI, Gender Studies is NOT a skill. Communications? PR? Those colleges graduated endless numbers of students each year. Where did they think they were all going to work? Further, I am an actual employer. Finding good workers (ie: people that show up on time, don't call in sick every other week, don't have purple hair and a nose ring, actually are PRODUCTIVE- not sitting on their phones all day, etc.) are hard to come by. PS: I'm a millennial.	Gender	Gender - General	1/148	0.676
Baptiste Badillo "even though I don't think"...you should have ended your comment there. Have you actually been to college recently? If so, you haven't noticed the hordes of people going to school for worthless degrees- ones which they will obviously receive ZERO, that's right, ZERO return on investment? If not, you must be blind. And I don't care if someone wants to go to school for Gender Studies, however, they should receive ZERO government funding or loan guarantee for something so worthless. If you haven't noticed, ever since government started guaranteeing some of these education loans, banks have just been more than willing to shell out millions of dollars for absolutley worthless degrees. And the kicker: you can't declare bankruptcy to get out of the loans! They're with you until you're dead! Banks would not be willing to risk their own money for something that wasn't very promising (a gender studies student) if it weren't backed by government. In other words, we wouldn't have this student loan debt crisis at all. And you seriously think education should be free!? Blahahahahaha....so...you want even more people with worthless degrees flooding the job market? Tell me, what exactly are those people going to do when they get to the job market? Who will hire them? All of that tax money right down the tubes for nothing.	Blind, Gender, Nothing, Zero	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	7/223	3.139
Jean-Claude Van Damme Stop being rude it's not helping the discussion. I started college when you got out of it so I know better than you what I'm talking about (I'm 24) and guess what ? I'm not in debt, I got a bachelor's degree 2 years ago and now I have a job I love. And no, I have not been trampled on by hordes of stupid people stuying useless courses, we don't have gender studies where I live. There are still some courses that don't offer a proper job straight away, it needs to complement another degree or else I agree that it is useless. And what about my previous question ? Who do you think is right ? Is it the guy that commented or the one I answered to ?	Gender	Gender - General	1/136	0.735

Darlene Wigston she's not a Millennial. Millenials came of age in around 2000. She's the following generation, whatever name they give them but right now it's Generation Z.	Age	Age - General	1/28	3.571
Darlene Wigston no, that's the last of the Millenials because they became adults. Just like Gen X the forgotten generation came of age with Reagen and their Baby Boomer parents had it better than them. Baby Boomers are the last generation who could have husband go off to work while wifey watched the kids and now living fine on pensions. They were spoiled being born after WW2 in an economic explosion in the US while the rest of the World was rebuilding. The Baby Boomers have been studied at every point in their lives because of the impact they have made to our society.	Age	Age - General	1/104	0.962
classik rok fan How old are these people "Them" you are referring to? Sounds like a bunch of teenagers and young 20 year olds (Centennials). But then again I also know 40-50 year old Gen X'rs that have worked for me that did the exact same thing. Low IQ level and laziness runs through all generations. Ever notice all the 50+ year olds still working fast food joints flipping burgers or still working entry level positions like Wal-Mart, retail stores or still or sacking your groceries at Grocery stores? Those people that made entry level positions a career aren't just Millennials mind you. I know many older people that you have to tell them 50 times before they understand anything, and then they have the "this job don't pay enough" or "you're younger than me and shouldn't tell me what to do" attitude all the time. Same for younger people too. What you are explaining is in ALL generations. Funny you leave out the overwhelming majority of us Millennials that are hard working and are very talented and very useful. Millennials make up 60 of the workforce. If this video was true then our country wouldn't be functioning. This country relies heavily on Millennials. Again, many of us Millennials are entrepreneurs, inventors, investors and small-large business owners but yet you people think we are all just a bunch of irrelevant youngsters that have nothing to offer society. I bet majority of the people you are talking about aren't even Millennials... Another problem you people are having is mistaking Centennials with us Millennials. "I work with some of them" This statement right here tells me something about yourself. What are you doing in life that has held you back to being on the same level and working right beside the very people you are insulting? If you are so much better than them then why are they your equals? Have a look in the mirror and evaluate yourself for a minute. What is going on here? LOL!	Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	3/336	0.893

Joe Miranda very good point. Lay offs and circumstance has a lot to play in where we are in life. For now i have to make money somehow and being a kitchen manager has to suffice until something more substantial comes up. But you are also right that being lazy and acting entitled crosses all generations. I've seen it in the young and the old . The young get the brunt of the grief because they seems to be more blatant about it. We all could use a good look in the mirror. For more than one reason. A lot of the problems with the younger group could be solved if parents stop coddling their kids and teachers are left alone to actually teach. None of us are perfect and it's going to take all of us to make this better.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/140	0.714
Ha ha ha ha ha ha. Funny. As can be seen from the comments, some people are not in agreement with what Simon Sinek is saying. Fair enough, you are (not really) entitled to your opinion. But at least this guy is trying to do something about what he thinks is wrong in the world. Most commenters here are doing nothing except posting comments to the video and feeling justified. "I said something in the comment section of a youtube video, I am a hero working to change the world". Ha ha ha ha ha ha. Choice: Have not enough time to post comments online because you are too busy trying to change what you see as wrong in the worldorDo nothing , moan about it, blame someone else (typicalMillennialMindSetandBehaviourChooseThis)	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/132	1.515

"I said something in the comment section of a youtube video, I am a hero working to change the world". "or Do nothing, moan about it, blame someone else (typicalMillennialMindSetandBehaviourChooseThis)" I see you also in the comments making comments. So according to your own logic you too are a useless person that has too much time on your hands... So that means it isn't just Millennials in these comments. YOU are here too. FYI I am a Millennial. The reason I have free time to read comments and respond is because I have created my own freedom by hard work. I own multiple businesses and make lots of money through 15 different income streams that all allows me to contribute to the world more than you could ever wish for AND even allows me to also have TONS of freetime. Tell me, what contributions have you made to society? How many millions have you donated to organizations to help people? How many people's lives have you personally touched and changed for the better? How many people have you trained and worked one on one with? How many hours of volunteering have you done? How many people have you taken off the street and employed? See the thing is we Millennials are very hard working and can multitask better than any other generation. We were raised this way be being forced into some of the worst economic situations this nation has ever seen. Raised in a changing advanced technological society. Raised in a time where people's mindsets were changing. We revolutionized many of the technology and ways you enjoy today. We did all this and still have time to jump down in the comment sections and defend ourselves and correct your misinformation and inaccurate mindset. OOPS! So what are you doing with your life that is so much better than mine? I'll wait...	Nation, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Nationality - General	2/312	0.641
Millennials r dumb cuz they're from a different time period than us!!!!!! It's not like all teenagers from every generation acted like lazy know it all assholes or anything, oh wait they totally did. If you're going to blame millennials you should probably blame the people who raised them too. Millennials are literally just people born in a different generation, that doesn't automatically mean anything of them. You're not special, non-millennials.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/71	1.408
Nothing is black or white. Millennials are also creating big companies creating new industries and some becoming successful and independent way before their parents did. That's just the other side of the coin	Black, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black	2/33	6.061

That's lame	Lame	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/2	50.0
Easiest way to put the struggle Millennials face. For us it's a steep cliff to financial freedom (exponential increases in everything from Healthcare, property values, to slow wage growths), but still possible with the right tools and folks you know. For older generations it was still hard work, but more of gradual slope to the top.	Slope	Nationality - Chinese	1/56	1.786
Veronica Canche millenials are lazy delusional mind programmed by Jew media CRAZEE. Who thinks that men & women are equal ...just watch them walk ...lmfao ...or count the genders ..if you're counting past 2 ...then you're a mentally disturbed snowflake millennial generation	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/42	2.381
And it's just like someone who is lazy and entitled to blame common sense and facts on privilege instead of getting up to look in the mirror. I'm a gen z and almost every single millennial I know acts like what is described in the video.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/46	2.174

SportDiver 2 perhaps millennials are "depressed, delusional minded and lazy" because the generation that attempted to raise them are failures? Perhaps they look towards progression and love because they never saw enough at home and they are tired of it? Maybe they are the " snowflake generation" because the people before them ruin their trust in relationships and they became very sensitive because they are traumatized by the horrid actions of their parents? Perhaps the suicide rates are up because of all of this combined, and perhaps your generation expects too much, in majority doesn't want to work anymore, so they raise their child with high expectations... and when they see human results reflected by the held in emotion they had to deal with... in majority the patients would just say oh lazy child I'm never getting that mansion I wanted you to buy me. There's something called human agency you know, they have a right to explore what they wish and when they do they are better off on general. Because of the previous generation pushing their own pursuits and dreams onto the millenials, they are forced into something they don't like, usually dropping it for a minimum wage job they pick up just to pay the tuition or bills instead of using their true abilities of progression to start up online businesses, make research spark, and show others what humanity is doing wrong with tradition subjectively. Perhaps that's why some drop outs are better off than anyone could imagine they would've been. But then again, I'm gen z mixture, but I've seen my sister whom is millenial this video says little to no truth to her, she is a hard worker, but her surroundings are what get to her	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/290	0.345
The truth...while uncomfortable for some...is never privileged ...nor is the truth hate speech, racist , fear mongering, any phobia...nor is the truth a bigot or naziit is simply the truth and a great majority of business owners of 30 yrs. or more....all have the same opinion of lack of work ethics, emotional instability resulting in these "safe spaces" now provided for the snowflake generation and the ones just coming out of university...and that...is fact as proven by many business owners posting right here on this video.The truth doesn't give a shit about anything but the truth!	Nazi, Racist, Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - General	3/96	3.125
The internet and social media was created by Gen X. 10 year old millennials weren't creating social media in the 2000s were they?	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/23	4.348

this video is one big generalization based on one generation blaming them for flaws that i have been prominent in humans since the beginning of our existence. if i'm basing my opinion of the narrator on this video alone then he is w/o a doubt just another old pretentious dumbass unwilling to wander outside of their bubble. a lot of u old fucks shit on the youth & try to mask it w sympathy. u watch a little fox, u read a few forums featuring the opinions of old dumbasses such as yourself and suddenly u have all the answers about the younger generation. u know what? ass my ass.	Old	Age - Over 65s	3/110	2.727
Reji, I am a 54 year-old genx-er. Keep fighting. Sinek's bullshit premises are centered around a system of structural and institutionalized violence, where money has become a permission slip of survival rather than a tool of trade. The delusion of capitalism is ruining the planet and will likely be the downfall of the human race . Fight for a resource economy.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/60	1.667
Aidan Zukowski there's no escaping this manufactured pestilence and the scripted Armageddon that will ensue. All created out of lust for power and avarice. The issues society faces today are insurmountable. No man woman government or corporation can alter the course they have chosen. We may as well of been lobotomized.	Woman	Gender - General	1/51	1.961
By the time I was 22 I already did 11 and a half months in jail, been to rehab 3 times, and the phyce ward 20 times. Grew up with my dad beating my ass, mom calling me a piece of shit, a granny that babied me to much, in a racist upper middle class and working class nieghborhood. So this dumb ass has no idea how real life is. And I know the problem. The problem is these parents are raising there kids to be pussys. And not men. My dad was treating me like a man at 12. And had me working at 13. So I don't want to hear my generation complain about shit. They didn't go thru what me or sh it my sister getting her ass beat growing up, my mom neglecting her, her doing 5 years in juvenile prison, with attempts, fighting. No adolescence. Being locked up made us better people. Our mentality is no matter shity life is. It beats being locked up.	Dumb, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/170	1.176

River Billy you definitely dont know the problem. My dad never had me working at 13. I was working at 13 because I wanted to not because my dad made me. And before that I was working at the age of 9 waking up 3am every morning going to a bakery my dad owned helped him with all the food etc go school at 9am and back to the bakery 3pm to continue working making bread, puddings, serving customers. Bakery closed at 10pm and back at it again the next day 3am in the morning. We use to sleep there most times so dont give me bullshit like you think we dont know what hard work is. By the time I was 13 I was unloading shipping containers one of the hardest jobs out there. And by the time I was 22 me and 2 of my siblings created our own construction company that makes 500k per year after tax and we've only operated in the last 2 years expecting more growth. I dont want to argue with you etc.. but dont go assuming you know someone from one comment.	Age	Age - General	1/190	0.526
Bunny Was Here But you do need to recognize that ""Conservatives"" are just as spineless. Every opportunity to effectively stand up against excessive Internationalist Capitalism in the interests of The American People dashed because you fools believe in "Losing w Principle". The Dems run circles around you because they know that demographics = destiny and your precious " Red States" will become more Blue upon becoming generally more Non White. Not shilling for dems but highlighting that YOUR SIDE is just as bad. Maybe worse.	Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	2/84	2.381
River Billy The type of life you've had is on a whole different level that no one can understand. I don't care how old they are. Your life wasn't normal. I pray you find healing and I'm so glad you were able to overcome. Keep your head up my brotha! Stay strong!	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/52	1.923
Valeria A woman s role in a man s life can make him or break him. A good strong woman is essential for a family unit to work. It's a team effort. I couldn't live the rest of my life without a woman companion. It's just nature and reality.	Woman	Gender - General	3/49	6.122

Heath Savage first off thats your opinion. No one here said that so your just projecting your own thoughts on what millenials are to this post. Secondly if they choose not to slave for the system and live for free sounds smart to me. Third the very fact you are participating in this system ensures poverty, homelessness and war for the other countries. How else can the government keep providing you slaves with all these resources and the click of a finger? Because they taking it from everywhere else for free by killing those people, infiltrating governments and taking all their resources to provide it for you dumb idiots. Thats why the government has to come up with all these false flags to keep this illusion going. Your just a ignorant mutt if you think millenials are just lazy people that want to stay home. We want to start a uprising and correct the wrongs done by our governments to make it fair for all people. Not just people that choose to slave for the system to get resources that are already ours free.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/184	0.543
Heath Savage dont take selfies. See again projecting your own bullshit on other people. I live self sustained off grid. Solar panels water tanks and farm cattle, chicken and pigs . Grow my own shit. Completely dependant on myself and not the system. Soo.. I can explain how others can but you'll be to stupid to understand so i dont want to waste my time on someone who is already set in what they believe. So just leave it at that and think all millenials are lazy selfie taking people. And keep working your job thats causing your government to go and kill innocent people for their resources. And on top of that ship all those poor people to come and work in the system for dirt cheap to buy back something that was already theirs. Yeah keep hating the millenials. Ok.	PIGS	Nationality - Southern European	1/141	0.709
so true.. Being forced to work for productions or warehouses, making big money for their bosses but becoming just for survive, im a milenial, im 27 years old , i am really depressed of it how the world works....	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/38	2.632
All young people see through the bullshit.Meaning all generations. Nothing new.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/11	9.091
I find this video very wrong, it's the older generation that feels entitled. Many at my job feel they deserve a raise because of their age despite lacking the skills that are relevant. I could go on especially about the beer and smokes. All found in the older generation. The only difference is millennials are hooked on technology instead of opioid drugs.	Age	Age - General	1/62	1.613
mothership love you had nothing to whine about. You grew up in a vibrant economy which your elder generation left for you. I don't want a cookie, I want an apology for messing things up so badly.	Elder, Nothing	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	2/37	5.405

Millennials are age 22 to 37 years old in 2018 not 1994 and after like huh???????????? Anyone born after 1996 is the generation Z. And millennials in America and other countries are not the same. Do some research damn.	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	2/39	5.128
Wait till the millennial's kids grow up..we probably haven't seen nothing yet..	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/12	8.333
I am 27 years old my career is going well whats the problem?	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/13	7.692
And the Cyahoga River caught on fire. The Bald Eagle was nearly extinct from DDT. Rachel Carson wrote Silent Spring in the 1960s. The air, water was nasty until EPA made companies clean it up.It was no Utopia when the Baby Boomers grew up.	Bald	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/44	2.273
Accept the fucking criticism, the swearing, the failures, it gets you out of your confort zone and often leads to realizing useful things you were too blind to see simply because of the fact that you've got everything you want in an instant and you're too cozy in your little nasty wormwhole of a life you've got.	Blind	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/57	1.754
Parents are exhausted grappling with the corruption of their political system. Hence the yellow vests in France. America is another case. Instant gratification? For some. Patience?waiting for interviews, jobs, savings, a home, a life? Look at the economic system. It's an exclusionary zone.	Yellow	Ethnicity - Asian (East- China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam), Nationality - Chinese, Nationality - Japanese	3/43	6.977
Naw man nobody watches the whole video anymore. They just scan the comments for a summary and attack other people that comment lol!	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/23	4.348

Anne Mullett I get a weird feeling, it might just be me, actually being stupid but, most of the times I feel like I keep hearing the same facts, ideas, words, actions, over and over again, like there's nothing new to be discovered, but I guess this phase is going to fade when I get a little more in depth with my physics and programming, or any other field. Don't know, I constantly for example think of something and then come with arguments against that idea and instantly erase it, and this happens in matter of seconds, and it's happening really often and it's kind of weird , like I m almost doing it on a subconscious level, which I might be doing. Weird . Don't know, it's so easy to get lost while websurfing. It's 5:20 AM in my timezone, woke up for a quick snack and now, here I am, talking about all this nonsense like I m at my therapists'.	Nothing, Weird	Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/161	2.484
ZekeI m just a lazy 17 yo spoiled brat myself, and I ve grown way too accustomed with this stupid comfort, like now it s in my nature to not give a fuck about almost anything.	Brat	Age - Youngsters	1/36	2.778
Zeke I automatically do shit that takes the least mental effort simply because I gave up trying, when I m working on anything, for example math physics and programming, I have literally 0 patience with myself, because of this stupid instant gratification "instinct" that lies within me (might ve spelled that wrong not sure),	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/56	1.786
I fully agree with this. These days when hiring for a new job site (restoration company) I will take a 60 year old with bad knees and a bad back over a 20 year old because the broken 60 year old will likely work harder and faster and won't take a sick day every other Friday or Monday....suspiciously never in the middle of the week. I'm a millennial, though just barely (1983) and can say without a doubt we are the weakest most entitled lazy generation of people ever raised. There are exceptions even within the company I work for but the over arching theme with millennial new hires is not being dependable, being lazy, expecting to start work with a company having no prior experience in the field and to double their wage in a year(I blame this on the lies their friends tell them about what they make). And Don't even get me started on how they react to being called out for not pulling their own weight on site. I'm quite glad my parents never bought into the whole new age parenting bull. I compete with other millennials for positions and the general lack of skill and surplus of attitude have allowed me to cruise up the ladder with a work ethic that only a generation past would have been considered average probably. Thanks dummies, keep on pointing the finger outwards and clearing a path for me to succeed Ps: if you detect resentment in my post it's cause it's there.	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	4/255	1.569

Okay, no. Fuck you. You obviously have zero clue how bloody hard it is to succeed in the market when there are entire generations determined to tell you that you're not worth anything. Say anything someone doesn't like or doesn't agree with, and immediately, it's because you're an "entitled millennial" who wants the world to cater to them.I told people Trump was a lying, scheming fuck before he ever got elected, and he proved me right multiple times. I told people that the company we were working for was abusing us by offering "benefits" that almost no one gets to use, but everyone is required to pay for. I told my co-workers that there were other, better jobs, and that the job we had was abusive. They did not believe me.Part of that disbelief was that their terminology for "abuse" did not quantify things like financial abuse, psychological abuse, and a general lack of a willingness to talk to your employees. Hell, we had an HR department that was NEVER around, and would frequently talk directly to corporate to make concessions, so that HR could fatten their paychecks and ignore our requests and problems. No. Fuck you, and fuck this Simon Sinek. I want you to get forced to live in a commune to keep your finances in check. I want YOU to be forced to carpool to work with your S/O because you don't have bus money. I want you to deal with this shit hole of an economy from a place that forces you to fucking LOOK at the problems it has, and have those problems pertain to you, before you say another god damn word about how millennials are "entitled".	Zero	Age - Youngsters	1/285	0.351
FAKE! A black marker can't change its color like that	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/11	9.091
I don't understand why it's so common to see people trying their damndest to figure out millennials. It'll be interesting to see what us millennials will feel and think towards the future generation. If it's any guess, no different from the others; we'll criticize them, too, as is custom.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/49	2.041
But I'm University educated....Art history is worthless babe....DID YOU JUST USE A SEXISM!!!!	Sexism	Gender - General	1/16	6.25

This prick again. Not one word of any of that is true. The lazy freeloader even gets the date range wrong. The millennial generation consists of people born between 1982 and 2000, an absurdly large date range for any generalisation due to pace of technological change. The reason this nonsense appeals to layabouts is that it makes them feel superior. The idea that everybody is stupid but them gives them a buzz and it gives them an excuse not to achieve and not to contribute. The reality is that anybody, alive today in the western world, is going to have a much higher sense of entitlement because they have been brought up in a land of plenty. Wealth and social care are nothing new since the 1950s. University educated people have less of a sense of entitlement because they can at least appreciate the benefits brought about by hard work and sacrifice. I have worked all over the place and have sufficient education to be able to look at the world objectively and have found no evidence that age makes any difference whatsoever, besides the concept of Future Shock as layed out by Alvin Toffler in 1969.	Age, Nothing	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	2/197	1.015
---	--------------	---------------------------------------	-------	-------

Actually, most of this was covered by two individuals LONG BEFORE most reading this were born - Edward Deming and Abraham Maslow. Maslow's Hierarchy of Needs is the root analysis of the Millennial Failures we see now.As for all the millennials whining in the comments here, and a few 40-somethings supporting them, let me explain to you what OUR LIFE looked like...if you happen to be 60-ish....don't paint us as 'lucky'...the missing component you just don't have is DRIVE, and here's why I say that.At 12, I worked on a farm - and did the work of an average grown man. This of course, did not negate school...In fact, after working 30-40 hours a week on our family farm - I was still expected to keep B's or better in all classes, PERIOD. Corporal punishment was the result of NOT doing this. All of my peers were similarly 'worked'. We didn't have computers, phones, or wi-fi...what we had was a baseball glove, a bicycle...MAYBE a weight set. At 15, at the direction of my family to 'get real world experience', I took a part-time job of bagging groceries at the supermarket in our nearby town. 20 hours a week...and my farm work shifted HEAVILY to 13-14 hour days on the weekends to make up for not getting farm work done every weekday...so I'm working 20-hours at public work (for $2.35 an hour), while I'm working 40-hours of farm work a week, all while carrying a B-average in school for 4-years of science, math (including Calculus) and English...sleep was HIGHLY optional my senior year, in fact...I didn't whine...I didn't cry...I WORKED, and damn hard.I tried to start my own business after high school (which I graduated), but the patronage just wasn't there...so I did the next thing I could think of (since I didn't want to kill myself in farm work at an early age)...I JOINED THE U.S. MARINES...and did well there. When my enlistments were finished, I took my saved funds, my College Bill and went to college...and loved it! An associates, a baccalaureate, a master of science in engineering and an MBA later...and still love school....of course, along that path I started work as a low-level supervisor, and rose though business over the years...from small department supervisor to a Global Director of Engineering for not just one, but TWO fortune 500 companies! Silver spoon up my nose? Hardly...I left home at 17 with $52 and a bag of clothes...and never received a penny from my family until the time my mother died...and her $10,000 insurance policy named me beneficiary...to which I had to fly in, ensure she had a plot and a funeral...to which the cost exceeded her insurance...and came out of my pocket.I've owned 9 homes in my life...ONE WIFE of 34 years...two kids, unknown number of pets...and some REALLY NICE cars along the way...I've also seen MANY 80, 90...even 100 hour work weeks...and I've seen the type that whine here too...many are the kind that I dealt with along the way, who wouldn't accept overtime...didn't want a dirty job...would rather refuse overtime and then complain to the Dept of Labor about being passed over for work...I've seen it all, and one thing I know for a FACT...you can't teach INTEGRITY no more than you can teach someone the value of REAL WORK...it is either in your heart or soul.I came from nothing...but reached great financial security as my life went on...I credit my wife for being a tremendous partner, a business consultant, and just the	Age, Nothing, Senior	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	3/704	0.426
--	-----------------------------	--	--------------	--------------

I will shit on all of your fucking faces. You realize you're listening to this rant about the workforce from someone whose job is to talk in front of a crowd for an hour a night and make way more money than any of us do in a month doing, and you're just going "hey this guys right, he knows everything about what's it's like to work hard for a living and has all authority about them darn kids and how they don't work as hard as we used to when we're kids and also PHONE Is bad" accept reality or just sit around and wait to die in silence you miserable old fucks. Cell phones aren't the problem they're just another technological advancement in our species evolution, do you think old fucks in the 1930s used to bitch about cars just like "these darn kids and their cars driving everywhere instead of walking like we used to in our time" probably people were also retards back then.WE HAVE ACCESS TO LITERALLY EVERY PIECE OF KNOWLEDGE MAN EVER HAS OR EVER WILL AQUIRE AT THE PALM OF OUR HANDS AND YOU GUYS THINK THAT'S A PROBLEM? Nah man you're the problem let things advance plz n thank.....Also there's no God. Love ya	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/215	0.93
The baby Boomers had it easy!!! My wife's dad is 67, he left school at 15 and couldn't read or write and still can't now! He landed a crappy factory job and worked there 50 years! This highly unintelligent guy who cant even read or write managed to support a wife who didn't work and 2 children and pay off a mortgage on a house that is now worth about £200k in a very expensive area to live in, they had a holiday abroad every year and even regularly had a nice new car!!! with ZERO CREDIT or debt!!!You tell me who could live that level of lifestyle now not being able to read or write and working a rubbish factory job!!! We have got it real tough now! For the record I was born in 82 and my wife 80!	Zero	Age - Youngsters	1/141	0.709
A L old people complain a shit load wtf are you talking about and they do it behind your back like little school girls and play victim if you confront them just because they complain in the real world instead of youtube makes them better? hahahaha, people always like to complain and they don't like to work I know some fool at work he's like 46 and the most effort I ever see him do is just pressing buttons on machines and shit and that nigga gets paid almost $30 an hour to pretend he's working he's an expert but at fooling everyone that he's busy working, I get 7 dollars an hour and don't complain for shit, and I see all these older 40-50 year olds who constantly complain when they be getting $30 an hour I never complain at work unless it's about staying extra time because fuck that bullshit when it's time to go home it's time to go no ifs ands or but.	Nigga, Old	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Black	2/167	1.198

Hahaha. Retarded kids... working in a factory sucks. There were no rules or laws to help boomers in the workplace. There were no mandatory breaks and lunches minimum wage was .25c. and if you complained they just fired you as long as they could replace you with some other dumbass. He couldn't read or write but he was irreplaceable at work and they just let him stay there. It was way harder than you can handle. You have never even been in a stupid factory. Factories and factory work sucked so much that they sent them to the third world countries and pay those people nothing because they don't have workers rights and unions. Not to mention most of the country was not developed and had nearly one hundred million less people. You idiots don't even know how to work. That was the point of this video.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/147	0.68
Mr. Blutarsky He probably just put his "x" on the line and firmly shook the other person's hand, that was enough because back then a man's word was his bond. Nothing else was required.....	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/34	2.941
I'm not complaining, me and my wife are okay, I watch the kids in the day whilst she's at work then she mans the fort in the evening whilst I work. We're happy, we do struggle on our joint income of £41'500 a year. My point is, we both work between us 75hours a week and on £41.5k and we're struggling. We have old cars, we have a mortgage on a small 2 bed house. My wife's dad did half those hours and earns less than that but everything was so cheap it was easy for him. I don't blame baby boomers, inflation, property prices and wages being too low are the problems here.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/114	0.877
jai mal .. Man, you're so misrepresenting Baby Boomers and your generation, it's ridiculous. For example, the primary reason Baby Boomers were able to pay a mortgage was because they didn't throw money away on expensive items, like computers, software, cellphones, large tv's, travel, and so on. They put luxuries off until later in life, doing with less in the meantime. Your generation, at a young age , wanted those things and more, which was simply unrealistic. The Baby Boomers were also the best educated, creating those computers, software, cellphones, and similar you wasted your money on.	Age	Age - General	1/96	1.042

Michael but here goes, I drive a forklift in a company and the other guy is a "technician" I only have two months there barely but this is like my 10th job so I'm tired of going through different jobs, I don't like to complain but I also don't take shit from people that's why I've had alot of jobs if I feel they are not acting right towards me I tell them off and if they really piss me off I cuss them out only because they're paying me doesn't mean I'm going to let them treat me like a dumbass I'm 29 but I'll punch anyone who tries to treat me like I'm stupid or a bitch, I don't care how old they are or even if they are women if they piss me off enough I don't discriminate, I also don't care if they beat me up or if I go to jail either I'm no one's bitch I'll punch them up right there even if were at work still, complaining is some little bitch shit so I don't like doing especially at work even if I've been at a job for years I don't like being lazy or whinning like a 50 year old woman because we are there to work it's not supposed to be fun either, I also have an accounting degree but I haven't been lucky finding a job in that field so I just work at that crappy factory job to pay the bills I only get $7.75 an hour and them fools get like 18 starting off but that fool has been there for years so I'm sure he gets a way better pay than that I would say like 25-30 hour which is way better than $7.75 even 18 is way better what I get is only 50cents more than minimum wage, I was washing dishes for a little while and they paid me 8... So yea it's bullshit why did you want to know anyway, is your life that boring? I recently dumped my girlfriend too fyi and she's already with someone else after not even a week of me leaving her and us being together for 10 months and I have to pay child support so I dont get any tax refund, am I going to whine about it? Na all I say is fuck it... I hope all that satisfies your nosyness	Old, Woman	Age - Over 65s, Gender - General	3/405	0.741
Michael yeah he's been there years and that gives him the right to complain about every little thing when the most effort he does is push buttons? Some people I do understand why they complain because people ask too much from them at times and they need a bit more consideration I always try to have consideration for others that's why it pisses me off if they're being dumb towards me because it makes me feel as if they don't even consider me at all, but other people are just lazy and it's not just the "millenials" it's people from all ages EVERYONE likes whinning so y'all old pricks can't just be blaming young people for dumb shit like that when EVERYONE DOES IT, I can't be giving myself that luxury if I barely make enough for myself to get by so I don't do it but I also have self respect so I wont allow people to try and take advantage of me	Dumb, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/164	1.829

Michael I only know how much they make starting off because ome of them asked me if I wanted to do that as well I was like "I'm down" so he told me how much they start with he said so "I can start making real money" haha I don't care if he was talking for real or not I'm there to work and nothing more not there to have fun or make friends and shit	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/76	1.316
Clamekus Johnson I assume you meant "illiterate", not literate. Anyway. Congrats. I didn't say " nobody " can be illiterate". I said this guy is full of shit. Did you tell me a BS story? No. This other guy did. Date him if you want, but don't tell me I indicated nobody could be illiterate, because that is not what I said.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	2/60	3.333
jai mal au derrier We Boomers did not have it as easy as you think. Your father in law was able to work at his factory job protected by unions, and get his retirement. He put his own happiness behind providing for his family because that is what you did. I grew up with 7 in the family - 1 bathroom, 1 car, 1 telephone plugged into the wall. We shared bedrooms, walked, took the bus, became independent and lived with hand me downs. We didn't have birthday parties and got only 1 or 2 Christmas presents. Our dads fought in the War (WWII) and many came back as mean SOBs who beat us. As a black woman I had to work twice as hard just to get in the door for a job, but I didn't give up - I kept at it. I put up with really long hours, and bosses saying things about me that would now get you fired and sued - all because I knew those who came before me wanted me to have it better. I'm just trying to say that you can't make generalizations because it really was a different time.	Black, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Gender - General	2/198	1.01
Impatient? Have you ever seen an old person at the checkout line having to wait more than a few minutes?	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/20	5.0
Dealt a bad hand? My generation might has been subject to some bad parenting, but the generation before had no problem with hitting children. I don't think we are that hard done by. Even through living in the information age , I'd say we have more opportunities than ever and are not happy because we don't have enough hardship to find meaning in it all. Millennials need to take on responsibility for themselves and stop looking for someone to hold their hand.	Age	Age - General	1/81	1.235
Pretty sure that there were the hippies in the baby boomers which pretty much did nothing but lsd and listened to music, but hey if you want to say we are lazy and entitled by all means go for it, but sounds like you a rationalizing a way to undervalue a human.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/52	1.923
Ik they where born in economic golden age	Age	Age - General	1/8	12.5

That is correct but it was a very small part of the cohort and it lasted to about 1978. I don't think millennial's are lazy. They were taught to expect more then the society was ever willing to provide. As a boomer thats not what the culture taught me because our parents were raised during the depression an WW2 and expected nothing . My mother was a young teen during the blitz and had the house she lived in collapse on her. My father was at Dieppe and lost every childhood friend in under 2 minutes. I can hardly imagine living through that hell. The outcome of these traumas in my case were parents who were unable to enjoy life without fear.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/121	0.826
I'm 56. I've worked my ass off since I was 14. I've had nothing but shit for a life. I've had dreams blown up in my face on more than one occasion, none of it from my doing. Guess what? I retired poor in 2009, after 35 years of working my ass off so somebody else could pump up some account in the Cayman Islands before they sold the place I loved working at out from under me. I lost count how many times this happened from the late 80's and especially through the entire 90's. It literally killed me twice. But I guess I didn't fulfill my quota of suffering, because I'm still here, doing just that. I don't have kids of my own, because I decided back in the "greed is good" era that this world isn't someplace I want to place an innocent child into. But there is NOTHING that I've done personally to bring this crap into my life, it's all been done by people in some smoky room somewhere, looking to get rich. Maybe I just chose the wrong field to love, radio broadcast engineering. but it's sure been a rough, downhill road since the 90's, I can say that. GREED is what has screwed this country up, nothing less.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	3/215	1.395
You're damn right there. The only hippies I knew in the 70's were rich kids. The poor kids like me didn't have time to contemplate the meaning of whateverthefuck, we were too busy working at Burger King or Kmart to earn our school clothes money. And incidentally, most of the assholes now who are offended by every little thing, can't find the humor in anything because of it, and think the world owes them a living, are the kids and grand kids of "the beautiful people" who didn't believe in spanking, and you're special just because you're you, and yadda,yadda,yadda. Here's a tidbit. If you want to see entitled old hippies and cool kids at their absolute worst behavior, go visit The Villages for a couple weeks. Florida, that is. Swimmin' pools. Movie stars.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/134	0.746

Lets all be honest. Whether it's baby boomers who have worked all their lives like my parents or gen x'ers who have worked since they were 16, like me, and knew some spoon fed rich kids in high school or the generation now in their late 20's and up, you can find sections of each group to complain about. I have worked with some millenials that have great work ethic and some that act very entitled. But I've also worked with people from every age group that act like that. The problem i have noticed is mainly with the 20 and under crowd, unfortunately my daughter included, is the ratio between those that want to work and those that want everything handed to them for free is about 60/40. The 40 is the ones that want to work. But then I've also seen people who make 3 times what i do trying to get welfare cuz they either can't prioritize or are trying to live beyond their means. We all have our issues. I say if you want to work and pull your weight, that's awesome. If you want to sit around and have everything handed to you, go away.	Age	Age - General	1/200	0.5
My WORST Gripe with MILLENNIALS..... Getting one at the 'checkout' line and the electricity goes out OR..... the register quits!! They Cannot Figure Out HOW MUCH CHANGE to Give Me Without That Damn Machine TELLING THEM! Come On..... I Grew up in the late 50's and that's simple math i.e. 'Big Chief Tablet' & a 2 Pencil. If You Are smiling right now, I know how old you are.....	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/69	1.449
That's the white millennium's community that did not even believe in ass whooping. In the black community millennials you had to go hustle. And believing ass whoopins. That's why in the black community you have a high population of blacks in prison not for violent charges but none violent charges like selling drugs.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/53	3.774
Well, I would say that stagnant wages still has nothing to do with self-entitled, lazy, wanting instant gratification adolescents. Like he's said, I believe parents are PART of the blame and well...the other part comes from just young, lazy teenagers who are too comfortable in life these days and want everything now. I believe this is his point.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/58	1.724
Ayatanka girl u still sound dumb . 24 is considered young adult you ain't that grown	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/15	6.667

We have the Brexit issue and people argue who is going to pick the strawberries when foreign labour isn't there so the commentator has a very valid point - I personally would pick strawberries if I was unemployed and I'm 48 so whats the issue with our younger generation, why cant they pick strawberries as I see hundreds are still unemployed in my local area. I would love to see all people be rich but reality is if your unemployed just work hard at something until you get to where you want to be,	Brexit	Nationality - European or anti-Europeans	1/94	1.064
Ayatanka and wonder how old Ketsia is I loved your response to her	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/13	7.692
mike anderson -You know that's not what he meant. Everyone knows that a two year old in 2019 isn't a millennial. You're just trying to find a reason to dis him because he is pointing out the BAD in people. You only want to see the good. That is what makes you vulnerable and weak. I don't care if you're a millennial or not yourself, just don't disrespect someone for pointing out what is obviously wrong with some of the people in today's society.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/84	1.19
So basically you're saying their little bitches and employers need to be nice to them.... That's ridiculous they better man or woman up Or some emigrants gonna take that job.	Woman	Gender - General	1/30	3.333
I'm 47 and own a successful business and can tell you that snowflake millennials are horrible employees and even worse to do work for. They are completely ridiculous	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/28	3.571

I'm a convicted felon 48 years old. I can go out and make 500 to $1,000 a day legally with no college education and only have to work 2 or 3 days a week. If you can't figure something out here in this country to better your life then you are just wanting a handout and feeling entitled and that you deserve to be taken care of by somebody else. That makes you weak and a complete coward. And by the way I'll announce what I do for a living I do Marine construction I go install boat lift at 1200 or $2,500 each and they only take me one day to install , I do dock repairs or fix a seawall bulkhead for a customer at anywhere from a thousand to five or six thousand dollars a piece. And a good size dock repair takes me 5 to 7 days to do to tear out the old one and build the new one. so like I said I can make 500 to $1,000 a day it's really up to me what I want to make. and one more thing I will explain for the eight years that Obama was in office all of these people that live Oceanside on a river on a lake or on an Intercoastal Waterway somewhere , you know the people who have money, held onto their money and wouldn't spend a dime. Now that Trump is in office these people are throwing money at me to have all of these things done that they didn't want to do while Obama was in office or spend the money on or could not afford with Obama in office. so being a convicted felon I can't vote but I sure will support President Trump and anybody like him if you are against him then you are somebody who wants to be taken care of like a little baby. I love how these people that have all this money held onto it while Obama was in office and wouldn't spend any and now that he's gone they pay cash money quickly just to have somebody like me around	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/361	0.554
We do not have to work hard, to train these low life millenials. They need to sign up and pay for a school to teach them. If they are that stupid to think they are all so special then they should all committ sepiku. Stop blaming the company. These kids are not smart, they are products of lazy dumb parents. The apples fell next to the trees. I rather higher a senior citizen than these A-brains.	Dumb, Senior	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/76	2.632
wow....a lot of comments by upset....millenials lol. Learn to suffer a bit, nothing is free.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/15	6.667

Boy, is This guy fulla Shit. The simple facts are these. 1. The World by its Nature will never be what its represented as. 2. Even if the World met our expectations, the minute we got what we wanted we would want something else. 3. Whether agencies, institutions or Individuals....everyone talks a better game than they play. 4. The single most common force in the Universe, after Gravity, is unenlightened self-interest. 5. The only sure cure for Stupidity is Death. 6. It helps to Believe in something. It doesnt help very much, but it Does Help. FWIW.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/97	1.031
The non-English speaking immigrant will surpass most of you native born entitlement seekers. They work, hard, they learn practical skills, like becoming a Plumber or a Carpenter or an electrician because toilets will still need to flush, lights turn on and off, houses made of wood need to be endlessly repaired, rebuilt and built new. If you want real help achieving such things Pray for wisdom, turn off the cellphone and the TV, and get out of bed at 6 AM everyday except Sunday when you go to Mass. And if you need to blame someone, you can see the one responsible in the mirror every morning. I will be praying for you. BTW they have been Lying to you, God is Real, and so is hell.	Immigrant	Nationality - General	1/127	0.787
JESUS, who IS God Himself said to all of us . . . ” Without ME you can do nothing ”, that is the single most important FACT and TRUTH you must know to be happy in life and avoid Hell in the next life. You live in a world ruled by the evil one, so stop pretending you can win when you don’t even know you live in a warzone ruled by Your Enemy. WAKE UP !	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/78	1.282
As soon as they grow up a little more, they’ll learn that they’re really entitled to nothing . Too bad the career-, status- and possessions-obsessed generation who raised them left them thinking that way.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/33	3.03
You’re only weak if you look in the face of adversity and give up. Life is not easy, it’s sacrifice, never forget that. I know it’s hard, I’ve dealt drugs, I’ve been locked up, and when I was a kid I used to sell copper to the fucking scrapyard that I stole out of TVs in the dumpster! But now I’m about to graduate with a degree in chemical engineering! And I’ve had it easy compared to my illegal immigrant friends who are in my degree program! If you can’t make it in this country you can’t make it anywhere, but I know that YOU can make it because I made it! One love y’all.	Immigrant	Nationality - General	2/115	1.739
F u old shits, U ruined the world for us (a millenial)	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/13	7.692

In regards to work force, these Millennials you are referring to are white Americans who are narcissist and arrogant. They can't get a job because their white privilege makes them lazy. That's why companies love to hire engineers from India because they are humble and work hard. Mexicans and Indians are the best hard working people on this planet.	Engineers	Nationality - General	1/59	1.695
He is quite right. Patience and persistence/tenacity are key in succeeding at anything and these are in increasingly short supply, I suspect since the end of WW2 (beginning of the baby boomers). We lack the toughness and resilience of our forenames, along with some perhaps, less desirable traits but there it is. The poor leadership is a fact and is part of that same equation. I see this every day, at 60 I still unintentionally work rings around most people around me, half my age and more. I don't work particularly hard or smart but it is it seems enough to outpace many, as a number of my friends also experience. This should not be the case and at the end of the day makes none of us happy but it can be explained by the above situation.	Age	Age - General	1/139	0.719
Dave S Hey old griever. I would suggest it may have been bad parenting and terrible school system. You are truly pathetic to haunt this comment section. This whole topic is so dumb that I wonder why the fuck it was suggested to me and I would have passed it just leaving a cynic comment until I read your bullshit. You must be one of the last nazis that survived their sad war.	Dumb, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/73	2.74
I've literally seen a parent buying a $400 ipad for their 3 year old . what is wrong with people	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/19	5.263
Paul Googol and you smart arse are quite simply a wanker. The topic is relevant.Perhaps an insect like you should be on another sjw- pc loving page	Insect	Age - Youngsters	1/27	3.704
I blame parents for no age restrictions on cell phones and other communication devices. All you really need as a kid growing up is a flip phone, calling for emergencies	Age	Age - General	1/30	3.333
These six year old little people are just shark bait for the system. They will become the so awaited robots all people are now dreaming about.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/26	3.846
Also this man is incorrect with the mellenium age of 84+. More like 2000+. Internet in early 2000s was very crap n hardly nothing on it. Old phones bk in 2000s had no internet. Just calls n texts. Faster Smartphones only got popular n more affordable from 2012 onwards. I didn't have a phone until 18. N that was a very old 1. Basic slow smartphone at 25. Newer faster smartphone 29.	Age, Nothing, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	4/72	5.556
That's because Elder Millennials are raising them.	Elder	Age - Over 65s	1/7	14.286

What are they now calling those born after the millineum? Those born in 2000 are now 18 therefore adults so they should have a name by now. Millennials born in early 80s came of adult age at the turn of the century. The oldest of that group nearing 40 seem to have it together more than the younger ones.	Age	Age - General	1/59	1.695
Skylar Mulligan 2 year old niece has 1	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/8	12.5
Joe Miranda you must be the only one(besides myself) who knows the age of the Millenials. FFS, they are nearing 40. He's talking about the generations after. I don't even know why Google(Skynet) recommended this video to me.	Age	Age - General	1/38	2.632
I'm 10 years old , I'm about to be in middle school in August, everyone is told they are special, and are told they can do and have whatever they want, parents aren't raising right, and there are literally 1st graders with PHONES, thank god my parents are restricting me with a tablet I can only use at home, Not 24/7 like these new 1st graders.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/65	1.538
Mr. Sinek: I agree With Some Of What You Say BUT!! Just like everything in Life Not all will believe you or anyone!! their, right and no one will tell them anything different!!!!...It's A Mental Disease And Needs To Be Treated By A Doctor!! Not By A Boss Of A Company..."JUST WHY CAN NO BODY SEE THAT IT'S A DISEASE"...	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/60	1.667
I sure hope you like the nursing homes. Nobody will take care of you when you can't. Not without being paid.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/21	4.762
Mate , I was born in 1995 and I am nothing like the the kids my age , I've been told by all generations I was born after my time, now if you would like to stop categorising people born within certain years, that would be great. Now, I agree a lot with what you've said, but, I'm nothing like this. Some of us are smart enough to see the truth, and know all we're wanted to do in life is conform, obey, marry reproduce.	Age, Nothing	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	3/84	3.571

I am a millennial. Born in 1984 in fact. In my experience, about 95 of what he stated is true. For the 5 I would say that the boomer generation seemed to have a better income vs. cost of living ratio than do generations of today which gave them more flexibility early in life. Having said that, I never engaged in social media after AOL instant messenger and I do not regret it one bit. Social media and constant connectivity has destroyed my entire generation with unrealistic expectations, vapid gossip & lack of accountability. I also was apparently in one of the last generations to not be really affected by the "everyone gets a trophy" thing. Maybe some of that was happening already, but I am sure my parents would have made clear to me that a participation trophy was just that. They do not suffer fools. For me though, I see this as a time of great opportunity. I am surrounded by such a plethora of weaklings and whiners that I only need to show up every day and not be an entitled brat and I am automatically ahead of 98 of my generation. All of the best people I work with are my parents age . We are the generation of pointing fingers and blaming everyone else for our problems. Like I tell anyone who asks.... Work hard, show up on time and take every opportunity that comes your way and run with it. Do that for 5 years and see where it takes you. If you aren't willing to do that, I don't know what to say. My kids will not be allowed to engage in social media until they are out of my house. I am sure they will resent me for it until they enter the workforce themselves, but once they work 6 months with their "peers" I am sure they be doing the same for their kids.All of this being said... At the end of the day I personally feel that the ability to talk with confidence and adjust your vernacular to suit your audience is worth more than just about anything. You can get away with a lot of stuff if you can talk a real good game. Be that right or wrong, it has been my experience.	Age, Brat	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	2/385	0.519
The right amount of shame is indeed good. I am almost thirty and my parents brought me here when I was 12. It's weird when I have to feel apologetic and shallow for wanting to achieve beauty, top education, and find the right partner with good traits. The "unconditional," you are good and accepted no matter what kind of culture is going out of hand. And it is also fake most of the time.	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/74	1.351
Think You not helping them. To say it's everybody else fault just entitle them more to be generation snowflake . Yes, they are not responsible for their own upbringing, but it's their responsibility to do something about it, not one else.	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/41	2.439
I am a hard working German 28 years old man and I feel disquading and ashamed of my Generation when I see this people	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/24	4.167

I hear the same complaints over here, in Poland. Especially as far as work ethics, work expectations, and net addiction is concerned. And while I can be classified as a millennial by some criteria (DOB early '80s), I very much applaud the changes that they (we?) bring, and I don't understand the downright criticism. And by the way, I have a top-paying job (by local standards), and very flexible work time.1) Millennials demand that their work makes sense, has some sort of impact AND does not hurt the environment -> It's about time we get rid of BS jobs (google the term...), reform institutions to look at long-term profit and not just next year's bottom line... It's what's been said worldwide for years. Kudos for Millennials!2) Millennials want work hours to be adjusted to their needs -> And why not? In most jobs, especially office jobs, this is absolutely doable. It doesn't work for jobs where the employee has contact with customers coming in or calling in (sales, teachers, doctors, bus drivers), or where you can't work without a team (like forklift operators with warehouse workers and truck divers). But for most jobs, it's possible. So start measuring output, not compliance with arbitrary limitations.3) Millennials want a better job environment -> Young people don't want persistent overtime, they want to have a nice long vacation, they want to have top-notch work tools (if the company can afford them). That's not "an attitude", that's called progress. Mind you, with 15 years of work experience I still expect all that.4) Millennials want free food at work -> I've never heard of Millenials in Poland demanding free food at work, but I have worked in a company where the management would buy lunch - usually pizza - for the whole crew, once a week. Now here comes the funny part: this was in lieu of raises, which they were "working on". Best deal ever for the company, since we were recruited fresh out of college, and had easily potential for 30 raises at the time. The food per person was worth about 0.5 of the typical wage. And it did delay employee's departures. WATCH, LEARN AND REPEAT, corporate America! Oh no, wait, that WAS corporate America doing the trick.Or, you can give out lunch cards (discounts free lunches) to least-earning employees. It can be just as profitable for the company. You can also try gym memberships, life insurance, health insurance perks... If you do health insurance at all, that is... In Poland, all this works just fine. 5) Millennials want an app for everything -> I guess every young person needs to adjust to the realities of life after they get out of college. They need a couple of years. It's always been that way. And if you expect them to bow down low just because they have an opportunity to work for your larger-than-life more-important-than-family company... Bad luck! By the way, I use apps for everything :).Bottom line: try to open your mind to adjust to worker's needs. Sometimes it's good for everyone.	doctors	Nationality - General	1/518	0.193
---	---------	-----------------------	-------	-------

I would agree with you if I wasn't friends with teachers. The system is faltering. They are just trying to get a paycheck and stay within the bounds of snowflake parents whom would rather cheat their kid through the system than have their child rise to the challenge.I am all for it. Mine will succeed because the competition will be dwindling.	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/62	1.613
Much can be said about this. Bullshit is one of them.I've done much research about this subject. Every older generation, see's themselves as superior to the new one. It's some sort of superiority complex. With Millennials, they judge the Gen Z, and so forth. The problem has been such an uproar, that now in some workplaces, you can get fired for discriminating for age . It's even illegal. It, is harassment. Not only that, but I know plenty of people, who are Millennials, and are hard, determined workers. They don't sit around all day, and talk in a microphone ridiculing. They move heavy, 200 pound objects, all damn day. That's not lazy	Age	Age - General	1/112	0.893
how old is the guy talking? now i want to tell him whats wrong with his generation	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/17	5.882
Every generation since the greatest generation is the reason the western world is falling apart. But Milenials are just sad and pathetic, weak emotional lazy parasites. It worries me about the future that over 50 of them want socialism over a free market.Their are some good milenials that are red pilld tho	Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	2/52	3.846
Arthas Menethil yup, good old Prescott bush was basically a Nazi himself and loved funding both sides of the killing	Nazi, Old	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - Over 65s	2/20	10.0
James Hicks by whose value system is this species headed in even close to the right direction? I have 4 kids and none of thrm have phones except the senior in high school or tablets, we have no cable or Wi-Fi in the house and they rarely use the internet other than for schoolwork. So there are pockets of hope here and there, but the instant gratification generation is not going to lead us anywhere good sadly	Senior	Age - Over 65s	1/77	1.299
But the generation's before us had a large Advantage... And no we have to fix alot of there problems .to gain nothing in return	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/24	4.167
Tommy HappensToLiftALot I'm pretty sure we don't progress because old people like to shit talk young people.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/17	5.882

Maria Amaro How on Earth do you think society is getting better?Half of the country is in a blind rage, have Arctic temperature IQ's, wants to destroy anything good or civil in this world and are so full of hatred that they can't see straight. The other half of the country is so fed up with them, they're ready to give them the war they're trying to start, and wipe them off the face of the Earth.People have no manners, morals, ethics, or principals. They don't have any ACTUAL compassion or empathy for ACTUAL victims, or people that are actually oppressed (South African farmers, for instance) yet they cry in moral outrage over every made-up assault of their gun-free, petting zoo safe spaces they can conceive of.They have no intellectual honesty, no ability to reason, and no CLUE what Logic is or how to use it.Creating "genders" or "micro-aggressions" out of thin air is the new national pass-time. And more than half of all young males (they certainly can't be called men) couldn't fight their way out of a wet paper bag, and would probably give up and die before they even tried.We have a nation of self-entitled, moronic, sociopathic, brain-dead pussies whose detriment to the world won't even cease once they die, because their decomposing bodies will release into the Earth all the toxins, soy lattes, estrogen, bad energy and tattoo ink they amassed during their hate-filled, meaningless lives.The world is not getting better. Once my generation dies, if we can't fix these retards, the world will plummet into a diseased Communist sphincter of selfishness, hatred, full spectrum oppression, and the genocide of any living creature with an IQ over 89.	African, Blind, Communist, Nation, Thin	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Black, Nationality - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments, Physical Identity - Physical Features	5/288	1.736
---	---	--	-------	-------

John McAeria I mean, we are starting not to dismiss anything that doesn't apply to us (just because you are fine with the gender "given" to you doesn't mean you can speak for everyone) getting more compassionate every day (veganism is striking pretty hard and I doubt you find a majority seriously not concerned about people suffering and usually the ones opposing to help or show compassion to refugees and immigrants are older people) and statistics shows crime has been declining, life expectancy rising, diseases disappearing (of course some appear as well but nothing compared to the past), mortality going down, people being more open minded and tolerating towards others, discrimination declining.. it's easy to say "in my days" but the truth is humans tend to get better so your days were probably worse, what you consider ethical and well educated might not adjust with others views but doesn't mean they are worse, all you mentioned was subjective opinions generalising every person born in a couple decades to fit your agenda like every bad thing one person does was committed by all and like everything that differs from your opinion is necessarily bad, but reality is it has always been that way, your grandparents thought the same yet your generation did better than theirs and the next generation will do better than any of ours (if we don't destroy the planet with habits and traditions of past generations like eating meat and teaching children that it's healthy).	Gender, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	2/247	0.81
---	-----------------	---	-------	------

Maria Amaro If you are confused about your gender, then you are just mentally ill. Point of fact. That is why over 40 of transgenders kill themselves, not because they "get bullied," but because they have deep seated psychological issues to begin with. It is not a physical thing. It is a psychological thing. Even homosexuality: look deep enough into any gay man's past and you will find some abuse or trauma that catalyzed that condition. Of course, there are chemical factors as well (soy, BPA, Atrazine, etcetera).Veganism, while not BEING a mental illness, certainly leads to it. I asked a Leftist the other day, whom I was trying to Red Pill, if she had ever met a "sane" Vegan. She thought for a minute, and replied with a surprised sounding "Nooooo." Every person who I have asked this of, and who gave a genuine answer, answers the same way (unless they're Vegan.) Veganism, as is true of nearly all of Leftist ideology, in fact, has its roots in Communism/Marxism/Socialism. Nearly all stems from either Marxism or Satanism, though Marxism has its roots in Saturnian worship, which is basically Satanism. I will not try to convince you of that in one comment. But, trust me, if you research deep enough, really deep and for a very long time as I have, you will find out I am correct.Anyway, strict, long-term Veganism will always lead to mental illness, for the simple fact that animals have what your brain (and body) needs to function. You can get some protein from plants, but your body NEEDS animal protein and does not have the enzymes required to uptake plant protein. Meaning, you can eat it, but you can't USE it. We are not designed to get all of our nutrients from plants. This is why we have sharp front teeth and not a mouth full of molars. This is why we have 1 stomach instead of 4 like a cow does. Cows take a very long time processing their cud into usable protein. They have a specialized digestive system to accomplish this. That is why we skip the middleman, and just eat the cow. Well, I guess we eat the middleman. This is why Vegans are always small and weak, and typically have low energy as compared to HEALTHY meat eaters (not McDonald hamburger meat eaters). But, this is not what makes Vegans crazy. You see, your brain is made up of around 60 fat. Your brain needs animal fats to exist and to function properly. If you deprive your brain of fats, it will pull from your body for as long as it can, but inevitably it will deteriorate into such a state in which it can no longer function properly. This is simple biology. You can sacrifice your physical and mental health for the sake of animals if you feel that to do so is more ethical, but you will get no physical benefits from it long term. There are people who get healthier initially from Vegan diets, but that is usually because they used to eat garbage and now eat lettuce. You will always get healthier when you stop eating garbage, but you need meat and FATTY MEAT. The BS about "low-fat" diets is a flat out lie. Think about this: Animals in the wild, when they kill their prey, eat the fatty areas first. This is also why you cannot survive on only rabbit meat. They are much too lean and have very little fat.The "compassion" you're referring to is Leftist compassion. Studies have shown that Democrats are much more likely to SAY they donate to charity, but much LESS likely to actually do it, than Republicans. They are	Crazy, Fat, Fatty, Gay, Gender, Mental, Nothing, Old, Red, Refugee	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Native-American, Gender - General, Nationality - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments, Physical Identity - Physical Features, Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	17/1169	1.454
---	---	--	----------------	--------------

John McAeria I'm pretty open minded, but none of the things you said is backed up with science, again, you're spilling out anactodal evidence and your opinions as facts. The only thing you got right is that gender disphoria is a mental illness, which means it differs from what we assume is normal and suicide rates in transgender people decline once they've made the transition. Sexual attraction in the other hand has nothing to do with illnesses and you must be pretty petty to care about who loves who in early 2019. About veganism, you are just wrong, anactodal evidence isn't strong evidence, find me one scietific study about veganism that claims vegans are less healthy than their omnivores counter parts, studies founded by the animal agriculture industries don't count. And that whole veganism has it's roots on bla bla bla. Dude, not killing animals if we don't need to. Simple as that, if you associate that with politics I don't know what to tell you. And before you come with "oh but we need" take the stance of the American dietetic association on it "Well-planned vegetarian diets are appropriate for individuals during all stages of the life cycle, including pregnancy, lactation, infancy, childhood, and adolescence, and for athletes" or you can read the position of the academy of nutrition and dietetics fully. I'd recommend you some documentaries or books to educate yourself about it using something other than your opinion since you are apparently rediscovering yourself I think that should mean you are open to new ideas but it doesn't really seem to be the case, anyways read what I told you if you want (you just need to type it on Google) and let me know if I'm wrong and you do want to get informed :)	Gender, Mental, Nothing, Sexual, Transgender, Transition	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments, Sexual Identity - Transexuality	6/299	2.007
--	---	---	--------------	--------------

Maria Amaro	Maria Amaro	I didn't say I care about does what with whom. I don't care, unless it involves children. I am only saying that most Male homosexuality originates from some type of abuse or trauma, so would therefore be a psychological symptom as opposed to something that "just happens."On the topic of diet and Veganism: I am 38 years old . I have noticed in my life that people are getting sicker and sicker and sicker. America is a deathly ill country. We're overweight, inflamed, riddled with auto-immune disorders, drugged up with prescriptions and anywhere from 1 in 40 to 1 in 20 children are mentally handicapped (autism). One thing that I have discovered is that WE HAVE BEEN LIED TO OUR WHOLE LIVES, and about EVERYTHING! We have been especially lied to about diet. Our diet is killing us.I wish I had time to write a longer reply, but I don't. My main point is that "studies" and recommendations, the Food Pyramid, our medical system, etcetera, is all lies. You can always find statistics or studies to backup anything you're claiming. It just depends on who funds it. The only things you can trust is your own observations and experience. I live in Los Angeles. I meet a lot of vegans. I meet a lot of people on all kinds of weird diets. One consistent observation I've made is that Vegans, long term vegans, are unhealthy, weak, have low testosterone, have all types of health problems, and are a little crazy .Yes, I would watch some documentaries, and yes, I am aware that our industrial farms and ranches produce some horrific things. That is why I try to eat organic, non-GMO, grass fed, etcetera, etcetera.But, the way our meat is raised doesn't change the fact that our body NEEDS it.And, making observations about the human digestive system is not anecdotal, unless you're arguing that some people have more stomachs than others. :) I have "strong values, held loosely."This means that I believe strongly in what I know to be right, but if you show me compelling evidence that contradicts all of the evidence I've seen in favor of my beliefs, then I will quickly change my beliefs. So, send me those links.Check out this video. I'm only halfway through it myself. This guy was a 300lb doctor who realized he knew nothing about nutrition. Check it out. Let me know what you think. [LINK]	Crazy, Handicapped, Nothing, Old, Weird	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	5/412	1.214
	pussy	pussy	Nationality - Chinese	2/1	200.0
I'm 10 years old and I can see Their Laziness in public.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/12	8.333 kiel maguire It's very hard to believe you have 4 kids. Even if you do you spend your spare time commenting on YouTube? Odd. How old are you really? 10? 11? 12?	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/32	3.125

I get this when I go for job interviews they ask u stupid questions like what can u bring to the role where do I see myself in a year from now what I don't say is i will do the job cause i need money and I have the skills for the role that's the only reason I'm hear u get coached in the right things to say which is soooo stupid	Ike	Religious Identity - Jewish	1/73	1.37
He wrote a book? Wow, that must really substantiate his argument. Simon Sinek is the epitome of a snowflake .	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/19	5.263
the very idea that something is good or bad, is all relative. my meaning by that is, all of our experiences in life are all graded on a curve. millennials are nothing more than a generation of spoiled rich-kids who have never gone through pain in their lives like having to watch their parents die, or were forced to live on the street because they couldn't find a job, or any TRUE hardship in this world, because they are shielded by this PC culture. frankly, the worst thing they've probably had to deal with, is that they broke their cell phone that mommy and daddy couldn't buy them a new one until they got out of school. how are they supposed to appreciate what they have, when they have never experienced how bad things CAN be? sure, they can read about it in a book. but like so many things in life, some things must be DONE to learn. setting standards for happiness are just like this. and sadly enough, they must be re-learned in some people with short-term memories. if you want millennials to be happy with what they have, take it away, let them learn to live without it, and THEN make them earn their way through life. entitlement is a social disaster.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/215	0.465
Every generation is a problem according to Somebody. Fuck this psychobabble bullshit. I say we fire up a big fatty and trash this fucking place, come on who's with me.	Fatty	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/30	3.333
this becomes bullshit quite early on in, you are going on some gateway as a teen I saw someone drink Alcohol and it was top secret drugs so I did it too. Now I am a piece of shit who only drinks alcohol . You are comparing cell phone use to drinking liquour mother fucker, lets do a video Ill sit on the cell phone you take shots for an hour straight. Let me know. Take it from this comment stop your bullshitting your skilled and in the future can do well if you dont bullshit people.	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	2/96	2.083

Young people grow into old people, then are shocked by the new young people, not remembering how equally shit they were. We suck, but chances are you did too. Then we'll grow up and overcome (most of) our bullshit, only to freak out about the next generation going through the same process of figuring out how to function.	Freak, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/58	3.448
--	------------	--	------	-------

AVPDALLAS AVPDALLAS You are quite the hypocrite, accusing me of emotional ramblings when your entire reply is an outburst. Not that having strong feelings about a ruined future is unjustified. The difference between you and I is that I'm coherent.The United States of America wasn't always a plutocratic paradise that scored poorly in terms of public health, education, safety and democracy. It wasn't always the only Western country to reverse decades of civil rights progress. It didn't always have a crumbling infrastructure and a rent-burdened workforce all because a severely disproportionate amount of the people's wealth gets siphoned to a handful of corporate paymasters who proceed to sit on it because it's literally too much for them to ever spend. It also wasn't always full of people who couldn't care less how their kids ended up. The 'greatest generation' is called that because they built America up to be a strong country for their children to prosper in. Their children did the polar opposite and that's how we ended up with this mess. Even when McCarthyism was at its peak the American people as a whole were more socialist than the contemporary so-called political 'left' in the United States and that says something. Perhaps you should watch less Fox News. Your tongue is rainbow colored from their Kool-Aid.Travel. Read a history book. Do any research.Europeans don't pay much more in taxes than Americans, if they pay more at all. There are Europeans who pay less. That depends on the country. But they all get more in return than Americans and have more money left to spend in the end. Why? Because taxes are an investment in Europe, unlike in the United States where everything is designed to benefit billionaires.Furthermore no government is bigger than America's. No country has more laws than the USA right now, even with important ones like food safety regulations getting scrapped. There is also no government that ignores its own constitution as much as the United States' and gets away with it. The American people as a whole have been complaisant enablers for decades because they've been beaten down so much and I doubt you are much different from everyone else, especially given how many excuses you have ready. (You're not fooling anybody. It's common knowledge that "birthing breeders on welfare" is code language for "I am a huge racist ".) Before you tell me to move to Europe if I like it so much, let me tell you I would move back in a heartbeat if you could guarantee my American husband a visa to go with me. They don't want him there and frankly I don't blame them anymore. It's been years and I still can't explain to my blissfully unaware relatives how this country got this way. I always lose them because I have to interrupt myself every ten seconds to explain a different alien concept, like gerrymandering and corporate personhood.But I have confidence that the fed up, sane majority will do what they need to to get America back on the rails eventually, despite the worst efforts of people like you.Cheers.	Alien, Colored, Common, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General, Social Class - Working class	4/524	0.763
---	--------------------------------	--	-------	-------

Mecoracon Lola Adding extra exclamation points to the end of a sentence doesn't make that sentence louder, all it does is make you look like you are screeching.I knew I'd be in for some jingoistic vitriol for criticizing the United States, especially as an outsider. But I have as much a right to say my piece as you do. This is the part where many start resenting or straight up forgetting the Bill of Rights.I support America's values; that is, I support everything America is supposed to be. Unfortunately, that isn't what America is.No matter how much you lie to yourself, you know it's the truth.Since I wasn't raised to idolize the image of a flag and I can make actual comparisons, I'm not blind to America's problems. America has problems, like it or not, and patriots don't deny a country's problems. They love their country enough to fix them.But it doesn't matter what I say, because it's criticism. Nothing seems to elicit the same kind of emotional response as criticism of any kind, not even things that actually matter. Things that get Americans killed don't make you bat an eyelash, but let nobody point these imperfections out or may God have mercy on their soul.You need to see that a big chunk of you - certainly not all, but too many - willingly let yourselves be played like a fiddle. All manipulators have to do is throw something with a thin coating of patriotism your way and you will happily turn a blind eye to whatever they are doing while you gobble up that treat. Flavor of the month: xenophobia.They are robbing you blind and you are so distracted you don't even notice.You seem to understand as much about immigration processes as you understand about loving someone: absolutely nothing.If you knew what love does to a person, you'd understand why I am putting up with this. I don't blame it on my American husband for being unable to get a visa, I blame it on my government making the immigration process for spouses overly complicated. But they are only appealing to the masses who know just as little about immigration as you do, so I get it. They are doing this to keep as many people as they can out of the country to score points with the public. There are treaties they must honor, though. One of them is the 1951 Refugee Convention and it's 1967 protocol, which grants asylum seekers a different status than immigrants. This is true in the United States as well, because the USA is a signatory to the 1967 protocol. Not that the USA has a great track record of honoring agreements.Keep munching on those treats. America 1 4ever. Don't ever question it. That's a good citizen.	Blind, Nobody, Nothing, Refugee, Thin, Xenophobia	Age - Youngsters, Nationality - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments, Physical Identity - Physical Features	9/474	1.899
--	--	--	--------------	--------------

Mecoracon Lola Opening your comment with name-calling. That’s promising.1: you are overestimating the value CEOs add to companies if you really believe that the median CEO pay should be $12.1 million. Their pay doesn’t depend on performance very much at all. In fact, they typically get severance packages after performing abysmally and I’m not even touching on their many personal stock investments, which is money they literally have to do nothing for. They do whatever it takes to make as much profit as possible for themselves. Making investments in the quality of the company and even the health of the company dangles at the bottom of their priority list. If you think that keeping a company healthy and making profit are mutually inclusive things, you need to take some classes in economics. There are plenty of CEOs that have partaken in elaborate plans to bankrupt a healthy company so they can start over without their old employees. This way they can hire new people at lower starting wages and without having to pay them benefits. Funny enough they have blamed Millennials for the meticulously planned downfall of their companies as publicity stunts too, before rebranding and reopening.They don’t care that the longtime employees they let go with just a couple of weeks notice and no severance pay are completely screwed now. It isn’t their job to care about them or make sure they have job. This is why the term ‘job creator’ is such a misnomer. The only thing that creates jobs is a lack of excuses not to hire people. The people that are hired are absolutely necessary for the company to generate any profit at all.American companies are known for artificially inflating the value of their products on the domestic market. This is especially evident in services. Some of the more popular ways they do this are stock buybacks and mergers that result in less choice. They do this because they know they aren’t the job creators. Customers are corporation creators and when a customer has no options, they have to come to you and you can charge what you want. This is why goods and, again, services are so overpriced in America and why Americans can’t lose their products on the global market. Normal American civilians may not have many options, but on the global market customers do and they will not buy Chinese quality at a German price.2: putting words in my mouth I see. I never said a janitor should be paid as much as a CEO, although they arguably add more value to their companies than CEOs do depending on your definition of value. While CEOs do in principle have responsibility over more people and require a significant amount of knowledge about economics (hence the higher pay), when you put things into perspective they don’t have to work as much to keep the company running. When every CEO in a company takes a day off you’ll barely notice, but when just a couple of janitors in one building take a day off you can hardly run your business anymore because of how filthy it gets in hours. A hospital would just shut down once things stop getting cleaned.These janitors also have skills and knowledge that are vital to their jobs and they work very hard, so I don’t think we should tell these people that while their job is necessary they should be unable to afford to live for doing it. I also don’t think it makes any sense to tell some people that their	Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	2/1270	0.157
---	--------------	----------------------------------	--------	-------

claire bigelow because she is lacking something called summary or resume'She is one of those who will eat your ears to death.She is a woman !! What do you expect?!!!!I feel very bad about her American husband who has to hear her wining crap every single day.	Woman	Gender - General	1/49	2.041
+A. v.W. "despite us being the most educated and most productive generation in history"What a farcical statement. Being "educated" in the modern era means feckless Marxist indoctrination through the specious fields of Sociology, Non-Binary Marsupial Gender Sudies and other sundry, disposable degree mill, non-academic Leftist-ideology-loaded claptrap that literally fuels every wrongheaded notion Millennials have today.	Gender	Gender - General	1/56	1.786
I live in New England so I cant talk about anywhere else...I am also a Gen x-er.For years here it was hard as hell to find a job. I myself went about 4 years without working and lost pretty much everything. I went for job interview after job interview and got nowhere. Then things started to turn around and jobs started to come back about a year or so ago. I started working again doing something i enjoy and thats a relatively easy job. I deliver payroll to different companies. I spend my day driving...with nobody watching over me...being able to stop when I want and pretty much do what I want as long as I get the deliveries done. I look at it as a dream job. After all the crap jobs ive done in the past.Since I have been there I have seen countless "Millennials" come and go. Even with how simple and relaxed my job is we cant keep any young people for any length of time. They all complain...don't want to work...expect everything to be handed to them. Take days off all the time. Etc. Had one young woman who took a day off every week...lol. We even had one young guy who wouldnt sign his name like a normal person because he claimed a simple slash mark was his signature. When asked to sign his actual name on his paperwork....he quit.I hate to say it but this generation is fucked.They are entitled...don't want to work...complain constantly...and in general seem to be the most intellectually limited generation I have ever seen and Im afraid for the future of humanity.Even my son, who is a millennial, agrees that his generation is lazy and stupid. He works two jobs and has his own place.(and his favorite word is "fine"..its fine...im fine..everythings fine...lol)And dont even get me started with this generation and relationships.....lol	Nobody, Woman	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	2/320	0.625
Bad parenting (child raising management) and Corporate management are the 2 biggest failures in this equation. Unfortunately I don't see any near or far term cure for either one of these. Trying to fix someone who's had a deficient upbringing is a monumental task, couple that with business managers that haven't a clue how to properly manage, you have a great recipe for the further decline of our nation .	Nation	Nationality - General	1/69	1.449

I followed the advice and listened to this with my defenses and guard down and analyzed whether or not I fell into the category of millennials depicted here, and I don't. I have learned to form deep meaningful relationships, I've been in the workforce since I was 15 working blue collar jobs and growing my skills and climbing the ladder. I keep a balance between my real life and social media and have never though that I was addicted to my social media accounts. I have never felt entitled and grew up poor. I guess there will always be some that prove stereotypes, but in the end don't be ageist and judge someone just because they belong to a certain generation.	Ageist	Age - General	1/121	0.826
My grandfather was an unskilled manual laborer (he loaded delivery trucks by hand), and yet was able to afford to raise five sons on the wages from that job. Nowadays, a job like that would pay about 50 of the monthly mortgage payment and nothing more. [LINK] MacDonalds posted a proposed budget for employees five years ago that right off the bat assumed that 40 of the employee's income would have to come from a source other than MacDonalds, assumed that medical insurance would cost only $20 a month, that gas and food cost zero money, and assumed that housing would cost only $600 a month. That's right-by MacDonald's own admission, they barely paid their employees half enough to live on.	Nothing, Zero	Age - Youngsters	2/121	1.653
put 5k down on a 600k home and default on it....oh wait that was the previous generation....and no i am NOT a millenial....im one of the ones that watched their parents teach their millenial kids NOTHING	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/36	2.778
Millennials aren't the only issue. The bottom line is that regardless of generation, the workforce has to pander to lowest common denominators. However. I work with Millennials who are among the most arrogant and dismissive people I've ever worked with. Older co-workers have done that too, but the difference is that the older ones have acquired the arrogance and jadedness over decades and decades of time, while the Millennial seem to have it from the get-go.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/76	1.316
Well boomers destroyed the world look what we are today? Well some People are lazy iam the opposite, iam 26 years old and iam the the rockstar at my work i have both young People and old People look up to me :)	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/43	4.651
If you think you're somehow better than an entire other group of people based on what year you were born that's just as ignorant as being racist or xenophobic. There are lazy, unfocused and weak people in every genetation. It's just divide and conquer and if you've fallen for it the jokes on you, in my eyes at least.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/59	1.695

Went completely off the rails at the end. Companies have no more responsibility for these idiot kids than they do to cure the common cold. As the saying goes: change comes from within. And if Simon Sinek believes these kids are so wonderful then that shouldn't be a problem should it?	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/51	1.961
State of the country is Great, nobody is depressed. Your depressed because you think the Government should guarantee and provide happiness and owes you a living. You are wrong, you do those things by yourself, not the US GoVT.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/39	2.564
177bandit You would have to ask them as individuals. In 2000-2001 I lived in Cairo Egypt. People used to camp outside of the US embassy just for the chance of a preliminary interview to move towards getting a visa to the US. The United States was a beacon of freedom and prosperity in the world; of course they wanted to come here. I also lived in Bangalore India from 2012-2016. Indians want to come to the US for the education and then return to their country with marketable knowledge.The delusion of capitalist prosperity is coming to an end but, like religion the traditions and dregs of it will persist for a long time. We are still indoctrinating children with the old saw that education= financial success. That is no longer true. For example, in the late 1990s my career of optical engineering, had an upper end pay scale of $100k+. Today a brilliant optical engineer is lucky to make $50k+ . The reason is that the market seeks efficiency, and brilliant Chinese and Indians are happy to make that and send the rest of their money home where it goes 10x farther. It's not just that field it is all fields, why do you think we depend on migrant workers, or why companies are either mechanizing their labor or farming it overseas where people earn slave wages? If you are arguing for capitalism you are guarding an empty chest.	Migrant, Old	Age - Over 65s, Nationality - General	2/240	0.833

177bandit I am afraid I am not getting your point. My point is depression and anxiety are heading towards the primary cause of disability in the world and the increase we observe in these mental disorders has grown exponentially alongside, industrialization, capitalism and modernity. Millennials are simply reacting philosophically, psychologically and neurologically to a broken system supported by institutionalized violence. My second premise is that the cultural norms and memes of the western capitalist culture, present a delusional hypothesis in terms of education=success qua capitalism, that feeds neurosis. That this is untenable in terms of developing 'the good life'. I would define 'the good life' as meeting ones hierarchy of needs: Physical -air, shelter, water, and medicine. Emotional -companionship romantic love. Psychological -accomplishment and self-actualization. To attain "the good life" requires access to resources and energy. Capitalism, by its nature impedes access to resources and energy by means of a debt based system supported by institutionalized violence, wherein money became a permission slip of survival rather than a means of trade. The result, is increasing poverty, violence, homelessness and wars over resources.	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/183	0.546
James Hicks No the reason there is so much depression is because those who live in Capitalist nations are so spoiled rotten by opportunity and security and do not understand what it is like to actually be poor. Depression comes from not getting what you want while being raised in an environment where you have the ability to obtain what you want with a little hard work. If any of these people were dumped off into a third world Socialist or Communist Country, they wouldn't know how to survive because of how easy their lives have been. They don't understand what struggle even is. These people have so much money and wealth compared to other countries they are literally driving themselves into depression due to over abundance of life LMAO! But I guess you advocates for socialism would much rather everyone be equally poor with no hope of obtaining wealth or no hope of ever being what you want to be. A Socialist system where everyone earns the same and can never advance and make more or start your own business because the Government has your hands tied behind your back and is only giving you what they think you deserve. You people clearly don't understand what Capitalism even is.	Communist	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/210	0.476

Joe Miranda I understand what capitalism is. I was/am an Ayn Rand Scholar. I studied Adam Smith, Ludwig Von Mises, Alan Greenspan and other minor apologists of capitalism. I have owned two international businesses where I lived in Cairo Egypt and Bangalore India to operate them. I used to argue vehemently in favor of capitalism. We are talking about clinical depression and anxiety disorders. These disorders don't arise from character shortcomings or attitudes. Depression, and anxiety occur due to hyperactivity in the anterior cingulate cortex, and the hypothalamic pituitary adrenal axis as a response to ongoing stress and trauma. Capitalism is a system of institutionalized violence, wherein money is a permission slip of survival -as it stands in this moment, rather than a means of trade. Capitalism is the cause of the trauma and the National Institute of Health and the World Health Organization both recognize that major depression and anxiety are directly linked to modernity, industrialization and the rise of capitalism THROUGHOUT THE WORLD. Capitalism is built on a faulty premise wherein infinite growth requires infinite resources on a finite planet with a growing population all demanding resources to meet their hierarchy of needs (air, shelter, water, food, medicine, companionship, accomplishment and self-actualization). Notice I said "needs" and not wants. Capitalism is a mental disorder that demands ones irrational WANTS are satisfied over another's needs, and damn the consequences. I have had this argument hundreds of times, and the pro-capitalists argument always boils down to: "But I want it!" This is the mentality of a petulant child. I will concede the validity of laissez faire capitalist arguments. However, it requires that individuals have a rational philosophy wherein one's metaphysics, epistemology, ethics, politics and aesthetics are not in conflict. This is not the case as the west operates with an epistemologically dis-integrated hash of ideas and premises, mostly drawn on Christianity, Pragmatism and Postmodernism. Not to mention the snatch-grabbed slogans, bromides, cliches, jingoisms and memes. This is a recipe for disaster and the proof is in the pudding. "Capitalism" as it stands in this moment is an unsustainable mental disorder secured by structural violence.	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/354	0.565
---	--------	---	-------	-------

James Hicks "I have owned two international businesses where I lived in Cairo Egypt and Bangalore India to operate them. I used to argue vehemently in favor of capitalism." And let me guess now you have a job where your employer pays you equally among all it's employees and you now fight for everyone to live exactly the same equally while being controlled by the government and without any options otherwise? If you say no then you are still a supporter of Capitalism and just a hypocrite. All that education you have seems to have clouded your judgement and basic understanding in life. You are what I call over educated. A college degree doesn't make you any smarter or better than others. You just have been TAUGHT more information. You ever think about who taught you what you think right now? I have a different education. It's called common sense knowledge and self education. Your biggest problem is you have so many fantasies and visions due to the over exposure of useless info yet can't even see what is right in front of you. Capitalism is an economic and political system in which a country's trade and industry are controlled by private owners for profit, rather than by the state. Nothing more, nothing less. You can spare all your fancy words and articulate writing skills. You are either for Free Market where the people decide their own fate or are for Government Control where you are told what you are worth and how to live. Point. Blank. Period. Capitalism gives the little man the best opportunity to move up. Capitalism does not guarantee that someone rich will stay rich all their lives either. Socialism DESTROYS competition, work ethics and the want and need to become more educated. What good does it do to go to college when you are going to make the same if you didn't? Capitalism 101. Amazing I didn't even graduate Highschool and know this. Also Capitalism allows people to give more too. OOPS! History proves Socialism is the most unsustainable mental disorder not Capitalism. With all that education you think you have I find it disturbing you don't know history. This is a recipe for disaster and the proof is in the pudding. If you don't know your history you are doomed to repeat it. Funny how you people seem to think you have discovered something new in Socialism. Socialism has been tried over and over again for thousands of years and has failed. Hundreds of Millions of people are suffering today due to your way of thinking. Let that sink in as you attack Capitalism.	Common, Mental, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments, Social Class - Working class	4/440	0.909
---	-------------------------	---	-------	-------

James Hicks "This is what you just argued for." Correct, I am FOR Capitalism. Not Socialism. "This is not what we have today and you are living in a fantasy that "somehow" it is all going to work out." Correct, We have a mixed Socialist/Capitalist Economy. It's not going to work out if we keep allowing Socialism to destroy our Capitalist System. Starting in 1913 with the introduction of the Central Banking System and The Federal Reserve by Progressive Socialist Woodrow Wilson who was bought and paid for by 1 elitists bankers wanting to take control. This was the beginning of Socialism in America and it has drove our country over $20 Trillion in debt. "Your concerned about the Government becoming a kind of dictator." Correct, I do not support Socialism and the Government Regulating and controlling Americans like it is currently doing and causing them to be depressed. "That is what we have, that is why 1 have managed to sequester most of the monetary wealth, and lobby the government in THEIR favor, that is why there is income inequality and wages have stagnated." Well I'm glad you at least recognize that America is currently NOT a 100 capitalist nation . However I am troubled that you are blaming Capitalism for what the Socialist policies in America is doing. Again your judgement is very clouded. With Socialism and Government Control, it allows the top 1 control the other 99. With Capitalism it allows the people to control prices through Market Competition. Socialism literally controls prices through Government Regulation and Intervention... FYI Income Inequality IS A GOOD THING. Wage Stagnation however stems from Government Regulation and Taxes. When the Government over regulates businesses to the point it cannot afford to pay its employees that causes wages to stagnate. Over 65 of Businesses in America are Small and Mid Size Businesses that are the victim of Taxes and Regulations. Large companies can afford them and survive. Smaller companies cannot. When you drown out small and mid size businesses, the large Socialist Corporate Businesses gain from it thus is the reason Majority of Corporate America supports Socialist Government Intervention and Lobby the Government to pass certain Regulations. OOOPS! Congratulations, You just proved your entire argument against Capitalism wrong... What a genius! "Why do you think corporations move towards mechanization or overseas cheap labor?" Because Socialist Taxes and Regulations are too high in America. Duh... Why after Donald Trump was elected many of them came back, decided to stay or are now investing in America? Because he Lowered their Taxes and Destroyed many Government Regulations and made it law that with every new regulation 2 must be destroyed. Holy cow Capitalism wins again! Imagine that... "By what means can a politico economic system in favor of laissez fair capitalism be installed?" By electing Capitalist, Constitutional Conservatives into office. Capitalist Conservatives who believe in Small Government who will eliminate harsh Taxes and Over Regulation by the Government. That's how. "By what means are people to be educated with the proper philosophical support structure to maintain it? By what means will people develop the kind of stoic architecture to support in creating class division?"	Nation	Nationality - General	2/844	0.237
--	--------	-----------------------	-------	-------

James Hicks "It is self-evident that with the disparity of labor and income equality that people are finding it more and more difficult to meet their hierarchy of needs. How do you think capitalism is going to correct this?" It is self-evident that Socialist handouts and dependance on Government to survive has destroyed worth ethic. This has caused people to demand more while doing less. And that's because they have been taught the slave mentality you are complaining about. Americans (Democrats) today are literally begging to give up their rights and way of life to live as equals controlled by the top 1 you are complaining about. What people are begging for is to destroy Capitalism and turn this nation to a Socialist Big Government controlled nation where the 1 literally is able to run everything with no competition. Destroy the free market, destroy small mom and pop stores, destroy mid size businesses, crush them with regulation and taxes where the people must depend on the government all while letting the Corporate America they fear take over and run everything. Capitalism again corrects this by way of competition and keeps businesses true. Capitalism gives people the motivation to work hard. Capitalism forces companies to give the best quality products while offering the best wages and benefits. If your workers are not happy they will find work with your competitors. If your products are too expensive or low quality your customers will buy from your competitors. People are able to also create their own businesses and further compete. The reason businesses struggle to meet their needs is because once again socialist policies and taxes and regulations and Government intervention is crushing these businesses most efficient means of producing. "What's the motivation to correct it?" Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness. Prosperity. Freedom. That is the motivation to PROTECT it. "Your erroneous view of depression essentially being caused by laziness or entitlement carries a dialectic that "somehow" all minds and bodies are essentially equal." But you stated: "My point is depression and anxiety are heading towards the primary cause of disability in the world and the increase we observe in these mental disorders has grown exponentially alongside, industrialization, capitalism and modernity." So it would seem that you too are assuming all minds and bodies are essentially equal. No not everyone's the same but I am saying majority of people who you are talking about that are depressed and stressed out are simply depressed because they are so spoiled and are used to getting everything handed to them. Yes because Socialism in America has destroyed work ethics and the ability to dream for many people. They are used to the Government taking care of them. When they try to do things on their own they don't know how. Then they think that since they can't get everything they want when they want they lose their minds. Then they start blaming rich people for their misfortunes. While not realizing that even our poorest people are far better off than many people in other countries. Not realizing that in America if I have a Billion Dollars that does not stop you from making your own Billion Dollars. People get depressed over the dumbest shit these days. "Oh I'm barely 18 and I can't buy that brand new car I want. I can't figure out how to buy those fancy pants I want and that 100" 4K HDTV while at the same time paying my light bill and putting food on the table while working at McDonalds. I'm so depressed. It's not fair. Booo hooo I need depression meds." That isn't Capitalism that's saying that it's a mixture of failed education, Socialist	Mental, Nation	Nationality - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/1108	0.361
--	----------------	--	--------	-------

I guess I'm a millenial Gen Z, what I've noticed after getting my bachelors is that most in the workforce have little expertise and are capable only at the same tasks they have done for the past several years of their working life, it's nothing special that no 'millenial' is capable of.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/53	1.887
Maybe peaple are starting to value things like there thare time and the peaple around them or maybe people are sick if working 2 3rds of there life to make money printed by the fed thats not real under hartles corperet monopolys the baby boomers had a fat economy after ww2 you could work one job and have a car a house a dog and kids now me and my sister work 2 jobs and have to share a place to cut the cost	Fat	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/84	1.19
I would be curious to know the authors thoughts on how this is all connected (or not, for that matter) to the transgender issue our country is faced with currently...	Transgender	Sexual Identity - Transexuality	1/30	3.333
In fact, calling someone 'entitled' is almost always an attempt to manipulate him and make him care less about his own interests by feeling shame about it. Though it's nothing wrong in caring about yourself, your interest first, and not about bullshit norm like 'being not lazy', 'being hard working' (feeling okay when struggling without purpose, really?) and so on. It's a free market with free participants after all. Now workforce decided not to sell their work hours for the price you give them. Complaining about it and it's laziness is just like complaining about greed of seller, who raised his prices on the goods he's selling.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/107	0.935
Some websites consider me a millennial and some don'tborn In 1985. When I think millennials I think younger people but whatever... and some websites say 1980 and above.... so nobody really knows bc I've heard about 5 different age ranges	Age, Nobody	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	2/41	4.878

–It is NOT the corporations’ responsibility to create a value-set in persons who have none. (responsibility, accomplishment, mental toughness, ability to interact, perseverance, etc.). That was the parents’ (very often ”parent’s”) job and, to a degree, their education (degrees should be difficult and require the employment of these values. Few actually ”use” algebra....it was taught, partly, to see if you’re mind is tough enough and flexible enough to be able to learn it.)Since the unConstitutional Dept of Education was founded (by NWO proponent Carter) graduates have plummeted from 2nd in the world, scholastically, to 27th.–They grew up without true interaction. When boomers grew up, if we hit Johnny or wouldn’t share with Mary our parents would drag us by our ear to the neighbor’s house where we were forced to apologize. Today ”companions” are merely words on a computer screen. Remember when, as a kid, you were vegetating in front of a TV? Your mother would tell you to ”go outside and play”. So you did...and you ended up interacting, personally, with Johnny or Mary. You had real ”friends”. –Millenials have grown up in an environment dripping with hate. Leftists employ this in ALL their dealings. And Leftists occupy the vast, vast majority of academia and the media. (”We must hate. Hate is the basis of communism.” Lenin) No good reason necessary (plenty fabricated from lies)....hate Trump...hate people who see some good in Trump...hate the USA...hate people who don’t hate the USA...hate the Constitution...hate laws (SEE: sanctuary cities, controlled borders, objective justice, etc.)...hate our Founders...hate religion...hate freedom of speech for others...hate everyone opponents elect... create the lie that Nazi’s were Right-wingers [National Socialist German Workers’ Party–socialist] (gotta have ONE bad guy from the Right...) just so you can hate Republicans...etc., etc., etc. This wears ME down and I know what they’re doing!!I have read that this generation of ’sheople’ is sooo underdeveloped....so indoctrinated....they are unredeemable....so broken they can’t be fixed.	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/324	0.309
Hey old guy. Kiss my ass!	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/6	16.667
Tom Winters the type that wishes men would act like men and woman act like woman ?	Woman	Gender - General	2/16	12.5

S S nawh, this dude thinks to be a man you must have a tool box and to be a woman you must only think about dicks. That's an idealistic toxic masculine way of viewing reality. Women only want penis and men have hammers. There's no way to act like the sex you were born in to. In fact in doing so is the opposite of "manly" because your literally buying in to a culture that exploits you. For me true strength (let me simplify that for small minds) true "manliness" (because men are strong and women are weak right? Every one knows that duh.) comes from the ability to stand up for what you believe in an question the very authority that gave us these gender roles to sell stuff to us in a neater category. To break the cultural norm and stand proud that you are a human, not another humans ideas. That very human who implants these ideas lives comfortably while we argue amongst ourselves about hammers and work belts and GILLETTE FUSION MASTER MAN PHALLIC MICRO BLADES. Small minds think alike.. Mass quantities of superfluous bullshit can be sold to small minds.	Gender, Sex, Woman	Gender - General	3/196	1.531
Tom Winters Gender roles exist for a reason. You have to be superbly arrogant to think you can beat nature and the necessity to procreate. And "toxic masculine", really? Get an original thought - it's hilarious you mention small minds, you're doing fairly well shrinking your own.	Gender	Gender - General	1/47	2.128
Nobody cares about anyone, work sucks, the government wants you to fail so you need assistance, there is no justification for war, college exists to keep young adults out of the workforce not to educate, social security is going to fail before u get it...your welcome millennials	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/47	2.128
'The real world' that is entirely constructed by humans over generations of war, greed, and oppression of the common man.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/20	5.0

If a generation feels entitled to more then the less that the prior generation settled for is out of their reach. A salary only goes so far. Add up the cost of a mobile phone, media feeds, broadband packages, car leasing, and so on, which the prior generation never had.

The old saying is you cut your coat according to your cloth. Millennials appear to believe that the cloth goes further than it does in reality. Perhaps the illusion of a virtual existence in which being false is encouraged. Are workplaces tougher? Yes, because they're populated by Millennials looking for fast paced progression without long term objectives, hence they're abominable places to work. The kiss ass culture has always been there. It's just that everyone wants to play. The career plan has always been there. It's just that everyone wants to play. In a corporate culture of limited opportunity someone will lose out unless, as we're seeing, management positions are exponentially increasing to the point of more managers than workers to manage. It's akin to American corporate culture where you could be Vice President of Health and Safety Provision, in essence, a cleaner. Smart phones are a technological advance that offer amazing potential but they've dumbed down a generation who, with a logical interpretation that's totally justified, see Google as the source of knowledge, instead of memorising stuff like the past generation did. Over a period of 40 years we've gone from banning calculators so children used logarithmic tables to allowing calculators in exams.

At what juncture does knowledge go the same way as basic maths and smart phones and tablets become the norm in examinations where it's the ability to access knowledge and learning that counts above the ability to assimilate it? This is why Millennials are accused of laziness. It's all on Google so why learn it the old school way? The Third Reich destroyed information and learning to bring its belief structure to bear on the population. It looks as if social media is employing the same tactic on a whole generation. What's the true aim? Is more information better than less? Is it's dilution of accuracy acceptable compared to the traditional media structures being accused of fake news? Social media raises so many questions yet there are few succinct answers. The exponential rise of opinion and judgement through its channels simply confuse the issue to the point that no one really knows what's going on or believes in very little they're told. The world won't collapse but society may be on the brink. Why has this happened?

Old

Age - Over 65s

2/431

0.464

Born in 91 I drive a tractor trailer i seen allot thought allot i agree with moderation on the phones.Maybe just maybe we can get rid of the fedral reserve and let America prints own money fix the prices and money, and stop making minimum wage higher.I make 80k a year wich is good no complaints but cant find a liveable house in a decent area nothing fancy just alright is all I want but wages go up shit get more expensive but I digress.Just maybe teach kids in school real world things actually prepare them for life, jimmy wants to be a diesel mechanic alright jimmy now to get the job whats y×<5 and show you're work. I hope Trump abolish the federal reserve	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/128	0.781
Fucking baby boomers are destroying our world yet we're the problem, fucking old people	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/14	7.143
Chelcie Black its roughly between 1980 to 2000	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/8	12.5
Youre only half right and speaking like you know makes you a dumb loser.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/14	7.143
I think it's dangerous to group everyone into one category. Not everything is so black and white.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/17	5.882
Saying millennials are weak means you dont care for human beings. No matter how weak a generation is, they still have a purpose for the economic, militaristic and well-being of a nation , no matter what job they are in or what values they have! The only weak ones are the lazy and racist evils that dont contribute to humanity or nature, only themselves and war. Also, the fact that you laugh at something you dont understand is disgusting!	Nation, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	2/78	2.564

You may not be a millennial but you can't spell 'instantaneously'. This is the 'alienation' created by unrestrained capitalism. It's not totally the parents' fault when the parents have less and less time with their kids while they are working long hours or at several jobs in order to keep their heads above water and when the parents are fighting an uphill battle against all the messages coming to kids from other sources in the media. It's the same as trying to teach kids 1940s values when they grew up in the 1960s. In the past people may have suffered stress but at least they suffered it in a more humane atmosphere. More and more now people are treated like robots. I saw things getting worse and worse over the years. More and more cuts to jobs without the work being cut and so the remaining workers have more and more to deal with. Pay falling below inflation levels. Employers not caring whether you do a good job any more, only whether you make maximum money for the shareholders. Knowledge and experience is not valued. There's a checklist you can follow instead and don't deviate from that no matter what. More and more senior people don't know what they are doing. They are just good talkers and good presenters but it's all superficial. They are often rewarded purely for cutting costs and jobs . The people who do know what they are doing are not listened to and leave or retire. Maybe adults and schools don't teach millennials this because they don't want to depress them too early in their childhood.	Senior	Age - Over 65s	1/271	0.369
--	--------	----------------	-------	-------

I think perhaps the real issue is the fact that every individual and every generation thinking inwardly, it's part of the human condition. These videos whether intentional or not are designed to separate the people. Each generation from the beginning of time has had their own adversities to face. And each generation will remember those adversities as the hardest struggle anyone has had to face. When in reality life in general can be the hardest challenge for anyone. The fact is much like parenting each generation will create unforeseen challenges for the next. And the previous generations will not want to see those issues or take responsibility for them. I've seen several comments talking about inflation as an explanation of the housing market decline. Inflation is dicatated by wage increases in theory. So that is not really a valid argument. The "millennial" generation is not making a drastic increase in wages to support the idea of just using inflation as an argument. In turn, millennials are also not really taught proper money managements. So there lies the conundrum. It should also be mentioned that the housing market is not solelygoverned by income of the massive. It is majorly dictated by location, so money and income have little to do with it. There is one struggle many are not speaking of. College education. I live near Indiana university. In the 1960s it was roughly 105 dollars for 15 credit hours. Now its 1800 for 12-17 credit hours. That is a drastic difference even if you account for compensation. Now before you start spouting off your nonsense about snowflakes or how that I live with my mother, I am a libertarian and a professional cabinet maker. I work hard every day of my life. I'm married and my political views could easily be summed up by saying everyone shut up and mind your own business. But that obviously isnt working. Though it should... I suppose what I'm saying, instead of each person or generation pointing the finger and throwing a tantrum pretending as though their opinions matter and some how prove a point. How about the radical idea of getting off your pedestals, finding issues that are worth fighting for mutually and work together to solve these problems.yes, the "millennial" generation has something to offer as do previous generations. We all have different opinions but the point of living in a Democratic society is to set aside petty differences, yes PETTY. And work together for the common good. EVERYONE ONE IS AT FAULT. It's not your generation or my generation is that we are against each other instead of work together.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/439	0.228
--	--------	------------------------------	-------	-------

How's the generalisation! I'm a millennial and a bricklayer, I have met plenty of people my age who work hard and don't even come close to the stereotype. I have also met and worked with blokes in their 50s who are lazy on the job and constantly on their phones. Put it down to simple pattern recognition, no different then stereo typing different races, you might hit the mark sometimes, but never solve any problems... you wanna talk lazy? Grab a trowel and come work with me for a day, guarantee you won't last	Age	Age - General	1/94	1.064
i love alcohol	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	1/3	33.333
Most of the disgusting fat bodies ive worked with that sucked at work were old incompetent men. Fuck you and fuck prager u	Fat, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical Features	2/23	8.696
I love how these people are talking about 35 years of people (Longer than any other generation), from many different countries, like they are all the same. Some of these millenials have had millenials because the generation has gone on so bloody long. PS; Also love the 'No knock back on Employers' Policy. It is common sense that if the employer cannot find a good worker then they are not a good employer.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/73	1.37
I'm an old millennial. Graduated just in time for the collapse. Nobody helicoptered me. Nobody coddled me. Nobody inducted me into this gender cult shit. I got in fist fights. I got independent. I'm as tough as you fucking slackers but much poorer. By a 2 year spread. Now I'm stuck in labeled with these blue haired bisexuals. If I ever get any power I'm going to fire both of you and hire the youngest people most oppressed by this PC nonsense they get it.	Gender, Nobody, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	5/85	5.882
Just a bunch of old coots jerking themselves off. Older people have been complaining about the newer generation since the ancient times of Socrates. Boomers need to get over themselves. times change	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/32	3.125
Danny Sullivan occupy wall street movement was a first step, then it was the Bernie Sanders movement. Saying they are doing nothing is just not true. Millennials are fed up with being treated like crap and won't take it for much longer.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/42	2.381

Tekboy 808 I started reading your comment then realized I already have. Since the day you're born in USA they hammer it in your head.. the world is hard it owes you nothing (repeat indefinitely lest they ever expect a modern and wealthy civilization to improve their lives). In the future I hope more rejection is immediately thrown at you and your kind, gramps.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/65	1.538
More Butt Jokes Y'know, maybe if you didn't end up getting kicked out of college, found out you were unable to escape from the debt you incurred, and went to a trade school instead where you learned to WORK WITH TOOLS at the AGE OF 15, you wouldn't be wandering from post to post complaining endlessly about how everyone else is "getting jobs handed to them" while making a fool of yourself! You fellow readers need proof? Think I'm being "mean" to ol' Butt there? Check out this vid & his wonderful genius (it's the only pinned post): [LINK] Oh, and here's why you're not getting a great job, "Butt" ::: [LINK]	Age	Age - General	1/112	0.893
im 17 and I shit you not every single kid I talk to my age doesnt like life because of that. Its very corrupt, theres always been some form of order in the world like through tribes, villages, but the kind of order that there is now is just so overwhelming and horrible. They wish they werent born in this time, although we are in one of the best times in human history think of the animals, more chemicals being put in the air, working like slaves for the cycle the elites have created, and when you think of it everything in this world is made up, banks, economy, career. But also , every kid also says the natives knew what was up and they were planting, living a respectful life , respecting the cycle of earth an the relationship of the water, the land, people , and animals , and this generation sees how fucked it is , because every person I talk to says somethingg similar to what I mentioned	Age	Age - General	1/172	0.581
LookatMY Hat o hate to say it but that's how 17 year old feel. Yeah admittedly it's possibly more exaggerated now. I'd say look at history and literature. Get educated about this shit. 100years ago we were into mass killing whole generations, viral flu wiped out millions. Yeah now things are more corporate but I believe much of what you see is just you projecting your worries onto a pen uncaring world. Go	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/73	1.37

Suck it up. Just more irrelevant whining with ZERO solutions from millennials. Hey...maybe if you actually had goals in your life that you were working towards...like your own business...you wouldnt be looking to everybody else to be responsible for your fulfillment...and you may just be able to enjoy your (No longer) depressing job. Holy shit...maybe if you started your own business...you could actually change these "boundaries". But that might actually make you...responsible for your life. (Gasps from Millennials). Fuck off and grow up.	Zero	Age - Youngsters	1/83	1.205
Danny Sullivan wow u sound depressed. I never expected my boss to care. I expected a fair evaluation and decent raise. 40hours? Ive worked 55 most of my life. I built my career from humble beginnings to a career. I hv a nice car and home. Family, vacations. I go to events, i have hobbies. Sounds like you have a dim view and want it all dropped in your lap. What a Debby Downer!	Dim	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/74	1.351
I don't think there dumb at all. Many of them make a living doing dumb shit on YouTube. Some of them pass up seniors in rank because there social butterflies. There not afraid to taking risk. They lose a job then on to the next one. We can learn a thing or two from them. They inspire me to be honest. I am starting my own specialty catering company And YouTube channel. I also am working on some invention ideas. If these foul mouth kids can get off the hamster then so can I.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/94	2.128
Richard Royce ummm that's fair but tell me, Methusala, how come you're so wise yet you said nothing in your reply to me? Kinna like it's all bluster, huh?	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/30	3.333
baz hennessy The laughable thing is you think somehow you have stumbled upon something new . Sadly enough it's been said and thought ,long before you were shitting in your diaper. Here's something to ponder, alot of people have been your age ,but you haven't been theirs. Hopefully you are capable of understanding the point. Good luck in life ,don't expect anything ,work for everything.Find something you believe in, try changing it, because you can't change it all.	Age	Age - General	1/78	1.282
Richard Royce again all these words and you said nothing , Dicky my boy. My young laddy Richie.. say chap, why you assert to know so much about me? Look at all this hubris! And the grammar lookit at all the pronouns! Ahhhh is lookit not a word? In summation you say (if I understand your mad ramblings) that I am a plagiarist for telling you I have already heard YOUR swill since birth from the mouths of many? Good ole double R seems to be declining mentally and I should get off his lawn.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/95	1.053
Richard Royce go in the common room and tell nurse cratchet you need your meds and a change of diaper, please. I regret paying you the attention you desperately need because you haven't said one coherent thing to me. Shove off ya senile knob	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/44	2.273

baz hennessy You seem upset ! Good thing you are here to explain everything to everyone. I guess your inference about my age is based on you dying young ,what a lofty goal. Extremely short sighted you are.I'm gonna go out on a limb and assume you were born the world's smartest person . Congratulations, at least your mommy and daddy can help you believe that falicy.	Age	Age - General	1/67	1.493
Johnny K unlike babyboomers who start wars for bullshit like oil, or start retarded ass homosexual rights movements all across the globe, and telling people it's ok to have abortions bravo	Homosexual	Sexual Identity - General	1/34	2.941
Danny Sullivan They have to work through the drudgery to get to more senior positions from where they can make money for themselves. They don't realize that they can't change the system, flawed as it is, until they get past the miserable long hours that junior positions require. My dad worked 80 hour weeks for several years until he could open his own legal company and be his own boss.	Senior	Age - Over 65s	1/70	1.429
That's life, don't be a pussy . U sound feminine! Not strong enough? All good, plenty more betas for you to play with	pussy	Nationality - Chinese	1/22	4.545
Tigger McSnazz I think we have grown up and to some extent surpassed baby boomers at the intellectual level. Being an employee isn't a safety blanket. There's a handful of innovative projects ar play produced bt us. You're simply too ignorant to do basic research. And you top it ofd with swearing. Classy. I take it you're bitter and mase some poor life choices along the way ypu didn't learn how to forgive yourself on. Crocodile tears old timer. Growing uo doesn't mean loosing the spice of life. Sorry lol. But since you want to be petty. Ans imply we're all lazy with a sweeping generalization against people born between 1983-1996. No question on our individual accomplishments... :Thanks for increasing the std cease pool while you were whoring out during the 80s (HIV), fucking uo the environment, and contributing to the pollution rate in the world for us. Now we have to clean up your shit and pay into your social insurance. Chances are we will off shore our money and travel. You're on youe own. I hoped you saved well lol. Since you want to be rude I thought old people had class lol. Opps . You're generation isn't perfect. You lucked out during convenient economic circumstances moron. Good God. Lol	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/215	0.93

bigInt 1107 Exactly. Baby boomers are narcissistic in nature. You can't point out their flaws. They will deny everything. They will deny everything you say and accuse you of being a liberal voter. These relics don't realize we're PRAGMATIC VOTERS. I don't stay consistent with the same party as a African Canadian woman with my first degree in political science. My voting decisions and yours are private and based on what works for my own benefit. This isn't rocket science. I xater to myself. But on a further note. Notice how disrespectful they become when express an opinion. They hatw free thinking but then complain we don't free think. Lol simply because it goes against their viewpoints. LolThey are inclined to put people in boxes. You can't teach SOME OLD dogs new tricks.	African, Old, Woman	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Black, Gender - General	3/134	2.239
Danny Sullivan I think Sinek is talking to a somewhat aged audience here. He's an intellectual comedian. The current generation is a product of a red line that's been on-going since the renaissance, through the romantic period up until now. Power structures are being abolished. Imaginary authorities (positions of power such as 'a boss') are getting more horizontal. Sinek is really explaining a lot of management theory wrongly here. Bosses asking workers "what do you want?" like, what? If anything work places are being less authoritarian. I.e. workers are permitted to question people in higher positions. Being creative is actually rewarded. Even the school system isn't like what it used to be. I was schooled in the nineties and shit was so different back then. Teachers aren't allowed to give children 'orders' because we learned it lead to very mentally unproductive workforces and management spent millions on out-of-the-box courses LMFAO. Instead kids are taught free will and consequences. They are taught to be more focused by allowing them to explore the world. I.e. what Sinek calls 'being able to get whatever you want'. I'm glad power structures such as churches and bureaucracies are being pillaged.Sinek also has an awfully simplistic sense of dangerous moralism and saying "sciences proves" ten times doesn't say anything. The whole dopamine story and social media is full of unbased fallacies. The logic in the video is almost child-like. It literally shows how unarmed the 'church generation' is to bigotry and lies.	Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	2/247	0.81
Danny Sullivan Nobody forces you to work, it is you who want money to buy things you don't need and do things you don't have to. It is deeply retarded when people act as someone put a pistol in their heads in the Western world. Broken system my ass. Being human was never better from the education, health, safety or entertainment point of view; that broken system is 100 in your head	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/72	1.389

Danny Sullivan Boo fucking Hoo Think it was easier growing up in the Great Depression as my dad did? Or working in a mine or heading out West in a covered wagon to try and make a living farming? Your generation is the biggest bunch of whiny pussy assholes to come along. You have no priorities, discipline or perseverance just whiny bullshit that its so tough. My 88 year old father would whoop your snowflake ass and the reason he could is because hes tough and made the best of it while not ever complaining how tough it is. Your generation is sickening	Old, Snowflake, pussy	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - Over 65s, Nationality - Chinese	3/103	2.913
Floyd Looney We never said it was their job to pamper us but that fact that the nation is in a really shitty spot, college in expensive as fuck. Millennials get shit for not buying a house and living in their parents basement. But sure I'd be happy to buy a house, if you give me roughly 200k. I honestly don't know if I'll be able to get a job that I would like to have because God forbid I I actually want to do something with my life rather than work at McDonald's. Id probably get people says that 'It's a job be happy you have a job' yeah well but honestly that is extremely depressing to think about doing for the next +40 years. And to add the guy in the video has no idea what he's talking about	Nation	Nationality - General	1/141	0.709
There's nothing wrong with not wanting to work 40+ hours a week for a boss or company that couldn't care less. But don't gripe about not making 6 figures five minutes out of college with zero experience.	Nothing, Zero	Age - Youngsters	2/37	5.405
Thank you! That's what I've been trying to tell everyone. I realized this at my last "job." I did 2 weeks worth of work in 4 hours but I had to come to work everyday and sit there for 8 hours and do nothing just so I can get paid. Things need to change. We shouldn't have to work "hourly" anymore when we are evolving past that type of work week.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/71	1.408
Although I'm sure the Right has contributed, these 'millennials' sound like safe space liberals who major in gender studies	Gender	Gender - General	1/19	5.263
Totally right. Though there is one side you should also take into consideration: People dislike people who appear to be more clever than themselves. Fe. I have 3 finished studies in nearly the minimum time. Took a lot of effort. I believed the lie that hard work would matter. But that is not the case. Exceptional work will be punished. I had it so hard to find a proper job. Also seen similar expieriences from others who worked hard for something inside a company, really tough projekts and really did a great job. In the end they pretty much gotten nothing for it. Maybe its this culture we have here in Austria. Better be a good one in the mass of mediocracy instead someone who strifes to be exceptional.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/129	0.775

I agree with this video that people are far, FAR too self-obsessed these days due to social media and the like. People are prioritising making their lives look good to their online audience more than they are spending valuable time with their family. And by that I mean the now 13-16 year olds, not those who are in the workforce. And yes, I see a lot of people who are lazy at my workplace. A lot. And funnily enough, they're all my age. The good portion of our staff that will actually do work properly are 40yrs+. All the other people my age and younger will try every trick they possibly can to do as little work as they can during their shift. They'll do any job they get given half-assed, or they'll fk around and waste time so they don't have enough time to do it. All they can think about is when they're going home. Yeah, I'm the same. I want to go home. But I at least do my job. And none of them give a single s that they make the job harder for the rest of the staff. Because all the jobs they don't do, others have to pick up.And money management... absolutely appalling. The amount of friends I have that have skipped eating because they don't have enough money to pay for food is dreadful. And that's not because they're generally poor, it's because they've decided to spend £60 on videogames instead. I had a friend who needed money for a holiday, but then spent it all on a tattoo. But he never learned because his parents just lent him the money anyway and he still got to go.As for blaming the companies for not looking after their employees, I would say part BS on that. Yes looking after your employees is good, but if you start coddling them and give them an inch, they'll take a mile, if they're anything like my colleagues. It is the fault of everyone who treats people like they're special for causing this influx of lazy, spineless workers who can't deal with the slightest setback.Call me lucky and tell me I was brought up right or wrong, whatever. But I think it's tremendously unfair to expect a business to have to teach teenagers how to be functioning adults. That's school's job, and their parents. The business has better things to do.	Age	Age - General	2/406	0.493
Love how a lot of you are getting offended when he clearly is standing up for you and saying it's not your fault. I'm unfortunately a was born in the mill. Era but I didn't have technology growing up or anything like that. My sister did though. And she was born in the same era. Yet she does nothing but have her face in her phone always unhappy. So what this dude is saying is pretty fucking on point. Y'all are just mad he is right.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/86	1.163

Say all you want about millenials and Gen Z but who is raising us? Who are the ones providing all these things that obviously are meant to distract us from any real world progress we can make? Its not our fault God threw the apples in our mouths and said "Know all, and be nothing from it."	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/57	1.754
Comparing alcohol , gambling and smoking addictions to smartphones? You just invalidated this whole message.	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	1/14	7.143
I mean I hate a majority of my generation because they're lazy entitled ass holes, but not all of us are. I for one, would work circles around you because all you do is make YouTube videos. We were raised by the older generations, do not blame us for listening to you guys when we were told 'if you do good in school you'll get a good job.' 'If you work hard you'll get what you want' Blah blah blah and all that shit. I for one, didn't buy into it because my father was always very honest with me on how life really was and how the world really is. I believe that's why I'm so disconnected with everyone else my age . They were all sold this fantasy from the television that the older generations made. The tv shows. Movies. Books. They were all led to believe that was real. Millennials watched these things and expected to grow up and be millionaires when it was paired with 'if you go to college you'll get a good job' now you have all these lazy young adults with worthless degrees and no life skills because the older generation spoon fed them lies and bull shit while also strapping is with social security, higher taxes, forcing us into health care, car insurance. We are a product of what you guys taught us. You raised us. We are your creation. If anything this shows that you guys didn't do a very good job. So maybe step off your high horse when talking shit about 'millennials' because you don't like the habits you older people instilled into us for our entire lives.	Age	Age - General	1/278	0.36
millennial are the product of baby boomers. don't blame the recipients of participation trophies...they're only 8 years old (were only, now grown up). blame the idiots who created the concept of participation trophies.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/33	3.03
And your OLD lol	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/4	25.0

The problem now is that HR managers are installing their nanny state atmosphere in companies. Hard truth and productivity and results now take a back seat to diversity, LGBT awareness, minority and/or gender quotas and non-confrontational environments. It is no longer about getting the job done. It is now about safe places and political activism. If I were the owner of a business, I would fire all the snowflakes and replace them with workers who have had military experience. Unfortunately there are labor laws that protect the snowflakes. Unless I claim a profit loss and am forced to make cuts. Guess who gets cut. He he he.	Gender, LGBT	Gender - General, Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality, Sexual Identity - Transexuality	4/107	3.738
A GREAT EXAMPLE OF, OLD PEOPLE HATING ON YOUNG PEOPLE.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/10	10.0
I love hookers. God damn Snowflakes don't let me buy pussy cuz of sex slaves. I oughta stomp on their Big Macs.	Sex, pussy	Gender - General, Nationality - Chinese	2/22	9.091
Old man yells at cloud	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/5	20.0
Hm, if you were in middle school between 2000-2004, pre/post 9-11 world is a manic, anxious place. See the change in music, entertainment, and communications and the transition is a stark one. 1:55 At that time, I recall a lowering of education standards during George Bush Jr.'s first term, in Florida, for the standardized tests that plagued our minds. Felt like a cloud of dumbing down everything, then came Web 2.0 in the form of our smartphones soon after.	Transition	Sexual Identity - Transexuality	1/79	1.266
I swear to god, bloody everyone gets the same extra time as people who are mentally handicapped in ExamsI get given extra time in exams, and I don't want it. Because I don't need it. If I can't finish the exam on time and I'm not handicapped , that's my fault. I am given it anyway because I am a few minutes slower than average at writing, and on the day I took the test I was tired and sleepy.But I don't need it. Why are they giving it to me? Give my slot to someone with a broken wrist * dammit*. Stop entitling people. I don't even need this extra time. I literally just write more in the exam. A few of my other friends too. I always finish before my extra time now, but NOOO, they keep me behind and encourage me to use it while I have it But why? I have already written everything I intended to write...	Handicapped	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/165	1.212

A lot of people just simply blame the millenials themselves, and I am a child so my opinion may be flawed, but millenials aren't born and just become like this they are built to be the way they are by their parents and their peers who were influenced by their parents and the media which displays flawed news making the world seem so much worse than it is and that couldn't be possibly helpful towards them as well as the sudden rises in feminists over the last few years after majority of sexism actually stopped happening, as was stated in the video there are much higher rates in suicides but the majority of that is in the men making it even more stressful for millennials being peer pressured into thinking that men are terrible and should respect women more than themselves making them even more confused in what they should be doing, and thats pretty much all I got...	Sexism	Gender - General	1/159	0.629
I am going to sue you..for hurting me from laughing so much..that was adorably ageist ...snowflakes will be melting everywhere.	Ageist	Age - General	1/19	5.263
Probably why you're so fat .	Fat	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/5	20.0
It was the last generation pussy parents crying to remove corporal punishment. Don't blame the next gen for your mistakes. Like usually children wanting to be adults but can't even see their actions caused these outcomes.	pussy	Nationality - Chinese	1/36	2.778

Mr. Blutarsky sure. First of all the school system is shit and actively encourages failure to meet the quota, after all, not everyone can be a doctor or nuclear physicist so a certain degree of students is always excepted to fail. An alternative are Private Schools but those are very expensive so it only helps the rich but not the majority. Second jobs who don't require an educational degree are in the decline as factory work gets modernized more and more due to automation and the new employees are required to have a degree because they have to operate the new mashinery. Sure, there are exceptions but they are terribly paid so that the working class is either required to take on multiple monotone jobs who burn out with time or hang on welfare while the 1 can afford a whole house for their dogs alone. Doesn't sound very fulfilling, doesn't it. Third, the work itself. I've met farmers who are very happy with their jobs despite them knowing that they will never live in abundance or being able to sleep till nine instead of waking up at 5 to feed the cattle. This is because working outside under the sun and fresh air is similar to the living conditions of our ancestors and more healthy then sitting at home playing video games after a long day in school.Fourth the personal isolation. Phones and the internet bring people together, sure, but they cannot replace true friend- and companionship. Puberty ty is a highly emotional phase and not having a friend to lean on can be quite depressing, especially when their own parents grew more and more annoying. Get yourself in the bad company of, let's say, Imbeciles (or something like that) who tell you that nobody will ever love you because of your looks and that society is dominated by masculine men and the suicidal tendencies go through the roof	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/321	0.312
Brainbot Jezebel That's fine, but I didn't ask you to merely enumerate modern challenges. In the 20th century we had Jim Crow laws, we had women's suffrage, we had worldwide depression after the stock market collapse, we had two world wars, we had actual genocide, we had the potato famine, the dust bowl, Irish need not apply, water fountains for whites only, presidential assassinations, the real threat of the cold war turning hot, sit in the back of the bus, get the fire hoses etc. Nothing you mention contrasts the two eras. The fact is that the 20th century was "mentally brutal" as well, you just don't care to consider it.	Crow, Jim Crow, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black	3/111	2.703
Comparing smart phones to alcohol and gambling. Very smart. Thats like saying food is as dangerous as alcohol because it releases dopamin. Talk about misinterpreting facts.	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	2/26	7.692
This video is tons of shit lol, give us the facts. Where are your stats to testify these claims of yours? Instead of getting an info or knowledge for objective purposes , this is just a mere rant with nothing to gain but annoyance. ./	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/45	2.222

Is video already in the first 42 seconds got on my nerves I am a millennial it is Thanksgiving day no matter what I go to my job and do my job which is a thankless job I go above and beyond to my responsibilities everyday even though I'm striving for something better a different career I do the best I can when I go there age doesn't always have to do with mentality and the generations behind me have failed the ones that don't have any direction my examples of authority are all alcoholics or drug users I'm talking about my family me and my sister are two of the hardest working people you were will ever meet so people can knock it off with this Millennial crap let me put the question out there to all you older folks if all you're going to do is just bash yes all the time when it gets to the point where you're 60 years old can't cross the street by yourself can't lift after this crap by yourself and just been rude disrespectful to us all the time why should we help you isn't that how you say being entitled of course I will though because it's just the type of person that I am	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	2/215	0.93
Read the comments. Nobody taking what he is saying onboard what he is saying. They are generally simply pointing out how other generations are also faulty. To blame. I'm not saying the comments are not correct. But they do in someway confirm this guys point.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/45	2.222
At work we basically devided into 2 groups the Geris and the Millies I'm a baby boomer so I am a Geri (geriatric). After watching this video I have a better un standing on why the millies are weird. When I was in the military we were taught that the only except able answer was yes sergeant or yes sir. When I became an NCO if gave an order to a Millie I would have to go into an in depth expiation on what we are doing an why we are doing it this way. This was unheard of when first joined the military.	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/104	0.962
I hate these stupid videos. First, it seems like they are mostly referring to people who are actually on the cusp of gen z. All millennials are now adults and most of us didn't have social media as we know it through high school. A lot of people my age didn't have cell phones until after HS and def no internet on our phones until college or later.Second, let's go ahead and imagine that it's also stressful to be crushed by student debt in an economy that collectively makes much less than their parents. Jobs no longer hire people for life, it's harder to find benefits, it's harder to buy a house, childcare is impossible to pay for, and a college degree is treated like a HS diploma. Millennials are overworked, underpaid, and have more bills than previous generations and are expected to lick the bosses ahol in appreciation.This dude is talking about rich white kid problems, not the millennial experience as a whole.	Age	Age - General	1/166	0.602

The comments section highlights the real problem here. No one takes responsibility for their part. No one forced you to take out student loans. No one said life would be easy. It's hard for everyone, why would it be easy for you? You don't have it harder than the previous generations, our struggle is just different then theirs. Stop crying about it. Make a plan and use it to get ahead. Stop blaming someone else for your circumstances. Seriously. I'm technically a millennial and I hate it. It's embarrassing to be lumped into a group of people who are so worried about finding out who's fault it is that they aren't at the top yet. Stop looking. It's your own! This isn't communist China. If you want to be successful, work hard and it will come. Own your choices and take charge of your own life. You are responsible for your future.	Communist	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/152	0.658
I'm constantly fascinated by how nobody ever talks about RSI or deep vein thrombosis anymore. It's like they had never existed in the face of all this tiresome millennial angst.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/30	3.333
Was going good until the end. The individual needs to better themselves. Sure "corporations" can help, but it's not their responsibility. That's just a cheap excuse. Nobody takes care of you better than you.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/34	2.941
Social media always says 18+ it's up to the parents to stop them. Same with alcohol .	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	1/16	6.25
P Last Name I'm still currently in school and again basic facts, you said "Spoken like a true accountant." is a worthless insult (It's like me giving you a scientific fact and you saying "Spoken like a scientist"). I have nothing against this guy and I completely support him in whatever he wants to do but I'm just giving you and him pure facts, he will most likely struggle over 10 years of his life going with this plan and then achieve little. I'm just saying from an outside point of view it's way smarter to have an education then pursue something that you love with the knowledge instead of going in blindly	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/113	0.885
I'm a Gen X'er, and I actually have a lot of hope for the millennial generation. They seem to be aware of more at an earlier age . Baby boomers think people should be like they were, but look where their ways got us. Sure, they moan about a lot more than we did, and some complain just for the sake of complaint, but sometimes that's better than accepting things that don't, and haven't worked.	Age	Age - General	1/74	1.351
Entitled? I'm sorry but who are the elderly people who treat the service industry like garbage and expect everything to be done for them at the drop of a hat? Who refuse to keep up with technology? Who scream at a cashier because they insist they are entitled to a discount with expired coupons? This is a very inaccurate depiction....	Elderly	Age - Over 65s	1/60	1.667

millenials seem to be good at contract work and jobs where they get payed by the task, not the hour. i kind of respect not wanting an hourly job and getting payed directly for their productivity. just something this old man notices about them. maybe it is good they dont want to work the typical job. commissions and task work may be a good thing, not sure. businesses are also not entitled to their labor. it is a two way street.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/81	1.235
Even though I'm a 1993 model I'm currently in the starting phase of becoming an entrepreneur selling cars from the last century that I import from elsewhere in Europe. Preferably above 30 year old ones as I save a ton of money on registering. I'm lucky enough to be living in the second most expensive car country Norway where people will pay more for cars in general than the rest of Europe. There's a market there that I'm trying to exploit. It's also due to my interest that has been sparked by Top Gear's driving challenges and Initial D introducing me to most JDM cars. Next up is a Toyota Supra Mk3. I was content with the basic work I'm doing even now until recently, but once I decided to seriously pursue this dream goal I've gotten my spirit back and anything else seems stale. I've always wanted to be old school down to basics buying and selling, on the other hand I want more of these cars I've barely ever seen before coming to the country and driving on the roads here to counter the electric cars only rise.	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/190	1.053
You know, I feel like most people who use the term millennial think of the 18-24 demographic, when in reality, due to the weird way they do generations, millennials are between 22 and 37. Half of your millennials are old enough to 10+ years into their careers. I can't tell you how many jobs that I've worked at where the salary was the same as it was in 1998, because all of the upper management has a mindset of: "I only made 25k a year when I started my career in this field in 1983, why should you be making any more than I made starting out?"	Old, Weird	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/107	1.869
I was completely on board with this video until the last 30 seconds. This is absolutely not the fault of the companies and corporations, that is such a socialist cop out. As was stated in the video, the real world hits these kids (my generation btw) like a sack of bricks because they have been coddled and gratified their whole lives. If anyone is to blame, it is 100 the parents, who were having kids later in life and didn't have the energy to actually teach their children because no 50 year old can keep up with a screaming toddler. The best thing employers can do now is to reward those millennials who actually do work hard and have actually done something with their lives so that those who havent can learn by example. That is what is missing from these kids lives is tough love.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/146	0.685

Well would you put an age restriction on exercise exercises release dopamene	Age	Age - General	1/12	8.333
Every generation says this about its successor generation. Look up old time magazine covers.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/14	7.143
Some basic reasons Ms get laughed at and not taken seriously. One, you hate generalization. "We're not all like that!" Yet you blame every person born in the 20th century for your problems. "We inherited a bad economy, etc!" So did the generation born before/during the Great Depression yet they created or laid groundwork for the tech we use today. "We can't get a job once we graduate!" Then get a degree that is in demand, like something in a health field, or a trade, instead of video games or gender relations. Have a goal with your future in mind, not goals such as getting lots of "likes" on your selfies or deciding on a new tattoo. The people who came out of the Depression or WWII didn't see much to offer either so they MADE companies and jobs, and the high tech we have today. They didn't accomplish so much by being worried about what sex someone was, or whether to pierce their nose or tongue. The fact Ms have so much time to waste on big decisions like that shows how privileged they are.	Gender, Sex	Gender - General	2/186	1.075
What I see , are young adults who are dissatisfied with the left overs from the baby boomers. The left overs from a generation that did have it all, in an excess, who ruined our economy, abandoned it's civil duties, passed on false history, got us involved in endless wars , shouldered them with their debt, there's no industry our number one trade is literally GARBAGE literally... an educational system void of arts, music, skills ... like actual usable skills. It has nothing to do with them being lazy, their rebelling against a broken system that denies them individuality a world to grow in , why should they conform? To work for wages that barely cover cost of living , while bogged down with college debt? The problem is not that millennials , but the generations that thought they inherited the world, when in fact they were simply borrowing in from the next generations. Millennials are pushing back against the old , the old that are afraid change, who don't know where their place in the world would be if the system wasn't rigged in their favor. Millennials want progress, innovation, they don't want to work for some one else to make some one else rich, they want businesses of their own... and every time they come up with something the old system attacks it regulates into oblivion. They are rightfully dissatisfied with the world around them, and I for one hope they keep that fire burning until the change this country truly needs starts to happen. Millennials..... you don't owe the generations before you SHIT... in fact they have a debt that they owe, they borrowed in your names when you were just babes. HOLD THEM ACCOUNTABLE and FUCK THE SYSTEM.	Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	4/292	1.37

Don't get how you hate on a new generation you old fucks. It ain't the 70's no more u dumb fucks your times up now let the millennials change what you guys fucked up. We gonna change the old ways so just shut your mouth and keep smoking them cigs as they are good for you you old fucks	Dumb, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/60	6.667
Work for money?? Become an immigrant and go to Europe - everything will be for free.	Immigrant	Nationality - General	1/16	6.25

Well I don't know what millennials you have met that do this dumb shit but I have never had a problem with working in an environment that was harsh and I never complained about it, fuck me I used to get up an hour before work just so I know I would have been on time, I used to ride a bike 9 miles in the dead of winter storms to make it to a job where I had to cook for people deal with stress on top of trying to make it work cause I did not have a car, I rarely ever go near my phone, my girlfriend though has definitely shown all these signs except the smoking and alcohol part she is addicted to phones but she does not do social media she has it in case she needs to get ahold of me, I have a facebook so I can contact friends I do not see everyday, one could argue I am addicted to the internet but then again who isn't I am only addicted because of the online gaming aspect its like an escape from the stressful shit around me, the shit that I cannot help so instead of alcohol and drugs I video game online to take my mind off of it, I will smoke weed because it relaxes me and helps me focus, I have goals to start a life with my girlfriend and we are forming a meaningful relationship, she seems to be doing fine with my help, I can definitely see where your coming from but your not entirely accurate there are millennials out here that want to work regardless of what it pays or the conditions we are in, the issue is when we try to apply for jobs thanks to obama jobs became really unavailable now the only thing stopping me from getting a job is transportation, I have a car that I bought and earned, and when I fix it up I will be working again, so again I have no idea what millennials your referring to my mom never told me I was special unless she was referring to all her kids being special to her? she never said I could just have anything I wanted just because its there she told me if I worked and busted my ass hard enough I could get what I wanted, that is a true statement Obama made it harder for people to get jobs, Trump has done more about that so again you must be referring to the privileged class of millennials or just really stupid people because my friends and I never behaved like self-entitled narcissistic assholes like we just don't care and expect everyone to work around us, but I did get pissed off when I earned a raise from my job and found out that everyone else earned the same raise increase so it was equal, that too me was fucked up my hard work practically meant nothing to anybody, so you wanna ride that horse about millennials that actually behave that sure but there are millennials that do not behave and act as you are describing.	Dumb, Nothing, alcohol	Age - Youngsters, Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/531	0.753
--	------------------------	---	-------	-------

This video was made by and to appease all the gray haired, coughing, deaf old bastards out there who already have one foot in the grave so they have nothing better to do but complain about the youngsters they're jealous of because they wish they were as young as them	Deaf, Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/50	6.0
I pointed out to someone on here that his parents who he feels he is supporting by paying tax paid for his education. He and several others replied that education is free.Well even if we ignore the other costs of bringing up a child the idea that education is free rather sums up the problem with some people. Education is NOT FREE. Just because some people get something for free they think nobody pays for it. How do they think the building, the staff and the materials are paid for?	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/91	1.099
The problem of deep meaningful relationships having disappeared has nothing to do with millenials. It's a cultural problem and it's getting worse. People are dishonest, egocentric, narcissistic and have little or no empathy anymore. Social isolation has been a growing problem for decades. I have two real friends in life where I have a deep meaningful relationship. They were hard to find because most people are superficial and stupid.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/69	1.449
Face book was not a thing for 84-87 didn't have social media in adolescence 88 had it for there senior year I think 80 - 90 should still be generations y like y are you calling me a millennial	Senior	Age - Over 65s	1/39	2.564
I have none. Nothing better than being alone	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/8	12.5
cassanoa All I can say is life was so much easier without it , nobody will ever understand unless you have been without it .	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/25	4.0
cassanoa Then you get the 20 something's lecture about getting with technology etc , you can have all the tech in the world but can never replaced the basics of human interaction and basic common courtesy . If I was was helping a customer at my last job , and they just had to answer the phone or respond to a text I just stopped and waited . They would get upset and wonder why ? I had zero problem telling well I was talking and you answered the phone it's very rude .	Common, Zero	Age - Youngsters, Social Class - Working class	2/94	2.128
Scallen exactly - its the phones that turned people into this - they have made the little machine in their hand more important tan actual people - so they live hollow lives	Tan	Nationality - British	1/32	3.125

alan mcnew how old are you? you may be a millennial	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/11	9.091
It's a good thing that in three more years the oldest millennials can rightfully claim age discrimination against that hateful policy of yours. I mean, age discrimination happens before age 40, and you are living proof of that. However, legally there's only a claim past 40.	Age	Age - General	3/46	6.522
The fact is this happened cause the parents of millenials coddled them and didnt allow them to grow up. I used to get into arguments with mom who i thought was raising my sister (a millenial) wrong as she did 'everything' for her and treated her like a fragile flower. For me it was the opposite; it was suck it up buttercup. I've also had to put up with the BS of millennials in 'every' job i ever had only to find i was working with millennials who were nothing more than lazy, selfish, entitled people who whined alot when something was too hard and couldnt depend on them for jack shit and full of lame excuses. My favorite was when a millenial girl i was working with was late for her shift only find that her mani/pedi ran late. I wanted to slap her as i knew my idiot boss wouldnt pay me for the overtime.	Lame, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/158	1.266
Yeah fuck serving a nation thats shits on their own people of all ages . Delusional twat .	Nation	Nationality - General	1/18	5.556
The reason for this is to make people (millennials) dislike it and react to it. Basically a bunch of old lames that want to put a cap on what millennials have to offer.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/33	3.03
we arent missing out on any skills my b things are just different in this new age , idk if you noticed though.	Age	Age - General	1/22	4.545
Ed- I have some management experience, but after asking middle management about remuneration have decided to keep on with hard labour. Young people are too soft and their alien replacements too stupid.Example: sitting waiting for onsite physiotherapy the millennial next to me is telling his supervisor how he had to walk out and have a cry [because his job is too hard]. So into the training office, try and find a job the weak cunt can do.It was two weeks before he'd exhausted all options.It is really hard to get sacked here	Alien	Nationality - General	1/95	1.053
It would be interesting to see the age of all the dislikes.	Age	Age - General	1/12	8.333
Nobody cares about the kids that where born in the late 70s like 78 79, kids like us who is now in our late 30s are the ones who are going threw hell. People my age are in the middle of all this crap !!!!!!!!! We the ones who are struggling not them millennials....	Age, Nobody	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	2/54	3.704

Generalized statements warrant generalized comments. Nobody on the planet will have the same experience as you, no matter the age, sex, race , etc. For anyone to broadly say 'Millennials are (insert trait)' they are making a generalized statement. So if you're a millennial like myself, don't worry about what this guy says, he hasn't seen the world through your eyes and he absolutely never will.	Age, Nobody, Race, Sex	Age - General, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	4/65	6.154
You are an entitled idiot using technology to spread the same old bullshit. I'm 62 and I've heard this crap about every generation. Winston Churchill's father said he would never amount to anything, so please just shut the fuck up.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/40	2.5
This was an interesting video. But I can't agree that it's the fault of business that a generation was poorly parented has issues. I say that as a small business owner, but what I see is year after year I have to fight the fight in the world of business. My employees are my troops to do battle with. If they are hard working and motivated we can do amazing things and have great success. If their not we risk serious failure as we compete for business. If you place the burden of re-education and re-parenting of these young folks on my shoulders it will be a burden to heavy to bare. I reward good behavior, you do well you get the praise and money that goes with it. If you don't excel then you don't reap the rewards. This isn't hard to understand. It's a concept as old as business. The sad truth is some will fail. That happens in every generation. But what they do after the fail determines if they get back on their feet and succeed or fold up and become a burden on society. They were pampered a lot and that doesn't make them strong. They have to build their own strength. No one can give it to them they've had too much of that already. If they want it they have to fight for it. Earning it gives it greater value. It increase self confidence, it increases self worth. It makes a better person. They have no handicap that can't be overcome. They need to find the strength like every generation before them has and get the job done!	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/275	0.364
There is common problem with all of this comments: Millennials are not only located on the US. The previous generation didn't "destroy the housing market" in third world countries and we still have millennials. We have public education son the millennials are not in debt because of student loans, but we still have millennials. Most of third world countries had nothing to do with both world wars, in fact some countries experimented good consequences because of them. You can't explain a worlwide phenomenon such as the millennial generation by only looking at specific events that took place in a single region of the world.	Common, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Social Class - Working class	2/104	1.923

I am not a millennial but many stereotypes of millennials are false and are just common traits among teens and young adults. Think about this way; lots of music today talks about sex and drugs (mostly from rap), but a lot of the songs of the 80's were about drugs and women (mostly from rock). A big complaint is that millennials are lazy, but think about the kids growing up in the 60's and 70's during Vietnam! They smoked weed and other shit.	Common, Sex	Gender - General, Social Class - Working class	2/83	2.41
It sounds like you're trying to pass the buck .	Buck	Ethnicity - Black	1/9	11.111
I am 70 years old . I grew up in Queens, NY, raised by a single mother. I received a fine education, with emphasis in my English classes on: correct spelling, sentence structure, punctuation, syntax - you get the idea. That said, I am appalled by the ignorance and plain bad writing I routinely see in memos, and proposal documents which find their way to my desk and, e.mail. These, written by 30-something colleagues. I noticed the recent appearance of an online advertisement for a grammatical correction app. Their promo uses the most idiotic sentence; it is one that my neighbor's second grader could write correctly, with no assistance whatever! These same entitled young adults are frequently lazy in conversation, using the word 'like' incessantly. They text acronyms and snatches of words, rather than be bothered with a genuine, complete English phrase. I guess they are also exempt from taking the time to master their own language. Such complacency speaks to a larger issue, and absolutely reflects that same mood of indifference when it comes to basic writing skills. Which, if you think about them are - basic LIFE skills.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/189	0.529
I'm 33 and German and I notice and get frustrated by the same thing - even product labels are printed incorrectly and on social media and basically every online platform that's used for entertainment you get shamed for being a "grammar nazi " pretty much as soon as you give anyone a single pointer on what their punctuation does to the meaning of their statement.	Nazi	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/64	1.562

Millennials say the Baby Boomers did nothing but cause them trouble, but millennials haven't done ANYTHING. Baby Boomers invented: Direct-dial coast-to-coast telephone service, the artificial heart, your computer, and put rockets and people into space, and built an international space station. Designed and built Disneyland and Disney World. Created the first microbiology lab. Invented your cell phone, the World Wide Web, your USB ports, the Ethernet and the CMOS active pixel image sensor so you can have a camera in your cell phone, and improved rechargeable lithium-ion batteries. Boomers invented DNA fingerprinting, the scanning tunneling microscope, the musical synthesizer, the Flex-Foot prosthesis for amputees, synthetic skin for burn recovery, the nanoscale motor, and discovered anti-matter, and the automated external heart defibrillator. So what have YOU done? Well, other than getting some silly tattoos (paid for by your parents)? Oh, you can play computer games all night and sleep all day? How cute.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/152	0.658
I'm not into the bashing of my generation but I will say I do think many people my age don't understand how good they have it. We today in Western countries live in the best time to be alive ever. Almost every household in America has air conditioning, Internet, refrigerators, cars, TV's. The average person today are more wealthy than they have ever been in the entire history of this country. People have had it so good for so long that they don't actually know how affluent or privileged they are now. Instead all I hear is blaming on the older generation and that they ruined everything. Really? You think you have it worse than your grandpa? At 18 you get to go to college, have access to one of the best education systems, party, and be surrounded by attractive women. Meanwhile your grandpa probably had no AC growing up, no internet, instead of going to college at 18 he had to go to a foreign land with a bunch of other sweaty men and get shot at by a bunch of foreigners. I was one of these entitled millennials, I thought I deserved free college, Medicare, a job, and was a big Bernie Sanders supporter until I graduated and realized this nation owes me nothing and I have way better opportunities than my parents or grandparents ever had. I didn't have to fight for anything while my dad and grandpa had to fight for everything they had and provided me with a head start in life they never had. I don't think everyone in my generation are spoiled and entitled but way too many are and instead of working hard and earning their place in society they rather blame their parents and grandparents for everything.	Age, Nation, Nothing	Age - General, Age - Youngsters, Nationality - General	3/296	1.014

Born in early 1990's and totally agreed with this. Seeing the comments gives me shudders that this video is actually not generalised! It talking about the 'problem'. I am seeing how the pathology of today society structured depicts of Simon's intentions. It is well spot on describing situations. Think about mental health. It been ever increasing due to social isolation, faction groups and selfishness. It is scary generation. I am not talking about wars that baby boomers went through, but I am talking about the pathology of the problem. Media, technology and that changes the structure of our social sphere.Personally I been through few psychologists figuring myself how to get out of this trap. Living with disabilities I find myself don't fit in this world because the pathology is destroying our reputation. When things do change, via awareness we suppose to do this socially rather than factionising against each others like politics. I am seeing more factions in today's youth than previous generations.PS: lot of people who are older than me especially my parents and grandparents age kept telling me life is simpler back then than today!	Age, Mental	Age - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/189	1.058
I think it's not productive to malign an entire generation. If they're more environmentally conscious, more accepting of people who are different than themselves and wary of the grind, rat race and keeping up with the Jones' then they may not be all bad.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/44	2.273
U boomers are literally the worst generation in American history buncha pompous diluted self centered narcissistic vicarious racist nihilist liberal left self hating treacherous group of traitors. Not all boomers but most of you.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/34	2.941
This is something I saw and experienced growing up. I knew I would have to work harder and be more resilient if I was gonna at least have some sort of success in life. So far I'm on the road to be VP of a company that I aim to own myself one day. It's not easy. It's very challenging and I often to turn to alcohol to take the edge of and forget about the stress. Regardless it does bring me happiness to know that my hard work is paying off and I'm learning a lot in the process.	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	1/100	1.0

He's wrong in alot of things. For instance, mobile phones are not compareable on this spectrum to Drugs and Alcohol . No way. Sure, they are adictive, but they also teach you. Youtube has infinite knowledge. And there's so much more out there. Generation XX is going to be super culturized and probably more intelligent thanks to this. So you can't compare this to drugs. Sorry. Also, there are plenty of videos and webs about enlightenment. People choose not to be enlightened because they don't want it, just as it has always been that way. He's got some things right. But the general ideas are off. Aswell as the problems he points the finger to. Jobs for instance are also at the flick of a finger.	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	1/125	0.8
Sorry to break to you, but if the upbringing is wrong there will be just o few individuals later on to change and cope. Corporations cant teach a whole generation. Think about it, when was the last time when a school managed to turn to a positive outcome an upbringing of a whole generation?! This a task of the parents alone. Now what's left fo an adult generation in a corporation? At least in that sense I feel lucky I was not raised in the US. I was born in 1988 in Bulgaria, which turned from communist to democratic in 1989 so western culture flowed in with full force a little bit later than for the yongsters in the west, besides social media was a late invention for me and we never had in school this gratification for being last and we can get whatever want instntly. Also my year of birth is somewhere on the borderline of gen X and millennials, so probably I am more a gen X with a mix of millennial characteristics. What I am saying is that at least psychologically I feel in a better position than young people in the west.	Communist	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/197	0.508
While I don't really think millennials are any much worse than previous generations, I think the instant gratification and social media stuff needs to be researched more. I'm not saying we need to regulate it, but that kind of stuff should be common knowledge so most parents are at least aware of it.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/53	1.887
At age 60 I was interviewed by a millennial for a position at Wells Fargo. I am ripped. I am a gym rat. My wife is half my age and all of her girlfriends hit on me. The guy told me right off the bat that he won't look at me. That was strange. When he came to greet me he in the lobby he hollered at me from 30 feet away and when i stood up he walked away. At first I began to trot to catch up but good sense told me to walk. He turned down a hall and I lost him. This was not going well. The whole thing did not go well. He was married but I would have pegged him for a faggot 10 years ago.	Age, Faggot	Age - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	3/132	2.273

Sounds like a millennial making this video. He misses the point of our economy. It only needs the useful. If they are useless unskilled in any area I ask "what the fuck did you do for 20 years? ". Society owes no one. If you are more worried about meaning maybe take a look at your inputs. Do you think the media is informative? Do you think your marxists education was beneficial? If so they fooled you. It was not hard to do either. They got the whole generation looking at their genitals and thinking what gender are they lol. I have never seen a people so self absorbed and in complete ignorance of anything real ever. They should call them the lost generation but sadly the system is still cranking these delusional morons at an alarming rate.	Gender	Gender - General	1/138	0.725
Millennials grew up watching their parents fight constantly, and were undermined by selfish parents. I am not a millennial but I will stand up all day for the bullshit they have endured. My children are millenials their father text me at 7 am saying he was running late then flew them across the Country. I drove to Edmundston, a small french town where my exes huge family lives and could not convince any of them that it is wrong to take children from a loving good mother. They were clueless to the fact my sons were born with thoughts and feelings and had the right to express how they feel. The courts would not do anything as his family had a court order falsified. I looked like the crazy person trying to explain children have the right to know their feelings matter and be listened to and ended up stuck in Trauma for 8 years Now they are grown up and think I have abandoned them. What fair chance does any child have in a world where people think parental alienation is okay.	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/183	0.546
Nearly everything this guy said constitutes as anecdotal except for the technology growth. This whole video felt like some hot pile of garbage propaganda. He never even references any of his sources because he based his entire premise on a negative connotation; millennials are lazy/self-entitled. News flash, most people are inherently lazy. The majority of people never obtain their bachelor's degrees because they chose to limit themselves. The same goes for this entitlement. Basic economics teaches scarcity where people cannot have everything; thus, we will never fully reach most of our demands. We are in a crisis of financial illiteracy, but for anyone to pin that on millennials is absurd. A lot of old people cannot retire because they failed to save. With them looking like morons, they point the finger at young people. Most of them cannot use technology, which brings a negative connotation to anything tech-related. Anyone under the assumption that smartphones rot people's brains, don't get one and continue to live in the past, but please don't compare it to a cabinet full of alcohol . They have little similarities.	Old, alcohol	Age - Over 65s, Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	2/182	1.099

Perhaps the social infrastructure is at fault. And yes the shiny thin clouds in our skies are aluminum and other metals plus the fluoride in the water in over 80 of the country.	Thin	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/33	3.03
Great video and as a Millennial myself it's nice to see a video that doesn't label us as the lazy or problem generation. Only thing I personally don't agree with and never will is blaming my parent as part of my life struggles. My mum is the reason I am who I am today, she inspired me, pushed and believed in me when knowone else would. She always taught me from a young age how difficult life can be and never gave praise unless I deserved it. My mum was the one who gave me my work ethic, told me to put in 100 into everything I do, be self efficient and most importantly don't give up. Maybe I'm lucky but if I didn't have her I would off crashed and burned years ago. My mum is the best.	Age	Age - General	1/139	0.719
The boomers were pretty horrible too, they thought they were the greatest things ever put on this earth, obsessed with casual sex , became adults & divorced each other like crazy & left a lot of their children damaged, drunk & drugged up all the time.	Crazy, Sex	Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/45	4.444
The fact is that every generation, or decade or age , has a level of productivity and that level always fluctuates. Nothing is static. Standards rise and fall. Even when there are standardized qualifying exams and licensed credentials there are methods to lower or raise the competency of the individuals who will hold a title. No Child Left Behind and Lake Woobegone.Human culture and society are open ended and always have been.It is a culture clash between generations in the USA.It is possible for a society or nation to fail, Rome fell. Some are so lazy they may lose the living status of previous generations, and will accept a lower existence. They may claim values have changed.The skill sets of the developed world are so advanced compared to the lesser cultures that some extremists on the left want to redistribute wealth to change the current cultural status quo. Doom will more likely come from a holocaust than from a slacker.	Age, Nation, Nothing	Age - General, Age - Youngsters, Nationality - General	3/163	1.84

The assessment was fine up until he started laying the blame and responsibility on the companies. Sorry but it comes back to the parents and TEACHERS who failed to teach them. That teaching process means standing up to the parents when the make demands that teachers SHOULD know are wrong. So now this person believes the companies have to pick up the slack - sorry but that's not the real world. Certainly the companies have some responsibility for issues in the workforce. Starting with the way companies discard people not because they can't perform, but because the company owners have zero sense of loyalty to the workers. Because of that. the workers have no sense of loyalty to the companies.	Zero	Age - Youngsters	1/120	0.833
Please get it out of your snowflake head that after a lifetime of programming by their parents, schools, and environment, a corporation is going to solve the problems of these self-absorbed brats. Corporations exist to make money, the faster the better...not to wipe the butts of these poor little "victims".	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/50	2.0
He right, it's not their fault. Poor parenting, throwing new born babies into day care, because mommy is a "I can do it all woman ".... Or worse yet she is a single mom who "doesn't need one of those horrible things called a man". And millennial parents your children are not your friends!! Timmy and Susan are not amazing....their just regular everyday kids.	Woman	Gender - General	1/63	1.587
It's not the corporations. Corporations provide goods and services while making money. Fuck the feelings. Profit is the rule of the day. People LOVE to blame corporations while wearing designer clothing, eating out and consuming. They do all this while playing the victim, blindly..or at worst sociopathic-like. The problem is the failure, the person who doesn't want to learn, the individual devoid of self responsibility and awareness.If you don't like corporations, don't work at one. If you don't like how they control government, go become a politician or at least VOTE. A corporation owes you ABSOLTELY NOTHING when it comes to your social development. If you don't fit, someone else will.Not all millennials are worthless, however the idols they follow are.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/123	0.813
I was born in 1994, One of my first memories was my mom telling me "you will never be the best at anything." My parents taught me the value of hard work, taught me to treat others with respect, and never congratulated me for failure or mediocrity. But they still believed in me, they pushed me and at times I hated them for it, but now I appreciate it more than anything. I graduated university last year, couldn't get a good job because Canada's economy is crap, so I worked my ass off in a soul crushing job and pretended to be happy until I could get a better one. Nothing is owed to you, you are not special, but you don't have to be special to live an amazing life.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/131	0.763

BlankoPie you have good parents. Cause they did you a huge favor by telling you nothing is free, or comes easily... My parents did the same to me. "Work hard or fail. The world doesn't care about you. If you want something done, then do it yourself. And take nothing for granted. What easy come, easy go... Treat you fellow human and creature the way you wanna be treated... GET OUT OF BED, or else you die in bed. If you fail, then do better next time etc etc. Life is not a shortcut... for some yes but not the majority..." that is what my father taught me	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/108	1.852
Snowframe Of course I can't know what will make you happy, or fulfill you, but I find peace of mind by planning ahead and working on myself. Think about what you want to do for a living, if you want to go to post-secondary or not; I recommend it if you can. Try to get involved with more people to build your social skills, I used to be very shy and geeky so I joined a D&D group and a group for a game called "Blood Bowl" and made some more friends. I also uninstalled all the games on my phone and left my computer at my parents when I moved out because I played too much and became more reclusive the more I played. On top of that I started working out, it made me happier, healthier, and I was able to meet the girl I'm engaged to marry (though I don't attribute working out very much to that success, she likes the muscles). It's hard to find the motivation, but even at my lowest point I knew that I was in control of my own life and had the potential to do a great deal towards improving it. I can't say if anything like this will work for you, but I strongly recommend that you put yourself out there as much as you can. Join a club (I joined chess club in junior high and the tabletop gaming club in university. It was nerdy but there were nice people there and I improved my social skills), go to the gym or enroll in an elective workout class in school (they called it Sports Performance at my high-school; I preferred exercise to crap like playing an instrument), start doing a sport (I started basketball when I was 12 because I was tall, I had zero skill at the beginning), go out of your way to casually connect with people in class (Everyone is nervous, nobody will think you're weird for saying hello or making a joke - When I was lacking in social skills humor always helped me connect to people), and try to figure out what you want to do with your life (It may take years, and you may have no idea at first, but you'll eventually at least come up with something that will work for you, that's all you need). All of these things can do wonders for your confidence, I had slim to zero confidence for almost all of my childhood and that stopped me from even trying most things. Life will not come to you, you need to push yourself to go out into the world; even though it may seem impossible or pointless now.	Nobody, Weird, Zero	Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/452	0.885

Qopel it's not blowing wind up your skirt either. If you think you're unique then that is the problem. This is why we have this stupid transgender crap and multiple genders. Youngster have too much time on their hands trying to be different. Reality check, you are not different, your just like everyone else only you refuse to believe it because you've been told you're special.. Well maybe you are and there's a big yellow bus just for you to go to special education school.Nuff Said	Transgender, Yellow	Ethnicity - Asian (East-China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam), Nationality - Chinese, Nationality - Japanese, Sexual Identity - Transexuality	4/87	4.598
justunicorn001 First off there is never "Nuff said". 2nd Everyone is unique, even identical twins. 3rd. The word is "you're" not "your" (when you wrote, "your just like everyone else"). 4th Nobody is perfect, but by the way you use grammar, maybe you should consider one of those big yellow busses.	Nobody, Yellow	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Asian (East-China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam), Nationality - Chinese, Nationality - Japanese	4/52	7.692
Qopel thank you for agreeing with me since you can't come up with anything better than one grammatical error. When it comes to life, work and your attitude towards these things. YOU'RE nothing SPECIAL and BTW, you left the capital S off Said. Thanks for not proofreading same as me, you're nothing special in editing either.Nuff Said	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/58	3.448

PokeMultiverse does anyone read anymore or are they all in little echo chambers telling each other what they want to hear? Another criticism of society! Schooling has gone from education to indoctrination with a decidedly left slant to it. This whole thread was started about not giving children unrealistic values of themselves. The, you get a ribbon just for competing is stupid and destructive to helping someone to achieve in life. If you came last or anywhere near last, you failed end of story. Competition only recognises those who put in the effort and come in the top half dozen, depending on what is being competed for.To tell a child that he deserves recognition because he competed is a brain dead idea, then you may as well give everyone a medal because when it was the race to the egg, everyone was a winner, well except those unfortunate little bugger born to baby killing abortionist mothers, then they got short-sheeted and scratched out of the race after they finished.I haven't been hurt as you surmise in your post, not in any kind of way your post seems to indicate. I am getting close to the end of my life and thankfully it will be all over for me, lights out, no more cares or worries. (Oblivion) Maybe I should be callous enough not to care what all these feminists, SJW and leftists are doing to the society that WAS the best in the world. However I do care for my children and grandchildren and their children. Everyone criticises western civilisation and its morals. Well hallelujah to that. If it weren't for the capitalist and the judo-Christian democratic values these little cry baby trans-mutants wouldn't be here able to infest society with their stupid PC culture.What I take offence to, is some little turd being able to dictate how I can speak, what I can and can't say, all the while living off society and my taxes. These fruitcakes are killing society to get some resemblance of notoriety for themselves to keep up the notion that they are SPECIAL. These halfwits who were told as kiddies that they deserve recognition for participating have too much time on their hands. Get out in the real world and get a good dose of mother nature's reality check. In the large scheme of things, NO, you absolutely don't mean f&k all in the grand scheme of things. Mother nature is a good teacher. She teaches humility and self reliance, and that only the strong survive. She has been handing out this lesson for the last 3.5 billion years. She teaches that to get anywhere in life you have to WORK damn hard and there are no free rides and there is no guarantees. You have to put your time in to get any recognition. Ribbons aren't handed out willy nilly just because you showed up.To mother nature, man is insignificant, we have been around for what, 200,000 years. That pales in face of the dinosaurs 165, 000,000 years and look what happened to them. We haven't even got out of the starting gate, compared to them. So in light of that, man himself is but a blip out reality, so what does it mean for these little snowflakes that can't seem except the they can't change other peoples perception of themselves? It means they need to stay in their little echo chamber safe spaces and let the rest of us get on with living.When someone (you hurt my feelings) idiot advocates that I will be jailed because I refuse to use their pronouns and buy into their psychoses that they want to be a different made up gender to everyone else so they can feel SPECIAL is when I take	Gender, Race, Slant	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General, Nationality - Chinese	4/712	0.562
---	---------------------	--	-------	-------

justunicorn001 no, I agree. Participation medals are ridiculous and you shouldnt be rewarded without hard work and effort. That being said, my only point was the way it's phrased to a child can have negative outcomes. I assume you'd want the best for your child; for them to grow up strong, independent, and capable. Phrasing things in a way that make them believe there is no point in trying because they will never be the best doesnt help them. It's "do better next time" rather than "You're never going to be the best anyway". In the large scheme of things, yeah i agree, we are dust on a giant rock in a vast nothingness. Our lives mean nothing in terms of philosophy. That doesnt mean we arent unique. I suppose it's just based on what you choose to define being unique as though. 1st amendment means you have the right to speak your mind and no matter how harmful or toxic it may be, I agree it's important not to infringe on that right. Being an open minded individual means trying to understand viewpoints and ideologies one may even believe morally incorrect or rude.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/194	0.515
--	---------	---------------------	-------	-------

PokeMultiverse I never said that you should tell your children and I quote, "you will never be the best at anything." That was BlankoPie that said that, I was just qualifying the basic premise that rewarding failure was inherently stupid. I did say that you are nothing special in the grand scheme of things.To qualify this statement... I grew up before the computer revolution. I had 4 friends at most in my circle. Everyone of the friends were unique to the rest of us. We felt like we were special because we never came across anyone with a similar personality trait. However this is a rather small cross section of the populous unlike today.The children of today brag how many friends they have, however 99 are on twitter, facebook and so on and they have never really met these people. Hundreds if not thousands and when you take that demographics you become a stick in a bundle and no longer unique. These people brag about their achievements to make themselves look important. In my day we couldn't lie as to our achievements because they could be checked so easily, unlike the anonymity of the internet.So how do they counteract this phenomenon? They sit in their bedrooms finding some way to make themselves different. Ohh I know, some bloke says he's female, because there aren't too many of them around. Ohh I'm non-binary, changing definitions to justify their own psychosis. And I'm not talking about the regular people who suffer from gender dysphoria, they at least agree that there is only two genders. No, I'm talking about the attention seekers needing validation since getting out of school and not getting their yellow ribbons anymore.I have three children all with families of their own now. Two boys and one girl. To the boys I said that they could do anything they wanted if they applied themselves to the task. I also told them that for every decision there were consequences. So to make the best decision they could on available information. I made sure they were thinking and industrious individuals and yes, sometimes they disagree with me and I applaud them for it as long as they have done their homework and not just spewed forth some rhetoric that others have tried to force down their throats.To my daughter I gave basically the same talk with one proviso. Make sure she knows what it is she actually wants out of life before setting her course down a road there's was little or no coming back from. I.E. Career or motherhood. I told her that feminism says you can have it all and that is a bald face lie. Children suffer from one parent homes and specially if the one parent left is working most of the time to make ends meet. How on earth anyone say they can be both mother and father to their children speaks volumes to the selfish self adsorbed narcissistic mentality of the feminist mind. So what did she do, she compromised, she went into a career that she could transfer into family life. She's a graphics designer and works in IT. So when she got married, she left her job to become a mother to three children (two girls and a boy)(Yes she fully except the premise that she is responsible for the pay gap) to started her home based Graphics business. She is an excellent mother first and foremost as well as doing very well in her business she manages on the side. You noticed the her family comes first and the business comes second.She told me that I was right, that she doesn't	Bald, Gender, Nothing, Yellow	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Asian (East- China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam), Gender - General, Nationality - Chinese, Nationality - Japanese, Physical Identity - Physical Features	6/632	0.949
--	-------------------------------	--	-------	-------

Snowframe no debt? No woman down your neck? your life sounds amazing to me.	Woman	Gender - General	1/14	7.143
It's no fault of their own they're wonderful beautiful fantastic kids but it's no fault of their own nothing is your fault and nothing ever will be there fault . What a bunch a liberal crap can't they just be spoiled bastard with horrible parents that have to try a lot harder . every other generation had to do it ,every other generation had to overcome the obstacles that were put before their lives whether it' was war lack of food dictators persecution slavery economic depression gangs drugs you name it , things are always different for each generation but it's there burden they must carry there load . This whole speech really tells me one thing this is why we have liberal progressive Democrats that's all I see happening here this has been a plan of the lNew World order since the early 20th century again this is why we have liberals they are created ,you don't see Christian's acting this way.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/163	1.227
I know a 23 year old that 3 divisions are fighting over. This person is all about work, not social media. This person produces and is well respected, puts in LOOOOONNNNNGGGGGG hours. It is not society. It is the individual. There is NO SUCH THING AS A MILLENNIAL!	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/48	2.083

Folk can bitch and argue and point fingers but the fact remains this: Millennial are miserable as fuck. Never used to be that way. What has changed and start changing it back until the issue is resolved. People not seeing an issue are willingly blind and not liking the solutions does not make the solutions un viable. Seriously folks! look around These kids not only don't care about others farther than they can throw them, they hate themselves also. You add the victim hood being taught wholesale in school and you have tragedies destroying and taking lives. Why are there so many mass shootings? I BLAME SCHOOLS!!!!!! Schools are creating narcissists with victim hood complexes. They are promoting closed group ideology and segregation and safe spaces to feed and build closed minded extremism. Every single mass shooting regardless of the exact reason or targets always comes down to a unremorseful narcissist on their own individual SJW cause Trying to make a statement. Oh I won't argue that the adult world and political environment is very mean and argumentative. But a well balanced person doesn't go on a killing spree they never or very very rarely did before. This change is all coming from home and the education system. Poor guidance and education all the time followed by no guidance and isolation when things come to a head. Folks are correctly blaming mental health but they are totally ignoring how a teen became and unremorseful narcissist. Most of this is being taught by extremist teachers trying to influence tomorrows world by programming kids while creating the narcissism and the victim hood complex to create distrust and necessary to prevent any kind of update of information or even change of mind. You don't see educational debate of ideas any longer. It's personal and it's a screaming match. Don't agree then your an ist or an obe of some type. Kids aren't going into school this way but this is how they are coming out. The education system by large is not teaching kids to think for themselves or debate their ideas, It's programming extremism and closed minds. Try and debate a contentious subject with a high school or university student and you will actually see an immediate fight or flight response to words. They have been brainwashed to believe that words they don't agree with are a violent physical assault you must physically fight or physically run from immediately. How much more has to be shown to prove that extreme Narcissism is very literally being programmed in school?	Blind, Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/426	0.469
--	---------------	---	-------	-------

Jay Russell she had run away because she felt that our rules and values were out of touch , and some idiot got her into smoking , pot and then shoplifting to support her pot etc. she was told at 14 she could get youth allowance if her parents kicked her out of home . My wife and I are anti drugs and smoking so that didnt work for her. We let her know we were there for her if she needed help , if she needed clothing , or shoes , school stuff etc , but every time social services called we told them that we never kicked her out and she could come home any time she wanted , end result was she couldnt get living away from home allowance . That didnt go down well with her friends mother where she was staying so she got kicked out. so at 16 she was living with this 17 yearold boy and his mother (who was a youth councilor) and as it happens she got pregnant . We didnt find out for two months , and our daughter reached out to my wife because she felt scared about having an abortion and she wanted to keep her child . Both he and his mother tried to get my daughter to abort the child saying it was for the best etc. He was the most overbearing and controlling person you could ever meet , and he could smile while lying through his teeth . When my daughter came to visit us , she really came to borrow money but we knew that and we were just happy to keep the door open so that she could come back if she chose to do so, he came over a few times and we did our best to be cordial to him as he was to be child's father . It was about this time when we started to purchase baby items like a cot , change table that he started to stop letting her come over to visit alone , he had to be with her , he had to make the decisions on how their money was spent . usually on beer , cigarettes and pot(later she informed us he tried to get her to try ice while she was pregnant) , by this time my daughter had stopped smoking , drinking and was taking care of herself . I was aware of the boyfriends habbits by this time so the money stopped and we provided food instead . it came to a head at about the third month when we wanted to take my daughter shopping and he didnt want to stay home and look after his nieces and nephews because they were noisy and he had a hangover. I can see him standing in the doorway saying that my daughter was trash and she would never be anything etc etc. long story i know , a month later he had got back with his old girlfriend whom he already had a child with(we didnt know that) and a few more months after that they were pregnant again. It Took time and a lot of heartache , but my daughter came home and realized that we were not the horrible parents she thought we were all those years ago. Our grandson is the most wonderful little person and our lives are better because of him , if the father had his way there would be no little man in our lives . It would have been almost as bad if had to live in the house with that vile boy and his family . my daughter had to come home of her own accord , her choice , otherwise she would not have learned some very important life lessons and matured into a loving and caring mother she is today. i will stop ranting now .

Old

Age - Over 65s

1/659

0.152

Weird, because I'm seeing motherless children more than fatherless children. And these fathers are pushed away by the kids mom because they won't let them see their own kids. That's where you get fatherless children	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/35	2.857
they are characterless haters from lousy broken homes where most of them are mommy's children coz Dad was dumped coz he didn't bring enough bacon. No purpose other than looking cool and talking tough lol, yet don't have the strength to accomplish anything. I love them all to bits coz at 62 I will always be in demand and they make me look great at work. they are clueless and have zero imagination or natural ability lol you just got to love 'em. thanks crapp parents keep up the Gr8 job. I have seen burst into tears at the slightest hint of responsibility and throw obscenities at the nearest person. without doubt they are the most useless trash I've ever witnessed and most of them have degreesin some amazingly ridicules topic sold to them by some fake business masquerading as a university. like I said keep up the good work I need the money lol.....	Zero	Age - Youngsters	1/156	0.641
This was Masterful until 12:30 when he went off the rails.Well-crafted regardless.There is no rescuing these freaks though.Grind them into hamburger and feed to the pigs .And the suicides will handle it too...	PIGS	Nationality - Southern European	1/36	2.778
Tom Winters agreed here as well. I work very hard for where i am today. That said i haven't gone to higher education. I make more then most of my other co-workers, and still have to have roommates to have clean water and a roof over my head. It's crazy , my dad at this point working like me had his own house before he was 24. I'm 29 still no where near having a house due the cost of living.	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/80	1.25

You know, I struggle with this notion as well. I think a lot of it made great sense until this part. – He said "it's the corporation who is focused on the short term gains vs. the long term, lifetime of the person or the company...It's the company's responsibility to now teach you the skills you weren't taught." And I think that's utterly false and inhumane to let someone believe that they lack the agency to do things themselves. He puts the responsibility on the company to teach people and it's the responsibility of the individual to learn or get left behind, as you said.He uses the analogy of climbing a mountain and gives the impression that climbing a mountain takes like, decades or something. Like it takes a long time. It takes, on average, 4 days to climb to the summit of Everest from Base Camp after you've gotten acclimated. The fastest to ever do it, without supplemental oxygen, from Base Camp did it in 16 hours and 45 min. – 17 hours is the fastest without oxygen vs. 96 hours is the average with all the bells and whistles. How average do you want to be at your job and how average should you allow your employees to be as a company? For how long do we let that go on?Average doesn't get you the big bonuses you're demanding at the end of the year. Average doesn't get you constant raises in your Annual Review Packet. Average doesn't get you the promotion that you felt entitled to. Average doesn't leave you with overall work satisfaction of a job well done. Average leaves you at the same place if not worse because everyone else is growing and improving but you. And that had nothing to do with your boss or your company making you feel the way you do. It was your own fault for not raising your own personal standards. Period.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/325	0.308
I was born in 1985 and growing up we were told we could do anything, but not because we wanted it. You had to "work really hard for it". Which is clearly a bunch of bullshit, but most people my age don't expect handouts. This dude is confusing Gen Z for Millennials.	Age	Age - General	1/52	1.923
Honestly as millennial there is so much hate or I guess bad toward our generation. But that's because we live in a fast pace era now that is more noticeable and information and data gets out there quickly. So a millennial is basically anyone in there 20s to early 30s which makes sense tell me any generation that during that age group where doing great no all older generation would say that they were lazy and what not. It's just more noticeable now that's the only difference sure different times but same shit. Just we are more conscious about it now than ever before.	Age	Age - General	1/104	0.962
millennials are worthless, lazy, have to have things done for them, live in the world of there smart phones, there idea of work is showing up and doing nothing for 8 hours , god help our country in the coming years	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/41	2.439

I see it like this. Used to be that moms stayed home with their kids, took care of the household things. People lived in modest houses and drove modest cars. Usually owned one car per family. Everybody was happy and moms took care of their kids, not shopping them to a babysitter or daycare. Then moms slowly decided, hey if I get a job, we can have more stuff. Bigger house, 2 cars, fancier things. At the expense of the family unit. So corporate America caught on and started charging more for said fancier things cause people were willing to pay for them. I remember when a microwave or TV cost five times more than what they cost today. Then all of a sudden, we started shipping jobs out of country for cheaper labor. Things got cheaper, but good jobs lost and wages went down. But people still had to have the finer things to show off to neighbors and friends. That's why people are head over heels in debt. You see teens driving new cars, wearing expensive clothes, and having all the newest gadgets. Gawd forbid Mom and Dad not have a mcmansion, have a couple new $40,000 cars in the garage, and kids wearing clothes from Walmart. Kids forced into all kinds of after school activities. No family time cause everybody is too busy. My hubby and I decided that our kids were OUR kids. I stayed home to raise them, we had cooked meals every night just about, the house stayed in order, everybody was happy. We went nowhere without our kids. We have a modest fixer upper with a few acres in the country. Nothing fancy, and drive cheap vehicles. My kids are in their 30's. Responsible, hard working adults. And even now, I have people ask me how I raised such wonderful adults. So I think if we went back to the not wanting the biggest and best, and raising our own, quit worrying about keeping up with the Jones', life would get easier and everybody would be happier.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/344	0.291
A few Acres in the country? I have a home on .1 acre and it cost me a quarter of a million Dollars. I paid it off this year and will be moving, why? My millinniel BLACK neighbor pays nothing b/c she's on Sec 8. Fuck these thug peeps who have never worked or don't ever plan to but keep gettn g free stuff. This is off topic but is relevant. welfare Millnneals SUCK cox in HELL	Black, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black	2/76	2.632

Gwen Marlow Thats bullshit! Me and my wife both work a 40 hour week each and juggle looking after our children between ourselves (She works in the day and I work in the evening) We do this because we couldn't afford to survive on just one wage! We don't have the latest things, our cars are old , my phones old , we don't wear designer clothes, we don't go out socializing! our house is tiny and generally the style of house that people rent out to others! Not a house that people buy to live in themselves! We don't both work our arses off to have more stuff, were both working our arses off to live a poor mediocre life! For the record i was born in 1982 and my wife 1980...I don't even know what generation that makes me but I am definatly not entitled!	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/145	1.379
Mika Flores I know it is. But to put the blame on men or women for anything is wrong. I'm balancing it out and showing how absurd it sounds. I am reversing the statement that it's all men's fault and saying it's womens fault while using 0 evidence that it is. Sounds dumb huh, same way feminists say it's all on straight white men. Both alt left and alt right are cancer.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/72	1.389
We used to be a culture that cared about succeeding, and now we're a culture that cares about winning. My experience is that these older woman get married and work a career and knit-pick at me who relies on a job for an income, and call me "entitled" and leave passive aggressive notes about how "your mom doesn't live here" when they leave their own shit out.	Woman	Gender - General	1/67	1.493
PatapuffupataP there's only so much stuff to go around. if you get all the stuff, the cutest husband, the best job, all the money, some other chick gets none of these things. limited supply. jobs are a thing of limited supply, and you can watch people talk about it in old videos, "I'm 75, it's time for me to retire and give the younger men a chance". People used to be conscious about that sort of thing, now everyone's showing off all their spoils of winning against other people. the thought doesn't even cross their minds.	Chick, Old	Age - Over 65s, Gender - General	2/96	2.083

Gwen Marlow You actually got it in reverse. Women started working because they had to, the inflation of the cost of living coinciding with the closing of industry and drop in wages couldn't realistically allow for there to be an adult in the house not generating money. The society and the finance that run it have dictated what you're saying, not people's greed. A lot of Americans were content with where they were at economically contrary to popular belief. These notions of over consumerism fueling the gradual economic downfall is pushed by those captains of industry who don't want to be held accountable for their greed. The average store chain can raise the price of their products by one cent in order to pay all their workers a living wage. The problem is that it's always for the common man to give up his amenities and what he needs so that people who will always be financially secure can hoard the luxuries they have.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/164	0.61
No, that is not what I am saying. I am a working woman . But, when our kids were small, my husband and I decided that one of us should stay home. We had a bad experience with a babysitter that scared the shit out of us and opened our eyes. So, I made the lesser income, I stayed home. We lived very frugally, older vehicles, modest older house, very few frills. But what was odd, we were much more happier and less stressed. Now, after the kids are grown, my hubby retired and I am out in the working world. And all is good. Not rich by no means. But still happy.	Woman	Gender - General	1/112	0.893
Dog Momma I see. It makes sense that the parent with the smaller income will stay at home, yet what if the one with the smaller income is also the one loving their job, or having ambitions? Or is ambition something only men are expected to have? And what about gender salary gap? If women are the ones consistently making less, of course they'll be expected to stay at home. We still think that parenting is primarily a woman's job because it's the woman who brings the children to life. We still base our choices on social expectations and norms. That works for some, for others it's oppression. It's just unfair.	Gender, Woman	Gender - General	2/111	1.802

It is up to the couple who stays home and who goes to work. In my case, made less money and did not particularly like my job. The company I worked for went under not too long after I quit anyways. What I am saying, you make your own choices. But ask anybody who is older. It has become increasingly harder for low or middle income people to make that choice. Used to be one person could stay home. Heck, my Dad was the one that was home the majority of my childhood. We were probably considered lower class then, but happy. I am one who kind of had the thinking that if you have kids, you should be the ones raising them. Not paying a babysitter or daycare half your wages to raise them. If you dont want kids fine. It's your choice! But you know as well as I do, it is harder and harder to make ends meet. It is getting to become less of an option for people not to work and stay home and raise a family, if that is what they would like to do. I am not making this a man vs. woman issue. It is a your choice is being taken away from you issue. It is a everybody needs to work these days to make ends meet, issue. What are we going to do when even 2 incomes are not enough, even if you live frugally? It is becoming less of an option for either parent to stay home if you do wish to have children. Sorry I came across as man vs. woman. Not what I intended.	Woman	Gender - General	2/277	0.722
what a bunch f idiot! You sinek are you jew? you lie in the title this works for you? so actually what you say they are not weak well I disagree,,but anyway you are more LEFTIST then DUMB or DUMBER	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/40	2.5
Glad we raised our kids right. No millennial horse dung, just hard work and no expectations that someone is going to give you anything. First son is touring musician. It's his passion and he's damn good at it. Album ready to drop next month. Second son is supervisor at UPS. Was promoted after 2 years and his area is 1 in the nation. Daughter is junior in college. Will be getting masters degree when done. Degree is in Psychology. Works 3 jobs on campus for her spending money and is manager in two of them. No bullshit. Told them to take what they like to do and figure out how to make a living at it. They've all done that on their own and they're all happy, well adjusted and, most importantly, proud of their accomplishments. My wife and I are very proud of them. They did this on their own and we were there to answer questions. We did not impose our will on them to get into a certain area of work or study. That was their choice and we just supported them 100.	Nation	Nationality - General	1/186	0.538

Mary Jane are you blind or something?	Blind	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/7	14.286
Barney Fike ... yep, I hear ya! It's so easy to lump all millennials into the same negative stereotype. There are exceptions to that stereotype. The wife and I are both in our early 60s. Our son....our one and only child.....is 29 and his wife, our daughter-inlaw is the same age29. Our son worked his way through college and grad school without ANY financial assistance from my wife and I. He has a Masters in Finance from a very respectable university and is currently an assistant manager and investment banker for a branch of one of the largest....and most well known.....banks in the world. Our daughter inlaw has her masters in education and is a high school English teacher. Goes without saying that neither of them are "entitled millenials". They both worked their asses off to get where they are today. The wife and I are very proud of both of them!	Age, Lump	Age - General, Physical Identity - Physical Features	2/152	1.316
Max Power Start by deep-sixing this silly need to pigeonhole absolutely everything into one of two extreme categories. "I can't find a good job" is not a CONSERVATIVE OR LIBERAL problem, OR REPUBLICAN OR DEMOCRAT, or COKE OR PEPSI, or what have you, and it's certainly not a MILLENNIAL OR BOOMER issue. You'll find that most of the time, reality is very much closer to the middle than the extremes. The world is NOT that black and white, and 'clear decisions' are most often disguised as push button solutions to problems that are neither clear NOR simple.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/97	1.031
The younger generation was coddled , lets be blunt and honest here. My generation X was taught to exceed or fail its up to you, blunt but very brutally true. Millennials were not taught this , they got medals trophies just for showing up nothing more, previous generations were taught to win, either on the job or life. I think the young were robbed by public education, basically lied to , by being taught they were special and in real life they will learn very quickly they are not. The Millennials will get the clue quick or fail quick, like the old saying goes " Sink or Swim" well sadly the young were taught neither.	Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	2/115	1.739

Really, people need to start using their brains when it comes to dopamine and addiction. We can thank the pharmaceutical purveyors for this grand stretch of the concept and deception. Dopamine is essential to euphoria, it is essential to self-sacrifice, it is essential to every humane act that fulfills our sense of purpose and accomplishment. Its not a numbing chemical—quite the opposite. It by definition is a neurotransmitter. But addictive drugs interfere with its natural and normal function, and it is the dependency on those drugs that is the source of addiction. In the very "good-old-days" when Psychiatry was commonly held as quackery, addiction was strictly external chemical dependency. It did not include what was then considered bad habits. And in those days the was a lot of talk about the development of good habits, rather than bad, as the path to developing good character. Its not the alleged "dopamine high" of using technical devices that's causing the asocial behavior. Its that they were never modeled effective social behavior.Dr Kyle Pruett explicitly addressed this in his book, The Nurturing Father (a synthesis of tracking over a decade the effects of father nurturing on children from birth):"... Ross Parke, examining children over the first eight weeks of life, has found that the more fathers were involved in the everyday repetitive (even boring) aspects of care, such as bathing, feeding, dressing, and diapering, the more socially responsive the babies were. In addition, Parke also found such babies were able to withstand stressful situations better."Its not the technology. Its not the normal brain functions. Its fathers being marginalized, morally and socially castrated in the media and Feminism. Its fathers who have been so burdened by Rockefeller-driven economics they have minimal influence in their children's lives ESPECIALLY in the arena of education and self-discipline required as its pre-requisite.Pruett continues:"In the traditional family, father has always been acknowledged to play two vital roles in the lives of his children. First, he helps his offspring develop a sense of their own competence and independence outside the powerful intimacy of the mother/child couple. Second, he contributes powerfully to the sexual identity formation of his children."The majority of this social and intellectual competence, as well as gender identity is established in the first five years of life. All subsequent achievements, whether scholastic or otherwise are built on this, and those that get it are always developmentally ahead of those who only get it from their mothers.WHO IS IT IN THE FAMILY SETTING THAT ESTABLISHES THE BALANCE? A person who can't put away the cell phone when it is appropriate to do so has nothing to do with addiction!! It has to do with proper socialization skills, which these people never got, especially at the most developmentally crucial time.If a person wants to really understand what's going on with the social deficit of "millennials" (every generation suffers from it), you'll have to find credible explanations elsewhere.	Gender, Nothing, Sexual	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	3/495	0.606
--	-------------------------	---	-------	-------

Haha, what a bunch of shit. Ever even heard of ageism ? Some people are stupid. Some people are lazy. Some people are insert arbitrary trait. And so it has always been.The only difference between now and 50 years ago, is that it's a lot harder to succeed with low means now. My parents had it much easier getting established in the job and house market than my generation.Kids these days... They suck. Said every generation, ever.	Ageism	Age - General	1/78	1.282
'1984 and after' wrong, it's actually 1984-1995. The youngest millennials are 24 years old . If you're going to act like you know what you're talking about then you should actually know what you're talking about. I'm 21. You act like you have some sort of intelligence but that information is available to be googled within 5 seconds. Also applying internet addiction to a whole generation is ignorant as fuck, especially when you frame it as that generations problem. Fuck if I had problems this simple.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/85	1.176
You are missing the point.Humans are dumb in general. The generations before were not any better if you think again about it.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/23	4.348
He had me until the dopamine part. Sex releases dopamine. Kissing releases dopamine. Cuddling releases dopamine. Petting an animal releases dopamine. Literally google it. Dopamine is literally released in so many random things it's not that big of a deal.	Sex	Gender - General	1/40	2.5
Baby Boomers fucked everything up Jesus Christ are you serious so quick to sell off grandma and grandpas house soon as they kick the bucket the old people left them everything then they left us nothing	Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	2/36	5.556
In my country people are working all day long for almost nothing , and because the businesses don't have money to hire more people, the 5 people working there are told lazy because they don't have time to do the work that was supposed to be done by 20 people.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/49	2.041
I guess you STILL have to say "NOT ALL" for ppl not to take shit so personally. SmdhIf it has nothing to do with you, why get so offensive. It should already be commin sense that he doesn't mean every single millennial. You're really proving his point to all the ppl saying "NOT ME, OMG!!!"	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/56	1.786
It's NOT the company's responsibility.... this guy is dumb . They were dealt a bad hand? Than play it. Personal responsibility. Many kids, all through time, were dealt a "bad hand". It never was, and it is not now, anyone else's responsibility to teach these kids anything... Sink or swim, a-holes. That is what every other generation has had to do. This is pathetic pandering. ...the animation was good.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/68	1.471

I was born in 1985. None of this applies to me. I don't like talking on my phone. I don't like drinking. I don't want instant gratification I just want gratification. I didn't have an alternative up bringing. Participation trophies are stupid. I'm not lazy, I'm disinterested. I'll tell you why most millennials are supposedly lazy. Because we're woke and the sheeple of yester year can't admit they we're used so they demean the next generation by calling them lazy. We know they're just using us to make money. We know they're just trying to sell us some bullshit. We know they're being disingenuous. We know they're making bank off our hard work and we see a meer pittance. We're aware of the race baiting and gender politics. We're aware that they've lied in the past and will continue to lie so long as it benefits them. Unions exist because business isn't trust worthy. Why should I give you two weeks notice I'm quitting? Are you going to give me two weeks notice you're going to fire me? Fuck no. I'm not even given eight hours between shifts for sleep sometimes. Business treats people like fucking slaves and expects them to move to their every whim.. Millennials aren't lazy, they're aware that you're full of shit and you're just using them. You're running a game and we're not interested in playing with a cheater.	Gender, Race	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	2/234	0.855
prolet kult you are right, he does sound a little entitled. But he is also somewhat right, the institutions have been bought out and merely prepare kids to be obedient employees. Kids are brainwashed in our educational system and the corporations are fucking us over. But that's life you gotta man up and work hard and work your way up and build experience, take action and learn/gather information everywhere. Don't shift the blame/responsibilities for your duties in your career/health/relationship. You don't NEED a degree/job, thats a belief system. Successfully entrepreneurs played the game and didn't let the game play them. Working a job is better than sitting around complaining about the world and what you know about how dirty it is yet you do nothing to fix it???	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/128	0.781
Started out well, then you jump to a dumb conclusion	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/10	10.0

We're the ones who are very conscious about the environment destroyed by the previous generation. We're the ones who are more accepting of diversity and sexual orientations, we certainly don't put people in prison for being gay ... or segregate blacks from white. We're the ones who are extremely stressed trying to survive in this fucked up economy destroyed by the previous generations. We're the ones trying to fix their mistakes. We're the ones making relevant content and topics mainstream, no longer is sexual assault and abuse something you talk behind closed doors.It does warm my heart when the Gen Z and Gen Alpha kids see diversity and couples of the same sex as the norm, it's something us Millennials worked hard for, equality and acceptance. These new generations creativity is absolutely limitless, with the foundations set by Gen Y, the next generations will hopefully advance the world to greater heights.	Gay, Sex, Sexual	Gender - General, Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	5/151	3.311
can you really just rip someone else speech and have it with doodles? pretty sure this is Coach Red Pill red phils talking...	Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	4/23	17.391
Really? How do you figure that genX.....(you....if your now 44 yrs old) Had it "so much better", that we and previous generations - your words...like children of the of 60's and 70's (the Vietnam. & "hippie" generations) had is "so much better" than Millennial's.....I too am 44yrs oldand I totally, completely disagree.This video is SPOT ON. The Millennial Gen is downright scary.Nicely put - they are actually....legitimately delusional....they have no sense of real effort, sacrifice, humility and resilience.....Bluntly put - they are a generation of entitled, bratty pussies.	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/92	2.174
Karen1963Yorks Yes, you lived through an economic boom, job security and now will enjoy generous benefits into old age in your state subsidized property. You must wish you were a millenial.	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	2/31	6.452

Archvaldor's Warcraft Hacks Well, Im 45 and I partial disagree with you. Sure there are entitled folks from every generation. And there are a ton of millennials who are NOT entitled. But to say it is "stupidly offensive"? Yeah, I see you have drank the kool-aid. In no other generation are entitled persons more prevalent than the millennials. They dont allow free speech, they are hurt by "facts", they spew all sorts of stats ("All whites are racist") and when you ask them for empirical data or scientific studies to back up the claims, you are called.... well...racist.Go ahead - ask a millennial why they anted to vote for Hillary - not a SINGLE one can tell you her stance, platform, or values. They simply wanted her cause she is a woman. Nothing wrong with a female president, but why not vote for one who shares the same values you believe in? And shouldnt you at least know what theirs is?My favorite trick to do to a millennial is I ask "Hey, what do you think about Pence as Hillary's VP choice?" and I so enjoy how they will talk about how they love Pence, that Hillary picked a good VP, etc. And they have no clue why Im laughing... or who the hell Tim Kaine is.They allow free speech...but only if THEY agree with what you are saying. They want things handed to them without working for it. And if you say you dont like something, and you list legitimate reasons why, well you are "racist" "sexist" "bigoted" even though they can list the same reasons they dont like something.Like I said, there are some in every generation, and not all millenials are like that, but its patently ignorant to say it doesnt exist. Oh, and I loved the part where you said they "have it worse off" than most. Tell that to those who had no A/c, or electricity growing up...	Nothing, Racist, Woman	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	5/329	1.52
--	------------------------	--	-------	------

jasper wylin I think all generations had good and bad. I think it is ignorant to say one generation had it easier than another, or that one generation ruined it for another. Each had +’s and -’s. Are you really gonna tell me that you had it worse cause you started working in 2008 vs. those who already were working??? Hey dickbreath - try buying a house for $120k, and then in 2008 the banks say ”you know what, we arent gonna honor our deal but you have to honor yours - you STILL have to pay your mortgage on 120k, even tho your house is now only worth 50.” Yeah that was fun.Oh and the beauty - try being white and getting a loan ”Fuck you you are racist white and rich you dont need money” while others who can work, but dont want to, get welfare pay with EBT cards, all the while pulling out wads of cash to buy alcohol, and hop into cars with rims more than your salary. I loved hearing that ”we have enough white people” in a job interview. Can you imagine the fucking outrage if someone told a black candidate ”sorry, we got enough blacks working here” There would be lawsuits galore and it would be on CNN every 30 seconds.You started work in 2008? Big deal you had nothing. Try already having things, then having it ripped from you! I would have rather started with nothing, then busted my ass and have it taken from me not for something that I did, but for what the greedy banks and corporations did.I dont mind losing shit if its because I was gluttonous, or did something foolish. But when you do the right thing, only to get horse fucked by government and big banks - then losing your job to people who cant even fucking read ?!?! I LOVED going into a job, scoring a 99 on the test, but then someone scored a 68 - they got the job because I wasnt ”diverse enough”.So I dont fucking want to hear how good I had it. You and I both had good things, as well as bad things, they just may have been different. You are gonna realize that degree in Transgender Restroom Management or Lesbian Dance Theory was a waste and when you realize how the real world works vs. how it SHOULD work, your eyes will become open.	Black, Lesbian, Nothing, Racist, Transgender, alcohol	Age - Youngsters, Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Sexual Identity - Female homosexuality, Sexual Identity - Transexuality	7/411	1.703
--	--	---	--------------	--------------

jasper wylin I apologize and will stop wiith the name calling. TLDR: Yes I kept my house lost jobs got jobs, eventually came out ahead, but it was not "easy" and we didnt "have it so great" but you can read below on that it wasnt as great as you think it was for anyone during that time. Or you can skip to the bottom where I wish you good holidays and new year! :) But I encourage you to read below (I know its long, sorry) and maybe you will understand why I took offense to your "To say you didnt have it easy is a blunt lie" comment. It wasn't easy, buddy. Nothing is easy for anyone.Yeah, you are misunderstanding me, and lecturing me for no reason " You hold onto your house " Uh, yeah I did. Initially I lost TONS of money and my credit went from the 900's to 300's cause of how I payed my bills. But I DID pay ALL my bills and ALL of my debt. I could have easily declared bankruptcy (this was right before the law changed) but I did not. I mann'ed up. I DID hold onto my house, grabbed any job I could (those that actually would hire white people - you see, we are all racist and are rich, apparently (see next paragraph)) and made the outrageous payments. I did hold onto it, the economy recovered, and I made $56k profit back when I sold it. So thanks for the lecture, but I already did that.I dont know how it is for you, but for me, companies have to "Diversify" because not only is it law, but they also get kick backs and bonuses. So high performing individuals were laid off and "Affirmatively" worse ones were hired or kept because, well, CNN isnt going to interview an unemployed white guy. My wife was on the receiving end because she had to lay off top performers and hold onto to the shitty employees because HR told her they "Didnt want any problems". Im all about diversity but Im also about hiring talented diversity. Hopefully, it has gotten better for you guys.So, during that time I would get laid off (not fired) and I came close to foreclosure a couple of times. But at the last minute a contract job would come up, and I would take it. I took any job I could. I didnt care; I wanted to work. But I was blessed and more fortunate than most. I would not have been able to hold onto my house if I didnt get a job. Or if I had a job that paid $6/hr. Im not beneath mopping toilets, man, I did that to put me thru high school and college (no, mommy and daddy didnt pay - I wanted to make my own way). But working 100 hours a week overtime, one cant afford the cheapest car or apartment or food at $6/hr. So I hate it when economists get on TV and say "All americans are lazy". Uh, no, you cant feed a family on 6/hr. And before you lecture me further, no I DIDNT live beyond my means. I lived VERY modestly just for such an occasion, and THAT is what saved my ass. Me planning ahead - not because "I had it so great". So, I am "telling it like it is". You just dont want to believe it cause you think I had it so great. I could care less if you believe me or not. Im simply stating my opinion like you did - that not 1 generation is better or worse or had it better or worse than another. Somethings are relative. You struggled, I struggled. You had good things, I had good things. Its called Life. All we can do, is do our best and hold on for the ride.Wishing you and yours a great holiday season and awesome new year!	Nothing, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	2/668	0.299
---	-----------------	--	-------	-------

jasper wylin If you had something, then lost it all, then had to work 10 x harder to get it all back... would you say you had it easier? You telling me you wouldnt complain? You are complaining that you couldnt find a job (which by the way, millions cant) and you think that you are entitled to complain and no one else is? Eventually I came out ahead, but had that not happened, I would have made TWICE as much.We had it easier LOL. Why are you complaining when you havent said 1 item that their generation had it easier than you. "Big deal, hold onto the house until the economy picks back up" Can you explain to me how folks can do that with ZERO income? How were they to pay their mortgage? I happened to get lucky, but MANY others werent. Whatever kiddo, you'll learn. I cant wait till you get laid off someday, Ill be right there saying "Suck it up, you'll find a job...eventually. Whoa whoa whoa, buddy, why you selling your house? Hold on to it dude, the economy will pick back up in 9 years" ROFL (That's how long it took mine, and it NEVER made it back to where it was)	Zero	Age - Youngsters	1/210	0.476
jasper wylin You are right - there is no talking to me since you cant list facts, and I gotta tell you: facts dont care about your feelings. We sat outside as well. As for cost, Ah, yeah, its a little thing called inflation. The cost of everything goes up every year. A Coke used to be 5 cents - so did they have it better? I say not because at the same time, they had the HIGHEST unemployment rate in the country. 2008 was the second highest, but came close to outdoing the crash of '29. Im not from the USA, by the way. Also, all banks are connected around the world, so everyone was hit equally, obviously with respect to banks. As far as your housing market, I have no idea. And unlike you, I dont speak about things I have no idea about.I dont care what every older person you ever spoke to says. We didnt have it easier than you. Every generation whines. Every generation had ups and downs. Period. If you want to think you had it bad and act like we didnt sit outside or we didnt have a hard time getting a job, well you can think that. Its a free country, and unlike some (including yours) I wont call the police, CNN, or try to kill you because your opinion differs from mine :) You may be 31 , but you act like you are 9 with your hurt feelings an inability to accept facts. Your last name should be "whine-lyn" LOL, sorry couldnt resist.And yes, the people that were in charge of causing or flat out ignoring the warning signs got ZERO punishment.	Zero	Age - Youngsters	1/284	0.352
You didnt lived thru it dickhead. You talk about others you know expirienced it. You got lucky. Your own words. We had to experience the same only you worked and buyed before crisis. When you had better buying power. The way you comment is childish. Sat with bunch of old people outside. Play some more games sad for 44y old guy.	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/61	3.279

Karen1963Yorks It was also having a housing market that was affordable and not crashing. Ability to own a home on minimum wage? Sign me the fuck up because you can't even survive on it now. P.S. I'm not on minimum wage before you get that idea. I decided to move abroad to start again and low and behold, I was able to build a decent life here in 8 months. 8 months, doing nothing different compared to a decade slaving away in the UK for nothing . But yeah, I guess it was my fault and not our failings as a country and how things are unfairly stacked against people these days	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/111	1.802
Spot on. They are childish to say the least. I cant believe either that they are this old . They are extremely deluded. Buying power demolished. Also if i look at tell his YouTube account his uploads are all videogames. Cmon thats just so sad. I'm 31 and my little toe knows more what up then his entire being.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/58	1.724

to get the true idea of which generation is lucky, just be someone who's born in-between two generations.. aka. someone who's born in the mid-1980s.. so they were born at the tail end of Generation X and the beginning of the Millennial Generation, and if you ask one of these individuals which generation has it easier or were lucky, they'd say the Millennial. The issue with Millennials, especially the ones born in the late 90s and 2000s looking back and attempting to judge and say the previous generations had it better is just because their only experience with it is from viewing it from the outside, reading about it through articles/book, or through rose-tinted glasses: only hearing about all the good stuff and only seeing those who were successful in life are talked about, as the majority who failed in life, aren't included in the history books, not discussed, etc. And the same goes with vice versa, previous generations attempting to judge millennial from outside without ever being apart of their culture or what makes them, them or just simply not understanding their interests/likes and reasons why they like or do what they do. So myself being born in the mid 80s, a child of essentially two generations gave me the unique perspective, and also having gone to college out of highschool, and later on in my early 30s, I personally have seen and experienced how the level of technology, level of education, etc has evolved overtime and had given the millennial generation imo a upperhand. For example I barely graduated highschool with algebra cause we had a shit education system back when i was attending school in the 90s and early 2000s. There was no such thing as STEM, no exit exams to ensure you leave highschool with some sort of required basic knowledge, no opportunities to get ahead in STEM type education, etc.. these days, so many highschoolers are graduating with higher levels of math and science and even some with some sort of engineering/technology/computer science courses under their belt (none of these were available to me as a high schooler in a major area, Los Angeles county). Plus technology gives the millennial generation a huge advantage.. essentially the entirety of human knowledge at their fingertips and the knowledge/experience to navigate it, so they have this virtually unlimited resource to write better papers, to watch videos, read articles, etc, to learn and educate themselves on various topics and of every subject, including difficult subjects such as math and science. Going to school in the 90s and before, you had none of this, sure you may have libraries.. but libraries wont help you with Calculus unlike tutorial videos can or any of the other thousands upon thousands of other tutorials all over the internet for virtually every subject, everything from elementary level to advanced PHD leveled tutorials/discussions. Previous generations had none of this wealth of information accessible at any time, any place from thousands upon thousands of sources. Regardless of this, the only main issue/negative I can see from my perspective is the newer Millennial Generation who were born approximately post 1995, grew up with this technology integrated into their lives and schooling, squander this opportunity in front of them (they take it for granted).. because they grew up with this wealth of information and knowledge right at their fingertips, literally right in their pocket (smartphone) or

Age, Nothing, Zero

Age - General,
Age -
Youngsters

3/1238

0.242

luck, learned under correct knowledge. no extraordinary luck at all. buck up millenials!!	Buck	Ethnicity - Black	1/13	7.692
Archvaldor's Warcraft Hacks Agreed. Paying somebody for their labor with nothing more than the opportunity to gain "experience" never sat right with me. I gained lots of work experience when I first joined the workforce and I got paid for it. I didn't get paid much, but that's how everybody starts out and then they work their way up.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/59	1.695
Wow. Offended. Lol snowflake	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/4	25.0
j w You seem like the type of guy who doesn't mind me talking about how much pussy I eat so check it out. I eat more pussy than a coyote let loose in the suburbs. I eat pussy more than your wife thinks about throwing out her ring. I eat so much pussy that Leonardo DiCaprio's about to do a documentary about pussy disappearing across the globe because I ate it all. I visited Japan back in the 80's and they invented pacman after they saw me eating pussy up and down the street. Lemme tell ya, I eat pussy like a pussy vampire awakening after an eight hundred year slumber only to realize they've built a fully staffed Nunnery around me. I powered a small town in Guadalupe for three weeks once just by eating pussy with an electrical lead attached to my jaw. They call me El Pusstolero whenever I go back there to yeah,you guessed it, eat pussy . I ate so much pussy once that I forgot to breathe, died, went to heaven and got kicked out for eating all the angel pussy . I woke up in the morgue and went straight to prison for what I did up in that bitch right after. I'm saying don't put me in a morgue you know what I'm about. Shit. Anyway I couldn't eat any pussy in jail so I just closed my eyes and pretended God DAMN do I love eating pussy ! If my boy Notch ever made a video game about eating pussy , and you took the highest score ever, I would still eat more pussy than that in real life. If there was an all you can eat pussy buffet, they would have to close down because of me.They call me ALF around the way because I'm always trying to eat that puss. If it was possible to actually drown in pussy , I would mutate to grow gills and become Aquaman. Only guy who's eaten more pussy than me is Michael Douglass but he's a Democrat so fuck him. Long story short, I eat more pussy than an incinerator at a PETA Kill Shelter. Bush did 9/11 I didn't watch this video.	pussy	Nationality - Chinese	20/367	5.45

Archvaldor's Warcraft Hacks Guess what? I scrimped and saved, and worked my butt off fixing an old dumpy house, selling it for a small profit, buying another dumpy house, working every single weekend fixing it up myself, and sold it for another small profit. I also commercial fished in Alaska for eight hard but fun seasons and made money up there. I worked as a grunt on construction sites humping plywood and mixing cement, I bussed and waited tables, and so on. I even volunteered for two years in the Peace Corps. Now, at 49, I have four homes that I rent, and small business that I started and run, and a beautiful family who I cherish. This all took WORK...but it was an exciting journey and so much fun! Was it easy? No. Was it challenging? Yes. Did it crush my ego to have to live in my van (not by choice, but out of necessity) while bussing tables to make ends meet? Yes, at times it did. Stop making excuses, stop being a victim, stop blaming the economic environment of the U.S. for your position. Guess what, millions still rush to the U.S. every year for the opportunities that exist here. If you can't make it in the U.S., then were do you think you COULD make it? Get in it. Start your life now. Don't wait, and don't listed to the people who tell you that you are a victim.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/243	0.412
Shit, we were born out of hippies and disco. I'm the same age as you and I recall my parents working quite hard to get ahead. I myself didn't exactly slack off when I got working in the early 90s.	Age	Age - General	1/40	2.5
Paul Googol ...huh? Dude, your all over the map here...so Im just gonna keep it simple because you have no idea of my income, my life work balance, how "skilled" I am or not...or any other person of my age group so??Anyway.....my simple and very honest and factual point is this - to claim that previous generations had it "easier" than the millennial generation is wrong. Period....it's simply not true. Economically, socially, etc.....the world was not overall an easier place and that largely depends and the hand you were dealt.... race , gender , intellect.....but mainly intellect (both mental and emotional).Paul....you appear to be randomly spewing some internal issue you have with the fact that you are a millenial and take offense to me pushing back on someone NOT VALIDATING that the world for your generations is...."so much harder" now than it has been for past Gens.....DEAL WITH IT.	Age, Gender, Mental, Race	Age - General, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/149	2.685
Dave S just google it. do I have to educate old folks? come fucking on.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/15	6.667

Paul Googolagain, huh? I am not "speaking for an entire generation", never said I was.....Paul....settle down and let this go buddy.....your off the rails and not even making sense.Just....have an open mind and take into account that experience....which only comes in time.....means a lot more than you probably even understand right now. You will think differently about just about everything as you age and gain more perspective.....it's called wisdom. If you could save everything you say and think now.....and look back at it 30 years from now you would probably cringe. I know I do when I look back at how I thought the world worked at that age	Age	Age - General	2/111	1.802
j w The old peeps are just so bitter that there may not be enough young folks to pay their pensions. When you are used to economic stability althrough your life it may hit you like a truck to think it may not be granted.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/45	2.222
Danny L. I do not remember using that phrase. In fact most of my comments have been pointing out that buying a house involves decades of hard work and saving. At least that is how I got mine. Perhaps you would have liked being me in my early 20s Working days on contract work and then nights cleaning offices again on short contracts. No equal pay or even minimum wage in those days . Sexual harassment was considered a perk of the job by most men then and there was no "safe space" provision. PS House prices crashed in 2007 and since then have only made up that loss in places like London.	Sexual	Gender - General	1/112	0.893
You must have led a charmed life then because im of an age and disagree completely. You are a very confused person and have very serious doubts about your age	Age	Age - General	2/30	6.667
1Noisycricket maybe if your skinny jean wearing metrosexual pencil necked sorry ass wasn't looking for someone to "give you all the answers" (more free shit) you would lean to be a man... stop being a victim , Pussy ...	Skinny, pussy	Nationality - Chinese, Physical Identity - Physical Features	2/38	5.263

I agree with what your saying but a lot of your points are not the cause... It the Person some are smart. some are average. some are just dumb .. and the others.. There is weak willed people who will be rewarded for losing/cant take insults aka snowflake ... The strong willed people even if they fail they keep trying learn and grow.keep in mind there is many factors for both sides i'm not going to list the 100000s points and counterpoints cause it will not apply to most but there is a line.... Insults normal people take it and brush it off to a cretin extent than either insult back or walk away or block them if its online and forget about it and get on with there day after all they are no one of importance so don't get mad. In life there is the Good the Dicks and Assholes welcome to the world... Millennials are the weak willed microaggressions oversensitive victim snowflakes rewards for last place	Dumb, Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/169	1.183
history is nothing but rotating fads.....	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/6	16.667
haha the old people know what theyre doing but il smash on these old fools i got more stamina im young ready to work!	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/24	8.333
We live in an information economy. Robots whip our collective butts and allow us time and energy to explore social conduct and how it affects the processes of society. Society is another social construct. We are no longer stuck acquiring capital, so we acquire knowledge. If that knowledge threatens you, so be it. I'll continue to question everything. In the meantime, I'll let humanities collective experience send this message to your eyes at the speed of light - special snowflake out.	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/81	1.235
Delete this I don't know if you have a mental disability or what. But you are the literal definition of a Snowflake . You are triggered by the fact he insulted you by the word Snowflake , thus meaning you are a Snowflake .	Mental, Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/41	9.756

Nuclear Silo Just decided to delete my triggered snowflake comment.I smoked a bowl and realized, winning an argument with an ape isn't much of a victory, why try? Then i was like, but wait, I'm an ape too.So I guess the saying applies for you as well. Feel free to use, no charge.Peace and love, bro Forgot my chill while I was hating my life at work, lol.	Ape, Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Black	3/72	4.167
Happy Chappy You got that right! A bunch of overly sensitive easily offended snowflakes and feminized men. Nothing but a bunch of cry baby libtards!	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/25	4.0
I'm a millennial. I work extremely hard no matter where I am (I'm currently doing a volunteer thing abroad with workers twice my age and I'm working about as hard as them but they're paid and I'm not). I don't think that people by virtue of being millennials are in any way inherently bad. I think like any other generation there are narcissistic people, lazy people, unfocused people and there are also humble people, driven people, focused people. The difference I see is that millenials are the first generation that isnt willing to overcome that because millenials haven't been taught the value of hard work, on the contrary we're taught working hard and succeeding is bad because it victimizes others. That's why I feel millenials are underperforming.	Age	Age - General	1/127	0.787
Yeah, let's turn everything commie and watch all the infrastructure around you wilt & rust. The only way Russia survived that stupid Marxist experiment was because they had plenty of fossil fuel to export to countries with healthy economies....without that communism would have been dead long before 1991.	Commie	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/48	2.083
This is sadly happening to different age segments	Age	Age - General	1/8	12.5
When is society going to start shitting all over Gen Z, as a millennial we've been getting shit on by everyone for like 10 years now and its getting a little old .	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/32	3.125

Stereotyping and propaganda. I was a street kid since 10 years old back in 2002. Surviving the streets to joining the corporate machine. Growing up watching failures of teachers and adults that never cared for anyone else. From group homes to shitty jobs, everywhere I went was the same watching other generations fuck up my surroundings. Now, I have been working enough to afford my lifestyle that I am creating to hopefully enjoy long enough. Now go ahead and keep blaming your millennial kids for your failed parenting, " It's the millennial era!". In the meantime, the companies are outsourcing the jobs to other countries for cheap labor or buying employees from staffing agencies for cheap labor. I've met so many people with degrees that are still stuck in the lowest paying jobs as temp agents. It is a failed concept playing out, while the rich get richer. It's a bigger picture than just blaming a "weak" generation. — It is I against the fucked up world with people like you. —	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/172	0.581
Hmmmmmm left out that a good chunk of millenials think Socialism is the route to go despite that just 27 years ago the biggest socialist country dispersed because they were socialist. Lots of people in my generation are dumb and have horrendous taste in music.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/45	2.222
Just because it's on youtube don't mean it's true. this video describes the wrong generation. We Millennials are nothing like this. Most of us are 25-40 year olds and make up Majority of the workforce. We are not entitled or lazy. Most of us actually started working in the middle of the great recession. There is no way we are entitled LMAO! Probably the hardest working generation yet. Not only that but we have made massive technological advancements. Technology that the current entitled iGen (Who this video describes) takes advantage of.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/91	1.099

And I'm 33... Speak for yourself. Patience is something you LEARN not something you are born with. Every generation has people who are impatient. So are you living at home with mommy and daddy still and want bean bags and free stuff? Does your mommy and daddy give you anything you want and tell you that you can have anything you want in life? Did you get into honors classes because your parents complained? Did you get participation trophies as a child? Did you grow up with smartphones as a child? Because that is what the video said about you and me. You agree with this? The video is describing Gen Z Post-Millennials aka iGen not us Millennials. If you don't then why did you say you say "One the best videos I've ever seen in YouTube! All true and I mean it." This video does not describe Majority of us Millennials. For me I own my own business work upwards of 16 hours a day 7 days a week. I learned at a young age that nothing is free and you have to work hard for what you have. I mean you and me both started in the workforce in the middle of a great recession. There is no way we could be so demanding and needy. We had to work all the shit jobs for crap pay. I don't know how you could claim to be lazy. because you wouldn't have survived if you were like what this video describes. I am far from lazy. Maybe this does describe a small percentage of people like yourself I guess. That's pretty sad how you openly agree with this video in public. you should be embarrassed if this is how you are. Maybe it depends on where you were born or how you were parented. Pretty sad you agree that you are a 32 year old Lazy Entitled person that lives with mommy and daddy still and wants everything handed to you. Someone should slap the silly out of your parents if that's the case.	Age, Nothing, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	3/345	0.87
Anyone who takes this as a personal attack or ageism fails to see the point of the video.	Ageism	Age - General	1/18	5.556
Lmao my parents did not act like that very violent household but in the end I expect nothing from others and go get it myself	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/25	4.0
fact check: there is restrictions on the age at which people can have social media but its done by the companies themselves. Facebook and instagram requires you to be 13 and up to join but it doesnt have verification systems in place before the person registers. If people was required to provide an id we wouldn't have to deal with fake accounts nearly as much.	Age	Age - General	1/65	1.538
No it don't. This video describes the current generation born post 1996. Millennials born 1977-1996 are nothing like what is described in this video. Fact is you are only watching this video because a Millennial created YouTube for you to be able to watch it. A Millennial probably designed and manufactured the device you are using as well.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/58	1.724

Where do I get this free food, bean bags, free A's and free admission to honor classes? Where do I get these parents who complain to teachers when my dumb ass earns a D? I guess my dumb millennial self doesn't understand.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/42	4.762
My wife works at McDonald's and is about to quit because a 16 year old that has been working there for a week to her 4 months is now her boss and lets all the teenagers there do whatever they she is the only one there that is older them	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/50	2.0
My 15 year old niece as soon as she wakes up grabs her phone to see who liked her on Tik Tok spends 35 minutes on it before she gets ready for school and everyday she misses the bus and has to walk to school because she is to busy doing Tik Tok videos for all her fans which she has over 3,000 of them most of them are grown men	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/71	1.408
this is such a blanket statement i was raised that no i wont get everything i want yes i need to work for things and i spent the past 8 years in the infantry because it felt like something i had to do like military service is apart of becoming an adult and maturing when i was a kid and i got a participation medal i was confused as fuck i said "but i didn't try? i don't understand this?" the teacher couldn't explain what it even was she said you get these first then a real one next year i took it home and gave it to my grandparents and they just looked at it then at me then said "throw it out" i can't connect with a lot of millennial because i'm only 26 but have been through hardship and rough times than they will ever experience at the moment i'm lonely because i just don't fit in with them i wanted to punch out a girl who was crying that a cafe had ran out of bunny cupcakes she always gets every day and this was a 25 year old grown ass woman but we're both millennial you think i'm the only one raised by grandparents and joined the Military? infantry is a young mans game i left at 26 because my body could not handle it anymore everyone i worked with was mostly between 18 to 30that being said the new guys coming through now are soft af if they think something is too hard they are quick to giving up or crying about it	Old, Woman	Age - Over 65s, Gender - General	2/270	0.741

hey millennial's i feel your pain ..i'm 41 and i notice i'm getting blamed like one of you guys because i look young...once they know my age , they stop their petty games n fake acting the adult that they aren't..its not like i can tell everyone my age everywhere i go... baby-boomers and older gen X are bullying like they did back in the 80's. they have the advantage nowand usingit as a stepping stone...i remember very well ...they always faked to be adults when they were around the OLDTIMERS when they were in the work force,,now the old timers are gone and these bums are back to their old ways like their in high school...these pieces of shyt needed their asses kicked 25 yrs ago, no offense to the good ones of course but i see people usually play those games like taking an older persons side regardless of the situation. another "thing to do"ever since millennial's came into play i've never seen so much anger towards like they have an excuse, like you guys are the problem..as a Gen x i've never blamed a damn generation for shyt that happened in the past, but i notice in this era its the "thing to do "... 1	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	4/209	1.914
This video is really pathetic. First of all this is a huge example of the fallacy known as generalization which is a fallacy because you can't just put a group of people whether it be millennials, baby boomers, race , and etc and call them weak. Not all people in this category are the same. It's better to treat everyone as a individual and instead of just ripping on a group or ethnicity . You can talk to someone who is facing some of these problems rather it be a millennial or not and help give them advice.	Ethnicity, Race	Ethnicity - General	2/96	2.083
X-Gens were never given medals and awards for participation. We were taught about the real world early. Yes, some aspects of a Millennial's life are harder, but someone needs to overhaul their view of the world. Nothing wrong with not being an arsehole, but being an SJW suppressing debate, and asking all around you to "conform" to your view of the world will only make you look like a complete idiot	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/71	1.408
This is the dumb America ppl talk about....Men aren't men anymore...people are actually going out of their to be Assholes here in NYC and then say this is a part of growing up.. ...can you believe this ? the wrong people are in charge in the workplace because they are spoiled brats that were given everything	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/56	1.786
too many people my age care too much about their social media "likes" and not enough about their cash...	Age	Age - General	1/19	5.263

That's true. Today's Ms, along with politicians for other reasons, want the category of "children" to apply to people up to 26 years of age . Ms want to be called adults when convenient, but they also want to call themselves poor little children when it's convenient to do that also. It's partly fair to blame older generations, some of us leaned conservative and went out and worked, had goals and didn't get sidetracked with protesting and fads. Others of my generation, those who leaned liberal, found they couldn't do much with their laziness but become teachers. So they pass that attitude on to today's kids. Or are they adults?	Age	Age - General	1/109	0.917
Look at all of my fellow millenials in the comments getting triggered over this video. It is an over simplified clip, but the majority of millennials ARE like this. Yes, nobody wants to pay 200k for school to slave away at a 9-5 and it was easier 40 years ago to make a living. We know. But the majority of this generation is filled with awkward sheeple who are lazy, not self aware, and have a distorted view of reality. Both the millennial alt righters and the stereotypical ultra left wing, overly sensitive, entitled, trendy people are going to be the ones to ruin the world (or atleast make it worse off than the boomers did).	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/116	0.862
Thank god you have that nice, cozy armchair where you can whine about it and do nothing in total comfort.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/20	5.0
Me as a 17 year old I am different. I was raised all my life in Vegas. But I don't have a Instagram or Facebook or anything other than a phone. Not because I can't but because I don't want one. I didn't want a phone and on my 8th grade Christmas my mother bought me a phone despite me not wanting one. To this day I still can go days on end without needing my phone unless I have a game I'm planyong that requires redoing something every few hours. Nevertheless it's sad to see my generation the way it is. I suffer from depression bad but I wasn't brought up with parents like this. They always would say "your special... But try harder" so u would. and i still get depressed. But not on the same level as kids of my generation. I look like a fat 277 6"3 17 year old but can work like a 25 year old construction foreman. Most people I know don't have serious jobs or goals. They skate buy in life. And until I saw this video I never realized how much I was different. I thought I was garbage and a failure. But in all actuality Im one of the better ones of my generation. But I feel like garbage because I always see people happy and stuff when in reality they aren't and it's fake	Fat, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical Features	4/235	1.702

9:35 well actually the Z generation has a higher rate of suicide than Millenials. Yet I've not heard a peep from their X out (drugged), Nazi ideological, and super survivalist and macho generation that that's a weakness in their children. Even though that's what I've heard from them having the opinion that suicide is weakness so indirectly they're talking bad about their own children... because their precious children's ears can't handle it.... lol great lulz	Nazi	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/80	1.25
you forget the communist influence since Barry Obama ruined our school system	Communist	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/12	8.333
Nobody wants to pursue a trade anymore. There are good jobs, just in moderately harsh conditions. I see very few millennials on job sites, and when I do, they are engaged in their phones and vapes.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/36	2.778
Sounds like all excuses to be a crybaby lazy piece of shit. Nobody owes you anything. Go earn what you want. Or do us all a favor & eat a bullet....	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/31	3.226
you proved his point. Sensitive self entitled snowflake	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/8	12.5
You are weak, low self esteemed and impatient person. Roll up your sleeves and get in the grip with the environment, make some hand/ass skin thickening cause nothing comes over night. By the way you are lucky to be born in the country with the plenty of the job opportunities.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/50	2.0
Don't be upset just because you're weak.And fat .	Fat	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/9	11.111

Kyle Pace Kyle Pace because the old people in trades did whatever it took to make the other guy filthy stinking rich without thinking twice about how people will work on their shit in the future. Now the new generations have to continuously go BACK to the places that they never gave a fuck about before. And when we HAVE solutions, they just say 'Meh, too much money to fix it'.. But they had ALLL that money to fucking do things the wrong way back then and they're not even willing to reciprocate to make life easier for people in trades. Look at power lines, gas piping, roadways, structures (homes and buildings), Hvac systems, railroads.. THEY ARE ALL FUCKED UP. NONE of them scream 'hey we set this up to be easily accessible for quick repairs for our younger generations'. they took the money and RAN. I wouldn't be surprised when ALL these fields are abandoned in the near future.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/160	0.625
Sean of the Dead shut up and cry me a damn river you stupid old piece of shit	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/18	5.556
Let me reword that for you. Try to start a career with a useless degree in a specialist field that requires that useless degree like, Womens studies or African American studies. Then try working 60 hour workweeks in an unrelated field but you still got the job because you have BA with a boss that thinks I am dead weight in the middle of the greatest time in decades to be an investor. Then I have to worry about the expectations on social media which most sane people in previous generations just ignore. Not me I am part of an ecosystem of morons who post their jogging time on Facebook and think its important and they expect me to uphold social justice in every aspect of my life. Like a moron I try to actually do this as well as taking 3 hours a day to protest on Twitter. I live in an imaginary post modernist world that doesn't exist and I have to hold it on my shoulders and you call me weak, HAH!!	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/175	0.571
It's called the real world snowflake your not smart it's called do good in school go to collage and graduate then get a job and be an adultEdit: Thanks for all the likes	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/34	2.941

There is no such thing as a "useless degree". While some professions do require direct expertise most are simply looking for work ethic and the ability to reason. Plus, if a person has a degree which might seem to society's outsiders as rather niche, to interviewers and management it demonstrates that they are interesting and will provide the alternate view points required to drive our businesses forward. I studied Chemistry, now I am a software engineer. The simple fact is that university is very different to the stages in education which precede it. This is why those who haven't attended have so much trouble understanding it. The idea that younger people are weaker than previous generations simply doesn't stack up. Education is much better these days and it is education which creates strength. Younger people lack experience which is where this kid's unfounded claims come from but the exaggeration and generalisation makes it clear that it is pure sophistry. The only thing that is true is that the lower classes, snowflakes as they are often referred to, are a lot weaker. Not surprising given we live in a post-industrial age where education and specifically communication are key to existence. The flip side however is that the lower class has shrunk since the 1980s, from c70 to c25 of the population. [LINK]	Age	Age - General	1/221	0.452
rob wri Yes there is, African American Studies is a pretty fucking useless degree.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/14	7.143
canonen100 Or at the meatworks. Similar sh!t, just handle the pain until you're doing it easy. Great feels mocking blokes half my age knowing I can back it up	Age	Age - General	1/29	3.448
You get that in the UK. I moved out at age 20 but the reason for that is the minimum wage for 25+ is £7.83 and for 18-20 is £5.90. Have to pay the same amount in rent though.	Age	Age - General	1/39	2.564

Kelly I agree with you, education was a luxury before getting university was pretty much a secured job, before. Now? You got millions of people competing for the same jobs, everyone is on debt, everyone can be replaced and corporations will replace you any time if they can save some all mighty dollars, look at what happened at Disney in 2015. Not to mention technology changed the world a lot, 70's generation know this very well, so stop fucking saying we fucked up, in a few years when our generation replaces all jobs with automation, you'll be the ones whining. It's already happening with self driven cars, education, culinary, marketing, manufacturing, and so many others. You're welcome. Now, our generation instead of pursuing a JOB, were pursuing CREATING our own business, we're no fucking sheeps. We know what you did before worked for you... BEFORE. But oh boy, not so much now. Because there's just not enough for everyone, every year thousands and thousands graduate from college. There are not enough companies to take all these educated people. I mean, even being a fucking secretary in the old days was a good job, ask if the average secretary is happy with her life now, unless it's Elon Musk's I don't fucking think so.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/213	0.469
Kelly Vincent Try entry-level lawyer jobs after 4 years of undergrad and law school working 80 hours a week, sleeping 4 hours a night every weekday and finishing the work you didn't do on the weekends. The difference between millenials and the previous generation is that they were given a terrible hand, too. The economy was in a borderline depression ten years ago when GenX'ers were in their mid-thirties. The difference was that they picked themselves up and continued working because they had no choice, having already had families and kids. Millenials cry for government help and complain of 'income ineaquality,' which is only possible if everyone has nothing. They blame the system they're in but don't realize that to change it, they must play its game until they get the opportunity to try to fix some aspect of it. There are plenty of open positions in jobs that require so-called 'undesirable' majors, at least in most of the U.S., even if they aren't ideal for your college major or don't pay as well as your ideal job. Your dream job is initially just that, a dream. A job is something to put food on the table, not necessarily to find life fulfillment.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/203	0.493
Senior Batman Right on. You have to work up the ladder, not start at the top.	Senior	Age - Over 65s	1/16	6.25

Frank Schmidt Depends what you are studying. A crazy liberal arts degree like gender studies...good luck.Others are going into trade degrees.	Crazy, Gender	Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/22	9.091
WOLVES WWFC1887 You're like 10 years old kid. Go away. the adults are talking.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/14	7.143
WOLVES WWFC1887 Being considerably older than you along with the fact that by the time I was your age , I was already more than halfway through my enlistment in the Marine Corps infantry allows me to call you kid. The fact you used a winking emoji takes away your credibility to question anybody's maturity.	Age	Age - General	1/54	1.852
K G how does it feel to be "considerably older" yet still considerably more pretentious? frankly, I couldn't care less what you were doing at my age , you could be a millionaire for all I know, but your first comment was petty and childish regardless.	Age	Age - General	1/45	2.222
WOLVES WWFC1887 lumping all millennials in one category and painting them all in one brush isn't pretentious and childish even though you aren't even old enough to legally drink?	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/29	3.448
Yes. You are weak. Weak like over cooked asparagus. Sitting in a Google office with free lattes, nap times and bean bag chairs while making $300 Grand a year and only showing up when you want to, and taking " mental health days" is not work.	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/45	2.222
Red Man Get a brain..you dumb ass..you have it ALL wrong as usual!	Dumb, Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/13	23.077

Did you even watch the video? He says it's no fault of millennials, they were dealt a bad hand.... You are angry at nothing	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/24	4.167
Frank Schmidt Because they did nothing to change their situation so they took the easy way out - as usual.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/20	5.0
Kelly Vincent The 1970's was not what you likely saw through the prism of "That 70's Show" reruns. That was far too gleeful and benign. The reality of the 70's, was 30/40/50-somethings not even being able to afford their yearly IRS taxes, much less their property taxes, disillusioned, PTSD-loaded 20-somethings fresh out of Vietnam(if they even lived to come home), near daily reminders of Defcon 4 threats of Soviet nuclear annihilation, interminable gas lines and shortages, grocery shortages and daily inflation on what was available. And after an entire day of that , you got to drive your lap-belt-only, non-airbag capable gas-guzzling car home, narrowly-avoiding center-line-crossing drunk drivers, come home to a tiny house with lead paint in the walls, freezing or baking from shitty insulation, 3 channels on the TV(maybe 6 if you count UHF stations), and likely a alcoholic/coke/speed freak living next door who wasn't afraid to let you hear him beating his wife or kids on a nightly basis. And that's just the suburbs. Believe me honey, with the attitude you've got, it's highly unlikely that you could have survived living even one day , in the glorious "salad days" of the 1970's.	Freak	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/196	0.51
Kelly vincentThe obvious answer is to start your own business where you employ everyone in the 20-30 age bracket, let them work short hours for high salaries and give them a great benefits package. I look forward to seeing how far your business gets....The truth is that everyone in every generation has to work really really hard at the start of their career to get established. Maybe nobody told you this but it isn't new. It is just how life is, welcome to the grown up world of work.	Age, Nobody	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	2/91	2.198
Sean of the Dead Just as every old generation claims the new one is	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/14	7.143

Are you kidding me? Corporations now have to take responsibility for what is essentially a parental failure? Let me clue you in on something you apparently missed. It is Gen X that failed as parents and guess what? It is mostly Gen X that is running these corporations with a smattering of Boomers here and there. Gen X already failed as parents when it was their own kids. Do you seriously expect them to suddenly have the skills to retrain a boatload of someone else's failures? Not going to happen. Don't look to the Boomers to do it either. We paid our dues and have no interest in fixing someone else's FK ups. Oh and guess what? The Millennials that are having kids are doing an even worse job raising them. "It's okay sweetheart, mommy will go to the mean old school and tell that Principal that you can use whatever bathroom you like". At this rate the next generation will be tying up the court system trying to sue heterosexuals for discrimination because they refuse to date anyone who identifies as a different gender. Sorry! Not a corporation's job to fix the Millennials. This generation is just going to have to deal with life as it is. They are not "entitled" to be handheld by their employer. This is why that generation is so in love with their idea of a Socialist Utopia. They somehow think that socialism will give them everything they feel they are entitled to. Well it won't because those that worked and struggled for what they have are not just going to hand it over simply because Millennials feel entitled and above hard work. Let them all take a 30 day excursion to Venezuela so they can see their socialist utopia in action. Nope. This Millennial generation is the new "Lost Generation" and the generation that they are raising up will in all likelihood be the first "Failed Generation". They will have to be, because all they have to go on is the Millennials and Gen X. You can't get a positive from two negatives.	Gender, Old	Age - Over 65s, Gender - General	2/350	0.571
You guys are dumb doesn't matter what you say you guys had very few impacts on life just drop a tab of acid and meditate and don't let other people's opinions change your mind and let's see who has the truth this shit doesn't only happen to kids the simple reason this is happening is(shocking) puberty	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/56	1.786
All this stuff millennials worry about is fucking nothing go out there and get a life.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/16	6.25
I see what appears to be those identifying as Millennials criticizing this guy for generalizing their generation, then turning around and generalizing baby boomers! BAM!!! THEY GOT YOU! Another deliberate division in society framed in hypocrisy! Great work walking right into that mental trap! Truth is you are no different because most people are egotistical hypocrites.	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/56	1.786

I'm gonna stop ya right there chief. Nobody has ever called millennials tough to manage, just hand one a phone. They'll be docile for a lifetime.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/26	3.846
When you get to the root of cause, there is nothing new about what is being said. Is university as useful as it used to be? No, simple truth is most employers will happily take someone who is well educated, as long as they have experience. Are companies doing anything to ensure employee loyalty? If they are, it's superficial and often insulting. "Hey! The employee out of our three million employee who makes one thousand sales in two days will get a free piece of fruit ! The rest of you will be punished for not making those sales by having a red mark against your job! Have a nice day!", So in such a situation why would anyone feel like a mountain is in front of them? It's more like a chasm where you know only one person will make it across. So what's to be done? Start again. A society that cares more for money, power and control, over the health, happiness and success of its populous is doomed to failure. Case in point: The World today!	Fruit, Nothing, Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Native-American, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	4/178	2.247
G G Dialup Bulletin Board Systems with discussion forums and inter-BBS networking, also early Internet (all text based), often through your local library (Freenets is what they were called in the mid to late 90s). We had IRC and USENet, and those boards got just as heated and lively as any modern social media. Gen-X and the early Millennials got to personally experience the iron age of the Internet.	Age	Age - General	1/69	1.449
Valyria Luna don't worry social media especially face book is what old people who listen to u2 think is cool. The real kool kids are anti social.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/27	3.704
That's true of all tropes. We've hired several excellent people who are technically millennials but who are smart, hard-working individuals, only gotten it wrong a couple times. (And we've done just as bad with a couple people two times the age .) Being an engineering company certainly helps as the curriculum weeds out the entitled and lazy, but there are tons of millennials who would be a credit to any generation. Pretty much every stereotype or trope is wrong about as often as it's right, because we have an inherent need to classify everything in simplistic terms.	Age	Age - General	1/96	1.042
I believe that the younger generations like millennials and gen z are so open minded and have so much charisma. We are finding the ways to fix a lot of the issues started by the other generations. Inflation has caused prices of houses to sky rocket and we have to deal with that. New opportunities and ideas are helping us take charge. Every new generation comes with its ups and downs and a lot of the ideas discussed in This video aren't specific to millennials, it applies to the entire human race .	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/93	1.075

Same shit different day. The elder generation have always frowned on the younger generation. This is nothing new.	Elder, Nothing	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	2/18	11.111
Really? You expect business to (make people happy)? That is some silly B.S. Nobody can make you happy. Its up to you, to find your way in life. Volunteer, join a group with similar intrest, (god forbid) join a church group of some kind, connect with nature, camping, hiking, biking, dancing and on and on and on. If you expect your employer to make you happy, you will be disappointed again.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/71	1.408

For those interested, here's a short history of the coining of the millennial label by two amateur historians and how it was proliferated in mass media: [LINK] "After three decades of commercializing, sensationalizing, and white-washing the millennial generational narrative, modern society has little to show for it other than consultancy fees, sponsored think pieces, and viral videos about millennials' work habits. Some view generational labels as inventions of the marketing industry, so they approach the topic with understandable skepticism—sometimes going as far as re-categorizing themselves with alternative labels such as 'old millennials,' 'xennials,' and so on. Others use such labels as blank checks to make proclamations about tens of millions of people. This way of thinking produces a good chunk of mainstream content about 'the millennials' today and dominates public perception about generations as undifferentiated masses of people who happen to be born within a certain year range (that no one can ever remember). Given this context, it is not terribly surprising that millennials themselves never fully internalized the millennial generational label. According to a 2015 Pew Research Center study, only 40 of those in the age cohort in the U.S. consider themselves 'millennials.' While the information business industry didn't succeed in getting us to roll on command, it achieved something far worse: mass confusion about what generations actually are and how they can be studied. Predictably, this has caused many of us to disassociate ourselves from any generational identity and thus the potential of utilizing and sharing generational knowledge outside of for-profit narratives. So what can we do? One way to address alternative stories about our lives is to deconstruct reductive data about generations and expose how those narratives enter our culture. The sources of most 'bombshell' claims about generational differences expose the biased data behind top-down content on generations. In an article published in Human Resource Planning, Frank Giancola states that 'the emphasis on generational differences is not generally borne out by empirical research, despite its popularity.' This observation is confirmed by the research of Thomas C. Reeves and Eunjung Oh at the University of Georgia, who reviewed dozens of studies on generational differences to conclude that 'gross generalizations based on weak survey research and the speculations of profit-oriented consultants should be treated with extreme caution.'

Age

Age - General

1/380

0.263

I'm 49 working with millenial employees, but that doesnt give you the right to treat me like I'm old and stupid ! I get zero respect ! This makes me feel like shit and like a bottom sucker. They never ask who I am or what I've achieved. I have three degrees, one in computer sciences, diesel technology repair and micro biology... I led a weird life, but I have something to fall back on. What do millenials have....? Can you at least program in C ? Heck, I even did 4 years in the airforce.... I call this an achievement ! Let's see your portfolio?! Apparently, millenials don't have any respect for the older generation. They don't care what achievements anyone else has developed, they don't care what their interested in. So all the millenials produced is a pissed off generation X I know a lady who is 57 and she worked for Cisco, and she will kick your ass ! Millenials were brought up on " everyone gets a trophy" that's bullshit ! If you fail, or otherwise score lower, you get no trophy ! Your a loser ! Should have tried harder..... feel the depression, like I did ! Well, at any rate, these " millenials " are shit ! And their taking over corporate America. Is this the influence you really want in society ? A bunch of know it alls, that what they think is the best plan ? Really ? I understand that they need jobs, but that doesnt give them right to run rickshaw over people. Especially a generation that didnt fuck them over in the first place ?!	Old, Weird, Zero	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/278	1.079
DIO diesel tech is something to fall back on, but I would need to do more studying due to trucks being all computerised now. I'm old school diesel tech.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/29	3.448 you are probably part of the problem. I noticed there is no connection between friends when I moved to USA As a 16 year old . I was very happy, outgoing energetic teen till I came to USA. I grew depressed because friends here are just somebody you know. There is no connection between friends. Im 22 and i have yet to find one person that I deeply can connect to. But In my country, even though i was young I had like 6-7 people including friends and older cousin brothers, sister that I could share anything with and had deep connection.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/101	0.99
as stupid as a participation trophy is i doubt one trophy in your entire life is gonna screw anyone up permanently. its more like we live in an internet bubble. were told what to think but it ends up doing nothing in real life. but i suppose that's kinda what you were talking about.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/54	1.852
I'm from the millennial generation and honestly most people my age make me sick with their entitlement. Rude, obnoxious, intolerant of other people's opinions, and above all they're mostly raging hypocrites.	Age	Age - General	1/31	3.226

The Millenial group is as large as the Boomer, group, which makes it a brutal competition for scarce jobs. Trump’s policies are creating new jobs and bringing old jobs back to USA, so the situation may be eased considerably in the next 4 years.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/44	2.273
No shit people in my age bracket isn’t looking to start a family when we can barely support ourselves on one source of income. Back in the 50s, only the man work who didn’t need a high school diploma to support a family of 5 kids and own his home in his 20s.Nowadays people who aren’t basement dwellers are getting their first apartment at the age of 30. Many of which can’t afford without roommates sharing a tiny space.Marriage isn’t this sacred bull of holy matrimony. It is nothing more than documentation stating that your assets and livelihood is conjoined. Which screws the Male in marriages 90 of the time.	Age, Nothing	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	3/112	2.679
Ben Shoshani Unlike most young adults whose virtually isn’t trying to get their life together; as an example... we have the kind who is still unemployed, lived with their parents, and creating a crap ton of debt by either choosing fake ass college degrees such as Gender Studies. Or a degree that has a zero market for it.I for one knows how to live within my means and work a job that isn’t a dead end job. I am living in a one bedroom apartment by myself with plenty of money in both checking and savings because I know how to budget. The apartment is nearly an exclusive community that hardly gets any openings because condominiums usually become rent to own. I know how this shitty game works. The cost of living is too damn high and our wages isn’t keeping up with the inflation. I just saw a studio apartment for 800 dollars. For studio!!My point being is young adults of today are at an unfair disadvantage. We was always told to go to college to get a career or a great job. But the degree isn’t worth the paper is printed on. The people who do have masters and bachelors can’t get work to justify the years they wasted in school. The college debt will never be paid off in their lifetime.Home ownership? HA! You can kiss that American dream goodbye. Having kids one day? Drop that plural because you be lucky if you can support one child.The smartest thing most millennials who aren’t failures at life isn’t as materialistic as our baby boomer parents who failed to raise these soft morbidly obese , bright hair color, who have 50 different genders and sexualities, soy drinking pussy ass snowflakes that needs safe spaces from reality.As for the millennials such as myself who is smart enough to raise myself where my parents had failed at, is sick and tired of hearing how you guys pull yourself up by the bootstraps in a time period where nearly over half of labor jobs WEREN’T overseas.	Gender, Obese, Zero, pussy	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General, Nationality - Chinese, Physical Identity - Physical Features	4/348	1.149

1950s it was legal to rape ur wife and the social, cultural and economic pressures kept people together despise how misserable the couples we're. The higher divorce rate is not a black and white issue	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/35	2.857
Utter hogwash - Sinek passes off his feckless blather as fact. Beware of state-sponsored wind bags whose purpose is to feed an state-sponsored agenda, in this case, the driving of a wedge between generations, the end goal of which is to always keep the next generation dumb by this division which in turn reduces the inter-generational (from both sides) interaction and so less wisdom/experience etc is passed from one generation to the next - dumb and clueless is how the tax farmers like the herd -	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/86	2.326
One problem with the u.s. is the emphasis to general ed classes. Classes that have nothing to do with the working world (I picked a good major yet had to waste 99 of my time with horse shit classes). Also, this video is a joke. Blaming millenials for the problems in the u.s. when boomers are the generation that fucked everything up. I've also NEVER seen a lazy millenial in the work force. Employers don't play around. Hence why a catch-22 even exists.What an ignorant video.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/87	1.149

It is NOT the place of the corporation to raise a child or mollycoddle them as adults. When you are at work, you're on the clock. I don't care if you shovel sh!t or program AI, do your job. They own you for that time.Your life is lived outside of work. Demanding emotional and spiritual fulfillment from work is foolish and incredibly selfish, you're there to work. If you find complete happiness in your work, good on you. If not, that's normal.There are over 7.3 billion people on the planet, not everybody is going to "make an impact" in the grand scheme of things. But we still need to put food on the table and work. You don't matter to the world and that's fine, you're one person. But that said, you matter to friends and family, you do impact their lives already. That's where you live, that's who you live with, that's where you exist, that's where you matter. What is so wrong with that?Millennials are 24-38 today, so it's a bit here and there, it covers people that are well and truly adults, and others that are just getting there. "Millennials" covers those of us that grew up with records as well as CD's, our parents could have been traditional post war baby boomers who created a sense of entitlement by giving that which they themselves didn't have, or more realistic parents. They could have even been hippies.This will change as millennials mature, age and move into more senior executive positions. Hopefully the workplace matures as well and doesn't need to be an adult babysitting service for the emotionally inept who can't just work like the rest of us.The divide is so great there's also "Xennials", which is where I fit in. I look at a 24 year old today and find it exceedingly difficult to believe they are the same generation. I tell them to "grow up", even though I too am classified as a millennial by birth date.	Age, Old, Senior	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	3/337	0.89
Obliterated economy, massive debt, broken education, pessimistic mass media, impossible experience requirements to get jobs, poor mental health caused by these issues, THOSE DAMN SMART PHONES	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/26	3.846

Kristopher Ferrell And I agree. But my point is that smartphones aren't the main cause of behavioral issues with the millennial generation. They might be a contributor, in fact I believe they are to some degree. But there are much more influential and important problems being completely overlooked here, like the ones I listed.Is smart phone/social media addiction real? Absolutely. Is it the end-all answer to why millennials have such high rates of mental illness? Certainly not. To argue otherwise is to willfully ignore far more urgent problems that require immediate solutions. When examining a collapsed house, it is entirely irresponsible to shovel all the blame onto one rusty nail when the entire foundation was flawed.Hearing daily as a child that the economy is a time-bomb, education is broken, every politician is cynical, and you have no hope of a future is infinitely more damaging than the effects of smartphones.	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/152	0.658
Notice how the generation that BIRTHED AND RAISED the Millennial generation are the the ones that LOVE to complain about how awful the Millennials are? Gen X'rs complain a lot, too. I notice this at work - where the Gen X'rs are angry how the Millennial get what they want - they get what they want or they leave. Wahh Wahh - right? Well, as a Millennial (Kinda - I'm 36), when it was clear I wasn't going to get WHAT I DESERVE in compensation, I didn't complain, I merely began answering some of the many contacts I receive for new jobs. And within a few weeks, I had proof that i was worth much more. I didn't EVEN try and i had a job offer with better benefits and 25 higher pay. That got their attention and the owner beat the competitive offer, matched the extra vaca, and asked my why they had such a hard time attracting and keeping talented young people. While the Gen X;rs complain everyday, I get shit done. Faster than they EVER could. Part of the problem here is that - in my field - Millennial are the ones with the tech skills and office skills to make a company competitive. World is different. Adapt or lose, old man. Companies have zero loyalty to us - I watched my dad work himself halfway into an early grave onyl to get forced retirement after 29 yrs at age 54. His retirement "benefits" were a fucking joke - insulting, while the board and the officer corp of his company retired comfortably. He was too old to get another good job (he did but it only lasted 5 yrs). He gave up after working periodically for the last decade or so of his 40 yr career. Retired at 63, formally. Taught part time. He had a BS from Ivy league University and a Master's from UCONN but ended up making $9 or $12/hr a few days a week, at 63. Dead at 64.I'm not gonna do that. I should've taken that better job, but onyl chance i have of making it rich is with my current boss who loves me for some reason	Age, Old, Zero	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	4/367	1.09

Stop being a pussy	pussy	Nationality - Chinese	1/4	25.0
IamCancer624 unless you go pro in esports or something, but even then you'll have to find out what you'll do after that, because as you age , you won't be able to be execute actions as fast as you were younger, so you'll still have to move on to something else after that	Age	Age - General	1/52	1.923
Jake Metcalf somewhat true but excuse under my definition is things that are under your control nothing in your way etc but still true	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/24	4.167

Jacob Archambault Learning how to live within your means is something every young adult regardless of generation has to do and being brainwashed into buying the latest greatest toys is nothing new either. TV and radio programs depicting modern life have always been nothing more than lengthy commercials where the characters use the products advertised during breaks. It's impossible to avoid. I think it was worse in the 50s and 60s because that's when television really became widespread and people didn't realize the corporations were using their favorite programs to get them to buy their wares (Soap that bubbles and taking vacation time are both corporate manipulation of the consumers). We are very aware of the ways corporations are manipulating us now. It's unfortunate that my generation failed so completely at raising yours with this mindset already.The conversation about the cost of a college education now versus in the past is an interesting one. While it is 100 true the cost of going to school has increased at a ridiculous rate we currently have the highest percentage of our population ever with college degrees. We also currently have more students enrolled in college than ever before even with the ridiculous costs associated with going to college. Despite the perceived financial barriers, a college education is more accessible now than ever before in this country. I was recently (a week or two ago) reading a report from a company that specializes in marketing strategies. This particular study was for colleges and discussed student satisfaction and demographics. Most younger students (greater than 80) reported a miserable experience in every way imaginable from lecture halls being too big, cafeteria food being garbage, professors not providing enough one on one time and even problems with bathrooms. Cost vs value is their chief complaint. Conversely, over 90 of the older students reported being extremely satisfied with their college experiences with value for their money high on the list of perceived positives. Older students didn't see the same perceived problems or if they did they were more likely to be understanding about the situation (i.e. they understand a professor with 400 students can't spend too much time with each student without taking away from the rest of their job). Everything about the college experience is identical for the two groups but their reactions are completely opposite. It should be noted also that traditional students (18-22, financially dependent on their parents, etc) are no longer the majority and non-traditional students (older, financially independent, have children, etc) have replaced them as the majority demographic in American learning institutions. When I finally decided to go back to school in 2008 I was shocked at how cheap it was in comparison to what I expected. I was also taken by surprise by being one of the younger students in almost every class I took. I was also usually the only one in the class that had experience in the field before taking classes; everyone else was making the bold move of changing careers later in life. I fall firmly in the group of older students that report nothing but a positive experience. I'm curious about the wild contrast in perceptions and can formulate any number of explanations in my mind but it would just be my personal opinion. That speculation I'll leave for people making more money than me.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	3/560	0.536
---	---------	---------------------	-------	-------

Trump's Economy is the best in decades. The reason you don't get jobs is because nobody wants to hire a "social studies" graduate. Instead of "following your dream" (which was determined by social pressure), you should have followed opportunity.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/39	2.564
nielsdejong Healthcare always has opportunities because everyone needs healthcare. Despite the fact that college is more accessible than ever and more of our citizens than ever before have degrees there is a serious shortage of qualified healthcare workers. The situation is the worst in the mental health field. A very small part of that is because more people have insurance now and are therefore going to the doctors more while budget cuts at the state and federal level is another significant factor. But the primary driving force behind the shortage is a lack of young people entering the field. And I don't blame them at all. We get paid crap, work ridiculously long hours, get assaulted (and killed) on the job at a higher rate than the police and get shit on by politicians every chance they get. You do not get into this field for the money; you do it from a place of genuine care for those around you. That doesn't appear to exist in this generation since they're not entering the field in enough numbers to replace the people that are leaving. We've had 5 agencies where I live that have had to shut down either all or parts of their services due to understaffing over the last two years or so. Some agencies merged to avoid shutting down. And the shortage is only getting worse.	Mental, doctors	Nationality - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/229	0.873
Aaron M And the US had Healthcare, pretty good one at that. Unfortunately, then we got Obamacare (which those in high positions did NOT have to take, might I add) which people hated so much that they were willing to pay in order to be rid of it. Nothing is free, as is evident by that taxes get raised. What pisses me off the most are Californians who leave their state due to the high taxes (for which THEY voted), only to go to Red states and try to turn it blue (like in Texas), so that it will turn into the same mess as the state they left.	Nothing, Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Native- American	3/109	2.752
Dude you sound like a fuckin 13 year old . You think other generations didn't have it bad? Grow the fuck up. Apply yourself and stop being a little bitch	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/29	3.448
Sissy	Sissy	Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	1/1	100.0

Millennials are dumb right? Millennials are stupid right? Millennials are retarded right? Millennials Right? Right, Right? HAHAAH!!! Right?	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/18	5.556
Ok im gonna stop you right there. JOB SATISFACTION DOESNT EXIST. shocker I know unless your job has you going places meeting new people I dont thing working at a mickyds is going to be "satisfying". Inlike previous generations we still have hope because we are a generations that wont stop until we excel. I work as a laborer for a scrap yard so tell me why I should be satisfied with that? Why should I be ostrisized for wanting to be more than just another employee that can be replaced in an instance? Previous gens didn't have it either they confuse settling for satisfaction. Just because you settled for what you could vet doesnt mean we should too. Where you failed we will succeed even with all the odds the previous generations have and will continue to stack againsts us. This entire video was like when fox news got an old dart to explain millenials to a bunch of dumbass idiots	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/162	0.617
Yeah right, do what you suggest at the end of the video and keep weakening the younger generation, while crashing the economy at the same time. how many companies out there have done that approach and are now in the red . I will name the most obvious one here on youtube: Marvel.	Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Native- American	2/52	3.846
Missed many other points about millennials...Lack of accountability for their actions - they don't take ownership of their mistakes, short comings, etc - It's always something that is not their fault.Lack of responsibility. When something needs to get done, they look for someone else to do it. Lack of planning. They just do... without thought to what they are doing. They live by trial and error. Rather than planning each step. Lack of Discipline. They want things, but they are not willing to work hard and smart to obtain the things they want - when they fail, they expect someone to bail them out. Addiction to instant gratification. They are stupid, fat , and lazy.	Fat	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/116	0.862

Millennials are being blamed with tar brush, perhaps if you look at the reality of the foreign labour force & immigration , the zero hour contracts & the persuit of profits at the expense of work environment it sometimes best to work for yourself or your own career as with pressure in workplaces many resorting to physical violence & back stabbing & there no job security as the workplace has changed. Perhaps if we look at these problems instead of calling some individuals the source of problems perhaps we can restore our economy & jobs again the way it was during economic growth.	Zero	Age - Youngsters	1/103	0.971
We don't blame ourselves, we blame a generation who sold off all of our domestic production to overseas company, the generation who blew up the housing market causing the renters crisis which is still growing, and we blame the generation who sold us a scam of higher education which has become more and more cost prohibitive and less and less beneficial to those who have degrees. You fucked up the world for us then said "god why are they so sad all the time I wish they'd get off their phones! Don't these kids have any patience or sense or hard work?" Gee Frank idk maybe cause the world is in civil war, we've grown up with nothing but war, and we're lucky if we even LIVE to see 2050.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/130	0.769
Our generation is fuck up in the head alot of dum people doing dum shit girls fight for the stupid stuff people judging each other knowing they don't like it so why the fuck you doing it us human are causing our own extinction wish people weren't so against each other and judging people buy there race cops killing dogs and black people (sorry if I offend you) white cops killing alot of people for the dumbest thing random dude:I have a phone in my hand" cops:it's a gun fire kills the dude wtf is wrong with us humans stop everything we need a day were we can all take a break and relax and just get along were really fucking up our future by doing this shit little kids already smoking cussing at there parents talking back to there teacher thinking there cool know ur just making a embarrassment to your self kids not acting there ages parents showing a bad example to there kids and I did do bad stuff but I look back at it and its not really fun because it comes back to you in life it effects you in a way were u might become homeless it effect the jobs you get in a way school never change if u look back to the past and know every kid has a dream but in school your just teaching them the same thing your not preparing us for future your preparing us for the past you never let us kids know what it is like in the real world how do u we use a cash register school is the reason why kids are depresses and suicide because of bullies at school and the only thing u guys do is bully you even more after we tell the dean. (Don't attack me please) Love you all. :-)	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/312	0.641

Okay first if all this video is so full on generallizations that it's not even funny! I was a "so called" millennial born in 1984. I never got any participation medals (though I would have liked to)! I don't care to text my two friends sometimes when I'm too busy. I think everyone WILL feel good regardless of age when you receive a text, it means they "care" about you (sometimes when it's not spam lol). Heck my own mom likes to text more than I do! I'm too busy with work and school to really always be on my phone texting! .. Anyway this might be true for SOME but I have seen people born younger than me that are hard working and totally don't fit ANYTHING you've said on here! And certainly not those born in my year or decade!...In fact, I have seen this in older people too (who need to put the phone down on the dinner table at the very least)! So please stop generalizing!	Age	Age - General	1/170	0.588
Every Generation has been criticized by the previous generation - there are time articles way back talking about the current generation of that era just like articles that talk about millennials now - with the advent of technology being prevalent in the past 20 years it isn't the millenials that are the problem - but the archaic model of the workforce that still exists - Google has implemented new workplace models - in Sweden they've implemented the 35 hour week - or 4 day a week , and the results are phenomenal. The problem is that the " old guard" isn't willing to shift into the mindset of the next generation of workforce which is causing a clash. You speak of recession - let's not forget that just when millenials where at at age of entering the workforce the 2008 recession also happened. I'm not a millenial myself - but I try to have a distanced perspective on the matter , and what I see is that the workforce is still in the "blockbuster" era - while it's new workforce is in the "netflix" era and that is the essence of the problem!	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	2/192	1.042

Ok ..First of all , Sweden is NOT a socialist country - it's a capitalist country with a free market economy, with strong social benefits, the fact that it has free healthcare and education for everyone doesn't make it a socialist country - maybe if the U.S tried that - medical expenses wouldnt cripple financially so many American families , and your teachers wouldnt have to work 2-3 jobs just to make ends meet! ..but Sweden IS capitalist at it's core - again I dont consider myself a millenial (i was born in 1979) so I dont believe I have the "millenial mindset" There are many paradigms of shifting mindsets within cultures as time goes by. What used to work in the 90's doesnt apply anymmore ...you do realise the 90's was almost 30 years ago right ? What was a standard 30 years before YOU entered the workfroce that changed ? Im sure alot of things, I bet work hours and employee rights where not the same in the 60's and 70's as they were in the 90's right ? and I'll bet business models changed drastically in that time period as well. And im sure people of that generation are saying about you the same thing you are saying to millenials. There are LITERALLY articles from that time period saying EXACTLY THE SAME THING about your and my generation with those about millenials. Being angry at Millenials for not conforming to archaic work models is'nt going to solve the problem. Any business that doesnt adapt to changing times is bound to close. Look at blockbuster vs Netflix - Look at record stores vs Spotify - And thats what it is exactly. The video itself says that "poor parenting" is a factor...well then lets ask..what generation are the parents of millenials ? and do you really wanna talk about student loans ..in 2018 ? I remember a time when all it took was the dad of a family to have a full time job and that was enough to sustain and raise a family - obviously that doesnt exist anymore , when the job market is not what it used to be - but expenses have risen alot since the "90's" there is little incentive to work for a corporation that it's only interest is keeping it's shareholders happy rather than give livable wages. I may come of as a socialist ...but believe me im as capitalist as they come. Again - if you can imagine the workplace being Blockbuster - and all it;s employees have netflix at home ... this is what's happening now. Look up on youtube videos "millenials are destroying ... " and read the comments from actual millenials - again - I disagree with you sir and im not a millenial, try to see the whole picture and come to your own conclusions.

Cripple

Physical Identity -
Physical (and Mental)
Impairments

1/478

0.209

Eleni Tampaka If you advocate for free public health care and free education then you are NOT a true capitalist. If you're too young to have ever lived as an adult without the existence of the internet, then YOU'RE A MILLENNIAL. Born in 1979 means you didn't become an adult until 1997 and by that time the internet was already widespread and readily available in almost every household and school in North America. You have never lived an adult moment in your life where there was no existing internet. And don't give me that "Xennial" crap either, that's just a made-up term used by older Millennials who simply want to disassociate themselves from their own generation because they're too embarrassed and ashamed of the younger latter half of their generation. You don't see older Gen X calling themselves "X Boomers", do you??? I actually know quite a few people your age (late 30s to early 40s) and they're a lot more like Millennials than they are like Gen X.	Age	Age - General	1/169	0.592
Eighties Villain you fool millennials are the one born in 84-85 to early 2000s, if someone is from 79 is gen x. The internet got nothing to with it fool, and btw the US is the richest country in the world but at the same time one of the most unequal, keep advocating for the wallstreet crooks.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/57	1.754
Look , I am a free market advocate as much as you are - I want a small government and to be less involved in my business and let capitalism and free market work it's course as it should be - I LOATH socialism , I'm not white and I dont believe in white privilege - I believe in individual initiative - but for a society to thrive I believe the 2 basic things healthcare and education should be free and available to it's citizens. Because for a nation to prosper you WANT a healthy and educated population. That doesn't mean that there shouldn't be private hospitals and schools for those that can afford it - but at least for those that cant afford it - health and education is the bare minimum for me. I'd like to consider myself successful in my field and God knows I worked really hard and took a lot of shit to get where I am - But I'm also aware of shifting mindsets within a general population. Im aware of how technology is changing the landscape in the work environment Look at how Airbnb - Uber - Netflix changed the landscape in industries that have been around for decades in less than 5-7 years - just like when the first computers entered the workplace as a standard changed business forever. I always try to look at the big picture and not blame a generation for moving ahead from work models and ethics that whether we like it or not are not compatible with that said mindset. It will only change when the millenilas themselves come into the position of power (i.e from employees to employers, where they can actually implement their ideas ...as every generation before them has done)	Nation	Nationality - General	1/296	0.338

It's so classic, older generations belittling younger ones, disregarding what's important to them because they lived differently. And I'll tell you why phones and social media isn't age restricted - because you learn easier/faster when you're younger. People who restricted kids access to PCs really did them a disservice. An addiction is a very harsh thing to label it because most people aren't addicted, at least in my circles... This sounds more and more like mass control, guilt younger people into thinking they should be happy to even work for them, even in crap conditions and low pay. What you have to remember is, they can't do it without workers and if people aren't buying this bs and aren't prepared to work for minimum wage, they'll have to raise it or loose it. Supply and demand...	Age	Age - General	1/136	0.735
Johnathan Grey XD really why not ? cuz is crazy . haha but sure funny to watch were you high or drunk ?	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/22	4.545
El Primo I just wrote I don't do drugs or drink. Due to the fact there's so much more to do in this small span of life we all have. I got nothing to complain about. No body promised me a 6 figure income after graduating college. Last time I checked you had to work your way up to a 6 or 7 figure income. My generation is full of "self entitlement" bullshit it makes me want to throw up hear my formal classmates sueing their professor's. What a f u c k I n g joke. In fact I thought that's what it was. A joke.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/107	0.935

El Primo I didn't get triggered. I heard that word being used so many times that its lost its original meaning. Meaning it's a ballistic term. I learn to work hard, smart or anyway I could. Where I work they say they never seen a hard worker like me before. Due to the fact the work is really rigorous. I arrive early , and leave late everyday. The first one in, the last one out. It just gets to me that my classmates are so fucking stupid, and ignorant. That they actually have the balls to sue their professor's. Being Native American and the only native American as well as at work, I'm expected jump through more hoops then anybody due to the fact I have a senses number. That number is what tells my employers to not pay for medical because the US GOVERNMENT pays for it. It's not something I'm entitled to either it's something I was born with. And my employer pays me a dollar more. Still nothing I'm entitle to. My classmates are just plain dump with high IQ's. They wanted me to join them in their fight for 6 or 7 figures incomes jobs. I told them it's going to back firing because your college professor only told you theories. And that they were stupid enough to believe them. If one goes bad it's like were all bad. So many students even want communism. And even complaining about dept they that already knew they were going to have anyway. Common sense told me work. Then go to school. I'm in zero dept and one year away from my degree in Ballistics Engineering and Technical Designing. I don't get why they thought life was supposed to be easy. Where I grow up there was no roads, no running water, no internet, no cellphones, no electricity and no stores within 35 miles in each direction. A reservation that had only one dirt road. I never thought I'd make it this far. But it's not over. Millennials give themselves a bad name and bring me down with them. But I'm not falling with them or you, anyone then they would want to grow up where I grew up. And I'm betting you wouldn't either.	Common, Nothing, Zero	Age - Youngsters, Social Class - Working class	3/376	0.798
Fuck it, they can all trade in their Smartphones for steel toe work boots and alarm clocks, have a 12-inch screen black and white television set with rabbit ears and a house with no central air conditioning like I did when I was growing up! PUSSIES!	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/46	2.174
I'm 17 in high school. I see people my age exactly like this. I was lucky to be raised by parents who taught me you need to earn and work. I didn't even have a phone til I was 14. I was at a retreat for my school. Out of the 20 of us, 19 were on their phones the whole time. I was looking around the whole time going 'wow'	Age	Age - General	1/72	1.389
Larai B Ah; but how old were you when you made your first profile?	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/14	7.143

Oh yeah the consumer based millennial mentality has nothing to do with it, you know the twats who just have to have the new iPhone every year, then protest about child labour on twitter at starbucks. The idiots who actually think their hybrid is saving the environment, yeah like it grew on a tree and is charged by hugs.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/59	1.695
Blaming boomers for all your various and sundry woes may feel good but is just spinning wheels in the sand. 95 of boomers have done nothing their entire lives except go to school, go to work and pay taxes. Blame corrupt politicians and greedy corporate heads instead.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/47	2.128
AussieBlokeGordo I'm of the millennial, I agree with you. There are successful minorities, and that is proof that today's narratives rhetorics and ideologies are all wrong...I see SJWs as fakers who would turn on minorities for working towards success and for not thinking they are oppressed.So, yes, SJWs are fakers, they are racists who thinks minorities are incapable of reaching and achieving goal, and when minorities do, and are not bitter towards the mainstream media's favorite punching bags, and instead encourage others to work hard towards success and happiness and unity, the fakers will instead of Congratulating them for succeeding and raising above difficulties and promoting unity, the fakers will turn on them and calling them "'race traitors,'" "'Uncle Toms'" and "'Aunt Jemimas'" and other derogatory terms and even racist words like the c word, and even the n word, because a successful minority debunks their whole narrative, rhetoric, and ideology, and would accused them of "acting white" when the values of working towards success is not.Being successful is not "white privilege" successful minority millionaires and billionaires proves that. White privilege is a lie as another way of controlling minorities and those who supports Liberty for all after losing Jim Crow laws after civil rights movements.	Crow, Jim Crow, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/209	1.435
AussieBlokeGordo I don't buy the new phone every year, or protest child labor, I actually favor other kids working at age 6 like I did, I don't use Twitter and I don't go to Starbucks or drink coffee. Stop generalizing, dumbshit.	Age	Age - General	1/41	2.439
T P nnnnnnope, kept voting to keep in a guy that supported terrorism, racism , made laws against selling firearms to certain parties then sold them to these terrorists while going to war against them or the countries they are attacking, negotiated with terrorists and many other things. Do some research, stupid ass.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/52	1.923
Frank Parker XD There were plenty of mass shootings before millennials, and so far no millennials have attempted to assassinate the president. Also, millennials don't have half the numbers of those who broke into peoples homes to shoot or lynch them based on gender , sexual orientation, religion, rage or political affiliation.	Gender, Sexual	Gender - General	2/51	3.922

I Am Root Stop generalizing you mean like the person who posted the original post did. Maybe if your dumb ass generation stopped blocking roads and calling it protesting other generations might give you a little respect. Don't blame older generations who are sick and tired of PC wankers wanting everything changed so their weak feeble minds don't get offended. Blame the 20 something year old cry babies that are doing the stupid shit in the first place, you and your friends should be out there putting a stop to the road blocks, the college strikes and any other politically correct motion if you want people to stop judging your generation!	Dumb, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/111	1.802
Actually the greatest generation was the generation that fought WWII, they went to war and expected nothing in return. When they came home they just went back to work and raised families that also helped the country. No cry babies, nobody looking for attention or gratitude just good honest hard working people!	Nobody, Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/52	3.846
The boomer generation ended in the mid 1960s, that means boomers are 60+ years old .So you're saying a bunch of retired geriatrics are "literally destroying the world" with their canes and walkers?	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/33	3.03
Do you even know what a baby boomer is asshole? They are like fucking born after WWII . Most are senior citizen retirement age , so how in the fuck are they "destroying the world"? Gotta love you millennials who use words or groups and have no idea what the fuck you are talking about. Oops, better hurry, your Transgender Restroom Management class is starting and you have a paper due...	Age, Senior, Transgender	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Sexual Identity - Transexuality	3/71	4.225
34k weak pussy minded millenials disliked this video. Like wtf. Im was born in 1994. I agree with everything you said in this video its the truth. But what i can't understand is why so many dislikes. 34k people still think they are special... grow up you brainless shits	pussy	Nationality - Chinese	1/49	2.041
huh well the world has got to change y'all old dirt bags :))))))))))	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/13	7.692
I'm 24 years old and still without a job.... No school or little school. Just a stay at home kid really, man-baby...Failure to Launch... Bad or Distant Parenting... Even when I do get a group interview or solo interview I somehow mess it up for myself and not get hired... Sad really... In today's time a young adult can't get a job... The positive thing about this is that tons of people don't have jobs either.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/76	1.316
WhiteDragonDancer Dance that boogie in the streets for a loaf of bread.	Boogie	Ethnicity - Black	1/12	8.333

Everything thats important has been done. The interstate highways were finished inabout 1966-1969, nuclear submarines were in use when i was born in about 1954, and the last of the major dams in the us was just about filled to capacity in Az in about 1970. Hell theres nothing left to do but a bunch of nurdy stuff left, or nothing at all to do. And just wait till the real first wave of industrial robots takes the jobs of truckers along with most MDs and lawyers. Cant wait..think again. This is just ahead and our government is not preparing its citizens against this reality while instead our leader is trying to make sure theres enough need for coal to justify keeping those stupids employed So before you blame young people maybe try looking at it through thier eyes.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/139	1.439
Says the pampered snowflake as he goes downstairs into his parents basement to play his Xbox.	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/16	6.25
Craig Whitaker the dangers of assuming is scary first off I'm black our parents do not allow us to live in the house after 18 I was kicked out at 13 I don't play Xbox and I'm Happily married to my wife I have 3 sons and and I just had my daughter I'm 32 I have no connection to what this guy is talking about I watched the baby boomer generation sell off there parents life's they built and are getting ready to croak earlier then there parents and are leaving nothing for there children and seem proud of it piece of shit generation Assuming is something we have bad in America today smh	Black, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black	2/116	1.724
Congrats on the daughter Brother. You have your a good head on your shoulders,remind me of my son. Well done.ADOS STAR NEWS MEDIA Unplugged The 1 Nation	Nation	Nationality - General	1/27	3.704
Tony, it is called inflation. The technology you love was not even invented by your generation. It was invented by old people like Bill Gates or Steve Jobs.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/28	3.571
there's good millennia and bad ...but most i found are plague with libtard ,triggered snowflakes,cultural appropriation,entitlleted brat ,poser,nonsense flexing but reality check their life miserable	Brat, Libtard	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - Youngsters	2/23	8.696
tony theo Im 35 and very jealous of Millennials because they are truly happy and deserve those things they want so I trust them with the world when they finally lock us crazy old people away.	Crazy, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/36	5.556

Spoken like a true snowflake . Of course the millennial is offended. You just proved the speakers point.	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/17	5.882
Maybe if these snowflakes didn't get a useless degree like liberal arts or gender studies they would have money. Instead of being a protester about stupid shit go get a job and do your job. Kids now a days want everything handed to them and cry and moan needing safe spaces if something is to hard or they dont like. You can't even disagree with these kids because they will have a meltdown or call you racist or sexist.	Gender, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	2/79	2.532
tony theo ROFL!! Who do you think created the technology that you NOW use? Did you create Facebook when you were 8? Look, Theo, you may be the exception to the norm, but your generation is hands down the worse (as evident in your non-paragraph using diatribe)Smarter? You majored in Transgender Restroom Management or Lesbian Dance Theory... then wonder why you cant get a job because you cant add another row in Excel.You like free speech..only if its something you agree with. If you disagree with someone , they are " racist " ... even if race wasn't even the topic.Previous generations didnt "leave you with crap" - we fixed 10x what you have now. Folks like you, and others who actually contribute to this world are few and far between anymore. Previous generations had more people like you.So think twice before making assumptions....which is EXACTLY what you accused this "guy in the video" for. Double standard much?I rest my case.	Lesbian, Race, Racist, Transgender	Ethnicity - General, Sexual Identity - Female homosexuality, Sexual Identity - Transexuality	4/164	2.439
Gold Winger I see that part I agree with you but when you add dyslexia, ADHD, autism, where the old way of teaching is still a problem they are pushing people out they want numbers if you ever noticed they don't care in my experience they Got rid of cursive writing which I did learn, work shop classes and whole lot of problems with the teachers not caring about protecting the children under their care from bullies. So the no child left behind has been the culprit to this	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/89	1.124
tony theo man, screw these old motherfuckers	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/7	14.286
I don't have to look it up, I deal with lazy, illiterate humans like you, every day. It's only as hard as you make it. Natural Selection Homer. If you're a fucking pussy you need to die now so a stronger version of yourself can have a shot. Statistics is just a word. When full on anarchy sets in the only thing millennial's will be good for is sex and a tolerable food supply until something better comes along. Perhaps you should hang yourself now while you still can. I'm only here to help.	Sex, pussy	Gender - General, Nationality - Chinese	2/94	2.128

C back it up with something? Anything? Explain how millennials have it harder then previous generations. That's really insulting to my mothers generation who were recovering from the aftermath of a world war. Heck even my generation didn't have nearly the amount of privileges and toys that your spoilt, self indulgent, utterly useless, self obsessed pricks have. Your generation was spoilt rotten and it resulted in young adults with zero sense, being overly sensitive and basically a total fucking waste to society.	Zero	Age - Youngsters	1/82	1.22
C 1st link, how baby boomers ruined America, that is NOT the subject here, this conversation was never about America! Obviously you are a yank , you think the USA is the world, shocking news buddy, it's NOT!!	Yank	Nationality - American	1/37	2.703
Carfilliot Now it's YOUR turn to post stats or shut the fuck up but not until you disprove what I said. Good luck. You're going to need it. Instead of quantative logic, you will just blah blah blah random crap I don't care about.Then we can count. Millinials MAYBE just MAYBE had it easier than boomers in SOME aspect. That's a big fat MAYBE. In terms of numbers however, that would factually be wrong. By that, I mean boomers have a longer list of advantages.	Fat	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/86	1.163
C 2nd link, 7 ways America is more expensive for millennials....again this is NOT about America, more shocking news for you, there are millennials all over the world and global economies impacts on all age groups. Try again, you still haven't provided one shred of proof that your generation has it HARDER then previous generations. Are you really trying to say that children born in the 1940's during and after the 2nd world war had it easier then you? Your arrogance and infantile demeanour is an insult to your parents and grandparents, get the fuck out of here.	Age	Age - General	1/98	1.02
Carfilliot You lack a brain. Boomers didn't have to deal with the 3+ years experience for entry level jobs when they were the age of current millinials. They also had jobs that paid more despite their lack of education. They were able to live middle class lives with just a highschool degree. All they needed was a highschool degree was the point. Do you seriously have trouble understanding that?They didn't have to deal with a catch-22 (i.e. we won't hire you without experience and no one is willing to give you experience in the first place)How old are you? I feel you've never had a job due to your younger age . You seriously have no idea how rough it is (yes, rougher than how boomers had it).	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	3/129	2.326

C lol, a little spoilt brat tells me to shut the fuck up and I'm supposed to do what exactly. Feel intimidated? That's sums up your generation perfectly, you actually BELIEVE you are so special lmfao, you want instant gratification, you are not prepared to work for years to get to the top of your chosen profession like previous generations had to. You live on a rainbow smelling roses and thinking because you think you are special that everyone else should think the same. You got a hard lesson to learn, you ain't special, I ain't special, nobody is special. If you want something, fucking work for it. You are avoiding the biggest issue here because you can't fight the facts, your generation was raised with far more privileges then those before you. No way can even a little fart like you provide evidence that those raised in the 40's had it better then you! There was a generation where 1000's of kids and their parents didn't even have a home, had ration books. Let's go back even further to when kids aged ten were having to work!!!! Don't you fucking dare make out that you and your fellow farts have had it harder then any other generation. Kids used to have to work on mills as young as 6, a lot even died!! You have got a real audacity making out that your generation has it's tougher then anyone ever had, you got no idea, what the fuck did they teach you lot in school? Let me guess, you were all far to busy looking at your cell phones to actually learn a damn thing about history!	Brat, Nobody	Age - Youngsters	2/278	0.719
C ps, I notice you have resorted to short, childish statements because you are really struggling to find anything remotely tangible to say to defend this mentality of 'we are the generation that has had it the hardest' nothing wrong with defeat, learn from it. Most of us learnt at a certain age that it does actually pay to listen and respect your elders, unfortunately your generation seems to think it knows best and would rather wallow in self pity rather then get of their backsides, grow up and become responsible adults.	Age, Nothing	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	2/92	2.174
Carfilliot Are you retarded? Above I posted nothing BUT rent statistics.It's YOUR damn turn to post stats. Can't even post one lmao	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/23	4.348
Carfilliot Again you stupid dumbass. POST STATS OR I WON'T BOTHER TO READ YOUR IGNORANT POSTS ANYMORE."Every generation is more priveledged than the last". The fuck? Back that up quantatively. How many god damn times do I have to say it? Do you have down syndrome?And by stats I mean of claims you make. Stop stating stupid shit as facts when you have NOTHING to back it up.I made it simple for you. I posted stats that show millenials have it worse with jobs and pay and rent. Simple. YOU have to prove THAT wrong. Economically speaking, I've already fucking shown how millenials have it worse.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/109	0.917

I'm not even going to bother reading the other replies. Anyone my age might have beat me to saying-DUMBASS!!! your generation still has to have LIVED long enough for your own screwups, and how dare you compare one generation to THREE generations? Crap, my generation didn't use leeches or crucify Jesus!! WTF!!	Age	Age - General	1/52	1.923
MrToradragon there's a lot of people with vested interests in keeping us using coal, from the mines themselves and the lobby groups that those companies own to everything that is tied to the petrodollar. There are countries and regions which will be bankrupt in no time if the price of oil or the petrodollar collapses, all they do is export oil. It is in their interests to wage war, assassinate, bribe and do everything to keep that black gold flowing.It's not as simple as you claim.There is not one little thing that halted adoption of green technology. Don't forget that battery technology is absolutely essential for effective green technology, that did not exist in the 50's. Massive investment is needed and there's no way that it will occur without it being required. Necessity is the mother of all invention and sadly, it's also the mother of investment. We do not do what we need to do until we are forced to do it because retooling factories costs a lot of money and there's groups that don't want to spend, they are shareholder controlled and profit is the primary driving factor.The same thing is stopping us today. "Big oil" would have us drinking oil if they could get away with it. The price will only increase, eventually as it's running out the price will skyrocket, follow the money.As for coal, we export the filthiest coal to developing nations. We claim to be environmentally friendly and burning only "clean coal", but then we sell the filthiest most polluting coal to others, so they can pollute. Exports need to be factored into pollution targets and evaluations. Nothing will change until the politicians do. We have the same problems we have always had.	Black, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black	2/293	0.683
Skull Vader. Destroy the world in two world wars, or make great sacrifices to save your future? I really doubt the millennials would have been able to stand up to Hitler. Don't bother to thank them though will you, you ungrateful, privileged little toe-rags. They didn't do anything to the housing market. They just saved every penny they had to buy a house. Not spending it on holidays and gadgets and cars and enough food to get obese in their twenties.	Obese	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/81	1.235
IF WW2 DIDN'T HAPPEN YOU'D BE UNDER NAZI GERMANY CONTROL RIGHT NOW!	Nazi	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/12	8.333

It's been proven that baby boomers are the most drug-affected generation of our time. No wonder they have a god complex and fail to make educated comparisons. Unless you live in a Scandinavian country your government has sold off most if not all essential services to the private sector. Despite the Red tape that our previous generations have obstructed our generation with we are the most educated. Gen X has the highest ranking debt, perplexing on how they think we're the entitled generation. Facebook was created by a millennial, can't think of a non-millennial invention that gets used so prominently. We are the reason this laughable discourse is taking place.	Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	2/110	1.818
Keyboard hero millineal typing. Your high on dopamine. Course Millennials didn't start World War communist countries did and we broke these communist countries and dictatorships so they wouldn't come over here and rape your snowflake ass and then shoot you so keep typing I think I hear your mama calling I think it's breastfeeding time go get your trophy boy	Communist, Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	3/60	5.0
No, millenials have yet to do anything at all, beyond whining and propping up Apple stocks. They will get their moment and be free to fuck up.	Apple	Ethnicity - Native-American	1/27	3.704
Mrschticky I lived it. You know nothing and just goes to show how much you have to learn. Good luck with your research because you never lived it. So take your bs down the road. When you are 60 and have some little know nothing 30 year old talking about things they read on the internet or taught in school,heard on tv,then you might have something to say about it.	Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	3/70	4.286
Maybe you will get lucky and drafted in to a war and be sure to take your pussycat, snowflake ego with you and see how it works out for you. You kids are too soft.	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/34	2.941
good take off your Millennial blinders off an open your Eyes. dumb -ASS-!	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/13	7.692

C The economy goes up and down for every generation. To say one generation broke it is just silly. Did they not teach you about the roaring 20's followed by the great depression? When I was young their were long lines as the gas pump. I't was almost impossible to get a job so I had to join the military. Every generation tries to make it better for their children like you will do for yours. What does destroy things like the housing market is greed not a generational thing. If you don't think anyone in your generation is capable of greed your sadly mistaken. Your generation has not ran it's race yet so don't think there will be mistakes made and everything is going to be rainbows and unicorns when you jump in the drivers seat. There will be good times and bad. The market will go up and then drop. There will be peace and war.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/158	0.633
C You guys had nothing to do with the doubling of the federal dept? Keep telling yourself that that story if it makes you feel good. You guys do go to the polls in the masses and I have to give you credit for that but the people you elect are spend spend spend. Tell me about these so called struggles? Do you have a roof over your head, food in your belly? Wondering where your next meal will come from is a struggle. How will I pay the rent is a struggle. You own a 800 dollar cell phone, computer, Xbox and every time a new one comes out ya got to have it. The Washington Post is a joke plus I could sit here like you and google my ass off to make my chase by picking and choosing stats and statistics from sources fitting my narrative. Yea we all sat around one day and said let's screw the next generation and double the cost of college. I could not afford college in my day and only the rich got to go. Now they have all kinds of programs to help you if applied for. If you fart around in high school and graduate with a D average don't cry a river of tears if you can't get one. I have seen first hand my fellow baby boomers loose there jobs by companies moving over seas for cheaper labor. I guess one day they all got together and said I got an idea let's screw ourselves and send our jobs to China, Mexico, Korea, and Indonesia. If you can't go out and get a factory job now with all the companies coming pack it's you that has the problem. Just curious what age range are you? Have you ever had a job and what age were you when you started it?	Age, Nothing	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	3/313	0.958

C Just like to know who I'm dealing with. that's all. Why don't you move to some place that will have the jobs your looking for? The Skunk Works down here in Texas is always looking. When I look at my niece and nephew who were showered with gifts and never had a job until they were in their mid twenties I just don't see having it hard. Asked them if they would work at The mall or a fast food joint for the summer the answer was hell no it was beneath them. Had their college paid for by a boomer by the way and just quite because it was to hard. Loved to hang out at the mall all the time and still do. Blames mom for everything and they still live at home. Could not pry that cell phone from their hands with a crow bar. Went to my brothers kids soccer game and asked what the score was and he said they don't keep score because someones feeling might get hurt. I guess another mistake we made was raising kids the way we did. Sorry to say this about that video but it speaks the truth. I do hope you millennial's can clean up the mess we made but still think you did not have it worse than other generations. By the way the greatest generation is the one that came out of the great depression with nothing and fought WW 11. The men went to war and the women to the factories and never complained. Some as young as 15 lied about their age to serve. I could not imagine storming the beach of Normandy at the age of 15. Every generation that followed owes them so much. Yes that is the title they use to refer to them.	Age, Crow, Nothing	Age - General, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black	4/304	1.316
2 world wars are a whole different debate. However let us just focus on plastic waste for a moment. You think that is a problem hundreds of years old ? Do you think people used anything like the fuel and other resources we use now 50 years ago?	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/47	2.128
Karen1963Yorks What the hell does to would wars have to do with it? That was the work of crazy Men in power. Do you think America woke up one day and said let's go to war for the hell of it. Don't they teach history anymore? Americans were isolationist and were pulled into those wars. It's easy to sit on the sidelines and bitch about something , Have not seen your dam generation doing anything about it. Do you own a cell phone. computer or xbox? Oil is used to make the plastic in these products. You could do your part by not going out and buying the next upgrade every year. Most of you won't drink from the faucets like my generation did and are always seen with the water bottles. Let's just shut down all the economies of the world until your generation stops bitching and finds a solution .	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/152	0.658
All humans suck. I don't care what your age is.	Age	Age - General	1/10	10.0

Oh dear another snowflake is getting upset. It must be very difficult playing the victim card 24/7. Never mind deary, go to your safe place and suck your thumb	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/29	3.448
What? Give them time..They're destroying this nation awfully fast. They're the laziest useless generation in history.They're passing F students and they cant live on their own.They're living with parents into their 30's..You still wanna go on idiot? Getting medals just for competing and coming in last. These sort of ridiculous ideals destroy you in the real world.Cuz you don't get a raise just cuz you want it.Or a job just cuz you say you should have it..You have to earn it and none of you can even work...Most have lost the use of their thumbs since they spend all their time texting instead of learning.Theres so much wrong with you all its mind boggling...Give it time man give it tiem.Your generation will be accused of much much more than the things you said.BTW- WWI really..None of us were alive even..WWII, ah America didn't start that either..Man you heard of pearl harbor..OMG WTF do you learn in school.. NOTHING ... You're all addicted to your phones.This is an illness.You need constant attention form people you do not even know..This is low self esteem.You have the highest depression and suicide rate in history of the world!!!! You're all on medication. You cannot even date. You can't talk to women, you can't interview, you can't read.. In the real world you cannot function..You graduate as idiots and they taught you nothing ..They pass you to get numbers for their PC shit.They don't wanna hurt you widdle biddle feelings but the world don't give a fuck.Other countries will destroy you in the job market and use your weakness against all of you..hahahah I love watching this Cuz you're all punks!!!! You deserve what you earned.. ZERO !!! Enjoy...	Nation, Nothing, Zero	Age - Youngsters, Nationality - General	4/279	1.434
That is because they are too dumb and lazy to do any of that.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/14	7.143

MissFoxification You can't say nothing because they had a choice. The last gen removed corporal punishment, spoiled their kids and regret not being able to punish their kid for wrongdoings and now they run over parents.A bunch of children trying to be parents of more children. All a game for controversy and hate between a generation that the last created. Now, a lot of the old heads think they can talk trash but, sadly they missed the conclusion they are the root of this problem.Only thing humans do is complain about problems they made and never take responsibility for it. Last gen= Failure parent genThis gen= product of failed parenting.	Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	2/113	1.77
Carfilliot let's see how many jobs does a person need now a days just to get by like two? How many young people are living with there parents past age 25? If you honestly think millennials are lazy you obviously been living under a rock.	Age	Age - General	1/45	2.222
Carfilliot Privileges and toys? What fucking privilege? Back then when I was growing up, if you fucked up you went to CIC for 24 hours(if your parents don't pick you up after that 24 hours you went to juvenile detention)(sentenced to it until your fine is paid up) and got smacked with a fine that the judge made sure the kid worked off. I didn't get shit easy, I didn't get shit handed to me unless on my birthday and Christmas and that fucking toy was a fucking plastic capgun or a toy from a garage sale. You act like all of us had it easy ya spook . I went to school for a damn trade and became a cement mason. At 14-16 I had to fucking beg like a dog, just to get a workers permit. You queers only see what the media shows you. Come to oklahoma every kid is raised in the old generations standards. And we'll call out parents who let their kids run over them.	Old, Spook	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Black	2/171	1.17
MissFoxification Turd tinted glasses? Bias? Except I work for everything I have and been working since I was 6. Fuck out of here. I was entitled to a ass whooping, and nothing else if it wasn't earned. All I see is old heads bitch about millennials from facebook to YouTube. You're as big of a hypocrite as I thought. Each gen is supposed to shape the future into something better, not make it worst or bitch about it when y'all made these weak ass kids wanting gratification from their failures. Looking in from the outside and trying to judge the one's picking up the pieces of a failure gen. Reagan brought y'all the drug war. Nixon gave y'all Watergate, Kennedy in bed with the mafia, Bill's countless sex crimes. Bush's war on Iraq/Afghanistan for fucking oil. All beneficial factors of why this generation is complete shit. Good try though trying to call me bias. History tells the truth when the dirt is cleared from the reality of what the victors wanted it to be. children playing pretend as adults. Truly pathetic.	Nothing, Old, Sex	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	3/181	1.657
Dee Mac your anecdotal evidence means nothing . Why are you so mad, Can't you you provide evidence? Oh wait....	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/20	5.0

C becuse you go and pay worthless degree. 50000$ for gender studies.	Gender	Gender - General	1/12	8.333
Typical ignorant statement from a do-nothing, entitled, empty-headed liberal slag . Go back to the basement stupid, Skull Vader.	Slag	Gender - Female sexuality	1/18	5.556
Lol they only live at home because they choose a useless degree like liberal arts or gender studies. They cry and whine if things don't go their way and need their safe spaces to deal with stuff.	Gender	Gender - General	1/37	2.703
I'm going to have to politely disagree with you on that one. I work in the same exact job as my grandfather did and if we factor in inflation I make 15 dollars less an hour than he did at my age . He also received medical without having to pay in and a sweet pensions. All of those I am not offered. Bc of today's inflated prices, lower wages, and skyrocketing tuition my wife and I work full time while paying $1300 a month in day care for our 2 children. A majority of boomers did not have to deal with those issues. I'm not here to say your generation was given everything. I'm simply here to state that my generation has a variety of obstacles that have made generating income and securing a future more complicated than the previous 60 years of Americans life. Millennials as a whole are not weak and unproductive. Individuals no matter what generation are weak unproductive.	Age	Age - General	1/162	0.617
TFOH w that crazy comment-	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/5	20.0

I was on your side until you mentioned 2 world wars, particularly as I grew up with all of the benefits my fathers generation left us in the UK from the welfare state they voted for in 1945, including full university grants which no longer exist. I've seen how much my Nieces struggled after that was taken away, wasn't my Dad's fault, he didn't vote for the politicians that helped cause the crash and was quite advanced on environmental issues for his time, after the War all he cared about was helping rebuild and providing housing for everyone, especially after what he'd seen in Europe, even won an award for insulating the houses for his Local Authority in the early 1980's before he retired.I can't believe my father spent 4 years in a POW camp in Austria, and ended up with PTSD, which it's obvious he had, so you can spout such bile about his generation-Hitler had to be stopped-perhaps he should have been stopped sooner, though you've no idea the impact WW1 had on the UK, nearly a million soldiers killed and more wounded, some permanently disabled , in a country a fifth the size of the US which only lost 100k, no wonder they were reluctant to go to war again-in France, Russia and Germany the death toll in WW1 was even higher. The previous generation before my father, my Great Uncle died at the start of WW1 stopping the Germans before they reached Paris, he had just left the Army as one of the few sources of employment in the Scottish Highlands at the time and after learning a trade, and was about to start living his life when he was recalled when the Germans invaded Belgium. My Grandfather was invalided out during that war too.	Disabled	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/299	0.334
--	----------	---	-------	-------

Let me tell you older generations out there about my 'Millennial Life so far... I graduated High- School in California in 2008, the beginning of the end for America's economic golden years. I worked through High-School. (Sometimes more than was actually legal for my age at the time) After Graduation I had to work two jobs that payed DIRT! Still, I was not even able to support myself, let alone even hope for a chance for college (that was just given and expected for ALL generations before me). I became homeless. I remedied the situation by joining the military. Through my service I acquired the RIGHTFUL benefits that come with it, however I was injured during the course of my time there. Despite my benefits I had to work for, I'm now permanently disabled for the rest of my life. I don't get a new back or a new brain. This is my life now, and it all began when my future was ROBBED FROM ME BY GREEDY FUCKING BABY-BOOMERS BACK IN 2008. When you baby-boomers say that MY GENERATION IS MESSED UP, YOU DID IT. HAVE ONLY YOURSELVES TO BLAME! As a matter of fact, you people are the first generation that will die off and leave us with more problems than you actually solved. If there is any generation that can be branded 'The Worst Generation' as you've so kindly given us... It is you, the baby boomers that clearly take the cake. I truly can't wait for you fuck-heads to die off and leave us in peace after all you've done. My life may have already been ruined, but at the very least we millennials can protect Gen-Z from you bastards.	Age, Disabled	Age - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/284	0.704
DIO the only "good hand" one needs is common sense. I have a friend who graduated college 2 years ago and makes 15$ an hour. Not bad, for a single guy.. but he started at 14 and some change.. and he's in crazy school loan debt. Worst part is, his job has nothing to do with his major. He had to go to whoever was hiring first just so he could pay bills. I'm just about to finish my trade school doing what I like, and I'll start minium 18hr gauranteed , or can make above 30 (low end) if I work for myself. It depends on my drive lol. Most I'll have to pay is 3k in loans. He had the "college experience" - which is cool and has that piece of paper, but companies aren't gonna step you up to the big bucks right off the bat just because you have a diploma. It takes many many years and perhaps asskissing. It's been like that for decades. I don't see how people still don't see the college scam. I saw it when I was in high school	Common, Crazy, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments, Social Class - Working class	3/189	1.587

This dumb video does not describe us Millennials at all! He has us confused with the wrong freaking generation ROTFLMAO!!!! Majority of us Millennials are nothing like these ridiculous people or who was described in this insult of a video. The biggest problem I see is that many of you people are confusing us Millennials with the wrong generation like the guy who made this speech. We are not teenagers who live with our parents... We don't demand bean bags and free stuff... WTF??? Most of us are in our late 20's to early 40's now. We have careers, families and many of us run businesses. He was wrong about when Millennials were born. Gen Z aka Centennials or iGen born after 1995 are the 18-22 year old college students and young entitled little snowflake nutjob teenagers just now entering the workforce. The Center for Generational Kinetics states we Millennials were born between 1977 to 1995. Funny how the person who created Youtube is also Millennial. Yet this person made a video insulting Millennials on a platform created by Millennials LMAO! We Millennials grew up in the era of technological advancement. We Millennials are the ones who made all these technological inventions that you older generations and the young entitled little iGen are now lucky to have and take advantage of. As a Millennial I will tell you I am far from being lazy, I've never received any participation trophy, I had to work hard for everything that I have. Many of us are self centered yes. We were just getting started in our careers when the great recession hit and destroyed millions of our jobs. We were forced to learn how to become self sufficient and sacrifice while living minimalist lives. We were forced to do all the shit jobs. Many of us didn't even know what getting a raise was like. The economy just now recovered the past couple of years. I myself struggled in poverty and had to work hard to move up in life. We are probably the most determined generation alive right now. Determined to get what we were robbed as a younger adult. Many of us are more determined to do things for ourselves. That is why there are massive amounts of self employed Millennials too. Because we do not trust working for and making other people rich. We believe we can do it ourselves. Many of us who are self employed work FAR more hours than those of you who work a simple comfortable 9-5 slave job. We are willing to work harder for ourselves rather than make someone else rich while they just discard us when they no longer need us or when shit hits the fan we are the first to suffer like what happened to us in 2007-2008. GenZ don't know nothing about this and are very entitled and always want things handed to them. They are entering the workforce in the middle of an economic boom. They don't know what it is like to struggle or not have internet or a handheld device or what it is like without social media and the digital world. GenZ are the ones calling for $15 an hour. They are the ones who want everything handed to them not us.	Dumb, Nothing, Old, Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	5/547	0.914
---	-------------------------------	---	-------	-------

I didn't get a cellphone until after I graduated high school. I've never had any kind of social media. But, I still have all of these problems. Probably because I have mild Asperger's syndrome. I do have OCD and ADHD. And I've suffered depression two or three times, for months on end. I can't have meaningful friendships because nothing registers with me any deeper than a fleeting emotional level.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/69	1.449
I hear a lot of whining over no respect for Millenials. Truth is; at 50 years old , I still have to deal with the older Generation and show respect, while youth treats my Generation with none. Moral of the story you ask? Those doing the most bitching, and regardless of age , most People in general are selfish whiny Cunts. Get over yourselves	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	2/62	3.226
Since the new millennia started at year 2000(duh), a "Millennial" would be one born Jan 1, 2000 or after. Therefore, they are NOT old enough to really be in the workplace. What you are talking about is something like Gen X(or Y or Z or whatever)	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/46	2.174
34K people are millenials lmfaoLike honesty, if you can't see the logic in this video you are part of the problem. Most kids these days are being raised to demand free this, free that, easier this, easier that. Then when they don't get that free this and easy that, they blame the government and make up conspiracies while getting high, especially in cities like Denver, Austin and Portland. Everyone born after the 2000's is basically destined to grow up depressed and really disappointed unless they are truly blessed, because this utopia they want denies all laws of economics and literal brain chemistry.And I don't say this because I watched a video or read a Facebook meme. And in fact, that's where you probably get your information if you disagree with this video. I say this because I used to be one of those entitled kids after I turned 18 four years ago, demanding the rich pay for my livelihood and screaming for the government to be taken down. Thank God I have a family to tell me to get my shit together and strive to be better without demanding it for doing nothing .Again, if you disagree, you're probably one of those lazy and uneducated radical-liberals that smokes weed on a daily basis, gets your information from Facebook, and thinks they're solving the worlds problems simply by existing. Get a grip.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/233	0.429

No company is going to work "extra hard to build their confidence"! That is never going to happen! Companies will retain hard, productive workers, and fire those that lag behind. To any millennial who reads this: The best advice I can give is that when you get a job hit the floor running, work hard, be productive, be cooperative and collaborative, rise to every challenge, ask for help when you need it, keep your supervisor up to date on your progress, and don't lose heart because the real world is tough for everybody. Take ownership and responsibility for your own life; don't expect anybody else to lift you up. Not only will nobody do that but the desire for that sort of thing reveals an internal and revolting emotional weakness. Roll up your sleeves, purge any emotional weakness you have, work hard and you'll make it through just fine. Whine and blame everybody else if you have problems, and you will go nowhere. If you do the latter, you will realize very late in life what a terrible mistake you made and kick yourself every day until you pass away.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/190	0.526
--	--------	---------------------	-------	-------

Don't forget the effect of the breakdown of the family and single parent households. Many good points. However, you can't fix anybody's psychological issues by telling them that it is someone else's fault or that they have been dealt a bad hand. Most will then use that as an excuse to continue to justify their failures. As a manager I see this everyday. Instead, they should be encouraged to take ownership of their lives, put their lives in order, set and achieve sequential goals to an ultimate objective, and build their skills. In other words, they need to be empowered with the knowledge that their own success is in their own hands, regardless of what hand they have been dealt. Every generation has grown up with parental issues. The generation previous to the baby boomers grew up under harsh economic conditions and treated their children (boomers) severely. The boomers then compensated for this by being too lenient with their children. Now their children (Gen. X, Millennials, etc.) will compensate in new ways, generating more problems. This is nothing new. The only thing that can break this cycle is for life ownership to be encouraged and to stop blaming others.I have seen my fellow managers (and myself at times) try to implement something like what this presenter advocates; a corporate management/culture style that seeks to nurture individuals that cannot, or refuse to, learn how to standup and press on each time they get knocked down. It does not work. It fails miserably each time. Besides that, it is wholly impractical to spend excessive amounts of time holding the hands of large numbers of workers and attempting to normalize their emotional states to what is needed to maintain a business or organization viable in the real world. The resources to do that are too expensive and too time consuming. Any business that does this will be rapidly consumed, like beacon at buffet full of fat people, by other businesses and corporations.	Fat, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical Features	2/330	0.606
Btw there is a age limit on social media just not 18+	Age	Age - General	1/12	8.333
This is done by someone who is OBVIOUSLY ignorant of TRUE psychological and addiction problems. He has been educated by Faux News morons who believe the rich are entitled to EVERYTHING for doing NOTHING and those who work their a$$e$ OFF aren't entitled to decent wages, benefits OR ANY advancement because those workers do NOT work hard enough.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/58	1.724
I am 26 years old and I work my ass off. You are an asshole and an idiot!	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/18	5.556
Giving kids access to portable communication devices is like giving them drugs and alcohol ?k den	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	1/16	6.25

I hate how millennials are made to look like they're all hipster and like what everyone else likes. Fuck off I dont. People act like we cant get off our phone but if their was something else entertaining I'm sure we would easily. There's nothing fun and every job now sucks ass. It's a waste of life to be a cubical worker of sorts	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/64	1.562
If the education system exposed their students to psychology at an early age and continued to teach it, these would resolve most if not all of the problems explained in this video. Parents would know how to deal with difficult children and put them in a well balanced environment. They would know how to discipline a child without being hostile, difficult, or aggressive, which has the potential to mitigate stress. Which would allow them to learn better. The schools would know to teach students how to deal with stress and anger, and not algebra and the anatomy of the cell. This would mitigate mental health issues suck as, depression, anxiety, and possibly crime (however, before I continue their are numerous factors that contribute to crime). The education system would also allow students to study what they are interested in and in their own way instead of a one way fits all system. Psychology would teach corporations how to build a working environment that would benefit their employees overall well being and productivity (however we are in some ways already seeing this with google and other big tech companies) instead of their paycheck. That being said, it would positively influence the world and every decision someone makes.	Age, Mental	Age - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/206	0.971
The international millennial As great people like the baby boomers die off the millennials destroy the very way of life that they worked so hard to build Millennials demand free hand outs and will give nothing in return Millennials are the scavengers of the world If there is something wrong with the country you'll find millennials on the job there This is all coming from a millennial or a deplorable Either word works	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/73	1.37

Cough. Citations needed. Cos the ones coming into our workforce are in their phones too often, have zero common sense or a clue of what to do if not told very specifically.They ARE very good at claiming conditions/food/breaks/rules aren't fair and why is promotion seemingly impossible..My partner has interviewed so many to fill a post with great opportunities multiple times. It was embarrassing how poor the candidates were at presenting themselves, being on time, having a clue about being prepared for an interview. Ridiculous. We found a gem but had to work so hard at getting her confidence up, getting her to speak without a script. She'll be successful but she's still crippled with anxiety and had attacks in office. I spent 2 hours on phone the last time talking things through. To suggest participation trophy, you're special, be whatever you want and the lunacy of the parents blaming teachers for bad behaviours/bad results (My sister said parents attacking teachers was biggest problem as disciplining a kid whose default was 'you can't do that, it's assault/bullying etc' was the norm) has had no effect is laughable. No wonder she went to teach at University but she's as liberal and left as we'll ever see...	Common, Zero	Age - Youngsters, Social Class - Working class	2/205	0.976
"a wave of young people who can't hack it in the real world." Every generation reshapes the "real world" that's what time and change does to "reality" you should be way more worried that you can't hack it in their world. It's not about previous generations giving them purpose millennials will redefine purpose and impact and achievement. And there's nothing you can do about that because they're already at the age they will figure this stuff out without your generation. If I were you I'd be more worried what they might think of the pension system that's currently in place and designed in an unsustainable manner instead of trying to fix something a little too late to fix. You can't put a band aid on change and you can't try to teach people to be more like how it "used" people from the 50's didn't succeed in teaching people from the 70's either what hubris do you have to think a seminar will achieve anything other than a nice drawing on youtube and a few laughs for an audience?	Age, Nothing	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	2/179	1.117
Weak North American pussy parenting and too much coddling produced a generation of whiny little babies.Bring back the draft!!!	pussy	Nationality - Chinese	1/20	5.0
Upon watching this, this is maybe 1/5th of millennials. The rest of us just want things to be like they used to when we were kids; uncomplicated, real, tangible. Obsessing over a stereotype (the loudest one, with the most recognition) puts the rest of us in a weird spot. How about we just start treating millennials like people, fix the whole "we make 20 less than you do on average" issue, fix the housing market, fix the— oh wait. You guys ruined everything for us and expect us to just figure it out.	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/93	1.075

they're not really that weak, tbh most of the people in history have lead untested lives - it's bound to happen when you grow up, get married, and die two miles from the spot you were born. you don't develop character in a vacuum - you have to be able to get something out of being a fucking person of character for it to be desirable being an accountable, responsible, "greatest generation" type a la Jordan Peterson's ideal hasn't been a priority for a while. (my suspicion is it was never REALLY priority number one for any civilization). if anything, you'll be looked at as a weird Dudley DoRight type who thinks he more pious than everyone around him asking people to cultivate values that are "their own reward", i.e. not at all pragmatic or suited to life in the now, is asking people to set themselves up for failure and be glad when it comes. the world has had enough fucking idealistic martyrs to last until the end of time - it's BETTER that we don't see many these days	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/181	0.552
I went to Costco recently. Everybody working there was above the age of 40. Nobody was young. This video does have merrit.	Age, Nobody	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	2/22	9.091
I hate to break it to the speaker, but corporations do not old the responsibility to coddle and nurture and re-train millennials. I agree that many millennials were raised with failed parenting techniques, but many were not. Those who didn't learn the correct life lessons from their parents have the responsibility to learn them for themselves, not expect their employers to acquiesce to their demands or create some societal rehabilitation programs for them.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/73	1.37

Go fuck yourself you old assbat! You dont know shit! You arent any better. We work hard every day harder to fight old assbats like you. Who tough their parents to use technology, or the tv, or literally being a better person. Your a raging jerk who likes to make himself feel better by insulting younger generations bc your mad you arent the cool new generation. Just shut up you pompous dick, your generation was all smokers and drinking, stealing and doing crimes, your generation GREW UP LET KIDS BE HAPPY. Like STOP POUNDING ON KIDS BC YOU ARE DICKS AND HATE SEEING A NEW GENERATION BECOME SUCCESSFUL. But hey what do i know im just a kid i guess? Huh? Im just here on my phone, where your VIDEO IS and where your career is, we have deep friendships you cock, you are shittig on the fact you got PAID BC PEOPLE WATCHED THIS ON THEIR FUCKING PHONES. Your a dick with many problems, if anything, you need help and you have problems, you have this complex of "new MEANS BAD BAD BAD MY GEN WAS BETTER!!!" You sound like a kid, a spoiled his saying his shit is better. Judging others lives on the smallest shit bc your a fucking blind assbat unable to understand how others think and feel. Your a nutcase grandpa go sit down. Your a terrible person. Anyone watching this, its a lie, hes a dick and all he says it shitty self centered person	Blind, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/251	1.195
- This lack of race diversity in your presentation, how dare you? Im triggered ! My feelings are suuuuper hurt, i demand compensation and more inclusion in this, because im a victim of the system !	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/36	2.778
The old past the Buck game. Look up modern slavery fantasy of freedom.	Buck, Old	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Black	2/13	15.385
There is much more than just that.I remember when I grew up, kids used to do summer or weekend jobs.Simple things like pick straw berries in the summer, warehouse sweeper or deliver commercial ad papers in the mail.When we wanted to go to a music festival or buy needs for our hobbies, we took a small job for it.Many of those jobs are now outsourced.To give an example from my own area, those strawberry companies now just hire guest workers from the East.So children today often have a hard time finding work, not learning the value of money, the feeling of accomplishment.Today, more than before we have people who never had a job before they were 25 or even older.This can't be healthy for their mental development.	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/135	0.741

Most of the bad comments on this video seems that didn't watch the entire video or didn't get the main message. He is not criticizing the Millennial. He is not blame them at all. He clearly points out that "Millennial had a bad hand", that covers clearly problems like educational debt and general state of modern corporation environment. He tries several times to empower and shows how difficult, in fact, is to be a young adult on our current difficult times. This speech is a call to action for new and old generations, to help each other.I don't get most of the comments here that seems to state exactly the opposite of what the speaker is actually saying.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/119	0.84
The parents that raised millennials are a big part of the problem... I work as a 911 dispatcher and I can't tell you how many calls I get from parents asking me how they can get their adult child age 24-33 to leave their house... They tell me "the kid" refuses to get a job. Yes they call them kids lol. It's crazy	Age, Crazy	Age - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/63	3.175
This video is based upon false information. The millennials are 25 to 35 year old in 2018. A generation living in the now and not the past. Every generation has people with problems and nobody is going to lie about that but the millennials are not what this video maker thinks to be describing.	Nobody, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	2/54	3.704
Of course old generations always say the new ones suck. But is it a coincidence that with every new generation America seems to go backwards? People don't work hard or show pride in their work anymore and want big pay to sit around and be lazy. A trip out in public or even a social media site will also show you that we have become a meaner, harsher society. The way people talk to each other, family members etc. is crazy . And lets not talk about race relations now...holy crap! But yup...newer generations are making the world a better place. lol	Crazy, Old, Race	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/101	2.97
Yeah im a dye my hair green become a transgender and start a movement...this generation is the last one	Transgender	Sexual Identity - Transexuality	1/19	5.263
I'm a millennial and as much my generation hates to admit it, this video is very true. What we need is Jesus more than anything else but this world hates him and would rather have nothing to do with. But what does a man profit if he gains the world and loses his own soul?	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/55	1.818

I'm 23 and work 40 hours a week and 5 days a week.I never got a participation trophy for anything.A lot of the people I work with go to school and work.I'm not quite sure what the older generations expect from us because I live in California and know and see a lot of working class people my age .How about the geezers with the chip on their shoulders learn to properly use their $1000 phone without bothering Millennials before criticizing us? :)	Age	Age - General	1/86	1.163
Seriously, this sort of crap really pisses me off. Every generation in history has had it's failings & bad points, so why does everyone seem to insist on attacking & criticizing Millennials in particular? How about you Simon, and everyone who does this, take a look closer to home & have a critical look at your own generation first, before slandering anyone else's, as like I said, nobody is perfect, you know, he who casts the first stone & all?	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/80	1.25
Super Saiyan Rose Kaulefla Possibly but the economy will still need to go on and while they are identifying as cucumbers and studying lesbian dance theory, someone is going to need to fill the roles.	Lesbian	Sexual Identity - Female homosexuality	1/35	2.857
Super Saiyan Rose Kaulefla There is no arguing that for sure but until identifying as inanimate objects and studying gender studies makes the stock market money, I think we will be good.	Gender	Gender - General	1/32	3.125
I work at a beautiful, upscale, historic hotel. One evening, I observed a mid-twenty-ish guy and woman having dinner. Both were on their cell phones, rarely even made eye contact or spoke to each other. This was very disheartening to experience. Simon's analysis certainly held true for that situation.	Woman	Gender - General	1/49	2.041
TheMrKonkas I didn't hear millennial laughter, the people sounded like they are 40 - 50 years old . Most likely Gen-X'ers. They're kinda out of touch with reality. But worse is the boomers, they're wildly out of touch.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/37	2.703
Wow, an old fart accusing the next generation of being lazy, disrespectful, unethical and entitled. They're sure to ruin the world. Where did I hear that before? Oh, yeah, from EVERY SINGLE GENERATION in written human history. I guarantee you, this dude's parents said the very same thing about his generation. But I'm sure this time it has substance to it, not just the bitterness of not being able to keep up with change anymore.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/75	1.333

Wow that sucks! You need to grow up then. I was born in the mid 1980's (1984) and I am really nothing like these people are describing me to be! I am too busy to text for one thing a lot of the times and I have work and school to deal with STILL! So there goes THAT stereotype!	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/59	1.695
Lívia Maria that's not a generational problem. It's an issue a majority of people struggle with at every age group.	Age	Age - General	1/20	5.0
Mr. Friendship All the doctors are brainwashed to believe a pill can fix depression and then profit from giving you drugs to make you stupid in the head only to charge you again for repeat business. The phone and data is just a distraction, I agree that social skills have diminished due to technology.	doctors	Nationality - General	1/54	1.852
kutoo12 are you a millennial? They were born from 1981-1996.cell phones weren't even a thing until I was in high school. The Nokia brick came out when I was in 9th grade. The Internet didn't even start until the mid 90's. I personally think the guy in the video might be a millennial. He didn't even get the age right.	Age	Age - General	1/60	1.667
I don't like being condescended to. Condescension is a hallmark of corporations and authority, because most humans in power positions tend to be shitty leaders. I have met great leaders and have followed them without question because I believe in their character, and they had proven they were capable, but I have witnessed too much shitty leadership to just bow down. I was brought up with the adage "do unto others as you would have done onto you" and as such, I am a very respectful person, but you better believe it a asshole is an asshole to me I will sass the fuck out of some old fossil and completely disregard his entitlement to respect due to his status as a fucking dinosaur. I realize that respect even in dubious circumstances is a sign of wisdom but damn, some elders never learned to treat others like humans or some modicum of decency. I will admit i was annoyed at the video in the beginning only because it was full of sweeping judgments that didn't seem to end and the audiences unquestioning agreement perturbed me, but the explanation at the end is probably something most people don't stick around to listen to.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/202	0.495

kutoo12 Thanks, I feel so entitled. Even though I grew up poor, constantly being told that I would amount to nothing yet I proved them wrong, albeit out of spite, and still graduated in addition to taking nothing but honors or AP courses during my last two years of high school. I feel sooooo entitled that in order to avoid crippling school debt I decided to spend the past 8 years of my life getting shit on in the military to get the GI bill as well as accumulate valuable work experience to build my resume with. Indeed, tell me how entitled I am when Im pretty sure you and the baby boomers here complaining about us like their generation doesn't have their share of entitled assholes [newsflash dipshits, they're actually the entitled assholes] as if millennials are the ONLY generation with that trait.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/144	1.389
R P Yup. There are those who think respect is given just because of age or rank, etc., then there are those who know that respect is only earned. My first team leader had never gotten that threw his head. Ooh, you are younger than me and got your 5 first? Cool, you enlisted years before I did, can't meat 4 years time in service in 11 months, dumbass. If you want to throw around who earned what when, I earned NCO from a different branch while he was still shitting his diapers.	Age	Age - General	1/93	1.075
Thomas Fisherson Or you are just a dipshit that doesn't understand what criticism is. It is positive, negative and neutral comments for improvement. I got it all the fucking time since preschool at age 2 at least, I get more of it in 1 day of duty than you get in a year.	Age	Age - General	1/53	1.887
Some people simply cannot accept the reality and make up a fantasy they see fit to endure the depression they are in.For real. If someone is totally happy, you avoided all the pitfalls that this clip is telling about, that is wonderful, but it does not unmake the reality that this clip shows that is true for a lot of people in that age group.If you had the "pleasure" to work with any person that this clip fits on, you know EXACTLY why its a tremendous danger that cannot be ignored.If left unchecked and ignored, it will grow and infect more people, more families and make an even less capable society.	Age	Age - General	2/114	1.754

Had to stop watching around 4:30 when the analogy between social media and alcohol is used. This is clearly based primarily on bias with little to no facts being used. You're using your own preferred examples such as participation trophies and being told you're special when in reality none of that will detriment a child's growing psychological state. You know what effects a child's psychological state? Getting spanked and hit by your parents (who're supposed to be your protectors) when you act out of line, something most millennials are all against because physical abuse only proves that you're incapable of finding a solution with words like a functioning human being would. I know a lot of millennials who are hard working, intelligent, good natured people. I think you're taking a group of people (entitled, lazy) that have been around since the stone ages and saying 'THIS IS THE ENTIRE MILLENNIAL GENERATION.'	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	1/151	0.662
--	---------	---------------------------------	-------	-------

what the millennials don't know is that Love doesn't mean what they think it means all the way through life - it means different things at different stages of life - and they don't know that "job fulfillment is pretty much a pipe dream and that self confidence ebbs and flows with real accomplishment and real failure and that financial stress, relationship and family stress and work related stress are not unusual at all but are in fact the very reality of life experience and that looking for or needing a dopamine fix is not an excuse for immature behavior or unfounded conclusions and that tobacco and alcohol and gambling are fun but NONE of those things are to blame for their sense of being unfulfilled or of making an impact. The fact is that millennials are really no different from any other generation. They are learning that life isn't what they thought it would be when they were in grade school, high school, college. It was no different for their parents nor for their grandparents. Life out in the real world is challenging to put it mildly and that is where the real learning begins. That is where they learn to cooperate and to form friendships or at least alliances with others (of all different ages and races and belief systems - yes even old white people) because life is impossible otherwise - and tragically that is where suicide rears its ugly head. Millennials are not special - they have no insights, no wisdom, no solutions any more than their parents and grandparents did. Life is a journey - sounds trite but it is true. Happiness and fulfillment are not a destination - they are merely and hopefully stops along the way in the journey of life and the reality of difficult life resumes after the intermittent moments of fun and pleasure are over and then its back to real life. Here in USA 90 of working adults live for the weekends. They (we) crowd as much distraction and pleasure as we can afford between 5pm Friday and 9PM Sunday. Then its back to work and the normal stresses that make up and take most of their time and energy 9 to 5 M thru F...Every generation thinks it is special - life is more difficult for them than it was for their parents and grandparents and "if the old people weren't such losers..." Life is what you make of it kids - stop your complaining and get busy living.	Old, alcohol	Age - Over 65s, Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	3/421	0.713
don't you " lump " all people who were born in the 50's and the 60's together whenever you complain about " old people" and "previous generations"? I think you do. My comment merely states that really there are no significant differences between the millennial people and the people who came before them. Humans are all the same. Same hopes and dreams and at some point the same regrets and memories. The only thing that ever changes is technology ie; speed of communication. Abuse and misuse of those technologies is yet another "proof" that human beings are unchanged. We humans are essentially the same as we were more than 4,000 years ago.	Lump, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical Features	2/109	1.835

51Dss Being the first generation with access to unlimited knowledge can change your humanity, it can change a lot of things. Everyone assumes that millennials that look on twitter or Facebook just assume we're looking at dumb memes or food pics, but really most people use media like this to tap into music or give them ideas to create other forms of art like video games or paintings, you name it. I'm not going to deny that their are millennial drones who can't survive ten minutes without their phones, but there's so many more millennials that are better than that, and it sucks to be generalized like this. Society looks down upon us for using what's been given to us, we're told to put our ideas in the trash because fuck your dreams. No one wants you here, your not special. We're told that everyday, for all our lives. All we ask is for a little encouragement, because we've had it engrained in our heads that life sucks, so we escape to our hobbies like playing video games or looking for music or art softwares, only to be told that our hobbies are wrong, that we are wrong for enjoying whatever subject and if we don't stop we are going to shamefully on the streets sad and alone, and so, that happens.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/222	0.45
---	------	---	-------	------

You are whining - complaining about your own parents and grandparents because they have something you think you are entitled to have without having to work for it. Nobody gave your parents or grandparents their houses. They worked hard, spent their money wisely and no doubt sacrificed a lot in order to pay off the mortgages on their houses. Diligence, sacrifice, hard work is what it takes to build a life for yourself. You have a good mind and sound body (I presume) and the only thing standing in your way is your own lack of motivation and I suspect that is merely the result of having unrealistic expectations. It is likely that your parents and grandparents didn't bother with notions of "making a difference in the world" - at least not as a primary motivating factor. They set their sights on building a family and providing for their family and they went to work every day in order to build their wealth. All for the sake of having a family. This is how you "make the world a better place". Working hard, paying your bills on time, having children and rearing them in an environment where they learn to value education, hard work, love and respect for themselves and others - THIS is how you make the world a better place. Hanging out in coffee shops, getting tattoos, marching in large groups (demonstrating) and shouting out grievances that have nothing to do with the fact of your unemployment or your apparent lack of property ownership, complaining about the unfairness of life are not how you make the world a better place. Life is unfair - that's just the plain fact of it. I can tell you life was no easier for your parents and grandparents that it will be for you. Get over it and get on with building something for yourself while you're still young - otherwise you won't have anything when you get old and there won't be anyone else to blame but yourself for that..	Nobody, Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	3/339	0.885
--	----------------------	----------------------------------	-------	-------

I doubt seriously that you work harder than your grandparents ever did. But if you're going with that narrative so be it. Most working class people (like your parents and grandparents from what you said) have at some point worked multiple jobs in order to make ends meet. Like most working class people I did. In fact there was one year when I worked 3 jobs. I was 18 and out on my own with my 17 year old wife. I worked 4 graveyard shifts a week stocking groceries, worked 5 days per week at Western Auto running the stock room, managing inventory and selling tires and auto service and I was working some evenings and weekends steam cleaning carpets. After a year of that I was pretty much worn out but I was about to get drafted so I joined the Air Force - had my 19th birthday in Basic Training - 1969. The thing is that none of this has anything at all to do with how happy or "satisfied" I felt about my life. I was too busy trying to make something for myself to think about happiness. Home ownership, material wealth, money, marriage...none of that has anything at all to do with happiness. The people who are busy with building something for themselves, family, education, community involvement etc do not have a general feeling of being unhappy. They're too busy living life. It's the journey that matters - I know that sounds trite - like something you see on a damn bumper sticker - but it's true. Here's the evidence of that truth. It is human nature that once we acquire or accomplish one thing we almost immediately turn to something else to go after. So IMHO the trick is to set your sights and use your energy working toward worthy goals. The most precious asset you and I have is time and for you Youth. I'm old now. I'm not working much but I do have a lifetime of experience - the good and the bad - to look back on. If I die tomorrow so be it. At least I will die knowing that I took what life handed me and turned it into MY life. I for one do not think of young people as all lazy and all this or that...I mean think about it..that would include my own grandkids and great grandkids. There were plenty of lazy, whiny, drug addled, misinformed, irresponsible people in my generation too...as I said before there really is nothing new or unique about your generation. You face the very same challenges that every generation before yours has faced. My last point - try practicing what you preach with regard to "lumping all members of a particular generation" together. It's not true - and you should know that by now. Good luck to you	Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	3/477	0.629
We'd be fine without any of u old ignorant fucks	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/10	10.0
Easy solution, don't sell smartphones to people under the age of 13. If you're under that age , you only get a phone to make calls and text. No internet access or apps.	Age	Age - General	2/32	6.25

September 18, 2018: Like a good western, millennials (their parents/grandparents) should be shot at sundown! Most are cold-hearted atheists who have little respect for lawmakers, the neighbor or anything that remotely symbolizes traditional values. I've lived near many of them for an entire year, and they are all the same. Their god is SELF, yet they hide behind social issues to mask their black hearts. They are fearless and arrogant leeches and parasites....soulless. Their obsession with sexual taboos and the VAMPIRE is quite accurate! Their cries for peace and goodwill come from a black abyss that is rooted in rebellion against a holy God. Their bite is like that of a King Cobra....wolves in sheep's clothing.	Black, Sexual	Ethnicity - Black, Gender - General	3/116	2.586
Now that you've over generalized an entire group of people based on age , now lets do another one. What can we say about all black people, or all women... wait a minute... maybe overgeneralized, sweeping statements about an entire group of people is a bad idea. Your explanation of millennials does not match my personal experience.	Age, Black	Age - General, Ethnicity - Black	2/56	3.571
I consider myself gen-X but I'm young enough to fit into the millennial cohort as well.I went from a trailer park and black mould to minimum wage and 50 cent packages of noodles to working remotely from a home in Vancouver for a company I love as a senior developer and occasionally driving a nice old reliable car (shiny cars are for hobbyists and middle-class morons) into the valley to visit friends. I had to work hard for 20 years to earn the right to say this, I've done jobs like:- Chicken farming- Ditch digging- Foundation forming- Pallet stacking- Shelf stocking- Trailer loading- Roofing- Hay bailingMost of that is back-breaking dirty work that you should not risk your body for any longer than you have to, and most of that I did AFTER I got my CS degree. But it didn't end there, I still made time at the end of the day after I was dog-tired to sharpen my craft in software development with hobby-projects. I basically worked 16 hour days for 15 years and then it finally started to ease-up for me.I have millennial friends that seem to think they're too good for Linked-In let alone any opportunity that could lift them out of poverty. But honestly the reason they don't have a Linked-In profile is because it would force them to take an honest look at themselves. You're never going to get anywhere until you do an honest self-assessment, it's practically a rite of passage.	Black, Old, Senior	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Black	3/259	1.158
I bet the guy who studied all of this has a gay son	Gay	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	2/13	15.385

It doesn't mean you can succeed either. Even underdogs got a break. If you are fired do to budget cuts you should work harder and you might find a new job. True it is ridiculous to self sabotage by not trying because it is impossible to know when you succeed out of failure. Laziness accomplishes nothing but hard work is not a guarantee	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/63	1.587
The real problem is pointed here, we don't have an age restriction on phone and other devices use, people gives phones and tech to babies and kids, why? They don't need it and don't know how to use it, c'mon even teenagers can't use it how it correctly, what makes you think a baby should use one? See the problem? Yes, it is techno... Is you! As the video said, technology is addictive, just like alcohol and many other things, but this addiction is even more dangerous because parents are willingly giving the problem to their children, there are parents who give smokes, alcohol and whatnot to their children and everyone points at them for being bad parents, well guess what, we should start pointing to every "happy" "role model" family" too.	Age, alcohol	Age - General, Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	3/132	2.273
I love how many sweeping generalizations this contains. I've known good and bad employees from every generation. The idea that anybody from any generation is like another human being because of age proximity is just plain stupidity. Clearly this channel is just clickbait designed by stupid people for even dumber people.	Age	Age - General	1/51	1.961
Yeah I get this and all, I guess I'm a millennial I hate being in that group of people who can't change a tire even though I can do much more than just change a tire. However. Millennials need to stop bitching and work harder also. I realized I was getting nowhere, I was 18 didn't know what I wanted to do, I dropped out of highschool cause I felt they had nothing left that was meaningful to teach me. I have been through 2 jobs within a year and a half, started at 17. I am now 19, got a job in a trade. My boss is good. He's hard on me at the beginning. He's still hard on me. But I realized I was getting better because of the stress he was putting on me. Not by taking that stress and being depressed, but by taking that stress and using it as fuel towards working harder, learning quicker, proving my boss I can do it, Evolving, growing the fuck up. I live alone at 19, I'm still working on things I want. Millennials just need to stop bitching and so do the employer's, we both need to pitch in.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/201	0.498

This'll prob piss a lot of people off but IDGAF, I believe trans, and gays happened due to the stress at a young age at some point like say you were having trouble finding acceptance. The brain then proceeds to change things, and tells you you can't help that your like this. And then you proceed to force feed me bs about accepting you as you are. No fk you I don't like you, accept that. Live your life and I'll do mine. But don't go waving yourself around like a flag raping everybody that denies you acceptance by not feeding into your bs.	Age	Age - General	1/104	0.962
All these old ass people laughing, when life is hard asf for us!	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/13	7.692
What wisdom and values that made society great in the past? Racism? Homophobia? And care about what exactly? And who are you to talk about respect for others when you're literally insulting a large group of people. Please stop with this conservative bullshit that "everything in the past was better". The world isn't black or white, past generations had their fair share of shortcomings, people are just people; they are flawed regardless of generation.	Black, Homophobia, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Sexual Identity - General	3/74	4.054
this is fucking stupid im 17 and ever since i was able to work i looked up to my dad an immigrant working in construction 12+ hours a day only one day off. i went to school worked and came home. right now im 17 i was born in 2001 and i am not lazy i love working hard for my money. im currently in college trying to get my basics and working as a contractor for christos contractors here in dallas and im not fucking lazy i dont count my fucking followers and i dont ask for anything i EARN and WORK for it.	Immigrant	Nationality - General	1/105	0.952
I have my house paid for, have 2 cars, a wife and 2 kids, I have about 500 acres of orange grove and 180 head of cattle in florida, and I'm a diesel tech, I'm 27, and i worked my butt off for what I have, this is such bull, psychological farces and 'I said it so it must be true' mentality it's a tale as old as time, the older generation wants the younger generation to work so they can suck off the tit of social security that the younger gen provides	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/93	1.075

I am a baby boomer but had my children in the years 82 and 83 - I started teaching them when they were young to do things like make their beds, or put away toys - taught them while they were 3 to 4 year old to do small things so they can appreciate their efforts and feel good about themselves and it worked. They continue to do more and eventually with discipline and boundaries they were "A"s and "Bs" Students. However, money was not offered for good grades but picking a place to eat so they would know how to make decisions. These thing we as parents taught and they did very well. In fact, my son and daughter at 10 and 11 had a lemonade and asked me to help with the lemonade but they made their own sign and made their own money. Afterward my son went with his friends started to cut lawns at $40 per yard and my daughter got a job at Ci Ci Pizza - as a cashier and did this during the Spring Seasons from schools. These decisions were theirs. Were I proud - you damn straight because as early as 3 to 4 you should start teaching them self- reliance it is what I learned without help from deadbeat parents! Both of my kids graduated from Auburn University with degrees!	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/229	0.437
Hahahahahaahahaha I'm a millennial and in my work all of the old fucks don't want to do the hard work like do the hard work like containers which is where we stack heavy ass box's on pallets and they don't want to do ice bags which is opening heavy ass box's and stocking them in boxes. The bosses always makes us young millennials to do that cause the old fucks can't so they can all go fuck themselves	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/78	2.564
IT doesn't matter at this point. All life on the earth is about to be changed and destroyed. Nothing matters now but the KIngdom of GOD. All things revolve around that. If you don't have that your already dead.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/39	2.564
You also get a bit of dopamine when you read a really good book, watch a good movie, play a good game, have sex or laugh with your friends. And because dopamine is also released while drinking, we should make any activities that bring joy age restricted. But let me use your logic -Jimmy wants to play basketball because he really likes it? Nah, would release dopamine, that's basically the same as smoking Jimmy you addict.I could ramble about all of these. Personally I agree social media sucks especially when used in excess, I just don't like you acting as if dopamine is some sort of evil hormone...	Age, Sex	Age - General, Gender - General	2/110	1.818
Lethgar Smith Hell yeah. Society and quality of life have not been better since the dawn of recorded history, and as long as the extant generations (Silent, Boomers, Awesome...aka X, Millenials, and Z) don't manage to set us back a century or more from Human folly, it should get even better. I would add the GI Generation to that list, but there are very few of those left, and at 114 to 115 years old , they would be unlikely to have any further negative effects on the world.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/88	1.136

My brother is a millennial and he's one of the hardest working people I know he has great inner discipline and he is definitely not lazy oh and by the way our mother (yes we were raised by a single mom so thanks for assuming we had both of our parents) NEVER told us that we could have anything we want simply because we want it what she actually taught us was that life is unfair because we're poor and because racism is a real thing and you can either make the best out of any situation or you can make the worst of any situation either way life is going to continue But hey thanks for assuming that all millennials are lazy and ungrateful that's clearly the best way to describe my brother	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/134	0.746
Those with jobs find that jobs are without union, without workers right, are forced to leave early from work even though they signed up for a 'full time job', having to deal with unfairness in the workplace, injustice in the workplace. Knowing we didn't sign up for this. Screw not getting that promotion right away. We know we have to work for it. What's the problem is applying for a team lead position, being told you aced the interview only to find out the position was handed to someone who knows nothing about working with your company or anything else going inside particular building.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/104	0.962
Every millennial I know is a walking billboard for this video. The level of conformity in thought and even general physical appearance is absurd given the ages and intelligence of the people I know. Of course there (must be) statistical outliers out there, but overall, the mental fragility across this generation is really scary.	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/54	1.852

I swear to Jesus Christ that everytime I see a video with that hand drawing format, it's always going to be a shitty presentation. This video is even worse. Simon Sinerk, the person speaking, is a "motivational speaker" that started his career in advertising companies. This guy is selling his own image and thoughts, never forget that. The topic is dear to me, so I will go point by point. The presentation starts with two generalizations right off the bat: Millennials are lazy and entitled in the workforce. This would imply that millennials are able to find jobs, and I can assure you that even when they do, it's very hard to find a decent job in terms of conditions, salary, satisfaction. Want a real reference? Herzberg's two factors theory. Achievement, recognition, work itself, responsibility, advancement, growth, are the main factors that he found to be most important for a positive workplace. Do you see that happening very frequently when you visit big businesses and ask interns how's life ? And by the way, this is how you quote theories to support your thesis, unlike your 4 factors simplistic model. Even Sociologists from 1800 would've laughed at your methodology. 1) Parenting strategies reflect the society as a whole. No Mr. Sinerk, parents did not tell their kids that they could've been whatever they wanted. Millennials were born in a time of booming economy and the early stages of internet, do you see where I am going with this Mr. Sinerk ? Nothing like 2008 crisis had happened in the Western world. I myself was slapped a couple of times as a kid, and I am very thankful for that, as it made me understand that infact, you can't have everything you want. You then proceed to throw in elements about the employment situation showing once again your ignorance about the Economic environment as a whole to then state "your mom can't get you a promotion", a quote which I really love, to conclude your first part. 2) On the technology part, I have to agree that social media is extremely toxic. It projects fake images of people, as if they were always happy. Turns out, if I may, that you mastered this idea and it became your job: to sell an image of how one should be, an ideal type. And yes that is not even your original idea, someone that knew a bit more about sociology came up with that at the end of 19th century, Weber. You then throw in comments about alcohol, drugs, and more, as if Millennials had free access to it as teenagers. Once again you do not find causes to the true issue (the abuse of said substances or social media), but rather use the conclusion as evidence. Big fallacy in every argumentation. "The man is hungry because he did not eat" vs "The man is hungry because he did not have money to buy food", very different Mr. Sinerk, but a quite common tool in advertising so you will be excused. 3) Instant gratification is a product of an increasingly fast Economy and Society. Because Amazon exists people now have access to instant gratification, not the other way around. You smartass, I see how you deliver arguments, you old fox! 4) Environment is highly competitive, and Millennials know that. Unlike your generation, they are asked for a much more complex skillset in exchange for much less. Why? Because the world is now a global market. But I am sure you are perfectly aware of this as you are, after all, a motivational speaker. You are just as toxic as social	Common, Nothing, Old, alcohol	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol, Social Class - Working class	4/637	0.628
--	-------------------------------	---	-------	-------

Technically I am a Millennial as born in 1985 however I do not class myself or others my age as the same as someone who is 20 for obvious reasons. Sure technology now is very instant but growing up I had four channels to watch, movies were rented from video shops. As for facebook and instagram, when I was 20 these did not even exist.	Age	Age - General	1/65	1.538
im a Millennial and i work as a teacher at a grade school and do dropshipping and google/youtube all the info i need. what i can tell you about the generation before mine is that they're overprotective. its a generation that understands nothing and fears everything. my generation was delt the best hand, i know what's its like to live without a GPS or a mobile phone but i also know how to enjoy it and use it to its full potential. as a guy who was born in 1985 i had the good of both worlds	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/97	1.031
1998 gen z master race checking in	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/7	14.286
why do you hate phone so much it just makes people happy it's not alcohol we can't move backwards in time also millennials are not idiots they're not just this gullible idiot going on your phone it's not the same as going on a cigarette cigarettes damage your lungs phone share knowledge	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	1/52	1.923
Millennial are so dumb	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/4	25.0
I am guessing rent was 90 of your paycheck to when you were our age right?	Age	Age - General	1/16	6.25
I think all the social media and tech is "Bad for us " because we're in a transitional phase of some kind. We think we're really advanced but when I had a ATARI 2600 I thought I was advanced as a kid. We're in some kind of a transition like TheSingularity or something where we become the machines & internet? when we get there we'll be fine JMHO	Transition	Sexual Identity - Transexuality	1/68	1.471
As a guy who worked hard for 8-10 hours a day for four years digging through the rocky central texas soil and working exposed in extreme weather environments that most people wouldn't spend 5 minutes in for a measly $8.50 an hour and getting nothing to show for it while my boss regularly went to Vegas- you and your youtube opinions about my work ethic can absolutely suck the most entitled part of my bawls.Also- we'll eventually be in charge of historical record- so enjoy your ego stroking while you can... But the pet rock buying, planet destroying, baby boomers won't be as missed as they think they'll be.... Or regularly write about....	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/114	0.877

It's a cultural cliché for older generations to consistently blame younger generations for the faults of society, and vice-versa. This man is saying nothing new, nothing intelligent, nothing that results from a critical and comprehensive analysis of well-cited evidence. He's merely re-dressing an age-old scapegoat in new clothes and beating it like the dead horse it is. He's proven himself to be no more mature, and no less whiny, than the "entitled" millennials he claims to so vehemently, yet causelessly, despise.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	3/81	3.704
--	---------	---------------------	------	-------

You correctly identify the problem, yet propose more coddling to solve it. Millenials, in general, need to choose to take responsibility for themselves. No level of conforming the environment to try and engage them will solve the problem. That's how you end up with "safe spaces" stocked with coloring books on college campuses. As a late gen x, born in 1978, I faced many of the same issues as millennials. Grew up in a single mom household, playing Atari, then Nintendo... got participation trophies in little league baseball, cause all the video games and mcdonalds made me fat. I graduated high school, passing with minimal attendance and C avg. because I didn't apply myself. I went to college for a year and dropped out because I didn't want to do the work. I worked a dead end job for years and totally wasted my 20s playing Diablo, Ultima Online and Everquest. While I was self sufficient, I did the absolute minimum I needed to get by and maintain my standard of living.What eventually changed me? One word. Responsibility.I got married and had children in my early 30s and had to put my big boy pants on to provide. I knew one thing for certain, I wasn't going to be a failure of a father, like mine was, and wanted to be a good provider for my family. I worked hard, actually applied myself at work, and quickly managed to move up in the company as a result of my sacrifice. I say this with complete honesty, the sacrifice and responsibility is what ultimately brought happiness, not the stuff... not the electronic entertainment. Today I'm the sole provider for my family. My wife maintains the home and is primarily responsible for the child rearing, an equally important and fulfilling job. Were happy, raising socially adjusted, moral children. I'm not trying to brag, but we are always complemented on how well behaved and outgoing our children are. They get a home cooked meal most nights, never eating fast food. My daughter didn't even know what a happy meal was, until she asked at the age of 7. The children also do well in school because my wife is focused on them, while I provide for the family. We each have distinct, yet necessary roles in the family. We don't let our children watch TV or play video games unrestricted, instead they read books and play outside. TV time and their tablets are reserved as rewards for good behavior. No one in the house uses Facebook or Twitter, we stopped wearing those "fake" and shallow personas long ago. YouTube provides family entertainment from time to time, but mostly serves as a news source and learning tool.Life is good once you begin to focus on what's really important, and put in the work to achieve it. Again, I can't stress enough the need for one to take personal responsibility, even to the point where you no longer lie. This is a hard concept to embrace, and even harder to live, but doing so is worth it and brings lasting fulfilment. I know it's a cheesy saying but life is about the journey /and equally as important, the struggle along the way/, not the destination.	Age, Cheesy, Fat	Age - General, Physical Identity - Physical Features, Social Class - Working class	3/543	0.552
---	------------------	--	-------	-------

Our youngest daughter is a millennial. Other than having the typical millennial Bachelor of Arts degree, political science & history, she exhibits none of the characteristics in your video. In college, she graduated Magna Cum Laude from the Honors program with a GPA high enough for her to apply to Oxford University as a Rhodes Scholar. She served on the school's Honor Council and was its elected Chairman in her senior year and was required to chair monthly meetings with the College's President and various members of the Board of Trustees. She was ranked 1 in the Honors History Department and received the department prize at graduation. Ditto in Political Science. She captained her college's figure skating team and won enough national medals to rank, individually, as the 6th college in the U.S. She also co-captained her college's downhill alpine ski racing team. She was a trained chorister in the Royal School of Church Music program from age 6 to 18, under which all the Anglican Children's Choirs sing and hers was the first children's choir in the U.S. to perform at Washington's National Cathedral. In her junior year, she was one of 14 from the U.S. accepted into Oxford University through the Butler University application program. In her senior year, she interviewed with five law firms for entry into their paralegal program(s) and was given offers by all five, including the firms ranked 's 1,3, 5 &7 in the VAULT ratings. She accepted a job with the 1 firm after being informed that she was their top candidate in the U.S. Following graduation, she worked for that firm earning well into six-figures in her first year in exchange for working 80-100 hours/week. Following her two-year stint she joined another firm which allowed her to study for the LSATs. She took the exam once (most take it multiple times) and scored in the top 1 nationally with a score that automatically qualifies her for MENSA. She applied to all of the top 14 law firms and was accepted into 12 of them, rejected by one, wait listed by another, and given merit scholarships by all 12, which is where she now resides, as a 1st year law student in one of the top law schools in the country. But it is not her academic achievements, nor her athletic prowess, which best define this extraordinary young woman: It is her work ethic, exemplary social skills and her constant commitment to nurturing & maintaining friendships which truly set her apart from so many of her millennial colleagues, or, frankly, those from GEN X, GEN Y, or any other in the generational alphabet soup. The message is simple; if you're willing to set your ambitions high, and pursue them relentlessly, you can achieve almost anything!	Age, Senior	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	3/462	0.649
Alcohol doesn't work with dopamine...	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	1/5	20.0

I'm ashamed to be group at the millennials, I work hard the money I earn, I only work private security but I literally had to pull a 56 hour shift from Friday at 5 p.m. till Monday at 5 a.m. because I had no relieving officers and this asshole Millennial still got to keep his job after no-call no-show two days, I mean I guess it helps that he's Black and is always quick to throw the you're just racist card. This dude was cursing out his boss owner of the company.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	4/93	4.301
Right first off i was born in 1987 n do not consider myself any of the things hes just discribed that im ment to be, i have a house, own business and family, never had a bean bag alot of the ppl ur on about are in their 30s headin on 40s, n u keep bashing on about milenials. Have u even looked at the next generation coming through the unis and collages today, or are they just the idiots u lump my generation in with, i never been told i was special as a child (coz i grew up knowin that as a term for the mentally impaired) or that i was entitled to anything i havent worked towards, so in honesty ur general representation of my whole generation based on a few liberal middle class snowflake fucktards living in their little city life bubble, is frankly moronic and offensive to a hell of a lot of ppl my age . All i ask is plz do some research outside these minority groups of our age range and research ppl outside america too, i know im making assumptions as to where u get ur research but i feel if u did ud of already come across ppl like myself n the tone of ur vid would of been very different.	Age, Lump, Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - General, Physical Identity - Physical Features	4/221	1.81
22 years old soon and this is very true, denying it just proves how unwilling we are to do something about it.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/22	4.545
This video is "a crock." 20-somethings are "adults" not "kids." - Boo hoo - so mommy and daddy failed them and now the corporate work world has to "coddle and 'raise them' correctly?" Please - millennials are nothing special and nothing "new"; they need to do what every other generation has had to do when mom and dad failed as parents: "self-help and re-raise yourself/sink or swim" (it's called "growing up" and "standing on your own two feet").	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/78	2.564
Millennials believe that all work is done with a phone or computer, nothing physical involved. They expect others to do the physical and if they need something they get someone else to get them there or bring it to them or have them fix it.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/45	2.222
Just blaming the Corporation® for your shitty lot in life is a cop out. This vid started off ok then went off on a victim mentality narrative. "It's not my fault I'm a depressed sack of shit who is completely devoid of satisfaction. It's The Corporation's® fault." That's just as lame . The only trick to having a "happy" life (happy is a shit goal, aim for content) is to ride the tiger, indeed of allowing the tiger to ride you.	Lame	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/80	1.25

It's not the responsibility for the company to teach them it was their parents. The company is looking for competent employees not children they need to teach social skills to. They're looking for people to help the company achieve better success and profits, not costing them more money by having to teach them to be personally accountable for their own actions and take responsibility for their choices or to teach them discipline. Those are things they were expected and supposed to have BEFORE they came to look for a job or to enter the workforce.What companies have started to do more and more lately is to give millennial shit testing questions as part of the job application process in order to weed out these self entitled complainers so more and more of them are ending up in the unemployment line.The other thing is that the millennials are finding out that their major in lesbian dance, social justice and women's studies aren't worth 6 figure salaries and more so aren't worth ANYTHING to any company.So they end up working at the Gap for minimum wage with a mountain of student loan debt.	Lesbian	Sexual Identity - Female homosexuality	1/194	0.515
Im a millennial and this dude is on point! I see comments of other millennials getting "offended". You bunch get offended at anything!! I cant stand people my own age . NO concepta of what reallyly matter in life. Its all about how many likes they got or how many people they can sleep with.	Age	Age - General	1/54	1.852
Yeah, people like you are what made this generation so lost. We millennials have some good qualities but plenty of bad qualities as well. Slaves to corporations pshhhhhh. No wonder so many people my age are entitled and have no work ethic because of parents like you. Thank God I was raised in the south where we are more traditional and not a bunch of fem nazis and soy boys because of lunatics like you.	Age	Age - General	1/75	1.333
Don't talk fucking stupid.they are the most materialistic generation , who are readily prepared to give EVERYTHING away, for a cripto- self masterbating pixilated image of themselves.nearly all of them are "enslaved" by corporations, but not in the bullshit leftwing way you think.do you honestly not think facebook, google,twitter, grnder, apple are NOT corporations? and don't even get me started about the dickheads who think cashless payment is a good idea.and as for your "conciencious" about the environment... just fuck off, they go and spend cash on "bottled water", and fucking coffie in throw away cups.	Apple	Ethnicity - Native-American	1/99	1.01

Austin Miller I grew up in the south, I'm 24.. and I work landscaping. I've honestly become a jack of all trades. I can also weld, I can do almost anything but the one thing I won't do is become a slave to money, become a slave to socialism, and I definitely won't let little ignorant fuck nuts like you tell me anything different.. now how about you go fuck your cousin and have a nice cold bush to wash down that disgusting cousin pussy taste (:	pussy	Nationality - Chinese	1/87	1.149
Bind Bob - Every generation whines about the younger ones it is an age old tradition and it has been BS over and over. You see the problems because you already believe it. It is a self confirming idea in the echo chamber of your head and social circles. Are there idiots? Yes in every generation. Their are cultural differences in generations that lead to misunderstandings and mis-characterization. The media is bad about whipping up the divide. Gen X's like myself were told we were lazy and worthless too. It was the same BS then as now. Judge people individually it will enrich your life and open your world.	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	2/109	1.835
What a load of bullshit. I am a 48 year old vegan and I still practice MMA. Most omnivores my age cannot even get a hard on. Just keep on living in your bubble.	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	2/34	5.882
Yes Hello I Am Snek Good luck getting a job while following this 48 year old nut job. 100 years, and all of a sudden then next generation is to weak. How did this happen? I hate being with the millenials Or even gen Z. Hey at least more work opportunities. Lmao	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/52	1.923
whatit do Ya, say thanks to shit advice from a snowflake trapped in a 48 year old .	Old, Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - Over 65s	2/17	11.765
bullterrier1970 Seriously 41 and would run circles around people half my age and Vegan as well.	Age	Age - General	1/16	6.25
Hi Moonman, yes. Actually 48. I practiced MMA till age 30. When I turned vegan about 4 years ago I got so much energy that I felt like fightin again. Ok I can feel I'm not 20 any more but still doing pretty well.	Age	Age - General	1/44	2.273

hi, im a millennial. i spend half of my day on instagram and im vegan. Ive always been pretty confident, but over the last few months Ive seen myself checking calories, trying to impress other people, taking pictures of things i should have just enjoyed on its own. im disgusted by my own behaviour, but it is everywhere. Im a vegan in favour of the environment, but ive just spent an hour writing an essay about what youngsters dream of in europe today. I thought: healthy eating, good environment, happy animals. But i kept on thinking: Is that really what we are interested now? Meat was never bad for the environment. I mean, yes cows poop and make the water dirty, but whats the real reason? why now? MASS-PRODUCTION. And what the hell will change if everyone will change to veganism? Nothing ! Because Monsanto profits from this, Nestle will develop vegan products, and the fields where cows once were, are now saturated with soy plants. Yes, soy plants take in less space. But they are sprayed. neighbouring forests will be covered with chemicals, leading to the death of many animals. Transport of goods will nevertheless add to global heating, sea-levels rise and polar bears die. So what do we profit? Not a better health, nor do we avoid the death of animals, nor the environment. The main problem, that will never ever fade away, is the greediness of us humans. Seeking for cheap products, not wanting to get our hands dirty. Letting others do our work. Since the hype of thrifting clothes, more and more stores have introduced vintage things, a retro style. and where are these clothes made? You name it. It all sounds good, but is it really as good as we think? Also, im not trying to offend anyone. Im a millennial myself, and i dont think ill change any time soon.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/315	0.317
Shut up queer	Queer	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	2/3	66.667
NPC's detected. Now exiting this room. Orange! Cheetos! Racist ! Kenya!!!	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/10	10.0
Blind Bob just..stop talking.	Blind	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/4	25.0

DIO imagine telling being such a stuck up prick that you feel like you need to arrogantly tell a 48 year old what money is because you think your smarter he is.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/32	3.125
The Millennial , AKA Worthless Piece of Shit. Case in point - We, a Civil Engineering and Land Surveying Company, in the past took great pride in our College (student) Co-Op involvement in which we paid them base starting wages and matched dollar for dollar towards their college tuition if their major was Engineering. For many years (prior to the Millennial age) this worked out wonderfully for both them and the company! The kids were eager to work and work hard, impress, and learn. And often the work was is very hard. Then came the Millennial's. The very first thing they emphasize is how THEY'RE doing YOU a favor. Then the other traits that define the generation - lazy, opinionated, physically weak, narcissistic, and entitled. Eventually the problem became so bad the crew chiefs rallied and said, " The co-op program is great, the students are not. If you wish to continue with the program, do so, but don't give them (the students) to us to babysit anymore. " Eventually the company opted out of the program entirely. A sweetened version of the reasons was forwarded to the administrators of the program, but the reality being, it was because the Millennial students are worthless A.F. Also, and I personally saw this email from an administrator of the Co-Op program, we were asked for specific reasons why we had opted out of the program, because the whole program was in its death throws, as apparently no one wanted these douchebag kids anymore either. Believing they already knew the answer, we declined to reply...	Age	Age - General	1/269	0.372
bullterrier1970 wow you took the black pill.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/7	14.286
Brian Hurtado It is easy to say these strong words hiding behind the internet. I know for a fact that you don't have the guts to say these things in peoples faces because you would not have made it till age 51. I have been extremely fortunate but many haven't. I stand up for the less fortunate. You don't have to agree with my views but behave yourself.	Age	Age - General	1/68	1.471
Blind Bob lol everything changes, every generation is different, don't say your generation is better it isn't.	Blind	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/17	5.882
bullterrier1970 I am 50 years old . I work with a lot of them and, I agree with you.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/18	5.556

bullterrier1970 haha yes. This is old ppl trying to blame all of the worlds problems on millennials... people will rely on us soon and this is not really making us want to fix anything they created even thought one day we will have to	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/45	2.222
bullterrier1970:LOL! You have no way of KNOWING any such thing "for a fact." I've survived a great number of situations far more dangerous than uttering "these things in people's faces," over the years. Many of these things I've brought on myself, through poor choices. Therein lies the difference... I accept accountability for my role in the negative experiences I've had, in my life, rather than blaming "the world," or "society." My I also remind you that you made the statement you made behind THE SAME ANONYMITY you cast upon me. I have been both fortunate and unfortunate. There is very little we can KNOW about one another, when commenting over the internet. This is why some people do, indeed, take advantage of the opportunity to speak their minds more freely in situations where there is little or no chance for repercussion. I am not among those, however. I speak as I speak, whether in person or over the internet. While you and I may be of the same generation, we are obviously of different views. Perhaps, one day, you may have the authority or position to be able to admonish me to "behave." Today is not that day. When you say "behave," you imply that I am MISbehaving. You are not in a position to make such a judgment; nor to issue such an admonishment.I served my nation , proudly, and have recently become very disenchanted with what has become of our nation . Standing up for the less fortunate is noble, but not all "less fortunate" actually MERIT a "champion."I will voice my view where, when, and how I choose, short of being unnecessarily abusive (in my view, not yours). You may voice your OPINION of what you BELIEVE would be the case "in people's faces." Just remember that belief and opinion should never be conflated with fact, truth, or reality. In return, I will RECOMMEND that you enlighten yourself, PRIOR to admonishing your (obvious) intellectual superiors... You may take this recommendation and do with it what you wish. Don't assume things that are not in evidence, though, my friend...	Nation	Nationality - General	2/352	0.568
There is also a great deal of self-centeredness and a general lack of common sense as well.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/17	5.882
Karen1963Yorks Not if your parents are leftist tenured professors at a public university where they get paid (Again from my tax dollars) to try and indoctrinate more youthful minds with lies. There are countless jobs in the public sphere where the taxpayers who pay those people get nothing in return. In many cases, we get negative value back for paying these people from our tax dollars	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/66	1.515

I bet money I can outwork this guy any day of the week. I'd be his boss with less credentials. Your simmering hate of millenials is apparent in your bias. Your research is backed by nothing and even worse, you are stereotyping a whole generation. At least you can count on a millenial to be relatively more educated than the rest of the population.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/64	1.562
I agreed with most until the last part 'the environment'. It is not the job of a corporation to re raise an entire generation of self absorbed and entitled kids. They may have been dealt a bad hand, not the fault of the 'corporation'. They need to play the hand they've been dealt and deal with it. Gimme a freaking break. Nothing like a reality check right upside the head	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/70	1.429
Just reading the excuses and the complaining of this pussy generation hahahahaha	pussy	Nationality - Chinese	1/12	8.333
I didn't like the end saying it's corporate responsibility, but it's the only workforce coming so he's right – they've got to figure out how to refurbish a finished product. It will take the generation's willingness to comply, but businesses are going to have to reinvest in that group just to gain a reliable employee base. Crazy how tech produces such a detrimental environment in which our biology must cope.	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/70	1.429
This is a straight-up case of ageism , making defamatory, sweeping generalisations about an age group, it is the same as racism and sexism , this is nothing new, good or intelligent, it is just gross and stupid but more socially accepted.	Age, Ageism, Nothing, Racism, Sexism	Age - General, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	5/40	12.5
CY Riceball ageism has been a thing for decades. Typically from employers firing older employees in favor of cheaper younger employees, which is illegal. If anything ageism is far mor prominent against elderly people but hey keep complaining with all three of those brain cells.	Ageism, Elderly	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	3/45	6.667
Slavisa, To be fair, it wasn't called " ageism " it was simply discrimination. These "ism" words are getting a bit out of control.	Ageism	Age - General	1/22	4.545
THK said who I remember hearing about ageism a decade ago. Why do people get so triggered by a suffix?	Ageism	Age - General	1/20	5.0
THK ageism is just a specific classification of discrimination, just seems like a ridiculous thing to get hung up on but that's just how I feel I guess.	Ageism	Age - General	1/28	3.571

Did the video trigger you into posting a comment? People in the past would laugh and move on, now? You have to stop and 'clap back' at the mean old people who have you figured out.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/36	2.778
There's reason behind it, shorgoth - Sinek passes off his feckless blather as fact. Beware of state-sponsored wind bags whose purpose is to feed an state-sponsored agenda, in this case, the driving of a wedge between generations, the end goal of which is to always keep the next generation dumb via this division which in turn reduces the inter-generational (from both sides) interaction and so less wisdom/experience etc is passed from one generation to the next - dumb and clueless is how the tax farmers like the herd -	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/89	2.247
Right. These fucking old people have always been shitting on the younger generation. These motherfuckers want to chop wood and go to war. And they think this is their aim and goal in life. So fuck off bitches hating on millenials. This world has seen worse than millennials and no one is good enough to judge them.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/57	1.754
Classic: Pulling the ageism , sexism and racism cards rather than looking at the data on obesity, depression, education etc.	Ageism, Racism, Sexism	Age - General, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	3/19	15.789
Rock on old person	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/4	25.0
Nielle Kalawakan bullshit gen x is fucking lazy I've never seen a group of people who are lazy at parenting or work or both or just with life in general most of them act like everyone owes them respect while they treat everyone else like shit there's very few Xers that did shit right and treat everyone equal but the rest of that generation is lazy same goes for the boomers and gen z just entered the workforce and I gotta say they show the same drive gen Y did when we were their age and gen Y still shows that drive the problem is the boomers and Xers still thinking it's 2008 and are too lazy to train people that's why gen Y is struggling to get good jobs and can't afford housing the problem is not gen Y it's the lazy boomers and Xers that want to blame a generation that has had no impact on anything yet on all the problems they caused they have no one to blame but themselves for fucking up the job market for the younger generations	Age	Age - General	1/184	0.543
Old person with a brain.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/6	16.667
i never heard any such things said about my generation when i was growing up, but it seems to be a general concensus about millenials, something is wrong and youre just ignoring it. todays generation keeps people in line by screaming racist or sexist and asking for its safe place.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/50	2.0

I'm sorry, but this video is so opinionated and dumb . I think Generation X is just mad because Millennials are smarter and more innovative. Who raised Millennials?? Oh yeah.. Gen X.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/32	3.125
Where are you getting this fucking info!!! Is the same lame shit the media says!	Lame	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/15	6.667
You do realize this generation shit doesn't mean anything right? Saying the generation of millennials are weak also reflects highly on the preceding generations as they did nothing to raise them properly, or change the current conditions. Basically were all pieces of shit so shut the fuck up, stop pointing fingers, and admit it.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/54	1.852
I once met a man that was in jail for life because he murdered someone. He explained that his entire family were alcoholics and started him drinking at an early age . I don't remember the reason he killed but the result was, a life behind bars. The day, his life totally changed was when he took responsibility for his actions. No one made him murder that man, HE chose to do it. Until you take responsibility for your own life and your own actions, you will never change. If it is always someones else's fault, you have no reason to change. How do you change. The first step is to take that responsibility. When something goes wrong, the majority immediately put the blame on someone else or make some excuse as to why they are not at fault. Lying plays a big part. You overslept, because you stayed out late and eventually show up for work 2 hours past when you should have. You tell your boss that your car broke down. What you should have said, " I'm sorry, I over slept because I stayed out too late. It was entirely my fault, it won't happen again and I will be glad to work late to make up for it". First, make sure it doesn't happen again. Second, in the future, start making mature decisions. Third, always take responsibility for your actions. The title of "Worthless Millennial" will no longer be applied to you. Mature adult or Worthless, it's your choice; no one else's.	Age	Age - General	1/255	0.392

Millenials are getting through easier because the communities are working better and people are distracted and busy. Leads to what mass media mind control you know you can't think, your just doing what others say, and now your screwed when it comes to doing for yourself, so someone else is making money off you, your now socializing and making networks and guess what the cycle is now going on and on and on. This is what I call modern day slavery that corrupts the mind and control people to a default. If it was so simple as do your job, get the education, and be at peace at home then why isn't it. Because there are so many laws, rules, past things that won't go away, and invisible chains that people damn sure can't see. I was in my math college course the other day and when so many kids my age or older caught on they were becoming filled with like a drug of excitement like there was a since of happiness and they basically believed because someone else taught them they became highly intelligent. Well what if they didn't then who would be smart huh yea.	Age	Age - General	1/198	0.505
We're not giving birth because we need to make $25/hour in order to rent a two bedroom apartment. That takes at least 4 years of school (bringing an average of 37k in student debt) and a few years of job experience. Fear of commitment to any one relationship due to an increase in perceived opportunity generated by technology is also a factor, but the sheer financial obstacles alone are sufficient to bump the average child-bearing age up to around 28. (Which is about the average age the younger generations are getting married.)	Age	Age - General	2/92	2.174

I am an older millennial (1985) and this is a story as old as time, and they always say "no it's different this time, things have changed, kids ARE really bad, we mean it for real this time". I am the boss of both millennials and baby boomers. I don't have the same experience as you depict. The most motivated people I have ever employed are millennials not the boomers, all boomers do is act like they know everything and try to get out of work. This is a personal anecdote, which is not enough to make a video as you did I am just pointing out personal experience doesn't equal facts. It is easy to say whatever you want with no numbers to back it up. "I have a pie chart of opinion" and that doesn't quite cut it sorry. Young people do dumb stuff, and they always have. The only time that this conversation can happen is after millennials take control and run the country. Once we make the rules, then and only then can you judge us. Only after the story is written can you place blame, we don't run anything so how can you blame us for everything? If we take over and do worse, by all means have at it and say whatever you want. My company employs many people of all ages and I am by far the most reliable. I haven't missed a day of work in 13 years, no sick days, no excuses! I pay for everything I have, I work hard and was raised nothing like you generalize in this video. We don't call you all no good, lazy, dirty hippies so stop doing the same and understand that the apathy of younger people has always been there. No generation can be generalized in these terms, but if it feels good keep rubbing it I guess.	Dumb, Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/315	0.952
As a millennial I think this is absolute horse shit. I am 18 years old and this past Summer I spent 50 hour workweeks in a lumber yard in Tennessee. I worked alongside middle aged men from all walks of life in high temperatures and experienced weeks when it would rain every day (I worked outside exclusively). No my parents did not force me to get the job. I went out and applied all on my own because I want a better future and more capital as I enter college now. This video is not the absolute truth. It is a stereotype. It is an opinion. It is not supported by science.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/112	0.893
D Patrick HAHAAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA read the link above. Catch 22 exists now and is rampant. Employers expect a fuckton more credentials for jobs that a 14 yr old can do. That is a FACT	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/33	3.03
MAGA MAN Lmao. Racist reality denial your own cope with your own moral defects.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/14	7.143
I only have a ged and I make 60k/year. All u need is common sense and work ethic, that's it... I worked at McDonald's for 2 months when I was 16. I steadily got better jobs and increased my salary every year of my life.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/45	2.222

I haven't worked for minimum wage since I was in high school. Why? Here's why! I busted my ass in various shitty jobs and developed a work ethic that transferred into me getting better jobs. Those better jobs gave me the drive to better my education. So I got an education in mental health and substance abuse. My education combined with my work ethic opened the door and I worked my way from the very bottom to a place where I can get a job at pretty much any agency in the state and demand any salary I want and I'll get it. It was anything but easy to get to this point but I made it.	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/117	0.855
Kostner Guyton what fairy land are you from? People could buy houses just with a HS degree? Take off the rose colored glasses. People with Masters degrees cant get a job, because they lack life skills and are too whiney.But you will probably read this and continue to think others are the problem. Grow up buddy. Own your success and failure.	Colored	Ethnicity - Black	1/62	1.613
And I know people wirh degrees who no nothing ! !!! Nothing of what they went to college for.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/18	5.556
Kostner Guyton both my Z kids working above min wage and one is 15 the other 18 yr old who is making 65 above min wage.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/26	3.846
Yep it's anyone's fault other than the super rich.....I personally know several people who have finished their university studies and cant find a job. I also know people who are paying off student debt while making a good wage and yet are struggling to pay that debt knowing full well they won't be able to afford to buy a house. Gee, let's shame Millenials into thinking that the game isn't rigged and that they should be excited to get into the workforce so that they can pay too much in taxes so that the money can be given to bankers who are playing roulette with economies or to go to wars that benefit only the rich. Lets get them excited about working long hours for people who are likely going to have sociopathic tendencies and care only about the bottom line rather than your needs as a human being. Lets get these Millenials excited about having stress up to their eyebrows that creates ulcers, back pain, heart problems or mental issues. Yeah, these Millenials are lazy....that's the real problem. (eye roll)	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/181	0.552
Since Millennials were born between 1980 to 1998, they've been in the workforce alot longer than people realize. I think people are talking more about later millennials born in mid 90s & generation Z (1999 to 2015 or so). The Millennials born in the 1980s have carried the Iraq & Afghanistan wars, tons of 80's millennials have been lawyers & doctors already. There is more combat veterans that are Millennials(1980 - 1998) than that of Generation X(1964 - 1979) especially when you consider how long the war on terror has lasted.	doctors	Nationality - General	1/91	1.099

Austin Iron Bosin I'm a lazy prick do your own research dumbass. If you truly care about information you would research it after the video or before the video. And do the work yourself so don't call me lazy you dumb prick	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/42	2.381
whats the point. its all SO FING BORING THEYD HAD BEEN BETTER OFF ADDICTED TO OLDFASIONED DRUGS THAN A DUMB AS PRETEND S.M. AND CELL PHONE. AND HOW MANY "likes" or "freinds" u get..ITS LIKE NEXT MOVE WILL BE INTO CYBER WORLD OF PRETEND ...ADULTS BELIEVE IN THIS CRAP TOO. NOT TO MENTION THE HEALTH AND BRAIN WAVE IMPACTS THESE WAVES AND MAGNETIC ZAPS (cell phones.towers. FREQUENCY FING) has on mental development. supposedly no one EVER BOTHERED TO STUDY??(I think they have an idea what they do..hence either too greedy to tell people how bad the effects are or B COME UP W WAYS TO GET THESE WAVES INSIDE OF YOUNG BRAINS ON PURPOSE KNOWING WHAT THEY CAN DO. OR BOTH.. SPOILED BRATS..IMAGINE WHEN "boom" suddenly the internet and cell phones ARE KNOCKED OUTTOTAL Pandomonium.	Dumb, Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/137	1.46
Millenials work harder than anyone else did and we have less to show for it, thanks to boomers. Also.. impatient and entitled? Wait on a young person and an old person. The older people are so demanding and impatient.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/39	2.564
As a Gen X whenever I get a txt I either dread it or am ambivilent about it and put off reading it because t's not that important to me unless I am awaiting it. I leave posts and then move on. I don't care what your response is and will not reply to your reply. I have said what I had to say and have moved so far on your nothing to me.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/74	1.351

I completely disagree, it may have been like that in some places for the Millennials... Lumping people into one group some is never a good thing though. And in my world I as well as several other people I knew that are millennials we're all abused severely emotionally. We were not told we were special, we were told we were worthless we were nothing and we were never going to be anything and we were screamed at and degraded until we felt like nothing. that's why we feel like nothing. Not to mention that's also why we want to have some purpose in life, because we want to feel like we have an effect on people the same way the people who helped us had an effect on us... we don't want to work for nothing at places that treat us like nothing but not everyone can have a meaningful job these days. If they felt they were valued by doing the small job because at least they are trying then they would be happier, but in this Society we blame everything on the poor and anybody who works in a jobs they have to like a janitor, garbage man, fast food worker... Doing what they can for their family at that moment should be enough... But it isn't and they are blamed for it and then they are told people that are actual adults shouldn't be working those jobs anyway and those jobs are not good enough to have enough money to take care of your family. What about the hours that those kids are in school? what kids? the kids who are the only employees of the fast food industry, yeah I'd like to really see that because that industry would be very bad off at the only people working in it were kids. The adults working in it should have enough money to take care of their families. After the Great Depression a livable wage a livable minimum wage was in stated so the people working 40 hours a week could take care of their family because they were doing their part and should be able to eat and social their family. But those values are gone today. Think about the way that Walmart started out how well they took care of their employees and things like that. Corporations don't do that we've had a major rise of Corporations over the last couple decades, and they could care less about the people and they brainwash the people to hate each other instead of seeing the real problem	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	5/430	1.163
Oh and only the submissive ass kisses get anywhere. If you aren't willing to do that and accept you're nothing you aren't a valuable employee, besides they are scared you'll take their job because they have no job security either. They work for sick people.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/45	2.222
that fucking phone is the demise of of the human race me and my actual friends have been bitching about this for the last 25 years	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/26	3.846

What i miss is 'wealth',..milleniums don't learn to deal with pain and disappointments...they don't struggle.. taking a year off in the middle of studie to travell..why work if i can get a student debt with zero interest? They say things as 'we want to go to a festival.. A,B,C,' and 'i want a dreamcather tatoo on my leg becoz it fits soooo good with me.... ' .. no head-wind.. result: underdevelloped wings. The question that is left what do you do as a parent?	Zero	Age - Youngsters	1/84	1.19
You got me fucked up. So much stereotyping and hate towards people of my era. I was a street kid since 10 years old back in 2002. Surviving the streets to joining the corporate machine. Growing up watching failures of teachers and adults that never cared for anyone else. From group homes to shitty jobs, everywhere I went was the same watching other generations fuck up everything. Now I have been working enough to afford my lifestyle of fun. Now go ahead and keep blaming your millennial kids for your failed parenting " It's the millennial era!". It is I against the fucked up world with people like you.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/109	0.917
bigbaba1111 Ok I have to stop right their I myself am a millennial there are two types of millennials you have your elder millennial and your younger one, I am a elder millennial and I work my tail off with a full time job and pay my bills just like everyone else so don't sit there and say millennialist are lazy and can't get jobs or in titled cause I work for everything I want	Elder	Age - Over 65s	2/75	2.667
Most of these things can be solved if more of us went to vocational Highschools and learn valuable skills and a trade, from computer technology to health care to carpentry, welding, plumbing etc.. Best thing I ever did And I now love my job, make a lot of money at a young age , very joyful, work hard and earn everything I have, and have plenty of REAL friends that are in the same boat as me! Many of these ideas dont really apply to me and im honestly proud to say so.	Age	Age - General	1/92	1.087
D Money Yawn you're a snowflake .	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/6	16.667
Go ahead and say all this about the entitlement generation...and fail to see how this deficit in human character has been accumulative over many generations, and stay blind to two things:1 — Spiritual void2 — Greedy corporate giants which exploit the masses by making them weak & clueless addicted consumers, until only Asians & Mideastern etc. youths can compete in the workplaces...partly by design, partly not.	Blind	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/68	1.471

Same here. I was born in 88 and a lot of what the video said is true but why and how are corporations to blame for our failures? I work 50 hours a week on the graveyard shift building trusses in a factory. They pay me to show up to work and do my job. It is not their job to reprogram me. I have seen so many people my age amd younger come and go at this job and it is not the factories fault. They can teach you how to build a truss and swing a hammer or run a saw but they can not and should not have to teach work ethic.	Age	Age - General	1/115	0.87
Austin Miller Sounds like you know how to work hard. I salute you for it. My kids were working by age 11 to earn money. But my husband and I taught them to work. We are not born knowing how to work, it is a learned skill. This is one of the many things parents don't teach their kids anymore. They will have to learn one way or another.	Age	Age - General	1/69	1.449
Sylar Grey I have lived it. I got married at 16 and had a child at 17. Was I to young? Yes I was. But nobody cut me any slack, I was told that I might not be an adult but I was walking in adult shoes. So I had to grow up fast. So I stand by what I said before.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/62	1.613
This is such bullshit. Nothing more than propaganda from the worst generation of all time, the baby boomers. Glad those fuckers are finally dying off. Time for us millenials to take back our lives, country and world.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/37	2.703
I was born in 85 so I fit into the category and growing up I didn't see any of this. There were no participation trophies growing up. The schools I was in from K through 12 rewarded merit with the exception of any disabled children in the class. In college my profs showered me with praise, but only because I did really well and worked hard. My parents were good to me, but never candy coated things to the point where they repeated "you are special" as a mantra. Hell, my step father constantly knocked me down because he didn't deal with his childhood bullshit. Not to mention that social media did not become a big thing till after the turn of the century. My encounters with the internet were mainly flash games, educational sites, and early really tame memes. Before you say, "Well anecdotes are not evidence" keep in mind that a total lack of evidence is also not evidence. The video was full of lazy thinking and unsupported supposition.	Disabled	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/171	0.585

It's the opposite, this generation won't work for you self-entitled, war mongering, white 'nationalists' (supremacists).They'll take the salary but they won't like it, therefore you lose your output. Once the baby-boomers die out you will see a revolution of social values, something the old money who got their wealth by buying cheap property, then supporting corrupting the system for their benefit, don't like. They want to hold on to their ill-gotten gains. Some will be inherited but the majority of that money will be spent or lost as it was never earned, then we'll have a fresh start.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/99	1.01
Wow you are the biggest idiot I've found on internet. What do you have instead of brain? Weed and shit? You come up with the most ridiculous ideas I've read in a while. You sound like a 13 year old with learning disabilities	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/43	2.326
+Danny C - You prove my point actually, picking on disabled ppl is not something that we will tolerate, you will be fired instantly from any job worth having. Also the 70's was the introduction of weed to the mainstream with a huge peak of consumption.	Disabled	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/46	2.174
What The oh my....you are so lame and a wuss when arguing. You will not tolerate what? You will fire me and what not? No, you don't sound likeyou are retarded and an ass enabler	Lame	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/36	2.778
Millennial are communist	Communist	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/3	33.333
Yep, don't try to encourage our youth to better themselves and grow as a person, blame it on capitalism! God blaming someone else won't solve anything ever. Corporations don't have an obligation to serve you, nor does the job market have an obligation to give you the job you want. If you really hate the market so much right now, go start a business. Nothing is stopping you, even if you are short of money you can take out a loan. We are in a bad position right now, but complaining about it will get you nowhere.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/97	1.031

Here is a perfect example of the millennial mindset. I have pear trees on some property I own. I caught the same guy picking my pears more than once. I finally, in an effort to reason with him without getting the law involved, asked him why he thought he had a right to pick my pears,from trees I planted, on property I owned. His answer was very telling. He thought that since I had plenty, he should be able to take some for himself. I told him that the pears I didn't pick, I allowed family and friends to pick. He said see? Your giving them away anyhow, what does it matter that he takes some? I told him that since they belong to me, I get to choose who I give them to. He still couldn't wrap his head around the fact that I owned them until I gave them away to people of my choosing. I told him it would be like me , a total stranger, walking up to his house and helping myself to his car If it was parked in his driveway not being used. Of course he wouldn't hear of that! The comparison fell on deaf ears and I eventually had to have him charged with trespassing and theft. To this day, I am sure he still doesn't see it as my right to determine what happens to my property.	Deaf	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/236	0.424
Simon Sinek is a great example of what's actually wrong in the world today: he makes money off of projecting his blatant narcissism and masquerades his narrative as a new age philosophy.	Age	Age - General	1/32	3.125
I hardly relate too any of this, besides the idea that most people don't have a deep connection with all of their friends but I doubt that's based on our generation or Facebook, people have always put on a mask in the face of the public, to attempt to portray a beter version of themselves. And I check my phone in the morning to know what time it is, and because it's also my alarm soo. However, I will say mental illnesses like anxiety and depression have been on the rise because of a multitude of reasons and I hope we figure out a way to turn that around.	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/109	0.917
Well when you earn just enough to hit rock bottom every time you need to see a mechanic or doctor, you start to wonder why you work for less than enough, and adapt. They pretend to pay us, we pretend to work was the old russian saying. Taxes pay for pedos to run wars for profit. History shows that henry ford helped the germans build a tank army, and we gave the russians the ability to run the cold war with our previous aid, osama ben laden was a cia chosen leader for anti russian occupation warfare. We see the lies, dont you know that!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/105	0.952
Every generation was shit after the baby boomers. Still all these old fucks think they're something special.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/17	5.882

You attempting to label him just reveals what a snowflake you are	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/12	8.333
I'm born in 96, in medical school, I work hard 6 days a week, I'm never on my phone at work and barely on it after work. I'm not on social media and I don't request free food, or free anything at my job. I'm a hard working republican and I cannot stand handouts. However, this guy is a lying sack of shit and is using this video to massage his old and dying ego. Listen up old man, many millennial are little pussy snowflakes, but some of us just want to make it through life and work for our money like everyone else	Old, pussy	Age - Over 65s, Nationality - Chinese	3/104	2.885
Very cool, thx a lot for making these amazing animations, this channel is awesome and its a must to be subscribed About millenials, its first of all parents who should teach them right way before they get to their adulthood, because damage has been already done by the time they get to jobs even with proper leadership and right management. U won't teach old dog as many tricks as u would teach him when he's young	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/76	1.316
stop! please stop muaaah stop fucking snowflake	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/7	14.286

Speaking as iGen (people born 1994-2015, and I was born in 1998), you have NO idea.'K, let's take a normal scenario in my life. Bully kicked me, laughed, kicked me again. So I deck him. He starts wailing like a baby and runs to the teacher, where of course, doom is immienent. So what's next? Yeah, the teacher begans talking to me in a high, breathy voice because children aren't supposed to be yelled at in Kim Il-sung's voice ([LINK] to hear it, it's really gravelly and deep). Now I explain. "But you're suppose to tell a teacher, not retaliate!"Yeah. And this helps my street cred how? Not only does that happen but I also understood quite clearly that they won't get any corporal punishment like my What with everyone running around unpunished, it's clear my school needed a reform. Time and time again, this would happen. [sighs] Well, after he apologises to me, which is just as awkward as it sounds and is more like punishing the person who rEtAliAtEd.And now, English. My best subject. The subject even gets me to where I am now, in law-school. (Can't you see, I'm twenty.) The dumb kids sigh, and the teacher acts as if she hasn't heard. I have to just sit there through the WORST curriculum in history, all specially designed for dumber kids because we're not smart enough to separate them out from us, and besides that, they shouldn't feel bad. Right. We KNEW who they were, and they certainly knew they were dumb. Isn't it worse humiliation to know that you're holding up the class? Whearas in Maths, my worst subject, there's huge biase and nobody bothers to even do anything about helping me. In fact there's such huge biase, my get-into-gifted (but it was called SPECTRUM back then), was two-thirds maths, and I flunked it. I actually had to scrape my way into it on a packet of my OWN SCHOOLWORK, and even then, it was still all about mathematics. This system crushed so many fine minds and boosted so many dumb kids. Shame.	Dumb, Nobody	Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/351	1.14
Let me see If I have this right...you pretty much boil down the entirety of the problems 'millennials' face today to... "oh sorry, uhhh, last generation kinda dropped the ball on your development...uhh...condolences?" The longer I listen to this, the more it seems like these issues, regardless of their causes, are nothing new to society and they certainly aren't exclusive to millennials. This entire video is some odd mental projection of the past generations problems, and I'm sorry, but there aren't enough flowery blanket statements in the world to help with that. But hey, you made a room full of already like minded people feel better about themselves for maybe a few hours, so good on ya.	Mental, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/117	1.709

Hardwork? Determination? Nah, im just gonna dye my hair green, wear a vagina hat and call everyone a Nazi .	Nazi	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/19	5.263
Leet Skeet I don't think that every Millenial use that shit, either you live in a place full of idiots and then think that an entire generation do the same thing or you're simply crazy	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/35	2.857

Leet Skeet You seem to have a Millennials confused with Pussy Hat wearing Democrats like the person who made this video. Not all Millennials are Democrats either. More than half of us are nothing like these ridiculous people or who was described in this insult of a video. Another problem I see is that many of you people are confusing us Millennials with the wrong generation like the guy who made this speech. We are not teenagers who live with our parents... Most of us are in our late 20's to early 40's now. We have careers, families and many of us run businesses. He was wrong about when Millennials were born too. Gen Z aka Centennials or iGen born post 1995 are the 18-22 year old college students and young entitled little snowflake nutjob teenagers just now entering the workforce. The Center for Generational Kinetics states we Millennials were born between 1977 to 1995. Funny how the person who created Youtube is also Millennial. Yet this person made a video insulting Millennials on a platform created by Millennials LMAO! As a Millennial I will tell you I am far from being lazy, I've never received any participation trophy, I had to work hard for everything that I have. Many of us are self centered yes. We were just getting started in our careers when the great recession hit and destroyed millions of our jobs. We were forced to learn how to become self sufficient and sacrifice while living minimalist lives. We were forced to do all the shit jobs. Many of us didn't even know what getting a raise was like. The economy just now recovered the past couple of years. I myself struggled in poverty and had to work hard to move up in life. We are probably the most determined generation alive right now. Determined to get what we were robbed as a younger adult. Many of us are more determined to do things for ourselves. That is why there are massive amounts of self employed Millennials too. Because we do not trust working for and making other people rich. We believe we can do it ourselves. Many of us who are self employed work FAR more hours than those of you who work a simple comfortable 9-5 slave job. We are willing to work harder for ourselves rather than make someone else rich while they just discard us when they no longer need us or when shit hits the fan we are the first to suffer like what happened to us in 2007-2008. GenZ don't know nothing about this and are very entitled and always want things handed to them. They are entering the workforce in the middle of an economic boom. They don't know what it is like to struggle or not have internet or a handheld device or what it is like without social media and the digital world. GenZ are the ones calling for $15 an hour. They are the ones who want everything handed to them not us.	Nothing, Old, Snowflake, pussy	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Nationality - Chinese	5/506	0.988
--	--------------------------------	--	-------	-------

Noir lol you actually think graduating college is "hard work" all you need to get a degree in most fields nowadays is a pencil, then after that most of them are astounded they are $100k in debt and cant find work with a degree in lesbian dance theory	Lesbian	Sexual Identity - Female homosexuality	1/48	2.083
Noir 0.01, id like to see a source for that bullshit stat. Im a millenial too btw, so keep swinging on the baby boomer quips champ. If you think college is challenging or hard work you are clearly retarded and college is the place for you. With Pell grants and affirmative action and universities need to keep the money train going by handing out dumbass degrees like gender and sexuality im comfortable saying an inbred 8 year old with severe down syndrome could pass on his first try. "Wahh i work hard! Everything bad is someone elses fault, waahh!!" Cry cry cry. How millenial of you.	Gender, Old	Age - Over 65s, Gender - General	2/106	1.887
Leet Skeet SOOO TRUE AND CALL EVERYONE A. RACIST	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/10	10.0
no one cares when you were born. you're a mediocre age with a mediocre life.	Age	Age - General	1/15	6.667
And you want to know who was at the core of that stupid parenting? The dumb-ass hippies! Everything was cool, the kids had to " express themselves", blah, blah, blah. I was a farm kid in the 60's in W.Va., and we moved to a place where hip was cool. I never saw such lazy, entitled, know nothing idiots as the hippies. Their kids got it honest, believe me.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/69	1.449
rip itup Possibly but I've never seen any of those movies. To be honest not much has really changed. New drugs, new fads, new cliques but at the end of the day school is school and people are still assholes no matter what age or what generation they're from	Age	Age - General	1/49	2.041
Darklilly123 - Yes. That is true. I was just trying too make a Ridiculous comment. It was not o tended too be took serious. I am 37 years old . And i totally agree with you. A lot has changed, and a lot has not.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/44	2.273

hey millennial's i feel your pain ..i'm 41 and i notice i'm getting blamed like one of you guys because i look young...once they know my age , they stop their petty games n fake acting the adult that they aren't..its not like i can tell everyone my age everywhere i go... baby-boomers and older gen X are bullying like they did back in the 80's. they have the advantage nowand usingit as a stepping stone...i remember very well ...they always faked to be adults when they were around the OLDTIMERS when they were in the work force,,now the old timers are gone and these bums are back to their old ways like their in high school...these pieces of shyt needed their asses kicked 25 yrs ago, no offense to the good ones of course but i see people usually play those games like taking an older persons side regardless of the situation. another "thing to do"ever since millennial's came into play i've never seen so much anger towards like they have an excuse, like you guys are the problem..as a Gen x i've never blamed a damn generation for shyt that happened in the past, but i notice in this era its the "thing to do "...	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	4/208	1.923
im 41 bullying is back because the real old timers are gone ..these older cats faked acting like adults in the 2000 era ..when the old timers were around..now they are gone and retired and the bullying is coming back ..its worse then ever now	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/45	4.444
rip itup how the fuck can you see this guy biff being a man.. He was a pussy that needed his ass kicked.. im happy for the turn out in the movie where he punched that fuckboy in his face..now hes waxing cars...thats the ending i like.....	pussy	Nationality - Chinese	1/47	2.128
Okay so because some people raised their children to be ineffective we all have to suffer with their bad behavior, crying and stories of poor family dynamics and mental illness. The workplace should be a workplace not therapy. You are wrong. We all have had to deal with the same situations but we did not have our bosses coddle us because we cried about whatever. We had to work. Outside of work...life was our situation to deal with on our own. Toughen up and be an adult. They can learn this through the school of hard knocks just like we older generations did.	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/103	0.971

Cjstudio1000 correct! it is indeed full of Millennials, or Gen-X, Y, Zers, etc..and if you notice, not one of them knows how to debate intelligently. And they are the face of HR today, as if they know who the hell to hire. A 50 year old looks like a dinosaur to them...yet that dinosaur can make mincemeat out of the Millennial in the workplace, in every aspect. God bless America, what's left of it. But again, Millennials don't quite know much about history either. A Republic, Fascism, Capitalism, Socialism...? Not one young person can define those concepts and their consequences, without picking up a dictionary. Yet they vote people in, screaming certain ideals they know nothing about. And Millennials are the most educated, as we hear? What a pathetic joke. Poor Millennials. They can't use their brains to read and think because they were dealt a "bad hand?" Read world history, and see what other generations were dealt. I have zero sympathy for our pathetic youth, who do nothing but whine and demand what they have NOT earned, now destroying the greatest country and our incredible freedoms.	Nothing, Old, Zero	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	4/187	2.139
Tea And shade Oh Dear, did I offend you? Are you upset Honey? Not to worry. I hear you can now take a class on how to handle your feelings and continue through life to lyao. Regrettably however, from your vocabulary, you might want to simply stfu, as you seem to have nothing better to contribute, dude. Why don't you seek to improve yourself. Just a suggestion.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/67	1.493
B I would suggest you do the same, hun .	Hun	Nationality - German	1/9	11.111
B BAE You seem very bitter. Maybe because your generation is dying along with your influence. The world is changing and older generations have problems adapting. You're just being insecure because you can't accept the very natural rule of life that the next generation will replace you, and your disdain for the youth also leads me to believe that you don't have any kids either and if you do you probably don't have a good relationship with them... So yeah, just a old sad lonely looser with no family... I feel sorry for you	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/94	1.064

Glen Coco Your comment bears comment. Youth, middle age and old age, from the beginning of time, have always followed the natural order "the very natural rule of life" as you say, but which you have incorrectly claimed here. That's rather comical coming from you, a millennial, telling me, the natural order of life. But I'll entertain it. Its not bitterness, and its not upset. I'll tell you what it is. It's actually being confronted with the unmitigated revelation that present day Millennials actually believe they deserve (and demand, no less) the CEO position NOW, but have no concept of what it means to work for it, to struggle to EARN it, or even understand that life is hard, and that categorically, they may not get that position. This revelation is nothing short of amazing and almost not believable- but I see its quite true. THAT my young man, is the point here. There is no bitterness, but the observation and our attempts to teach you, for a world turned upside for the first time in recorded history. You and your subsequent generations are creating a discombobulated planet that will never recover, and you have no clue as to what I'm talking about. Never before has youth been viewed as the MOST valued demographic. Until you have EARNED your place in society, and that was understood to mean, only with age and time, only then do you have the right to expect anything (and you still may not obtain it). You cannot know the shock and awe we feel, where life has always played out under a valid, normal, work ethics. But, watching the youthful stupidity of your generation, is nothing short of amazing, and not in a good way. You actually believe you are ENTITLED to everything you demand, NOW. This does not evoke bitterness, you got the wrong emotion there, Son. This evokes complete disbelief that any youth could actually be so moronic, to think they have the right to do so?What is the "very natural rule of life", is that you are not following the very natural rule of life, and you don't realize it because you are too young to know better, and because you have been fed BS by the media. They tell you everyday that you are superior, surveys, business blogs, media commentators and their stats, all tell you how wonderful you are. And so you think you have made it. You have done nothing.You do not have the wisdom to recognize what the hell I'm saying here. That understanding comes with age, and ONLY with age. What is shocking, is that we are even having this conversation in life, where youth have never been so presumptive to think they are superior to their elders, or to those who have earned what they receive. You cannot understand what is being said here, because you have not lived life, and YOU talk to me about the natural rule of life?? Are you kidding. Bitter? Your comment was actually sad, in that you are schooling me on the facts of life. You've got that wrong, along with everything else. But that is the problem here. Your head believes you know it all. I'm "amazed", would be more like it. I'm amazed that you really believe you are worthy, without earning anything. My next emotion is that I find you less intelligent than I thought Millennials were, when I first watched this video. You cannot compete with a Boomer, despite the trendy articles that say you are better, smarter., etc.. They're wrong. You have no idea what Boomers like myself know and	Age, Common, Nothing, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Social Class - Working class	11/842	1.306
---	----------------------------------	--	---------------	--------------

B bro I can make minced meat out of a 50 year old they're the most entitled easily offended morons I've ever encountered	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/23	4.348
BAE Do tell, what industry do you work in? What is your job exactly? What makes your occupation so unique that no millennial could ever do what you do?I'm just asking because you've posted this massive rant that sounds like it was written by a drunkard who's angry at the world but chooses to take it out on a younger generation, and all the while he's terrified of the fact that his job is going to be replaced by either a robot, a machine learning algorithm, or someone younger and less expensive than he is. If that's the case, you only have yourself to blame. The boomer generation oversaw the transition of corporate culture from "how can we increase profits in a way that benefits customers, employees, executives and shareholders" to "how can we squeeze enough money out of our customers this quarter to make our shareholders happy before the whole thing implodes in a scandal and our executives bail out with golden parachutes." In this culture that regards employees as line items on a budget, rather than investments in future productivity, is it any wonder that millennials are so disillusioned? If you're a 20 year veteran being laid off for a new hire, do you blame them for the fact that the company can get away with paying them less than half your salary? Not to mention they'll likely be laid off within 5 years in favor of a new crop of fresh grads.It's not millennials you have a problem with, it's the corporate culture your generation let grow out of control. Good luck moving up from the bottom of the ladder today on hard work alone. I have a degree in engineering, and I'm currently in a PhD program, all so I can hopefully get a decent job. Most of my friends have advanced degrees in STEM fields, they are the hardest working people I know, and they still struggle to find jobs. The positions simply aren't available, the competition is huge, and people like you are insecure about hiring people who might be their own replacements, or assume that they're simply going to leave in 2 years because they think millennials can't commit to anything.I don't know you, I don't know what you've been through, but judging from how shitty your attitude and general view of the world are, I'm betting that if you had to start over from your early 20s in today's world, you would probably starve after you gave up and blamed all your problems on someone else. Go look at how your own life could be better before you go throwing stones at an entire generation.	Transition	Sexual Identity - Transexuality	1/446	0.224
Nubian Grace wow you should write a book and name it 'please listen to me cause my lover doesn't look at me during sex anymore and I'm desperate for attention' trust me people will read it	Sex	Gender - General	1/36	2.778

So what? Millennials hating is just generation racism	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/8	12.5
I'm 51 and listening to the orator, for me, is like looking through a window - I can see right through it.Sinek passes off his feckless blather as fact, but beware of state-sponsored wind bags whose purpose is to promote an state-sponsored agenda, in this case, the driving of a wedge between generations, the end goal of which is to always keep the next generation dumb via this division which in turn reduces the inter-generational (from both sides) interaction and so less wisdom/experience etc is passed from one generation to the next - dumb and clueless is how the tax farmers like the herd -	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/106	1.887
lol dumb millennials, replying to a video attacking them. get a job losers!!!!!!	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/13	7.692
StealthyMonk THIS. Listen people. Young and old . They want this. They want us fighting. They want us at odds with each other. It's so we don't wake up from our stupor of suffering and hate, come together, and eject the ones who dared to keep us blind and unhappy.Our leaders do not have our best interests in mind. Any of us. Maybe one or two here and there but the vast majority are selfish and greedy. Power hungry. We live under the reign of a corrupt government and extremely rich businesses. Don't you see that we need to acknowledge these things and be good to one another, guys?	Blind, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/109	1.835
I was born 1991 and I don't identify in the least with those millennials. That's an insult. And so do none of my friends and people I know of my age . They neither look nor act like millennials.	Age	Age - General	1/38	2.632

It's weird being a millennial and not being a stereotype. I was never entitled nor did I feel it. My mom worked and went to college after having me only to be near homeless. My mom was all I had with no friends. I saw her work hard for her degree and then strive to even get a job. I am hard working. My mother is my inspiration. Whether or not you make an impact shouldn't be your goal. What should be is to be better and stronger than all the previous generations. We had the x, boomers, greatest generation, and so forth. We are the millennials and we should be a progressive legacy into greatness. We had people survive a great famine and economic depression, soldiers die to protect their homes and families, went to the outer reaches of our atmosphere and landed on the moon, built machines that before could not be conceived. The human race must progress. Go forth and do great things millenials. We are a continuing legacy of humanity.	Race, Weird	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/174	1.149
Cool illustrations and you made some good points but you lost me with the whole Its the corporations fault.... businesses aren't organized to make people feel all warm and fuzzy. They are there to make a profit.. that's why they are a business. Without businesses turning a profit and growing, there would be less job growth and therefore lead to an economic downfall. I suggest if people want to work in an environment that's not about profit, they should work for a government agency. At least there they can make an "Impact"	Fuzzy	Ethnicity - Black	1/92	1.087
Most of the Millennials i have worked with for the same company are pretty lazy, they dont care, they are always texting, and they want the same paycheck amount that took me more than 15 years to achieve.The turnover rate is the highest among Millennials too over 80 percent quit, or claim workers, disability etc... snowflake generationMost of them also want free college, free healthcare, loan forgiveness, socialism garbage... Get a job you Bums no socialism in America!!!!!! Generation Z has are handsdown much more willing to work, less turnover, and they dont complian like millennials.	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/98	1.02
I have hired quite a few millennials, and have a daughter that is one. They are absolutely depressed, victims, dumb, uneducated, hateful toward anyone and anything that is patriotic, successful, attractive, fun, funny, smart, and personable. Thus, they have uncontrollable rage against Trump and his fans. I don't know what's gonna become of them. Hopefully, the robots will soon be doing all the work and the government will tax them like workers and distribute to money to these losers. Then they can sit in their mother's basement, getting high and sniffing her underwear, petting their comfort bong.	Bong, Dumb	Ethnicity - Aboriginal, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/97	2.062

I have two millennial daughters and a son, since birth they have been taught the basic reality, I owe you nothing ,your America owes you nothing . You work hard for what you want ,and harder for the things you want to keep,there is no shame in losing ,only in not learnng from it ,regroup and try harder until you get the job done...my children are strong ,independent hard working ,volunteers in our community. They are my greatest achievement and my greatest joy	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/82	2.439
You're just trying to pass the blame for their not being enough jobs & the one's that are available are just forever trash.Your generation pissed away far too many resources that could've been diverted into a better world.We should've been conquering the oceans by now, let alone space. All you are doing is passing the buck .	Buck	Ethnicity - Black	1/58	1.724
millennials are not born after 1994 your an idiot a millennials is defined as 1981-2001 a generation is aprox 20 years some Millennials are 37 years old your talking about younger millennials and generation Z	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/35	2.857
This is ALL on the parents shoulders..all you have to do is spend time with them and tell them the truth...life is tough, accept responsibility for one's decisions and actions, money is a vital commodity that represents stored labor, and labor is how one improves one's lot in life if one is so inclined..extra money gives a person options that they would not otherwise have...raise kids that will argue with their teachers at school...and a lot of this video is just the same old stuff about "the new generation doesn't get it"..baloney, all the ones that I know do, and I'm old enough to remember when pinball machines and comic books were going to destroy America. That's how we got Mad Magazine, because of comic book censorship..Aristotle used to bitch about the fact that all that his adolescent students talked about was the goddamn chariot races and that it was turning them in to stupid sheep... I have no doubt that "millenials" and "zeds", just exactly like the xers and the punk rock skinheads and the New Wavers and the Boomers and the Silents, will be just as stupid and magnificent as Every Other generation...	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/195	1.026
I love when boomers describe their kids! Born in 88 worked hard as fuk for everything. Grew up broke single mom of three I'm middle, deadbeat dad. Was tossed out at 14years old for stupid shit(not like I was doing or selling drugs or being a criminal) an by 16 had my own studio, business, an cars. You can say the majority of a generation but stop sayin the entire generation grew expecting shit! Yea there's a large group of morons my age most come from good homes and are pampered since birth, so used to calling mommy and daddy to save their asses I have never known what that's like. just want to show proof not all of us are like that my name is Austin T Martin used to own natural pet in San Diego awhile back, for several years, got tired of retail now I do wholesale.	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	2/150	1.333

Bad parenting? Try to have parents that tell you that you're good for nothing , everything is hard/impossible to get, you're never good enough. I wonder what start in life you would have then and how self confident and adjusted you would be then.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/43	2.326
Millennials were raised in opposition, by sadistic fucking satanistic parents, to how the world works. Poor diets, impulsive gambling addicted parents that are addicted to everything, noise, dogs, machines, work projects, like minded neighbours that give their fucking kids motorbikes with horns all day, addicted to playing with real estate without ever reading a single fucking book on how real estate even works. I can't even hear myself fucking think in this environment to deal with the withdrawals. The world gives all the money in the world to the biggest psychopaths in order to torture those with nothing . I was subjected to such much unimportant entropy, banging and fucking clanging, handicapped sisters, golden child older brothers. I was mentally and psychologically worn out for school, I didn't learn how to concentrate and pay attention. You'd think, if the world was supposed to make sense, that government authorities would intervene and actually help children that have been abused by rotten psychopathic parents that God had no business giving ten/four children to, if God itself wasn't a sadistic vampire. You fuckers laugh at shit youse don't even comprehend. I hear BELLS ringing in my fucking ears all day, listening to the sound of metal being cut and grinded, dogs fighting and barking night and day, neighbours kids riding motorbikes and quads with Fucking horns all day (in residential areas) followed by music and firecrackers and little children screaming all night. And you judgemental fucks criticize us for not being able to concentrate, focus, at work, keep jobs, and have families of our own? We don't want families of our own you fucking dickwits. We've been subjected to human stupidity and torture our entire lives, raised since birth to be your personal little laughing stocks of contrast you fucking egg heads	Handicapped, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/298	0.671
Every person I passed on my way home was looking at their phones, not where they were walking. Today I'm glad I'm " old " »laughing out loud	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/26	3.846
Can y'all old people stop making these videos? Y'all just mad because our generation is smarter and more innovative than yours was.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/22	4.545

Getting a corporate job? is not your fault? Sheep will be sheep no matter when they grew up. No need to worry about the whole generation. A few percent of the people will lead others and invent things, and the rest will go to work 9 to 5 and raise children. We do not have enough insight to understand what it means to be 10 years old and have a cell phone with whatsapp (free talking with the whole world) or to be able to Gooogle everything on the go. Want to know how to prepare sushi? Google it. The world will be fine, lets just do as little War as possible. The rest are details.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/116	0.862
Alcohol is never good for anybody.	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	1/6	16.667
A generation of whine ass nutless pussies who deserve nothing but a beating for acting like a fucking idiot juvenile!!! Nothing more than a bunch of spineless nirvana groupies!!!!	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/29	6.897
There is no truth in this video. He straight up claims that cell phones should be restricted like alcohol and tobacco because of dopamine, despite the fact that it's not the dopamine response that's the reason alcohol and tobacco are restricted. He might as well also make food illegal to people under 18, can't have them getting that dopamine rush! The "truth" presented in this video is a bunch of pseudoscience garbage that only sounds convincing to people who want to believe it. There is no evidence presented that "it's a whole generation with lower self esteem," he just states it as an axiom and makes further conclusions based on it. This guy's a charlatan.	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	2/115	1.739
How old are you lol	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/5	20.0
What all knowing rock did you crawl out from under? I work with and coach people from all 4 working generations and the one truth I've found is this: Nobody can make you feel inferior without your permission! We don't need some self- serving wanna be counselor like you casting blame on everyone except the culprit. Everyone has the ability to be successful, and people like you should never encourage a millennial, or anyone else to blame others when life throws them a curve. The real problem here is people just like you. Shame on you for perpetuating such a basket of lies! If you do happen to have a degree in industrial psychology, counseling or education...perhaps you should get your money back!	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/123	0.813

Got a friend that works 7 days a week 12 hours a day in a factory and he lives with me because he can't afford to take care of his mom and himself off of it because she's disabled and elderly . He gets home, goes to sleep, wakes up, goes to work, and repeats. He drives 80 miles a day for this job as it was the only one paying near us. He gets $17 an hour. Thats 84 hours a week and he can't afford his own place.	Disabled, Elderly	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/89	2.247
Ur so right. Problems have nothing to do with wages remaining stagnant with inflation. That we cant afford housing. That we have paralyzing student loan debt. I work my ass off. I started my own business. I'm in the arena and this is just insulting.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/45	2.222
Id really love to see your sources, mainly because there are an incredible amount of opinions in this video.I truly hate our society, we label every single generation and back up our own generation but fight other generations like if it were gangs.If only the USA were to modernize the foundations they were built upon, then, perhaps we would be in a much better place then we currently are in.Just take a look at how poorly our senators were able to question Mark Zuckerberg, it truly is a representation of old USA trying to make sense of the modern world.Another thing, because of the drug war started by the previous generation there's still vast amounts of racial tension inside of the USA, i mean the last apology the USA issued to native americans for treating them horrendously throughout their entire stay in north america was on 2012, on page 45 of a 67 page spending bill they apologized for everything they did.. truly they're sorry guy's. Oh also they apologized to hawaii for overthrowing their government but that was in 1993 and that was 100 years after they overthrew their Gov, so it was like a 100 year anniversary kinda thing.Anyway this video is full of crap, too many opinions and way too focused on attacking the new generation instead of informing you about actually important stuff thats happening this new generation so you can be prepared when things change and businesses will have to adapt to a new market.. like they've always had to btw.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/261	0.383
Dude we didnt start 2 world warsThe first was just because someone important was killed and the killer was from a country they didnt like so they went to war then they invited all their allies And the 2nd one was because Britain and france were total jerks to germany and ruined their economy so they got pissed off got some allies and took back what was theirs... then the mustached leader went crazy and tried to take over the world...But yea USA was very uninvolved until the end of both of the wars	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/96	1.042

Nobody ever looks at themselves and blames themselves for whats going on around them, they just point the finger at a whole generation and bring people down rather than working together and making people better. Oldheads are apart of the problem too your hands arent clean either. The previous generation raised the millineals lmao dont run from what you created	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/60	1.667
--	--------	---------------------	------	-------

Like many comments I can attack this from all generations, but instead, I will go straight to the source of the issues. CORPORATIONS, ECONOMY, TECHNOLOGY! These are the issues we are dealing with. CORPORATIONS are terrible because it is all about money. the jobs are there, but now, employees are expected to do more work with less people to do it. Corporations produce more product faster with fewer people to do it. It doesn't matter how hard you work, the results are the same for the majority because there are fewer mamagement positions for the amount of employees. Parenting has become a joke for most due to both parents (in two parent homes) are working more than they are raising their kids. Single parenting has become an increasing number creating lower incomes with only one paycheck. We can thank the corporations for that. ECONOMY is a partner to the corporations. Everything mentioned under corporation can be said for the economy. In addition, nations are competing over who has the better economy. Corporations want to spend less on salaries and wages while producing more product by the hour. The elite are taking living off the economy the 99 are earning and it is the fault of the 99 from the brainwashing that we NEED everything to the point that most cannot define the difference between a need and a want. Education has become a joke. It is too expensive for most. Education loans are too easy at a high price called debt. By the time a student graduates college and gets a higher than minimum wage job, deduct the education debt from wages and the graduate ends up working for minimum (or next to minimum) wages. Where was the payoff?TECHNOLOGY should be the help to our economy. Instead, it has become a crutch. The one fault that parents need to confess to is buying iphones for their kids. Some of us remember hoping to receive a car after graduating. Now, kids are not only given iphones as early as elementary ages, but they are given cars by high school. It should not matter if you can afford these items, kids should have to earn them to get them. That is not the case anymore. Students as young as elementary age will struggle and stay behind if they do not own a computer and have internet. Technology has overtaken the education system. I am in my fifties and back in college and find it shocking at how many college students have no idea how to do any schoolwork that consists of actually writing on paper. If it has nothing to do with the computer, they are lost and confused. WOW!In the end, we can only blame ourselves. We are the ones buying our childrent eletronics that begins their downfall and keeps the need for technology rising. As long as we buy it, it will become embedded in our lives. I miss the days when kids went outside with friends and used their imaginations and actually enjoyed themselves. When families actually sat around the dinner table to find out how everyones day went. When friends called you on the phone to get together and punctuation was used through laughing, not LOL, BFF, or LMAO. People, make no mistake, everything said in this video is not just about the millenials. It is about everyone at all ages. I cannot have a break at work without the entire group glued to their phones. I find myself one of a very few that refuses to use my phone for anything except to make important calls. I miss the better days from the past	Age, Nothing	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	2/614	0.326
---	--------------	---------------------------------------	-------	-------

You can thank the Silent Generation and Early Baby Boomers for (anybody born from 1935-1950) for deincektivizing Gen X, Gen Y and Millenials. THESE people were (and still are) the laziest, greediest, most narcissistic generation that ever lived. Jobs paid well, were rarely over 40 hours, 7 of those hours were spent goofing off with long coffee breaks, 3 martini lunches, and lazy, worthless stay at home wives who put their kids in school so they could shop, play tennis gossip all day long. Im a Gen Xer and I have all the sympathy in the world for Millenials because they're grandparents (my parents) F CKED THEM OVER! You want to blame somebody? Go to all these worthless 70+ year olds who are getting SS, pensions, medicare, and these dried up old turds bitch about how bad they have it? F-CK THEM!	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/141	0.709
Free beer and alcohol are served now in most companies in major cities to cater to the millienniials - from college alchohol and drugs right into the work place.	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	1/29	3.448
There is a way. Corporations need to turn the clock back to pre-80's. No electronics. No wifi. No Internet. Produce something without those tools. There are literally thousands of tools that can be employed to create something of value and meaning. Or, you can continue to serve the alcoholics the alcohol ...	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	1/51	1.961
Weak parenting....lots of FAT kids, dysfunctional, poor diet, working parents.... Phuchtards.	Fat	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/11	9.091
If you are gay and brown nose, you will go far at Starbucks.....	Gay	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	2/13	15.385
It's just a cycle. Old people complain about new people. Soon the millennials will be complaining about some other people. So literally nothing has changed. It's the same stuff in a different scenario.	Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	2/33	6.061

All people children/young people are the result of parenting. If millennials are/feel entitled then it is because that is how their parents reared/raised them. Everything is relative to parenting. Most parent should be ashamed at the creatures they raised. Most people in the world have been told the wrong stuff (sht) or been told absolutely nothing or been raised by TV, radio, video games, porn.... Having children is not a joke. Asset to self and the world or nightmare, danger, destructive? Also as an adult each person can start to over write destructive weak parenting. It has to be a lifestyle day-in, day-out.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/103	0.971
Im a millenial and i love lifr sureni have my moments where im sad everyonendoes but honestly i believe in god and his power and might when negative shit happens i look towards the positive idgaf wat people say about menand im fat guy and i dontnuse social media kuch and im very happy where i am eve r though inhave long way tongo ive couped with knowing its gonan be long ride but i love working hard i love my clinical construction job and i knwo how to differentiate the fakes in my life and i still treat them nice. Im rare i would say cuz everyone is pussy nowadays and wants to be tough just be you man lol it that simple i learned that and i learnednit myself through time but now im fine man it not bad at all life could be simple if you want and make it to be grow up some of you people are babies man lol	Fat, pussy	Nationality - Chinese, Physical Identity - Physical Features	2/165	1.212
I'm in the grey area between Millenials and the younger generation (different sources have different dates on it I'm '02) and I couldn't agree more. I've always hated the participation awards, the "you're special" nonsense (bc chances are theres nothing special about you and never will be and you'll always be a mindless drone your whole sad, shitty life). I completely agree with the accessment on the phone usage as well as the problem stemming from the parents and society. Kids really need to stop being treated like babies their entire youth and be treated based on their real age . I can't stand to see companies bending over backwards for these entitled rejects by calling there offices "campuses" and using bright colors and bean bag chairs. People on the familial, societal, and cooperate level need to stand up to this shit and say "enough is enough"	Age, Nothing	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	2/146	1.37

This is disgusting. Absolutely vile. These kids were ruined by coddling and participation trophies, so the speaker in this video wants to coddle them SOME MORE??????? This is how you best help millennials. Tell them if they do their job they can keep it. If they don't, they are fired. Tough love is what they need. To suggest you should coddle them some more....I'm beyond shocked at the suggestion! And how many times did you say "through no fault of their own, they were dealt a bad hand." So you want to make it worse? Cripple these kids for life? Shame, shame, shame on you. Lots of people since the beginning of time were dealt a less than desirable hand. so what??? I just can't believe this video. Disgusting. You just want to repeat their failed parenting experience with more coddling. Why not just give them participation trophies for showing up to work everyday. You are ruining our country.	Cripple	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/159	0.629
Withdreday lmao I've read a couple comments from Maga Man.. he is literally just trolling.. giving ZERO actually facts or well thought out responses. Talk about a typical response.. This guy has a typical name for a closed minded extremists and even more typical lack of intelligence.	Zero	Age - Youngsters	1/47	2.128
Perhaps, but the boomers did significant damage to this nation as well. Who raised the millennials to be like this? Ask yourself that.	Nation	Nationality - General	1/23	4.348
Oh there you go blaming it on how they were raised!... You know you're only a kid of like 10 to 15 years or your life! The rest of the time (especially after reaching the age of majority) you have to be an adult like the rest of the people! Oh and assuming you live till your 80's that's only 1/4 or even less of your life span! The rest of the time it's society (and life) who are your parents.	Age	Age - General	1/81	1.235
The economy is fucked and companies are hiring less, especially young males of all race .	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/15	6.667

We started down the slippery slope when schools started handing out 'Participation' trophies. I never let any of my 3 children keep one after explaining why they were damaging to one's ambition and drive. I also demanded letter grades for my kids instead of 'feel good' comments. The problem is my generation, the Baby Boomers went through the school system at a time when corporal punishment and the Lord's Prayer were daily occurrences, and kids sorted each other out after school behind the bleachers. My generation trusted the school system to instill certain values in our kids which from our past experience, they instilled in us. Unfortunately progressives started infiltrating the school system and school boards and we parents either ignored the signs or were too lazy to counter the silliness. The end product: today's entitled Millennials. I don't dispute social media or the others as contributing factors, they just aren't as causative as Progressivism.	Slope	Nationality - Chinese	1/155	0.645
you don't like the new generation mr stay off my lawn? the do what old WEAK motherfuckers do best...	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/19	5.263
lol....that's where that participation trophy really pays off.....yes, now they expect something for nothing . and the meaning of "Entitlement"	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/19	5.263
Its called Life.. and its their Responsibility. That's what Millennials need to learn! I don't know anyone of any age group who hasn't been dealt their share of challenges. This is what they have to deal with and no parent, no corporation, no society should assume they have to intervene in their growth. That's how the generation got to where its at to begin with. Stupidity is doing the same thing and expecting a different result. Nuff Said!	Age	Age - General	1/78	1.282

i am a millennial and the things and stuff that i work for. WORK FOR AT MY JOB are the stuff that i am entitled to. like fuck the house that i make all my payments for on time and live in on my own, all the various cds, records, cassettes, and 8 track tapes that i bought with money from my job, the nice pots and pans i needed and well you get the point. FUCK!!!! and i work and actually go to work and do my god damn job cuz i do not wanna loose my house and i wanna pay my bills and yeah my parents may let me move back in with them but they wouldn't be too happy if the reason was because i lost my job and couldn't pay my bills and they would be extremely disappointed in me(this can nkt be said about a lot of parents) Fuck i am only 23 going to be 24 in a month and have way more morels and way more of my life together than most people my age. yet the people on the shift before mine at the walmart i work at are lazy or stupid as fuck. this is 2nd shift it consists of a fair amount of people my age. and i work 3rd shift and we always have to do the work they on 2nd shift can not get done. this is because none of the 2nd shift managers have any balls to deal with them. hell the 2nd shift workers are never doing much work if any at all. Hell, they do shit like 3 people on 1 cart of freight for a certain area in the store and all 3 people take a box for the same aisle talk it up for 15 to twenty minutes than get another box for the same aisle and repeat. and don't get me started on the plugging of items on shelves and shit spewed everywhere in the store i work at. it is a wonder how these shitty worthless people have not been fired and the only reason the walmart i work at is open is because it makes a shit load of money. i wonder where these worthless younger people my age will be in life in 10 to 15 years if not just 5 years. i really wish i could go live in the fucking 80s or 90s where people were not lazy, not stupid, and did not base their lives around what everyone else was doing or what is popular. fuck	Age	Age - General	3/431	0.696
A generation of no job oppportunities because of a tanked economy due to a presidents criminal invasion of a sovereign nation for no reason	Nation	Nationality - General	1/24	4.167

PRAYING Jesus Christ, Jesus show yourself mighty to your people, Lord there seems to be no way out, no way to fix things, no ways of solution, but Jesus you are the solution, you are the truth, you are the love and forgiveness, you are the author and finisher of all great things. Jesus if you can raise a nation up and take it down in a day, then Jesus can you not heal our nation and our people. Yes you can, we praise the name of Jesus. Jesus, quickly reveal yourself to us, that is best for each one of us, touch us the only place that you know and can touch, Jesus can you not minister individually to each person, the only way that they can be ministered to,. Jesus are you not greater than any and all calamity and evil, Jesus where a man sees no way out, your spirit testifies that you Jesus, you are the only way out. Jesus you are the author and finisher of all things, great and small. Jesus help us receive your perfect and perfecting love and forgiveness of the cross. Jesus you told me that if we could fully receive and understand the love and forgiveness of the cross, we would be transformed as a new spirit, a useful witness for Christ Jesus. Jesus we pray that you answer this prayer, that we receive THE FULL PORTION, of your perfect love and forgiveness of Jesus Christ. Jesus we praise your perfect love and forgiveness. Jesus we pray for personal and professional revival Lord Jesus not only does it have to happen in our heart, it has to happen in our family and in our workplace,, Lord bring us to where your people are, there's no greater ministry then in our own families in our own workplace, Jesus show us the way to your fullness. Jesus you said, to pray for the greatest gift to prophesy to strengthen, encourage and comfort our people, to help raise them up. Jesus we repent of godless chatter, a lack of faith. Jesus we need the faith the size of a mustard seed to plant our faith at the altar, Jesus you will grow our faith. Jesus help us be the great communicators of your love and forgiveness, your faithfulness. Jesus Christ we pray that you come quickly, we need you and praise your mighty name, Jesus our Lord and Savior. Jesus come quickly, Jesus we cry out for repentant heart and spirit, seeking the perfect love and forgiveness, found only in Christ Jesus. Jesus is not the simple gospel, can be as simple as, the perfect and perfecting love and forgiveness of Jesus Christ. Jesus is this not available to all people saved and unsaved. Jesus we pray for this great awakening, correction, direction pointing to Christ Jesus, as Lord and Savior. The name of Jesus is above all names, the name of Jesus identifies the God we serve, the God that can save, forgive us of our sins, and love us into eternity now and forever. Jesus cannot the zeal of the Lord accomplish this great revival, harvest this great harvest and free our people, from captivity of the world and the evil one. Jesus not all is lost, but always gained, we hear that this is the greatest time and harvest, that the world will ever see. Jesus, Jesus, quickly come. Jesus we are standing in victory and not in defeat, because the victory was won on the cross let us praise your great name the name above all names, Christ Jesus our Savior and Lord, amen and amen. I AMen

Nation

Nationality -
General

2/604

0.331

The problem is I am a 20 year old that is living with my GFs family and it's hard to get a further education have a job and live with only 2 people who work. Even at a minimum wage it's not a liveable wage. I am have patience of a older generation but I wanna make an impact. It's a need to fill in shoes of an older generation who didn't care about anything but money and greed. We have been delt a bad hand but we are making it work out. It's not the consumers problem if a business goes under it's the companys fault not to adapt. I have felt like I have lived by myself already taking care of food and water then school with my family working and me being a kid to take care of myself I have learned the hard truth of life from being a kid. I had to work hard to get where I'm at but to work hard for a corporation who care about a small 0.0001 of a quota and not for it's people who work for them is just greed for money.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/194	0.515
Somehow Corporations are dragged into every social calamity and failure. People start companies to make money, which is fine. Not to correct failures of improper upbringings. You already said companies providing beanbags and food did nothing . Every concession by the business world is never enough, is unacknowledged, unappreciated.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/48	2.083
It's funny the way white people can find all the excuses for white dysfunctional white people but when they talk about black people there is no excuses for them. This has got to be a pathetic joke or something. Millennials are cold, selfish, prideful uncaring people. Why are you making excuses for them. When humans have these problems they need God. But they hate God because they have been deceived by satanic systems that have infiltrated schools and many other organization that directly or indirectly teach them to hate God. Their spirits are sick. It is them. Everybody knows right from wrong. All generations of parents did not do well. this goes back to the early 1900s. But people still knew how to work, fall in love, respect people, and respect their communities. Black people do not brag about needing to get drunk every weekend. That's a white thing. Black people drink very little compared to white people. Most black people know that if you feel the need to be drunk often, that this is a sign of a problem, weakness and most of them start going to church or spend time speaking to an older uncle or aunt or something. Whites are too prideful to do that. The bible says pride will bring a man low. Its true. Millennials need God. But they are being taught to hate God and worship science and government. That's a great recipe for depression. They don't like reality. So what you are speaking is not helping them, it's giving them more excuses. That should not be.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	4/263	1.521

max code look around. He's only preaching, if you will, what anyone with their eyes open already sees. I'm not a boomer or a millennial but I see what he's talking about. He's not being condescending. He's pointing out we have a real problem and if nothing changes,its only going to progressively get worse. He has even gone so far as to say it's not your fault, if you're a millennial, Its a host of things. I'd say the biggest out of the 4 piece puzzle is bad parenting.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/89	1.124
Aaron Young I'm a millennial that now works as a research and development technician. Since I left school I completed an apprenticeship in a service centre and can weld (mig and tig), braze, solder, rebuild engines, gearboxes, turbos, and hydraulic systems. On top of this I can now use Solidworks CAD, program controllers, test and calibrate thermal control systems to within a fraction of a degree, and I'm studying for an honours degree while working full-time. Is that SKILLSET enough for you?Millennials are just the same as any generation, albeit with better tech and communication, and there are lazy/entitled people regardless of their age .In fact millennials often demand a higher wage or better conditions because of the level of information and communication available to us, we can find out if our employer is paying us badly for the job we do and use that information to better our position. I'll give you an example, one of our refrigeration technicians found out his wage was £10k below the average and so he found a better paid job doing exactly the same thing after his employer refused to give him a pay rise.Please don't disregard a whole generation because their attitude regarding work/life is different to yours.	Age	Age - General	1/208	0.481

Aaron Young the rest of the millenial generation? Nobody is capable of speaking for an entire generation or generalising them in the way you just have, this attitude of shitting on an entire "generation" (which is based on arbitrary years that have no actual significance by the way) is ridiculous and shameful. I know plenty of people decades older than me who are content to sponge off the government or work the absolute minimum for their wages with no desire to further themselves or even do a decent job. I also know plenty people my age who work damn hard and have achieved a huge amount; entrepreneurs, self-employed technicians/welders, financial directors, technical directors, and managers. Seriously? I even provided you context regarding my opinion on wages, it's not entitled to expect proper wages for the work you put in and the skills you bring to the table, I'll demand better wages if I'm recieving a crap return for my responsibilities and time invested. I'm not some Mcdonalds worker with next to no skills demanding $15 per hour, if there are better prospects elsewhere I'll move on. Since you are a business owner you should understand that position, you wouldn't take on a contract if the price was terrible compared to the amount of work/investment you put in, you name your price and people have to take it or leave it. I should also add that I'm well aware money isn't everything and a working conditions make a big difference, but it's a balance, if a company only pays bottom rate they'll only get bottom rate workers.	Age, Nobody	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	2/266	0.752
--	-------------	---------------------------------------	-------	-------

I really don't have time for this but you have absolutely no ability to read between the lines. I don't think that 100 of millenials are degenerates. In fact, I know a good portion are better people, all around, than generations before and in that regard you would be correct. In general, however, you would be completely shut off to the outside world to not realize the change and differences between generations. Some good, some bad. I'm not even speaking about you specifically but hey, if the shoe fits lace that mother up. Gen-y doesn't do manual labor well. What millenials, IN GENERAL, don't understand is what sort of work it takes to maintain the lifestyles we currently enjoy. It would seem to me that people want more money for jobs that traditionally don't pay what you think they do or should because what you don't understand, smart guy, is that you aren't being paid for the work you do so much as what it requires to get that job. You're being paid for how marketable you have made yourself. Things like college, military service, volunteering, sports, summer jobs, manners, humility, loyalty, working shitty jobs for extended periods of time, working 2 shitty jobs, etcetera, make you a well-rounnded and experienced person of your community and that will reflect in your work ethic, which are ALL some things they lack. I don't have a bad attitude. I have eyes and ears and free thinking brain that I use critically all day. Quit getting all bent up about quotes and references this isn't debate hall and this type of debating is fruitless and rarely worth the time or effort. So I'll leave you with this. I'm a pretty normal guy as I'm sure most people are so if anything I say gets under your skin then you need to re-evaluate your life choices because your skin is thin and weak. You may need to get off that island and go see some of the world, bud...	Thin	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/335	0.299
eli20099 So a 40-60 year old trolling the internet defending millennials? Ok... Whatever.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/13	7.692
Aaron Young I'm not defending millennials exclusively, just any individual or group that seems unjustly picked on without substantiation. To answer your question, yes, 40-60 is my age range. Not sure what that has to do with anything but bravo on all the thought and effort that went into your response. Your 'ok... whatever,' was a nice touch.	Age	Age - General	1/58	1.724
Red Car And? What has that got to do with the crushing amount of debt that students these day incur? Most of us work through college too. But then we also have hundreds of thousands of dollars to pay off for the rest of our lives. Gtfo of here	Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	2/49	4.082

Aaron Young since you are that curious and fascinated with age for some reason, I'm 41 and probably liked that Lonely Island video probably 8 or more years ago. Again, you seem to be attacking people's age or generation more than defending your bogus claims. Go ahead, look back and our thread and you haven't addressed one. The reason I'm guessing (pardon me for assuming) is because you can't. There's a time when these little dialogues end up going nowhere and this one obviously isn't. I suggest you get a life and quit hating on millennials or any other group that fuels your obvious confidence issues.	Age	Age - General	2/106	1.887
For all those defending this laughable "claim" that one generation is somehow magically dumb, lazy, entitled etc... Check ANY and I literally mean ANY official statistics from 60s onwards and you will easily understand what happened. Boomers took incredible amount of debt that was simply shifted to the next generations including millennials. The cost of housing increased, the cost of education increased, the number () of jobs that can pay for decent life decreased, world is more complicated than ever. Boomers don't even know to instal new software and can't use technology and dare to lecture anyone. In early sixties getting into Ivy League college was a normal thing and many people did it because they loved science or had nothing better to do. Today you need YEARS of preparation, high SAT score and million other things to be considered for Ivy league and even after that you will probably need another DECADE to settle downn and have enough money to take a LOAN for your house. High school education brought a decent salary and people could start families in 20s without worrying too much. The golden era of big companies like IBM, Johnson and Johnson, Coca Cola etc.. allowed boomers to get into growing companies like never before in the history of mankind and rise to the top of companies relatively easy to what is needed today. They of course are STILL protecting their place in companies by not retiring until 70s since little hedonistic bastards still need another couple of years to stroke their ego. They had Woodstock, sex without condom, spent years doing drugs without EVER having real life consequences and simply found cosy jobs after they finished their hedonistic orgies. They ruined universities with their imaginary social science degrees and implemented "everyone gets a trophy" parenting. It is sad to see morons like this Sirek guy who blames actual victims for the ruins previous generation left. And no I am not a loser, I am sure I am among 1 of earners but that doesn't mean I am blind. I totally understand that I am not incredibly smarter than the guy working at Starbucks or McDonalds, it is just that it is so freaking hard to find decent opinions for many people. Thank you boomers!	Blind, Dumb, Nothing, Sex	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/379	1.055

eli20099 statistically speaking he (aaron young) is pretty spot on, there are various places to research, type it into google. No, im not going to do your leg work, it will be a good experience for you. Im in your age range, our company....quite large, 28k employees world wide is having difficulty with millennials. The majority here in the USA. So, sorry to disagree, 1 example there are many many more to support Aarons claims. How you can't see im not sure...its everywhere.	Age	Age - General	1/83	1.205
eli20099 lmao...did you really say that? Pretty ignorant on your part. ABC , NBC, CBS for starters. Each one had a segment. Honestly, I have nothing to prove to you, when the information is at your own finger tips and you can't check and verify..lol c'mon looser, that is just painfully pathetic on your part, its wide spread, take you less that 5 seconds. Who is the lazy ass...seriously...DMOF....LMAO	ABC, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Nationality - Chinese	2/68	2.941
Oh really....I'm amazed you can read with your "Higher Education" (smh). I really can't believe that with all the information on this topic out there that you have to ask for sources....seems a bit lame for someone as intelligent as you that you can't figure that out.....well, I guess we all have our weaknesses. I know, lets fight over who's news stations are more credible.....smh. I could really care less what you think or your silly assumptions. Neither are valid anyway. Just the things you write indicate how ignorant you are, how you have no forward thinking and because you see it differently no one else has a valid opinion. You actually sound like a millennial, are as argumentative as one and do all the same things to try to intimidate, humiliate and un-validate, critique someone's spelling or punctuation in a youtube post....a youtube post for chrissakes.....(deserves another smh). You use "Higher Education" is a focus on yourself that you are far more superior because you implied you have one with the comment you made....I'm scratching my head, I seriously doubt it. You know nothing about me, keep assuming because it only makes an "ass out of you not me". Your ability to apply any deductive reasoning or reading between the lines and analyze what is actually being said went completely over your head...You want my source? you just became my source and you don't even get it. So yes, with that ignorance and mentality, lack of assessment, ability to completely miss the clues and understand what is being said or the willingness to do your own research when the abundance of information is at your finger tips...yes lazy, irresponsible on your part and very pathetic to try to call someone out on it. Maybe use your "Higher Education" to get an education.....	Lame, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/303	0.66

Oh my verapamil07 you just exemplified, tried, juried, and convicted yourself with that childish comment. I've worked with Millennials in Corp. America. You know little, have zero work ethic, expect to be handed a promotion in 12 months, make every mistake that I had to then correct, and then you think Boomers are doddering fools and technologically stupid, and that you are more educated and superior? Omg. Whatever the reason, grow the hell up and be an adult. Know that you know nothing , and especially know, that you cannot compete with a Boomer. We can run circles around you my child, with every variable. ALL you have is youth and lesser quality degrees, nothing more. Perhaps not your fault, but don't whine. Even classes in upper echelant schools are taught by TA's, so start learning-libraries are full of knowledge. Yes, libraries! You know, books? The internet has now been skewed along with your liberal media. Think and learn before you speak. You may grow wise and your parents are not to blame where technologically advanced and took over the minds of our youth. But that doesn't mean you have the right to then to blame everyone but yourself. Take responsibility and use your brains, or you did forget you have that organ at your disposal.	Nothing, Zero	Age - Youngsters	3/215	1.395
Lmao all the grumpy old people bashing all millennials for no good reason lol stay bitter	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/17	5.882
Bill Koke sadly for you I am neither. I don't think all you older folk are bad, some of my closest buddies happen to be 50ish. I don't unfairly lump a whole generation together just because of how some people present themselves like you or a few other bitter old men do. I'm self employed yeah I bet you didn't think a millennial of all things could ever achieve that huh? It's okay I ain't mad at ya I'd be mad at the world too if I was a crotchety wrinkled mess. Stay bitter cup cake	Lump, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical Features	2/96	2.083

Justin Roxx lol, that's a lot of words and a lot of assumptions for a millennial. I did point to the facts earlier, like I said ignorant or out of touch, you should have really read and absorbed all the earlier comments BEFORE COMMENTING..... and I really didn't mean to make you cry...sorry.....but I don't think all you younger folk are all that bad either, as a matter of fact I have 3 of them I golf with on a weekly basis....nice guys, and yet I don't "LUMP" a whole generation together (your assumption, review previous posts). It's also amazing how you are assuming "Presentation" is a factor somewhere here in this post.....again assuming. You shouldn't assume something when you typically don't know....it only makes an "ass out of you not me" . I think you being self employed is fantastic, but I'm not going to pat you on the back or give you a medal either, one less irresponsible entitled turd the rest of us have to deal with. You must be the 1 of the 1. Oh, if 50ish is a crime with you I'm soooo there, nope no wrinkles here either, again your assumptions are incredible...lol this cup cake it pretty sweet I hate to disappoint you. Now, do you feel like you can keep up? I'm just getting started.... I don't think you can.....most only last 4 or 5 posts before they run out of anything meaningful to say and just keep repeating themselves.....a shame really. sweetheart...lol	Lump	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/251	0.398
Bill Koke Uneducated? Lacking awareness? Are you sure I'm the one you're talking about? Uneducated? I'll freely admit I don't know as much as a scientist or anywhere near what they know but uneducated? That's hilarious! I let life itself teach me. I prefer to say life itself is my teacher. I've studied the Buddha, read up on Taoism, basically every religion or faith out there and take the best things (in my own opinion obviously) and apply it to myself. Is that really uneducated? Is observing and respecting nature itself uneducated? Is it uneducated of me to start a self employed job? I breed and sell aquatic pets, all frogs and they are always in top shape, always taken care of properly. Their offspring? Beautiful colors. Their parents are both slightly different subspecies but manage to bless me with beautiful little frogs after they're no longer tadpoles. I may not make a ton but I make a reasonable amount I'm not so much into the money but I love these little dudes it's my passion it's what I live for, not being another typical lazy millennial who doesn't leave home until they're like 40. I avoid the other millennials like the plague but I'll be damned if I allow someone to lump me in with those bums.	Lump	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/218	0.459

Justin Jin obviously you are, That whole definition went right over your head! Not uneducated as in "stupid" but in "subject matter". I'm sure you have your moments as everyone else does, Seriously, im happy as hell that you enjoy your job - your business. That has nothing to do with the fact that....the subject matter was millennials....not "you" per say, and the amount of information that is available that "you" are obviously unaware of. Definition to your question "how am i ignorant or out of touch".	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/87	1.149
Bill Koke Nothing went over my head. I was well aware of what you said previously. If you don't like me that's alright with me but being ignorant in subject matter? Again, not me :3	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/35	2.857
Replying to the assumptions remark....you posted emojis crying....just thought I made you cry about somethin" not assuming making a remark on your post . Dude, you know nothing about me, you have know Idea how I speak, act or relate to other people, no, you can not assume everyone is the same.....DO NOT ASSUME!! Speaking of "cool breeze" I don't think you know how cool and collected I am, it takes more than 40 millennials to rattle my cage.....lol and no, your not the thought police....pretty sure it would take someone much more intelligent than either of us.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/98	1.02
that being said i'd like to point that every generation seems to disappoint the one that precede it, and they all ended up getting by just fine. Did you ever asked your grandpa what his father tought of his generation ? I did. It's hilarious how similar to what's said about the current generation. "kid thes days respect nuthing' " is a saying as old as the world.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/68	1.471
Bill Koke I am sorry you had to put up with that kind of "give me give me" entitled brat . That's just pitiful. I also have respect for you because you are probably the only person on youtube I'll have an intelligent conversation with. And I thank you for that. Some people would maybe resort to name calling or trolling. You? No, I respect you even though I don't know you in person. You're clearly someone who deserves respect, you are one of the only people in this whole world I had an intelligent conversation with. I may not know you in person but I like you. I like intelligent people who are not afraid to speak their minds. Again thank you for the intelligent conversation. Good luck to you in this crazy world.	Brat, Crazy	Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/134	1.493
Somebody will see you trying to make a living by the time you are an old person, like 50 or so. It will then likely be too late to join the rst race . Wish you well.	Old, Race	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - General	2/36	5.556

there we go again, millennials are morons, they are the most depressed generation because they cannot put their phones down, live in front of the TV and play computer games all day and then still blame everybody around them for their misfortune. Millenials need a fucking back hand not more molly codling. I have never met such a nowhere generation, they make the baby boomers look like productive people. There is nothing to understand here nobody cares, not everybody is equal and hard work is the only equaliser.	Nobody, Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/88	2.273
Aaron Young jesus, the more you speak the more like a millenial you sound... nobody cares about you, and yes we will walk all over you until you realise this fact, until you take yourself seriously you'll be our doormat, grow the fuck up.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/44	2.273
Wow, you poor thing. You didn't watch it, did you? He actually breaks down several parts of the complexity of the issues many of you pussies have. Even though he thinks he has it all figured out, he doesn't. There is even more complexity to it. He takes on a tone as though society needs to coddle you. It doesn't. First off, not all millennials are this way. It's just a stereotype. Like all stereotypes, it's just a dominant characteristic of a group wrongly labeled on the entire group. Secondly, I've seen some millenials grow up real quick and get very realistic with their outlook on life when faced with(what seemed like)their first taste of real world of adversity. The sad thing is you believe the simplified ideological "better life" BS. This is the real world. Working your fingers to the bone is the only way to have what you want. Even then, you may not get it. At some point you need to grow up and realize dreams are called dreams because most of the time they don't come true. It would just be the ideal situation if one did come true. I have very little but I'm happy. I'm a minimalist though. Most people would probably freak out with only having a futon, folding chair, and a folding table for furniture. I have my comics, my art, my dog, my music, stream series/movies to my TV through mirroring my phone, my 360, my workouts, old punching bag, and several other low cost things that fulfill and enrich my life. I don't have an active account on Facebook, Instagram, snap, etc. Who needs the drama? I work 2 jobs making hungry folks pizza and installing seamless guttering on their houses to keep water from damaging foundations and roofs. Food and shelter are 2 basic human necessities that I help contribute to society. You can look down on me if you want but don't come asking me for pizza or gutter.You might want to get some realistic standards and realize the world isn't the perfect place you wish it would be. It can be rough. Deal with it.	Freak, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/359	0.557

Depressed? They had a house and were able to put themselves through college at my age ...on a minimum wage job with no debt. Convient states stopped paying for 80 of college after they were through. Then they ruined the housing market. Don't even get me started on the environment. They've almost irreversibly fucked up the planet for everyone else. But millenials are the entitled ones right?	Age	Age - General	1/66	1.515
Sctoo Montgomery - you know absolutely nothing about me but make dumb assumptions, you imbecile	Dumb, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/15	13.333
One question. Why is it always Boomers that fucked everything up? I'm a 50 year old male. I watched (And Fought against) this, Lax Discipline, Let the Government do my job, give my kids toys and bogus trophies rather than Love, Time, and Encouragement, that's on my gen, Gen X dropped the ball. The B.S. bad or even Non-parenting, letting the schools, and media raise our kids. Yet we always seem to get a Pass. "It's all the Boomer's Fault!" . I grew up working class poor, nobody in my family went to university, it was finish High School, get a Job, have kids etc. etc. If enough of my Generation hadn't been so damned passive, and had pushed back against this New-Age woo on raising kids, or had actually taken the work life balance so at least one parent could be with the children most of the time, I doubt Millennials, and Gen Z would be having 1/2 the problems they are.	Nobody, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	2/163	1.227
Red Car You could work through college because a job actually payed a livable salary.	Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	2/15	13.333
Easy solution. Hire the old fart behind this pearl. Then suddenly, no more complaints.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/14	7.143

Red Car you're a fucking idiot.	Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	2/6	33.333
Red Car, it's not the same as it was back when. Tuition and fees for college is to the point that no part time or near full time job will pay the way. College was made into a scam and all the millennials were told to go to college. 12 years of indoctrination in a system still designed to make factory workers, advertising higher learning. Blue Collar work or white-blue(a lot of apprenticeships require an associates degree these days, least in my state) gets downplayed and treated like it's a dead-end. Not everyone should go to college, I'd rather a cook in a restaurant who knows cooking, than force that cook to be something that he can't honestly earn the degree for academically. The value of every dollar today is far weaker than in the past. The value of degrees is far weaker in many fields. The cost of living, even reflecting the bare minimums, is impossible for a single bachelor to live in.	Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	2/165	1.212
This is about white millennials. Blacks don't have the luxury to be this way. black parents has never had a say with the education system. Black people don't get awards for being last. They usually try to find a way to disqualify them of winning first place. This is about white people. Blacks have to work. They are normally no allowed to be living on parents.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/66	3.03

Guys like this can laugh all they want at Millennials but their are more successful millennials making way more money than there are of any other generation. And I've never heard people say they want to make an impact. They just make one without saying it. Older generations have always been quick to judge yet their to stupid to realize that if there is a problem then they caused it. Millennials don't want to fall in line with the shit you brainless drones have followed for years. They are smart enough to realize it's a trap. Working a desk job that will likely never end up resulting in a raise unless you kiss ass? Nah. Not a slave. Recognize me and my generation or we will leave and you will make no money. We have put many companies out of business because we don't want to be the slaves you guys were. You know what we have done for the world? Push technology. Push STEM. Kids are learning at way faster rates and taking college classes and career teachings in highschool. Know what they did in your generation? Got taught how to identify a rock and how America did nothing wrong throughout history. We learn valuable information. Personally I took a lot of classes. I studied technology and criminology in highschool. At my graduation I had opportunities to skip college and immediately go into the workforce with the same wage someone who went to college would get minus the debt. Also don't forget that we have a higher wage because we worked for it. Let's not forget your video was posted to a social media platform. So it's not just us online. There may be more suicides but it's because of parents. I was taught to never bully anyone and that everyone is equal. Most kids aren't taught that. Most kids will bully because their parent and grandparents were bullies. Just another moronic thing your generation passed down. We could easily make a counter argument to this video. Doesn't seem worth it though with how many dislikes it already has. I'd say the statement was made.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/356	0.281
I was born in 84 the first year of the millennial and in school I noticed the trends starting that you r talking about in myself but I did nothing about it for years then in 2008 I started to find hands on things to do that takes years to accomplish and that has helped me with those problems and the fact that I am not a big social media person either helped me too. Now I am trying to change the way I was my daughter so she won't have the same problems.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/94	1.064

No no no try 1994 and after. 84 is still not totally stupid entitled and lazy. They remember 3 channels on a fat black and white Nintendo 64 and Atari the yellow pages and memorizing phone numbers.	Black, Fat, Yellow	Ethnicity - Asian (East-China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam), Ethnicity - Black, Nationality - Chinese, Nationality - Japanese, Physical Identity - Physical Features	5/37	13.514
I'm a millennial I hate my generation for being so pussy made and can't take shit,	pussy	Nationality - Chinese	1/16	6.25
Know what you lazy, good for nothing , jobless, hopeless, faithless millennials w divorced parents & no future need? Some self confidence!	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/21	4.762
Wow this so interesting to watch as a 15 year old	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/11	9.091
My nieces and nephews are millennials.... I remember making them feel special... because they were!!!! that's family.... however,if they expect corporations to make them feel special for doing nothing ...then they are darn stupid!!!!they should realise that they have to work just as hard,if not harder,than their parents...as they were given special treatment which their parents never ever got!!!!..ok?their parents were only one in ten usually...their parents got hand me downs...their parents got responsibilities of looking after many younger siblings and had to share practically every thing in their growing days.....in other words... millennials'parents were not special to their parents!!!! thanks	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/101	0.99
What's the problem? I have been on my own since the age of eighteen. Supporting myself and dealing with LIFE. So what, who cares? No one ever did before and I am a part of Generation X. WTF is so special about kids today? People are people. Suck it up and get over yourself already.	Age	Age - General	1/55	1.818

As a millennial I was raised with "respect your elders". Seems this thing worked for the older generations but the problem with us is that we ask "Why?" and this leaves the older generations with a stupid look without any adequate answer. So yes, we are "hard to manage", older generations could work some shitty job and have decent life because the standart of living was different, but guess what, 2018 with shitty job you cant buy your own home. Career advices from older generations go like "Dont argue with your boss, even if s/he is wrong", "keep your head low", "dont be rude". Well here are the fcking differences, millennials got some values despite not having a role model because the older generations seem to be ok with all the injustice and accept everything like complete morons. We cant lick asses, hypocrisy is not for us, if the brother of the boss is an incompetent piece of shit and gets more money for the same position as us we raise our voices, if we dont like something we say it. You old cowards are disgrace. You didnt carry WW2 on your shoulders. Corporations got their monopoly while you were standing infront of the TV believing every word. Your spineless attitude made the world worse place and now we pay for your stupidity. We dont have role models because you the older generations failed hard, we dont need advices how to suck dick while they corporations put some cheap dangerous filler in the food to raise their the profit, we know there are different points of view. Kids with rich/smart parents have easier start in life, millenials with asslicking cowards before them have a serious mountain to climb. Millennials read their contracts and protect their rights when someone wants to fck them up, which is a serious problem for most of the employers."Hard times create strong men. Strong men create good times. Good times create weak men. And, weak men create hard times." To put it in a simple way for all of you retarded spineless old asslickers - WW2 generation created your easy life, your ignorance and spineless existence created this shit now and cleaning it will take more than few generations.	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/373	0.536
This is such a dumb topic. Can we go back to judging by race and sex rather than age?	Age, Dumb, Race, Sex	Age - General, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/19	21.053

Alittle bit of my old ways in my kids new ways,are good for your life.I never used drugs never used alcohol .I always tell my kids there in charge of there on destiny,be around people that care,in respect themselves.	Old, alcohol	Age - Over 65s, Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	2/38	5.263
I'M 46 ALWAYS been poor and worked like a dog since i was 15 in the shrubbery fields of North Carolina to the lumber yards i work at in Pennsylvania now I've seen literally 100s of these little self entitled bitches come and go and actually lost my last job because of a little 19 year old pussy that took the term " I'll fuck you up" and twisted it to the bosses as i threatened to KILL him! Lol well i guess you all know what's coming next(everyone that knows me ALREADY knew lol) now hes destined for what likely will be his very FIRST real ass beating but THAT is the disadvantage these crybabies have here in Huntington PA because the majority are poor farmers and country folk that are about 30 years behind the times so usually by their mid to upper 20s these liberal snowflakes are FORCED to just shut up,grow up,and put up just like the rest of us otherwise they are FORCED out of town altogether lol i wonder which path my little 19 year old problem will take? Something tells me between his fellow workers,neighbors,even half his OWN family members that have now put him directly in their cross-hairs his time in THIS county is now limited lol by the way it was the 4th time i worked at that particular lumber yard so the odds are fairly certain I'll be there again but on my he other hand the other guy in question NEVER will	Old, pussy	Age - Over 65s, Nationality - Chinese	3/254	1.181
I like a lot of what Simon Sinek has to say in a variety of situations. However, I think he missed the mark, or he is at least categorizing the wrong generation. I know growing up, I didn't have participation trophies. I didn't even know what a cell phone was until high school and even then, didn't have one until out of school. Work is work. You go, you perform, you improve, and do more. I have come to a point in my working life where I'd like to move onto more meaningful projects and not be a cog. Even classifying the right group, in the fashion being done here, is comparing them on their interactions of the world they grew up in created by the generation before, based on the perception of how the previous generations view and believe the world to work. The majority of my peers, other millennials, are compromised of a lot of hard working individuals. Those who are commissioned officers in the military, run companies, created start-ups, are professors, doctors , lawyers, engineers , entrepreneurs, and more. They work, volunteer, help the community, and value quality time with family.	Engineers, doctors	Nationality - General	2/192	1.042

How about millenials have to learn to build their own confidence, and learn to take care of themselves, instead of seeking satisfaction from their elders still, or outside sources. The 30 year old generation is now at the forefront of the workplace, and more in control of the ideas, and the work environment, or at least should be. They should stop asking what to do from everyone else, and know what to do at this point. It seems most did not listen to their elders when they were younger or they would already be taking charge and persevering.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/98	1.02
So we're supposed to revamp Commerce and dumb ourselves down so that we can babysit and Pander to this new generation? It's not the Millennials fault it's the corporation's fault for not babying them? I think not.Step up or get left behind.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/43	2.326
I have a brother and a sister who are millennials and they're nothing like what people or the internet say millennials are..it depends on how they grew up I guess	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/30	3.333
Sammiedian Cananua Millennials are the largest generation in the U.S. labor force... Yes we have jobs... There are more of us then there are of you LMAO! Millennials also have invented and created many things including YOUTUBE! Derp! This video is very inaccurate. I myself am nothing like what is described.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/51	1.961
Which is the point he was making, parents need to educate their kids, and that is the biggest problem society has we are now on a 3rd or 4th generation of children that had no education, no values, no common courtesy, that think of themselves only, and have no interest on others well being.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/54	1.852
"We want free food and bean bags." That statement perfectly sums up how blind older generations are to the unique problems faced by today's young work force. Pathetic.	Blind	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/28	3.571
Millenials don't want fancy houses, fancy cars, status, and they don't care about sexual and racial differences. They also don't want to be careerists. They also like hipster culture. Stupid egotistic elders have always complained about the young.	Sexual	Gender - General	1/38	2.632

Absolute rubbish. Every generation says these exact things (literally) about the next one. (Except "You can have anything you want". Seriously??? NOBODY says that to kids, unless it's followed by "if you work hard".)In my experience, millennials are far more creative and pragmatic than previous generations (because they are far more worried about the future). Plenty I know work incredibly hard and have great discipline.Sinek is just a huckster who tells people what they want to hear for a living. Either that or, now that he's 40, he "suddenly realizes" that young people are idiots. They always have been, Simon. You just don't remember how idiotic you were when you were young!	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/114	0.877
--	--------	---------------------	-------	-------

This video is right in the sense that kids are treated like whenever they try hard they'll be rewarded. News flash for all of you gullible parents out there, you're spoiling your kids and they're probably not even trying that hard. People aren't giving kids enough credit for their capabilities, and because of that we end up with kids who never learn how to try their best. I'm speaking from experience when I say that kids aren't held accountable enough. I'm 18. When I was little, I was always given a paved path, I was never encouraged to actually try for the sake of trying, and due to my high functioning autism (ya that probably turned a lot of people off right then and there) I was put into a shitty school support program that gave me candy and dumb shit for doing work that they already made easier. I hated it. I hate being congratulated for something I know I don't deserve congratulation for. I was lazy as hell, only did work when bribed, and didn't care about why I actually should be doing work. My parents are great, I love them. But I think they were too easy on me. I was a fighter for my will to be lazy, kind of ironic. I would fight and fight not to do work and to get what I want and they gave in eventually. I found the way to get what I wanted, and boy was I good at it one way or another. Whether it be tantrums, lying, even bribing them myself with doing over appreciated work, and many other forms of manipulation. I was the very embodiment of entitled. Stop treating your kids like they're special. What your kids to do well? Kick their hiney into gear and get them motivated. This mostly refers to preteens and teens. To what I'm saying you might be all "So you're entitled, so what? Why should I listen to someone who says they never had to work hard?" Let me explain by saying that my parents sent me to wilderness therapy. That was so helpful for me, even though I hated it with a burning passion. After that, I went straight to a therapeutic boarding school, that wasn't as good and I don't recommend it for most people, nor should any parents send their kids there considering what can happen. I still needed that though, whether what went on there was right or not. But it got me somewhat motivated, and I was forced to comply a lot of the time. I wish wilderness therapy was more affordable for teens that need it. I'm thinking about going back to work there next summer. I work in the fast food business. The place I work is full of hardworking millennials. I know your like what? hardworking millenials? Haha ya they exist. But it's rough for me, I used to get yelled at for going slow, and making mistakes, and that wasn't easy. It stresses me out. My dad doesn't talk to me too much, but one thing he said stuck, he told me how if they have two workers and one's doing a better job, and business is slow, there gonna keep the worker that's doing a better job, and let the other one go. Businesses don't want dead weight. I started going faster, I started trying more and more as time went on. I still don't know the whole menu since we have quite the variety of a menu, and I'm trying to learn the obscure things that people don't often order right now, but that'll get me yelled at if I'm holding things up, so I'm trying to fix that. One day the shift manager gave me a huge 11 dollar tip for just a 3 hour shift from the day before, a bigger tip than the other employees working the same job for 3 hours that day, and he

Dumb

Physical Identity -
Physical (and Mental)
Impairments

1/779

0.128

By the way every generation has brought something to the table, but this one has nothing to bring!	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/18	5.556
this speaker needs to watch [LINK] millenials being any more entitled etc than previous generations is a myth. you are just old and cranky stfu.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/25	4.0

Is this a real video? I thought it was satire at first, trying to be one of those obvious propaganda videos... Then I saw in the suggested videos "Are you an alpha" by the same guy, and realized, no, and this guy doesnt seem to understand the slightest bit of psychology. Or he is like Bill O'reily, deliberately lying to get money. Lets just counter this, the first point is that social media is just that. Social, and media. Basically, its communicating with other people indirectly. Its just socializing in a different way. Everything brings out dopamine, trying to say its addictive is sly, but it doesnt get past anyone who bothered to look into it. Anything is addictive, and talking to people in any way can become addictive because WE ARE SOCIAL CREATURES. Holy fuck, thats the most blatant disregard for human nature I have heard of in a while. We are inherently social creatures, of course being social seems addicting. I rarely use facebook, and most older people I know use it about fifty times as much as me, or any of my "millennial" friends. Its like that Water Ban Hoax shit. Only worse, because this is a genuinely toxic view. Do you want to know why there is a divide between the young and the old in attitude? The young tend to be more accepting, and more confident in who they are than the old were at their age, because of things like social media, where they can see they are not alone. Because of that, they continue trying to be themselves instead of repressing themselves for the sake of being 'normal'. I cannot stress how damaging repressing anything is, let alone your entire identity. As for being lazy? What? Because we dont want jobs that require a fuck ton of work and give relatively little pay, all the while taking up our time till the point where we think about suicide because that job just becomes our entire life? No, thats not an exaggeration, Ive fucking been there, working so hard I come home with just enough time to sleep, wake up, and get ready for another day. Even then, the days Ive had off with that job were spent trying to just get some rest because sleep is damn near impossible. No, I guess the older generation had it harder because they could pay for college with a summer fucking job. You want to know whats really going on here? You want someone to blame. For all the tragedies of the past few years, real or imagined. You see the difference in thinking and living between old and young and blame them for problems, or just take out your frustration on them. It should be a good reminder that most younger people can accept that other people have different beliefs, styles of living, and hobbies, and they can deal with that. The Older generation forgot that the generation before them actually wanted to burn Shakespeare because it was "too violent and sexual", and started the exact same campaign against video games, movies, and anything "new".	Age, Old, Sexual	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Gender - General	5/520	0.962
---	------------------	--	-------	-------

I didn't go to university or college as it's called in North America I did an apprenticeship and we always had too much work to be on social media. For two years of my apprenticeship I didn't have a phone and when I got one it was because I got given an old phone as you make less than any other job in my trade.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/65	1.538
Oh my god. Stop. Just. Stop. Yes, statistically you can track trends and stuff for each generation. But this whole 'analysis' you are doing is so specific to a very tiny class of people (e.g privileged Americans). Why is it, that you feel so entitled and correct in your basic observational powers that you feel you have any authority to make statements like this? Yes, you have some very good and researched points in general about tech and an overall healthy outlook into mental health and the body. But they apply to everyone. No one is happy dude, doesn't matter what decade you're born in. The only reason my generation and the younger ones are kicking up such a fucking stink up about it is because we don't have decades of wealth and power creation that the older generations do. And it really sucks that you start this video with the whole food and beanbag thing. Millennials in the workplace (if they are fucking lucky enough to have a job) are more multifaceted than that. Youth un or under employment is astoundingly high, particularly for kids of colour, from the country, and from blue collar parents. You can't be part of the solution if you're a judgemental douche.	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/208	0.481
comparing a cell phone to alcohol because dopamine is bad and addictive >.< dude learn to read and read a book once in a while. More drug war propaganda please	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	1/31	3.226
I was born in 85 and I am nothing like these millennials I'm an old soul	Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	2/16	12.5
in itself, dopamine is not bad. In the wild, it is used to encourage eating good foods, mating, and a plethora of other things. However, social media and other platforms do cause depression. You get the dopamine from speaking to someone, but it isn't really social contact. Therefore, you may have been chatting with people all day, but you are as lonely and sad as someone who sat at home all day without speaking to someone. The worst part is you don't know why. Like anything, in moderation it is fine. But it is addictive, and the overuse of this platform can result in depression. In addition, a common misconception is that dopamine is the chemical for general happiness, but that is actually serotonin. Dopamine is a temporary 'feel good' state. I am saying this because I see many comments stating otherwise.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/142	0.704

What work nothing gets done these jobs are fake enslavement	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/10	10.0
We are all the products of our own decisions. Don't think too much about who is to blame for your life being hard, think instead about how you can make the most out of what you are given. There is nothing written in stone that says millennials are doomed to fail. Identify your goal, formulate a plan, make smart decisions, and you will succeed.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/64	1.562

Im a millenial, I ll admit Im lazy. I ll admit it. I do shit jobs nobody wants to. I smell like a dumpster every night I come off of work. Lemme tell you something. Every older generation shits on the new one. People always put others into stereotypes. But the older generations are weak. I see my teachers, older colleagues that are uinterested in their work. There is no motivation, they re scared of bullies. They dont read books and try to develop new skills. I dont blame em, some books are hard to read though. I did a shit ton of overtime, got harassed and bullied on my work daily by this "golden generation". I started avoiding certain tasks because I was avoiding those people. Managers laugh at this kind of behaviour and I had to put up with it every day, doing overtime. Doing a job I hated, was extremly boring. I ve watched other kids in my class getting handouts in schools. Being helped by their parents with their school, parents that had better education than mine did. These kids are doing much better than I am, they got good 40 hour jobs, respect on workplace, money and a car. Some people told me I didnt have the study ethic, Im lazy, no discipline, indifferent. I ll admit I was lazy and I am now paying for this mistake. But I could not bring myself to study, I could not stand to study. I didnt understand a lot of things and was just falling behind more and more with every year. I gave up because I know how many hours I would spend studying just to figure stuff out instead of someone having patience and showing me. No, teachers didnt care, I could tell even thwy had no idea how some of the stuff would be used in the real world because they most likely never applied in the real world. I could forget about asking someone to explain it to me, if Im lucky. They explain it shallow, help you through some practice taks but not really explain it to you. You know why? Its competition and they dont want any. I knew that and they knew that. Try learning from a book, you say? My parents couldnt understand half of studd written in my math books. You need a dictionary and some prerequisite knowledge. I admit I gave up when I shouldnt have. But back then I didnt have the resources I do now and the patience. I swore on my life I will end this vicious cycle that has become my life and go to school, take up new skills, cooking, mechanics, building and become indepent and work my way up. You sir, have no clue what you are talking about. The only thing I am thankful for is that I have an apartment that I can pay and not have live with some dickhead roommate, got my brother with me and dont have to live in a tent or something. I see a lot of people struggling in America, especially in low wage areas. Instead of taking the abuse and the overtimes forced upon. My suggestion to anyone is to get out as quick as possible, get a good paying skilled job. Companies are just gonna use you, put you down, make you feel worthless and will shun you if god forbid, you were to learn something to get a proper job, because thats where the profit comes from. Low wages, extended hours and quotas to match with the job title and skill. If you think companies or the government is gonna take care of you when you get old. Have a look at sone of the homeless seniors that receive pensions. Many seniors in my countries have to collect bottles to make ends meet. I ll admit I was indifferent to all of it as a kid. I always	Nobody, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	2/672	0.298
--	-------------	----------------------------------	-------	-------

So this is just Eiurope or states? Or the whole world. Dismissing a whole generation without any facts could be construed as racist	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/23	4.348
The science is clear, nobody is happy. Nobody has a fucking clue, nobody has the answer. We're all connected yet lonely because we don't meet a physical or mental standard. Nobody wants to put in the work, hardly any millennial has the ability to have even a complete life...but everything is fine	Mental, Nobody	Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	5/52	9.615
Raised pussies are future pussies. Time to toughen the fuck up! I've been aware of this for 25 years and even though I raised two teens to be independent they're years behind what I was like at that age . They don't even want to leave the house. It's pathetic. We're in a world run by wankers I cannot imagine what it's going to be like in 10 years.... I shudder the thought. The 30 year olds now are the same. Whiney, spoiled bastards.	Age	Age - General	1/83	1.205
Little Syzygy Visual studies? I take it you're one of those people who believes everything on the internet is fact? This is pseudo science. Observation of a specific number among a specific group isn't conclusive data to speak about an entire age group. What generation was used as the control for this experiment?	Age	Age - General	1/53	1.887
4:19 - Social media outlets like Facebook do have age restrictions, but they're easy to get past.	Age	Age - General	1/17	5.882
PFFFT, " age restrictions" on Facebook is like putting up a door in the middle of a trail where you can step around it. The only reason it's there is because lawyers say it should be.	Age	Age - General	1/35	2.857
Well I must say that I work with a lot of 18 to 30 year old people in the food industry, And we go through so many young and older people it is crazy . Most of the time we have to fire the younger and older generation just cause they don't want to show up for work or give us lip for not doing there job the way they are told to! And a lot of people that i work with only do a hafeass job at best. Not saying everyone out there is lazy, but from what I have seen for myself there are a lot of entitled people in America. And I was one of them so I know what I'm talking about. When I was young my family was doing very well with a big house a few nice cars and money to spare, But things do change and times are tuff these days! So I know what it is like to go from rich to middle class to being poor. But I think it made me a stronger, more humbled, and better person to have been through all that! I think everyone should have to see how the rich, middle class, and poor people live there lives.	Crazy, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/211	0.948

i agree with the weird rewarding system is stupid, but all i see is that there more bitches and complaining ass bitches more then ever now days.	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/27	3.704
This guy has obviously never started his own business. BS Job satisfaction and achievement don't come overnight. I'm a millennial and started my 1st profitable conglomerate at the age of 24. I work from home most days, make more $ than I've ever seen, and definitely feel fulfilled. If I had stayed in the workforce rat race I'd probably still be making less than $100,000 a year. The world is yours for the taking, don't let someone con you into believing you have to "pay your dues". Maybe they did, but there's always a better alternative.	Age, Race	Age - General, Ethnicity - General	2/96	2.083
Makes a lot of good points, but also millenials are recognizing that our system is bull shit, they grew up on the internet where they can see for themselves the true nature of our government and society, no other generation had the ability to watch video after video pointing out the endless amount of bullshit were subject to on a daily basis... I think these kids are just disillusioned with the whole system... and to an extent I agree, why am I going to work for a company making them millions a year when I only get a small fraction of that? Why am I going to sacrifice 40-50 years of my life in the hopes that when I'm 70 I have enough money to enjoy myself when I'm to old and broken down to actually enjoy myself... I agree with this, it's why I quit my job and started my own business... the problem with kids is like you mentioned in the video, it's instant gratification and expecting everything to go their way all the time, which isn't life, part of the excitement in life is not knowing what's going to happen... I think the motivations as to why millennials aren't succeeding in the work force is right on and I agree with them, the problem is they don't have the work ethic or mental fortitude to find a different way	Mental, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/232	0.862
Oh look! Another video full of juvenoia made by and for older generations that fear millennials and need to blame them for everything wrong with the world. That speech is not getting old , it's ancient! You find quotes by Aristotle, in the 4th century BC, dissing younger generations. Just moove on, try to accept that getting old is not necessarilly bad and try to keep up with new technologies and trends instead of being lazy (yes, LAZY) by refusing to learn new skills and stuff and just saying that all that came after your generation is bad and not worth to learn.	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/102	1.961

OMG, this is so ridiculous. I am not a millennial. I am older. Please millennials do NOT listen to this crap. First off, NEVER settle for a job because it is just that.....something that pays the bills or not even that. Find your passion and talents and work for yourself. If you're going to make someone rich, make yourself rich. And about the addictions.....it has been shown that about 70 of addictions are due to childhood trauma. I think a lot of children growing up today have traumas due to very dysfunctional families. If you grow up with a parent that has a mental illness, or they themselves have addiction issues, or you are physically, mentally, emotionally, sexually abused, then it is likely that you may have addictions. The cycle of addition is triggered by traumas because of the rewiring of the brain. This video is another trap to keep another generation in the Matrix of lies and corruption. Authority figures are criminals in this world. Most of all follow your soul purpose and don't listen to others.	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/178	0.562
---	--------	---	-------	-------

How about when millennials enter the work force and find no one will hire them because older more experienced workers are trying to get the same jobs? In that situation if we do get the job we will be hated for it by the older generation because we are taking their jobs. But if we don't get the job they hate us for not working. We can't win. Throw in that we are expected to essentially train ourselves to the same level of skill as older workers and everything is stacked against us for skilled trades. From personal experience if you aren't willing to work yourself to death and get tossed out for just above minimum wage in illegal conditions nobody wants young employees in the manufacturing industry. I lasted 3 years because I was willing to break the law and do the illegal things older employees refused to do. The second I started asking about why I'm expected to break the law for my job I was gone. No one else my age lasted anywhere near that long and plenty of them had post secondary education. Now I've got permanent health issues and lung damage as a result of the conditions I was forced to work in and was constantly told to "be thankful you are allowed to work for us" and treated like human trash. In addition to being denied proper safety equipment because "it's not worth getting you a fitted breathing mask" after I developed breathing problems because the standard ones wouldn't fit my face. Blowing paint out your nose every night isn't fun. To those who say my generation is worthless: Your generation forced me to cripple myself for life, while constantly berating me for it and telling me that I don't deserve the opportunities previous generations did. Then proceeded to fire me once my health deteriorated to the point I couldn't do it anymore. You forced me to slowly kill myself knowingly and promised legal repercussions if I ever told my doctor what was happening. Millions in fines and jail time I was threatened for doing my fucking job. Your generation ruined my life and left me a barely living husk all because "this generation doesn't deserve respect". Fuck you and your fucking bullshit attitude. This was a major international company with plants around the world at that. Hell even my Grandfather (who despises just about everyone) admits that his generation and our parents fucked it all up for the rest of us and is just glad he won't live to see the world he helped ruin. His exact words. Luckily for me the government agrees that my health deteriorated enough that I can't work and I have such severe problems with authority figures now I lash out violently at anyone who gives me orders. The government agrees that I've suffered enough and has me classed as permanently disabled. I wasn't useless until the prior generation forced me to become that way. My older family members said "Your job might be killing you but at least you have a full time job, unlike most of your generation who can't get one no matter how hard they try." When I was suffering excruciating chest pain at all times due to the chemicals. That is in no way a healthy mentality. No one should ever be forced to kill themselves for a paycheck. Much less to "prove their worth" especially to a generation who coddled us and now mocks us for how they treated us.

Age, Cripple, Disabled, Nobody

Age - General,
Age -
Youngsters,
Physical
Identity -
Physical (and Mental)
Impairments

4/588

0.68

Zero Attention Gaming it's reverse physiology they want us to feel bad because we are different in a good way. We are the main focus. Yet past generations where more fucked up than we are. They did all sort of drugs and it was popular and all kind of other shit. Lol take a look at history and today we live good.	Zero	Age - Youngsters	1/62	1.613
Theresa Otto that something was nothing but destroy everything for the next 4 generations	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/14	7.143
You useless eaters expect to be brought in at 10+ year wage/salary levels, and expect the " old people" to do your job for you, while you spit on them (in between texting your BFF and watching Youtube videos).Yes, We hate you, don't want you ANYWHERE around where we work, because the company has to stay afloat, and you idiots are hell-bent on tearing it down.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/66	1.515
cnile cnile useless eaters said by the guy who most likely worked a crappy job and sat on his ass and watched t.v. on his downtime for 40 years and has contributed nothing to society but suck all the benefits dry from that job and is now a useless sponge sucking up social security and a pension	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/57	1.754
cnile cnile you're worthless human being who has amounted to nothing more than a useless idiot who's children and grandchildren will be financially fucked because you choose to do nothing and teach them nothing now go back to rotting away in your recliner and trying to figure how to turn on your t.v.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	3/53	5.66

Haha what kind of paint keep in mind im 37 and learned fiberglass hand lamination bare handed at mere 8 years old I've smoked since I was 14 done every trade you can think of and am pretty much fucking invincible my lungs are clear no signs of cancer I'm a carpenter again so I pack 50 pounds of tool bags and play on trusses... I s all about will power and that's the point your Generation has become so cleanly so sterilized that working on vehicles or in hailing something as harmless as latex paint will get you " awarded " as permanently disabled because really you're a fucking pussy and can't hang with the big boys I'm accustomed to using gasoline or acetone to clean my hands of.shit like roofing tar or axel grease , or in hailing a little aspestos from changing my brakes meanwhile while your sorry ass worked for a mere 3 years as a fucking painter done that too for far more than three years my wife who is 30 years old has had grandmal seizures since she was two from nearly dying of pneumonia she has two shoulders that dislocate during ANYTHING including putting on a sweater, missing 1.5 of her thyroid total historectmany from cancer does NOT qualify as permanently disabled by your almighty shithead Government pushermen...you really think you're more disabled because you inhaled a little paint dust and can't be an adult when told to do your fucking job? Shit kid I got bitch slapped by a 30,000 gallon water tank when it expanded 17 Staples to my skull full on face covered in blood and subsequently blood loss and when BACK to work after my skull was stapled shut...I also cleared 900 bucks in a weekend doing that job .Again your WHOLE Generation is a bunch of whiny pussies that MOSTLY bitch and moan about doing something hard , no Ingenuity, no perception no critical thinking...most of you pansies can't even cope with basic job site demeanor in a Construction field....grow the fuck up and realize life isn't fair and you're not a victim just because a government vogon shithead says you're too Incompetent to work...	Disabled, Old, pussy	Age - Over 65s, Nationality - Chinese, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	6/368	1.63
---	----------------------	--	-------	------

Shit...let's see occupations starting at 7 years old doing construction cleanup on my dad's jobsites on summers and winters in lake Havasu 120 degree heat , painting homes, carpentry , fiberglass hand lamination, building computers , building audio equipment systems which my father's patented inventions , setting up sound system for rodeo and demolition derby, cabinetry, furniture mover , roofer repair which led to " can you do this " sure can for 25 an hour to weld equipment fix the fleet , repair the computers and of course customer service run heavy equipment , let's see this k back oh yeah building trusses in a factory getting multiple raises in just a few years repairing their heavyweight equipment etc trim carpentry also had my own company before economy crashed went to school certified in gun engraving and welding finally went back to carpentry as it's fun, dangerous and totally fucking free enviroment custom construction and pays well. Care to compare list of toxins I've encountered in my life verses a little residue of paint? Haha fucking millennials...how bout all the toxic shit your parents dealt with on a daily basis...you know the ones that actually EARNED their social security and retirements granted more stable jobs back then but as my father who also served THREE tours in Vietnam as ECM Recon use to constantly tell me " Improve, Addapt and Overcome, he died of brain cancer from agent orange 2011.. at the VA think of ALL the toxic shit he got exposed to supporting his family just started as I do for my Epileptic cancer diagnosed missing thyroid and now sculiosis and Neither of us qualify for disability..You fucking self entitlement pansy ass know nothing snowflake.	Nothing, Old, Pansy, Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	4/288	1.389
Oh yeah , scrapping steel by the ton working on ranches machine shops all sorts of shit I sldoubt you even have the mental capacity or capabilities to tell me what kind of chemical compounds you were " exposed " to?	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/41	2.439

And a fucking aasliad of lead and gin powder from firearm instruction from WW2 army air corps DI , sherrif, painting and custom carpentry hunters safety instructor , and rodeo champion grandfather...now I'm going to drink my dark beer not that light beer sissy shit and relax from my time off before I have to go back to work starting at 6 am yes the morning you shithead my 45-1 hour long drive to location whatever house is at unpack dozens of tools and chords , addorn tool bags weighing 50 pounds of tools and nails , climb ladders stand 40' or more feet on rickety ass trusses and fling sheets of OSB all while being cooked in Arizona heat 8 hours a day...ps were already on our 5th pussy millennial laborer that quit cause " it's too hard " and couldn't cope being yelled at for fucking up 1000s of dollars in materials or working in a harsh environment the last one was a weightlifter" professional" that about shit a brick when my near 40 year old ass grabbed one end of a 600+ pound gluelam beam and he couldn't even deal with his end WITH a helper whomever he lost his grip and broke the toe of the other laborer and then took days off because " he was getting cramps in his legs " perfect fucking example of MOST millennials also the other laborer is one too and he actually came to work with a broken toe but that is few and far between. Most of you are braindead know nothing entitlement morons one step from the mental maturity of " Idiocracy "	Gin, Mental, Nothing, Old, Sissy, pussy	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Aboriginal, Nationality - Chinese, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	6/276	2.174
Zero Attention Gaming you need to burn their ass in court. To many companies are screwing their help over.	Zero	Age - Youngsters	1/19	5.263
Seems the old eat the young in this world.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/9	11.111
Sinek passes off his feckless blather as fact. Beware of state-sponsored wind bags whose purpose is to feed an state-sponsored agenda, in this case, the driving of a wedge between generations, the end goal of which is to always keep the next generation dumb by this division which in turn reduces the inter-generational (from both sides) interaction and so less wisdom/experience etc is passed from one generation to the next - dumb and clueless is how the tax farmers like the herd -	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/83	2.41

I have two millenials working under me at my job. One is lazy, narcissistic, constantly on his phone constantly sitting down constantly complaining about the 4 and a half hour shift that he works, calls out for dumb reasons, etc. The other (same age) is hardworking, a fast learner, has not missed a day yet, takes responsibility even when it is not expected/asked of him, all around a good employee. The point I'm trying to make is that not all millennials can be chalked up as safe space snowflakes, there is a good number of good kids out there that can certainly cut it in the real world. To all the others all I have to say is cling onto your Apple watches and mac books for dear life, you're gonna need to sell them for food at some point once mommy and daddy don't wanna deal with your punk asses anymore.	Age, Apple, Dumb	Age - General, Ethnicity - Native-American, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/152	1.974
Ruby Ross I'm a real ass nigga!	Nigga	Ethnicity - Black	1/7	14.286
I am so depressed right now because of the work load that is expected of you with such little pay and I mean how time is your money. I worked my ass off every day at my job. I went home defeated every single day. I woke up every morning early and told myself to give it my 100 because I didn't want to let my coworkers down this wasn't about me anymore...I skipped my lunch break because of course something always came up that I had to deal with. I went home late because I knew it was my responsibility to complete all of my job although 8 hours were not enough. I finally quit after an incident that left me with a panic attack. To summarize this my generation is stressed as fuck and everyone calls us entitled. We want to be able to go to work but also for work to leave us the fuck alone once we are off the clock. Yes I have a cellphone but I want to be at home with my family without you texting me about work. I am 25 and feel like a stressed out 50 year old . I rather be broke than be in that mental prison again.	Mental, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/209	0.957
You describe many underlying problems quite well. Too bad the solutions offered are going to disappoint those that buy into them.By the way, Millennials spell school with a "K". No market then for proofreaders, even less than before? ??? Shit on you you cheap dumb illiterate fucks! Get the fuck out of business, and the world as a whole, would you kindly! [LINK]	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/64	1.562
Jesus, stop the blame game!No, it's not our parents fault, it's not the corporations fault either, those are TERRIBLE excuses. It's no ones fault, forget about "fairness" and play the hand you are dealt without expecting corporations or parents to change like a spoiled brat . It's called being responsible because it's up ourselves to find the ability to respond to whatever situation we are in. So stop the blame game already and refocus your efforts.	Brat	Age - Youngsters	1/76	1.316

Where do you get this load of crap? You think of this shit when you do nothing what? Are you fucking being paid by the government?	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/26	3.846
Facebook? What year was this made? Nobody is on FB. I'm first generation American from Mexican parents so do not relate. My parents were strict...every gen has their shit. People who act (this narrator) holier than thou is just as bad as us lazy, depressed, Entitled is ' week millennials' maybe even worse.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/53	1.887
I'm supposedly part of this generation and I don't know WHO you're talking about. I don't know these supposed entitled assholes. I DO know that the prices of housing have skyrocketed and that wages have stagnated. I recently learned the price of health insurance has skyrocketed, too. I DO know that "life career" employees are no longer things, having been laid off three times despite being told I was a highly valuable employee. I DO know tons of people my age who barely use social media and see the problems with it, and who count on eachother as good friends. I DO know people who are used to on-demand media and not horribly entitled gross people as a result. I DO know companies no longer train, no longer hire entry-level, no longer invest in their employees the way they supposedly did for our parents... and I do know people who work their asses off to make a living despite.So... I guess, sorry you have to deal with these people. Please don't generalize your experience with them to the whole generation. It's a dick move.	Age	Age - General	1/185	0.541
Truth is the only thing I have against their generation is they were jocking my generation too hard. You ever had to beat off a million little bow wow fans because your better at shit than normal motherfuckers. That's all I had I think they got the message the rest of you are old and damn near useless. I'd be less a hater and judger of the young than a minder of your own business at least as of now. Unless you want flack for shit that ain't even worth entertaining. Those are gonna be fans. Skills are what you should worry about if you don't got any you ain't worth shit.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/112	0.893
Rubbish. Most millennials believe it's everybody elses fault but their own. They have no idea how to take responsibility for their own mistakes and how to learn from them because as far as they're concerned nothing is their fault. They've been told their entire life that nothing is their fault and they actually come to believe this. It's not the fault of their parents and schools, they were taught that this is the way to parent if you want to raise strong, confident kids. It's partly the kids fault because they're too inflexible to learn when they get into the real world and it's partly the fault of hack 'child psychologists' who spouted all the bullshit to their parents about how to raise them	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/124	1.613

Saraphina North*108* you do realize what you just said. Right? Imagine if someone uploaded a video based on racism or sexism and you discredited everything they said by writing that	Racism, Sexism	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	2/30	6.667
I am 47 years old and more than several 20-30 years old tell me its to hard (Well that's what my wife say to) lol They be content	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/28	7.143
Ryan Navin A lot of kids would probably die if we all had to go to some of those countries at such a young age , depending on where they're sent. Some of these countries are so dangerous, they're different cultures with different religions and laws. You can't just dump a kid there and expect everything to end fine.Yeah I know someone is gonna say "everywhere has dangerous people so what", that doesn't mean it's a good idea to do that. Don't go into an unfamiliar culture without preparing first. Learn to fight, stay in groups, study them first, just like they would do when they come into our home.	Age	Age - General	1/110	0.909
Millennials are generally worthless in the workplace. I've managed all age groups and they have been the worst in my experience. Completely unreliable and underwhelming.	Age	Age - General	1/25	4.0
My only real issue with this video is how he blames the parents for miseducating their kids. This may be true in some cases but it is only a small part as to why mental health of millennials is worse than it used to be.	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/45	2.222

I disagree because we didn't always have the internet nor social media. We had newspapers before computers were invented for homes. We had all sorts of ways to communicate without it. We also had a lot of libraries before the internet. We also had a lot of stuff before TELEVISION was invented, even more than the 1950's back when the projectors were popular. Addiction comes in many forms. We had caffeine, drugs, and alcohol. HOWEVER, nobody constantly stayed on them VS today's media. In today's world, I am watching a niece of mine who is very thin and originally very active... She is now addicted to playing a video game whenever she is here. She doesn't want to do art like she normally used to. She doesn't want to learn how to cook or do any other skills like she used to... And she is VERY rude to us. And this is without provoking. We don't mistreat her, call her names, or harm her at all. I was not as bad as her when I was her age. I mean don't get me wrong, I had my cranky days and I still do. However, not without being provoked most of the time. Teenagers these days are no longer being reared in the metaphorical sense. They're not being grounded, not being directed anymore, and most importantly, they're getting mixed messages from every angle of their lives. And because of this, (Even I went through this in the 90's) they often run to the most comforting thing in the world: The media. Because despite its contradictions, it has what most people lack: A comforting voice. As an artist, I had to learn 20 different ways to communicate in order to get my messages out to people because I have had social problems while growing up. They were caused by lack of leadership and bad parenting via my bad dads. (I have a mother who practically raised me alone lol :P)	Age, Nobody, Thin, alcohol	Age - General, Age - Youngsters, Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol, Physical Identity - Physical Features	4/328	1.22
+Okalani5000 - We don't like the world you created, it starts with your generation corrupting the housing market and forcing us to get 25 year loans just to own a basic home in the suburbs. Next is the hate and judgement of others, oh you're not dressed how I demand you dress, you're not exactly how I/society expects you to be, It's a toxic way to live. The hilarious thing is the racist old ppl who hate immigrants, but they were allowed in to grow the property value for said racists, the karma and irony is great.	Old, Racist	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - General	2/97	2.062
+Valami Ize' - What you are seeing is a bunch of Baby Boomers and Gen Xer's who ate up their judgement like it was biblical. You're talking about a generation of hypocrites who thought colour TV was an amazing thing, when we all know now that is the dumb ass box. Made for idiots who complain about capitalism while feeding off the economy like an old leach.	Dumb, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/67	2.985

STFU pussy . Clean the sand outta your vagina, get a skill in the trades and stop your bitching. You fucking useless millennials.	pussy	Nationality - Chinese	1/22	4.545
Just a random guy wanting to study filmmaking: Dude, that was a joke! I am not actually 111 years old and wishing for the days of child labor!I know I didn't say JK but I thought I laid it on pretty thick.As far as kids not having ambition now you are doing the thing I am making fun of.. Do you not understand that 100 years ago there were people that thought kids should start working in factories, and not wanting to have your hand crushed in a press was considered soft. Do you understand that no matter what generational bracket you fall in the previous generation had similar things to say about you?"The children now love luxury; they have bad manners, contempt for authority; they show disrespect for elders and love chatter in place of exercise. Children are now tyrants, not the servants of their households. They no longer rise when elders enter the room. They contradict their parents, chatter before company, gobble up dainties at the table, cross their legs, and tyrannize their teachers."-Socrates, 400 B.C....and so on and so on forever. I know it's scary but the world will go on without you. It will probably even get better by most measurable standards, it has been trending that way for the last several hundred years.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/223	0.448
Jon Ammons Actually what is more sad is that some kids (the youngest) could like in a certain and weird way their situation (yes, kids can be pretty innocent/dumb). Maybe i misunderstood the term kid because i consider kid as a child between 6 to 10 years old	Old, Weird	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/48	4.167
Hell, the same old shit, different dates! Never had a clue. No count, adults. Well, you've got to give a trophy. Their friends aren't friends, such as "I've 3mil friends"!	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/30	3.333

Is that Right? Which gen is better?The one that started the 1st and 2nd world war?The one that killed millions of people using led, asbestos and highly toxic chems on toys and household items?Oh no, better was the generation that believed in the plastic and oil was the best solution for our planet, even if means causing ice to melt on the poles, raising water levels and creating a plastic patch with the size of Texas on the pacific and the oil wars also inherited for the next generation?Or the generation that 'seems weak' just because they care about the environment, prefer being on their phones than getting drunk and hitting their wives and kids, coz they are 'machos', a generation that thinks much more responsible ways to invest the resources than gambling all their money while their family go hungry?Just because we seem 'weak' doesn't mean we are not going to fix the disastrous and horrendous mess of world our previous generation gave us as gift...If we live depress is because all this mess we have right now, hurts because we really care, and hurt to see how nobody gave a damn about the rest uf us...We have 'early collective consciences' and we know since early time on life that what we are going to inherited is a horrendous disastrous and dirty world.Thats why we feel depress.But no worries...Time to clean that mess will come... and I am sure our generation will leave a better world to our future generations.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/261	0.383
I'm apparently within the age group considered "Millenials" and I'm actually glad whenever I'm asked to work overtime and wish it would happen more often so that I could maybe afford to buy a house or apartment one day. I'll gladly work 40+ hours per week, but I won't do it for pennies and I won't work unpaid overtime. Pay me a fair wage and I'll work all night if necessary. I guess I'm not necessarily within the stereotype this and similar videos are aimed at though.	Age	Age - General	1/87	1.149
I can't really relate to this video, yes i am a millennial, but i was raised by my dad who taught me right and a mother helped me makes sense of the world. I wasn't raised to get whatever i wanted. If i didn't get it, then i would forget about it. I can agree with the social media part. When i got older, i got my phone at 10 years old But i didn't use it that much. Now i use my phone in moderation. I'm working now. I feel like i'm happier at work than at home because it feels that i'm doing something for the world. This is just my opinion	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/114	0.877
Millennials in the workforce = Nothing gets done.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/8	12.5

It's not like the old days, it's very competitive. Many people have their degrees they're not the edge they used to be, and we all have access to the internet with the ability to seek jobs anywhere in the world. So when you apply for a job nowadays, you could be competing against many people from many places for ONE position. Plus factor in people are choosing to retire later. Like there's reasons here that aren't tied to a sense of entitlement that should't be ignored but they are, cause it's alot more complicated than being able to point a finger to one reason.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/104	0.962
Omg rly your trying to age restrict cell phones? Get a life	Age	Age - General	1/12	8.333
I find it hilarious that companies blame Millennials for being too stingy or out right poor to afford their good an services. Dinners like apple bees, car dealerships to even the diamond corps blame their "projected earnings" lost (witch is fancy wording for assumption, as most of us know assuming can be a dangerous thing) on them. just so absurd.	Apple, Witch	Ethnicity - Native-American, Gender - Female age and physical appearance	2/60	3.333
I don't mind working. I visited my ass at my old job. Am sick of manager always being handsy, flirting infront of his wife, and making me be complicated in him hitting on customers. I'll show up to work, but I'll come in as fuckin' god damn late as i can to get away from him. Avoidance isn't a good strategy but idk what else to do. When I was sexually assaulted on highscool and spoke up it made my life worse. 100 times worse. No one gave a shit what happened to me, and my then abusive mother exploited the situation against me, so no....speaking up won't help. Am gonna leave in August and bust my ass again at a new job. So no jerk, this video might be true of some people, but we're not all just lazy shits because we enjoy it	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/145	0.69
The suicide trend is evident also in older adults. Rewatching this video, it is very demeaning and ageist . This guy is full of it.	Ageist	Age - General	1/24	4.167
The workforce topic is important, but it misses on an important positive attribute of Mellennials. They are in general more progressive politically than past generations. As they become increasing active in our democracy and the old guard is displaced our country will be far better off than we are today.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/50	2.0

Millennial don't like working jobs in retail because they have no value. You're just another number and the people that manage you don't value you as an employee. They see people come and go and many treat you with a minimal level of respect. No one wants to work a job when the don't feel respected and that's on at any age group it has nothing to do with being entitled. Many managers don't like their jobs either but the older generation had already drunk the juice that told them to conform to society and accept the shitty job for 40 years because hard work is what life is all about. I agree that hard work is important but if you are only working to make money at Walmart, what true value is that bringing to your life? Maybe it works for some but many want to do great things and for the time being they don't want to carry on the trend of working a dead-end job. The cost of living is so high that most of the time their money goes directly towards bills anyway. Maybe if companies did better on valuing their employees and raising wages (which hasn't been done in 40 years) the attitudes of millennial would be different in the workplace. I just can't reiterate enough how sad it is that we will condemn people for not wanting to work unsatisfying jobs and label them as "lazy". Americans work the most out hours of any developed country and we will easily get fired if we can't keep up with these hectic jobs that are fast passed and give us no value, we're only here to make money in the first place. The whole "you're lazy" attitude is just fear-mongering because it's a "sin" to not work in America, but the truth is many jobs aren't satisfying and we're just working them to pay bills and to keep up the facade of the american dream.	Age, Nothing	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	2/329	0.608
The age restrictions on media for dopamine, you painted it very very bad, but for the most part it's not. Sure you get dopamine from smoking and drinking, but also from doing sports, getting good grades, hanging with real friends. Dopamine is a good thing if the way you gain it is not hurting yourself, so if you wanna say that social media needs an age restrictions, then so do sports, friends and getting good grades.	Age	Age - General	2/76	2.632
The world, especially the corporate world views millenials and everyone in general as numbers on a spread sheet and millennials don't want to except shitty pay or being seen as just a number and because we don't submit to the systemic mentality we are constantly hated on and misunderstood, the world is changing ,millennials and the new generations are on board but the corporate world and the old generation need to also be on board and understand that we don't have to compromise living a shitty life filled with hours of work just to be able to make enough money to survive and not truly be able to enjoy life to the fullest	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/113	0.885

Alcohol doesn't work on the dopamine receptors. It works on GABA receptors.	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	1/12	8.333
Okay, so we talked about the mindset of millennials (millennials are 1984-1997, so don't treat us like children. We are all adults). There's a little bit of truth in the video about it. Now let's talk about the economic environment we're in. First, we can't afford anything. This is because everything is more expensive in our generation than it was in previous generations. Education is more expensive than ever. Education doesn't guarantee jobs anymore. Educated millennials, too often, still end up in minimum wage jobs. So that sense of "entitlement" you seem to think we have? It comes down to the idea that if we went into lifelong debt to earn a degree, we are entitled to better paying jobs and jobs within our field of study that we invested in, like you wanted. On top of high prices and job saturation that limits our options, we also have a society that refuses to pay workers a living wage (which was the idea of minimum wage when it was first implemented). This renders our education useless and any job we get doesn't pay the bills, and now we have people yelling at us that everything is our fault. Millennials are not only idealistic, but we are some of the most creative, hardest workers the country has ever seen. Most of us work multiple jobs at once just to make basic ends meet, without spouses and children. We have no choice. We are also creative in our job searches, and have started up new ways to make money with "side hustles." We are also cutting costs in nearly every area of our lives, even to the point of calling an uber instead of an ambulance in a medical emergency. Instead of trying to gaslight us and "explain away" our struggles, try to understand it, and take some responsibility for creating an economic environment which has forced us to struggle. Literally nothing here comes down to, "Oh, I'm not happy with my job because I'm not making a difference." It literally ALL comes down to, "Gee, I wish I could get a job at all! And more importantly, I wish I didn't need 3 jobs just to provide basic needs for myself! I wish I had access to jobs in my field of study that would better provide for my needs! I wish I could afford to get medical attention if something happens to me!" Stop trivializing us.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/406	0.246
I've worked with more middle-aged people who were lazy, unmotivated or irresponsible than I have younger generations. Most of the guys I know around my age are pulling 50+ hours a week, happy where they are in life yet strive for more, like to go out and engage the world and have no problem being independent. Maybe this video is just stereotyping an entire generation without any actual interaction with people like every generation has done and will likely continue to do?	Age	Age - General	1/82	1.22

Maybe Millennials just refuse to play because the game is rigged. Be happy this generation is making a stand. Takes more spine to stand up for what 99 of people I talk to say is unfair than it does to be a yes man. Truth is government ruined the economy with the help of boomers turning a blind eye .	Blind	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/60	1.667
I find their expectations and self obsession to be off putting in an extreme way. As a group, their expectations are massively unrealistic and what they are willing to put out is tiny, relative to their gigantic expectations.It feels like each succeeding generation, since WWII, has been weaker and more egocentric than the last, starting with the boomers. The process has continued and this generation is almost non functional while being demanding as hell.There are always a lot of exceptions to the rule but I believe America is going to be a very weird country when this generation is at the ruling age . It is already weird enough but things are not likely to get better. I believe America's people have condemned themselves. A nation of totally self serving people will not survive. This kind of weakness and decadence killed off the Roman empire, it will destroy America, as its people become weaker and more decadent with each generation.	Age, Nation, Weird	Age - General, Nationality - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/161	2.484
This is the best advice I have ever seen. If every 14-21 year old saw and belived this the world would be a better place.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/25	4.0
I disagree with most of this premise. Maybe some of these things are true of some people. But noone checks all those boxes. It is a a kind of strawboy argument. "By no fault of their own" was repeated twice. I'm curious to know the age of the speaker. He seemed to alienate millennials while acting like he could describe us. Not saying we millennials have it figured out, but the answer certainly is not too view things through the lenses of previous generations. This talk was a way for old people to feel justified in thinking young people wouldn't be able to handle the previous generations struggles and how to coddle millennials through their niave and petty issues. Don't confuse your sympathy for empathy.	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	2/125	1.6
From a millennials point of view I do believe that we are a soft generation as all the generations before have done the hard work fought the wars and figured out political problems and then then tell u can be this that and a fucking furry if u want that's the problem in the wild if ur a weak lion u die if u don't fit in u die while here don't fitting inn gets glamourised by being a plus size model isn't bad if ur gay it's fine if ur trans it's fine this is bad as it is taking away Mother Nature natural selection and this is bad as more and more non beneficial humans come into this world (what I like to call them wasters) they then have kids and it spirals out of control into a world of no work	Gay	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	2/145	1.379

It's kinda hard to listen to this knowing yall money hungry ass old people are taking advantage of young workers we dont get paid shit and if you want to be able to survive you have to go to college but oh wait the old people are favoring their kids or their friends kids and the corruption keeps us from us succeeding and keeping the people they know in success they get the scholarships they get the varsity spots so if we want to go to college we have to go into crippling financial debt just to start the struggle of finding an entry level job and then all we do is work to pay Bill's and loans so yeah forgive us for being a little depressed	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/127	1.575
Every generation has its heroes and douche bags. I've had millennials that worked for me that were great and ones that were snot nosed shit heads. I'm a Gen xer and to be honest I've had the exact same experience with my generation. The bottom line is most people don't figure it out until they are 30 no matter what generation they are from. Kids are kids, we all grow and develop as we age .	Age	Age - General	1/75	1.333
My god the comments on this video, holy shit. First off, not all millennials are like this. Sadly, there are a number who are. Stereotypes always stem from somewhere, and they are almost always true in some sense, no matter how small. Saying ALL millennials are like this however is wrong, and shouldn't be reinforced. As for the people in the comments blaming others for the age we live in now (people blaming mainly baby boomers) as we grow up we all have the ability to change how we think and act. You can either choose to let these comments about millennials roll off your back or try and fight them and make them see something else. Every previous generation will see the new as some sort of entitled or privileged, that's just how the world works and we can't exactly change that. I know that sucks but it's just how the world is. So please, stop blaming others for this stuff and just let it roll of your back. Also, this video is trying to show why younger people today are more depressed than previous generations and why their stress levels are so high. This isn't exactly shaming millennials for who they are, it's just giving reasons for why a SMALL MINORITY of people act the way they do. Unlike people from the, I'd say early 80's back, young people today never learned how to coup with stress and relationships like people in the 70's, 60's, and so on did. It's not the millennials faults, not entirely, it's also their parents faults and their grandparents. They didn't see how this would impact future generations.	Age	Age - General	1/275	0.364
Old generations are fucking and eating the world out as much as they can, and they complain about millenials?, after the fucking mess they've done???	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/25	4.0

LIBERALS CAUSED THIS SICKNESS. The idea that it's the corporations fault and they've been dealt a weak hand is a stretch. Any child born in the west in the last 4 decades has more than the generation before. THE BIGGEST PROBLEM is the PC cultural bullshit at home, in our schools and in the media that has weakened every aspect of our society. "Sparing the rod" mentality and sycophantic parenting that was so mainstream, through people like Oprah in the 80's, has done nothing for this generation. Open your horizons, get outside and work , challenge yourself, and interact with people out of your group.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/105	0.952
So its everybody's fault, except those born in 1994?Its the parents' fault. Its the society's fault. Its the corporation's fault.I found it amusing how you went from establishing the reason why Millennials were so emotionally fragile and depressed due to the environment around them, to put the final blame on the corporate world.They were sheltered and pampered. The generation before them worked hard to establish the necessities so their children could live a good life. And that's the problem. They were given a good life from the get go. There was no struggle, not a single ounce of struggle. Rather than work hard, everything was at their feet. The older generation learned independence from a younger age . And this generation was robbed of independence. That's why they can't cope with the world. It's not the world's fault.Sadly it is their parents' fault, but in the most ironic way. They didn't want their children to go through their hardships, and it backfired.	Age	Age - General	1/165	0.606
Ark Noah agreed Noah .y parents put my ass to work ass soon as I could talk and walk starting with chores and from the on more and more there was no bubble wrap the world hemets for bikes now it's like they are putting on dirt bike armour for learning to ride a peddle bike...it horse good God's we rode horses with nothing	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/64	1.562
Same goes for exposure to germs these kids know nothing of just letting a wound heal itself in a post apocalyptic world with no Band-Aids a d Neosporin these kids will die from minor scratches.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/35	2.857

I have no friends and I don't need them, I have all the fun I can with my wife and kids. The desperate need to make an impact and to be noticed is such a weakness, telling them or trying to make them to be patient is wrong, people need to realize that not every single person is going to change the world, that they will live and eventually they will die and nobody is going to notice (except for family and friends). You don't deserve anything, you have to earn it. Your motivation in life should be life itself at the very least. My motivation in life is my family, I want to do better in life because I want my kids to have a better life and my wife to be proud of me while still telling them about what I have been through and reality. Teaching them self respect and appreciation. Enjoy your favorite food, think, talk, listen to music, sing, smile, take deep breaths, look up to the stars, open your eyes, you are free to enjoy yourself, appreciate health and company. Don't wait until you lose these things to start noticing that you took them for granted. It doesn't matter how many things you own and how big the universe is, if you have a narrow and weak view of yourself and everything around you then you will always be unhappy. Our mind is our greatest gift and greatest curse. By me.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/247	0.405
Failed parenting wrong they want a lot of something for nothing it is their work and it sucks if you don't work you don't get what you want life doesn't owe you a loving you get off your ass and work if you don't you do with out	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/48	2.083
So I'm sorry for being born stfu the only people who think this all the old people that don't want to make a impact oh the world	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/27	3.704

I am an early millennial, turning 35 this year. I admit, millennials are, well for the most part, irresponsible fucks when it comes to really doing something, while they like sounding very responsible on the internet and all are entitled bigshots verbally, too emotional, weak as fuck, like guys come on, bring your fucking shit together you sissy fucks. They yet blame boomers, because well again, they don't want any minor responsibility interfering with their global ideas and global entitlement.They like being charged with ideas about saving the WORLD, while they can't cope with minor emotional issues and their personal problems. I don't blame them, they really had no choice being brought up by blame-driven low self esteem boomers pampering the shit out of them.Boomers had no choice either. It is evolution folks, sometimes you just cannot know something is wrong until you try it. And when you try it and find out it is wrong, you realize you did the right thing, cause otherwise people would not evolve. Plus it is not very wise to blame the older generation, no matter what they did. They had their opportunities, triumphs and failures, now it's for the millennials to make sure, that Generation Z will not be casting all kinds of curses on us when we are old for being what we are.	Old, Sissy	Age - Over 65s, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	2/224	0.893
"You know, throughout history, I bet every old man probably said the same thing. And old men die. And the world keeps spinning.", Marty, True Detective. I know, how fucking millenial of me to take a quote from a tv show.This is kind of spot on, though. Some Baby boomers can bitch all they want about how every single "millennial" are lazy, social-media addicted fuckwads (even though the baby boomers made the society "responsible" for having created this millenial generation, who is know paying for the bullshits of some greedy old fucks who had it easier back in their day), this isn't gonna change the fact that trashing younger generations isn't new, nor it is special. Boomers are not special. Millenials are not special. Circumstances of the time one grows up in are.	Old	Age - Over 65s	3/134	2.239
When peeps forget that Millennial generation includes those born in the early eighties! yep that means you! hahaahah! Also its dumb because the stereotypes are fitting for those born in the early 2000's not eighties/nineties. Also one more thing, each elder generation has scrutinized the new younger generation, its nothing new.	Dumb, Elder, Nothing	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/51	5.882

blagh mrblafh incorrect it goes boomers THEN comes Generation X then comes millennials and now Y and Z Generations X is ALWAYS skipped were the forgotten ones mostly again we didn't have helicopter parenting in the early 80s that was the 90s that started the stupidity we had pay phones we didn't get participation trophies and rewards for every retarded stupid thing we did again that was 90s a generation is about every 15 years since most of human history that was the age both Societal and most safe age for female to give birth at is age 14-16 biologically. Although the reason it's frowned upon is mental maturity now days comes MUCH later again due to up bringing now days so really if you say Vietnam Generation baby boomers aka Vietnam veterans and hippies from 1955 to 1975 next came the Generation X the offspring of Vietnam veterans and hippies I. One of them mom was a hippie dad was ECM RECON Navy 65-68	Age, Mental	Age - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/165	2.424
this guy is supposed to be a motivational speaker well he has no solution or any answer to the problem all he is doing is spouting the same hipacritical bullshit that every one knows btw he is only 44 years old and must think he's an expert on culture between humans just because he's got a BA? btw he is only ?44 ? WhAt the fuck SIMOn	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/67	1.493
In another response to Jacob Lindberg. You can look up on You Tube and find a myriad of videos about how millennials obviously don't really keep up on current events. Not long ago a gal from Texas Tech went to Alexandria, VA to George Mason University and asked about 2 dozen students there to identify the people in 3 pictures. They were pictures of Ronald Reagan, Joe Biden, and of course Kim Kardashian. Not one kid got them all right, and only one kid got someone other than Kardashian. The girl from TT then asked the mother of one of the kids to identify the people and whammo, she got them all right, plus the bonus question the girl asked her about who was her US rep. I do believe it is wrong to beat up on millennials, but god damn at least know what the real issues are, or at least know who is in charge of this mess. Harping about tranny rights is a joke, when the economy is spinning out of controll!	Tranny	Sexual Identity - Transexuality	1/175	0.571
Finally, a mature outlook criticizing the overuse of social media rather than your average "phones rot your brain!" argument that so many adults fail to evolve from. It's all about balance. People think that sex and alcohol is either the best stuff in the world or the worst stuff in the world, but in reality, it's all just stuff. Too much of anything is bad. Too little of anything means that eventually you're probably going to have too much. People who are age-restricted from everything will fall into all those traps as adults without the experience to understand the world around them. It's all about balance. We must learn to balance our relationships with our own pleasures and desires, we cannot sacrifice one totally for the other.	Sex, alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol, Gender - General	2/127	1.575

Most of these claims are based on observation and common sense it's that simple you can go check your usage history in apps to see how much battery percentage and time you spend on certain appssee for yourself how addicted you've become	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/43	2.326
All I'm saying is that you don't really need to use it to get you point t across which again no it's not a big word just in the context you used it sounds to me like pseudo Intelligence to me... These claims are self evident millennials think they are king's of everything know everything except they know jack shit in fact they know LESS than the previous Generations and somehow have access to MORE information infact the level of information available to the public is near exponential your little Montauk machine In your palm is like walking around with the library of Alexandria I your pocket...ahh but now comes the addiction and mind control factor people would rather watch YouTube for mental masturbation of watching funny videos of pointless stupid shit...they would rather read something that corresponds with their retarded viewpoints they were indoctrinated in school.	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/147	0.68
C W Common sense isn't common for a number of reasons, never mind that doing things intuitively even if you're pretty smart isn't always the smartest options. Some things are counter intuitive like modern antenna designs.	Common	Social Class - Working class	2/36	5.556
C W Determing how addicted I am to an app based on batter power is dumb . Some apps use a lot more resources. Time spent on then is also bad since I can have it in the foreground and do something else in meantime. Network usage is also bad because well FB uses a lot of data. YT as well but if I watch a high detail video at 1080p even if it's like 30 secs, it's more data than a 15 min mix at 720p with only a picture backdrop.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/91	1.099

Helo no that's not the point t but you're partially on track specialization is the key and while it works in drones or bugs nervous system it doesn't work with mammalian nervous system our brains do not do well with specialization of insects so yes us gen X do know multiple skills and trades since our parents grandparents aunts uncles etc taught us those things and since you implied my " indoctrination " system I'll state the facts I was in gifted program and saw right through the whole thing at the beginning I was also expelled 3 times for standing up to other bullies physically and due to " zero tolerance " was punished for defending myself. Not everyday someone comes across a person with brains AND Braun so they thought they could pick on another " nerd " a nerd who had been doing manual labor and skills since age 4 including martial arts marksmanship full access to a fiberglass, wood, and machine shop unsupervised since age 7 long story short jock dipshits got their asses kicked by a nerd and bitched to the school and mostly their parents..So yes I never let school get in the way of my education. As Samuel clemens pointed out.	Age, Zero	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	3/209	1.435
oh shut up, for the most part this video is spot on, I don't care what any of you say, you know it's true. Especially the 3 things I mentioned. I don't claim to be better or smarter than anyone, I'm actually a very boring, fairly depressed person. Like I said...most, not all are like what's presented in the video, so I don't know why you got your panties in a bunch.Yes, I grew up in the 80's/90s with no internet or smart phones. Maybe things would be different if I grew up in this technological age, who knows.	Age	Age - General	1/100	1.0
I don't understand why it's implied in viewpoints like this that the ideal life is getting a 4+year education and then having a 9-5 job. Is that really all humans are capable of? The implication is we're supposed to be happy with that, and what a pity that we're not! It kind of has me boiling inside because quitting school and following my curiosity has been the best, most fulfilling (and cheapest) education I could have ever imagined for myself! All the best things about being human are COMPLETELY FREE and the free version is so much more vibrant and fulfilling than the one that trains you to be subservient while emptying your wallet. Millennials have an intuitive knowledge that we (all humans) are better than this! But that knowledge keeps getting beaten down and gives us a feeling of existential loneliness, a void social media is happy to fill and addict us. We ARE victims, as are all people living in this age where the ideal life preached to us is completely void of real meaning and connection to each other and the earth.	Age	Age - General	1/185	0.541

I would rather learn from the Ancient scholars of history than anything the recent generations before me has to say.The Ancients imparted wisdom and confidence in ones self rather than blaming their offspring for their troubles or showing them drug or alcohol habits to deal with a disaster of your own creating. And previous generations have the gall to say we are weak...THEY were the weak ones its about time they saw themselves for who they really are...the ones who overpopulated the ones who consumed too much the ones who started the resource wars of the middle east because they thought they did not have enough.Its the recent generations who have crippled humanity into reaching its apex....we could have sustainable green energy by now.. but no we had to invent weapons of sickening proportions instead of fighting like men in a field of battle. I honestly think i was born 2000 years too late and it brings tears to my eyes just thinking this is the world i am forced to live in and this is coming from a 25 year old white guy in the UK.This was my previous post to a ignorant old man in this comment section called Jake lordi only speak what i feel i absolutely hate liars nothing more nothing less.I really hope im not the only so called (Millennial) that thinks this way.	Nothing, Old, alcohol	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	5/234	2.137
I am tired of hearing him say its not their fault. It was partially their fault. This generation is lazy entitled spoiled and down right irresponsible. They want to make their own rules and often disregard those which are meant to make them to be successful. As far as relationship they jump from bed to bed to be for sexual gratification and wonder why they aren't a serious relationship. They are the lost generation. Hopefully the next one learns from their failure.	Sexual	Gender - General	1/82	1.22
You silly woman . Yeah, play the blame game you entitled lazy brat . Take responsibility for the mess you've made of your life. It's nobody else's fault	Brat, Nobody, Woman	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	3/26	11.538
Dr. Ho Lee Phuk it's funny how y'all can't take responsibility for how this country is destroying it self because of your generation but want us to take responsibility! I take responsibility for my life and what happens with in it but I'm not taking responsibility for your generation fuck ups!!! We'll take responsibility when all you boomers die and leave us with the mess you've created.	Ho	Gender - Female sexuality	1/67	1.493

I was born in 1982 went to school and graduated and did take some college, I didnt grow up with much didnt grow up with money didnt get a cell phone till i was in my 20's no cable or computers, I will say this, living through a recession and paying more for college and paying more for interest etc. It seems as if overnight everything skyrocketed and going to college wasnt worth it, I went from going to the library for information to having everything at my fingertips and trying to decipher which is real information or fake, idk if I'm considered a millennial or not but I can say my life has nothing but extreme change which is good to a point but almost seems like to it's not for the best on a person.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/137	0.73
Dr. Ho Lee Phuk the mess she made? You mean the participation trophies that boomers made? By the internet that boomers made? Smartphones boomers made? The entire concept of "we never spank out children" that boomers made? Or maybe how the fact that 90 of flat earthers are boomers to begin with? The way i see it is parenting makes the next generation act the way it is. (Or the lack of) so sense sge should take responsibility over a stereotype of how millennials are how about you eat your words and take responsibility for shitty parenting, participation trophies, internet, smart phones and all the other shit you like to blame us for Mr. Myshitdontstinkbecauseimpeachyperfectangleman	Ho	Gender - Female sexuality	1/115	0.87
The Silent Generation: Born 1928-1945 (73-90 years old) Baby Boomers: Born 1946-1964 (54-72 years old) Generation X: Born 1965-1980(38-53 years old) Millennials: Born 1981-1996 (22-37 years old) the birth year you mentioned is incorrect	Old	Age - Over 65s	4/34	11.765
When I saw "Has Lying Become Fashionable?" on a magazine cover 20+ years ago, I knew we were in trouble. Example: "You are special." Truth: You are special to us but the rest of the world holds you as just one more nobody . Example: "Hard work and determination will put you head and shoulders above the rest." Truth: It can but then there's the mediocre who will vehemently oppose you for making them look mediocre. No need to go on... The Department Of Reality will sort you out every time. Leadership that thinks they dictate reality will surely fail and take a lot of people down with them.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/108	0.926
I am a Millenial not been sheltered. Enlisted out of HS was part of Operation Iraqi Freedom. When I returned to the US what I saw is that most people no matter what age they were all kind of self-absorbed jerks.	Age	Age - General	1/41	2.439
It's because you old people keep asking us how to navigate your phone's or how to fix the Wi-Fi when you just have to restart the router	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/27	3.704

What ever else you might say and what ever generation you are, there is an easy way you can tell when something is very wrong in life and with you're habits. If you find it hard to face people in public settings and you think that everything should be instant gratification and you are unwilling to put down you're device long enough to do a job, you have problems. Every generation can have these problems but it is magnified greatly in this age where everyone has access to a computer and social media. This has a cost. In the past, people went out side and played games and sometimes even made up their own games. In the past, people had to entertain themselves with imagination. If you have a generation raised to stay indoors and that generation interacts primarily over a device and not face to face, well, is it any surprise that they can not cope when the real world comes along? In this case, it is not a simple matter of the older generation bashing the younger generation. In this case, you can see a marked difference in how younger people interact on personal level and the way they go about social interaction is not always very social.	Age	Age - General	1/210	0.476
Simon Sinek is on the mark in regards to intimate relationships, social media & dopamine. He's way off the mark about people, not just millennials, in the workplace. People want to be involved in something meaningful. People are becoming more aware. We don't want to waste 40 to 50 years of our lives at a job that's not making any significant progressive improvements in humanity. If he hasn't noticed, people simply hate their jobs. That has nothing to do with patience. He's correct about instant gratification but that's not the entire problem. There's a global awakening happening but people haven't quite caught on or are unable to recognize it. This is why you see millennials wanting jobs that they look forward to and gives them purpose. Every job I've had over 4 to 6 months, I've become in charge of personnel, training and operations in my department. Yet, I still hated the jobs.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/153	0.654

If you're an adult working minimum wage, you need to elevate yourself into a field that pays more. Save for college, apply for tuition assistance, or go to a vocational program. Minimum wage is a dead end for most people, a few get promoted to manager and even fewer get promoted above that, but most are in limbo until they change their situation. If you're earning minimum wage with a kid whether married or single, you're gonna have to work even harder since you're already at a disadvantage. I want to make this next point very clear to anyone who may be wondering: Nobody expects a single parent to raise a kid or kids while earning minimum wage, the expectation is that they will fail, it's a failing strategy. The actual expectation (that they didn't meet) is that they be responsible and not have children until they're ready.If you don't have children and are stuck in a minimum wage job, you are in a perfect position to start changing the direction of your life. Save and go to school, invest in a major that isn't useless, and don't be afraid of failure.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/193	0.518
This guy is such a douche. This whole theory is based on nothing .	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/13	7.692
setting your phone on the table during a meeting tells the presenter that you're not interested ... what?setting it on the table lets them know you have nothing you CAN turn your attention to besides the presenter	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/38	2.632
I'm a millennial, 24, I have a stronger work ethic than my 35 year old (millennial) coworker.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/17	5.882
Here's my completely anecdotal research: old people are dumb and easily tricked into believing stereotypes they read online	Dumb, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/18	11.111
You American Millenials are crazy ! Greetings from Eastern Europe.	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/9	11.111
Millennials are the pussy generation.	pussy	Nationality - Chinese	1/5	20.0
Sounds like a old man?	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/5	20.0

FUCK THIS SOCIETY. FOOD AND WATER IS SUPPOSED TO BE FREE BUT THOSE WHO ARE IN CONTROL WANT TO ENSLAVE US. FOOD GROWS ON TREES AND WATER FLOWS ON THE EARTH BUT WE ARE RAISED IN A MATRIX SOCIETY WITH NO SURVIVAL SKILLS DEPENDENT ON THE GAME THEY WANT US TO PLAY. ALCOHOL IS LEGAL KILLING MILLIONS WHILE SHROOMS ARE HEALING ADDICTONS AND DEPPRESION BUT IS ILEGAL BECAUSE THEY DONT WANT US TO WAKE UP FROM THERE ILLUSION. FOOD AND WATER MUST BE FREE!!! THERE SHOULD NOT BE A PRICE ON SIMPLY EXISTING. IN THIS SOCIETY THERE IS NO MERCY FOR THE FELLOW HUMAN THEY WILL LET THEM ROT FOR NOT PLAYING THE GAME	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	1/114	0.877
Somebody once told me there are only 2 types of millenials, good ones and bad ones, nothing in between. Once guy comes in motivated, hard-working, prepared to shake the world while the other comes in saying "I'm lazy, but pay me". And those who are good, are the best work force of all the generations.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/55	1.818
Every Generation is worse off than the last generation and this is a deplorable character build up and clearly a controlled system that has been layed out before us. The Character of Humanity is being played out and built up by psycho paths with more psychological awareness than they need. Why do you think billionaires are so good at what they do? They took the next step in degeneration of our nation . They knew that system of cause and effect and inductive strategy in order to induce their desired outcome. Clearly that desired out come is becoming more obvious today when you look at recent history and realize there is a clear process being dealt here. A process to induce very carefully how different social classes feel about each other and the condition of their lives which in turn create outcomes that are necessary for this degeneration. Soon America will be Sodom and Gamora all over again.	Nation, Psycho	Nationality - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/157	1.274
Hey, thank the dumb fuck who said that 'standing in a corner' is punishment. I will NEVER say...ALL millennials....because there are some young people who work their asses off fornot much, but earn the satisfaction of working hard and earning a paycheck.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/43	2.326

The returns to physical attractiveness have exploded since the feminist revolution. Don't get me wrong, I realize attractive was always advantageous in the marriage market – but now it has taken on new meaning over the life course. The superficial age interacts with technology to create a world where women in their 30s, 40s and 50s are more celebrated for being "Milfs" than for being nurturing, kind, selfless, etc...It is impossible to understate how much of the current state of the world is attributable to changes in gender roles. You are delluding yourself if you don't recognize the role that this has played in the "parenting" and "enviornment" pieces of Simon's story. There are massive externalities of parents. Good parents shape the peers, they shape the environment, they shape the culture that we shared. Technology is part of the problem, but we are the entirely of the solution.	Age, Gender	Age - General, Gender - General	2/149	1.342
Get back on your meds, Fringe Wizard. Your blatant stupidity and mental illnesses are out of control!!	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/17	5.882
No... We need to start expecting them to work extra hard for a long time, themselves, or no rent, no food, no healthcare, no nothing. I'm a GenXer, and while my generation has earned it's keep already, and we deserve better than the hand we were dealt, I'd give it all up just to see a whiny, entitled, self-absorbed, lazy-as-all-fuck Millennial actually earn their keep. They whine about college tuition being $20,000??? Try the more than $80,000 that mine was... Sheesh. They need to shut up and get real jobs and start doing their part on the financial side of things. No, it's not lickity-split, getting a job. Tough noogies.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/110	0.909

I'm an older working-class millennial (30). I'm usually left feeling jaded and disenfranchised, mostly due to high cost-of-living, high taxes, and overall seeing something closer to an 'American Nightmare' than the 'American Dream. I think a large part of why I make ends meet, albeit going through hell and high water, is simply because I managed to separate myself from things I label as 'indentured consumerism', 'indentured dependency', and being an 'indentured debtor'; not to mention I don't have kids (HELPS ALLOT). It also doesn't help when I see an unemployed single mother with five kids split between two baby daddies living high on the hog courtesy of tax payer dollars, where I'm struggling just to pay for my own way in life. In this world if you're responsible, you are penalized for it, never once have I qualified for any public services since I allegedly make too much, but I sure qualify to pay up so others can. I'd like to know how I make too much, my pay is many thousands below the national median salary, and in California, that pay makes it a struggle to stay afloat. What gets me is how my great grandfather at my age already had six kids and a house in the Bay Area, he managed to support it all off a mere delivery driver job! If I attempted the same thing, I would be in financial ruin!	Age	Age - General	1/236	0.424
---	-----	---------------	-------	-------

The problem is that we live in a one size fits all environment. Everyone seeks the easy way & they often times forget the individuality of each person. There are numerous reasons that kids entering the work force today are struggling & it goes so much deeper than was pointed out in this video. First off, There was a generation that grew up in the 60's & 70's during a time where peace & free love were the thing. They took on those attributes & concocted an idea that children were free spirits & should have the freedom to self explore without any guide lines or limits. These people in turn grew up writing books on how to raise a child correctly when they themselves had no clue ! These children grew up with very little discipline & never had to face any real world consequences for their actions thus creating a generation who had no ability to deal with real world struggles. This is why today you see kids taking guns to school to solve their problems. When you combine these issues & pile them onto a generation with no ability to deal with them, this is what you get.Secondly. Our education system is in shambles. Our education system heaps unrealistic goals on children with an emphasis on simply falling in line & regurgitating the information back to the teacher that the teacher shoved down your throats. This compiled with the 8 hour a day, early to rise schedule, limited breaks between classes & mountains of homework leaves kids with no time to develop social skills or develop meaningful relationships. Is it any wonder why kids spend so much time on social media ?Lastly. The instant gratification & entitlement is only getting worse. I recently changed jobs & over the course of the past 2 years I've seen people enter the work force & leave in staggering numbers. This didn't happen 20 years ago. It was widely accepted that if you wanted to move up the ladder, you had to work for it. Kids now think that if they want to be in management that all they have to do is ask for it. There is no in between. I've spoken to several kids entering the company I work for that are dismayed that I'm 46 years old & working a labor job. They simply cannot fathom the fact that I'm fine with it. They believe that they can simply demand a management position & it's theirs. There is no work ethic at all. The thing is that, No child is born with a set of instructions. There is no warranty for defects & each comes with their own set of challenges. Parents need to accept the fact that buying a how to book written by someone who doesn't have kids isn't going to fix their woes. There is a problem here & we need to address it. Parenting, Education, Technology, & Expectations. The entire system needs an overhaul !	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/503	0.199
The generation of weakness is generation Z though...Millennials are people 22 - 37 years old..... that's right, 37.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/19	5.263

There's a bit too much generalisation and jumping to conclusions. I agree that millennial's feel more entitled but I don't agree with why they do. Comparing alcohol to social media to just give the discussion weight is a little extreme, sure they can have similar chemical reactions but that's where the comparison stops.I, myself am a millennial and how I feel my own brain works is the acceptance and gratification you get from technology which ripples throughout my life, effecting every aspect. To put it into clearer perspective, the internet is at your finger tips, you no longer have to read maps when you get lost, google has you covered, if you don't know when a building was built, just google it and find out in seconds, if you are struggling with maths, the answers there in seconds; My point is, everything has become instant, hassles in life have been removed and technology has been designed in such a way to just make mundane tasks easier. Taking all this ease, into account, it starts to have a butterfly effect on the rest of your life, repetitive tasks require much more discipline than previous generations, gratification has to come fast and with the wealth of the internet at our finger tips it's hard to get stuck in a 9-5 job behind a counter or in an office when you can literally feel like the world is your oyster with the breadth of the internet and technology.If you are up to date with any advancements that we are making on a daily basis, as a species, the world is moving so fast and it's hard to not want to be apart of that, like, right now. This isn't a problem with millennials, it's the way humans are heading into the future and will continue to amplify these effects the more technology improves. Eventually machines will take over labour and there are already very creative AI, even some that writes it's own code, I personally see the future heading in an area where the only thing humans will feel is entitled, seeking instant gratification and using 90 of their time sucking in entertainment to trigger those endorphins.	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	1/366	0.273
One thing which causes depression in millenials is the liberalism in schools and media and entertainment industry. Nearly 100 of all content in liberal schools, media and entertainment is toxic, hateful, racist, sexist anti-law enforcement etc... If a person buys into that, then how can they be happy?	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/48	2.083
"From the ice-age to the dole-age" eh? Ask yourself what is it you gain exactly by picking on the grammar of someone half your age and a few SD's lower in IQ?	Age	Age - General	1/32	3.125

+Adelaide Hamilton - Richard Branson is dyslexic lol, so you're smarter than him? That's the greatest change we will have when these baby-boomers get too old to use the bathroom anymore, the social values and basically not being a cruel asshole, live and let live, will become the social norm. Forget the fact they have ill-gotten gains from a property market they corrupted to increase their wealth and bury any new home-buyer, they lived an era of hate and greed and that's not worth it.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/85	1.176
+Janet S - Yeah have to agree that was a dumb move, there's a reason 80 of ppl in their 20's don't have kids vs 80 of ppl in their 20's with kids not that long ago. 2000 will be remembered as the internet era, internet vs library hasn't happened since printing press vs hand written, we know a cracky kid costs $200k AUD to 18 and a successful kid costs $500k AUD, you wouldn't learn that deviation at a gov controlled library, they'd just say bang and pump out kids, it'll be awesome! Basically we know stupidly useful stuff you don't need to know, next gen is making their own apps though as in Utube for apps, that will be very interesting.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/123	0.813
+ned kelly Sounds as though you've had some pretty lousy experiences, to say the least. I hope things have improved for you. I couldn't agree with you more about the nepotism! Though, I have had some good experiences with local family owned/operated businesses as well, never having been the brown noser. Simply a woman of integrity.	Woman	Gender - General	1/56	1.786
+ned kelly Life isn't always fair, but it's what we make of it. Our attitude towards people and situations can make or break us. When I was younger I was in the service industry and had a difficult time dealing with people. There were times when I'd break down into tears or get an attitude if someone was rude. One day, I had an epiphany thanks to a woman who had an attitude. This was a woman who'd called in and I really thought I'd been rude back to her and felt bad. When she came in, I apologized and told her I'd felt overwhelmed being understaffed. She shared with me her mom was in the hospital and had been for days and that she was essentially carrying the weight in her family. She gave me the details, and all of a sudden I saw a vulnerable human being and felt so much compassion and love. I gave her my condolences and a hug and was forever changed. I'm happy for you that you're retired and no longer affected by all of the BS! I firmly believe everything happens for a reason. Good or bad, we always learn something.	Woman	Gender - General	2/199	1.005

+sirenxoThat's the natural process by which the "order" (structure) of society grows ossified and corrupt, and the new generation (the "chaos" rejuvenates the structure. Even the Ancient Egyptians and Mesopotamians knew this and incorporated it into their mythological stories (being as of yet, unable to articulate it into language.)This has been a stable yin/yang social process since societies first emerged. But a series of compounding missteps by the society (the old order) has happened because we were too busy "pursuing happiness" and saying "That's not my problem" instead of paying enough attention to make small course-corrections. We are now at a point where the younger generations are essentially fleeing into either tyrannical ideologies dictating what they are and are not "allowed" to think and say and be . . or into nihilism and dropping out to bolster the ranks of the mentally ill and the suicidal. We've neglected the wisdom of so many ancient (and rather long-lived) cultures for so long that small relatively painless corrections are no longer an option. If we don't want to keep spiraling downwards at an accelerating rate a drastic, uncomfortable, very expensive course-correction is necessary. And some "eggs" (people) will definitely have to be broken (sacrificed?) to make that omelet.That is the cost of a population who doesn't have eyes open to anything other than the self in the moment, who tries to coast for too long on the hard work and sacrifice of past generations, who grow so impotent that they (and their children and their grandchildren) aren't useful for anything and need a sufficiently-powerful "overseer" structure that tyranny is inevitable.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/271	0.369
--	-----	----------------	-------	-------

I think it depends on where you live as well. Because out in the country, corporations can suck balls for all we care. In the city, they own everything and "Are your base are belong to us" is what their slogan practically is. In suburban areas, it's 50/50 so it's a constant battle like from Star Wars or Star Trek series. In Small towns, that depends on how close to a city you are. It also depends upon who raised you, which is one of his points, and what peers you have. Again, he pointed it out too. It also depends upon what you choose to focus upon. It is hard these days to find someone full of wisdom and knowledge that doesn't suck. Nobody is perfect, but the important tool everyone needs to learn to have is how to take the good and leave the bad. It's extremely difficult to acquire it, but it's extremely useful. The only way it can be obtained is by paying attention to whether something is a straight up bogus lie, a half-truth/half-lie, or a full truth.Say for example, your friend can say "Hey you know that tree in the back yard?" You would reply with, "yeah?" And they would then proceed with "It grows apples. Don't look, it's there. Just trust me."Then you're faced with a dilemma of whether they're lying or not. You can just believe them, not give a shit, and go on with your life. OR you can go check anyways because you know that people often lie in this society. They can get mad and throw tantrums all they want, call you abusive for not trusting or whatever... But what matters in the end... Is that you know whether they were lying or not. If you cannot check your facts, just claim they dunno WTF they're talking about unless they provide any proof. Because 99 of today's people are full of shit and just are talking out their asses. Why do you think that in science class they actually do tests to prove to you how physics works? Why else would your mom teach you how to learn math through baking and cooking tricks? How else are you going to learn without trying or checking things out? How else will you know without actually looking past the smoke screen or behind the scenes in a theater?	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/399	0.251
Red Car it's an old joke... "All your base are belong to us" [LINK]	Old, Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Native- American	3/14	21.429
S D Too much affirmative action. Nobody earns their promotions with hard work.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/13	7.692

100 percent true about the ass kissing, I see it on a daily basis, it is sickness inside of the brain, more like a degenerative disease, and they are fat people majority of the time	Fat	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/35	2.857
I'm glad I'm a Baby Boomer and got to actually live life before all of the technology came into the world. There is nothing to replace connections with people in person. Younger generations are getting fucked out of living life.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/40	2.5
this video should be called a country of weakness because you know what? all of this has nothing to do with generation,it has to do with americans being entitled to shit they don't do,it has to do with americans not giving a fuck about other people,it has to do with americans blaming other people for shit they do just like you are doing now,don't blame young people for your own shit environment	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/72	1.389

Hi.Watched the vid with an open mind. Read this comment with an open mind.I am a millennial.I've had 2 long-term/serious jobs. 4+ years at each. I've always found ways to move up. I'm always trying to make the company better. I've always received high praise, promotions and competitive pay. Currently I work in the tech industry.Here's my experience with 'non-millennial' coworkers (or old , I guess?)* Doesn't seem like old people can change or adapt AT ALL. Always stuck in their ways.* I'VE NEVER HAD A MILLENNIAL ASK ME TO PLUG IN SPEAKERS TO THEIR COMPUTER BECAUSE IM 'TECH SAVVY'. This was my superior who asked me this. Just no. No.* I HARDLY see ' old people' innovative, happy, and ready to roll. When I do, they usually fail.LEMME EXPLAIN.I am not saying all ' old workers' suck. There are plenty of old people who are good at what they do.The problem is that your video points a finger at Millennials for being the only shitty workers. The truth is that most people actually suck. Not everyone can be good, if-not great. Need proof? Go drive on crowded main roads for a few hours during rush hour. Here's your work-force... reacting to green lights 3 seconds late and cutting to the front of a traffic backup because they realized their lane was closed late, shucks.My point? There are just shitty people. And that makes up the majority of the population. Attempting to explain an unmotivated workforce by blaming millennials is asinine. As-if there were ZERO shitty employees in the 70's or 80's... ha. There were so many shitty employees that college became a real hype thing.Its not millennials you should be blaming. Its just people.Just my 2 cents anyways. I'm no expert. But in my experience, people of all types can suck or be winners. Animations were good and topic was interesting. I don't comment often. I wish you fortune in the wars to come.Edit: fixed repeat sentence I missed cause YouTube App's comment window is really tiny!	Old, Zero	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	4/349	1.146
Millenials suck but don't blame them, at least not entirely. As I say don't hate the plant, HATE the planter. The planter in this case is the baby boomer generation, the most decadent, disgusting group of people ever. Thousands of dollars wasted on living their stupid perfect lives of frivolous luxuries, keeping their head firmly planted up the arse of the mainstream news media and blaming everyone for just not getting the right job since that's all their stupid selves had to do. As a right-winger I relish the thought of boomers crying as they see their horrible country fall apart before them with rap music and people dabbing, all the while the nation goes full blown communist . It will be hilarious to see it happen and then it will all come crashing down. After all communism will work this time right?	Communist, Nation	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Nationality - General	2/142	1.408

God Bless the Silent Generation the kids of the WWI vets and the Depression as a millennial they have my undying respect my great grandad lived until 94 he was the biggest moral influence in my life. Let us not forget the Boys in the flying fortresses. The Marines Normandy. Guadalcanal Midway and so on. My great uncle served in New Guinea keeping the Japanese out of Aus. spoilt boomers ? pfft Yes I am proud to be a millennial where the only important entitlement is to I am free and God bless those men and women who sacrificed everything to give that right to me God Bless our Veterans	Guinea	Nationality - Italian	1/110	0.909
Just wanted to add something to this I'm from 95 and I believe in one thing and one thing only that you're entitled to and that is the work you put in whatever you get out that's what you deserve nothing more nothing less and if someone tries to take away where you work for yourself f them but no one is entitled to anything in this world unless you work for it	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/73	2.74

I can't help but think the guy talking in this video is one of those fake researchers, who brainstormed by themselves every night for a few years and think they've struck gold, that they've summarized and clarified a foggy issue everyone has been uncertain of. This "millennial problem" can only reach people 24 years or younger, he said that millennials were born in 1994 or later. We can assume some sort of gradual millennial effect, so if we extend that back to 1990 we still only reach 28. At best the people are only a couple years into their first career, or a teenager working entry level jobs (positions that NOBODY likes and everyone tried to leave as quickly as possible). What sorts of careers were people in past generations doing in their mid 20's? From what we can tell, most people who are middle aged now, have jumped between many jobs. This whole argument about social media and failed parenting doesn't make sense. Most parents didn't try weird parenting techniques, that's why they're considered weird. And EVERY parent from now back to early twentieth century would tell their kids that they can do anything they want to if they work towards it. The "millennial problem" has been a problem for many decades, its parents and managers complaining about the inexperienced young population and the issues they cause for themselves and others. When looking at the argument of suicide and depression rising, it's worth noting most people didn't even know depression was an illness with devastating effects until a decade or so ago. People thought of it as just meaning very sad. Looking at today, often people with depression don't seem to recognize it, as most are either diagnosed or notices they have similarities to someone with depression and are surprised at that revelation. This argument ignores that an older audience suffers from increased RECORDED cases of depression too. And it ignores the prevalence of information with the modern internet, and the types of issues societies encounter as they approach overall conflict. People are concerned about many issues, with no way of fixing them. Social media is as addictive as treats and adrenaline. There is very little reason to believe that people are crumbling under a social media addiction. The vast majority of the population just uses it to pass the time instead of reading a newspaper or watching TV. And the social aspect is always trumped by real-world interactions across the board, real world friendships are more rewarding and also reward with dopamine.	Nobody, Weird	Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/424	0.708
---	---------------	---	-------	-------

This video is super gay , u dont get high from social media, dopamine makes u happy, every generation has had something comparable.	Gay	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	2/22	9.091
I am 33, and have been working hard all my life. I learn to take care of what I own, and learn new things as issues come up. I learned from a young age , that only you can make yourself happy, nobody else will. I worked that 8 dollar an hour job at 16, then it moved up to 10 dollars, then 12, then 14. At 27, I was making 15 dollars an hour. Now I am 33, making over 16 an hour, and put in an application for a lead position for close to 20; if not more. So 17 years, and I am finally at a point in life, where all that hard work was worth the effort. At 28, I refused to work for anything less than 10 an hour, as my time and knowledge gained to make a difference was worth that or more; depending on the job. Unfortunately, the younger generation than me, just doesn't have the patience or drive to improve themselves, or realize what they can do; if they just try!!	Age, Nobody	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	2/178	1.124
Well my parents taught we respect and dont talk back etc etc,but they never taught we confidence and all the things needed for the real world,school doesnt teach you anything about the real world and with thirty yrs plus of working im still as broke as the day i was born,so you think your life sucks well guess what it sux for everyone who isnt rich,there is nothing worse then working most of your life in a shit job for shit money to pay crappy bills and have nothing left over to have a life at the end of your working week (which is your only day off).whip fucking whip ,thanks dad for blowing inside of mum,thanks mum for forgetting to take that fucking stupid pill,so dont worry you lot its not just your generation that life sucks for,but hey remember how you feel then ask yourselves do you really want to punish another human being by bringing them into this fucked up thing called life,but yeah its not just your generation that thinks life sucks	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/177	1.13
That's reality for ya. You know what the did back then in the 1800's or early 1900's? Either get a job or just die. Easy as that. Right now it's, Get a job, or don't because you have a bunch of chances before you die from old age or something.	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	2/50	4.0

By 20 years old ,I had started my own auto repair business....my parents provided a roof over my head and food but I didn't get hardly anything else.I liked car's and for Christmas my father bought me wrenches and other hand tool's,useless except to work with,I didn't have a ps4 and fidget spinners or a smartphone or anything like that and if I disrespected my parents or acted up ,my father took a belt or a switch off the tree to my ass...I don't understand this new generation and I'm not speaking about all millennials but the majority is fucked up	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/100	1.0
A millennium I know was unemployable. When questioned why he'd been fired from yet another job, the explanation was..'they kept telling me what to do, so I told them to fk off'.I despair for the human race !	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/38	2.632
if the recession didn't hit just as I was finishing my bricklaying at college I think I would be in better shape now. but I don't see how millennials are entitled if you ask me baby boomers are entitled they had free everything from the government and now retire on fat pensions that we will never see.	Fat	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/57	1.754
Speaking as a 52 year old , watching this, I've heard it all before, several times over. I think younger generations are the luckiest generations of all, because of the amazing technological opportunities they have.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/34	2.941
Speaking as a man of the same age I agree. We were latch key kids who had to figure shit out ourselves because our parents were always working. Today's have no back bone. They are all cry babies when shit gets tough. None of them take responsibilities for their action. They blame others for their own mistakes.	Age	Age - General	1/57	1.754
I was out for 2 years, but wait I live in a backwards red state..so there sthat..	Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	2/17	11.765

cmtmj2006 take responsibility for the economy you ruined. Also new technologies that you "figure out yourself kids" yet cant get their heads around a phone. A smart phone that is. We live way more complex lives than you ever did hahaha my mom has worked 6 days a week since I was a kid dont sit there and think your generation was the one that never saw their parents. Take responsibility for all the shit your generation has done wrong but that never happens right? Nothing wrong with older people but people like you are a dime a dozen just sit there at an old age salty and talk shit on younger generation just as your elders did you. But that didnt teach you to be better right? Do some research dont generalize an entire generation into a small bubble of attributes you disdain we are the future try lending a helping hand. Toxic is a word for people that say shit like that.	Age, Nothing, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	3/164	1.829
Millennial voters are about to save all your old dumb asses, and you'll still be mouthing off. 'Those damn millennials, they're killing Home Depot and the Catholic church and they expect affordable health care and housing!' ..Thanks for acknowledging all the economic factors largely responsible for the so-called failings of my entire generation. Don't worry, we'll clean up your mess. Be sure to thank us when you can afford your medication because we socialized healthcare. You're welcome, rude old people..	Dumb, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/80	3.75
Gonna shoot up my old school tomorrow, wish me luck suckers	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/11	9.091
I'm 26 years old . I gave up all social media. I quit my job in a call center coz of the same bad leadership. They treated me like crap and I didn't feel good enough. Also I felt life was being wasted there and no joy. I didn't even wanna be there. People tell me now that I'm old fashioned and all of that but I do respect my seniors, I love the previous times, the hard working people, I want to be patient, I want to work hard and enjoy life, o hate those peers texting at tables, I hate those filters. Thank you so much for this video I'm sharing it among everyone I know because this coming generation is going downward spiral and we are just seeing it and doing very little to help ourselves and them!	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/140	1.429

It seems the new favorite pastime of us Gen X-ers is whining about and bashing Millennials. It's such a tired trope. Every generation bitches and moans about the younger one to make themselves feel better about their own failures and shortcomings. We saw what the '80's were and came of age when the Berlin Wall came down, communism crumbled! There was new hope for the world and we squandered it. We perpetuated the status quo, allowed corporations to become people (wtf!?!) and not we want to side-eye a whole generation for not swallowing that corporate redpill. As always, the next generation is the hope for a better future. Let's quit running them down with this "in my day" bullshit. We're handing them a fuck$ up world that we didn't bother improving.	Age	Age - General	1/131	0.763
I'd like to race all the millennials in a foot race. 2 miles for real tho	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/16	12.5
Ok video but not 100 true! Everybody, young or old experiences the "environmental/cooperate", whether your flipping burgers or your a ceo! You stay in a position because it's a personal choice, which is ok....but you might want to stay humble and flip burgers (or other lower job level) or get to the top of the corporate mountain by using people as stepping stones(dishonesty)! Life is about choices...choices...choices. Skills are developed/gain since infants to the time you go to your grave...again, its a choice! This is where parents, come into the picture, parents either teach their kids to become productive citizens of the community or create monsters that society hates (criminals, thieves, lazy people who demand what's not owed to them, etc..etc...etc) these people are like dust!, nobody wants it!!! Parents, could have tons of kids and let society raise them or you stay home and nurture them in a loving way while teaching them SKILLS...skills...and more skills (the best skills you can get at home if you as a parent have those skills/again or parents (a choice) ...because teachers/classes that have 500 kids in a class room may not be able to be successful as if there were a small amount of students! TEACHING STARTS AT THE HOME!!!!	Nobody, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	2/210	0.952
It's the corporation's man thier evil why aren't corporation's taking the time to raise adults isn't it the college job to prepare student's for the work force instead of indoctrinating them and you basically said it's not their fault it's the corporation's fault hummmm so the point of your video is nothing is ever the millennials fault	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/57	1.754
1. Most millennials are now parents themselves or are old enough to be parents.2. I was born in 1990. I never had it drilled into my skull that i was special. I started working when I was 16. I was expected to work. I moved out of my moms house when I was 18. I went to college and worked full time while living on my own.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/68	1.471

So how does one differentiate a 2 year old and a 90 year old by looking at their age ?	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	3/19	15.789
yea social media is basically like alcohol except wait a second that's retarded	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	1/13	7.692
this is a stand-up and a good analysis but i am part of the 'Millennials' and i'm NOTHING like this and you can't just say this about a whole generation lol	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/31	3.226
justrosy5 and jake lord i would rather learn from the Ancient scholars of history than anything the recent generations before me has to say.The Ancients imparted wisdom and confidence in ones self rather than blaming their offspring for their troubles or showing them drug or alcohol habits to deal with a disaster of your own creating. And previous generations have the gall to say we are weak...THEY were the weak ones its about time they saw themselves for who they really are...the ones who overpopulated the ones who consumed too much the ones who started the resource wars of the middle east because they thought they did not have enough.Its the recent generations who have crippled humanity into reaching its apex....we could have sustainable green energy by now.. but no we had to invent weapons of sickening proportions instead of fighting like men in a field of battle. I honestly think i was born 2000 years too late and it brings tears to my eyes just thinking this is the world i am forced to live in and this is coming from a 25 year old white guy in the UK.	Old, alcohol	Age - Over 65s, Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	2/193	1.036
you realize that that's what every one says right its just like how a baby boomer calls a millennial dumb a philosopher in the 1800's would've been called stupid but today he would be called well a philosopher	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/38	2.632

The millennials we're not dealt a bad hand it is not the employees job to teach the employee how to act in a corporate setting or even in life that is the job that is the parents responsibility not the work places or the teachers or the drug dealers or the tech companies of any fucking one else. STOP fucking making excuses for the millennials being so fucking God damn lazy and entitled and expecting everything to be handed to them. It is called work be uase it is hard if it was easy and fun it would be called play time. They have to stop being treated like mother for cking toddlers and start being treated like grown adults period end of discussion ussion. People want to help the millennials then it is simple treat them like adults and when they break the law lock them up when the fucking good off at work or half ass do thier job fire thier ass. It is called the real world were men and women have to work to pay for things like rent food car insurance video game systems and games. Phones and other tech plus other things. Now either start doing videos where you tell the truth or guess what I will and I will not hold back on anything. Non of my videos are moneytized because I have my own money I worked for coming in. And before you ask what generation am I. I grew up in the eighties the era of sex drugs and rock n roll and I did lenty of sex drugs drinking and rock roll to the point the eighties are apmost a complete blank to me. So it is a simple matter of treating these people luke adults and they will either become adults or they will stay leeches on the government. By the way all these antifa punks I can say with certainty that I bet over 70 percent of them either live at home with mommy and she pays for everything or they are on welfare and have never worked a day in thier life.And that is why they go out and go against people who are trying to bring jobs back because if there are jobs then they will be expected to work and mommy will not pay for everything and they will not just get money from the government and be taken care if like little babbies. People it is time for everyone to grow the fucking hell up and stand on your own two feet and not expect everyone else to take care of you.	Sex	Gender - General	2/439	0.456
"Alcohol is not bad too much alcohol is bad. . Crack is not bad too much crack is bad"	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	2/20	10.0

Just imagine baby boomers parents didn't give a hoot to set decent models in a blooming advancement in civilization. Now those boomers have children and they never had decent models of parents to teach them how to properly raise children. So the children of the boomers are now self taught and tires of being blamed for there extended childhood. If your of age , why are you even complaining about millennials. Those complaining about millennials are the same people about to be on welfare. Bad parenting. Your not supposed to make your children feel like queens Disney channel. Your simply blaming the wrong folks and it's making you look like a millennial with a big pointing finger. Your saying practically nothing at all when you don't look at the point of origin of the millennial generation. Millenials don't just birth themselves.	Age, Nothing	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	2/140	1.429
You don't have to be in debt that is your choice, I went to trade school left as a qualified plumber with almost no debt and zero problems finding work.People like you are going to overpriced UNI's and taking trash degree's that have zero earning potential then wonder why your burger flipping with $20k+ worth of debt.	Zero	Age - Youngsters	2/58	3.448
Every time I see one of these videos, and how they are being done by rich entitled people, or by people who are not millennial's... I just about loose my shit. We are a generation that has been given LESS then our parents, this has not happened since the great depression. We are a generation that grew up with the internet; so ya we are about a million times smarter and a million times better with using it then our elder peers could ever dream of being; and the generation under us.. you should see how amazing they are with it. We are a generation that is constantly being projected on and being held back by a mass of people that lack imagination or frankly even basic common sense. The fact is the baby boomers and their subsequent generation were the benefactors of a social contract... one that was fought for by their parents and by FDR. In their selfishness, and proudly declared ignorance they have eroded all those protections; leaving themselves susceptible to harm. In that cornered state rather then rationally looking to fix the problem they blame their children? I invite you to look in the mirror at the most entitled generations that EVER existed. And realize dear narrator that you are one of them. In my work place everyday i deal with constant inefficiencies, and they are NEVER from the younger staff. Business was just not done as rationally as we now demand it be today. You generations approaches are largely outdated and antiquated. And that is the real hard truth that Baby boomers cannot accept	Common, Elder	Age - Over 65s, Social Class - Working class	2/269	0.743

You Millennials really can't see how good you have it, but that's normal.....the grass is always greener on the other side! What gets me, is how you can't take responsibility for anything.....it's always someone else's fault. I'll admit I've made mistakes, and I deal with it! I try to improve myself. I try to understand new things and adapt, but these younger generation look on the older ones with contempt, like "out with the old in with the new"! They can't or won't see the good in the past; that, that's where you started!! The progress you make was built on the progress of the past, and those advancements were not easy at the time they were implemented. What really gets me is how many people don't use proper grammar when writing! Many times I can even understand what they are saying!! It's like they are so special, they don't have to adhere to the rules of grammar! Most of these types don't even capitalize the word I! If you don't even respect yourself enough to capitalize the word that refers to you, you surely don't respect anything else!!!	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/189	0.529
I wrote a post going into details on how, statistically, millenials are healthier, smarter and more moral than older generations. On the contrary to technophobic fears of fat baby boomers about cellphones and the internet, there are studied links between technology and greater wisdom and knowledge of the world, as the internet has exposed a generation (in North America) to proper culture and broad visions of the world for the first time. Previous generations lived and died in cloistered, sterile suburbs with minimal access to culture and knowledge after their scant primary school education.	Fat	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/94	1.064
Don't really agree, as I have seen little to no evidence in what you say. I am an GenX and I got my college degree and worked my way up the pay-scale by increasing my value with knowledge and experience. What I see quite often in the places that I have worked are Millennials who want to come in and get "senior" type of roles without having any prior experience and expertise. But let me be more clear. Millennials want the title of senior roles, but they neither want nor can they handle the responsibility. Obviously this is not unique to Millennials, but it is more prevalent in that age group. On the other hand, I have seen a few Millennials that are very productive and self-motivated. The opposite end of the spectrum is the baby boomer generation that refuses to change the way things are done because it's what they were taught in the 70's and 80's.	Age, Senior	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	3/158	1.899

Joel, you are correct.Asking for a living wage and a future for your kids is a natural, normal attitude. All preceding generations asked for this. Some did not get it. Some got it 10 times over. It simply depends on what or how much you put in. Expecting it on a plate is not reasonable. Status needs to be earned.Put simply, if you want a car you have to give something for it (cash). If you want a wage you have to give something for that. Turning up at work and being tech savvy isn't enough. You have to make your employer a profit for him to be able to afford to pay you. Your salary does not come from thin air. If you are smart and capable, why not work for yourself ? That's how the really high earners roll, but they have worked for others. They have learned their trade/craft.They earned poor wages at first but suffered that while they learned and made themselves valuable. If YOU were hiring for YOUR business, what would YOU want that employee to offer you ? Answer that question and you are on your way. Good luck.	Thin	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/198	0.505
chris m Yes people did not get it at the of the industrial revolution. We live in a time were older generations voted away and took all the benefits. Collegr is now 4x higher, our generation makes on average something like 10 to 20k less. Employee benefits and full time are not as available, employer abuses are greater, there is far more corporate welfare. Millenials are in far more debt. Look up any statistical evidence and the fact we are in a worse economic downturn then the great depression and you tell me what to do.I work full time and goto schol full time. I have a sick wife and we cannot afford adequate healthcare for her. We have a 4 year old with a sick mother who never gets to see her father. We are forced to live with my mother in law. You tell my daughter that its because employers need to turn billion dollar profits that her dad cant be home and her mom is sick. Go for it. While your at it, tell all kids in my daughters situation that.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/185	0.541

Well aren't you entitled. I worked for what I have so, instead of caring about your children and your dying loved ones, suck it up and do better when it's impossible. My daughter being heartbroken over her parents is just the state of things isn't it? Sucks to be you right? Well here is a bunch of evidence showing everything you literally just said is horrifically wrong, short sighted, and full of that oh so necessary self righteousness. Where is your economic evidence to disprove this? I know you will never do any real research to actually see the state of the world or care about a 4 year old girl as long as you get to say you have what you worked for. You will never care, you might go "oh that's sad what's happening, well they should have worked harder". Right? Well here are a whole shitton of articles to prove you wrong. [LINK] [LINK] [LINK] [LINK] [LINK] [LINK] Again, I'll just go tell my daughter her crippling situation is because her parents don't work hard enough and not from a system that is morally bankrupt charging THOUSANDS of dollars for her mothers treatment and her parents are in crippling debt from that and school and her dad never gets to see her because it's just the way things are.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/222	0.45
Jose Rios dude... No shit being right doesnt necessarily get you anywhere and that not a huge fucking problem in your eyes? Anyway, in the little bit of free time I have, because you know Im 30 with a 4 year old working full time in school and my wife is incredibly sick and we cant afford the healthcare to get her better in case you missed that part, if I choose to debate condescending or ignorant insulting trolls or fools on youtube its my fucking choice	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/87	1.149

Joel, I apologise. I live in the UK where we have a national health service. Free. My comments seem insensitive now as I realise I did not account for the fact that the US is a morally corrupt country from top to toe. Where your senators and congressmen, along with your president, spend hundreds of millions of dollars every 4 years to secure a job that pays around $500,000. a year. Having been sponsored so handsomely , each senator is bound to vote in favour of their meal ticket, even if it is a move against the public interest. You guys need to fix that, but in the meantime - some sound advice. PLEASE READ THIS. It is NOT bullshit. It is what I would tell you if you were my brother, and you are in a spiritual kind of way because we are all fighting 'The Man '. First - stay or go. Are you going to abandon your wife and child or stick with them? I figure you will stick with them. 2, EVERYBODY needs somewhere to live - someone to love and somewhere to work. Not in any particular order but they are what we all need. See your mother in law and ask to discuss your situation and check to ensure you are all ok to stay there for, say, a year or more. 3. You say you work full time and go to school full time. Not possible, and this is making ALL your lives worse. Unless you are on the brink of finishing school and qualify for a super job - quit. Quit school. Spend more time with your family and , maybe a little more time at work. Your daughter is the most important thing in both your lives, so enjoy as much as you can of her growing up time. 4. Do all this and take stock. Check your financial situation. Look around for a better job maybe. School will still be there next year and you can still go if you wish. College degrees and qualifications DO NOT mean a better job. Maybe start an online business (as a 2nd income) and work from home. Look at your options and start again from there - a less stressed and happier position. Life is a lottery, and if you are sick then nobody cares. That's a fact. People will help but we all have our own lives to lead, so I am afraid you must get on with what you have been dealt with BUT do try to work your way out of it. If nothing else you can see this is honest AND practical too.	Nobody, Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/446	0.448
--	-----------------	---------------------	-------	-------

the normal straight white male Really? Seriously? So Child abuse didn't exist before Gen X? Drug Abuse didn't exist before Gen X? Terrible Parenting didn't exist before Gen X?Please don't make broad reaching statements that you have no ability to remotely support. Child abuse was far more rampant and far reaching in the past when there was no rules or laws enforcing it. Drug abuse has been around since drugs were created. Heroin was used as a medicinal supplement and doctors would prescribe it in the 1900's. Terrible parenting has been around since the Stone Age. When I misbehaved as a child, my father got the belt out. Same with most kids in the neighborhood. Schools used to have paddles in every classroom with holes drilled in them so they would whistle when they would spank you in High School. Flogging kids and adults used to be an accepted form of punishment in the Middle Ages and during the late 1700's. Please read up on history. Wanting universal healthcare is a good thing. Wanting free education for all is a good thing. Wanting a living wage for all is a good thing. The countries around the world that offer those things are SOCIALIST. These countries tax their citizens between 40-50 of their income. The $$ for these programs comes from the citizens. Our capitalistic society promotes the life we have today. We can either live with it, or we can change it. But we can't have the massive government programs and not have the taxes to pay for it. In Europe waitresses and waiters don't receive tips because they are paid the equivalent of $15/hr. The average full time wait staff in the US makes around $18-20/hr when they are working. I can't tell you how many people I've interviewed who're fresh out of college and then with zero work experience have the balls to ask me for '100,000 year' starting salary. I have General Managers who've been working for 15yrs that don't make that much. Finally; I'm absolutely blown away that you would use the quality (or, rather; lack-there-of) of a previous generation of people as an excuse for the way you're behaving now and in the future!?!? So, in your words, because your parents generation acted poorly that gives you the excuse to act the same????	Age, Zero, doctors	Age - General, Age - Youngsters, Nationality - General	3/389	0.771
---	--------------------	--	-------	-------

Erik Sturzebecher first of all. I Myself do not stand with stupid sjw bullshit. And also i dont want healcare for all and never once did i say that. And nor am i putting ALL of the blame on gen x. But the bad parenting, bad role modeling, drug abuse, child abuse, the creation of the "i never spank my kids" mantality, creation of the internet, creation of smart phones and participation trophy and you dont think even just a little bit of how YOUR kids behave is due to your bad behavior while they were growing up? Shut the fuck up. If i threw my kid off a roof id blame myself for the behavior afterwards. Its the same. If you teach your kids to do something and nobody tells them differently they are going to do it more and more when they grow up. So parents not spanking their kids when they do wrong shit (especially at a young age) teaches them that there are no consequences for their stupid actions. Beating your child senseless will teach them that violence is okay. Same with doig drugs and alcohol , creating a chain reaction into what you see today. But if you parent and teach your kids properly they wouldnt behave like a fucking delinquent. So to sit there and suggest that every single god samn parent from the previous generations had no part to play in this ones behavior is the most supid thing i have ever fucking heard, right next to the concept of scientology.	Age, Nobody, alcohol	Age - General, Age - Youngsters, Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	3/257	1.167
Erik Sturzebecher and i dont particularly like their behavior either, but im not gonna sit her and let you trash them for something that your generation had a GIANT role in creating. I speak up for what is right and i do it with common sense. If you cant see that your actions have a giant effect on your kid growing up that you are dumber than a sack of potatos	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/71	1.408
Erik Sturzebecher i bet your kids are a fucking treat. You cant even comprehend basic logic and common sense but you want to chime in and call me a troll. What a great representation of gen x	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/37	2.703

Damn straight. FDR and the New Deal "created" the middle class and allowed the Baby Boomer generation to experience the greatest levels of comfort and upward mobility ever experienced by any generation in probably the history of the world. There was no "middle class" before this. Good paying union jobs. A social contract. Affordable housing. Lots of opportunity. Of course all of this freedom, comfort, and "leisure" - which was something highly aspired to at the time - lead to the "dangerous" 60s which lead to a credible threat to the elite power structure., which was not to be tolerated: Hence, numerous political assassinations, the rise of Nixon, the cementing into power of the military industrial complex, the Powell Doctrine - and how that influenced the rise of Reaganism - and the complete take over of Democratic Party by corporate elite interests while still masquerading as the protector of liberal values. All quality of life indicators for Americans peaked in the early 70s and have been in decline ever since. Rather than blaming millennials, who have inherited a terribly dysfunctional, corrupt political and economic system, it's best to place blame where it deserves to be placed: The political and economic elite who have been stealthily dismantling all the protections that "made America great" in the first place while playing the system as a giant casino for their own personal enrichment at the expense of our national security and prosperity. FDR would be rolling over in his grave. Meanwhile, it's divide and conquer whereby "red states" are pitted against "blue states," blacks and latinos vs whites, men vs women, as we see all the symptoms of the disease around us while few can see the origin and the cure. Nevertheless, all this whining about millennials is really besides the point: The system is well, well beyond the point of no return. America is in steep decline, and it will be interesting to see what eventually emerges out of it. It certainly won't be millennials fault, but they'll have to pick up the pieces...	Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	2/342	0.585
This long drawn out rant of self importance and blind anger makes me think this is a fake response to prove the guy who posted this video correct.... Or maybe you are real... God I hope your not...	Blind	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/38	2.632

John Beckman what you said refurring to vegans and sjws, they are not even close to all of us. And as far as emo twats go i hate them too but there were emo 16 year olds in the 80s as well so dont act like its all of the sudden a problem when you never complained about it until another generation did it. Laziness isnt even relevant if you are pretaining to id say a good 60 of us and especially me. Considering that i travel for work constantly in the summer and spring months and then become a father full time for fall and winter, not to mention the job that i do in the first place. So generally your statement is based off of nothing but stereotypes made up by your generation. In conclusion you are nothing but a braindead brain dead, arrogant moron with no sense of self worth so you have to shit on an entire generation to make yourself feel better because you have a convoluted delusional sense of how the generation YOU CREATED acts and take no responsibility. And btw the people who take offence to everything are feminists and sjws which your generation created as well. So once again it comes back to bad parenting	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/213	0.939
Yahkema J not true. Not at all. I earned everything i have and my kids do the same. Infact nothing i have said could remotely support your claim at all	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/30	3.333
the normal straight white male ok first off i hated emos then and beat them up they were newwave cure fans i ment you were all sensative douchebags and as a whole generation maybe 20 percent of you are worth a shit i hate everything from my youth it was a shit time to grow up the values my hippy parents tryed to give me got shutdown its people as a whole and the values you have that are garbage makeing it ok for children to grow up transgender and the forced pc tolarance fuck that shit and i know you know what im saying is true when your little girl says daddy buy me boys underwear and call me tony you may change your tune but probbly not you will see it as a golden pc trophy to impress your friends fuck off and die sucmbag	Transgender	Sexual Identity - Transexuality	1/147	0.68
John Beckman and i agree. Gender disphoria is a mental disorder that should not be babied. And if my kids were to ever have it i would get them treated. My issue isnt with that, my issue is with the fact that the millennial generation is treated like shit over stereotypes. And trust me i know how its like to grow up with nothing and having to earn everything toyou name. But shit talking an entire generation over it is absolutely rediculas, immature and childish. And for that last remark fuck you	Gender, Mental, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/92	3.261

John Beckman and my kids are taught to be responsible adults when they come of age . And i wasnt even directly refurring to your children. Had you payed attention to context and thought about what ive said for 2 seconds you would have known that. And as for you raising your kids to be men, you are so full of shit even your eyes are brown. You dont need to infact you shouldnt condone assault and you SHOULD teach your kids how to not assault everyone they personally disagree with or just dont like the way they look. The only ways by law and by civil morals that violence is acceptable is through self defence and fighting for your country. If you do teach your kids that assault is acceptable, you are a disgrace of a parent and should lose your kids.	Age	Age - General	1/142	0.704
the normal straight white male ok i make a 7 year old do the dishes and my grand pa was a nazi lol u douch yes i know what i said iv bin getting a rise out of you and you take that bait what a douchie person yoh r just probes my point im done good by	Nazi, Old	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - Over 65s	2/58	3.448
John Beckman you immaturity is cringy and so is your failed attempt to "get a rise out of me" considering that im not even angry. I bet you arent even gen x either you are probably just some 15 year old undisciplined with a photo off of google images kissing asses of the older generation tomake yourself look cool. And i couldnt care less about your grandfather or even you for that matter, just calling you out on your bullshit and disgraceful attitude in general. But since you want to be the immature one ill just be the mature one and block you because i have a flight to france in 2 hours and i dont have time to deal with an immature person like you.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/126	0.794
John Beckman and not to be a grammar nazi but holy shit if you are going to claim superiority over my generation at least TRY to write a sentence somewhat decently.	Nazi	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/31	3.226
C W and my sons werent allowed to touch my guns until they were of the age of 14. And i have trained them through hunting on how to handle guns snd the responsibility of being in possession of one and exercise caution with them everytime they use one. And both of my sons are in martial arts and learning discipline to control their anger. And assault is also beating someone up because you personally disagree with them or how they look. Which i do not condone. And my sons know better than to beat someone up over a disagreement. They are taught only to fight in self defence.	Age	Age - General	1/109	0.917
C W and the answer to your question is nothing . Everything around you are tools and the only weapon is the mind. "One weapon, many tools"	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/26	3.846

the normal straight white male you are an ass and all my tools are wepons and i took my son to shoot at 5 years have some balls 14 is way to old to learn to shoot its reflex from childhood put the bb gun at 3 you probably only own ars and glocks i know your kind ass wipe	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/60	1.667
Swaganomics 101: Jimmy Rustles i cant speak for the rest of them but i know im not lazy, considering i travel for 2 of the 4 seasons every year on buisness and for the other 2 im a full time father. And if i were weak minded i would have gotten straight A's when i was in school and gotten a law degree followed by a degree in mechanical engineering, and fought in iraq AND trained in martial arts for about 23 years. And as far as being sensitive in the context of which you mean, that just completely false 7h my case as you cannot do my job if you an sjw snowflake that gets offended over everything. And all of these are just in my case. On average, after im done getting to my job i work about 50 hours a week AND pay for everything i have and more. You just have no idea what you are talking about.	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/162	0.617
Growing up on the internet is a two way street there Jacob. I am an Xer that loves the net, but that doesn't make me any smarter than say a Boomer. Manipulating technology is not a replacement for imagination or just a good ole work ethic. And according to various tests and basic knowledge surveys, the younger generations are dumb as fuck. You would think that all that time on the internet would indeed make them the smartest ones around, but it is what the kids are plugging into that is the problem. Social media makes you a moron. Why the hell do you need to get self validation if others like your posts or give you likes, etc? Obviously your generation is not seeking knowledge, just entertainment. Also, they aren't blaming their children, just saying they are entitled and not up to the task ahead of them. Every generation is thrust into a certain age of time and they have to learn to get through the hand they are given. Life is not fair, and never will be. Nobody rocked the boat Jacob because til 2000 the boat didn't need to be rocked as times were extremely good. Only good economists could have forecast what happened and the general public, thanks to a joke of a national education system, is rather ignorant about macro economics.	Age, Dumb, Nobody	Age - General, Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/226	1.327

fr33kSh0w2012 i was born in 82 and the internet its self wasnt released to the public until 88 and even then i didnt have it until 2003. So there it was CREATED by gen x. Sane with computers and smart phones. Steve jobs was easily apart of gen x and same with the guy who made computers. So you are 100 wrong on that shit. But gen x continues to bitch and moan about us using that shit even though they created it. Its funny to me how an entire generation can be such hypocrites, the create these things to make lives easier, then whines about how it made lives easier. Its sad how this is how our elder generation acts when they become jealous that they didnt have our technology when they were our age . Its really just annoying as well.	Age, Elder	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	2/142	1.408
---	------------	----------------------------------	-------	-------

TNSWM: Yeah Traumatic head injuries Tank your Grammar and punctuation and fuck with your intelligence I was assaulted in December 2004 (by thugs) I had my skull shattered and 5 physical brain damage ALL THE WAY THROUGH happened I haven't been right since when I type IN CAPS I'm making a statement and that is all. I had to look after My parent for the last 20 years my parent went into mania MANY times tried stabbing me to death MANY times I had to talk my parent down so many times I've lost count, At least you CHOSE YOUR JOB! my parent went Schizo-affective WAY back when I was 16 and a half back in 1999 around December (Yeah "HAPPY NEW YEAR" fucking life for me)I didn't choose for my parent to end up with Schizo-Affective Disorder Look it up Here [LINK] Yeah that was fun for me wasn't it /Sarcasm at least YOU HAD NORMAL PARENTS! and Jobs you CHOSE! I am now my parents full time carer and IT IS HARD EXTREMELY HARD I didn't choose this for my future IT JUST HAPPENED! When I was assaulted in December 2004 I was 21 (I was 21 in June that year back then) I am 35 now dude I work 24/7/365 the only time I get a break is when My parent and my sister are fast asleep my job is CONSTANT and UNENDING at least you got to go home after yours!My friend was living with me a while back he wanted to join the armed reserves he did his psych report and before he lived here he scored 98 he lived with me for 3 months and constantly heard my parent going on then he went back to the armed reserves they did him another psych evaluation and he got 2 FOR LIVING WITH ME AND MY SCHIZO-AFFECTIVE PARENT for THREE (3) MONTHS my parent's INSANITY FUCKED UP HIS MIND in ONLY 3 MONTHS I have been at it since I was 16 YEARS OLD and I'm 35 now16 199917 200018 200119 200220 200321 (Traumatic brain Injury happened) 2004 22 2005 23 200624 200725 200826 200927 (Had to get multiple teeth out because of hairline cracks after assault left my teeth breaking off in the gum) 201028 201129 201230 201331 201432 201533 201634 (had to get the last of my lower teeth taken out from the Assault because they finally broke off in the gum) 201735 (I turned thirty five LAST MONTH!) 2018FLAT OUT WORK NON-STOP EVEN AT NIGHT!You try calming your parent down who's in Mania thinking there is ninja's in the roof (You tell me that, that wouldn't affect you!) gee wonder why I type in caps!wouldn't be SHELL SHOCKED would I and Nope my father hates me so that was out of the equation!Mind you it is 11:13 PM over here in Australia, SO I'll try and get SOME sleep	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/511	0.196
---	-----	----------------	-------	-------

Kid just fuck off I come from Australia you know THE HIGHEST TAXED NATION IN THE FUCKING UNIVERSE so I DO know what I'm talking about you bitches whine about 500,000 dollar houses over there over here a 3 bedroom house in the suburbs costs $1,500,000+ WTF are you little fucks whining about! in the outer skirts they're about $750,000 and if you want an apartment/unit/flat with ocean view it's $3,015,000 so fucking cry me a fucking river!	Nation	Nationality - General	1/78	1.282
JL & TNSWM : I am Gen X, and a computer science engineer who posts under his real name. I was deeply into the field since the age of 11 with my good old Apple][before moving to Unix and TCP/IP and later turning to a more business oriented executive career later.We are the generation educated by our parents from the silent generation, who suffered two wars (WWII as kids and either Korea, Indochina, Algeria, whatever, depending which country they were from) and have no common values with the Boomers.We are the generation that invented all the information technology that you now enjoy.We are the generation that is doing all the work that counts today to keep the boat afloat.We are the generation that was born in a nearly permanent economical crisis since the 70s.We are the generation that paid into the system, while the lazy boomers profited from it and want to continue the party for as long as they can, borrowing not only our future but the future of their entitled Millennial kids too.We are the generation that won't have a decent retirement from the system and have to schedule it the hard way if we want any hope of getting any rest before meeting our end.We do not complain and we do not ask for our generation Z kids to pay for the stupidity of both Boomers and Millennials who are destroying the western civilization because they are the most numerous voters.But at least have the decency to leave us alone and not assimilate us with those parasites.	Age, Apple, Common, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Native-American, Social Class - Working class	4/270	1.481
Or how about you take responsibility and stop acting like a weak ass bitch, OP? You think the Silent Generation had it great? No, they had nothing . They worked their asses off, payed for what they only needed, and never took anything for granted. You have no idea how well you Millenials have it, when you grew up in the age of technology. Life isn't fair. People are born with disadvantages sometimes, and sure, Millenials did. But instead of bitching about life while you're sitting in a couch in your mother's basement, leeching off of her money, how about you folks take a stand and find some worth within yourself regardless of the disadvantaged and obstacles placed upon you? That's the thing, nobody hates your generation because you don't contribute to society. We hate you because all you do is complain and are too weak-minded to get with the system.	Age, Nobody, Nothing	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	3/150	2.0

I was with you Jacob, until, "Business was just not done as rationally as we now demand it be today."THAT IS MOST OF THE PROBLEM YOU CITE. Man, you missed the boat on that one. GREED, MONEY, and NOTHING else drives most business today. TOTALLY the wrong approach. Business is supposed to be something that benefits BOTH parties in a "deal"/transaction/etc., NOT, WHAT DO I GET???	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/79	1.266
Profits are fine, ridiculous profits (upper salaries) at everyone's expense, are not.
Sounds like you made poor life decisions, Joel, if you decided to have kids and get married BEFORE you went to school. That is your problem that you fucked up your life. Nobody cares. You are not special and your kid is not special. We all have our own problems.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/50	2.0
Shin...I was married when I went to school and graduated with an EE degree from UCF. Getting married first was fine, for me. We did wait to have kids until after I graduated (actually one in the oven a month or two when).	Oven	Religious Identity - Jewish	1/43	2.326
There is NO way anyone is gonna convince me that generations from the 70s,80s,90s actually had MORE than the generations of 2000,2010, to present day and there is an OVERWHELMING amount of information that proves and obviously shows this. Only a spoiled brat or stupid kid would think otherwise. I was born 1972 and there is NO bitches born past 1990 that would even know shit about it other than the 50/50 bullshit they take in from social media and television problem is I WAS THERE so to ALL who were not SHUT THE FUCK UP then GROW THE FUCK UP and then finally PUT THE FUCK UP just like EVERYONE else has had too since the beginning of civilization otherwise you don't work then YOU DON'T EAT.....	Brat	Age - Youngsters	1/128	0.781
Jon Sikes let me take you all the way then. Up until now the way to be efficient has often been to centralize. Sadly in that process bureaucracy was very prevalent, creating major inefficiencies and diminishing innovation. Now with renewable energy, and 3 d printers, and all the new techs coming together a new age is dawning. Work and life in general no longer needs to be centralized, it can become more regional, and interconnected, we can eliminate the need for any social stratification in a very short time which would lead to more free expression of thoughts and ideas which would lead to greater innovation. With this new system which our generation sees possible we can eliminate the monopoly trend largely. Really only a few sectors benefit from centralization, an many of those like healthcare can be done more efficiently outside the private sector.	Age	Age - General	1/145	0.69

Celestial Dragonsince it got personal... let me assure your I probably pay more taxes then you do and live on my own and work. Unlike you my mother had mental illness as a child and was abusive enough for me to emancipated when i was 15. I have earned everything i have on my own. My car, saved and worked for, degree was homeless for part of but still achieved success, jobs, always do well and am always getting better ones, house saving for, or trying... so ya i must be really spoiled. For the millionth time the reason why we are mad has nothing to do with technology. That is why we are educated... What we have a problem with is the policies and political choices made by those that are older then us. Like who the fuck would ever vote for a republican when you knew they were receiving money from business... the same with democrats. Why didn't your generations care more about this stuff, why do they still not. Why is it because of US there are finally democratic socialists coming back to the foreground. Those are the issues. And type of thinking extends into the work place. We are a generation seeking to improve, not just ride the trend and better ourselves.	Mental, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/217	0.922
fr33kSh0w2012Your housing crisis is similar to our coastal one actually. And both have one thing in common. Chinese people buying those properties as investments because in china they can only lease properties for a 99 years.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/37	2.703
chris m... probably because i have no access to loans or starting capital. Or else you are very right in that I would own my own business. i even have a plan I know would work. But again I have no access to capital to pursue that idea. At my job we do everything digitally... so ya having computer knowledge is kinda not just a plus, its necessary. And those that are better with it are better at their jobs, so ya more valuable. I came back today to put morons like you to bed because the truth is this nation is at a breaking point. And our side needs to stand up the ignorance that is so pronounced on the other before its too late.	Nation	Nationality - General	1/126	0.794

Well i WILL say this humanity will HAVE to come together at some point in order for mankind to evolve further and this means accepting things we don't want to accept and realizing things that we DON'T really want to know at THIS point in time because right NOW we are FAR from that generation of mankind and by the time we actually DO get there we'll probably be about ready to move onto a type 1 intelligence HOWEVER until THEN about all we can do is what we HAVE to (work,pay our bills,make ourselves useful to humanity or at least our community and at the VERY least our families) because if we're NOT being useful or at least TRYING to be or leave a POSITIVE impact on our surroundings and environment (people,places,things,etc lol) then we are ONLY delaying the inevitable(evolution) by using ignorance to block progress PERIOD! So again in a just and fair society those that don't work DON'T eat and the strong has no need to overpower the weak but the weak CAN'T complain about pulling their own weight,etc,etc but it seems just about the polar direct OPPOSITE is what the majority of earth is in favor of today. We feed the non-working members of society with welfare and government ssi and ssd checks public housing etc and reward the weaker members of society while forcing the stronger and more productive members of society to work HARDER and pay MORE to cover for them (seem fair?) Then some little bitch wants to cry because they don't have a "safe space" to trash n bash the very people and society that supports them now how do YOU think that makes someone like ME(worked since the age 15 and paid taxes ALL my life to present age 46) feel? Of course I'm NOT going to coddle this bullshit outlook and THESE NEW problems that exists they keep bitching about is a DIRECT result of their own stupid,lazy,SHIT! Lol TRUTH and your welcome!	Age	Age - General	2/338	0.592
chris m -"Achievement = productivity = profit" that sounds nice and would be a great way to live... unfortunately it does not reflect reality in the slightest. What happens when your boss takes credit for your achievements? Do you expect bosses to judge "merit" without bias? What happens when you work "too hard" and are an indispensable part of the day-to-day operations? Your ideal meritocratic society has little to nothing in common with modern day America. Production has SKYROCKETED in recent decades but wages have completely stagnated, you're living in a fantasy world carefully created by the rich to make you apathetic towards the poor. Even if America were a Meritocracy (it's not) Meritocracies are often great in theory but have many crucial flaws in practice.Source: [LINK]	Common, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Social Class - Working class	2/129	1.55

the normal straight white male I'm an X'er and I sure hell didn't create the internet. I thought from the get go that participation trophies were stupid and blamed those that thought it was a great idea (dumb assess unfortunately yes from my generation) I didn't abuse my kids in that manner but I sure as hell didn't believe in time out and as for the internet, I know I don't mock younger people for using it but rather those that act like they can't live without it. You know the ones. They're the ones always with their face planted in their phones no matter what they are doing to include driving. I was rear ended by some young girl who was on her phone cause the latest tweet, snap, text or Facebook couldn't wait. I have a smart phone but I wasn't given one when I was in pre k either (bad parenting) I didn't let my kids have one until they were in high school and even questioned that being a smart move. I'll admit my generation has its fair share of dumb assess but as time has gone on the problem has only become worse. My dad had his faults as a boomer and he's an alcoholic but I had the sense not to follow in his footsteps on that and the things I did adopt from him that weren't right,and there were a few, I 've worked hard to correct instead of blaming him and using him as my excuse as to why I can't succeed or fill in the blank. Younger people need to take responsibility for themselves instead of pointing the finger and just whining about it.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/283	0.707
the normal straight white male Utah after seeing some of your other comments figured you and I were fairly close to being on the same page. I hear what you're saying. Maybe all of us as a whole take what is directed at those it pertains to and take it to heart when in reality out has nothing to do with us. I have had bosses in the military that when giggling an ass chewing would say something to the effect of" This doesn't pertain to all of you but those it does, you know who you areand for those it does not, take with a grain of salt. I made that very mistake awhile ago when I commented and apologise for it now. You were directing it to those in my generation that did screw it up for their kids and honestly, not that I condone violence, I'd like to smack the crap outta them. Wish we could all come to that very realization and not be so uptight and thinking everything is directed at us personally. Anywhose, you have a good day and rest of your weekend. I gotta brake job on an old truck waiting on me.	Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	2/200	1.0

Let's see how the video starts. "Millenials are often accused of being lazy, entitled, tough to manage--and this is why." Huh, how about that. They don't even bother justifying their position. Just explaining why it's the case. Here, let me try " Black people are so stupid--Here's why!" Well, that sounds like an insanely offensive generalization. Why? Because it assumes the point. It tries to explain itself before it defends itself. How about you prove your point with facts, instead of assuming it's true and explaining why. Because when you address the evidence, your idea seems to fall apart.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/98	1.02
Unfortunately old people have the mindset of 'do as I say not as I do' and are the biggest hypocrites on earth. Most of them didn't even graduate high school so they don't know what 'hypocritical' means. I mean these are the same hoebags that got 70k a year with an 8th grade education.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/54	1.852
ikr? I got my high paying job 50 years ago.these darn kids should be making 50K by age 17 or 18 and be in school and if they don't get one of the limited high paying trade jobs they are lazy and should just magically move to where the jobs are cause moving is free and people will let you live in a house for free for up to 6 months....	Age	Age - General	1/72	1.389
Lynn Walker - Why am I going to travel to the bank, wait in line, deal with a bank teller, when I can do anything I need to do at the bank in under 10 seconds on my mobile phone with fingerprint confirmation at 3am, the teller will give you the cash if you trick her, we block live transactions over 500 or 200 so it waves the red flag to call the police immediatley.Also why am I asking for directions like my phone is out of battery's, directions that will go something like 'go here, go there, turn left at this, turn right at that', don't lie none of us remember that and have to ask again, my phone has run out of battery numerous times while backpacking and it's a huge waste of time, our most valuable asset. One thing you will find is the older gens corrupted the system to raise the price of their houses they bought for $30,000 that are worth $1,000,000 25 years later, one advantage we have is this has forced us to be a generation that thinks big, $200,000 in the bank is nothing . My dad was only thinking about scuba diving (and probably smoking a lot of weed) in his 20's and 30's because he owned a home at 27 as a bartender, our gen needs $1mil and a bartender today will take 200 years to save that up.	Nothing, Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Native-American	3/239	1.255

+Lynn Walker - Basically a male was a millionaire by today's standards at the age of 30 as simply a bartender 50 years ago, my dad had a nice car, his own house, and traveled the world on a bartenders wage. His generation corrupted the system, so now a bartender can barely rent an apartment. Kids today don't aspire to hard work because of that, there is no reward due to the baby boomers corruption, it's go big or don't bother and just say fk the system. Once you're on $1mil then you can have the nice car, nice house, travel, back then $30k could do all that and more, even at $2 an hour you can do that in 6 years, you've made $1mil in 6 years as a bartender by today's housing prices lol. Then they corrupted the system for their own gain, greedy bastards.	Age	Age - General	1/147	0.68
have coached plenty of great kids that gave back to the game, had leadership qualities and still contributed within the existing System, so a sad excuse to blame companies for not coddling ill-prepared employees. That old country song, Thank God for Unanswered Prayers comes to mind, you don't always get what you want but if you are lucky and the universe is merciful, you get what you need.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/68	1.471
stuffums They are on two different timelines. We won't be able to see the full effect of our actions until we are the age of the older generation.	Age	Age - General	1/28	3.571
Not necessarily, some of those are age-equivalent, the crime rate of baby boomers when they were 10-30 years old was the highest in US history (except black crime which peaked in the early 90's so Gen X). The genital mutilation rate can be compared too, between the first wave of Millenial parents now to Boomer parents in the 70's and 80's.	Black, Old	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Black	2/61	3.279
and im glad our generation isn't just marching in line like lemmings...support for isreal declining? thank god use our money here on us instead of them- all we get is their media up your ass anyway since anything on the media is always pro israsel because you only get 1 side of the story from their outlets. Millennials are also not as eager to be racist as well- or be judgmental it seems.seem to be more open with that sort of stuff- can you believe some of the stuff the boomers post on FB? its like oh FFS!!! wake up! 1 knife attack and suddenly all muslims are terrorists..yet one white ugly blows up 50 people..yeah its just a normal nut .. nothing to see here moving on..	Nothing, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	2/127	1.575

Withdreday well tbf I don't think most children resort to suicide for anything. They cry a lot and can end up very hurt, but I don't think most children actually think in that mentality even if they were Christian. Also I definitely think that it was a sense of depression setting in for the child since she was 12 and likely she was beginning to be affected by the hormones that puberty creates which in some children can lead to cases of depression, and unfortunately for this little girl, she took Her own life in an effort of seeing her father again. I think if only someone was able to sit down with her and explain why she couldn't see her father, in a way she would understand, then maybe she Wouldn't have taken her life. I don't blame anyone for her death, but it really is a tragedy that could've been avoided if someone could've told her. From a young age I understood how the concepts of heaven worked, it's just you have to have the people there who will explain it so you don't have to ask the questions like "if, I die, then I could go see my father." I don't mean to sound insensitive saying that either, just stating what likely was going through her head.	Age	Age - General	1/220	0.455
Withdreday well, you're right about people eventually leaving welfare (most people anyways). According to a Harvard School of Economics study, just under 80 of people on Welfare leave within 4 years. 60 leave within 3. However, 20 of Welfare (out of 984 Billion in solely Welfare in 2016) was spent on people who are capable of working, but refuse to get a job. That's just under 200 Billion in savings by cutting out funding for the wasteful and lazy.These savings of course don't include the huge savings for tax payers that would occur when the restructuring of entitlement programs like SS occur. Notice I say 'when' the restructuring occurs, not 'if'. Turns out the program is out of money and will eventually dry out to zero if the government doesn't take action. So we can either keep funding useless, draining programs like SS and inflict more pain on future generations or we can control the burn now. That's an easy choice. The old people should have taken responsibility for their own savings instead of relying on the government to do it for them.I agree that majority of tax cuts go towards the rich instead of the middle class. But Welfare spending is paid for by the middle class and working professionals. Not the rich. I would prefer tax cuts instead of welfare spending simply because people that earned their living would be better off in comparison to people who haven't. There's also a chance that the rich may reinvest their tax savings in America creating jobs. We know the poor don't employ people. Recession isn't a big deal. It simply means our economy is correcting itself after being overinflated. This increases the value of a dollar and rewards people that were responsible enough to save money, which is how it ought to be.	Old, Zero	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	2/305	0.656

Brace Land She was only 12. So I'm sure if God judges like man thinks he does, he wouldn't send the kid to hell.One of the bible teachers I had said they have to reach a certain age before they're accountable for all their actions.	Age	Age - General	1/46	2.174
Every generation has been dealt a bad hand in one form or another, that's life. But a big difference between millennials and the generations before them goes a bit deeper. The generations before dealt with the bad hand they were dealt and went on to improve that hand. The millennials on the other hand just sit back crying about the hand they were dealt and blame it on other generations rather than working to improve their hand. The old phrase "Pull yourself up by your bootstraps" would do the millennials a world of good.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/94	1.064
In other words: the same complaint every generation has about the one that comes after it. Nothing to see here. Just wait 10 more years and millennial will be saying the same thing about the next generation.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/37	2.703
Here's the problem that I have with Simon Sinek: his arguments are nothing but a bunch of fear mongering. If you tell a group of people: you are depressed because your parents didn't raise you right, and because technology is as bad as tobacco, and there's really nothing you can do about it, they'll freak . However, if you give them the tools to get better such as therapy (which is affordable, if you do the minimum level of research,) and maybe not logging on social media as often, they'll get better. Technology isn't an addictive drug. It is a powerful weapon, but also a powerful tool. Use it wisely, and you'll be fine. Tell everyone it's deadly, and you'll cause chaos.	Freak, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/121	2.479
It's the " pussy " generation, per Clint Eastwood. He's right!	pussy	Nationality - Chinese	1/9	11.111
they're frustrated because their whole life they've been fed crap that tells them to avoid dead end jobs like they had the plague, and it's either success or nothing . so now you have every individual aspiring to be their own boss and have their own business, which isn't realistic	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/49	2.041

For those of you who think that the millennials should just "Tough it out", and somehow forgot to listen to the video. He pointed out several reasons why the millennials dont have to deal with failures like previous generations did, I.E. cell phones (or video games), social media, trophies for losing, getting into classes they dont work for because of their parents or the weakness of the teachers, etc. There are also still drugs and alcohol on top of these new escapes.*GENERALIZATION AHEAD*To deal with failure you need to fail, unfortunately parents and teachers arent giving kids the foundation to fail... So now we have students coming out of highschool (if they decide to start work), or college uncomfortable with learning from their mistakes.	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	1/126	0.794
--	---------	---------------------------------------	-------	-------

The underlying fact that every market has been saturated, science is held back by the laws of physics and mathematics, mathematics by paradoxes, and economic growth by limited fossil fuels has really contributed to the decline in ambition among millennials. There is simply little point. Between IBM, Google, Microsoft, etc gobbling up patents, license requirements, insurance, and a culture of boomers armed with lawyers and deceptive contracts at the ready, you're a fool to compete in the open market. Yet you're never going to break the $50k glass ceiling that is the student debt/corporate whore hamster wheel. We already know peak oil happened because fracking is now "fiscally viable" when the tech has existed since the 40's. If one argues that peak oil and climate change aren't real, then how poor is the understanding of hard science that three generations of people could be conned into believing in the same science that manifests cell phones and automobiles and modern medicine? It's as though our parent's generation is so retarded as to believe anything without evidence, or is purposefully duplicitous and passed the buck squarely to their children. Of course, there is no recourse save to bitch on the internet. Everyone has been divided into Camp A, subsection B of superset (insert preconceived conclusion here), so there is hardly any chance of debate. The ideological left or right never have sources, use equations, include professional X in discipline Y when they make their appeal to emotion claims, etc. When was the last time some fuckface leftist pundit dragged a biologist out to debate transgenderism? Some "conservative" debated an actual climatologist when they pounded their fist proclaiming "The sun! CO2 is good for plants! Logical fallacy! Cognitive dissonance!" Boomers are frustrated millennials won't build new homes while they board up new homes. Frustrated that millennials won't work to remain in debt. Well so what? When the answer to just about every question is in your pocket, when tangible goods are prohibitively expensive relative to the dopamine return granted by immaterial experiences, when the problems your parents prepared you for have neither solution, nor even definitive truth, or consensus, when admission to the workplace requires $100k up front to compete with your boomer competitors, when women will accuse you of rape on a whim and steal your kids in family court, or serious relationships are under constant assault due to texting and social media instant gratification... Under what cost:benefit analysis does a deep and committed dedication to any career field have? Dedicate to truck driving with automation supposedly right around the corner and live an empty rootless existence? To accounting, when again automation is rapidly departing in the field? To medicine, which is rapidly becoming a minimum wage profession with over a decade of costly education or unpaid labor? To "law" which is also shedding jobs to "Lucy?" For what? To pay off the $21 trillion and growing boomer debt through pensions and medical benefits? Why not just end those benefits now and let everyone settle their own ledger? Sorry, I don't see how a school superintendent deserves a $200k/year pension after voting his self a $400k pay rate for two decades. The game is crooked, and that is why millennials won't play. The back of the envelope math doesn't	Buck	Ethnicity - Black	1/575	0.174
---	------	-------------------	-------	-------

sounds to me like Fascism as well, and its alive and well- im better than everyone- my wife is better looking than yours cause Victorias Secret said so with its cheesy sexual innuendo advertising, see my car on the FB profile pic? i want you jealous! its my whole life! see my large lifted truck? see my new gadget? capitalism really pushed this to the edge. I think we got a mix of dumb people, less common sense, more narcissists, and more dumbled down people- BUT there are some good winners in all of this..the 1 got more money- then they used the money to change rules and then push this down our throats even more. Nothing wrong with pride but people and mainly Americans I see are really taking this to a new whole level-	Cheesy, Common, Dumb, Nothing, Sexual	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments, Social Class - Working class	5/136	3.676
Louis RuffinShit, I had it rough Louis. I remember one time, my old man was late for work and had a flat tire. He shoved me into the front right wheel well of his truck and said "you're the spare, hang on".	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/43	2.326
I'm a millennial and I was raised very differently than my peers my father insisted I behave morally and work hard and save money to live decent because I owe it to myself, my country and my god... When I was a kid I thought he was just unnecessarily strict but now I get it and would raise my kids the same. This concept is above 95 of the millennials I went to school with and still know today and most of their parents. People think if you just give someone everything they want they'll turn out fine this is not true you have to drill shit into their heads over and over unless you just get lucky and have a really wise kid but people are naturally ignorant and lazy as human beings and need to be taught otherwise. I watched so many of my peers get expensive cell phones and plans they couldn't afford that they insisted to their parents was necessary now we have internet addiction problems. I watched so many of my peers swap sexual partners like no tomorrow and their parents just said well that's how it goes nowadays now we have crazy HPV problems. I watched so many of my peers finance new cars (usually not domestic) that they couldn't afford and their parents just said well it's nice to have something nice now we have an inflation and economic problem. It's all the same pattern I've seen first hand my whole life that starts when your very young. People need to be tougher and say NO kid smarten up do it the hard way because it's usually the right way!	Crazy, Sexual	Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/277	0.722

I am divided on this video. On some points I strongly disagree, on some I strongly agree. I think there are too many things to consider at this point. The times are changing really fast. People are just naturally reacting to their environment. Be it phones, social media, instant gratification, the whole package of digitalizing our life, but also our parents - they grew up in a very different environment. This age is fucked up. I expect huge wars to come as resources diminish but i also believe this is an instrument of evolution as it always had been. The history is not known for it's mild change scenarios. The question is not whether we change, the question is not if we should - and how - resist the change. The question is what will the change bring and how is it going to affect us? That is where we should focus our attention to. Accepting things as they are and using them to form the future we want.I personally think that we should focus WAY more on personal development. There is a HUGE gap, an abyss in our skills of handling emotions, self growth and the whole self-maintenance package. Almost everybody drifts through their life not even properly realizing their purpose (what makes them fulfilled), even less make serious effort and even less endure through the obstacles. Millenials as you speak of them in my opinion epitomize this question. And show us that we need to develop a system to help people become masters of their own decisions, to not just float around, helpless as victims but to become active creators in their destiny, in taking charge of their own minds, of the responsibility, of the fact that we define ourselves by own decisions and we hold the tools to shape ourselves. The crisis of the Millennials is a crisis of the human mind in general. We as a species are not proactive, we are reactive. We won't change ourselves in order to get some vague better future. We'll slack, deny and let the circumstances get their own course and only then, when things are in extreme we'll act. Out of necessity. The same is happening here.Once again, the Millenials are not a few "damaged" or "mislead" individuals that humanity needs to get over with or stash away and endure. They are a strong and natural evolution of the need to organize our lives and society better. Not on the global level - as it was until now - but on the individual level. We need people to to be in charge of their own mind states and we need to give them tools to do it well. Don't be bored underwhelmed undeappriated whatever. Understand why you are in the state you are and consciously choose the state, the attitude you want to experience and show. Millenials are not our shadow they are our beacon.	Age	Age - General	1/491	0.204
--	-----	---------------	-------	-------

A very good video ... UNTIL the very end when once again blame and responsibility are shifted away from the individual where it belongs. So if young people are having trouble coping, it is the rest of us who have to work harder to figure out how to help them live more meaningful and satisfying lives? If you truly want young people to succeed, then stop giving them every excuse to believe that nothing is their fault. They need to stop blaming their parents and the big, bad corporations who are allegedly failing them according to this video. Whatever happened to rugged individualism, a concept, I would suggest, is best leaned early but also better late than never.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/118	0.847
---	---------	---------------------	-------	-------

The thing about our generation not having real friendships and being completely aware that their „friends’ will ditch them once it’s convenient is so true it hurts. Now I don’t consider my own experiences a reliable source on this since I am rather introverted and asocial and it’s obviously going to be harder for someone like me to find friends, but when I look around me, it’s just a really sad picture to see. Even extremely early on, the kids already made scarily distinct plans on who they will play with if the kid they usually play with is sick and would pick lonely kids to be their „substitute friends’ only to completely abandon them the next day when the usual playmate returns. Later on, they would form groups that mainly served the purpose of reassurance. The members of these groups usually changed whenever new kids came to our school and members the rest of the group got tired of were unofficially kicked out. This was so bad(particularly with the girls) that when two girls from another school who simply were good friends and stuck together came to our school, everybody just assumed they were sisters because of it despite them looking nothing alike. But even if you don’t take those obviously shallow relationships into consideration and only focus on what is considered an actual friend who is actually hung out with outside of school, even they might ditch you over something minor. I once overheard two guys talking about a vote that they were allowed to participate in since they’re already 18, both really nice guys playing in a band together for quite some time, and one of them mentioned that he seriously thought about voting conservative but ended up not doing it to which his friend replied „It’s a good thing you didn’t or else our friendship would have been over.’ You’d think that was a joke, an exaggeration of sorts, but no, this guy meant it and made sure his friend knew he meant it.And now in the final year of school, it’s pretty much everyone for themselves. One of our leading teachers who has been teaching at this school for over 20 years even pointed out that we have no community whatsoever to which everyone just replied with „Meh.’ And I think this is part of the reason why things are always just okay. There’s nothing to really complain about, but nothing to really care about either. Every single day.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	3/415	0.723
The Mysterious Stranger Perfect response to those bitter old cunts. I love how long, argumented comments such as yours don’t get any other response than ”its ur fault for being born” or ”stop whinning about ur studnts loans”.. That just shows how these people are confronted to a dead end. They are just bitching about the younger generations just as every older generations has ever did as long as civilisation has been something.. And you don’t need an argument to do that, you just need to have the capacity to be a bitching old fuck.	Old	Age - Over 65s	2/95	2.105

I was born in 1992..when did NAFTA come out? yeah totally not my fault you bimbo	Bimbo	Gender - Female intelligence	1/16	6.25
not everyone gets 1,200 in gift cash from rich relatives .if I did then I would of been in college too.. you had 25,000 by the time you entered college at 18? you've already had more by 18 then I had even at 23 seeing as after HS at age 18 I was out of work for 2 years...then got 2 jobs that both went no where in a period of 2 years..then im 22..then at 23 a year later I gave up looking for jobs and went into lawncare earning less than 15,000 each summer since because everyone is broke around here and pays low for their work..and I know what'll be said ' I should go to college and risk tons of debt ' and before you say ' scholarship ' LOL im 26...what scholarship would I get? im from a fairly wealth family but myself am not wealth with tons of money to pay for college.. I didn't get the greatest of grades in school because I ended up messing up the GPA by passing all classes but then I would get a C in college classes in which case a C is actually a D' and then it lowers your average. Anyway moving on.. using my story as an example..many people come out of HS broke and most come out of college..broke and then don't even get the job they studied for.. why is hardly anyone in this generation going to retire by 65? look at 1/3 living at home till 30 like me cause employers blow in general and low paid service jobs thanks to a 20-30 year span in the US economy where loopholes ended up screwing our nation over cause corporations moved overseas to dodge taxes.	Age, Nation	Age - General, Nationality - General	2/293	0.683
pain is hilarious. hahahahaha congratulations you just described what we are talking about out of your own mouth you just admitted your a slave to the system 50-60 hours a week and what do you have to show for it some food and either a shit house or semi decent house not that I really care that much but we work long hard hours and we really have nothing that's worth anything in the end not to mention how they constantly make up new rules and regulations on electrical and plumbing so you have to constantly pay to keep that up to date because everyone wants a piece of your paycheck	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/111	0.901
Few people who have done what you have done have the humility to admit that luck was involved. Almost all attribute it to pure hard work and a bunch of smarts. But, the old axiom "risk means reward" applies. Nothing ventured, nothing gained. Racking up student loans and working for The Man in the cubicle jungle used to be a noble way to approach life - some still thrive this way. Others, not so much. In any case, the shine has come off... and people are starting to look at the business nature of the post secondary institution. They're really selling 8.5x11" pieces of cardboard if you think about it...	Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	3/110	2.727

My grandfather taught me this lesson at a young age , key is luck. 'Anybody can work hard, but what else can you bring to the table to be considered?'	Age	Age - General	1/29	3.448
God Fearing Nobody said hard work doesn't work. It's just that almost anybody can work hard, there are many more factors that contribute to success.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/25	4.0
Though what are you doing to change any of it? Super-gluing your phone to your face isn't going to do anything but blind you.	Blind	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/24	4.167
Trying to let some people know in some small way, even through a youtube comment section. Maybe finding some other people who feel the same way. People need to be cognizant of something to care about it. And by the way, I'm going to go blind genetically later in life anyway, so I might as well, yeah? Don't assume things.	Blind	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/60	1.667
Skipper Jones, "luck"? Beyond the instances of the word in your opening and closing sentences, NOTHING outside of either mention had ANYTHING to do with luck.But you already knew that. LoLI think you mistakenly wrote "luck" when you meant to write, "life choices". ;-)	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/46	2.174
See, that's the problem. Millennials have been taught from a very early age to not accept anything less than the gold standard, and that we deserve better. At least many of us are, I won't claim to speak for my entire generation like many people claim to. And the high housing costs thing isn't BS, houses are definitely more expensive now than they were thirty years ago, at least in semi-major cities and their suburbs. The other thing is that everyone's experience is different, depending on how and where they were raised. I see a lot of people telling their personal stories as an argument, and though I find some of those stories inspiring and am glad for those that have found success and personal fulfillment, those stories are ultimately not helpful in addressing larger problems. Yes, there are things that can be learned from everyone's life story, but how one person succeeded can not be seen or used as a surefire track to success.	Age	Age - General	1/165	0.606

I work two jobs at 11 hour it's still not enough because they're not full time jobs but I can't complain it's better then no job not too long ago. I have to work these jobs till I get something better, I'm planning on entering the security field just waiting for my guard card to be approved. I got these jobs because these fell into place for me others would call it luck and I live in a rural-ish area in California. I just turned 26, if things were like my parents generation I would have a house, 401k, a car that's owned and rent saved up for a year, things have gone down the drain and it's only getter tougher each generation. The job market is too competitive, everyone has the same degree, luck is now more of a requirement to get a job these days then your skills and what value you offer to the employer and everyone is just looking for a job in general which has caused inflation. My little cafe in town coyote cafe had 90 people apply just for that one single little waiter job that was part time. Yes people are accountable for their own choices but you can't just sit here and blame millennials entirely for the economic state were in, the people that actually ruined this county don't get the blame and it started long before Obama. Nobody seems to talk about Wall Street or the banks that helped contribute to ruin our economy but quick to blame millennials. In a fairer and balanced economy more young people would have jobs SUSTAINABLE jobs but that's not the case.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/277	0.361
---	--------	---------------------	-------	-------

I definitely do not agree with this stand point at all. While I understand that there is compulsion to check phones, it's only muscle memory causing it, BECAUSE we use phones for basically everything in life. Keep in mind that phones and computers replaced 100s of things and put them into the palm of your hand. I have the same opinion of video games, our relationships have evolved and that's part of life, we are not less social because our friends are 100 miles away (or further). Things change and cultures adapt. Also, it is NOT disrespectful to put your cell phone the the desk/table in a meeting - that's an anarchic view point of a generation that doesn't understand technology. Particularly in IT positions where your phone is your resource - let's be honest here it is not limited to IT either. 7:20 You check the phone first when you get up because it's your alarm clock, first of all, and secondly because part of starting your day right is seeing what you need to do that day, which includes checking you messages and emails. A lot of what he's talking about in this video, for example instant gratification is about how can we do things more efficiently and not waste time. Why should we have to wait for something, just because a previous generation had to. That's nuts logic .. think about this in context ... did your parents ever mock you for not having to take 12 hours to get home from shopping because you have a car versus a horse? No, why, because its crazy and doesn't make sense to punish someone for taking advantage of new technology.The only thing i do agree with is relationship and confidence. As for confidence in a large company (from my own perspective and experience) a large volume of that comes from leadership and senior team members. Many, and I mean many, knowledge horde - sometimes knowingly and with intent. And then you get crap from leadership like they want to short list people with XXX degree .. but then they hirer these engineers with w.e degree or phd .. and they are worse then the gamer who taught himself code, or networking or w.e. That's the problem, and that is a corporate/environmental problem.	Crazy, Engineers, Senior	Age - Over 65s, Nationality - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/385	0.779
Abdicating responsibility doesn't mean that the abdicator isn't actually responsible. By the time everyone's about 3 years old , they know better than most Millennials choose to behave. And I do mean choose to behave. Grow up already and stop whining. No one's going to change your diapers here.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/48	2.083

Texts feel good? Born 1994, I get fucking anxiety when I check my email and Phone . shitty news or stuff I HAVE TO reply to, deal with. it only lasts for a few seconds till I actually look at it. but heres my fucking parenting tip, how I grew up to be fucking functioning: Be honest, always tell the truth, Stress Responsibility and work, and don't get your kid a phone till he's 14. I and my brother shared an old nokia brick as an emergency phone, and had very limited prepaid account. socially unviable today? fuck that, learn to actually talk to people, and plan to meet up at a specific place and time, learn to be punctual and be able to live and be alone with yourself without CONSTANT validation.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/133	0.752
Surprised you have that many subscribers. This is very unorganized and your speech is very unprofessional. You sound bored and you just wanted people to crap on because you feel sad with your life. Look man, I get it. I'm surrounded by these people everyday. But at the same time I'M the one who lives in this world of millenials, not you. There are many people who are like this, yes, but it doesn't mean "millenials" are like this. Stereotyping is probably the biggest BS I've ever seen. Mind if I tell you my work ethic and how I'm 10 steps in front of people my age ? Of course you don't, because you wouldn't believe it.	Age	Age - General	1/116	0.862
JoJo Ray Actually yes a mother that never lets go of her child becomes overprotective and her kid becomes codependent. In fact many psychologists advice mothers to remember that they also deserve time for themselves and that is not healthy worry about their kids all the time. Nothing is good in excess, not even love.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/55	1.818
JoJo Ray So what is your point ? Dopamine release through exercise is a lot different than dopamine release through social media. It's real, it's your body rewarding you, just like climaxing during good sex , dopamine through social media is a false sensation, just like dopamine release of most drugs.	Sex	Gender - General	1/50	2.0

The guy above me said it better, but I'll reply anyway.I think it's about restricting things that cause you to release dopamine for doing nothing or self-damaging things. Like with social media and drugs, you didn't accomplish anything by using them, it just sort of activated your reward system for nothing. It's an illusion of success. As opposed to things like building life-long relationships with people, which upon success are a wealth of value (personal wisdom, another hand when you need it, someone who can share resources with you. I mean, they're basically a biological super-computer that can be there and help support you where your weaknesses lie.) Or building a life-long passion, a career or exercising as you say. These things produce dopamine too when you're successful at it, but they're harder to achieve. But, at the same time they're extremely beneficial to your life, and likely necessary to living a really enjoyable one. It's the fact that social media and drugs are super easy to get, and you get the same kick as you do when you accomplish something actually tangibly rewarding and beneficial to your quality and satisfaction of life. In the brain, they're hardly distinguishable from each other (or that's the way the case is portrayed, as I haven't accomplished any of those "good" things I've mentioned).	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/222	0.901
Kevin Davis Yeah a select few of my generation might eat tide pods, but that doesnt mean we all suck. And if you think that does mean it suck, look that the source material, notice how about 90 of flat earthers(worlds dumbest people) are gen x? Using your logic that means all of you gen x people are mentally retarded paranoid conspiracy theorists with no common sence and logic. Doesnt sound great does it? Good so shut up you old fucking hipsters and keep your jealousy to your "back in my day" self you hypocritical morons.	Common, Old	Age - Over 65s, Social Class - Working class	2/96	2.083
That's about as edgy as an Autistic 12 year old trying to impress a goth girl with school shooter jokes.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/20	5.0
Kevin Davis oh and the fact that you bring up participation trophies just shows how unintelligent you are. The reason why participation trophies exist is because the angry dads and soccer moms complaining about their kids being benchwarmers. Aka gen x. So at this point your generation is literally responsible for all of the points you can bring up to use against millennials. Smart phones: gen x. Flat screen televisions:gen x. Participation trophies:gen x. The very first generation to say "i never hit my kids" and refuses to spank their kids:gen x. The people who are suffering because of all these things: Millennials. So shut your old ass up and stop blaming us for the shit you did.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/118	0.847

Kevin Davis when you decide to spend a bit of your adulthood to make fun of the people who will govern the world. You are gross for over simplifying millions of people. Love, a Gen Z brat	Brat	Age - Youngsters	1/37	2.703
Social Media is not as damaging as Alcohol! 4:25 that is such a stupid analogy to use.	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	1/18	5.556
Get rid of social media it does nothing for you. Get your ass up and do something.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/17	11.765
Enjoyed the video but, "It's Not Their Fault" is complete bullshit. Just because their idiot parents and, to some extent technology and the instant gratification society, screwed them up is no reason not to take responsibility. Accept that shit happens, life isn't fair, assume responsibility, don't be a victim, and unscrew your young selves. So you're parents didn't raise you properly...boo-friggin'-hoo...join the club. Start eating properly (fat and lazy is not a desirable quality), start exercising vigorously, put down that phone, and start building real/meaningful relationships by first developing your moral character and spirituality. Learn selflessness and drop the selfishness; be less self-centered and learn the values of hard-work and sacrifice. The me, me, me, I'm special is bullshit. Even if you are truly one-in-a-million (you're not) there is still almost 8000 just like you.	Fat	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/135	0.741
Suicide is always an option. When you broke and dumb , and the rest of the world is leaps and bounds ahead of you, then what is there to look forward to except aging and bad health !!!!!	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/37	2.703
"Oh these youngsters know nothing about hard work, we had to build our own cars out of wood, I tell you." What a dick.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/24	4.167
Parenting came from a BOOK, not common sense or generations of babies being born	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/14	7.143
Honestly, I was on board until comments like 'almost every alcoholic discovered alcohol when they were teenagers', and '.....primary reasons why alcoholics drink'. I was convinced this was all fact based, and almost had me fooled, but as an alcoholic in AA, I realized this is all just an opinionated video after hearing those comments. I turned the video off half way through	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	1/64	1.562

I punched a millennial at work one time cause he was going off on Christians right before Christmas. Fucking pussy went to HR, got me fired then called the Cops on me and I spent a week in jail and ended up with 1 yr probation. So ya they're total 100 bitches. I should have just dumped him in the woods somewhere.	pussy	Nationality - Chinese	1/62	1.613
He has a way to sway the audience but the content crumbles like dried crap.On the one hand he scrutinizes the millenial work force, but no one really takes a peek at the issue from another side.If youngsters today do wanna learn, they get shit, even in the most prestigious learning institutions you don't learn really what you need, and very few stand out and have the right skill set. Plus we have a saturated economy where employers can cherry pick... 40 years ago, you basically told a guy to start programming, he did and by the end of a career he was mentoring young engineers or computer scientists with a degree.Sinek praises Apple , on their marketing success, I don't know if he really buys into the shit leavng his mouth, Apple basically wants a dumbass who regularly gets the newest model of his Iphone, unable to fix it himself, Apple is basically moronware...You cannot criticize morons while you promote moronmaking companies at least if you care about say credibility.	Apple, Engineers	Ethnicity - Native-American, Nationality - General	4/174	2.299
Everything about this video is right except 1 phrase... " THROUGH NO FAULT OF THEIR OWN" ?!?Um sorry that is one of the problems.. they ARE responsible for themselves. It is their life, their responsibility and their FAULT !!Yes there are contributing factors but in the end.. ITS ABSOLUTELY THEIR FAULT !! And that is what they should learn. Thais what I learned, the buck stops with me. If something is wrong, its ME who has to get off my ass and fix it because no one else will.	Buck	Ethnicity - Black	1/91	1.099
some of what he said is true, some of it is BS. But i think in the end, its up to every individually and no one should make such a generalization.I for example am a mellenial, but i never was handed anything. My parents gave me of course some money each week, for free use, which was 10€. So i had to wait 2 Months for a new game and if i wanted something big, then i had to wait and save, or work.I started working at the age of 16 and i went through hell. 16-18 hour shifts. 12 days without break, under a sadistic junky boss, who constantly tortured me, for his amusement. After 3 Years i finally managed got out of there, went back to school and now i want to study, to have a better life.Then on the other hand, there is a guy i know, who is 4 years older than me, never worked more than 2 months at the same place, bc "it just isnt for me". He is entitled AF, you should ever say that he is wrong in something. He is basically the embodiment of the millenial Stereotype. So in the end. Our Generation doesnt define our behavior. We are all different and it comes to Parenting and envirenment, what has an influence on us.	Age	Age - General	1/226	0.442

There's nothing wrong with corporate the only thing is that we are all different not all the same and we should love the fact that we are different that we have different minds and different thoughts that we have different skills and different gifts. It really sucks too compete at something and everybody gets a complementary trophy or medal and that is the truth they should just be happy for participating and trying their hardest I understand first place second place even to 10th Place. But whenever you have to be politically correct in a classroom. We're in such an age that cell phone skin pretty much do your homework for you the only thing you have to do is search I don't think is that hard to make better generation it's just understand from the perspective of a child just cramming with a lot of knowledge until they want to stop learning themselves a move on to life experience real life whether they're wants work do drugs drink wander around or try to make it on their own by having a family in and playing a parent.	Age, Nothing	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	2/188	1.064
crazy K oh shut the fuck up you half wit	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/10	10.0
crazy K Shut your face!	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/5	20.0
Age 13 is the age restriction for social media!Well at least for the major platforms that feature it.	Age	Age - General	2/19	10.526
I watched half of this, sounds like nothing is blamed on them, bad parents, bad technology	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/16	6.25

I agree with this video 100. Yes I would agree that millennial's have been given a bad hand. But maybe this will change corporations to start having a different attitude, within the corporate structure. Which has been a failure for over hundred years. People like Steve Jobs, Bill Gates, or corporations like AT&T and many others. Have been the problem. Corporations is nothing but a ridiculous form of hostile environment, throwing people under the bus, bad politics games, corporations with managers and CEOs have acted like self entitled childish Junior high mentality. Steve Jobs and Bill Gates is not influential, But horrible people with absolutely no management skills. They've accomplished something..yes. But it came with a price. These guys were not Management within majority of all corporations have been absolutely disgusting within their behaviors of bad politics. Maybe the millennial's will help us find the balance on their side and also on corporations. When will we start acting like grownups in a corporation? When are we going to look at most CEOs like Bill Gates and Steve Jobs, to realize these were bad people who have very bad management behaviors. They created problems with unnecessary stress, to which led people to addiction with alcohol , prescription drugs, opioids or hard drugs. Bad management, start from the top, and trickles down. Until we get it together on the top, then it will get better balance within the corporate structure. America will never be great in our corporations world. If we really want to make America great.... corporations need to stop doing the same dumb ass clunker consciousness mentality that we have done for over 100 years or more. The old way is dead and it needs to go. Corporations have never been great...but terrible. Steve Jobs and Bill Gates has been the mirror image of this stupid delusional consciousness, cruel, and hostile environment; by pushing people down, and tearing down their moral fiber.	Dumb, Nothing, Old, alcohol	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/321	1.246
Ron Yerke Oh this very dangerous place makes me feel happy i will always come here even though its very dangerous.Oh breathing fres air im pretty happy Woops those thing were banned i guess ill fall into depression, get called a piece of shit, fat , lazy, fall further into depression, pay my loan as slow as a snail, almost doe due to how everything costs and due to this dont feel happy with my girlfriend just have sex for that dopamine, banned sex .Well i guess i will die	Fat, Sex	Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical Features	3/90	3.333
Just BTW, Is "Dude" a millennial thing? As a " senior " it just sounds juvenile. Also, did you mean "dude-parenting" or just a salutary "Dude: Parenting . . ."	Senior	Age - Over 65s	1/29	3.448

I am 33 right now. I have to say that at first it seemed right to her this. At the end (about the 11 minuet mark) it became just crap. Full and total crap. It was a crap made from crap and filtered through crap. As some one who REFUSES to be called a millennial I can say to all who do, GET YOUR SHIT TOGETHER! No one is going to tern a 100 year old multi BILLION dollar business around and suddenly spend money teaching you how to be an adult! They shouldn't they have to! If you can't even find a way to make anything meaningful in your life then no amount of training, classes or any boss hugs are going to change that. If work sucks then get a friend and put the phones down. Don't go to work and say they should be the ones getting you a friend. If you can't put the phone down or walk away from a computer then at the least have the DECENCY to NOT go to a company and cry foul at them for YOUR mistakes! I grew up in a fucking camper with no lights, little to no food and got the crap beat out of me. YOU CAN STOP CRYING BECAUSE YOU GOT HUGGED TO FUCKING MUCH! Now... STFU and get off the computer RIGHT NOW! Go to bed and when you get up just DON'T go back to your computer. MOST people are still out and about in the world making friends and great memories. YOU CAN TOO! It may feel a bit different when you first start seeing natural light but it gets so much better then you can ever think. There are more people alive today then has ever been alive. You WILL meet them. You WILL have a GREAT time. GO! GO NOW! DO NOT COME BACK!	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/314	0.318
COMPANIES GO INTO BUSINESS (AND STAY IN BUSINESS) FOR ONE OVERARCHING PURPOSE - TO MAKE A PROFIT - PERIOD! If they don't, they will no longer exist - PERIOD! It is the first thing ANY student learns on the very first day of Economics 101, fercryinoutloud (or at least, DID once upon a time)! Companies do NOT exist in order to provide employment for ANYONE, nor do they exist in order to make these modern-day little jellyfish 'feel good about themselves' - PERIOD! You can draw all the cutesy little pictures you want (and you misspelled 'instantaneously,' by the way,) without some sort of spiritual foundation AND the mental toughness that comes only from having to EARN accolades through tireless perseverance and the constant overcoming of setbacks, 99 of these 'snowflakes' are going to crumble like a cookie as soon as the going gets tough - this is exactly where the entire 'participation trophy' mentality, and its equally insidious cousin, the 'self-esteem movement' has gotten you, America - you kicked God out of everyday life and decisions, and followed some flawed-from-the-get-go 'humanistic' path that claims that man is God - foolish beyond words, and nothing more than a precursor to failure - see where this nation is in 20 years - it will NOT be pretty.....	Mental, Nation, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Nationality - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/216	1.389

I don't get why people are made about this. It's true. A ton of people (I'm a millennial) in our generation have issues with impatience, technology, and a sense of purpose (myself included to a degree). There is nothing wrong with bringing up issues within a generation.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/47	2.128
dayrohan oh, i was born in 1995 and was not raised like this, but i know a ton of people like this. I grew up in the country and the woods, but i understand the school system part and the morals that were taught that didnt really work. Most of this video doesnt relate to me, but certain aspects do.I know a ton of people that seem to be facing a lot of these issues, but i also know a good number of people who are married, have kids, and a home by the age of 27.1995 is on the fringe of being generation z so i dont knoe if i constitute as a millenial or a generation z but who really cares.	Age	Age - General	1/125	0.8
Unsure which group of millennial you hang around, but the millennials I surround myself with are nothing like what this video describes.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/22	4.545
justrosy5 He's just some delusional kid who is on the hate millennial bandwagon. Same kids who claimed to hate hip hop music and then turn on Elvis and gloat how amazing the music was back then to sound intelligent and impress the old people. He's that kid.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/47	2.128
Okay. Two problems: A.) The millennial generation (or generation Y) is the generation that follows generation X and starts in 1986 to around 1994 or 1995. I would know this, because I was born in this generation. B.) At the expense of sounding like a snowflake , it sounds like he's talking about ALL millennials. It's not fair to compare every single millennial when each of us have different personalities and perspectives on life.	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/73	1.37
I have an interesting story about these 'snowflake millennials' and how easy it is to shatter their ego. I worked at a company where we built electrical equipment. One of the things we did was to install electrical components on panels. We all had to make many panels at once. We did it in an assembly line fashion. We laid out all the panels with marks on where to drill the holes and the drill sizes. Then we would use one drill bit, and drill out all those holes on all the panels. Then change the bit, then drill out all those holes, then change the bit and drill out those. Then we used a tap to tap out the holes, then change the tap drill out those holes. We got a new hire who insisted on doing them one panel at a time. We tried to explain how to do the right way, but she had to do it her way. A supervisor tried to explain why we had to do it the way we did and not even in a mean tone . She broke down in tears and ran out of the building and never came back. Some of these younger people can't take being told how to do something the correct way without having some kind of a mental breakdown. I will say that not all these millennials are that prone to having their ego shattered but many are.	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/243	0.412

I do agree with a lot of what you said. However, these Millennials are learning crap at university. They are taking useless programs that won't do anything for their futures like gender studies and critical theory. Their parents are not indoctrinating them like the schools are.	Gender	Gender - General	1/46	2.174
Adding a sterilant to drinking water or staple foods is a suggestion that seems to horrify people more than most proposals for involuntary fertility control. Indeed, this would pose some very difficult political, legal, and social questions, to say nothing of the technical problems. No such sterilant exists today, nor does one appear to be under development. To be acceptable, such a substance would have to meet some rather stiff requirements: it must be uniformly effective, despite widely varying doses received by individuals, and despite varying degrees of fertility and sensitivity among individuals; it must be free of dangerous or unpleasant side effects; and it must have no effect on members of the opposite sex , children, old people, pets, or livestock. — John Holdren, Eco-Science	Nothing, Old, Sex	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	3/125	2.4
What every one of these videos seems to get wrong is that they think the particular generation want/ed everything given to them, when in actuality, more aligned to human nature, shit, we just wanted an opportunity given to us. But every generation sees those opportunities presented in different ways, and every time it feels like that same 16-26 age group that's getting the shit kicked out of them because the 'real world' either hasn't taught them, expected them or opened its doors wide enough to let them in peacefully.	Age	Age - General	1/89	1.124
There is another video and both of these videos are like word for word. I think the other video is called the interview that broke the Internet. Weird , same content, different video.	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/32	3.125
actually here is an age restriction on social medias in the tos but no one listens to it	Age	Age - General	1/18	5.556

Not questioning whats going on, not understanding that the US bill of rights is for taking society back and for being responsible. It IS their fault because they vote, and buy, and take loans, and its time to be responsible. We ARE under attack. Kick the liberal bs to the curb and start growing up. Your message of its not your fault is the bridge between power over young masses and YOUR BS narrative, you've used legitimate talking points, then say not your fault. Like a druggie , you don't coddle, you have to let themselves hit rock bottom and kick the habit on their own. If young folks want to be something then stop looking to corporate celebs (actors and musicians). You dont need latest cell phone or material item. Look to core values God, Family, and nation (community). These are the things the youth has been told are bad. Or out dated. But these things are core to being a well rounded, content person.	Druggie, Nation	Behavioural Addiction - Drugs, Nationality - General	2/165	1.212
I enjoy the millenial hate, what exactly have the last few generations done? Bankrupt the country and gave the wealth back to banks. Put us into unnecessary wars that further destabilized the areas we were supposed to help and millenials catch shit because of participation medals and video games? I love it, old fucks fail on levels never before seen, so their last resort to not feel like fuck ups is to treat their kids like fuck ups. Never mind that most of them will come to younger people for the simplest tech problem. Never mind that elderly and adults are the ones who were shitty parents (claims this video) and Never mind that they provide all the electronics that are the apparent problem. If you're giving millenials shit because you're looking at only the ones failing and struggling, you're probably an insecure piece of shit yourself.	Elderly, Old	Age - Over 65s	2/147	1.361
Learned 2 trade before age 25(lots more to learn), 109,000k a year working as a welder now,a beautiful wife 3 kids,own a house 2 vehicles paid for, never made less than 80k a year out of high school, rare to work more than 45 hrs a week, 90 of the time I work 20 minuets from my house, I am entitled to nothing my generation is screwed though, hard times make strong people, strong people make good times, good times make weak people....	Age, Nothing	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	2/83	2.41

This business about dopamine is mostly bull$hi. I started working at twelve, 1975, mowing and raking lawns, pulling weeds, walking dogs, washing cars, picking berries and anything else I could make a buck doing. You fail and fail and fail and fail but then you triumph, and that’s the ultimate high. Kids today are simply not allowed to work. The government has outlawed that sort of enterprise and no one wants to take a chance paying some snotty in cash like they did me for fear of getting sued or arrested. The millennials have been comprehensively boned by the law of unintended consequences, useless upper class political do gooders having taken their do gooding dump all over the following generations and deprived them of the opportunity to learn, smelling only the odor of their own precious sanctity as they ignore the disaster in the rear view mirror, having no idea of what they have wrought. It takes an absurd amount of paperwork to employ a child and you are on the hook if he gets hurt. The truth is that kids are barley worth paying anything until they learn how to buckle down and make it happen without help, whether it be selling ’band’ candy or shoveling dog poop. If you miss the experience of selling your expertise such as it is, knocking on doors, putting notes on bulletin boards, sizing up strangers for their potential cash value and moving to sell them something, getting cheated and learning the consequence of cheating yourself, you don’t ever learn the lesson of success through constant failure or how to swim in the economic waters that make up life. If you spend childhood being entertained by unreality on a screen and being handed things, one day college is over and there you are, going for the first real job without really knowing the secret of Making Things Happen. American kids are at a horrific disadvantage when up against the world, or an H1B worker that has been out hustling since he could walk. Millennials are a bunch of culturally rich kids that aren’t actually rich, wondering where the promised good times went. They feel cheated by not being handed things anymore and have no faith in their own ability to hustle up a buck. And its really not their fault.	Buck	Ethnicity - Black	2/387	0.517
---	------	-------------------	-------	-------

oh look another non millennial telling millennials about millennials... and talking about how we grew up like they were there growing up with us. and FYI: we weren't told we could have whatever we want for no reason. The idiom chanted at us over and over growing up was, "if you work hard, get good grades, go to college, you will be able to get a good job that you want. If you don't you'll be stuck flipping burgers." Well, guess what, we got good grades. We went to college. We accumulated tons of debt and when we got into the real workforce we found that there were very few high paying jobs and the jobs that were available were... you guessed it, FLIPPING FUCKING BURGERS. So here we sit with our college degrees, mountains of debt, flipping burgers or working as interns till we're 30, unable to afford ANYTHING. and when we express frustration at this, old people who by comparison were handed life on a platter financially, roll there eyes and call us "entitled" (what, you thought just because you worked hard in college you'd get that job?") or "lazy" ("hah, why does he still live with his parents/roomates/etc") or "ungrateful" (what, oh, so flipping burgers isn't enough for you??"). Bitch please. Go retire five years before we will at your age, on your social security we won't have in our old age, and leave us alone.

Age, Old

Age - General,
Age - Over 65s

4/239

1.674

I'm 22 and this totally resonates with me. I have never been one for social media or cell phones. My friends and family often get mad because I'll let it die and won't charge it for a few days. My parents raised me to have measured expectations of the world and I have always hated rewarding kids for doing nothing. My parents gave me enough direction and rules as to not lead me astray but not so much that it becomes oppressive and I resent them. They always trusted me to be intelligent enough to realize that what I was doing was the right choice. If I wanted to have a drink at 15, my dad would let me. If I ever got so drunk I got sick they trusted I was smart enough to learn from it. And I did, I got sick from alcohol once in first year and I have never drank excessively since. That was 3 years ago. I'm from Canada and I would politically be a Liberal. Socially progressive but fiscally conservative. I believe in enough social programs to allow everyone the ability to make it on their own but not enough so that it's given to them. I believe in universal health care as nobody should have to make the choice between saving a loved one's life and bankrupting yourself. However, I also believe in free market capitalism and the ability to benefit greatly from your success. Now, a lot of my peers around me in university and millenials and generation Z across North America have this distorted notion of how perfect the world is and how they do not care about rewarding people for the work they do, just making sure that every living soul has a good life. So now we have a serious threat of the socialist NDP government in Canada coming into power, giving people free post secondary education and increased welfare and free this and free that.	Nobody, Nothing, alcohol	Age - Youngsters, Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	3/328	0.915
You must take responsibility for your actions and see for yourself what is BS fakery and what is tangibly real and attainable through hard work. No fault of their own, I call BS. I was indoctrinated on many subjects my parents believed in without research. I didn't believe them when I was ten about many subjects, even more so by the time I was in high school. I challenged their every idea w/o thorough research and got them to think about their actions more ctitically. I wasn't trying to win against them, only a make more common sense standing for all. Life is tough, only you and those around you that you allow to, can make it tougher. Don't work against yourself playing the victim card.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/126	0.794

You people are ridiculous if you think this is a millennial problem. This problem has always occurred throughout history. Western Children are becoming smarter and realizing to what degree their exploitation is. You want a happy millennial? Raise the wage, lower the tax, lower the cost of living and allow more down time, but increase the daily work hour to 12 hours a day for 4 days. Include a 3 day weekend that takes into account family, community, leisure/hobbies (exercise). You want to complain about the worker, when you should look at the hand that is pointing with one finger in one direction while that same hand has three fingers and a thumb pointing in on itself. As an 86'er I see things better than younger millennial. And I tell you this, overtime they won't just feel entitled. Unless you do what you must to improve your "armies morale", because that's essentially what your workforce is.. then you will face something you are not yet ready for. Look at history books, they are full of wisdom that not only show this is not just a millennial issue. They show that this is reoccurring within the Apex of capitalist societies. Its unavoidable, unless you lower taxes, lower cost of living and pay more than what you are paying now. By doing so, the market will fix itself, people will be happier and complain less. They will also have more money to spend and pump it into the economy. But my words are on deaf ears and weak arms. No one is going to change the status quo, until it just happens due to random chance and before you know it one flame becomes a fire. And thank you for criticizing my year. Had you not labelled 1984 - onward I might not have mentioned one word. Also, ask yourself this. After WW2, when the baby boomers were established. Ask yourself how easy they had it? Did it never occur to you it was actually a lot easier to be a citizen of the world earlier? I know it is because both my mother and father were born in 1952 and I hear how much easier it was to live. And we are talking about people who grew up in a post Hitler Era barely able to get food. Not because of food prices, but because Hitler's Nazis destroyed everything. But fear not, from 1962 onward to about 1984 (collapse of the USSR, and communism <the other way of looking at the market>) things were golden. Its funny how all this unhappiness occurred when one nation went from being a dualist or plural power to a super power and forced its market structure on the entire planet. I'm just saying. Now, before you further criticize my generations and before I start sounding like a communist (even though I believe in God and go to Church, which would technically make me some sort of Democratic Socialist), I'm going to leave you all in peace.	Communist, Nation	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Nationality - General	2/501	0.399
---	-------------------	---	-------	-------

And now the little snowflakes complained and complained and complained and we're doing walkouts at McDonald's and Wendy's in Hardee's up in the big cities because they wanted $15 minimum wage well you know what they got it and they also lost about 12 positions per store because they went automated thank snowflakes. Use that brain that God gave you get it out of the computer go do a job go rake some leaves go cut some grass go walk some dogs. Because now these kids that are in high school they can't get on Azizi as they used to at these fast food places because all you crying Little Snowflake baby b* threw a fit and now most of its automated so you really f it up for a lot of people. Do I feel sorry for you people f no I wish we could just dig a hole and bury all of you little whiny crying oh it's all about me attitude shit.	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/165	0.606
Updating the cost of employment was the correct thing to do. Companies automating services to avoid changing of their cost structure was not. Also I worked for mcdonalds as a restaurant manager in 2000-2006 and it was already on the books to have automated tills, so their structure change was not solely because of a wage increase. Bottom line here. Companies need to be footing wages for their employees and the costs need to be offset to the consumer, because that is how commerce is supposed to work. When companies pay less than a living wage, regardless of shining shoes, flipping burgers, stocking shelves, being engineers or doctors .. they offset that cost onto tax payers. Then that puts stress on the tax system. Those funds should be going towards buses, and infrastructures but instead taxes have to go towards sustainment programs, just to feed and house the people <- Which BTW are needs, not wants.	Engineers, doctors	Nationality - General	2/156	1.282
James Leare you keep thinking that way Little Snowflake and when you'd I don't blame the Republicans because you go to hell	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/22	4.545

I support increases to minimum wage. I was shocked to find that in some of the states of the 'United' States of America the minimum wage is around 5 dollars. Having more people in the workforce have more money that will inevitably circulate within the economy, purchasing goods and services, will stimulate the economy - it is an unmitigated good. Compare this to the accounting practices of the capitalist class and corporate financiers who stash their money unproductively within offshore banks. I say this as a centrist, as the old right-left dichotomy will not hold any more. We are reproducing the economic inequalities of the Gilded Age . Oh, I see you are a creationist. Superstition has held mankind back for a long time, kept women oppressed and executed and persecuted people for making scientific observations. I respect peoples religious beliefs, but ultimately they are as grounded in reality as a belief in Santa Claus or a reptilian extraterrestrial conspiracy to control humanity. Scientology is as good as Christianity or any other.	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	2/171	1.17
It's funny how the same people who call others "snowflakes" who want to be treated "special" are the same delicate privileged class who are accustomed to special treatment. Now that more non-Christians, females, minorities, LGBTQ, disabled folks are able to compete for jobs & resources, proving themselves worthy & capable, the status quo is feeling a little less "special." It's sad to see your position in life is given to you at an advantage & still insist you're being cheated by having to compete with those you believe to be your lessors. It's ironic that equality is "special" treatment for those who struggle for it yet the privileged view it as an inherent right.	Disabled	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/114	0.877
Scott Jones You've cried and moaned more than anyone else in this comment section, you little " snowflake "	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/17	5.882
Why should you be paid 8 an hour at any job, when your student loans are 80k, a job typically wants like 5 years of experience from 22 year olds, they don't give you healthcare or benefits and expect you to work weekends and overtime? Oh and let's not mention how crazy rent is. I don't know what fucking world you live on, but it's not here with us!	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/69	1.449

Ryan Churilo you know what snowflake I didn't cuss you and I'm not going to cash you I'm going to give you a little piece of advice. If they want you to work overtime you work overtime snowflake and they want you to work weekends you work weekends snowflake if you don't like your job get a different job snowflake suck it up buttercup you're in the real world now not living with Mommy and Daddy anymore. That's the problem with you generation you just had it too soft that's why we need to bring back the draft...	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	4/98	4.082
jake lord I too got a part time job when I was 14 years old I would go to that job everyday after football practice ride a bus to downtown work my job ride a bus back home city bus. Get home do my homework take a shower eat go to bed did that 5 days a week okay and we had no cell phones back then so I don't know what to tell you kid, after I graduated high school I join the service learn to trade I came out after 6 years did that trade for 20 more years retired from that trade okay so there's always other options. Good luck to you	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/115	0.87
I think you only read the part where I talked about myself but anyway there are many kids that work harder than you did on a regular basis, if you don't believe that then that's fine but do you know how hard it is for a kid to get a job nowadays because of the labor laws that YOUR generation put into place also I'm not special I know that there were no cell phones back then, but just because I have a privilage you didn't doesn't make me lazy what you inferred by saying that is that you don't want humanity to advance also if you just dismissed my claim then i could say that you're the only one in you generation that had a job at that age	Age	Age - General	1/130	0.769
jake lord I'm not saying that son I'm saying that life is not easy okay and also on the weekends I went out and worked my grandparents Farm baling hay feeding horses and cows and pigs so yes life is hard you have to go along to get along that's what I'm saying if you dwell on the problems you're never going to have Solutions just go do it what you need to do and deal with it. Good luck	PIGS	Nationality - Southern European	1/80	1.25
jake lord you just proved my point snowflake . Quit complaining about everything and do something about it suck it up everybody else is done it you can to quit crying about it.....	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/32	3.125

Have you ever considered the federal reserve printed money out of thin air and that cause the value of a dollar to go down? Why can't we go to the grocery store, spend $20 and feed a family of 4 for a couple of weeks? Because of hyper inflation you old cenile boomer. We are the most under paid generation, and yet we have boomers like yourself saying we dont deserve to atleast even hedge against hyper inflation.	Old, Thin	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical Features	2/78	2.564
awful waffle wow really you think $20 will feed a family of four for a couple of weeks you're a moron you need to go get some Financial classes. Just like you Millennials that live in your family's basement to your 35 in your on the insurance cuz you don't know what the hell you're talking about you protest protest protest but you really have no idea what you're protesting about get some education. I put myself through training I did everything by myself nobody help me build that like King Obama said okay suck it up buttercup put some sweat into it	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/103	0.971
Scott Jones Okay, so I'm 20, I moved out and support myself, go to university studying as an engineer, work a great paying job which I studied very hard to get since I was 16, don't like social media, not a liberal(not a conservative either). And I have many friends who are the same as me(worked hard to get great jobs, supporting themselves and so on), I'm not special. So ALL young people are just entitled brats that want everything to be given to them? And guess what, I live in Eastern Europe, life here today is many times harder than live was when you were my age in the USA. Only upside is that higher education is cheap, but job opportunity is nearly non-existent unless you're the best of the best. Judging a whole generation based on what you see on the media(which shows an exaggerated reality and a select few) is wrong on so many levels. As an older person, you should have the wisdom to know that, but I guess not all old people are the same.	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	2/180	1.111
I have never heard so much whining and bitching in my life... nothing you said was of substance accept you got mad at Americans for using their first amendment rights... The fact is we all need to demanding more, or we will just get more of the same.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/48	2.083

This is so true. When the participation Nation started that's when the millennials were 3 to 4 yrs old now THIER 23 to 27 yrs old . And so Mini are on antidepressants or uppers because they're so depressed or on dope because they're participation nation has fallen apart or falling out of class. Now they're just whiny entitled freakish freaks strung out on dope living in their basements till 35 on the computer (playing games not looking for a job) ordering takeout on their parent's credit card and tomorrow will steal something from their parents house to sell it for cash for their car that their parents are paying the insurance for. And by the way if you Millennials didn't know it you are a Democrat because that's the Democratic platform. Entitled free food free lodging and Healthcare	Nation, Old	Age - Over 65s, Nationality - General	4/139	2.878
Who created that sort of nation , though? Who raised the millennials? Who tanked the economy and stagnated the wages? Maybe realise shit has changed instead of dodging guilt - It's not personally your fault things are fucked, but yes, it is your generations.	Nation	Nationality - General	1/43	2.326

I am an early millennial, however I am in a unique position, I managed to rise through the ranks in the workforce before the hammer dropped...One accusation thrown at millennials is that they are chasing positive reinforcement, want to be told they are doing well and want to advance before their time... it's true, but there is a simple reason for this and it's not because they (we) are entitled manbabies.I own and operate my own business, but before this I was the manager of a large manufacturing enterprise and I employed millennials, lots of them!They did nag me for advanced positions, they were impatient, they did constantly ask 'I'm I doing well?'. However this is because they wanted to build the life their parents had... but they can't! Well not here in Australia anyway. They came from a family where the father worked full time and mother part time, they had a house and kids before the age of 25 and spent a few weeks at the beach over the summer Holliday's every year.You see millennials want this life too... however they are in their late twenty's and early thirty's, they have been working for ten years and they don't have it. Wages have stagnated and when adjusted for inflation, house prices are 3-4 times what their parents paid... full time positions are rare are reserved for those valuable technical and middle management positions.Millennials want to build a life too, but they cannot do it on a base wage like their parents did, even if both partners work full time hours in casual positions they cannot get finance... let alone guaranteed time off over summer.Hence they want to advance... I have seen it a dozen times, I have lived it. I was just lucky enough to get through the gates in time.I know many people would like to rubbish this assessment of what is happening with millennials, however this assessment can be backed up with solid evidence, you hear about it every day. However the alternative narrative of 'they are entitled and lazy' is built around a desire to shift the blame for this rotten situation off of the generations who can do something about it, and back onto millennials... But hey, I'm an entitled millennial... what would I know.	Age	Age - General	1/388	0.258
---	-----	---------------	-------	-------

Got a tip for you, the same one as for them millennials. Get a backbone and grow some balls. "...No fault of their own..." You're kidding, right? That right there, that attitude is exactly why they are so damn weak. And it is their fault they are like that. They could have gone look, learn and grow towards another direction. Otherwise, it saying that poor people are poor by no fault of their own. Grow a spine and take responsibility for your life. Also, stop with the false illusion that Facebook shows a different picture than "real-life". Facebook and other social media ARE real-life! It's not like it's a platform run within a game or a novel, it is here in real-life with real people and real comments. "Yeah, but people only so the good stuff on Facebook" as opposed to "real-life", where you tell everyone at the loke bakery that your kid just died, lost your job??? In that so-called "real-life" of yours, people also only try to show their best side. Stop with the excuses and start excepting that Facebook is nothing more than a big social mirror! Maybe take a good look at before trolling the net again.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/201	0.498
"what should we do" and they have no clue" (obvious who it is) audience laugh...So genuine concern & the want & offer to help in and UnPrecidented issue, willing to try/do anything, whilst nothing yet has worked.Yeah that's halairuous.Not a function of broken ID not out control Narcissism, it's "funny" probably more so coz those dumb shit elders, being (more so) sound of mind, capable of empathy openly weep.Lost Souls.FFS, may the "woke" yet wake.Idealology us but delusion when unwilling to ACT.(As opposed to "the" act)	Dumb, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/93	2.151
I'm glad I'm part of Gen X. Alcohol tastes a lot better than social media & I got to go to some kick ass parties during my high school years! Still have great memories of those days. I really do feel bad for Millennials, they got the shitty addiction to technology..	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	1/51	1.961
ya but now people who were born in the 80s are kinda old , now there are kids from generation z going to work :D	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/24	4.167
I'm thirteen, haven't used social media in months. Most of the reason I'm not an entitled snowflake is because of my grandfather, and how he told me of life in the 1940's and 50's-you had to WORK to get your stuff. You can have anything you want in life... If you work for it.	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/54	1.852

Most people feel imprisoned in what others call life. Having debt and not having enough money to pay all your necessities plus debt and also have money for other activities you might want to perform in your free time. Stuck working a job which doesn't suit your passions. We all like doing different things. I like helping people, so I studied to become a nurse assistant. I worked at an elderly home. I hated it. They weren't helping the elderly. They were feeding them medicine, which I get, but they also gave them sleeping pills, so they would go to sleep right after every meal. They slept at night, at 13.00 at 16.00 then again go to sleep at 22.00 being awake a total of 6 hours. They cried themselves to sleep. They all hated being there, they were supposed to be taken Care of. Instead, they were jailed, given the bare minimum and given no entertainment other than tv. Good will organisations had to come over and entertain them. This should be part of the job. Goodwill shouldn't have to be working doing this stuff. The nursing home could arrange therapeutic dogs or cats to visit. They could arrange small concerts, they could arrange game nights. But they didn't, coz the govt doesn't have anything to gain from them.I lost my faith in a fair community, and subsequently in life as a whole. I don't care that I'm an inconvenience for you. We are all just frustrated with how bad humanity has it, and the fact you keep trying to push to us, that we should be happy with what we get, when we know so much is wrong with our society. This shouldn't be it. Just because you were okay with it doesn't make it right. Just because you grew up in worse doesn't mean it shouldn't change. If we appear entitled, I'm sorry you perceive us like that. The fact is, we did not choose to be born, we were aggravated with the "gift" of life. A never ending cycle of eat, poop, sleep. Then we have to work to be able to eat, poop, sleep, even when we don't even want to breathe. So, sorry if we feel "entitled", but these are human rights, which you were ok with not having, but we are not.	Elderly	Age - Over 65s	2/390	0.513
I appreciate this video because it doesn't just complain about millennials, it actually offers potential solutions. Complaining about a problem solves nothing. Seeing a problem and then attempting to better said problem does.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/33	3.03

The thing you don't mention is that my generation is one of the lowest paid generations in the world when our income is adjusted for inflation. My mom, my grandfather, their generation could care for a whole family on one income. My generation is in credit card, car loan, and student loan debt. I can't afford half of what my mom could at the same age and yet I make 5x more than she did at the same age .The system is broken. I make 85k a year and could not dream of afford a new home any time soon and I earn $85k a year.Homes today cost $580, 000 for a starter home. My mom's home in the same area was $84,000 when she bought it 35 years ago.Tell me how am I lazy or entitled? My rent is $1850 a month, my Mom's mortgage was only $600 dollars a month. It cost me 3 times more just for an 2 bedroom apartment then it cost my mom for a 4 bed, 2 bath home.	Age	Age - General	2/178	1.124
Every generation has problems; it's not just the millennial generation! Yet, you keep emphasizing that even though the millennial generation turns out to be problematic, it's not through the fault of their own (but so are other generations). It may be true, but once you become an adult, you "learn" how the real world works! You learn to take the "responsibility" to make a CHOICE! Encouraging the "victim's mentality" not only will not help the millennial generation, it will encourage them to become literally helpless! This world is full of victims: the entire race , the entire gender , the entire religious group, the entire illegal aliens, and now the entire generation. One can go TOO FAR with the "It's not your fault" mentality! Your speech would be much more constructive had you focusing on how the millennial generation can adjust themselves to the real world!	Gender, Race	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	2/144	1.389
im 21 and a neet, (not employed, not in school, not in training) every job ive worked at ive only lasted at least 6 months before I either get fired or quit. because every time I try find something in the so called 'real world' is so lame to me. I don't want to settle down, have kids, and get taxed to death. I want to be free and travel and go on adventures with my friends, meet new people and study different cultures. I realize the world doesn't run for free but at the same time people like me that don't really care for money are suffering. and it's not that I'm lazy because I'm not, I'm willing to do stuff, I just lose motivation when I don't feel happy doing something.	Lame	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/133	0.752
How about any age restriction on sexual activities. How about oh Idk a livable wage instead of working $10.00/hr for 80hrs a pay period. How about the (wealthy) minority stop getting tax breaks while people who work 80hrs a pay period don't get tax breaks. People cannot find joy because Regaon decided to steal that from the working poor class.	Age, Sexual	Age - General, Gender - General	2/60	3.333

While there is some truth to what he says much of the problem is the lack of work ethic. When I work with people I get job satisfaction from making their problems go away. I fix things.Even drawing pictures of girls in space just feeds the problem. Statistically speaking, women just do not want to do certain things. It isn't that they can't, they mostly just aren't that interested in being say engineers or whatever. But people are out there telling them that men don't want them doing these types of jobs. A reverse gender bias has been imposed on women, as if there is something wrong or less important about wanting to simply be wives and mothers.We need to be able to find fulfillment in where your strengths lie, whether it be designing a building or whatever, or fixing a broken toilet. The world needs plumbers too.	Engineers, Gender	Gender - General, Nationality - General	2/150	1.333
Yes, burn your bridges with the generation that is going to have to take care of you when you're old and useless. That will surely turn out well.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/28	3.571
Very simplistic view, seems to ignore most of the fundamental shifts in society and economy of the 21st century. Schools, universities and corporate workplaces are stuck on the old ways of teaching and working, because they're still being run by people who didn't (and didn't have to) adapt to new ways of doing things. So the next generation is forced to adapt, fails, and gets the blame.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/67	1.493
A Generation of Weakness what a crock of shit. Working a job that pays fuck all with no rights so we can pay for overpriced rent to the baby boomer generation. where's the motivation and when we call out any the of the bullshit that happens to us we are just called whining millennial's just like that the faggot in this video. Wanna be intellectual.	Faggot	Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	1/65	1.538
Don't worry, us 13 year olds (as of 2018) will just turn to YouTube for a career. Yeah man, it's easy, it's quick and it makes a buck . What's not to love here?	Buck	Ethnicity - Black	1/33	3.03

The system was serverly one-sided. The benefits are spread to all who participated. The entilted part is those who think the squeakiest wheel gets the oil. That mentality is working for those who know how to manipulate others.Stop rewarding bad behaviour. You don't just get because you demand. You still have to earn your rewards.The big issue no one's addressing is the unemployed' ? The gov. Keeps a "pool of unemployed" for when big business decides to set up shop. That 'pool' is then 'used' to quickly fill the industry needs Now big biussness only plan for 5 years. Then that : "pool" is unemployed again. The benefits paid are not a 'living' payment while industry comes back, it is only a 'subsistence' to allow one to 'pay rent and food" until the next [economic] boom. This 'subsistence payment' also allows gov. To keep track of you and the other .000,000 out of work. To allow you to stay in one place and track your movements. The courts also like to know where everyone is, as does the motor registry, the medicare and the police. So do not ever put down someone for not working and never feel ashamed for not working. It is not your fault. The unemployed is a fact and every year it is there. And no gov. Will eliminate unemployment. There are those that do not want to work. Fine leave them alone and make the space for those that do want to workThe old policy of kick the poor is a pathetic excuse for politics. They should be ashamed of themselves. Attacking the very people they keep unemployed, the reason they do this is because they have nothing to govern or debate. Its a ponsy scheme keeping them fat and wealthy by criticism of the very system they maintain. By creating an emotional response to problems they create, they are saying "be angry but be angry at the unemployed, not us we didn't cause the housing collapse, if those unemployed just stopped being lazy and got a job we wouldn't be in this mess" do you see how fkkn pathetic these scum bags really are ? Now let's blame the baby boomers and then the millenials ! FarqU 2.	Fat, Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical Features	3/377	0.796
The apple doesn't fall far from the tree. So don't blame millenials for the way this are or will be. After all, the phones and technology we have today were invented by people outside of their generation so it really was out of their control or choice. They were born into it, they didn't ask for it but that's the way it is.	Apple	Ethnicity - Native-American	1/63	1.587

I know what he is talking about and he's right to an extent but for me I use my phone all of the time when I have nothing to do after work or when I'm at home and have nothing to do...I play video games when in bored aswell....I feel good about myself and I feel great on where I'm headed in life.im out of high school and I've always worked blue collar jobs but this is what gets me....I am only part time even though I work enough to be full time...I've been there 4 years....and I still get paid like shit (min wage)...I save my money most of the time...I don't have a car sadly so I can't get a different job somewhere else that's not so close to home so I'm kinda stuck so I have to wait it out to go anywhere which I'm okay with....skill type jobs is where I'm heading hopefully like plumbing...heating and cooling all that type of stuff because I know that's good Dan money in that now a days because baby boomers are retiring and a lot of demand for it but not much supply so I'll be good once I get into that...I'm still a lazy prick but I have friends I have an amazing relationship with my girlfriend (over a year) I'm happy...I'm only 17 bout to be 18 in a little over a month....I'm not like the rest of us...I know where I'm headed and I'm fuckin happy about it...my parents are in there 60s so I guess I was raised old fashioned	Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	3/265	1.132
This video misses the mark so badly it's almost hilarious. Watch the "Wealth Inequality in America" video. It's almost like if citizens are economically starved, they don't do so well. Crazy . How about a fair basic income system? Incentivize corporations to make better job conditions? Better work schedule hours?Nah, it's probably laziness, email, and social media making people depressed and lazy (lol). This video is hot garbage.	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/68	1.471
Show this to all the 20 year olds at my old work. Working 15 hours a day six days a week, THATS what awaits millenials. Working yourself to the bone for chump change, permanently fucking up your back in the process.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/41	2.439
I just squeeked into the millennial bracket, born in 82. Yes, its a pitiful generation. Disrespectful and ignorant. Lazy and irresponsible. Dumb and useless.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/24	4.167

As a small business owner my business plan doesn't include coddling snowflakes. The image of business as a huge corporate machine serves the author's narrative that business should bear the burden of helping these people because their parents and the education system has failed them. This is ridiculous. Business expects people ready to do a job because the job needs doing. If family and school can't prepare these people then blaming business is an easy fallback but shameful.Finally, for those who feel they should get paid more if they work harder here's some news; there's zero and there's work. If you're not prepared to work then go home. You get paid to do a job. Suck it up. If you want to do half a job or simply loaf around and get paid then find work in government.	Zero	Age - Youngsters	1/139	0.719
It is a stereotype, but unfortunately has roots in reality like most perceptions. Many millennials are having a hard time growing up and adjusting to the rat race , a term dating back to the 1930's. Guess what? The world has never been just and fair and likely never will be. Tie up your shoelaces, clean your room and do the hard work of engaging with the world on its terms, because the world is not going to change dramatically to meet your desires.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/83	1.205
Oh yeah, so all gay people talk with a self-inflicted lisp/accent and all black people steal.	Black, Gay	Ethnicity - Black, Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	3/16	18.75
The older gen is greedy & selfish, the younger is lazy and entitled. Just like before, nothing new. The whole concept of naming 'generations' is useless, it's the tech and social environment that create these differences between the ages. BTW, stereotypes are important means of conceptualizing entities, i.e. learning.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/49	2.041
official candyman um half the people on FB making stupid comments and insults are the 50-70 year old group bud...they are no better...they aren't being role models just tearing people down.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/32	3.125
blackness010 yu will never feel someone pain if you never felt it... for example would you tell a person who lost there parents that? Who has nothing left no joy to reap. In a honest way? No you don't care you just see what's infront but what about the ideals that are being hidden from you in plain sit3....	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/59	1.695

You're Correct and quite level headed for a 25 year old Adam, Kadir, Bravo Unlike the other fuckwits.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/18	5.556
fr33kSh0w2012 45 of millenials don't have debilitating mental illnesses. and even those who do can be VERY self aware.	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/19	5.263
Dude, millennials are shitting on millenials about this subject lol. And the response from our own people? We're hypocrites seeking validation with a superiority problem. This isn't some victimizing Old gen Vs New gen thing. Unfortunately, most people in our era won't know what he is talking about until they either hit old age or better yet, hit an executive level position managing multiple locations. Trying to motivate, create milestone plans, or get employee reviews from people in our age group will open your eyes to things.	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	4/87	4.598
I'm gen Z the one that comes after millenials. i say you millenials grow a pair and stop drink so much damn coffee. you know thats why you're so stressed, right? and quit dying your hair, it immediately makes me think you are a radical feminist. You want to make an impact? instead of complaining about how schools aren't safe enough for LGBTQ students, complain about how damn expensive it is to go there.your feelings dont matter and nobody cares,someone younger than you.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/85	1.176
Frist stop you really don't know anything about us second depression is the all time high for most and on top of that we have people like you telling us that we are not doing it your way Third after the Financial mess up a lot of family got hit hard witch destroyed familys and ways of life. Please stop trying to tell us how to be and or live and face the light your way failed miserably. I may not have all the answers to this crisis hitting the USA but if we form together and find a solution we may just pick your self up and work it out. Thanks for hearing me out.	Witch	Gender - Female age and physical appearance	1/116	0.862
justrosy5 Oh really then why is there is still a stigma on mental health, know it all? Please enlighten me. What did your generation do that was SOOOO amazing it helped everyone? Fucking NOTHING! Fucking shit! You're a special kind of stupid and a special kind of crazy . Maybe you should take some more medication that your generation discovered and shove it down your disgusting throat! I hope you choke on every pill! Piss off!	Crazy, Mental, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/75	4.0

Before y'all come at me all butthurt, it's a joke. Relax. Satirical comedy to lighten the tension between generations. I can hurt the old people too trust me	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/29	3.448
Dumbed down yet? The blind assumption that our culture and our society in its current manifestation is even remotely acceptable and sane is one of the biggest obstacles to positive large scale human development.	Blind	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/34	2.941
By 2:10 I'm just laughing hysterically. What a dumb fucking video, a worthless, unhelpful message with a high probability of being incorrect. I'm gonna watch the rest though. comedy gold.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/30	3.333
What truth? the truth that their parents and grandparents outsourced most production jobs before they were even in high school or when their parents destroyed the world economy when many were just getting out of high school/college? That truth? Or the truth that those dumb fucks are so stupid they ignore what they did and try to blame kids for video games and having to take low paying jobs because they're apparently lazy or oh Jesus expect some health insurance and maybe a livable wage? Cause as bad as millennials can be they aren't nearly as stupid as boomers or the generation x stupid fucks who actually put our country into a debt we can never get out of? How badly did they get fucked? 21 trillion in debt? Yeah I don't think millennials could have ever dreamed of fucking up that bad.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/143	0.699
LotusVlogs Get over yourself. Lots of us are hard workers. This is just a common trend among millennials, it's not supposed to be taken as every single millennial being the exact same.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/32	3.125
The mysterious stranger, You do realize how pathetic that made you look, right? You have absolutely no idea who this person is or what they go through. Yet you think there are many hard workers? Yeah, 20 are hard workers, don't get blinded by the truth. This video is right. Most of the millennials are crap and they don't work for nothing because everything was handed to them quickly. If this person has the strength to work hard while everyone else is just going with the flow then I guess that gives you the right to mind your business and shut up. Don't act like you know everyone you come across to on the internet. You're making us look bad man.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/121	0.826

Leaders?! Lmao who are you talking to. I'm a fucking "millennial" and let me tell you I'm a fucking buddhist and I don't play your fucking game!!! You hear me child!! Shove it all up your az. Everything you are and all that you love will become ash. You will have learned nothing . Yea your right about most people not having it figured out.... The jokes on you boy. Quit your bullshit. Nothing you say makes any sense.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/78	2.564
Why do millennial get this wrap of entitled jerks? When I worked in retail, by FAR the most difficult customers were Gen-Xers with their kids. I'm a millennial, and I know plenty of millennial, and most of them are hard working and living on their own just like me. Are there retards in my generation? Yeah, there's retards in every generation. Look at the 1960s. It was a bunch of losers who dodged drafts, smoked pot, and did literally nothing all fucking day. Do you think all hard labor jobs in the world right now are run by boomers and gen-xers? No, you go to any job anywhere and you'll see millennials breaking their backs with everyone else.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/118	0.847
It is broadly representative of the decline in (mostly American youth) critical thinking, problem solving and communication skills. These skills are not emphasized enough anymore; most are resentful and blame their failures on a nebulous idea of the 'system' instead of looking at the success of others around their age and wondering how they can be successful as well. I hope my modest contributions cause at least one of those persons to think and better themselves, because no-one else is going to do it for you. Money for nothing is never going to happen.	Age, Nothing	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	2/94	2.128
Lol this guy is still believing in the system that allowed banks to rape the country then get paid back in full to give themselves bonuses for doing such a good job.. What we need is less people like you who are blaming financial rape victims and more people who notice change is needed and aren't afraid of a new direction. Lol nobody is confident in "socialism" since the "free market" was proven to be a rigged game and a sham, nobody believes in our politicians (we took trump over clinton) and absolutely nobody takes you people who still believe America is the greatest country on earth seriously.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	3/108	2.778
Brad Childress that is a problem but one that was misrepresented in the short film " the American Dream" . it citeted Der Rothschilds and that was Nazi propaganda and misrepresented history by outright lying about it.But you're not entirely wrong. Banks were able to do all sorts of shut because they knew Uncle Sam would forgive all their mistakes.... But then uncle Sam said no... And then people panicked.	Nazi	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/71	1.408
Yul Strokheet Al-Wauch You and baby boomers are the same kind of brat at different ages.You are both post war you both had it easy and you expect someone else to solve the problems.	Brat	Age - Youngsters	1/35	2.857

Sounds as though you like to complain a bit, just an observation. Doesn't matter how hard you work nobody likes a complainer or an employee with an attitude. They are not conducive to a harmonious work environment.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/37	2.703
Helo So it's "anti-social" to not want to work 60 hours a week in toxic work environments with no benefits and PTO in most cases and do it while taking it constantly from abusive supervisors who will fire you if you even sneeze wrong? Sounds like people like you are part of the problem. If you want to be a slave for 50+ years of your life to corporations who see you as nothing more then a number, then so be it.People who are smarter though will look for something better.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/92	1.087
I like how you left out why you were fired. It's possible that you were a productive employee, who did nothing wrong, but statistically it's really unlikely. Sensationalizing your workload to justify your anger is not the way to deal with the issue. Again, totally possible that everything you're saying is true, but highly unlikely.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/55	1.818
Every single millennial I know works retardedly high hours. Myself included at 55 a week. How else do we keep our heads above water with the prohibitively high costs of college, on top of other adult expenses like housing (which keeps growing), insurance, food, ect.I wish we had it as easy as the babyboomers, who could work part time as a Sonic drive through to pay for a bachelors degree, must be nice. Must be nice to pay into social security and actually get some of that fucking money when you're too old to work (we probably wont ever know what that's like). Must be nice to take a nation that's propering, with surplus and piss it all away on frivolous wars, then proceed to take no responsibility for the economic havoc they've caused to future generations. But I guess we just have to work our "lazy" asses off to get half of what was practically handed to them. Gee, how entitled we are.	Nation, Old	Age - Over 65s, Nationality - General	2/165	1.212
Chances are that's exactly why you were fired you were clocking in way too many hours for the volume of work you were putting out, what about other people doing the same job what was their productivity compared to yours? There's an old saying don't work hard when you can work smart.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/52	1.923
Yeah... Liberals are Weird .	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/4	25.0

You've described the symptoms but I shall tell you how and why this happened. Ever since the liberal leftists controlled government, it used the media, public schools and even the parents to A : over compensate for the previous generation that taught self reliance and responsibility. B. The public schools got rid of civics and pushed liberal ideals and promoted homosexuality.C: the media promoted lazyness anything goes and further reinforced lineral ideation and taught them that self reliance is wrong and government should support. Everyone and one should be rewarded for no effort. All you had to do was show up. No winner or losers. Boys were told to be femenin, and girls were told to be more masculine. Now guys don't want to marry narcissistic little whors and girls ask why they can't find decent guys when they ruin the relationship because be the man is too nice. But girls choose ass holes and then wonder why the suicide rate is so high among woman in their 40s and 60s.. D: parent were so fucked up by the previous generation that they over compensated and coddled, spoiled the brats even when they were brats.	Woman	Gender - General	1/196	0.51
Another old dude bitching about millennial. How original.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/8	12.5
My solution is simple unlike your coddled , bubble wrap the world spoiled sheltered live at home and school the REAL world doesn't give a shit about your ideas your feelings or your opinions The REAL world is based on $$$ and yes we genX know we are debt slaves we cannot change that no one can the whole world is based on Fiat currency and has been since 1913 and actually I all began in 1871 but that's another issue completely the world is based in resources and $$$ are bio survival tickets you're not a victim if someone calls you a man and you're wearing a dress you're not a victim if someone tells you your a fucking idiot and they happen to be white and you black or Mexican...you're simply being an idiot...you're not a victim if you have an "addiction " YOU made the choice no matter what to take a drag drink smoke drive text etc..Problem with millennial Generation us that they were exposed to the retarded idealism of the celebration of mediocrity the " Everyone is a winner Everyone is a hero bullshit you're not a fucking hero for using tax payer money to get a sex change you're just mentally fucked up somewhere along the line your social sexual brain circuits got crossed you're not a hero if you use fascism tactics like antifa who ARE Nazis and Nazis themselves that believed in socialism , unions, gun control , racial diversity , hate speech < haha Goebbels coined that one ya idiots " or any of the other retarded stupid Idiocracy idealisms you are pushing on everything and everyone ... To sum it up best " My Rights , Liberties , and Freedoms done end where your feelings begin "	Black, Sex, Sexual	Ethnicity - Black, Gender - General	3/298	1.007

C W and just a side note. Im not and sjw, feminazi or a blm nitwit. I spend a lot of my time on youtube shutting them down and correcting them on their bullshit. So that entire paragraph was just a waste for you because i really hate those sensitive nitwits. And im also 36 years old as well and graduated collage when i was in my 20s. So that school bit is useless as well. Side note ended	Feminazi, Old	Age - Over 65s, Gender - Female intelligence	2/79	2.532
This video has nailed it! But I feel that the difficulties in this modern age are felt by, and affect everyone, not just millennial's. We seem to be living in a society of artificial decreasing returns for the majority, whilst obscene fame and attention are handed out to the few, usually least deserving (I feel that true genius and creativity is being shunned at a very high level, intentionally, with the intention of lowering everyone's self esteem). All my life I've tried really hard and done what everyone has told me to, yet in return I've got nothing and am now In a really bad state of health, both physically and mentally. Despite all that though, I'm never going to give up creating and doing the things I enjoy :)	Age, Nothing	Age - General, Age - Youngsters	2/130	1.538
Robert Evans i mean yeah, your old ass fucked up the economy for us and now you're bitching that we can't get a job when there are open places 1 for 10 people	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/33	3.03
Robert Evans i don't think you understand my comment. Nowadays (atleast in my country) if you want a job while studying your chances are literally 1 to 10. Let's say i'm in my city and want to get a job, there are 200 places and about 4500 same age kids who want to get a job too. In your stone age when child birth rate was low there were a lot more job opportunities for people my age , now childbirth is higher than ever before and there are always atleast 200 people and me who want a job. And another thing workplaces want to hire washed up depressed 30+ year olds because they know that they aren't leaving in a couple of years to get a better job. Try to find a job in a world that doesn't want you robert.	Age	Age - General	3/141	2.128

the only legit excuse I have for lack of employment is that I did try for 2 years with no interviews after a few 100 resumes and applications- I think the frustration vents from people ting to get any job and then they get tired of seeing the years of experience required for 9.00 an hour or 8.00 or w/e. I don't even look anymore I mow lawns cause I got so sick of applying then i'd run out...i'd basically hit every business I know I could work for and then some would go 2, 3 apps per business, in a year or two and still nothing over a time span, idk but I think baby boomers entering the low paid workforce pushed a lot of millennials out and that's why 1/3 live at home- this is the exact reason a guy named Trump won the office cause people had enough but I think we learned fast about how we got screwed again..1 get a tax cut that goes right to stock buybacks instead of hiring more workers...all I can say is ,whether you're ok with the current system or not, the majority are getting angry more each year and turning on everyone or each other and I think that's what the 1 want everyone weak and divided.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/218	0.459
I can relate to this. In fact, when looking for job openings for instance, companies look for senior professionals. I don't see much entry-level or junior professionals because corporations know ahead of time, that these will be filled-up with millennials. Companies want employees who are patient, can handle office stress, etc. Do you expect that from millennials? Of course not!	Senior	Age - Over 65s	1/60	1.667
Well we had a war... It didn't end well. Destabilized region, thousands of American troops dead, thousands of more homeless veterans, countless of dead civilians, the biggest refugee crisis since WW2, rising terrorism and all for what? That sweet sweet oil.	Refugee	Nationality - General	1/41	2.439

I'm pretty sure when he was the same age as these millennials the previous generations before him like his grandpa and parents probably said the same thing about him that he saying now and yet his generation went on to create the internet. People always criticize these youngsters these days but no one ever makes a video about the reality of the world that they are inheriting. This is the first generation with lower prospects in the workforce before they even got to the workforce, it's like a thousand percent higher to go to college for 4 years now then it was 20 years ago, our country is economically a mess and has been for most of these Millennials lives, they're in wars and grew up in these wars that they don't understand or support, the future is very Bleak for them being that they know they'll be the first generation that doesn't have social security Medicare or any of that stuff because all of that will be taken away long before their retirement, add-on the rise of China and the retreat of America on the world stage and like I said their outlook on life I would imagine we'll be pretty bleak because the America that they're growing up into is not the America that I grew up in in the 80s. Hollywood is a great example of where America's mentality is and just think about it if you look at movies from say the 50s to the 70s they were all space-based and about us going out and doing some huge thing that had never been done, the movies in the 80s but I was coming up we're all positive type of movies about the future whether it was Back to the Future or movies about making huge amounts of money like Wall Street never sleeps, my point is is that overall if you look at Society in America from the end of World War II the end of the 80s our Outlook was extremely optimistic and we clearly had our sights on the future. Then you transitions in the 90s with shows like friends and things like that and you start seeing us transition from looking at the stores to be coming numbers in cubicles for the corporation. So you started seeing more movies about the world ending constantly or stuff like The Matrix or whatever, if you fast-forward to the movies that these Millennials are growing up in watching it's all negative. The number one genre is zombies, every other movie that comes out shows the government in a negative or corrupt light playing with things they shouldn't be playing with, or it's some superhero movie where people just want to escape the reality of the world we live in. All I'm saying is if you're going to spend so much time criticizing Young Folks maybe you need to stop for a second and look at the world that you're leaving them because we had a lot more opportunity coming out then they do today	Age, Transition	Age - General, Sexual Identity - Transexuality	2/509	0.393
--	-----------------	--	-------	-------

Old people always idealize the past as if they were so much better in this way or that way, but in reality nostalgia is viewed through rose colored glasses. Stop generalizing all young people as if we are a monolith. If anything, young Americans are more diverse than any previous generation	Colored, Old	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Black	6/51	11.765
Yeah... I think being poor most of my life has beaten the entitlement out of me, and I put in more work than most of the people at any job I'm in.... so not really lazy either. Don't give a crap about bean bags. But you know what is annoying? The lack of worker rights in states like Georgia that has companies who won't pay you a living wage (or even at all in some cases) unless you meet their quotas, they have constant issues with keeping basic necessities available (like break rooms that are too small, bathrooms that go out of service for whole days once every couple months, non-existent lunch hours, etc). Affordable healthcare would also be nice. If we're "entitled" it isn't because we want free food and bean bag chairs. Unlike older generations, we just want employers to treat us like human beings, which I think it more than fair. It would also be nice to have employers utilize our real skills and talents (which other generations don't seem to know are there, and is probably the reason why everyone hates us, because you guys don't actually know what our worth is). The fact they they raised the retirement age right before my generation got our of college (so the positions that should've opened up for us never did), so half of us are stuck with degrees that will never get us jobs as well as thousands in student debt. Job requirements have risen to incredible heights from what they were ten years ago. You can't even be a secretary anymore without have 3 years of experience in administration or a painter's assistant without a Master's degree in Fine Art. And that's not even factoring in that the cost of living has skyrocketed in the last 20 years. But here's the real kicker. Millennials are some of the most intelligent and creative individuals in the world. That platform called Facebook that everyone uses now... that was made by an "entitled" and "lazy" Millennial, as were numerous other companies. Most of the content on Youtube is made by Millennials. We have found hundreds of alternative ways to live and make money through whatever resources were available because many were not given a fair chance or a fair shake in the real job industry they were educated to work in. That's who a real Millennial is.	Age	Age - General	1/398	0.251
Thats some rich kid bullshit right there. Dont discredit the vast majority of people in a certain age group because a few spoiled brats cant handle the world.	Age	Age - General	1/28	3.571
From a 26yr old millennial, you have some valid points, very thought provoking. Love the drawing!	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/16	6.25

Also, support structures will be gone by the time we grow old . SS, CPP, pensions, health care none of this is or will be available to the most recent generations. The complain that we started in a hole that is nearly improbable to crawl out of is a realistic one. Anyone that has this, is the exception, not the rule.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/60	1.667
Listen buddy, I've seen you in a couple threads now and I'm sensing a common theme here.You believe that through hard work anything can be achieved, and that people who fail simply don't work hard enough.You also blame millennials for their own entitlement.On the first point, that's just a fantasy. America is far, far from a perfect meritocracy. You have to get lucky, too. Doing hard work decreases how lucky you have to get, but you have to get lucky to succeed in our current system. That doesn't mean hard work is worthless, but it does mean that you can work hard your entire life and never be truly successful. Many people are currently in that situation. I bet you also think that homeless people are just lazy.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/131	0.763
Lame	Lame	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/1	100.0
Fkn Millennials! Sad to say I', just on the cusp of not being a Mill! 1984 - FML - this generation is HORRID. I will prob be called racist and homophobic right now just because I said this! Oh well, won't matter in 100 yrs!	Homophobic, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Sexual Identity - General	2/45	4.444
Why would you be called a racist and homophobic ?	Homophobic, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Sexual Identity - General	2/9	22.222
you're a racist homophobe. Youre also delusional. But that racism and homophobic stuff is worse, so yeah, that!	Homophobic, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Sexual Identity - General	3/18	16.667

I'm not a millennial. I've seen these phenomena, described in this vid, hold true to the generation he's talking about, But the problems of the corporate world/he capitalistic virus and the merits of smartphone abuse, impact demographics all across the age spectrum. and any other spectrum.kudos; great vid	Age	Age - General	1/49	2.041
Society is actively destroying the ideal person.Patience is a weakness. A patient worker might work 5 years before realizing he'll get nothing for all his overtime and all of that gain has been going to the CEO.While the rest of us sit around watching our comrades get scammed over and over and realize this whole patience thing is a pretty glaring weakness for these demons of greed that run our societies.If kids are losing their patience it's because they're getting smarter.Smarter than this empty society looking at them with greed and gluttony wondering how to best steal their youth.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/103	0.971
Wow.... I'm surprised. I raised 2 mellinials. I did and said some of those things to my kids. I added, however, that they must work hard to get what they wanted. My expectations of them were individual. I expected each of them to do"their best". I knew what reach one was capable of, which was different for each child. They are now 30+32 And very productive members of society. I take issue that you presume jobs and companies now have to do our parenting. I'm outraged at the thought. Mellinials are smart, productive, have new ideas and are very creative. Just look at the new products, technology, medicine, etc.; These young people are shaking things up and I for one am grateful. I do agree that technology grew up fast and I was blind sided by it. We managed. Rules went into place, times adhered to, etc. You said you were a mellinial. I agree you are. According to you, you feel entitled to rant on mellinial parents to show your lack of purpose and all those other things you say mellinials have. I think it's YOU who are lacking in this area alone. Please do, sir, ask your parents why they messed up so badly to make you throw their generation, my generation, under the bus. I think their answer may surprise you. Sir, grow up and stop blaming others on YOUR shortfalls. And to the mellinials who are reading this... Not everyone thinks like this. You are your own person and yes, if you work hard you can have anything you want. Go do your BEST.	Blind	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/269	0.372
Jagriel I agree with your first four comments, but not the last one. Millennials are changing the world, now that we're old enough for people to listen to us. I agree that some aim too high, but better to aim too high and only meet some of your expectations than never try at all because you expect to fail.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/59	1.695

Lol nice boomer rant. You may be a good parent, not hating on you. But it doesn't always work like that. Plus you don't have to work hard, and study hard etc to get what they want.... (money mainly lets be honest...)If you haven't noticed there are more and more young rappers making it into the scene with close to no lyrical talent. All they do is promote pill popping, weed smoking, drug dealing, showing guns, and fucking hoes. Many of them... are multi millionaires. It has a lot to do with luck and connections.... they definitely do not work as hard as some other successful ppl.Then comes girls.... there are so SO many girls women who post slutty pics on social media. And get millions of views, they get paid to post slutty pics... clothed. And they get paid very well, not to mention a lot of them have private online channels where beta males pay hundreds of dollars to talk to them while they are naked.....Hard work... indeedI don't know exactly what i'm getting at, but this generation has a lot of fuckery going on. And depending if you are dealt a good hand or bad hand in life makes a HUGE impact on your future. Not to say you can't make it the old fashioned university.... career way, although that route is fucked in its own respect.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/234	0.427
Connie Alford I love the conversation here. There is dialogue between Connie and a select few, and then there is the entitled millennial monologue. There is the understanding that you can be gloriously happy by being true to yourself, and then there are the "but I want more money to make me happy" crowd. You can't buy happiness. It's not an old wife's tale. It's not just some corny saying. It is truth. Why do millennials want more money? So they have to rely less on themselves. To American millennials AC and Central Air are a given. Drinkable water is a given (Flint, Michigan has better water than 85 of the world's population). A cell phone is a "necessity", while one third of the world's population would rather have food/shelter/water/freedom. Only if they have AMAZING amounts of money can they be pleased... So, you know, they can pay the less fortunate to do their menial tasks...In short, most millennials want to aspire to what their Progressive leaders told them they should be: the ruling class. I am a Free man. I'm perfectly happy with my life. I have a companion for life in my wife and (God willing) I hope to be a father soon. My only wish is that I might raise my child to believe in their own worth and rely on themselves instead of asking everyone else to do their work.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/235	0.426

I like the conversation Connie’s comment had started. I agree with some of it, some I don’t. The statement of work hard and you can be/do anything you want is absolutely wrong. I want to be a Japanese pop idol, but being a 6ft tall black male born and raised in America, those odds are slim, no matter how hard I work. But I nearly fell out of my chair when the video creator said that the responsibility falls on corporations. I am by definition a millennial, who whole heartily feels that it is no one’s responsibility to look out for my feelings but me. When I work for someone, that is the reality, I work for them. I provide them with a service on their terms, and they provide me with a steady paycheck. If I’m underperforming, and they have provided me with the tools to succeed, then it isn’t their fault that I’m underperforming, or their responsibility to ensure that they (by way of keeping me employed) can continue paying me.Keeping myself happy so that I can function at an acceptable level, so that I can start, build & maintain relationships, so that I can keep my job, so that I can pay my bills, so that I can live a comfortable life and be happy is my responsibility, not my employers.Even entertaining the notion that it is society’s responsibility to pick up the slack of poor parenting is ridiculous. It’s the parents responsibility to prepare their children for the world so that Darwinism doesn’t take them out.It’s survival of the fittest, not survival of the weakest on the backs of others. Teach your kids how to be fit to take on the world, so it doesn’t have to become their bosses responsibility to make sure your kids can eat/sleep and be happy.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/308	0.325
Those darn millennials starting 8 foreign wars, causing the largest recession since the great depression and creating a income inequality gap bigger than the gilded age.....maybe older generations should fuck off till they get there own problems fixed?	Age	Age - General	1/38	2.632
Grog nope that’s generation X we’re the ones that will ultimately rip it all down since we knew from incept that the ” system ” was a crock of shit that if we wanted an education we had to learn and teach ourselves and NOTHING is free there is ALWAYS a price to later pay.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/55	1.818

Grog way I see it is up bringing defines you as Generation X or after being millennials they sorta just " forgot " about us Generation Xers mostly cause we just DON'T fit in to their narrative. We always knew the school system was broken and designed only for conformity Generation X music is what defines us if you remember Metallica ride the lightning , bone thugs in harmony Tupac ice cube vanilla ice Pantera sublime system of a down kid rock growing up in Teens you're Generation X or better yet THe X games. if you remember shit like beyonce , jayz etc since I don't listen to that crap I your teens like my wife 7 years Younger than I am you're a millennial you prob remember no child left behind " 9/11 but only barely as a toddler or baby or not at all I was at work during 911 so didn't watch the hours upon thousands of hours of Brainwashing aka repetition Generation is about 15 year gap give or take I was born 1981 so they didn't yet implement all that bullshit of trophies for everyone not till about 1999 that's the millennials Generation they began with them and then later Obama's reign of social justice crap common corpse k lack if education pretty much put the nail I the coffin for Generation Y these poor kids don't even realize currently for standards if education we rank 47th in the world compared to China Russian Japan UAE this current Generation is well on it's way to being a true Idiocracy...	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/266	0.376
---	--------	------------------------------	-------	-------

I'll clarify it you're Generation X if you had to use a PAY Phone or a friend's house phone to call your parents. You're Generation X if you never knew the stupidity and outright insanity of " helicopter parenting " back I the day it was be home before dark and if later call and none if this bullshit now days. You're Generation X if you had to record things off the radio using a tape player , long before the days of Napster although you prob remember it I later teens early 20s you're Generation X if you remember getting your ass beat in public for being bad and the surrounding adults clapping in the grocery store about someone dealing with their bratty child. You're Generation X if you had to REMEMBER you know with your brain and memmory all your friends phone numbers by heart. There was no " contacts " option in a phone infact that's what the Phone book was for you're Generation X if you remember macguyver, A team , Predator, First blood, Dead Heat , Charles Bronson Conan the barbarian, loony toons etc WE are Generation X there was no restrictions I where to go as a kid it was more. I'm going outside and a reply of " ok be back in time for dinner don't get hurt " not millennials where they NEVER knew our form of Freedom or form of patience no instant button s for TV shows or songs our INDEPENDENCE, our self reliance " latchkey kids " our Patience, our Freedom our Ingenuity to fix broken shit not with new parts but cannibalism if other similar broken shit super glue duct tape bailing wire and electrical tape and if it was TOO broke go into dad's shop and use his welder it his saws drills wrenches to FIX it. Not order another...THAT is what ultimately defines Gen X from Millennials we had to learn to be resourceful. Look in a dictionary or read an actual book millennials know only instant gratification no patience no real form of freedom or Independence no real form of education just indoctrination...	Loony	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/358	0.279
was the recession mentioned in this video? I might have missed it because I was distracted by the comment section... do yall remember the recession? you know the one that was caused by the generations before the millenials? well I remember it.. I was 18 years old in 2008... I was fired by my employer and had no where to work.. by the time the market picked up I didnt have a typical resume that most people my age should have so It was difficult to find a job (All my work was under the table labor). I am successful now, I am married with two kids and I am a foreman for a union construction company.. You think we millenials just expect us to have things handed to us? maybe the rich ones... the rest of us had to struggle and work hard. I mean in the field we literally sweat and bleed for our income.. thats every age, youngsters and old timers.. I think this video is about spoiled bratts... not millenials.	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	4/175	2.286

a good portion of the millennial I know just wanna die or want a livable wage. A few I know are doing decent in life most are just struggling with student debt, and low paying jobs and high amounts of stress as they attempt to establish their lives. Then the old generations calling them failures or lazy which I mean really is a grain of salt but a tad bit frustrating. I have no doubt though that millennial will be doing the same thing the older generations are doing once the new generation comes of age .	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	2/96	2.083
I know when I'm full of shit, I just get a high speed hand to draw things related to the things I'm saying to give them weight. It makes it seem like so much more than the same, tired old generational griping that's been around since socrates. What a fucking hack.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/51	1.961
They are not "Millenials", they are "Generation RENT", because home ownership is out of reach for about 60 of them, and definitely 90 of decent mortgage terms (a traditional mortgage allows for a deposit of 25, not 5 or zero deposit, not shared ownership). The previous generation fked up massively by allowing banks to bet with peoples money in seriously risky manner that eventually collapsed the system leaving trillions and trillions of dollars worth of debt, wiping out life savings and pensions all because you let politicians talk you into deregulation of banks and allowing businesses to blackmail them into zero tax payment. Millenials have been made a scapegoat, because of their dodgy hair cuts and yoga pants. But they are not to blame. Entitled...? No, just mis-represented by the criminals who hide in suits and match good virtue with traits such as wearing a suit and working in an office. You're bankrupt. People are living in cars. The Millenials will work. But many will never be able to retire....Robbed!	Zero	Age - Youngsters	2/170	1.176
This "impact" idea is a basic human desire. Everyone wants to be heard. Hence, another reason social media is so popular. However, nobody wants to listen.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/26	3.846
Forge ahead and become a Hero in a generation of the lost and you can feel like the men of old	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/21	4.762
In my experience Gen X only cares about themselves and have no interest in actually raising children. Glorified babysitters that would rather focus on their career than get their kids ready to have their own careers. They would rather split the family in two and each focus on their new relationships rather than their children. It is all too common now that parents become glorified roommates.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/66	1.515

this is all lies the problem is the system, we are all sheep trapped getting nowhere , millenials are hard to manage because they watched their parents and grandparents participate in this stupid system and getting nowhere. Nobody is asking the real questions . We dont need banks, schools do not teach anything relevant to the happiness of the human race , we are so far from the truth people are lost. This is why the smartest most creative minds of our time are committing suicide right now wake up	Nobody, Race	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	2/89	2.247
Isn't his summary a Millennialist solution? If you think the workplace is going to cater to the short comings of your parents or whomever then there lies an additional problem or a continuation of the original problem. Go to a college campus and sit in a public place and observe...it's a nursery school that shaves and has sex and nothing is promoting maturity.	Nothing, Sex	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	2/63	3.175
"They got dealt bad hand." Wah! So did I so did many people of my generation. We got over it or we failed. Nobody owes the millenials anything. It's sink or swim in the real world and they better figure out how to doggy paddle pretty damn quick.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/48	2.083
I'm pretty sure social media like Facebook and insta have age restrictions people don't listen to	Age	Age - General	1/16	6.25
The problem with life is imperfection....when there is perfection...so fuck this....Over infinite time, Physics and Chemistry created biology.. biology created us, after 4 000 000 000 years of evolution...We are the victims, and victimizers of that UNINTELLIGENT process, as we were created IMPERFECT, in an IMPERFECT environment for us... We are the prisoners, rapists, orphans, murderers, blind , drunk, retarded, homeless, losers, sick, of this reality that we do not control nor understand totally...We are IMPERFECT, because our design is so, not because we want to be IMPERFECT...We are a problem to ourselves...as we create all our sickness and misery!...by PROCREATING...is that not idiotic, ridiculous?There is PERFECTION before we are born!.. Please understand this:There is PERFECTION before we are born!.. Do not impose this stupid life on others, be kind, intelligent merciful...End imperfection...create perfection.... Let's be The Savior.....Let's be perfect...If you liked this message, pass it on, show others what life is really about, copy, then paste this message, make your own, post them on YouTube comments section....Became a fighter for ultimate cause...PERFECTION....Welcome.....Learn the facts, watch the videos... [LINK]	Blind	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/190	0.526
This is nothing new. If a person in north germany tells you, that he is doing fine, you can be sure, that he is at the moment the happiest person on earth!	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/32	3.125

I was scrolling through this incredibly detailed comments section and there was this one comment that simply said "Truth." Just Truth. I couldnt help but laugh because on how weird this comment is.	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/33	3.03
I was one Facebook but got sick of peoples attitudes. There's a sort of "look at me, look at me I'm so much better than you. I've just done something wonderful. I've just had a latte and I need to tell all my friends because they'll be so impressed at me being so wonderful. I once got a message like that and replied 'who gives a fat pigs arse!'. I was unfriended for that comment and I also had warning from Facebook that this person had complained about my comments towards their self interested lifestyle. I told Facebook that I didn't give a fat pigs arse what they thought either and deleted my account. I've been so much happier since.	Fat, PIGS	Nationality - Southern European, Physical Identity - Physical Features	4/120	3.333

RandomGamer95 doubt it I already k ow that my generation X will NEVER see Social security and not because of baby boomers that actually worked to collect but instead the reason being g that I meet many many millennials that NEVER paid into the system and somehow qualify for disability due to something as stupid and being unmotivated it supposedly handicapped my wife is a millennial by that same token has epileptic seisures , two shoulders that dislocate at same time due to her life long REAL disability and somehow she does NOT qualify for SS even though she does work mostly online cannot drive as so on and again I meet perfectly healthy LAZY stupid people that qualify for SS that are on it because they are too incompetent to hold a job or best one I've heard was from a 6'8" tall Mexican man saying he got SS cause his toe is permanently disfigured....again I will NEVER see the money I've paid in full time since age 14 a dropping useless highschool and just got my GED inatead. The problem is that you have 300 million people another 20 million Illegals and only 40 million people working while 70 or 80 million receive some type of government assistance food stamps cash or SS the equation is simple NOT Enough money paying in to support those that " Claim " being disabled and the REAL disabled are either homeless not to mention the Veterans that get told to simply fuck off while dumbshit liberals give money to criminal illegal Aliens cash assistance pay no taxes etc the system is fucked and I'll NEVER seen my retirement. Thankfully the system o it's currently insane stupid path is going to permanently Crash at which point people like me the self sufficient addaptive self educated survivalists will Thrive while all these freeloader morons will die thus is Nature's Law the strong survive and the weak die off cut chord think for yourself learn to improvise addapt and overcome and ARM up. Cause nothing last forever Addapt or die it's your choice I've no sympathy for your chosen ignorance.	Age, Disabled, Handicapped, Nothing	Age - General, Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	5/356	1.404
E Hill this problem is not new. Boomers were the same assholes at the millenials age .	Age	Age - General	1/16	6.25
Millenials= THE CRY BABY PUSSY BOY GENERATION. EAT SHIT MOTHERFUCKERS!!!! NO ONE GIVES A FUCK ABOUT YOUR SORRY LAZY CRY BABY ASSES!	pussy	Nationality - Chinese	1/22	4.545
It all started with the "latchkey kids" of the 70's and 80's and "progressed" to 90's Moms dropping kids off at day cares as soon as they were a year old ...what could go possibly wrong...we're spending "quality time" with them...they'll be fine.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/42	2.381

meh, each new generation is called a "problem generation" by the previous generation. Growing up in a multi-generational household, I often see my great parents' generation criticize my grandparents, and my grandparents criticize my parent's generation and so on. This is really nothing new. The way I see it is, people have already lived their lives and learned through experience what is it they want and need, then expect the younger generation to know exactly what the older generation knows without experience or context.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/84	1.19
hahahahahaha please tell me you're joking lmao.that's some dumb shit that just came outta yo mouth, dawg. xD.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/19	5.263
Brian Smith especially hilarious coming from the generation who started eight Foreign Wars, created the largest recession since the Great Depression, and is now cause the largest income inequality Gap since the Gilded Age . All while having enough money to acquaint themselves to being pharaohs and having the largest military budget the world has ever seen..... Oh but Millennials are hard to manage, and say impolite things.....	Age	Age - General	1/67	1.493
Kevin McAlpin tell that to the evangelists who run the USA! Because pissing on the generation who works more productively, works longer hours and for less pay....is kinda dumb	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/29	3.448
Brian Smith— Fringe Wizard is the type to talk that kind of talk until he catches something severe , and he or she will not be able to get into an ambulance and get to a MODERN hospital fast enough. He speaks of the Amish and even the Amish have called 911. I have to say this but he sounds like someone trying to build the courage to commit suicide or something. That goes in line with theories I heard online that suicide rates may spike nation wide in about 20-50 years.	Nation, Spike	Nationality - General, Religious Identity - Protestant	2/92	2.174

Is this supposed to validate the fact that we don't have a problem here? Are you ashamed of the fact that this guy is right and in that shame you find comfort in denial and in that denial you find comfort in pride and self justification that you need not to learn or change because "Its the changing of the times" WAKE UP!!!! The worst part about being an old fashion millennial who hates all this stuff is that I cant rebel even if I want to because nobody is willing to go out side and play soccer with me. THIS IS A PROBLEM!!!! doesn't it get boring to pretend to live on the internet when you have a life out here? Your being ROBBED!!!!!! When your life flashes before your eyes at the end of your life all your going to see is screens lit up with lights and your going to realize you never got the chance to live at all.	Nobody, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	2/163	1.227
Click Bait wow..Well it's official and ra Wilson was right 90 of the public is either stupid, full of shit or bat shit crazy...First off for those that actually had grandparents that went through the great depression the lack of food was from the dust bowl killing off Farmer's lands second there were lines around every food bank just to get moldy bread however... people's work ethic was ten times that of this generation of know nothing do nothing expect everything instant mentality. I was raised differently from all you mindless drones to learn 2 dozen different tradesman skills so no matter how bad it gets I can switch professions and feed my family and work ethic of do it right the first time or don't do it at all , and there is no such thing as working too hard , or be prepared for anything have the right tools to fix your vehicle, fix your home weapons to protect yourself and love ones and most importantly the knowledge and Wisdom to weild each tool with proficiency. Most of you are fucked during the next Carrington event from the sun or natural disasters to soon strike something that Nature's God throves on is cycles that's why Homeland stupidity department puts casualties at 90 of power outage in first year alone no food as no one knows how to actually hunt or track and just sits in a designated crowded area with other dumbass " Hunters " few know how to even grow food and most if not all cannot self navigate without GPS even so called " outdoors " people few if none know how to mine and purify water . Or even build a shelter or a camp fire....I essense you're all fucked and people like me the self sufficient addapting " know it all's " will thrive while 90 of you die from your chosen stupidity...you have the entire world at your finger tip to learn ANYTHING and most of you rather engage in mental masturbation and self gratification due to fakeface instasham Twatter and so on...cut the fucking chord and stop watching the tell a vision. Wake up.	Crazy, Mental, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/364	1.099

C W Im not one to jump to conclusions but I take it you jumped to the conclusion that Im an average millennial; which in this case I can laugh out loud because not only am I intelligent but I was raised on hard work discipline and I had to earn most of everything I have to boot in a society that wishes that a white male like myself should drop dead for being old fashion, Christian, and White. I hate imbisils who listen to rap music, join social justice groups, and have a complette lack of understanding. I dont owe you my resume however I will point out that average is not impressive to me. I like a strong mind as well as a strong soul and spirit. I dont watch tv and I love to research and induct theories and think of all possibilities and probabilities and deduct my perception of reality based on the most probable outcome. This means I question everything and I dont settle on a conclusion until I am 100 unbiased and cant deny it. Otherwise I admit that I do not know. Thats alot more than what your grandparents can say. (Not to induce shame upon you, I am simply making a statement.) I dont depend on people to teach me anything. I teach myself and I studdy everything.Getting caught in emotional attatchments will only leave you short sighted and proud. The fact that you speak so highly of yourself suggests that your ashamed of living a pathetic life when you deserve better so you hide that shame with pride. If the purpous of your message is to gloat about how great of a pass me down kind of person you are than you totally nailed it. However; with the exception of Jesus Christ; being taught by teachers is not enough to learn things. To learn something you must earn full understanding through your reasoning skills in search for the who what when were and always why. Why, is the question that demands reason and purpous and without reason and purpous the subject is redundant and this concludes that you have not earned what you know. Thats why learn is spelled with earn.Furthermore; figuring out reality stems from broad to detail; not detail to broad. Just because detailed stories are impressive doesnt mean your going to learn a whole lot about the facts of life focused only on a few spacific influences. Furthermore; crazy is a relitive term. To Satan: God is the one who is crazy. So, just as left and right are relivent depending on wheather you are facing with me or against me (your right hand and left hand) so are most common bull shit cleches and philosophies made to justify lies or distort circumstansive information in order to cage you in an influance of feeling in order to keep you from thinking freely, independantly, and for yourself.Proof that you are brain washed is your impulsive emotional responce that jumps to a conclusion without question or concern for other possibilities or probabilities. As we have been shown before; there can be one message but a billion misinterpretations of that message but only 1 true interpretation will help you to fully understand the message.Einstein was a great mind who once said the path to being a genius is to question everything without fear or shame. He said, doing the same thing over and over again expecting different results is crazy. I have had an experianced life. I have traveled my country here in America, I have done everything from odd jobs to family buisness's to Truck Driving and I always do it for the work and the experiance. I	Common, Crazy, Old	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments, Social Class - Working class	5/701	0.713
--	--------------------	---	-------	-------

Damn. Be me:Everything the video said is true.Looks back at lifeTried killing myself a couple times at age 13-17.Failed.Had many girlfriends.Didn't last. Drop out of High School.Join program.Got HS degree in a year.Goes to college.Finally have real friends at college. Quit college.Had no dreams.No money.Looks for job. Year later finally got an interview.No job.Got a hook up with a job through connection.Yay me.Quit job to leave country due to family emergency.Now 26 looking for job again....Still got true friends. Social media.No confidence in anything since baby boomers destroyed America. Thinking about moving to another country.Need money.Maybe become a twitch streamer?Life sucks but internet makes me happy.Enjoys /v/	Age	Age - General	1/131	0.763
suicide will spike because the transhumanist pedophiles in power that are destroying society through debt and poverty and austerity want to kill most of the people on earth via suicide and cancer and health problems, its called fabian eugenics	Eugenics, Spike	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments, Religious Identity - Protestant	2/39	5.128
This is totally not some nazi ass shit right here, nah just another "Point of view."	Nazi	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/16	6.25
People rank the different generations as if shit hasn't simply just getting worse over time because capitalism, false nationalism, and white supremacy have been pushed since the birth of this country.It's in fact SO bad because we've 'advanced' to the point where it is som much easier to distract ourselves from the simple truth:Greed, jealousy, anger, and other things that negatively affect the mind (I refuse to call them sins) are things that the rich and powerful use as a driving force for their success while demonizing people who care more about quality of life and matters of the soul spirituality.Fuck the mountain analogy, shouldn't be looking at yourself based on a scale. The scale allows this asshole to talk about millennials as if they're hopeless.Despite the conclusion sod his speech, he's pandering to people who don't fuck with millennials to begin with.Just a rant. Ima go live my life now	Nationalism	Nationality - General	1/156	0.641

had me, right up to the point where he said that it was your jobs responsibility to make millennials happy....WTF!?!?FUCK THAT!!!it's not up to ANY business to do anything for you, except with the small possibility of helping you enjoy your job, but they don't HAVE to do that. A living wage, safe work environment, reasonable breaks/hours/time off, no harassment, maybe even a benefit package...that is all your job HAS to do. they don't have to cater to weak, whiny, self centered, self indulgent, narcissistic blobs. I know many MANY people born within the millennial time frame, that are NOT, needy, greedy, lazy little shits..that re happy, have good work ethics, that enjoy their jobs (most, not all), that don't ask for, or require, deferential treatment... if you can't cope with the world, because your parents supposedly coddled you.. if life is too hard, because nothing in 'real' life is just handed to you..if you are that stereotype.."need a safe place because a word offended you", (etc)..if you can't function without being the center of attention having your ego stroked...then YOU (and those like you) are the genetic weak link in our species, and this is where Darwinism is the rule.goodbye, you won't be missed	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/211	0.474
Yaaaaaaaaa, this guy over generalizes such a large group of people. Yes every generation faces their own unique societal issues that help define them. Millennials are facing new problems compared to their parents and the generation before them. Stagnated wages, high costs of education, predatory lending and higher cost of living. But what is also forgotten in such videos like generation x, we Millennials have fought two wars; War in Afghanistan/Iraq. I'm preparing for a 6th deployment because yes the War in Afghanistan is still there. My point is what the video is claiming to be the true problems of Millennials bad parenting, technology, impatience, and bad environment aren't current and misleading. To generalize Millennials as self entitled, and lazy is wrong too. They're soldiers, they're doctors , they're paramedics, they're executives, and pioneered companies, like YouTube, Google, Facebook, and Amazon. I humbly and sincerely hope the person behind this video revisits their thoughts on Millennials.	doctors	Nationality - General	1/155	0.645

It's pretty depressing when the same job that allowed your parents to buy a house and start a family can now barely afford you a shitty apartment in a bad part of town. My parents were able to purchase a home and live the "American dream" and both of them were grocery cashiers! And for most people, any opportunity for advancement is blocked by a large monetary hurdle. Want that degree or training to enter a new career? That will be 30k minimum please. Oh, and after you get the degree/training you find out there are no jobs available. If you make the wrong choice or pursue the wrong thing, it could financially cripple you for life. It's like being on a road that splits into many paths before you - in the past almost all of those paths could get you to the finish line. Some paths were longer or bumpier than others, but if you tread carefully any path would lead you to the finish line. Now most of those paths are dead ends and if you picked a dead end path you need to spend all that time walking back to pick a new path.	Cripple	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/198	0.505
Pure snowflake. What surrounds you, is your choice to follow.It's not hidden nor difficult to emulate. Unless you choose not to.	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/22	4.545
"Female empowerment" certainly played a big role , but overall it is Marxism's destruction of family values that has brought us to this point. In this age of dropping babies off at day cares when they are 6 mos to a year, it is incredible that women still call themselves mothers.	Age	Age - General	1/51	1.961
Fix the real problems instead of giving out bean bag chairs lol people back in the day would get drunk at work and then go to the bar and get drunk there for the rest of the night and then drive home. My uncles did acid while working in the mines. The problem is business now a days just want to fire people and train nobody and then bitch about millineials. The previous generations had it better and with more freedom. They just don't want us to know it	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/89	1.124
I'm a nineteen year old in North New Zealand. Every single comment here is accurate, except drinking is more the primary coping mechanism.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/23	4.348
I think its dangerous to say nothing is their fault, I say this even as a millennial. If we believe nothing is our fault we won't learn to take responsibility for it and fix it. If we are impatient then we must take responsibility for it and learn patience instead of blaming it on "corporations" or some outside force. Same thing with tech addiction, if we see it as a fault of our own then we will see it as something we can and must fix ourselves.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/87	2.299

BlueJane - the same is true of older people as well. As Buddha said, 'Life is suffering'. No-one won the lottery by virtue of when they were born (though to who they were born is obviously different). It certainly was easier for the baby boomers, but all of this was due to the economy. Things have, sadly changed. There is nothing harmful about this video and anyone who considers opinions or reasoned debate harmful needs to have a long hard look at themselves. Our societies are better off due to those who came before and built what we have now, which many take for granted. You could have been born in the Sudan or Sri Lanka or any number of other nations where poverty - absolute poverty, not the inability to pay for an iPhone - are the rule. Please learn to be open minded and engage with arguments, and stop crying 'harm' when faced with uncomfortable arguments that challenge your worldview. Instead, learn to raise your own arguments in opposition. You have more to learn from engaging with your ideological opponents than you will ever learn in an echo chamber. As a bonus, you might acquire some wisdom about your fellow human beings and the complexity of the systems that make up our society. You might even learn why solidarity and acceptance is so important - and these would be the first steps to making change.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/237	0.422
I am not a millennial by about six years, nor am I in the work force, nor do I intend to be in the work force. Having discovered nothing through endless self reflection, I find enjoyment of the little things makes life happier.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/43	2.326
This is dumb. You left out the tanked economy from our seniors. We have worked harder for less pay and taken unpaid internships, took on debt to better our ourselves, and work hard to pay that debt. We fought and are still fighting two wars. I'm so tired of the participation ribbon thing. I got tons of those and they were thrown in the bottom of a drawer or trash the same day. NO ONE was proud of getting one, if anything it was more embarrassing to get one than to be allowed to lose/fail quietly. I would challenge that this presenter has not spent any impactful time with an actual millennial. Rant complete. Where's my avacado toast...	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/118	0.847
Cool, most of the people I know from that generation have 2-4 jobs. Nothing you said is accurate. And everyone gets a participation trophy, not just the people in last place. Because as it turns out, rewarding just putting in effort encourages people to put in more effort.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/48	2.083

Many of these millennials I have watched and studied over have no real moral base, which makes them lost and a little bit dangerous. They don't respect anyone, even if a person deserves to be respected, which is rare these days. Many of the older workers will see something that needs to be done, grab it and do it without having to be asked. The workers that were born in the fifties and early sixties have an unbelievable work ethic and take responsibility for their work environment. The millennials have also been victimized by the new school system that is purposely dumbing down the nation , as David Rockefeller said he wanted. This is not their fault, but, they will never be complete as humans without total reeducation. .With out a fair, broad, classical education, not littered with propaganda, their future and the nations future is black .	Black, Nation	Ethnicity - Black, Nationality - General	2/146	1.37
i'm about 2.5 minutes into this video (the part about "failed parenting". i'm a millennial but do not act like the stereotype nor do my friends act like the stereotype. i do see some of my peers act like the stereotype though, but not enough to explain an entire stereotype of my age demographic. interesting point about the parenting though. my parents definitely told me that hard work is what makes people special. if that is in fact the deciding factor (not saying it is), thanks mom and dad :)	Age	Age - General	1/90	1.111
another dumb fossil spewing ignorance	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/5	20.0
yeah again theres ' jobs out there' but really..115,000 people for that job? wow...the chances are slim now a days with those odds...not saying lets all give up and not try harder but um...lets not ignore stats either- ignoring stats isn't helpful either. Finding out 52 of the US population earns 30K or less should encourage us to vote and change things for the better so there can be more opportunity as im sure half the nation doesn't wana earn low pay.	Nation	Nationality - General	1/82	1.22
Our minimum wage should be $21 an hour adjusted to inflation. We all start mostly in debt and making less than our predecessors. With half of the population making less than 15 dollars an hour. Yeah we are entitled. Fuck off old man.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/43	2.326
Corporations raising 20 something year old children. Um...yikes. What kind of people can they possibly become?	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/16	6.25

Here's what I sit and think about! the Millennials are just another generation that have been labelled. how can you say anything about a millennial when you have Generation X and the last of the Baby Boomers in Upper administrative positions that make great money. I'm talking people that have started from the bottom and now they're on the top. Generation X and the last of the Baby Boomers ruined entry level positions. I was raised in a family where my father was the sole income and could provide for two kids and a wife his same position today wouldn't even keep you an apartment in a crap town. I have close friends with a bachelor's degree that were told sucks for you you should have got your Master's you won't be able to get this job. I also have family members that retired from a position holding a high school diploma that now requires a bachelor's. Haha you know what Millennials want a livable wage and you should be able to get that with the bachelor's degree! Nobody kid yourself it's all about money money money money. I remember when working at a grocery store used to be a career. Now every retail store and grocery store won't even give full-time hours. Think about it! The economy is garbage. Oh my gosh being a garbage truck driver used to be a career you used to be able to make a living from that are you kidding me the guys we got right now they work two jobs just to pay their bills. Im out!!	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/265	0.377
They gave out participation awards in the 80s too, I was smart enough to see that it meant nothing . Yes i got lots of those things!	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/26	3.846
Technically, no one under 13 is supposed to be on Facebook, but then you'd be surprised how easy it is to lie about your age online...	Age	Age - General	1/26	3.846
Honestly, it's completely wrong. Everything "Wrong" with Millennials is more of a lack of experience than anything more. Sure there are flaws, but you're ignoring the big picture. This perception goes to all new generations, the image of the new generation being a self-entitled brat is nothing new. Your parents probably thought the same about you, and The Millennials will think the same of the next generation. It's Life.	Brat, Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/69	2.899
Honestly, this is a generalization and I also believe culture plays a part in this. I grew up as a second generation immigrant and was told to always work twice as hard to be seen as equal as the other traditional American kids. I however, do see how some points as being valid and I believe the way parents raise is crucial to how they will go about in problem solving and addressing conflict in this world.	Immigrant	Nationality - General	1/77	1.299

Labeling a whole generation of young people "lazy, entitled" etc. is a thing that old , bitter, frustrated people do and have done at all times in history and I'm quite surprised that a young and successful-looking businessman like this Sinek guy is doing just that. Such a close-minded mentality, such prejudice! I'm surprised these things are so much on the rise in today's world even though we have access to more information than ever.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/74	1.351
Um their are age restrictions on social media. You can't start Facebook or Twitter till your 13 and you can't start Wattsapp until your 16.	Age	Age - General	1/25	4.0
I only watched 32 seconds. My youngest is 24. So are his buds. Other than myself the whole main crew at work comes from that age group. They are solid . Oh. Forgot to mention. We are western Canadian.	Age	Age - General	1/39	2.564
Oh please. Clickbait titles like these are magnets for this kind of shit. When people are so readily prepared to blame "the millennials" for whatever boogie man problem they've conjured up, of course people will react towards it. Especially when two minutes in he's gabbing about shit that's pretty goddamn far off the mark.>I'm a millennialNo you're not.	Boogie	Ethnicity - Black	1/60	1.667
No one under 15 or so should have a mobile....why? They have nothing to talk about just try being a child and go and play or explore	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/27	3.704
" [Young People] have exalted notions, because they have not been humbled by life or learned its necessary limitations; moreover, their hopeful disposition makes them think themselves equal to great things – and that means having exalted notions. They would always rather do noble deeds than useful ones: Their lives are regulated more by moral feeling than by reasoning – all their mistakes are in the direction of doing things excessively and vehemently. They overdo everything – they love too much, hate too much, and the same with everything else. "(Aristotle)"I see no hope for the future of our people if they are dependent on frivolous youth of today, for certainly all youth are reckless beyond words... When I was young, we were taught to be discreet and respectful of elders, but the present youth are exceedingly wise [disrespectful] and impatient of restraint". (Hesiod, 8th century BC) "The world is passing through troublous times. The young people of today think of nothing but themselves. They have no reverence for parents or old age . They are impatient of all restraint. They talk as if they knew everything, and what passes for wisdom with us is foolishness with them. As for the girls, they are forward, immodest and unladylike in speech, behavior and dress." (From a sermon preached by Peter the Hermit in A.D. 1274)Mmm... same refrain different age . Something to think about...	Age, Nothing, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	4/234	1.709

dude, you're really close but..... It is their fault for not paying attention & falling off the tracks we set. Stupid is as Stupid did. you ain't shit cause you didn't do shit - you went to college to get a job as a french fry maker! LOSER! DUMASS! SNOWFLAKE!	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/50	2.0
I think most people around my age (1996) just never develop a sense of true self. I hit a lot of stumbling blocks as a teenager and was lucky to be desperate and willing to change myself and take some responsibility for this "crappy hand". It doesn't matter who or what's to blame, because it ultimately came down to me to make the difference, even if I was right that I wasn't taught the "real world" skills I should've learned from my parents. I see a lot of inner dishonesty, not lying to people but yourself about how you really feel. I feel like there was a lot more going on in the neighborhood previous generations, and today if your in your 20s and dont go to clubs or bars, or dont have facebook, you're pretty much stuck by yourself. Or maybe I'm not trying hard enough to find out what else is happening, but that's what it seems like. More wholesome events going on in my town would be nice, not just dubstep concerts and club events. Seeing a guy play a guitar on a college campus or a book study group is like an oasis, it's like wow people actually do stuff!	Age	Age - General	1/204	0.49
I'm on the edge of being a Millennial class of '82'. I was told by my parents and lecturers that life owes you fuck-all and the big bad world will shit you out faster than you can say "entitled to my tea break". Expect nothing from the world, work hard, work cleverly and find a career that you will love because you will never work again. I have found my career I love, learn the hard way, you will be humiliated from your colleagues, learn from your mistakes and laugh it off and take it on the chin. Because I can tell you this, no one will care.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/108	0.926
The time frames of most of these classifications can't even be agreed upon let alone half the stereotypes included with them. Every old generation arrogantly thinks it's better than the generation after it and vise versa when the reality is that every generation has had it's pros and cons. Take "The greatest generation" for example. Lived through the great depression. The worst wars. The least lazy. They had to be! .They were also sexist and racist as FUCK! Beating the shit out of your wife and kids was also socially and legally acceptable even if it was looked down upon by some. Face it everyone... some people just SUCK! :)	Old, Racist	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - General	2/110	1.818

Nah, this video is still a misunderstanding of millennial issues. Now, you need to understand my parents were good, but not in their own times. I was raised being told "you are no different to anybody else, you are not special", "Trust is hard to earn, but easy to lose" I learned I had to work for things, I've done 8 years in studying science and have 3 years worth of actual work in my field. The hardest thing in the workplace is not entirely a sense of purpose (as when you study and do well you have achieved nothing but sought validation). My most satisfying job so far was medial at best. The major struggle has been the commodification of human life... and the things that flow on from that. When you feel like a commodity, you have to deal with the following psychological issues: No sense of purpose (and your job giving you purpose does not fix that) Abandonment issues Feeling disposable No autonomy No freedom to innovate Actual fear for your own long term health (eg, my ex-boss knowingly made someone test lead powder without warning them or providing PPE to save $80, exposing them to major health issues.) Also, because management think we are hard to manage, they typically bully us once we are in the workforce. No trust from employers No loyalty from employers Mostly, no employment and overall a failure to launch. These are issues not many millennials are able to articulate, however, they will give you symptoms of these deeper insecurities.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/258	0.388
The comments here are really sad. Attacking young and older generations, it's a cycle don't you see? It's happened with the generations before you, too, they were all given the same "self entitled" story over and over again. I don't sugar coat anything for my kids! I always tell them they have to work for what they want (they even make money on their own being 7 and 5, are learning about saving money, etc!) and that not everyone is nice to others. I never received "participation trophies", but I still entered into things anyway. It wasn't about the satisfaction of winning something it was about the pride I had in my work. I was still being told going to college was useless, that I was useless, getting a job in retail while in college was useless, blah blah blah, but I didn't care. Those were other people's opinions that don't matter. Once we've realized (and this is going to be cheesy) that the pride and fulfillment has to come from inside will we be better off. Oh, and for those interested I was working towards a teaching degree with a minor in mathematics, just in case someone says "theater arts" lol.	Cheesy	Social Class - Working class	1/202	0.495

MrsG87 A woman went into the safe space that is nanny state education? Who would have expected a woman would use the power of the state to extract wealth at gunpoint to guarantee her income, like so many other risk adverse females? Did you even use your degree? Or did you just waste everyone’s time and money like 85 of ”education majors with a minor in pretentiousness,” sweetheart?Or did you, instead, latch onto a man with a profitable degree and then raise his kids? You know, the ole MRS degree so many women get in college? Maybe tried to tutor them in 3 space, p= q, and inverse matrix derivatives?Either way, it’s laughable that you’d come in here, hypocritically passing judgement on others (for judging others), and bringing your useless advice to the table. A job in retail? Why not just say you were a typist in an office downtown, or a carriage wheelwright? You know, all those jobs that don’t really exist anymore, or pay a living wage outside of mom’s basement?You’re woefully uninformed, but take heart my vainglorious, jejune quim! Your anecdotal tale of personal trial in the harsh mines of retail mall hey-days and unparalleled accomplishments in the ivory tower of ”education” will go down as a momentous inspiration to all of us millennials!	Woman	Gender - General	2/218	0.917
Teaching degree= a chick job. I wonder would you break finger nails and get greasy if that same job paid you 65,000 a year to start and was in the heat and cold, rain and shine? If you in fact would, I commend you.	Chick	Gender - General	1/44	2.273
no actually because of technology you can make money by doing almost nothing and when they see people doing this they think why can’t I do that mommy and daddy always said I could do anything and they see people making money from hardly working a lot easier because of the internet	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/52	1.923
ned kelly On average a college student would have to work 17hrs a day to pay for tuition versus 4hrs a dad ”back in the day”. Typical got mine generation picking and choosing their statistics. Young people now a days will have to soar to get to where your generation could walk to and itt people your age that are to blame. Getting much more than you put in and purposely pricing young people out of being able to afford a house.	Age	Age - General	1/82	1.22

Everyone is missing the point I'm trying to make and just running with whatever concept they can grasp with.Do the shit that makes you happy and don't listen to the twatwaffles that say otherwise, because in the end the ONLY person you have to answer to is yourself when it comes to your own life choices. YOU are going to be the one who has to live with it.This isn't about gov't assistanceThis isn't about the sexism in the workforceTrade School/Certificates are still an option and take less time/are used more in the workforceI paid my debts after I was "raped" by student loans that were forced upon me (yes, they said I could not attend their college without them, but being young and naiive I thought it to be true). There is no more debt to pay to anybody!	Sexism	Gender - General	1/145	0.69
xc5647321 xc5647321 if you want to get technical, I worked on automobiles as well. " Chick " job? I also taught myself German and am currently learning Japanese, I've already learned Spanish. I taught myself to code websites (css, html5, old fashioned html, and even older fashion BB code). What does having a vagina have to do with anything?!?!	Chick, Old	Age - Over 65s, Gender - General	2/57	3.509
MrsG87 yeah except there is one generation that is statically more dominant. You'd get it if you were a dark ager like me young grass hopper. Why can't we go back to the 14th century and all listen to some good old Gregorian chant.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/44	2.273
So, after the millennial has been kicked down the road through to full age , its up to the employer to clean up their self-esteem and give them "purpose".What a crock of illustrated shit.	Age	Age - General	1/34	2.941
Jeez, ask anyone at their job at any age and the majority of them will say they are dissatisfied. The only ones creating a generation gap are the ones creating the labels. I had a middle aged lady in my apartment complex who called me entitled because I complained that she kept feeding the stray cats around my front door. Meanwhile, she does not have a job and is on government disability and I am a master mechanic who is paying my way through college so please, gather some data before you conduct research. I would say that the presenter is confusing correlation with causation. Recreational drug use is increasing and accidental overdoses will follow. Job wages are more stagnant than ever, which will lead to a HIGH level of dissatisfaction in the workplace.	Age	Age - General	1/134	0.746

She was already going to start several weeks late because of an already planned vacation to Europe. Then she asked for more time off for the week after her start date. That was what raised all kinds of red flags!	Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	2/40	5.0
You should see gen Z. What you get when 2 mentally retarded useless millennials have a baby. Z are literally 50 as useful as the average shitbag millenial. Cant imagine what two Z's would make. It would pop out of her libtard cooter and it would be just a fucking idaho potato with a triggered face drawn on it.	Libtard, cooter	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Nationality - Chinese	2/59	3.39
Me and my company found ourselves in need of another worker, and all of the ones that came to give the job a trial run were millennials. Not even ONE of them could stand it for more than a couple of days since I've implemented a "No internet while working" policy. Apparently, being able to constantly check their social media apps were more important than them concentrating on the work at hand! After many fruitless attempts to find someone that prioritized work over Facebook I got an advice from a friend to hire a retired person. In my country (Sweden), people usually retire at the age of 65 so there's plenty of people that may be on the older side but still are spry and:1: Want to supplement their pensions. 2: Want to feel usefull.3: Want to expand their social life.4: Are bored as hell with sitting around doing nothing .I hired two wonerfull retirees and I have never regretted it, not even for a millisecond!!They have good oldschool swedish work ethics.They have a lifetime worth of experience.They are not addicted to social media.They are so happy to feel usefull again that I sometimes have to tell them to slow down a bit.Ergo: If you are recruiting, don't stare yourself blind on the age factor!	Age, Blind, Nothing	Age - General, Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/223	1.794
You have zero idea how the world works.	Zero	Age - Youngsters	1/8	12.5

I left my home for the weekend, and the safety of my bed,my life is secure, my opinions validated,I feel special in my head,The world outside seems so shitty,all the people try to bring me down,I thought that I was perfect and I thought that they would love me,but instead they only try to offend,I can't believe what they said,Well sometimes criticism is given, it's the one true fact about the world we live in,you can choose to accept or reject critique, there's a risk that you take every time you speak,if you shout your opinions in a public place,well then they might just shout right back in your face,if you think that you're safe guess again my friend,because sometimes life's just got to offend, My mother told me she loves me and she'd always hold my hand, she told me that my feelings were the only thing that mattered,but nobody seems to understand, Not everything is gonna be about you,cause the world keeps turning whether with or without you,you can cry your griefs about what you believe,but don't expect anyone to see the way you see,don't expect anyone to feel the way you feel,when the flack that you're fed is a three course,offense is never given it can only be taken,when the age of outrage comes to break you down,All the agendered, bigendered, non and cis gendered,pan, demisexual, trans, and misgendered, plantkin, otherkin, dragons and therions, muslims, satanists, jews and christians, black skin, white skin, yellow and brown,we all got people trying to put us down,and word is only strong as the power we give it,we can censor it out, or we can learn to live with it, I left my home for the weekend, I left the safety of my comfortable bed,I had to talk to people different from me,and I just can't believe what they said,I can't believe what they said	Age, Black, Nobody, Yellow	Age - General, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Asian (East-China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam), Ethnicity - Black, Nationality - Chinese, Nationality - Japanese	6/343	1.749
this thing is so skewed and tone deaf its not even funny	Deaf	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/12	8.333
You know If you want me to work all you have to do Is... [LINK] Make her fucking real or I'm doing nothing .	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/23	8.696
Yes they are, they think the world owes them everything when it owes them nothing , they are complete idiots.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/19	5.263