It says so much about the present English mindset that this has received almost equal and .. the sheer obstinacy in refusing to acknowledge the racism that has always existed in white England. Brexit shone a light on this. It emboldened the millions of English racists who saw it as their victory and the ultimate vindication for their hateful mindset. So there. If someone was to say that all black youths in London are involved in gangs you would, like me, accuse that person of making a racist statement. And the same would apply if someone said that all Muslim men are involved in grooming young white girls. It's not true. It isn't right. To make such comments against a whole community or a group of people – simply because of the behaviour of a small number of individuals – is unjust and tantamount to racism . If you agree then consider: why a number of EU Remainers feel it is okay to accuse 17.4 million people of being racist ? Why it is that certain politicians believe it is somehow just, to imply that those people who voted to leave the EU are racist ? To play the race card against any group of people in this way is in itself, an act of racism and such people need to be held to account. mMpGGNuh42Q	Black, Race, Racism, Racist, Remainers	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - European or anti-Europeans	8/161	4.969

The Globalist want you whites to constantly defend yourselves that you are not racist. This is part of the communist one-world government plot, all you need is some simple answers. 1. If they call you racist, tell them that only white people are called racist.2. If they call you a xenophobe, tell them that nobody is flooding Africa with non Africans, and nobody is flooding Asia with non Asians.(Just those two items, and you can defend yourselves. Practice on you own. Ask they if they think Gandhi was a Xenophobe? Or how about Mugabe taking the farms away from white people and giving them to black people?)	Black, Communist, Nobody, Racist	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/109	6.422

We were told that Brexit meant we didnt want immigration. But that is a huge over simplification. My Doctor is Indian, my urologist French, my dentist Italian and Mechanic Polish. All of whom have settled into the UK way of life and have NEVER experienced racism at all. Nor have they ever been in trouble with the Police. But there is a demographic who will only be happy when the law abiding majority of the UK allow then to behave just as they please. They are also the ones that are hugely over represented on TV and in advertising (as if we will accept them if they are rammed down our throats). Yet any criticism of them results in cries of racism and worse. Never the less Merkel and the EU thought it would be a great idea to have huge numbers of these people flood in to Europe. We have seen what has happened in Sweden, Paris and Germany. The Brexit vote was a push back against this and a chance to say no! we only want people who are of real value to the country, not just a load on the welfare and Policing system. I voted to Remain BTW.	Brexit, Indian, Racism	Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American, Nationality - European or anti-Europeans	5/202	2.475

I am 15, But even i know that the NHS is suffering because not refugees but random people come to exploit the NHS and then move here when there aren't enough houses for everyone but refugees get priority over other people? Also that everything else like economy and transport and businesses and jobs are also being filled by other people and elderly people are losing pensions they earned from wartime because of refugees. Lastly that all white people are racist , wtaf is that. From an American; There is a real difference between immigration and mass-migration. Generally (even here) no one really has a problem with immigration that has a controlled process and a reasonable annual limit. Mass-migration is a totally different story. We can't talk about racism because every time someone tries, some special snow flake on the left starts to huff and puff and claims they are offended and starts to accuse people of being racist when they hear something they don't like or agree with. There is just no talking to those people. The left claim to be tolerant and yet act in the most intolerant way, by trying to shut down conversations. The Left should take a long hard look at itself because the way they try to shut down conversations, its actually damaging race relations and is fuelling a rise of the far right because no one will listen to peoples genuine concerns without accusing them of being racist . The institution of the EU which these bigots want to preserve has a policy of Fortress Europe, with laws that deny access and 'free movement' to anyone outside of the EU. Racism was here long before the EU Referendum occurred, and, as far as I'm concerned, has become a distraction. I voted Brexit because I didn't like to feel manipulated, and moved around, by politicians....who seemed terribly intent in scaring the public into agreeing to vote the desired way. We, the public, should now concentrate on being much more involved in the important job of making the U.K. better and of having more control and influence over how our country is run. You think culture doesn't matter, that the government should enforce multi-culturalism upon the nation and stop any "hateful" behaviour. Comparing words to violence and banning speech. It is unjust and opposed to British history and ancestry to do such things. However the Liberals have co-opted freedom of speech to mean something totally different to what it meant after the High Tory riots in 1710 when the Whig's unjustly imprisoned Henry Sacheverell for speaking against the English Bill of Rights. Stop trying to use the media and government as social justice to enforce your will upon everybody. Leave us alone. This comes from opposition to Liberalism both progressive and classical which has ruined peoples lives and take liberty and justice from them. My point is that you call anyone who opposes immigration and multiculturalism a racist or xenophobic or Islamophobic and so on. And most of these racists comments come from that. People who feel they have lost power within Britain and don't feel the Liberal political parties are listening to them. And most of the rest of the time it is just an insult or bullying. So you call a disabled person a spastic or a fat person a fat bastard or someone with classes are four eyed prick. Then you have you racist insult bastard and you aren't British because you don't sound British, which in my view is a fair comment. You can't really claim to be British when you don't sound British or look British in how you dress. "The broad definition of what constitutes a hate crime also makes it difficult to judge whether there has indeed been an increase in racism . Hate crimes can include anything from an off-colour remark to a racist assault. The 57 per cent increase amounted to 85 reports between Thursday and Sunday last week, which were submitted to a police-funded website that had been established to report hate crime. This was up from 54 reports during the same four-day period four weeks ago. The policeman who reported the statistic made clear that it did not 'represent an increase in tensions' and that similar spikes had occurred in response to other events. fanagot you need to look at the situation with different eyes. I do not dispute that people like Donald Trump are demagogues. (we have the exact same thing going on here in the US as the UK has with respect to immigration). but we still need to look at this in the same way that a cartographer looks at a map: with a disinterested and objective frame of mind. To explain a little more fully, after world war 1 the victors decided to punish germany. they were to be brought low and humiliated. or perhaps I'm wrong. perhaps the policy to germany was simply to ignore them. in any event, fascism grew. so after world war 2, some genius decided we were not going to let this happen again, and so the Marshall Plan was developed. germany was to be remade into a modern liberal democracy. the rest you know: germany became a successful liberal democracy...precisely because the allied powers deliberately decided not to humiliate germany again. the takeaway for me is, don't let fascism grow. do not humiliate the historic native stock of a nation. If the native stock of a nation is humiliated, or rather, feels humiliated - then hit the pause button on immigration.... immediately. on this side of the atlantic, the free trade, open borders and mass immigration love affair began about two decades ago with the signing of nafta. and it has been open the floodgates ever since. In 1996 about 85 of the US was white. 20 years later it is 65 white. This is an astonishing statistic. It is nothing more than population replacement, full stop. by mid-century white america will be 50 of the population. Again, this is a truly staggering thing to behold. As an Irish American, I cannot really be against immigration. but I can sure see how many people would be. (as an aside, I happen to like mexican immigration. they remind me of the irish in that they are quite honest, simple and catholic). in any event, my point still stands. if you want to truly arrest fascism in its tracks, then you take on the frame of mind of a scientist, not a social justice advocate: you look at how many immigrants are coming and ask yourself how much is too much before the white majority loses its shit and starts throwing bricks through windows. Those are your options. Lecturing an indigenous white englishman on racism because he doesn't want to see his historical home transformed by mass immigration won't work. you have to slow the pace of immigration in order to slow the pace of fascism. That is the only option.	Nation, Nothing, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General, Nationality - General	4/445	0.899

Scotcho Rouleau i don't give one iota about the colour or ethnic composition of the us, uk or any other place's population, be it white, green purple whatever ... this is how a really genuine disinterest looks like ... who cares if part or the whole of your family is pink, mauve or gray ... the work is much simpler than you think.... just keep condemning racism wherever you find it, and definitely not kowtowing to racists demands like pausing immigration just because they are "worried" about the colour or whatever other racial makeup of their neighbourhood... you don't make society more equal or better by legitimising racist "concerns" or by providing any sort of "solutions" to them ... i don't care if the whole of the us or uk becomes black or australia becomes white or whatever other colour, if that happens purely by chance ... what i disagree with is the way the language of colour/race/nationality/etc is manipulated by racists and their apologists, and certain politicians, to disenfranchise people and sow divisions in society... so... nope, i'm not going to support or engage with a cheap racist and xenophobic crusade to keep immigrants out because i know there are real options to combat bigoted behaviours and ideologies, rather than legitimising them. fanagot you have a totalitarian mindset, when what u need is more akin to a Ghandi type figure. If you want to save the world from racism , the ideal person you should emulate is christ or ghandi. but if you want to punish people and hurt them, then you should proceed as you are now. If you choose the latter option, then maybe you should reflect on why it is you want to punish people. People of whiteness will only resort to fascism when they feel they are being punished, so as I said, its not so much the end goal which is troubling. The end goal - equality - is something people of whiteness support. It is the means to get there which is troubling, if it means that people of whiteness are scapegoated. fanagot ok now we are getting somewhere. we are making progress. what you are telling me is you do not believe in borders...of any kind. you do not believe in the nation -state. why didn't you just say this in the beginning? I don't believe humanity is ready yet for a one world government. If that should ever happen, however, I would be in favor it, but gradually and slowly. I don't believe you are a humanist, though, or a person with good intentions. you just want to tell people who disagree with you that they are a racist . I guess it makes you feel good. but its not working on me because I have the high ground. I believe it is immoral to erase a nation . I really do believe that. I consider it a form of genocide. It's a shame people try and justify and rationalise being racists. But these mainly White people are Cowards. How would any of them get on if they lived in a black country and at a company where they are the only white person working there. I think many immigrants are Hero's. And this is not just about Islamic Immigrants Thats just an excuse. Brexiteers want all immigrants out who will be in competition for work and money. My comment about an Australian Abo wanting all White immigrants out of his country just like white's want all immigrants out of the UK. At some point the white racist will come to the conclusion to ignore that argument completely and negate and not give a fuck about the fact that many Australian Blacks would dream of having their country back. This would also be justified somehow in the mind of the racist . But there is a saying which is what goes around comes around. And being around many very wealthy people in the UK most of whom are white, it makes me think karma has some truth to it seeing as most of them have everything yet are depressed. Urdnot Wrex only 5 more people voted for Brexit . It was no large majority at all. And all the EU will tell us is No free movement then No free market access which will make every English person much much poorer. People like you who are probably old and will be dead soon enough have possibly condemned the next generations of England to lives of poverty and struggle. Urdnot WrexYep... so many things to think about and the only thing you have in your f*ck*ng mind is people's nationalities ... you are fixated, obsessed with nationality and you need to trim it down because it is impairing your behaviour. And FYI the video is talking about racism and xenophobia , and that is the key point .. go figure ... if you want to be allowed to screen bad people out it follows other people are allowed to do the same, hence I have asked you a question about Londoners wanting to do exactly the same, and keep bad people out of town, but you dodged the question saying the english can do as they please, making a total mockery of your posited intention... you don't really want to keep bad people out ... you want to indulge in your fixation with foreigners, you want to jump queues ahead of foreigners and stifle foreign competition ... I wouldn't be surprised if you blamed foreigners for all the problems in your life.... aww no... another queue? Let's see if there are any foreigners in there ... aww no ... i can't do this or that? There must be foreigners ... blah dee blahh ... one of those annoying persons who goes around whining about foreigners all the time ...get a life ... +fanagot It's ok to love your own country by restricting immigration and protect it from ethnic conflicts, crime and corruption. Britain will continue to be a high trust society unless people like you call the shots. Get over it..	Ethnic	Ethnicity - General	1/39	2.564
Who calls the shots has already been decided at the end of WW2 and I'm on their side this is the reason bigotry won't prevail and people won't stop denouncing it. No one is preventing anyone to love any country. People have been rightly complaining about racism, xenophobia and bigotries in general.
