As for her ex, he is either bum , not ready give up his cushy living situation or just being a pain in her a.He can bare the experience of cohibiting with her and her new husband(with new baby) he just didn't want to be in a marriage relations with her. If they all get on then I see nothing wrong with this. However, they don't seem to all get along there for it isn't healthy, especially for their children. Her ex having a lock on his bedroom door and writing his name on his food isn't normal family life. Shame on her for laughing and making light of the situation. She isn't thinking about her kids. I don't know what her ex has done. But, regardless of what he has done, no kids wants to see their dad laughed at. She is a self centred mum. Having lots of money can buy you things but being a kind, caring, thoughtful loving mum is priceless.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/114	0.877

Leigh G like I said age got its rights just like time it's coming and going whether you like it or NOT' plastic surgeries how many for how long?!?! We is humans wait !!! grow up and change and behave our age all I'm saying is life would be easier for her if she accepts the fact that that we at Alder ain't no need to cry and get more plastic surgeries as you get older ' especially in your mid-50s . What else do you want live your life be happy and enjoy every moment smile when you see another year be happy you're alive you're around your family friends or whatever you like doing not living 50 of my life I dedicated to plastic surgeries and try to stay looking young 4 ever YAHH. She probably be judging da fuck out of young women. Someone like her the biggest fear she got besides getting older or having a gray hair is for some young kid saying that old lady over there I guarantee you that would break her heart that probably would be the straw that broke the camel's back. Especially if they're at the restaurant and the waiter says yeah them older couple there are next she wants to stay looking young but it's not going to work even if you have a billion dollars and why is she trying so hard she wants to impress people she don't want to look old is her friends I'm the youngest looking one out of all my friends people think I'm like in my late 20s or maybe like 33 because all my other friends don't take care of yourself they you have nice clothes they are clean oh they're very smart they graduated college but you know they just don't take care of their looks. You can make any story you want in your brain and connect search up with it as long as it's a lot old yes a subject where old people are involved or when you will think someone will call her that old lady over there for example some to get somewhere just anything like that so I can go on forever but I felt like for flying until you for example because it looks like you're going to head that way so if you are not her then do yourself a favor don't grow up to be like her live your life yeah married have kids have grandkids don't be sitting next to your daughter and her kids which is your grandkids will be confused my grandmother got awesome flows that would look good on me that's what 18 year old would be saying LOL she probably would be telling people you believe that's my daughter now that's my sister but she cancelled my mom it's not working and like I said even if it does it will always you McKay Bruce Kardashian if that's his name Bruce from that trash Kardashian life or tv or some shit.. it's amazing how you got to be is a whore and you get famous and make money these days WTF I thought the Kardashians were some actors or some Hollywood producers just cocksuckers and stepfather who became a a stepmother that's what's wrong. Also in this community of our country this new generation so many fathers are not around but also so many mothers are evil bitches that want to keep the kids and some I'm not doing it for money not all females want to keep the children so she can get child support some females don't even want child support they want the father to stay away and that's their mission but some mothers can't stand the father but they still want him to have a relationship with his kids even if he doesn't have a right on the court gives you 100 full custody she still will try to let him meet his kids and be there for them if he wants but unfortunately

Ha! I got a story that'll 1 up this. Thank god it's not my story. Lmao!So a coworker split up with her boyfriend. They have a daughter together. She goes on chat apps and other social media to meet somebody new. Constantly bringing in strangers to their shared place. Sometimes it's a new guy every week or another ex she's dumped previously and has decided to start up with them again. Father of my coworkers daughter is starting to get lonely. So he starts using social media to find a new love interest and he actually finds a steady relationship....WITH A MAN! Sure enough my hussy coworker sees this stable relationship and starts getting to know her ex's new boyfriend and starts developing feelings for him. YES, FEELINGS FOR A GAY MAN! Now all 3 of them and the little girl live together under 1 roof in a 2 bedroom apartment and sometimes her new bf lives with them and is about to bring his newborn child he had with another suicidal psychotic woman who is currently locked up in a mental institution. And yes they do have orgys together. Even after she got her baby daddy's bf a job where she works and he belittled her in front of others and then stopped showing up for his shifts. So much more to the story but I don't have enough time to type it all out. Um, yeah, not toxic at all. It takes two to tango, but the husband seems way batsh*t. I mean, who takes the time to use a sharpie on every piece of their fruit . And the new husband looks so much like the old one... The whole family needs therapy. At least make sure the children are getting counseling. Way too over-dramatic for my taste. I would never buy a property from her! The baby is too cute though!! And she completely over-estimated the selling prospect of her property. What she has is a co-op not a condo which means is that she doesn't really own her own property but a share of the whole building and in order to sell the property, she has to get the approval of the entire building and because of that it's extremely difficult to sell co-op type of property. This type of property is very common in New York especially the older ones. She's a "billion-dollar" real estate broker and I can't believe she didn't know that. Well the listing history exactly proved my suspicion. She first listed her property in 2013 for $24 million and then just kept dropping the price further and further and further and further down to $17 million and she still couldn't sell it after THREE years. [LINK] In 2016, it was finally sold for $3 million from her ex to her. My guess: They finally have had it living with each other and she paid her ex $3 million for him to move out! LOL If I were the ex, seeing how attached she is to the apartment, I would've extracted more money than $3 million from her, at least half of $17 million. That property was supposed to be split half and half if it had been sold and it's not the ex's fault that the property is co-op and is tough to sell.	Common	Social Class - Working class	1/260	0.385

She said in her interviews that she makes tons of money, she offered to pay her ex to move into his own place until they could sell the home & he said "No", so if she can afford to pay for him to move out, then she certainly can afford to move out & just chooses not to, & her new hubby, unless he is just some low life scab, should have his own job, money & a way to support himself & must have had a place to live before he met, married & moved in with this hot mess so all three of these nut jobs deserve to be together in their circumstances as they asked for every bit of it. It amazes me that people are still very uneducated just because a women decides to have children at in older age does not in any way mean shes at more risk or not worthy .but like cancer doctors lie in lie actually in older women can have less risk because they are eating more properly introducing alot of organic in are supplementing so their body is more balanced out then the younger ones.being young most are eating out constantly and packing away on junk food and not supplementing they believe because they are young its not needed little do they know the day we are born we are rotting in decaying away imagine having a car without a tun up for 20 yrs yes ouch, now imagine a human!.my mother belives in herbalistic lifestyle so ive supplemented since i was a baby and i mostly eat organic and my hygiene products are organic 2 our skin is our biggest organ . age is just a number keeping your telemeres ,organs strong is what makes a world off difference at any age .I believe becoming a mother or father is everyone's righteous choice at any age with help or with out help .I totally believe uterus trasplants and iv clinics. are making peoples dreams come true being able to bare your own children it would be nice if it became more common where it became affordable for everyone .It's a horrible feeling not being able to give your spouse children being healthy yet not being able to create your own little bbys .its possible now but its not in everyones reach hopefully soon it becomes cheaper well at least thats my hope to be able to hear my husband laughting away with our bbys thats my dream .
