I can't imagine how embarrassing it is to talk on TV and sound so utterly stupid. This idiot says I completely blame my cold on the A/C. A cold is caused by a virus not cold air. I don't know if this woman is representing any sort of organization or official stance or anything like that. If she was it would be just unbelievable that any other person would trust her to talk here because she sounds like an utter jackass bringing up the point of sexist a/c issues in the first place. Air conditioning is NOT sexist. Air conditioners are machines that can't target specific humans if it wanted to. It's HUMANS that react differently to the exact America air, not the machine. Granted some guys in the 40s or 50 worked out the exact temperature that would be perfect for men in suits and this this temperature is less ideal for women in less clothes and it is an act of aholeism to stick to that in this day and age , but the machine itself is NOT, and CANNOT BE, sexist. This is completely asinine. How can it be deemed sexist?!?? Out of more serious problems that people face in other parts of the world, she's complaining about this? What a spoilt, self righteous, wrapped up in cotton wool, delusional fool she is. And she desires common sense? How about keeping a cardigan or top in the office during the summer to put on when they're feeling too cold, and then they can dress lighter in the heat without having to carry extra layers on the way to work. How about that for COMMON SENSE ?!!!!!! Its not the first asinine interview ive heard from her and judging by those that run sky news im sure it won't be the last. Getting really sick of people taking tiny things and then making a mountain out of a molehill! She's exercising her freedom of speech to say how sexist this is and im exercising mine to say how wrong she is and why. Truth and sensibility should always be told in the face of idiocy. And for that, your welcome.	Common	Social Class - Working class	2/177	1.13

I'm only 13,i hate it when I hear a woman or man boy or girl has been attacked or killed or raped ,the point is they should not put any gender before the other, jus because girls have a vagina that can get hurt, men have a penis sticking out of their body, imagine getting kicked in the balls. IMGAIN GETTING KICKED IN THE BALLS. HAVE U EVER HAD TESTICLES HANGING OUT OF UR BODY PROTECTED BY A SCROTUM. IT IS HORRENDOUS. What a lot of feminists don't realise is that they want equal treatment but not equal responsibilities. Women don't work in garages, car factories, military bases, power plantations, garbage disposal sites, farms... The world would not be able to function if every woman got their way. Society today is already scaled towards women 100! They should be extremely happy with what we have given them instead of moaning and being ungrateful and nagging. True to feminist belief, women are always the victim and men are always to blame. "OMG, it's too cold. AC is sexist. The patriarchy is oppressing me."Men are usually forced by dress code to wear long slacks, shoes, or even suits in a professional environment while women are usually free to wear... whatever. Heavy dresses, light summer dresses, pants, jeans, pantyhose, capris, blouses, sweaters, open shoes, closed shoes, wedges, heels, boots, pumps, etc. The list of acceptable professional women's attire is huge compared to men. Men can only dress so lightly/scantily (ie: not at all) when it's hot out before they fail to meet office dress codes. So really this thermostat problem arises because of an overly strict/oppressive MALE dress code. But no... it's all bout the women and SHE's the victim here.	Patriarchy	Gender - General	1/134	0.746

Its absolutely, totally, most positively sexist to have the temperature set at a degree where women are slightly discomforted and might have to wear a jacket to be comfortable. "Like... oh ma gaaahhhddd.... that is so patriarchal and offensive. Why must women suffer from slightly chilly A.C. temperatures and be forced to wear a jacket???? Thsts like totally outrageous... we must ban A.C.s from being able to cool places down to temperatures where women may be slightly inconvenienced.. " It never ceases to amaze me how much mental gymnastics and hoop jumping feminist want to make society, and men especially go through just to comfort them and make them feel that most places are "safe zones" or whatever bullshit these modern super pussies (these people make ordinary cowardly weaklings seem normal) call them. They just want the world to be tailor suited for them, while having to bear none of the negatives or labors of making said utopia happen. No feminist wants equality with men. Women do not belong in politics or the media. The modern feminist movement, pampered and deferred to, must continue to find things to complain about. Complaint is the sole modern medium of expression for feminazis like this psychological nightmare. These are damaged individuals, who give nothing to society. Everything about feminists is becoming negative and dysfunctional, a problem wherever they are. Certainly feminists have a point in their willingness to declare a "birth strike" to avoid using up the planet's resources. I actually think they could go further. Yes, women are prone to low iron levels so this is kind of a gender thing but it's more of a rude/entitled person thing in my opinion. Instead of just taking iron supplements (which they need) and putting on a sweater they take a more totalitarian approach and inconvenience everyone else. Zac Mumblethunder Your mother was right. It's so evil to taunt men about not being in uniform while not being willing to go to war themselves. I was reading about how many times they would hand white feathers to men who had come home from serving and were disabled . Very cowardly and rude of them. I had always thought that it was just 3rd wave feminists that were terrible and entitled, but after hearing about the White Feather movement I am starting to realize that there has always been a massive streak of entitlement to the feminist movement	Disabled	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/98	1.02

If the AC is too cold, can't people just notify janitors? Wearing a bit more clothes in the office cant be that hard?"Too cold even to some men", or however it was said basically wrecks the argument.Personally I can wear T-shirt and shorts at 14 degrees Celcius. Isn't 22 celsius basically close to the perfect air temperature for Humans. That's basically a temperature where people go to beach in swimwear.Wear T-shirts instead of suits... Is this a question of what people are allowed to wear to work? If wearing suit allows one to tolerate the "freezing" 22 celsius, then why can't women wear suits to work too too? Except, based on the video one can't go to lunch wearing suit without boiling...Umm... What's the point in this video? I would much rather be cold than hot. I live in Ohio and my Catholic school has a terrible heating system as it is over 50 years old and as of last year, before I started running cross country and working out, whenever I didn't eat breakfast or forgot to put on a long sleeve undershirt in the winter, my hands would be cold to the point that I can't see how it was health, and I would occasionally start shivering. I am not allowed to simply put on a sweater as girls can. Despite this, I would choose that any day over sweating, even just that slightest amount. which leads me to think about how boys at times were forced to wear pants in hot weather which is unbearably uncomfortable whereas girls could simply wear a skirt. This makes absolutely no sense. Anatomically, it makes entirely more sense for males to wear skirts than females. It would be so much more comfortable and stop an extremely common problem that all men have had to deal with. But the fact is if women are feeling the cold so much they should all unite together and confront there boss or whoever and tell them how they feel. But I don't think that men feel less cold than women that's irrational. If your in a cold climate or Alaska your going to feel the cold regardless of sex . If women are complaining about minor things its a bit spoiled but at the same time they should all agree on a suitable condition and comfortable temperature. Okay, so I read the article that Radhika Sanghani wrote regarding the air-conditioning, and I'm disappointed in the intellectual rigor of her article. For starters, she says that the problem of sexist AC units is "backed up by brand new scientific research," but the article that she references that has the supposed "new" research study does not, in fact, cite the study so that people can explore the research further. In other words, Sanghani relies on the research of the author of the other article, even though that author did not cite the study used to prove that AC units are sexist. Furthermore, the research that Sanghani did actually cite came from 1998 (not too recent). The "study" (it was actually a brief summary of a study, as the document contained no sections of methods, data analysis, etc.) called "Cold hands, warm hearts" examined how a person's sex determined both core and hand temperatures. The report showed that women on average had higher core temperatures than men, but that women on average had lower hand temperatures than men. The authors of the report attributed the colder hand temperatures of women to menstrual status (i.e., premenstrual or postmenstrual) and menstrual cycle stage, as "postmenstrual women older than 50 years had significantly lower hand and core temperatures than premenstrual women below the age of 13," and "women in the first 14 days of their cycle were more likely to have lower core temperatures," and as a result lower hand temperatures, "than women in the last 14 days" (Kim, Richardson, Roberts, Gren, &amp; Lyon, 1998, p. 1/2). I criticize the rigor of Kim et al. (1998), and by extension the intellectual rigor of Sanghani, because the article did not specify just how many of the 141 women used in the study fell into categories that would make them more likely to experience colder hand and core temperatures. More specifically, even though the reported study had participants ranging from 1 to 84 years, it could have had a large number of women who were, for instance, postmenstrual or at earlier stages of their menstrual cycle. If this were the case (again, there is no way for us to know because the authors did not show this information), then the data could misrepresent the reality of women's experience with core and hand temperatures. Overall, by not showing which of the 141 in their relation to their menstrual status and cycle stage, Kim et al. (1998) lessened the credibility of their reported study, and Sanghani lessened the intellectual rigor of her article by including it. In closing, I would like to say that if Sanghani wants to make her argument stronger, than she needs stronger evidence. Also, it doesn't help her point when she includes a picture of a female employee who even though she is covered with a blanket, her toes are exposed! Here is the link to Sanghani's article: [LINK]	Age, Sex	Age - General, Gender - General	2/486	0.412

I dont think the problem is the temperature, but how women dress, they tend to wear thinner clothing, and less clothing than men, meaning they are less covered up with their short skirt and tits popping out, back and shoulders exposed, etc. While men are wearing pants, long sleeved button down shirts tucked in. Obviously one style of clothing is warmer than the other. The woman on the left is a perfect example with her exposed shoulders. If I wear a tank top to the office I might be cold too. Timeline for Feminism and Humanity’s destruction:2033: Breaking News : A group calling themselves the Feminazis has been found responsible for several counts of aggression towards men. There have been repeated incidents involving men’s bathrooms exploding, male student dorms set on fire, and little boys abducted by women and Feminazi men. This is a problem we shouldn’t ignore. 2038: The Feminazis have grown into an organized group of terrorists striking fear into the hearts of regular people, inspiring radical feminists to join their cause, becoming part of the ever growing threat. Attacks become more common and happen at a larger scale. 2040: The word declares war against the Feminazis. The struggle becomes greater by the day, as Feminazis take over smaller countries and infiltrate the army, Air Force, and navy. NASA, JAXA, Roscosmos, and every other space agency is taken over, employees are held hostage, and forced to work for the Feminazis, completely cutting the world off it’s satellites. 2044: Armies worldwide are being overrun, and generals know it’s only a matter of time before they lose to the Feminazis. World leaders order a complete evacuation of the soon to be taken countries, to a fortress, called Unity, in Greenland. The structure had been ordered into construction in 2033 by the leaders of the US, Russia, and China, all of them knowing feminism would come to this. The war rages on and on and on, and Earth becomes a nuclear post-apocalyptic wasteland. 2045: Evacuation was not completely successful, as only 10 percent of the world’s population made it to the Unity fortress. 2046: Feminazis end up taking over the world’s superpowers. They overthrow China, Russia, and the US. Men and non-feminists women alike who were not able to go in the 2044 global evacuation are thrown into concentration camps where they are forced to work and are abused in horrendous, unspeakable ways by the Feminazis. This post-apocalyptic world is dominated by the Feminazis. 2049: What’s left of the Anti-Feminazi humanity only exists in bandit groups and outposts across the Wastelands, the Feminazi concentration camps, and the Unity fortress at Greenland. Slowly, but surely, they grow tired of hiding. The spark lights up. Two years of propaganda, speeches, and planning go by. They send the elite to infiltrate in the Feminazi army. 2051: The Unity Fortress in Greenland announces the Revolution. Infiltrated Unity soldiers and scientists give the Fortress access to communication and surveillance satellites. They contact every bandit group, every concentration camp, and announce the oppressed wouldn’t have to hide and live in their cells for much longer. The roving groups and imprisoned join the revolution. 2053: The concentration camps have fallen, torn down from within by the Anti-Feminists once held captive. Feminazi armies are being torn down by the Revolution, people are flocking to the Unity Fortress while the bandit groups use guerrilla warfare to fight for the cause. It takes a long time, but after fighting for so long, they seem to finally have a chance. 2054: The war is finally coming to an end. Feminazi leaders are being executed worldwide by both the Unity Fortress and bandit groups alike. The war quickly dials down and becomes a hunt for the remains of the Feminazis. Spec Ops groups are sent	Common, Engineers, Feminazi, Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American, Gender - Female intelligence, Nationality - General, Social Class - Working class	9/815	1.104

I'd agree there is a problem when it comes to the AC system in most companies. It's not a big surprise people frequently catch a cold in the middle of the summer and in general it's just a colossal waste of energy. umm get your facts straight, this is for the news too, it is scientifically that bacteria doesn't really do well in the cold, hints why the doctors office is so cold, and it is also scientifically proven that men produce more body heat than women. Is biology sexist too??? Also how can an inanimate object be sexist when it's INANIMATE meaning NOT ALIVE. Don't believe me? Go do some research then come back with some facts.	doctors	Nationality - General	1/76	1.316
20-22 degrees is the recommended temperature for living spaces in the home, the doctors and researchers that came up with that must be sexist too!Of course why should women be expected to be responsible for themselves and dress appropriately to regulate their temperature in a shared space when we can just make the men change what they wear.When we raise the temperature in all the offices how long before some woman of a certain age complains she can't tolerate the heat and it's sexiest for her employer not to take account of the natural changes her body is going through. Or a young woman complains she has to wear thinner or more exposing clothing to cope in the excessively warm office.And if we are to believe this nonsense why will it not be sexist towards men when the temperature is changed to suit apparently ALL women? That is a change being made specifically to benefit women to the detriment of men, the current temperature wasn't set with the discomfort of women in mind was it? Here is the MOST SEXIST WORKPLACE PRACTICE – DRESS CODES! Women have the PRIVLEDGE to rwear clothing that is cool and and light (i.e. skirts, dresses, light blouses, less than full sleeve tops, tops that do NOT close at the neck) Men are expected to wear slacks (full length) and long sleeve dress shirts with a tie (that means the top is closed all the way to the neck). Most men wear a undershirt under the dress shirt creating another layer. While a man is totally covered in clothing except for his hands, neck, and head; women are allowed to expose legs arms, upper chest also, and let's not forget open shoes that allow air circulation to the feet. Then they have the nerve to complain the the office temperature is too low. Here's an idea for everyone who complains about being too cold in an office environment. They should go get a three-piece suit tailored to them at the company's expense, and then wear it around the office for two or three weeks during the summer. If after that time, they say it's still too cold, the company should then raise the office temperature, and the employee can then wear the suit for another couple of weeks before giving a final answer on the temperature. If after raising the temperature, it feels comfortable, then it gets left there, and the employee continues wearing the suit to work, having paid nothing for it. If however, the temperature becomes too uncomfortable, they have to reimburse the company for the entire amount that the suit and tailoring cost, and the temperature gets put back at what it originally was at. In many offices, the thermostat is locked up so people can't mess with it whenever they feel like it. I would rather be too cold than too hot any day. If an individual is too cold, they can simply PUT ON EXTRA LAYERS! However, if it is too hot, individuals would start taking articles of clothing off, or just start dressing more scantily clad all together. I would consider the latter option to be more sexist than the former (as if sexism had anything to do with it). Imagine how many women would be complaining about being forced to dress provocatively because their office settings are too hot. That would certainly become a larger issue than what this woman is complaining about. In the end, this is about a self-entitled individual who cannot grasp that her personal preferences are outweighed by the greater good of the group. What matters is the individual in any instance. I used to be really sexist due to a female figure in my household kind of warping my view of "all" women. But then I moved out and met more of the world and i found some extraordinary people. Don't let people like this ruin your view on women. Sadly a ton of these entitled people exist that would rather spend their life complaining most of the time instead of learning and doing. Yeah, but that is precisely why they seem so far out and out of touch. Because they embrace the inconsistency. That is how they can maintain a straight face and spew racist and sexist hatred. Introduce a contradiction and everything follows. Normally that is why we shun contradiction, but they use it as a tool. It is called doublethink (read Orwell's 1984 - it is a good book and a nice key to understand this phenomenon). They accept the double standards and use it as a tool when they seemingly deny the obvious and act in conflict with their own views. Empty thinking at best, dangerous extremism at worst. John Redok ?	Red	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Ethnicity - Native- American	2/3	66.667
becton98 To add to this fuckery. This woman wants men to overheat which is actually more dangerous than feeling a little bit cold.	Woman	Gender - General	1/23	4.348
MrBastilleDay logic is patriarchy	Patriarchy	Gender - General	1/4	25.0
Mohammad Garajleigh Machine Misogyny !	Misogyny	Gender - General	1/4	25.0

What about the LGBT Community ,How do they like the temperature ?HOT as Hell I suspect.	LGBT	Sexual Identity - General, Sexual Identity - Male homosexuality, Sexual Identity - Transsexuality	3/18	16.667
Yeah because it's only sexist if it's a problem with a woman .	Woman	Gender - General	1/12	8.333
Mika Lee men have to wear long pants and dress shirts while woman can wear a skirt and a short sleeved top. here's an idea, WEAR AN EFFING SWEATER, maybe some tights	Woman	Gender - General	1/32	3.125
They should push for more women in sewer maintenance, there's no misogynist air-conditioning units down there.	Misogynist	Gender - General	1/16	6.25
mantovannni I'm sick and tired of them thinking they speak for me. I'd like to see this chick do some of the heavy lifting and sweaty jobs in warehouses and outdoors that I've done. Then maybe she'd appreciate air conditioner and how it makes our lives more civilized.	Chick	Gender - General	1/48	2.083
AlexVik77 First the planes were flying into the twin towers, now the air conditioners are oppressing the womyn. Dear god what next, the toasters won't toast the toast with a gender symbol!?	Gender	Gender - General	1/32	3.125
Suffragettes fighting for the vote was equality - a woman who refuses to wear a cardigan and would rather the vast majority, who find the temperature to be reasonable, to sweat their arse off, just so she feels slightly warmer, is pathetic	Woman	Gender - General	1/42	2.381
News HoundShe sounds like a control freak .	Freak	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/8	12.5
She'd just complain that women shouldn't have to cover up for the cold "STOP SHAMING WOMAN FOR NOT WEARING ENOUGH CLOTHING EVEN THOUGH IT'S COLD" - feminists of the world lmao	Woman	Gender - General	1/31	3.226
