

In youtube_extraction_english_56.json :

Title: Sexism in Korea

- Table 1: Summary of the results per comment;
- Table 2: Summary of the results per sociolinguistic variable;

Table 1: Summary of the results per comment

Comment	KeyWords	Sociolinguistic variables (Hiper - Hipo)	Hate Speech Frequency	Hate Speech Fre-quency(%)
This is so relevant even years later regarding the seungri case. Nothing has changed and that's so sad	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/18	5.556
The societal tolerance for manhandling random women as a JOB is just... Wow. I thought Japan was bad when I lived there around the same time (2014-15). Workplace/public sexual harassment, was an issue, but not grabbing people off the street. And the fact that they unhand foreign girls mean they're aware it isn't acceptable anywhere else in the world.	Sexual	Gender - General	1/60	1.667
Please help Korean men. Please help our Korean men feel unfair.Now, many Korean men are afraid to marry a Korean woman . Because feminism in Korea and women is to oppress them and bullying.More, Korean law is supposed to be very advantageous for women. Marriage, trial, complaint, society, everything.And what's even more terrible is that if men just go through women, they can be sued.Society and government are suppressing men's outpouring of injustice and fear.More and more, Korea is becoming a female chauvinist country.I am also very scared of korean women.Recently, the women's government organization, the government, has blocked the porno site, making it difficult for men.Korean men are forced to serve in the military for two years, and Korean women still think they are more disadvantaged in society than they are.	Chauvinist, Woman	Gender - General	2/140	1.429
This is 1990s Korea... Girls smoke with guys casually these days. Those described in vids are usually guys 40 50 yrs old like that. I never witnessed anything like that around my age	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	2/33	6.061

I love Korean dramas but I gotta turn a blind eye to a lot of crappy behaviour. Sometimes it ends up being not worth it and I just give up on the whole thing.	Blind	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/34	2.941
As a korean women Korea is fucking horrible to live. Hidden cameras everywhere( in motels, women's toilets, subway and guy's houses). since porno is illegal here korean guys love to watch that. 99.9 of guys watched that and most of them dont feel guilty or something. Even they put subtitle like ' a girl in this video suicided '. Here women get paid 60 of guys but guys still want women do house work. And if woman is not pretty they are not even treated as a human. That's why plastic surgery is so big in korea. But you can see a lot of korean guys are fugly, short, wearing glass, having a small dick:) they want girls just stay pretty and do nothing . Here korean guys hate intelligent or funny or tall or feminist women.	Nothing, Woman	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	2/136	1.471
I think you guys treat your cultural misunderstanding to sexism 1) That business man probably thought Simon is a superior. They usually talked to a boss only (they consider talking to underlings is rude to a superior unless they are asked to do) . So it's nothing to do with gender if they thought Martina was a boss, they would have talked to her 2) Club regular girls stay around a club entrance to wait touts to drag them in Korea (So, they don't pay entrance fee). Also, about K darama it's some girls' dream to be dragged by "prince"	Gender, Nothing, Sexism	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	3/100	3.0
Sexism = male leadership, Feminism = women selfishness	Sexism	Gender - General	1/8	12.5
Yet most men in South Korea deny this fact that sexism exists and still worse than other general oecd countries. I've seen some blame it for feminism. What a joke	Sexism	Gender - General	1/30	3.333
Sexism is everywhere	Sexism	Gender - General	1/3	33.333
Strong Woman Do Bong Soon?	Bong, Woman	Ethnicity - Aboriginal, Gender - General	2/5	40.0

Going back through old videos today, because why the hell not? haha. If you are interested in knowing a little more, I found an article that even gives some statistical evidence of the level of sexism in South Korea. The article is from New York Times, so I am assuming the information is correct: [LINK] . I hope to one day live in a world where equality is universal throughout the whole world. Have a nice day everyone, and remember to treat everyone respectfully.	Old, Sexism	Age - Over 65s, Gender - General	2/84	2.381
I'm korean girl and i didn't yet experience being pulled by the wrist, but i've seen that so many times in K drama. Most of korean know that women in K drama are so passive. These days, real korean women are not that passive. However, for long time, korean media have pursued types of passive woman and some people still do too. I hope K drama stop describing women so weak..	Woman	Gender - General	1/71	1.408
I've seen this video before, but I'm guessing I never commented. Anyway, the "bouncer trying to pull a girl by the wrist" thing happened to me back in 2008, and I'm half White/half Asian (but to Koreans I probably just look White haha). I was with my twin sister and some big fat bouncer really wanted us to go in the club, even though we were 18, so we were technically still minors there (and he saw our ID too, I think). He actually didn't even drag me inside, but just held my arm outside the club and didn't let go, probably waiting for some agreement. In the end he finally did let go, and we left. It's a shame because we would have been interested if he wasn't being rude like that.	Fat	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/133	0.752
Roses are redViolets are blueKr's sexism is fedoh yes its so true	Sexism	Gender - General	1/12	8.333
The reason they don't shake martinas hand is because it's considered improper to have physical contact with a (married) woman (in front of her husband!). It's considered bad manners. It goes like that in a lot of asian countries. Why they won't look her in the face I don't understand, though	Woman	Gender - General	1/51	1.961
I cant believe I am saying this- the chinese cultural revolution had done away most of the old cultural stuffs almost indiscriminately, the major positive is that younger chinese generations have the chance to pick what should and shouldn't come back	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/41	2.439
This is one thing that really bothers me about Korean culture. Gender roles are so "stiff" both for women and men. Women are pressure to be cute, Beautiful all the time and submissive and men are pressured to be manly and strong all the time.	Gender	Gender - General	1/45	2.222

This is kinda relevant coz today I realised how sexist teenage boys are. I got told I'm dumb by this boy in my set 1 science class and yet I get better grades than him...? Logic.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/36	2.778
Damn I'm glad nobody tried to drag me anywhere when I was in Korea! I stood out like a sore thumb though so maybe that isn't surprising. Plus I went pretty much everywhere with my boyfriend, and I assume they don't do that with girls who are walking with guys? It just seems like many guys in general respect the "I have a boyfriend" way more than the "I just don't want to"....	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/73	1.37
When it comes to sexism , Norway is pretty "issues", but sexism is definitely not really one of them This country has its own unique set of	Sexism	Gender - General	2/27	7.407
I used to be an exchange student in Korea. I agree that it is frustrating how the country has technology of the 2050s, but the Korean people have the mentality of the 1950s. I would always see Korean men doing crazy stuff: spitting on the floor, grabbing women, smoking right next to signs that say no smoking, and coughing and sneezing without turning their head. Korean women would just walk by that and not say anything. It seemed as though women in Korea did not have the right to an opinion.	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/91	1.099
The technology of 2050 but the mentality of 1950. You can't describe Korea better than that.I was once with a Korean girl in my dorm, having some drinks with my friends, and at one point she asked me if I knew where she'd left her glass. Since it was closer to me, I stood up, reached it and handed it to her. Such a simple gesture, right? It meant nothing to me, but she was shocked. She said a Korean man would've never done that.That's just one example, of course. But, still, Koreans have a long way to go if they wanna get to the 21st century.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/109	0.917
- - you had just an interaction with one Korean girl. I don't believe what you're saying is entirely true but even if it was true, she's the weird one. Sexism definitely exists in Korea just like it still exists in any other country. I also agree that it's a bit worse in some aspects but I don't think at least US is any better in that regard.	Sexism, Weird	Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/67	2.985

+Chamist S You're right that this one example won't make a case. No one should generalize Koreans by that alone. But you're wrong that I had just one interaction with one Korean girl. I lived in Seoul, Korea for 2 years, and I've had many Korean friends before that.I went to college in Seoul. I have also worked for a big Korean company. I've seen it from the inside. Sexism is bigger in Korea than in any other country I know (which is something, 'cause I've been all over the place).The girl I talked about, I met her in an university in US which we both attended. She is actually one of the most open minded Koreans I know. I don't think she's the weird one at all.Anyway. This video does a better job of exemplifying sexism in Korea than I think I could.	Sexism, Weird	Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/147	2.041
I'm a Korean female myself and a professional woman in STEM. I agree that sexism is bigger in Korea, which is changing but not fast enough. Unfortunately, I can't deny it and am not even trying to do so. A lot of things still need to be changed. Men sometimes referring female employees or students as flowers nauseate me and of course no one ever dared to refer me that way. However, it's not like I don't have Korean guy friends or never dated Korean guys... In fact, I grew up in Korea and have family & friends there, thus still visit Korea often. The girl who was surprised by your simple gesture seems VERY exaggerated but maybe she's from a super oddly mysogynistic family?? Unless all of my Korean female friends and family members are way more aggressive or confident than the rest of Korean women, I seriously cannot think of any one who would be so moved by such simple gesture like she did. Same thing goes to Korean guys - at least out of people I know even including my grandfather, I can't think of that much of douche bags who wouldn't even grab a glass. Plus, being sweet, nice, and caring has been the virtue for Korean guys for a long time now. I'm not saying sexism doesn't exist or isn't worse but just pointing out that your experience seems quite far up in the spectrum.	Sexism, Woman	Gender - General	3/240	1.25
i think the dragging thing ONLY happen in ITAEWON on FRIDAY MIDNIGHT!(it's famous for that) i lived near Hongdae (where has so many clubs) for 20yrs but nothing like that happend to me nor my friend. One of my friend is a model but this never happend to either.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/49	2.041
Luna so is it ok to be treat as just a pretty face and when you speak nobody consider what you say because, you know you are just a girl it doesn't matter what you think or say, you need just to be pretty!!!!for me this is even worse that the dragging thing	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/53	1.887
America has nothing to work on, greatest country to ever exist	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/11	9.091

nothing to work on, is a bit far fetched.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/9	11.111
So in the western world, we're getting close to equal rights for women. So much so that we're now looking for things men don't get equal rights for too, for example if a woman is abused by a man in public, many people got to help but if a man is abused in public by a woman , hardly anyone says anything.And yet there are still countries that haven't sorted out equal rights for women yet. Hurry up, Korea!	Woman	Gender - General	2/79	2.532
While Korean men serve in military for 2 years on their early 20s, women gets no responsibility. they have literally 0 of participation on mandatory military service. In a korean reality tv show called "infinite challenge" there's an episode that one of women-only company calls for help because "they were not able to change their 18.9L water bottle for weeks". In Korean public offices only male officers gets overnight duty(YES, with official, national regulations!) while amount of female officers are outnumbering them more than 200. (so dudes are doing that duty for like once per 3-4 days.)Korean women's economic participation is one of the lowests in OECD stats while Korean women's average education is actually higher than Korean men's. ok, thank you for reading all these and now you can talk about sexism in korea.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/136	0.735
There is still sexism in Korea, I just didn't realise it was also heavily on men, too. Either way, I believe we both want equal rights for both genders so thank you for giving me the facts.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/37	2.703
Oh wow, that's so ridiculous!! I agree that feminism is getting extremely out of hand, because some people aren't trying to fight for equal rights anymore, they're fighting for women to be better than men, which is just as bad as how things were 10-20 years ago when men were thought of as better than women. Sexism isn't just against women, it's also against men but in this video, they didn't mention any sexism against men in Korea, which is why I didn't comment on it	Sexism	Gender - General	2/86	2.326
The problem is though western people always assume that asian cultures will be macho and explain ridiculous things (like women only parking space) with their perspective, as simon and martina are doing in this video. the reality is while feminism in US and western european countries are kinda being suppressed Korean and New Zealander feminism won it all and started fucking up much things. it's not fun to see this so much prejudice from these "western" comments assuming asian countries will be male chauvinism society.	Male chauvinism	Gender - General	1/85	1.176
TF What, You understand most of the things you pointed out are created by sexism , right?	Sexism	Gender - General	1/16	6.25

Katie on the GO in Korea is a common thing	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/10	10.0
I wanna go to Korea and become like the anti rape super hero. I'm a 6 foot 200 pound brown belt and I doubt most men would try to rape a chick in front of me. I'd also help old lady's clean. ahhh the things I would do if I was the son of a rich person lol.	Chick, Old	Age - Over 65s, Gender - General	2/58	3.448
Frances Obolensky Rape is a serious problem in South Korea as it is in EVERY COUNTRY IN THE WORLD. And it is very much a sexism (sex and power) topic. Completely relevant. Thanks Simon and Martina for this insightful video.	Sex, Sexism	Gender - General	2/40	5.0
Of course it's OK to talk about rape but I think saying things like "I wanna go to Korea and become like the anti rape super hero" sounds as if this person thinks that rape is more of a problem in Korea than in their own country, and they seem to have been stimulated to say this strange thing from watching this video, which seems like they have missed the plot somewhere. What country does this country come from, that they think there is less rape in that country than in Korea? They may be being a bit racist . They should stay in their own country and be a anti-rape super hero there. I'm sure there is far more rape there. Because I'm sure there is far more rape in almost any country in the world than in Korea.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/139	0.719
I lived in UK, Italy, Germany, USA and Korea. There's a lot to like of Korea and yes there's sexism , just like there's sexism in any other country.	Sexism	Gender - General	2/28	7.143
Everywhere has sexism , it's not like this is unheard of in many other countries. For example, rape rates are much, much higher in places like USA, Canada, France and UK than in Korea. Okay, so it's not okay for guys to randomly grab women and pull them into a club, but 1) this is not to hurt them, it's to get business and 2) it's what they've been told to do by their boss. Korea has its good and bad points like every country, but I dare say there are more good points about it than there are about the US.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/101	0.99
There's sexism everywhere, including the US (in fact, my most overt encounters with sexism have been in the US. And I'm talking about California/NY, not the predominantly white Midwest). I've lived in Hong Kong and studied in Paris for a semester, and they have their own forms of sexism as well.	Sexism	Gender - General	3/51	5.882

I actually have been coming round to thinking that the prevalence of rape in our Western countries is a Western protestant thing and has to do with our strange attitude to sex . My Chinese friend says that most Chinese people can't understand the Protestant obsession with sex . In most countries in the world people just get married young, stay married, have kids and are too busy working to look after them to bother about much else. Sadly we've spread our sex businesses it all over the world these days, I mean, I know prostitution is supposed to be the oldest profession and comes in the bible. And there was rape back then too. And female slaves in some places. So don't pretend our hands are clean and it's all someone else's problem, is what I'm saying.	Sex	Gender - General	3/136	2.206
And people complain about sexism in America/Canada rolls eyes	Sexism	Gender - General	1/9	11.111
+chapachuu OK. Maybe I should elaborate. This situation is REAL sexism in action. Not "manspreading," "mansplaining," or some mysterious patriarchy holding women down. (Quick fast explanation.) I was being sarcastic and it didn't translate well, or it did and you just don't agree.	Patriarchy, Sexism	Gender - General	2/43	4.651
Jenn E I think I understood, and I do disagree. What I'm saying is that there is no "real" sexism vs "non-real" sexism . Sexism is sexism . You may perceive varying degrees of sexism (in this case you view Korea more sexist than North America), but that doesn't invalidate the sexism still in North America. To put it in another perspective, the harsh, violent sexism in some middle-Eastern countries does not invalidate the sexism in Korea. So in regards to your OP, I believe people have a right to complain about sexism in North America, just as they have the right to do so in Korea or any other part of the world.	Sexism	Gender - General	8/112	7.143
I know this video is really old but Simon made me LOL "There's almost like, NO DRUGS AT ALL."	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/19	5.263
To clarify on the misunderstanding I'm seeing from many comments below, the bouncers are not forcibly dragging you in a scary way. I agree that pulling them in is not a proper way to invite customers, but don't worry, they let go if you clearly say no. I'm not trying to defend the guys who do that, but I just want to tell you that it's not like how criminals are trying to abduct you by forcing you into a car and drive off. Plus, women do it as well. I've heard women are admitted into clubs for free of charge in Korea (not entirely sure though), so the bouncers are trying to convince them to come in because it's free and they have nothing to lose. And the reason they let go of foreign women is probably because the bouncers can't speak the foreign languages, not necessarily because they think foreign women are tougher.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/155	0.645

I just had a funny thought as to what the first beat up of those guys would have been like when they go and grab a foreigner chick , before they knew better. I'm sure it would have been quite a sight. The chick just stopping hard in her track, jerking the guy back and then proceeding to beating his ass. Even better if it was someone who doesn't look like they could do it. Kind of like those videos when an old person would kick ass out of the blue, I'm sure it would make my day to watch.	Chick, Old	Age - Over 65s, Gender - General	3/99	3.03
Pulling girls into clubs? Jesus christ. Isn't that assault here? Even if the girl happens to be ok with it, the boy won't always know if the girl is or not and that makes his actions wrong. Disgusting. The men should learn to approach women with respect even if the underlying idea is sexual , and the women should probably take some useful fighting classes so if they happen to end up in that situation and aren't okay with it they can escape and/or fend for themselves.	Sexual	Gender - General	1/86	1.163
+Chelsea Bisenius I really dont like those kind of men. If anybody has seen Doctors or Dear Fair Lady Kong Shim then I really like those male leads. They have more charisma and aren't the douchebag type.Im ok when every once in awhile they grab the wrist, just not violently or aggressively.	doctors	Nationality - General	1/53	1.887
The most dangerous things is always the fact sexism actions are not percieve as such by the population. About sexuality, people lower the gravity of the some attitude that are in fact some kind of violence or wonder if the girl didn't provoke it. Work is also the best form of sexism . I'm french, in my country, there is a wage gap between man and woman . In Korean, in except for artistic jobs, guys have more chance to get a promotion than womans. It's a question of trust. They don't receive the same trust and people don't expect as much from them. It's like black people working in banks. Unfair	Black, Sexism, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Gender - General	4/110	3.636
'foreing girls are gonna beat the crap out of you'Oh, you have no idea. Like, just wtf? Don't you even dare hun	Hun	Nationality - German	1/23	4.348
Whether it be hosts or brand representatives, if they are male, what you were inferring to in your video might be correct. But the main reason is not because they are looking down on you and seeing women as inferior. It is because handshakes are just not as commonplace as they are in Western countries. In US, when we first meet somebody in a semi-professional or professional setting, we'll shake their hand. In Korea, we'll bow. Thus, since the whole "shaking the hand" concept is not as common , some people are just careful to initiate a handshake. Especially because the shows that you come out on or the meetings you attend, you are accompanied by your husband. They are most likely not shaking your hand out of courtesy because in Korea, men simply do not shake somebody's wife's hand or touch them at all.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/144	0.694

I cannot believe the stories I hear from people living in Korea and Japan about the sexism and also just sexual harassment/molestation. Martina, I sometimes watch a vlogger Ryan Boundless, but have stopped because he is always so negative. Anyway, he feels as a foreigner that people won't answer him even though he speaks fluently, they answer to his native girlfriend the way that interviewers/execs respond to you through Simon. I think it is extremely saddening. America has plenty of sexism too, but nowadays here even sexist people wanna seem politically correct. The other thing I've heard of is girls getting inappropriately touched/confronted/looked at/filmed on the subway especially. Men act like they fall asleep, and roll into a woman in the train seat beside them and touch their body. Filming up skirts. "Bumping" into someone's genitals and blaming it on the train. Men exposing themselves. I know if this happened on an empty train car in the states, that likely the same thing would happen in both places, but I feel like the Eastern cultures have a sort of "Don't get involved" rule, where no matter what harassment someone might give a stranger, you don't step in except absolutely necessary. A drunk old man will verbally harass a female foreigner, and because they don't want trouble no one else who witnesses it says anything. A man fakes falling asleep next to a young woman and "falls" into her lap and still stays "asleep".... The whole car sees it but no one tells him to knock it off and quit being a creep. I get the crime in general is lower, but...the stories I hear scare me. I feel like maybe if you DID defend someone you could maybe end up in trouble for it. Maybe I am completely off-base and the stories I heard are the rare negatives... but if there is even a small grain of truth, I hope it changes soon, that women are respected as equals, that people stand up for each other and do to each other as they'd have done to them.	Old, Sexism, Sexual, Woman	Age - Over 65s, Gender - General	6/347	1.729
Hi Simon and Martina! I know this video was posted way back in 2013 but this was an issue that my Korean friend told me about. She said that lately there's been a kind of anti-females thing going in Korea. Lots of men sign in to a certain website and they spread gossip or nasty rumours about the girls they know and some even go to the extent of throwing rocks at girls they see on the street at night. Is this true? Is the sexism and discrimination against females that bad in Korea?	Sexism	Gender - General	1/94	1.064

Hi guys! I am from Russia and in Russia people also don't shake your hand if you are a woman . Don't know how it have happen but in my country only men shake hands. When I went to America to work there, I remember that I was very confused when people shackd my hand. I thought like "but.. but... only men can do it.. what's happening?..." So yeah, that kinda very cultural. But I think that it comes from the history. Centuries ago this move showed your partner that you have no weapon in your hand to fight agains him. Women rarely had any weapons so there was just no sense in shaking hands with them. I think so..	Woman	Gender - General	1/119	0.84
you should address all your letters back to those people with just Martina's name.... That'll really fuck their minds lol... & about the grabbing thing, you clearly never been to a black club	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/33	3.03
I think that maybe the reason why guys don't talk directly to Martina is because that is considered disrespectful because they might think Simon would get upset. I used to work in an international company and I was told not to talk to females when there was a man present because she might be his wife or girlfriend and he might think I was flirting with her and my female co-workers were told the opposite so they should not talk directly to a man if there was a female with him for the same reason. I live in Chile and i was told that this rules was even more important in the case of asian couples or groups. So i think it is stil a kind of sexism just not only related to females but also to males.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/138	0.725
There's a lot wrong with Korea in terms of gender equality. So much patriarchy every where. My parents have lived in America for over 15 years and they still haven't abandoned those habits. Not in the slightest.	Gender, Patriarchy	Gender - General	2/37	5.405
Omgosh I wish I had seen this episode when it came out. I've always hated how most dramas depict women. Either she is stupid and has to be saved by a cocky, rich guy or she is intelligent but is made out to be the villain. I noticed that when the villain is a woman , she is successful, smart, a career woman and AMBITIOUS but they make that seem like a bad thing for a woman . It really irks me and I'm so tired of the stupid heroine.	Woman	Gender - General	3/88	3.409
+wutdafeezy Seems pretty similar to british and american chick lit tbh	Chick	Gender - General	1/11	9.091
So much like Indian dramas!	Indian	Ethnicity - Native-American	1/5	20.0
" is a woman who is obsessed with building her muscles and exercises, one day she meets , who will show her priorities in life" ... or something like that	Woman	Gender - General	1/30	3.333

Thanks for the video, guys. I would love to hear from Korean men and women their side of the story as well because some scenes from K dramas really bother me. Not only the dragging but also the rudeness in the way they treat the woman who eventually falls for them. I confess that many times I wondered if Korean women think it is attractive to be yelled at and mistreated. I know dramas are fiction and they exaggerate a bit, but it is the only cultural reference I have, so it's a topic that bugs me.	Woman	Gender - General	1/97	1.031
more than 80 of writers are women. scenes you've seen have probably been written by female writer. As a Korean my personal opinion is: because men yelling at woman never fucking happens with Korean young couples. and yeah, being unusual is often considered as attractive in many cultures	Woman	Gender - General	1/47	2.128
when I lived in Korea, I was out shopping and this older middle-aged guy just like grabbed my arm and said I should dance with him and that he'd date me. I was like 17, and I was just so creeped out. I kicked him in the leg and backed away. it was crazy because it was in broad daylight and on a busy street and no one stopped or paid us any mind.	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/75	1.333
what would happen if a foreigner or someone who wouldn't be dragged into a club tried to stop and help someone who was being dragged in? it seems for this to be normal in Korea, but what might a Korean woman think about being dragged into a club that they didn't intend to go to?	Woman	Gender - General	1/55	1.818
the dragging people into clubs thing sounds like what happens at gypsy weddings- i come from an area in England that a lot of Irish gypsies come to and at their weddings boys literally grab the girls - it's a form of courting- you can see them do it on 'my big fat gypsy wedding' it's a TV show in England. in fact i've been grabbed a few times when I go out clubbing but if you yell the guys usually back off or someone intervenes	Fat, Gypsy	Ethnicity - Roma, Physical Identity - Physical Features	3/86	3.488
Thanks for covering this topic, it's really interesting. Considering my own experience in Germany with shaking hands, here it's the complete opposite: Imagine, for religious reasons, I don't want to shake a guy's hand but in order to not insult him, I deliberately carry something in both hands. That guy will seriously wait for me to put down my stuff and reach out to shake hands. When I then try to explain that I don't shake men's hands, he'll get offended as if I was discriminative against him. Meanwhile it is very common to shake hands all around the world, I think we need to be respectful towards other countries and cultures' ways of life. Even if they seem annoying to us. I imagine it was really offensive when the host was completely ignoring Martina, but maybe it helps if you remember - it's nothing personal. It's just the way they do	Common, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Social Class - Working class	2/152	1.316

Why would somebody drag a girl into the club in first place wt.f... Im korean and a person wanting to have sx will usually find a partner IN the club, and club aint where you have sex in the first place... Doesnt make sense at all	Sex	Gender - General	1/46	2.174
blue yellow You just let them? That's what I don't understand you could have done something and protected yourself.	Yellow	Ethnicity - Asian (East-China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam), Nationality - Chinese, Nationality - Japanese	3/19	15.789
+Madison Zelhofer Tazers are illegal in korea though, so are pepperspray, knives, guns, and anything you can really protect yourself with actually. just informative comment nothing more.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/27	3.704
there are stories of women carrying red bricks covered in newspaper in their purses to swing at threat, xD	Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	2/19	10.526
I COMPLETELY do not understand why some people in this world think that women are lower than men.Hey look. If men can't respect me for the beautiful and unique individual person I am,then I won't respect you AT ALL since you don't deserve it. Everyone is equal, no one should be brought to a lower level than others just because one had a more dominant sex than others. The I deal of men having more power is completely idiotic and irrational. Women make the biggest contributions to society and I don't think men can carry a baby around for 9 months or breastfeed a child for 2 years. Men should be supporting women rights and the fact that men can't live independently on earth without women. The reason why some men say "Women are so violent" or other shit is because men are violent themselves.Foot note: I'm not grouping ALL men in the world when I mention the word man so please don't get offended	Sex	Gender - General	1/167	0.599

Have ever noticed how any kind of contact between the opposite gender is avoided by Koreans? You're very quick to assume it's sexism . Funny how I perceive that as modesty.	Gender, Sexism	Gender - General	2/30	6.667
I am surprised about the comments, the people (girls/women) seem to be clueless about their own situation.I know you might be shocked, but there's a lot of sexism in Western countries too :PYou cannot see it clearly because you live it every day, but there is sexism in America and Europe too. Just one clear example: what about the wage gap between men and women doing the SAME job?	Sexism	Gender - General	2/71	2.817
Marco Ronchetti actually, people who truly believe the wage gap argue it's actually from women making individual choices and that the actual gap is men and women having the same work experience and education end up in different jobs, thus calling it sexism . i haven't heard of female miners being paid less for the hourly wage than a man in the same position. but go ahead and link one example to me.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/72	1.389
Marco Ronchetti There is no wage gap. Men are objectified just as much.There is sexism . You're just looking at the wrong places.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/23	4.348
1 in every 4 women has been a victim of sexual abuse in their lifetime. We've voted less than 100 years, yet borne just as much of the workload as men have. We do get paid less for the same work on the average, and even if it stopped today, it'd still piss me off just as much because it's happened this long. Yes, women and men are both objectified in the media and both expected to fill their gender roles, or break their gender roles in the "appropriate" way. And unfortunately the courts are extremely biased in favor of women in divorce cases. I have seen firsthand from my boyfriend and his daughter that sometimes the father needs to be the sole custodian or has a better relationship with the child. But I do feel, for the most part, that women get the short end of the stick with issues regarding sexism . We have the most expected out of us in the world and for the least possible incentive, in so many situations. We are thought of by many, even in the public eye, as sensitive, hormonal, bitchy, impulsive, ignorant second class citizens. See that comment Donald Trump made that the woman speaking to him "must have been on her period." Men have societal roles to fill, but I feel like the hurtful or alienating sexism falls mostly on women. But we will press on, and likely do so in pumps.	Gender, Sexism, Sexual, Woman	Gender - General	6/242	2.479

+Orange-teeth Ironically, most men don't even realize when they are being victimized. A man would take abuse from a woman because it isn't considered the norm so their senses aren't heightened to being objectified like a woman is. So as a girl, we walk through a dark parking lot and we automatically are aware of everything around us, but a man would most likely tra-la-la-la-la through a parking lot, same concept. In a classroom, a boy wouldn't be aware a teacher is being inappropriate because they are oblivious to the notion. It's such an odd thing.	Woman	Gender - General	2/96	2.083
lolitabubbles26well, at least you bothered to do something. problem is i don't accept that, since they cite a faulty study. the wage gap they provide is simply comparing all men's and women's without any consideration to the job title. they'll compare the years, age , race , state, but not once was it job-related.i've heard better arguments for a wage gap being men asking for a raise and women being afraid of being labeled "bossy" for asking for a raise (assuming she works at least as hard as the man does). but this isn't about that, it just compares women to men not of the same job.	Age, Race	Age - General, Ethnicity - General	2/107	1.869
+Tom Tinker Also, I'm not sure how true it is that women do not ask for raises for fear of being perceived of bossy, but perhaps the conditioning from society gives them the idea they'd be denied. Stats show that if a man and woman who go for promotions still show a gap. [LINK]	Woman	Gender - General	1/54	1.852
Tom Tinker It's okay, we all make mistakes. Unfortunately the only thing different I did to find them was to narrow down my search terms and make sure one had a chart. As in this information is readily available to those who want it. Also, as you have not retracted either of your statements or even acknowledged you may be wrong or misinformed in either respect, I will be doing other, far more productive things than try to attempt to debate with someone who obviously doesn't want to. Rather than take my evidence for what it is, you'd rather try to "Educate" me on their differences. In fact, through text, all your messages after a certain point only sound condescending. As if you are trying to teach me. I don't know anything about you, nor you me. You do not know my education level or my age , all you know is I am a woman . I hope you've taken something from this that isn't negative. And if you'd really like to debate, please PM me instead.	Age, Woman	Age - General, Gender - General	2/176	1.136

lolitabubbles26you sound afraid, if you're too sensitive to debate, i assure you i don't resort to name-calling and put-downs as some jaded anti-feminists tend to be (not that i blame them for feeling afraid).when someone claims that women get paid less than men do for the exact same job (ignoring anyone asking for a raise), i can't help but be skeptical.here is a link proving that annual earnings between men and women are being compared, instead of hourly earnings: [LINK] (look for where it tries to debunk the myth of a 23 percent wage gap)i should be fair and point out a communication issue. many claim that women get paid less for doing the same job. people who disagree with this have two thoughts: (1) women don't earn less per hour (2) it doesn't take into account of the hours worked or job occupation in the 23 cents wage gap. i personally think people who believe in this particular wage gap aren't actually claiming women earn less per hour, but get paid less without consideration for hours earned or job choices made.if you think women are being paid less then you need to be clear that it's working fewer hours and working lower-paying jobs. working fewer hours is not the same thing as being paid less doing the same thing.if you honestly believe in sexism being the reason for being paid less doing the exact same job, then call them out for paying women less than men. there's no need to do it when sjw's can send letters to a company. they've done that for a company employing a racist person.	Racist, Sexism	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	2/277	0.722
+Caitlin - Look up Claudia Goldin from Harvard Economics, she debunks the wage gap myth very well. Also men are actually more at risk of violent crime, but there is no way I'm ever saying 'nah man I'm too scared to walk through the car park alone' haha, but that's part of being a man it's not sexism, we should be stopping violence against everyone.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/65	1.538
+Tom Tinker we wouldn't advocate anything that benefits a specific sex over the other. Be it man woman or cucumber. That defeats the definition of being a feminist.	Sex, Woman	Gender - General	2/28	7.143
Caitlin tell that to the national organization of women, who opposed shard parenting. now you have some feminists saying it's sexist for the courts to assume the woman is the only suitable parent.tell me, which of those is your feminism again, the one that lobbies for laws in the name of feminism by saying it keeps women safe from abusive men, or the nice feminists that don't assume men are abusive to women.	Woman	Gender - General	1/74	1.351
+What The I will definitely look up this article, thank you! I'm always looking for hope in wage equality. =]. I could imagine by "violent crime" is generalizing for all crimes of a violent nature and not simply sexual? I definitely agree both men and women can be victims of sexual abuse, I simply want to make sure I understand your message lol.	Sexual	Gender - General	2/63	3.175

Caitlin No the stats clearly show women are more likely to be victims of sexual assault, but if a wife assaults her husband with a weapon because she accuses him of cheating or a man is beaten to a pulp or even disabled for talking to the wrong girl, (she may even want to make her boyfriend jealous), he is going to have the same aftereffect of fear and mental damage and that shouldn't be less of a priority as assault against women, they are both terrible. This has happened to me and the guy was a huge meat-head, luckily I know judo but men are severely hurt or even killed all the time in similar scenarios and wives can use weapons.	Disabled, Mental, Sexual	Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/122	2.459
+Tom Tinker I don't agree that it should be assumed simply because a woman is a woman that she is, by default, the better parent. I have a minor in gender studies - I've studied Jane Addams, Emma Goldman, Perkins-Gilman and Wells-Barnett. I am not going to make excuses for those women who find the need to put their gender on pedestals, but there is something to be said for hundreds of years of not being able to own land, vote, or have any rights over their own bodies. People get pissed when - a little over a hundred years ago- your husband could have you committed to an asylum without your consent. Now, if you are referring to me specifically, I am someone who truly wishes equality between sexes. Where, if I go to an interview and its between me and a man - they will weigh our qualifications rather than our gender . Before you say that it doesn't happen anymore - please spare me. It's easy to hate feminists because the loudest ones are so obnoxious. It's a bad time for neo-feminism.	Gender, Woman	Gender - General	5/184	2.717
+What The I know exactly what you mean. Some women use their gender to their advantage. My ex had his ex wife stab him in the stomach and arm - he disarmed her by breaking her nose - but when she ran out screaming that he was trying to kill her - who did they believe? This is why we have a broken system. I'm glad you got out of there okay. Reminds me why I still believe self defense (or some degree) should be mandatory - or more readily available.	Gender	Gender - General	1/91	1.099

Caitlin you're ignoring my point. despite you disagreeing with the bad feminists, it makes you less credible when you make excuses for them because it's all under the banner of "feminism". you don't hear whites downplaying the kkk's violence by saying "not all whites are like that."if you truly have a problem with how the feminists lobby for your rights, then by all means send a letter (or email) to the national organization for women about how they should change the court by allowing shared parenting, and tell me if they consider you a gender traitor for standing up to them, calling them out on continuing sexism by favoring women.edit: "your feminism" is irrelevant. it's the lobbyists and protesters that define the feminist movement. i doubt any prominent feminist shares your viewpoints let alone knows who you are anyway. but if you think your brand of feminism is so prevalent, then you should have no problem sharing a link to me a website that shares your viewpoints on feminism.	Gender, Sexism	Gender - General	2/171	1.17
Caitlin my point about the kkk is that the kkk is full of white people and the comparison is not between the kkk and feminists, it's white people and women of those respective groups.my belief on modern day feminism is that there are things worthy of their time, but are worked up on many wrong things, and i will judge the whole movement on the actions of what their people do. if they do good i will thank them. if they ruin things for anyone, i will condemn them.overall they don't look like a true women's movement because they whine about things that aren't problems and sometimes bring up actual valid things. and things that also help men are ignored even if it benefits women.i'm only rattling your feminist ideas because you're telling me feminism is good because of only the good things that they work on. you act like i'm supposed to forgive the bad things feminists do.if you truly don't the bad feminists to ruin women's rights for you, i'd suggest standing up to the bad ones, such as writing to the national organization of women to reverse their standing on shared parenting. if you don't care about what they do because they've made rape and spousal abuse illegal, then you're opinion on feminism is irrelevant and you're just wasting everyone's time by saying "feminism is a good thing and you should be supporting it for the good they do."also, if you still think feminists are fighting the good fight, i'd suggest you read on why this woman who used to be a feminist is now a men's rights activist: [LINK] tl;dr a woman used to be a feminist but then said she doesn't believe in the myth of rape culture and was then branded a gender traitor	Gender, Woman	Gender - General	3/305	0.984

Caitlin Thanks : ] But I think there's ppl on both sides who refuse to acknowledge the other sides points, like men who won't acknowledge that there are assholes around who I could easily see harassing girls if people aren't around or beating their wife who doesn't want to be a single mother. However I still firmly believe the best way to stop this is teach girls don't be with a dumbass aggressive guy, if he's dumb as a doorknob and going around starting fights in his 20's he's probably gonna be an asshole forever.I can also see women getting discriminated against in government funded STEM field jobs where it's a small circle of authorities and it's not based on profit, but I think the majority of women are showing they want to work to help people or get into law and social services rather than having an interest in STEM fields.	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/152	0.658
---	------	---	-------	-------

Caitlin my only mistake is phrasing my responses to you as if i should get you to change your mind. that being said, my expectations of feminism is for equal rights without demonizing anyone.until feminists do the following, i refuse to support them and take them seriously as a good movement for women's rights:1) stop the victim mentality. teach girls how to be strong without saying men are aggressive. if necessary, focus only on the men being sexist instead of just saying "men are aggressive".2) replace the duluth model with a non-gendered investigation for determining who was aggressive in domestic disputes when the police get involved. if the woman provokes her man to hit her once and she goes all out at him, the police are supposed to arrest the man, and if they also arrest the woman , feminists will say "she was just defending herself."3) allow men to be seen as rape victims when it's just a woman who's not specifically penetrating him. the fbi can confirm that a woman 's vagina enveloping the man's penis is not rape. even the feminist that got the 1 in 5 statistic says to not allow men to be seen as rape victims if it's a woman .4) stop assuming men accused of raping or sexually harassing a woman of being guilty. if feminists truly don't hate men, then they will hold off on any assumptions of who's guilty.5) stop pushing the agenda of us living in a rape culture where 1 in 5 women get raped. it shouldn't have to be a numbers game, because what we need is proper help, not fear mongering. get real statistics, with an disclosed definition of what counts as rape.6) stop using the wrong information to prove all women get paid less than men for doing the same job, especially when they'll also say that women as a whole earn less because they choose different jobs. you don't see men being judged for choosing to take care of their families the way women are. showing how much women earned annually without looking into how many hours she worked is not proof of earning less per hour, especially if the rate if not shown at all. it undermines the women who actually get paid less per hour because that's grouping in the ones who just work less.you don't seem to realize it, but you're giving excuses for the bad feminists to continue their malicious behavior because of the good things that happened. you don't need to say feminism is bad and evil. i'd be happy if at the very least someone says, "i identify as a feminist, but not that kind of feminist."but no, i see you are so attached to the name that your reaction to the bad feminism is "but good things still happened because of it." women have left because they felt betrayed by feminism. don't tell me to support the movement by ignoring the bad things.	Woman	Gender - General	5/501	0.998
What about businesses ran by women? Don't they have success because of the sexism in South Korea?	Sexism	Gender - General	1/17	5.882

Marco Ronchetti It is very possible for women to be successful business owners. I think the women have obviously faced some sexism while getting to where they are, but once they have a successful running business, you can not talk down to them or make fun of them- because they worked hard for their place. But I'm sure some businessmen still see her as inferior because she is a woman .	Sexism, Woman	Gender - General	2/70	2.857
jake cohen doesn't matter. it just means things a lot more harder for a woman in a powerful position when the country is sexist	Woman	Gender - General	1/24	4.167
Korean women's economic participation is one of the lowests in OECD stats while Korean women's average education is actually higher than Korean men's. In Korean public offices only male officers gets overnight duty(YES, with official, national regulations!) while amount of female officers are outnumbering them more than 200. (so dudes are doing that duty for like once per 3-4 days.)While Korean men serve in military for 2 years on their early 20s, women gets no responsibility. they have literally 0 of participation on mandatory military service. But still, women can be noncoms or officers in the military.while male diplomats go to Africa, Central Asia, Middle East, female diplomats go to Europe, US, Canada because they retire the work as soon as they get dispatched at difficult places (they called worse places and better places as "hot tun" and "cool tub", about only 20-30 years before everyone were rotated in them equally.) but still, female diplomats are outnumbering males.In a korean reality tv show called "infinite challenge" there's an episode that one of women-only company calls for help because "they were not able to change their 18.9L water bottle for weeks". ok, now you can talk about sexism in korea.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/202	0.495
TF what, sadly you are the best example of what Simon and Martina are trying to explain in the video. lol dude just don't try to convince other people in ENGLISH with those bullshits that nothing to do with the sexism and gender inequality in Korea. I'm so embarrassed smh..	Gender, Nothing, Sexism	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	3/50	6.0
J-Horse considering a woman a man's property, not to be touched (in this case, a handshake) in a completely platonic professional appropriate setting is in itself extremely sexist. think about how girls have to fend off unwanted advances by saying "i have a boyfriend" when they don't (even when they are lesbians) because guys respect other guys more than the women's lack of interest and wish not to be bothered. How ridiculous is that	Woman	Gender - General	1/74	1.351

Hanh Nguyen pretty sure the "i have a boyfriend" only works because the guy hitting on the woman would be afraid on getting beaten up by the "boyfriend". i have a hard time the average guy thinks women are nothing but dirt. still too much disrespect all around, but still.	Nothing, Woman	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	2/50	4.0
I agree with Tom Tinker on the boyfriend thing. Also, I'm not siding with sexism , I was just saying it's a culture thing, and no matter how much we hate it, it can't be helped because they grew up that way, and they will continue to think that way unless otherwise brain washed.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/53	1.887
J-Horsethank-you. i get so annoyed when people speak against sexism and somehow think guys respect men they've never met more than the women they're hitting on (not that there's never any sexism ). while i think there's sexism at least in some form i believe most of it boils down to disrespect in general, not gender specific.	Gender, Sexism	Gender - General	4/57	7.018
Tom Tinker Definitely. I know plenty of women who are just as sexist towards themselves as men are, and the sad thing is they don't think of it as what it is. It's the sad truth of the old generations and their weird ass ways.	Old, Weird	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/45	4.444

I think that the reason is that they men who you both have meetings with do not do more than the cursory acknowledgement of what Martina says and then turns to Simon is because you are a married couple and to show any UNWARRANTED attention to Martina CAN BE CONSTRUED AS INAPPROPRIATE AND AS AN UNDESIRED FLIRTATION. Nod to Martina to acknowledge her and her knowledge. They reply to Simon since in the South Korean culture he is her husband FIRST and her business partner SECOND. So they should always show respect to Simon and his wife by not showing Martina undo attention that may be deemed inappropriate. When they nod to acknowledge what Martina says and then they reply to Simon it is up to Simon to then ACKNOWLEDGE MARTINA for her input!!!! To show HIS APPRECIATION FOR HER KNOWLEDGE AND PARTNERSHIP!!!! For the other business men to do so would be a sign of disrespect in some cases. Also in the Korean business world the same would happen if it was a business woman you were speaking to and you both as a married couple. The husband is always given the most acknowledgement and again it is up to the HUSBAND to then give ACKNOWLEDGEMENT FOR HIS WIFE'S INPUT!!!! When Simon does not acknowledge you right away Martina they business people feel even more discomfort and feel he may be a over protective and jealous type and will not engage you in any further but turn to him even more. THEY ARE TRYING TO NOT CAUSE ANY OFFENSE!!! THAT WOULD BE DISASTER FOR BUSINESS!!! By the way I am half Korean and I was not raised in South Korea but in the United States but I still hold some of the values it seems that South Koreans have and people think I am odd.	Woman	Gender - General	1/306	0.327
FINALLY someone who also hates those scenes where woman are dragged away by their wrists in dramas. finally! I really hate seeing it and it's not "cool" of the guy nor romantic in any way so I don't know why it happens in dramas so often. Ugh, it's so horrible.	Woman	Gender - General	1/50	2.0
Big bOOYAH Just saying man. I get your point about how it looks exaggerated or selfish to you, but there's no need to throw rage at what people use as some sort of a harmless expression. At least it's better than "I'm only twelve years old and I listen to The Beatles music" crap.PS: no offence intended, just wanted to let you understand a bit about the 'mainstream opinion' (which failed pretty badly I can see)	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/77	1.299
+Big 'Rastafreak' bOOYAH I never believe I'm special cuz I know I'm special just as anyone out there in this world. Nothing that I do make me more special than you.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/31	3.226

BraveNewWorld Its alright, it took me 20 years worth of meditation, on the mountain of AWESOMENESS!!! Cheeer up!!! lame people can one day be awesome too!!!!	Lame	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/26	3.846
sexism is pretty bad in asia, including korea and japan. i'd even go as far as to say that violence against women in korea is glorified in some cases	Sexism	Gender - General	1/29	3.448
I think Korean women should at least learn gender empowerment and taekwondo. That would help them a lot to improve the gender inequality index.	Gender	Gender - General	2/24	8.333
The thing about not shaking hands with girls: That's not only in Korea. I come from Russia and it is the same here. Men don't shake a womans hand. It seems rude and almost intruding because of the thought "She must already be with someone". Even on bussinesmeetings. It's normal. Also when there is a couple the people tend to talk to the man. The woman can add things and there will be questions directed to thte woman but not most of the time.	Woman	Gender - General	2/84	2.381
In Russia they don't even shake hands with you if you are a woman . They just don't have this! Every time I try to shake hands with someone who's my age he/she looks at me like i'm a weirdo .	Age, Weirdo, Woman	Age - General, Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/39	7.692
the reason korean man doesnt hand shake with you is shaking someones wife or girl friend infront of himself is kinda unsuitable in attitude. but woman can otherwise. and korean drama's mainly customer and maker are woman . they make what they want to see. normal korean man consider korean drama show is too lame to watch. plus YES korean woman need to say NO or punch them	Lame, Woman	Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	4/67	5.97
if some one grabbed me they'd be black and blue	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/10	10.0
Kind of gives me a different perspective on the drama Boys over Flowers. The main heroin is always beating people up, and the main antagonist is the most powerful woman in Korea.	Woman	Gender - General	1/32	3.125

Simon and Martina, I know this is gonna sound weird , but I asked my Dad about this experience you've gone through (btw my dad is A business man in Korea). He explained that it is Simon's duty to inform the other business partner of Martina's position in the business. If not, your partner will assume her as a minor escort employee that works for Simon.	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/65	1.538
Jason L So, can a woman run her own business without experiencing these sexism episodes?	Sexism, Woman	Gender - General	2/15	13.333
Jason L Shouldn't any company working with them already have done their research and know that she's a partner? Also, that is the epitome of sexism to just assume that a women in a high level business meeting is a minor employee just because she's a woman . I've heard of the same thing happening to my friends mothers in America, but never to this extent and it is always recognized as blatant sexism .	Sexism, Woman	Gender - General	3/73	4.11
+Jason L I am a woman engineer in Europe. I worked with a very known Korean Car Manufacturer. The first time I was there I was introduced as the "expert" and I never had any problems of the Korean men doubting my position. I was more sensitive to Europeans who were always making fun of the fact that I was a woman . From my experience, I can certainly say that you are right about being introduced properly.	Woman	Gender - General	2/77	2.597
Jason L famn escort?! Sexism at its finest, just because shes a woman .	Sexism, Woman	Gender - General	2/13	15.385
I don't know if this is actually about sexism , but in Seoul I saw so many girls acting in front of their boyfriends. And with acting I mean all this cutesy stuff and that she needs to be constantly protected by her strong man. In Myeongdong I saw a girl whining and being at the verge of crying... because of a bird, who landed about 2m away from her on the ground and she didn't stop whining until her boyfriend chased the poor bird away. I also saw lots of girls acting overly cute in front of the boys and it was so obvious that it was fake, I was wondering if the men even noticed... And I asked my male korean friend about that and he said, actually korean guys don't like it that much when a girl acts totally helpless and overly cute, because it's not her real self, indeed SHE ACTS. He said that many korean men generally like girls who are confident, but girls tend to think that men like that stuff. Could be because of korean dramas or music videos or girlgroups in general, I don't know...	Sexism	Gender - General	1/192	0.521

+Ame I don't like aegyo either...well, the fake one you see in most K-Pop mv's or what these girls do. There is a thin line between "real aegyo" and "fake aegyo". Some people are just naturally cute, may it be their look or how they normally behave. It's pretty easy for me to see when someone fakes something, that's why I don't like some idols' personalities...they act too much like "I'm soooooo down to earth, look at me how normal I am" and they exaggerate so much, but I feel like I'm the only one, who notices this (that's why I don't say which idols I mean to prevent myself from being hunted down by delusional fans). But I think nowadays Korean girls don't do that aegyo thing as much as they used to do.	Thin	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/135	0.741
+Manon M That's literally a way of sexism .	Sexism	Gender - General	1/8	12.5
lol and I thought Korea was a less "culturally old school" country..women are smart, they should acknowledge thembut anyways nice video :)	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/24	4.167
you know when a man does not shake your hand because you are a woman , is sort of a sign of consideration. the women of course will shake your hand because in Korea there is little concept of homosexuality, and thus when a woman has physical contact with another woman , it is impossible to be misunderstood as sexual .also... grabbing and touching someone is not necessarily not okay because in Korea there is no such concept as "personal space."it seems like you guys should know this after 5 years in Korea.	Sexual, Woman	Gender - General	4/92	4.348
I really wish they would have other people who have more experience and context come on and talk about stuff on tldr ALSO American culture is super crazy and sexist too. It's horrible! But there's a huge youth movement fighting against that (like all of tumblr) and it's making changes. I find it super hard to believe that the same thing isn't going there. Maybe they just don't see it?	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/70	1.429
what do they think is gonna happen to them if they shake hands with a woman like ??? what are you afraid of ??? tell me your secret ???	Woman	Gender - General	1/29	3.448
It seems part of this is less about viewing women as below men and more about viewing men and women as different. For example the shaking of hands, from what I have heard is Korean girls do not like to be touched by people they just met. They see it as disrespectful. While clearly there is some sexism It also seems there are defined gender roles that can also be of benefit to women and not all negative. I can imagine women in a foreign country talking about how sexist America is because they force their women to wear makeup and be well groomed. Where as in reality it is women choosing to wear makeup etc.	Gender, Sexism	Gender - General	2/116	1.724

That’s not right. The younger generation needs to change this in Korea. SPEAK UP! If I ever do business in Korea or anywhere else for that matter, you best believe I wouldn’t take anything less than respect. You better shake my hand, look me in the eyes, and acknowledge my existence becuase I do exist, I am human, and without women like me, you wouldn’t even be shaking my hand right now. SO RESPECT. Cultural differences are fine, but don’t get cultural differences confused with dysfunctionality. It’s not normal for any culture or society for that matter to be sexist, racist , discriminatory, etc. That isn’t how things should be so people shouldn’t accept it in any socesity. I see inequalities like these as what they are inequalities that ruin people and destroy lives.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/133	0.752
I think the problem is the culture group in korea. It is really strong. You have to do what everyone do. And the age thing I hate it. There is so much hate if you don’t follow what an elder said even if he is one year older	Age, Elder	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	2/48	4.167
Geez the idea of being pulled into a club is terrifying. Its also important to note that almost all countries have degrees of sexism integrated into society. Including us ”Progressive States” of Canada and the US. It may not always be as forward, but it can be subtle and pervasive. Especially when you broaden sexism to include diverse genders and transphobia. I find it funny that from everywhere, theres always men complaining about the women in their own country (as if they are all isolated), and that the womens groups there want ”more rights”. They want a full glass of water. Yours is full. The waiter filling their glass to match yours isn’t ”more rights” its just rights that you already have and haven’t even noticed the luxury of, because you’ve never had to deal with not having them. Like you don’t realize how good having electricity is until it goes out.I thought this video was good! It is interesting to notice how places like Korea and Japan can be so advanced in some ways, but still so traditional. I’ve heard some scary things about it, such as groping and being hauled into clubs, but then....I’ve heard scary things from nearby as well. Its easy to label sexism and misogyny to somewhere far away, without addressing the ingrained problems within your own home.	Misogyny, Sexism	Gender - General	4/224	1.786

I know why dragging is ok and why business "men" only shake hands with Simon. (by the way, I'm completely against it. There's no way I would allow this happen to me.)As they were saying in the video, girls are supposed to "act" submissive in Korea. If not, they are considered as sluts... generally speaking. Therefore, in bars and clubs, girls don't really get out there and hunt(?) for guys even though they want to meet guys and hang with them. Bouncers know this - that's why they drag girls to clubs and have them sit with guys. Girls pretend they don't like it but they allow bouncers do this at the end and meet guys that way. This is so strange to me even though I was born and raised in Korea. Never really liked the nightlife there. Also about handshaking, touching a girl's hand is kind of taboo-ish thing for a guy and visa versa, so maybe that's one of the reasons why they shake hands with Simon only. But still I'd be feeling totally discarded if that happened to me. So weird how it's ok for a bouncer to grab a girl's hand and to drag her to a club but a businessman doesn't shake hands with a businesswoman. I will still love my country but... There are many things I don't agree in their society. No wonder I left.	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/234	0.427
I'm pretty sure the businessmen don't shake her hand because skinship is a big thing and for a guy to touch a girl right in front of her husband is disrespectful right? And the sexism sort of goes the other way too like JYP was talking about how strict and honest he is to got7 and the other boy groups but is super sweet and let's the girls do whatever they want because he just can't talk to them in a strict way. So I think girls can get away with a little bit more than guys	Sexism	Gender - General	1/97	1.031
Sexism is somewhat subtle in Asian countries. Like they don't blatantly show it. But for me in Indonesia it's not really seen anymore. I mean there's still this thing in a few Chinese - Indonesian families where the children from the sons are called "insider's" grandchildren while the children from the daughters are called "outsider's" grandchildren and there are cases where the grandparents don't wanna accept them or a few families still prefer boys to girls. But aside from that, sexism isn't that much of a thing. Rapists are prosecuted and went to jail, women got equal chance for jobs and payment, and everyone can go to school. The biggest problem is still poverty, especially in islands that are not Java.	Sexism	Gender - General	2/121	1.653
it's sad but true. korea and japan - despite hating each other viciously - are identical twins when it comes to sexism. it is changing, though, but painfully slowly. korea may have a female president, but she really wasn't elected on her own merit, but rather as an extension of being the daughter of the man who was dictator when south korea was developing extremely rapidly, the good ol' days, as viewed now by many in korea.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/77	1.299

I noticed this too! I asked my mom about it and she said most people of opposite sex don't touch each other so they don't lead that person on. They don't want to seem like a womanizer or a temptress.	Sex	Gender - General	1/40	2.5
My dad is really old school Korean and still thinks that women should please their husbands and stay home and cook for them	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/23	4.348
yeah it's bad even if it take a lot of forms sexism can destroy ur life espacially in our countries !! c difficile de faire ce qu'on veut pffff	Sexism	Gender - General	1/29	3.448
Cristina Cojocaru guuurl you go lol these dudes r crazy	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/11	9.091
That was so bad experience. I'm sorry to read your comment as a Korean guy. Everytime you walk around an alcohol bar or a club at night in Korea, You had better be careful. Because there are so many fucking Korean dudes who think it okay to touch women in the club. In the club, most of Korean guys plan to have a sex with girls and some girls really visit club for it. Some places where couples or family with kids are crowded are safe but there are crazy people near bar or clubs. It will be difficult to have good experience when you come to Korea again because particulate matter(dust) from China covers up whole territory of Korea. Anyway I hope you to have good memory in other countries.	Crazy, Sex, alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol, Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/131	2.29
Maybe if they were in Canada and the Koreans were coming to them, but when you are in a foreign country you adapt to their customs. As a foreigner doing business in Korea, you are not just talking to the person or people that are in the meeting with you, you are talking to everyone they know or do business with. Getting a reputation of being confrontational over issues not directly related to business is a very bad thing. The better way of addressing a perceived slight would be to wait for a break in the meeting (or until the end) and then inform the most junior person of your discomfort with the situation (they will inform the boss at an appropriate time). Only the most egregious behavior should be directly addressed (insults about intelligence, sexual remarks, groping), and if you have to do so in a meeting, you can assume there will be no business with that person.	Sexual	Gender - General	1/159	0.629

George Ford So subtle sexism and racism should stay if it's a cultural thing? that's a pretty horrible attitude to have; all cultures change over time to adapt with better equality and rising humane standards, especially these days. Just because it's a cultural thing to have cannibalism in some places doesn't mean it's okay or shouldn't be changed, and the same can be applied to sexism and racism , when they discriminate against groups of people. You can also address these issues without becoming confrontational. I think it's horrible that Martina isn't regarded as a capable human being just because she's a woman , don't you?	Racism, Sexism, Woman	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	5/104	4.808
some cultural things we gotta accept but fuck sexism .	Sexism	Gender - General	1/9	11.111
Jamie Arran you sound racist af	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/6	16.667
Tatiana Green You're missing the entire point. It is not Simon's job as the man to stick up for his " woman ". She can stick up for herself and it's very evident in the way she talks. It would not help change the outlook of women in business if men (in this case Simon) constantly had to make a point of trying to protect and defend her. Women are entirely capable of defending themselves and demonstrating their own competency and business acumen. If you are not understanding my point (I'm not saying you aren't) imagine it was a business relationship with two men and Martina was actually Martin. It would be ridiculous in a business setting for Simon to lash out and demand that Martin's hand be shaken too. People would be wondering why Simon was so hot tempered and Martin was so demure. Chivalry is often times just unconscious sexism .	Sexism, Woman	Gender - General	2/150	1.333
Jeanine Tang since they rnt talking to her then he should not cuz hes the man but cuz hes the one theyr trying to deal with instead of both.... chivalry isnt necessarily unconscious sexism , but it can be. we should stick up for anyone and everything regardless of sex , gender , race , religion...when someone is wrong it is wrong.	Gender, Race, Sex, Sexism	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	4/58	6.897
Jamie Arran man, that's pretty racist you know?	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/8	12.5
Iulmi You don't understand how business is done, this was not a three-way presentation negotiation. It was not Simon making a presentation and Martina making a presentation as two different entities, it was EYK making the presentation. It doesn't matter which person was speaking at any given time, whenever one was speaking, they were also representing the other. Either one could have just sat there and said nothing , because their interests were being represented by the other.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/77	1.299

+Rachel Kirk no problemo i think it's weird and creepy and im korean.	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/13	7.692
Neglecting a woman 's input and opinions simply for the fact that she is 'in a couple' is not at all respectful; she was clearly involved in business and had something to say. There is nothing respectful in ignoring someone for ANY reason if they have something legitimate to say. Also, to distance from a woman simply because she's 'taken' is basically like treating the woman as the man's property and judging whether she should listened to based on her relationship status. This is like the 'Miss' and 'Mrs' situation, while men are always 'Mr' (though 'Ms' resolved this for women); women being categorized by relationship. This may be over exaggerating or a bit overthetop, but I felt this issue should not be justified for any reason.	Nothing, Woman	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	3/126	2.381
Roman Ruiz I'm BARBATUS. I don't mean ignoring a woman when she's talking, but simply focusing more on her husband. I agree that not listening to a woman is rude.	Woman	Gender - General	2/30	6.667
so...how about guys? what sexism is there in Korea regarding them? just curious...we always talk about the girls and never the guys....equality :P	Sexism	Gender - General	1/23	4.348
skin contact with the opposite sex are in Korea usally seen sexeul and is most only between lovers or with family , like in other countries of the world (most Arab countries, indian , china , japan, pakistan and so on ) PS: this is not a thing happens only to women it happens also to men! Most korean women also dont want to give you the hand if you'r a man!!! if they give you the hand it's not because they want it , its because of the shame that otherwise the foreigner could feel offended. :)	Indian, Sex	Ethnicity - Native-American, Gender - General	2/97	2.062
uh...Based on my personal experience, handshakes are 100 normal between opposite sex in China and Japan.	Sex	Gender - General	1/16	6.25
Korean man doesn't shake hand with woman , because they think that it's inappropriate. so don't feel about that	Woman	Gender - General	1/18	5.556
I just got back form doing business in Korea. I found it really awkward when executives of big companies wouldn't shake my hands in meetings. It got to the point where I could stick my hand right in their face and force them to shake it and they would always look at me with such surprise, shake my hand, and then go back to pretending I didn't exist. It's especially weird because I was the one communicating with them via email for weeks prior to our meetings!	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/87	1.149

uhmmm hmm right. I'll give you another opinion from a korean (AKA me, cough cough) First off, you know how our country company (mostly entertainment companies, apparently)are just filled with loads of shitty people who treats people like garbage and comes up with shitty excuses that are sometimes hard to believe. This doesn't mean I ever worked at a company and to begin with, I'm not at an eligible age to work so this just comes from my observation on news and personal experiences from people I know. Anyways getting back to the point, these shitty people just treats everybody bad alright? Alright. So it's part "sexism" fault and because of people who likes to "discriminate". On to about the women thingys. Sometime during the extremely old days, China passed on this culture of where women couldn't do anything in front of men, such as eating, talking, and crap. This still exist to this very day of which now is a lot better but still bad. Oh and yes, before that whole entire China culture thingy came, women in Korea had more power than men, so fuk this thing. As for my personal experience, I am a korean girl who dress up like a male, gets confused as one and pretty much looks like one (just in case, no I'm not trans, the closest will be a cross dresser) and maybe it's because I look "male" I never had guys pick on me because they thought I was tough and whatever (which is true //cough cough).	Age, Old, Sexism	Age - General, Age - Over 65s, Gender - General	3/256	1.172
Ibis Cho thank-you! i've found that a lot of sexism can be attributed to mistreatment of people, which ends up with sexism as being the symptom but considered the core of our problems. still something worth fixing.	Sexism	Gender - General	2/37	5.405
if anyone has seen thailand dramas and how poorly the girls are treated its nothing compared to kdramas like literally 8 out of 10 thai dramas show a scene of a girl getting raped. its so common from the dramas i have watched some of the main lead girls even end up falling for the guy that raped them... like really? Also i believe I saw a scene of a girl getting pulled in to a club in a Japanese drama maybe not but I was so pissed off when I saw that. One last thing some of the kdramas i have seen the mains sometimes beat the living hell out of some of the guys so why do the guys still treat them like that?	Common, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Social Class - Working class	2/126	1.587
in the some of the Filipino movies I'd seen recently that were supposedly really popular, the guy would call the girl ugly or call her a f-ing b*tch and she still would end up with him like it's so romantic and stuff. If that was in an episode in the U.S. the girl would have b-slapped the dude into oblivion.	B*tch	Gender - Female sexuality	1/60	1.667

Zahra Mukhtar so true...there's too much double standard and hypocrisy in the states (and all of the world) when it comes to how girls are treated and spoken to and there are some girls who negate all the things the we are wanting in the way we women are to be treated. Every time a woman calls another woman a sl*t , the b word or any other word that have been usually reserved as a negative connotation for women only, it helps bring us closer to back to the caveman days. I just wish people would treat other people with respect. You know the saying, treat others the way you'd want to be treated and also the saying, if you don't have anything nice to say don't say anything at all. I really wish people would follow that...	Sl*t, Woman	Gender - Female sexuality, Gender - General	3/138	2.174
I watched the 'Great Doctor', I enjoyed it. But when I watched 'Boys over Flowers' I couldn't take it, I know it's suppose to be a comedy, but the beginning scene of them cheering on a suicidal student was to horrible. The main girl, at least she had common sense to stop the suicidal kid, but then her love interests were the rich clique of boys who had terrorized the suicidal kid I couldn't continue watching it i was so sick.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/81	1.235
Sexism in Korea? LOL. There is sexism in Canada against men so...	Sexism	Gender - General	2/12	16.667
I just wanted to know how you experience sexism in North America. I am sure sexism towards men can exist, but can you please list some examples?	Sexism	Gender - General	2/27	7.407

Amorous Cleopatra The "stupid man" the "all men are boys", the "man flu" and the list goes on. These are but a few of the male stereotypes commonly portrayed in the media allowed in the work place and generally accepted or un challenged in general by typical western Canadian or North American values. To say similar things about women could get a man fired and yet a woman can typically safely say similarly offensive remarks without worry or retribution. I would say that any comment you can imagine a man saying about a woman and being labeled as sexist is sexist if turned around and aimed at men. How about the "dead beat dad" ? Now that is one I have experience with as a single father after my wife ran off on the kids and me- but we really do not have the image of the "dead beat mom". There is more involved here than semantics. How about the fact that if there is a domestic dispute it is the man who is always arrested? Even if it is obvious that the female was abusing the man? Our policies on "equal opportunity" are geared in the woman's favor. Many of the things we do made sense 50 or 60 years ago but now days when study after study show women to earn the same pay as men in the work place when you look at job to job comparisons there is no longer a need to offer all the incentives to women. Or all the advantages a woman has in getting a business started, banks love to give money to young women over young men in similar circumstances because of Government policies and benefits. There are so many ways men get a raw deal but I will leave it at that. If you pay attention and think you will notice your own examples. Hope you have a good day.	Woman	Gender - General	3/320	0.938
All of those remarks are extremely rude, and I understand your frustration about the court cases! Men are usually falsely accused of things, or receive higher penalties, etc. It's ridiculous, and if that were happening to women a riot would start, I swear. It's not fair to you, or any other male here. However, I hope you take comfort in knowing that a 15 year old Canadian girl respects you as an equal human being, even though she has never met you. Best of luck. :)	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/86	1.163
Okay honestly sexism is bad but western women are so fucking stuck up almost to the point they think they superior to men. Once I was on the bus and saw this girl slap her boyfriend and her boyfriend slapped her back (they were fighting) and she was all like "how dare you!" and shit. White girls that are bitchy make me soooooooooo mad especially since most of them are born with a fucking silver spoon	Sexism	Gender - General	1/76	1.316

Not really, if your girl is slapping you; you deserve it. What kind of man plays that submissively to even let that happen? He's a bitch.That being said, I agree we're equal and I see woman as partners - though it's natural and actually in male genes to have a dominant lead; do what they want to etc.If my girl says, "No you're not going mountaineering for a few days with your best mates, you're staying here with me!".. I'm doing it, anyway. I'm not going to be your puppet on a string that kisses your feet, and there's nothing degrading about that. It's simply being you, not letting your SO control your life.	Nothing, Woman	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	2/116	1.724
western culture is very diffrent so if you face some sexism remmber it might no be sexism in korea Also what that guy said wasnt sexist he just wants a good chef and a good listener I think you misunderstood it	Sexism	Gender - General	2/44	4.545
mona rehman Nova Scotia Canada lol it's a small province so I don't find that stuff common .	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/17	5.882
It is a quiet korean woman to hit once in three days	Woman	Gender - General	2/12	16.667
Baad Thsings And so was overt racism , segregation, lynchings, legalization of marital rape and gay bashing...also were existent during this time.	Gay, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	3/21	14.286
KeySomniorum culture is something that shows what type of country and people there are. if your culture is respecting the elders and being respectful to your parents no matter what they do or what age you are that won't ever change unless the media tries to change that and poke some holes into your culture. your culture is your food, your manners, your tradition,religion,language,accent,behavior, habits etc etc, that won't ever change again unless the media poke holes into it, the elders won't be effected they will always have their culture and tradition with them. that's what i mean by culture and how it won't ever change unless you already have no culture to start with. which many places have no culture they started their land with crimes and they came from somewhere else	Age	Age - General	1/133	0.752

JuJuwaH AQEveryone comes from somewhere else. No one started in the country they began in according to human history. Therefore, culture had to be created. Culture is not natural, it is created by people. Culture is always changing, even within single generations. That is why customs change, language changes, beliefs change, and behaviors change. That is why old people and young people do things differently, and how countries evolve over time. If culture never changed we would all be living in a less progressive world. And again, it's impossible for a group of people to have no culture. Every country has developed its own system of beliefs, traditions, and practices. To have no culture means that you have none of this, which wouldn't make any sense. You should be open-minded to the differences in all cultures and countries and the fact that things are always changing. There is no reason to insult people just for being from a different place. Every culture has value to it. You don't have to agree, but that's what I think. I'll leave on that. Bye! ( u )V	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/183	0.546
the mermaid witch anh as a detective in my secret hotel addressed it . lol when the main dragged the girl away he shook his head and said this fool doesn't he know they hate this	Witch	Gender - Female age and physical appearance	1/36	2.778
oh! haha I had this Korean date who went to the ladies and came back smelling of smoke. In London thats super weird - she was sexy as heck so who cares.	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/32	3.125
Not shaking hands with women is unfortunately a strict cultural norm in South Korea when dealing with business. The women there are not expected to shake a man's hand, but to simply nod politely as a response. Handshaking is seen as a "male activity" and many Korean men find it unusual or even wrong for a woman to do it.	Woman	Gender - General	1/60	1.667
How is there a woman president then? Generally speaking, this extends to me wondering how in traditionally sexist societies also like India there were female presidents?	Woman	Gender - General	1/26	3.846
I hate sexism and dont think I should be treated or act a certain way completely because I am a girl but I understand not everyone in Korea are sexist.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/30	3.333

Bunnie Faerie when something is obviously wrong, it should be pointed out so that it can be improved. How is pulling girls into clubs without their will working very well? Working well for their business, perhaps, but most girls wouldn't like to be walking down a road and ending up being randomly dragged into a bar. Also, Bitch Please never said traditional gender roles were similar to drugs, they just used it as an example. I don't think there's anything wrong with a man being dominant and a woman being submissive as long as it is 100 consensual and safe. However, it is messed up when a person drags another person somewhere without their consent, whether it's a man to a man, a man to a woman , a woman to a man or a woman to a woman .	Gender, Woman	Gender - General	6/138	4.348
Bitch Please i think its more important for the people assaulting the girls to change their attitudes, rather than the victims of sexism . you're victim blaming and that's disgusting.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/29	3.448
Bunnie Faerie what you have just said is completely feminist so why would you label yourself an anti - feminist? Trying to be a special snowflake ? grow up.	Snowflake	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/28	3.571
Bunnie Faerie ummm when did i say that i support all women no matter their choices? i support the complete equality between the sexes. i don't support a female murderer any more than a male one. the lies you have been fed about feminism are part of a system to keep women down. feminists are not the hypocrites, somebody who claims to support gender equality yet refuses to label themselves as someone who does so is the hypocrite. go read about feminism, educate yourself. i don't want to hear from you again until you have made yourself aware, i hate to argue against someone who is unequal to myself but if needs be of course i will tear you to the ground. bye!	Gender	Gender - General	1/123	0.813
Bunnie Faerie its funny, people who are against equality so often take arguments out of context purposely because they have no other leg to stand on. I believe in equal rights, equal opportunities, for sex , race , sexual orientation, ability, what have you. What I meant was that we are unequal intellectually, as you are obviously so ignorant and unaware, which i suppose isn't quite your fault as you probably haven't graduated high school and won't be going to university. Again, there's a lot of feminist dialogue available for free on line, so instead of being a bigoted douche bag on youtube, why don't you learn why women shouldn't be treated differently than men? (and that means condemning female murderers just as much as male ones- who told you that lie about feminism? That's actually a good one never heard that one before!!! 'FEMINISTS LOVE FEMALE MURDERERS!!!!' hahahahaha :')	Race, Sex, Sexual	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	3/148	2.027

Janet Matsukevich i completely agree. i guess i would also call myself an egalitarian but thats as a whole regarding my views on feminism, racial equality, LGBT equality, but in specific cases where only one of the issues is being addressed like this i don't call myself an egalitarian and instead call myself a feminist, anti-racist, or LGBT rights activist. I also wish those guys would pull their heads out of their asses, lmao, but i doubt they ever will. they want to continue to live in complete ignorance because it's too taxing on their bigoted minds to try and think critically about themselves whatsoever. one thing is though, its not these girls faults for not being able to stick up for themselves. its probably a very scary situation and they don't know what to do. its not their fault for being attacked in that way, the only thing that made the attack happen was the presence of the attacker and his will to scare and hurt women.	LGBT	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality, Sexual Identity - Transsexuality	6/168	3.571
alittlemindification i absolutely agree, it's obviously not the girls fault. Not victim blaming whatsoever. But I do admire the girls that don't give a shit and stand up for themselves in the name of equality. I know many women are too scared because, lets be real, those guys can seriously mess you up if they want to. Sucks :(Yeah, I would consider myself a feminist on an international scale. There are so many countries and cultures that treat their women like shit, and I don't that's okay. But in my own country, the US, I would just consider myself an egalitarian. Women have come a looong way in the US and I am thankful for the women before me. Because of them, I have never experienced true sexism or discrimination because of my gender . The only time rude comments toward me remotely related to being sexist occured not necessarily because the person was sexist, but because they are a general asshole.I hate girls in the US who scream about THE PATRIARCHY and RALE CULTURE. At this point, nobody thinks rape is OK. The people who rape are asshole who have little respect probably for both men and women. We have a lot of liberty and freedom in my country, but some women keep going to the point where they are degrading men- and that is no longer equal and not something I support.	Gender, Nobody, Patriarchy, Sexism	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	4/235	1.702

Janet Matsukevich reiterating my point, why do u care equally about a rapist being rude to a man as you care about a rapist RAPING a woman ? nice back-pedalling on the patriarchy thing. feminists believe men and women are equal. you're not a special snowflake for believing that and it astounds me that you're trying to separate yourself from the feminist movement because you believe your views are so wildly different! lmfao! I have never seen or heard of a woman calling a man a rapist for looking at her. source? let me guess, you follow some anti-feminist blogs on tumble (mostly run by men, btw, pretending to be "'bad"' feminists, trying to convince others that the whole movement is crap.). Literally no one does that. Look up statistics for sale rape allegations. with women only 2 to 3 percent of rape allegations are false, however with men about 8 percent are. focus your attention on men if you want to give out about people being falsely vilified. literally all women understand that we have more rights than 100 years ago... tf? what planet do u live on? just because things used to be much worse, doesn't mean they still can't be much better. just because we've come a long way doesn't mean we have to take sexist shit, just cause its 'not as bad' why are you paying attention to the tiny percentage of feminists who are very radical, and not the majority who are peaceful and calm? because you WANT to believe that feminism is bad.	Patriarchy, Snowflake, Woman	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Gender - General	4/258	1.55
Adela Hong Um, when did I say woman should obey men?	Woman	Gender - General	1/11	9.091
Twisted Angel You're doing it again. It's not the victim's responsibility to stop the abuse, it's the abuser's. Having the ability to do so would be a great thing, but the only person who is responsible for abuse or an attack is the ABUSER or the ATTACKER. It's disgusting that you think otherwise. Perhaps victims of attacks or abuse are 'meek' because of the constant physical and psychological torment they're going through, you need to educate yourself about these things before you start making sexist and ignorant comments without regards to the mental health and physical wellbeing of these women.	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/100	1.0
alittlemindification Firstly, not white, not male. Secondly, yes, the attacker is always wholly responsible. But the only way they change their mind is obviously when they hear women's protests. That's all I meant. Nothing deeper. Also, I wasn't aware of the feminist groups and if it is credible, then idk why Eyk didn't mention them but good for SK!P.S. Let's leave it at this. No point arguing with some random stranger on a youtube video right? XP	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/78	1.282

Twisted Angel Of course there are feminist groups in South Korea. Duh, the racist stereotype you think of them isn't true. They're not all 'submissive'. Also, people shouldn't have to go out of their way to have their human rights respected. Now you realised how dumb your argument is you're like 'lets leave it'... lmao. I don't want to be hateful. I just want to get the message across that no one deserves or is responsible for being attacked, and human rights are just that - RIGHTS- and shouldn't HAVE to be fought for. It's unfortunate that that's how this situation has turned out.	Dumb, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/104	1.923
Twisted Angel lmao and you use sexist slurs. Yeah, you're really for gender equality, eh? Your argument is sexist, saying 'boys will be boys and girls should just protect themselves'. Again, each and every human being is ENTITLED to their human rights, they do NOT have to be EARNED. Do you understand? each and every human being is ENTITLED to their human rights, they do NOT have to be EARNEDI retyped it because I assume you do not understand. Maybe it would be easier for you to not have distracting, confusing letters around it??? each and every human being is ENTITLED to their human rights, they do NOT have to be EARNEDBetter? Do you understand now? God, I hope so. If you can't see it now, there's no hope for you. 'I just let it be'- why are you continuing it then babe? Do you even understand the words you're typing, babe?	Gender	Gender - General	1/154	0.649
alittlemindification "HUR DUR HUR DUR I THINK I'M BETTER THAN YOU BUT REALLY I'M JUST A SAD NETIZEN WITH NO LIFE HUR DUR"Yea honey, I get it. I'm just going to be the better person and mute this post now. Also, I'm continuing the argument? How? We seem to be on a different argument, that is on how much of a bitch you can be right now. Stop thinking people with different opinions are ignorant okay? I BELIEVE it takes two hands to clap. Okay? I THINK SO. MY OPINION. I hope the capital letters can bring some light onto how people are different. It is MY BELIEF that what you suggest is idealistic. And Idk why tf you keep talking about human rights. Yes, everyone are entitled, but are they? No. See, that is REALISTIC. Everyone has rights and the world is rainbows= IDEALISTIC People need to voice out their concerns and we have to pay to eat nutella= REALISTIC.Better? Do you understand now? God, I hope so. If you can't see it now, there's no hope for you. 'boys will be boys and girls should just protect themselves' When in the whole wide world did I ever say ALL boys will be same? when did I even talk about boys; can you even read? I talk;led about those bouncers. I guess that self absorbed brain of yours is too busy accusing people of ignorance to interpret words; when all they are, is a person from a different place, with a different ethnicity .	Ethnicity	Ethnicity - General	1/256	0.391

+Le Potato Some girls in Korea pride in being dragged into a club like that. like I'm korean and i think it's dumb . I really don't understand my own country probably because i didn't grow up in my country. I guess they feel like they're the pretty bunch out of all the girls and what not. I guess the submissive nature of korean girls is how they're brought up, but on the not so illuminated side, most korean men are brought up to respect a woman and not harass her and treat her like a servant. i see that from my parents where my dad is more dominant in the house hold (significantly) but he would not do anything that would harm her or go against her thoughts and beliefs. also my dad would do anything to protect her pride (because i gotta admit some people of my country are really sexist for no good reason, Douchebags i guess we could call them) The women of south korea are raised in that perspective, since ancient times we had a division of roles in a household and i think that's the biggest reason we are taught this way. me a bit differently though brought up in a foreign area. Cheers!	Dumb, Woman	Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/209	0.957
I can understand how the girls might come to accept it as a symbol of status and experience it that way. In the US those men would be in trouble with the law, but it's not all that unlike women here being exploited or treated like a sex object, but instead of being insulted it boosts their self-esteem because they are taught that being seen as pretty and getting the attention of men is a personal achievement. I think some women might even find it scary and not like it at all, but will pretend they are okay with it so they will not be rejected. We're all taught that our value lies in our attractiveness and being able to get a man. It's messed up, but most of the world is still sexist, some cultures much worse than others. I don't like it, but I understand it. It still sounds horrifying! I would feel violated, and if anyone started dragging me somewhere, I'd immediately start panicking that I'm being taken somewhere to be brutally attacked. That's what would enter my mind, and that would traumatize the hell out of me.	Sex	Gender - General	1/192	0.521
yeah.. i don't know any korean (or even asian) people who would disagree with this. just in general asian culture tends to be more conservative, community-oriented, and patriarchal. not to say that there aren't people who disagree with this view; there are plenty, but mostly they'll be younger/more western-influenced (easy to guess). what i find interesting is that from what i've seen personally, a lot of the sexism in the older generation comes from reflex. not that i think that justifies it. also i'd say north americans beating ppl up for grabbing their wrists is an exaggeration (though depends who you grab LOL) but you'll definitely get a dirty look, probably some response like "what the fuck?!" etc., and if you refuse to let go.. that's when shit's gonna go down LOL.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/132	0.758

Holy shit! I am absolutely appalled by the drag by the wrist thing. That shit is messed up! Indian society (which is very very different in urban and rural areas. It also depends on the region of the country where you live) is not very receptive to women smoking. Outside my college in Mumbai there is a small cigarette vendor where students usually go to smoke. Since this is a post-graduate institute, all of my fellow students are legal adults in India and at least 21 years old . The women who would come out and smoke with the men would be met with disapproving glares from passers-by. Girls who smoke may also sometimes be associated with other things that are considered "immoral" like drinking (kind of a taboo, especially for women), casual pre-marital sex (again big no-no) and drugs. These women will be considered "loose" and may fall prey to victim-blaming in cases of something like sexual assault.	Indian, Old, Sex, Sexual	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Native-American, Gender - General	4/158	2.532
lol indian culture is like that as well . they treat us , girls like we dont matter T T so mean	Indian	Ethnicity - Native-American	1/21	4.762
I'd struggle not to follow the bouncer into the club and beat him up for treating a woman like that XD In Australia we have no tolerance for that at all	Woman	Gender - General	1/31	3.226

That is NOTHING compared to what I put up with DAILY in my part of the USA!!! Here freaks claim that all they need is a piece of gum and a smile or LESS to do whatever they want to you (and I mean sexually NOT in-terms of dating) and think that smile and a chance to get you semi-alone or not is all the consent they need to do as they please to you and kiss you grope you whatever or even do it if they find you hot so they have the RIGHT (LEGALLY) to just slide up next to you and start grabbing!!! I have had city bus drivers, creeps on the street that claim to be gents that I physically cannot fight off due to my genetic arthritis, friends, cabbies, you name it all try to get in my pants first and ask later ALL because I am a heavysset woman!!! Also, guys here if they see a bigger woman on the streets struggling with her packages will NOT help her unless she says she loves them and/or lets him grope her like those are requirements to getting the assistance!!! I have also had African (mostly West South African, Ethiopian men or more North African men from Africa's northern parts of the mid-east) these were/are usually cabbies but also I have run into them on the streets, in shops, etc. say hi, I love you AND propose marriage ALL in 5 seconds of knowing me as a heavy set white woman is some sort of status symbol to them!!! The rare time a guy took me to dinner first (this was the ONLY time I had dinner prior!!!) he walked me to my apartment's front door I had NOT invited him up but the elevators on the outside show the floors the are going to/on for wait time and he had followed me up and it's a bit of a walk. As I was fumbling for my key I saw him (it's a fab so sometimes it takes a couple tries to lay it right) coming right for me and I tried to get in as fast as I could and shut the door before he could push in on me but I failed!!! He got on me like I was DESSERT!!! He started kissing all over me, stripping me etc. all he did was make out with me...even dragged me to the shower and made me shower with him!!! My apartment at that point had like zero furniture in it besides a bed and couch and my room had no lighting so there was no bedside lamp I could get to hit him with and I couldn't get to the kitchen drawers to get to my knives!!! I tried biting him turned out asshole liked it so that didn't help and I had clipped my nails earlier!!! I called him and told him since he had NOT asked me for it it was assault and his ass was headed to jail!!! Bastard told me to lighten up like it was some joke and I was making a big deal over NOTHING claiming if he had actually screwed me then he woulda asked but he just saw it without asking there was NO HARM IN THAT!!! Also, the cops here do NOTHING and tell you to do NOTHING but go to the courthouse as they make more money off parking violations as the traffic is such crap!!! I have ONLY ever seen skinny chicks get respect from guys!!! You know why this bullshit is America's best/worst kept secret!?! As it happens around DC where it gets over shadowed day after day by the next amount of bullshit our government does!!! So our women that this happens to in this area NEVER get justice OR help and most clinics including ones I have turned to that claim they will help according to their websites claim they will do nothing including refuse to test you as if the results are used in court cases which such	African, Nothing, Skinny, Woman, Zero	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical Features	13/720	1.806
---	--	---	---------------	--------------

Sarz93 LOLHaving lived there for several years, I can safely say that sexual harassment and assaults in Australia is ridiculously common .	Common, Sexual	Gender - General, Social Class - Working class	2/22	9.091
I love everything you said in this video! Korea is changing, but the problem is tackling underlying "invisible" sexism and the overly patriarchal structure. That smoking thing you addressed is SO SPOT ON. Even my Korean parents who've pretty much become all Americanized still have that old Korean mindset that girls shouldn't smoke, but it's okay for guys to. And that thing with Martina not being acknowledged is also very relevant because even in variety shows, girl guests are pretty much the "accessory" and aren't expected to talk much, but if they do and if their personality isn't sweet/cute or if they're a bit boisterous, netizens tend to be SO negative and harsh on them. I think that's because these shows have ingrained in people's minds that women should be demure and elegant at all times (giggling at all the men's jokes, covering their mouth when they laugh, keeping a straight back and legs together, pretending to "blush" to indicate their modesty, etc), although Lee Hyori from FO and Song Ji Hyo from RM don't get this hate because they've had time through many episodes to let the facets of their personality be gradually accepted by the public. But yeah anyway, I laughed at 4:15 "I don't wanna do business with you...." LOL. And the "dropped her like a hot potato" comment just killed meXD	Old, Sexism	Age - Over 65s, Gender - General	2/225	0.889
Sexism is everywhere. It's just everywhere.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/6	16.667
Enticingly Anonymous Except Japan? No way. I guarantee sexism in Japan is shit as much as Korea is.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/18	5.556
Sexism everywhere exits don't post if you don't know what you're talking about	Sexism	Gender - General	1/13	7.692
when u sed women got draged in I immediately thought of me (I rather large women) flipping a man over on to his back after grabing my rist then saying don't messwith a black belt in Taekwondo (even though Im only a purple belt) lol that would be hilarious	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/49	2.041

I reallyly dont want to pull out that cultural card here lol but, I wanted to explain a lil bit about not shaking your hands Martina.. it is considered to be rude to have physical contact with a woman , especially with married woman and infront of their husband. they would bow their head or something. It goes the same for making eye-contact as well. I agree with you how male business men are being assholes not talking to you and ignoring you.. that is just rude.. but gotta keep in mind that Korea is still a patriarchal society.. (sadly) i really hope this changes as the current generation kiddos have different mindset from the elder ones.	Elder, Woman	Age - Over 65s, Gender - General	3/116	2.586
definetely basic level of point of view, korean men have more duty than women such as national service, making money when they married, buying expensive gifts for special days...what korean women do? nothing ..except raising kids	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/35	2.857
sj kim It's about having a CHOICE. So what if raising a family is "easier" than what "Korean men do".. The fact that the woman is automatically forced into this role simply because she is female is wrong. Imagine being forced into something like that with no choice what so ever... Just because you say it is easy does not answer the fact that it takes away choice. It also prevents many females from going to school and furthering their education.	Woman	Gender - General	1/81	1.235
most korean women get a job after graduate school n more than half of public servants are female, president is also female, i'm with white girls n having happy life, they dont judge which school i graduated, doesnt care my age , salary, job, my history,once u marry to korean girl, u have to deal with her parents, cuz they control ur wife n ur personal life, they would judge u n ur school, history, job, figure,..u cant marry to korean girls without her parents permission.goodluck lol	Age	Age - General	1/89	1.124
sj kim Korean women do nothing except raising children? really? Don't generalise things from your own experience. so the only thing your mum did was rising you and you became this racist ?	Nothing, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	2/32	6.25
Ladies and gentleman this conversation has gone long enough and I believe this it will be forever in time be fought over till the day we all die.I love Simon and Martina but this conversation has struck a nerve that is starting to cross the line of incompetency of some parties.Please ignore all the difficult "insults and stupidity" of some people on here, let us not put more of our time and effort on such an important matter and waste our breathes on people who will believe in what they already believe in because in the end it will not change their minds and cause them mental breakdown and will be dangerous to the whole world.Thank you and have a wonderful day.	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/125	0.8

sj kim You really need help... the only ignorant person is you, how dare you make assumptions like that, you don't know every korean woman out there in the world, just like how you don't know every white girl who acts like blah and blah. Your ignorance is disgusting, there are plenty of women out there who are raised to work hard. Don't be that sad person on the internet who loves to spread hate and ignorance like that, you're not doing anyone any favours. Whatever, ignorance is bliss, live a happy life.	Woman	Gender - General	1/93	1.075
Ok, now you're just being ridiculous on purpose, no sane person would say that kind of bullshit. Maybe you were dumped in the toilet as a baby and now you're taking it all out on korean woman . I understand, it's okay to be angry but don't take it out on people you don't know and or will never meet, so don't make assumptions about how they are with stupid statistics that you grabbed out of your toilet born ass. Please learn to forgive! Praise White Jesus!	Woman	Gender - General	1/86	1.163
sj kimAre u unhappily married? This sounds like something unhappy people say....and you're Korean? I say that because I almost didn't catch on with the thing you said about women not being in the service because almost every woman in my family (4 generations) have been in the Army/Marines but you said KOREAN so I get it now. not trying to be an ass	Woman	Gender - General	1/64	1.562
I wish we could re-do some TLDR's with more of SooZee and Leigh's inputs. I'd like to hear what SooZee has to say about what her family expects from her and such. Because she seems very carefree and like a 'modern' woman , but might still have to face these sort of pressures a little.	Woman	Gender - General	1/54	1.852
Simon tell your woman I agree with her and I can see how and why she is getting so excited by this topic. lol Just kidding about the tell your woman . I thought it would be funny but I completely see why she would find offense at her treatment. I also understand not everywhere has Suffrage occurred.	Woman	Gender - General	2/57	3.509
I have the same problem as Martina. Incompetent girls vs. know-it-all guys in K-dramas. And general proneness of said dramas to show women as nothing more than a pretty face. That's why I stopped watching them. Just rarely do I try to find some new drama, maybe in hopes of finding some less sexist one... but usually it ends with me being just angry. Literally my blood-pressure comming up and I feel the need to punch the ones that write those dramas and also those who think this is how it's supposed to be. o(><)o	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/95	1.053
I remember one of my old boyfriends tried to drag me down the street so I reversed the situation and pulled the other way and pulled him the way I wanted to go.JUSTICE.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/34	2.941

Martina, this is really a sexism thing and i disapprove it. I am from HK and have experienced something similar in a school visit to a bank, the man who guided me and my male partner kept ignoring me but paying attention to him, it is really disgusting but I think people shouldn't escape it and face it as an important issue. Well, maybe Korea has it own culture but it is really rare for me—people who wanted to make business with you did not talk to you, you were also in charge of your kimchi company(?). I wonder how the business would came into success in my country? (I think HK people decides whether to respect you or not by your richness than your gender, so in hk if you are in charge of a business,no matter what gender you are, you are the boss.) &lt;these are just a sharing of my story and feeling.	Gender, Sexism	Gender - General	3/156	1.923
Oh, that's kind of weird, why do they need to pull women by wrist. Was it more romantic or whatever than pulling then holding women's hand?	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/26	3.846
Well, not to excuse the behaviour of Koreans toward women, esp since I have experienced the pain from that myself,and I have seen a lot of sexism. but I will say that I do think part of the reason for men not to shake hands and address Martina etc directly is the cross gender touching experience. Korea is not much of a touching culture in general and i think that a man shaking a woman's hand or acknowledging the woman in a couple will be taken the wring way, like hes trying to accomplish something or be inappropriate. I know its not objective true, and all the rest of stuff is pretty darn bad, but in terms of touch and looking, that's kinda where I think it goes.	Gender, Sexism, Woman	Gender - General	3/128	2.344
So when Martina talked about the scenes of women getting pulled away by the wrist/arm in K Dramas and I thought she was exaggerating. But then I started to watch K Dramas and in all the ones (boys over flowers, love rain, secret garden, Heirs, etc.) I have seen so far it always happens, It drives me crazy when I see it. Also I know there are different types of dramas but all of the ones that have been recommended to me have a rich male lead and a poor female lead exactly as Martina said.	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/96	1.042
I have run into the same problem. It gets really annoying and old after awhile... I tend to lean towards and enjoy those Kdramas that have a strong (and at times even "bitchy") female leads. They do exist you just have to dig for them XD. I just finished Dream High and I really liked the female lead in that one.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/61	1.639

This kind of scene just drive me crazy ...I watch and think "Really? She don't have disposal or like to be carry like a doll???"	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/24	4.167
My grandparents were born in Mexico and they lived very traditionally so all grandma did was clean and cook and grandpa worked outside, he would just sit there and wait for grandma to cook then eat and watch tv while she cleaned. And now my dad being raised like that is trying to push it on me. It pisses me off so much I have two brothers who have two arms and legs and they sit there and do nothing ! Its ridiculous come on everyone get yourself together its not oh she's a girl, he's a guy its just a person. A human being with feelings and dreams.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/108	0.926
I didn't get a scene in a Korean movie when a random waiter dragged a girl in to a club. I was just like 'what! is that the writers idea of trying to move the plot along, because it really doesn't work.' now I get it. it's so stupid though, I wish all cultures would get over old fashioned minarets. like in my family, there are four sisters and one brother, and the girls and mum aren't allowed to start our meals until the boys are served and because there are more girls, we end up getting less food. culture is just stupid.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/103	0.971
asians seem to be really racist and antifeminist. it's time to catch up with western society when it comes to acceptance.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/21	4.762
Someone commented on a situation in Poland with no acknowledging the girl... it might be just a different part of Poland or a different society but where I grew up, ignoring the girl is very, very rude and simply suggests the person is boorish and has bad manners (bad family/background). In fact most of people seem to acknowledge the woman more, even if they actually have business with the man... it's not as common anymore but when I was younger I saw quite often men kissing the woman's hand when greeting instead of shaking(happened to me too when I was like 10 yo ;) ), especially when her partner was beside... guess to show respect/something like admiration/or that they too think the wife is as precious as they believe the husband think especially so he can see that the wife is respected and given attention to. I'd say I only once saw and experienced when a girl was ignored (me) and when he left my family all agreed that he was "a peasant".	Common, Woman	Gender - General, Social Class - Working class	2/173	1.156
Julia Steiwer Um, I'm German and I've never heard this before as a rule??? In which backward part of Germany do you live???? Most people don't even shake hands anymore, unless on business or with old people.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/37	2.703

Yes that is something that I find very difficult in Korean dramas as well, you know how one woman will slap the other or talk about her and she will do nothing about it just stare back at her with an intimidating lookk..... uh no I will bitch sslap you so hard that I dare you to touch me again cause that will be the last time you see the daylight..... I bet you that..... lol my little rampage mode.	Nothing, Woman	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	2/79	2.532
Yeah I know I'm like waaaaaay and I mean waaaay late to the game, but yes, those scenes in dramas annoy the crap out of me. Beeteedubshere beeeteedubs here, spoiler alert, spoiler alert (not that it matters though, since again, I'm way late) this is about secret garden...When at first shes all bad-ass and doesn't take shit I was like "oh yes finally" but then no. no. no. Sadly no. It especially made me mad when they had the race and they were all like "Oh are you sure you can handle this?" and shes like "oh of course" and my faith was then brought up again because surely this stunt women who's worked her whole life in working with daring stunts, who ran down a damn van across the city to then beat up guys would surely be able to kick these pampered little rich boys asses in a bike contest... riiight? But alas, I was wrong. Not only does she fail, but then gets lost. Then after wards her character after the switch gets so insecure. Which in a way would make sense, but it should be like that for both of them right? No. No. No. Sadly, no. After the switch he just becomes better and somehow no one treats him like a women even though he should be one as far as the world knows. Now mind you, I haven't watched it all (again I am late to the game) I'm just around when the switch finally stops like episode 11 or so. I'm really hoping that it will be a change, but I doubt it. >UAlso poor Martina But also awesome SOOOOOZEEE ! I would love to see that happen in person lol.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/289	0.346
zelo ceekay I think it's more gender role shit again haha..... Women are suppose to be more reserved and support from the side .... I don't support this but it is pretty set in the previous generation in many asian ideal???? I don't know... My parents themselves believe this and yeah they are trying to get my sisters in an arranged marriage so.... My parents are a bit old fashioned o.o	Gender, Old	Age - Over 65s, Gender - General	2/71	2.817
Maybe the reason why they didn't talk to Martina or he didn't shake her hand because she was married to Simon and they didn't wanna insult him by greeting "his woman " since Korea is conservative but that's just a thought, the email thing was ridiculous though	Woman	Gender - General	1/46	2.174
i work in korea and sexism has some problems, esp driving.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/11	9.091

I think they change a little already,since their president is a woman !	Woman	Gender - General	1/12	8.333
Here in germany we have a female chancellor, but that doesn't mean that there is no sexism in this country.... Especially older men are saying things like "A woman should never run this country" :/	Sexism, Woman	Gender - General	2/35	5.714
The reason for many Koreans' tendency to ignore Martina is probably because of her unusual and expressive hairstyle. Yes, her being female might also have something to do with it, but it's mostly because of her looks. You know how you often hear that Korea is very fashionable with modern sense of style? Bullshit. Sure, young Koreans like being "fashionable" but you're only fashionable as long as you conform to others' definition of fashionable. Uniqueness is thrown out the window, and although this may sound like a typical racist joke, EVERYONE. FUCKING. LOOKS. THE. SAME. Yes, this is coming from a Korean. Martina has a unique style that stands out and Koreans don't like that.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/115	0.87
that's funny: in Poland quite often guys don't acknowledge girls, especially with a partner by the side. My solution is to say "hello" first, and even hug people (with a small kiss on the cheek), even the macho-est male will soften a bit, and my cuteness rating will glides up( _ ) Do Korean girls could also do that or they would be considered... slutty or something? Do anyone knows more solutions to this ( common ) rude problem?(ps: ur adorable couple! me subscribe!)	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/81	1.235
Really? :D ...maybe it's not sexist, and it's just their culture and we've seen things differently. I'm Indonesian woman , there's part on my traditional culture that having an eye contact with different sex when chatting means aren't polite, especially if he/she with his/her husband/wife. Nowadays, since we understand that some foreigners think that we've been rude to them if we don't make eye contact, so.. we make eye contact. Lol. Just consider that in other part of the world, when an opposite sex doesn't make an eye contact with you while you're both chatting, means he/she having a respect for you. :)	Sex, Woman	Gender - General	3/102	2.941
I agree they talk quickly, but it's not hard for me to understand them. Many young native English speakers speak the way they speak. It's common .	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/26	3.846
A lot of guys in college admired my mom's outgoingness and assertiveness. She was also considered witty and made a lot of money, so guys couldn't mess around with her. Sexism is still much prevalent in Korea (ugh), but there are guys out there who like the dominant, non-pushover girl. Or just don't date Korean-raised men. :p	Sexism	Gender - General	1/57	1.754
What I'm explaining is that the problem can be viewed exactly opposite of what is claimed. Women don't have exclusive rights to the word sexism	Sexism	Gender - General	1/25	4.0

About sexism , i think all the countrys have it, even in my own country Mexico. i was treated very rude on one ocassion, I was in my car together whit my father, i was driving since obviously it was my car, not my fathers, i was filling the gas tank, and then the worker ask my father instead of me, so i answer it, but he ignorme, but i got mad and told him. hey I am the driver, But he again ignore me. So i get mad, and told him. "if you dont wanna your work the right way stop working" so he only gladed at me. i was really frustrated. But now i just laught about it. he was an idiot	Sexism	Gender - General	1/123	0.813
In that sittuation... Go right ahead! I'll start a line! If you are Anyone of ANY gender grabing someone else against their will, get ready for the pain!	Gender	Gender - General	1/28	3.571
Tim , do you realize that you sound like one of those extreme feminists? I've read all the comments you left here and all you are doing is defending one sex and blaming completly the other. You think you understand equality but your behaviour says otherwise.	Sex	Gender - General	1/46	2.174
I think you mean well, but you are not letting the woman speak for herself. Avoiding treating a woman equally because it might anger her man makes her sound like property, and like her opinion doesn't matter - offending her is better than angering him? A man who gets angry for someone shaking his wife's hand is irrational. He does not own her. He does not get to decide who touches her. She does.	Woman	Gender - General	2/74	2.703
The difference is that while misandry does exist on a person to person level - that is, yes some women hate men and yes that is technically misandry - it does NOT exist as institutionalized misandry like misogyny does. Misogyny exists in politics and persists in our everyday culture - women not having the same rights, lower wage, crime against women is more frequent, etc. Grabbing someone is not ok. Slapping someone is not ok. Violence is not ok. Gender is irrelevant, this is ALL abusive.	Gender, Misandry, Misogyny	Gender - General	6/86	6.977
Maybe they don't want you to think they are being too flirty with Martina. I really don't think there is anything wrong with them assuming that you are the head of the company or head of your household. Feminist would have any scenario where Martina isn't making you her little emasculated boy toy as being an evil patriarchy . They see any situation where a man leads as the woman's slavery. There is nothing wrong with Simon being the leader.	Nothing, Patriarchy	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	2/79	2.532
Equality does not equal lifting up one sex while beating down another. Fairness is not villainizing, emasculating, ignoring, ostracizing, or taking revenge against a sex based upon the sins of a few mentally ill or alpha male jerks. That just adds up to bullying.	Sex	Gender - General	2/44	4.545

That's where you started off on the wrong foot, by saying the words "from the perspective of a Korean woman ". This shows that you were only ever going to look at it as a women problem. I watch a lot of Korean films and men in these films are mostly portrayed as emasculated buffoons, while their female costars are of course the only intelligent, competent adults around. There is a lot of violence by females against these buffoon males portrayed for the sake of humor in theses films.	Woman	Gender - General	1/88	1.136
in the new drama heirs with lee min ho and park shin hye, park shin hye grabs lee min ho by the wrist and drags him away (second episode)	Ho	Gender - Female sexuality	2/29	6.897
Martina! Not sure if you'll ever see this comment, but I thought I'd share it anyway. A guy actually DOES get dragged away by his wrist in the new drama The Heirs (Lee Min Ho and Park Shin Hye)! I think the writers must have watched your video and decided to try and appease you with this! It's around the 29 minute mark of the second episode if you want to see it. =)	Ho	Gender - Female sexuality	1/74	1.351
traditionally koreans use this term for women once in awhile "an-yuhja" which means inside woman . this applies to ALL women who has a deep relationship with a man enough to make a family or is already married. inside women does her job inside the family and does not interfere with outside stuff, including business meetings. that's the man's job. men, on the other hand, does not interfere with women raising kids and give his wages from work to women so she can necessities(inside job)	Woman	Gender - General	1/84	1.19
Just fyi in korea it's rude for man to offer hand shake first. But it's okay for woman to offer hand shake to man. That's because lots of korean woman don't like to touch other man's hand other then their boyfriend or husband. That's why lot of korean woman rather bow then shake hands. I'm the same way.	Woman	Gender - General	3/58	5.172
Even if that's the case, it does not justify this discrimination. It's a persons' own decision.Even if the risk is higher for women, there is enough risk for men as well, maybe they shouldn't be allowed to smoke in public either.And wasn't it "forbidden" BEFORE this study was published? Sorry, but that's a shitty argument.Uuhhh, driving cars in public is really dangerous for men, women and their environment... They should do it only secretly! :OSorry, but it's just dumb .	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/83	1.205
Even if that's how korean men think . I don't believe korean women think that. It's still wrong no matter what!!! Why would you do nothing and let a stranger drag you into a club? It makes no sense to me at all.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/43	2.326

"Girls have to be protected by men" is what korean men think and believe in! Pretty sexist cuz they r not exposed to wat other countries r exposed to...such as " gender equality" & powerful women like Oprah....women have to be feminine or "women-like" in South korean society...well...most likely...	Gender	Gender - General	1/48	2.083
I personally would not accept a man trying to grab me and bring me into a club. I don't know them, they're a stranger to me, and I don't know what their intentions are. I don't give a single fuck if he doesn't "hurt" me. Sexual harassment, such as grabbing a woman's ass or breasts TECHNICALLY doesn't hurt either... but it's still unacceptable as all fuck.	Sexual	Gender - General	1/66	1.515
That is not sexism towards men. When someone grabs you without permission it's self defense. No one has the right to grab anyone without permission, let alone drag them into buildings. If the roles were reversed it would still be wrong. "just because he merely grabbed you" is reason enough to slap someone for doing it without your permission.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/59	1.695
That kind of mentality leads to less freedom and more oppression. It's about having the same choices whether you are a man or a woman . And that moral decay bullshit is just propaganda you have been brainwashed with too keep you from thinking for yourself...	Woman	Gender - General	1/45	2.222
I would say that in the end being conservative is MUCH better for the country than being liberal. What is "liberal" other than moral decay. More drugs, more alcohol , more fatherless children etc. What is so good about that? I dont get it.	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	1/43	2.326
hey guys, talk about these "netizens" more.....Why have there been no crack down on these crazy beings and why have they been allowed to controlled celebrities and their management companies?? example: buying shares and having alot of say as to who and what can belong in a kpop company....i am just floored by their audacity....	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/55	1.818
It's only dangerous if a woman is pregnant, otherwise, it wouldn't matter.	Woman	Gender - General	1/12	8.333
I've heard that the reason the men don't address the woman in a couple is out of respect, not wanting to do anything that could, in any way, be interpreted as flirting/trying to steal her. It's supposed to be a cultural artifact of Confucian teachings. Having never been there myself(yet), this is all second-hand info, so take from it what you will.	Woman	Gender - General	1/62	1.613 have to say this isn't the first time i've heard of bouncers dragging korean girls into the night club. must be a pretty common incident lol. and i was advised to speak english if that happened too. LOL	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/38	2.632

Of course some women are that way, but maybe (especially in very traditional countries with strong gender rolls and expectations) some are just saying they are okay with it, because it is EXPECTED of them. That thought ever crossed your mind?	Gender	Gender - General	1/41	2.439
Smoking would be more dangerous if the woman is pregnant.... That's true I guess, but otherwise it comes with the same risk.It's just not okay, that men can smoke wherever they like but women have to hide it..If a woman is standing next to a smoking man she is "smoking", too (passively, of course). Should she hold her breath while doing so?Besides..It really makes no sense. IF a woman wants to smoke, she WILL smoke, that's it. If she has to hide it- just an annoying factor she has to consider.	Woman	Gender - General	3/93	3.226
Maybe it would be a good idea to get the opportunity to choose whether you want to serve in the army or do alternative civilian service. Neither man nor woman should be forced into that!Wouldn't it be better if you could choose and be a professional soldier? You would take your job more seriously, because you weren't forced to do it.And having alternative civilian service does a lot for society, it shapes young persons into social, responsible individuals. What do you think about that? :)	Woman	Gender - General	1/87	1.149
Korea is the perfect example of reverse sexism . you wouldn't believe how sexist and double standards korean women are.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/19	5.263
It's common etiquette that the gentlemen are not supposed to shake hands with ladies, unless the lady gives the hand first.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/21	4.762
You seem to dislike the words sexism and feminism... Ok let's say this: a lot of women think femininity is being an incapable passive human or object who needs to be protected/saved/desired by a paternalist man. This shows in the medias. Call this however you want. I don't "enforce" anything, I just mean that these female characters represent an ideal girl being dependent on men and new ideas would be nice too. I also already gave my definition of feminism and never said the word equality.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/86	1.163
I regress, different perception of sexism due to the cultural difference.Due to the constitutional sovereignty, you have no rights to enforce how people should feel. The fact is, Korean women's market signal in broadcasting industry doesn't coincide with yours.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/40	2.5
"most korean women don't find it sexist"Actually the right word would be "they don't REALIZE it's sexist". Feminism biggest intent is actually to make women themselves realize how most of them are (or wish to be...) dependent on men in many ways and how WOMEN only can make it change. And sexist means both misandry and mysoginy.	Misandry	Gender - General	1/58	1.724

Thirdly, I also find it rude that someone physically grabs you to lure you into a club. However, korean guys suffer from this kind of marketing scheme as well(phone seller, night club , cloth seller at dongdaemoon, etc.). How is this sexism ?In addition, UN's most recent world gender inequality research ranks S.Korea at 12th right bellow Canada's 11th. I think the sexism Martina finds in S.Korea is mostly related to the cultural misunderstanding.	Gender, Sexism	Gender - General	3/74	4.054
Secondly, most korean men(women) think it is inappropriate to make bond(business or friendship) with someone's wife(husband) unless it is necessary(e.g. can't get access to their husband or the business relationship is specific to that woman ). Korean guys(must have been) who refused to make bond with Martina are just being polite in korean culture. If you don't believe me, try to find a friendship between a married man and some woman which does not involve the man's wife.	Woman	Gender - General	2/77	2.597
Firstly, majority of korean drama audience happens to be korean females. The directors are just responding to what korean women like to watch. Although the drama shows a submissive female figure, most korean women don't find it sexist. You finding it sexist just means you have the different perception of the sexism .Furthermore, it's usually the case that korean guys who thinks korean drama imposes sexism . Most korean dramas promotes a male figure who has to do everything for the woman .	Sexism, Woman	Gender - General	3/81	3.704
Honestly the grabbing wrist thing is not like they're literally dragging you with them, it's more of like a taking your wrist lightly as a way of inviting you, and it's definitely not forceful, all you have to do is refuse and walk away, most if not all of them mean absolutely no harm, now a red flag would be if they actually forcefully grabbed your wrist and tried to take you somewhere against your will, then round-kick that person into next week :)	Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	2/84	2.381
the NO hand shaking thing may be related to the fact that Asian women are usually more reserved about touching the opposite gender (that,s just my point of view)	Gender	Gender - General	1/29	3.448
I hope Martina realizes that in these videos, Simon also seems to dominate most of the conversation. Maybe it's not so much sexism as the fact that Simon just talks more.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/31	3.226
I'm sorry but if you really think " misandry " is a thing that matches up to the systematic oppression of misogyny (WHICH, by the way, also effects men), you need to step back and just stop.	Misandry, Misogyny	Gender - General	2/35	5.714

And just remind, female chauvinism is also the sexism . Nobody talk about those subject even in the comment.	Nobody, Sexism	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	2/18	11.111
I enjoy the video, Those situations can happen here. But through reading comments, I see a lot of people missing the fact that women in Korean need help not in a way of correcting 50's 'machoism' but offering jobs. In fact according to the HDR 2013 - Gender inequality index that UN published(remove quotes : hdr.undp.org/en/media/HDR_2013_EN_complete.pdf ), page 156, Republic of Korea ranked 12th which is right below Canada. See the factors that determine the rank.	Gender	Gender - General	1/76	1.316
If a woman goes up to a man and slaps him in the face for no reason then yes, that is rude and horrible. However if she slaps him after him assaulting her or touching her without her permission, that is self defense and totally justified. Also, misandry is a pretty common concept, don't act so high and mighty just because you know a word.	Common, Misandry, Woman	Gender - General, Social Class - Working class	3/65	4.615
2. communicating with simon only: also very common practice in korea. if there's a group of ppl, they tend to pick one to talk and converse. even if you were two business men, not couple, they will talk to only 1 of you (usually to the more senior or in charge). so speaking only to simon doesnt qualify for a sexism , however, if they assumed simon is the one to speak to, solely because of his gender , than its sexism .	Common, Gender, Senior, Sexism	Age - Over 65s, Gender - General, Social Class - Working class	5/80	6.25
well, maybe the woman won't hit the men if he didn't grab her wrist first! think before writting shit like this!	Woman	Gender - General	1/21	4.762
Mannn As a Canadian girl from Winnipeg I tell ya if any man or woman grabbed me like that, I'd be getting 25-life for man slaughter.	Woman	Gender - General	1/26	3.846
You guys are hilarious and just riiiiiiiiight!!!! Damn so right!! I feel like having chat with my old friend hahaha drop like hot potato	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/24	4.167
Traditionally, handshaking in Korea is mostly guys' thing. I meant MEN. Usually older men offer a handshake to younger men and vow to ladies. Old days, men and women weren't allowed be in a same room when they become young adults teenage. They studied separately, eat in a different table, etc. Even doctors weren't allow touch female patients when they diagnose them. I guess this tradition has influenced a lot when we start accepting western culture.	Old, doctors	Age - Over 65s, Nationality - General	2/76	2.632

I have a female Korean friend. Her opinion is that when she moved to Canada it made sense for her to adapt and live like a Canadian. But she finds a lot of Koreans who come here mostly interact with other Koreans and carry on the patriarchy . One time a Korean guy she didn't even know came up to her at school and told her to fill up his water bottle.Of course, being the feisty chick she is she threw the bottle back at him and said no. But it told me that there's hierarchy and it's exported.	Chick, Patriarchy	Gender - General	2/99	2.02
OMG if a man pulled me in by the wrist I'd go crazy and be in shock and then would want to beat the man like hell no I am not no dog you grab and drag	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/37	2.703
LOL, the conservativeness sounds very traditional Asian. Weirdly my Hakka Chinese family and I believe my heritage in general is quite forward thinking. Yes there is a lot of emphasis on respect and duty in the community. But how everyone regardless gender is treated is equal.	Gender	Gender - General	1/46	2.174
As a korean girl, i dont know about the club, cause I have never seen or experienced one. Bt it is true that we need change in this patriarchic korean society. Patriarchy has its history really deep in Koreans mind so its hard to just ignore though. And this is where smoking thing and shaking hand thing comes from. Men does all the work. It needs change.	Patriarchy	Gender - General	1/67	1.493
You insult my nation ? Die you foreign evils!! j.k. by the way, I thought these things you guys talking about are worse in Japan.? my personal experience.	Nation	Nationality - General	1/27	3.704
why would that woman hit a man if she was grabbed and didn't want to be grabbed.Outrageous!	Woman	Gender - General	1/18	5.556
I totally agree with you, that the script itself shows sexism . Of course what happened with your friend is wrong, and I'm sorry that she had to make that experience, it must have been scary as hell.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/37	2.703
I know some taekwondo and boxing moves and I am not afraid to unleash my bit of Italian that is in me, i will go all crazy on someone who gets in my space. (1/3 Italian)	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/36	2.778

I hate women like that : Submissive woman seem to be a running thing in KDramas AS WELL AS Mangas/Manhwas..Even if they try to make them more butch by making them a disgusting eater or something, the female lead will still be all submissive & I'm like :  "You're a hardcore eater but you give in when pushed..?"It's actually really annoying :  It's so rare to find a drama/manga/manhwa where the girl is strong mentally/physically & doesn't take that whole forceful crap from the guy.	Woman	Gender - General	1/87	1.149
Regarding the club being dragged thing this happened to me! I was so confused because I was not Korean. My friend had to grab me and yell at him before the guy gave up. But she told me it's very common and because girls are passive in Korea and won't approach or show interest (even if they are interested), it's all up to the guy and hence he needs to be aggressive! She said even if you say no, but don't say it firmly enough, he will take it as a yes/playing hard to get.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/95	1.053
If you wanna see a guy dragged out of the room by a girl see the drama "K-Pop Ultimate audition". It's one of em gender swaps, pretty entertaining.	Gender	Gender - General	1/28	3.571
"slapping him just because he merely grabbed you" yes i agree sexism is wrong against men & woman but the fact that you don't think a woman should have the right to slap another man or woman because they put their hands on them without permission makes no sense i don't know where your from so for all i know it could be a cultural difference or maybe that's just how you were raised. Nobdy should have the right to put their hands on anyone else without permission.	Sexism, Woman	Gender - General	4/88	4.545
2050 technology 1950 mindest good description. I can't believe they just grab them. The fact that when she spoke english they let go means they know its wrong but its a habit that has unfortunately stuck in korea (not the grabbing but sexism in general). Yes different countries have different customs but generally many developed countries have evolved views on sex equality. I think that's something korea lacks and covers up by making it seem "cute" with like dramas, music vids etc.	Sex, Sexism	Gender - General	2/82	2.439
Oh, I didn't see your other comments. I agree with you about sexism towards men. That's also a problem (like the child thing). But what I really hate is as soon as a women gets mad about sexism towards women ppl immediately expect this person to only want women to be treated well, which is wrong. There are sure ppl like that, but I dislike the idea of some feminists (I doubt I can be called 'feminist' then...), like if there were much more women in powerful positions, the world would get better.	Sexism	Gender - General	2/93	2.151

Yes, but I'm talking in general and not of some people who did this and this, and I don't talk about overwork hours included in the salary or so. Don't get me wrong, I don't hate on men, I just dislike sexism in general towards men and women. Stereotypes/expectations pushed on both genders just because of their gender . I never thought of the chance there'd be a gender gap (since I didn't experience this so far) until some of my relatives experienced this.	Gender, Sexism	Gender - General	3/83	3.614
The only thing I'll catch up on is the "take the child away thing", which is really stupid and unfair towards the father.About the divorce stuff: Do you talk about american standards? I can't talk about that since I don't really know the base, but I would say: The one who earns, pays. There are also guys who take out much out of a divorce. It depends on who earns what and since it's still common for the w to stay home, of course the m earns more and therefore has to pay.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/94	1.064
in very many countries you would get slapped for "merely" grabbing a man or woman . it is very common that people get angry because sexism against women get discussed, because they feel this puts the men out of focus, i think this people should spend less time hunting down feminists and people discussing oppresion against women, and more time actually helping these men that they clame to care about. that applies to you too.	Common, Sexism, Woman	Gender - General, Social Class - Working class	3/74	4.054
but women don't go around grabbing men. and also men can defend themselves, they're stronger than woman . just a coward attacks someone weaker than himself	Woman	Gender - General	1/25	4.0
"Merely grabbed you"?! Grabbing ANYONE is without their permission is NEVER ok unless it's like a parent grabbing their young child so that they don't run away or get hurt. If someone grabs you I think that it is completely acceptable to pull away or do whatever necessary to get them to let go. That person could be a pedophile or kidnapper; you mean to tell me it's not ok to hit them? That is in NO way sexism against the man or whoever is grabbing you.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/87	1.149
If you watched the video you would know that he said that he hadn't experienced much sexism in Korea. Perhaps in Korea there isn't much sexism against men, but a lot against women.	Sexism	Gender - General	2/33	6.061
It was more of a cultural habit sort of transpiring itself that these business partners probably didn't even realize such behavior can be interpreted as being sexist. But as more people see this post and realize there is a sentiment of seeing this as sexism , people will adjust to the new way not to be seen as one. I suppose that's how a social development takes place :)	Sexism	Gender - General	1/68	1.471

I suppose I could say a thing about the business partner's not shaking hands with Martina. I assume those Korean partners are male and even in this modern age , Koreans feel a bit shy about making bodily contact with a married women or a woman with boy friends. Perhaps, this can still be interpreted as sexism in a subtle level since the logic comes from a notion that it's rude to bother another man's woman but I doubt that they were deliberately ignoring Martina though.	Age, Sexism, Woman	Age - General, Gender - General	4/85	4.706
lol they said that simon didn't have anything against him that they saw as sexism	Sexism	Gender - General	1/15	6.667
When I told my mom, it was just some random thought that popped up in my head, "Mom, isn't it kind of a symbolic thing for when a women changes her name to her husbands it's like she's 'owned' by him? I mean the children have the name of their parents (because they belong to their parents, which is logical) so if the woman has the name of her husband wouldn't it mean sth like that?"And then my mom told me "You're bloody stupid." (I'm croatian, btw) Ahh, poor me xD	Woman	Gender - General	1/92	1.087
Sorry for the late reply! But as for countries, I will list two in which I know for sure it's okay for a women not to change their last name. 1. America, my mom didn't change her last name, along with my cousin and a few of my former teachers. 2. China, in fact it's actually more common for the women not to change their last name.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/67	1.493
Actually, I don't completely hate the "wrist grab" scenes in Korean movies, although I know I'd hate it if my guy ever did that to me. There's something a bit visceral about those scenes and, frankly, lots of women just won't admit that they like a little bit of the possessiveness involved. What I don't get is when it's a younger guy wrist-grabbing an older woman . Aren't Koreans all about respecting their elders? Do they get a free pass if they are in love with them?	Woman	Gender - General	1/86	1.163
I think it's really odd that in a professional setting there would still be the slight sexism . you would think that they would research how to deal with North American Clients. I know that My fathers business does a lot of deals with foreign countries including Japan Taiwan China and Korea, where his company researches customs so as to not offend their foreign business partners. It's just odd to me	Sexism	Gender - General	1/70	1.429
What about racism ???	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/3	33.333
i don't really know how women can have careers in SK with this kind of sexism ? if a male is always preferred vs female ,	Sexism	Gender - General	1/24	4.167

What is Korea stance on homosexuality and transgender ?They seem to play with it a lot.Iv'e heard they are cool with it or it's illegal and you will be charged if caught.	Transgender	Sexual Identity - Transsexuality	1/31	3.226
"Female liberalist whores" <— all points about sexism proved. Meanwhile, while we wait for the "natural" women's movement, let's let some more women be walked all over, eh?	Sexism	Gender - General	1/28	3.571
i don't remember if i've commented on this, i've got a Filipino female friend who does business in Korea all the time as she imports kpop merch. she explained that's it's more of an age thing. the business men immediately asked her first how old she was and when she replied she's way more than 40 years old , she then got taken seriously. so i guess, Martina would have to wait another 12 years or so :P	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	3/77	3.896
It's really interesting what you guys are doing. From a Korean + international student perspective, I can TOTALLY relate to how you guys feel and think because I feel the same way! There is a LOT of sexism in Korea and I'm glad you guys addressed it! :))	Sexism	Gender - General	1/48	2.083
That is so funny about the beat the crap out of someone if they touch us haha true and about the kdramas the whole week girl being dragged around is I agree getting old (:	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/34	2.941
Maraca081, at the beginning, they say it's their OWN experience with sexism and they DON'T work in a Korean workplace. And sexism is ALMOST ALWAYS toawrds women. Retake English Second Language and History class :)	Sexism	Gender - General	2/35	5.714
You talk about sexism , but don't bring up sexism against men. Typical. Too typical.Google "Workplace deaths" and "Male suicide ratio" You don't care about sexism , you care about women. Worse, you don't even think about men. They aren't on your radar.Pathetic.	Sexism	Gender - General	3/43	6.977
Poor Simon. This must have been very awkward for him... And I actually have seen a couple dramas where the man was dragged away. I just hope I'll be able to work in Korea some day as some technological expert and show all those guys up - - At least sexism has made me competitive and a great programmer. Silver lining :)	Sexism	Gender - General	1/61	1.639
I've been watching your videos and they are hilarious! I stayed in Toronto for about 2 years and loved its culture and most beautiful nature! Anyway, I kinda felt strongly engaged about the idea of what being a woman is like in Korea. We are seemingly meant to be the weak and are treated unfairly merely because of the gender . I also think such old-fashioned unfairness towards different sexes are not to be acceptable. I enjoyed your video anyway!	Gender, Woman	Gender - General	2/79	2.532

Then tell your dad to get his shit together; my dad does most of the housework and he's the last son of a "yangban" family. If nothing else, reverse sexism is so strong in Korea now among the younger generation, I feel bad for the guys.. including myself.	Nothing, Sexism	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	2/48	4.167
I'm foreign to South Korea, in fact I'm African American.It might be a rare case but I visited a friend in Hongdae last weekend , and while I was walking this random guy reaches out and nearly breaks my wrist trying to drag me into this huge looking club which I later discovered to be called 'NB.' WTH??!!I was freaking the hell out. Then he starts speaking in English and is telling me to calm down so I do what I have to do to make him let go. I guess things might be changing?	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/95	1.053
with the whole dragging girls into clubs thing, what if the girls are not of legal age ? are underage girls allowed in clubs?	Age	Age - General	1/23	4.348
I really want to visit Korea, but I really can't get down with a 1950's conservative attitude. As a flamboyant, gay , androgynous feminist/human rights vocalist I don't know if I would have a great time from what I hear from various vlogs and blogs (including you guys). Which sucks because I love korean food, fashion, music, architecture and landscape. Womp wompppp. :(	Gay	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	2/62	3.226
About the the guys dropping the girls' hands like a hot potato the moment she speaks English, it kind of goes beyond racism , it's like..i dunno, racism?nationalism ? Like foreign girls have the right to resist wrist-grabbing but korean girls don't? Why?:((	Nationalism, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	3/41	7.317
Woo martina kick some butt!! I hate sexism but I'm glad you guys did this topic c: ty! Do they treat gays differently in Korea?	Sexism	Gender - General	1/25	4.0
I think that Korea is starting to "evolve" and is starting to be more excepting, I just think that someone needs to make a move, just like in North America. Gay marriage and such are starting to become extremely excepted in North America, and I hope the same thing will soon start in South Korea.	Gay	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	2/55	3.636
I definitely believe that as time passes there is less sexism in Korea. My relatives live there and I used to visit but it def has gotten better. A lot of it has to do w respect too, like its almost considered rude to touch other ppl's wife unless you are really close w them. Sexism exists EVERYWHERE I just think Korea still has a long way to go, it doesn't make it wrong they're slowly learning too.	Sexism	Gender - General	2/78	2.564

Shouldn't it bug you that somehow wives and gfs are treated as accessories of guys, to the point that they can't decide FOR THEMSELVES if they want to be addressed? It also works vice versa. If it were considered rude to talk to your spouse in front of you, shouldn't the speaker ask the wife if its okay to talk to her husband? It might be culture, but just because it is, doesn't mean it shouldn't be revisited. I'm Korean & I respect and love my culture, but that doesn't mean I stand for sexism .	Sexism	Gender - General	1/95	1.053
For the smoking issue.. Yeap. it is changing. But still smoking with elders, especially with parents, face to face is known not that polite. And the business people.. I just have no idea. They may be old fashion people, since people still think husband is the one who handle most of the decision.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/53	1.887
is so hard subject i love foreginer women, who don't like smoke and have good mental is enough:)	Mental	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/19	5.263
It's one of the reasons why I've stopped watching a lot of Korean Drama. I get so tired of seeing the female characters being pushed around like they're nothing . The only K-Dramas that I like are Protect the Boss and My Girlfriend is a Gumiho because even though the female protagonists may not be rich like the male characters they at least have back bone.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/65	1.538
I'm Korean too, and sexism pisses me off so bad to brink of thinking guys suck. I believe in the whole "girls can be sexist too" and "girls deserves equal punishments as guys" thing, but seriously, it's too much. My parents both had similar jobs for the majority of their lives and retired at the same time, yet my father did NOTHING to help with housework throughout their whole marriage. My mother still does all the fucking housework.	Nothing, Sexism	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	2/78	2.564
I don't think you should refer to all those people as "westerners". Other countries are a part of the western part too, such as Canada and Mexico. You shouldn't group everyone into one stereotype. Obviously, there is racism everywhere. There are good guys and bad guys. You can't just point your finger at one person and assume its the same for the rest of the country.	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/66	1.515
I lived in NorCal and SoCal, there is racism everywhere. I am mixed Black/Mexican/Irish and I have personally experienced racism in California. I won't say that ALL or MOST are racist , nor will I say racist , sexist, or prejudice views doesn't exist.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	4/42	9.524

Hey Simon and Martina, I read about the recent M!Countdown incident where foreign fans were denied entry into EXO's comeback despite having waited for several hours longer than Korean fans. Generally I think most KPOP fans are dissappointed by this as well as foreign exotics. I can think of a few reasons the M!Countdown staff might have done this but it still seems somewhat ... urm ... racist . Can you maybe provide more insight on why this might have been their response? Is this common ?	Common, Racist	Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	2/85	2.353
on what a few people do its like me saying that french people are judgmental because of what you just said now. I have never experienced racism before ever nor have i ever been insulted here in america as a mexican american 17 year old girl i have never been ill treated or disrespected ever so please dont judge a country you dont live in.	Old, Racism	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - General	2/65	3.077
im from california one of the most diverse places in this country so i dont know much about the racism in america because its mostly in just a few states, but what you said was completely racist . Your making assumptions that were all racist sexist people. and those threats were probably all made by preteen boys who like to laugh at reactions like yours and thats everywhere. we are not all violent we are not all racist or judgmental your judging the whole country	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	4/84	4.762
I am korean my self. i will say sexism does exist mainly for ppl who are above 30 years old . Nevertheless, statistics say unhappiness from those sexism in south korea was worse than all africa(it was one of the worst) and i had to laugh at that.... because i am pretty sure korea is the only nation with department of women...(well women had no rights decades ago so i guess it makes sense)	Nation, Old, Sexism	Age - Over 65s, Gender - General, Nationality - General	4/73	5.479
This was a very informative video. Some stuff from Korean culture that you've mentioned indeed sounds weird .I personally think that people shouldn't put "conservativeness" on the same level as drugs, violence and debauchery.I'd rather fight my way through some country's conservativeness and then feel comfortable once I get used to it and settle down, than slip into its culture in a matter of seconds without a single problem but in turn be surrounded buy drugs, thugs and whores.	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/80	1.25
Also Koreans believe the man will get mad if another man speaks to his gf or wife in front of him so when a Korean company wants do business we always address the man of the house not the woman . so please don't take it personal Koreans follow their culture... BrownRice	Woman	Gender - General	1/51	1.961

. Doctors and nurses must report unusual behavior, such as when a wounded person requires emergency care. In drawing these distinctions, the system seeks to protect the public and hold passive participants accountable, too. Also Negligent entrustment also includes sub sections on assault, battery, rape as well as several other crimes and subjects.	doctors	Nationality - General	1/53	1.887
Yes, the husband would be at fault. Not for the act of rape and/or murder, but for not doing anything about a crime happening right in front of him. There is no clause in any martial vow I have ever seen that dictates that a man is superior to a woman in any way or one that requires an obligation of open use of her body.	Woman	Gender - General	1/66	1.515
Every country has this problem. As if France is so glorious. Example: France's Government Gets Anti-Sexism Lessons (google it), 57th rank gender equality worldwide (U.S. 22nd). On Anita Sarkeesian, it was an online harassment campaign by a small group of trolls mass mailing, defacing, etc. Not millions of Americans, maybe a few but probably not the whole. Rape statistics: U.S. reported:90,000, estimated 200,000. Fr	Gender	Gender - General	1/64	1.562
Government has nothing to do with this, exept giving the rapist what he/she deserves and helping the traumatized victim. "determine" whether the sex was consensual... If she says it wasn't, it wasn't, it's as simple as that.You're the one worshipping power, wanting men to have power over women. I never said I worshipped power, and I never will.	Nothing, Sex	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	2/59	3.39
I think the problem here is that you misunderstand the meaning of rape. You think rape is okay and that it is the same thing as sex . Rape is REALLY not okay. Also, I never said anything about wanting government to rule my sexlife, I clearly stated that if he is a rapist she should leave him ASAP. When two people have sex , they should decide as much as eachother, and if soeone obviously doesn't want it, it's not sex anymore, it's rape.	Sex	Gender - General	3/83	3.614
I see your point, and it's very logical, but I don't agree. In a relationship, people should understand and respect eachother. If a man is mad at his woman , he should argue with her and try to solve it with her, and if that doesn't work he could just leave her and get a new wife. Rape doesn't sove anything. The woman will be miserable and the problem that caused it will still be there.	Woman	Gender - General	2/75	2.667
You're most probably a troll but... If a woman were to own you by law and rape you whenever she felt like it, would you be mad at her? And would you call the police?	Woman	Gender - General	1/35	2.857
I agree. Especially the " sex is disgusting" thing is something a little girl would say. It's like as if the korean men are all secretly pedofiles! Treating girls like children! Or am I missing something... O.o	Sex	Gender - General	1/36	2.778

I loved this video ! I'm an exchange student in Seoul and I love so many things about Korea. But one thing that can really frustrates me is the sexism I sometimes have to face. It's not like super mean or anything, but as a girl in the men basketball team of my college ( yeah cause there's no girl basketball team), I had to face some things like Martina did. For example, we shake hands and bow at the other team before a game, but 95 of the time, no one shakes my hand ...	Sexism	Gender - General	1/96	1.042
I don't know why you keep spewing anit American hate comments because simon and martina are CANADIANS!! simon and martina were asked about sexism in korea and they were giving their own experiences on the subject. incase you didn't notice but simon and martina are teachers in korea and have been living there and this channel is about their experiences in korea. also if you payed attention to the video you would know that they said sexism is in every country not just korea. DUMBASS!!	Sexism	Gender - General	2/85	2.353
when we cross the street they try to push me from behind and guide me as if i wouldn't be able to cross by myself, they ask me to give them my bag to carry it and on my birthday they gave me a stuffed bear!!!Korean guys treat girls like retards and Korean girls like it. what is more annoying is that most of my Korean girlfriends had sex , but they won't admit it and keep saying that sex is disgusting and a girl is a pervert if she likes it (even with a guy she's been dating for 5 years!!!!)	Sex	Gender - General	2/101	1.98
while it may not be the same level as let's say...Saudi Arabia, sexism is strong in Korea. I'm a foreigner who graduated from a Korean university and when i went to job interviews most of the questions were: oh, you're 25...so, when are you gonna get married? do you date somebody?etc. once I invited some Korean friends home and cooked for them my country's food and the guys kept annoying me to take care not to cut myself with the knife or to let them cut the vegetables for me.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/90	1.111
You're criticizing someone's education yet only backing yourself up with fallacies. You have committed Ad Hominem by attacking a person rather than their argument and non sequitor by bringing irrelevant information into an argument(discussing grammar when the main argument is gender rights).If you're so educated you should at least have backing behind your arguments.	Gender	Gender - General	1/55	1.818
I went to korea just for a week it was so much fun, so I am mexican but for some reason people think I am mix race like half Chinese half mexican so when i went to korea the grab my hand and pull me into the club i was so scared i start crying and screaming so they just didn't know what to do, hahaha it was so funny thanks for explaining.	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/73	1.37

you know what? it's your opinion...even through i believe you're wrong you have a right to believe this. you should still be respectful to others' opinions and beliefs, but instead you come off rude by saying that these women are nothing but "things" not people. to state that someone is a thing is to say that they're inferior to you, but we are not..we are all human.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/67	1.493
oh god.. people remember ... before you insult woman , if it wasn't for your mom, ( a woman ) , you won't even be here. She carried you for 9 months ...	Woman	Gender - General	2/31	6.452
should you be calling a woman a thing? maybe you're the thing since you're obviously a horrid person with sexist ideas...and not everyone on youtube writes in proper sentences...just because someone didn't use proper grammar online doesn't mean that they're not in college or a graduate.	Woman	Gender - General	1/46	2.174
I used to live in Korea (yes I am SOUTH Korean), and I have experienced many sexism as a male student in school	Sexism	Gender - General	1/23	4.348
YES YES YES YES YES This happens all the time... I'm a Korean and I hate it so much. Once at P.E. The teacher gave the boys a soccer ball and the girls got a balloon... Hello..? Um... Sexism in Korea is so obvious because of the whole "boys have to go train in the army" thing... My ethics teacher actually said that when you grow older it actually seems right because the training is really hard and all that stuff...	Sexism	Gender - General	1/81	1.235
this is not true. I live in Korea, and I am a Korean girl myself and we don't do this! Omg... I don't know where you guys live, but this it not always true. so please... can u stop insulting my nation ?	Nation	Nationality - General	1/42	2.381
I believe your experiences are quite honest and you should not be bothered. I too have experienced some prejudice based on my gender in ASIA. I FEEL YOU BRO. this topic was touchy but kudos for the great video!	Gender	Gender - General	1/39	2.564
this reminds me of my best friend's experience working at 2 different japanese companys. both are located in america and operate on japanese terms. women get no creds there, underpaid in compared to the men working there. my friend's trained two different guys who got promoted ahead of her, even thro she's the translation specialist on board and been there longer. at her old company she was one of 3 employees that spoke english fluently. most of the women at her current job have quit so far.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/87	1.149

Equality doesn't destroy anything either; do you think that a women not letting herself be ordered around destroys the relationship and parenting? A mother who's will is weaker than her own son's will definitely make a great maternal figure, surely. And look at history! Rosa Parks practically destroyed all of society in sticking up for herself, right? And Ruby Bridges only made things worse. She should've never trucked on through thick and thin , since this former discrimination was never shed.	Thin	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/80	1.25
we have a woman president... i rest my case	Woman	Gender - General	1/9	11.111
Come on dude, can't you take a joke? Jeez, calm down. You sound a little paranoid. No one's targeting anyone. Contrary to popular belief, women weren't born with superspy-crazygenes in their DNA and a burning passion to annihilate the opposite sex of our own race . 'Sides, who said anything about sugar and spice? Pretty sure you were the one who earlier made a big deal of how women are supposed to fit in the 'cutesy delicate flowery sparkles' mold. There's this word 'unique'. We're not Barbies.	Race, Sex	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	2/86	2.326
Additionally, if society years ago were to go around saying "This great person has slaves and participates in the demeaning of 'colored people', so it's surely all right and the correct thing to do" all the time, there would still be slavery and severe racism and discrimination against Africans and African-Americans and all the other minority ethnic groups as well.	Ethnic, Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/60	3.333
The only girl in a kdrama that actually dragged the guy was in protect the boss xD as for sexism I have experienced it in Mexico. I was working on a design for my aunt's company and it looked awesome and the one in charged of printing loved it, but he picked a design that was unrelated to the completely unrelated to the company. My uncle that works with him said that he overheard him saying that he didn't pick mine because I'm a girl and that I lacked the knowledge that a man had >:/	Sexism	Gender - General	1/96	1.042
.....?????? My knowledge of computers is like dat of a 90 year old lady.... So I did not understand dat.... Lol!	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/21	4.762
I think sexism against females in S.Korea will decrease in the near future considering the current president is a woman	Sexism, Woman	Gender - General	2/20	10.0
I do not view women higher than men, or men higher than women. All people are equal, no matter your gender , nationality , appearance, living style, or role in society. Therefore, all people deserve the same respect and chances in life. That's how I teach.You, on the other hand, are very quickly losing my respect. You refuse to listen the reason of those who have tried to explain, and constantly contradict yourself with your derogatory statements. I can't believe people like you still exist.	Gender, Nationality	Gender - General, Nationality - General	2/84	2.381

Here is how I believe things are: There are women who wish to be caretakers, homemakers, and and helpmates. But along with this, there are also women who wish to be lawyers, doctors , and diplomats. I do not believe a person should be forced to be in one field because of their gender . I know men who are better caretakers than women, and I know women who are better workers than men. I also know the reverse, where the women was the better caretaker and the man could work better.	Gender, doctors	Gender - General, Nationality - General	2/90	2.222
First off, you are making an automatic assumption that there are no male authority figures in my teaching environment. Second of all, you are making the assumption that as a woman , I am teaching girls to be in competition with man for dominance. That is not how I teach. Because of your predisposition, you are making very large assumptions that because I am a female teacher, that I am teaching these kids feminist views, which is a very derogatory statement towards me as a teacher and a woman .	Woman	Gender - General	2/88	2.273
my friend, as a black woman and budding lawyer, went to korea for a year to teach english, and she told me she experienced much of the same sexist behavior from korean men as you've described. my friend is the kind of person who demands respect and looks to be taken seriously when she speaks...after all, she is a budding lawyer. but long story short, she is now anti-korean bc of how the men in korea treated her.	Black, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Gender - General	2/78	2.564
Wow, you're a woman ? I didn't know they were on the internet.aside from in porn.	Woman	Gender - General	1/16	6.25
You have basically answered your own question, each persons experience is subjective so will therefore, be dependent on who you meet and where you are.Plus, it will be hard for them to gauge when they are nit black themselves. You will never get a concise answer, just have to experience for yourself I guess!	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/55	1.818
Sexism was always around in Korea. Sometimes male bosses give you reasons to quit or give you stupid reasons why you are treated at all.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/25	4.0
Deborah, I live in Korea and I once asked two black guys if they experienced more racism in Korea or in America, and they both said America. I know that doesn't really answer your question, but hey it's something.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/39	5.128
I worked with a Korean husband and wife (who were my bosses) and it got really uncomfortable. I live in Canada, and Im not used to seeing personal issues brought into workplace, but I have seen the dragging and the demeaning speech and sexist behaviour that should have been kept at home. The husband understood that they couldnt do that in Canada if she ever told him to stop, but they BOTH agreed that she is the woman , so she is the slave.	Woman	Gender - General	1/83	1.205

So this is basically what you are saying, no one will love a woman like me; who is far from domestic (i cannot even use the toaster), not the least bit lovable or even merciless, has a terrible temper and really don't bother to put on any make-up on any day, and has an acute dislike for little children?I also supposed my brains count for nothing as well? And let's be honest, no self-respecting women with common sense will ever 'leave the work for men.' We know they won't get it done right.	Common, Nothing, Woman	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General, Social Class - Working class	3/94	3.191
How do Korean's react to black people? I've looked this up and i keep getting mixed signals. Some people say that they are insensitive to black people because they have never seen them while others say black people are completely accepted. Can you elaborate	Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/44	6.818
Then I have to ask, as a woman , was I born into the wrong gender if I want more than just to be someone's playtoy? If I honestly wish to use my intelligence for something good? To me your opinion just seems closed minded, and I would be really bored. Imagine if someone told you that's all you could amount to. But, I can do the household chores as well, just... I wouldn't expect someone to make me mop the floor every single day. I'd say those people are extreme germaphobes.	Gender, Woman	Gender - General	2/91	2.198
If intellect weren't important to women, there would be no feminists. You think men planted feminism into womens heads, but you also said intellekt in a woman is not what they're searching for. If men were to appreciate women for the things you said, women wouldn't protest. Also, as mentioned before, there are many women who are intelligent, as many as men really. Please do your research before talking nonsense.	Woman	Gender - General	1/70	1.429
" Sexism is prejudice or discrimination based on a person's sex . Sexist attitudes may stem from traditional stereotypes of gender roles, and may include the belief that a person of one sex is intrinsically superior to a person of the other." wikipedia	Gender, Sex, Sexism	Gender - General	4/41	9.756
This is so interesting. I really wish you guys could talk about japans's problem with sexism	Sexism	Gender - General	1/16	6.25

”politely, thoughtfully, and considerately offered an alternative to the feminazi narratives” ? you are anything but polite and thoughtful, i don’t wish to create a ”sexless, hermaphroditic, androgynous-but anti-male- form of life” i have a father ,brothers and cousins ,it would be a shame if they were to never exist but you my friend want to live in a world with one type of women and you know what i say ”This planet is taken!” and one more thing if i am not a woman what the hell am I a banana?! 	Banana, Feminazi, Woman	Ethnicity - Asian (East-China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam), Gender - Female intelligence, Gender - General	3/92	3.261
From my understanding of East Asian sexism, how people handle rape is soooooo 1950s. Apparently in Korea, Japan, and Taiwan, if you get sexually harassed in public, like on a train, you’re supposed to just take it and not bring attention to yourself. And If you get raped, people will blame you and it will bring shame to you.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/59	1.695
so any female with a backbone to protect her own gender is now feminist? you make me laugh, you have no right to say to any woman that they are not a woman because of your own ideas, keep your opinion to yourself and stop forcing it on others and women are not characters in your shoujo manga a lot of women shockingly have personality and a mind of their own so if you like lovable, sweet, dainty, cute, and affectionate then love them just stop forcing your ideas onto others	Gender, Woman	Gender - General	3/91	3.297
Okay, first off, women and men should be treated equally with respect, but not the same. Cz guess what? They are not the same. You want em to be treated de same? All right, lets have a man get pregnant. Lets have a girl go in the army. (Yes, women should not be in de army. They risk getting raped and could get pregnant, and guess what? Guys are born with muscles, girls not. Hate to burst ya bubble) In the old days, women wore vails cz it was like they were holy, cz we are the bringers of life.:)	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/100	1.0
Anyone who is repressed feels miserable. Anyone. This includes women and slaves and any other cases of oppression. This is how rebellion starts. And unless you are a ”normal woman,” you have no ability to state this claim with any personal experience, which invalidates the claim.You as a person are valuable, I’m sure, but your contributions to this conversation have been subpar. Educate yourself. Imagine people complexly.	Woman	Gender - General	1/68	1.471

if you think women should be "sweet, feminine, cute, serene, domestic, and dainty" shouldn't a man be respectful, gentlemanly, kind, intelligent, modest, charming, and should not be douches? you seem to love telling what a woman should do and be while i would bet you wouldn't last being a woman for a day. i am convinced you are a complete and utter troll. take your business elsewhere because it is not welcomed here.	Woman	Gender - General	2/68	2.941
Funny you say that, because I don't see any of your comments exhibiting you as a nice guy. I'm not sure what you've seen in the world today, but you are commenting on the very same video in which a nice guy has married the girl of his dreams by, wonder of wonders, treating her with love and respect. Respect works both ways."Hightened sex responsiveness" is another archaic generalization you've used here. Some people are attracted to dominating guys and some aren't. Simple as that. "Next case."	Sex	Gender - General	1/88	1.136
The hightened sex responsiveness to so-called "alpha males" is true for most women BUT that doesn't mean women wouldn't want to be at the same level as them, as "alpha females".	Sex	Gender - General	1/31	3.226
And what if it is expressed as rational conversation instead of "deranged screeching"? I noticed you're taking your rant back to open space on the video instead of replying to my discourse. What if the man in a relationship finds himself wanting to spend more time with his kids and enjoys cooking? What if the woman in this relationship has a high-paying job and can be the "breadwinner" of the family? What if they decide together that this is what they want? Your archaic picture excludes this.	Woman	Gender - General	1/87	1.149
Your "Next case" is pretty much insulting, you make it sound like I'm a "nut case", which FYI is not something a woman would want to hear. You are disrespectful towards women so don't expect to get any respect back	Woman	Gender - General	1/40	2.5
Exactly!Respect here, respect there, "dominating", as you call it, rarely even happens anymore in the west. And if it does, the dominating one is seen as a lunatic . That's the way we "modern women" work, a modern woman doesn't dominate or let herself get dominated. Exept if you actually want to get dominated, which a lot of women, and men, like to do. But even then there is no force involved and they've given their consent from the start. It's a diffrent story when you try to force women...	Lunatic, Woman	Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/90	2.222
I absolutely agree with everything you've just said. Of course there are women who like to be the " underdog ", just like there are men who also like it. People need to stop bossing around each-other and just accept that people think differently.	Underdog	Social Class - Destitute	1/42	2.381

LOL but when a guy competes, is pushy and opinionated, it's all good? This hypocrite is what holds back modern society. If you don't like it, please move to Korea and stay there. Even then, I highly doubt any respectable woman would like you	Woman	Gender - General	1/44	2.273
I do want to say, though, that your preference and attraction to a certain type of woman isn't a bad thing. If you date the more soft-spoken women because you find them more attractive, that's fine, we all have our individual tastes. But do not think that your romantic preference should be the global preference. Women everywhere are not called to submit to your view of femininity, just like men aren't called to submit to the same personalities you appreciate in a friend.	Woman	Gender - General	1/83	1.205
(Continued) You express anger against women and it's making you speak irrationally. Look at people, not at gender . We can all be troublesome, or lend to debate helpfully, no matter who we are. Men can also be pushy and opinionated—what makes you say that it's only a woman's opinion that is unwelcome? Bigotry.And my worth is absolutely not related to how valuable I am to you. I have intrinsic value as a person, same as you. Your "what are you...good for" argument is repressive and egotistic.	Gender	Gender - General	1/87	1.149
If a woman is to be as affectionate as a household pet, then the man should too, not just expect her to give because they are different genders. If he want kisses, he should give kisses, and if he doesn't get them, he stops giving them. It's really that simple.I don't have any problem with women acting like dogs if it pleases them, but as for me I want it to go both ways, or I'd rather get the job done myself if you know what I mean ;)	Woman	Gender - General	1/90	1.111
How do you know? Are you a woman ? Were you a woman ? I'm not saying all women were unhappy, but you surely can't generalize and say all of them were. That's also wrong.But beyond that, why are you even here?	Woman	Gender - General	2/41	4.878
You are a troll, right? Because I can't believe you are being serious.A woman doesn't have to be any way, she can be however she wants, same goes for men. Cultivating feminine identity and values, softness, beauty, pleasure and love? What are you even talking about? That's like saying that women should be men's happiness slaves.	Woman	Gender - General	1/57	1.754
you clearly don't love and appreciate women when you won't listen to them when they say that sexism bothers them.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/20	5.0
But that's only from her own perspective, isn't it? Muslim men also have the same tradition because of religion. They don't shake hands with nor do they prefer to talk to an adult woman if it isn't necessary, although the custom is pretty much abandoned now.Even though Korea has so many idols and idol groups and actors, the people of the community are not as open as they are made to be, especially if we're talking about old people, which in this case, are probably most of the businessmen.	Old, Woman	Age - Over 65s, Gender - General	2/90	2.222

actually, i think the wrist grabbing has nothing to do with dominance but implies there is an established relationship or preexisting comfort (hence, why they don't grab foreigners or why established oppas can do it without a question of title.) not everything is about a power struggle.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/47	2.128
In the business situations that Martina was addressing, the businessman, by not acknowledging her presence, is diminishing her value as a human being (so much so, that she wasn't even worth a handshake) simply on the basis that she is a woman . It doesn't even matter whether she does most of the editing or not, but the businessman further devalued Martina by refusing to recognize her work even when Simon corrected him.This isn't an example of slight dominance; this is just disrespect.	Woman	Gender - General	1/83	1.205
I literally never once said what the world ought to be any certain way. I don't hate things that aren't my own. Yes, they may be " weird " to me, but only because it's different from what I know. I am aware of my bias and try really hard to push it aside whenever I'm trying to understand other cultures. And yeah, there are still women who do dress up for men. Fine, I don't give a shit about them. That doesn't mean every woman dresses or wears make up for men.	Weird, Woman	Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/91	2.198
Of course women and men aren't the same, since we are built differently. The thing about that though is that both are worth just as much and are just as good. Also there are no real frames for a good man or woman . I guess what I'm saying is that men and women are different and that is good. And women are worth just as much as men.	Woman	Gender - General	1/68	1.471
Why wouldn't women want to be friends with men? What if they have the same interests and just enjoy talking with eachother?But oh, I forgot. Women only care about sex , looking pretty and taking care of households in your head -.-	Sex	Gender - General	1/42	2.381
If that's so, then congrats to you. For you do have a girlfriend right?Yep, women try everything they can to be appreciated. Whatever they can.As for me, I have a boyfriend who treats me as a "real woman " in my world. He compliments my beauty, says I don't need make up because he loves me however I look. And yes he likes my childish behaviour, but also my strong one and the same for me. I love when he is adorable and also "manly", because we are equal like that.	Woman	Gender - General	1/92	1.087
I would put it like this:Preacher to man: Do you take this woman to be your lawfully wedded wife?Man: I doPreacher to woman : Do you take this man to be your lawfully wedded husband?Man to preacher: She does. Woman to man: Excuse you?Man: Sorry Woman , smiling: I do	Woman	Gender - General	3/53	5.66

The change is in every human being! :) in every society. Every woman has the choice to make others treat her in one way or another, just don't be afraid or oppressed by society!	Woman	Gender - General	1/34	2.941
I think if it's a cultural or even religious custom for the businessmen to not approach women (handshaking?) then it should be fine as long as the woman doesn't get grabbed by her wrist into a nightclub. O.o Like, it shouldn't be that extreme, you know.	Woman	Gender - General	1/46	2.174
"Most Korean women are lovely!", I'm sure they are, but are you sure they think the same about you?As for me, speaking for myself and not being a korean woman , I like men who shows their appreciation and sees women as people, not dolls, who can befriend boys as well as girls and realize that everyone should have the same rights.	Woman	Gender - General	1/63	1.587
And have you seen the easier places for women to park with a pink female logo? They are located closer to the some department stores. Like HEY STUPID WOMAN YOU SHOULD PARK HERE!Also one Korean guy said I am really pretty but I one of these too "strong womans" who nowadays start exist in Korea and should be careful of. So obviously he tought a woman should be someone who he can grab and toss around. SERIOUSLY! too bad I didn't punch him in the face...	Woman	Gender - General	2/87	2.299
dkmeller1 how are Korean woman suppose to be happy being dragged away? How can Korean women be prosperous if they are being ignored by their male co-workers? Sexism is a real issues and should not be ignored for "more important things".	Sexism, Woman	Gender - General	2/41	4.878
THANK YOU. THANK YOU! I'm a Korean that grew up in Seoul and my entire life I've been like WTF this kind of treatment (being ignored, being dragged away, etc) is NOT OKAY but everyone else was like, "... ??? watchoo talkin bout. dis is normal."It makes me feel SO MUCH BETTER that you guys have felt the same way. The next time I call someone out for trying to drag away ANYONE (female or male) I'm reassured that I'm not a crazy B; I'm respecting the human right to walk down a street unsolicited	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/96	1.042
Sexism is sexism , whether it's from the same country as our opparz or not OTL I TOTALLY agree with what you guys said about the 1950's thing, that's a perfect way to describe it!! I have a few Korean friends who I talk to online sometimes, and it seems like the guys can only talk about my gender with me . . "You have a boyfriend yet?" "What guys do you like?" "Wow, you don't wear make-up?! But you're a girl!" "You should try and look prettier for other men!" =.=	Gender, Sexism	Gender - General	3/91	3.297
People have been hollering at me and slapping my ass since I was 12, and I have several friends that have been raped! So, sorry if I get jumpy when a guy comes up and grabs me! If you say that that stuff is not as bad in S. Korea, I could believe that. But sexism and harassment happens everywhere and every culture has stuff it needs to work on!	Sexism	Gender - General	1/70	1.429

I live in Scotland and it saddens me to say that I think sexism exists worldwide, some countries are just a bit more casual about it as it is part of their culture whereas others are becoming less comfortable about any form of sexism (ie to men or women) . also great video :) thanks! :)	Sexism	Gender - General	2/56	3.571
10 67 of all Canadians say they personally know at least one woman who has been sexually or physically assaulted.11 More than one in ten Canadian women say they have been stalked by someone in a way that made them fear for their life.12 The cost of violence against women in Canada for health care, criminal justice, social services, and lost wages and productivity has been calculated at $4.2 billion per year.	Woman	Gender - General	1/72	1.389
7 Since only about 10 of all sexual assaults are reported to the police, the actual number is much higher.8 Half of all women in Canada have experienced at least one incident of physical or sexual violence since the age of 16.9 About 80 of sex trafficking victims in Canada are women and girls.	Age, Sex, Sexual	Age - General, Gender - General	4/54	7.407
3 Since only 22 of all incidents are reported to the police, the real number is much higher. As of 2010, there were 582 known cases of missing or murdered Aboriginal women in Canada.4 Both Amnesty International and the United Nations have called upon the Canadian government to take action on this issue, without success.5,6 In just one year in Canada, 427,000 women over the age of 15 reported they had been sexually assaulted.	Age	Age - General	1/74	1.351
Since crime rates in Canada are falling, violence against women is still a serious problem.On average, every six days a woman in Canada is killed by her intimate partner.In 2009, 67women were murdered by a current or former spouse or boyfriend.1 On any given day in Canada, more than 3,000women (along with their 2,500children) are living in an emergency shelter to escape domestic violence.2Each year, over 40,000arrests result from domestic violence—that’s about 12 of all violent crime in Canada.	Woman	Gender - General	1/79	1.266
Korea is definitely interesting. It is a culture that to an outsider looks super-Americanized, but just like any foreign culture not everything is ”on the surface”. Simon and Martina definitely over-apply North American morals and societal expectations to Korea at times, but that’s what they know and what people that live in North America use as a measure for foreign cultures.NOTE: Gender and gender roles are extremely tricky, especially in the context of morals and ethics.	Gender	Gender - General	2/77	2.597
I was not talking what boyfriends do with/to their girlfriends. I was talking about my discomfort with sexual harassment in BOTH cultures. And saying that it part of their culture does not make harassment or forcing someone okay!	Sexual	Gender - General	1/38	2.632

I was thinking that maybe they don't acknowledge Martina cause she's married. I remember hearing or reading something about how there are certain things you must not do when dealing with a married couple. Holding eye contact was one and I think touching was another. But they could also be sexist lol In the Business world woman are inferior. Next time you should surprise them and be like "Ooooh Simon couldn't make it so TALK AND LOOK AT ME!!!!" hahaaha ;D	Woman	Gender - General	1/81	1.235
Interesting... I just did a paper about gender roles in Korea using missA's I Don't Need a Man and your Kpop Music Mondays about this and your blog post. Then I found this after I turned it in.... I credited you guys of course. :)	Gender	Gender - General	1/45	2.222 or are forced to quit to raise children. That or they don't take it seriously, because their husband supports them and her extended family. Although my experiences personally, alot of dates and meetings haven't succeeded well because I'm not a very gentle person. It's just a common Korean standard. Younger men though are definitely more openminded, aware of the economy and how society can't be compatible with things like they are and think strong women are also really attractive and admirable.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/81	1.235
if i may point something different, men do have a lot of social pressures and expectations to live up to, because of such a patriarchal society. Alot of women can get away with doing things that otherwise would cause a man to ruin his life. For example, not having a job. A man graduated from college is expected to find a good job, settle into his job, meet a nice woman and get a job and start supporting himself and his family within only a few years. Women often quit their jobs when married....	Woman	Gender - General	1/94	1.064
all over Asia, women are getting educated, learning of their own power, thus leaving old mindsets behind, so the rise of the educated Asian lady. Smoking and all of that can go along with that personal "growth" (as dating outside of their countrymen), so anyway, the birthrate goes down. The more guys who insist on submissive women, the more the catalyst for women to grow and learn. Education is a wonderfully dangerous thing.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/73	1.37
I adore you and admire your eloquence and the way you present issues going on in Korea and the way you feel about them .I agree with you on things about Korean dramas and sexism in it, and i am pretty shock about K men behavior towards Martina and ignoring attitude when it comes to business. I hope you find the best way to deal it with it and not get emotionally hurt because of it.Love and Light from yr new Serbian Fan <3	Sexism	Gender - General	1/84	1.19

Hi freakinlocket, sorry but you had completely misunderstood my point. Did you read ALL of my comments? If you have read ALL of my comments then you will understand my point. Please read BadassBikerOwner's reply to herzmn594,he stated"It's true, Arab women may not rise up the political ladder as a woman in the West,you'll never find an Arab woman being exploited in the sex industry". It's HIS statement, not mine. Please read ALL of my comments then you'll have a clear understanding. Regards.	Sex, Woman	Gender - General	3/83	3.614
I meant 'Exact Same' personality... I did extensive research on the Personality of identical twins(scientific studies on thousands of sets of identical twins in the Us and worldwide) and it's amazing to learn that each twin has a very distinct, different personality(from interviews of each set of twins, their parents, siblings, friends). It's definitely the case of 'Yin' n 'Yang' Thus, each woman or human has a different, distinct personality regardless of her/his nationality, ethnicity .	Ethnicity, Nationality, Woman	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General, Nationality - General	3/75	4.0
....it's absolutely erroneous to generalize all women or all men of any race, ethnicity as having the same mentality, personality and view , like and dislikes on all subjects in general-life, philosophy, politics, sports, entertainment, food, s x, etc. Don't you agree? For example, are all the women and men in your family, think of all your relatives on both sides of your family, do they all have the exact personality,mentality, likes and dislikes on myriad of subjects in existence?	Ethnicity, Race	Ethnicity - General	2/79	2.532
Well I'm glad to hear that you're also knowledgeable on that extremely evil, heinous reality-Human, Children Trafficking. I read many of your comments on your channel page. From my analysis you are an intellingent, logical thinker. Would your logics, intellectual faculty agree with my deep analysis(I'm eternal, incessant analyzer) in regards to woman and man or any human that each person is an individual with a distinct, unique personality. Therefore it's erroneous to general all women, men	Woman	Gender - General	1/77	1.299
I meant how about those young arab...Secondly, I lived in the US, I have worked with and have at least 6 female friends(I have dated 3 of these female friends) that are Arab immigrants from Egypt, Morroco, Libya, one is from Saudia Arabia. All I can say from empirical, personal experience you are absolutely wrong about it's easier to hook up with a Caucasian woman then an Arab woman . Not every woman has the exact personality. Some are conservative, some are liberal minded about s x.	Woman	Gender - General	3/86	3.488

I'd have done extensive research on Global Human trafficking since 95 so I'm pretty cognizant of the subject. My reply was specifically directed at your statement "you'll never find an Arab woman being exploited in the sex industry". You meant there aren't any female Arab pornstar that is of a celebrity status. How those young arab or south Asian muslim girls that are forced to performed in the underground 'home porn' movies by the South Asians, Arab porn rings/gangs.	Sex, Woman	Gender - General	2/79	2.532
My reply was directed at your comment"you'll almost never find an Arab women being exploited in the sex industry". You meant commercially as in infamous Arab female pornstar. I was speaking of the underworld and underground,low budget porns produced by Arab, South Asian porn rings. I did extensive research on the topic of Human trafficking at least 6-7 years ago my friend.	Sex	Gender - General	1/62	1.613
In fairness, Human trafficking, Sexual enslavement of children, girls, women are horrid, despicable practice that occurs in many countries even in the US. Just because you BadassBiker were not cognizant of it, it doesn't equate to its non-existence in the Arab countries. By the way it's estimated that each year tens of thousands of young girls, women are trafficked to those affluent Arab countries.	Sexual	Gender - General	1/64	1.562
Hey Badass... please google The Dark World of Arab Child Slave Trade, it will enlightened you to the underworld of Human Trafficking, Human Enslavement of the conservative estimate of hundreds of thousands of men, women, children. I challenge you to do investigative research in the sexual enslavement of tens of thousands of young Arab girls, women and young muslim girls,women (from impoverished countries) that were bought and sold or conned by the modern Arab slave traders.	Sexual	Gender - General	1/76	1.316
Are you kidding me of "you'll almost never find an Arab woman being exploited in the sex industry" Badass...? Have you ever done any investigative research of Arab girls, young women and other muslim girls, young women from impoverished countries that were bought and sold or conned into the underworld of sex brothels in affluent Arab countries. Why don't you do some investigative research and ascertain the facts, truth then I'll will share with you my extensive research.	Sex, Woman	Gender - General	3/78	3.846
yeah I really dont doubt that at all. But at some points what we see as " sexism " may not be sexism in other countries. Like in germany we had a really big debate the past weeks because a politician told a "female interviewer" that she looks beautiful in her dress. People said thats sexism and judged him for that.But I know that in spain woman feel really offended if they dont hear any compliments the whole day. There are a lot of examples like that just as the "hand shaking" thing.	Sexism, Woman	Gender - General	4/92	4.348

thank you !! THANK YOU a thousand times I was not able to explain myself this properly because I felt like I am not able to explain what I mean but this is it.EXACTLY!!Whats seen as sexism in western countries may not be sexism somewhere else.I know it seems hard to understand but thats how it is.	Sexism	Gender - General	2/59	3.39
dragging girls in is an actual thing..? THAT'S DUMB	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/9	11.111
CAN YOU PLEASE PLEASE PLEASE DO A TLDR with korean real life vs korean dramas im glad you brought in the sexism aspect but i guess you can get a little variation with a strong female character in city hunter. but i want you to compare like what to koreans think wealth is. when they show a wealthy character they have this huge mansion but im pretty sure most people in korea dont have big massive houses. is this just koreans way of perceiving american wealth? thank you!!!!!!!!!!!!	Sexism	Gender - General	1/88	1.136
The girls being dragged is common in Korean clubs in Los Angeles. It's all for show. The waiter offers to cover their tab as long as they are willing to go from table to table flirting with the male customers. If the girls really do not want to go in, they don't have to. It's kind of an act like," Clubbing? I really shouldn't but since your dragging me in and covering my tab, I guess I have no choice but to dance and drink all night for free."	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/89	1.124
every human being deserves dignity. domestic violence is rampant in korea. dignity is not a western value, it belongs to every person, asian african , european et c.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/27	3.704
Excellent episode! I am ethnically Korean and was born in Australia, I would love to live and work in Korea for a short while, but I can't because of this sexism issue... I'm just not going to bother. It's that bad. <3	Sexism	Gender - General	1/42	2.381
This actually makes me curious to research sexism in Japan because I plan on going there after college. So thank you for doing this video :)	Sexism	Gender - General	1/26	3.846
Well no matter if it's in Korea, Africa, Chile, USA or whatever the main point is that sexism has to stop like really	Sexism	Gender - General	1/23	4.348
Many Polish men won't shake a woman's hand too, unless the woman initiates the gesture. It's considered impolite to shake hands with a woman because it is such a 'manly' thing to do. If a guy is really suave he will kiss the offered hand, which I find more offending than not shaking it.	Woman	Gender - General	2/54	3.704
Out of curiosity, how do you ACCIDENTALLY have sex with someone? Is it like "Oops, my pee pee went in your va-jay-jay. MY BAD."	Sex	Gender - General	1/24	4.167

they talk to Simon because in Asian culture a lot of the time, because your married, they wont talk directly to the wife so the husband wont be offended or become angry that other men are talking to his wife. it's weird i have to admit but it's something i have seen in Japan a lot and with my Korean friends.	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/61	1.639
thanks for saying so actually I really admire and appreciate majority of korean "culture/mentality" I cant say the same about our western society it seem so "lost" sometimes as if we dont have any tabus and frontiers as if there is nothing we can relay on and call our culture besides CONSUMING 24/7 ... :/	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/55	1.818
I think it would be interesting to see this from a Korean's perspective. Coming from western society, it's really easy to think that super patriarchal societies might be "weird" or need to change, but sometimes, the people from the country in question have no problem with the way things are, and in fact, don't want it to change. You do you and I'll do me It's always important to remember that different cultures place importance on different things.	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/79	1.266
I think even in America, if it's not for a business meeting, it's awkward. I'm a woman . I think we've gotten past the hand shaking. I'm more used to saying hello, in some cases bowing, or if I really know the person hugs or waving hi. Shaking hands puts me off. I really don't know what to follow it with.	Woman	Gender - General	1/60	1.667
haha yea i know... but one can still hope right? I mean not just because her as a president perhaps Korean society in general.. I just hope that gender slander gets better in Korea either way.	Gender	Gender - General	1/36	2.778
I wish there were korean subtitles so that I could show this vid to other korean people(especially guys.-)who can't speak english very well. In Korea, when a girl and a boy have sex accidentally, it's the girl who gets all the blame no matter what. People always think that the girl played on the guy and the guy didn't do anything wrong, especially when the guy is good looking. I know not all koreans are like this but... Well, I lived in Korea til last year and that's what I think.	Sex	Gender - General	1/91	1.099
who are we actually to always decide on whats right and whats wrong ? Just because OUR western society is like that I think its the most annoying thing to do. It just annoys the shit out of me how western people are ALWAYS trying to change other cultures and make them to the "same" as theirselves just because they are so fucking convincec theirs is the only right one. NO its not and the reason I love korea is because of their beautiful culture and because of the value they give to a woman .	Woman	Gender - General	1/95	1.053

I love a lot of things about modern Korean culture, such as the music, style, etc However, I do feel that there is a lot of focus on physical looks and material things. When I watch Korean shows (not just K Dramas) but variety shows and interviews with K Pop idols a majority of the conversation is focused on how attractive someone is or how rich they are. I'm not saying that this doesn't happen in america but it is more out in the open. The topic of light skin bothers me also because I'm black .	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/96	1.042
In korea as far as I know touching the "Skin" of the other gender is quiet "intim" therefore especially when her boyfriend or in this case her husband is next to him you are not supposed to do that cause it will offend the "husband/boyfriend" ;) its not sexism they are just trying to not offend simon and also not to make martina feel bad because from a korean point this hand shaking wiht an other guy could lead to a relationship crisis (jealousy and stuff) soooooooo yeah Martina see it that way ;)	Gender, Sexism	Gender - General	2/94	2.128
Maybe because they were not comfortable talking to or staring at or touching (shaking hands) women they don't know, not because they undermine the female gender but because they don't want to be mistaken or offend them	Gender	Gender - General	1/37	2.703
The hand shaking thing sounds sexist but it also has an old fashioned air to it. I'm American and in my 30's and when I was younger I have experienced men addressing my then partner and ignoring me and its a way of men respecting each other to a degree by not having physical contact with a man's wife/gf. Same with the wrist grabbing. When I was younger, it was common for a guy to grab the wrist of a random girl on the street if he thought she was pretty to get her attention.	Common, Old	Age - Over 65s, Social Class - Working class	2/95	2.105
just another perspective on the shaking hands thing: I am american and to me it seems weird to shake a woman's hand. I don't know why, it's not because I think women aren't worthy of my respect, but it seems to be a man-man interaction. For example, you are supposed to give a strong hand shake. imagine I gave a strong handshake to a woman , that would be so strange! usually I shake a man's hand, and wave and smile to a woman . does that make me look sexist??	Weird, Woman	Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/89	3.371
WOW, that's way below the line. FYI, SoKor's president is a WOMAN . So, yeah... STOP GENERALIZING!	Woman	Gender - General	1/16	6.25
let's flip this around: a korean guy who has lived in the u.s.a for 5 yrs, has a poor understanding of english, doesn't work with other americans, and has never went to an american school wants to make a video and talk about american sexism . he might be half right at best.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/52	1.923

Hmm? Their experience on sexism ? From what I see, this is ASIA in general. No, I am just talking about China, Japan, and Korea but almost all Asian countries like Malaysia, Philippines, India etc. Here in PH, it's the same in some degree except for dragging someone out... that usually happens when some guys wants to be your BF. And oh yes, when you're married and u are w your husband, they usually talk to your hubby not you, so what we usually do is channel our message to the guy...	Sexism	Gender - General	1/91	1.099
I am learning Korean in uni and my teachers are all from Korea. The stories they relate on Korean culture (it's not acceptable for a woman to go out without makeup and hair done or you will be pointed out and basically mocked) are quite terrifying, tbh.	Woman	Gender - General	1/47	2.128
I feel that there's also this weird objectification of women in Korea that we don't see in the states. Guys don't obviously stare at women all the time, or make sexual comments about girls that they don't know all the time. I feel like when I'm with Korean guys they feel the need to make derogatory comments about women to show off their masculinity, but in the states while yes you can do that, you just look like a creep...	Sexual, Weird	Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/80	2.5
TLDR is common . Like "OMG" or "BTW".	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/7	14.286
I've experienced sexism in Korea when I visited. My boyfriend and I went in November and the hotel staff spoke mostly to my boyfriend, which was strange since I'm the only one who speaks Korean. Also when we ordered food or coffee they always ignored me and talked to my bf. I'M TALKING!!! LOOK AT ME!!! ;kh;dfjkahs;dkgasljd hfgq;su!!!	Sexism	Gender - General	1/57	1.754
Yes, I'm so glad u mentioned the wrist-pulling thing in kdramas. It irks me too! I know it's probably a North American thing (as well as many other countries) but it is so not acceptable to force a woman to do something she doesn't want to do. Good luck Martina, hope you finally get that respect....and handshake lol	Woman	Gender - General	1/58	1.724
I'm Korean, and I hear sooo many things from my Korean male friends about how they would never date an "ugly" woman ("ugly" meaning anybody that doesn't look like a perfect idol or movie star). It's extremely shallow, arrogant, and sexist, as if the only thing important about a woman is their looks. I always shoot them down saying, "Yeah, because a good-looking woman with a shred of self-respect would want to hang out with a sexist jackass like you?" That shuts them up nicely.	Woman	Gender - General	3/85	3.529

simonandmartinabonus : The reason for people not shaking Martina's hand is simply because Koreans adopted this greeting not too long ago and still think it's just a male thing, since mostly guys were doing business in the past. It's just not common for women to shake hands in Korea. I don't think it has anything to do with sexism , it's just a cultural confusion.	Common, Sexism	Gender - General, Social Class - Working class	2/64	3.125
thats weird .. i would shake hand with martina..definitely...! im a women too..! LOL! this comment is weird too!	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/18	11.111
I believe they explained in another video that holding hands between friends of the same gender is very common in Korea, even between old male friends.	Common, Gender, Old	Age - Over 65s, Gender - General, Social Class - Working class	3/26	11.538
Im curious about friendship between boys in south korea specially between idol members. they seem so close to each other, they even hold hands :) Is that really common in south korea? Because many of my friends who dont know kpop thought that they were gay . Like this if you're curious too. Thanks :	Common, Gay	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality, Social Class - Working class	3/54	5.556
I'm a free woman jajaja that's it..	Woman	Gender - General	1/7	14.286
asian culture. because if they just sit there, and wait for immigrant spread the their culture . That is totally wrong thing... Your guys should be aware of that, with just one side People( asian) try to co operate with westerner, than they would get the trouble... my country first civilization started in A.D. because of that our ancestors discovered a lot of different knowledge.... if your guys mad Im sorry, But I have been living north america for over decade now basically this feels	Immigrant	Nationality - General	1/85	1.176
It's happened so much that the Korean Government have to official say sorry to our country. As you may know, Vietnamese woman is around the world but why it happened only in Korea? So I think you should look at the problem more open. I'm not saying all Korean are bad but sometime they're really hot temper and violent.	Woman	Gender - General	1/59	1.695

thank you so much for this video!! it has informed me a lot about sexism in Korea. I will be there for 18 years with my korean navy fiancé to be :)	Sexism	Gender - General	1/32	3.125
around 8-10 years ago..but he said, it was out in public. Said he was gonna help the woman but his friend didnt let him and just said that it was normal there..I have tried telling him, that things might be different now and these happen everywhere, but he won't listen :(	Woman	Gender - General	1/53	1.887
A Korean friend of mine recently asked me if she should get the 'eyelid surgery'. I was aghast, because I think she's beautiful, but my questions is, how often do you hear about plastic surgery. I've heard other (Korean) friends mention surgeries they want too. Is this really so common ?	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/50	2.0
I think what MIZKable meant was that that's how some Koreans view women, that they "belong" to their partner. That others shouldn't come into direct contact with the woman if she's with a man... I don't know, sorry, this is coming out the wrong way. But it is problematic, I fully agree.	Woman	Gender - General	1/52	1.923
Sounds weird just because when something belongs to someone It's because is a thing, thats the problem, women arent a thing you can own.	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/24	4.167
it is deeply disturbing to lay claim on another person regardless of gender , the notion of 'belonging' to someone regardless of male/female/other can quickly descend into abuse. We belong to no one but ourselves.	Gender	Gender - General	1/34	2.941
well i went 2 years ago and didnt see any of that...but really abuse like that is not limited to just one culture my case in point being that i see a lot of parents abusing their children or boyfriends abusing their girlfriends in public. All I am saying that mean people are mean whether they are korean, american, british, african , or japanese.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/63	1.587
Some ppl have the perspective that guys should be better than girls 'casue korea used to have a strong confucianism in their history.(some old ppl still have these perspectives) not only korea, lots of country had these thinkings too. but there are some idiots who still think this way without reasons. girls belongs to mans? i would just smack his head if somebody says thatadditionally, not all kor guys beat up with girls in public, those are the ones that will never have a wife in their life	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/89	1.124

think that was just a language barrier comment.I do think, it an important cultural difference, respecting another couples relationship is lose in the United States. This is just my opinion, but I feel it is better for society as a whole to respect anothers relationship, after all if the woman or man, did not want to be in the relationship, they would not be there. In the US, some take it as almost sport to go after married women, but then again, the US is in serious moral decline	Woman	Gender - General	1/90	1.111
Him pulling your mom to his side is good, you shouldn't think that it's ok for a man to behave like that towards you (Women). You should be thankful he doesn't think a man should treat a woman like that. Also, I am like you very interested in Korean culture... I mean each culture has it's positive and negative sides.... take only what is good, be careful about the rest...Cheers!	Woman	Gender - General	1/70	1.429
yeah. i'm dating a korean guy and i met all of his friends the other day. i noticed that some of them are very careful. they didn't try to touch me, and a few barely made eye contact. they almost seemed scared. they talked to me, sure, and they were trying to be a little less detached, but i thin it's only because we're in America. But i noticed this. yes, i disagree that i belong to anyone, man or female, but it is something i think Korean men do.	Thin	Physical Identity - Physical Features	1/90	1.111
I know that you mentioned you don't like talking about your experience [with sexism] teaching on your blog, I think it's important... Just as important to know that one (your) experience is not dogma and while you may not have had a totally awesome time teaching, another woman may have a wonderful experience teaching, however, as a woman that wants to teach English in foreign countries, it would be nice to have a more informed idea of what a woman can expect while doing so... Thank youforthevid!	Woman	Gender - General	3/87	3.448
Yeah....that's still incredibly sexist and fucked up. Gender roles can go fuck themselves.	Gender	Gender - General	1/13	7.692
My experiences from being a normal, male Korean guy, I cannot deny that there are still quite a few " OLD " people who believe women should behave in a conservative way but most people who are in 20-30s don't really give a crap about those typical gender stereotypes anymore.	Gender, Old	Age - Over 65s, Gender - General	2/48	4.167
I think what Simon and Martina seem to fail to realize is that the good things they mention in the beginning of the video about Korea are in a large part due to the Sexism that exists in Korea. Society is built around Men. When men deal with men and exclude women it simplifies the system. I think as far as the most successful system that includes sexism , but allows women's success would be Korea	Sexism	Gender - General	2/75	2.667

Usually its the husbands who provide for the family and the wife stays at home to take care of the house and the children. My boyfriends father recently gave permission to his mom to work - -' My boyfriend also told me that (i'm not sure if he was trying to trick me lol) when a korean girl gets married she stays with the boyfriends parents so his mom can teach her how to cook and clean for their family... but his family is really old fashioned and traditional so.. yeah..	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/90	1.111
I wish there was no sexism at all.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/8	12.5
There is a lot of sexism in india, mostly women are to be subservient to men, & not drink/smoke & stuff. I find it that indians are sometimes narrow minded & want to follow ways of the past where there are still arranged marriages & there is no dating. As an indian girl living in US, I am caught between growing up & learning to be an independent woman in society while, at home, I am probably gonna to be forced to marry someone I dont know & juggle taking care of the house,kids, & job.	Indian, Sexism, Woman	Ethnicity - Native-American, Gender - General	3/96	3.125
Hello, it is not about the Nazi . It originate from Hidu word meaning " to be good". If see this on the korean street, which represent some Buddist temple or related place as I know. If you want to know more, just google it wiht "sawatika".	Nazi	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/46	2.174
I have never been to Korea but I have sorta experienced sexism with Koreans here. I was at a friends house (Young korean girl. Has been here for a few years.) Well when I went to leave I was asking her some questions and the guy that was there wasn't letting her awnser. He was jumping in and awnsering the questions before she could get two words out of her mouth. I don't know if that would be really sexism but it seemed like it to me.	Sexism	Gender - General	2/87	2.299
The chances are, if this is exposed to sites such as Ilbe, than you'll be bombarded with trolling comments...just make sure they don't get hold of this video..although considering most of the people are uneducated, biased, and fascist-like beings, so chances they don't understand the English is quite great tooBTW sexism in Korea is actually worse than you guys described. But it works both ways. Korean ministry of gender equality is actually ministry of women, but all they do is femi-nazi stuff	Gender, Sexism	Gender - General	2/83	2.41
Guys!!! please help me so Martina and Simons see my question.I live at Korea as well; and something that's scares me is does building that has the Nazi mark, do you have any idea for what are those places? :(	Nazi	Ideological and Political Identity - General	1/41	2.439

if you think kdramas have sexism you should watch thai dramas where a guys rapes and beats, kidnaps and get the girl in the end now that is just horrible, even in twainese dramas you will see a guy slape a girl if though it is sometime the second female lead that still doesn't make it right nobody deserves to be hit	Nobody, Sexism	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	2/62	3.226
Hey guys! Do you know what Korea's relations are with other Asian countries? I ask this because I heard that Korea and Japan (and I think China) don't get along with eachother and that confuses me since K-Pop groups go to Tokyo a lot. I don't mean to sound racist or rude, but I've always been curious.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/57	1.754
I've never seen anything like that while living in Seoul, and actually as Martina was talking about a girl dragging a guy by his wrist I remembered that it is quite common there, I've seen a lot of girls doing that and even "beat" (not like to death) their boyfriends in public, and it was the first thing actually that my husband spotted. I don't know about smoking, but korean girls don't bother to get drunk in public, really drunk	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/80	1.25
Carol Lopez you never know who is and who isnt. For the love of god, and what if they were. They all sing the same way and their sexual preference have nothing to do with you or your parents. Wake up	Nothing, Sexual	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	2/41	4.878
How can i explain to my parents that kpop idols are not gay . i showed them a poster of tvxq all five members and both my parents thought they were gay .	Gay	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	4/31	12.903
Nobody wants to shake her hand because they are worried the hand will come back looking like she does, a radioactive clown.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/22	4.545
Most Korean women work in the cities. If you're a housewife than your husband must be a really strong wage earner. So no it's not viewed in a bad way at all. Women CEO or women in high position is still not that common but slowly more and more are coming up. As far as wife being treated harshly, Korean women are quite fierce. Many won't stand for that. And getting a divorce isn't hard to do.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/77	1.299
I want a sexism in Korea part 2. If not, racism in Korea?	Racism, Sexism	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	2/13	15.385

Hi Simon and Martina, i know many people have asked you to talk about racism in S.Korea, so what sort of attitudes towards foreigners are seen in S.Korea? And not just with N.American, black , and southeast asian people...but towards other ethnicities as well like Middle Eastern people, Europeans, Latinos etc.. thanks.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/51	3.922
Actually, I think that sexism exists everywhere in the world. Especially towards girls. However, I think that it is strongest in Asian countries. I think that most Asian countries still follow that old "respect" tradition. Sure, it's good to keep tradition, but COME ON PEOPLE! Its freaking 2013, not the olden days. Traditions are fine by me but if that butts people in a bubble, it's too much.	Old, Sexism	Age - Over 65s, Gender - General	2/68	2.941
i think in Protect the boss, that the main female character was a bit more dominant than woman in most dramas. i really liked that.	Woman	Gender - General	1/25	4.0
You can see sexism with Koreans outside of Korea. I used to be really tomboy-ish but when I tried to do something like carrying something my brother did, my dad would tell me not to do it. Also, at my church I would put away chairs and tables, but guys would tell me to just sit down. I hated that so much that I sort of gained muscles and shows that girls can do as much as guys. Now people aren't as sexist lol	Sexism	Gender - General	1/84	1.19
Regarding the handshakes, I think they don't shake your hand because you're Simon's wife. Koreans have this thing where people try not to get too close, atleast skinship-wise, to the opposite sex , if said person isn't single or they're not single.	Sex	Gender - General	1/41	2.439
whats gay in korea?	Gay	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	2/4	50.0
man, i always think martina's earrings are heartless, not owls. lolwow, sorry about the sexism you experienced martina, that is soooo dumb ? ):the club thing... OMFG??????????????	Dumb, Sexism	Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/28	7.143

Hi EYK and the crew! Since you guys talked about sexism , I got curious about racism in South Korea. Not just for foreigners, but is there some kind of classism/ racism apparent in Korea?	Racism, Sexism	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	2/33	6.061
maybe the reason they don't talk to martina isn't because of the fact that shes a woman , but that shes simons girl and if they did shake her hand they wouldn't know how simon would react...? maybey? and also I would beat the crap out of someone if they touched me like that jaja XD	Woman	Gender - General	1/55	1.818
I am thinking they do not shake a woman's hand because they have weird experiences. I am a Korean who grew up in Canada but whenever I try to shake a woman's hand they kind of shake it as if they were forced. I am not saying this is for all women..and maybe it is the ones I met..but it is a mentality deeply rooted in the Korean culture. So try to be more understanding. Maybe Korean men who you met do not want an awkward situation.	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/87	1.149
Korea's gender equality ranking was 108th out of 135 countries.... When I see these TV insurance commercials where they say stuff like "each month you will be given 15000 won for men and 12000 for women" it fucking annoys me. And my dad keeps on telling me stuff like "Since you're a girl you have to act ladylike" and I'm like WTF FUCK NO THIS IS WHO I AM....	Gender	Gender - General	1/69	1.449
So the certificate is called CELTA. Google it and take the link directing you to cambridgeenglish( DOT )org =)My cousin did it and got to teach English in Sichuan, China (she is aSwedish citizen with Swedish as her mother tongue). And just for the record, to teach in a Chinese school without being Chinese is not an easy task... ;)	Dot	Ethnicity - Asian (South-India, Pakistan, Bangladesh)	1/59	1.695
I'm sure sexism exists in some form in Asian countries. But its so antagonistic to grab some girl by the wrist and drag her somewhere. That's like the equivalent of grabbing a random guy on the street by the collar. That bouncer is just begging for a fist in his jaw	Sexism	Gender - General	1/51	1.961
yea and also if you pick this question liiike the thing you just said about how koreas attitudes for sexism and stuff is in the 1950s is racism like that too?	Racism, Sexism	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	2/31	6.452

Oh, I didn't mean to say you're wrong. In fact you're absolutely right: that many people probably view the situation exactly the way you described. What disappoints me is that a lot of people just brush this attitude off as "tradition" even though in many countries, tradition and sexism seem to go hand in hand.For what it's worth, I received a Western education (obviously) and I often butt heads with my family, who hold "traditional" Confucian values.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/78	1.282
I never said that it wasn't sexism . All i was doing was giving an answer to why they were doing it. I did also mention that "I could be wrong." I don't know for sure if that is the reason but I'm thinking that the men that S&M are talking to are older (40s,50s) so they probably were taking a more traditional approach and talk to the woman through the man because they are still stuck in their old traditional ways...	Old, Sexism, Woman	Age - Over 65s, Gender - General	3/81	3.704
It IS sexism , and many cultural traditions are steeped in it (especially countries with Confucian values, like Korea). But that's ok: the first step to getting rid of sexism is recognize it.Married or not, no person is more important than another based on their gender . If you're doing business with two people who happen to be married, you treat both of them with the same amount of respect—and you shake both their hands. That's it.	Gender, Sexism	Gender - General	3/76	3.947
I understand what you're saying, but that's precisely what sexism is. If I were a woman , and a woman whom my husband and I were doing business with spoke to him during the meeting and shook his hand, would that be considered disrespectful? By default, a patriarchal society considers the man more important, and that's why talking to/touching his wife is "disrespectful" because she is "his" woman . But that's ownership, not partnership.	Sexism, Woman	Gender - General	4/72	5.556
I frightens me too since it's just a huge problem globally :( The sentence is light if the rapist is intoxicated. Many can use the excuse that they were "not in their right mind" since they were drunk and would not have done so if they were sober, though the fact is the alcohol just took away the fear associated with getting caught. I believe the guy in that horrible Na Young case used this and got a lighter sentence as a result.	alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	1/83	1.205
Hello King & Queen of Nastiness. I was wondering what is your view of family in Korea.Have you ever seen public displays of affection in Korea? Or have you seen public displays of discipline? Are there different roles of the gender in families?	Gender	Gender - General	1/43	2.326

Some statistics:1. In the Global Gender Gap Report of 2012, South Korea was ranked 108 out of 135 countries. Such wonderful countries like United Arab Emirates, Azerbaijan and Botswana did better than Korea in the ranking.2. Korea has the largest gender gap in earnings of full-time employees in 2009 out of all OECD countries.3. Korea has the lowest female workforce participation rate in the OECD (2009).	Gender	Gender - General	2/69	2.899
Hi Simon and Martina! My question is what's it like in Korea for a foreign girl or guy? And I mean this in the sense like do Korean guys or girls hit on foreigners? is there racism when a foreigner tries to go to a Korean nightclub? If a foreigner goes into places do they get awkwardly stared at and just things like that? Basically is there a lot of maybe not so obvious racism that goes on there towards people who aren't Korean?	Racism	Ethnicity - General	2/84	2.381
Yeah I hope so, I mean, not talking to Martina in business meeting is not polite at all. That's definitely sexism . However, some points like shaking hands to people is something that we have to think as cultural difference :)	Sexism	Gender - General	1/40	2.5
Koreans are really weird trating women as they are so special but at the same time as sh*ts - -; ok I'm Muslim & in our Islam there is this rule that the man & the woman they can't touch each other if there's no family relation or husband & wife relation, what I'm trying to say here is that I feel Koreans do as our Islam told us to do to the opposite sex but they put the western life style with it & it turned out like this. They don't know ANYTHING about Islam so how this come really - -;	Sex, Weird, Woman	Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/101	2.97
I never justified what they were doing was right. I was giving an answer to why they were doing it. if you read properly i said "I could be wrong", i wasn't giving excuses for sexism either. Different countries do/act in different ways, their is a great chance that the men that S&M were talking to were older men (40s,50s) so they probably were taking more traditional approach and talk to the wife through the man because they are still stuck in there traditional ways. i am still not justifying it	Sexism	Gender - General	1/91	1.099
Only if no one lives there... If there are people, there will be sexism ; it may be uncommon in a country, but there is no country completely clean of sexism . No country is completely clean of anything.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/37	2.703
I seriously doubt that there is, unless someone creates a new country based solely on that motto but even then I bet there still would be some sexism , lol	Sexism	Gender - General	1/29	3.448

Question: How much attention does the yellow press get? Is it anything near the paparazzi craze like in South America or is it more human? I know on the internet things get hyped up A LOT, but how is it in Korea?	Yellow	Ethnicity - Asian (East-China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam), Nationality - Chinese, Nationality - Japanese	3/42	7.143
It has its perks, but I like being a girl lol. I just don't like how we're 'expected' to 'have' to do something just because of our gender .	Gender	Gender - General	1/28	3.571
Most nordic countries are great for women. Definitely better than Asian countries where sexism is extremely high and prominent.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/19	5.263
she is a human being. Not just 'simon's wife.' that title makes her seem like an object instead of a person. Showing respect would be acknowledging her and her ideas to EYK instead of overlooking her because she is married. Simon is married TO HER and he isnt treated with such disrespect. Stop using such a horrible excuse to justify sexism .	Sexism	Gender - General	1/61	1.639
I think man to man and woman to woman handshake is something Korean people find more comfortable. Its less common to shake hands with the opposite sex . But thats just my opinion.	Common, Sex, Woman	Gender - General, Social Class - Working class	4/32	12.5
That's still disrespectful, and it reinforces gender roles. Think of what that implies-that the the wife is "property" that belongs to the man.	Gender	Gender - General	1/23	4.348
They do that here at nightclubs in Ktown, they just grab you and pull you to a table full of old or ugly guys and expect you to entertain them, most of the girls just hide in the bathroom and don't come back haha.!!	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/44	2.273
UGHHHH I HATE SEXISM TUDGJOAGA	Sexism	Gender - General	1/5	20.0
England used to be VERY sexist, girls could literally do nothing , and men would rule over us 0.0 and there still is a lot of things here that make girls less superior, like in employment&wages.But, England recently has become so much less sexist! Maybe in Korea, men are slightly more superior to women because that is what was 'traditional' (if you understand)like it was in England! I'm sure there will be less sexism everywhere soon!(I mean no offense here! Im sorry if I offended anyone )	Nothing, Sexism	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	2/85	2.353

This is still disrespectful to the woman . I doubt that Simon takes it as a compliment when they do not acknowledge his wife, either.	Woman	Gender - General	1/24	4.167
And a country with perfect rights, in my opinion, will never exist. Though, yes, I think Denmark is a pretty good country for women. They fought to stand next to men and they succeed and you'll never be ignored or looked down on just because you're a woman . I can talk a lot about rights for women in DK, but I'm not going to bore you all :D	Woman	Gender - General	1/68	1.471
I'm confused. Do you actually live in Korea? And it doesn't take much searching here to find out that there is a huge sexist slant against women. Men in every country have to "compete" for women, but that's part of the evolution process.	Slant	Nationality - Chinese	1/43	2.326
yeah that's true in a lot of dramas like martina said girls are always getting grabbed by the wrist , i'm watching this drama called Faith at the moment and not a episode goes by where the girl doesn't get dragged somewhere , although to be fair it is set in old Korean history so maybe it's showing how things where back then i dunno :)	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/66	1.515
That's an interesting thought, but it also reflects sexism . Martina isn't Simon's property, so they don't need his permission to touch her or talk to her.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/26	3.846
A little clarification as to why men don't shake hands with Martina:It is not considered proper for a man to interact with a woman . Usually it is kept as a man-to-man or woman-to-woman interaction (Conservatism, as it was mentioned). The only reason why two people of the opposite sex would talk to each other are 1) they known each other for a long time, 2) they are going out, or 3) they are family. Martina has it more since business with foreign women is uncommon for Korean men.	Sex, Woman	Gender - General	2/89	2.247
She didn't say it was perfect, or that all people where the same?But Denmark is a pretty good country to live in as a woman . oo'	Woman	Gender - General	1/27	3.704
I think the reason why they probably treat Martina like that is because she's Simons wife and they don't want to feel like their talking to his wife...or touching his wife (her hands). I could be wrong but in my home country that is very common . For respect to the man they wouldn't talk or touch the wife.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/58	1.724
SO TRUE about the club!! I had to save my Korean friend from being dragged into a club!!! (They wouldnt let go when she tld them no) OMG it was crazy O O! Thanks for that tip!! I'll let her know to scream out some english words :P	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/47	2.128

I've lived in korea, they have some western toilets and some Japanese toilets. MOST everywhere I went had western. google japanese style toilets to find out what that looks like. So places with a lil more money will have those AMAZING japanese toilets that have 35 buttons to rinse, dry, and who knows what else, your ass. regular places will have plain old western toilets. and other places will have the comode in the ground japanese toilets. <3best	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/78	1.282
I think its important to know that shaking hands is not a truly korean custom so for a non related man or woman to shake each other hands is something still koreans find uncomfortable and not proper. For them not to shake Martina's hands shouldn't be considered sexist but jus korean boundary thing. I just hope that atleast they were polite enough to bow to Martina.>< Korea is not a perfect place but atleast things are improving ;)	Woman	Gender - General	1/78	1.282
Sexism in Korean culture? YES. I'm not saying it doesn't exist elsewhere! It does. I'd just never seen it as consistently, tangibly, disturbingly present as I have in Korean culture. :)	Sexism	Gender - General	1/31	3.226
Absolutely It depends on what people's age . youth generation like me thinks it dose't matter	Age	Age - General	1/15	6.667
I agree with you. Unfortunately there will always be sexism no matter what and we can do nothing about it.	Nothing, Sexism	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	2/20	10.0
I understand you..similar situation here..in Latin America sexism is serious..so that's why I think there should be a lot of programs against it and actually doing something about it..but you see the majority of programs do the contrary..they discriminate women more and it's just so irritating..hopefully the situation can change over time as quicly as it can..Martina props to you :)	Sexism	Gender - General	1/61	1.639
In no country is there ever perfect equal rights. There are sexism existing everywhere and Denmark is no exception. Where there is human I don't think sexism will end; unfortunately of course.	Sexism	Gender - General	2/32	6.25
in my country if you get to know each other a little we kissed on the cheek (boys/boys only if they are friends and comfortable with each other any age and girls/girls also if they are friends but you can do it if you just meet her) but unless the situation is kind of formal you shake hands..like in a interview for a job.....	Age	Age - General	1/64	1.562

In my culture, men don't shake hands with women either I'm not sure if it's the same in Korea, but it's considered awkward when they shake hands..(especially when the woman is married ) It's just their way of showing respect I guess xD	Woman	Gender - General	1/43	2.326
Smoking is so unhealthy it should be considered improper period.shaking hands = sexual contact...grab by the wrist...Korean girls need to learn: grab by the wrist=knee to the crotch.	Sexual	Gender - General	1/30	3.333
Korea is sexist to females but is also sexist to males too. Both Korean men and women are complaining about this matter and both groups' complaints are valid. Right now, Korea is in a state of trying to find the appropriate gender equality for the country. It will take time but Korea is getting there. So Ladies, don't fear Korea. It's not that sexist. In fact, Korea just as sexist to males, but in different ways.	Gender	Gender - General	1/76	1.316
i can understand if in islamic country like malaysia where muslim women and men just don't touch each other....but that's really bad when you don't have religious reasons. i want to charitably say that they are too afraid the man dothraki warrior gonna beat them to a pulp if they as much as look at HIS pink woman !	Woman	Gender - General	1/58	1.724
Poor Martina ; ; I had something simmlar when going on a school trip to a Muslim chuch, I had to wear a headscarf and the man giving us a tour did not look at any of the women or acknowledged our existence, when one girl asked where the bathroom was he totally blanked her. We had to get one of the boys to ask as there were all female teachers on the trip. Safe to say, all of us girls around age 14 we're pretty confused and feeling shitty after.	Age	Age - General	1/90	1.111
Hey Simon and Martina My family was planing on going to Korea this summer but dad is having secend thoughts he thinks that it well be hard to communicate with people and thinks that there is nothing to do there so can you give me advice about how i can convenience my dad and places that we have to visit in Korea Please help	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/64	1.562
I am from southamerica (chile) and in all the southamericans contries the woman keep their last name after getting married, so actually Korea isn't the only one ..... But it's different here the women keep their last name,but the sexism still exist but in different ways that may be more strong than in other countries.	Sexism, Woman	Gender - General	2/55	3.636
Here goes the best proof of sexism ! sigh	Sexism	Gender - General	1/9	11.111

Another opinion : First of all of course sexism exists everywhere (though it might be more severe in Korea), and I just HATE it too when people (men essentially) are doing the not-looking-at-me thing ! So annoying. So yes it also happens outside Korea. Also, I agree on the fact that korean people MAY feel embarrassed or uncomfortable speaking with a woman if they're not used to doing so. It doesn't mean I approve it, just that it might explain part of it. Thanks for the video otherwise	Sexism, Woman	Gender - General	2/89	2.247
Since I do MMA, it would be funny as hell 2 have some guy try 2 draft me somewhere LOL He would b nursing broken bones & a bloody nose.On another note, sexism seems 2 never fade but its weird 2 c that such a drastic form of sexism still exist n this century & its not a uncommon thing in Asia 4 them 2 b so far behind n women's right or feminism ideals. I really need them 2 get with the program. Funny thing is that they just elected a female President recently, so we will c how that works out	Sexism, Weird	Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/104	2.885
Sexism is definitely still alive and well in the United States, but it seems to be more common in certain areas or professions.There are some places where women are treated well and given equal pay for the same jobs, but others women find it very difficult to be hired or advance up the chain in the business.In order for women to advance in a male dominated field they usually find they have to be aggressive, which makes them a "b*tch".If they are nice, they get passed over or not taken seriously.	B*tch, Common, Sexism	Gender - Female sexuality, Gender - General, Social Class - Working class	3/91	3.297
part 2: of course I also think it's unfair that only men have to go to the army. that's a problem most countries have. but just because there are some good things about being a woman in a sexist country doesn't mean they aren't actually sexist. it's like saying "it's good to be disabled because you get stuff cheaper." but you probably won't find a job because most companies don't take disabled people. so which one is more significant? cheaper cinema tickets/women-only seats or no job?	Disabled, Woman	Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	3/86	3.488
I was wondering if you could share your experiences with going to the doctor in Korea. I know Martina was just at the dentist and that got me thinking on the subject. Do your doctors speak English? If so was it easy to find an English speaking Dr.? If not do you find it difficult to explain your health issues, esp. before you guys were able to speak some Korean? And following on this sexism TL;DR are there many female doctors ?	Sexism, doctors	Gender - General, Nationality - General	3/81	3.704

I adore Korea. And even after this video i still love korea. it does sadden me though. I really dissapoints me that people are so ignorant, and martina, being the smart, funny, bubbly, beautiful woman that she is, desirves more than enough of attention and respect than any other man out there storlling the streets of seol. If i were martina, im almost sure id tel them that was rude in korean..but im sure that put both her and simon in a tough spot.i love korea. but some things are overdatop:)	Woman	Gender - General	1/91	1.099
korea is very very very woman's nation .men must go to army, earn money.and women just take men's money and drink coffee, alcohol , watching tv, movies, music shows...women only library, women only bus seat, subway seat, parking lot....men are just slaves of women in korea.wtf?? sexism ??yes. it's korea-men's.in korea, woman »»»»dog»»»cat»»»> snake»>mouse»»»»>man	Nation, Sexism, Woman, alcohol	Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol, Gender - General, Nationality - General	4/57	7.018
eyy mannn thats what the man want you think mann, you gotta think outside the box mann you can let these elitist pigs tell you what to think man, revolution for the people man, peace and love brocef	PIGS	Nationality - Southern European	1/38	2.632
sexism is actually quite common here in south italy, and i cant effing stand it anymore. my friend is treated like a slave by her own parents, while her brother can enjoys stuffing his face and molding in front of the computer. my friend CAN'T use the computer, she can't go out on saturday evening (her brother obviously can) and she can never EVER got to sleepover's. ps: martina i'm really sorry for the way some guys treat you.	Common, Sexism	Gender - General, Social Class - Working class	2/79	2.532
Martina, I am a Korean girl who lived in Korea so I think I can see why the men from Korean companies tended to ignore you. Since girls and boys are taught to not interact with each other much comparing to America, even when they are adults, men tend to be easier to talk to men, more than women. So they probably found it more comfortable to talk to Simon than you. I don't think they were ignoring you. And the rate of sexual abuse crime is increasing in Korea, so they were trying to not cause	Sexual	Gender - General	1/97	1.031
My grandma apparently was an independent business woman back when in Korea but she is SUPER sexist. I'm always thinking your a female who's had a business when it wasn't common for that to happen. HOW are you sexist?! Treats her daughters and my mom like slaves pretty much. She believes that females should stay in the house and do household things and take care of the kids. And keeps telling my sisters and I that too. Yeah, my grandma is one of those scary mean old ladies in dramas. le sigh	Common, Old, Woman	Age - Over 65s, Gender - General, Social Class - Working class	3/92	3.261
Well hopefully sexism like that will change in a generation or two in korea.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/14	7.143

On a serious note, sexism and double standards happen everywhere. It's usually women that are treated as lesser beings, but then there are issues like men who have been raped... And they have nowhere to go for support because it's an even bigger stigma for males. I think sexism should be looked at objectively from both sides.	Sexism	Gender - General	2/57	3.509
very interesting! I am a woman and in my culture we don't shake hands with men but I understand that some people are offended by this so I usually bow a little and let someone know that I don't shake hands with anyone so it's not personal. If it is really going to offend someone anyway though, I will just shake their hand. It can be awkward for people who aren't used to shaking women's hands and haven't found themselves in the situation to know what to do ahead of time to avoid insulting someone	Woman	Gender - General	1/95	1.053
Very true! In Canada (where I live) women are still not paid the same as men for the same work. While there is legislation in place for equal pay for equal work, statistics show there is still a gender pay gap.	Gender	Gender - General	1/41	2.439
Fact: South Korea is the OECD with (one of the, if not the most) the highest rate of gender inequality.	Gender	Gender - General	1/20	5.0
I would like to hear some of soo zee's experiences with sexism since she is a korean woman	Sexism, Woman	Gender - General	2/18	11.111
Are you kidding me? Sexism exists EVERYWHERE. It's prevalent in Korea and in North America too. It just manifests itself in different ways. In many parts of the developed world people like to think that feminism has done its job, but being equal on paper and in the eyes of the law doesn't result in everyone being treated equal in everyday life. Casual misogyny has become normalized and the misrepresentation of women in the media only perpetuates this treatment. Don't be ignorant.	Misogyny, Sexism	Gender - General	2/82	2.439
How is the intolerance in Korea? My uncle in Korea told me that Koreans have a very low tolerance towards certain things/people. They will judge you for anything and they see disabled people as a burden.	Disabled	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/36	2.778
In my oppinion, existence of sexism in Korea is so true to be truth no matter what it's been changed somehow like their status, law, right etc.. Because the most of Korean society has seized control of their behavior by their gender under the deep long cultural aspects in their history. So, You guys can argue, point out your oppinion that you might find some strange in your view, but I don't think it's good idea that you just judging them as having all of Koreans in bad sexism over Kdrama :D	Gender, Sexism	Gender - General	3/92	3.261

this is off topic but I have the same glasses like Martina red though lol	Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American	2/15	13.333
Woah. That's really crazy about the clubs. Like assault much?	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/10	10.0
some answers are unlogic. You say you dont like 'skinship' with different gender (whatever the reason why is) but these companys can still shaking hands with simon? thats "skinship" too!?So youre comments about not liking touching somebody is irrelevant because if all the companys they got interviewed,shaking hands with simon but not martina is unlogic.It would be something different if they not shaking hands with simon too,but they did. PS: Hope u understand what i meant my english isnt fluent	Gender	Gender - General	1/79	1.266
S&M have you ever watched the movie "My sassy girl" there it shows a strong driven woman . Your thoughts?. Was that just "fiction" ?	Woman	Gender - General	1/24	4.167
My comment was for the other video about sexism sorry :p	Sexism	Gender - General	1/11	9.091
Do you know why? Because foreign girls are going to beat the crap out of you! <- that one line Is amazing,although I would love the 2015 technology with community feel.... minus the sexism . but hey there's a degree of sexism in all countries	Sexism	Gender - General	2/45	4.444
omg..finnaly.i.have.always.wanted.to.know.more:))))..and.in.general. sexism .in.any.country	Sexism	Gender - General	1/1	100.0
gahhhh.i.FUCKING.HATE. sexism !!	Sexism	Gender - General	1/1	100.0
Dude do you know how insane that would be to film and edit? We can barely get by 30 seconds without stumbling and sounding like airheads. 30 minutes? THAT'S CRAZY , SON!	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/31	3.226

I wonder if Japan does that as well, I heard gender discrimination is much worse there :O I'm glad I live in SG.	Gender	Gender - General	1/23	4.348
no offense but south korea is ranked 108th for gender equality out of 135 countries and you're telling us there's no sexism in s.korea. u must be an ignorant guy.	Gender, Sexism	Gender - General	2/30	6.667
okay guys i'm not agreeing with sexism but i find it ridiculous how some of you are bashing korea when things like this happens all over the world i live in new york and i cannot tell you how many times random guys and grabbed me by the wrist and been like yo ma what up type bullshit. sexism is Everywhere.	Sexism	Gender - General	2/61	3.279
i hate the fact that there's sexism in kpop. if a guy rips off their shirt or does all these sexual moves it's ok but if a girl does it it gets banned or they are forced to change the dance.	Sexism, Sexual	Gender - General	2/41	4.878
Lols what the hell? There is sexism in every single fucking country in the world! It just depends on how much sexism ... Are you saying that no one is sexist in korea? Learn to open up, and understand that we are not bad mouthing Korea just for the sake of it. They are giving their opinion on a matter through the eyes of a foreigner. I mean I'm not bloody afraid to say that my country has sexism . The only thing is it depends on the people not what race they are or what country they're from.	Race, Sexism	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	4/97	4.124
So I guess when he wants to say he likes a girl and wants her out of whatever place he drags her by the wrist. I have had guy friends who pulled me gently by my clothes just to avoid touching me. It's not called sexism it's called drawing a line/distance and sometimes even respect.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/55	1.818
The club thing is just weird but I think there could be an explanation for the dragging by the wrist thing. Being chinese, I feel uncomfortable like being close to/holding a guy's hand. Holding hands is limited only for couples so a guy would not dare to unless he has the right or he is prepared to declare a relationship with that person. I heard my jap friend doesn't even hold her bf's hand cus it's considered PDA in japan. And it's apparently not welcomed.	Jap, Weird	Nationality - Japanese, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/85	2.353
Hi Simon and Martina, I just wanted to comment about my own experiences here in the U.S. In things such as public school I've experienced some sexism by male teachers, and even places such as the grocery store I've been treated like I'm inferior (by again male employee's). I don't mean this to say that I experience this everywhere, but there have been a few instances for me, even though I live in a country where equal rights are supposed to be granted to both sexes.-Thanks! :)	Sexism	Gender - General	1/88	1.136

I'm Korean, and I'm a woman . I know for a fact, sexism exist in Korea. Not every country is perfect, and I love my homeland wholeheartedly, but let's not play blind to these problems. If you want a career in Korea as a woman , if you are driving in Korea, come on, these are just two main examples. the opposite also exists for men too. There's more financial burden on Men when couples get married. That is, sexism too.	Blind, Sexism, Woman	Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	5/79	6.329
Don't be mad at he/she Everyone knows you guys have you own pointYou want to share it to the world but some stupid people came out of nowhere tell us that sexism does no exist in KoreaFighting!! you guys are awesome!! better then some random people who can do nothing but yapping :)	Nothing, Sexism	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	2/55	3.636
And just to add, here are a few headlines to corroborate my earlier comment. Feel free to look them up verbatim to verify, and find more for yourself! Yay for educated responses!Washington Post (Dec 2012): Can South Korea's first female president fix the developed world's worst gender gap?The Korea Herald (Feb 2013): Female leaders call for drastic reforms for women's roleAgence France Presse (Dec 2012) :Can South Korea's first woman president, Park Geun-hye, deliver on gender equality?	Gender, Woman	Gender - General	3/80	3.75
sigh If you read my comment, I said amongst DEVELOPED nations. That's a different standard than the UN list you mention. And as a counterpoint, the World Economic Forum ranks Korea 108th (out of 135) in the world for gender inequality.	Gender	Gender - General	1/41	2.439
I'm a white girl who lives and works in China and this is one of those weird instances where China is more forward thinking than Korea haha. I definitely get stared at a lot but I am also treated as an equal to men. In fact, Chinese people probably treat me better than my foreign male friends. I live with a lot of Korean boys here and they would never dare to grab my wrist or whatever, but I've argued with them a lot about the way they treat their own girlfriends. It's really stange to watch.	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/97	1.031
I always get mad when someone say sexism in korea...Then you better be mad Because there is!! Don't act like Korea is perfect Because it is not	Sexism	Gender - General	1/28	3.571
Didn't you guys also experience a little bit of sexism in one of your wanks at incheon grand park? when you rented the little cart? O O	Sexism	Gender - General	1/26	3.846
A lot of Korean names seem to be unisex, at least from a foreigner's perspective, but is there any way to determine someone's sex based on their name?	Sex	Gender - General	1/28	3.571

I really enjoyed your view as foreigners on this topic and I would have to say that if you were Asian you would have much less to say about it because you weren't brought up in such a male dominated culture where women are often subservient. Forget about the haters and know that you did a great job and even made me want to learn more about sexism in Korea (my main area of knowledge is Japan, but you guise are making me fall in love with Korea!) Take it easy Simon and Martina! x	Sexism	Gender - General	1/95	1.053
I spoke to my friend (female, 47 yr old ) tonight about this too. She said if it'd been her, she would have asserted herself between the mans hand and her husbands and smiled sweetly at him and said "Maybe you didn't notice that I had my hand out too." haha, she's great even if she doesn't understand why I'm interested in Korea.About the bouncers, she said they'd be swallowing their teeth for a month and that sure sounded familiar :)	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/81	1.235
Thanks for the video! I never realised that sexism was this prevalent (if I'm using the right word?) in Korea I liked your 2050/1950 comparison and I agree that the good parts of the 1950 mentality should be kept and the bad parts should be changed (although, I think that having some form of conservativeness isn't too bad). It's kinda sad to hear how Korean women are not treated as well :(	Sexism	Gender - General	1/72	1.389
I was thinking the same thing! In certain areas of Mexico and Mexican Indian tribes it is considered rude and disrespectful to speak to someones wife or shake her hand or so much as look at her. Even more so if the person and his wife are from a different tribe or country. It could have been a form of deep respect toward Simon AND Martina that the host made a point to shake Simon's hand infront of Martina.	Indian	Ethnicity - Native-American	1/79	1.266
Omg, r u serious? I have no clue how you came up with that comments from....no where? out of the blue...It doesn't make any sense to me. What you said is about your own problem that seems like, you r the one, do want to have sexism in Korea I guess.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/51	1.961
"There is no fucking sexism in korea", well that's a bold and entirely untrue statement . Why get mad when someone says sexism in Korea, every society has some level of sexism , be it minor or major.	Sexism	Gender - General	3/37	8.108
continuing: I understand how you could be annoyed though, if you don't agree that Korean women are abused and you read comments like that. Although you could state your point in a nicer way, without profanity and less aggressively. I'm not going to say that korean women are abused or not because I don't know. But I do think that there is some sexism in korea, and like I said before, most countries.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/73	1.37

Oh my God, who opened the gate on the troll pen and led them all here? JFCWhatever. I enjoyed this video, Simon and Martina, and I'm sorry you had to do that disclaimer that apparently is invisible for some people. Sexism is a tough, complicated topic everywhere (and it is EVERYWHERE, stop kidding yourselves, folks), so I applaud your talking about it at all.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/65	1.538
"This video is nothing related to it" So then, yes, you didn't watch our video, but decided to comment?	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/19	5.263
Sexism isn't only abuse. Simon and Martina said they have seen cases where there is an inequality between men and women. And having woman -only places, a ministry of women, a female president isn't going to change that. So sexism is present in how people act, in the assumptions about what a man or woman can do and how that is shown in the media. But honestly sexism probably present in every culture to some degree, it's just seems more greater in Korea.	Sexism, Woman	Gender - General	4/82	4.878
I think the part where they speak to Simon and only shake Simon's hand, it might have to do with them not wanting to appear like they're hitting on Martina. Kinda maybe like "yo man, we're cool, you got a hot chick but I'm totally not interested in her". I'm just thinking it's not a normal thing for them to touch a girl (even a handshake), or even talk to one cause they're shy or smth? Could be part of the reason.	Chick	Gender - General	1/82	1.22
Um, wake up call, sexism exists everywhere. Korea is no exception.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/11	9.091
I would also like to add that when the latest Korean president was elected, most of the news stories added that South Korea is one of the top developed nations with the highest gender inequality (thus making her election even more newsworthy). These are facts.	Gender	Gender - General	1/45	2.222
I can't speak for Korea as a nation , but speaking objectively, it doesn't matter how much infrastructure (laws, organisations, elected officials, etc.) you put in place in a society/gov't. If a cultural shift to view women as equals isn't happening, then attitudes will never change, despite any institutional effort to make change. This applies to all societies, not just Korea's.	Nation	Nationality - General	1/60	1.667
However, I'd like to add that in France, it's common for street vendors to gently grab and touch people (not sexually) to get their attention to buy their newspapers or whatever. That was the most public touching by a stranger I've experienced. More so than in Korea.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/47	2.128

I was born in Korea but raised in Canada, and the first time I went back on my own as an adult, the first thing that happened to me was a strange mid-aged man tried to lure me away with him at the airport. It was so odd. Was he a trafficker? Or just a creepy guy into young girls? I can't be sure, but it was such a clear experience of misogyny for me. The rest of the trip, I couldn't help but notice the sexism in discourse & culture.	Misogyny, Sexism	Gender - General	2/91	2.198
Was it kang ho dong?	Ho	Gender - Female sexuality	1/5	20.0
Maybe the host of the TV show didn't shake Martina's hand because for a man to touch a woman he's not close with is improper? >:	Woman	Gender - General	1/26	3.846
Simon and Martina aren't American... But anyway it is common of all people in general to believe that the way they do things is the right way. Serial murderers overwhelmingly believe that what they are doing is correct, this mentality is not unique to any country or group of people.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/50	2.0
LOLNO about the female president improving gender issues in Korea. Park Geun-hye is SOOOO conservative and is in no way, shape, or form an advocate for gender equality.	Gender	Gender - General	2/28	7.143
I just love to hear a strong, funny and brilliant woman like Martina speaking about feminism (not that I don't like you Simon, don't worry). It's when publicly known women demonstrate their interest in change and equality that it actually happens. So, in brief, thank you.	Woman	Gender - General	1/46	2.174
Typical anglo/american view, our way is the right way,we're so progressive,we're number 1 all the other countries that don't follow our standards are backwards,bigot, racist ,sexist yada yada maybe you should try stop imposing the american way in other countries and cultures...	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/40	2.5
Serious question. How do you deal with that sexism ? What can you do? I know that I personally can't sit still and let it happen no matter how interwoven it is in Korean culture.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/34	2.941
omg, get dragged into clubs.. that would be a weird experience 0 o	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/12	8.333

The whole drama thing is wrong. Women shouldn't be portrayed like that ALL THE TIME. I would like to see the boy play that role. Also I read somewhere that it's in their culture that they don't shake hands with the opposite sex if they feel it may be inappropriate. Since you were with Simon, they probably felt that communication and touching should be very limited. I don't remember where I read that, but it's just part of their respect I guess. Though what you described isn't respectful.	Sex	Gender - General	1/88	1.136
i've actually read a few Korean blogs from natepan and comments from bada.us and the sexism is a lot worse than they describe. Especially on the internet..Bcus of the anonymity advantage Korean guys go all out on insulting girls from how gross they are for having periods to describing how majority of Korean girls are ugly compared to White european women.Now let's just pray this outrageous sexism gets better with the new female president.	Sexism	Gender - General	2/74	2.703
i understand being conservative and everything but when you totally ignore someone's presence that annoys them. No one wants that so they can't use the excuse "oh im not a girl so i didn't understand that they'll feel bad..." or whatever I hope when our generation becomes adults this sexism is gone and over with. And this explains why a lot of girls in kdramas are crazy unrealistic tough and then they're so passive later on it reflects how girls wanna be in a society thats still patriarchal.	Crazy, Sexism	Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/88	2.273
i am a korean woman (24) who worked for one of the major conglomerates in seoul. from my experiences, the heads of departments and team leaders were almost always men despite their level of competence. the more competent women were relegated into lower positions but did all the work. there were also a number of cases of sexual harassment that were covered up - women were persuaded to drop their sexual assault cases or fired on the spot. unfortunately, this is also nothing unusual in east asia.	Nothing, Sexual, Woman	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	4/87	4.598
Hey, read my previous comments. I already mentioned it's total sexism and BS that they ignored her during the meeting. I'm only talking about why a man would refuse to shake her hand.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/33	3.03
I'm Korean&I lived in Korea for 20 yrs.I learned sexism in Korea was originated from Confucianism in the past;man is breadwinner and woman is housewife so ofcourse they prefer boys over girls.For ex,my grandma used to tell me since there isn't any boy in my family-only 2 girls-I should work extra hard to catch up boys.I was told to be more calm and quiet rather than loud and active.I am sure it's different now(I hope?!).Even in Korean language there are more words to look down on women than men.	Sexism, Woman	Gender - General	2/89	2.247

That's exactly what I'm saying. Trashing people who you've worked with in the past is extremely tacky and unprofessional. And you can't just excuse it by saying "OH WE'RE JUST TELLING YOU OUR EXPERIENCES". These are people they're meant to work with.	Tacky	Social Class - Working class	1/42	2.381
I've heard alot about people asking about how tattoos are accepted in South Korea but I'm really curious of piercings. I've heard nothing of piercings and I'd love to know.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/30	3.333
I really loved seeing Martina get so passionate about this! She's always kind of bubbly and excitable on camera, but it was really nice to see this more assertive no-nonsense side of her. I've been living in Japan for about 7 months now and aside from seeing some sexism in Japanese culture, it's helped me rid myself of my rose-colored lenses when it comes to my native American culture. I'd be really interested to see a post about things you've realized about Canada/the west from living in Korea.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/88	1.136
That's why I imagine that maybe Simon and Martina would prefer to go to gay clubs so they won't see these absurd attitudes.	Gay	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	2/23	8.696
Well, I suppose that is a bit of a relief. I am a liberal sex-positive feminist, and I do think societal patriarchy exists, and I don't have a problem with how the word has come to be used, but in this situation I will agree to disagree.	Patriarchy	Gender - General	1/47	2.128
Separate but not equal, this phrase worked against racial discrimination. It also works for gender discrimination. Check it.	Gender	Gender - General	1/18	5.556
Martina & Simon: Do you experience the handshaking sexism only in business settings, or does it also happen when you meet new people anywhere?	Sexism	Gender - General	1/24	4.167
Well I think it's just that Koreans respect the other gender and want to respect them by just sticking with each other. Like at my Korean church in America, girls sit on one side and guys sit on the other. No one told us we have to do that but I guess it's just respecting the opposite gender and keeping a fair distance.	Gender	Gender - General	2/63	3.175
I guess it comes down to how bad they want it. I think we agreed on the most important point already. If the man didn't get it through his head to shake her hand, there's a choice to be made. Do nothing else and be offended or do something more.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/50	2.0
yeah but let's not forget they have a woman president!	Woman	Gender - General	1/10	10.0

I agree with you that to combat whatever sexism Martina is facing it would help if Simon was more proactive; I'm just frustrated that he even has to. How hard is it to treat women the way they want to be treated?	Sexism	Gender - General	1/42	2.381
That's crazy . I knew it was like that but I didn't think they did that to girls in the clubs. GO SUZY!! Lol	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/23	4.348
I disagree. Just because a person is either ignorant or unwilling to acknowledge that they are acting in a sexist manner doesn't mean that they aren't, and it shouldn't fall on the recipient of said action to determine the intentions of the actor. They have the right to be offended. If a person acts in a way that is sexist, it's their responsibility to recognize their problematic behavior and remedy it. It's not like the literature isn't out there; sexism isn't a new problem.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/84	1.19
How would we classify a tradition as a sexist one especially if the intention of such actions are not based on sexism . Super old fashioned to avoid physical contact with women? Yes, but the intention of such actions is based on what we find appropriate and respectful to the women's boundaries. This has more to do with "personal bubble" issue more than anything.	Old, Sexism	Age - Over 65s, Gender - General	2/63	3.175
I can't really accept that kind of thinking, that these men are unwilling to confront the sexism behind social norms simply because it makes them uncomfortable.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/26	3.846
Korea has a female president, that should be one step closer to having more gender equality.	Gender	Gender - General	1/16	6.25
Dear Simon and Martina, Teach me how to beat up people if they touch me by the wrist. Seriously, if you are grabbed by the wrist what can you do, but pound them with your other hand? This is especially weird and hard to get out i of f they grab your dominant hand. Please be our defense teachers.	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/60	1.667
I wouldn't get grabbed because I'm foreign but if they did try, they would end up with a black eye and either broken teeth to bite marks depending how I feel :D	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/32	3.125
Hi Simon and Martina, is there any unique/exaggerated stereotypes against any race (s) in Korea? Sometimes people on TV imitate Black people, French, Italian, Thai, Vietnamese, etc. For example, "YOU DIIEEEE" which was one of the imitations of a black person. If you answer this question, thanks :D	Black, Race	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/47	6.383

Korea isn't the only country where women don't have to change their last name when they get married. I know people that never changed their last names when they got married and they live in different countries.Simon and Martina aren't saying that Korea is a sexist country. They are saying that Korea has a slightly more obvious amount of sexism compared to North America and their own experiences with it.And don't you think you're cherry picking certain things they said as well?	Sexism	Gender - General	1/84	1.19
lol, if you want to believe that me supporting my wife by insisting that the man shake her hand is me saying I would treat my wife like I own her, then it's clear you don't understand what I've written. It's called supporting your wife or husband to insist others treat them properly. If a man and woman applied for a job and the man got it, I guess you would call it sexism ? Why or why not?	Sexism, Woman	Gender - General	2/78	2.564
I don't think this video is biased in any way. They have a certain opinion on this topic and they are sharing it, it does not make it "biased". They weren't "cherry picking" any moments, the title of the video is called Sexism in Korea, so obviously they are going to mention the moments where they believe that have experienced sexism . They are not applying it to the whole country, they said it was from their personal experience. You obviously did not listen to them in the beginning of the video	Sexism	Gender - General	2/91	2.198
"i'm not ugly baby, i'm exotic" lol xD Simon. xD in kdramas I used 2 think it was romantic wen a guy pulled a girl by her wrist. now i'm all "Gurl, u YANK back ur arm asap!!" and in L.A. there r Korean clubs (I wanted 2go2 one) until I read reviews by women who said the waiters actually drag girls to tables with a bunch of guys I was like 'screw that'. o O	Yank	Nationality - American	1/75	1.333
so Simon never really experienced sexism ? nothing was mentioned about it..	Nothing, Sexism	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	2/11	18.182
i think the reason why traditional korean men would not talk to female directly is because of the misunderstanding it can lead. especially to married women, to the people around them, it might look like they are hitting on the women. like the men should behave themselves by not talking or acknowledging a woman . that could be why, but not entirely sure as i heard it that is the case for some cultures. but the ignoring part is probably sexist.	Woman	Gender - General	1/80	1.25

I agree with you that society should be looking down upon the person doing the pulling and not the woman . I also think that women in general should be encouraged to act out when something like this occurs (i.e. the subway incidents in Japan). What I was trying to get across in my comment is that this is not necessarily a sexist idea so much as it is a cultural mindset. If a man acted out in public and caused a stir, he would be seen in a negative light, too. That's all! :)	Woman	Gender - General	1/94	1.064
Wow this is really interesting! In time I think they will progress past much of this sexism like many other countries have. :) but I do have to say I hate that wrist dragging thing! I'm watching the coffee prince right now (and it's great) but that happens ALL THE TIME UGH.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/52	1.923
Yes, I agree on that, the second part was a take on that was a different way to see things, though it was just an assumption. what I meant is, is it the same for a woman touching a man? Because if it's not, then it's sexist, as if the woman was the man's property, and thus not to touch.	Woman	Gender - General	2/60	3.333
Although I know that you probably intended this to be for S&M and I am clearly not them, I think I can somewhat answer your question.Skinship in Korea is fairly rare and is strictly for couples. In many Korean dramas&manhwas youll see that holding hands or hugging is considered a big deal, which is very different from here in America or other countries.Little things and contact is a really big deal and sex is not like as similar. Usually just to date the persons will have to know one another.	Sex	Gender - General	1/90	1.111
sooooo this has nothing to do with the video but Martina where did you get that amazing sweater I want it	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/21	4.762
I'm watching 7th Grade Civil Servant and it shows some sexism there, an female officer has a sucessful career, but struggles to get married... but the main female character is pretty strong ,yes she dragged her boyfriend, and Queen In hyun's man the female lead gives her exboyfriend a middle finger, that's the first time I have seem on Kdrama,a girl giving a finger! and Nine times travel which currently airing on tvN the female lead giving the male lead a finger in front of many people.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/86	1.163
I'm unclear what you're asking me. If a guy asked Jessica to hug his girlfriend instead and not him, I would say he is being respectful of his girlfriends wishes and should be praised. Just like if a man was avoiding Martina's hand out of respect for their marriage, it should be praised. Sexism is when one is prejudged or suffers negative discrimination on the basis of gender , and not something else. In both the above examples the contact was avoided on the basis of respect.	Gender, Sexism	Gender - General	2/86	2.326

Great question and answers S&M. I've always wondered about sexism in Korea for awhile for women and this video was great. It's always frustrating hearing about women looked down on in the workplace or socially	Sexism	Gender - General	1/35	2.857
Ohhh, this is most DEFINITELY not just Korea :3 Almost had a deja-vu hearing all this...apart from the club dragging though that's new...and kinda scary. The lack of a strong female character in Kdrams is driving me crazy , it feels ridiculous no matter how great the dorama actually is. Finished watching Faith a few days ago, I almost bursted out laughing as Martina mentioned the wrist dragging thing because it was ticking me off the WHOLE time in this one...of many :D	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/82	1.22
Could u guys go into how sex and relationships are viewed in Korea ? I was watching a dating show called romancing the idol and little things like giving a piggy back ride or tying the girls hair up were a really big deal. I thought it was nothing to be nervous about or maybe it's just me :)	Nothing, Sex	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	2/59	3.39
Hi Simon & MartinaInteresting topic here. I suggest you find time to understand why Korean behave a certain way to understand the culture better to expand your perspective. Sometimes it's not about sexism or gender inequality but more about respect in ways western culture do not understand. I am an Asian, I don't understand why some culture, western included, pay less salary to women!!	Gender, Sexism	Gender - General	2/65	3.077
If any of you are interested in reading more about Korean gender relations in a slightly more academic (but still interesting!) context, there's a great site called "The Grand Narrative" that covers popular culture, media, and politics in Korea and analyzes them through a sociological lens. Not knocking Simon and Martina's video at all-it was great! There's just a lot of accessible information out there, even for non-Korean speakers.	Gender	Gender - General	1/69	1.449
about the smoking thing, in my country if a man see a women had his same nationality smoking it will be like "WTF!!!" its like the end of the world. but if the same man see another girl and she have diffident nationality smoking like a train he wont mind it and he may ask her to marry him too?!and she will be his princess but if he marred from his own nationality she will feel like a slave.but not all the men in my country act like that only 99.99and i don't know way???	Nationality	Nationality - General	3/97	3.093
That's because woman themselves can be sexist too and don't realise it. They are taught that they can be dragged around and it's be okay. That they should follow and that it's romantic when a guy is "dominant" right?	Woman	Gender - General	1/39	2.564

Like how a guy on a show refused to hug Jessica because he had a girlfriend but said maybe Jessica should hug his girlfriend instead?The question would be here, if it's not improper to touch a woman who is not single, how would the koreans word that? a man's woman ? that she is "taken"? or she is "someone else's" because based on that, that also would be sexism . But this is just an assumption. What is the standing of a woman touching a man instead? Is that allowed?	Sexism, Woman	Gender - General	4/89	4.494
last week: please leave suggestions for a less serious tl;drthis week: sexism	Sexism	Gender - General	1/13	7.692
In reference to men avoiding contact with Martina, especially when Simon is present, I believe this is a sign of respect to Simon, and a cultural practice as well. It could be business ethics to avoid any hint of flirtation or scandal: A married woman is not suppose to be touched by anyone other than the husband. There is the possibility of inciting jealousy from the husband, which in the past has brought on law suits, criminal charges, and violence. The courts tend to favor the husband.	Woman	Gender - General	1/87	1.149
Let's go back to your original point, then. You do realize that sexism is a gender issue, right? So if you think " Gender Issues in Korea" is a better title, that's totally fine. Other individuals including myself think that a change isn't necessary since " sexism " is a more precise term than " gender issues", and we think the title is better the way it currently is. However, the fact that you're attributing this disagreement as a "Nasty fan reaction" is unwarranted and disrespectful.	Gender, Sexism	Gender - General	5/82	6.098
Well the president of Korea is a woman . Most of the koreans voted for her. Women as men.	Woman	Gender - General	1/18	5.556
Yeah, I've never been there, so I wouldn't know. But isn't there the possibility that the host thought it was inappropriate for him to touch martina's hand since she's a married woman ?	Woman	Gender - General	1/32	3.125
It's all about gathering information to form your own opinion. You can go to the library, you can go to blogs AND you can ask Simon & Martina. S&M are essentially cultural outsiders looking into Korean society. That doesn't mean their opinion is less valid, it's just a different view colored by their own cultural background. And thanks for the generalization. As it happens "most of these Kpoppers" are too young or broke to afford going to Korea. But good to know what you think of us.	Colored	Ethnicity - Black	1/87	1.149
i have never read those hateful comments..but i realise some people have nothing better to do with their life than just pour their frustrations and hatred on smth that they should just ignore if they dislike and not reapedetly, reapeatedly attack some people who just simply share useful information to those intersted in it. lol..	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/55	1.818

i'm all about being a strong woman but honestly i would love to be grabbed by the wrist and spun around by a guy lol i find that intriguing and kinda hot.	Woman	Gender - General	1/32	3.125
For the TL:DR's, Simon and Martina simply answer one of the most liked comments from the previous week's segment that they feel has some substance. This is why this "controversy" was raised. A vast number of us Nasties showed an interest in learning about this aspect of the culture. Like they said, it's not in depth, but it give us international fans a spring board if we want to learn more about the topic. As for the title, I find nothing wrong with it. They were talking about sexism .	Nothing, Sexism	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	2/89	2.247
I completely agree with you, patriarchy still exists all over the world, the west included.	Patriarchy	Gender - General	1/15	6.667
I really have no interest in arguing with you, but you should know that words evolve, are appropriated, and are given new definitions. Your definition may be the traditional one, but patriarchy has become a complex concept. A new definition for the word might be: the systematic oppression of all who are not cisgender men, and cis men who fail to meet the standards set by society of what a man should be. Don't limit language to silence those who hold views that may oppose your own.	Patriarchy	Gender - General	1/87	1.149
In a drama i watched there were a girl secretly smoking some where in public and an another older woman find out. No wonder the drama made the scene SUPER shocking and i thought it was too overly dramatic.	Woman	Gender - General	1/39	2.564
Thanks so much for making this video! As a Korean American female, I have dealt with sexism in Korea. When I was attending 'grad school' in Seoul, I was told by the other females in the department that I was 'supposed' to clean the professors office. When I asked why the males didn't clean, I was told that they were 'too busy working on 'real' projects'. Needless to say, I refused to clean that office.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/75	1.333
MAYBE part of the issue is that some Korean women act inferior to men, I'm not suggesting that all Korean women do this, I'm aware that all of them don't but It just seems that Korea seems to idolize women who act innocent and weak, and sometimes to the extreme, like a twelve year old girl.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/56	1.786
I wonder how the wrist grab all started. Do fathers teach their sons at a young age , "don't let her walk away son, grab her like this," or something?	Age	Age - General	1/29	3.448
It would've been much better if the title was " Gender Issues in Korea", " Gender Equality in Korea", "Women in Korea", etc. rather than this blunt(?) one, " Sexism in Korea." I honestly don't really like the title... Plus, I don't get why they had to arouse this controversy when most of these Kpoppers here obviously wouldn't even go to Korea. Oh, yes, I'm sure of that...	Gender, Sexism	Gender - General	3/65	4.615

Women are paid less. Females are more likely to be victims of sexual assault. There is a significantly lower number of female politicians and very few female presidents or prime ministers. Women are used as sexualised props in advertising and objectified to an extent that is hard to ignore. Most websites address the viewer as a he, most things are catered to males and most female orientated things (such as women's sports teams) have significantly less support than male orientated teams.	Sexual	Gender - General	1/81	1.235
i LIKE the fact that korea is so 1950s =)just coz one part of the world has sexual objectification of women apart of everyday life, doesnt mean others have to follow =)	Sexual	Gender - General	1/33	3.03
I don't think they're trying to excuse it. They're just trying to help people understand one of the reasons WHY it happens, so that maybe people won't get as... "fired up" about it, maybe? x'D It's no excuse, of course, for sexism to happen, but it is a REASON.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/49	2.041
I can see why that you would think that but to me it seems more of just being polite, maybe its common in korea for women to be uncomfortable around men they dont know, skinship is different there, not that its a bad thing. Also think its being a little respectful to woman to not assume she's ok with skinship.	Common, Woman	Gender - General, Social Class - Working class	2/60	3.333
when my mum and me were in korea last summer she just smoked in public all the time and all the men were looking at her as if she is crazy	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/31	3.226
Sexism. That's just the Asian culture and it happens in America too. Of course, ladies are getting more recognize but only outside of the Asian communities. When they're back to work in those communities they view with really little worth. There was this one time when a charismatic and smart woman appear and wanted to run for the leader position in my Asian community she couldn't get the approval of the older male because she was female. smh. It happens.	Sexism, Woman	Gender - General	2/80	2.5
Sorry, but if that cultural norm is based in sexism , then it's still sexist. I'm going to make a guess that the reason skin-to-skin contact with a married woman is taboo is because of the whole misogynistic concept of female sexual purity.	Sexism, Sexual, Woman	Gender - General	3/42	7.143
Wow, that the thing about the club is crazy .	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/9	11.111

Yes it does matter, it completely matters, the definition of sexism is that it's based on sex only. What you're saying is that if a accidentally bump into someone it's identical to punching them on purpose. You know it's not. The effect is the same: she was avoided. But the word sexism is ALL about the intention, it's in the definition. I'm certain that if it were my wife (if I were married) I would have pushed the mans hand into my wife's hand! That way he knows it's 1) OK and 2) I insist! :)	Sex, Sexism	Gender - General	3/96	3.125
Lol. I can already see the netizen arguments. lawls. Either way, thanks for tackling this one Simon and Martina. Sexism , even out side of Korea, is still a very sensitive subject for all. Doesn't help there is sooo many close minded people who think they know all there is to the subject and try agruing about it. Looking forward to your next video. v	Sexism	Gender - General	1/64	1.562
wow I can't believe the whole grabbing chicks by the wrist and dragging them away thing happens. Like what happened to using your mouth and being like "Oh hey, you're really hot, can you come inside here because it's currently a sausage fest." Pretty sure a chick who wants to party wouldn't mind. This is something I'm going to have to mention to my fiancé before traveling there because if he sees that and sees them protesting he's going to beat the shit out of them...	Chick	Gender - General	1/86	1.163
I watched dateline one time and they spoke about how plastic surgery was a big big big thing in S.Korea and how kpop influences teens to get surgery. they seemed to make it sound S.Korea is obsessed with beauty and nothing else. is this true? and does it really differ from other countries such as Australia and America?	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/58	1.724
Sexism is defined as: Prejudice, stereotyping, or discrimination, typically against women, on the basis of sex .Please note the last bit.. "on the basis of sex ." This is not the same as "on the basis of cultural and societal norms." This is what is so puzzling to me. If the unintended consequence of being respectful in the way you know how to someones wife is to not have skin to skin contact, that is not sexism . If he's avoiding her hand SIMPLY because she's female, then it is sexism .	Sex, Sexism	Gender - General	5/89	5.618
mmm we have the same problem here in Dubai , but women can smoke in public but the guys & old people would look at them in a really weird look!!	Old, Weird	Age - Over 65s, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/31	6.452

I wouldn't call "ignoring someone completely" a "traditional quirk", I'd call that rude and sexist. Things like turning away from someone when you take a shot in Korea, I'd call that a "traditional quirk". But sexism is sexism no matter where you are, and I'm getting really tired of people using cultural differences to excuse it. We had sexist customs in the West too, but you don't see us trying to justify as "part of our culture". Oppression isn't a cultural value.	Sexism	Gender - General	2/82	2.439
It's being normal and polite in his country, that is the whole point of being tolerant. If it were in America I would say yes, it's totally sexist! Why? Because the American male would have been doing it intentionally to snub the women. IE: Sexism . What you're saying is that a 100 unintended consequence is still treated as if it were intended, and that's just so unfair. It's fine to talk about changing mindsets, but to treat it the SAME as if it were on purpose is so wrong. Sexism is too harsh!	Sexism	Gender - General	2/93	2.151
Maybe this is just me, but I don't necessarily mind that (either in RL or kdramas) so long as it's between people that know each other (e.g. bf/gf, family, etc.) because I don't see anything wrong (initially) if it was the woman doing that to a man. This is mainly because I don't know the entire situation, and until someone get's hit, it's none of my business However, I despise it when men are grabbing random young korean women off the street to bring into the club. To me, that is unacceptable.	Woman	Gender - General	1/92	1.087
In the dramas, the wrist dragging is kinda romantic 3 oh, the cheesy me	Cheesy	Social Class - Working class	1/14	7.143
I just re-watched a Korean variety program where some pop idols were visiting a village elder couple in their home. They ask how long since they've kissed and the couple said about 10 years. They asked them to kiss and they did, but they censored the kiss. So.. yeah it's a huge deal to touch, lol.	Elder	Age - Over 65s	1/56	1.786
shaking hand is still like for just men in korea.... man and woman usually dont shake hands... when theres two couples, only men shake hand and women are just aknowledged by talking or nodding kind of gesture.. it is rare for woman to shake hand in korea.. dont know why but just it have been that way.. most time..	Woman	Gender - General	2/59	3.39
There is sexism everywhere, unfortunately we live in a patriarchal society and because of that some men (and women) are sexist because of whats around us daily. In a perfect world everyone would be equal, men, woman , transgenders, gays/lesbians, all races, ect. would be equal. But we aren't living in a perfect world :/	Sexism, Woman	Gender - General	2/54	3.704

Okay, before all you commenters start raging about women's rights, remember this is about equality. I keep seeing comments completely the opposite of equality, implying that women are better than men, or for some reason, they "deserve" to be respect more than men. That's not it at all. Everyone should be respected, man or woman .	Woman	Gender - General	1/55	1.818
Same here i love certain things about the 50s except sexism (i'm actually a feminist lol) and a few other things.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/21	4.762
You know..... i like how they are stuck in the 50s because it has a bigger respect for elders, values, and innocence. However, i myself hate the whole sexism thing.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/30	3.333
I don't understand the value of bending over backwards trying to justify this as 'culturally appropriate'. It's not a woman's job to act calmly when she's being harassed in the street just so she doesn't disturb her fellow pedestrians. It's the harasser's job not to harass. And if society wants to blame someone, blame the dude doing the grabbing. What you're doing is putting the onus of responsibility on the woman who was walking past when some dude grabbed her.	Woman	Gender - General	1/80	1.25
I'm from Spain and I always thought that there was no sexism here but, looking at my own family, if there is no sexism , why I do all the housework while my brother watches TV? we aren't that different	Sexism	Gender - General	2/39	5.128
I think Heesok just did that to clear things up with some of the confused comments below. My mom is a vice president of a company, but even that status didn't mean much since she's a woman . However, because Dad is the president, they had to give her respect because he asked them to, and he was regarded as "equal" or "above" them. Depending on age , status, and gender , you're not always considered "equal" to everyone, but sometimes this can be a very good quality of Korea.	Age, Gender, Woman	Age - General, Gender - General	3/87	3.448
Right, so it's better to swallow feeling uncomfortable and not make a scene so that you, as a woman , are not judged. Never mind that society should be judging the men doing the pulling. No, it's the fault of the woman for refusing to let herself be treated like a rag doll. Sadly that's not just a Korean attitude. It's very much ingrained in the 'but was it really rape-rape' kind of mentality you see in the West	Woman	Gender - General	2/78	2.564
Yeah, that is probably more accurate. Women being cautious of men is ingrained in all cultures one more visible than another. We're taught by experience/explicitly, not to be "overly friendly" to girls who are not interested in you and handshaking seems to be all bundled into the whole concept of "anti-body-contact" principle between different genders in Korea. I don't feel weird shaking hands with women in Canada but I never really offer to shake hands with Korean co-workers/bosses/employees	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/78	1.282

The patriarchal business structure is really deeply embedded in Korean culture. It has nothing to do with Martina. It's just how they do business.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/24	4.167
Something can be both cultural and sexist. Refusing to treat a woman the same as you would a man is the definition of being sexist.	Woman	Gender - General	1/25	4.0
As in the woman can be shy and not accept the handshake so then the man just nowadays don't even offer? I think that's from a sexism perspective though. I believe in egalitarianism...women should not feel that way in the first place. 'cuz when they do think that way, it's thinking that they are INFERIOR to men. A handshake is a sign of equality. The point of its creation was to greet and communicate in a equal standing, equal status.	Sexism, Woman	Gender - General	2/80	2.5
yea like people have said below me and above, shaking hands is purely out of respect for that woman . i come from a middle eastern family so i can't say much about Korea, but shaking a woman's hand is considered to be out of line unless she offers her hand first.	Woman	Gender - General	1/51	1.961
But that still makes a woman seem like property? Do women ask the Wife if its okay to shake the Husband's hand?	Woman	Gender - General	1/22	4.545
I honestly thought I was the only one who really hated that about dramas. Don't get me wrong, I do love Korean and Japanese dramas but the sexism can be a bit overwhelming that it just makes me mad. ESPECIALLY the grabbing and dragging. I never really mentioned it because I thought people would think I was reading too much into it or I didn't know enough about the culture to have a fair judgement, but it didn't change the fact that it angered me.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/85	1.176
This reminds me of when I was walking down the street in Seoul with my friends and someone grabbed my wrist and tried to drag me into a store. Granted, it was a girl and I am African American but it did catch me off guard. Maybe she was thought that I was alone (all of my friends were Korean) and that my foreigner presence would boost the popularity of the store? I guess what I'm trying to say is: if someone is trying to sell you something, guy or girl, they WILL drag you into their shop.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/98	1.02
That's why I am happy when President Park got elected...at least people in Korea will start to see..."Oh, women can be leaders too" kinda thing. I mean, I live in the States and I still see sexism here...like, "oh, girls aren't supposed to do that!" although female leaders are quite common , the little things are still getting picked on.	Common, Sexism	Gender - General, Social Class - Working class	2/59	3.39

I see your point, and I never thought about it from that point of view. If, in that situation, the woman offer her hand for a handshake, I'll not avoid it, of course. I'll be glad, actually. But I will wait her initiative, you know? Meanwhile, I'll smile and politely greet her with fine words. In these moments a smile may be more significant, isn't it? What can I say? To be not neglected, take the initiative, ok? At least you'll know if the guy is a sexist or a gentleman. ;)	Woman	Gender - General	1/92	1.087
The (exaggeration?) of gender roles in KDramas has always bothered me so much, to the point where it even really pisses me off in a lot of cases. But your guys' saying of "having the technology of 2050 with the mentality of 1950" is really great and, sadly, accurate. I took a class on Korean government and culture last semester and the religious history of the country plays a lot into it I think, like you mentioned on your blog. I hope Korea continues to work on this so things can improve!	Gender	Gender - General	1/92	1.087
earlier today i had an argument with my guy friend saying that sexism wasn't a word and i lost cuz my best friend brought up a lil pocket dictionary and showed it to me.....i wuz trying to FORGET about that.....moment.....X'D dammit!! X'D	Sexism	Gender - General	1/42	2.381
but martina held out her hand so he was just trying not to offend simon. And once again i'll say if he treated them both differently based on their gender it's sexist.	Gender	Gender - General	1/32	3.125
Maybe this stems from the fact that women have a sort of caution when it comes to men. Like we're taught (by rape culture) that if we're "too loose" then we "deserve" sexual assault/harassment, so we're forced to take precautions—thus making us act or appear uncomfortable when a male is being physical (in ANY way, offensive or not) or "overly friendly". And it's sad that guys have to take these considerations because it's sad that women have been taught to feel so threatened.	Sexual	Gender - General	1/83	1.205
how do you hes not shaking her hand because he doesnt want to offend simon AND (in his view) be respectful/not offend to martina?well i can relate to the host, coz i tend to keep minimal physical contact with the opposite sex , but not because i dont want to offend the husband or boyfriend but mainly in respect for the girl and aswell as abiding by what i belive in.	Sex	Gender - General	1/71	1.408
from their blog.... "One thing we didn't mention, though, and we're not sure if it's relevant or not, but we're happy that Korea has a female president. We're not saying anything about her policies. We don't follow politics enough to know how she's doing. We're just happy to see a woman as president. It sets a good example, not only for people in Korea but also for the rest of the world."	Woman	Gender - General	1/72	1.389

I'm Korean myself and I've always been told that it's rather rude to shake a married woman's hand unless she takes the initiative. It surely could be labeled as 'sexism' going by the definition. But that's my way (and that of many fellow Koreans) of showing respect. As weird as it may sound, we all have to acknowledge and accept the difference in cultural context. Once we bring in morality and comparison to the game, we are fighting a losing cause	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/81	1.235
If this is true, it would still stem from sexism . Because a woman is taken by a MAN, she cannot be acknowledged by other men, because she is already a possession.	Sexism, Woman	Gender - General	2/31	6.452
I'd just like to say in response to some commenters that a Korean woman's motivation in not acting out when she is dragged into a club is not solely because she doesn't want to upset a man. Asian culture emphasizes people as a collective whole and making a scene (in other words, drawing attention to yourself as an individual) in public for any reason is looked down upon. Yes, there is sexism in Korea and yes, it is unfair, but try to see things outside of your own culture's prism! :)	Sexism	Gender - General	1/91	1.099
I feel like I would get in so much trouble in situations like this. As a gay man I love my swarms of lady friends. If someone grabbed my Korean flame dame to pull her into a club or anywhere for that matter it would basically be time to throw the fuck down. I'll use my entire Korean vocabulary to rip a guy a new asshole. No one touches my female friends without their permission. Yeah this would be a problem for me	Dame, Gay	Gender - General, Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	3/83	3.614
You are the epitome of why society is continually falling down. Adding to what cherry said women don't want them to happen it's the men who are making it happen. Like Martina said, we live in a mostly patriarchal world if women took a stand then, they would be shunned from or even completely ignored. So to sum it up, women don't want sexism but they have to deal with it because of our patriarchal society and you are the reason why we are not moving forward.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/87	1.149
The thing about shaking hands with woman is actually an etiquette thing. It's said that if you are a man, you can't offer your hand to shake with a woman , because she can not accept it and still not be considered rude, you are going to be considered rude instead. But if SHE offers her hand it's fine, the guy can have a handshake with her.	Woman	Gender - General	2/66	3.03
aha so true, but I draw the line at verbal and physical abuse that's for sure. Aint nothing sexy about that lol I'm watching I Need Romance 2012 and I don't think I can finish it cause of these reasons	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/40	2.5

About the handshake, I think it's not because they don't acknowledge you as a woman , it's maybe because they aren't used to it or in other words, it's probably not polite to shake a girl's hand that you don't know or it's simply. Also there is the point where Korean woman might not be comfortable or used to doing it. Just because in America or elsewhere people are more open that doesn't mean it's the only way to interact with others. As for the dragging.. well no comment!	Woman	Gender - General	2/88	2.273
Simon and Martina! I have experienced in North America, specifically where I live in southern United States. In this particular area, and only this area I find, I get told that I can't do things like a man would (LIKE A MAN, oh Simon, how you tell me to fight the power)And so I am looked down as a young woman who has a brain. I think it has a lot to do with how you are raised.On the other side, my good male friend has experienced reverse sexism . Mega ultra infinity feminism...SCARY!	Sexism, Woman	Gender - General	2/95	2.105
I'm Brazilian, and here we greet each other with kisses (between man and woman , or between women, not between men, ok?) (and cheek kisses, of course... lol). But, in a formal meeting, if I don't know who is that woman , and I never saw her personally before, I will not impose a physical contact. I will wait her initiative. That's gallantry. Probably it's a kind of sexism , but in a good way, in a respectful way. I'm just respecting her space. Is that good or bad?Please, don't get me wrong, ok?	Sexism, Woman	Gender - General	3/92	3.261
It's deplorable behavior that has been described pertaining to the sexism men put on women in Korea but at the same time I'm happy you both made a video on this, it was very interesting.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/35	2.857
Morrey sorry to pop in, I just wanted to maybe suggest that it's purely mindset and common courtesy working with the jealousy thing. Even though it might seem like nothing but a handshake to a foreigner it could very well be just socially known in Korea as something you shouldn't do with a woman that has a significant other. I don't know if that's even the case I was just providing a suggestion.	Common, Nothing, Woman	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General, Social Class - Working class	3/73	4.11
I think the club thing is pretty common ..they do that all the time London, you can't even walk 3 meter before someone's trying to get you in a club lol	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/30	3.333
I don't think its just an Asian thing. Being hispanic I was raised to always feed the men first, as well as clean up after them. And when you get married pretty much obey your husband. Which is why I refuse to ever marry within my own race .	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/48	2.083

yes but the host thinks he'll offend Simon which means he's used to men getting offended in this situation which is kind what i was on about and i know it's a different culture which is fine but the fact that its different for men than for women makes it sexist. It doesnt matter if the women are used to it or if other countries do it, its still sexism . However small it might be. (btw im on my other account)	Sexism	Gender - General	1/81	1.235
Not being confrontational (okay maybe a little) here, but do you have any sources to back this up? Because I find it /really difficult to believe that anyone would want to experience sexism .	Sexism	Gender - General	1/33	3.03
The most important thing for you guys here to know is, that these sexism stereotypes happen because women want them to happen, never the guys are completely sexist. You guys might not understand but this is the truth. They've got plenty of role models and studies of other countries getting over sexism themselves, but they never ever speak publicly on this type of topic. like NEVER. because they are enjoying it. I probably could never hear these topics like why men don't shake hands with women.	Sexism	Gender - General	2/86	2.326
GREAT SEGMENT! I agree with all of your observations about sexism in Korea, except one. The whole hand-shaking thing has to do with the Korean taboo against physical contact between members of the opposite sex , especially between married men and women. Yes, it's part and parcel of the overall sexist notion that married women are somehow the "property" of their husbands, but I think the handshaking quirk is a bit more innocuous than the other examples you cite.	Sex, Sexism	Gender - General	2/78	2.564
im sorry in countries (e.g the West) where things r a lot different from korea (i.e handshakes with every1) is highly saturated with the sexual objectification of women, u cant even compare the 2. im talkin about the host (who im assuming is a man)- so i dont know why ur talkin about husbands controlling their wives etc, coz the host clearly wasnt controlling any1 here....unless ur talkin about simon. just because he didnt shake martinas hand, doesnt mean the host thinks less of her	Sexual	Gender - General	1/85	1.176
You're making assumptions about me that you don't need to and really aren't correct anyway. I'm just trying to let some people know that there is more than one conceivable reason why the man didn't shake Martina's hand and how making a scene about sexism at that moment probably would have been way off the mark. Naturally in the west we have lived many decades with much more equality than most of the world. That's why I think we need to be the tolerant ones and give insight and not force it.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/92	1.087

I think the not shaking Martina's hand thing is more reflective of the level of discomfort among more "gentlemanly" men (the guys outside clubs don't count) with touching another man's wife. That I can see as a harmless thing, it's not necessarily b/c they feel she's inferior. But everything else - girls getting manhandled all the time, not addressing business conversations toward both Simon and Martina - that's just rude and it does make it seem like they're treating the woman as an inferior.	Woman	Gender - General	1/84	1.19
THANK YOU! Whenever im watching a korean drama and i see those "rommantic" scenes where the dude pushes the girl towards him to hug/kiss her im very uncomfortable. Nobody else seems to see it, all foreigner fans are all like "aww, that's so cute and he's so masculine and he's being so rommantic even though he's always a jerk to the female lead and whatever"... seriously, it's NOT rommantic, it's violent and it scares me that even western girls don't see it.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/82	1.22
Not at all. She seems to be dealing with it extremely well I thought, didn't you? But you seem to very lightly imply that she should have right then and there gotten into an.. argument? discussion? Of a foreigners view on sexism with a local host? I'm wondering what in specifics you would have had Martina do. Personally, I think Simon should have directed his hand to Martina's hand. This would have the effect of making the man know it was OK to take her hand without insulting anyone.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/89	1.124
omfg its an asian thing!!! Asian woman gets no respect no mater what !!!	Woman	Gender - General	1/14	7.143
I never said anything about forcing a foreign view of sexism on the host. Obviously Martina didn't. My goodness, one can't make a comment about a social issue and its implications while also retaining full physical respect of said custom? Like I said, my problem is with the fact that they have this mindset in the first place. I never said it would be appropriate to go ahead and ignore this custom because of personal beliefs.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/76	1.316
It's funny about the handshaking - here in the US, when I meet a couple in the office (to do their taxes, it's what my job is), it's the husband whose hand I shake, rarely the woman (if anything, there could be a hug if I did their taxes last year, heh). This happens even if the woman is the one I'm mainly talking with (not uncommon). Of course, I'm here in the South where you address a woman commonly as "Miss Soandso" regardless of marital status. (BTW Martina those glasses are DAEBAK!!)	Woman	Gender - General	3/93	3.226
Oh yes, I hardly think sexism is isolated to Korea. I've experienced plenty of it here in Canada, especially related to clubbing and other nightlife activities - -	Sexism	Gender - General	1/27	3.704

Now if you're just asking me if in my country I would skip past a woman , hell no, lmao. My first hero and first villain were women, my first boss and teachers were women. I love women and enjoy working with them every day. But I also have lived in many places and so when there's a custom or other difference I don't find it hard to see it from their point of view. Philosophical discussions are better saved for a proper format, not on the spot because it's something we're not used to.	Woman	Gender - General	1/94	1.064
That's what most people don't understand. Sexism screws us ALL, male and female. Rigid gender roles do not a happy relationship make, particularly when something (say, a global recession?) rocks the boat.	Gender, Sexism	Gender - General	2/32	6.25
it was made a video of korean and racism long time ago. watch playlist	Racism	Ethnicity - General	1/14	7.143
So rather than try to correct a skewed and hilariously old fashioned attitude, Martina should just be okay with being ignored? That sounds productive.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/24	4.167
My goodness I don't even know where to begin! Are you then suggesting that the "correct/proper" thing to do is to try to force a foreign view of sexism onto the host who in his mind is doing the proper thing? Are you sure that you're considering the situation from all of the angles without bias? You say "Whether Simon approves or not should have no bearing" Well lets live in a factual world. In the mans mind it DOES, in FACT, have bearing. And in his mind it would be rude to shake her hand.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/96	1.042
Unfortunately a lot of Korean women have kind of been trained not to fight back in situations like that. I have had many strange Korean men approach me in inappropriate ways with extremely inappropriate touching and are pretty shocked when I don't just take it. But this might be less "general" sexism and more the notion that many Koreans assume all foreign women are easy.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/65	1.538
Cultural context is great for understanding why things are as they are, but it is not a free pass. But we can and should be able to talk about these things rationally, without jumping onto our soapbox when we don't like what other people are saying. Believe me, no one in the West who has followed the Steubenville case thinks we've solved sexism over here.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/65	1.538
But that's absurd. A handshake is a greeting. It's no more or less of an imposition than saying hello to someone. If you're consciously avoiding shaking a woman's hand because she's a woman (or because her husband might mind), then that's sexist.	Woman	Gender - General	1/42	2.381

I have a question, and I'm sorry if it comes off as offensive, I'm really just curious. A lot of people in the comments are talking about how it isn't polite for a man to shake the hand of a married woman or girl without asking their permission, which is why Martina may be ignored under some circumstances, but then, why is it okay for guys to drag girls into clubs?	Woman	Gender - General	1/71	1.408
Aww.. D: They're crazy to not want to shake Martina's hand.. She's fabulous <3	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/14	7.143
Martina, I think the physical contact (handshake) is a type of imposition, a form of demanding attention. Doing this to a woman , from the point of view of a gentlemen, it's unacceptable. Even more when she is on the side of her husband. That's the way I act. I wait the woman extend her hand. But, if some men don't respond to you, or don't look in your eyes, at a business meeting or at any other situation, it's really disrespectful.	Woman	Gender - General	2/81	2.469
Why was Martina ignored? Maybe you should look for an answer before judging it as sexism so hastily.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/18	5.556
That's not surprising. Along with the woman =submissive/property, comes the male=dominant/provider. It's just like 1950's America.	Woman	Gender - General	1/16	6.25
What sexism ? XD	Sexism	Gender - General	1/4	25.0
What sexism ? What are you talking about, troll ?	Sexism	Gender - General	1/10	10.0
Question for next week: I know that you cannot speak about your own experiences on this topic, but I am curious about your friends' experiences. I am a biracial American ( black and white) and one of the things that made me wary about KPop at first was the occasional blackface I saw online. How extreme is racism towards black people in Korea and is blackface as common as the internet makes it out to be? I know this is a sensitive topic, but I truly value your thoughts. Thanks!	Black, Common, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	4/89	4.494
Just a thought, maybe address your own sexism .	Sexism	Gender - General	1/8	12.5

Hi guise! I have a question about racism . I know it's a sensitive issue and netizens will be all up in your grill(I know, thug life). But i was wondering how darker skinned people are treated in there. Like for me i am south asian, so i am not necessarily pale or white. I am more tan . So i was wondering how would they treat people who are darker skinned. I would love it if you answered it!	Racism, Tan	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - British	2/78	2.564
watch love and war martina, there are PLENTY of scenes where the woman drags the man by the wrist. usually to get humiliated publicly.	Woman	Gender - General	1/24	4.167
I see a lot of people excusing the handshake thing as being a marker of respect (for Simon's property rights, I guess). What about the fact that Martina is ignored when EYK meets with male professional contacts? Is that still not sexism ?	Sexism	Gender - General	1/42	2.381
so, to continue. it's like the korean dramas where a guy accidentally touches a girls hand and they gasp and there is a close up of their faces going "did i do that?" So in a nutshell, don't feel bad about this martina. however, the not acknowledging martina in an email is sexism . you should just say "martina and simon" from now on. make martina the front person.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/68	1.471
I think you handled it properly. It's not like we don't have sexism I mean women in the US are still paid less than men, and unlike Korea the US hasn't elected their first female president I'm from South America and there's boatloads of sexism , resumes are sometimes required to have a personal photo and it's not unusual for a woman to get hired based on her looks and viseéversa so yeah like Simon said this was your experience and no country is perfect even in this aspect alone.	Sexism, Woman	Gender - General	3/89	3.371
To not shaking martina's hand. There is a cultural reason that is not being explained. I can explain it because I have done business in korea. If the interviewer is a man, it is almost unkosher for him to explicitly shake the hand of a woman period! i have been in situations in which the girl who was conducting business with me would shake the hand of the women, but would just bow to me. that is because this will avoid the social awkwardness of touching a guy. more in the next reply.	Woman	Gender - General	1/93	1.075
But it is sexist to treat someone differently because of their gender . That's the definition of the word. The assumption that physical contact with Martina could somehow anger Simon is in itself sexist.	Gender	Gender - General	1/33	3.03

But why is it the "correct/proper" thing to do? Saying, "Oh that's just how it is in their country" doesn't get to the root of the problem (inherent sexism ). Martina was clearly willing to shake the man's hand. Whether Simon approves or not should have no bearing; she has the right to choose to do so. All women have the right make their own choices and the fact that they still default to "Oh, what does your owner (husband) think" is an upsetting fact, no matter what country you're from.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/90	1.111
That's an interesting point. But I would argue that just because something is ingrained or old or has some merit doesn't make it foolproof as far as legitimate criticism. Ancient doctrines should be reexamined in the context of the world we live in: a world where treating men and women differently because of their gender is discriminatory, whichever way you slice it.	Gender, Old	Age - Over 65s, Gender - General	2/62	3.226
I don't think that this video mocked or used the topic for the "sake of humour" at all. The TL;DR allowed them to express their own views and opinions about sexism . Also what may be a norm in Korean or any culture doesn't mean it's right. EX: slavery in USA. It's one thing to be disrespectful, but here they were critical. They even explained that the video would have a narrow approach based on their own experiences. Obv that places a bias, but the topic of sexism is so broad, so what can you do?	Sexism	Gender - General	2/95	2.105 about the host not shaking martina's hand- i DONT see that as being sexist, i see that as the host being respectful. hes obviously thinking that martina ans simon are a couple and that he should keep minimum physical contact with opposite gender . this definately doesnt happen in just korea, it happens in many countries around, whether for social/respect reasons or religious reasons..	Gender	Gender - General	1/63	1.587
Really interesting video. My Korean (female) teacher told us a few weeks ago that women and men usually don't shake hands. A woman/woman handshake is apparently even rarer. It's weird that things don't evolve more rapidly.	Weird	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/36	2.778
Except that filial piety has nothing to do with shaking a woman's hand. There's no old person present in the equation here.	Nothing, Old	Age - Over 65s, Age - Youngsters	2/22	9.091
Cultural differences are great, but sexism is not a matter of etiquette or social norms. It's also not subjective. Treating everyone the same regardless of their gender is pretty easy to do.	Gender, Sexism	Gender - General	2/32	6.25

As Simon & Martina mention in their article attached to the video, Korea has many Confucian beliefs, arguably the most important being Filial Piety; Respect for your elders. However, this applies to men more than women. Its not that the woman in this case is the mans property, it is seen as disrespectful to make physical gestures frequently because it can be misconstrued as flirtatious or even just another motive entirely. Its usually to pay respect to the man as Confucian values teach.	Woman	Gender - General	1/83	1.205
I totally jave the same experience...i can even stand on my head,noone will talk to me bcs im a woman . I hate this soooo much! Especially when im a lot smarter and say smarter stuff than any other gyy next to me,they still dont acknowledge me	Woman	Gender - General	1/46	2.174
Re: Western ideals. I think gender equality isn't Western so much as a basic human right? Pretty much like racism isn't a cultural trait that's acceptable regardless of its location and speaking out against it has nothing to do with forcing Western ideals.	Gender, Nothing, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	3/43	6.977
That's interesting, particularly if you contrast it with the fact that (some) men apparently think it's okay to drag single women into clubs by the hand. I guess marriage makes the woman some other man's property (which you obviously can't infringe).	Woman	Gender - General	1/41	2.439
i can understand that, but what about why they just ignore her talking or acknowledge their company as simon AND martina....or is that part of it still considered impolite because she's married? I'm american - indian , and this is still prevalent in india in a similar manner, esp with the recent gang rapes, but when it comes down to work/business everyone should be treated as a colleague...hopefully ppl will catch up with the changing times in both korea and india	Indian	Ethnicity - Native-American	1/80	1.25
I had a similar wrist-pulling-happening when I visited korea. but instead it happening in front of a night club, it happened in front of a make-up or whatever shop. Plus I was (and am xD) a foreigner and it was a korean girl who pulled me in (first luring me with some free sample in her hands...). After that experience we stayed clear of those women...they were everywhere...that has nothing to do with sexism , but you reminded me of it :D	Nothing, Sexism	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	2/81	2.469
Another great video guys, thanks! . It's nice to hear that Korea seems to be heading in a bit of a more modern direction when it comes to gender roles.	Gender	Gender - General	1/30	3.333

This happens in the U.S. too, but most women don't put up with it because there's a stronger advocacy for gender equality in the U.S. I've never been to Korea, but I believe this behavior is fairly prevalent throughout Asia. Asian media tends to depict Asian girls as being submissive and dimwitted and there hasn't been any major de jure or de facto action against those stereotypes. Of course, the question is are we forcing Western ideals upon Asia or is this a serious ethical problem?	Gender	Gender - General	1/86	1.163
Thank you guys for answering this! I've been very curious the sexism in Korea. I've dated two Korean guys and I KNOW it's there, because I've experienced them comment or do little things that are a bit sexist. Though I think Korean guys like it when girls put them in their place, because I did it with both of them without sugar coating and they keep wanting to be a part of my life O.o Btw Martina, I WANT YOUR SWEATER!	Sexism	Gender - General	1/81	1.235
Nothing about this video was about humor or mocking. they said before that this was what they experienced and they are comparing it to how it would differ back in Canada (and yes, this wouldn't fly back there). If you read the longer post on their blog they even ask if this was done in other countries in order to open to more discussion. they are not trying to belittle Korea	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/71	1.408
I find that stupid.A woman sin't a man's property. I find it very unfair.	Woman	Gender - General	1/15	6.667
Waaait.. Korean men just drag Korean women into the clubs like that? And they're okay with that? But I thought nobody really liked being touched like that unless if they're close friends or family? : -confused, so very confused-	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/39	2.564
A little bit of a surprise as a Korean, because many young Korean men actually feel that they're the victims of sexism . Korean men have to "waste" two years of their prime years in compulsory military service, yet they get almost nothing in return. When a couple goes out for a date, usually the man pays all the bills. When a couple gets married, the man pays for the house while the wife only pays for the furniture. Of course, the husband is expected to support the family.	Nothing, Sexism	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	2/88	2.273
I was actually thinking about that, like, yesterday, while watching Running Man (and it's just an exemple, because you get to see this kind of things on other programs). Though I LOVE this program and everything is turned into humor... it endlessly hit me how everything about women is a proof of sexism...nothing major, but so many little "nothings" that would have annoyed me if I was in those situations.	Nothing, Sexism	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	2/70	2.857

I'm 20 and a lot of my Korean friends thought I was half Black Half Korean because of my looks and fluency in the Korean language (i sound more fluent than i really am xD) but no I'm just a mixed american girl who happens to want to work in south korea as an animator or artist in general. So would it be harder for me to get a job in this male dominated industry with the kind of ignorance (business wise) that martina somewhat received...	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/86	1.163
I am a Korean man, when I see a couple in Korea, I tend to look at only the man and talk to him. Because I don't want to show false interests in his woman . Women in Korea do the same thing, they may choose to talk and look at only a woman to avoid such unnecessary suspicion. Of course, this is between strangers, once they get to know each other better they don't do that.	Woman	Gender - General	2/76	2.632
Martina, you work it! :D I've stopped watching many dramas because I was so irritated by how frail and dumb they portrayed the girl characters (Playful Kiss, and that drama with Changmin)... you should watch Protect the Boss if you haven't, so much womanly power :D	Dumb	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/46	2.174
I guess the relationship between men and women is to blame for sexism . Even shaking one's hand could be seen as inappropriate touching of another man's wife. Social rules are designed to maintain appropriate distance. I bet the level of out-of-wedlock births and the divorce rate are much lower in Korea. What is the level of women in the workplace? As more women enter the workforce, I bet social rules will have to adapt.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/74	1.351
Well considering how Korea is ranked 108th out of 135 countries in the Global Gender Gap Index, it's no surprise that they will be treating women differently from men.	Gender	Gender - General	1/29	3.448
To be fair, sexism is also a tradition in the Western world, and some of us are trying to fight it here to our way and according to our way of living. Maybe (MAYBE) women in, for example, South Korea are a bit more used to be submissive, and maybe (MAYBE) that attitude doesn't prevail in the Western world, but we have other ways of sexism . The fact that the media bomb us constantly with an overwhelming amount of images that depict women as voluptuous and slutty is also a way of sexism .	Sexism	Gender - General	3/93	3.226
Protect the Boss and Secret Garden were awesome. Strong women who kick butt ftw! I always find it hilariously pathetic when a girl gets dragged then 2 minutes later she finally gets the strength or courage to yank her arm away. - -;	Yank	Nationality - American	1/42	2.381

Well, I am korean and I do agree with some of the points they made. However, shaking hands is not something that koreans are very accustomed to. Greetings at each other usually take place by bowing at each other in korea. Also, our culture considers when a man offers a handshake to a married woman considered kind of impolite(because we think shaking hands is also a part of physical contact). So,I guess it's not really a sexism issue?	Sexism, Woman	Gender - General	2/78	2.564
So what did you expect? You discussed an extremely sensitive issue. (It's not sensitive only in Korea, but also in almost all countries in the world.)If you post sensitive videos, then you get sensitive comments. Nobody can help it. You should've known it.	Nobody	Age - Youngsters	1/44	2.273
In france, we greet and say goodbye with kisses on the cheeks wether you're married or not, young, old ... But not if you're not close enough to that person.	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/29	3.448
Oh god and here I thought we have some serious problems with equality here in Finland... Seems like we're actually quite lucky! I've never been treated disrespectfully because of my gender but after all, I'm just 19 so what do I know about worklife. Anyway, I'm sure things will start to change in South Korea over time. Their first female president is a good sign, definitely! Unbelievable though that they'd ignore Martina in business meetings and such... Just thinking about it makes me mad!	Gender	Gender - General	1/84	1.19
I'm sorry to hear that, Martina.. Sexism is disgusting.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/9	11.111
So they're not ignoring her, but simply acknowledging the fact that she's a married woman and thereby not addressing her because that may cause her to misunderstand their intentions? It's an odd way of doing it, but it makes sense.	Woman	Gender - General	1/40	2.5
Yeah Well the younger generations now don't mind it. They do have really bad jokes tho so watch out for that but I have a Korean friend and he's really nice. :3 He even learned how to speak in Spanish because most of the community here is Hispanic ! :D So there are Koreans who are OK with every race and others that just need to talk to so they get to see you are not different	Race	Ethnicity - General	1/77	1.299
Please dont use that 'it's our society and its different.' Nothing excuses sexism . Treating women less than men is sexism . I dont care if you are American, korean or arabian. it's WRONG to over look a woman because of her genitals. Martina is half the owner of EYK and her ideas matter.	Nothing, Sexism, Woman	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	4/52	7.692

i think i can relate the kind of sexism marina faced cuz its similar in my country :) i dunt think its sexism u guys it their definition of respect for the lady its not tht she not being acknowledged its just tht since martina is married n has a man beside her they prefer talking to simon showing the respect TO martina ok this may not make sense but thts how im thinking it works with koreans as well	Sexism	Gender - General	2/80	2.5
Ps dont get me wrong about these comments, i got nothing against Koreans. Even though i had this happen many times, after a while i broke the ice. And now since the passing of the years some of my best friends are Korean. I just find it troublesome.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/48	2.083
I'm sure they didnt mean all Koreans as a whole are sexist, but there seems to be sexism woven into the culture perhaps? Like i said,i am not saying all men are like this, but it seems to be almost expected to treat women as if they are a certain. I'm glad they know better not to grab foreign girls. lol I'm sure you are a good guy, Taeyun. :)	Sexism	Gender - General	1/70	1.429
I am so glad you guys cover this topic. I always notice the wrist grabbing in Kdramas and was so annoyed by them and when I went to Korea this guy just randomly grabbed my wrist and pulled me over to take a picture with him... He could have just asked. : But I still love Korea, just wish they would start changing their idea about woman .	Woman	Gender - General	1/67	1.493
I think sexism is actually gender discrimination	Gender, Sexism	Gender - General	2/7	28.571
omg, I was so fascinated by the korean dramas that I've never realized all Martina said is true. I'd like to hear more about sexism in Korea (specially anecdotes like Martina's and Soozy's [hope spelling is right O o]) Love you Simon&Marina	Sexism	Gender - General	1/41	2.439
Hmm that comment about Westerners..I would agree that people often try to push their way of doing things on others, but in this case, why shouldnt every culture respect their women? It's a matter of respect, of being human. Can a culture really condone ignoring someone's existance just because they're female? In this day and age , I dont think so. Seriously, acknowledgement is not much to ask for.	Age	Age - General	1/68	1.471
Men are only leaders because it's been brainwashed into their heads by said society (whether in Korea, the US or wherever) that they're supposed to be dominant over women. Of course in return that sometimes brings about the men treating women like sex objects (like the Ohio football team rape case).	Sex	Gender - General	1/51	1.961
Lmao women are being more leaders too. South Korea even has a woman president now.	Woman	Gender - General	1/15	6.667
With the business and sexism I wonder what they'd do with the president now that she's a female. I think that's why I love "Iris" cause it has strong female characters. The wrist thing is interesting.	Sexism	Gender - General	1/36	2.778

that's why i hate the most about korea, the man treat woman as slut and sex object, we can see it by the way they manage all the kpop girl group, with all the sexy desperate concept. its all for men's satisfaction. they never respect woman values.	Sex, Woman	Gender - General	3/47	6.383
Ugh. Totally hate this " sexism " in Korea.Hey guys I'm in high school, and I lived in Toronto for 4 years and half,and when I came back to Korea (Seoul) last year, I was soo shocked. GOSH! Why do they think that women are " nothing "?And I think it's so not fair that they don't do that to "foreign" people.I mean, I'm not saying that they should do that to foreign girls, but that they shouldn't do that to ANYBODY. :( Anyways.. Thank you for making this vid. Keep up the good work!YAAAY CANADA!	Nothing, Sexism	Age - Youngsters, Gender - General	2/97	2.062
I think the reason that ppl don't shake Martin's hand may be due to that she is a woman ? In asia, skinskip between the opposite sex is very sensitive, especially "hands"? Just my guess... I don't know...	Sex, Woman	Gender - General	2/37	5.405
It's not really sexism you talk about... But more Genderdiscrimination... but I can be wrong. I was thinking... you guys did once about homosexuality but what about the extreme forms... and then I go towards Zoophilia and stuff... How's that actually? (But I bet you guys can't answer because of 'no experience')	Sexism	Gender - General	1/52	1.923
Not too far from the truth :) But I'd like to add that that way of thinking is very common for Northern Europe too. Back in 1500's people of pale skin were considered upper class as the dark skin projects someone who works outside (and thereby gets tan ). However, it's only the very old people here in Korea who "prefer" pale people. I haven't really seen it for the younger generation.	Common, Old, Tan	Age - Over 65s, Nationality - British, Social Class - Working class	3/71	4.225
about the beginning and business guys not talking directly to Martina, I think that part of it might be like out of caution talking to a married woman . it might be seen as rude. I think that some of it might be gender-related because she's a woman , but also some because she's a married woman . Just my thoughts...	Woman	Gender - General	3/58	5.172
It's so interesting to see how sexism differs in every country. I go to an all girls school and my eyes have been opened O O to sexism around me. But I am so happy that Park Geun Hye is now president. I'm not aware of what she's done or what she will do, but just as a woman president, it's nice to have that glass ceiling shattered :) I have to say though, it's disgusting that the businesses who contact the two of you, don't acknowledge Martina. On a side note, was the TV show Running Man?????	Sexism, Woman	Gender - General	3/97	3.093

I'm sorry, I don't like how you guys sugar this up. Korea is pretty sexist, end of the case. Yes, it's not just black and white, but Korea is pretty sexist. Girls are expected to be pretty, be sexy, be cute, be smart, be good at housework, and the list goes on and on.Also, women are expected to never speak up to their husband/boyfriend/dad/brother, etc. Which is pretty insane. Also I find the buisness thing with Martina really disrespectful, it's "Simon AND Martina" not just Simon.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/87	1.149
Can you guys do a episode about racism in Korea, or more specifically about Xenophobia . I how should i say brown in colour, and though some of my best friends are Korean. I always get the same comment when i first meet, " I didnt want to talk to you, because back home, if you are brown you work in a factory" I am not even kidding...they did not sugar coat it for me either. And since it happens so many times i worry about wanting to teach there. Do you guys have any experience in this ?	Racism, Xenophobia	Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	2/98	2.041

Table 2: Summary of the results per sociolinguistic variable

Sociolinguistic variables (Hiper - Hipo)	KeyWords	Number of occurrences	Frequency	Frequency(%)
Age - Youngsters	Nothing, Nobody, Zero	75	75/134665	0.06
Gender - General	Sexual, Chauvinist, Woman, Gender, Sexism, Male chauvinism, Chick, Sex, Patriarchy, Misogyny, Misandry, Dame	921	921/134665	0.6799999999999999
Age - General	Age	19	19/134665	0.01
Age - Over 65s	Old, Elder, Senior	58	58/134665	0.04
Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	Blind, Dumb, Crazy, Weird, Disabled, Mental, Lame, Weirdo, Lunatic	71	71/134665	0.05
Ethnicity - Aboriginal	Bong	1	1/134665	0.0
Physical Identity - Physical Features	Fat, Thin, Skinny	6	6/134665	0.0
Social Class - Working class	Common, Tacky, Cheesy	45	45/134665	0.03
Ethnicity - General	Racist, Race, Racism, Ethnicity, Ethnic	56	56/134665	0.04
Nationality - General	doctors, Nation, Nationalism, Nationality, Immigrant, Xenophobia	19	19/134665	0.01
Ethnicity - Black	Black, African, Colored	27	27/134665	0.02
Nationality - German	Hun	1	1/134665	0.0

Ethnicity - Native-American	Indian, Red	10	10/134665	0.01
Ethnicity - Roma	Gypsy	1	1/134665	0.0
Ethnicity - Asian (East- China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam)	Yellow, Banana	3	3/134665	0.0
Nationality - Chinese	Yellow, Slant	3	3/134665	0.0
Nationality - Japanese	Yellow, Jap	3	3/134665	0.0
Ideological and Political Identity - General	Red, Snowflake, Nazi	7	7/134665	0.01
Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol	alcohol	4	4/134665	0.0
Gender - Female sexuality	B*tch, Sl*t, Ho	7	7/134665	0.01
Sexual Identity - General	Gay, LGBT	11	11/134665	0.01
Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality	Gay, LGBT	11	11/134665	0.01
Gender - Female age and physical appearance	Witch	1	1/134665	0.0
Sexual Identity - Transexuality	LGBT, Transgender	2	2/134665	0.0
Gender - Female intelligence	Feminazi	1	1/134665	0.0
Social Class - Destitute	Underdog	1	1/134665	0.0
Ethnicity - Asian (South- India, Pakistan, Bangladesh)	Dot	1	1/134665	0.0
Nationality - Southern European	PIGS	1	1/134665	0.0
Nationality - American	Yank	2	2/134665	0.0
Nationality - British	Tan	2	2/134665	0.0

Result analysis:

- Taking into account the words that were detected, we can reach the conclusion these comments are associated with : : Age - Youngsters;Gender - General;Age - General;Age - Over 65s;Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments;Ethnicity - Aboriginal;Physical Identity - Physical Features;Social Class - Working class;Ethnicity - General;Nationality - General;Ethnicity - Black;Nationality - German;Ethnicity - Native-American;Ethnicity - Roma;Ethnicity - Asian (East- China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam);Nationality - Chinese;Nationality - Japanese; Ideological and Political Identity - General;Behavioural Addiction - Alcohol;Gender - Female sexuality;Sexual Identity - General;Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality;Gender - Female age and physical appearance;Sexual Identity - Transexuality;Gender - Female intelligence;Social Class - Destitute;Ethnicity - Asian (South- India, Pakistan, Bangladesh);Nationality - Southern European;Nationality - American;Nationality - British;
- The percentage of hate speech related words is 1.0173.
- Considering that the variable Gender - General has the most occurrences in the post, we can interpret that this is the predominant hate speech.
- Overall there were 1372/3243 occurrences of hate speech related comments.