Not much we can do when are great grandparents were forced into boarding schools to adopt English names, forget their language, culture and identity then thrown out into the world without having parents or the know how to raise kids or even live and survive in a new society. They return to the rez with nothing and then their given certain plot of lands that they have no idea how to use and money they know nothing about. Then they have kids and as a result they have no idea how to raise those kids and as the generations go on it shows even to this day. Native Americans are the poorest minority in the country, we have the highest suicide rates in the country, we have the highest alcoholic rates in the country, some of the highest crimes rates etc.... We were never taught how to grow up this society and as a result some of us are slowly learning while other without parents or figures to look up to are stuck on the streets and see alcohol as their only way out. Your native people haven't been through as bad as what we have been through. We are all the same people though and we should support eachother no matter what.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	2/213	0.939

abbie Ben Barriga Monroy quick question to see how much expertise you bring to the subject: Were black people the only slaves in america? Dont guess, gather real info and come back with your answer. I think 50 years after equality was entitled and all of the measures taken to ensure equal rights and equal oppurtunity are granted to each person is a little late to add wood to the fire. Yours Truly The 1 Pony yes because whites went out and hunted the africans down and stole them. Oh wait, no they didnt. They were slaves before white man burdened the glorious african continent with their vile presence. Reality: white man bought slaves from african slave owners. It is highly documented that freed american slaves (black) owned more slaves per capita than white slave owners. How do we make it the white mans fault now that this information has been brought to your attention?	African, Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/84	3.571

Jessica Sornon Not sure which comment was the one you replied to, my comments seem to get pulled down all the time :(I dont try to be offensive I just want to educate people who think I am evil because they read about somebody who looked kinda like me. Weird time in history we live in, that's for sure! The age of Aquarius, but good luck finding that on Google LOL. We read Fahrenheit 451 in middle school and now are living in the pre stages of that reality. Where thoughts are policed and truth is twisted to enforce the censorship of anything not state-produced or approved. I have been archiving historical texts and data for years now, ever since my senior year in High School. No bias to the historical texts or data, as I scrape sources from any database, library and niche shop that I can possibly find. I recommend we all become students of history, because it repeats. The most similar history I have found is Roman history and Babylonian history (when compared to the US, Russia and China). Fun fact: on the battlefields of the many Macedonian conquests on Persia, thousands of animals were sacrificed in mere months to win favor with the gods and goddesses. Imagine being in a Persian battle cavalry and seeing high priests slaughtering animals one after the other directly behind the enemy's battle line. To them it was probably nothing, but to us living in the current era it sounds insane. Maybe one day the future will look upon us in the same sense in the way we treat one another and the views we share with each other. I think my response was directed towards the statement that should Europeans live in the US. To that, I say that it should not be based strictly on moving here just to change the culture into European cultures. We have diversity in history to show what works, and what fails. Every system of power finds itself corrupted and failing, it just might take one longer to fail than the others. We can learn from this and implement several key ideals from each long lasting system and create a better system, but people are so divided today that the only possible course of action would be outright force of power. Diplomacy died a long time ago. Now the only action that gets enacted by 'diplomacy' is with the threat of violence or threatening their economy. All love to everyone, I just dont want people to buy into a propaganda tool that we used on the USSR to collapse their power structure. Best wishes <3 PS I love intellectual conversations and absolutely admire different viewpoints. So a reply with your ideals would be greatly appreciated and respected. I just don't stand for blaming someone for something in history that they never had to deal with or has passed. I guess my message here was to remain privy to history but don't assume that someone now is the same as a person/group in history.	Age, Nothing, Senior, Weird	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/510	0.784
