I can't stand spoilt kids. At 11 I was having a picnic in the garden they'll never have to do a thing it's all handed to them. I avoided girls like this at school. Everything I've got I've had to work for and my kids know nothing is free. They also appreciate all they have. My eyes are giving me headache they're rolling that far back in my head	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/71	1.408

I think kids who are born into a family who run their own businesses are lucky. If I could have had a choice of rich family or family with a business I would have chosen the latter. It means you learn the value of money from a young age , it teaches you how to graft, but also gives you the opportunity to see how a business works from a very young age . It means if you have the ideas you can start your own business off a lot younger than those who have to learn about business at college or uni	Age	Age - General	2/101	1.98

That's right, get the girls to talk about their future prince charming without encouraging them to rely on their own talent and creativity because it's far more important to be sexual objects with lots of clothes + accessories than to work on self actualising and becoming empowered + independent young women. The mother of Jade was living vicariously through her! Such a sad woman . Mutton made as up lamb. And Jade is lamb made up as mutton. I think it is sick, it's like her mother was grooming her for pedophiles. Tragic! Sally was a high class scrubber. No taste or style. Like nearly all the children and parents in this video. Besides which there are Child Employment Laws in this country that say that school aged children cannot work during school hours, or after 7 pm ...they cannot work for more than 2 hours on Sunday to Friday during term time.... and that's beside the fact that children cannot legally work until they are 13 years oldthese children are being exploited and denied a childhood...the adults in this video are breaking the law	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/89	1.124

When they were talking about who they want to marry really upset me for some reason. They were talking about how they want to marry a rich man, and all that.. and they will probably grow up still thinking like that. So that means if they see someone not as rich as they would like them to be, they are not even going to look at them, speak to them, or even notice they're even there. If they see a rich, handsome man they will go for him, and say they "love" him, and he will say the same because they are pretty, and rich like himself. The thing is.. what about that poor guy you never even looked at? He turned out to be the nicest person in the whole world, who was sweet, kind, incredible, friendly, and respectful, and still lacking money. But this rich guy... he had a big house, a fast car, posh clothes, but guess what. That is the person that will one day break your heart. He is unkind, disrespectful, and only wants you for the glamour and fun, not for love.I'm not saying every rich/poor person is like this, but I just want to make a point that the stuff on the OUTSIDE, shows nothing on the inside. And the inside is the most important. This goes to any lady/man looking for their lover... meet the person before you go for them.	Nothing	Age - Youngsters	1/240	0.417

It's really sad and shocking that these little girls and boys have their time and innocence as children taken away from them by pretending to be grown up, by the time they are 20 years old , they will be tired and feel very old, nothing to look forward to, are they even going to contribute anything to society when they are young adults and will they have learnt to appreciate their fortunate circumstances. I don t have any nasty jealous thing to say as expected from so many viewers , I think it is cute and lovely and fun and lucky for them and looking good takes efforts too on top of good genes and money, it takes efforts too, also, if you have it, nothing wrong with splashing it or making the most of it. I simply wished that those girls were also pushed to be more intellectualized and educated and cultivated and eloquent too as well, I am not saying that she is stupid at all, we don t know that for sure as it seems that all focus is put on her looks and image and pedigree and not at all on her brains. Being a well accomplished young woman goes beyond having a sense of looks and awareness of ”class” . Her intellectual qualities seem very neglected when both should be emphasized. Coming from a life where my grandma put me into private schools to moving to live with my dad at age 7 where I’m now living on the poverty line I have seen 2 sides to this world and it’s sad how the poorest people are always willing to help and give you what they can while the rich don’t care about you and won’t help. PSA: All citizens I am here to inform you that you need to hit your children and if necessary hit their parents so us common folk will be free of pain and suffering and live our lives to their full potential, we need to quell this wave of utter cancer that is simultaneously causing death and global warming.I am aware that the children's behaviour can be heavily blamed on how terrible their parents are but I don't care they still need to be hit just in case they naturally create pain and suffering like these people that are being recorded for the USAs new torture methods to extract information from spies. The limo kids are the only ones with a real soild future. Learning how to run your own business and how to be sucessful is something that school can't teach them. Instead of blowing thousands on college to work for someone else, you're teaching them to stay in the green and grow the economy. The DJ kids will probably burn out, it's extremely competitive and it's a very poor world to be exposing young children too, drugs, excess alcohol, sexual advances (that kid was assaulted) and violence (someone murdered at their gig).The spoilt girls, their mother needs to worry less about how they look and teach them to be grateful for the primary industries that allow them that pampered lifestyle. You know what would make them really rich? If they were actually stunningly beautiful! These kids look average, like some of my old school friends I'd see in the suburbs! It's ridiculous! They're not going to make it big with that kind of head on their shoulders. They must be humble. They only want to be famous so they can go to parties and get lots of money, not for the genuity of actually making people happy. You think I sing and play the ukulele just so I can get famous? No! I'm the same age as you, and what I enjoy doing is playing classical piano and cello, learning songs on my ukulele, writing, and tabletop RPGS with my friends. I have no interest in makeup, I never wear contact lenses even though I'm really really short-sighted, I always wear my glasses as much as they get in the way, definitely never wear heels, no interest in fashion whatsoever. I don't know what kind of upbringing these kids parents had, but raising a child solely for the intention for them to be rich and famous is something I absolutely don't believe in. So, in conclusion, I firmly believe that this is not well thought-out style of parenting, these kids won't have had happy childhoods and teenage years, and they may develop mental illness due to missing out on key moments and having a childhood where they were oversexualised and taught to act older than their age . Well! I have just choked, after having heard that Sally Farmiloe "came out". This, makes people think she was of aristocratic birth, of marriageable age , "coming out" into aristocratic society in front of the reigning monarch. Sally was a 4 years old farmer's daughter when Queen Elizabeth stopped the nonsense in 1958. She grew up to be a TV actress. The "child/women" comment is just nauseating & the comment about 10-year-olds running their own social lives was just....well...ludicrous! These are obnoxious mothers with a little money to play with & their children are growing into adulthood with warped values, all learned at mummy's knee. I hope that these children have grown up to be thoughtful, decent human beings, in spite of their egocentric upbringing.	Age, Old	Age - General, Age - Over 65s	2/124	1.613

Give a like if you agree with this. I think these parents are just spoiling their kids by bringing them into the modelling world at such a young age because they would miss their childhood and they are matured and so spoilt at the age of 10,11 and so on. These parents are just too selfish for themselves by making their child fulfilling their own dreams. This should not be encouraged and should be banned. I feel quite pity for these children for not being brought up in the right way by their parents. I won't be blaming these children to be so because they are innocent and that is why they are listening to their parents advices, infact I blame the parents for not for not bringing them up in the right way. I wonder what would happen to them when they grow up. thank you because this is an important matter to discuss about.	Age	Age - General	2/156	1.282

Just finished watching "The Lost Girls Of South Africa"...a heartbreaking report on rape victims fighting for justice; while also fighting depression, the stigma of rape, ostracism from neighbours, poverty and other distressing issues. It was an emotionally jarring experience, that has left me seriously thinking of how I can help children like these and contribute to making this world a better place. If only I was wealthy enough to donate money to assist with counselling, legal fees, providing better housing and education, etc. So now, watching the opening story of this film...seeing these spoilt 'it' girls and their mothers who encourage and support their narcissistic, materialistic lifestyles....just makes me disgusted. Instead of insisting that her daughter follow that expensive beauty regiment, why doesn't that mother insist that she learn about the struggles other girls her age are facing and commit to setting aside some of that money to help them afford to just survive their childhood? Don't blame kids for the way they are, blame their parents and the celebrity industry filling their heads with manure. 50 years ago, girls that age still played with dolls and skipping ropes. What's perverse about modern culture is that people grow up faster, but take longer to become adults. People are teenagers from about the ages of 10 to 35 these days. So generations are being brought up by overgrown teenagers.	Age	Age - General	1/72	1.389

Americans may be surprised to know that Britain along with many other countries has always blindly followed the vacuous aspects of American "culture" its heard for example in our vernacular, personally I find it nauseous. The sexualisation of children and the deconstruction of childhood and the family along with the dumbing down of society from generation to generation are purpose driven social engineering tools. Parents are the only ones who can counterbalance this Narcissistic movement however as it gets imprinted with each new generation consciousness and critical thinking diminishes and they are the ones ushering it in. Depression and anxiety and mental Ill health amongst young people is prevalent and there´s no mystery as to why. We cannot solve internal issues with external solutions. Feed the soul. I really wonder how much of their sense of self worth is internal. At that age and into their teens, girls are very self conscious and kids tease eachother a lot and so parents then generally teach their children that they don't have to always put on a face for their peers or the world who might tease them for not fitting some criteria, (most certainly not paparazzi). Also, the girl has dreams for her life to be an A list celeb (it's great that she's dreaming about her future) it's also okay if she wants a rich husband, but her reason for that is for someone to look after her. Generally children her age raised with true confidence look forward to being totally independent, they'll fantasize about all the things they'll have as an adult and imagine themselves being the enablers of their fantasy. I just feel that a disproportionate amount of their identity comes from outside at a stage in a child's life where they are establishing their own identity. It appears that they have an over reliance on external validation, thats not healthy for building self esteem. Poor kids and they are such sweet hearts, ah (nice shoes and clothes = nice person)? This is sad but very typical of this generation (in '02) & since. Parents push their kids into adult things WAY too soon! You get such a short time to be a kid & such a LONG time as an adult, let them enjoy being a kid! I like the idea that they're setting goals & looking at their future though. I knew what I wanted to be at 3. I worked exclusively towards that goal. Then, at 20, life pulled a dirty trick on me & the life I envisioned went POOF ! I think celeb industry is being used to dumb down society. Why else do most news pages now have Daily Mail style sidebars we can't avoid on every news story, to get easily influenced gullible people to care about what over hyped talentless half wits are doing. They turn ex-manufactured band members who can't sing solo, or Essex reality show contestants into style icons, because it involves no more skill than wearing clothes, except they're less stylish than everybody else I've ever seen, as have orange skin, obvious fake chest they like showing off, scouse brows, plastered on make-up. Or half a news page had Kardashian naked, and then they said she broke the internet, when nobody wanted to see her naked anyway.	Dumb, Nobody	Age - Youngsters, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/123	1.626
Can't even walk into a newsagents without being confronted by rows of magazines full of thick orange people, with their dumb made up stories. Before their promoters make up a new career for attention, like business person for putting their name on a perfume somebody else made, or fashion designer for drawing a picture of a dress, and then getting somebody to make it who has worked in and studied the industry. Or the Beckhams selling their kids into the celeb industry with made up stories by their promoter, so their talentless mother can use them to keep selling dumb stories to magazines. Then the gullible brainwashed army of people say they must be great if rich, from there being so many gullible brainwashed people to care about types who are worse than most people. But I do. Every time I try to read a news article online, and half the page is taken up by the attention seeking schemes of talentless celebs, if there's a comment section I say that I think the celeb industry is used to dumb down society. I just wish I wasn't the only one, and more people would do it, because I sometimes feel like giving up and being one of the dumbed down morons, as would be easier than seeing reality. My friend said maybe newspapers get interns to write many online articles, and they're the age group the magazines were aiming to dumb down so they care about talentless celebs. I simply said that I hadn't found it snide, and then I mentioned my own anorexia to show that someone who suffers from an ED can see some truth to original comment, regardless of how ignorantly it was phrased. I have suffered from anorexia most of my life, ever since losing a third of my body weight at the age of 8, and I am all too familiar with its fatality. Even though my own illness runs so much deeper than "pressure on looks", the truth is that at least half of the girls I met in various treatment facilities over the years began starving themselves in their mid-to-late teens as a result of pressure to look a certain way. Also, through modeling I directly witnessed casting directors tell very thin girls that they needed to lose weight; literally every single one of my friends who model is restricting or purging. I think the celeb industry is designed to dumb down society, and certain families like Kardashians or Beckhams sign up to it. Young people are being told to admire talentless trash worse than they are, because magazines fill their pages with types who are worse than most people. That Beckham woman couldn't sing solo after leaving Spice Girls, but then her promoter turned her into a style icon, when she's less stylish than most people. David ignored his Man Utd manager when asked to concentrate on football, than going along with his talentless wife wanting to be like the Kardashians, so they went to LA so they could creep around Hollywood stars, but as soon as Olympics started they were back and allowed to try to use it for more attention the ones winning medals, and Victoria was paraded as a real fashion designer. Their children are also sold as models when they're less model material than most kids	Dumb, Woman	Gender - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	2/159	1.258

You are brainwashed by society as well if you think a certain way of life is better than another. Everybody has their life to do with as they want, in their teens they'll figure this out, and once they are adults they do what they want, and choose to continue being fashionable and snobby or whatever this is supposed to be or go a completely different direction. Would be interesting to see how they are doing now as this docu is quite old .	Old	Age - Over 65s	1/83	1.205
