”Black” Americans have NO CASE until we STOP calling each other NIGGERS! Our claim that the word is a gesture of brotherhood or camaraderie against white racism or an expression of friendship or whatever other excuse we have to call each other nigger is positive proof that we, as a group, suffer from some type of psychological disorder resulting from our history of oppression, and decades of social engineering, in America. ”White” people don’t even need to call us nigger anymore because they have manipulated us to use that word against each other. Nigger is NEVER a positive term, no matter who uses it! ”White” people have told me that a nigger is an ignorant person. Well, if that’s true, why not just say ignorant person? Why use the word nigger to mean ignorant?There are many other words in the English language that ”Black” people could use to express brotherhood! Why, why, why choose the word nigger? It embarrasses me every time I hear us using that word. When ”white” people say nigger, I know exactly what they mean, but when we say it, I’m perplexed. ”Black” people who use the word nigger to each other TRULY BELIEVE THEY ARE NIGGERS! That’s why the two ”Black” people standing beside the racist ”White” woman in the video failed to check her. They also believe we are niggers, which is what that ”white” woman believes.That’s why they just stood beside her and said nothing.There are derogatory words used against all other races, ethnic groups, and nationalities but, WHICH OTHER GROUP USES THOSE SAME NEGATIVE WORDS AS EXPRESSIONS OF UNITY OR BROTHERHOOD? WE NEED TO STOP CALLING EACH OTHER NIGGER, BEFORE COMPLAINING WHEN OTHERS DO! WE ALSO NEED TO STOP KILLING EACH OTHER, BEFORE COMPLAINING WHEN THE POLICE KILL US!	Black, Ethnic, Nigger, Nothing, Racism, Racist, Woman	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	19/299	6.355
All words can be racist or hurtful if said with hate.My personal experience is getting the crap beat out of me for being white. I was beat by two hispanics while they screamed white boy at me.The kicker? These were relatives, I’m 1/2 white and very light colored. Many members of my mom’s family hate white people.So not too many family reunions for my ass.Oh well.	Colored, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/70	2.857
I think the interviewer and that black guy is taking this a little to far. I know that the thing that white woman said was demeaning and completely wrong. But America also have the freedom of speech. PewDiePie along with many famous personalities have said this word. Are we going to put them in prison or fine them 25000$ for that. If that woman is put behind the bars (which I think we should) then it should be for assaulting the camera man, and not for calling the n word and f you.	Black, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Gender - General	3/94	3.191

The reason why racism still exists, and the reason why the N-word still exists is because the liberal Democrats and their Sheeple have given it power by claiming that no one is allowed to use the N-word except for black people. Rather than trying to bridge differences between people and their subcultures they immediately respond to any differing opinion as being racist . The overuse of the term racism has caused more racism than it has ever avoided.If you want to eliminate discrimination if you want to eliminate racism and if you wanna take the power away from the N-word we need to have dialogue we need to have open and honest communication without fear of being labeled a racist	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/119	5.882

Opinion: Being called the n-word isn't an example of inequality. Yes, it's awful, but it's not inequality. You can call me a cracker . So, there, we're equal in that area. I just think the term "inequality" is thrown around so much today that it's lost its meaning. Racism doesn't always equal inequality. Even if African Americans were completely equal to white people (in terms of, like, how society views them, and note that I do believe that they're equal), there would still be racist people that would call them the n-word. That doesn't mean they're not equal. There's evil and hate in this world, and you're not going to get rid of it no matter how hard you try. I'm not saying you shouldn't fight against this hate, but you can't hold up the inequality card every time someone exhibits racist behavior.Also, I am in no way defending the woman and what she did/said. What she said and did was inexcusable.	African, Cracker, Racism, Racist, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - White, Gender - General	6/162	3.704

I don't use the word myself but when it's being blasted in song lyrics, TV and popular media on a daily basis, you can't really expect all people to stop using the word. It's not natural for an individual to completely censor themselves from using word a that they hear being freely used by others on a daily basis. Also, it's just a word and it only holds as much power as the listener gives it. I'm just gonna say this and brace myself for the negative responses... but it really isn't (or shouldn't be) a big deal at all if a white person says it... it's just a word. To me, as a white guy who hears black folks using the word regularly and without batting an eye, it seems like the angry reaction that many blacks have when they hear whites using the word isn't because they're actually hurt or offended by the word personally... but the angry reaction is instead perhaps a way to put white folks in their place and to exercise additional power over us in regards to speech. I mean, it's not the word that even matters... It's the attitude of the person speaking and context of what is being said that matters most. I thought the guy being interviewed here seemed super level headed and reasonable about the whole thing and he mentioned context too.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/232	0.431

Matthew Thomas not the word, but the meaning behind that word. The word was said for a reason and that was to destroy and belittle you as a human for being a person of color. Hence the reason why black peoples say 'nigga'. It shows brotherhood and relation. It's not derogatory or an insult. (Though I still don't think it's okay to use this word). People can use bitch as an insult or a greeting/friendship. A girl can say 'she's my bitch. I fuck with her'. Bitch= friend. Or the girl can use it as an insult and say 'fuck that bitch.' It's positive that Western media addresses racial discrimination against black people and holds racists accountable. Being a black "Arab" in any Arab country, many people throw the n-word at you out of the blue and gnash their teeth for no apparent reason other than a false sense of superiority based on the fact that they had enslaved Africans for 1400+ years and that's why they look down on us. I remember when my family moved into their new home the neighbors invited them to "welcome" the new homeowners. In a matter of a few minutes everything went sour as a woman said to my family "How could YOU people afford to buy a house like this, living next door to us?" And then she had the audacity to question their citizenship, calling them foreigners. Ever since then, they had stopped contacting us, until two months ago when the women were alone without male relatives at home and they phoned my dad asking him to run them some errands. By chance their son had arrived home as my dad was leaving and that belligerent nomadic a-hole threw a tantrum abusing his sisters verbally and asking of them "Why didn't you get an Uber instead?" It's funny how micro their braincells are.	Black, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Gender - General	3/210	1.429

The Word Niger originated In an African nation called Niger. Nigerians still call themselves Nigger or Negros depending on weather or not they are from the northern or southern part of Niger. It is very disrespectful to not refer to a person by their cultural origin, if known. Calling an African an African instead of calling an African an African American is relatively respectful. Whites are a world minority, greatly out numbered by blacks, asians, and muslims. They will not stop, will continue to cry racism , long after whites are gone. When the world is a 3rd world shithole, no whites around, what literature they do have will say the reason they are in a ghetto is because of whites. They are perpetual victims, always will be, and even in white countries with the white race dying out, they will claim they're a minority and victim until whites are no longer the majority in their countries, and you will see the violence that comes. They will not fight for your equality and freedoms the way whites and their ancestors have fought for theirs. Better wake up white people, your head is on the chopping block. You can't walk up and use the NI-ER as a cultural word and isolate it to one race of color and not expect another race to use it , just stupidity to bar all other races of color from a word . And it's a word people ! People of dark colored skin today act as if they were in the 1940sand 50s it's too overdrawn on the poor me I'm black but the be a hypocrite and call your friend the same word and say it in a different context and not expect other colored race's to not use it . blacks slaughter 70 000 whites in south Africa and Africa is a black only EthnoContinent but the white people allow black people to stay in Western countries because White people are not racist . White people stopped slavery while Africa continued slavery until 1981 (and even today African countries barely enforce anit-slavery laws). Blacks openly sing KILL WHITE PEOPLE and BLM blames all white people for every crime that any white person has done now or in the historical records while rationalizing THEIR HATE CRIMES, via systemic racism . It's is obvious that black people don't want to live in peace and white people have bent over backwards to meet black peoples demands. My question, why when a white person is being racist everybody sticks up for the other person but when people are racist to white people nobody says a thing. I've experienced this way too much. And TV shows point out someone is white all the time. But we cant say someone is black because that's offensive. I'm not a racist , this just seems really unfair and pisses me off. This racist shit is pissing me off.What is wrong with people?ANY form of racism is unacceptable.Deaminging people so low to have no empathy at all twords them..It absolutely a red flag people need to stop even just considering to use.I even whitnessed people that have dealt with racism and are so upset they see i have light skin and tried implying I was racist ..When my baby momma is definitely dark skinned.This hatred is spiraling to the point that I'm getting hated just for being light skinned when yet I don't tolerate racism .And the gasps I've had seeing these videos?...I still get shocked by the fact that other people still say racist things like they think they are acceptable..What is wrong with people.. I mean... yeah she seems like a shitty person but really what I see is just an insensitive bitchy person in an argument with someone looking for the most offensive insult she could use against the guy. 5 million views and a whole mini documentary about it? Really? How are we supposed to believe we're living in a white supremacist society when something like this is a big deal? Yeah she used the word she's not supposed to (although frankly I think the truly insidious racist people are less likely to so publicly use that word). She had long time black friends ffs, who took her side in that argument until they were shamed into dissociating with her. Which tells me more than anything she's just uncultured "white trash", but also very possibly around black people a lot and maybe even not all that racist. There is such a thing as someone who might use that word to insult somebody who they want to hurt their feelings, referring to them as the negative stereotype of their race, without believing that all black people are lesser or whatever. And I think there's been lots of black folk who might be an argument with a white person and calls them hillbillie white trash or whatever; but doesn't actually hate white people or think that all white people are the worst stereotype of them, but does think the person they are insulting is. Now obviously with the history and the politics it's different with the word nigger, and certainly to educated cosmopolitan white and black people they'll clutch their pearls and think "my god what a racist" because in their social circles if somebody used that word in that way it would betray an underlying racism and would immediately turn them into an outcast. It's not so much like that in poor mixed raced communities - communities a hell of a lot more mixed race than the pearl clutchers who would gasp at a video like this. The deeper down into poor and low class you go, I think that this notion that simply using that word means you're a vicious racist becomes less and less true. Because if she really is friends with those other black people, I don't care what people say that does mean something. If you think of black people as we're told racists think of black people, then you wouldn't have black friends. And low class people are less likely to have friends and hang around people as "tokens" or whatever than some college educated suburban cosmopolitan liberal, because it doesn't count for shit to have diverse friends in actually diverse areas. So it strikes me as kind of fucked up that some news station full of white liberals in suburbia who have like one black acquaintance are gonna virtue signal swoop their way into their lives, remind everyone what a terrible racist she must secretly be, how her 13 year friendship with a black woman is all a lie...I just think that for all the kinds of racism there is, this is pretty benign. And that everybody's making a big deal about it says a lot about the state we're in. Now I don't really know the backstory here, but they're not giving us much tbh. The reality is simply insulting somebody with a word polite society doesn't tolerate or accept does not necessarily mean one is a vicious racist. It could just mean one is removed from polite society. And just look at how aghast and shocked the camera guy is to hear her say that... it's clear this isn't something he's at all used to. I dunno man. It is actually more likely for black and Hispanic citizens to be killed by black and Hispanic police officers than by white officers. [LINK] The MSM just loves to report on any police killing that involves a White cop and a Black perp. But when the cop is Black , or the victim White, they mostly clam up because it doesn't help drive their racist agenda. Think of how many stories you have consumed that portrayed Blacks as downtrodden, poor and/or in constant despair. Now think about how many stories you've consumed that talked about how most Black American families are NOT poor but rather are working/middle class. Did you even know that fact? Here's something you can try. Ask your friends/families what percent of Black families are poor: 66, 73 or 88. Bear in mind that roughly 66 of Black families are NOT poor. The MSM has absolutely brainwashed people into thinking Blacks can't make it without White liberal help. Sp don't be surprised if most don't know the answer. USA is just such a ridiculous country. Full of obese people and blacks who are offended all the time. Everything is fake there, from politics to tv shows, even the food is fake. In the Netherlands we can say the "n word" as whites even on tv. I can look a "n word" in the eyes and just say the "n word" and he will not be offended. Just say what it is. i think the one issue hear is that when white people have black and brown friends or come from the hood, they feel they have the right to use the n word. and if you noticed, she didn't say he was a n-word, she said that he is acting like a n-word. and many black people know the difference, even though it is not an excuse to use the word. but like i said, sometimes when you live in the hood or a prodominantly black area and all your friends are black or brown, you have a tendancy to use these words openly. Mike Spor Im from Houston, which is extremely diverse and believe me you have it completely backwards. Whites who grow up with other black people or in black areas understand the history behind the word and why they shouldn't say it, whites who don't often come into contact with black people are the ones who use the n word. There should be a law in place who ever used the N, no matter who you are black , white, yellow ,pink, pong,dong etc etc get maximum sentence, banned the N word for good, because 200 yrsrs plus those slave, those who suffer under horrible condition woundnt want to hear the N word in lyrics, and media they wound banned and never talk about it again thats how you win a battle conquer and move on. Untill the N word will carry on be glorify in songs, black comedy and so on, it will never stop being used to get under your black skin like it or not. Thats just the way it is unfortunately. And in some cases if you are calling someone, paki , ping pong, craker, yellow , button eye etc etc why cant they curse you back?? Not promoting racism cause im definitally not racist but she doesnt deserve 25 years in jail for that. Not only because freedom of speach is a thing but that would ruin her life forever when she could change. But how come nobody is talking about every other race being racist.. its always "white people are racist" but im a kid and i NEVER see racism from white people. Only the other way around. Im not sure why the media is trying to blame us for racism but we are not even racist. Even trump isnt racist. Hes never done ANYTHING actually racist. Only thing hes doing is keeping ILLEGALS out which is the LAW and its good for the PRESIDENT to want to follow the law right? So im not sure why everyones jumping on whote people about being racist and saying they want "equal" rights because if anything ive seen us get tormented the most out of all this. ONE white person commits a racist act and apparently we are ALL racist. How does that work. But a million other race can commit a racist crime towards us and its equal and its justice? And im not just talking about this guy in the video, im talkong about in my peraonal life, if my friend is sayon the n word everyone hates him the black people say " this is why i HATE white people" and they make a big deal about it.. when my friend wasnt being racist. He was using it to say "whats up my friend" and then the black people jumped on him and started actually being racist but my friend was the bad guy there? I dont believe white people are the most racist race. And im tired of hearing that we are cause i dont know anyone who is actually racist thats white anymore thats not like 70+ years old. The young racist generation is NOT us. Its whoever is controllng the media and trying ti get rid of white people basically cause all theyre doing is putting us down when we arent even racist. Yes i admit this girl was racist. But shes ONE white person. The billions of the rest of us arent her. I am brown. So the first year I moved to this country I was doing door to door sales in a black community. I was 20 and ignorant to American history on the streets. So I am chatting with a bunch of black guys, friendly chatter. They calling each other the N word in casual conversation. After about 10 minutes of chatter I say the N word as part of my convo. The entire atmosphere changes. I ask them innocently what happened. They explain that if I ain't black I can't be using it casually. I am totally confused. I knew the N word was taboo. But when I saw the very community who suffered thru it casually speaking it, I figured it is not taboo. My only question is, Why do you use it? It's not just the young folks. I see 40-50-60 years old use it too. In forms of endearment, forms of rage. All of it. In the simplest manner. The only way to stop hearing that word is by EVERYONE to stop using it.I have not run a stat but I am sure The N word is most used by the black community by a big margin. Ana C. Yes but it doesn't justify assaulting a person. He could walk away from the situation like a smart person would, if he punched her he would have been a world of trouble. The less offended you are the less likely you will be a victim to racist comments.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/50	2.0
People who aren't offended by racist comments don't face these problems. A true racist will go after the person that they will get the best reaction from especially if the person they're harassing is likely assault them and then they can make the person life even worse by having them charged with assault. What I'm trying to say is If we have less people that get easily offended, situations like this won't happen as often as they do.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/78	2.564

Imperator Czech why should someone have to accept the racism or bullying they're receiving, especially if it's constant? Walking away would just let people walk all over you again and again. Assault isn't always the answer but doing nothing is certainly the least of the ways to handle the situation. Recording it would be the smartest ideally which is what happened, and using the footage in court or to sue for threatening behavior and verbal abuse as result, which in that case the victim truly takes the win.	Nothing, Racism	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General	2/88	2.273
Imperator Czech why should people have to pretend they're okay when they're being yelled racist slurs at, that shouldn't be the way to handle racism , to just LET the racists try you and then get tired from no reactions, that way they'll go off and try more/other people with racism .	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	3/50	6.0
Ana C. Yes you record it and send it to court, but is it really necessary to make it a legal problem because someone said something that offended you if you take no offense to it, it wouldn't bother you. Yes racism is wrong but it's a fact of life see most people in the United States have it easier than other parts of world where people are dying just for being different. Also can we say she was being racist , because honestly the n word has been used in other ways to describe people's stupidity. She is probably the n word in the situation.	Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/105	1.905
Imperator Czech Regarding the n word, it is a racist word and it is even MORE ignorant for people to use it as calling others 'stupid' and not knowing what the true meaning behind it is. The history of the word makes it racist and black people OWN that word unlike white people because they paid for it with blood and centuries of torture and slavery. Also, isn't there some sort of connection with the fact that she was shouting a racist word at a black person? Why that SPECIFIC insult at a black person? Also, nobody calls people stupid by using the hard-R n word, which is what she used.	Black, Nobody, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	7/111	6.306
Imperator Czech by walking away, we're giving them permission to say it even more. How can we even guarantee that they'll get tired of being racist so they'll just stop? And the n word isn't just any word. It's a word specifically aimed at the man because he's black , that was used to insult his ancestors because they were black too.	Black, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	3/61	4.918
Imperator Czech I understand your point of view of handling ways in a non-physical manner, but I'm not planning on arguing on why the N word is in fact racist and anyone who uses it against a black person because of their race is a racist . Guess what? I went to school with whites, and I can guarantee that whites arent as smart as you think they are when it comes to knowledge and academics. Most of the Whites at my school were lazy as fuck and cheated ALL the time. I guess they assumed they were smart automatically based off of race just like you. What you dont realize is that everyone has a brain, and if educated my brain is just as capable of learning as any white persons brain. Your ancestors knew that too so they punished blacks for learning to read or GAINING an education. Guess what else? I graduated with honors, top of my class from HIGHSCHOOL AND COLLEGE. All I'm saying is that it seems that black Americans in particular seem to feel persecuted the most, yes we all know the history. But I will say this, there is not another race on earth that kill each other and their own kind more frequently than black Americans. What is their a murder every 10 minutes in Detroit? It is quite annoying to see people of all races and ethnicities discuss on how we as a whole should voice our discontent with racist acts and take a stand against racism...when the reality is that we are not solving anything because we are not even aware of the source of the real issue, one that has become as undetectable as carbon monoxide. All forms of racism stem from preconceived perception that we have of a person of another race, and this perception is called STEREOTYPE. All stereotypes are perpetuated by Hollywood and the media. which are controlled by ONE group of people. If we are being fed with same stereotypes about people (black, yellow, red, brown.etc.) over and over and over, at some point we start to think that they are true and we act accordingly to our subconscious bias, think nothing of it, and disregard any common decency to see a person of another race as an individual, but rather as a cliché. Want to end racism? The quickest way is to start boycotting media and Hollywood, and take the challenge to D.C. to enforce an amendment limiting ONE group from controlling an industry and make it more diverse (a sort of affirmative action to ensure that all voices are heard, not just one). When one group controls Hollywood and the media, everything that we see about every race, every ethnicity, every stereotype are based on the perspective/opinion of that group. Divide and conquer tactic at its finest.If you are offended by what is written between the lines, be offended and call me any thing, any name you want. It does not bother me because I have learned from this woman at the tender age of 14 that "you must never be fearful about what you are doing when it is right" and saw so many things (that other people do not see) by not watching movies, media, news, read newspaper from ages 15 to 30.	Age, Black, Common, Ethnicity, Nothing, Race, Racism, Racist, Red, Woman, Yellow	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - General, Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Asian (East-China, Japan, Korea, Philippines, Vietnam), Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Ethnicity - Native-American, Gender - General, Nationality - Chinese, Nationality - Japanese, Social Class - Working class	18/329	5.471

For example your brother can say something to you and you never think twice about it but if a random stranger says the same thing to you then you feel disrespected are angry. James Jones To be honest, its not really white people that are trying to make something sound ok. Black culture is guilty of that. Pretty much most whites will agree, the N word is not to be used. Its blacks that foul that up. You can come up with all the lame justifications you want, about taking back its power and all that. Its BS. If, by saying it in a friendly way, is taking back the power of that word, then how come when someone(white) calls you it, all of a sudden its just as powerful as it ever was? Black cultures words have different meanings? You mean as opposed to white culture's words which dont? The word means what the word means. Black culture has to tie its self up into pretzel knots of logic in order to justify its use among themselves. If you have to have 100 different rules, with 500 different exceptions, to its use, then you are being dishonest about the word and who can use it and when. Blacks can use it, but whites cant. Altho, whites, depending on who they are around, can use it IF they put an A at the end and not ER. Latinos can use it without repercussion. It goes on and on. Just stop using the word. Or dont get mad when other people refer to you, using a word that you yourselves use to refer to each other. While the girl in that video was being full on retardedly racist , no doubt, vile speech for sure, the man being interviewed said he wants her to face the full punishment for a hate crime, which the video then went on to say was up to 7 years in prison and a $25,000 fine. He wants her to be put in prison for 7 years and then be fined another $25,000 on top of it, for words. Vile words yes, but words just the same. Words, that by his own admission, he and his friends use on each other all the time. Words that have no power, because they took the power back, by calling each other those words. Ofcourse, until a white person says it. Then the power is still in the word. Make no mistake, I think that chick screwed up big, and should be taken to task for it. Im not condoning that behavior. But there are MANY of us that just cannot understand the hypocrisy that goes on. It almost looks like the rules now, are, if you are black (or apparently latino) you can say the word where ever and when ever, no issue. If you are white, you cant say it ever. And if you say it in the friendly way that blacks do with each other, you will be called a racist and face severe social punishment. And if you say it in anger, they want you jailed for the same amount of time you would get for a bank robbery. Maybe its because the most prejudiced people in the U.S and the West in general, I would say the world are people of color but specifically black . The media is entirely biased and entirely anti-white. Most times that there is a racial issue, it's blacks starting it with white people not the opposite way around. Then the other thing they will do, is label mixed people or non-white people as white and go out of their way to point racial hatred towards white people. The News has been doing this for a very long time, and lying deliberately about who is beig prejudiced overall between the races. 9 times out of 10 it's blacks being prejudiced to whites, and that's a generous figure. Ok this is a TRUE story, I can't even believe it myself- and I'm quite sad and angry now.About an hour ago, I went to the hospital to get my blood drawn. Then at the respecionist's desk, a women was ranting about someone trying to kill her, I dont know much details since I thought, okay this sounds serious I shouldn't be eavesdropping though. Then an 'asian looking' women asked: "Mam do you need any sort of help?"Now what she said shocked me. "No, I dont trust asians like you" she answered. Now I'm asian myself(Japanese in fact) then the 'asian' responded "I'm mexican" now ANOTHER thing that shocked me. "I dont trust Mexicans either, even though I'm Mexican myself." I would have gotten up and yelled at her, but then again, I'm just another immature teen, I shouldn't get into this type of stuff. Theres so much I dont know. But coincidentally I got called in to get my blood drawn, and when I came back, that racist idiot wasn't there. Probably security took her because I saw some security officers outside the hospital when I left.	Racist	Ethnicity - General	1/190	0.526

Hating a certain race isn't bad or good, it must be kept in a certain range where you don't go out and do what sander the girl in the video did. In the end racism will always exist just like how countries are racist to each other. 11I00OO1I0O1II I don't remember the specifics but one was a math tutor who was beaten to death by his student (more like pet for this type of white guy) the prep said that the dead guy called him a bad name. I'm not sure what the sentence was, but most definitely too short as usual.Almost a year ago in Philly a young white man who'd been drinking was a passenger in a traffic jam. He got out to see what was going on. There was also a black guy on a bike there. The white guy called the black guy the n word, so he got stabbed in the back, according to the real "victim" (the victim of white and racism that is). The communitay come out in defense if the innocent black man so the DA (Krazner, who ran on the promise to let as many criminals out as possible, openly backed by Soros) let the killer out and reduced the charges.Of course the officials and courts don't need a reason to give them light sentences; they do it just for their own pathological altruism. Learning to Crash this is all very common . in the city of balitimore an average of 4 teachers are assaulted everyday. exclusively by blacks.colin flaherty covered a story of a home invasion in which a blavk guy invaded the home of a mother and her 3 year old daughter. in her victim statement, the mother said that her 3 year old daughter is now scared of black men, and she is struggling with figuring out how to combat this. the black judge read this aloud during the sentencing process....said it wasnt going yo affect the sentencing...and then went on to say how deeply offended he was by racism (from a 3 year old) and how the mother was accepting of it (when she said the opposite in her statement.) the black judge gave him 3 months probation....thats it. for using a gun to invade someones home rob and terrorize them. 3 months of "please dont commit crimes or do drugs" (thats all probation is...pleading with criminals to not be criminals.)the black man who committed armed burglary and home invasion did not see a single day of jail time. yet people like this want to see this womans life ruined forever. dontmaketheblackkidsangry	Black, Common, Old, Racism	Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Social Class - Working class	9/203	4.433

Blacks in America don't even want to identify as Americans anymore and they are the only group of people in the world who identify by their race/skin color, as black ...go to a black community website, dig a little a see what they realy think and how they see future America. The Jews brought the blacks here for a purpose, which of course must serve the Jewish agenda; they didn't brought and enslaved the Africans so they can be friends with white people. It is fucked up, cause it was the Christian white America who freed the Africans from the Jewish oppression and gave them equal rights under the law to protect black people. I was brought up knowing that any use of the N word would be a racist term meant to cause offence to any black person, so it's clearly wrong to use it. The white girl in this video is human garbage and has no defence for her behaviour. But at 2.15, the black guy then goes on to say how he uses the N word with his friends, and justifies its use when said by other black people. Really? Totally lost on this one. 6:45 So it is ok for him to use a historically charged word as an instrument to attack someone, but when she does it, it is not. Does he consider that some people do find it offensive to be likened to a slave owner, that owning slave/s is probably one of the most inhuman and detestable things. Yet, she should go to jail for 1-7 years and maybe a $25,000 fine. That kind of inconsistency is why people are still not convinced, they may not be able to articulate why but they still know that it is unfair, they know that there is a lack of reciprocity of good faith. There is more inconsistency. What about intent? Some African Americans care about intent and will reasonably let it go depending on the situation; some do not care about intent and think that the absolute utterance of one word is a felony. There isn't even a consistent sense of what the African Americans want in regards to how anyone else should act. I mean, we all want to get along but when you scratch the surface, it's laid bare that there isn't much good faith underneath and it is because of that inconsistency eroding it - and people aren't stupid, they know, they can tell. I see people being racist to white people online all the time talking about white as a whole as people who are racist while being racist , talking like all white people enslaved black people and are guilty of it so the racist thing definitely goes both ways and the biggest media companies act as if they trying to end racism but instead they are making the situation. Not just online white people face racism and also any other types of people throughout world however they look.Before civilised society most tribal groups from all over the world attacked other tribes and took slaves this continued up until the modern era's until it was out-lawed in agreement by all "civilized" countries across the world. Now we have certain black people using the race card as a weapon/tool for political influence and certain white people agreeing with them out of some unfounded guilt and are being used and manipulated. They themselves haven't committed a crime but bare the sentence charged of slavery.Especially in my country the UK the poorer white working class natives of the Island are being blamed for slavery even though it was the Royal Families and people with money who had industry throughout the world who were to blame for these practices but they are held up with high respect because they have money, fancy clothes, fancy cars, mansions etc and the same types of people today are using immigration for cheap labour and they are praised.The human race talking about morality is just a political game and the ones at the moment who look the most clean are the most dirty.Certain people want to be around other certain people, let everyone have what they what without conflict, it's possible, stop forcing a decision to choose to be either this party or this party.Stop beating around the bush and accept people want to be around different people and have different beliefs, we aren't all the same and never will be, we all deserve the right to live our lives in peace. Black people call each other niggers all day long. It seems to me the N word has won. The fact they refer to themselves as niggers just means that they gave into the word and embraced it. So in hindsight white people have used the N word for so long that now blacks actually use it to refer to themselves. HERE IS MY CHALLENGE PROVE ME WRONG: Most racist people are in the lowest rank of the society, on social aid, drugs, alcoholic single moms , school drop off minimum wage slaves men who want to escape the embarrassment of being a loser by taking the shortcut: immigrants stolen my job and my money. I live in Canada since 2011, I never came across a single doctor, lawyer, businessman, journalist who looked down on me or treated me differently, it is always the drunk white man in the neighborhood (54 years old . on social aid) or the gas station worker (cowboy outfits, loud shitty music, green tooth and collecting cigarettes from people) who do. As an African American individual, the "nice way" of saying the N word is not positive it doesn't fucking sound positive, and now a days it doesn't have a fucking positive meaning at all. It's disgusting, the fact that I see younger children using it to describe themselves is sick. Instead of other African American people who describe themselves like that and think only black people are ghetto needs to stop. 11I00001I001Il yeah i thought there was, but all speech is protected by the constitution, looking back on this now 2 months later i think its blown out of proportion, since when did we start letting words effect our lives so heavily, obviously someone as trashy as the women spewing racial slurs is unwell mentally, the best thing to do would be to walk away and live your best life, i dont agree with racial slurs because it causes friction between the races but youre gonna have evil doings going on around you where ever you go, crying about it isnt going to fix that woman who clear has some bad ptsd, she needs to see a psychologist and get help try to ruin her image and reputation does nothing she never had a reputation to ruin and it only causes her to hate more which if repressed with come back with a vengeance, we as the human race need to evolve well enough that we look at these things with compassion, yeah those words are hurtful but thats her reflecting her own pain she needs to get some professional help, i would of suggested she see a reputable psychologist to get to the root of she pain so that in the future she doesnt lash out on others trying to make them feel her pain	Nothing, Race, Woman	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	3/225	1.333
---	----------------------	--	-------	-------

11I00O01I0O1Il i dont think the government should regulate what people should or shouldnt say, i am an ethical person but freedom of speech is important and giving any part of that freedom away for the government to regulate is shady territory, you cant give the government to much power, a similar problem with freedom of speech has arose in canada about gender pronouns. no i dont think people should be so verbally vicious trying to tear one another down but humans are naturally vicious animals, i dont know what started the conflict but she was trying to cut deep and she succeeded, every circumstance is different, women dont really have the option to inflict physical damage so they inflict emotional damage, maybe in some circumstances verbal battery is how you defend yourself, we only saw one side to this conflict, the word "nigger" to the black community means lesser than human and most of them believe that they were slaves because they were black so the word cuts deep, to them it means they are lesser than human simply because their skin is black and i completely understand where their pain is coming from but the truth of the matter is that they werent slaves because they were black, the state of the world was different back then, everyone had slaves and they werent just black people who were slaves, and specifically the africans who were slaves were sold into slavery by the upper class black leaders of africa because they were criminals in their own land and so the were sold to the arabs who sold them throughout the world because the world had slaves, there are still slaves in africa right now, and literally every race and creed has been slaves, but we as a people especially we as americans have evolved and realized slavery is morally wrong and so we changed our laws, i dont think our government is out to get minorities, i dont think humans are racist, i think there is good and evil and some people who are ignorant blame that evil deed on a whole race of people and i believe its a small minority of people who do so and i think once the black community realizes this that the word wont sting as bad, and after that occurs i dont think people will be so ready to just throw away their freedom of speech, and i completely understand why they would want to and why they feel that way as i used to feel that way, ive given this alot of thought and i still think about it but as for now the whole narrative that america is an oppressive tyrannical patriarchy is wrong, i dont think average humans are that malevolent, they are capable of being that way but thats usually some real psychological issue their having, i could go on and on about this but this is a youtube comment and its already pretty long, good question tho and if you have anymore im more than welcome to answer	Black, Gender, Nigger, Patriarchy, Race, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	13/510	2.549

Black people are extremely contradicting when it comes to that word though Its an offensive word and shouldn't be used by anyone It's NOT a fucking cultural thing, he sounded stupid saying that! What the fuck are black people teaching their children and children of other races? So when black people use it with each other they're telling people it's okay to use it. There's no fucking rules to use any words. 'My people' stfu That's not starting any equality anytime soon He's consistently referenced everything to slavery as if that's all he's life is about. People don't just hate because of COLOR. That's bullshit. We don't see people hating black cars or black cats or black t-shirts. Something else is a reason for the hate, and it most certainly is not a color. It's the personality, the culture! It's the crime. It's all the disproportionate bad things that are associated with African americans. Just look at their culture. You say the word "gang", what color comes to mind? Listen to rap and you'll see the "theme". Type "McDonalds brawl" into YouTube and see who the "star actors" are most of the time. Violent tendencies are clearly in the black genes. Look at all the crime statistics. Population is 80 white, 20 black . Crime is 20 white, 80 black , completely disproportionate. Google "us prison population by race ". There are clear signs everywhere. Burying your head in the sand and ignoring the facts doesn't change anything. That's the real reason for the universal hate, understandably so. I'm not even American and I can clearly see the picture across the Atlantic. Why is that? Because it's OBVIOUS and because I'm not in denial. kimberley weaver Hey yall there are 2 types of racism: Stereotypical, and emotional. The the first one is when yall look at people and how they behave. If they behave the same way and the same race in a way you don't like then they discriminate them that's stereotypical, the second one is emotional: is when they are thought to hate a certain race . They may have never interacted with people in that race and hate them. It can be introduced by anyone but they are thought people that decided to discriminate in a stereotypical way. Once they been introduced they automatically hate them as if it was their natural instinct. When they start growing up they buy all the bad stereotypes and actually give them a reason to hate. If you friends with someone black then you're not really racist and it does mean something. Because why would you want to friendly interact with a person that's a different race that you don't like. (niggas like u) mocking them, & talking shit about them on every platform, making stupid comments (just like you did) there is more to life than having light skin n curly hair. There's a lot of African -American people that do not believe in using that word even among each other,. It helps give excuse to other races, especially the white race , to use the word freely! Lol obviously. Even more obvious, everyone has freedom of speech which allows them to say it in any type of way. My comment was not asking them what they meant. (if you couldn't tell) My question, when I asked them what their point was, it was a rhetorical question dude. That's why afterwards I said their comment was vague, because that person is obviously not comprehending the bigger picture we are trying to manifest. Me and the comment everyone is replying to, are not talking about how "White" people use the word, neither are we talking about how " Black " people use the word. We're talking about the word itself, and why it's said in general. Therefor what I am saying is anyone who uses the word is ignorant. Let's be real it's not even actually a word. Michael Mishler Do you know how many black men are in relationships with white women who display racist behavior and fetishize them? Do you know how many white people have used derogatory/racial slurs toward their black friends when they get into an argument? I had a friend who I was friends with for 7 years. We got into an argument one day and she completely blew up on me and started calling me a "Nigger" and every racial slur under the sun. I had NO IDEA she was racist beforehand. She never showed signs of being racist , she hid it VERY WELL. There are MANY racist white people who are "friends" with black people who will HIDE their racist tendencies for YEARS, until they get into an argument with that black "friend" of there's. Don't seek things of this world it will lead you to Hell. Seek Jesus with an open heart and mind for him. Don't let the devil lie to you, he will use family , friends and strangers and tell you that there is no God or they will keep you from seeking him. The devil comes in many ways. it simply does not matter that she said it, or who she said it to. i am not saying it is right for her to use those words, but we do have freedom of speech here in the USA. i have seen many videos on youtube with blacks using the term towards blacks, whites using it towards other whites, hispanics to whites, so on and so on. the term is also very prevalent in music and movies. freedom of speech is the first amendment to the constitution. as long as she never made any violent threats to anyone, she has done nothing other than hurt someone's feelings. you make not like it, or you may be offended, but it is certainly not a crime. and this guy thinks it should be a felony hate crime? maybe in north korea, but no way in the USA. for some reason americans are starting to think that your rights should be taken away because people are offended by the actions of the few. this is not what the country was founded on! protect your rights to the death, or we will all lose them, every one of them! Facts!!! Humans tend to hate other humans and we all like to make it a reason other than what it is. Truth is skin color does matter in a world where humans like to point out the differences in others. But that comes from every sex or race that is out there. Also the fact that humans like to blame everyone else for their problems. So it's always someone's else's fault. I genuinely don't like all humans the same. You have white people that hate black people or any other race for that matter. Let's face it it's true. For the white people who deny that is simply because you don't want to face the truth. But the same thing goes for every race . Until the ignorance of the human race is changed nothing will change. We will all go on blaming each other for things that every human on this earth is a part of. Because if your not the one being hateful but you don't stand up for what's right you are just as ignorant as the rest. And that too we are all guilty of. I mean I don't know I've asked these questions before never got any solid answers so I'll try here. Do we as humans want a change? Do we as humans see ourselves as part of the problem? You yourself? Are we willing to do what it takes to change this stupid hate we tend to have for other for no reason? If your not willing to say your part of the problem then go ahead and rant away but that's all it is. Open your eyes look around we all have some changing to do. Look to the future don't look back. When you give someone the power to get your to the point where your insulting them you have given them the power!!!! Learn to love everyone not just people who look or talk or dress like you. And with trump all the racist came out of the closet and talk about racism in other countries to justify their racism .	Black, Racism, Racist	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/49	10.204
Oliver Phippen Hey yall there are 2 types of racism: Stereotypical, and emotional. The the first one is when yall look at people and how they behave. If they behave the same way and the same race in a way you don't like then they discriminate them that's stereotypical, the second one is emotional: is when they are thought to hate a certain race . They may have never interacted with people in that race and hate them. It can be introduced by anyone but they are thought people that decided to discriminate in a stereotypical way. Once they been introduced they automatically hate them as if it was their natural instinct. When they start growing up they buy all the bad stereotypes and actually give them a reason to hate. If you friends with someone black then you're not really racist and it does mean something. Because why would you want to friendly interact with a person that's a different race that you don't like. I agree with the gentleman that speaking the wife and the husband that are teachers. People need to come together they need to put the racial where down they need to put the gender down and treat them as a normal person as if they were living within your own home. It's one thing to cut around and say something you know if you've been next to this person over many years but that's what it in the privacy of your own home but to go outside and the public and in the Publix I know it's not called for you need to respect them if you want respect back and vice versa.. I have many friends that are black and I would lay my life down for them and I would trust them more than some of my white friends. And I don't say that very often. And I will say when I was growing up I used to have a friend by the name of Linda Brown no she was a person that the granddaughter of a woman and husband that worked for my grandparents and Lynn and I used to play together all the time whenever she was home. I miss Linda she grew up her father came back home and she went back with her father and wherever she lives now I have no idea. But I miss her as a friend when I was a little. I went to college at Bryant Stratton College and I had a lot of black friends there a couple of them I didn't care for couple of them didn't understand me I was an older person they were younger person they thought maybe I was talking down on him I wasn't it just didn't know how to react because I've never been around half the school was black and half was white and I've never been around the situation like that. But I didn't think anything less of them they were just as equal as I was and learning the same things as I was. They had a chance to improve and I had a chance to improve and that's the way it should be they have as just as much opportunity as I did. I don't open up to a lot of people. My friends are wonderful people and I respect them very highly as I said I would trust them with my life and I Lay My Life down for my friends. But this words that this woman called is disgusting. People need to learn to get along. everybody has their own ways their own thoughts their own views period when it hurts others that's not right let at least twice that's why I was raised. We are taught by what our parents and our peers Cs and do. As far as I am concerned. And people need to open up their eyes and learn outside their walls that there are other customs and other ways that they need to recognize. there is one class out there that I loved. My instructor was black and she was the best teacher and she taught the class of EEEOC if you have a chance to get her she is excellent she used to teach down and Lodi Ohio and I said she taught out here at Bryant Stratton College at the Eastlake campus.	Black, Gender, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Gender - General	7/564	1.241

Stop letting that word...or any word, for that matter... get to you! Trying to ”own that word” hasn’t helped you guys stop being affected by it... so why keep using it yourself and why keep allowing it to have power over you?! Ffs! This guy in the interview.... most vile thing he’s seen?! Really?! So... black people killing black people every. single. day. isn’t more vile?! People not being able to go out to eat somewhere without black people fighting isn’t more vile?! What lead me to this video (in my recommended) is other recommended videos of black people fighting in restaurants. I guess that’s all white people’s fault too.....???I don’t care how many college campuses keep pushing the narrative that words are violence it isn’t true! Actions can be violent though! That girl spitting... that’s an action... and whether it has to do with race or not doesn’t matter, where I live spitting on someone, by law, is a violent action where self defense is justifiable because spit can contain bacteria. So if she spat on someone THEN she is guilty of something. But words?! Words can be ignored and if you keep letting words get to you then the people who like to use words to get to others will continue to do so. A little secret... if something being said to you isn’t true of you then you wouldn’t get offended. Bottom line is that words only have the power we give them. Knowing who you are and what defines you should shield you from ignorant and racist people like the woman in the video clip . So hard to hit "like" for this. Had to imagine it as "agree" or "support".There needs to be a program along the same lines as traffic school for incidents like this. Especially when dealing with young minds, people need to see, in the most graphic and shocking way possible, what this kind of mindset leads to. How it pervades and changes society's behavior and thinking. How it can spread like the plague if not treated.It's these young minds that will form the world we will live in. It's beyond past time that any and every authority possible tries to form these minds into ones more open, educated and aware of what's happening around them, that the smallest incidents of racism matter. There are so many of them that they build into something powerful and disgusting, but those small incidents make them numb over time, until the large things lose the impact they should have. It's racist to say that white people cannot use the same words as you do because of their color. Now stop being a fucking hypocrite and accept the fact that as long as you don't even respect yourself calling your friends like this, nobody is going to respect you. Sometimes the words we use arent understood correctly, for example, we equate "success" with having "stuff" like a nice house, nice cars, name brand clothing etc, but the true definition of the word is this "favorable or desired outcome". So if I set out to be a good parent, employee, business owner, or a positive member of a community, ect & I met those goals then I would be successful, it has nothing to do with attaining stuff, but having a goal and reaching that goal. With that said, i think you should be able to figure this out without me saying it, "a member of a class or group of people who are systematically subjected to discrimination and unfair treatment". The girl in the video is the ignorant one, shes falling right into the trap of division. Its been woven into society & people cant see the forest for the trees & they fall right into the trap set up by our true enemy. If we are divided we will never succeed at becoming truly free from bondage, debt slavery, so as far as the media and politicians are concerned they need us fighting over this kinda stuff & they rely on us remaining ignorant to the true meaning of the words we use. Im not defending anyone here, Im just trying to keep us from dividing over something that was manufactured by the powers that be so that they can remain in power because we cant join forces against them. They hate humanity as a whole, it doesnt matter the pigment of your skin, if you where created by The Lord God, they hate you & want you burdened with tons of debt & sick as a dog, so not only are we divided we are also too weak & sick to fight back. We are all Brothers & Sisters whom have a common enemy & its not eachother, its the people in the ivory towers, the people who wish to control humanity & DC has the largest concentration of psychopaths on earth.We need to change that asap. it seems to me that a heated argument is taking place and both parties seems to be yelling at each other. The video does not show exactly what triggered the incident, there has to be some misunderstanding for this to happen, no one gets this pissed off for no reason. seems to me like both parties are instigating.Couple often seems to get lost in their own world sometimes. The other day, I was at a store waiting in line, and a black couple came and stood in front of me right nxt to the cashier, I dont know if they saw me, it seems like they were in their own world. I had just one item, and they had like 20, I walked up tot them and told them nicely that I was waiting in line before them, they immediatly apologized and gave me back my spot. I'm against the white woman's actions, but black people cannot get angry when they refuse to change the name calling within their own culture. Sop using it as a comrade term and ban it altogether! It has one meaning, and one meaning only, which is degradation of human beings!	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/49	2.041
Boy WonderI never use the N-word. I hate the word, and yes, black people can feel angry because words are used in different contexts. I understand that 100, but I honestly hate the word altogether, so I feel it should be considered hateful no matter who uses it. Black people may get a different feeling when it's between friends, but I don't like it anyway, and stabbing someone only makes you appear to be what the white woman claims. You don't deserve to be called such horrible names, but we have to fight hatred with love, otherwise, you help to continue the racist cycle. Racism is more prevalent among whites, but it also goes both ways. Don't add to it. I have been angry enough to want to kill. I know the feeling of rage, but I don't allow myself to go there. You have to be the change you want to see in others.	Black, Racism, Racist, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	5/156	3.205
Joyful Noise I overreacted so I'll delete my initial comment. I think the black guy protecting her was either fucking the black girl to the left, fucking the girl throwing the slurs, or both. It could also be that he wants to impress the girl so he can fuck her later. Some of the racist white man comments here hint at the fact the racist girl likes black dick. I can tell she does too. You can call a people a hateful word for so long they eventually start calling themselves and each other by that same word. Until they all share the same untouchable name. You know, at that point, the shackles are still on and never coming off. You control their minds. Even in their own minds, first and foremost, they are a race and THEN individuals. But race first, by their own choice. General voluntary physical and political segregation follows. The media playing into a culture of victimhood and scapegoating in a social structure designed to keep them stationary is sly and sophisticated. Their anger is misdirected towards the very same people that freed them by the party that voted it down. The divisiveness of identity politics and social Marxism feeds on ethnocentrism and radicalizes otherwise moderate members of a physical majority of the society. It's not healthy. It is dangerous. Those that see through it are ostracized and deemed a traitor to their race. When he uses their name they start to think he means it. The media, banks and corporations have both created and sustain the reality show that has been the white house since the 60s. Radical thoughts are not promoted by radicals. They are stifled by radical tyrants, monsters and bankers. The true white privilege lies with money makers. Eventually a radicalized outcasted majority will realize they still have the physical majority. With an obviously sharper perception of reality and a stronger will. They have realized and are resisting this bondage we are all under for the otherside's sake as well. Because our freedom has been taken. We try to speak out and are called mansplainers or snowflakes. They say it's the dying gasp of white supremacists. That accusation removes our dignity and any relevance without any evidence. We want to be on a higher level than superficial supposed "virtue" based, feelings. If we let government determine identity so they can protect us it becomes a fluid concept. A romanticize spiritual notion of a nature tha can never be truly pegged down. Therefore identity and the protections that go with your class will always be subject to the scrutiny and ultimate judgment of the ones that make the laws and handle the money. We speak out even when racial slurs are openly used against us in public. We know they are scapegoating, denigrating, and dismissing our voices and yet we use them to free those that are blindly chained in their owner's home. Democrats neglect society the minute they have power. Sure they may set up socially funded programs with meager goals they never reach and with a social impact that is degrading by nature and spiraling towards a nexus of disparity and rage. They want to aim that rage at anything but themselves. They think order will come from this as their chaos unfolds. Their lives have a kevlar coating to protect against the chaos they brew. I would say vote 3rd party but the way the delegate system and election process has been hijacked by banks, it's merely a participatory process. Kind of like when cattle gets a stamp. We said never again and yet we signed up for our own numbers and we live in the ghettos of our secluded spirits. Our holocaust is yet to come, but the way the wind is blowing it will be middle class white straight males with type A personalities and traditional values and occupations and anyone else that speaks out	Patriarchy, Race	Ethnicity - General, Gender - General	4/590	0.678

danstylus1 exactly.. it's kind of psychological abuse.. She may not fully understand it, but she wanted to cause maximum damage.. The problem with most people of all shades is that they are too sensitive and can be easily provoked into violence by using words.. The sad fact is though, if you let word abuse affect your psychy, then you are not as evolved as you thought you were.. The proper response to her was laughter and exposing her.. However, there are too many low class ignorants on both sides who believe in racism shit.. It may take couple of decades to get rid of this hatred though.. whether the n word would disappear or be a social norm at that time is irrelevant.. Until then people need to stay classy, laugh and expose.. and most importantly educate the low class of how to act to provokation.. It's a fact of life though, if something provokes you it's a sign of weakness..No hardfeelings intended...And Obama said.. The solution to hate speach is more free speach.. Mateo Baseball Yeah but words have definitions and connotations and certain feelings associated with that word. Reappropriation of " nigger " is intended to change the negative perception of the word in the black community into a friendly one. How often do white people use that word in day to day life in a non-derogatory sense? Not very often. So when a white person does use it, it is typically to tear down the person they're talking too. I agree and im black	Black	Ethnicity - Black	1/5	20.0
It's about context. Black people aren't using the word as a racial epithet. They are reappropriating an awful word to take the power out of it. There is a long historical connotation of white people using that as a word to demean, display superiority and hatred by reminding the recipient of a painful and unjust past, rubbing it in their face and implying that they approve of it. What's so hard to understand about that? I'm white and I get it. Why are so many white people that incapable of seeing things from another point of view than their own? And why does it matter to some white people that they don't get to use that word and think they now have the right to tell black people that they can't reclaim it for themselves? It's similar to the difference between a man angrily calling a woman the b or c word in a misogynistic way, vs. two female friends jokingly saying it to each other. Or two gay friends addressing each other with certain terms vs. a homophobe using the same terms as they threaten them. And the N word is the worst because it rips open deep wounds in American culture that we're still dealing with today. When I hear other white people tell black people how they should use that word it sounds really arrogant to me, if not racist , even if said by someone who thinks they well-meaning.And if that doesn't explain it, then think about a self-deprecating joke vs a joke meant to hurt someone else. There's a difference between making light of yourself and insulting another person. Oh no! How does that happen? I doubt it's just hate, something happened to her in order to get her to that place. There are always two sides to a story. I don't agree with her actions however we only see part of this story. Ask yourself why it's being perpetuated by the media and what is their agenda? Ask why they created a racism echo chamber snow balling this into a bigger issue? Is the media responsible for the riots in cities? Why would they want to instigate such actions? How would that benefit their agenda? Who owns these corporations? What are the owners political beliefs? I'll give you a hint.... Research "Globalism." Research a man named "George Soros" and ask why would a so called Jew would help the Nazi's rob his own people of their wealth before WW2? What is the difference between a Ashkanzi Jew and a Orthodox Torah Jew? What is a Zionist? Is George Soros actually of an authentic Jewish bloodline? Why did his ancestry convert to Jewish faith? Who created Israel? How do the Rothschilds relate to Soros? How does Obama relate to those guys and why was he chosen to run? Who funds BLACK LIVES MOVEMENT ? why does a non white European, convert Jewish man perceived to be white by the US population want race tensions to rise into a civil war within our country? How would that benefit himself and other Zionist? How does Walmart & FEMA fit into all this? Why have old Walmarts been retro fitted into large scale prisons across the US? How would those prisons be filled with people? What would be the trigger for mass unrest? If you figure all this out you will be smart enough to forget, avoid, and destroy all these MK ULTRA mind programs being produced by the Cable TV Companies owned and operated by those same Zionist Globalists that also were responsible for Nazi Germanys rise to power and the same with the USSR and other Communist countries that also all had mass genocides	Black, Communist, Nazi, Old, Race	Ideological and Political Identity - General, Age - Over 65s, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	5/343	1.458

Goose Bumps - This idea that 1 Trump is a racist and 2 that Trump's racism makes other racists feel OK to come out of the closet is a pretty outlandish idea. As far as I can tell, true racists have never had much desire to hide their racism . The only reason you think they are out of the closet is because the media started spotlighting the two dozen or so Nazis we got running around in America to give you the feels that they are worse than they have ever been. There's a huge difference though. It's not the word itself, it's the intent behind it. When black people say it to each other, it's not malicious (in my experience). Any time I see a white person say it, it's derogatory and hateful. So since that's the way things are, we shouldn't be allowed to use the word, because in at least 99 of cases where we use it, we're using it to be malicious. Black people don't have that malicious intent, so I don't have a problem if they say it to one another.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/94	2.128

I do believe in Brown v board of education separate but equal was proven to be a violation of equal rights no???I don't see Jewish people going around say what's up my Jew. Or he heb aka Hebrew how are you!! I don't see or hear the gay community saying hey queer what's up. Or yo fag how are you. Sorry for using those terms to prove my point. I'm a type one diabetic. I can't imagine saying hey insulin lacker or yo what's or my diabetic bruh. We all have or struggles and history and etc. I don't need to be reminded of my negatives as I believe others don't either. A simple hello sir or hey what's up etc I think should be more then sufficient. Another thing I can say is just because this lady said that word doesn't mean all white people are racist. Stereo types well are just that stereo types. Half my family wasn't even living here during those times of slavery. And not for nothing. During Obama's tenure it's statistically proven that more white people voted for Obama then African Americans. But that doesn't mean it doesn't exist and nothing I say justifies this ladies actions at any level. It's just sad this adds to a perspective and makes a race look bad. And to those who comment about America being defined as racist. That's so ignorant. Anywhere in the world has had racism. Look at the Middle East and conflicts. The conflicts of Germany and Jewish. Where they were slaves. Russia had mass genocide. And even darfur in Africa. And the tribes battling out and villages fighting. Look at Ireland between the north Irish and the rest of Ireland. So for anyone to think they are better than someone else is foolish. Words have power only if you allow.. racism exists in many forms and belong in those specific situations..do people believe they need to have a voice or opinion about everything these days?!?!? That is the real watered down disgusting injustice! This generation has NO idea what it meant in the past generations to be slaves or racially segregated..and as long as we allow them to hold it over this generation who never owned slaves nor participated in racial segregation then it is still an issue..whining crying poor me bs that keeps being brought up to memory when there are clearly more important issues relevant to THIS generation..it seriously amazes me how people need to be taught how to FEEL..perfect example of how truly distanced we are from any kind of authentic self or real purpose in our lives..let alone the missed opportunity of genuine contribution to planet earth in this lifetime..that could be the real deep rooted issue when having "feelings" about things your ancestors experienced..we all have ancestors who over n over made it through trials and made this world a better place for us..sadly we will not do the same for the next unless we discuss these so called feelings in true perspective and move forward!! Maybe some were made to dwell and prove points but hopefully we don't let those cloud the judgments of serious issues we face today..what a sad inheritance we leave if all we have to offer is the "feelings " feeling healed because a little secret..shh you never knew what it was like in the first place and you're carrying forward burdens that were never yours to carry..that's not what your ancestors fought for!!!! I think it is the narcissistic guilt trip that you're intentionally using because you can so to speak..it is a card in their deck if u let them to champion over you.."how dare you " "feel sorry for me" ..it's all a lack of love for self..that is exactly what is possible these days..we try and blame everything and everyone for our shortcomings when nothing is impossible now..I truly don't want to believe we need destruction to be able to understand triumph..look at what has been built without all the feelings you've been tainted with..it's completely false because there are so many mixes and individually different possibilities of contributions..sadly waiting for someone to tell them what they need..that is the veil..so much more is possible if appreciated and not apologized for..f+ the guilt trips!! I think what this video shows is that when moments like this happen, moments that are absolutely rare that get shotgunned around the Internet it can make people think this kind of racism and hate is still prevalent. See back in the 90s and early 2000s before the Internet got us connected real good you didn't see this stuff happen much because everybody ignored it and nobody talked about racism unless it got someone killed. I think because negative things get reported to the media as soon as they happen now it kinda looks like it happens more often than it does and that can divide people. This word shouldn't be used by anyone...At All. It has negative roots and in no way (no matter how much anyone tries) should it or will it ever be "flipped" into a word that should be used amongst friends. It sounds ugly even when african americans use it amongst themselves. It doesn't sound like they took the word and made it their own.... It just sounds like the bad people who created that word still have a hold of the people they created it for and got them to start calling themselves that...even in a slang form. Just stop using that word... It's ugly no matter how you use it.	African	Ethnicity - Black	1/110	0.909

I have a problem with anyone who isn't black using that word. We use that word because in a sense we are still slaves in a predominantly white country. If I need medicine who has it? A white man! If I need a job who do I go to? A white man! If I need a loan from the bank who has it? A white man! Our ancestors were stolen and made to be slaves and in a way nothings changed for us African "Americans", we have no heritage, no culture, no names, or any value besides those they choose to give us. We turned that word around, by using that we show them we'll persevere no matter the hardships. We show them what they don't like when using that word; the slaves becoming the masters! From what I have seen in YouTube videos it is only 'Offencive and Racist' when a white person says that word. Yet if a black person calls another black person a 'N' it's endearing. I think it is a word that should not be used by anyone, even a black person!	Black	Ethnicity - Black	3/51	5.882
I agree with you that no one should use the term, but at the same time Black people don't use the derogatory term. We simply put a spin on it to make ourselves feel better. Not to mention the hate and intent to inflict emotional harm on another person. She's clearly using it to hurt him. Blacks don't throw it around in the same fashion. Of you have a black friend, you would know this naturally.	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/76	2.632
black people in my humble opinion should also stop using that word too - it doesn't help in the cause to stop this kind of hate crime because of the ambiguity in cultural usage - even white people are now calling each other the n word. We need to stop racism and other types of prejudice and encourage respect for ourselves and others.	Black, Racism	Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	2/63	3.175
Everything needs to be looked at in context/social norms. Some girls call their girlfriends "bitches" in certain situations, whether in jest or in an affectionate way but that doesn't mean any guy can go up to a girl and start calling her bitch. You may call your husband or boyfriend "honey" but that doesn't mean it is appropriate for any girl can to go up to your husband/boyfriend and start calling him honey. So social norm is it ok for a black person to use the N word but not for a non black person. Same as it might be ok for an irish to call another irish mick but not appropriate for a non irish to. Kate North The only solution I can think of that would benefit everyone would be to allow people of all races and ethnicities to say "My Nigga " to ONLY their black friends. In this case there would no longer be hypocritical for us to say it between each other or to people who have a similar background as us, I.E other minorities.	Black, Nigga	Ethnicity - Black	2/62	3.226

my point would be why do we find it acceptable to call each other derogatory names in the first place - why would girls call each other 'bitches'? It's just stupid and twisted: the guys insult us so why don't we just insult ourselves its so much more fun. If people want to denigrate themselves they can hardly complain if others join in. I'm not even sure if the woman in the video means this in a derogatory way - it's just become a cultural norm - like 'white' people who have adopted some forms of black cultural expressions because they think it's the contemporary thing to do or it's rubbed off on them from their black friends. How can black people complain unless they too stop it.	Black, Woman	Ethnicity - Black, Gender - General	4/128	3.125

Marie Reeder not necessarily true. I know mixed people have a hard time coming to terms with who they are (I am mixed) but to say that informed her decision to not defend him is silly, implying that the reason she didn't put her friend in her place was because she had white heritage when it was probably just hard to come to terms with her best friend of 13 years being blatantly racist . I've been called the n word before and I would drop a friendship in a second if they called someone a racist term but I also wonder how she didn't realize her 'friend' had it in her in the first place. She was probably bothered but so shocked that she didn't seem it	Racist	Ethnicity - General	2/127	1.575

Race is everything, however, race doesn't mean nor define who you are. Unless everyone decides that hate speech is is no longer freedom of speech. Not providing an answer and its tuff to decide how and when it's a racial slur that leads to a physical fight. Hell, see many of black and white use it when a streetfight ensues. I've never understood the whole "if black people can say it even to to each other why can't white people say it too." Any offensive word can be turned into a term of endearment between two friends. When someone who is not a familiar calls someone else that same word, it's not always going to be taken as friendly that's when it WILL be seen as offensive. Like the word "bitch" for example. You as a girl would call your best friend "bitch" all the time, but would you take it as friendly if another female called you that word? I hate to say it but when they continue to talk about this stuff all they do is keep it alive and make money from it. Hate is wrong period! Whether it be from One race , religion, or Creed, or another or whether it's just somebody that looks different than you act different than you in your own race or not. It's still hate, and still wrong. The really sad part is when morals go down the drain. We're in perfect that is for sure but it is not up to us in order to subject someone to punishment that is only reserved for one individual that makes those decisions and make them properly and that is our creator and only our creator has the right. When he created us he also designed us and he is the only one that has the right to say whether a design has went wrong and no longer should continue to exist but, another creation does not have that right. You have the right to stay away from people like that, that you wish not to associate to keep your morals better but you do not have the right to discriminate or show hatred toward them unless the creator gives you that right and he does not. And anyone calling themselves a Christian and displays hatred toward another individual is showing he's not a true Christian or she's not a true Christian and does not follow the true God. You may have a god in your life but you do not have the "TRUE GOD" in your life.	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/265	0.755

Booker T Washington called it a hundred years ago,”There is another class of colored people who make a business of keepingthe troubles, the wrongs, and the hardships of the Negro race beforethe public. Having learned that they are able to make a living out oftheir troubles, they have grown into the settled habit of advertisingtheir wrongs — partly because they want sympathy and partly because itpays. Some of these people do not want the Negro to lose his grievances,because they do not want to lose their jobs.” (Page 118)”I am afraid that there is a certain class of race -problem solvers whodon’t want the patient to get well, because as long as the disease holdsout they have not only an easy means of making a living, but also aneasy medium through which to make themselves prominent before the public” (page 119 to 120).Year 1911 yes 1911 ! And Redbones are aroud 25 percent white in manners and culture and 75 in nigga but this can all be debatable. There are many yellowbones who are more culturally black than most 100 niggas. It's easy to look at the spitting racist woman and think "kill it with fire". But I don't think that is the right reaction considering the context of an argument. Just as there is a difference between a black person using the n-word and a white person using it, there is a difference between a devout white supremacist using it and much less ideological white person using it. Sometimes we say things not because we believe them, but because we believe saying it will hurt someone. She was trying to insult the couple and she isn't clever enough to think of anything but the absolute most offensive thing, so she went with it. My mother raised 8 children. She raised us in church. When we were tiny kids we asked mama about the little childrens gospel song, Jesus Loves the Little Children. We wanted to know what it meant by red and yellow , black and white, Jesus loves the little children of the world. We were thinking about crayon colors. We didn't think we were exactly white. We didn't think we'd actually seen red , yellow or black people before. We'd seen pink and brown. Mama said, if we ever did, we were to love them just the same cause God made all the people and he made them all colors because he loved all colors. She told us many people have different shades of skin if that's all you pay attention too. She told us to always remember this= If all my friends were just like me, I'd need only one and everybody needs more than one! I had a good mama. So she got that upset over beanbags? No they said or did something to her. When I was in high school, a group of black teenagers used to follow me out everyday throwing half empty soda bottles, screaming racist remarks and slurs, then one day they grabbed me by my arm, they pulled me into the locker room and assaulted me, the custodian heard me cry then ran in and brought me to the principal, he was African American and still said a group of 20 or so black kids taunts, follows and throws things at this white girl everyday, the principal called me a racist and said if I wasn't racist , I wouldn't try to walk away from them, I would stay and fight all 15 boys, 5 girls by myself, I didn't want to but I went back the next day, they didn't pull me anywhere just all assaulted me in the hall, then pushed me down the steps, all I did wrong was become 1 of 5 white student's in a mostly black school, I never went back, keeping up over the years, 1 girl was shot and killed by one of the boys, he's in jail for that, 2 became drug addicted prostitutes, 2 are in jail, 1 is still in jail for killing 1 of the girls and her brother, 6 of the boys are in jail for shootings, 6 boys were shot to death, the rest are in jail for not paying child support, not all are victims. Very few people have been through what you have though. I also grew up in a 95 black neighborhood until my mid 20's, until I moved to a 95 white neighborhood. Family economics virtually the same.... The black neighborhood was horrible, and the white neighborhood is unusually fuckin' awesome. So for any of the white people I run into screaming how white's are the racists, I just want them to spend 3 months in the neighborhood I grew up in, hopefully they'd survive, and come out with more common sense. That is such bullshit. What happened to you had nothing to do with race , that's just stereotyping a group of individuals as one. I know black people that are disrespectful, rude douchebags, but I also know white people that are disrespectful, douchebags. It depends on the individual and their upbringing and experience. Ik white ppl that grew up in rich household, that use drugs, use racist language, and get into fights, but that doesn't mean all white people are that way. I have also known black people that are dedicated Christians, don't drink, party or even curse, but then again it doesn't mean all black people are that way. It all depends on the individual. Stop stereotyping races, and look at people as the individuals they are.	Black, Nothing, Race, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General	6/127	4.724
Stereotyping is basically human nature, and can very well be used as a human survival tool. When I was a graffiti artist in Detroit, painting every week for years, I obviously went to the shittiest neighborhoods in this country to paint (to get away with it, legally speaking). The people I encountered, guns drawn, seeing a few people killed, etc.... I have to admit, stereotyping worked in my favor. The reason I was never attacked or targetted was the multiple times I've heard the blacks say I was an undercover gang squad officer. I'm sure you could flip the script in any scenario, and stereotyping can pinpoint a 90 accuracy rate, or help you out in life. If you don't stereotype, you get your kids abducted or molested, robbed, raped, and mostly....live your life in a revolving door of shame upon your success while feeling guilty towards other groups of people who can harm you or have not in the least helped themselves of their community. Liberal bullshit. ALL the good black people I lived around in Detroit. I think alot has to do with where you live. In Detroit, blacks are the worst people to run across...as a HUGE whole. The Mexicans in Detroit are fuckin ridiculously awesome people you'd want to have your neighbors. I know a couple people in Colorado that has the exact opposite view on those races. In South Philly, the whites & asians are incredibly rude & I was so unhappy living around those wierd fucking people. Me being white in Michigan though...me personally, have never seen any other race/culture stay away from white neighborhoods. Quite the contrary, they all move in, while white people leave and go somewhere else. It's funny to see that, and to see how racist white people are....yet, every person of darker skin seems to want to move to be around white communities. Hmmmmmmmm?????? Never seen white people want to move to other communities unless they're run down shit holes and they're 20-30 year old hippies spouting how we need to fight racism . I wanted to add that, contrary to what Mr. Crim says, the 'n-word' is not used between African-Americans as a term of affection or friendship, at least in any context that I am familiar with. In fact, it is used precisely the same way that white people used the word for centuries, which is to bully and intimidate and classify another as being inherently lower than oneself. Not sure why anyone is surprised. This women was expressing how many Caucasians (not all, not necessarily most) TRULY feel about African Americans and other people of color. The Trump Administration has emboldened many Caucasians to verbalize emotions that they have not had, in recent history, an opportunity or platform to voice. That said, I think Trump’s support of this kind of verbal assault is actually a GOOD thing. Why ”a good thing”, you ask? We, as Americans, are in a deadlock on these social issues because we have not had any open and honest dialogue about race issues in our country. I am not a Trump fan or advocate but what I do like about him is that he’s (at least) honest! Hillary and her ”super predator” labels of black men, along with her husband to built the foundation of the current Prison Industrial Complex (which is responsible for ”enslaving” black people and minorities for crimes that their precious, entitled white children have been getting away with for ages (research crack cocaine -vs - powder cocaine arrest and conviction rates across black and white populations - and know that the opioid issue is only a ”national crisis” because it affects white people. So, hatred of black people runs deep in the veins of America and it has always started in the ”White” House!While this woman’s verbal assault was reprehensible, and the recipient’s honorable, as an African American, I say that in order for us to have a credible ”Black Lives Matter” movement that will produce empathy in non-whites and RESULTS for African Americans (and other social, ethnic, and religious minorities), black lives have got to matter to other blacks. Why is it that black lives only matter when they’ve been ended by Caucasian cops or corporations that are not truly committed to diversity (which, BTW, is rampant)? Why no expression of outrage at how easily we as black people take one another’s lives so nonchalantly - usually over NOTHING (wearing the wrong color, not being from the neighborhood, a stare, looking at another brother’s wife or companion - BOOM! You’re dead!!!). This is criminality within the very ”community” we say we love. We won’t support one another in business, there is (among the masses) this notion of ”getting rich quick” (aka: The Rap Game), we do NOT honor academic scholarship, and close to 75 of black children are fatherless! Again, this is a CRIME; one of many that we commit against ourselves.That said, I agree with the brother and his wife 1000. This was a (verbal) hate crime. The woman was inhumane in how she addressed this couple and has no knowledge of what racism, prejudice, and human decency mean. I feel sorry for her parents, associates, and her soul, candidly. This comment section makes me know that racism has blocked every white persons brains, eyes and ears. Can't you see that lady used the N word as an abuse, she just wanted to abuse him and make him feel low of himself, she basically used it as a derogatory abusive term, FYI, that's how all white people use the N word, just to abuse blacks which basically reminds blacks of slavery, that's why whites are not allowed to use it. But blacks on the other hand don't use it as an abuse, they use it to sometimes greet their fellow black man. Imagine that lady even spit on him, lol, she's lucky she didn't do that to my husband, cos as big as he is, he could have beat her up, she could have spit blood instead. Black Barbie if the n word coming from one race is racist then it's racist in general. You don't get to pick or choose, it's a bad word or it's not. Excluding words from race is racist . White people that say it can also use it to eachother as black do, some say it to their black friends who say it to them cause they are greeting eachother and cool with it(some not all), and some are simply racist . You're blinded by your own racism to think that any white that uses a very common word used by blacks is a racist and only says it negatively. How can you be reminded of something you weren't a part of? Why aren't you reminded of you ancestors enslaving and selling their own or the Muslim slave trade in Africa? Whites were slaves too and the only slavery you care about is American slavery. Lets all forget about america being the first to end slavery and all the many whites that died in a war to end slavery. Crazy Pheonix let me break it down for you, you're a close minded hypocrite. White people can say it in the same way a black person does. It's either wrong for everyone or no one. Words have never been defined by the color of someone's skin. Excluding words to race is racist . Assuming that all white people say something in negative ways only is a racist assumption. Every race has been a slave and nobody around from that time period is alive today so stop acting like you can relate to something you weren't apart of. Whites today weren't apart of slavery either. Also cultural appropriation is bullshit and no one should care about it but since you went their, dreads were started by Vikings yet some blacks scream cultural appropriation for whites having dreads	Black, Crazy, Nobody, Race, Racist	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Ethnicity - General, Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	7/135	5.185
Crazy Pheonix instead of making a blind claim that I don't get it, why dont you actually refute what I said. Who knows what other slaves were called but if the word is so bad then black people wouldn't be saying it even if they change the ER to A. Most black Americans are decent people and so are a majority of Hispanics, Asians, whites, and Native Americans, But there are few people who are afraid of other human beings! Or they seek disparities as a way to cover up their own shortcomings, in some cases, they've been taught to think in those terms by others in order to perpetuate the stereotypes so prevalent in an open and diverse Nation. The best thing that could happen is people to stop fearing one another and confronting those within their own races who do display hate or other types of discrimination against others! People who violate the laws do so for various reasons but the biggest reason is financial in nature because many of them never got a chance to get the type of skills that would allow them to compete in an open market such as what we have in the United States! Rather than house them why not train them to do jobs that really are in demand? Yes, we've had such programs before but if you knew the reality of many of those programs and the fact that most of those controlling the penal system do not want success stories but recidivism, so they have job security, otherwise they'd apply methods which actually worked and would make these people ready to work and earn an income rather than be supported by welfare or homeless! This is one place the government is not on the side of the American peoples because it would mean giving up lucrative deals with the government and losing millions even billions in tax revenue! under my plan, The private sector would thrive but the Government sector would dwindle! And many of your big shot politicians would lose all kinds of financial pork bellies.They are public servants, for heaven's sake, they don't have the right to hide information about their goings-on any more than a bank has the right to tell you how to spend your monies! But they do it anyways! And the American sheeple along with all the sockpuppets just sit on their haunches and wait for someone else to come along and take care of their problems for them! Pretty pathetic if you should ask me! And I know there are a few detractors who'll try and make some idiotic statement but their your dummies in society with some sucking on Uncle Sam's tit, or else they would keep their damn mouths shut about something they know nothing about! Give most people a chance and they'll want to do well! It's the American spirit that dwells within each of us. It's that Spirit that God has given to America because of what our founding fathers did when seeking His wisdom and guidance in founding this nation! Only those who hold hate in their hearts seek divisive means because their daddy is Satan just as Jesus said nearly two thousand years ago!	Black, Nation, Nothing	Age - Youngsters, Ethnicity - Black, Nationality - General	4/488	0.82

I am a white female born in the 70's and I live in the south.... I was pretty much raised by my grandmother, atleast that's where I spent most of my time. Now you gotta remember she was born in 1915 right??? So during her times that's the way things were...but my grandmother had an African American nanny that took care of her two youngest children one being my father while my grandparents worked... Ms Gracie was family and her children were our family and my father always thought of her as a 2nd mother... my grandmother and ms Gracie were best friends until they both died, those two women loved one another so much.... ok that being said, even though my grandmother respected this family with all she had, she would have never thought it would have been right for races to " mix". So my question because of that, Was my grandmother racist ? She loved and respected many from all walks of life and made some apart of her family until her death... she also taught me that you love and respect everyone.... I'm 47 and I know racism is REAL but I swear to God up above I look at no one from any culture or walk of life any different AT ALL!! I have always believed that we are all equal and I have never understood any other way.... to me it's embarrassing, ignorant to see anyone acting like that and saying those god awful things... racism is ignorance and if you haven't already found out people WE ARE ALL FREAKING EQUAL!!!! Don't get me started with college, when i was in college I witnessed plenty of racials slurs being thrown around, i witnessed a group of girls making fun of a Muslim girl, saying that she smelled, saying her dad was a highjacker, and also make fun of a black girl's hair, these are the same girls that were up on stage wearing Hillary or Bernie buttons on their gowns. Look at once great cities like Detroit and Chicago that have been reduced down to literal Shit by Blacks.. Anyways, Maybe if Blacks would stop Pointing the Finger, Stop Committing so much Crime, Stop Putting Y.T on the Defence, Stop ALWAYS MAKING IT ABOUT COLOR then Y.T would be more prone to help.. Think about it.. This is Fact! BLACKS HAVE BEEN ENSLAVING EACH OTHER FOR 1000S OF YEARS and it was whites who freed you whites and blacks went through alot to make that happen.. No, Not All whites are "The Devil" just like not All Blacks are Angels.. Rant Over	Black	Ethnicity - Black	2/205	0.976
H T typical white uneducated thugs. Once proven wrong, they always resort to violence to take the attention off their stupidity and ignorance. At least my race doesn't rape women like you guys do buddy	Race	Ethnicity - General	2/35	5.714

Ms Daisy who ever said I was Muslim? Here we go again. Yet ANOTHER uneducated (most likely white) person throwing these crazy accusations around. Well, if you must know, bitch, I'm Christian. Not Muslim in any way, shape, or form. Do your googles, bitch. At least the other guy knows how to fact check	Crazy	Physical Identity - Physical (and Mental) Impairments	1/54	1.852
United States Of America United States Of America is rather debate this with you since you look at facts and don't resort to name calling when proven wrong. And yea obviously there's a culture problem. My black family isn't like that. I'm biracial so I have my white family and black family. We're all calm as cucumbers. And we never complain about police brutality. Never once through this whole discussion did I bring that up. I know it's the media that portrays it that police are targeting us. MUA.AshleeRenea okay before you try to fire back out of anger, I get what your saying. However think about it this way. Every single president we've had has been the same color. White. We've had only one black president. So for you to say it was unjust for jeezy to put "my president is black " it's ridiculous. He's talking about how crazy it is that we finally had a black president. Remember 1 = black , 44 = white. Goddammit we could've had a Asian president, and he would have said, "my presidents yellow , and bitch my Lamborghini is too." Asians wouldn't even care. Your not understanding that for black people, 2009 was history in the making for most of them. Except for my family they didn't vote for him, they voted republican. So don't say jeezy was pulling the " race card" because he wasn't. rap lyrics really aren't the deep all the time either. Sometimes they need filler. Yes, yes, yes. We know a lot of black people like to pull the race card. Just like plenty of white people like to profile us. Plenty of people don't like me because of how I "Look". Once they talk to me and get to know me, their demeanor changes. But you know what's funny. Most of the time, though not always, that person is white. Don't ask me why that is. And it's not like it happens all the time either. Nobodies perfect, plain and goddamn, motherfucking simple. That should just end the conversation because that is LITERALLY what all this bum ass, human ass, bullshit boils down too.
